

FISHING SCHOONERS RACED TO-DAY AND AMERICAN CRAFT WON

Gloucestermen Entered Contest After Saying They Would Not Do So; Bluenose, Nova Scotia Vessel, Twelve Minutes Fifteen Seconds Behind at Finish.

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 23.—The Henry Ford, American schooner, to-day defeated the Bluenose, Canadian champion, in the first official race of this year's contest for international honors among North Atlantic fishing vessels.

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 23.—The racing fishermen who man the Gloucester schooner Henry Ford, in a protest against the ruling which deprived them of their victory over the Bluenose, of Nova Scotia, champion of the international fishermen, stated this morning they would refuse to race to-day.

The actual developments were otherwise, however. The committee announced that if the Ford did not appear at the starting point the Bluenose would start without her.

The Nova Scotia fishing schooner Bluenose crossed the line first, but the Ford quickly caught up and passed her, gaining a lead of fifty yards, which she maintained at 11.15. Two minutes before the start the Bluenose, to the leeward, headed for the line rather than the starboard tack.

At the first mark the Bluenose was 45 seconds astern. Ford Gained. In the last two miles of the second leg the Ford opened up a lead of 700 yards, and was gaining steadily as they rounded the second mark.

At 2.50 p.m. the breeze had increased to 12 knots and a big sea was running. Both boats logged well over twelve knots, and in the reach to the third mark the wind increased to nearly fifteen knots an hour.

Confirmation yesterday by the International Committee through its chairman, W. L. Luff, of the sailing committee's ruling in calling Saturday's opening contest for the trophy no race, coming after twenty-four hours of furious controversy.

Saturday's contest got away to a poor start, when it was found that the Henry Ford, the American challenger, had been mortally wounded by Fascists.

Famous Antarctic Explorer Here

CAPT. F. R. G. R. EVANS, R. N., C. B., D. S. O.

ANTARCTIC HERO, HERE FROM ORIENT

Distinguished Explorer and Naval Officer Going Through to London

Relinquishes Command of H.M.S. Carlisle on China Station

Capt. E. R. G. R. Evans, R. N., C. B., D. S. O., of Scott Antarctic fame, was a distinguished passenger arriving in the city today from the Far East aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia.

Capt. Evans was second in command of the British Antarctic Expedition in 1909 and is one of the most decorated officers in the British Navy today, his record in both exploration and naval work being a brilliant one.

The next Antarctic expedition will doubtless find this daring and resourceful British officer in command, although the latter has no plans for the present outside of his naval career.

Interrogated by a representative of The Times, this morning regarding future exploration operations in the Antarctic Ocean, Capt. Evans generally admitted that his "leavings" were constantly that way, but stated that, as far as he knew, no expedition to the Antarctic was in contemplation.

In China Two Years. Capt. Evans has been in command of H.M.S. Carlisle, of the British fleet on the China station, and he is now returning to London with the expiration of his period of service in the Orient.

Commanded H.M.S. Broke. It was Capt. Evans who so notably upheld the traditions of the British Navy when in command of the destroyer Broke during the late war, he drove his command at full speed into one of the German destroyers raiding the British coast and effecting a successful capture.

His midshipman displayed such heroism on this occasion that Capt. Evans recommended him for the Victoria Cross in recognition of the part he played in this daring naval feat.

NO HASTY ACTION ON COWICHAN LINE, PREMIER SAYS

Speculative Plot Opponents Call It, Fighting Fore-shore Grant

Will Boost Timber Prices, Promoters Reply

Advocates and opponents of the proposed grant of 600 to 700 acres of Cowichan Bay foreshore to the Cowichan Bay Railway fought the issue out before Premier Oliver and members of the executive at the Parliament Buildings to-day. The railway is planned to tap the big timber areas around Cowichan Lake.

At the conclusion Premier Oliver said that the Government would not take any hasty action in the matter, and promised that no grant would be made that would operate as a bar to any other line.

Land Reserved. H. A. Maclean, K. C. representing 153 property owners and others at Cowichan Bay put up the chief fight against the grant of foreshore from the Government which was being asked by the railway. He pointed out that the Government had put a reserve on the foreshore in 1907 and that this reserve was still in force.

"Cowichan Bay is one of the beauty spots and pleasure resorts of Vancouver Island," said Mr. Maclean. "It is peculiarly a sporting bay, and it is my duty to insist that this bay should be preserved as it is now so as to allow the whole public to have access."

Case for C. N. R. Mr. Maclean declared that the grant which the promoters of the company asked really amounted to a request for the Government to subsidize another railway. Anyway, he said, the Government had already put in the proper railway to take the timber out of the Cowichan Lake district as it already had its line extended to the Bear Lake supplies, Mr. Maclean declared.

"No railway should be subsidized over a private concern there is no extension to the Bear Lake supplies, Mr. Maclean declared.

"What are these promoting people in for? They want to make money at our expense and cutting us off from our waterfront."

"There is no necessity under the sun for them to go near Cowichan Bay, and the Province should not allow them to blanket that Bay so someone can make a little money."

"If the C. N. R. line on the Island were a private concern there is no doubt that it would get this timber out, but I have given up guessing about these Government railways."

Maclean suggested that the railway should go to the North shore of Cowichan Bay where no one would have his property injured.

WANT SMOKE TRAIN RUN OVER BRIDGE

Chamber of Commerce Directors Make Important Move

To run the new gasoline-propelled train operating between the Victoria and the Cowichan of the British Columbia Electric Railway and into the latter company's depot on Douglas Street, is the proposal which the Chamber of Commerce directors decided to-day to place before the B. C. Electric Railway Company and the Canadian National Railway officials.

Alderman A. E. Todd said that someone had made this suggestion during the course of the initial run of the Sooke route when prominent business men of the city were guests of the C. N. R. He thought it was an excellent idea. "It would help very materially in many ways and would be a fine advertisement to the city to have this train run out of the central city depot," said Alderman Todd.

The directors approved of the scheme with enthusiasm. The directors of the Cowichan Golf Club have also decided to use the utmost influence to get the respective companies to enter into such an arrangement. It is pointed out that a great deal of travel would be developed if the course suggested were followed.

FIFTEEN LOST LIVES IN FIRE

Seventeen Persons Injured in New York

Tenement Blaze Believed to Have Been Set

New York, Oct. 23.—Fifteen persons, most of them children, lost their lives, and seventeen were seriously injured early yesterday in a fire believed by city officials to be the work of a pyromaniac. The flames swept with murderous suddenness from ceiling to attic of a five-story brick tenement at Lexington Avenue and 114th Street in a thickly populated East Side section.

The blaze apparently started in a baby carriage under the stairs in the lower halls under almost identical circumstances as the recent incendiary fire in an upper West Side apartment house, which resulted in seven deaths. So quickly did the flames shoot through the building that a number of the dead were found in bed, burned or suffocated, without the slightest opportunity of escape.

Lost All. Many of the persons in the building lost all they had in the fire. A relief committee is making provision for the care of the families.

Inquiries. Two inquiries were launched to-day into the origin of the fire early Sunday in which fifteen lives were lost, seventeen injured and 150 persons made homeless. Fire Marshal Thomas Brophy was in charge of one investigation and Assistant District Attorney John R. Hennis, of the Homicide Bureau, of another.

THREE VACANCIES IN OTTAWA HOUSE

Newest Is Halifax, Where Blackadder Died

Liberal Strength Now 114 in House of 235

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—The death of Dr. Edward Blackadder, M.P. for Halifax, makes the third vacancy in the House of Commons represented by the Liberal ranks within a week.

The Liberals' strength in the House is now brought down to 114 members in a House of 235, including the Speaker. The Liberals started the session with 117 members in their party, and out of that number Hon. Tordoff, the standing order of the parties, according to the Parliamentary Guide, then was: Liberals, 116; Conservatives, 50; Progressives, 65; and Labour, 3.

By Death and Court Action. Since the end of the session, there has been one death in the Conservative ranks, two in the Liberals and one Progressive, R. M. Johnson, of Moose Jaw, has been elected as the result of court action against him.

This does not, however, bar Mr. Johnson from taking his seat in the House at the opening of the session, in the opinion of many political students here, who point to instances where members unseated by courts have continued to sit in the House pending the result of their appeal to a higher court.

By Elections. The three vacancies in the representation are expected to be filled at the next election in January. The holding of by-elections in three constituencies concerned will not, it is felt, be likely to alter the strength of the parties.

The Nova Scotia and Quebec seats, which are vacant, are expected to return Liberals, while Lanark is considered a strong Conservative constituency.

Talk of Fusion. The reduction of the Government's strength in the House, however, is causing renewed interest in the possibilities of fusion with the Progressive Party. During the last session the Prime Minister, announced that he had offered Cabinet portfolios to Progressive leaders in an effort to effect a fusion. Since the session there has been renewed talk of the Liberals and Progressives joining hands and, according to dispatches from the West to Hon. T. A. Cerny, leader of the Progressives, is shortly to announce whether he intends to remain head of the Progressives or president of the United Grain Growers.

Freedom of Action. While some of the Western members themselves are stated to be in favor of going with the Liberals in (Concluded on page 1.)

BONAR LAW ELECTED LEADER OF UNIONIST PARTY OF BRITAIN

His Purpose to Form Ministry Given Full Recognition By Party; Accepts Task From King and Asks Dissolution of Parliament.

London, Oct. 23.—Rt. Hon. Andrew Bonar Law to-day accepted from the King the task of forming a cabinet and advised His Majesty to dissolve Parliament, which it is understood will be done by royal proclamation.

London, Oct. 23.—Rt. Hon. Andrew Bonar Law was unanimously elected leader of the Unionist Party at the party meeting held this afternoon.

On leaving the meeting, Bonar Law told newspapermen he would accept the task of forming a Ministry.

The meeting, an enthusiastic gathering, was held at the Hotel Cecil attended by 439 members of the party, including 152 peers. Mr. Bonar Law was proposed for the leadership by Lord Curzon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs in the Lloyd George Cabinet. The nomination was seconded by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, President of the Board of Trade.

Bonar Law's election enables him to accept the task of forming a Cabinet, thereby giving Great Britain her first Conservative Prime Minister since 1895.

It is understood Mr. Bonar Law's Ministry is virtually complete. The Premier-designate did not define his policy before the meeting, according to reports obtained from the gathering but intimated that he would do so in his speech in Glasgow next Saturday.

TURKS NOW WANT MESOPOTAMIA

Probably Will Make Claim at Peace Conference

Asking French Loan and Political Support

London, Oct. 23.—In connection with the financial and other discussions of the coming Near East Peace Conference it is reported that the Turks intend to lay claim to Mesopotamia.

It is asserted also that the Turks are seeking a French loan and political support in exchange for oil concessions now held by British interests.

SCOTTISH VOTES FOR LOYD GEORGE

Temperance Influence May Swing to His Candidates

Total Strength of Vote Is 400,000

London, Oct. 23.—There is a strong probability, declares a Central News dispatch from Edinburgh to-day, that the Scottish temperance vote, which in 1915 was cast solidly for the Coalition, will be cast at the forthcoming election in favor of candidates supporting Mr. Lloyd George.

The meeting of the Scottish temperance organizations are meeting to discuss the situation, and many minor conferences have passed resolutions in support of Mr. Lloyd George. It was pointed out by an official of the United Kingdom Alliance, the principal English temperance organization, that such an attitude would mark a departure from previous stands of the Scottish temperance organizations which had always supported individuals in favor of temperance principles regardless of party alliance.

If the report is accurate, however, it is estimated that an attitude by the Scottish temperance vote would mean approximately 400,000 votes.

CHURCHILL'S STAND REMAINS UNCHANGED

Continues to Oppose Parties of Socialistic Principles

Will Issue Manifesto on Political Situation

London, Oct. 23.—Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, Colonial Secretary in the Lloyd George Cabinet, who has taken no part in the political activities of the Liberal Association, the president of the Liberal Association, has telegraphed the president of the Liberal Association, promising to issue a political manifesto shortly. In his telegram Mr. Churchill stated briefly that his political viewpoint had not been changed by recent events.

In a chairman of the National Liberal Council, the message said, "and I propose to stand as a Liberal and a Free Trader, but I shall ask the Liberal Unionists to co-operate freely with the sober-minded and progressive Conservatives in defending the lasting and central interests of the realm and its wide Empire against the dangerous attacks now about to be levelled upon them by the Socialist and Communist forces as well as the almost equally serious menace of downright reaction from the opposite quarter."

"I shall appeal to the Liberals and Conservatives of the Empire to stand shoulder to shoulder against the Labor and Communist candidates."

PERIOD OF QUIET IS HIS HOPE

In his address, Bonar Law declared that this was not the time for introducing large schemes which might be beneficial to the Empire, however dear to his heart. He added that he should rather hope for a period of quietness than one of fierce controversy. His reference was understood to be the tariff reform.

Bonar Law declared the Irish Constitution must be carried out. Referring to Mr. Lloyd George, he said he was sure they would have "pocket stiff" but he hoped they would still be good friends afterwards.

WORK ON RAILWAY SIDE OF BRIDGE GETS UNDER WAY

Old Bridge Will Go This Week; Build Caisson for Northern Foundations

Construction of the northern or railway side of the new Johnson Street Bridge has been started under the direction of City Engineer F. M. Preston. At present it is possible to do only preliminary work, but as soon as the old Johnson Street Bridge has been moved away actual construction will start. The old bridge is expected to be completely dismantled by the end of this week. At present only the centre span remains in position.

A new caisson has been built under Mr. Preston's supervision to make possible the installation of the northern bridge foundations. This will be placed in position shortly when construction of bridge piers commences. One caisson and a cofferdam will be used in the building of the railway bridge, Mr. Preston said today.

The caissons which were sunk into the harbor bottom during the installation of the southern bridge foundations will be left permanently in their present position, that is, close about the cement piers. They will protect the piers from damage and will save the expense of driving piles for the purpose.

REPRODUCTIONS OF MASTERPIECES HERE

Fine Collection of Medical Series on View at The Gift Shop

Masterpieces from the Italian, British, Flemish and Dutch, French, Spanish, Indian and other schools of painting are included in a particularly interesting collection from the Medical Society's Galleries, London, being shown during this week by the well-known firm of J. Sommers & Son, The Gift Shop, Government Street. The collection is well worth a visit from every art lover in the city. It is being exhibited throughout Canada and will leave Victoria on November 2.

A short reference to the Medical Society may be of interest to those to whom the society is unfamiliar. The Medical Society was founded in order to publish the finest reproductions of great paintings of which modern photographic methods are capable at the lowest price commercially possible. The society seeks to bring within the reach of the public a selection of perfect direct reproductions, after the great masters, obtained by its special method of photographic collotype. The subjects are chosen for their artistic value and beauty, but important works by old masters, especially frescoes or paintings in danger of destruction, are particularly cared for, and the work of the Medical Society in bringing these reproductions to Canada and other dominions is invaluable from an educational point of view.

The Medical prints are reproduced by means of a perfected method of photo-collotype, without green, printed upon pure linen paper, without a chalk surface or any other glazing, in colors.

ONLY CHINESE CLASS CLOSED

Five Children Attending Railway Street School Join Boycott

Boycott of Victoria's public schools by Chinese became absolutely complete today when five Chinese students, who have been attending the Railway Street School for some weeks, failed to attend their class for work. Not a single Chinese student is attending the schools today.

Why the five Chinese students decided not to go on with their studies these children started work at the Railway Street School in spite of Chinese picketers and later asked for protection on their way to class. It was expected that they would remain at school. A special class had been created for them, and the Board was determined to give them complete protection on their way to school. The children were not at class.

The Railway Street School will be closed completely now as no students are attending it.

COMPRAINS PORT IS LOSING TRADE

Chamber of Commerce Directors Deal With Northern Market

Victoria merchants are losing a great deal of trade with points in the Atlin district and the Yukon, particularly Whitehorse, at the southern end of the territory as a result of the manner in which the mail is handled at present, and every effort will be made to induce the authorities to alter the service in order that mail delivered here with greater dispatch, so that merchants may have an order to fill them in time to catch the next vessel northward.

Rithet's Consolidated, Limited, and Ormond's, Limited, cited cases to show that mail on the boat from the North had reached Vancouver at 3.30 in the morning, but owing to the fact that all northern mail is sorted in Vancouver the Victoria bags did not come over on the boat leaving the mainland at 10.30 o'clock.

It was suggested that to remedy this evil the Government should be asked to have a mail clerk on the Atlin run in order that the mail for British Columbia points and the East might be sorted on the way South, and the bags could be shipped without the slightest delay. This is a very serious one, and one that should receive attention at once.

BRITISH CABINET PREDICTIONS

Curzon Expected to Be Foreign Secretary

Duke of Devonshire President of Council

London, Oct. 23.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Predictions with regard to the Cabinet making of the new Prime Minister, Right Hon. Andrew Bonar Law, so far as the more important offices are concerned, are developing from the probable into practically a certainty as to some of the selections.

It is generally conceded that Lord Curzon, Foreign Secretary of the Lloyd George Government, will continue in that office under Premier Bonar Law.

Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, who was President of the Board of Trade in the late Government, will be the next Chancellor.

The Duke of Devonshire, former Governor-General of Canada, will probably be Lord President of the Council.

The Marquis of Salisbury will be Lord Privy Seal.

The last two offices, Lord President of the Council and Lord Privy Seal, so far as an administrative service is concerned, are practically sinecures, generally given to men whose counsel in the Cabinet is desired, but whom it is not considered wise to place in thoroughly defined positions.

When Lloyd George saw the King last week, he really resigned his office as First Lord of the Treasury.

REPORT UNTRUE

Incidentally it is stated that there is no truth in the story that the Prime Minister, Mr. Bonar Law, and the retiring Prime Minister and first Lord of the Treasury, Lord Curzon, are still being mentioned in connection with this Cabinet position.

Lord Curzon remains absolutely silent as to his attitude on Irish matters, which matters will probably be a grave impediment to any new Ministry with the ratification of the act under which he is to resign.

Lord Curzon was Home Secretary from 1916 to 1919. As Home Secretary he was mainly responsible, with Lord Long, with the passing of the act under which millions of voters will vote for the first time at the coming election.

Lord Curzon is generally regarded as a very sound lawyer.

CABINET INVITATION TO PROGRESSIVES

Details of Federal Liberal Offer Not Divulged

Progressives to Discuss Their Leadership

Saskatoon, Oct. 23.—It was established on Saturday at the meeting in Regina of the Provincial Committee of the Progressive Party of Saskatchewan that a definite offer of representation to the Liberal Cabinet had been made to Progressives as an inducement for fusion between the two parties.

A statement that this was so was made at the meeting by R. H. Milliken, secretary of the Progressive Party in the Province. The exact nature of the proposals was not divulged owing to the presence of the press.

Winnipeg, Oct. 23.—(Canadian Press)—The future leadership of the Progressive Party in the House of Commons probably will be considered at the meeting here on November 10 of Progressive members. It is authoritatively stated that the present leader, Hon. T. A. Crear, finds it impossible to continue to occupy the positions of president of the United Grain Growers and leader of the party.

This is amplified by the statement of Thomas Teare, retiring vice-

WOULD BE TRICK, DECLARES THOMAS

J. H. Thomas, head of the railway men, in a speech yesterday, said that the election for mid-week would be a "contemptible trick" and this view is apparently universal among the Laborites, who see a plot to reduce the Labor vote.

The Conservatives, who favor a mid-week date, repudiate such intention. They contend it will be impossible to arrange the election for Saturday, November 11, and that if it is postponed to the following Saturday, there will not be time to pass the Irish legislation before the stipulated date.

SUNDAY A DAY OF POLITICAL ACTIVITY

London, Oct. 23.—There was no Sunday for Bonar Law yesterday nor at the headquarters of the political party leaders conferred with Bonar Law at his residence, while the political offices were filled with members of Parliament discussing the situation, described as complex beyond the memory of the oldest members.

The Coalition Unionists who supported Mr. Chamberlain are organizing a dinner for to-night at which their future will be considered.

BONAR LAW HAS LIST NEARLY READY

London, Oct. 23.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Rt. Hon. Andrew Bonar Law will be ready with a list of the principal members of his Cabinet in time for a meeting with the Privy Council within the next few days.

London, Oct. 23.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Rt. Hon. J. R. Clynes, leader of the Parliamentary Labor Party, in an interview here declared that the allegation that Labor intended to attack industry was false.

"Industry suffered enough under the Coalition Government," he said.

GREEK ARMY NOW CALLS MEN FROM GERMANY

Berlin, Oct. 23.—The Greek consulates have instructed all Greeks in Germany belonging to the military classes from 1917 to 1922, which hitherto have been exempt from military service, to report within six days in order that they may proceed to Greece. Men of the 1923 class have received similar instructions.

Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, who was President of the Board of Trade in the late Government, will be the next Chancellor.

The Duke of Devonshire, former Governor-General of Canada, will probably be Lord President of the Council.

The Marquis of Salisbury will be Lord Privy Seal.

The last two offices, Lord President of the Council and Lord Privy Seal, so far as an administrative service is concerned, are practically sinecures, generally given to men whose counsel in the Cabinet is desired, but whom it is not considered wise to place in thoroughly defined positions.

When Lloyd George saw the King last week, he really resigned his office as First Lord of the Treasury.

REPORT UNTRUE

Incidentally it is stated that there is no truth in the story that the Prime Minister, Mr. Bonar Law, and the retiring Prime Minister and first Lord of the Treasury, Lord Curzon, are still being mentioned in connection with this Cabinet position.

Lord Curzon remains absolutely silent as to his attitude on Irish matters, which matters will probably be a grave impediment to any new Ministry with the ratification of the act under which he is to resign.

Lord Curzon was Home Secretary from 1916 to 1919. As Home Secretary he was mainly responsible, with Lord Long, with the passing of the act under which millions of voters will vote for the first time at the coming election.

Lord Curzon is generally regarded as a very sound lawyer.

CABINET INVITATION TO PROGRESSIVES

Details of Federal Liberal Offer Not Divulged

Progressives to Discuss Their Leadership

Saskatoon, Oct. 23.—It was established on Saturday at the meeting in Regina of the Provincial Committee of the Progressive Party of Saskatchewan that a definite offer of representation to the Liberal Cabinet had been made to Progressives as an inducement for fusion between the two parties.

A statement that this was so was made at the meeting by R. H. Milliken, secretary of the Progressive Party in the Province. The exact nature of the proposals was not divulged owing to the presence of the press.

Winnipeg, Oct. 23.—(Canadian Press)—The future leadership of the Progressive Party in the House of Commons probably will be considered at the meeting here on November 10 of Progressive members. It is authoritatively stated that the present leader, Hon. T. A. Crear, finds it impossible to continue to occupy the positions of president of the United Grain Growers and leader of the party.

This is amplified by the statement of Thomas Teare, retiring vice-

WOULD BE TRICK, DECLARES THOMAS

J. H. Thomas, head of the railway men, in a speech yesterday, said that the election for mid-week would be a "contemptible trick" and this view is apparently universal among the Laborites, who see a plot to reduce the Labor vote.

The Conservatives, who favor a mid-week date, repudiate such intention. They contend it will be impossible to arrange the election for Saturday, November 11, and that if it is postponed to the following Saturday, there will not be time to pass the Irish legislation before the stipulated date.

SUNDAY A DAY OF POLITICAL ACTIVITY

London, Oct. 23.—There was no Sunday for Bonar Law yesterday nor at the headquarters of the political party leaders conferred with Bonar Law at his residence, while the political offices were filled with members of Parliament discussing the situation, described as complex beyond the memory of the oldest members.

The Coalition Unionists who supported Mr. Chamberlain are organizing a dinner for to-night at which their future will be considered.

London, Oct. 23.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Rt. Hon. J. R. Clynes, leader of the Parliamentary Labor Party, in an interview here declared that the allegation that Labor intended to attack industry was false.

"Industry suffered enough under the Coalition Government," he said.

M'KENNA MAY BE CHANCELLOR

An interesting announcement is that Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, will preside at the Conservative meeting to be held in the city of London. This naturally is taken to mean that Mr. McKenna, who has been a lifelong Liberal and was Chancellor in the Asquith Cabinet during the first year of the war, will be a candidate supporting Bonar Law, and it is taken for granted that, if elected, he will be offered his old position.

A Disappointment—Lloyd George's failure in his Leeds speech to outline any definite policy is a disappointment to the political world. The probability is that the former Premier himself had been caught unawares, while it is foreseen that a general election could not much longer be delayed, hardly anybody expected such a widespread and determined revolt on the part of the Conservative wing of the Coalition as to force the Premier to resign and resort to such a purely personal campaign.

SUDDEN CHANGE CAUSE OF CONFUSION

The suddenness of the whole thing has thrown nearly all the parties into confusion with the single exception of the Labor Party, which long ago decided to support the Coalition and whose platform is not affected by recent developments. Moreover, the need to get Irish legislation disposed of before December 6 gives little time for an election campaign, which must be conducted with lightning-like speed. There is no great question before the public that would make a good election plank.

Labor's Expectations—The position the Labor Party will hold in the new Parliament is among the most interesting questions. They number seventy-seven in the present Parliament, but are now much better organized and expect to return at least 150 members to the new House, and possibly as many as 250. The Laborites and Asquith Liberals might have much greater success if they could arrive at a working agreement and not fight each other, but the Laborites have always refused such an agreement and as both parties insist on running candidates, the result is a number of three-cornered contests in which the Conservatives may win on a majority vote through the splitting of the Progressive vote between Labor and the Liberals.

LORD R. CECIL'S PLANS OF INTEREST

Another interesting point is what part Lord Robert Cecil will take. He is a Unionist but has long opposed the whole Coalition policy and has in his political outlook more affinity with the Liberal and Labor parties than with the policy represented by Lloyd George or the late Coalition.

It would be content to throw in his lot with the Free Liberals or Labor, he could almost certainly count upon being accepted as a leader.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—Voting is taking place to-day in the riding of Southeast Toronto to fill the vacancy in the Ontario Legislature caused by the death of John O'Neill. There is no outstanding issue involved and the Farmers' Government has not even put a candidate in the field, although Claude Peetre, straight Liberal, it is understood, will support the Government if elected.

Both Colonel John A. Currie, the Conservative, and John Callahan, independent Liberal, have made an issue in their campaigns of the Ontario Temperance Act.

Trevore Maguire, Labor, is also a candidate in southeast Toronto.

Los Angeles, Oct. 23.—Herbert Wilson, former evangelist, alleged mail robber and convicted murderer, who a few days ago led a break from the Los Angeles county jail, will continue "to plot and plan to get his liberty," according to newspapermen. "I long for my liberty, would risk my life for it, and eventually expect to get it if I can do so without taking human life," he was quoted as having said.

GOLD BASIS FOR CANADIAN CURRENCY

Legislation Expected at Forthcoming Session of Parliament

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—(Canadian Press)—The coming session of Parliament, it is thought, is going to see the re-issuance of some remaining financial war legislation and the formal return of Canadian currency to a gold basis. At the present time, under war legislation still in force, the Government is not required to redeem Dominion notes in gold.

In addition, there is an embargo on the export of gold, an embargo first imposed by Order-in-Council under the War Measures Act and then, after the war, continued by statute. These steps were taken to conserve in the country the available supply of gold and have been continued during the reconstruction period to ensure against a depletion of the gold reserve.

Recent spectacular improvements in Canadian exchange, however, are raising the question whether it would not be advisable to return to pre-war conditions in regard to redemption of gold. When Canadian funds were at a heavy discount in the United States there existed the probability, had the war legislation not been continued, that the gold reserve would be heavily depleted by presentation of Canadian notes. But instead of being at a discount, the Canadian dollar is now at a slight premium as compared with the American dollar and it is argued there is not the same necessity for continuance of the legislation.

The question is one which Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, will no doubt consider carefully on his return and any act recommended by Parliament would be dependent on financial conditions existing at the time.

work. To study it in relation to tuberculosis he went, in poor health, to the mountains of the Kalmuk population of Russian Asia. To those of them who are infected in the mountain steppes tuberculosis is unknown. But when in contact with the outside world another story is to be told. Their experience is that of our own aborigines. So it is interesting to note his conclusions that the "extreme sensitiveness of the Kalmuks" (to tuberculosis) "must depend on the fact that they have suffered no natural vaccination on the steppes which would support the idea that some natural vaccine exists among us."

The overcoming of the disharmonies of life was to Metchnikoff the aim and end of science. He looked for the day when human beings would accomplish their vital cycle and when "in a more or less distant future humanity will be freed from the principal diseases which oppress it."

His "Life" is a record of pure singlehearted devotion to science as the handmaiden of Humanity.

TRADE UNION AUTONOMY.

Winnipeg, Oct. 23.—Sentiment strongly in favor of breaking away from the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America and joining the Canadian Federation of Labor was expressed at a meeting of local telegraphers here to-day under the auspices of the recently formed branch of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of Canada.

"Autonomy in their own affairs is what the telegraphers are seeking," declared Harry Pryde, of Calgary, organizer for Alberta. "The only way to have this will be to separate from the international."

MOHAMMEDANS WORSTED BY HINDUS

Calcutta, Oct. 23.—The Muharram religious procession passed off quietly in Calcutta, but serious rioting occurred at Telinipara (about twenty miles from Calcutta) inhabited mostly by jute millhands.

A Mohammedan procession collided with a meeting of Hindus outside a Hindu temple.

The police ordered the procession not to move past the temple, but the Mohammedans pressed on, assaulted the police, and started stoning the Hindus.

An exchange of brickbats followed, in which the Hindus worsted the Mohammedans, some of whom were armed with lathis (bamboo sticks) and other weapons.

The Hindus then began looting the Telinipara bazar, the inhabitants of which fled. A hundred shops and fifty houses were ransacked.

Armed police were hurried up, and restored order.

Isolated cases of assault occurred until morning, but the police have the situation under control.

The casualties, as far as can be ascertained are: one man killed and fifteen men and women injured. The condition of four of the injured is serious.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—Poisoning which is believed to have been caused by milk which had been kept too long in a grocery store refrigerator caused a panic yesterday in the household of Mrs. N. E. Mowry. BANK ROBBERS FAILED IN ATTEMPT Winnipeg, Oct. 23.—After gaining entrance through a window and marking off the vault preparatory to making use of explosives, bandits were unsuccessful in their attempt to rob the Holmfeld branch of the Bank of Toronto last Wednesday night, according to information received here. They evidently were frightened away from their work, although before leaving they obtained some furs and silverware from a dwelling house attached to the bank. Holmfeld is a southern Manitoba town close to the international border.

PROHIBITION UPHELD BY DR. SALEEBY

British Scientist Delivers Addresses in Prince Edward Island

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Oct. 23.—Dr. Saleeby, British scientist, who is in Prince Edward Island to deliver a series of lectures on alcoholism, addressed three meetings here yesterday. He referred to a question reported to have been made by Premier Taschereau of Quebec, who inquired why, if conditions in the Old Country were as bad as the doctor said, he should not stay home and help to remedy such conditions. In reply Dr. Saleeby said:

"We are coming over to Canada to get the prescription for our own people, and I assure you we will not get it in Quebec."

The doctor contended that Canada, by the example she set with prohibition, might yet save the rest of the Empire from the danger which threatens it.

Evolution and Health

By Robt. Connel.

In the discussion about evolution which has broken out afresh in these days when Mr. Wells and Mr. Eysenck are the protagonists it is well to be reminded of the part played by the evolutionary theory in modern prophylaxis. Such a reminder comes in a very delightful way in the recently published "Life of E. I. Metchnikoff."

In his life he has presented to the public an evident work of intellectual sympathy as well as affection. For forty years he was a constant companion and assistant in his scientific and literary honors. He had been previously married, but the union had been childless. He devoted with all the force of his energetic and impulsive nature to science he had a depth of emotional life which found itself drawn out by music and by the companionship of home.

But to the world in general, the chief interest of Metchnikoff will always be in the field of his scientific researches and discoveries. Early fascinated by science, it was the publication of Darwin's "Origin of Species" which gave him the clue and inspiration to his life work. The influence of evolutionary conceptions was still further deepened by Muller's "For Darwin," in which embryology was emphasized as the foundation of organic genetics. Beginning with the study of one-celled organisms he passed upwards to man through the various grades of man, and in this field he was made clear to him those essential characters which are common to all living beings. He thus established the fact of a real communion of life as concrete evidence of the theory of evolution.

To this study of cellular life was due his great contribution to medical science—the revelation of the place in the body's well-being of the phagocytes, those white blood-cells whose business he showed to be the destruction of invading microbes, Amoeba-like in their character they engulf and digest nutritive and harmful substances alike. The inflammation which is set up by an injury is but a name descriptive of this condition of warfare; and indeed, the curative reaction of the organism.

Further investigation showed that the phagocytes are of two kinds, a smaller which attacks the microbes and a larger which deals with the toxins and weakened cells. The destructive work of these larger ones he found to be the cause of atrophy and senile decay. He had struck a revolutionary note in pathological science. Pursuing the course of his investigations he studied those bacteria which occupy the intestines, and partly from laboratory research and partly from observation of the longevity of the Bulgarian peasantry who use some milk as a considerable article of diet he came to the conclusion that they are the source of the poisons which effect cellular enfeeblement. This microbe life is weakened by the presence of acids, and partly from laboratory research and partly from observation of the longevity of the Bulgarian peasantry who use some milk as a considerable article of diet he came to the conclusion that they are the source of the poisons which effect cellular enfeeblement. SWINDLER 'MAGNATE' BUSY IN LONDON

London, Oct. 23.—Young men with some money to invest who are looking for employment are being warned against a plausible Canadian of middle height, stout build, and fair hair going grey.

The Canadian flourishes documents that purport to show that he has large business connections in Canada and the United States, but when inquiry was made at the Montreal address that figured in large letters on his business note paper it was found that he was not known there.

He appears to belong to the profession that thrives on obtaining the confidence of the unwary.

E. W. Christie, a young ex-officer who came into contact with this individual, did not part with anything, but he related his experiences as a warning to others.

Mr. Christie answered an advertisement that appeared in a London morning newspaper inviting applications for the post of secretary to a Canadian business man.

Eventually an interview was arranged. But when the final contract was put before Mr. Christie he noticed that one of the conditions of appointment was that he should advance his employer $500 in respect of expenses in taking him to Canada. He refused to supply the money.

In the meantime he had made the acquaintance of another man who, he gathered, had been persuaded to go into partnership with the "Canadian magnate" in a promotion in this country.

The two, it appeared, had met on the Continent, when the magnate was impressive. The other victim is still hoping to get back the considerable sum that he deposited.

The last, however, that was heard of the man was that he was in Scotland. He disappeared when his arrangement with Mr. Christie did not go through.

The Canadian authorities in London informed Mr. Christie that attempts to impose on the confidence of young Englishmen with business aspirations have been frequent of late.

YOUNG MAN FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

Halifax, Oct. 23.—Ralph Myles, of Halifax, was found guilty here Saturday of murdering Florence Myles, also of Halifax, on June 1.

The two had been keeping company for several months previously. Myles was found on June 2 unconscious, lying beside the dead body of the girl. Myles, in his defence, testified that he had shot her and then committed suicide. In a statement made after he and the girl were found, he claimed that the shooting followed a suicide pact.

WHY OUR BONDS SELL.

The bond dealers of Victoria have found it unnecessary to use more than one concrete fact in their commendable campaign of dispelling unwarranted pessimism.

That the last issue of bonds the city placed on the market was bid for by every large bond house in Canada and the United States and sold to the public on an equal basis with the leading cities of the Dominion.

This ought to be enough for most people. If the outsider with money to invest on good security jumps at the chance of buying Victoria's bonds he does not do so for sentimental reasons. He must be satisfied, and he would seem to be doubly assured in view of the fact that he has virtually been told by some elements here that there is little left to do but attend the community's funeral.

If the investor wants further information about general conditions and the state of trade and commerce throughout the country as a whole he easily recalls the fact that the Canadian dollar is back at par. He naturally contrasts this healthy sign with the fact that out of all the countries whose currency suffered from depreciated exchange as a result of gigantic war expenditures and after effects our own Canada was the first to recover.

On the other hand the investor buys Victoria's bonds without question because he has found out that the staple industries of Vancouver Island, which are so closely related to our own commercial standing, are operating under the most favorable conditions.

If Victoria as an investing field can make such an eminently satisfactory showing in the face of the broadcastings of blue ruin merchants, how much more prominent could she become in every respect were demonstrations of local faith to be more in keeping with conditions which are good enough for the outsider!

NOT TELLING

In good time, when the political mist of the moment shall have been dissolved, Mr. Lloyd George will leave nobody in doubt about his course of action. But it is unreasonable to suppose that he can shape a new programme in forty-eight hours. He resigned last Thursday and it can be taken for granted that he expected a rather different outcome from the Carlton Club gathering.

FOUR CENTS A MILE.

Just a little more than twelve months ago one read the schedule of fares which were in operation in the air service between London and Paris with a sort of feeling that this particular mode of travel would be reserved for the rich for many a long day to come. How aerial navigation has fooled the uninitiated and bids fair to fool us from month to month—year to year is too long a period for comparative purposes—is reflected in an announcement to the effect that the Daimler service which connects London with Berlin may be used by the ordinary mortal with a modest salary at the cost of four accusing him of attempting to split the Conservative Party. It was long ago ordained that he and the reactionaries should part company. It was only an improvised alliance at best. None the less he has a right to tell the people—to whom he directs his own accounting and by whom he desires to be judged—without reserve of any kind just how he was assisted in doing their bidding in the nation's interests by the moderate Conservative who more willingly suffered himself to be led by the author of the limehouse speech than the die-hards. If, in the doing of this, he takes the opportunity to speak his mind and reminds the people that many of the land reforms which he advocated in 1911, and for which special privilege promised him eternal damnation, were actually brought about by himself during the war, he most certainly cannot be blamed.

Of course his opponents want to know what Mr. Lloyd George is going to do. They know he is capable of springing a few surprises and they would much prefer to be prepared before the election. But the little Welshman is fighting for his political existence. His back is against the wall. Neither party obligation nor ministerial reticence need be heeded. He can choose his own battleground and select his own army. And if he goes through with his general suggestion of appealing to all progressive elements among the people he will seriously jeopardize the chances of his opponents.

LABOR AT NEWPORT.

Conservative success in the Newport division of Monmouthshire, will have to be regarded as something for the die-hards to crow about. Of all the Welsh constituencies this one at least might have been considered secure for Labor. On the other hand, and in view of the peculiar political temper of the moment, the result of the by-election is less of a victory for Toryism than it is a reverse for Labor. This is the moreso because the field was not invaded by a Coalitionist at all. As a matter of fact the straight Liberal candidate polled five thousand less than the Conservative and less than three thousand short of the Laborite in a total poll of 35,781. Apart from the possible significance of the result, however, it should be remembered that most of the campaigning took place before the Manchester speech of the Prime Minister. And by-elections are poor barometers of political strength in Britain.

OUR POTATOES.

Saanich seldom errs in its progressive movements. Several tangible evidences of far-sightedness in that locality are obvious to the naked eye. Many others are invisible. Its latest venture is the formation of a Potato Association. To the uninitiated there may appear to be no justification for such a body. The average consumer of the humble "spud" seldom reflects upon its scientific development. It usually reaches him in final form according to his own special taste. He treats it in a perfunctory manner and comments only if its culinary preparation has disappointed him. But the good people of Saanich are concerned about the future of the tuber. Standardization of seed and general protection for the Vancouver Island crop constitute the joint objective of the new body. Benefits are expected in due course. Meanwhile our neighbors are to be congratulated upon another progressive movement. It should create new respect for their wisdom and endow the "spud" with added dignity.

REPLIES TO REEVE.

To the Editor:—I notice our Reeve criticisms of my letter of October 8, last, wherein I questioned his authority, or of what I termed, or Parents' Teachers' Association, to support the resolution demanding the taking over of the total cost of education of British Columbia by the segregation of Mayors and Reeves assembled at the Kamloops Municipal Convention. His reply to my inquiries reveals a novel interpretation of the powers of a Reeve, more despotic and arrogant in its application than the powers of a limited monarchy, namely, his assumption of authority to pledge his municipality to transfer the enormous amount of $1,700,000 from the municipalities, to the Oliver Government for education (last year's cost, 1921, of education in B. C. being over the seven million dollar mark, as above outlined). This is contained in the closing paragraph of his remarkable explanation of his powers as Reeve during his yearly term of office: I quote Reeve Watson's words in full:— "to what ward in Saanich authorized me to take this stand I might remind my friend that I was elected Reeve by a large majority in every ward except that which he lives in a fact upon which I need not comment."

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mr. Lloyd George does not see the menace of British Labor which Mr. Austen Chamberlain sees. The British Labor Party is not run by Communists and the "red" element is very small.

Mr. Bonar Law expects the coming election to be a "pretty stiff tussle." Nobody better than he has had so many opportunities to study the mettle of the man who proposes to tell the story "from day to day and from week to week" until the election is over.

It is difficult to understand how France can consider the downfall of the Lloyd George Government a victory for French policy. Surely the Quai d'Orsay has not so soon forgotten the terms of Mr. Bonar Law's letter to The Times. He is the new Premier and he hinted that a time might come when Great Britain would look to her own more intimate affairs instead of acting as policeman for Europe. The ex-Prime Minister never further than this:

Communism in France is sadly in need of new vigor. From a membership of 131,000 two years ago it has now declined to a roll that contains no more than 78,000 names. The gentlemen who are masquerading as a Government at Moscow had better make hay while the Bolshevik sun shines in that country. The time is not far distant when the long-suffering Mayors will want something more than Lenin and Trotzky can give him.

CHINESE SEGREGATION.

To the Editor:—Kindly allow me to make the following suggestion to the school trustees in their endeavor to settle the above difficulty: Keep King's Road, Railway Street and Rock Bay Schools open, and instead of sending only Chinese pupils to these schools, send the pupils ranking lowest in every class in every school within a reasonable distance of the above named schools. This method would help the pupils, and also the teachers who would be thus relieved of the real "drawbacks" of their classes. If this would result in the moving of any Chinese pupils, surely the parents would not object, supporting the application of the railway.

THEIR SPEED LIMIT.

To the Editor:—Referring to the picture of the SS. Empress of Russia and SS. President Jackson and the article appearing in your issue of Wednesday, October 18: I wish to state officially, and emphatically that the speed limit has not been removed from our Shipping Board vessels as you indicate. Our vessels are strictly held down to a fixed number of revolutions considerably less than their limit. Our Masters have instructions that under no circumstances must the fixed speed be exceeded. Any thought of racing or attempting to exceed the speed of the "Empress" boats does not exist. I might add that in order to get away from this apparent racing and apparent jealous competition, the Admiral Line has re-arranged the sailing schedule and effective December 9, the vessels will no longer be operated alongside the C. P. O. S. vessels.

Besides destroying the scenic and residential value of the southern part of the bay, establishment of railway terminals there would destroy the fishing in the Cowichan River to the detriment of the large Indian population, he asserted. The Corfield Property. Premier Oliver asked whether there would be any objection if the area asked for were reduced so as not to interfere with the 1909 reserve. Mr. Maclean, then, would have none outside of the property of Mr. Corfield, which represents two-thirds of the whole area.

There are business men in charge of this Government now, the Premier replied. There will be no title to these lands until they complete their undertakings. "It seems to me that they want a very great big piece of land," Mr. Maclean said. "There is no doubt about that, they want the land, and they are after it," the Premier replied. Mr. Pritchard told the executive that he bought land along Cowichan Bay eighteen months ago on the expectation that nothing would be done to interfere with the access to it from the water.

It was also pointed out that it was planned to manufacture timber at the terminals of the railway at Cowichan Bay. Those who came with Mr. Maclean to protest against the grant were: G. A. TRACED ORIGIN AND EVOLUTION OF POLITICAL PARTIES

T. W. Cornett Gave Fine Address Before Liberal Women's Forum

The Origin and Evolution of Political Parties was the subject of an unusually interesting address delivered by T. W. Cornett of the Victoria High School teaching staff before the Liberal Women's Forum at its meeting on Monday afternoon. In opening Mr. Cornett made the following statements, which he proceeded to clarify with a historical sketch: First, the advent of political parties as they are now known, was incident upon the advent of democratic government; two, the changes in the aims and the composition of political parties were incident upon the steps in the development of democracy and upon the extension of representations; three, although representative government gave people the right to elect it did not provide organs of authority; and so political parties became the organs of articulation; four, in Britain the first party was formed by party, a political phenomenon in a certain sense, peculiar to the British Empire.

Holy Roman Empire. To give a proper understanding of the struggle for democratic government which had been a feature in Northern European history, Mr. Cornett took his hearers back to the time of the Roman Empire, in whom all power centred. The decline of this Empire resulted in the functions of government being performed by the Pope until the invasion by the Norsemen and Mohammedans necessitated the appointment of the Emperor of the Holy Roman Empire. The speaker traced the gradual decline of this governmental power and its relation to the French revolution, and then went on to deal with Britain's development along the lines of constitutional government.

Whigs and Tories. The Cavaliers and Roundheads under the Stuart dynasty in the reign of Charles II. became known as Tories and Whigs respectively. Whigs were the party through a constitutional monarch, and under his guidance party government was inaugurated, the system being later perfected by Sir Robert Walpole, who became the first "Prime Minister" of the British Government was one wherein Parliament was supreme, continued Mr. Cornett, "nevertheless Britain was far from being a democracy. About one man in ten had a vote in both houses and England the unfranchised were growing restive. In England Pitt was moving in the direction of extending the franchise when the French Revolution broke out to occupy his attention for the rest of his days, and by its excesses to discredit democratic movements for well nigh half a century."

Birth of Labor Party. "About 1830, the reform movement began, and an extension of the franchise became an outstanding subject of debate in the Houses of Parliament. There were those who favoured rapid extension of the franchise and those who believed in moving slowly; the first group came to be known as Reformers or Liberals, and the second as Conservatives. Owing to the presence of but two parties in the Parliament the system of party government worked smoothly until 1866, when fifty members representing the Labor party took their seats in the House of Commons. During the war a Coalition Government became necessary. And now what? Like Mr. Asquith 'we must wait and see.'"

Mrs. R. R. Taylor moved, and Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw seconded the vote of thanks to the speaker, and Mrs. Styles Sehl sang delightfully to the accompaniment played by Mrs. Chas. Conyers. Mr. Walter Scott presided, and there was a very large attendance of members.

Victoria Boy Is WED IN SOUTH

Marriage in Los Angeles of Guy Ridgway-Wilson and Miss Lillian Clark

A wedding of interest in Victoria took place in St. James Church, Los Angeles, on Wednesday evening, October 21, when Miss Lillian D. Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Clark, Vancouver, and Mr. Guy A. Ridgway-Wilson, son of Col. and Mrs. Ridgway-Wilson, of Victoria. The church had been artistically decorated with flowers by the ladies' guild of the church, and the bride, who entered with her father, looked very charming in her gown of broad crepe with satin collar and train and beautiful veil of rose point lace held in place by orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Opheelia roses and lilies of the valley and was preceded down the aisle by her sister Wilma, who, as maid of honor, wore a frock of pale pink and silver, with large black bow and carried a bouquet of pink roses and maidenhair fern.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Hayden Ridgway-Wilson. A reception was held after the ceremony at the temporary residence of the bride's parents, where masses of American Beauty roses and cactus dahlias beautified the reception hall and drawing room, the dining table being arranged with pink roses and white tulle, caught with sprays of rosebuds and maidenhair fern.

Among the guests, numbering about thirty, were several former residents of Victoria, including Mr. Sherwood Dresser, Mr. Dudley Geoghegan and Miss Ethel Morris, of Victoria.

The bride left on her honeymoon in a smart navy blue tricot suit with fur choker and "smail silver" hat. After November 1, Mr. and Mrs. Ridgway-Wilson will be at home to their friends at 609 South Coronado Street, Los Angeles.

DUCHESS WON PRIZE FOR HAND-KNIT SOCKS

A pair of baby's socks she knitted herself won the Duchess of Devonshire a second prize at a handicrafts exhibition she opened at Chatsworth Institute, Edensor. A thoroughly domesticated duchess, she also knitted a jumper for exhibition, but this failed to win a prize.

There were nearly 1,000 exhibits, mostly sent by tenants of employees and their families on the Duke of Devonshire's famous "Chatsworth estate."

"There is nothing more likely to make country life more attractive than these exhibitions," said the duchess, "or more likely to stop people leaving for the towns."

DICKENS PICTURE AT ARTS EXHIBITION

An oil painting which aroused much interest and admiration among lovers of Dickens in Eastern Canada is one of the exhibits by R. Boyd MacCall at the Arts and Crafts exhibition at Lichfield, Eng. The painting, "The Return of Steerforth," was inspired by Dickens' "David Copperfield" and depicted the death-kneeling by the side of his faithless friend, and the remains of Peggotty's hut form an excellent background. "The Return of Steerforth" is exceptionally well executed, being among the masterpieces of the artist.

IF WINTER COMES INSTALMENT NUMBER 83 BY A. S. M. HUTCHINSON

Copyrighted—Published by arrangement with British & Colonial Press, Ltd.

"Then he settled down and told me. And this is what he told me. 'When he was out in France this girl I'd seen—this Effie, as he called her, Effie Bright—had come to live as companion to his wife. It appears he more or less got her the job. He'd seen her at the office with her father and he'd taken a tremendous fancy to her. A jolly kid, that was the expression he used, and he said he was awfully fond of her just as he might be of a jolly little sister. He got her some other job previously with some friends or other, and then the old lady there died and the girl came to his place while he was away. Something like that. Anyway, she came. She came somewhere about October 15, and she left early in March following, just over a year ago. His wife got fed up with her and got rid of her—that's what Sabre told her, and Sabre was at home at the time. Mark that, old man, because it's important. Sabre was at home at the time—about three weeks on leave."

"Very well. The girl got the sack and he went back to France. She got another job somewhere as companion again. He doesn't quite know where. He thinks it's Bournemouth. Anyway, that's nothing to do with it. Well, he got wounded and discharged from the Army, as you know, and in February he was lying at home again with his wife in the conditions. I described to you when I began. He said nothing to me about the conditions—about the terms, what Sabre told me, and I've told you what I saw. It's important because it was exactly into the situation as I then saw it that came to pass. This—"

"The very week after I'd been down there, his wife, reading a letter at breakfast one morning, gave a kind of a snort (as I can imagine it), and chucked the letter over to him and said, 'Ha! There's your wonderful Miss Bright for you! What did I tell you? What do you think of that? Ha!'"

"Those were her very words, and her very snorts and what they meant—that 'Your wonderful Miss Bright for you' meant—was, as he explained to me, that when he was home on leave, with the girl in the house, they were frequently having words about her, because he thought his wife was a bit sharp with her, and his wife, for her part, said he was forever sticking up for her."

"What do you think of that? Ha!" and who chucked the letter over to him, and from what I know of it, you can imagine her sitting bolt upright, bridling with virtuous presence confirmed, watching him, while he read it."

"While he read it, Sabre said the letter was the most frightfully pathetic document he could ever have imagined. Snuggled, he said, and stained, and he told me that if the writer—that girl—this Effie Bright—was crying and incoherent with distress when she wrote it. And she no doubt was. She said she'd got into terrible trouble. She'd got a little baby. Sabre said it was awful to him, that was, he had on in every sentence calling it 'a little baby'—never a child, or just a baby, but always 'a little baby,' 'my little baby.' He said it was awful. She said it was born in December—our remembrance, old man, it was the previous March she'd got the sack from them—and that she'd been living in lodgings with it, and that now she was well enough to move, and had come to the absolute end of her money, she was being turned out and was at her wit's end with despair and nearly out of her mind to know what to do and all that kind of thing. She said her father wouldn't have anything to do with her, and no one would have anything to do with her—so long as she kept her 'little baby.' That was her plight; no one would have anything to do with her while she had the baby. Her father was willing to take her home, and some kind people had offered to take her into service, but the clergyman where she was had said there were other places he could get her, but only, all of them, if she would give up the baby and put it out in December—our remembrance, Sabre said, and cried over it so you could hardly read it, she said. 'And, oh, Mrs. Sabre, I can't, I can't, I simply can't give up my little baby. . . . He's mine,' she said, 'He looks at me, and knows me, and stretches out his tiny little hands to me, and I can't give him up. I can't let my little baby go. What ever I've done, I'm his mother and he's my little baby and I can't let him go.'"

"Sabre said it was awful. I can believe it was. I'd seen the girl, and I'd seen her stooping over her baby (like I told you) and I can well believe awful was the word for it. Poor soul!"

"And then she said—I can remember this bit—then she said, 'And so, in my terrible distress, dear Mrs. Sabre, I am throwing myself on your mercy, and begging you, imploring you, for the goodness of God to take in me and my little baby and let me work for you and do anything for you and bless you and ask God's blessing for ever upon you—and teach my little baby to pray for you as—something or other, I forget. And then she said a lot of hysterical things about working her fingers to the bone for Mrs. Sabre, and knowing she was a wicked girl and not fit to be spoken to by any one, and was willing to sleep in a shed in the garden and never to open her mouth, and all that sort of thing, and all the way through 'my little baby,' 'my little baby.' Sabre said it was awful. Also she said—I'm telling you just what Sabre told me, and he told me this bit deliberately, as you might say; also she said that she didn't want to pretend she was more sinned against than sinning, but that if Mrs. Sabre knew the truth she might judge her less harshly and be more willing to help her. Yes, Sabre told me that."

 A brilliant and powerful interpretation of human progress is Alfred Korzybski's "Manhood of Humanity," or "The Science and Art of Human Engineering." The fundamentals of the evolution of man are brought, for the first time, into the field of exact sciences, particularly of engineering. Human engineering is defined by the author as "the science and art of directing energies and capacities of human beings to the advancement of human well-being." As will be seen, the scientific study of man opens many fields of research. It ultimately embraces all the great qualities and problems of man, and takes into consideration all the characteristics which make man what he is. The writer employs the terms of mathematical concepts in order that his reasoning may be clear and exact. To follow his reasoning it is not necessary to be a highly-trained specialist; the only qualities required are: candor, an open mind, freedom from prejudice, thoughtfulness, a real desire for truth, and common sense.

A book written with a keen insight into public affairs, "Public Opinion" by Walter Lippman, for various reasons, is one of the most important of the day. The two words of the title used frequently in every day conversation, describe a force which governs political and social relations. The writer of the volume describes how public opinion is formed, how it works, where it fails, and how it can work better. He deals also with the question of the subject as the underlying principles of censorship, propaganda, publicity, electioneering, news and intelligence work. "Each of us lives and works on a small part of the earth's surface, moves in a small circle, and of the vast distances, knows only a few intimacies. Of any public event that has wide effects we see at best only a phase and an aspect. It inevitably covers a longer reach of time, a greater number of things than we can directly observe. They have therefore, to be pieced together out of what others have reported and what we can imagine." It follows, therefore, that our opinions should be as intelligent as possible. Lippman in his discussion of Organized Intelligence, shows how Public Opinion may become a more vital, because wiser, force in the future of democracy.

"Every citizen ought to develop a tidy and perfectly integrated mind." This is the statement of James Garnett in his book, "Education and the World Citizen." The book is divided into three parts: the introduction deals with the history of education; the second part with educational aims and the third outlines a system designed to achieve these aims. The author treats of education from a scientific standpoint in the light of modern knowledge of psychology. The National Scholarship system outlined in the concluding portion of the volume brings education within reach of young people of ability, and opens up the field of higher education to the student of little means. Mr. Garnett has had years of experience in educational work in England. His clear, forceful style of writing aids in making his book of vital interest.

A somewhat unrest of the day is Lathrop Stoddard's "Revolt Against Civilization." The author says: "The revolutionary unrest which afflicts the entire world today, goes far deeper than is generally supposed. Its root-cause is not Russian Bolshevism, nor the late war, nor the French Revolution, but a process of racial impoverishment, which destroyed the great civilizations in the past, and which threatens to destroy our own." "The book is to reveal the unrealized gravity of the menace of revolution and to advance a sane constructive social program, to save civilization in the light of those biological discoveries, confirmed and amplified by investigations in other fields of science, especially psychology."

Two small books by Thorstein Veblen are worthy of notice in this group. The writer will be remembered as the author of "The Theory of the Leisure Class," which has been described as "the most embarrassing book an intelligent person can read." In these two recent books, Mr. Veblen goes to the heart of present-day industry, "The Engineers and the Price System." It is a survey of the present system of the absentee ownership of industry, which the writer claims, engenders revolution. Under the present system the production engineers are a "scattered lot of fairly contented, subaltern, working piece-men under orders from deputies of absentee owners." The engineering force of the great technical industries are still nearly out of touch and out of sympathy with the technical men, and are bound in rival organizations. Mr. Veblen points out the need of a common understanding and solidarity of sentiment between the working class and the technicians. An accurate knowledge of the meaning and aims of Socialism is a necessity at the present moment. "The Meaning of Socialism" is a compact form. The author, J. Bruce Glasier, is chairman of the Independent Labor Party in England and a member of the International Socialist Bureau. He is an ardent exponent of his subject; he believes that Socialism is "not only right but beautiful, and is the only system of society in which mankind can attain to true freedom, and true human grace and dignity." Whatever his prejudices, no reader can finish this book, without a conviction that he had before him the truth. The book aims to present a view of the main political and economic problems of Socialists; to discover the true origin and nature of Socialism, and finally to make some speculations as to its future.

"The Economic Basis of Politics" by Charles A. Beard is a book which gives to the general public a comprehensive knowledge of an important and little understood subject. It gives the reasons for the various forms of government, the causes of revolution, and describes the material with which statesmen have to work. It consists of three lectures: "The Doctrines of the Philosophers, Economic Groups and the Structure of the State," "The Doctrine of Political Equality," "Three general conclusions are reached: First, a survey of political philosophy supports the proposition that there is a vital relation between the forms of the state and the distribution of property. Secondly, the study of the evolution of government shows a recognition of the economic class in the creation of political organization. Finally, modern democracy, which considers all equal, differs sharply from the philosophy and practice of past centuries. There is no type of man in industry that I have not met and heard of through the end of his string." In the statement of Arthur Pound in his book "The Iron Man in Industry." This being so, the writer is admirably fitted to write of the needs of the industrial worker. EMPEROR OF RUSSIA HERE ON SCHEDULE FROM THE FAR EAST

C.P.S.S. Liner Made Quarantine Nine Days Eight Hours From Yokohama

Brings 6,000 Bales of Silk Valued at $7,000,000

Nine days and eight hours after clearing from Yokohama the C. P. S. S. Empress of Russia, Captain A. Hosken, R. I. R. made William Head Quarantine Station this morning. The liner cleared at 12 noon from Yokohama on October 14 and reached the quarantine station by 2 o'clock this morning. The run was made without event, but stiff breezes were the general rule. Beam seas made going heavy for a portion of the way.

The Empress of Russia carries a fair passenger list and a general cargo of some 4,000 tons. She carries a silk shipment of 6,000 bales, raw and silk goods valued at over $7,000,000. Special provisions are under way to clear the silk cargo for the silk train at Vancouver, and get aboard its special across the continent with every despatch. The silk shipment is one of the largest carried by the Russia in several trips. Forty-six first class, twenty-nine second and two hundred steerage completed the passenger list. The liner carried a heavy mail.

The voyage was made without event, except that the heavy weather encountered was less even than had been the case recently. Beam seas and brisk winds emptied a few seats at the dinner table, but did little to disturb the course of the liner, which reached port on average time to a minute. Indeed the present crossing of the Russia is within twenty minutes of the time taken on her last eastward run, when she was that much longer.

The Russia averaged 19 knots for the entire voyage. Next to the 6,000 bale silk cargo the liner carried 200 tons of heavy goods, and the usual consignments of rice and other freight.

One of the steerage passengers, a German, turned suddenly mad yesterday, and was lodged under safekeeping. He will be taken to Vancouver, and there handed over to the authorities. The big timer docked at 8.30 a. m. at Pier 2, lying up in rear of the Harrison freighter Astronomer, clearing again at 9.20 a. m.

PRESIDENT JACKSON HERE FROM ORIENT

Admiral-Oriental Ship Steamed Into Quarantine at 12.45 p.m. To-day

Ship Kept Close in Wake of S.S. Empress of Russia This Trip

Actual running time of the Admiral-Oriental fleet from Yokohama to William Head was 9 days, 14 hours and 45 minutes, the ship steaming into quarantine here at 6.45 o'clock this afternoon from Japan.

The same run from Yokohama was made by the Empress of Russia in 9 days, 8 hours, the C. P. S. S. ship making quarantine at 3 o'clock this morning.

The Empress of Russia, therefore, had an easy six-hour lead over the President Jackson, which is the fastest ship in the Admiral-Oriental service. Capt. A. J. Henson, of the Russia, admitted an average speed of 19 knots for the voyage.

The President Jackson is said to have observed the "golden rule" of 17.5.

Travel eastbound at this season of the year is very light, and the President Jackson, as in the case of the Empress of Russia, carried very few saloon passengers.

Her through cargo included 4,100 bales of raw silk, which will be transhipped at Seattle and sent over the Union Pacific.

The Jackson sailed from Yokohama three hours after the departure of the Empress of Russia, and kept close behind the C. P. S. S. ship during the run across the Pacific. At one point on the trans-Pacific run the Jackson was less than 100 miles behind the Russia.

Capt. Charles G. Hansen completes his first round voyage as master of the President Jackson, he having gone out when Capt. M. M. Jensen was given a lay over. Capt. Jensen, it is understood, will again take over the command of the Jackson when she clears on her next outbound voyage.

Directors Pass Resolution on Death of Wm. Agnew

A resolution of condolence was passed by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at today's luncheon at the Dominion Hotel in connection with the death of William Agnew, who was an active and faithful member of the organization and its predecessors for many years. The directors paid a high tribute to Mr. Agnew.

The directors agreed to co-operate with the Sidney Board of Trade and will send a representative with the delegation to ask the Government to pave the East Saanich Road from Freed's Cross Road to Beacon Avenue, as well as paving Beacon Avenue. There is a great deal of incensed traveling owing to the ferry service and natural development of the section.

The Chamber accepted the invitation of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce to attend the big Fruit Exposition in Seattle November 11-19.

A letter was read from the Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia complimenting the Victoria Chamber on being the first to move in the matter of land settlement and immigration by appointing a committee and going ahead with the scheme.

The Montreal Board of Trade asked the directors to approve a resolution objecting to the stamp tax on unaccepted bills of exchange and relating to sales tax and failures. The board approved the former, but not the latter.

General R. P. Clark was asked to represent the directors at the meeting to be held on Tuesday, October 31, to form the Provincial Historical Society.

REV. T. H. MITCHELL CONDUCTS JUBILEE SERVICES HERE

First Presbyterian Church Marks Sixty Years of Activity

On the occasion of its sixtieth anniversary, the First Presbyterian Church of Victoria, the oldest Presbyterian Church in Canada west of Winnipeg, is now holding a notable commemoration.

Coming from the second oldest Presbyterian Church west of Winnipeg, St. Andrew's, New Westminster, the Rev. T. H. Mitchell conducted the services yesterday following diamond jubilee celebrations recently in his own church.

He preached at both morning and evening services in an eloquent and forceful manner emphasizing the function of the church, which was his subject in the morning.

An enjoyable time is anticipated, and the congregation attended the morning service, while at the evening service the church was filled to capacity. "An Ideal Democracy" was the subject of every address brought out. He first gave the four distinctive marks of an ideal democracy, enumerating the following: pre-accepted intelligence of the people, self control, co-operation, and good will.

To-night the First Presbyterian congregation will celebrate the diamond jubilee with a congregational reunion at the church, in which all former members of the church, with the friends of the congregation, will join. Many bright speeches will be made, and a choir of the old members will render a musical programme, followed by a short social hour with light refreshments served by the Ladies' Aid. Premier Oliver will give a short address during the evening.

An enjoyable time is anticipated, and the reunion is expected to be the largest event in the history of the church.

The Rev. T. H. Mitchell, yesterday's special preacher, was inducted into St. Andrew's New Westminster, on June 15, 1920. Graduating from Toronto University, Rev. Mitchell studied at Knox College, Toronto, and Manitoba College, Winnipeg, and received the degree of B.D. from Harvard University. His first charge was in Barre, Vermont. Leaving there in 1905 he returned to Canada and became pastor of the new St. James, London, and later of St. Andrew's Toronto. His book, "The Drama of Life," was published after going to St. Andrew's, Toronto.

Going to New Westminster from Edmonton, where he was in charge of the Robertshaw Church for some time, Mr. Mitchell soon felt that the lecture room was altogether unsuitable as a Sunday school and inadequate to take care of the number of children attending the Sunday School. On June 14, 1922, the congregation agreed to remodel the old church and agreed to make it in every respect a suitable building not only for holding Sunday School but for other social activities, a course which has now been followed out.

Must Dim Lights in Dardanelles

New Order to Prevent Motor Accidents in Fort Street Narrows

Motorists must dim their headlights when driving through the Fort Street Dardanelles after dark in future, according to police regulations announced to-day by Police Commissioner W. E. Stenland.

"The majority of motorists are courteous enough to dim their lights in the Dardanelles now, but a small minority who do not bother to do so are giving us a lot of trouble," Mr. Stenland said. "Indeed, several serious accidents have nearly resulted from failure to dim lights in this narrow stretch of road. An undimmed headlight practically blinds him for the moment, and makes it impossible for him to see what is ahead. In a crowded, narrow place like Fort Street this is very likely to prove disastrous."

"New signs, warning motorists to dim their lights, will be placed at both ends of the Dardanelles immediately."

VICTORIA IDEAL FOR SELF-DEVELOPMENT

Kumtuku Club Hears Interesting Talk by Mrs. Lipsett-Skinner

"In developing yourself you can render the greatest service to mankind." This was the keynote of an interesting though brief address given by Mrs. Genevieve Lipsett-Skinner, LL.B., a member of the Press Gallery at Ottawa, before the Kumtuku Club at its fortnightly luncheon at David Spencer's to-day.

"Self-Development" was the theme chosen by Mrs. Skinner for her talk and she laid emphasis on the advancement of the individual in living in beautiful surroundings conducive to the most effective development of latent talents. Athens, the seat of ancient Greek culture and learning, owed much of the development of its philosophers and artists to its wonderful climate and scenery which played an important part in producing a super-race. In the same way Victoria with its natural assets of beauty and climate might well be the home of creative genius, averred the speaker.

An enjoyable feature of the programme was the delightful singing by Miss Nellie Lugin, of "Victoria," specially composed and dedicated to the Kumtuku Club by J. Douglas Macey, who officiated as accompanist to-day. The words were written by Mrs. E. B. Skinner, who also received the congratulations of the club on the publication of her new story, "Ann Morrison's Husband." Miss McLaren for the finance committee announced that the recent

Liverpool Wins and Retains Lead, But Middlesboro and Burnley Are Running Close—England Wins Thirtieth International Match With Ireland

London, Oct. 22.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Saturday was a busy day for the followers of soccer as, in addition to the full league programme, there was the first international game of the season, which England won from Ireland 2-0. This was the 37th meeting of the teams, the former having won 20, Ireland 3, and five were drawn.

Chelsea Defeat Surprise.

A big surprise in the first division was the heavy home defeat of Chelsea by Sunderland, who played brilliant soccer and fully deserved the spoils. Arsenal showed a welcome improvement to form. Several changes were made in the team, which went down so badly in the West Bromwich ground last week. The new lineup accomplished a really fine performance in drawing at Newcastle.

Scarcity of Goals.

The scarcity of goals was the feature of second division games. Liverpool, though only effecting a draw, retains the leadership. In the southern section of the Third Division, Swindon, which was scrappy with little punch in the forwards, drew with Norwich, something in the nature of a sensation. Queen's Park Rangers have struck a bad patch, being defeated yesterday for the fourth division in the first round. The Plymouth club retains the position at the head of the table, though defeated at Luton.

London, Oct. 22.—In the international soccer game between England and Ireland, which the former won 2-0, Grimmedell won the toss for the English team, and the Irishmen were set to face a brilliant sun. The opening stages of the game were scrappy with little punch in the forwards. At last England made better headway, when Moss sent his right wing away. Osborne and Seed went up the field with pretty passing, and Moss tried a shot, which, however, went wide. He had to shoot quickly at a bad angle. England came back again a moment later, and the Irish strong play of Grimmedell and Wilson, and when in the neighborhood of the Irish posts, Osborne sent in a drive which was again successfully blocked. The Irish defence worked hard to keep the Englishmen out. England continued to press, and after some clever work by Chambers, Osborne was given the ball in a promising position. He got in a hot drive, but the wind deflected the ball to outside the post. The English backs up to then had not been really tested, although the narrow disposition of the Irish goal when the Irish right winger threatened to get away.

Williams got in position to accept a clever pass from Grimmedell, and then raced away from a danger position and got in a hot drive at short range. Harland did remarkably well to touch the ball over the bar. The Irish backs put up heroic efforts to relieve the pressure, but the English attack was continuous. Harland performed prodigies at a moment's notice, and prevented a score in the first half. The English hardly left the Irish territory, but just before the whistle blew, Gillespie broke away, and put in a shot which went over the bar.

In the second half the pace set was very fast, the play swinging from end to end in a livelier fashion than in the first stages. The Irish attack, however, competed with that of England, which was misjudged, but it looked dangerous once it got started. From a corner Chambers netted cleverly after sixty-three minutes of play. The goal was a fine piece of work, Harland having no chance to stop it. The Irish men then strove gamely to equalize, but could make no impression on the home defence. In the last four minutes Seed provided Chambers with an excellent opportunity, the Liverpool man scoring from it.

The teams lined up as follows:—England—Taylor, Huddersfield; Smith, West Brom; Harrow, Chelsea; Moss, Aston Villa; Wilson, The Wednesday; Grimmedell, Tottenham; Carr, Middlesboro; Seed, Tottenham; Osborne, Fulham; Chambers, Liverpool; Williams, Clapton Orient. Reserves—Watson, Burnley; Elliott, Middlesboro; Harland, Linfield; Rollo, Blackburn Rovers; Curran, Pontypridd; Emerson, Burnley; Smith, Cardiff City; Morgan, Everton; Taylor, Tottenham; Gillespie, Sheffield United; Burns, Glenavon.

Normals Score Win

The Intermediate Rugby League Roll-away to a good start on Saturday, the first game of the season being played between the Normal School and the J.B.A.A.—The Normal School won the long-end of a nine to nil score. The J.B.A.A. was handicapped on account of the senior team calling on them for players at the last moment, thus making them a makeshift team. They played with but eight men, and although they lost they put up a strenuous fight.

New-Comers All Good.

The showing of the many new faces was a real treat. A number of youngsters who are putting in their first season at the Old Country game showed considerable knowledge of the game and the spirit and unbounded energy kept them prominently in the play. Owing to a number of the veterans dropping out of the game and other players going left town it became necessary for the club to scout for new material.

Bays Three Are Good.

The J. B. A. A. have again picked up a back-field that is going to prove bothersome to the other clubs. Young Humber and Elliot are two new wing three-quarters, are exceptionally fast. The former showed wonderful speed in running around the field, while the latter covers a goodly amount of ground in carrying the ball through the centre instead of going the outside route, where he would more than likely have been brought down.

THE ETERNAL FLAME IS ROMANTIC STORY

Picturesque Film at Royal of Events One Hundred Years Ago

"The Eternal Flame," a magnificent picturization of Honore Balzac's "La Duchesse de Langeais," with Norma Talmadge in the most poignant starring vehicle she has yet graced with her beauty and charm, is the extraordinary first National attraction this week at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

The story revolves about the petty jealousies, scandals and romances of the Court of Louis XVIII, with the beautiful duchess as the outstanding figure.

Miss Talmadge as the duchess reaches the heights of her wonderfully successful career as the heartless court coquette, she is elusive; as the woman whose true love is doubted and forewarned, she is a most magnetic, appealing figure.

General de Montreivau, masterfully portrayed by Conway Tearle, kidnaps the duchess, believing her professed love to be mockery, and in his rage prepares to brand her as a woman to be shunned. But he cannot bring himself to mar her beauty. He writes her letters daily, but her letters are returned unopened. In despair she decides to quit the world forever and go into the seclusion of a convent. De Montreivau learns her love is genuine and, arrives at the convent just as she was about to take her final vows that would have closed its walls about her for life. The happy reunion of the lovers is an exquisite finish to this production.

Filmed on a magnificent scale with all the splendor and fine trappings of the early eighteenth century, with hundreds of players appearing in the scenes, "The Eternal Flame" may well be termed a motion picture masterpiece. An unusually well balanced cast of artists, in addition to Conway Tearle, is seen in support of Miss Talmadge.

Adolphe Jean Menjou gives a particularly fine characterization as the Duc de Langeais, while Rosemary Theby makes an admirable Madame de Serizy. Wedgwood Nowell is seen as Marquis de Ronquerolles, Kate Lester as Princess de Lamontaigne, Thomas Ricketts as Villame de Pamier, Irving Cummings as Count de Marsay and Otis Harlan as Abbe Gonrand.

The production was personally directed by Frank Lloyd, and without doubt is his finest screen achievement.

FAMOUS ORGANIST TO VISIT SHORTLY

M. Dupre is Associated With
Notre Dame Cathedral

Marcel Dupre was born at Rouen (France) May 3, 1885. His paternal grandfather, Aimable Dupre, was organist of the great organ of St. Maclou for thirty-seven years. His maternal grandfather, Etienne Chaziere, was choirmaster at the Church of St. Patrice at Rouen for thirty years. Marcel Dupre's father, Albert Dupre, was organist of the splendid organ of St. Ouen. Previously he was for twenty-five years organist of the delightful instrument in the Church of the Immaculate Conception at Eibeuf. Marcel Dupre's mother, Alice Dupre, is an excellent solo player, a remarkable pianist, and an accomplished musician. She possesses all the artistic gifts which her son has inherited, and the son's personality is a combination of the gifts of his father and mother. At 7 years of age, Marcel Dupre began the study of music under his father. When 10 years old Marcel Dupre played by heart before Guilmant the Prelude and Fugue in C major, and diverse chorales by Bach. At 12 years of age, Marcel Dupre was appointed organist of the grand organ in the Church of St. Vivien at Rouen. In 1901, when M. Dupre was 15 years old, his father's Choral Society performed Marcel Dupre's first important work, a Biblical oratorio entitled "Jacob's Dream." At 15 years of age, he took the first prize for piano in Diemer's piano class. When 21 years old, from Guilmant's class, Marcel Dupre was unanimously awarded the first prize for the organ by the Conservatoire de Paris. When 23 years old, he was again unanimously awarded the first prize for Fugue by the Paris Conservatoire in the class of Wilder. At 23 years of age, he gained the supreme honor, the grand prize of Rome for musical composition, with his lyrical scene "Psyche." Marcel Dupre is a famous composer. Amongst his most recent works are: His sonata in G minor for piano and violin, his three preludes and fugues for the organ, his six preludes for the piano, his fantasia for piano and orchestra, his religious motets, secular choruses with orchestra, melodies, poems, instrumental work and symphonies; his great Profundis for solo voices, chorus, orchestra, and organ, dedicated to the memory of the soldiers who died for their country. Fifteen versets and preludes for the organ.

It would be wrong to conclude this notice without alluding to the series of ten Bach recitals which Mr. Dupre gave in 1920 at the Conservatoire de Paris. On this occasion he performed an incredible feat, which was quite without precedent, by playing from memory in the course of these ten recitals the whole of J. S. Bach's works for the organ, the preludes, fugues, sonatas, fantasias, the chorales, great and small, and the odd pieces, in all more than two hundred compositions.

Marcel Dupre will give a recital here at the Metropolitan Church on November 13.

REFORMED CROOK SAVES ROYAL GEMS

"Face in the Fog" Is Offering at Dominion

Russia's stream of nobility which has been flowing into America ever since the advent of Bolshevism, has brought to this country some of the strangest characters ever seen anywhere. Dukes, duchesses, princesses, counts, barons and cousins of the last czar and his carina, now dwell in the lodging houses of New York. They have flooded the pawnshops with so-called royal jewels and trinkets, sometimes rare, often of little value other than for feelings of sentiment.

It is a Grand Duchess fleeing from Petrograd, Jack Boyle chooses to depict in his strange story, "The Face in the Fog" at the Dominion Theatre all this week. The Grand Duchess played by Seena Owen, Cosmopolitan's leading woman, told to Mr.

BIG SEA FEATURE AT THE CAPITOL

Absorbing Story Stars Dorothy Dalton

A very delightful and absorbing story is one of Paramount's latest releases, starring Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt, the popular Paramount screen stars. "On the High Seas" abounds in interest and tense action, and has many realistic and thrilling shipwreck and sea scenes, and should prove a delight to lovers of pictures of the sea. It is a tale of the seas in which two stokers battle for existence on a deserted ship in mid-ocean. Driven into an open boat by a fire on a big liner, they seek refuge on a wind driven derelict that is swept by a plague. Here the two men fight for the possession of the only woman survivor that they had rescued from the liner before her final plunge. The stars play their roles exceedingly well, and the direction and photography is all that could be desired. "On the High Seas" will play at the Capitol Theatre all this week starting to-day.

Although Lionel Barrymore, Seena Owen and Lowell Sherman are capable of carrying any screen story in triumph, Director Alan Crosland was not content to provide them alone. He added, among a number of other favorites, Louis Wolheim, the now famous Broadway star who gave us the stage creation of Eugene O'Neill's "The Hairy Ape." Mr. Wolheim's acting in "The Face in the Fog" shows that he is developing into as great a screen star as he proved himself months ago upon the stage.

ART SETTINGS AT COLUMBIA

"The Conquering Power" Is Unusual Feature

Artistic picture sets with a finish seldom before achieved in screen production serve as a background for Metro's "The Conquering Power," now being shown at the Columbia Theatre. This is Mr. Ingram's first production to follow "The Four Horsemen of Apocalypse."

The story unfolded before the camera is laid in the provincial town of Noyant, on the Loire. In the telling of the story the most picturesque structures were required. For them Mr. Ingram sought the aid of Rudolph Barton, poster artist, magazine illustrator, and formerly a fellow art student with the youthful director.

Together they studied Balzac, consulted innumerable authorities on French architecture and styles, and worked out a series of settings that would bring joy to the master of fiction whose story is interpreted for the screen. Days were spent in the arrangement of slight details such as so often are overlooked in the making of a stage or film production. In order to get the full benefit of these settings Mr. Ingram worked out several photographic innovations that are developments of his unique work in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." John F. Seitz, who was in charge of the crew of photographers who transferred the "Four Horsemen" to the screen, handled the camera work for "The Conquering Power."

Alice Terry and Rudolph Valentino, who headed the all-star cast in "The Four Horsemen," enact the leading roles in "The Conquering Power." Other members of the cast are Ralph Lewis, Edward Connelly, Bridgetta Clark, Cico Madison, Noel Johnson and Mark Fenton. The screen version of the Balzac novel was prepared by June Mathis, who wrote the script for the famous Italian novel.

New Orchestra Leader—Manager Robertson, of the Capitol Theatre, reports that William Tickle will take over the leadership of the Capitol orchestra to-day. Mr. Tickle has had a wide experience in orchestral work, and patrons of the Capitol are assured of the very best in music that can be offered. A few changes will be made in the personnel of the orchestra and some additions made.

DOG SHOW IN DUNCAN NOVEMBER 23

Times Correspondence.
 Duncan—Duncan will have a dog show this year. The consent of the Canadian Kennel Club has been obtained and it will be held under the auspices of the Agricultural Society, and under the rules of the Canadian Kennel Club, in Duncan, on November 23 and 24.

To-day's ads, with their dollar-saving chances, should appeal to all those to whom dollar-saving is at all worthwhile.

A large number of entries is expected—and much interest is being taken in the event.

Suspicion is the poison of true friendship.

Feed Your Product More Vitamines

Bright color on big spaces may create interest in a picture, but it lacks four-fifths of the advertising vitamines that send people into a specific retail store to buy goods.

The retail distributor must have advertising that builds up confidence in the product; that can educate new customers; that can make them desire new things to eat and wear and enjoy; that finally sends them to the counter with cash in hand.

Thirty years ago, Mr. P. C. Larkin sought anxiously for a link between his brand, the retailer and the buying public. He found one that has never broken.

"I thought of telling my story in a single newspaper," he writes, "which I did and soon saw results. The single medium soon became two, and then a dozen, and now many hundreds on the American continent alone, where practically every daily newspaper of any importance carries Salada Tea Company advertisements."

There is only one common power that can influence buyers for our local merchants and the national advertiser. This is the Daily Newspaper in our trade area. The retailer who impresses this fact upon the manufacturer turns over his stock quickly and profitably.

TRAFALGAR DAY CELEBRATED HERE

The one hundred and seventeenth anniversary of Trafalgar Day was duly celebrated in Victoria on Saturday, and special services were also held yesterday in St. John's Church, the ceremonies having been carried out for the most part by the Navy League of Canada, Victoria branch. The Navy League throughout Canada never fails to commemorate the brave deeds of Nelson in fitting manner. Yesterday was also "Sailors' Sunday" in the churches and envelopes were left in the pews of all the local churches for contributions to be sent to the Victoria Seamen's Institutes.

At 2.15 o'clock Saturday the Boys' Naval Brigade in charge of Lieut. P. W. Tribe and led by the brass band under Conductor Rumsby marched from the old Drill Hall on Mendocino Street to the Parliament Buildings grounds, where an interesting Union Jack display was made by the boys. This showed the "building" of the flag, and as the cross of each country was added to the blending of the flag the band struck up appropriate airs, and when the Union Jack was completed they played the "National Anthem."

Rev. G. H. Andrews gave the Trafalgar Day address and reminded his hearers that it was well that British people should keep in mind the spirit of loyalty, service and unselfishness shown by Nelson in the service of his country. Nelson's famous flag signal was then flown from the Parliament Buildings' flagstaff and was left floating in the breeze until sundown.

The Brigade and band paraded to St. John's Church yesterday morning, when Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick gave an impressive talk on the splendid examples set by Britain's naval heroes which examples would have a lasting effect on the British race and the moulding of national character.

Saturday evening the Army and Navy Veterans celebrated the occasion with a Trafalgar Day smoking concert. The Radio Concert Party, made up of war veterans, participated in the programme, and P. A. Rayner, of the Navy League, and a member of the Army and Navy Veterans, gave a brief address on Trafalgar Day. The splendid programme was greatly enjoyed.

LASCELLES RICH IN ART TREASURES

London, Oct. 23.—The work of carrying out the inventory of the almost priceless Clanciarde treasures in Chesterfield House has now been completed.

The task was suggested by the Princess Mary to Lord Lascelles owing to the almost chance discovery of several wonderful works of art found stuffed away in the obscurity of a cellar.

These, and other old masters, have now been rearranged in the great gallery, while other improvements have now been completed.

It may not be generally known that Lord Lascelles inherited the vast Clanciarde fortune chiefly through his great knowledge of art. During the war, while on leave, he entered the St. James Club, and noticed the eccentric peer, Lord Clanciarde, enter. Moved by an impulse he went up to his great uncle, whom he had not spoken to for quite ten years, and inquired after his health. The ensuing conversation turned upon art—a subject which was very dear to the old nobleman. Within seven days Lord Clanciarde had made a will which eventually transformed Lord Lascelles into one of the richest men in the country.

We were made acquainted yesterday with the result of an investigation of Red Mountain by one of the notable mining authorities of the Northwest.

Our clients are advised to acquaint themselves with this verdict without delay, as it may actuate an immediate favorable influence upon the tendency of the market on Red Mountain.

Did anyone ever telephone your office to complain that your circular or form letter had not arrived? Have you ever noticed men waiting in line for the postman to deliver your printed matter? Have you ever seen the daily newspaper flipped off the desk or the supper table while second class mail is read to the family? Until you have, let us be honest and distinguish between "direct" advertising and printed matter "directed" to your address.

When the daily newspaper passes into the reader's hands, it is expected, welcomed and read. It has his interest before it even gets to him. He will complain loudly to the news dealer if an issue escapes him. He will stand in the heat and the cold while the news boy fumbles for change. When the delivery brings the daily paper to a home, it is taken in eagerly by someone.

Driving Refugees to Sea—A Waterfront Scene At Smyrna

PICTURED here is the waterfront at Smyrna, after the city's capture by the Turks. Heaped along the harbor edge is the little property the fleeing Greeks and Armenians were able to take with them. The boats off shore are taking refugees on board. The mounted man is a Turkish irregular soldier, hastening embarkation. A Turkish official is seen on foot, on the same business.

Red Cross and Minister in North

On the left is R. Fennell, representative of the Red Cross, and Hon. Beniah Bowman, minister of provincial forests and lands, standing on the rear of one of the old Toronto street cars, which are now being used as homes in Haileybury.

Refugees Improvise Shelters in Smyrna Ruins

Like their Bedouin ancestors, these refugees in Smyrna have erected Arab-like tents to give them temporary shelter in the charred ruins of the ill-fated city. This exclusive photograph shows a family housed in a rude shelter of stone walls and blanket roof.

New "Homes" For Settlers Arrive

LABOR MEMBER LEAVES $175,000

London, Oct. 23. — William Abraham, South Wales Labor Leader, who died recently left a fortune equivalent to $175,000, it was announced today. He was a member of Parliament for thirty years, being associated with the moderate Laborites. Abraham was noted as a Welsh bard. He weighed about 200 pounds and possessed a good tenor voice. He is said to have made his money by investment in Welsh mining property. Abraham's fortune is the largest left by any British Labor member.

Top picture shows the arrival of old street cars from Toronto at Haileybury, where they will be used to house settlers who suffered the loss of their homes in the recent conflagration. Below is seen one of the ancient warriors reverting to type and being towed to its destination by Old Dobbin and company.

DISLIKES LATEST HAIR FASHIONS

London, Oct. 23.—"At the risk of being condemned as a killjoy," writes Charlotte F. Burghes, "I confess that the bathing belles of the picture papers depress me to the verge of melancholy madness. Their over-generous display of limbs, their chronic smiles bore me to fury, their masses of roguish curls, never to be damped by the avenging sea-waves, turn my thoughts in the direction of shears and all manner of unpleasant sharp implements. "Above all, their optimistically acquiescent poses enlist my sympathies for the confirmed women-haters. "Every one knows them, with their fixed waxworks smiles, their shapely legs, their eternal mermaid poses."
