PREFACE.

SIXTEEN years have elapsed since the first edition of this work was published, and in the intervening period the great increase of population, the extension of building operations, the effects of recent legislation, and other causes, have largely augmented the labours and responsibilities of the public bodies charged with the local management of the Metropolis. According to the estimate of the Registrar General, based upon the decennial census of 1861, the population within the area subject to the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Board of Works, which in that year numbered 2,803,989 souls, had, in the year 1878, risen to 3,577,304; whilst the rateable annual value of property within the same limits. which in the year 1863 amounted to £12,569,969, had, at the close of the year 1878, reached £23,960,109. The number of inhabited houses within the same area was also largely increased between the years 1861 and 1871, the date of the last census; their number in the former year having been 360,065, whilst in the latter it was 417,767: and an examination of the notices of new buildings to District Surveyors, and Vestries and District Boards, and other trustworthy sources of information, affords grounds for the conclusion that the annual rate of increase which prevailed between 1861 and 1871 has, since the last-mentioned date, not only been maintained but considerably exceeded,

The voluminous additions to the statute book since the year 1863 have vastly enlarged the sphere of action of the Metropolitan Boards and Vestries, and embrace within their range almost every branch of local and sanitary administration. The Acts relative to the multifarious operations of the Metropolitan Board of Works as described in their last annual report are, with the statutes passed in the last Session of Parliament, nearly a hundred in number: to which must be added, in a survey of metropolitan local legislation, a large body of Acts especially appertaining to the general powers and duties of Vestries and District Boards, or relating to limited districts and special localities. In dealing with a mass of material of such extent and diversity, it has been found necessary to make a selection, and to print in extenso only those statutes which relate to the principal ordinary functions of the Metropolitan Authorities, and to embody in notes to those statutes a reference to the material provisions of such enactments as were considered of subordinate practical importance or less general application.

The present volume contains a large number of Acts which were not comprised in the former edition, whilst three or four only are omitted—namely, those authorizing the construction of those great structural works now completed, the Main Drainage and the Embankments of the Thames. The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1848, is also omitted, by reason of its great length; it having been deemed sufficient to refer to its main provisions in the notes, as to have printed it in its entirety would have necessitated the exclusion of matter of greater practical utility.

The arrangement in the present collection is substantially similar to that adopted in the former edition. The body of the work comprises the original Act constituting and incorporating the Metropolitan Board and the Vestries and District Boards, with the two principal amending Acts; whilst the Appendix contains statutes relating to the continuance and appropriation of funds applicable to special metropolitan improvements, the borrowing of money by the Metropolitan Board, and the assessments of that body; a few Acts supplementing the provisions of the original enactments in reference to matters either omitted from or inadequately dealt with by them; and a series of enactments directed to various important objects connected with the health, safety, convenience, and material and social well-being of the community, such as the protection of life and property against danger from fire, the storage and conveyance of explosives, for ensuring effectual control over the sites, foundations, and construction of buildings, the prevention and suppression of nuisances, and the enforcement of proper sanitary regulations, for preventing the adulteration or deterioration of food and drugs, and the execution of works for protecting low-lying lands from floods and inundations, with various others. Some of these require special notice here.

The Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, was a

measure which effected extensive alterations in the powers and proceedings of that Board as regarded borrowing and assessment. It restrained them, except for a limited period after its passing, from borrowing any money otherwise than in conformity with its provisions, and empowered them to create Metropolitan Consolidated Stock and Terminable Annuities. It required them, in lieu of all other rates or assessments over the Metropolis, to raise a Metropolitan Consolidated Rate, and established a Consolidated Loans Fund for paying dividends on and redeeming Consolidated Stock. It enabled them to lend money to the managers of the Metropolitan Asylums District, a provision extended by subsequent legislation to loans to Vestries and District Boards and other public bodies exercising rating powers in the Metropolis. The subsequent Loans and Money Acts of the same Board are referred to in the notes in such a manner as to present a connected view of the existing statute law governing this important branch of their financial proceedings.

Another Act requiring observation is the Nuisances Removal Act for England, 1855, with the series of statutes by which it was amended and extended. Unfortunately the law for the prevention and suppression of nuisances and enforcing proper sanitary regulations within the metropolitan area must still be sought for in a multiplicity of scattered and isolated enactments, which, though repealed by the Public Health Act, 1875, as to the rest of the kingdom, are still kept in force in the Metropolis. The Local Government Board, in 1877, introduced into Parliament a Bill proposing, amongst other objects, to repeal the whole of these Acts, and to re-enact their main provisions with modifications. The measure failed to secure the approval and support of the Metropolitan authorities; and, after having reached the second reading, it was withdrawn. The principal ground on which the Bill was objected to was, that it proposed to introduce the Local Government Board as a controlling authority over the Vestries and District Boards, involving, it was said, a prejudicial interference with the independence of those bodies. It is to be regretted that no course was suggested by which the conflicting views of the promoters and opponents of the Bill could be reconciled, and a convenient and beneficial measure allowed to become law, either by the omission, or by some modification of the provisions objected to.

PREFACE. ix

Another imp ortant measure, which will be found in the Appendix, is the Metropolis Management and Building Acts (Amendment) Act, 1879), which effects a beneficial extension of the original Building Act. Amongst other provisions, it empowers the Metropolitan Board in certain cases to cause alterations to be made in existing theatres and music-halls, and to make regulations respecting the position and structure of new buildings of that description; and it empowers the same Body to make bye-laws with respect to the foundations and sites of houses, buildings, &c., and to the mode in which, and material with which, such foundations and sites are to be made and completed for securing stability, preventing fire, and for purposes of health. The Board have, under this last provision, framed a set of bye-laws for giving effect to the objects contemplated by the Act. These bye-laws which, amongst other requirements, contain stringent regulations with respect to the foundations and sites of buildings, and the description and quality of the substances of walls were confirmed by the Secretary of State as recently as on the 6th of the present month (October, 1879), and they appear thoroughly adapted to give effect to the salutary powers conferred by the Act upon the Metropolitan Board.

The number of new statutes appertaining to the functions of the Metropolitan Local Authorities increases year by year, and even in the Session of Parliament just ended several important measures affecting the Metropolis have become law, several of them, however, of too late a period to admit of their being inserted in the body of the work. It has, consequently, become necessary to print them as a Supplement. As several of these make important alterations in the earlier Acts, and materially qualify some of the decisions cited in the notes, it becomes necessary to give a succinct summary of their main provisions here.

One of the most important of these measures is the Metropolis Management (Thames River, Prevention of Floods) Act, 1879, which did not receive the Royal Assent until the 11th August last. This enactment demands special notice as containing a statutory affirmation of the general law applicable to the obligations of owners and occupiers of low-lying lands liable to inundation, though modified and conditioned by the special requirements of the localities affected by it, and as materially altering some of the provisions of the Management Act of 1855. It provides for the execution and maintenance of certain works described as "flood works," for preventing the overflow of the Thames within the limits of the Metropolis, and for the expenses incurred in relation to such works. The expression "River Thames" is interpreted to include the rivers, streams, and watercourses within the flow and reflow of the tides of that river within the limits of the Act. It defines the expression "flood works," and describes the conditions and formalities applicable to their execution. It specifies the bodies and persons liable to provide for executing them, and enacts that the Commissioners of Sewers of the City of London, the Vestries and District Boards, and owners of premises respectively, shall, subject to the provisions and limitations of the Act, be liable to provide for the execution of the works described. It restrains the Metropolitan Board from directing the execution of any works other than such as are necessary for the protection of lands from floods and inundations caused by the overflow of the Thames, or any works for the embankment of the Thames in the nature of the embankments already executed under the authority of special Acts of Parliament. Amongst its other provisions, the Board are required to cause a plan of the necessary works to be prepared, and to serve notices on the several bodies and individuals affected by them, with provisions for their modification, and power to those bodies to execute the works, and the Metropolitan Board to carry them out in default. It makes the bodies and persons liable to provide for the execution of flood works upon any premises, also liable to repair the banks upon the same, and contains savings in favour of Dock Companies and others. It gives a claim for compensation, xii PREFACE.

PREFACE. Xi

subject to the exception in the proviso to the 25th section, against the Metropolitan Board for damage sustained by the execution of flood works, or in respect of any lands or interest in land taken, or used, or injuriously affected by such works, to be settled, in the event of disagreement, by arbitration, in accordance with the provisions of the Act; and these provisions are to be in substitution of those relating to the tribunal for settling questions of disputed compensation contained in the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, or any Act incorporated with it. It provides for the appointment of a Standing Arbitrator for the settlement of claims, and for the recovery of expenses incurred by the Metropolitan Board from the Commissioners of Sewers of the City of London, Vestries, District Boards, and owners. It preserves the liability of persons or bodies, by Act of Parliament, prescription. or otherwise, to maintain and repair river banks, and repeals the provisions contained in the 69th and 70th sections of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, so far as they relate to the execution and maintenance of flood works by Vestries and District Boards. This Act effects important changes in the law applicable to the execution and maintainance of works of this nature, and having regard to the comprehensive interpretation given by it to the terms "Bank," "Dam," and "Flood works"-an interpretation which seems to embrace a large share of the subjects of jurisdiction and management hitherto vested in the Local Authorities under the 69th section of the Act of 1855, it may, in some cases, become a question of difficulty to determine what powers are still left in those bodies under the original enactments, or to what extent their powers are superseded.

PREFACE. XIII

Another important Act of the last Session is the Artizans Dwellings Act (1868) Amendment Act, 1879, which, amongst other provisions, empowers the owner of any premises specified in an order of a Local Authority under the Act of 1868, requiring him to execute any works or to demolish premises, to call upon the Local Authority within three months after service of the order to purchase the premises. In case of no agreement being come to, the amount of compensation is to be settled by arbitration in manner provided by the Act, the arbitrator to be appointed and to be removable by the Local Government Board, with special provisions for estimating the value of the premises, and settling the amount of compensation. Additional powers are conferred upon the Local Authority for the recovery of expenses and other objects. In the event of a Local Authority neglecting for the space of three months after notice from the Metropolitan Board to put in force the provisions of the Act, the powers of the Local Authority in respect of the premises in question become vested in the Metropolitan Board, and all expenses incurred by that Board under the Act shall be paid on demand by the defaulting Authority out of the local rates.

Another Act of the last session upon a cognate subject is the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Act, 1879, which, amongst other provisions, amends the 19th section of the Act of 1875, with respect to estimating the amount of compensation payable for lands taken in pursuance of the Act, and authorizes the arbitrator to receive evidence that the premises the subject of the inquiry were at the date of the confirming Act or some previous date not earlier than that of the official representation, in such a condition as to have been a nuisance within the Acts relating to nuisances; and if the arbitrator is satisfied that they were so, he is directed to determine what would have been the value of the premises supposing the nuisance to have been abated, and also the expense of abating it; and the amount of compensation payable shall be an amount equal to the estimated value of the premises after the abatement of the nuisance, and after deducting the estimated expense of abating it.

The Act also amends the 5th section of that of 1875 relating to provisions for the accommodation of the working classes, which required the board, except for special reasons, to provide accommodation within the limits of the same area, or in its vicinity, and it enables the confirming authority to authorize or modify an improvement scheme providing accommodation at some place other than within the area or the immediate vicinity of the area comprised in the improvement scheme. The latter of these two Acts will be found at page 582 of this work; the former in the Supplement.

Another Act, which only received the royal assent on the 16th August last, is the Petroleum Act, 1879, which is to be construed as one with the Petroleum Act of 1871. It alters the test defined by the last-named Act, provides for a model of the testing apparatus, and for the verification of any apparatus submitted to the Board of Trade. The first schedule contains a specification of the testing apparatus, with directions for applying what is known as the flashing test. The second schedule specifies that part of the Act of 1871, which is either wholly or partially repealed. This Act will also be found in the Supplement.

In the Appendix will be found another important measure of the last session, The Sale of Food and Drugs Amendment Act, 1879, enacting by the 2nd section, that in any prosecution under the Food and Drugs Act, 1875, for selling to the prejudice of the purchaser any article or any drug which is not of the nature, substance, and quality of the article demanded, it shall be no defence to allege that the purchaser having bought only for analysis, was not prejudiced by the sale, or that the article, though defective in nature, substance or quality, was not defective in all three respects.

Amongst other amendments it empowers the medical officer of health, inspector of nuisances, &c., to procure a sample of milk at the place of delivery, with the same consequences as to analysis, legal proceedings, and penalties, as if the article had been purchased under section 13 of the Food and Drugs Act, 1875. And any street or open place of public resort is defined to come within the 17th section of the Act of 1875.

It also contains provisions defining to what extent the sorts of spirits specified may be reduced in strength by the admixture of water, without involving a contravention of the 6th section of the Act of 1875.

The law had already been laid down, before the passing of the Act,

XVI PREFACE.

by the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice, in accordance with the provision contained in the 2nd section above cited, and it is now definitively settled by express statutory enactments once for all removing doubts as to the construction of the former Act, which seriously obstructed the beneficial action of the Vestries and District Boards in their efforts to carry into execution the provisions of a most useful Act of Parliament.

Another statute of the last session to which attention must be called, is the Metropolitan Board of Works Indemnity Act, 1879, which authorizes the Board to defray the expenses of promoting two bills in Parliament, one for the supply of water for certain purposes to the Metropolis by the Metropolitan Board of Works, and the other for the purchase by the Board of the undertakings of the several water companies, supplying water to the Metropolis and to certain places in its neighbourhood, and for other purposes. This expenditure was disallowed by the auditor on the ground that in incurring it the Board had exceeded their legal powers.

The Act of Parliament sanctioning the expenditure, recites that the bills in question were promoted and the expenses incurred by the Metropolitan Board in good faith, and in the belief that in promoting them they were acting within their legal powers, and it authorizes them to defray the expenses in question when audited and taxed, as if they were expenses legally incurred by them in the execution of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and the Acts amending it.

PREFACE, XVII

The last Act to be noticed is the Metropolitan Board of Works (Money) Act, 1879, which was passed on the 15th August last, and a reference to it must be added to the list of enactments enumerated in note (d) to section 36 of the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, page 257.

The statutes in the present collection are accompanied by explanatory notes, showing the amendments and alterations of the earlier Acts effected by subsequent legislation; and the editor has endeavoured to elucidate their construction by a careful examination of the authorities, and a reference to the reported decisions of the courts on their main provisions, or on analogous enactments in other statutes. Numerous questions have arisen on many of their most important sections, several of which were the subject of protracted litigation, varying decision, and a diversity of opinion among the judges, and only finally decided on appeal to the House of Lords, and not even then with entire unanimity. The decisions, which were reported too late to admit of their being inserted in the body of the work, are referred to in the Addenda.

Mr. William Edgar Saunders, Barrister, of the Middle Temple, has assisted the Editor in preparing this work for the press, and he has much pleasure in acknowledging the valuable aid he has afforded him.

The task of editing it has involved considerable labour, and in performing it the Editor has used his best exertions so to arrange xviii PREFACE.

and explain the matter he has had to deal with as to present to the reader a comprehensive and accurate summary of the laws which it is intended to elucidate, and to render the work a convenient book of reference for the use of the legal profession, and a serviceable practical guide to the Metropolitan Boards and Vestries and their officers.

London,
November, 1879.

INTRODUCTION TO FIRST EDITION,

THE principal Acts contained in this volume, and which form the basis of the present work, are the 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, for the better Local Management of the Metropolis, and the three Amending Acts, the 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, the 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, and the 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102; and other statutes either expressly incorporated with the first-named Act, or having special reference to the powers and duties of the boards and vestries constituted by it, are added by way of Appendix. The object of this publication is to elucidate the construction of those Acts, for which purpose the reported decisions of the courts upon such of their provisions as have received judicial interpretation, and upon analogous enactments in other statutes, are collected in the notes. Attention is also directed to those provisions of the original Act which experience had shown to be defective, and to the amendments embodied in the Acts which were subsequently passed. It may well be supposed that an Act of Parliament which gave a municipal organization to the extensive districts described in its schedules. with a rental at the time of its passing (exclusive of the city) amounting to 9,011,2201., and a population of 2,233,108 souls, did not remain exempt from the ordinary litigation attending extensive legislative changes. But to understand the causes which led to the passing of that important measure, and to appreciate its results, it will be desirable, in the first instance, to make some reference to the laws under which the management of the metropolitan districts as regards their sewerage and paving, their improvements, and other subjects of local administration, had previously been conducted.

The limits of the Metropolis, as defined by that Act, include the City of London, and the several parishes and places enumerated in the first three schedules appended to it; and the definition of the City of London is that given by the City Sewers Act, the 11 & 12 Vict. c. 163. The city and liberties of London consist of the city within the walls and without the walls, containing together an area of about 723 acres. Commissions of sewers were issued to the civic authorities from an early period. It is recorded that a commission was, on the complaint of Henry de Lacy, Earl of Lincoln, directed to the Mayor and Sheriffs of London in the thirty-fifth year of Edward I., requiring them to scour and clear the River Fleet (a). The 19 Car. 2, c. 3, for rebuilding the City of London after the Great Fire, vested in the Common Council certain duties relating to sewerage, and empowered that body to appoint persons under the common seal of the Corporation to design and set out sewers, drains, and vaults within the city and liberties. Other Acts were subsequently passed relating to the sewers of the city, viz., the 11 Geo. 3, c. 29, the 33 Geo. 3, c. 75, and the 4 Geo. 4, c. 114. Those Acts, which contained provisions for paying, lighting, and cleansing, and for preventing and removing obstructions and annoyances, were repealed by the abovementioned Act, the 11 & 12 Vict. c. 163, which has since been amended and extended by the 14 & 15 Vict. c. 91. It is under those Acts that the City Commissioners of Sewers now exercise their powers. By the 7th section, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons are empowered from time to time to appoint by deed under their common seal such persons as they shall think fit for carrying the Act into execution. Under it the sole power of making, repairing, and altering sewers, drains, and vaults, and of paving, lighting, cleansing, and improving the streets within the city, as defined by the Act, is vested in the Mayor and Commonalty, and Citizens of London, to be executed by Commissioners to be nominated and appointed by the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council assembled, under the common seal. This Act came into operation on the 1st January, 1849, and the clause limiting its continuance to two years, and thence to the end of the then next Session of Parliament, was repealed by the 14 & 15 Vict. c. 91. The sole power conferred by it, of making and maintaining sewers within the city to the Corporation, to be exercised in the manner described, must now be regarded as subject to the alteration introduced by the 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, by which main sewers have become vested in the Metropolitan Board of Works. Various powers for the regulation of streets and prevention of nuisances are contained in the City Police Act, 2 & 3 Vict. c. 94. The Corporation also, from an early period, made ordinances embodying regulations with respect to building, and legislative provision was made on the same subject in the Act 19 Car. 2, c. 3, and in subsequent statutes. The present Metropolitan Building Act is the 18 & 19 Vict. c. 122, but certain provisions of the former statutes, 14 Geo. 3, c. 78, and 7 & 8 Vict. c. 84, are still unrepealed (b). Important administrative functions affecting river side property were also exercised by the Corporation of London, in connection with the Conservancy of the River Thames. The Lord Mayor was by an ancient grant from the Crown Conservator of the Thames, within the Port of London (c), and the Corporation claimed to be entitled to exercise rights of ownership over the bed and soil of the river. This claim, which was contested by the Crown, became the subject of a suit in Chancery, instituted by the Attorney-General against the Corporation for the purpose of determining the rights of that body and of the Crown in relation to the bed and soil of the river, and its shores within the flux and reflux of the tide. The suit was brought to a close by an agreement made in the year 1856, by virtue of which, and of another agreement of the 24th February, 1857, a grant of the estate and interest of the Crown was made to the Corporation. in consideration of their paying annually to the Commissioners of Woods and Forests one-third of the monies, rents, and proceeds which they might receive in respect of sales, leases, grants, or licences for docks, piers, &c., in or upon the bed of the river, or of encroachments, embankments, or inclosures, on or near to it, and of their applying the residue to the improvement of the navigation. That portion of the bed of the river situate in front of lands, &c., belonging to the Crown, or which were the property or in the possession of any Government department, was excepted from the grant. The Thames Conservancy Act, the 20 & 21 Vict. c. 147, gave effect to this arrangement, and vested in the Conservators appointed by virtue of its provisions all the estate of the Corporation and of the Crown in the bed and soil of the river, except the portion referred to above reserved to the Crown, and transferred to the same body all such powers and authorities as were theretofore vested in the Crown or Corporation in relation to the conservancy of the river. The Metropolitan Commissioners of Sewers, acting under 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112, considered that that Act empowered them to execute works on the bed and foreshore of the Thames, without obtaining the permission of the Thames Navigation Committee, the body charged with the exercise of the chief powers of the Corporation, relating to the conservancy of the river, and when they required to execute such works they did not apply for leave, but merely gave notice to the Committee of their intention to commence them. The Committee, however, claimed the right of giving or withholding permission, and required that the works should be executed under the supervision of the water bailiff, one of their officers; and there is little doubt that their permission was necessary before any such works could be executed. At present the previous approval of the conservators is clearly requisite before any works on the bed or foreshore, which may affect the navigation, can be carried out, and in a recent case (a) the want of such approval was held to render the proceeding a wrongful one. The Thames Embankment Act, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 93, contains special provisions respecting works on the foreshore, which, however, only apply to that undertaking. As regards its internal government, the administration of local matters within the city of London has for a considerable period rested on a basis which has practically secured for its inhabitants a substantial representation of their interests and wishes. This was pointed out in the Report of the Commissioners appointed in 1853 to inquire into the state of the Corporation (b), and they ascribe this result in a great measure to the mode in which the Common Council is elected. But these advantages were confined to the narrow area included within the city proper, and the metropolitan districts beyond those limits were, until the introduction of the Metropolis Local Management Act, for the most part excluded from their operation.

Those extensive districts which were without the city had no general municipal organization, and were for the most part wholly unconnected with each other. Various statutes from time to time defined "the metropolis" for the specific purposes for which they were passed. The earliest example of such a district was that included in the weekly bills of mortality, which were originally weekly reports or returns by the parish clerks of

(b) See Report, with minutes of evidence, and Appendix (1854), p. 12.

London, relative to christenings and burials. They are said to have originated in 1562, and additional parishes were from time to time included within them, until they at length comprised the ninety-seven parishes within the city walls, the seventeen parishes without the walls, twenty-four out-parishes in Middlesex and Surrey, and ten parishes in Westminster (c). In addition to the general statutes affecting the parishes without the city, and within the present metropolitan limits, a large proportion of them were governed by local Acts, of which there are several hundred, presenting great diversity in their objects and provisions. The sewerage of the larger portion of those districts was under the control of commissioners appointed under 23 Hen. 8. c. 5. The commissions were seven in number, viz., for Westminster and part of Middlesex, the Tower Hamlets, Saint Katherine's, Poplar and Blackwall, Holborn and Finsbury, Surrey and Kent and Greenwich. They were all subject to the general statutes concerning sewers, and several of them had obtained special Acts for extending their powers. The general statutes of sewers applicable to those commissions were 28 Hen. 8, c. 5 (d); 3 & 4 Edw. 6, c. 8; 13 Eliz. c. 9; 7 Anne c. 10; and 2 Wm. & Ma. sess. 2, c. 8. To these must be added 3 Jas. 1, c. 14, subjecting to the commission of sewers the walls, ditches, &c., and watercourses within two miles from the city of London, which waters had their course and fall into the Thames; and 2 Wm. & Ma. sess. 2, c. 8, providing that all new sewers made within London and Westminster and the other places named at any time since the twelfth year of the reign of Charles the Second should be subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioners. The Middlesex commissions were expressly exempted from the operation of the General Sewer Acts, 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 22, but the provisions of that enactment applied to those on the south side of the Thames, viz., for Surrey and Kent and Greenwich; and by the latest of the local Acts relating to one of the commissions in Middlesex, viz., the Westminster, 10 & 11 Vict c. 70, numerous provisions of the general statute were by express reference and incorporation made applicable to that commission, notwithstanding the exception referred to. The commissions which had obtained local Acts were those for Westminster, the Holborn and Finsbury, and Surrey and Kent. As many important questions affecting the rights of the present boards and vestries in relation to sewers, the liabilities of private parties with reference to sewerage works, the rights of creditors on the rates and other matters from time to time present themselves and necessitate a reference to those statutes, it will be convenient to enumerate them, and briefly to advert to the more important of their provisions. The local and personal Acts relating to the Westminster commission were 47 Geo. 3, c. 7: 52 Geo. 3, c. 48: and 10 & 11 Vict. c. 70; those applicable to the Holborn and Finsbury commission were 18 Geo. 3, c. 66, and 54 Geo. 3, c. 219; and the Acts relating to the Surrey and Kent commission were 49 Geo. 3, c. 183; 50 Geo. 3, c. 144; 53 Geo. 3, c. 79; and 10 & 11 Vict. c. 217. The 47 Geo. 3, c. 7, recited 3 Jas. 1, c. 14, enacting that all sewers, &c., within two miles from the city of London having their course and fall into the Thames, should be subject to the commission, and also recited 2 Wm. & Ma. c. 8, rendering subject to the commission all new sewers made in any of the parishes, &c., enumerated, since the twelfth year of the reign of Charles II.; and then enacted that all "walls, ditches. sewers. &c.," west of the city of London extending to and including a watercourse dividing the parishes of Chelsea and Fulham, including the several parishes enumerated, having their course and fall into the Thames, should be fully subject to the commissioners of sewers: and it gave the commissioners increased powers for the execution and control of works, and in other respects. The 52 Geo. 3, c. 48, amongst other things, gave the commissioners certain powers for the levying of equal rates; and 10 & 11 Vict. c. 70, extended the jurisdiction of the commission over all places named or to be named in it, whether or not the tide ebbed and flowed therein; and gave the commissioners additional powers for the construction of works, for enforcing the construction of sewers by private parties, imposing on such parties the cost of works, for compelling house drainage, and for making rates and other objects. There was also a special Act obtained by the Westminster commissioners for the formation of a sewer at Bayswater, 4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 96. This sewer was constructed by means of money borrowed, to be repaid by instalments within twenty years. The whole of the money has been repaid. By 18 Geo. 3, c. 66, the Corporation of London were empowered to construct a new sewer within the prebendal estate of Halliwell and Finsbury, and so much of it as was in the county of Middlesex was placed under the Holborn and Finsbury commissioners, and in consideration of the benefit accruing to the districts under their charge, those commissioners were directed to pay into the Chamber of the City of London the annual sum of £150 for ever; and it contained other provisions relating to the sewerage of the districts, the mode of making rates, and other matters. By 49 Geo. 3. c. 183, the Surrey and Kent commissioners were, amongst other things, empowered to make new sewers within the parishes named in the Act, to purchase lands mentioned in the schedule, by agreement or compulsorily, and to borrow, on the security of the rates, sums not exceeding £15,000. The 50 Geo. 3, c. 144, directed them to keep separate accounts of the charges of making new sewers in particular parishes, and fixed the proportions in which the expenses should be paid; it extended the jurisdiction of the commissioners to other parishes; and they were empowered to borrow not exceeding £60,000. The 53 Geo. 3, c. 79, authorizes the commissioners to borrow a further sum of £40,000, and provided for the division of districts; and it gave compulsory powers for the acquisition of lands enumerated in the schedule. The 10 & 11 Vict. c. 217, applied all the powers of the former Acts to the extended districts enumerated in the schedule, and gave increased power for enforcing contribution to the cost of sewers, compelling house drainage and other things.

With respect to the paving of the districts under consideration and the suppression of nuisances, it may be here stated that in the year 1817 was passed the Metropolitan General Paving Act, 57 Geo. 3, c. 29, commonly known as Michael Angelo Taylor's Act, which consolidated and reduced into a species of system many of the provisions relating to paving and the regulation and improvement of streets which were contained in the special Acts of particular parishes. It was expressly incorporated in many of the special Acts which were subsequently passed, and where there was no such express incorporation the commissioners or trustees exercised some of the powers conferred by it in conjunction with those given by the local Acts under which they were appointed. The operation of that Act was limited to the streets and public places then paved or which might thereafter be paved within the Cities of London and Westminster, and Borough of Southwark, and other parts included within the weekly bills of mortality, and within the parishes of St. Pancras and St. Marylebone, with certain specified exceptions. Many of the parishes comprised in the present metropolitan limits were neither within the bills of mortality nor included among the parishes specially mentioned in that Act, but 25 and 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 73, has now extended many of its provisions to the whole of the metropolitan districts (a). The Crown estate, near the Regent's Park, Regent Street, and some adjacent localities and certain parts contiguous to the Houses of Parliament were subject to the jurisdiction of a special body of commissioners acting under 5 Geo. 4, c. 100; but by 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112, all powers in relation to sewerage which had been vested in those commissioners were transferred to the Metropolitan Commissioners of Sewers; and by a subsequent Act, the Crown Estate Paving Act, 14 & 15 Vict. c. 95, the district was divided, and their powers were distributed between a new body of commissioners constituted by that Act; the Commissioners of Works and Public Buildings, and certain parishes mentioned in the Act. With regard to lighting, many of the parishes of the metropolis had adopted the Lighting and Watching Act, 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 90, which still regulates their liability in respect of lighting rates. A portion of the parish of St. Leonard Bromley, now made part of the Poplar district, was formerly within the sewers commission for the levels of Havering and Dagenham, and the commissioners acting under that commission continued to collect rates and exercise powers over it for some time after the Metropolis Local Management Act came into operation; but a new commission has since been issued for those levels, and the part of the parish of St. Leonard Bromley referred to was omitted from its limits. Woolwich was within the sewers commission east of Lombard's Wall, and was, as regards paving, &c., subject to the provisions of a local Act. In the year 1852 it was constituted a district under the Public Health Act, and placed under the management of a Local Board of Health, which body still carries on all local works within the district; but main sewerage is, by the Metropolis Local Management Act, subjected to the control of the Metropolitan Board of Works, and the relation of the Local Board of Health to that Board is, as regards assessments and other matters, assimilated to that of the vestries and district boards in the other parts of the metropolis. turnpike roads north of the Thames are under the management of the commissioners acting under the Consolidating Act, 7 Geo. 4, c. 143, and there are several turnpike trusts south of that river. In enumerating the statutes making provision for the health and well-being of the community it is also necessary to refer to the Nuisances Removal Act, the Acts relating to Public Baths and Wash-houses, to the Registration and Inspection of Common Lodging-houses, and to Extramural Interment, and the burial of the dead in general. It should also be borne in mind in examining the local laws of the metropolis that many special provisions affecting roads, sewers, and other matters appertaining to the functions of the administrative bodies to which the local management of the metropolis is entrusted are contained in private Acts of parliament, such as those relating to Canal, Railway, Water, Gas, Telegraph, and other Companies, many of which supersede or control the provisions of the general law.

For some years previous to 1847, questions affecting the health of the community had engaged a large share of public attention, and the results of laborious and intelligent investigation upon subjects embraced within the range of such inquiries were extensively circulated. In 1843 the Poor Law Commissioners, who had been appointed to inquire into the sanitary condition of the labouring population, drew attention, in the Report of their Secretary, Mr. Chadwick, to the defective state of the sewerage and drainage of the metropolis, and to the inadequacy of the existing law to meet the exigencies of the case. The reports of the commissioners appointed to inquire into the state of large towns and populous districts appeared in 1844 and 1855, and disclosed the evils attending defective drainage, neglect of cleansing and ventilation, and the want of proper supplies of water. The commissioners for inquiring into the means of improving the health of the metropolis made their report in November, 1847, recommending, amongst other things, that the administration of the laws of sewers in the separate districts should be confided to one body of commissioners for the whole metropolis, and suggesting a general survey of the metropolitan districts. In the same month the several separate commissions of sewers were superseded, and new commissions were issued addressed to the same body of commissioners. In September, 1848, was passed the Metropolitan Sewers Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112, which authorized the Queen to issue one commission for the whole of the parts comprised in the then existing separate commissions, and to include within it the district subject to the Regent Street commissioners acting under 5 Geo. 4, c. 100, and any other parts not more than twelve miles distant from St. Paul's Cathedral which might be named. By this Act all local Acts relating to the former commissions were repealed. The persons to be named in the commission, together with the Lord Mayor and four others to be appointed by the Mayor, Aldermen, &c., in Common Council, were constituted the Metropolitan Commissioners of Sewers, and were empowered to require the Commissioners of Sewers for the city of London to execute works within the city limits with certain special provisions as to their cost; and the Lord Mayor and the other city members of the commission were authorized to sit and vote at all courts of sewers on questions relative to the exercise of powers affecting the city. The Act incorporated, with certain exceptions, the powers and provisions of the Statute of Sewers, 23 Hen. 8, c. 5, and of the Acts confirming, explaining, and amending that statute. The first commission issued under the new Act was dated in January, 1849, and it included the same limits as the former separate commission, together with the Regent Street and Regent's Park district; but the second commission, issued in October, 1849, added to its other districts the parish of Chiswick. The Commissioners, under a provision contained in the Act, limited the exercise of their powers to what was termed their active jurisdiction; but the limits of that jurisdiction were enlarged, and shortly after the passing of the Act it included an area of 112 square miles. This was divided into separate sewerage districts or levels, some of which had been determined under the former commissions, whilst others were newly formed under the provisions of this Act. The duration of the Act was limited to two years from its passing, and to the end of the then next session of parliament. It was from time to time renewed until the passing of the Metropolis Local Management Act in 1855, which continued it till that Act came into operation, when it expired. The series of Acts for continuing and amending the Metropolitan Sewers Act, 1848, were 12 & 13 Vict. c. 93; 14 & 15 Vict. c. 75; 15 & 16 Vict. c. 64; 16 & 17 Vict. c. 125; and 17 & 18 Vict. c. 111. An Act was also passed for a special object in 1855, viz., 18 Vict. c. 30. Under one or other of the Acts enumerated, the powers of the commissioners were extended as regarded the enforcement of house drainage, the levying of charges for default and improvement rates, compelling contributions to the cost of works, and other objects. One of the Acts referred to authorized the appointment of a chairman and deputy-chairman, the former with a salary; and with the view of removing objections to the borrowing powers of the commissioners on the ground that the Acts imposed no limit on those powers, the sums which they were authorized to borrow on the security of the rates were restricted first to £300,000 and afterwards to £600,000.

Some of the earlier works of the commission failed in consequence of special circumstances which arose in the course of their execution, but upon the whole the measures originated by those commissioners were productive of a large amount of public benefit. The subterranean survey deserves especial notice as a work of the highest utility, as without it the preparation of an effectual scheme of drainage would have been wholly impracticable. After the borrowing powers of those commissioners were rendered effectual by the intervention of the Legislature they executed a large number of works, which afforded extensive relief to the districts affected by them. But though they performed their duties conscientiously and well, there is no doubt that the system under which they were appointed was open to objection. That system, which wholly ignored the constitutional relation between taxation and representation, and under which the ratepayers had no voice in the election of those by whom their affairs were administered, could only be of limited duration.

The condition of a large part of the metropolis, as regarded its paving and lighting and other subjects of municipal management, was in the highest degree unsatisfactory. Some of the metropolitan parishes which had a representative constitution, were well and economically managed, but a large number of them were under the control of self-elected bodies, who were to a great extent irresponsible to the ratepayers; and whilst no effectual provision was made for the main objects for which they were appointed, the districts under their charge were burdened with a large expenditure and heavy debts. The commissioners appointed in 1853 to inquire into the state of the Corporation of the City of London, had, in their report, already directed their attention to the means of giving a municipal organization to the metropolitan districts, and considered whether it was practicable to effect such an organization by means of a wider extension of the present boundaries of the city. This notion in the result was rejected, and the report recommended a distribution of the metropolis into municipal districts and the creation of a metropolitan board of works to be composed of a limited number of members deputed to it from the council of each metropolitan municipal body, including the corporation of the city, to which should be confided the management of public works in which the metropolis had a common interest. The comprehensive measure introduced in 1855 by Sir Benjamin Hall, then President of the General Board of Health, gave effect to many of the views expressed in that report, and also embodied other provisions essential to an effectual system of local management of the districts to which it applied. It will be convenient in this place to give an abstract of its chief provisions. The twenty-three larger parishes were to have a separate system of administration under vestries; and the other parishes and places were grouped into districts, and to be managed by district boards. The metropolis, as defined by the Act, is co-extensive with the district of the Registrar-General. Eighteen vestrymen were to be elected for every parish in which the number of rated householders should not exceed 1,000, with six additional vestrymen for every parish in which the number of rated householders should exceed 1,000, and twelve additional vestrymen for every parish in which the number of rated householders should exceed 2,000, and in the proportion of twelve additional vestrymen for every thousand rated householders, but so as not to exceed 120 in all. The incumbent and churchwardens were to be a part of the vestry. Parishes containing more than 2,000 rated householders were to be divided into wards. The qualification for a vestryman was the being rated to the relief of the poor on a rental of not less than £40 a year, and he was required to be the occupier of property in the parish; but where the number of assessments at £40 did not exceed one-sixth of the total number of assessments, a £25 rental was sufficient. Members of the vestry were to be elected by the rated parishioners, and the district board was to be elected by the vestries mentioned in Schedule (B). A body called the Metropolitan Board of Works was constituted. Its members were to be elected by the Corporation of London, the vestries in Schedulc (A), and the district boards. The Metropolitan Board, vestries in Schedule (A), and district boards were incorporated. The members of the Metropolitan Board first elected were to appoint a chairman with a salary of not less than £1,500 or more than £2,000 per annum.

The metropolitan board were charged with the maintenance of the main sewers, and with the execution of works for intercepting sewage from the Thames, and were empowered to make orders for maintaining the main and general sewerage, placing streets in more than one parish under one management, naming streets and numbering houses, preserving the regular line of buildings, and for other objects. They were authorized to make, widen and otherwise improve streets, and to effect other objects of public benefit; but when the estimated cost of works exceeded £50,000, they were to be approved by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Works, &c., and when such cost exceeded £100,000 the sanction of Parliament was rendered necessary. The plan of the works for intercepting sewage from the Thames must be approved by the Commissioners of Works and Public Buildings. The vestries and district boards were to maintain existing local sewers, and construct new ones with the previous approval of the Metropolitan Board. The liabilities of individuals ratione tenuræ, and on other grounds, were preserved. Various powers were conferred upon the vestries, &c., for enforcing house drainage and abating nuisances. The duties, powers, and authorities relating to the paving, lighting, watering, cleansing, or improving parishes and districts, and to the regulation, government, or concerns of any parish or part, except such as related to the affairs of the church or the management or relief of the poor, &c., were vested in the vestries and district boards. But the Act contained a saving of the powers of certain commissioners for the maintenance and management of squares, streets, &c., and for other objects. The powers and duties of surveyors of highways were assigned to the vestry and district boards; they were to be the local authority for executing the Nuisances Removal Act; the various powers were conferred upon them for regulating streets, preventing injurious interference with the roads or pavements, and the enforcement of sanitary measures. Certain auxiliary powers were given to the boards and vestries for the execution of works. The rates to be levied were a sewers rate, a general rate, and, in some parishes or parts, a lighting rate. The debts and liabilities of the former sewers commissions and paving boards were continued a charge on the districts to which they originally belonged. Borrowing powers were given to the Metropolitan Board and to the vestries and district boards with the consent of the Metropolitan Board. Provisions were made for the auditing of accounts.

The framers of this measure brought to the performance of their duty extensive knowledge of the multifarious subjects it embraced within its range, and sound judgment in dealing with them; and, considering the magnitude and diversity of the interests affected by it, the special nature of many of its provisions, and the other difficulties of the task, it must, upon the whole, be pronounced a judicious and effectual measure. But it could not be expected that an Act dealing with such a variety of interests, and affecting the provisions of so many local Acts, should be free from defects. Experience showed that some of its provisions required amendment, and the Acts 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, and 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, were accordingly passed. The former, amongst other provisions, declared that all duties, powers, and privileges, including such as related to the affairs of the church or the management or relief of the poor which might be exercised by any open or elected or other vestry, should, with certain exceptions, be deemed to have become vested in the vestries appointed under the original Act. The latter repealed that enactment, by which the approval of Her Majesty's Commissioners of Works was required before any scheme of main drainage could be carried out; and it empowered the Metropolitan Board to execute works for the object in question according to such plan as they might deem proper. It was also made sufficient that the works should have the effect of preventing sewage passing into the Thames within, instead of in or near the metropolis, as provided by the first Act. Works might be constructed through, along, over, or under the bed, bank, and shores of the Thames. The Metropolitan Board were empowered to borrow three millions sterling on bonds, debentures, or other securities, and the Commissioners of the Treasury were authorized to guarantee payment of principal and interest. A main drainage rate of 3d. in the pound on the basis of the county rate was created, and all parts of the metropolis were to be regarded as equally benefited by the expenditure. Works on the bed and foreshore of the Thames were to be subject to the approval of the Admiralty and of the conservators of the Thames. The period for the completion of the main drainage works was extended from the 31st December, 1860, till the 31st December, 1863. These works, which are of vast magnitude and extent, were immediately commenced on the passing of the Act, and they are in active progress. These, as also the other extensive operations of the Board, are explained in their report of their proceedings in the execution of the Acts during the past year presented to both Houses of Parliament, conformably to section 200 of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120. In the course of experience, further obstacles to the effectual working of the original Act were encountered. An important question arose between the Metropolitan Board and the vestries and district boards, as to the incidence of the debts contracted under the former sewers commissions. These were apportioned by the Metropolitan Board among the parishes and parts constituting the old sewerage districts in the ratio of the rateable value of the property within them. Some of the parishes deemed themselves aggrieved by this apportionment, which imposed upon them the cost of works, which, though executed within the same district were not within the local limits of the parish, and urged to Board to alter it. The Board acceded, and prepared a new distribution of the debts, which they embodied in an amending bill. The alterations suggested by the Board in relation to the re-distribution of these debts were, with some exceptions, rejected by the Special Committee of the House of Commons, to which the bill was referred, and, with those exceptions, the original apportionment is still in force. The powers of the Metropolitan Board for compelling prompt payment of their precepts were found insufficient. The provisions of the original Act, directing a different mode of assessment for the expenses of maintaining main sewers from that which applied to the costs of new thoroughfares, and from that which was subsequently authorized with respect to the cost of the main drainage works, were found anomalous and inconvenient. Further powers were required for the construction of accommodation and subsidiary works. The regulations respecting the breaking up of turnpike roads were unnecessarily restrictive; the provisions for preventing wrongful interference with sewers were found inadequate; and additional powers were required for compelling the submission of plans, &c., previously to the construction of sewers; for compelling overseers to enforce payment, by private parties, of the expenses of paving new streets; for imposing on the owners the cost of sewering streets newly laid out; for enforcing contributions to the cost of sewers by parties draining into them; and for abating nuisances and enforcing adequate sanitary regulations in general. It may be added that there was no appeal against the decision of the auditors of accounts; and modifications of the provisions of the original Act were needed in other respects. The provisions to which the foregoing observations apply are pointed out in the notes to the several sections under which they arise, and the nature and scope of the amendments introduced to meet these and other requirements, and the reasons on which they are founded, are fully explained. Many of the clauses of the bill. however, underwent hasty alteration during its progress through Parliament, and new ones were introduced without its being clearly ascertained whether or not they were consistent with the general provisions of the measure. The consequence has been that several of its enactments are of an incongruous character, and their true construction may probably hereafter be attended with difficulty. But notwithstanding this, the last amending Act has, upon the whole, given to the boards and vestries considerable additional facilities for the performance of their functions. A good deal of discussion has taken place as to the mode in which the members of the Mctropolitan Board are chosen, and an impression seems to be gaining ground that direct election by the ratepayers would be preferable to the indirect election by the vestries and district boards which now prevails. The Select Committee of the House of Commons on Metropolis Local Taxation, appointed in 1861, express themselves in their report to this effect. They state that whilst the evidence before them tended to show that the Metropolitan Board, as at present constituted, was fully competent to discharge its duties, greater authority would, in their opinion, attach to its deliberations if its members were elected by the ratepayers directly. Whether that view of the Committee is or is not well founded, the preponderance of opinion among those familar with the working of the Board is, that though an alteration of the mode of election might not send better men to the Board, it would, at all events, secure them greater independence of action. As regards the functions of the vestries and district boards, their periodical reports under the 198th section of the statute referred to, show the large paving and other works which have been executed, and they constitute an instructive record of sanitary activity in the construction of local sewers, the extension of house drainage, the inspection of the dwellings of the poor by their medical officers, and the removal of trade and other nuisances prejudicial to health. One great source of difficulty with which the metropolitan and other boards and vestries have still to contend, however, remains to be mentioned, and that is the means of providing funds for the extensive improvements demanded by the exigencies of metropolitan traffic, Previously to the passing of the Metropolis Management Act, public improvements had for the most part been effected by the executive government by means of parliamentary grants, or by the Corporation of London, out of its own funds, or to a great extent under powers created by special Acts of Parliament. The Metropolitan Board, unlike various municipal corporations, is not in possession of revenues derived from estates, or from tolls, dues, fees, or the like; and, the whole of the works which have hitherto been executed have been paid for out of the proceeds of direct rates upon house property (a). The Board did not cease to press their claims in this respect upon the attention of the Government and of Parliament (a), and the result has been to place at their disposal means derived from other sources for executing one of the most important of the undertakings required for the improvement of the metropolis, viz., the Thames embankment. The London Coal and Wine Duties Continuance Act, 1861, 24 & 25 Viet. c. 42, after providing that those duties should, subject to the qualification expressed in the Act, be continued until the 5th July, 1872, enacted that the duties of 1d. per ton on coal, culm, and cinders, and of 4s. per tun on wines, and of 8d. on coal, culm, and cinders, should, so soon as all charges on the London Bridge Approaches Fund should be satisfied, be paid to the account of the Thames Embankment and Metropolis Improvement Fund, and be applied to the improvement of the metropolis, as might thereafter be directed by Parliament. The execution of this important undertaking has since been confided by Parliament to the Metropolitan Board, the Thames Embankment Act, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 93, empowering them to execute the necessary works, and the Commissioners of the Treasury being authorized to provide the requisite sums out of, or by charge upon, the Thames Embankment and the Metropolis Improvement Fund. This noble work will, however, be incomplete unless it be accompanied or speedily succeeded by an embankment on the south side of the river.

⁽a) See letter from Mr. Thwaites, chairman of the Metropolitan Board of Works, to members of Parliament representing metropolitan constituencies, dated the 18th April, 1859, pointing out the limited resources of the Board, and the vast costs of the improvements required for the purposes of metropolitan traffic.

The boards and vestries appointed to watch over the local administration of the metropolis have large powers and commensurate responsibilities; and whilst past experience justifies the anticipation that their powers will continue to be exercised with judgment and discretion, it is earnestly to be desired that their public usefulness may be promoted by mutual confidence and increased harmony of action.

AN ACT

FOR THE BETTER LOCAL MANAGEMENT OF THE METROPOLIS(4).

18 & 19 VICT. CAP. 120.

14TH AUGUST, 1855.

WHEREAS it is expedient that provision should be made for the better local management of the metropolis (b) in respect of the sewerage and drainage, and the paving, cleansing, lighting, and improvements thereof (c): Be it enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

(a) This Act has been amended by 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, 38 & 39 Vict. c. 33, and 41 & 42 Vict. c. 32 (Metropolis Management and Building Acts Amendment Act, 1878). In addition to these, numerous other Acts have been passed relating to the powers and functions of the metropolitan and district boards and vestries, a reference to which will be found in the notes to sections 43 and 67, and other sections of this Act. A selection from the more important of these statutes will be found in the appendix.

(b) By the 250th section "the metropolis" is defined to include the city of London and the parishes and places mentioned in the schedules (A), (B), and (C) to the Act; and the city of London includes all parts now within the jurisdiction of the commissioners of sewers for the city of London. The 11 & 12 Vict. c. 163 (the City of London Sewers Act, 1848), s. 262, enacts that the word "city" shall mean the city of London and the liberties thereof, and shall include such parts of Holborn, the Minories, and Aldersgate Street, as are or have been usually treated as being within the liberties of the city, and the courts and alleys leading into the same or communicating therewith, and also the north side of Eldon Street, formerly called Broker Row, Moorfields, and the courts and alleys leading into the same or communicating therewith, and all precincts and places within the city of London or the liberties thereof. See reference in note to section 135, post, to subsequent Acts making provision for the drainage of certain localities not situate within the area under the control of the Metropolitan Board of Works.

(c) See section 90, transferring, with certain exceptions, to the vestries and district boards constituted by this Act, in addition to the paving and other matters specified, all other duties, powers, and authorities in anywise relating to the regulation, government, or concerns of parishes, &c., and the 3rd section of 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, post, transferring to them save as

Section 1.

Election of Vestries and Auditors in Parishes in Schedules (A.) and (B.)

1 & 2 Will, 4, c. 60, repealed so far as regards parishes in schedules (A.) and (B.) (a).

1. The Act of the session holden in the first and second years of King William the Fourth, chapter sixty, "For the better Regulation of Vestries, and for the Appointment of Auditors of Accounts in certain Parishes of England and Wales," shall be repealed, from and after the passing of this Act, so far as regards any parish mentioned in either of the Schedules (A.) and (B.) to this Act: Provided always, that the vestry and auditors already elected for any such parish under the said Act shall continue to be such vestry and auditors until the first election of vestrymen and auditors for such parish under this Act has taken place, but no longer (b); and the provisions of the said Act of King William the Fourth shall continue applicable to every such vestry and to their proceedings, and the books in which the same are entered, and to such auditors and their proceedings accordingly.

Vestries in parishes named in either of the schedules (A.) 2. The vestry in every parish mentioned in either of the schedules (A.) and (B.) to this Act shall consist of a certain number of persons qualified and elected as herein provided; (that is to say) eighteen vestrymen for every parish in which the number of rated householders (c) shall not exceed one thousand; and six additional vestry-therein otherwise provided the duties, powers, and privileges (including such as relate to the affairs of the church, or the management or relief of the poor, or the administration of any money or other property applicable to the relief of the poor) which might have been performed or exercised by any open or elected or other vestry, &c.; and see as to the purposes and objects of the Act, as collected from its preamble and enactments, the judgment of Lord Justice Turner in Carter v. Cropley, 26 L. J. Ch. 247.

(a) The Act here repealed so far as regards parishes mentioned in schedules (A.) and (B.) is that commonly known as Hobbouse's Act, from which several of the provisions in the present Act relating to the constitution of vestries have in substance been adopted. See on the construction of that Act R. v. St. Pancras, I A. & E. 80; R. v. St. Pancras, 5 N. & M. 219; R. v. St. Marylebone, 5 A. & E. 268; R. v. St. Pancras, 11 A. & E.

15; and the cases cited, Chit. Stat. vol. 3, p. 1518, et seq. notes.

(b) As to first election of vestrymen and auditors, see sections 7, 11, post. (c) In a case in which A. and his partner had a dwelling house in a town with a counting-house attached to it, the partners using the counting-house daily for their business, and the dwelling-house being occupied by a clerk of the firm and the rent and taxes being paid by the partnership, it was held that each of the partners was a householder within 26 Geo. 3, c. 38; Rex v. Hall, 1 B. & C. 123. So also under similar circumstances, that each of the partners of a firm was a householder within 43 Eliz. c. 2, and liable to serve the office of overseer; R. v. Poynder, 1 B. & C. 178. Where a servant occupies premises of his master without paying rent, to Cetermine whether he is a householder within that statute, the question is, whether the occupation is subservient and necessary to the service; if it is, the occupation is that of the master; if not, it is that of a tenant, and the servant is a householder; R. v. Spurrell, L. R. 1 Q. B, 72. See also Smith v. Overseers of Seghill, L. R. 10 Q. B. 422; Hughes v. Overseers of Chatham, 5 M. & G. 54; and Ex parte Overseers of Paddington, 3 Cox Mag. Ca. 42. As to what constitutes a person an inhabitant householder within the Municipal Corporation Act, refer to R. v. Mayor of Exeter, L. R. 4 Q. B. 110, 114, and see R. v. Boycott, 30 J. P. 406. As to majority of householders men, that is, twenty-four vestrymen for every parish in which the number of rated householders shall exceed one thousand; and twelve additional vestrymen, that is, thirty-six vestrymen, for every parish in which the number of rated householders shall exceed two thousand; and so on at the proportion of twelve additional vestrymen for every thousand rated householders: Provided always, that in no case the number of vestrymen shall exceed one hundred and twenty; provided also, that the incumbent and churchwardens (d) of each such parish shall constitute a part of the vestry, and shall vote therein, in addition to the elected vestrymen: provided also, that every district rector now constituting in any such parish a part of the vestry thereof, shall continue to constitute a part of the vestry thereof under this Act: provided also, that where in any parish the whole number of persons qualified to be vestrymen shall not amount to eighteen, the vestry thereof shall consist of so many persons as are so qualified, anything in this Act to the contrary notwithstanding.

Section 2. and (B.) to consist of not less than 18 or more than 120 persons qualified and elected as after provided.

3. Each of the said parishes which at the time of the passing of Such parishes this Act (e) contains more than two thousand rated householders shall be divided into wards; and it shall be lawful for such person or persons as may be appointed for this purpose as herein provided to determine and set out, on or before the tenth day of October next, the number, extent, limits, and boundary lines of such wards, but so nevertheless that no ward shall contain less than five hundred rated householders, and that the whole number of wards in any parish shall not exceed eight; and the person or persons setting out such wards in any parish shall apportion among the several wards the number of vestrymen to be elected for such parish, and shall, in assigning the number of vestrymen to each ward, have regard, as far as in his or their judgment it is practicable, as well to the number of persons rated to the relief of the poor in each ward as to the aggregate amount of the sums at which all such persons are rated; and the number of vestrymen assigned to each ward shall be a number divisible by three; and a copy of the particulars of such division and apportionment shall be forthwith transmitted to one of Her Majesty's principal secretaries of state, and also to the vestry clerk of the parish to which such division and apportionment relate; and if Her Majesty, by the advice of her privy council, approve of such division and apportionment, the particulars thereof shall be published in the London Gazette (f); and the parish shall, after such publication, be deemed to be divided into such wards so determined and set out, and such division shall continue and be in force until the same

(d) Where one of a number of trustees, directed by a local Act to be filled up at certain intervals to fifty-one over and besides the vicar, churchwards, &c., became churchwarden, it was held that no vacancy was thereby created; R. v. Trustees of Kensington, 2 B. & Ad. 740.

(e) The omission in this Act to make provision for a future increase of rated householders is supplied by section 41 of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, which provides for the division into wards, by the metropolitan board, of parishes not divided under this Act. Under that enactment the parishes of Hampstead, Battersea, and Wandsworth have been divided into wards.

(f) The supplement to the London Gazette of 19th October, 1855, contains the orders in council approving the division and apportionment made pursuant to this provision.

Section 3.

be altered as herein provided; and the number of vestrymen assigned to each ward shall be the number to be elected for such ward until altered as aforesaid: Provided always, that if Her Majesty, by advice of her privy council, do not approve such division and apportionment, such publication as aforesaid shall nevertheless be made, and such division and apportionment be in force for the purpose of any election under the provisions of this Act, until such time as Her Majesty, by advice of her privy council, upon further information and report from any such person or persons, definitely approve the division of such parish into wards, and of the number of vestrymen assigned to each ward, in manner hereinbefore mentioned: Provided also, that where any parish is already divided into wards under any local Act such parish shall be deemed to be divided into such wards for the purposes of this Act, without any division of such parish into wards being made as hereinbefore provided, but the number of vestrymen to be elected for such parish shall be apportioned as aforesaid among the wards of such parish by such person or persons as may be appointed for that purpose as herein provided.

Power to secretary of state to appoint persons to set out the wards, and apportion number of vestrymen to be elected.

4. One of Her Majesty's principal secretaries of state shall, as soon as conveniently may be after the passing of this Act, appoint not more than four fit persons, the names of such persons to be published in the London Gazette, to set out the wards into which the said parishes are by this Act directed to be divided, and to apportion the number of vestrymen to be elected for such parishes respectively among such wards, and also to apportion the number of vestrymen to be elected for any parish already divided into wards as aforesaid among such wards; and any one or more of such persons may be appointed to act as aforesaid separately from any other or others of them as such secretary of state may see fit; and such secretary of state shall, in case circumstances appear to him so to require, appoint any other fit person or persons in the place of or in addition to any such person or persons originally appointed under this provision; and every person appointed to set out such wards shall be paid at a rate not exceeding the sum of £5 5s. for every day that he is employed by virtue of such appointment, and the amount payable to him in respect of such employment in each parish shall be determined and certified by the commissioners of Her Majesty's treasury, and the amount so certified shall be paid out of the poor rates of the parish.

If relative amounts of population of wards vary in any future census, the numbers of vestrymen may be altered (a).

Qualification of vestrymen.

- 5. When at any time upon any account taken of the population by the authority of parliament, the relative numbers of the inhabited houses in the several wards of any parish divided into wards as aforesaid are found to have varied from those shown by the last previous census, it shall be lawful for the metropolitan board of works, upon the application of the vestry or any ratepayers of such parish, to alter the number of vestrymen assigned to such wards or any of them, but so that the number of vestrymen assigned to each ward shall be a number divisible by three.
- 6. The vestry elected under this Act in any parish shall consist of persons rated or assessed (b) to the relief of the poor upon a

⁽a) As to future division of parishes into wards, see note to section 3, ante.
(b) By the amending Act, 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, s. 4, post, an occupier of a tenement may claim to be rated to the poor rate, whether the landlord be or be not liable to be rated in respect thereof, and by section 6 an occupier rated is deemed to be rated under the Act and shull be entitled to yote in elections of vestrymen, and shall, for the purposes of the Act, be deemed a ratepayer, subject to the proviso therein expressed. The 31 & 32 Vict. c. 122, s. 38, provides for the rating of persons coming into occupation (after the making of a rate) of new houses, &c., incomplete or unfit for occupation, or not entered in the valuation list in force when the current rate was made. And 32 & 33 Vict. c. 41 (Poor Rate Assessment and Collection Act, 1869) provides for payment of rates by owners, and rating owners instead of occupiers, and enacts that every payment of a rate by the occupier, notwithstanding the amount may be deducted from his rent, and any payment of a rate by the owner in the manner defined shall be deemed a payment of the poor rate by the occupier for the purpose of any qualification or franchise, depending as regards rating upon the payment of the poor rate. It also contains provision for rating successive occupiers and persons coming into occupation of unoccupied hereditaments, &c. The Parliamentary and Municipal Registration Act, 1878, section 14, recites section 14 of the Poor Rate Assessment and Collection Act, 1869, as to entering occupiers names in rate book, and declares that it shall not be deemed to apply exclusively to cases where an agreement has been made under section 3 of the Act, but shall be of general application. It had been previously decided under a local improvement act that a person did not possess the requisite qualification for a commissioner by rating who was not rated in any rate made, allowed, and published before the election, although before the election and after the allowance and publication of the last rate he had been entered as rateable in a list added to the rate, and had paid a proportional part of it; R. v. Eddowes, 1 Ell. and Ell. 330; see also Richards v. Gladwin, 27 L. J. M. C 193. By the 17th section of the Poor Rate Assessment and Collection Act, 1869, a poor rate (in the metropolis extended to every rate made by the overseers and chargeable upon the same property as the poor rate) shall be deemed to be made on the day when it is allowed by the justices, and if the justices sever in their allowance, then on the day of the last allowance. Under the Representation of the People Act, 1867, the rate entitling to registration must have been entirely made, i.e., signed, allowed, and published within the qualifying year; Jones v. Bubb, 5 Cox Mag. Ca. 273; see also Ainsworth v. Creeke, L. R. 4 C. P. 470. In 32 & 33 Vict. c. 67, the Valuation (Metropolis) Act, 1869, the term "ratepayer" is defined to mean every person who is liable to any rate or tax in respect of any property entered in any valuation list.

Where A. occupied jointly with B., the latter alone being assessed, and A. bond fide paid the rate, but without being called upon to do so, he was held not to be rated within 2 Will. 4, c. 45, s. 27; Moss v. Overveers of Lichfield, 7 M. & Gr. 72; and see R. v. Hulme, 4 Q. B. 538. A person was decided not to be disqualified for being put on a borough register of voters because he had not paid some arrears of a poor rate to which he was not rated, but only became liable to pay as incoming tenant by 17 Geo. 2, c. 38.

s. 12; Flatcher v. Boodle, 34 L. J. C. P. 77.

The defendant was joint occupier with his father and brother of hereditaments within a metropolitan parish. A rate was made in April, 1876, upon the father only. In May the defendant was elected a vestryman and declared by the inspectors after objection to be duly qualified and elected. In June he sat and voted as a vestryman. In July he caused his own name to be inserted in the demand note made in April, and in October, jointly with his father, paid the rate. It was held that the defendant was in May neither "rated" nor "assessed" within the meaning of this enactment, and was not qualified as a vestryman, that the decision of the inspectors was not conclusive, that by sitting and voting in June he had incurred the penalty imposed by section 54, and that his liability to that penalty was not taken away upon the subsequent payment of the rate; Goodhev v. Williams, L. R. & C. P. D. 382, where it is said by one of the judges that a similar rule of construction must be applied to this enactment as in the case of the parliamentary registration acts. Held also, the liability to this penalty was not taken away by section 4 of 19 & 20 Vitc. c. 112, which, see post.

Section 6.

rental (a) of not less than £40 per annum; and no person shall be capable of acting or being elected as one of such vestry for any parish unless he is the occupier of a house, lands, tenements, or hereditaments in such parish, and be rated or assessed as aforesaid upon such rental as aforesaid within such parish : Provided always, that in any parish in which the number of poor rate assessments at £40 or upwards does not exceed one-sixth of the whole number of such assessments (b) it shall not be necessary, in order to qualify a person to be a vestryman, that the amount of rental upon which he is rated or assessed as aforesaid exceed £25: Provided also, that the joint occupation of any such premises as aforesaid, and a joint rating in respect thereof, shall be sufficient to qualify each joint occupier in case the amount of rental on which all such occupiers are jointly rated will, when divided by the number of occupiers, give for each such occupier a sum not less than the amount hereinbefore required.

As to the first clection of vestrymen under this Act.

7. The first election of vestrymen under this Act in every parish shall be holden in the month of November next after the passing of this Act, and between the fifth and twenty-first days of that month, and the day on which such election shall commence shall be appointed by the churchwardens of the parish, and twenty-one days previously to the day of election notice of such election.

Where several blocks of buildings were each divided structurally into different suites of rooms, the respective suites were held to be rightly treated as separate hereditaments, and the tenants properly assessed to the poor rate as occupiers; R. v. St. George's Union, L. R. 7 Q. B. 90. But for the purposes of the inhabited house duty, each block must be treated as one dwelling-house; Att. Gen. v. Mutual Tontine Westminster

Ch. Assoc., L. R. 10 Ex. 305.

(a) The 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, s. 8, post, declares that the amount specified in that column in the schedule to the Parochial Assessment Act, 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 96, which is headed "Rateable Value," shall be deemed the rental for the purposes of this Act. See this question raised, before the passing of the amending Act, in R. v. Churchwardens of St. Mary, Lambeth, 20 J. P. 276. The annual value for the qualification of a town councillor was held to mean rateable value, and not gross estimated rental; Baker v. Marsh, 24 L. J. Q. B. 1, and see under a local Act, Easton v. Alce, 7 H. & N. 452. By 32 & 33 Vict. c. 67 (Valuation Metropolis Act). the valuation list under the Act shall be conclusive evidence of the gross and rateable value of the hereditaments included therein, and of other matters for the purposes mentioned, including, amongst others, that of determining the qualification of a vestryman and auditor under this Act. · To render a party eligible under section 20 of Hobhouse's Act, 1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 60. it was held not to be necessary that he should be rated in respect of property in his own possession, but that the rental might be made up of tenements separately held and not in his occupation; R. v. St. Pancras, 1 A. & Ell. 80. A person who occupied several pieces of land under different landlords and was separately rated for them, was allowed to add their rateable values together for the qualification for a county vote under 30 & 31 Vict. c. 102; Huckle v. Piper, 41 L. J. C. P. 42. See disqualification of an alderman of a municipal borough by ceasing to occupy the qualifying premises, Ex parte Birkbeck, L. R. 9 Q. B. 256; and as to what was held to be part of a house for the purpose of rateability under a local Act and properly included in the rate; Hole v. Commissioners of Milton; Walton v. Same, 31. J. P. 804.

(b) It would seem that where a number of distinct tenements are in the rate book included in the same assessment, that constitutes one assessment for the purposes of this computation.

shall be given in manner hereinafter directed (c) concerning notice of election of vestrymen and auditors, and the next such election shall take place on such day in the month of May in the year 1857 as the vestry shall appoint, and every subsequent election shall take place annually in the month of May in every year as the vestry appoint.

Section 7.

8. At the first such election of vestrymen as aforesaid for any parish, the full number of elective vestrymen of which such vestry is to consist, as hereinbefore mentioned, shall be elected, and such vestrymen, with such other persons as hereinbefore mentioned, shall forthwith be deemed to constitute the vestry of such parish, and shall supersede any existing vestry therein, and exercise the powers and privileges held by such existing vestry (a), save as in this Act otherwise provided (e); and the authority of such vestry may be pleaded before any justice or justices of the peace, or in any court of law in regard to all parochial property or monies due, or holdings or contracts, or other documents of the like nature, under the control or in the keeping of such existing vestry; and all parish officers or boards shall account to them in like manner as they are by law liable to account to such existing vestry.

The full number of vestrymen to be chosen at first election, and existing vestries super-seded.

9. One-third of the vestrymen first elected under this Act in any parish, or, where such parish is divided into wards under this Act, in each ward of such parish, shall go out of office at the time appointed for the election of vestrymen in the year 1857, one other third of them at the time appointed for such election in the year 1858, and the remaining third at the time appointed for such election in the year 1859; and the vestry shall, at some meeting before the time of the election in 1857, determine by lot which of the members first elected shall constitute the one-third to go out of office in the years 1857 and 1858 respectively; and all members from time to time elected at the annual elections after the first election, shall go out of office at the time appointed for the annual election in the third following year, except such members as are elected to supply vacancies occasioned otherwise than by effluxion of time; and such last-mentioned members shall go out of office at the respective times when the terms of office of the members in whose places they are respectively elected would have expired by effluxion of time.

As to the term of office of vestrymen elected at first election, and as to future elections.

10. At every election of vestrymen under this Act, except the first, for any parish or any ward of any parish, the parishioners of such parish entitled to vote in such election (f) shall elect as many Vacancies to be filled up at annual elections.

(e) This provision transfers to the vestries constituted by this Act all the powers of existing vestries, subject to the restrictions in sections 90 and 91, and to the other provisions of the Act. See now the amending Act, 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, s. 3, post, as to the duties, powers, and privileges declared to have become transferred to vestries and district boards under this Act.

(f) See section 16.

⁽c) See section 26 as to the publication of notices and lists.
(d) Where by a local Act making the hamlet of Spitalfields a distinct parish, the rector, churchwardens, and others, were constituted the vestrymen of the parish, and by another local Act they were empowered to make poor rates, it was held that the power of making poor rates possessed by the old vestry was transferred to the new vestry, and that the rates made by the latter were valid, the overseers not being entitled to vote; Vaughan v. (g) The general powers of the Metropolitan Board of Works with respect to sewerage are contained in a series of provisions commencing with the 135th section of this Act together with the 32nd and other sections of the amending Act, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102. The board were also, by 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, invested with extended powers for effecting the purification of the Thames and the main drainage of the metropolis. That Act removed the restrictions contained in the 135th & 136th sections of this Act, limiting the period for the completion of the main drainage works, and requiring, before any plan should be carried out, the approval of the commissioners of her majesty's works, and it enacted that the board might execute the necessary works according to such plans as to them might seem proper. It also altered the direction in this section to the effect that works should be executed for preventing the sewage of the metropolis from passing into the Thames in or near to the metropolis, and authorized the board to carry out works for preventing as far as might be practicable the sewage of the metropolis from passing into the Thames within the metropolis. It conferred upon the board additional powers for constructing works under the bed, banks and shores of the Thames, and extended the period for the completion of the works to the 31st December, 1863. It further empowered the board to borrow with the consent of the Treasury, up to the 31st December, 1866, sums not exceeding three million pounds for the purposes of the Act on bonds, debentures, or other securities, on such terms as the commissioners of the Treasury might approve; and it authorized those commissioners to guarantee payment of principal and interest. It required the board to cause to be raised each year during 40 years from the passing of the Act a sum equivalent to a rate of 3d. in the pound, to be called the Metropolitan Main Drainage Rate, and enacted that for the purposes of the assessment under the Act, all parts of the metropolis should be deemed to be equally benefited; with a power to the board to make rates on default of the vestries. They were, until the works should be completed, to deodorize the sewage; and the Act required that all works executed under it should be so conSection 43.

structed and kept as not to be a nuisance. By section 27 of 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, the previous approval of the Admiralty was required of works to be executed upon the bed or shores of the Thames, and by section 28 that of the conservators of the Thames. The powers of the last-mentioned Act were extended by the Metropolitan Main Drainage Extension Act, 1863, which authorized the board to borrow in manner provided any sum not exceeding one million two hundred thousand pounds, in addition to the three million pounds authorized to borrowed under the former Act. The Commissioners of the Treasury were authorized to guarantee the payment of the principal and interest in manner therein mentioned. The same Act made provisions for the application of the moneys borrowed, and extended the time for the completion of the works until the 31st December, 1866. The 28' Vict. c. 19 enlarged the time for the borrowing by the board of the moneys suthorized by the Main Drainage Extension Act, 1863.

This Act was repealed by the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, to the extent defined by the 3rd schedule, subject to the qualifications expressed in section 5. That Act repealed, with the exceptions mentioned, the 4th section of this Act (21 & 22 Vict. c. 104) and the other sections relating to the borrowing of money, and substituted other provisions for this object.

The 33 & 34 Vict. c. 140 (Thames Navigation Act, 1870), required the board, at their own expense, to keep the Thames free from banks or other obstructions to the navigation arising from the flow of sewage at their out-falls into the river, with power to dredge and remove such banks or obstructions subject to the approval of the conservators; and the works were required to be executed under their superintendence, with provisions for the settlement of disputes by arbitration. See reference to Acts for the drainage of certain localities without the limits of the metropolis in note to section 135, ante.

The Thames Embankment Act, 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 93) empowered the board to embank the north side of the Thames from Westminster Bridge to Blackfriars Bridge, and to make new streets in and near thereto. The powers of the board in relation to the embankment of the Thames and improvements connected with it were extended and varied by subsequent Acts. See a reference to the whole of these Acts in note to section 9 of 24 & 25 Vict. c. 42, The London Coal and Wine Duties Continuance Act, Numerous additional duties were imposed upon the metropolitan board by other statutes. The Metropolitan Building Act, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 122 (amended by 23 & 24 Vict. c. 52, 24 & 25 Vict. c. 87, 32 & 33 Vict. c. 82, and 41 & 42 Vict. c. 32) conferred various powers upon them with respect to the limits of districts, the appointment of district surveyors, the modification of rules for the construction of buildings, and other matters. The 41 & 42 Vict. c. 32, the Metropolitan Management and Building (Amendment) Act, 1878, contains provisions relative to houses and buildings in close proximity to certain roads, &c., empowering the board to cause alterations to be made in theatres and music halls, to make regulations with respect to the position and structure of new theatres and music halls, the making and preparation of foundations and sites of houses, &c., with other powers.

resign his office, such resignation of any member of the metropolitan board of works to be notified in writing signed by such member to the chairman of such board, and such resignation of any vestryman or member of any such district board to be notified in writing signed by such vestryman or member to the churchwardens of the parish for which he was elected.

56. Any member of the metropolitan board of works, or of any district board of works, or of any such vestry, going out of office, shall, if qualified, be capable of immediate re-election.

57. No resolution or other act of the metropolitan board of works, or of the board of works for any district, or of any such vestry, shall be revoked or altered at any subsequent meeting, unless such subsequent meeting be specially convened for the purpose (c), nor unless such revocation or alteration be determined upon by a majority consisting of two-thirds of the members of the board, or of the vestrymen present at such subsequent meeting, if the number of members or vestrymen present at such subsequent meeting be not greater by onefifth than the number present when such resolution was made or such act was done, but if the number of members or vestrymen present at such subsequent meeting be greater by one-fifth than the number present at such former meeting, then such revocation or alteration may be determined upon by a mere majority.

58. It shall be lawful for the metropolitan board of works, and Committees the board of works for any district, and any such vestry respectively, to appoint a committee or committees for any purposes which, in the discretion of the board or vestry, would be better regulated and managed by means of such committee, and at any meeting to continue, alter, or discontinue such committee: Provided always, that

Where at one meeting it was resolved that the name of a street should be altered, and at a subsequent meeting the name was again altered, the latter meeting not having been specially convened in conformity with this enactment, the second resolution was held invalid; Sooby v. Vestry of Kensington, 35 J. P. 343, and by the court, "the object of the section was to prevent the revocation or alteration of a former order without adequate public notice." Where a metropolitan vestry resolved to pave a street out of the general rate under section 106, and by a subsequent resolution determined to proceed under section 105, imposing the cost of the work on the owners of property, it was decided to be unnecessary to rescind the first resolution; Vestry of St. George the Martyr v. Pethebridge, 31 J. P. 279. Where a bye-law under the Public Health Act, 1848, provided that no resolution should be altered or rescinded without a month's notice to each member of the board setting forth the proposed alteration, and the local board having passed a resolution for the making of three separate rates, by a subsequent resolution decided on making one general rate without the notice directed by the bye-law, the general rate was held invalid; Meyer v. Burslem, 39 J. P. 437. Semble, that a resolution of a local board of health dismissing an officer was not a resolution rescinding the resolution by which he was appointed within the meaning of a bye-law relative to the rescission of resolutions; Ex parte Richards, L. the acts of every such committee shall be submitted to the general body of the board or vestry appointing such committee for their approval (a).

Powers of committees.

59. Every committee so appointed may meet from time to time, and may adjourn from place to place, as they may think proper, for carrying into effect the purposes of their appointment; but no business shall be transacted at any meeting of the committee unless three members of the committee are present.

Minutes of proceedings of metropolitan and district boards and of vestries to be entered.

60. Entries of all proceedings of the metropolitan board of works, and every such district board, and of any such vestry, with the names of the members who attend each meeting, shall be made in books to be provided and kept for that purpose (b) under the direction of the board or vestry, and shall be signed by the members present, or any two of them; and all entries purporting to be so signed shall be received as evidence, without proof of any meeting of the board or vestry having been duly convened or held, or of the presence at any such meeting of the persons named in any such entry as being present thereat, or of such persons being members of the board or vestry, or of the signature of any person by whom any such entry purports to be signed, all which matters shall be presumed until the contrary be proved; and every such board and vestry shall provide and keep books in which shall be entered true and regular accounts of all sums of money received and paid by them or under their authority, and of all liabilities incurred by them, and of the several purposes for which such sums of money are received and paid and such liabilities incurred, and copies of all contracts entered into by any such board or vestry.

All books to be open to inspection 61. All such books shall at all reasonable times be open to the examination of every member of the board and vestry respectively to which such books belong, and of every owner of property, churchwarden, overseer, and ratepayer within the metropolis, as regards books of the said metropolitan board, and of every owner of property, churchwarden, overseer, and ratepayer within any district or parish, as regards books belonging to the district board or vestry (as the case may be), and of every creditor on the rates raised under this Act by any such board or vestry respectively, without fee or reward, and they respectively may take copies of or extracts from such books or any part thereof, without paying for the same; and in case the members of the board or vestry, or any of them, or any of the officers or servants of the board or vestry having the custody of the said books, being thereunto reasonably requested, refuse to

⁽a) That part of this section which provides that the acts of every committee shall be submitted to the general body for approval is repealed so far as concerns the metropolitan board, and other provisions are substituted; 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 31, post. Where a committee appointed under an authority given by the Land Drainage Act, 1861, delegated its duties to a committee of three members, it was decided that every act must be the joint act of the three, and it was not competent for them to apportion their duties among themselves; Cook v. Section 61.

62. The metropolitan board of works, and (subject to the provisions herein contained) the board of works for every district under this Act, and the vestry of every parish mentioned in schedule (A.) to this Act, shall respectively appoint or employ, or continue for the purposes of this Act, and may remove at pleasure, such clerks, treasurers, and surveyors, and such other officers and servants as may be necessary, and may allow to such clerks, treasurers, surveyors officers, and servants respectively, such salaries and wages as the board or vestry may think fit.

Power to metropolitan board, district boards, and vestries to appoint officers (c).

63. No person holding the office of treasurer under the metropolitan board, or any district board, or any such vestry, nor his partner, nor any person in the service or employ of them or either of them, shall hold, be eligible to, or in any manner assist or officiate in the office of clerk (d); and neither the person holding the office of clerk, nor his partner, nor any person in the service or employ of them or either of them, shall hold, be eligible to, or in any manner assist or officiate in the office of treasurer; and every person offending in any of the cases specified in this provision shall forfeit and pay the sum of £100, which may be recovered by any person, with full costs of suit, by action in any of the superior courts of law.

Clerk and treasurer not to be the same person.

64. No officer or servant of the metropolitan board, or of any Penalty on district board or any such vestry, shall be in anywise concerned or officers, &c., interested in any contract or work made with or executed for such being interboard or vestry (e); and if any such officer or servant be so concerned or interested, or, under colour of his office or employment, exact, take, or accept any fee or reward whatsoever other than his proper salary, wages, and allowances (f) he shall be incapable of ested in contracts, or exacting fees.

The metropolitan board of works and every such district board and vestry respectively shall provide and maintain such offices within their respective district or parish as may be necessary for the purposes of this Act, and shall take care that their clerk, or some person duly authorised by them in that behalf, attends at their office daily (Sundays, Christmas Day, and Good Friday, and days appointed for any general fast or thanksgiving, alone excepted), for the purpose of receiving notices and transacting the ordinary business of the board or vestry under this Act.

Duties and Powers of Vestries and District Boards (a).

"Vestry" in following provisions to 67. Where in the provisions hereinafter contained any expression is used referring to the vestry of a parish, such expression shall be

(a) Other enactments have considerably extended the powers and duties of metropolitan vestries and district boards. Among the more important of these must be mentioned the Metropolis Gas Act, 1860, 23 & 24 Vict. c. 125, conferring various powers on those bodies in relation to the supply of gas, and by the 4th section of which Act they are with the metropolitan board included under the expression "local authority," which definition is substantially repeated in subsequent special Acts relating to particular gas companies which, however, as to those Acts, repeal various provisions of the Act of 1860, and materially vary others. By 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 73, the power of improving and regulating streets, and for the suppression of nuisances contained in 57 Geo. 3, c. 29, are extended to the metropolis. The 26 Vict. c. 13, Gardens in Towns Protection Act, 1863, contains provisions for placing, in certain events defined by the Act, gardens and ornamental grounds under the charge of vestries and district boards. By section 134 of this Act, they are the authorities for executing the Nuisances Removal Acts, and so also under the Sanitary Act, 1866, which enlarges the definition of the expression "nuisance" and contains various new provisions for enforcing sanitary measures. It also empowers them, on complying with the directions of the 35th section, to make regulations relative to houses let out in lodgings, or occupied by members of more than one family. By the 47th section of the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862, all persons, other than vestries or district boards, intending to branch sewers into the sewers of the last-mentioned bodies must apply for the previous sanction of the vestry or district board, who, by section 48, before sanctioning the construction of such sewers, are required to submit the plans and sections thereof to the metropolitan board for approval; and by section 62 of the same Act, in conjunction with section 103 of this Act (1855), district surveyors under the Metropolitan Building Act, 1855, are required to report to the metropolitan and district boards and vestries as to underground rooms occupied as dwellings. They are the local authorities for their parishes and districts for the purposes of 31 & 32 Vict. c. 130, the Artizans and Labourers Dwelling's Act, 1868; and by 38 & 39 Vict. c. 36, the Artizans and Labourers Dwelling's Improvement Act, 1875, their medical officers of health are authorized to make official representations to the local authority with a view to improvement schemes under that Act. They are the "road authority" for the purposes of 33 & 34 Vict. c. 78, the Tramways Act, 1870. They are included among the bodies, &c., on whom notices must be served before any license for the use of any place as a slaughter-house or cow-shed is granted by justices at special sessions under the 93rd section of the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862, to the intent that they may, if they see fit, show cause against the grant of the license. By 38 & 39 Vict. c. 63, the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, they are within the metropolis (exclusive of the City of London and liberties thereof) authorized to appoint analysts of all articles of food and drugs sold within their districts, &c., with a power to their medical officer of health or sanitary inspector (amongst others) to proceed for penalties in case of offences against the Act. They are the "sanitary authority" for their parishes and districts for the purposes of the 39 & 40 Vict. c. 75, the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, which defines such authority in the metropolis as any local authority acting in the execution of the Nuisances Removal for England Act, 1855, and the Acts amending the same. They were the local authority under the 26 & 27 Vict. c. 40, the Bakehouses Regulation Act, 1863, but that Act was repealed by the 41 & 42 Vict. c. 16, Factory and Workshops Act, 1878, which by section 96 defines the term "sanitary authority" to mean any commission, board, or vestry in the metropolis having the like powers as urban or rural sanitary authorities within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1875, and contains enactments relating to the objects provided for by the repealed Act. They are also authorized to adopt proceedings within their parishes and district for the protection of highways, sewers and drains, and other property under provisions contained in special Acts, conferring upon companies and other bodies powers for the construction of railway bridges, the formation of new streets, roads, and various other objects.

(b) The effect of this section, in conjunction with section 135, is to vest in the metropolitan board the main sewers enumerated in schedule (D.) to the Act, including the main sewers of the city of London, and all other sewers within the parishes mentioned in schedules (A.) and (B.) in the vestries and district boards. All sewers within the city of London other than the main sewers specified in schedule (D.) remain vested in the commissioners of sewers of the city, who retain all powers relative to sewerage under the City of London Sewers Act, 1848, (11 & 12 Vict. c. 163) which are not transferred to the metropolitan board by virtue of this Act. The sewers existing at Woolwich at the time of the passing of this Act were vested in the local board of health, constituted under the Public Health Act, who, by section 238 of this Act, are made subject to the orders of the metropolitan board in relation to sewerage and other matters in the same manner as vestries. None of the main sewers mentioned in schedule (D.) are in that parish, and any future sewers which may be made, either by the metropolitan or local board of health, will be vested in the respective bodies, subject to the power of adoption by the former under the provisions of this Act. Those sewers, belonging to the metropolitan commissioners, which are situate in districts without the limits of the metropolis as at present defined, are excepted from the property transferred by section 148, The word "sewer" applies to the subject matters specified in the 350th section of this Act, as extended by the 112th section of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102. See observations of Kindersley, V.C., in Sutton v. Mayor, &c., of Norwich, 27 L. J. Ch. 739, as to the meaning of the word "sewer." It originally meant a sea-wall, weir, dam, or defence against tides and inundations, or, according to others, a trench supported by banks for carrying fresh waters into the sea. According to the case of the Poplar District Board v. Knight, 28 L. J. M. C. 37, the word sewer, as used in the 204th and other sections of this Act, includes the wall and bank of the river Thames, preserving the low lands contiguous from inundation. It has, however, long since been extended beyond its original signification, and applied to channels both open and covered for the conveyance of feculent drainage. The situation of the sewers dealt with by the present Act, and existing at the time of its passing, is for the most part well known, the greater part of them being laid down upon the sheets of the subterranean survey in the possession of the Metropolitan Board of Works, and by this section all sewers to be hereafter made in parishes or districts described in schedules (A.) and (B.), except such as vest in the Metropolitan Board of Works, will vest in vestries or district boards. Before the passing of the Sewers' Act, 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 22, commissioners of sewers, in general, had not such a possession of their works as enabled them to maintain an action of trespass against parties injuring them; Duke of Newcastle and others v. Clarke, 8 Taunt. 602; and see Stracey v. Nelson, 12 M. & W. 535. The terms of the present enactment vesting the sewers, &c., in boards and vestries are very similar to those used in section 96, vesting highways in vestries, &c., under which it seems to have been assumed that the soil of highways had become vested in the district boards and vestries; Wandsworth Board of Works v. London and South Western Railway Company, 8 Jur. (N.S.) 691, Ch. In the case of Taylor v. Corporation of Oldham, 46 L. J. Ch. D. 105, it is said by the Master of the Rolls that the usual clause in local Acts, vesting sewers in the sewer authority, confers an absolute property in that part of the subsoil occupied by any sewer, and not merely an easement or right of sewerage. In Bagshaw v. Buxton, L. R. 1 Ch. Div. 220, the same judge in commenting upon the word "vested" in the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1867, with reference to a highway, says: "I mean 'vested sub modo' as far as a highway can be, not giving the board necessarily a right to the soil." But in Coverdale v. Charlton, L. R. 3 Q. B. D. 372 (affirmed by C. A. 43 J. P. 268), it was held that the "vesting" intended by the 149th section of the Public Health Act, 1875, was not merely of the use and control of a lane for highway purposes, but an actual vesting of the property in the soil. See reference to that decision and as to the nature and extent of the "vesting" intended, in note to section 96, post. The making, &c., of a towing-path under powers conferred by a Navigation Act was held not to be a purpose rendering the ownership of the soil necessary; Badger v. South Yorkshire, &c., Railway Co., 1 Ell. & Ell. 347. The present enactment does not contain any words conferring upon boards and vestries the powers and authorities given by ordinary sewers commissions, therefore they cannot proceed by presentment, amerciament, &c., for annoyances and encroachments. But sections 68 and 69 of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, impose penalties for various acts of wrongful interference with sewers. Neither the present section nor the 135th, vesting the main sewers in the metropolitan board, contains the exception found in the 7th section of the Metropolitan Sewers Act, 1848 (11 & 12 Vict. c. 112), vesting sewers in those commissioners "sewers made or to be made by any person or persons, for his or their own profit, or for the profit of the proprietors or shareholders." That exception was borrowed from the Public Health Act, 1848, into which it was introduced in order to preserve the rights of the Cheltenham Sewers Company, acting under a local Act. See Lawes' edition of the Public Health Act, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, note to the 44th section; and it is retained in the 13th section of the Public Health Act, 1875. See note to that section in

(d) Though the language of this enactment is imperative, a discretion must be allowed to vestries, &c., as to the time at which such works should be executed; and, in other respects, therefore, a writ of mandamus which ordered the vestry of a parish, immediately after the receipt of the writ, to cause to be made such sewers and works as might be necessary for effectually draining a particular part of the parish, without showing that a reasonable time had elapsed, or that there was a present duty to drain that particular part at once, or that the approval of the metropolitan board had been obtained, was held to be defective; R. v. (b) The burthen of maintaining the river wall of the Thames in a parish comprised in a district constituted under the Metropolis Local Management Act, 1855, is now cast upon the board of works of that district, notwithstanding such river wall was included in the area subject to the jurisdiction of commissioners acting under a royal commission of sewers; so held by the Q. B. D. in the case of the board of works for the Plumstead district and the commissioners of sewers for the limits extending from Lombard's Wall to Gravesend Bridge, in the county of Kent. The only notice of this decision is found in the 41st vol. of the Justice of the Peace, p. 388, which only gives a condensed report of the judgment. The editor has since been favoured with a copy of the special case submitted for the opinion of the court, and with a full report of the judgment. From the former it appears, that up to the passing of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, the river wall and defences bounding the levels subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioners, including the wall in question, had under the existing and preceding commissions always been maintained by the commissioners out of the funds levied by them as walscot or sewers rates, upon the owners and occupiers chargeable therewith according to the laws of sewers. In the year 1874 the commissioners raised the question of their liability to continue the maintenance of the river wall in the parish of Charlton, alleging that the burthen of such maintenance was now cast upon the board of works by virtue of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, a liability which was denied by the district board, and the question for the opinion of the court was whether or not the obligation still rested upon the commissioners; and the court decided that it did not, and that the district board were bound to perform that duty themselves. Mr. Justice Lush in delivering judgment, refers to the words "and shall cause all banks, &c., adjoining any river, &c., to be raised, strengthened, or altered, &c.," and says that they impose a specific obli-gation on the board of works, to protect their district from the inundation of the river, though he was not insensible to the possible inconvenience which might arise from the fact that an existing commission of sewers pro-fessed to embrace the area in question within its original district; and Mr. Justice Mellor, in delivering judgment against the district board, refers to that provision in the Act (section 159), which enables a vestry or district board to cause the sum required for expenses incurred for the special benefit of a particular part of a parish or district to be levied in that part. See note to section 159, post.

Under similar words in the Public Health Act, 1875, it was decided that a local board were authorized to make a sewer through private property raised above ground; Roderick v. Aston Local Board, L. R. 7 Ch. 328 (C.A.). Commissioners acting under a local Act and the local authority under the Nuisances Removal Act, were held to be empowered to make a sewer through enclosed land adjoining a highway not in the line of an existing watercourse; Earl Derby v. Bury Imp. Commissioners, L. R. 3 Ex. 121, reversing the decision of the court below.

Though a natural watercourse may in some degree be polluted, a district board constituted by this Act has no right to connect it with other sewers so as to become a nuisance; Att.-Gen. v. Hackney Dist. Board, 44 L. J. Ch. 545, nor to pollute water running through the land of another person; Cator v. Lewisham Dist. Board 5 B. & S. 115; and it makes no difference that the works of the board are necessary for abating a nuisance on the land of the person complaining, or that the water polluted lay out of the district for which the board was appointed; ibid.

A person sustaining damage by the overflow of a sewer, without the fault of the vestry, has no right of action against that body; Hammond v. Vestry of St. Pancras, 43 L. J. C. P. 157; and see as to non-liability of a vestry for damage caused by flooding from a gully connected with a drinking fountain erected by an association by permission of the vestry; Gordon v. Vest. of St. James, Westminster, 30 J. P. 24.

The Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, section 3, enacts that every person (defined by section 20 to include corporate and unincorporate bodies) who causes to fall or flow, or knowingly permits to fall or flow, or to be carried into any stream, any solid or liquid sewage matter, shall (subject as in the Act mentioned) be deemed to have committed an offence against the Act ; and see special provision in same section with respect to sanitary authorities using the best practicable means for rendering sewage matter harmless. By section 20, the term sanitary authority includes in the metropolis, as defined by the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, any local authority acting under the Nuisances Removal Act, 1855, and the Acts amending the same. As to liability of vestries, district boards, and other public bodies, for damage resulting from negligence, see sections 96 and 135, infra, and proceedings for nuisance and injury by the pollution of streams and other acts, section 135.

(d) Where a metropolitan vestry proposed under section 73 to make a new scheme of drainage, and upon default of the householders to make new drains, and the vestry made them themselves, and attempted to recover the cost from the householders, the occupier was decided not to be compellable to make a new drain or bear the cost of constructing it, on the ground that the facts brought the case under section 69; Vestry of St. Marylebone v. Vivet, 34 L. J. M. C. 214.

It was decided under section 55 of the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862, that where a person had constructed a sewer in a new street with the sanction of the metropolitan board, and the district board took it up and laid down another, he was not liable to pay any portion of the cost; Fulham District Board v. Goodwin. L. R. 1 Ex. D. (C. A.) 400.

(e) As to the obligation of individuals in respect of sewers works in general, see Callis, p. 115, and Serg. Woolrych, Law of Sewers, 3rd edition, 87 et seq., and the 15th section of 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 22. Amongst the liabilities mentioned by Callis, whis supra, is what he designates "the custom of Frontagers," and he says, "In 37 Lib. Assis, plac. 10, it seems that the Frontagers are bound to the repairs," and "he whose grounds are next adjoining to a highway is bound to repair the same"; and again, "the ownership of a bank, wall, or other defence is a sufficient warrant to impose the charge of the repairs thereof upon him without being tied thereto by prescription as appears, 8 Hen. 7, fol. 5; and it stands with reason that every man should be bound to repair his own, and the consideration is also moving for that his grounds which lie nearest the waters are soonest subject to drowning, and if any increase be upon the small rivers it falls to his share." This exposition of the law was closely scrutinised and its correctness denied by the court in the recent case of Hudson v. Tabor, L. R. 1 Q. B. D. 225, affirmed on appeal, L. R. 2 Q. B. D. (C. A.) 290; 42 J. P. 20, where it was decided that there was no prescriptive liability on the owner of a sea wall to maintain the wall, not only for his own protection, but for the benefit of his neighbours, and that by the common law, apart from prescription, no such liability was cast upon the defendant, the owner; and the court, after reviewing the cases cited by Coke, say that they do not establish the common law liability contended for. Several examples of liabilities, such as are described in this section, are found in the records of the former sewers' commissions existing within the metropolitan limits. Under the Greenwich commission various parties were held liable to do works of repair, raise the river wall, scour and bottom ditches, cut weeds. &c., by reason of tenure. This commission, the limits of which extended from the head of the Ravensbourne to Lombard's wall, in the county of Kent, as also the Surrey and Kent commission, having jurisdiction from East Moulsey, in Surrey, to the river Ravensbourne, in Kent, were both subject to the provisions of 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 22. The course pursued by the Greenwich commission was to issue their precept to the sheriff to return a jury, and the jury impannelled were sworn by the court to inquire (amongst other matters) of the persons, &c., who, by reason of their tenure of certain lands, tenements, or hereditaments, were bound to repair or contribute to the repair of walls, defences, &c., or do other works the cost of which was not payable out of the general taxes and levies raised within the level, and also to inquire what works were necessary. The jury then heard evidence, and delivered their presentment into court; upon which the court decreed the works, and ordered notices to be served upon the parties ordering their execution, on pain of forfeiting certain sums which were specified. Subsequently the wall reeve presented cases of non-repair. Besides the maintenance, &c., of ditches and causeways, some of these works extended to the raising or repairing of the bank or wall of the river Thames, and at one time the liability to perform such works seems to have been considered a ground of exemption from the general assessments imposed upon the level. There are also a few cases of presentments by juries of similar obligations attaching to individuals in the parish of Rotherhithe and elsewhere within the Surrey and Kent commission, such as to strengthen and heighten the bank and wall of the Thames, so as to resist the tidal waters: but there is reason to doubt whether, under that commission, those liabilities were, in later times at least, ever enforced by adverse proceedings. Similar liabilities also existed under the Poplar commission, the court proceeding on the presentment of the Marsh jury, and compelling the execution of the requisite works. The terms of the 61st section of 3 & 4 Will. 4 excluded this commission and the other sewers' commissions in Middlesex from its operation; and the course of proceeding under it somewhat differed from that provided under the commissions south of the Thames, to which the Act applied; but obligations generally similar in character to those existing under the Greenwich commission were habitually enforced.

Up to the passing of this Act the river wall in the parish of Charlton had been maintained by the commissioners of sewers for the limits extending from Lombard's wall to Gravesend bridge, out of the funds levied by them as walscot or sewer rates chargeable upon the owners and occupiers of the lands benefited, but it has now been decided by the Q. B. D. in the case of the Board of Works for the Plumstead District v. Commissioners of Sewers (Lombard's wall to Gravesend bridge), referred to in note to section 69, supra, that this Act has cast that obligation upon the district board, who, it is believed, levy special rates under section 159 upon the owners and therein as they think proper, and to divide the expense of such alterations or improvements between the party liable to such maintenance or repairs and the parish, district, or persons who would have been wholly liable to the expense of such alterations or improvements if no party had been liable as aforesaid, so as to throw on the party liable to such maintenance or repairs such part of the expense of alterations or improvements as may be equal to what would be incurred for such maintenance or repairs, and to throw on the parish, district, or persons aforesaid the residue of such expense, and to settle and adjust such proportions either by some general regulation or by order in each particular case, as they may think proper: Provided always, that nothing in this Act con-

The ordinary mode of establishing such a liability is by the inquisition of a jury; see Wingate v. Waite, 6 M. & W. 739; and R. v. Warton, 2 B. & S. 719; and liability of a mortgagor to repair a sea wall without notice, R. v. Baker, L. R. 2 Q. B. 621. See further, Morland v. Cook, L. R. 6 Eq. 252; and R. v. Commissioners of Sewers of Essex, 1 B. & C. 477. The present Act, however, contains no provision for summoning a jury. The 144th section of 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112 (Metropolitan Sewers Act, 1848), provided that the Sewers Act, 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 22, should not apply to any commission issued under it, but the 96th section expressly empowered the metropolitan commissioners of sewers, on the trial of appeals against sewers rates, to try the question of the appeal by a jury in the same manner as a traverse of a presentment of rateability was triable according to the laws and usages of sewers, and on the trial of such appeals it is obvious that questions affecting liabilities of this nature must sometimes have incidentally arisen. The 59th section of the same Act empowered the metropolitan commissioners to do or direct any work to be done, and exercise all the powers of the Act in relation thereto upon the information or presentment of their surveyor, without any other presentment in relation thereto; and though the 68th section of the present Act transfers to the vestry, &c., all the rights of their predecessors concerning or incident to sewers, those words do not seem to include the power of proceeding by presentment. The liability might probably be established by production of the inquisitions, decrees, &c., of the sewers' commissioners, and by proof that they were obeyed, though there is authority to show that proof of obedience might be dispensed with. In R. v. Leigh, 2 P. & Dav. 357; S. C. 10 Ad. & E. 398, orders of courts of sewers commencing more than seventy years previously were admitted in evidence, though it was not shown that such orders had been complied with. The court in that case laid it down that such orders were good evidence as adjudications by a court of competent jurisdiction upon the subject-matter, unless they were affected by proof of fraud or collusion, and that at so great a distance of time their execution might be presumed. An indictment at common law probably lies against a party liable ratione tenurae to repair, &c. See R. v. Earl Cadogan, 5 B. & Al. 902, where on an indictment for a nuisance by not repairing, pursuant to his liability ratione tenurae a bank and wall next the Thames, whereby a highway in the parish of Chelsea was in danger of being flooded, the court refused to grant an inspection of the court of rolls of the defendant's manor on the ground that the proceeding was a criminal one. In R. v. Gamble, 11 A. & E. 69, the court refused a mandamus to landowners liable ratione tenurae to amend and heighten banks, but that was on the ground that the applicants, the conservators of the Bedford Level, had the authority of commissioners of sewers, and might proceed by presentment; see R. v. Commissioners of Pagham, 1 B. & C. 255; R. v. Ouse Bank Commissioners, 3 A. & E. 344. Refer to the case of The Mayor of Lyme Regis v. Henley, 3 B. & Ad. 77, showing the liability of a corporation under a charter to repair buildings, sea banks, &c, and inasmuch as the obligation concerned the public, that the corporation might be indicted.

In the case of the Poplar District Board v. Knight, 28 L. J. M. ⁽e) By the 250th section, any drain for draining a group of houses by a combined operation under the orders of vestries, falls within the definition of a drain as contradistinguished from a sewer. But as combined drainage was laid down before the passing of the Act under the direction of the Metropolitan Commissioners of Sewers, and claims were made on the vestries to maintain such drainage at the public cost, the meaning of the word "drain" has been extended by the 112th section of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, so as to include drains of this nature laid down before the passing of the Act.

It shall not be lawful to erect any house or other building in any parish mentioned in schedule (A.) to this Act, or in any district mentioned in schedule (B.) to this Act, or to rebuild any house or building within any such parish or district which has been pulled down to or below the floor commonly called the ground floor, or to occupy any house or building so newly built or rebuilt, unless a drain and such branches thereto and other connected works and apparatus and water supply as hereinbefore mentioned be constructed and provided to the satisfaction of the surveyor of the vestry of such parish or board of works for such district, of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall as they may direct, so that the same shall be available for the drainage of the lowest floor of such house or building, and of its several floors or stories, and also of its areas, waterclosets, privies, and offices (if any), which drain shall lead from such house or building, or the intended site of such house or building, to such sewer, already made or intended to be constructed near thereto, as the vestry or board shall direct and appoint, or if there be no such sewer existing or intended to be constructed within one hundred feet of any part of the intended site of such house or building, then to such covered cesspool (g) or other place, not being under any dwelling house, as the vestry or board shall direct; and whenever any house or building is rebuilt as aforesaid, the level of the lowest floor of such house or building shall be raised sufficiently to allow of the construction of such a drain and such branches thereto and other works and apparatus as are hereinbefore required, and for that purpose the levels shall be taken and determined under the direction of the vestry or district board.

(f) This clause is founded on the 46th section of the Metropolitan Sewers Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 120, but it omits the provision which was contained in that enactment, authorizing the commissioners to compel the owner or occupier of the house to continue sewers situate within a certain distance of the premises to be drained. The intention of this Act seems to be to confine the obligations of private parties to the making of drains, and to throw the responsibility and cost of constructing sewers on public bodies. See Clarke v. Vestry of Paddington, cited in note to section 76. See now the provisions relating to the construction of sewers in new streets, and in streets in which there had either been no sewers or only open sewers, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 52, et. seq. post, and section 57, giving an appeal to the metropolitan board against orders of vestries, &c., as to the amount or apportionment of the expenses of constructing sewers wholly or partly at the cost of private parties.

89. If any vestry or district board desire to transfer to the metropolitan board of works the powers and duties vested in such vestry or district board in relation to sewerage and drainage, and a resolution for so transferring such powers and duties be passed by a majority at a meeting of such vestry or district board, specially convened for the purpose of considering the question of such transfer, of which not less than fourteen days' notice shall have been given, and at which there shall be present not less than two-thirds of the whole number of such vestry or board, then such powers and duties, and all sewers and property vested in such vestry or board under this Act, for the purposes of or in connexion with such powers and duties, shall, at the expiration of one month after notice from such vestry or board shall have been given under their seal to the said metropolitan board of such resolution having been passed as aforesaid, become vested in the said metropolitan board, and the provisions of this Act for defraying expenses incurred by such board in the execution of this Act shall extend to expenses incurred by them in the execution of the powers and duties so transferred to them.

But that section is repealed by the Weights and Measures Act, 1878, and see substituted provision in section 55 of that Act. The 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, s. 1, post, provides, that where the power of making church rates was vested in an open yestry, or in any meeting in the nature of an open vestry meeting, such power shall not be deemed to have become vested in the vestry constituted under this Act, and the second section saves the rights of any such open vestry or meeting to make church rates (see now 31 & 32 Vict. c. 109, for the abolition of compulsory church rates), or other powers vested in them, or any elected or other vestry, when such vestry or meeting acts exclusively in any district created for ecclesiastical purposes. Section 3 of 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, declares that save as thereinbefore otherwise provided, all the duties, &c. Section 90.

91. Provided always, that, save as regards the appointment of auditors, nothing in this Act shall divest the vestry of any parish, or any commissioners or burial board appointed by any vestry, of any powers or property vested in them respectively under the provisions of the Act of the session holden in the ninth and tenth years of Her-Majesty, chapter seventy-four, or any Act amending the same, or under the provisions of the Act of the session holden in the fifteenth and sixteenth years of Her Majesty, chapter eighty-five, or any Act amending the same, or in anywise affect the provisions of any of the said Acts (d); and nothing in this Act shall extend to or affect any rights, privileges, powers, or authorities vested in any persons in reference to any market, or any powers or rights for or in relation to the administration of any charitable trusts, save that any powers or rights in relation to any such trusts vested or which would have become vested in the existing vestry of any parish shall be vested in the vestry of such parish as constituted by this Act.

93. All property, matters, and things whatsoever vested in such commissioners or other body, or in any such officer as aforesaid, under any such Act, in connexion with any such duties or powers as aforesaid, hereby transferred to the vestry of any parish or the board of works for any district, shall upon the commencement of this Act be vested in such vestry or board; and where any such property, matters, or things are vested in any such commissioners or body, or officer, acting for parts extending beyond such parish or district, the metropolitan board of works shall by their order declare in what vestry or district board they shall be vested, and may, if they see fit, apportion (b) the same between the vestries and district boards within whose respective districts and parishes such parts may be situate, and the same shall be vested accordingly; and any money in the possession of any such commissioners or other body, or any such officer, which becomes vested in any such vestry or board under this enactment, and the income of any other such property, until sold or disposed of, shall be applicable, as nearly as may be, for the like purposes as if this Act had not been passed.

(a) The provisions for defraying these expenses are contained in the 158th and following sections.

⁽b) It appears by the annual report of the Metropolitau Board of Works, dated the 30th June, 1857, and presented to parliament, that under this provision, and the 180th section, the board had made orders effecting apportionments of assets, debts, and liabilities in the case of the Foundling Estate affecting the parishes of St. Pancras, St. George, Bloomsbury, and St. George the Martyr, and of the Commercial-road trust, in which the parishes and hamlets of St. George the East, Mile-end Old-town, Limehouse, Ratcliff, and Poplar were interested. The apportionments referred to in that report relating to the Ratcliff trust, the Goswell-street trust, the Clapham lighting trust, and the St. George's pavement commission have also since been completed.

The 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, Highway Act, 1862 (amended by 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101), enacts that there shall not be included in any highway district, in pursuance of that Act, any parish or place within the limits of the metropolis defined by the Metropolis Management Act, 1855. By 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, Highway and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878, s. 2, the Act shall not, save as thereby expressly provided, apply to any part of the metropolis. The second part of that Act amending the Locomotives Acts, 1861 and 1865, confers powers on the corporation of London and the metropolitan board in relation to locomotives.

(b) Where a railway company was empowered for public convenience to widen a bridge over a lane, but their compulsory powers had expired, the Court of Chancery refused to interfere by injunction at the instance of the district board; for though the soil of the lane was said to be vested in the board, it was for the convenience of the public, and the inconvenience to the public from the works would be little or none; Board of Works of Wandsworth District v. London and South Western Railway Co., 8 Jur. (N.S.) 691. Ordinarily the freehold of the highway belongs to the owner of the freehold of the soil; Sir John Lade v. Shepherd, 2 Str. 1004, who is entitled to all trees upon it and mines under it; 1 Burr. 143; and may bring trespass or ejectment; Stevens v. Whistler, 11 East. 51; and ordinarily the soil of a turnpike road does not vest in turnpike trustees; Davison v. Gill, 1 East. 69. The meaning of the word "vested" in a sanitary provision under the Public Health Act came under the incidental notice of the Master of the Rolls in Bagshaw v. Buxton Local Board of Health, L. R. 1 Ch. D. 220, where he uses the expression "vested sub modo, not giving the highway board necessarily a right to the soil." But it was decided in Coverdale v. Charlton, L. R. 3 Q. B. D. 376, that the "vesting" meant by the 149th section of the Public Health Act, 1875, was an actual vesting of the property in the lane, not merely of user and control for highway purposes, and see cases referred to in note to sections 68, 69, ante. See case of Coverdale v. Charlton (affirmed on appeal), 43 J. P. 268, and observations of Lord Justices Bramwell and Brett, to the effect that the "vesting" meant is for the purpose of doing what is usually and necessarily done underneath a street. A wall was held an obstruction within the meaning of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1867, sections 69, 70, whatever the width of the unenclosed part, and the High Court of Justice had jurisdiction to determine whether the ground on which the wall stood was or was not part of the highway; and see observations of the Master of the Rolls as to the rights of surveyors and others for the prevention of nuisances; Bagshaw v. Buxton Local Board of Health, L. R., Ch. D. 229. The Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878, section 27, enacts that notwithstanding anything in the Public Health Acts, 1848 and 1875, all mines and minerals of any description whatsoever under any disturnpiked road or highway which has or shall become vested in an urban sanitary authority by virtue of the sections referred to shall belong to the person who would be entitled thereto in case such road or highway had not become so vested.

It shall be lawful for every vestry and district board from time to time to cause all or any of the streets (a) within their parish or district, or any part thereof respectively, to be paved (b) or repaired when and as often and in such form and manner and with such materials as such vestry or board think fit, and to cause the ground or soil thereof to be raised or lowered, and the course of the channels running in, into, or through the same to be turned or altered, in such manner as they think proper, and to alter the position of any mains or pipes (c) in or under such street, such alteration to be made subject to the approval of the engineer of the company to which such mains or pipes belong.

This provision applies only to cellars which are a complete construction in themselves, arched over and with roofs independent of the pavement; Hamilton v. Vestry of St. George's, Hanover Square, L. (c) By the 77th section of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, owners of land are made liable to contribute to the expenses mentioned in this section.

It will be convenient to set out the section here, and at the same time to refer to the cases which have arisen under it. It is in the following terms:-

"Where any vestry or district board shall, under the powers given by section 105 of the firstly-recited Act, have paved or be about to pave any new street, the owners of the land bounding or abutting on such street shall be liable to contribute to the expenses or estimated expenses of paving the same, as well as the owners of houses therein, provided that it shall be lawful for the vestry or district board to charge the owners of land in a less proportion than the owners of house property, should they deem it just and expedient so to do; and any such cost or expenses, including the cost of paving at the points of intersection of streets and all other incidental costs and charges, shall be apportioned by the vestry or board, and shall be recoverable either before the work shall be commenced, or during its progress, or after its completion; and it shall be lawful for the vestry or district board at their discretion to accept payment of the amount apportioned or charged in respect of each house or premises by instalments spread over a period not exceeding twenty years, and any such amount shall be recoverable from the present or any future owner of the premises, either by action at law, or in a summary manner before a justice of the peace, at the option of the vestry or board."

(d) By 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 112, post, the expression "new street" includes all streets hereafter to be formed or laid ont, and a part of any such street, and also all streets, the maintenance of the paving and roadway whereof had not, previously to the passing of this Act, been taken into charge and repaired by the commissioners, trustees, surveyors, or other authorities having control of the pavements or highways in the parish or place in which such streets are situate, and a part of any such street and also all streets partly formed or laid out. The liability to the expenses of paving new streets is by this the 105th section cast upon the owners of the houses forming such street, &c.; and by the 77th section of the Amending Act, the liability is extended to the "owners of the land bounding or abutting on such street." The language of the 150th section of the Public Health Act, 1875, describes the parties to whom notice is to be given as "the owners or occupiers of the premises fronting, adjoining, or abutting on private streets," and the decisions on that provision threw light upon the enactments under consideration, and are referred to here.

Where a police magistrate dismissed a summons for a share of the expense of paving a new street, on the ground that the street having been dedicated to the public before the Act, was not a "new street" within its meaning, the court (dissentiente Erle, J.) held that there had been a hearing and adjudication; R. v. Dayman, 26 L. J. M. C. 128.

to determine; Bowles v. St. Mary's, Islington, 39 J. P., 757.

> A country lane repaired by the parish time out of mind becomes a "new street" within the Metropolis Management Acts, when houses are built on the sides of the lane; and the words "land bounding or abutting on such street" include the soil of private roads leading out of a new street; Pound v. Plumstead Board of Works; Lord Northbrook v. Plumstead

Board of Works, L. R. 7, Q. B. 183.

And the expression "new street" is not confined to streets dedicated to the public; therefore, where the vestry paved the carriage-way of a road which had not been dedicated, the owners of the houses on either side were held liable to the expenses as it was a new street within section 112 of the Amending Act, 1862; Vestry of Islington v. (d) The 77th section of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, makes owners of land liable to contribute to these expenses, and contains provisions for apportioning expenses and accepting payment by instalments.

Battenbury, 26 L. J. C. P. 243. See now section 77 of the Act of 1862, post.

Section 105, estimated expenses and such actual expenses shall be repaid by the said vestry or board to the owners of houses by whom the said sum of money has been paid; and in case the said estimated expenses be less than the actual expenses of such paving, then the owners of the said houses shall, on demand, pay to the said vestry or board such further sum of money as, together with the sum already paid. amounts to such actual expenses.

Vestry or board may declare their intention of repairing any street, not being a highway (a).

106. The vestry or district board of any parish or district may, if they think fit, by notice in writing put up in any part of any street in their parish or district, not being a highway, declare their intention of repairing the same under this Act, and thereupon the same shall be from time to time repaired by them under the authority of this Act: Provided (b) always, that no street shall be repaired as last aforesaid unless such notice in writing be also given to all persons interested in such street, or if within one month after notice in writing has been put up or given, as last aforesaid, any person interested in such street, or the person representing or entitled to represent any person interested as aforesaid, by notice in writing to the vestry or board object thereto.

108. It shall be lawful for every vestry and district board, from time to time, to place any posts, fences, and rails on the sides of any footways or carriageways in their parish or district, for the purposes of safety, and to prevent any carriage or cattle from going on the same, and also to place any posts or other erections in any carriageways so as to make the crossings thereof less dangerous for foot-passengers, and also from time to time to repair and renew any such posts, rails, or fences, or to remove the same, or any other obstruction or encroachment on any carriageway or footway.

(c) By section 58 of 57 Geo. 3, c. 29, the commissioners of trustees are empowered to erect posts of wood, stone, or iron, for the preservation of the pavements and prevention of accidents. Somewhat similar words in the Public Health Act, 1848, to those contained in this section were decided to

That Act contains a series of provisions relative to the breaking up of pavements for the works of water and gas companies, and commissioners of sewers. If any company or person authorized to break up or open any of the pavement or surface of any street, for the purpose of laying, altering, or repairing any gas, water, or other pipe, or other lawful cause, do not with due diligence cause the ground to be filled in, and pavements the pavement to be reinstated, and the surface to be made good, in a proper and substantial manner, or do not in the meantime fence and guard the same, and affix and maintain lights during the night near to the places where any ground is open, so as to prevent any accident, every such company or other person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding £5, and also a further sum not exceeding 40s., for every day during which such offence continues; and no such payement shall be considered to have been reinstated in a proper and substantial manner by any such company or other person unless the same have been reinstated with the same or similar materials of the like quality and thickness, and cemented and bound together in the same or in an equally substantial manner, as those of which it was composed, in such manner as is satisfactory to the vestry or board.

112. In case any part of the pavement of any street, be sunk, broken, injured, or damaged, by reason of the breaking, bursting, or want of repair of any pipe belonging to any water, gas, or other company, it shall be lawful for the vestry or district board of the parish or district in which such pavement is situate, if they deem it expedient so to do, to cause notice to be given to the company to whom such pipe is supposed to belong, forthwith well and sufficiently to repair and make good such pavement; and if the company to whom such notice is given do not, within forty-eight hours next after such notice, take up such pavement, and well and sufficiently repair and amend such pipe, and cause the ground to be well and sufficiently filled in and rammed down, and the said pavement to be relaid and repaired, to the satisfaction of the vestry, or district board, then such company so offending shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding £20.

Provided always, that in case it be discovered, after any pavement in any street has been taken up by any company, and the ground opened, that the pipe beneath the surface of such pavement required to be repaired and amended does not belong to the company to whom such notice has been given as aforesaid, but to some other company, then such first-mentioned company to whom such notice has been so given as aforesaid shall, within forty-eight hours after such discovery, cause a copy of such notice to be in like manner given to the company to whom such pipe belongs, and require them to obey, conform to, and comply with the original notice, instead of the company to whom such original notice was given as aforesaid; and such other company to whom such last-mentioned notice is given as aforesaid shall reimburse and pay, on demand, to the first-mentioned company, the reasonable costs and charges incurred in and about the taking up of the pavement and opening the ground; and the said last-mentioned company shall obey, conform to, and comply with the said original notice, and execute and perform the work mentioned therein, in such and the same manner, and within such and the same time, in all respects, as if the said original notice had been given to

Power to vestry or district board to reinstate pavement. and charge the expenses to the parties.

114. Provided also, that whenever the permanent surface or soil of any street is broken up or opened, it shall be lawful for the vestry or district board of the parish or district in which the same is situate, in case they think it expedient so to do, to fill in the ground and to make good the pavement or surface or soil so broken up or opened, and to carry away the rubbish occasioned thereby, instead of permitting such work to be done by the company or person by whom such surface or soil is broken up or opened; and the expenses of filling in such ground and of making good the pavement or soil so broken up or opened shall be repaid, on demand, to the vestry or board by such company or person.

Power for vestry or district board to contract with company for restoring pavements.

115. It shall be lawful for the vestry or district board of any parish or district to contract and agree, for any term of years or otherwise, with the several companies or persons authorized to take up any of the pavements or other formed surface of any of the streets within such parish or district, for the filling in, paving, and restoring of such parts of the said streets as may be from time to time required to be taken up for the purpose of laying, altering, or repairing any pipes or other like purpose.

As to the watering of streets.

116. Every vestry and district board shall have full power and authority to cause all or any of the streets in their parish or district to be watered as often as they think fit, and also to cause any wells to be dug and sunk in such public places as they think proper, and also to erect and fix any pumps in any public places, for the gratuitous supply of water (a) to the inhabitants of the parish or district.

Vestry or district board to cause footways to be eleansed.

117. Every vestry and district board shall cause any footway within their parish or district to be scraped, swept, or cleansed in such manner and at such times as they think fit; but this enactment shall not relieve any occupier of any house or building or any company whatsoever from any liability (b) to scrape, sweep, or cleanse, or cause to be scraped, swept, or cleansed, any part of any such footway, or from any penalty for neglect so to do.

(b) See the provisions in 57 Gco. 3, c. 29, s. 63, relative to the sweeping and cleansing of footways, and the penalties for neglecting to sweep and cleanse footways in the Metropolitan Police Act, 2 & 3 Vict. c. 47, s. 6.

⁽a) See proviso to section 150, prohibiting boards and vestries from using or permitting the use of any of the works therein described for carrying water by supply-pipes to any house or factory for domestic, manufacturing, or commercial purposes. By the 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 67, they are empowered, subject to the conditions expressed, to compel a supply of water for houses; and section 70 enables them to provide and maintain drinking fountains. See Metropolitan Board of Works v. New River Company, 41 J. P. 790, and Hildreth v. Adamson, 8. C. B. (N.S.) 587. As to expenses of repairing a well under 35 & 36 Vict. c. 79, refer to Witney v. Wycombe, 40 J. P. 149.

118. It shall be lawful for every vestry and district board to Section 118. appoint and pay, or for two or more vestries or district boards to unite, when necessary, in appointing and paying, suitable persons to cleanse and sweep, and to keep properly cleansed and swept daily, crossings for passengers over the streets and public thoroughfares within their respective jurisdictions, and in such situations as the said vestries or district boards may from time to time fix and determine, which persons so appointed shall be distinguished by their dress or some distinctive mark as public servants.

(c) See the 57 Geo. 3, c. 29, s. 72, containing very comprehensive and summary powers for the regulation and removal of encroachments, and projections. Some of these are probably still in force, but in order to apply them with safety they ought to be very carefully compared with this and the following section, and also with the 26th section of the Metropolitan Buildings Act, the 18 & 19 Vict. c. 122, recognizing the legality of certain projections and regulating them. In some instances, too, the 75th section of the 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, which see, post, as to buildings beyond the general line, may have a bearing on the subject.

(d) Under this enactment it seems to be a question for the magistrate to decide whether or not the projection is, or is not, an annoyance; Gabriel v. Vestry of St. James, Westminster, 23 J. P. 372. In Read v. Perrett, L. R. 1, Ex. D. C. A. 349, in a proceeding for setting up a projection contrary to the Metropolitan Police Act, 2 & 3 Vict. c. 47, s. 60, the rejection by the magistrate of the evidence of persons to show that they were not incommoded, was held right. (e) The occupiers of houses in a road in the metropolis had used a space of ground between a paved foot-way and the carriage way for the purposes of their trades, paying a small yearly rent to the lord of the manor, subject to which use the public have always passed over this space, as these obstructions would permit, as of right. On the space opposite his house a publican erected a moveable shed, which caused no obstruction to the paved footway. Held, that this space was not a "street," and that the shed was not an obstruction which might be removed by the district board, within the meaning of this and the 120th section. Semble, that this space had been partially dedicated to the public, and could not be considered private property without any public easement; Le Neve v. the Vestry of Mile End Old Town, 27 L. J. Q. B. 208.

Vestry or district board may remove existing projections, and make compensation for the same.

120. It shall be lawful for every vestry and district board, if any projection or obstruction which has been placed or made against or in front of any house or building in any such street (a) before the commencement of this Act shall be an annoyance as aforesaid, to cause the same to be removed or altered as they think fit: Provided always, that the vestry or board shall give notice in writing of such intended removal or alteration to the owner or occupier against or in front of whose house or building such projection or obstruction shall be, seven days before such removal or alteration shall be commenced, and shall make reasonable compensation to every person who shall incur any loss or damage by such removal, excepting in cases where the obstruction or projection may now be removable under any Act (b), in which case no compensation shall be made.

Hoards to be erected during repairs,

121. Every person who shall build or begin to build, or to take down or begin to take down, any house, building, or wall, or alter or repair, or begin to alter or repair, the outward part of any house, building, or wall, shall, in all cases in which the footway is thereby obstructed or rendered inconvenient, cause to be put up a proper and sufficient hoard or fence, with a convenient platform and handrail, if there be room enough for the same, to serve as a footway for passengers outside of such hoard or fence, and shall continue such hoard or fence, in such cases as aforesaid, with such platform and handrail, standing and in good condition, to the satisfaction of the vestry or district board of the parish or district in which such house, building, or wall is situate, during such time as may be necessary for the public safety or convenience, and shall, in all cases in which the same is necessary to prevent accidents, cause such hoard or fence to be well lighted during the night; and every such person who fails to put up such hoard or fence and such platform, with such handrail as aforesaid, or who does not, whilst the said hoard or fence is standing, keep the same well lighted during the night, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding £5, and a further sum not exceeding 40s. for every day during the continuance of such default.

⁽f) See note to section 43, ante, as to powers and duties of the metropolitan board under other Acts of parliament.

⁽g) See note to section 68, ante.

⁽h) Where a railway company, in executing their works, deprived a sewer belonging to the metropolitan board of its lateral support less than 20 years after it was made, it was decided by the Ex. Ch. affirming the judgment of the court below, that the board had acquired no right to such support for their sewer, and could not maintain an action for the sum awarded by the arbitrator under the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act for the damage; Metropolitan Board of Works v. Metropolitan Railway Company, L.R. 3 C. P. 612; 4 C. P. (Ex. Ch.) 192. Refer as to liability of the occupier and owner of a house for damage to the adjoining house by removal of the adjacent land without leaving sufficient support, Bower v. Peate, 40 J. P. 789; and see Bonomi v. Backhouse, 9 H. L. Ca. 503; as to prescriptive right to lateral support of a house for 20 years, refer to Angus v. Dalton, L. R. 4 Q. B. (C. A.) 162, overruling judgment of Q. B. D.

⁽i) The 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, s. 1, post, describes the works which the

as they may think necessary for preventing all or any part of the sewage (a) within the metropolis from flowing or passing into the river Thames in or near the metropolis, and shall cause such sewers and works to be completed on or before the 31st day of December, 1860 (b), and shall also make all such other sewers and work, and such diversions or alterations of any existing sewers or works vested in them under this Act, as they may from time to time think necessary for the effectual sewerage and drainage of the metropolis (c), and board are required to make, as "the necessary sewers and works for the improvement of the main drainage of the metropolis, and for preventing, as far as may be practicable, the sewage of the metropolis from passing into the Thames within the metropolis." See sections 24 and 25 of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, as to formation and maintenance of bridges, arches, culverts, &c. As to obligation of vestries and district boards with respect to the construction of sewers, see the decisions referred to in note to section 69, ante.

(a) See definition of the word "sewage" in the 32nd section of 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, for the purification of the Thames and main drainage of the metropolis, post.

(b) Extended by section 26 of 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, as explained by section 26 of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, to 31st December, 1863. So much of this section as requires the completion of the works on or before the 31st December, 1860, was repealed by the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1863. The Metropolitan Main Drainage Extension Act, 1863, had extended the time to the 31st December, 1866, and the Metropolitan Main Drainage Extension Act, 1865, extended the time for borrowing the sums authorized to be raised under the last-mentioned Act to 31st December, 1867.

(c) See certain Acts relating to the drainage of parishes, &c., not within the metropolitan area; namely, 34 & 35 Vict. c. 129, which authorises the Hornsey Local Board of Health to make a sewer in the parishes of Stoke Newington and Hornsey, to be connected by a junction with the northern high level sewer, with provisions, amongst others, for the payment of certain sums to the metropolitan board by the local board by way of contribution towards the making and maintaining the high level sewer, and maintaining and working the main drainage system; the 35 & 36 Vict. c. 163, repealing the 30th section of the last-mentioned Act as to the contribution towards the cost of the main drainage system and substituting other provisions, with power to the local board to borrow and to the metropolitan board to lend, with the consent of the treasury, money required for permanent works; the 36 & 37 Vict. c. 218, authorizing the guardians of the Bromley Poor Law Union to connect, subject to the conditions and provisions specified, drains or sewers made or to be constructed within the Beckenham sewage area with the Penge and Bell Green sewer, with provisions for payment by the guardians to the Lewisham district board of the sum specified in the Act and the yearly sums mentioned, and also of certain yearly sums to the Metropolitan Board of Works as contribution towards the cost of the main drainage system, with the power of making assessments for these purposes, and a provision empowering the guardians to borrow and the metropolitan board to lend, with the consent of the treasury, the necessary sums for the purposes of the Act; the 37 & 38 Vict. c. 97, requiring the metropolitan board to permit the sewage of the South Hornsey district to be delivered into the northern high level and middle level sewers subject to the specified conditions with any others, provisions for payment to the metropolitan board by the local board of a capital sum by way of contribution towards the cost of constructing and maintaining those sewers, and certain yearly sums by way of contributing towards the current cost in respect of the main drainage system, and of other sums therein mentioned; the 38 & 39 Vict. c. 163, constituting a body to be shall discontinue, close up, or destroy such sewers for the time being vested in them under this Act, as they may deem unnecessary, and such board shall from time to time repair and maintain the sewers so vested in them, or such of them as may not be discontinued, closed up, or destroyed as aforesaid; and for the purposes aforesaid such board shall have full power and authority to carry any such sewers or works through, across, or under any turnpike road (d) or any steect (e) or place laid out as or intended for a street, as well beyond as within the limits of the metropolis, or through or under any cellar or vault under the carriageway or pavement of any street and into, through, or under any lands whatsoever (f) within or beyond the said limits, making compensation (g) for any damage done called the West Kent Main Sewerage Board, gives power for the construction of a main sewer from Beckenham to Dartford and other works, with provisions for communications between sewers of the metropolitan and district boards with the sewers of the sewerage board, and payment of contribution, with powers to the sewerage board to borrow, and to the metropolitan board to lend, money raised by the creation and issue of metropolitan stock.

(d) See section 33 of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, providing for notice before breaking up turnpike roads and imposing other conditions.

(e) See interpretation of word "street," section 250, post, extended by section 112 of Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862. See express power to metropolitan board to stop up streets, roads, or ways, during execution of works, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 21, post.

(f) The powers conferred by this section did not authorize the board to construct works on the soil or bed of the Thames. That power is however given by 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, s. 2, but subject to the condition that the approval of the admiralty should have been previously obtained. Where, therefore, the board had executed works for carrying a sewer into the river, by which the plaintiff's ship was damaged, and the approval of the admiralty had not been obtained, they were held liable in an action for obstructing the navigation; Brownlow v. The Metropolitan Board of Works, 31 L. J. C. P. 140. Under the like words in the Public Health Act a local board were held entitled to make a sewer through private property raised above ground; Roderick v. Aston Local Board, L. R. 5 Ch. Div. 328. See sections 24 and 25 of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, as to communications between lands through which works are carried; the provisions contained in sections 34 and 35 of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, as to notices and other requirements where works will affect any railway or canal; sections 27 and 28 of 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, post, requiring approval of works under that Act by the admiralty and conservators of the Thames; and section 30, regulating works under or over the river Lea.

(g) Under this and the corresponding provision in section 69, boards and vestries are empowered to carry their sewers through any lands, &c., whatsoever, on the sole condition of making compensation, and they are not compelled to purchase the land itself, or any easement in it, and the provisions of the 150th, 151st, and 152nd sections, enabling them to purchase land or rights or easements in land which they may deem necessary for the formation or protection of works, do not restrict the exercise of this power; North London Railway Company v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 28 L. J. Ch. 909. It was held upon the construction of the Public Health Acts, 1848 and 1875, that a side entrance or man-hole is not necessarily a part of a sewer, and that the power to construct a sewer did not carry with it the right to construct the side entrance on the footpath without the plaintiff's consent, and an injunction was granted to restrain the continuance of the side entrance until the defendants purchased the plaintiff's interest in the land; Swanston v. Twickenham L. B. of Health, 43 J. P. 206. The sole condition to the exercise of the power of carrying sewers through private property is to make compensation. The payment or tender of compensation is not a condition precedent to the light of entry on lands to execute works; Peters v. Clarson, 7 M. & G. 548; Lister v. Lobley. 7 Ad. & E. 124; North London Railway Company v. Metropolitan Board of Works, supra; Pettiward v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 34 L. J. C. P. 301; and Macey v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 33 L. J. Ch. 377. Though the language of this part of the section giving compensation is somewhat different from that used in the 68th section of the Lands Clauses Act, 8 Vict. c. 18, it is similar in effect. The compensation mentioned in the 68th section of the Lands Clauses Act, is "in respect of any lands or of any interest therein which shall have been taken for or injuriously affected by the execution of the works," and the 6th section of the Railway Clauses Act directs full compensation for the value of the lands, &c., "and for all damage sustained by owners, &c.," by reason of the exercise as regards such lands of the powers vested in the company. The last-mentioned Act is, however, not incorporated with this Act. The decisions under the 68th section of the Lands Clauses Act, and other statutes containing compensation clauses, show that compensation can only be claimed for Acts authorized by the statute; Broadbent v. Imperial Gas Company, 26 L. J. Ch. 276; In re Penny, 26 L. J. Q. B. 225; Beckett v. Midland Railway Company, 37 L. J. C. P. 11; and see Rhodes v. Airedale Drainage Commissioners, L. R. 1 C. P. D. 380; and Hall v. Mayor, &c., of Bristol, L. R. 2 C. P. 322; and it can only be claimed where the act occasioning the injury would, without the statute authorizing it, have been the subject of an action at common law; New River Company v. Johnson, 2 E. & E. 435; Hall v. Mayor of Bristol, supra. But this rule does not apply where the act complained of was done on a claimant's own land, taken by a company under a statutory power; Re Stockport, &c., Railway Company, 33 L.J. Q. B. 251. If the land is not taken, and nothing is done which would have afforded a cause of action before the Act passed, it does not injuriously affect the land so as to constitute a ground for compensation; In re Penny, supra; Caledonian Railway Company v. Ogilvy, 2 Macq. H. L. Rep. 229; Broadbent v. Imperial Gas Company, 26 L. J. Ch. 276; Chamberlain v. West end of London and Crystal Palace Railway Company, 31 L. J. Q. B. 201; Glover v. North Stafford Railway Company, 20 L. J. Q. B. 376; R. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 38 L. J. M. C. 24. The King v. The London Dock Company, 5 A. & E. 163, is overruled by the Queen v. The Eastern Counties Railway Company, 2. Q. B. 347; Chamberlain v. West end, &c., and Crystal Palace Railway Company, supra.

If the proceeding be in excess of the powers conferred by the statute, the remedy is by action; Broadbent v. Imperial Gas Company, 26 L. Ch. 276; Rhodes v. Airsdale Commissioners, L. R. 1 C. P. 402. And the injury in respect of which compensation is claimed, must be a damage to the land, and not merely an injury of a personal nature, though connected with the enjoyment of land; R. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, L. R. 3 C. P. 82; and see Rickett v. Midland Railway Company, L. R. 1 H. L. 205; Beckett v. Midland Railway Company, 37 L. J. C. P. 11;

A physical interference with a right giving additional market value to property apart from any user, gives a title to compensation, as where premises were depreciated by the destruction of a dock, though the claimant had no right to the use of the dock except as one of the public; Metropolitan Board of Works v. M Carthy, 43 L. J. C. P. 385. The owner of a wharf deprived of free access to the Thames and the means of unloading barges at his wharf, was held entitled to compensation; Maceyv. Metropolitan Board of Works, 33 L. J. Ch. 37; so where a road was narrowed and the property depreciated; Beckett v. Midland Railway Company, 37 L. J. C. P. 11; access to a house impeded by the raising of the level of a street; R. v. St. Lukes, Chelsea, L. R. 7 Q. B. Ex. Ch. 148; houses depreciated by the diversion of a road, Chamberlain v. It was decided, on appeal to the House of Lords from the judgment of the Ex. Ch. reversing the decision of the Queen's Bench, that where the plaintiff was owner of a house, &c., with an exclusive easement over a causeway and jetty, and under powers conferred by the Thames Embankment Act, 1862, a roadway was substituted for a river frontage, he was entitled to compensation, and that the loss of the use of the river frontage and the consequent loss of privacy and the increase of dust and noise occasioning deterioration of the property, were subjects for the arbitrator to consider in deciding the amount of compensation; D. Buccleuch v. Metropolitan Board of Works, L. R. 3 Ex. 306; 5 Ex. (Ex. Ch.) 221; 5 E. & Ir. App. 418. Where an act containing compulsory powers incorporates the whole of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, a right of compensation is, without any other enactment, conferred upon persons interested in lands injuriously affected by the exercise of statutory powers; R. v. St. Luke, Chelsea, 40 L. J. Q. B. 305; and see decision in Ferrar v. Sewers Commissioners of London, 38 L. J. Ex. 17; Ex. Ch. 102; Baker v. Vestry of St. Marylebone, 23 W. R. 848.

But where the occupier of premises near the Thames had been accustomed to draw water from the river, and bring his barges into a draw dock as a public right only and not as a right attached to the premises, and had been obstructed by the Thames Embankment works, he was held not entitled to compensation; R. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 38

Loss of trade occasioned by the obstruction of a highway during the execution of works of a railway company, is not an injuriously affecting of the tradesman's interest in his premises entitling him to compensation; Rickett v. Metropolitan Railway Company, 36 L. J. Q. B. 205; overruling Senior v. Metropolitan Railway Company, 2 H. & C. 258; see observations of Lord Westbury and the other judges who dissented from this judgment. See also Cameron v. Charing Cross Railway Company, 33 L. J. C. P. 313, where it had been decided that this species of injury was the subject of compensation, but the decision was reversed on appeal to Ex. Ch. 13 W. R. 300, 455. There was no right to compensation for damage caused by vibration, after the construction of the works, Brand v. Hammersmith Railway Company, 36 L. J. Q. B. 139, affirmed by H. L., diss. Lord Cairns 38 L. J. Q. B. 265; nor for inconveniences caused by a level crossing; Caledonian Railway Company v. Ogilvy, supra; nor for diminished amenity of residence from being overlooked; Re Penny, supra; nor for temporary inconvenience by a hoard during the execution of works, unless the hoard was kept up for an unreasonable time; Herring v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 34 L. J. C. P. 224; nor for subsequent subsidence where the claimant had accepted a sum as compensation for all damage resulting from a railway; Crofts v. Where the metropolitan commissioners of sewers had made a sewer in a public road, thereby tapping certain underground springs, and preventing them from entering a pond, &c., belonging to the prosecutor, it was held in a mandamus to the metropolitan board, to whom the liabilities of those commissioners had been transferred, on the authority of Chasemore v. Richards, 29 L. J. Ex. 81, that the prosecutor had no right of action in respect of such injury independently of the statute, and consequently was not entitled to compensation either under section 50 or section 69 of the Metropolitan Sewers Act, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112; R. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 32 L. J. Q. B. 105, distinguished from Hodgkinson v. Ennis, 32 L. J. Q. B. 231; and see Grand Junction Canal Company v. Shugar, L. R. 6 Ch. 483. In Chasemore v. Richards, 29 L. J. Ex. 81, it was decided that no action would lie for damage of this nature, and that the owner of an ancient mill could not maintain an action against the owner of adjacent land who had dug a well on his own land and diverted the underground waters not known to flow in a defined channel, which otherwise would have percolated into the river; and see New River Company v. Johnson, E. & E. 435. Water which diffuses itself over an indefinite surface is not the subject matter of a right by user. Briscoe v. Drought, 11 Ir. Com. Law R. 250, in error. But where the sewers commissioners had incurred liability, the metropolitan board were held liable to make compensation, though the liability was not known when the powers of the commissioners were determined, and the claim was not made for several years; Pettiward v. Metropolitan Board, 34 L. J. C. P. 301. See an able exposition of the law relating to this subject, with a comprehensive summary of the decisions, in Eyre Lloyd's Law of Compensation, chap. V, 4th ed.

In an action for compensation it is a good plea that the lands were not injuriously affected, Read v. Pimlico Railway Company, 32 L. J.

Ex. 167.

For acts which, notwithstanding the statute containing or incorporating the compensation clause, remain wrongful, the remedy by action is not taken away; Broadbent v. Imperial Gas Company, 26 L. J. Ch. 276; Hely v. Todmorden Local Board of Health, 44 L. J. C. P. 19; Biscoe v. Great Eastern Railway Company, L. R. 16 Eq. 636; Brine v. Great Western Railway Company, 31 L. J. Q. B. 101; Bramlen v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 13 C. B. (N.S.) 768; Clothier v. Webster, 9 Jur. (N.S.) 23. As to the liability of drainage commissioners for damage by flooding, see Collins v. Middle Level Commissioners, L. R. 4, C. P. 279. An offer of a sum in respect of lands injuriously affected must be unconditional; an offer one sum for compensation and costs is bad; Bush v. Trowbridge Waterworks, L. R. 10 Ch. 459.

Where the proceeding for want of compliance with a formality prescribed by an Act of parliament became an unlawful one, an action lay; Brownlow v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 31 L. J. C. P. 140, and not the less so because the contractor may also be responsible for his own acts or defaults; Ibid. But a public body using ordinary caution is not responsible for damage arising from extraordinary causes; Blyth v. Birmingham Water Company, 11 Ex. 781; see Nichols v. Marsland, L. R. 10 Ex. 255, and Fletcher v. Rylands, L. R. 3 H. L. 330. Or for damage arising from the negligence of the plaintiff or of strangers; Holden v. Liverpool Gas Company, 3 C. B. 1. See as to responsibility of a contractor to commissioners of sewers for an injury resulting from the neglect to fence a trench, where access to a mews was obstructed by the works; Clayards v. Dethick, 12 Q. B. 439; and Jones v. Bird, 5 B. & Ald, 837, 844, as to the sufficiency of notice to secure property on the execution of sewerage works and the liability to shore up houses. In Ward v. Lee, 26 L. J. Q. B. 142, it was decided that the contractors of the metropolitan commissioners of sewers, who had broken into an old drain and damaged the property of the plaintiff, but who were found by the jury to have acted bond fide in carrythereby as hereinafter provided (a), and all sewers and works from Section 135. time to time made by the said board, shall vest in them; and the said board shall cause the sewers vested in them to be constructed. covered, and kept so as not to be a nuisance (b) or injurious to health, and to be properly cleared, cleansed, and emptied, and for the purpose of clearing, cleansing, and emptying the same they may con-ing out the orders of the commissioners, were, by section 28 of the 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112 (the Metropolitan Sewers Act, now expired), absolved from personal liability; but that the commissioners were liable for such an injury, and the damages that might be recovered against them would be payable out of the funds at their disposal under section 125 of the statute. See action against a district board constituted under this Act for neglecting to keep a sewer clean, whereby plaintiff's premises were flooded, Meek v. Whitechapel Board of Works, 2 F. & F. 144. See cases cited in note to section 69, ante.

(a) See section 225 as to settlement and recovery of compensation.

(b) In the Attorney-General v. The Metropolitan Board of Works, 27 J. P. Ch. 597, on a bill filed to restrain the defendants from discharging sewage into the river Lea during the construction of the main drainage works, Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood, in the course of his judgment, said: "My personal impression upon this interlocutory application is that the defendants have no authority under their Acts to do what they have done. Section 135 of the 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, does not, in my opinion, give them power to turn the sewage of a district into any navigable river or stream." And further on he says, "I apprehend the distinction in these cases is between nuisances which are the necessary result of the works authorized by the Act, and those nuisances which are not such necessary result, but, as in this case, only arise from some accidental circumstance, such as the failure of the contractor. Here the nuisance complained of is by no means the necessary result of the execution of the main drainage works, and I cannot hold that it is covered or authorized by anything in the Acts under which the defendants derive their powers." But for the purposes of main drainage operations the metropolitan board had powers, in addition to and beyond those adverted to in the judgment in the foregoing case. By the 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, s. 1, they were to carry on and complete, with all convenient speed, according to such plan as to them might seem proper, the necessary sewers and works for the improvement of the main drainage, and for preventing, as far as might be practicable, the sewage of the metropolis from passing into the Thames within the metropolis. and (section 2) for the purposes of the Act they were empowered to construct any work through, along, over, or under, the bed, and soil, and banks and shores of the river Thames. These powers were subject to the condition (section 27) that no such works below low water mark which might interfere with the navigation of the river should be executed without having been previously approved of by the admiralty, and (section 28) by the conservators of the Thames. The main drainage works and the cnactments under which they were executed, necessarily contemplated an outfall into the Thames. The Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, 39 & 40 Vict. c. 75, subjecting to penalties every person who should cause to fall, or flow, or to be carried into any stream any solid or liquid sewage matter, recognises that fact by providing, section 18, that nothing in or done under the Act should affect any outfall or other works of the Metropolitan Board of Works (although beyond the metropolis). And the same outfalls are referred to in the provisions of the Thames Navigation Act, 1870, which cast upon the board the duty of keeping the Thames free from such banks or other obstructions to the navigation as may have arisen or may arise from the flow of sewage at their outfalls for the time being into the river; and similar savings as regards these outfalls are contained in other acts. As to proceedings to restrain district boards from executing drainage works so as to create a nuisance, see Attorney-General v. Hackney District Board, L. R. 20 Eq. 626; and Cator v. Lewisham District Board, 5 B. &

S. 115, referred to in note to section 69, ante.

As to the general law upon the subject of nuisances occasioned by the discharge of sewage and other matters into streams, it has been laid down in numerous cases that public bodies have no right to pour sewage into streams and watercourses so as to cause a nuisance or injuriously affect the rights of individuals; and where they have done so they have been restrained by injunction, and that not only where they have created a nuisance by pouring sewage into pure streams, but where streams have for many years been to a certain extent contaminated, but the works complained of have materially increased the pollution.

In The Attorney-General v. The Town Council of Birmingham, 4 Kay & J. 528, a local board of health were restrained from carrying sewage into a river to the prejudice of the rights of private individuals; and in Goldsmid v. The Improvement Commissioners of Tunbridge Wells, L. R. 1 Eq. 161; 1 Ch. 349, where the sewage of a town had for many years drained into a stream passing through the plaintiff's land, but subsequently, by the increase of the sewer, the stream became perceptibly polluted, the decree of the master of the rolls restraining the commissioners from draining into the stream so as to pollute the water to the injury of the plaintiff was affirmed. Where a local Act incorporating the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, empowered a corporation to drain into a specified river, it was held that section 107 of the latter Act, rendering persons responsible, notwithstanding the statute, for acts amounting to a nuisance at common law, was incorporated with the local Act, and prohibited such drainage into the river as would create a nuisance; Attorney-General v. Mayor, &c., of Leeds, 39 L. J. Ch. 25; L. R. 5 Ch. 583. See observation of the master of the rolls in Smith v. Smith, 44 L. J. Ch. 632.

In the Attorney-General v. Richmond, 35 L. J. Ch. 597, Wood, V. C., says, "No persons are entitled on the ground of ancient custom or privilege to make a river carry off the sewage through drains or to collect the whole into a mass and pour it in at one time in such a quantity that the river cannot perform its function of diluting it on its passage down to the lower riparian proprietors.

And see further as to the grounds on which the courts have proceeded in applications for injunctions to restrain nuisances from the pollution of streams and other causes; Attorney-General v. Colney Hatoh Lunatic Asylum, 38 L. J. Ch. 265; Attorney-General v. Corporation of Halifaz, 39 L. J. Ch. 129, and North Staffordshire Railway Company v. Tunstall Local Board of Health, 39 L. J. Ch. 131; Holt v. Mayor of Rochdale, 39 L. J. Ch. 761; Attorney-General v. Luton Board of Health, 2 Jur. (N.S.) 180; Oldacre v. Hunt, 1 Jur. (N.S.) 785; and see Bidder v. The Local Board of Croydon, 6 L. T. (N.S.) 779; and Attorney-General v. Bradford

Canal Company, L. R. 2 Eq. 71.

But the courts have refused to interfere where the evidence showed that the nuisance complained of was trivial in its character or only temporary in duration. In The Attorney-Generalv. Gee, L. R. 10 Eq. 131, a bill and information filed to restrain a local board of health from discharging sewage into a river were dismissed with costs, principally on the ground that the injury proved was only trifling. In the Attorney-General v. Corporation of Kingston-on-Thames, 34 L. J. Ch. 481, an injunction to restrain the corporation from draining into the Thames was refused because there was no evidence of an existing or strongly probable nuisance. In Attorney-General v. Cockermouth Local Board of Health, L. R. 18 Eq. 172, where a local board discharged sewage into a river in contravention of the Local Government Amendment Act, 1861, an injunction to restrain them from infringing the Act was granted, though the bill seeking to make out a case of nuisance was dismissed.

In Lillywhite v. Trimmer, 36 L. J. Ch. 525, a bill filed to restrain a 136 (e). Before the metropolitan board of works commence any sewers and works for preventing the sewage from passing into the Thames as aforesaid, the plan of the intended sewers and works for the purpose aforesaid, together with an estimate of the cost of carrying the same into execution, shall be submitted by such board to the commissioners of Her Majesty's works and public buildings; and no such plan shall be carried into effect until the same has been approved by such commissioners.

Before works for intercepting the sewage are commenced, plans, &c., to be submitted to commissioners of works.

local board from discharging sewage into a river, causing nuisance and injury to the plaintiff was dismissed, but without costs, the court finding that no material injury had accrued to the plaintiff, and that the nuisance, if any, had been to a great extent abolished since the filing of the bill; and the Vice-Chancellor, in delivering judgment, expressed his acquiescence in the law as laid down in the Attorney-General v. Town Council of Birmingham, 4 Kay & J. 528, supra, and followed in subsequent decisions. Under the Judicature Act, 1873, s. 89, a county court has, in actions within its jurisdiction, power to grant an injunction against a nuisance, and to commit to prison for disobedience thereto; Ex parte Martin, L. R. 10 Ch. D. 212.

(a) A local board of health was held not empowered by the 46th section of 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43 to enter upon the land of another person without his consent for the purpose of making a tank or reservoir for the reception of sewage, Sutton v. Mayor of Norwich, 27 L. J. Ch. 739.

(b) The 28 & 29 Vict. c. 121 (Loc.) (Metropolitan Sewage and Essex Reclamation Act 1865) authorized the incorporation of a company for utilising the sewage of the metropolis north of the Thames and other purposes. The time for completion was extended by the 29 & 30 Vict. c. 280 (Loc.) to 1866. See bill for an injunction by a local board of health against a sewage company complaining that the company's works were insufficient for treating the sewage successfully, and thereby occasioning a nuisance; Nuneaton Local Board of Health v. General Sewage Company, L. R. 20, Eq. 127.

By the Thames Navigation Act 1870, s. 20, the metropolitan board are required at their own expense to keep the Thames free from banks and obstructions arising from the flow of sewage at their outfalls, with power to dredge and remove banks and obstructions, subject to the approval of the conservators.

See 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, s. 23, post, as to works and means for deodorizing sewage during the execution of works for the purification of the Thames. See section 24 as to execution of works so as not to create a nuisance, and section 31 as to proceedings by secretary of state on complaint of nuisance.

(d) See powers given to metropolitan board to take land for works for deodorization of sewage pending the execution of the main drainage works,

21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, s. 3, post.

(e) This clause was repealed by 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, post, the first section of which directs the board to execute the works of main drainage "according to such plan as to them shall seem proper," thus rendering the approval of the commissioners of works no longer necessary; see section 25 of last-named Act; and by the 9th section the commissioners of the treasury were authorized to appoint inspecting engineers to inspect the main drainage works executed under this Act, and report to the commissioners in relation to the expenditure on such works.

Metropolitan board may declare sewers to be main sewers. and take under their jurisdiction sewerage matters under jurisdiction of vestries and district boards.

Metropolitan board to make orders for controlling vestries and district boards in sewers, &c. (a)

137. In case it appear to the metropolitan board of works that any sewers in the metropolis not hereinbefore vested in such board ought to be considered main sewers, and to be under their management, it shall be lawful for such board, by an order under their seal, to declare the same to be main sewers, and thereupon the same shall vest in and be under the management of the said board; and it shall also be lawful for the said board by any such order to take under their jurisdiction and authority any other matters in relation to sewerage and to drainage with respect to which jurisdiction or authority is by this Act vested in any vestry or district board.

138. The metropolitan board of works shall from time to time, in order to secure the efficient maintenance of the main and general sewerage of the metropolis, make such general or special order as to them may seem proper for the guidance, direction, and control of the vestries of parishes and district boards in the levels, construction, alteration, and maintenance and cleansing of sewers in their respective parishes or districts, and for securing the proper connexion and construction of intercommunication of the sewers of the several parishes and districts and their communications with the main sewers vested in the said metropolitan board, and generally for the guidance, direction, and control of vestries and district boards in the exercise of their powers and duties in relation to sewerage; and all such orders shall be binding upon such vestries and boards.

Metropolitan board may direct appointments to be made for two parishes or districts jointly.

139. The metropolitan board of works, where it appears to them expedient that any officer or set of officers necessary for the purposes of this Act should act for a larger area than is comprised in one parish or district, or for parts of different parishes or districts, may, with the consent of the vestries or boards of such parishes or districts, direct that such vestries or boards shall unite in the appointment and removal of such officer or set of officers; and the said metropolitan board shall in such cases direct the mode in which the respective bodies or committees thereof shall act together for the purposes of every such appointment and removal, and the proportions in which the salary or salaries of such officer or officers shall be borne and paid by every such parish and district respectively.

Or may place a street in different parishes under the management of one vestry, or part of a parish under the management of vestry

140. It shall be lawful for the metropolitan board of works, where it appears to them that any street or line of street, being in more than one parish or district, should be placed under the exclusive management of one vestry or district board for the purposes of paving, lighting, watering, and cleansing, or any of them, or for the purposes of sewerage and drainage, or for all the purposes of this Act, to order that the same shall be under the management of such vestry or board accordingly; and it shall als be lawful for the said metropolitan board, where it appears to them that any part of any parish or district is so detached or situate that it would be convenient for the purposes of

⁽a) The 83rd section of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, empowers the metropolitan board to make bye-laws in relation to the matters enumerated in this section; and see section 45, et seq. of same Act, as to submitting plans to metropolitan board and other regulations in case of the construction of new sewers, branching of drains into sewers, abandonment, &c. of designs for sewers; and section 32 of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, as to compensation where sewers of different parishes are connected. There is no express provision for enforcing compliance. In R. v. Walker, 40 J. P. 231, it was decided that an indictment lay for disobedience to an order of commissioners made under the Epping Forest Acts.

> Metropolitan board to regulate naming of streets and numbering of houses.

141 (c). It shall be lawful for the metropolitan board of works from time to time to cause to be painted or affixed on a conspicuous part of some house or building at or near each end, corner, or entrance of every street in the metropolis the name of such street, and the board may, where more than one street in the metropolis is called by the same name, alter the name of any or all such streets, except one, to any other name which to such board may seem fit, and which may be approved by the commissioners of Her Majesty's works and public buildings; and before any name is given to any new street, notice of the intended name shall be given to the said board, and if there be any street in the metropolis called or about to be called by the same name, the said board may, by notice in writing, stating that there is already a street in the metropolis called or about to be called by the same name, and describing the locality thereof, given to the person by whom notice of such intended name was given to them, at any time within fourteen days after receipt of such lastmentioned notice, object to such intended name; and it shall not be lawful to set up any name to any new street in the metropolis until the expiration of fourteen days after notice thereof has been given as aforesaid to the said board, or to set up any name objected to as aforesaid; and the owners or occupiers of houses and buildings in the several streets in the metropolis shall mark such houses or buildings with such numbers or names for the purpose of distinguishing the same as the said board may direct or approve and shall renew the numbers or names of such houses or buildings as often as they are obliterated or defaced; and if any occupier of any such house or building neglect for one week after notice from the said board to mark such house or building with such number or name as the said board may direct or approve, or to renew the number or name thereof as aforesaid, he shall be liable to a penalty of not exceeding 40s., and the said board may cause such number or name to be so marked or renewed, and recover the expense thereof from the owner of such house or building in manner hereinafter provided; and if any person wilfully or maliciously destroy, pull down, obliterate, or deface the name of any street in the metropolis, or the name or number of any house or building in any such street, or paint, affix, or set up any name to any street, or any name or number to any house or building, contrary to this

⁽b) See section 160, as to orders by vestries for payment of expenses of executing the Act in the parts placed under their management under this provision and note to that section. The 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, empowers the metropolitan board to place roadways, footways, &c., in different parishes or districts under the management of one vestry or district board, and to direct in what proportions the cost of constructing sewers, paving, lighting, &c., shall be borne.

⁽c) This section is repealed by section 87 of the Act, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, which re-enacts its provisions with certain modifications. Under this enactment it was held that the metropolitan board possessed the exclusive power of directing how honses should be numbered within the city of London; and the powers given to the commissioners of sewers for the city by 11 & 12 Vict. c. 163, were in that respect superseded by those more recently conferred upon the metropolitan board; Daw v. Register to be kept of alterations in names of streets. 142. The said metropolitan board shall keep a register of all alterations made by them in the names of streets, and such registers shall be kept in such form as to show the date of every such alteration, and the name of the street previous to such alteration as well as the new name thereof.

Buildings not to be brought beyond line of street.

143 (a). No building shall, without the consent in writing of the metropolitan board of works, be erected beyond the regular line of buildings in the street in which the same is situate, in case the distance of such line of buildings from the highway do not exceed thirty feet, or within thirty feet of the highway where the distance of the line of buildings therefrom amounts to or exceeds thirty feet, notwithstanding there being gardens or vacant spaces between the line of buildings and the highway; and in case any building be erected contrary to this enactment, it shall be lawful for the vestry or district board in whose parish or district such building is situate to cause the same to be demolished or set back (as the case may require), and to recover the expenses incurred by them from the owner of the premises in manner provided by this Act.

Power to metropolitan board to make improvements (b).

144. The metropolitan board of works shall have power to make, widen, or improve any streets, roads, or ways, for facilitating the passage and traffic between different parts of the metropolis, or to contribute and join with any persons in any such improvements as aforesaid, and to take, by agreement or by gift, any land, rights in land, or property, for the purposes aforesaid (or otherwise) for the

(a) This section is repealed by 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 75, post, which contains a new set of regulations with respect to buildings beyond the general liue, and see section 76 of same Act. Neither this nor the Metropolitan Building Act, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 122, contains any definition of the word "building," but under the latter Act it was held that a shop all wood, without footings or any brickwork for a foundation, thirteen feet high and as many wide, built on wooden joists laid on the ground without being let or fastened into the soil, and being capable of being removed in its entirety, was a building within the meaning of that Act; Stevens v. Gourley, 29 L. J. C. P. 1. It was decided under this provision, and the 3rd section of 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, that the ecclesiastical commissioners were not empowered to erect a church beyond the regular line of buildings in a street; Ecclesiastical Commissioners v. Vestry of Clerkenwell, 30 L. J. 454, Ch. on appeal. Under this enactment it was decided that it was sufficient if there was a general uniformity in the line of buildings; Tear v. Freebody, 22 J. P. 707; Robins v. Bury, 25 J. P. 83. The removal of the materials in the former case was held to be a conversion. But see now 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 75, and see the cases referred to in notes to that section, post. (b) By 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, s. 10, the power of making application to parliament given to the metropolitan board by this section is declared to apply to applications to parliament for the purpose of parks, pleasuregrounds, places of recreation, &c. See 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, s. 11, post,

See clauses, post, Appendix.

(c) See reference to the acts obtained by the metropolitan board for the purposes defined by this and the 10th section of 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, in note to the last-named section post.

(d) The provisions contained in this and the 10th section of 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, confer express power upon the metropolitan board to make applications to parliament directed to the object of obtaining further powers for the objects specified; and the special Acts for improvements promoted by the board, generally contain a provision for payment of the expenses of obtaining them as the costs or expenses incurred in the execution of the Metropolis Management Acts.

The general principles applicable to the law relating to the payment of expenses of parliamentary proceedings by corporations, local authorities, and other public bodies may be deduced from the following decisions:-

It was held in Bateman v. Mayor of Ashton-under-Lyne, 3 H. & N. 323, that a company incorporated for supplying a district with water, might lawfully apply to parliament for an extension of their powers, and contract for the supply of plans and estimates essential to the application. But commissioners under a local Act were held not entitled to defray out of their funds the expenses of obtaining another Act giving more extensive powers; Attorney-General v. Andrews, 2 McN. and Gordon, 225.

Commissioners of sewers may legally incur expenses in endeavouring to procure the rejection or modification of a bill in parliament for carrying out drainage likely to be injurious to their level, as litigation, &c. arising out of their duties within section 16 of 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 22; R. v. Commissioners of Sewers of Norfolk, 15 Q. B. 549.

And commissioners for maintaining the banks of a river were held entitled to oppose a bill in parliament, the provisions of which they had grounds for believing would be injurious to the lands under their superintendence; Bright v. North, 2 Ph. 216.

And in an information to restrain a municipal corporation from applying the borough fund or raising a rate for the purpose of opposing a bill in parliament, the object of which was to interfere with the sewage and drainage of the town, it was held not a suit in which success was sufficiently probable to entitle the relator to an interlocutory injunction; Attorney-General v. Mayor of Wigan, 5 D. M. & G. 52.

A municipal corporation has a right under section 92 of the Municipal Corporation Act, or by the general law applicable to trustees, to defray out of the borough funds or rates the expenses of opposing a bill in parliament either attacking their existence as a corporation, their property, or only their rights, powers, and privileges; Attorney-General v. Mayor of Brecon, L. R. 10 Ch. D. 201; and as to what expenses incurred by a municipal Powers of metropolitan commissioners of sewers to cease (b).

145. From and after the commencement of this Act all duties, powers, and authorities vested in the metropolitan commissioners of sewers shall cease to be so vested; and in the meantime, and until such commencement, the metropolitan commission of sewers, and the Act of the session holden in the eleventh and twelfth years of Her Majesty, chapter one hundred and twelve, and the Acts amending the same, shall continue in force.

Actions, &c., not to abate. but to continue for or against metropolitan board of works.

146. No action, suit, prosecution, or other proceedings whatsoever, commenced or carried on by or against the said commissioners, shall abate or be discontinued or prejudicially affected by the determination of the powers of such commissioners, but shall continue and take effect in favour of or against the metropolitan board of works in the same manner in all respects as the same would have continued and taken effect in relation to the said commissioners if this Act had not been passed, and the powers of the said commissioners had continued in full force; and all decrees and orders made, and all fines, amerciaments, and penalties imposed and incurred, respectively, previously to the commencement of this Act, shall and may

A railway company incorporated by statute cannot, even with the approval of the shareholders, promote a bill in parliament involving an application of its funds to purposes foreign from those for which it was incorporated; East Anglian Railway Co. v. Eastern Counties Railway Co. 21 L. J. C. P. 23. See the case of an injunction restraining improvement commissioners from applying moneys produced by rates to the promotion of a bill in parliament for an extension of their district; Attorney-General v. West Hartlepool Improvement Commissioners, L. R. 10 Eq. 152; and refusal of injunction to restrain application for private Acts; Steele v. Metropolitan Railway Co., L. Eastlake, 17 Jur. 801; Attorney-General v. Pearson, 10 Jur. 651.

Mayor of Warwick, 15 L. J. Q. B. 306; R. v. Mayor of Tamworth, 19 L. T. (N. S.) 433.

(a) This proviso is repealed by 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, s. 25, post, and the approval of the commissioners of works and previous sanction of parliament in the cases specified are no longer necessary.

and amending Acts, 12 & 13 Vict. c. 93, 14 & 15 Vict. c. 75, 15 & 16 Vict. c. 64, 16 & 17 Vict. c. 125, 17 & 18 Vict. c. 111. An Act was also passed in 1855, 18 Vict. c. 30, giving certain special powers in relation to expenditure on house drainage. All have now expired. The first of the above-named Acts incorporated 23 Hen. 8, c. 5, with certain exceptions, but none of those provisions are incorporated with the present Act, but the powers of the board and vestries constituted by it are contained in substantive enactments. The 182nd section, however, preserves to the metropolitan board the powers conferred by the first of the above Acts in relation to improvement rates. The limits of the metropolitan sewers commission very materially differed from those of the metropolis, as defined by the present Act. See, as to the latter, interpretation of the word "metropolis," section 225. The metropolitan commission of sewers which was issued under the power contained in the 1st section of 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112, included the limits of the commissions commonly known as those of Westminster and part of Middlesex, the Holborn and Finsbury, the Poplar and Blackwall, the Tower Hamlets, Saint Katherine's, the Surrey and Kent, and the Greenwich. The first metropolitan commission, issued in January, 1849, included within it, under a provision contained in the 1st section of 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112, the parts subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioners acting under 5 Geo. 4. c. 100, the Regent's Park, Regent Street, &c., issued in October, 1849, and the second added to its other districts the parish of Chiswick.

Those commissioners did not deal with the whole of the area comprised within the foregoing limits, but confined the exercise of their power to what was designated their "active jurisdiction," which was divided into districts and levels, in conformity with the 34th and 35th sections of the Act of 1848.

Power to boards and vestries to enter into

(a) See special provision for payment of mortgages, &c., of metropolitan board, section 181, post.

(b) The metropolitan board were held liable to pay compensation for damage from sewerage works executed under the metropolitan commissions of sewers, though no claim was made during the existence of those commissions or till several years afterwards; re Arbitration of Pettiward v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 34 L. J. C. P. 301.

(c) The provision referred to authorized the commissioners to order the payment of the pension or allowance on such terms and out of such funds under their disposal as they thought fit. See 213th section of the present Act, as to retiring pensions to officers of metropolitan commissioners not continued in office by metropolitan board, &c., and the Superannuation Allowances to Officers of Boards and Vestries Act, 1866, post appendix, empowering the metropolitan and district boards and vestries to award compensation to officers.

(d) Under the 85th section of the repealed statute 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63 (Public Health Act, 1848), in which the language was very similar to that used in the present provision, it was decided that the section was not merely directory but created a condition, and that a contract by a local board by resolution not under seal was void; Frend v. Dennett, 27 L. J. C. P. 314; 4 Jur. (N.S.) 897. The general rule is, that all contracts by a corporation must be under their common seal, subject to certain exceptions in the case of contracts of a comparatively unimportant character, such as hiring a cook, or appointing a bailiff. Further exceptions to the rule have been introduced in the case of contracts by trading corporations for carrying on their trade, for works or services incidental and necessary to the pur£10 shall be in writing or print, or partly in writing and partly in Section 149. print, sealed with the seal of the board or vestry; and every contract so entered into, and duly executed by the other parties thereto, shall be binding on the board or vestry and their successors, and upon all other parties thereto: Provided always, that it shall be lawful for any such board or vestry to compound with any contractor or other poses of the corporation, contracts which from their nature cannot be under seal, contracts of urgency, &c. See South of Ireland Colliery Company v. Waddle, L. R. 4 C. P. 617, and Reuter v. Electric Telegraph Company, 26 L. J. Q. B. 46. It is, however, difficult to apply those rules with certainty, nor is it quite practicable to reconcile the decisions of the courts upon the subject. Most of the authorities were reviewed in the following cases :- Mayor of Ludlow v. Charlton, 6 M. & W. 815; Smart v. West Ham Union, 24 L. J. Ex. 201; and see cases in Equity, Kirk v. Bromley Union, 2 Ph. 640; and Crampton v. Varna Railway Company, L. R. 7 Ch. 562; Paine v. Strand Union, 8 Q. B. 326; Homersham v. Wolverhamp-ton Water Works Company, 6 Ex. 137; Kirk v. Bromley Union, 12 Jur. 85; Lamprell v. Guardians of Billericay, 18 L. J. Ex. 282; London Dock Company v. Sinnott, 8 Ell. and B. 347. Those authorities show that by the absence of a seal a contract is invalidated. See also Ernest v. Nicholls, 6 H. L. Ca. 40; Austin v. Guardians of Bethnal Green, L. R. 9 C. P. 91; and Mayor of Kidderminster v. Hardwick, L. R. 9 Ex. 13. In the following cases the contracts were held binding notwithstanding they were not under seal; Sanders v. Provisions for defraying Expenses of Vestries and District Boards.

158. Every vestry and district board shall, from time to time, by How sums to order under their seal, require the overseers (e) of their parish, or of be raised by the several parishes in their district, to levy and to pay over to the vestries and treasurer of such vestry or board, or into any bank in such order district mentioned, and within the time or times thereby limited, the sums which such vestry or board may require for defraying the expenses of the execution of this Act (f) (and such orders may be made wholly or in part in respect of expenses already incurred or of expenses to be thereafter incurred); and every such vestry and board shall distinguish in their orders sums required for defraying expenses of constructing, altering, maintaining, and cleansing the sewers or otherwise connected with sewerage, and also, where the Act of the session holden in the third and fourth years of King William the boards for defraying expenses (d).

The Board of Works for the Whitechapel District, 29 L. J. M. C. 228.

⁽e) By the 250th section the term "overseers" includes any persons authorized to make and collect, or cause to be collected, the rate for the relief of the poor in any parish. See Christie v. Guardians of St. Luke's, Chelsea, cited in note to section 161.

⁽f) By the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, s. 24, it is enacted that when any vestry or district board require to raise any sum for the purpose of satisfying or replacing any sum expended in satisfying any precept of the metropolitan board, for the purposes of the consolidated rate, such vestry or district board shall distinguish in their order the sum to be levied for that purpose, and the sum (if any) required for other purposes of such vestry and district board. See the Act, post, Appendix.

Section 158.

Fourth, chapter ninety, or any other Act by virtue whereof land is rated in respect of expenses of lighting at a less amount in proportion to the annual value thereof than houses, or is wholly exempted from being rated in respect of such expenses, is in force in any parish, or any part of any parish, at the time of the passing of this Act, distinguish, as regards such parish, or part, the sums required for defraying expenses of lighting their parish or district (a) from sums required for defraying other expenses of executing this Act; but every such vestry and board may cause to be raised as expenses connected with sewerage such portion of the expenses incident to the conduct of their business in relation to sewerage, in common with the conduct of their other business under this Act, as to such vestry or board may seem just: and the overseers or collectors, in the receipts to be given for the sums levied or collected by them, shall distinguish the rate in the pound required for sewerage expenses, and the rate required for the other expenses of this Act.

Vestries and boards may exempt parts not benefited by expenditure from payment (b).

159. Where it appears to any vestry or district board that all or any part of the expenses for defraying which any sum is by such vestry or board ordered to be levied as aforesaid have or has been incurred for the special benefit of any particular part of their parish or district, or otherwise have or has not been incurred for the equal benefit of the whole of their parish or district, such vestry or board may, by any such order, direct the sum or sums necessary for defraying such expenses or any part thereof to be levied in such part, or exempt any part of such parish or district from the levy, or require a

(a) This requires the making of a lighting rate over the whole parish; Overseers of the Parish of St. James, Westminster, v. Overseers of the Parish of St. Mary, Battersea, 29 L. J. M. C. 26.

(b) In Howell v. The London Dock Company, 27 L. J. M. C. 177, it was held under this section that if part of the property of the London Dock Company had not equal benefit with the other property in the parish rated to the poor from paving expenses, the company were entitled to be relieved in respect of that part; and that the company were exempt from being rated in respect of profits not immediately connected with the use of any paved strects. In R. v. The Great Western Railway Company, 28 L. J. M. C. 59, Erle, J., objected to this decision being cited as an authority, and see Overseers of St. Botolph v. Whitechapel District Board, 29 L. J. M. C. 228, cited in note to section 158, ante. Where a district board have come to a decision that a party is not entitled to exemption, the court will not interfere; West Middlesex Water Company v. Wandsworth District Board, 22 J. P. 336. See as to maintenance of river wall, Plumstead Board of Works v. the Commissioners of Sewers, Lombard's Wall, &c., cited in note to section 70, ante. It is believed that the last-named board have issued their order to the overseers of the poor to levy and pay over to the credit of the board the sum required for defraying the expenses of cleansing and maintaining the sewers in the low lying or marsh lands of their parish, it being alleged that such expenses had been incurred for the special benefit of the part of their parish known as P. Marshes. Orders have also been made under this enactment by the Greenwich District Board on the overseers of the parish of Greenwich for payment of sums expended by the board in repairing the wall of the Thames protecting the marsh lands, requiring them to raise the same by a rate on . the owner and occupier of the lands and premises defined in the order. As to what expenses incurred by a drainage board under 24 & 25 Vict. c. 153, are properly the subject of a general rate and not of a special rate on owners, refer to Griffiths v. Longdon, &c., Drainage Board, 41 J. P.

less rate to be levied thereon, as the circumstances of the case may Section 159. require; and any such board may refrain, where any entire parish ought in their judgment to be so exempt, from issuing an order for levying any money thereon, notwithstanding they may issue an order or orders for levying sums upon any other parish or parishes in their district.

160. Where part of any parish is placed for all or any of the purposes of this Act under the management of the vestry or district board of an adjoining parish or district (c), the sums which such vestry or board may require for defraying the expenses of executing this Act by such vestry or board in the part so placed under their management shall be from time to time paid, upon their orders, by the vestry of the parish whereof such part is so placed under the management of such other vestry or board, or if such parish is comprised in a district formed by this Act then by the district board of such district; and such sums shall be raised by the vestry or board upon whom such orders are made in like manner as if the expenses in respect whereof the same are required had been incurred by them in executing this Act.

Provisions for cases where a part of a parish is placed under the management of the vestry or board of adjoining parish or district.

161. The overseers of the poor of every parish to whom any such order as aforesaid is issued, shall levy the amount mentioned therein according to the exigency thereof, and shall for that purpose make separate equal pound rates (d) upon their parish, or the part thereof upon which any sum specified in such order is required to be levied, in respect of each sum thereby ordered to be levied; that is to say, a separate rate in respect of each sum ordered to be levied for defraying expenses connected with sewerage, to be called a sewers rate (e);

Overseers to collect the rate in the same manner as the poor

(d) Under this Act no rate except the lighting and sewers rate need be kept distinct from the general rate, and all property must be rated to the general rate on the same scale as the poor rate in the parish, without any reference to differential scales of rating prescribed by a local Act; R.v.

The Great Western Railway Company, 28 L. J. M. C. 59.

The sewers rate ordered to be raised by this section is to be levied on the persons, and in respect of the property by law rateable to the relief of the poor in the respective parishes; and it is to be assessed upon the net annual value of such property, ascertained by the rate for the time being for the relief of the poor; subject, however, to the partial exemption

⁽c) That is under the provision contained in section 140. If the vestry on which an order is made under this section make an order for contributiou on another vestry, and the order is good on the face of it, the court will not enter into the propriety of the assessment, but will order a peremptory mandamus; R. v. Strand District Board, 4 B. & S. 526; and it is no answer to the mandamus that the order of the vestry was for payment of expenses incurred before the date of the order of the metropolitan board, or that it was for more than was due, and the only mode of contesting the assessment is said to be before the auditor under section 195 of this Act and the 38th section of the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, ⁽e) In Christie v. The Guardians of the Poor of St. Luke, Chelsea, 27 L. J. M. C. 153, it was held that a rate made by the guardians of the poor pursuant to the order of the vestry, to whom a precept had been issued by the Metropolitan Board of Works, requiring them to pay to the treasurer of the board a sum for defraying the expenses of the board was good, though it did not set out the precept or the order of the vestry. There is a right of appeal against such a rate; Empson v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 25 J. P. 677.

a separate rate in respect of each sum ordered to be levied for defraying expenses of lighting (where a separate sum is ordered to be levied for defraying such expenses), to be called a lighting rate; and a separate rate in respect of each sum ordered to be levied for defraying other expenses of executing this Act, to be called a general rate; and shall make such respective rates of such amount in the pound on the annual value of the property rateable as will in their judgment, created by the 163rd section, providing that particular descriptions of land should be rated only in the proportion of one-fourth, and to the exemptions, reductions, or allowances pointed out by the 164th section. It is likewise subject to the exemptions from the poor rate applicable to property of certain descriptions, or occupied in a particular manner created by express statutes, such as property occupied by scientific or literary societies, 6 & 7 Vict. c. 36, 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 30, as to churches and chapels, 32 & 33 Vict. c. 40, as to Ragged and Sundays Schools and others. See Lumley's Commentary on the Parochial Assessment Act, 4th edition. And further, it is governed by the peculiar provisions which may exist in particular parishes under local Acts in relation to poor rates.

The 32 & 33 Vict. c. 67, Valuation (Metropolis) Act, 1869, which extends only to unions and parishes not in union which are for the time being either wholly or for the greater part in value thereof respectively situate within the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Board of Works, by section 77, schedule 5, repeals various sections of the Union Assessment Committee Act, 1862, and makes the valuation list for the time being conclusive evidence of the gross value, and of the rateable value of the several hereditaments included therein, and of the fact that all the hereditaments required to be inserted therein have been so included for the purpose of any of the following rates which are made during the year that the list is in force; namely, the county rate, the metropolitan police rate, the church rate, the highway rate, the poor rate, the police, sewers, consolidated, and other rates in the city of London, the sewers, lighting, general, and other rates levied by order of district boards or vestries, the main drainage improvement and other rates, and sums assessed on any part of the metropolis by the Metropolitan Board of Works, assessments for contributions under the Metropolitan Poor Act, 1867, and every other rate, assessment, and contribution levied, made, and required in the metropolis on the basis of value. As to church rates see Act for "Abolition of Compulsory Church Rates" in note to section 1 of 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, post.

The rule laid down in the text books and established by a long current of authorities has been that all persons whose property derives benefit from the sewers of the commissioners, or other body, are liable to be assessed to the sewers rate in respect of that property. See Anselm v. Barnard, 2 Keb. 675; R. v. Wright, 2 Keb. 42; Masters v. Scroggs, 3 M. & S. 447; Stafford v. Humston, 2 B. & B. 691; R. v. Commissioners of Sewers for the Tower Hamlets, 9 B. & C. 517; Sl. Katharine Dock Company v. Higgs, 14 L. J. Q. B. 374; Saffirmed in error, 16 L. J. Q. B. 377; Soady v. Wilson, 3 A. & E. 248. The last case is a leading authority on the subject, and see reference to that decision and observations in the judgment of the court upon the case of the Metropolitian Board of Works v. The Vauxhall Bridge Company, 26 L. J. Q. B. 253, in the note to section 164, infraces also Serjt. Woolrych, Law of Sewers, p. 66, and Dorling v. Epsom Local

All objections against a rate good on the face of it (except for such defects as make the rate a nullity, as where a person is rated in respect of land not in his occupation; Milward v. Caffin, 2 W. Bl. 1330; and see observations of Crompton, J., in Luton Local Board of Health v. Davies, 29 L. J. M. C. 173), must be taken by way of appeal; Empson v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 25 J. Board of Health v. Davies, supra, even where the rate was made, not by the overseers but by individuals appointed by the metropolitan board, under section 68, on the default of a district board; Empson v. Metropolitan Board of Works, supra. Therefore an objection that the property derives no benefit; R. v. Newman, 29 L. J. M. C. 117, or that the rate was made for an illegal purpose under Public Health Act, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63; Luton Local Board of Health v. Davis, supra, or that it was assessed upon an erroneous principle; Metropolitan Board of Works v. Vauxhall Bridge Company, 26 L. J. Q. Tompkins, 31 J. P. 470. A tenement in the King's dockyard, which derived benefit from the sewers, occupied by a government officer who paid no rent, was held liable to be rated; Netherton v. Ward, 3 B. & Al. 21; but not property in the personal occupation of the sovereign, as Kensington Palace; Attorney-General v. Donaldson, 10 M. & W. 117. Arrears of poor rates may be levied by others than the immediate successors of those who made the rate; Overseers of East Dean v. Everett, 25 J. P. 565. A magistrate has no jurisdiction on the hearing of a complaint for non-payment of a sewer rate, to state a case under 20 & 21 Vict. c. 43; Reg. v. Newman, supra, and in R. v. Justices of Gloucestershire, 2 E. & E. 420, the justices were held justified in refusing to state a case on the hearing of a summons for non-payment of a sewers rate made under a local Act incorporating the Public Health Act, 1848. The limitation of six months provided by Jervis' Act, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, s. 11, does not apply to a proceeding for enforcing a rate under a local Act by the mere issuing of a distress warrant; Sweetman v. Guest, L. R. 3 Q. B. 262. Quære whether the proceeding constituted "an exercise of summary jurisdiction" so as to enable the justices to state a case under 20 & 21 Vict. c. 43, Ibid. By the Public Health Act, 1875, s. 256, in proceedings for recovery of rates under that Act, the magistrate is to make an order for payment, and in default of compliance to issue a warrant.

(a) This directs the vestry to guide itself by the rate for the relief of the poor in each parish, without reference to any distinction in a local Act, and no property should be separately assessed or exempt unless it be so within, the poor rate for the parish; R. v. Great Western Railway Company, 28 L. J. M. C. 59; Howell v. London Dock Company, 27 L. J. M. C. 177, contra, was objected to as an authority by Erle, J., in R. v. Great Western Railway Company, supra. By 32 & 33 Vict. c. 41, s. 20, the words "poor rate" are defined to extend in the metropolis to every rate made by the overseers (i.e., every authority that makes an assessment for the poor rate), and chargeable upon the same property as the poor rate. The metropolitan board are not rateable to the poor or general rate in respect of land occupied by their sewers, but they are so in respect of land and buildings occupied in connection with their sewers and which have an occupation value; R. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 38 L. J. M. C. 24; and see Metropolitan Board of Works v. West Ham, L. R. 6 Q. B. 193. where it was decided that the sewers within an embankment were not rateable to the poor rate as not the subject of beneficial occupation, but that the rest of their property, i.e., pumping station, &c., was rateable, and it made no difference that the embankment was above ground.

A tramway company under the Tramways Act, 1870 (33 & 34 Vict. c. 78) were held liable to the poor rate in respect of their occupation of the road by their tramway; Pimlico, &c., Tramway Company v. Greenwich Union, L. R. 9 Q. B. 9. See as to non-liability to poor rates of the Commissioners Section 161.

being for the relief of the poor (a); and the said overseers shall, for the purpose of levying such rates, proceed in the same manner, and have the same powers, remedies, and privileges, as for levying money for the relief of the poor; and all such rates shall be allowed in the same manner, and be subject to all the same provisions in relation to appeal and to excusing persons from payment on account of poverty and otherwise, as the rate for the relief of the poor in the same parish; and such overseers shall pay (b) to the treasurer of the vestry or board, or otherwise as in such order directed, the amount mentioned in the order, within the time or respective times specified for that purpose, and the excess, if any, which may have been levied beyond such amount, which excess shall be placed to the credit of the parish or part in which the same has been levied; and the said overseers shall at the time of making any such payment deliver with the money a note in writing signed by them, specifying the amount so paid, which note shall be kept as a voucher for the receipt of that particular amount; and the receipt of the treasurer of the vestry or board, or of any proper officer or person of or belonging to any bank into which such money is so paid, specifying the amount paid to him by the overseers, shall be a sufficient discharge to the overseers for such amount.

Land to be rated to the sewers rate at one fourth part of its annual value (c).

Existing exemptions in respect of sewers rate to be allowed (d).

(c) This proviso is taken from the 15 & 16 Vict. c. 64, s. 1, "An Act to continue and amend the Metropolitan Sewers Act, 1848," and was not contained in the original Metropolitan Sewers Act, 11 & 12 Vic. c. 112. The provision was based on the 88th section of 11 & 12 Vic. c. 63. (Public Health Act, 1848.)

(d) See note to previous section.

(e) In considering the application of this provision it is necessary to refer to the proviso to the 76th section of the 11 & 12 Vic. c. 112, the Metropolitan Sewers Act, 1848, to the effect that where any property was by law, or by the practice of the existing commission or commissioners of sewers, entitled to exemption, wholly or partially, from or to any reduction or allowance in respect of the sewers rate, the commissioners should in making the district sewers rate observe and allow such exemption, reduction, or allowance. The title to exemption, wholly or partially, was by law or by the practice of the existing commissioners. The exemptions from sewers rates existing by the general law are stated by Callis, pp. 222, 223, and see Serjeant Woolrych Law of Sewers, p. 85, 3rd edition. records of the former commissions present a few examples of property, which by reason of the obligation of the owners to do works of repair, cleansing, &c., were exempted from the ordinary levies. In March, 1850, a rate of the metropolitan commissioners of sewers was successfully appealed against by an inhabitant of High-street, Poplar, on the ground that he, in common with the other owners and occupiers of messuages and lands in that locality, had by reason of their tenure been bound to cleanse and scour the Poplar ditch, and by the court minutes of the Poplar commission it appears that in the case of Horne v. Farmer, tried before Lord Tenterden in the year 1826, the jury found that such an exemption existed. Exemptions on similar and other grounds appear to have prevailed under the Greenwich and other commissions. The practice with regard to rating tithe and tithe rentcharge varied under the former sewers commissions, it being wholly exempted in some cases and assessed at a lower rate in others. The case of R. v. Goodchild and Lamb, 27 L. J. M. C. 238, 251, is an authority to show that tithe commutation rent-charge was not rateable in the parish of Hackney, it being within the exception in this section because it had been the practice of the commission within the limits of which this parish was situate, to exempt tithes from sewers rate. The same case would seem to be an authority that tithe rent-charge generally was not liable by law to contribute to sewers rate. But that doctrine has not been universally acted on, for tithe rent-charge is certainly assessed to those rates in some parts of the metropolis, though undoubtedly there is a great diversity in this respect in the various metropolitan districts. It may be that so far as concerns parishes and districts which are situate within the limits of the former sewers commissions the diversity may be dependent upon the particular practice of those commissions. But this rule cannot apply generally, as there are localities comprised within the limits of the metropolis as defined by this act which were not included in the area of any of those commissions.

In Luscomb v. Local Board of Health for Plymouth, 27 L. J. M. C.

Section 164. respect of the sewers rate, such exemption, reduction, or allowance

299, it was held that under section 88, of the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, property was entitled to exemption only in respect of its kind and not in respect of its locality. The words of the Public Health Act, 1875, s. 211, are "the same kind of property." The cases on this enactment show that they applied not to locality but to the nature of the property; see Taite v. Carlisle Local Board of Health, 2 E. & B. 492; Chelmsford Union v. Chelmsford Local Board of Health, ibid p. 500; Luscomb v. Local Board of Health for Plymouth, 27 L. J. M. C. 299. But it must be borne in mind that the words in the section of the Public Health Act referred to are "any kind of property," whereas the present section uses the expression "any property" only. The construction of this section and the effect of the provision as to exemptions, &c., came under the consideration of the Court of Queen's Bench in Imperial Gas Light Company v. Head and Metropolitan Board of Works, 32 L. J. M. C. 115, which decided that the old law of sewers must in general prevail, that if property be situate within the area occupied by the sewers it must contribute without any reference to the amount of the benefit derived, and if the property does not fall within the classes mentioned in section 163, nor within any exemption or reduction mentioned in this (the 164th) section, it must be assessed at its full value as ascertained by the poor rate for the time being. The question was again considered in the Hammersmith Bridge Company v. Overseers of Hammersmith, 48 L. J. M. C. 79; L. R. 6 Q. B. 230, where it was held by the majority of the Court that under this section, which preserves the former exemptions from sewers rate, the bridge was not property which according to the old law of sewers was entitled to exemption; for although the bridge derived no direct or immediate benefit from the sewers, yet it derived "the general benefit and advantage of being accessible, and of its approaches and neighbouring public ways being properly drained and cleansed," according to the rule laid down in Soudy v. Wilson, 3 Ad. & Ell, 248, and was therefore now rateable; and Mr. Justice Blackburn, in delivering the judgment of the majority of the court, says: "There are expressions in the opinion given by Lord Campbell in Metropolitan Board of Works v. Vauxhall Bridge Company, 26 L. J. Q. B. 253, that seem to favour an idea that the amount of the assessment was to be proportionate to the amount of the benefit derived by the particular property, but in the Fulham Gas Company v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 32 L. J. M. C. 120, Crompton, J., who was a party to the Vauxhall Bridge case, explains that it was merely intended to express that if there was no benefit (by which we understand no direct and immediate benefit) there was to be no rate; but if there was any benefit, the amount of the rate was to depend upon the poor law assessment. We are not to be understood as affirming the principle laid down in the Vauxhall Bridge case even thus qualified, or as determining that the principle of Dorling v. The Epsom Local Board, 24 L. J. M. C. 152, is not applicable to a district within the Metropolis, but we do not think it necessary in this case to decide the general question." In the case of Pew v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 6 B. & S. 235, Mr. Justice Blackburn adopts the argument that the opinion in the Vauxhall Bridge case had been given without sufficiently considering that it throws on those imposing the rate the task of ascertaining what was the separate benefit derived by every property within the district from the works, a task which it would be quite impracticable for them to perform. The case of Dorling v. Epsom Local Board, referred to above, decided that under the Public Health Act, 1848, the occupier of premises within a district under a local board may be assessed to a special district rate where the premises derive no direct and immediate benefit from the works.

The Metropolis Management Acts Amendment Act, 1875, after reciting this and the 163rd section, provides that from and after the 6th April, 1876, the metropolitan board, in every assessment made by them upon such parts of the metropolis as contain property wholly or partially exempt from sewers shall be observed and allowed in levying any sewers rates under this Section 164. Act.

Provided also, that in every parish or part of a parish in emptions of which at the time of the passing of this Act the Act of the session holden in the third and fourth years of King William the Fourth, lighting rates chapter ninety, is in force, the owners and occupiers of houses, to be allowed buildings, and property other than land shall be rated to every (a). lighting rate made under this Act at a rate in the pound three times greater than that at which the owners and occupiers of land shall be rated in such lighting rate; and in every parish or part of a parish in which under any other Act land is now rated in respect of expenses of lighting at a less amount in proportion to the annual value thereof than houses, or is now wholly exempted from rate, and in the precepts issued for payment of the sums so assessed, shall make an allowance or abatement equal to the exemptions which under this and the previous section, are entitled to be made in any rate for the purpose. By the 2nd section the overseers and assessment committees, under the Valuation (Metropolis) Act, 1869, shall cause the totals of the gross and rateable value of the property so wholly or partially exempt from sewers rate, and the extent of such exemptions, to be ascertained and inserted in the valuation lists which will come into force on the 6th April, 1876, and in every valuation list which will come into force on the 6th April, 1876, and in every valuation list which shall thereafter be made by them. See Act post Appendix.

(a) In Reg. v. Vauxhall Waterworks Company, 6 E. & B. 1108, 3 Jur. (N. S.) 411, the company were held to be rateable for their mains and pipes under this section on the lower scale. In Peto and others v. the parish of West Ham, 28 L. J. M. C. 240, it was held (dissentiente, Erle, J.) that a wet dock or basin of ninety-five acres was properly ejusdem generis with the houses and buildings mentioned in the Act, and that the occupiers were rateable at the higher amount. This case was the subject of discussion in R. v. Overseers of Neath, L. R. 6 Q. B. 707, where it was decided that where the appellants had been assessed to the poor rate under the 33 section of 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 90, in respect of a canal, towing path, &c., the word "property" in the Act did not include a canal and towing path, that the bridges and dry dock were accessories to the canal, and that the whole ought to be rated as land. And a line of railway was held to be land within the same enactment and rateable on the lower scale; R. v. Midland Railway Company, L. R. 10 Q. B. 389; Newport Dock Company v. Newport Dock Local Board, 2 B. & S. 708.

3 Cox Mag. Ca. 536.

Before the passing of the Metropolis Local Management Act, the East London Waterworks Company had been assessed to a lighting rate under a local Act regulating the lighting of the hamlet of Mile End Old Town, but on appeal, had been held by the court not to be rateable to such rate, and the court of Queen's Bench decided that by the terms of this section they were exempt from liability to be rated under its provisions; East London Waterworks Company v. The Overseers of the Poor of the Hamlet of Mile End Old Town, 29 L. J. M. C. 66. Where part only of a parish was before this Act exempted, under the 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 90, the other part is not entitled to this exemption, but must be assessed at the higher rate; R. v. Fitch, 1 L. T. (N. s.) 327.

Section 165. being rated in respect of such expenses, such land shall continue to be rated to every lighting rate made under this Act at such less amount, or, where such land is now wholly exempted as aforesaid, shall be wholly exempted from such rate.

Overseers on non-payment of the rate shall be distrained upon; and in default of sufficient distress the arrears may be levied on the parish.

166. In case the amount ordered by any such order as aforesaid to be paid by the overseers of any parish be not paid in manner directed by such order and within the time therein specified for that purpose, it shall be lawful for any justice of the peace, upon the complaint by the vestry or board, or by any person authorized by them for this purpose, to issue his warrant for levying the amount, or so much thereof as may be in arrear, by distress and sale of the goods of all or any of the said overseers; and in case the goods of all the overseers be not sufficient to pay the same, the arrears thereof shall be added to the amount of the next levy which shall be directed to be made in such parish for the purposes of this Act, and shall be collected by the like methods.

Provision for cases where the vestry of any parish in schedule (A.) make the poor rate.

167. Where the vestry of any parish mentioned in schedule (A.) to this Act make the rate for the relief of the poor in such parish, such vestry shall from time to time raise and levy the sums required for defraying their expenses of executing this Act in like manner as overseers are required to do with respect to the sums for which orders are made upon them by any vestry under this Act, and shall, in raising such sums, act upon the like principles and have the like discretion as any vestry making orders upon overseers under this Act; and where any parishes maintain their poor in common by a common rate, the orders for levying any money by this Act directed to be made on the overseers of such parishes shall be made on the overseers by law authorized to levy such rate thereon, and such sums shall be levied by such overseers, in manner provided by this Act, as if such parishes were one parish.

Special persons may be appointed to levy rates in certain cases (a).

168. Any vestry or district board may, in case of any default or neglect of any overseers to pay the amount required by any such order as aforesaid within the time and in the manner directed by such order, and the said metropolitan board may, in case of any default or neglect of any vestry or district board to pay the amount required by any precept of the said metropolitan board within such time and in such manner as may be therein mentioned, appoint persons to levy any money required by such vestry or board for the purposes of this Act in any parish or district, and such persons shall proceed in the same manner, and have the same powers, remedies, and privileges, and be subject to the same regulations and penalties, with reference to the levying of such money, as any overseers would have had or been subject to with reference to levying any such money in pursuance of an order of the vestry or district board, or, where the

⁽a) The power to levy includes the power of making a rate, and where a rate made by assessors appointed by the metropolitan board under this provision is good on the face of it, the ratepayer cannot, on the summons for non-payment, insist that the board had no power to issue their precept, and that the appointment of the assessors was invalid, as this is matter of appeal only. The rate made by such assessors may be appealed against in the same manner as a rate made by overseers under section 161. The question of whether the rate has been duly published is one of fact, and if there be any evidence to support the decision of the magistrate, the court will not interfere ; Empson v. same might be levied by the vestry under this Act, as such vestry Section 168. would have had or been subject to with reference to levying the same (b).

169. As between landlord and tenant, every tenant, whether his tenancy have commenced before or after the passing of this Act, and who if this Act had not been passed would have been entitled to deduct against or to be repaid by his landlord any sum paid by such tenant on account of the sewers rate, shall in like manner be entitled to deduct against or to be repaid by his landlord any sewers rate levied on him under this Act.

Provisions for defraying Expenses of Metropolitan Board.

170 (d). The metropolitan board of works shall from time to time ascertain and assess upon the city of London and the other parts of the metropolis the sums which in their judgment ought to be charged upon the said city and such other parts respectively for defraying the expenses of the said board in the execution of this Act (e), having regard to the annual value of the property in the several parts of the metropolis, and having regard, in the case of expenditure on works of drainage, to the benefit (f) derived from such expendi-

Sums to be assessed upon the city and other parts of the metropolis by metropolitan board for defraying expenses.

(b) See the provisions in 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, s. 15, post, as to the making of rates by metropolitan board on default of vestries, &c., in payment of sums assessed for metropolis main drainage rate, and the 24th section of the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, as to collection of rates.

(c) The sewers rate is a landlord's tax, and in the absence of any agreement binding the tenant to pay such rate, it may be deducted from the rent. A covenant to pay all rates includes sewers rates. See Waller v. Andrews,

3 M. & W. 312; Bennett v. Womack, 7 B. & C. 627.

By the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, s. 23, where any portion of the consolidated rate under this Act represents any rate which for the purpose of any contract or otherwise is deemed to be a landlord's or tenant's, such portion shall for those purposes be deemed to be such landlord's or tenant's rate, as the case may be, and all rights as between landlord and tenant in relation to the sums or rates assessed by the metropolitan board are to be saved; see Act, post, Appendix.

(d) This section was repealed by the 5th section of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post, which contained new provisions with respect to assessments by the metropolitan board. The 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, s. 10, et seq., provided for assessments for the metropolis main drainage rate. See now the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, section 22, post, Appendix, whereby the metropolitan board are required for the purposes mentioned, in lieu of all rates or assessments authorized at the passing of the Act to be assessed by them generally over the metropolis, to assess and raise a rate to be called the metropolitan consolidated rate. See also note to 5th section of Amendment Act, 1862, post, and the Act itself, post, Appendix.

(e) By the Thames Embankment Act, 1862, the expenses of repairing the Thames embankment are to be paid out of moneys raised for defraying the ordinary expenses of the board; see section 22; and various other expenses are by subsequent Acts directed to be defrayed in a similar manner. The Metropolitan Gas Act, 1860, 23 & 24 Vict. c. 125, s. 6, directed that the costs, &c., of, and incident to its passing, and preliminary thereto, should be paid by the metropolitan board out of moneys to be levied by them from the several vestries, &c. See Wyatt v. The Metropolitan Board of Works, 31 L. J. Q. B. 317.

(f) The Court of Queen's Bench refused to issue a certiorari to bring up an order of assessment made under this section and the precept issued pursuant thereto, the ground of the application being that the parish on which

Power to metropolitan board or any one authorized by them, to inspect rates made for county or part of county within the metropolis (b).

171. The clerk of the said metropolitan board, or any person authorized by the said board in this behalf, may from time to time inspect any rate made or to be made for any county any part of which is within the metropolis; and any basis or standard for the county rate of any such county, and any returns concerning all or any of the parishes or places, whether parochial or extra-parochial, in the metropolis, delivered or to be delivered in pursuance of any Act relating to county rates, and any rate made by the commissioners of sewers of the city of London, and any valuation on which the same is made, and may take copies or extracts from any such rates, basis or standard, returns or valuation, without payment of any fee or reward; and if any person having the custody of any such rate, basis or standard, return or valuation, wilfully neglect or refuse to permit any such clerk or person authorized as aforesaid to inspect the same, or to take copies or extracts of or from the same, at all reasonable times, he shall forfeit for every such offence any sum not exceeding £10.

Payment to be obtained from the city and from parishes by precepts to the chamberlain of the city and to vestries and district boards (c).

172. For obtaining payment of the sums so assessed upon the city of London and the parishes mentioned in schedules (A.) and (B.) to this Act, the said board shall issue precepts under their seal, requiring payment therof to their treasurer, or into any bank therein mentioned, within such time as may be therein limited, and every such precept for any sum assessed upon the city of London shall be directed to the chamberlain of the said city; and every such precept for any sum assessed upon any parish mentioned in schedule (A.) to this Act shall be directed to the vestry thereof; and every such precept for any sum assessed upon any district mentioned in schedule (B.) to this Act, or any parish comprised therein, shall be directed to the board of works for such district; and where any such sum is assessed upon any part of any parish or district, the said metropolitan board shall specify in their precept the part of such parish or district upon which such sum is assessed.

the assessment was made derived no benefit from a part of the expenditure included in it; Ex parte Vestry of St. Marylebone, 22 J. P. 799.

(a) By the Valuation (Metropolis) Act, 1869, the valuation list for the time being is made conclusive evidence of the gross value and rateable value for the purposes, amongst others, of the main drainage improvement and other rates, or sums assessed in any part of the metropolis by the metropolitan board. See reference to the Act in note to section 161, ante.

(b) By section 17 of 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, post, the metropolitan board might require to be furnished with copies of accounts, and the power to demand copies of poor and other rates, &c., is given to the board as well as to vestries and district boards by section 15 of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, post.

(c) By 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 13, post, assessments and precepts may be amended. The Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, section 22, contains special provisions with respect to the precepts of the board for the purposes of the consolidated rate; and as to computations for estimates and other matters, refer to the Act, post, Appendix. The provision in the 22nd section of the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1862, relating to consolidated rate, is not to apply to sums levied under this enactment; see the Act, post, Appendix. Where the metropolitan board apportioned the quota to be paid by a metropolitan parish in respect of a debt incurred by the metropolitan commissioners of sewers according to the rateable value of the property in the entire district, and not on the amount expended in the parish, a rate assessed upon that principle was decided to be valid; Pew v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 34 L. J. M. C. 97. As to liability of Metropolitan Board of Works for damage from works of the metropolitan commissioners of sewers, refer to Re Arbitration of Pettiward, cited in note to section 148, ante.

Where the metropolitan board issued their precept to the overseers of a parish not within the metropolis as defined by this Act, but liable to a mortgage debt under the Metropolitan Sewers Act, 1848, requiring them to pay a sum "for defraying the expenses of the board" in the execution of this Act, it was

Where metropolitan commissioners of sewers have incurred expenses to be paid by improvement rates, &c., the metropolitan board may levy such rates as remain due.

Where the metropolitan commissioners of sewers have incurred any expenses authorized by the said Act of the eleventh and twelfth years of Her Majesty, chapter one hundred and twelve, to be paid by an improvement rate, or as charges for default (c), it shall be lawful for the metropolitan board of works (d) to levy improvement rates or charges for default for the recovery of the whole of such expenses, or such portion thereof as shall still remain due and unpaid, in the manner directed by the said Act, and the said board shall have all the rights and remedies for the recovery thereof which are now vested in the metropolitan commissioners of sewers in this behalf.

The metropolitan board has power under this enactment to appoint a person to make a rate on parishes beyond the metropolis as defined by this Act, but within the limits of the metropolitan sewers commissioners; R. v. c. 102, s. 50 (see the Act, post, Appendix), repeals (except as to securities, &c., granted before the Act) so much of this section as relates to the mode of borrowing by the metropolitan board, and the whole of the succeeding sections from 184 to 191 inclusive, so far as regards the same body.

And section 3 enacts that the metropolitan board shall not, except for such temporary period as the Treasury may from time to time sanction, raise otherwise than in conformity with that Act, and with the sanction of the Treasury, any money under any powers of borrowing conferred by the Acts mentioned in the 1st schedule to the Act or otherwise.

By section 4 the board may, for the purpose of raising such portions of the loans authorized by the Acts mentioned in the 1st schedule, as the Treasury may from time to time sanction, create capital stock to be called Metropolitan Consolidated Stock, and the Act contains provisions as to security, application of the money raised, and other matters.

Main Drainage Acts, Fire Brigade Act, and Embankment Acts.

The 46th section of the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869 empowers the board, in lieu of consolidated stock, to create terminable an-

The 38 & 39 Vict. c. 65 (1875) authorized the board to lend money to any corporation, body of commissioners, burial board, or other public body having power to levy rates in respect of lands in the metropolis; it also contained provisions relative to the powers of the board for raising money and other purposes, which were limited in time and amount. The 34 & 35 Vict. c. 47 authorizes the metropolitan board, with the consent of the Treasury, to lend to, amongst other bodies, vestries and district boards for works to be executed which appear to the board and Treasury to be permanent works.

The 38 & 39 Vict. c. 65 (1875), an Act for the amendment of the Acts relating to the raising of money by the metropolitan board and other purposes, contained provisions limiting the powers of the board to lend money in time and amount; and an Act has since been passed annually authorizing the board to raise and expend the amounts limited by the act for, amongst

As to service of notices, &c., on metropolitan and district boards and vestries. 220. And where a local Act empowered the tenant to deduct the costs paid by him to the commissioners for paving and flagging footways, but the tenant, in a lease made subsequently to the Act, covenanted to pay all taxes, rates, duties, levies, assessments, and payments whatever: held that these charges were within the covenant; Payne v. 236. And whereas by an agreement, made on the 10th day of August, 1854, between the London and North-Western Railway Company of the one part, and five of the commissioners acting under certain Acts of parliament relating to the paving and improving of certain streets in the parish of Saint Pancras, in the county of Middlesex, of the other part, it was agreed that the commissioners acting under the said Acts should, in consideration of the payment of the sums of £3,000 and £500 to the said commissioners by the said company, put into good and complete state of repair and condition certain roads therein particularly mentioned, and (except in the event therein mentioned of an Act not being obtained during the then next session to authorize the transfer to the said commissioners of the management of the said roads) would maintain the said roads at their own charge and expense: And whereas the said sums have been paid to the said commissioners, and it is expedient that the said agreement should be confirmed as hereinafter mentioned:

The said agreement shall be confirmed so far as the same relates to the repair and maintenance of the said roads; and the maintenance thereof shall be vested in the vestry of the said parish of Saint Pancras in like manner as if the said commissioners had been by Act of parliament liable to maintain and repair the said roads at the time of the commencement of this Act; and the sums paid to the said commissioners as aforesaid, or such part thereof as may not have been already applied for the purpose of putting the said roads into good and complete repair, shall be paid over to the vestry of the parish of Saint Pancras, and be applied for the general benefit of such parish in aid of any rates to be raised in such parish to defray expenses of paving, anything in this Act or in any Act relating to the said company to the contrary notwithstanding.

⁽a) Ely Place, which is part of the liberty of Saffron Hill, Hatton Garden, and Ely Rents, is by schedule (B.) included in the Holborn district. It is private property, and though open to the public during the day, has never been dedicated to the public, and the commissioners for paving Saffron Hill, Hatton Garden, and Ely Rents, were decided to have no authority under 5 Will. 4, c. 18, s. 44, to enter it for the purpose of paving it; Paul v. James, 1 G. & Dav. 316.

238. Notwithstanding anything in this Act contained to the contrary, the provisions of this Act shall extend and apply to the parish of Woolwich only to the extent and in manner hereinafter mentioned; (that is to say,)

A member of the metropolitan board of works shall be from time to time elected by the local board of health of Woolwich, at a meeting of such board, as by this Act directed with respect to the vestry of each of the parishes mentioned in the said sche-

The paving, local sewerage, &c., are administered by the local board of health; but the parish is by this provision made subject to the jurisdiction of the metropolitan board in relation to sewerage, metropolitan improvements, &c., in the same manner as the other parishes in schedule (A.), the local board being substituted for the vestry, for the purpose of compliance with their orders. The third section of the Local Government Act, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, declared that that Act should not be adopted by any place within the limits of the metropolis, as defined by the Metropolis Local Management Act; and by the Public Health Act, 1875, the metropolisis excepted from the 5th section dividing England into urban sanitary districts and rural sanitary districts. By sections 108 and 115 of the last-named Act certain powers are conferred upon the local authorities executing the Nuisances Removal Acts within the metropolis.

⁽a) The powers vested in the commissioners under the 5 Geo. 4, c. 100, so far as concerned the making and maintenance of sewers, drains, and watercourses, and the making of sewers' rates for these purposes, were by the 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112, s. 143, transferred to the metropolitan commissioners of sewers. The Crown Estate Paving Act, 14 & 15 Vict. c. 95, mentioned in this section, transferred certain portions of the district included within the above Acts to the parishes, the control over the sewers being still reserved to the metropolitan commissioners. By section 25 the management of the places comprised in plan E. was vested in the commissioners of Her Majesty's works, &c. The places comprised in that plan were parts of New Palace Yard, St. Margaret Street, Old Palace Yard, and certain other adjoining streets and places. The jurisdiction of the former commissioners over certain parts of the crown estate near the Regent's Park, &c. was transferred to the commissioners under that Act.

Nothing in this Act shall divest the commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's works and public buildings of any power or property now or which for the time being may be vested in them; and nothing in this Act shall extend to authorize or empower any vestry or district board to exercise any power or control whatsoever in or over any of the royal or public parks, gardens, or pleasure grounds, the management whereof is now or may be for the time being vested in such commissioners; and nothing in this Act shall abridge, alter, or affect any right, power, exemption, or remedy of the Queen's most excellent Majesty, her heirs or successors, or the said commissioners, in, over, or in relation to the possessions of the crown or of the public.

Saving of the rights of the commissioners of works.

242. Nothing in this Act shall divest the commissioners of sewers of the city of London of any powers or property vested in them in relation to such parts of any of the parishes mentioned in schedule (B.) to this Act as are within the city of London, nor shall such parts be subject to be rated or assessed by any district board, but shall be subject to all the powers of the metropolitan board of works as other places in the city of London.

(d) The Acts imposed upon the company the obligation of giving notice to those commissioners before making any new sewers, and of conforming to their directions in their construction.

⁽b) See note to section 1, ante, for definition of the word "city" in the City of London Sewers Act, 1848. The saving in the present section applies to parishes which are partly within and partly without the city of London, and it provides that nothing in the Act shall divest the commissioners of sewers of the city of the powers or property vested in them in relation to such parts of those parishes as are within the city, and that such parts shall not be subject to be rated or assessed by any district board, that is with respect to sewers and other matters reserved to the city of London; Daw v. 246. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to prejudice or affect any question as to whether the hamlet of Penge is or is not a part of the parish of Battersea.

247. All Acts of parliament in force in any parish or place to which this Act extends, or in any part of such parish or place, shall, so far as the same are inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, be repealed (b) as regards such parish or place, or such part thereof, notwithstanding any provisions of this Act continuing and transferring respectively to vestries of parishes and transferring to district boards any duties, powers, or authorities now vested in vestries, commissioners, or other bodies.

In case of conflict with the provisions of this Act, provisions of local Acts may be 248. AN ACT

TO AMEND THE ACT OF THE LAST SESSION OF PAR-LIAMENT, CHAPTER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY, FOR THE BETTER LOCAL MANAGEMENT OF THE METROPOLIS.

19 & 20 VICT. CAP. 112.

29TH JULY, 1856.

Whereas it is expedient to amend the Act of the last session of parliament, chapter one hundred and twenty, "for the better Local Management of the Metropolis," as hereinafter mentioned: Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same as follows:

Section 1. 18 & 19 Vict.

1. Where at the time of the passing of the said Act the power of making church rates or rates of the nature of church rates (a) in any parish was vested in any open vestry, or in any meeting in the nature of an open vestry meeting, or in any meeting of the parishioners,

Church rates where made in open vestry before passing

(a) The Compulsory Church Rates Abolition Act, 1868, 31 & 32 Vict. c. 109, enacts, section 1, that after its passing, no suit shall be instituted or proceedings taken in any ecclesiastical or other court, or before any justice or magistrate to enforce or compel the payment of any church rate made in any parish or place in England or Wales.

Section 3 enables church rates to be levied in any parish for paying off any sum of money due on the security of Church rates, or of rates in the nature of church rates.

Certain enactments and proceedings are excepted from the operation of the Act, which contains provisions relative to rates applicable partly to ecclesiastical purposes and partly to other purposes, and with respect to other matters.

Where money was advanced under 5 Geo. 4 c. 36 by commissioners of public works on the security of certain rates, the commissioners were held not to be deprived of their security, even if, as alleged, the money had been improperly expended; Rippin v. Bastin, 2 L. R. Ecc. Cas. 386.

Where by 5 Geo. 4, c. 36 churchwardens were empowered to borrow money of the public works loan commissioners to be repaid by instalments within twenty years at the furthest, it was held, reversing the judgment of the Queen's Bench, that the statute expressly and impliedly forbade the making of a rate after twenty years; R. v. Churchwardens of All Saints, Wigan, 41 J. P. 132.

M

of the Act 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, to continue to be so made. inhabitants, or ratepayers generally, or of such of the parishioners, inhabitants, or ratepayers as were rated at or above any specified amount or value (whether such vestry or meeting were holden for the parish at large or for any liberty or other district therein), such power shall not be deemed to have become vested in the vestry constituted in such parish under the said Act, but shall be exercised as if the said Act has not been passed: Provided (a) always, that this Act shall not affect any such rate made before the passing thereof by any such vestry as last aforesaid.

Nothing in this Act or in 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, to affect ecclesiastical districts (b).

2. Nothing in the said Act or this Act shall affect or be deemed to have affected any power of electing or appointing churchwardens or making church rates, or other power which, at the time of the passing of the said Act, was vested in any such open vestry or meeting as aforesaid, or any elected or other vestry, where such vestry or meeting acts exclusively for any district (by whatever denomination distinguished) created for ecclesiastical (c) purposes only.

Other powers of vestries and like meetings declared to have been transferred to vestries under Act 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, except powers transferred to district boards (d).

3. Save as hereinbefore otherwise provided, all the duties, powers, and privileges (including such as relate to the affairs of the church, or the management or relief of the poor, or the administration of any money or other property applicable to the relief of the poor), which might have been performed or exercised by any open or elected or other vestry or any such meeting as aforesaid in any parish, under any local Act or otherwise, at the time of the passing of the said Act of the last session, shall be deemed to have become transferred to and vested in the vestry constituted by such last-mentioned Act; except so far as any such duties, powers, or privileges may in the case of a parish included in any district mentioned in schedule (B.) to the said Act be vested by section ninety thereof in the board of works of such district: Provided that all duties and powers relating to the affairs of the church, or the management or relief of the poor, or the

(a) This proviso is among the enactments which have ceased to be in force, &c.; expressly repealed by Statute Law Revision Act, 1875.

(b) See as to the right of a rector in a newly created parish under a private Act of Parliament to appoint one of the churchwardens; Green v. the Queen, L. R. 1 App. Ca. H. L. 513.

(e) The expression "ecclesiastical purposes" by the Church Rate Abolition Act, 1868, is defined to mean the building, rebuilding, enlargement, and repairing of any church or chapel, and any purpose to which by common or ecclesiastical law a church rate is applicable.

(d) These "duties, powers, and privileges" relate to the same matters as the "duties, powers, and authorities" mentioned in the original Act, the 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, s. 90, and do not apply to the right of presentation to a church vested in trustees in trust for the parishioners and inhabitants; Carter v. Cropley, 26 L. J. Ch. 246; nor to the right of electing almspeople to a charity vested by the deed of foundation in the minister, churchwardens, overseers of the poor, and such of the parishioners as should pay taxation to the poor, and should not keep immates or poor lodgers; Attorney-General v. The Drapers' Company, 22 J. P. 514; (Kindersley V. C.) 27 L. J. Ch. 542. See as to appointment of trustee of a charity by the vestry, constituted by Metropolis Local Management Act, Re Hayles's Estate, 31 L. J. Ch. 612. This enactment has not repealed the proviso in the 197th section of the 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, excepting from the operation of the Act accounts subject to the audit of an auditor, under the 4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 76. See R. v. Directors of Poor of St. Pancras, 27 L. J. M. C. 281.

administration of any money or other property applicable to the relief of the poor, which at the time of the passing of the said Act were vested in or might be exercised by any guardians, governors, trustees, or commissioners, or any body, other than any open or elected or other vestry, or any such meeting as hereinbefore mentioned, shall continue vested in and be exercised by such guardians, governors, trustees, or commissioners, or other body as aforesaid (e).

Section 3.

4. It shall be lawful for any person occupying any tenement within any parish to claim to be rated to the relief of the poor in respect thereof in the rate for the time being, and in all rates to be thereafter made in respect of such tenement, whether the landlord be or be not liable to be rated to the relief of the poor in respect thereof (f); and upon such occupier so claiming, by notice in writing left at the office or place of residence of the overseers of the poor of the parish, or one of them, and actually paying or tendering at such office or place of residence the full amount of the last-made rate then payable in respect of such premises, such overseers are hereby required to put the name of such occupier on the rate for the time being, and also, without further claim, to put his name upon every subsequent rate made during the time such occupier continues in the occupation of the same premises; and in case the said overseers neglect or refuse so to do, such occupier shall nevertheless, for the purposes of the said Act, be deemed to have been rated to the said rate in respect of such premises from the period at which the rate for the time being in respect of which he so claimed to be rated as aforesaid was made, and thenceforth so long as he continues in the occupation of the same premises (g): Provided always, that every person so claiming as aforesaid shall in respect of every rate for the relief of the poor made after such claim as aforesaid, while he continues to occupy the same premises, be liable to the same extent and in the same manner as if his name had been put on such rate.

Occupiers may claim to be rated.

⁽e) The power of making poor rates, originally possessed by the vestry of Spitalfields under local Acts, does not fall within this proviso. This is a declaratory Act adverting to the former Act (18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, s. 8), and declaring that it was the intention of the legislature to transfer these powers to the new vestry; Yaughan v. Imray, 28 L. J. M. C. 78. See R. v. Rendle, 30 L. J. M. C. 135, as to transfer to new vestry of power of appointing governors and directors of the poor for the parish of St. John, Southwark. The exceptions in this provise do not empower the ecclesiastical commissioners to contravene the provisions of 18 & 19 Vict, c. 120, s. 143, and to erect a church beyond the regular line of buildings in a street; Ecclesiastical Commissioners v. Vestry of Clerkenvell, 25 J. P. 580. See 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 115, post, transferring to the vestry the duties, &c., vested under a local Act in the committee of management of the affairs of the parish of St. Paul, Covent Garden.

⁽f) See note to next section.

⁽g) The demand to be rated should be made on the vestry and not on the overseers; R. v. Islington, 8 L. T. (N.S.) 231.

A claim to be rated under 2 Will. 4, c. 45, s. 34, and 14 & 15 Vict. c. 14, s. 1, for the parliamentary franchise, to an assistant overseer was held good;

Caunter v. Adams, 33 L. J. C. P. 68.

See the decision in Goodhew v. Williams, L. R. 3 C. P. D. 382, referred to in note to section 6 of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, Metropolis Management Act, 1855, ante, where, under the circumstances of the case, it was held that the defendant was neither "rated" nor "assessed" within that section, and that his liability to the penalty imposed by section 54 was not taken away by the provision in this section.

Section 5.
Composition not to be disturbed, and landlord's liability not to be affected (a).

5. Provided also, that in case where, by any composition with the landlord, a less sum is payable than the full amount of rate which, except for such composition, would be due in respect of the same premises, the occupier claiming to be rated shall not be bound to pay or tender more than the amount then payable under such composition: Provided also, that where, by virtue of any Act of parliament, the landlord is liable to the payment of the rate for the relief of the poor in respect of any premises occupied by his tenant, nothing herein contained shall be deemed to vary or discharge the liability of such landlord; but in case the tenant who has been rated for such premises in consequence of any such claim as aforesaid make default in the payment of the rate for the relief of the poor payable in respect thereof, such landlord shall be and remain liable for the payment thereof, in the same manner as if he alone had been rated in respect of the premises so occupied by his tenant.

Right of occupier so claiming to vote in elections. 6. Any occupier who under this Act is rated or deemed to be rated to the relief of the poor in any parish, and has been so rated or deemed to be rated for one year next before any election of vestrymen or auditors under the said Act, shall be entitled to vote in such election, and shall for the purposes of the said Act be deemed a ratepayer of such parish, and be entitled to act as such, provided all parochial rates (b), taxes, and assessments; save and except church rates (c), due in respect of the same premises at the time of his so voting or acting, except such as have been made or become due within six months immediately preceding such voting or acting, have been paid; but such occupier shall not be deemed to be a ratepayer so as to gain a settlement where he would not have gained a settlement if this Act had not been passed.

Payment of church rates not necessary as a qualification (d).

7. The provision in section sixteen of the said Act requiring all parochial rates, taxes, and assessments (except as therein excepted) to have been paid shall not be taken to include church rates.

(b) In Palmer v. Earith, 14 M. & W. 428, it was decided that a tenant who consented to pay all parochial and parliamentary taxes, was not bound to pay a sewers rate. The rate in that case was one made by commissions under an ordinary sewers commission; but the rate made by vestries or overseers, under the Metropolis Local Management Act, is clearly a parochial rate.

(c) See next section.

(d) See Tozer v. Child, cited in note to section 15 of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, ante, and Compulsory Church Rates Abolition Act, 1868, referred to in note to section 1 of this Act.

⁽a) The 13 & 14 Vict. c. 99, with respect to the rating of small tenements, and so much of any local statute as relates to the rating of owners instead of occupiers, were repealed by the Poor Rate Assessment and Collection Act, 1869, 32 & 33 Vict, c. 41, s. 6; and see provisions in that Act as a agreements by owners of hereditaments not exceeding the rateable value specified (in the metropolis twenty pounds) to pay rates, and as to allowance to owners of commission, orders of vestries for the rating of owners, the constructive payment of rates by the occupier for the purpose of any qualification or franchise depending as regards rating upon the payment of the poor rate as to successive occupiers, and occupiers coming into possession of unoccupied hereditaments, and the duty of overseers to insert in the rate the names of occupiers, and as to other matters. See as to construction of section 19 of that Act for the purposes of a borough vote; Cross v. Alsop, L. R. 6 C. P. 315. See also Smith v. Overseers of Seghill, L. R. 10 Q. B. 422; Barton v. Towa Clerk of Birmingham, L. R. W. N. (1878) p. 230; and Benett v. Alkins, 43 J. P. 191.

Section 1.

1. Whereas the metropolitan commissioners of sewers, in exercise of the powers conferred upon them by the Act of the eleventh and twelfth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter one hundred and twelve, did cause to be prepared and did approve of certain plans for the main drainage and sewage interception of the metropolis, and certain sewers and works included in and forming a portion of the plans so prepared and approved were constructed and completed by the said commissioners or by the metropolitan board of works; that is to say, the sewers and works known as the Counters Creek Diversion Works: and whereas the cost of the said works, amounting to the sum of £43,721 15s., was defrayed by moneys borrowed on certain securities, which securities and moneys are included amongst and form part of the securities and moneys enumerated in schedule (A.) to this Act, and the debt incurred in respect thereof borrowed on was charged by the said commissioners upon the following sewerage the security districts; viz. the Counters Creek, Ranelagh, and Fulham and Ham- of the main mersmith districts, in certain shares and proportions, and has been drainage apportioned by the metropolitan board of works, pursuant to the Islst section of the firstly-recited Act, among the several parishes or parts of parishes which heretofore constituted the said districts, that is to say, Paddington, Chelsea, St. Mary Abbott's, Kensington, St. Maryaret and St. John the Evangelist, Westminster, Hammersmith, Fulham, Willesden, St. Marylebone, St. George, Hanover Square, St. John, Hampstead, Acton, Ealing, and Chiswick: and whereas it is just and expedient that the cost of and incidental to the construction and execution of the said sewers and works, amounting to the sun aforesaid, should be deemed to be part of the expenses of and incidental to the works which the said metropolitan board are by the said Acts of the eighteenth and nineteenth Victoria, chapter one hundred and twenty, and the twenty-first and twenty-second Victoria, chapter one hundred and four, empowered and directed to construct and execute for the improvement of the main drainage of the metropolis, and for preventing, as far as may be practicable, the sewage of the metropolis from passing into the river Thames within the rates would have been levied to meet them in case that Act had continued in force, and directs that the sums becoming payable under or required for payment of such debts and liabilities should be raised in like manner as the expenses of the board in the execution of that Act; and with respect to districts or parts beyond the limits of the metropolis as defined by the same Act, it directs that precepts shall be issued to the overseers of the parishes in which any part within the limits of the parts is comprised requiring payment of the sums necessary to be raised in such part. The debts enumerated in the first schedule to this Act were charged by the metropolitan commissioners of sewers previously to the determination of the commission on certain sewerage districts or levels included within the limits subject to their jurisdiction. These districts or levels were formed with regard to the fall of the ground, the main lines of sewers, and other natural conditions; and they had no reference to the division according to parishes and districts forming the basis of the Metropolis Local Management Act. As the moneys required for payment of the former debts had, under the provisions of the last-named Act, to be raised in parishes or parts of parishes, it became necessary that the metropolitan board should apportion those debts among the parishes and parts of parishes constituting the former sewerage districts or levels. This they did in the proportion of the rateable value of the property in the respective parishes and parts of parishes, and except so far as concerns that portion of the debts referred to in schedule (A.) to this Act, which is dealt with by this section, the distribution or apportionment so made by the board is still in force. The reapportionment directed by this section was not to affect the validity of any precept already issued. The present section deals specially with two sums, one of £43,721 15s., the cost of the Counters Creek works, and the other £10,000, a portion of the cost of the Ravensbourne works; and regarding them as having been designed and executed to the extent expressed in the clause as for the benefit, not of particular localities, but of the metropolis at large, it directs that the debts incurred on account of them shall be discharged out of the moneys raised under the Main Drainage Act (21 & 22 Vict. c. 104), instead of continuing them a charge on individual districts. Some of the parishes mentioned in the clause are without the limits of the metropolis as at present defined, i.e. Willesden, Acton, Ealing, and Chiswick. See the limits of the metropolitan commission in note to section 145 of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, ante. With respect to these, as well as to the other parishes enumerated, the 5th section of this Act empowers the board to make assessments in respect of unpaid balances of former precepts. See apportionment on a parish in respect of a debt of the Metropolitan Commissioners of Sewers; Pew v. Metropolitan Board of Works, cited in note (c), p. 113, ante, metropolis: and whereas certain other works were executed by the said commissioners, known as the Ravensbourne works, and the cost of such works, amounting to the sum of £26,545 16s. 5d., was defrayed out of moneys borrowed on certain securities, which securities and moneys are included amongst and form part of the securities and moneys enumerated in the said schedule (A.) to this Act, and the debt incurred in respect thereof was charged by the said commissioners upon the following sewerage districts, viz., the Ravensbourne and Greenwich districts, in certain shares and proportions, and has been apportioned by the said metropolitan board of works, pursuant to the said firstly-recited Act, among the several parishes and places or parts of parishes and places which heretofore constituted the said districts; that is to say, St. Paul Deptford, Greenwich, Kidbrooke, Lewisham, Camberwell, Charlton, Eltham, and Lee: and whereas the last-mentioned works partly enure to the benefit of the metropolis at large, and it is just and expedient that a portion of the costs and charges thereof, amounting to the sum of £10,000, should be deemed to be part of the said expenses of and incidental to the works which the said metropolitan board are empowered and directed to construct and execute under the said Acts of the eighteenth and nineteenth Victoria, chapter one hundred and twenty, and the twenty-first and twenty-second Victoria, chapter one hundred and four: be it therefore enacted, that the debts incurred in respect of the costs and charges of the said Counters Creek diversion works, amounting to the said sum of £43,721 15s., and in respect of the said portion of the costs and charges of the said Ravensbourne works, amounting to the said sum of £10,000, making together the sum of £53,721 15s., shall cease to be the special debts and obligations of the said parishes and places and parts of parishes and places, and the same shall be deemed to have become, on the 1st day of January, 1856, transferred to and charged upon and shall stand charged upon the metropolis at large, as defined by the said firstly-recited Act, including the said parishes and places and parts of parishes and places comprised within the limits thereof; and all sums becoming payable under or required for the payment of any security given for the moneys so borrowed to the extent of the said sums of £43,721 15s., and £10,000, or of any interest due or to accrue thereon, shall be paid by the said metropolitan board of works out of any moneys which they may have already borrowed and raised or may hereafter borrow and raise on the security of the assessments or rates made or to be made by them for the metropolis main drainage rate under the provisions of the said Act of the twenty-first and twenty-second Victoria, chapter one hundred and four; and the said board shall take an account between the parishes, places, and parts aforesaid originally charged with the said debts and obligations and the metropolis at large to which the same are hereby transferred, and shall reimburse or give credit to the said parishes, places, and parts for any sums which may have been overpaid by them or any of them on account of principal or interest in respect of the said sums of £43,721 15s. and £10,000 respectively (if any), since the 1st day of January, 1856, beyond the sums which would have been due from them or any of them if the transfer and apportionment hereby directed had been in force on the 1st day of January, 1856, and the said board shall place any such excess to the credit of such parishes, places, or parts, in reduction of their next or some future ordinary assessment upon such parishes or parts, for defraying their expenses in the execution of the firstly recited Act.

Section 2.

Application of part of moneys raised on security of metropolis main drainage rate to repayment of sums expended on Victoria-street sewer since 1st Jan.

2. And whereas at certain times between the 1st day of January. 1856, and the passing of this Act, certain works were executed by the said metropolitan board of works for the reparation and reconstruction of portions of one of the main sewers of the metropolis known as the Victoria Street sewer, and the expenses of and incidental to the execution of the said works were charged by the said board on certain parishes in the metropolis, which were heretofore included in the separate sewerage districts, known as the eastern division of the Westminster sewers, the western division of the Westminsters sewers, and the Regent Street and Regent's Park district, in certain shares and proportions, and were paid by the said board partly out of their general funds and partly by moneys raised in some of the said parishes; and whereas that portion of the said sewer in respect of which the said works of reconstruction and reparation were executed, will be incorporated with and form part of the main drainage works now in course of execution by the said board, under the provisions of the said Acts of the eighteenth and nineteenth Victoria, chapter one hundred and twenty, and the twenty-first and twenty-second Victoria, chapter one hundred and four, and will enure to the benefit of the metropolis at large, and the costs and charges of executing the same ought to be borne by the metropolis at large instead of by individual parishes: Be it therefore enacted, that the expenses of and incidental to the execution of the said works of reparation and reconstruction so executed by the said board between the 1st day of January, 1856, and the passing of this Act, shall be deemed to be part of the expenses of and incidental to the main drainage works which the said board are empowered to construct and execute under the said Acts of the eighteenth and nineteenth Victoria, chapter one hundred and twenty, and the twenty-first and twenty-second Victoria, chapter one hundred and four; and the said board shall, out of the moneys borrowed and raised or to be borrowed and raised by them for the metropolis main drainage rate under the provisions of the said Act of the twenty-first and twenty-second Victoria, chapter one hundred and four, replace the said moneys taken from the general funds of the said board for the payment aforesaid, and reimburse the moneys which the said parishes or any of them may have paid towards the said works of reparation and reconstruction between the 1st day of January, 1856, and the passing of this Act; and the said moneys so to be applied in reimbursing the said parishes shall be retained by the said board, and shall be carried to the credit of the said parishes, in reduction, so far as the same will extend, of the next or some future assessment upon such parishes by the said board for their expenses in the execution of the firstly recited Act.

Parishes, parts, and places on which debt on loan from the Clergy Mutual Assurance Society stands charged (a).

3. And whereas the said metropolitan commissioners of sewers did, in exercise of the powers vested in them by the said Act of the eleventh and twelfth years of Her Majesty, chapter one hundred and twelve, borrow and take up at interest from a certain society known as the Clergy Mutual Assurance Society, on the security of certain rates authorized to be levied under the last-mentioned Act, the sum of £140,000, and there was previous to the 1st of November, 1860, due and owing to the said society from the metropolitan board of works, as the successors of the said metropolitan commissioners of

⁽a) This sum was originally raised by the metropolitan commissioners of sewers for the purposes of main drainage, under the provisions contained in 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112, s. 106, empowering them to berrow on the credit of all or any of the rates authorized to be raised under that Act. The money

sewers, in respect of the said loan, the sum of £105,000, and it is expedient accurately to ascertain and determine the several parishes, parts, and places on which the debt in respect of the said sum of £105,000 shall stand charged, and on which moneys and rates are to be raised or levied for the payment of the principal and interest in respect of the same, and to ascertain and determine the proportions charged upon each: Be it therefore enacted, that the said debt of £105,000 shall be and stand charged upon and apportioned to the several parishes, parts, and places enumerated in schedule (B.) to this Act, in the several proportions specified in such schedule, and the said several parishes, parts, and places shall be deemed to be and shall be liable to the payment of the sums set against their respective names therein. and to the payment of interest thereon, and the moneys from time to time becoming payable under the said security, or required for or towards payment of the said debt or any part thereof, and the interest thereon, shall be raised by such board upon such parishes, parts, and places respectively in manner provided in respect of the expenses of such board in the execution of the firstly-recited Act: Provided always, that credit shall be given for any sums paid off in respect of the said loan previous to the passing of this Act according to the several proportions specified in the said schedule.

4. Provided, that nothing in this Act contained shall prejudice, abridge, diminish, or affect the priority (c) secured by the firstly-recited Act to the persons respectively entitled to the mortgages, annuities, securities, and debts referred to in the one hundred and eighty-first section of that Act, and the first, second, (d) and third having been borrowed for main drainage was unexpended at the determination of the sewers commission. The commissioners did not, as in the case of their other mortgage debts, charge it on individual districts. A special fund having been created for the construction of the main drainage works, these moneys were applied to the ordinary exigencies of the parishes and districts, and the enactment gives legislative sanction to that arrangement. In consequence of the difference between the limits of the sewers commission and the metropolis as now defined, it became necessary to ascertain and determine the parishes in which moneys for payment of principal and interest should be raised.

(b) This preserves the remedies of the mortgagees against the districts named in the original securities granted under the Sewers Acts, some of which, as already stated, were without the limits of the metropolis as now

(c) The 181st section of the 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, preserves such priority among the several mortgagees, &c., as they were, at the passing of that Act, entitled to under the Metropolitan Sewers Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112, or any Act continuing or amending such Act. By the 106th section of the latter Act, mortgagees were entitled to be repaid the sums due to them without any preference by reason of priority; but by a subsequent Act, 17 & 18 Vict. c. 111, s. 4 (now expired) priority was given to all securities on the rates granted before a certain date, over and in preference to the mortgages or annuities under securities subsequent to that date; and subject to that priority all future mortgagees or annuitants were to come in part passu. The provision contained in the 22nd section of the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, empowering the board to levy a consolidated rate for the purposes therein specified, is not to extend to any sum levied under section 181 of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, making provision for the liabilities of the metropolitan commissioners of sewers.

sections of this Act, or the right of any or either of such persons to require and enforce payment of any principal or interest thereon, or in respect thereof, in, from, or out of all or any of the districts, assessments, rates, or moneys liable to such payment under or by virtue of their respective mortgages or securities; but all the securities, rights, and remedies of such persons respectively shall remain as good, ample, and effectual, to all intents and purposes, as if this Act had not been passed: provided also, that nothing herein contained shall prejudice or affect the power vested in the said metropolitan board, under the firstly-recited Act to borrow moneys for paying off former securities.

Sums to be assessed by metropolitan board.

5. From and after the passing of this Act the one hundred and seventieth section of the firstly recited Act is hereby repealed; and in lieu thereof be it enacted, that the metropolitan board of works shall from time to time ascertain and assess upon the several parts of the metropolis the several sums which, having regard to the annual rateable value (a) of the property in such parts respectively ought to be charged thereon for defraying the expenses of the said board in the execution of the firstly and secondly recited Acts and of this Act, and any such sums may be assessed wholly or in part in respect of expenses incurred or to be incurred, and also in respect of any unpaid balance of any former precept of the said board: Provided always, that such repeal shall not in any respect affect any act, matter, or thing whatsoever done or commenced to be done under or by virtue of the said firstly and secondly recited Acts, or any proceeding taken or to be taken under the thirdly recited Act, or to affect or prejudice, except as herein specially provided, in any way the rights or liabilities of any district or part under the one hundred

The second section of the present Act has no reference to the mortgage debts in question.

(a) The repeal of the 170th section of the former Act, and the re-enactment of its provisions in the present form, got rid of the necessity of assessing the expenses of maintaining main sewers on particular sections of the metropolis, on the assumed ground that those parts had been peculiarly benefited by them; and the outlay on main sewers was assimilated to that applicable to the intercepting works, the formation of streets, and other matters within the cognizance of the metropolitan board. Before this Act, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104 (Main Drainage Act), had already sanctioned a departure from the principle established by the repealed section, and enacted that for the purpose of the assessments under that Act, all parts of the metropolis should be deemed to be equally benefited by the expenditure under it. By the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, s. 22, for the purpose of paying the dividends on and redeeming the consolidated stock, and also of defraying the expenses authorized to be incurred and incurred by them in the obtaining or the execution of the Acts mentioned in the 1st schedule to the Act or any of them and in defraying the sums required for the payment of the principal and interest of and the sinking funds for any securities granted by the board for the purposes of those Acts, or any of them, before the passing of that Act are required (in lieu of all rates or assessments authorized at the passing of the Act to be assessed by them generally on the metropolis) from time to time to assess and raise a rate to be called the metropolitan consolidated rate. Such rate to be assessed and raised in manner provided by the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and the Acts amending the same with respect to the sums required for defraying the expenses of the board in the execution of that Act, and to sums assessed for the purpose of the Main Drainage Acts. See the Act, post, Appendix.

and eighty-first section of the firstly recited Act, but the same shall be judged of in all respects as if this Act had not been passed.

Section 5.

6. For the purpose of making any assessment under the preceding section, the board shall estimate the annual value of property according to the estimate or basis on which any county rate in force in any part of the metropolis is made, or, where there is no such county rate, according to a like estimate or basis (b).

7. All such assessments to be made by the metropolitan board of works shall be assessed and charged by the said board upon the same basis and in the same manner as the county rate is assessed and charged by the justices under the statutes in force for assessing and charging county rates in England and Wales: Provided always, that all precepts shall be issued and rates levied by the said board in manner directed by the several recited Acts relating to the better local management of the metropolis and by this Act, so far as relates to making precepts and levying rates.

Mode of assessment by the metropolitan board of works (c).

8. The assessment of any moneys to be assessed by the metropolitan board of works for the expenses of executing the firstly and secondly recited Acts and this Act, and the precepts for obtaining payment of moneys required by the board for that purpose, may be according to the forms contained in schedule (C.) to this Act, or to the like effect.

⁽b) That meant, according to any estimate founded on the criterion established by the County Rate Act, viz., the full and fair annual value of the property rateable to the relief of the poor. It was held under section 10 of 21 & 22 Vict. c. 104, that in the absence of an estimate for the county rate, the board might make the parochial rate the basis for the main drainage assessment on the commissioners of sewers of London; Commissioners of Sewers of London v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 31 J. P. 404, 16 L. T. (N. s.) 351. The Valuation (Metropolis) Act, 1869, 32 & 33 Vict. c. 67, s. 77, schedule 5, repeals so much of this (the 6th) and of the 7th and 13th sections as authorizes or relates to the ascertaining the value of any hereditament with respect to the value of which the valuation list is conclusive, and so much of any Act as applies to the provisions hereby repealed.

Vestries may include in the sewers rate precepts of metropolitan board.

10. Where by any local Act of parliament the poor rate in any parish in schedules (A.) or (B.) to the firstly recited Act is made by the vestry of such parish at a fixed period or periods in every year, it shall be lawful for such vestry, at their discretion, to include in the sewers rate for their parish such sum or sums of money as they may consider necessary to meet any precepts received or to be received from the metropolitan board of works during the period for which such poor rate extends, to defray the expenses of the said board in the execution of the said first-recited Act; and at the time of making such poor rate, also to make a separate rate for the metropolis main drainage, to meet the precept received or to be received from the metropolitan board of works for the sum assessed for such rate during the year, such rates to be levied in the same manner, for the same period, upon the same persons, and to be subject to the like provisions as the sewers rate by the first recited Act, and to be contained in the same book or books as the poor rate of the said parish, but distinguishing the title of each of the said separate rates or assessments, and to be collected quarterly or otherwise by such person or persons as shall be appointed by the said vestry to receive and collect the same: Provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent the said metropolitan board of works from requiring payment, or relieve the vestry of any parish from the payment, of the sums assessed by such board at such times as they are now entitled by precept to require the same.

Sums collected in places in schedule (C.) to 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, beyond amount of rate for main drainage rate, &c., to be placed to credit of such places.

Payment of sums assessed upon places in (b) said schedule (C.) 11. Where, under or by virtue of any rate or assessment made by an assessor appointed by the said metropolitan board of works, for the metropolis main drainage rate, any moneys shall have been or shall be collected in any place mentioned in schedule (C.) to the firstly recited Act beyond the amount required to satisfy the amount of the assessment of the said board upon the said place, and the expenses of and incidental to the preparing, making, collecting, and levying such rate or assessment, the excess shall be placed by the said board to the credit of such place, on account of the next assessment upon such place by the said board for the metropolis main drainage rate.

12. For obtaining payment of the sum assessed upon any place mentioned in schedule (C.) to the firstly recited Act for the metropolis main drainage rate, the said board shall issue a precept under their seal requiring payment of the amount mentioned in such precept to their treasurer, or into any bank therein mentioned, within such time or times as may be therein limited, and every such precept shall be directed to the masters of the bench, treasurer, governors, or other body or persons having the chief control or authority in such

14. Whenever any vestry or district board shall by their order require the overseers of any parish or place to levy and pay over the sum or sums of money which such vestry or board may require, under the provisions of the said recited Acts or this Act, such overseers shall, within such period after the levying of the said sum or sums or any part thereof as the said vestry or board shall determine, pay over to the treasurer of the said vestry or board, or to any officer, or into any bank in such order mentioned, the amount mentioned in such order, and the excess, if any, which may have been levied beyond such amount, less the expenses of and incidental to the making and collecting of the same, and shall make out and deliver to the said vestry or board a true and perfect account in writing signed by them, and duly audited by the auditors appointed for such parish or place under the provisions of the firstly recited Act, of all moneys and rates received by them in pursuance of the said order, and shall for such purpose produce to the said auditors the vouchers, counterfoils, or receipts for all payments made to or by them; and such auditors shall, for the purposes of the said audit, have all and every the powers and authorities given to the auditors named in the 195th section of the firstly recited Act; and in case any overseers shall fail to pay over such moneys or rates as aforesaid, or to render such account, or to produce such vouchers, counterfoils, and receipts for the space of twenty-one days after being thereunto required, they shall be subject to the penalties mentioned and contained in

32. Whereas it is in and by the firstly recited Act provided that Communicathe metropolitan board of works shall from time to time, in order to secure the efficient maintenance of the main and general sewerage of the metropolis, make such general or special orders as to them may seem proper for the guidance, direction, and control of the vestries of parishes and district boards in the levels, construction, alteration, maintenance, and cleansing of sewers in their respective parishes or districts, and for securing the proper connexion and intercommunication of the sewers of the several parishes and districts, and their communications with the main sewers vested in the said metropolitan board, and generally for the guidance, direction, and control of vestries and district boards in the exercise of their powers and duties in relation to sewerage, and all such orders shall be binding upon such vestries and boards: Be it enacted, that whenever the said metropolitan board shall, in exercise of the said power, have ordered that any sewer or sewers vested in the vestry, district board, or other body (f) acting for any parish or place comprised in the schedules of the firstly-recited Act, having control over the sewers in one parish,

⁽e) This provision enables the metropolitan board to direct the payment of a pecuniary consideration to any body having control over sewers where their works are made use of for the benefit of another parish or district-a power not contained in the original Act.

⁽f) The exercise of this power is restricted to parishes and districts named in the schedules, therefore the city of London is excluded from the operation of the clause. One of the earliest examples of an arrangement very similar to that contemplated by this clause is presented in the case of a communication between the sewers of the Holborn and Finsbury divisions and those of the Corporation of London. By one of the local Acts of that commission, 18 Geo. 3, c. 66, in consideration of the benefit accruing to the Finsbury division, St. Leonard, Shoreditch, and Norton Folgate, from the sewers of those localities being permitted to run into the sewers of the city of London, the above-named commissioners were required to pay an annual sum of £150 into the chamber of the city of London for ever. That sum was, it is believed, regularly paid by the Holborn and Finsbury commissioners, and by their successors, the metropolitan commissioners of sewers, to the Corporation down to the year 1855. See provisions in Beckenham Sewerage Act, 1873, for connection between sewers of the parish of Beckenham and the sewers of the Lewisham Board of Works, and other Acts referred to in note to section 135 of Metropolis Management Act, 1855, ante.

Regulations as to breaking up turnpike roads.

33. The one hundred and fifty-seventh section of the firstly-recited Act is hereby repealed; and in lieu thereof be it enacted, that the metropolitan board of works, and any vestry or district board may, where necessary for the purpose of executing any work authorized by the recited Acts or this Act, open and break up any turnpike road under and subject to the restrictions and provisions hereinafter contained; that is to say, three days' previous notice, with a full description of any intended works, shall be left at the office of the commissioners or trustees of the road, and, except by the permission of the said commissioners or trustees, the traffic of the road shall not at one time be stopped or hindered along more than half of its width, nor, if the half left open be of less than the clear width of fourteen feet, along more than one hundred yards in length, and the party doing the works shall cause all openings in the road to be effectually secured and fenced, and affix and maintain lights during the night near to the place where the ground is open, so as to prevent accidents; and the said commissioners or trustees are hereby absolved from all liability in respect of any accident arising in consequence of such works; and the party doing the work shall restore every road so opened or broken up to its original state as to surface and materials(a), and, in order to meet the future expenses consequent on the subsidence of materials newly filled in, shall pay to such commissioners or trustees, on demand, such sum as they shall require for such purpose, not exceeding 1s. for every superficial square yard, and, so far as the

This clause restricts that right so far as concerns works interfering with railways and canals, and renders a notice necessary.

As to division into wards when parish contains two thousand houses (a).

41. When at any time, upon any account taken of the population by the authority of parliament, any of the parishes within the metropolis not now divided into wards for the purpose of electing vestrymen shall be found to contain more than two thousand rated householders, it shall be lawful for the metropolitan board of works, upon the application in writing of the vestry, or of not less than five hundred rated householders of the parish, to divide such parish into wards, and to determine and set out the number, extent, limits, and boundary lines of such wards, but so nevertheless that no ward shall contain less than five hundred rated householders, and that the whole number of wards shall not exceed eight; and the metropolitan board shall apportion among the several wards the number of vestrymen to be elected for such parish, and shall, in assigning the number of vestrymen to each ward, have regard, as far as in their judgment is practicable, as well to the number of persons rated to the relief of the poor in each ward as to the aggregate amount of the sums at which all such persons are rated; and the number of vestrymen assigned to each ward shall be a number divisable by three, and a copy of the particulars of such division and apportionment shall be forthwith transmitted to one of Her Majesty's principal secretaries of state for his approval, and also to the vestry clerk of the parish to which such division and apportionment relate; and the said particulars shall, within seven days after such transmission, be published by the said board in the London Gazette; and at the expiration of not less than two calendar months the said secretary of state shall, if he approve of the same, publish the said particulars again with his approval affixed thereto in the London Gazette; but if the said secretary of state disapprove of the proposed division into wards or apportionment of vestrymen, then he shall, subject, however, to all the above limitations, make such other division or apportionment as in his judgment shall be more conducive to a fair representation in the vestry of the interests of the ratepayers of the said parish, and shall publish the particulars of such fairer division and apportionment in the London Gazette, and the parish shall, after such publication by him in the London Gazette, be deemed to be divided into such wards so determined and set out.

No parish shall be section 6 of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120.

(a) The 3rd section of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, ante, limited the division into wards to be made under that Act to parishes containing more than two thousand rated householders at the the time of the passing of that Act. This enactment provides for the division of a parish into wards where the population has increased since the passing of that Act so as to exceed that limit. The duties entrusted to the metropolitan board by this provision are similar to those imposed upon the persons appointed by the secretary of state under section 4 of the 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, ante.

44. It shall be lawful for the owners or occupiers of any land or premises in any parish, district, or part within the limits of the metropolis as defined by the firstly-recited Act, with the consent and subject to the regulations and conditions hereinafter mentioned, to construct sewers at their own expense for the purpose of draining such land or premises; and it shall be lawful for any vestry or district board in whom the sewers in any parish, district, or part are vested, if they shall deem it just and proper so to do, to contribute out of the rates under their control applicable to the execution of works of sewerage to the cost of any sewers constructed for the purpose aforesaid.

Owners and occupiers of land may execute works of drainage at their own expense (d).

(b) The two months' notice to the churchwardens and surveyors directed by this section is in addition to the one month's notice required by the 249th section of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, to be published in the London

(c) The 198th section of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, directs that vestries and district boards shall append to the annual report of their proceedings, which they are required to send to the Metropolitan Board of Works, a copy of every report which may have been made to them by their medical officers in the course of the past year.

⁽d) See Fulham District Board of Works v. Goodwin, cited section 54, post. Under 18 & 19 Vict. 120, a vestry or district board had no power to call on a party to construct a sewer for the drainage of streets or house property. See Clarke v. Vestry of Paddington, 5 Jur. (N.S.) 138. The absence of any positive provision in the Metropolis Local Management Act, 1855, for compelling the construction of sewers by private parties where land has been newly let for building operations, induced some persons to believe that vestries and district boards were compellable by mandamus to construct sewers in private streets and roads, and proceedings have in some instances been taken to compel them to do so. See Reg. v. Vestry of St. Luke, Chelsea, 31 L. J. Q. B. 50; ex parte Cramp and ex parte Parsons, 22 J. P. 68. The power here given to vestries and district boards to contribute to the cost out of the public rates, where the work may benefit a larger district, is a useful one.

Section 45. Vestries, &c., to submit plans of new metropolitan

45. Any vestry or district board intending to construct any sewer shall, before commencing any works for that purpose, submit to the metropolitan board of works a plan of the street or place in which it is proposed to construct such sewer, drawn to such a convenient scale or scales as the said metropolitan board shall direct, and there shall be shown on such plan the position, course, and dimensions of the proposed sewer, with a section or sections thereof, and such other particulars in relation thereto as the said metropolitan board shall deem necessary and require, and no such sewer or works shall be proceeded with without the approval in writing or contrary to the direction of the said board.

Communications with main sewers. 46. Three clear days' notice in writing shall be given to the metropolitan board of works by any vestry or district board previously to the connexion of any sewer or drain with a main sewer; and the necessary junction or communication for that purpose shall be made by such vestry or district board to the satisfaction of the said metropolitan board.

Private parties before branching sewers into main or district sewers to apply for sanction of vestries, &c. 47. Every person other than a vestry or district board intending to make or branch a sewer, either into a sewer vested in the metropolitan board of works, or into a sewer vested in any vestry or district board, shall in the first instance lay the plan and section thereof before, and apply for the sanction of, the vestry or district board of the parish, district, or part in which such last-mentioned sewers shall be situate; and no sewer shall be begun to be made by such person until the sanction in writing of such vestry or district board shall have been obtained.

Vestries, &c. before sanctioning sewers, to apply for approval of metropolitan board.

48. Before any vestry or district board shall sanction the construction of any such sewer they shall submit the plan and section thereof to the metropolitan board of works for their approval, in the same manner as if such sewer were proposed to be constructed by such vestry or district board; and no vestry or district board shall sanction the construction of any such sewer without the approval in writing of the said metropolitan board first had and obtained.

Seven days notice must be given before drains can be branched into main sewers. 49. All persons intending to make or branch any drain into a sewer vested in the metropolitan board of works shall, seven clear days before commencing any works for that purpose, make written application to the vestry or board of the parish, district or part in which such sewer shall be situate, accompanied by a plan showing such particulars as may be required by any bye-law or resolution of the

⁽a) The clauses from 45 to 51 inclusive embody regulations for the construction of sewers, and ensure the submission of proper plans and particulars before the work can be sanctioned. They also effect a division of labour between the metropolitan and local boards, by which all applications from private parties first come before the latter, and they then communicate with the metropolitan board. These regulations are intended to render that provision of the 69th section of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, effectual, by which the making of new sewers is probibited without the previous approval of the metropolitan board. There is an early precedent for regulations of this nature in 47 Geo. 3, c. 7, an Act relating to the Westminster commission, by which, previous to the construction of any new sewer intended to communicate with the sewers of the commissioners, notice to those commissioners was necessary, and such sewer was required to be made according to their direction.

(c) It was held in Vestry of St. Giles, Camberwell v. Weller, 17 W. R. 973, that where sewers rates had been charged previous to the construction of a sewer, the whole expense must not be charged on the owners, because the word "street" in the 53rd section applies to any street, whether new or old, in which sewers rates have been levied; but this case was overruled in Sawyer v. Paddington Vestry, 40 L. J. M. C. 8, where it was held that the word "street" in this section does not apply to a "new street" within section 52. Where a new sewer was constructed in a new street, and sewers, rates had been levied there previously to such construction, an apportionment imposing no portion of the cost on the sewers rate is bad; Skeffield v. Fulkam District Board of Works, L. R. 1 Ex. D. (C.A.) 395, where it was said by the court that section 52 did not apply, and even if it did the assessment would appear to be bad, for omitting to impose any part of the cost on the owners of the building land abutting on the ends of the street.

to the construction of sewers wholly or partly at the cost of private parties, or the apportionment of such expenses, may appeal to the metropolitan board of works against such order or resolution, subject in all respects to the directions and provisions contained in the 211th section of the firstly-recited Act, and the section of this Act relative to the form of order to be made by the committee of appeal of the metropolitan board of works against orders or acts of vestries or district boards.

58. Whereas the vestries of the parishes mentioned in schedule (A.) of the firstly-recited Act and district boards are, by the 69th section of the said Act, subject to the powers vested in the metropolitan board of works, empowered to make, repair, and maintain sewers vested in them, and to do and perform other works and matters as in the said section is mentioned, and it is expedient to give increased facilities to such vestries and district boards for the execution and performance of such works and matters: Be it therefore enacted, that whenever it shall be found necessary by the vestry of any parish mentioned in schedule (A.) to the said Act, or by the board of works of any district mentioned in schedule (B.) to the said Act, for the purpose of executing works for any of the purposes mentioned in the said section, to carry any sewer or works within the limits of the metropolis as defined by the said Act, it shall be lawful for any such vestry or district board to execute works in parts situate beyond or without such limits, and to cleanse, repair, and maintain such works as they shall from time to time deem necessary: Provided always: that no work shall be performed or commenced by any vestry or district board beyond the limits of the metropolis as above defined, except for the purpose of continuing or forming part of a work commenced or executed within their respective parish or district; nor shall any such works be performed or commenced without the consent in writing of the metropolitan board of works for that purpose first had and obtained, nor without the consent of the vestry or district board, or authorities of the parish or place through which the work may pass; but if any such vestry or district board or authority shall refuse such consent, one of Her Majesty's chief secretaries the expenses.

⁽b) There are certain parishes near the central boundary of the metropolis which, owing to the fall of the ground, can only be drained by means of outfalls traversing districts situate beyond the metropolitan limits, and much inconvenience has been occasioned by the want of a power similar to that conferred by the present section. The power to carry sewers through lands, as well beyond as within the limits of the metropolis, is given by the 135th section of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, to the metropolitan board alone; the words "beyond the limits," being omitted from the 69th section, defining the powers of the latter for the execution of works. It has been held under the Public Health Act, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, that the power of local boards to construct sewers is confined to their own limits, and that the 30th section of the Local Government Act, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, only enables those boards to go beyond their own district when it is necessary to do so for the purpose of outfall or the distribution of sewage; Hayward v. Lowndes, 28 L. J. Ch. 400. of state shall have authority under this Act to decide whether such Section 58. consent ought to be withheld, and such secretary of state may make such order as to him shall seem just; but nothing herein contained shall apply to any work for the purpose of the main drainage of the metropolis under the recited Acts: Provided also, that no new sewer either within or beyond the limits of the metropolis shall be made or executed by any vestry, district board, or other body (c) having control over sewers within the metropolis without the previous approval of the said metropolitan board.

59. The provisions contained in the eightieth section of the firstlyrecited Act, empowering vestries and district boards to order, at their discretion, under the circumstances therein mentioned, such sums as they shall deem just to be paid and contributed by the owners of houses towards the expense of the construction of sewers built since into which drains from such houses shall be made or branched, shall 1st January, be extended, and the same are hereby extended and made applicable 1853, or hereto the metropolitan board of works with respect to houses draining into main sewers constructed at the expense of any person or body other than any commissioners of sewers, and which are vested in the metropolitan board; and the same provisions are hereby extended and made applicable to all sewers within the limits of the metropolis as defined by the firstly-recited Act, built since the 1st day of January, 1856, or which may hereafter be built at the expense of any person or body other than the metropolitan board of works, or any vestry, district board, or other body having control over sewers within the metropolis, into which house drains may be made or branched; and the said metropolitan board, vestry, district board, or other body, as the case may be, may at their discretion accept payment of contribution from the owners of houses draining into such sewers respectively, either in one sum or by instalments within any period not exceeding twenty years, with interest after a rate not exceeding £5 by the hundred by the year, as the said board, vestry, or other body shall in each case determine, and shall on receipt of any such contribution or instalment pay over the same to the person or body entitled thereto; and every sum payable to the said board, vestry, or other body by way of contribution to the construction of sewers shall be recoverable from the present or any future owner of the said premises either by action at law or before a justice of the peace in a summary manner, at the option of the board or vestry : Provided that nothing herein contained shall prejudice or affect the right of vestries and district boards to demand and recover from the owners of houses and land the sums charged upon them

60. In all cases in which time shall be given by the metropolitan board of works, or by any vestry, district board, or other body, for the payment of any contribution to the cost of a sewer as aforesaid, the metropolitan board of works shall keep a register of all such orders for contribution, which register shall contain the description of the premises, the amounts payable, the periods for payment, and other necessary particulars; and such register shall be open to inspection by parties interested during office hours without payment of fee or reward; and every vestry, district board, or other body giving time for payment of any such contribution as aforesaid shall forthwith transmit to the said metropolitan board a copy of their order or resolution in that behalf made, and such other particulars in relation thereto as the said board may deem necessary and require.

Regulations respecting openings into sewers (b).

61. The seventy-seventh section of the firstly recited Act is hereby repealed; and in lieu thereof be it enacted, that no person shall make or branch any sewer or drain, or make any opening into any sewer vested in the metropolitan board of works, or in any vestry or district board, without the previous consent in writing of such board or vestry: Provided that it shall be lawful for any person, with such consent, at his own expense, to make or branch any drain into any sewer vested in such board or vestry, or authorized to be made by them or either of them under the firstly-recited Act or this Act, such drain being of such size, materials, and other conditions, and branched into such sewer in such manner and form of communication in all respects, as the board or vestry shall direct or appoint (c): provided also, that where any contribution to the cost of a sewer is payable in respect of drainage into the same, it shall not be lawful for any person to make or branch any drain into such sewer, except in conformity with the directions of the board or vestry in whom the same shall be vested with respect to payment of contribution under the provisions, contained in the firstly-recited Act and this Act in that behalf (d);

(a) This refers to the cost of constructing sewers in new streets, &c... under sections 52 and 53.

(b) The section as now re-enacted, imposes the condition of a previous application to and written consent by the respective bodies in whom the sewers are vested, and in general gives more efficient control over the execution of the works. It also provides for payment of contribution, and, in addition to the penalties incurred by any infraction of its provisions, the wrongful drainage may be cut off.

Every district surveyor required to report by the one hundred and third section of the firstly-recited Act, shall, without fee or rereward, report to the metropolitan board, and to every vestry and district board in the district in which such surveyor may act, in the months of June and December in each year, and at all other times when he shall be required so to do by any such board or vestry, all underground rooms or cellars occupied as dwellings within the meaning of the first-recited Act that are not built or constructed in conformity with the rules contained in the said section, and shall in such report set forth the exact locality in which such underground rooms or cellars are situate; and in any procedings taken to recover the penalty under the said one, hundred and third section of the said Act, such evidence as may give rise to a probable presumption (e) that some person passes the night in such room or cellar shall be evidence, until the contrary be made to appear, that such has been the case.

In any case where it shall appear to any vestry or district board that the existing supply of water to any house within their respec-tive parishes or districts would be sufficient for such house if the same were inhabited by a lesser number of persons, but is insufficient by reason that the same is inhabited by numerous persons (being more than one single family), it shall be lawful for such vestry or district board to give notice in writing to the occupier of such house, requiring him, within a time specified therein, to obtain such further supply (not exceeding a supply at the rate of thirty gallons per day for each person) as to them shall appear necessary, and to do all such works as may be necessary for that purpose; and if such notice be not complied with within the time therein specified, it shall be lawful to take proceedings for overcrowding, in the manner provided by the "Nuisances Removal Act for England, 1855;" (e) and upon

(a) The Metropolis Local Management Act, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, has no clause similar to that contained in the Metropolitan Sewers Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112, s. 145, preserving, with certain exceptions, the provisions and powers of 23 Hen. 8, c. 5, and the subsequent general Acts relating to commissions of sewers. The 68th and 135th sections of that Act transfer to boards and vestries the rights vested in their predecessors concerning or incident to sewers; but the only remedies against wrongdoers are those contained in the substantive provisions of the Act, viz., the 77th, 83rd, 204th, 205th, and 206th sections, which are limited to the specific injuries described therein, and fail to reach many of those acts of wrongful interference with the subject-matters of jurisdiction by the boards and vestries which it is essential to repress or punish. As to the remedies under the general law of sewers in cases of annoyance and encroachment, see Callis on Sewers, 171, 178, Serj. 71. All property, rights, matters, and things whatsoever which before the passing of the firstly-recited Act were vested in any surveyor or surveyors of highways in connexion with their duties and powers as such surveyor or surveyors, transferred by that Act to any vestry or district board, shall be deemed to have become transferred to and to have vested in such vestry or district board by virtue of the said Act; and so much of the yearly and other incomes of all estates, property, and effects of whatsoever description so vested and transferred as aforesaid as is or may be subject to any use or trust for or in respect of and applicable to the repair of any highways within the metropolis shall be applicable to the repair, maintenance, and improvement of the highways within the metropolis under the provisions of the said Act, and shall from time to time be accounted for and paid over to the respective vestries and district boards, and be applied by them for the purposes of the highways within their parishes and districts, in the same manner as the same could lawfully have been applied before the passing of the said Act.

Vestries and district boards may, with consent of metropolitan board, effect improvements within their parish or district (b).

72. The vestry of every parish mentioned in schedule (A.) to the firstly-recited Act, and the district board of every district, shall, with the previous consent in writing of the metropolitan board of works, have power within their respective parish or district to make, extend, widen, alter, or improve any street, road, or way, or any bridge over a canal traversing any part of such parish or district, for the purpose of facilitating passage and traffic, or for any other public purpose; or to contribute and join with the metropolitan board, or with any other body or persons, in any such improvements; and to take by agreement or gift any land, right in land, or property for the purposes aforesaid, or any of them, on such terms and conditions as they may think fit; and for the purposes aforesaid it shall be lawful for any vestry or district board, should they see fit, to take down the present bridges over canals within their parish or district, and to erect others in their place and stead, or to erect new bridges over such canals in such situations as they may deem beneficial, and from time to time to repair and maintain such existing or new bridges, and to indemnify the canal company or other body or persons interested in such bridges against the future repairs and maintenance of any such bridges; and the expenses incurred by any vestry or district board in any such improvements shall be paid out of the general rate authorized to be paid in their parish or district under the firstlyrecited Act : Provided that no such extension, widening, alteration, improvement, taking down, or re-erection of any existing bridge over

(a) The language in the 96th section of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, transferring to vestries and district boards the powers, authorities, and duties of surveyors of highways, and certain property vested in those officers, is not large enough to include the income and proceeds of certain estates, which are, in some localities, subject to trusts for the repair of highways.

⁽b) The power of making, widening, or improving streets, roads, or ways, is, by the 144th section of the 18 & 19th Vict. c. 120, given to the metropolitan board of works only, who are authorized to contribute and join with any persons in such improvements. This provision enables vestries and district boards to effect improvements of the nature described, and to take land by agreement or gift, with a proviso that the enactment is not to limit the powers given by the General Metropolitan Paving Act, 57 Geo. 3, c. 29, or by any local Act. See the powers on this subject given in 57 Geo. 3, c. 29, s. 80, et seq., post, Appendix. 73. The powers of improving and regulating streets and for the suppression of nuisances contained in the Act of the fifty-seventh year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third, chapter twenty-nine, local and personal, intituled "An Act for better paving, improving, and regulating the Streets of the Metropolis, and removing and preventing Nuisances and Obstructions therein," shall, so far as the same is in force, and is not inconsistent with the provisions of the recited Acts and this Act, extend and apply to the metropolis as defined in the firstly-recited Act and in this Act, including any

Act as to paving and improving parts of metropolis to extend to metropolis as defined by his Act (c).

(c) This Act, 57 Geo. 3, c. 29, the General Metropolitan Paving Act (commonly known as Michael Angelo Taylor's Act), extended to all streets and public places which were at the time of its passing paved or might be thereafter paved within the cities of London and Westminster and borough of Southwark, and any other parts of the metropolis which were included within the weekly bills of mortality, and to all streets and public places which were then paved, or might be thereafter paved, within the parishes of St. Pancras and St. Marylebone, except only certain parts particularly excepted. The exceptions were contained in the 139th section, exempting from the provisions of the Act the estate of the Marquis Camden in St. Pancras, the 140th, exempting the estate of Lord Somers in the same parish, the 143rd, declaring that the Act should not extend to the parishes of St. Mary, Islington, and St. John, Hackney. The 144th section saved certain provisions of the Act 56 Geo. 3, c. 128, with respect to the powers of the commissioners for executing the Act for opening a communication from Marylebone Park to Charing Cross, &c.; and by the 146-7th section the Act was not to extend to the estates of the Collegiate Church of Westminster contiguous thereto. By the 147th section turnpike roads were exempted from its provisions. See the clauses incorporated by the present section, post, Appendix; see section 183 of Metropolis Management Act, 1855, authorizing vestries and district boards to borrow, and Act authorizing loans by metropolitan board to the same bodies referred to in note to that section. See jurisdiction of Court of Chancery as to payment into court of purchase money of houses taken by a vestry; re Saunders L. R. 8 Eq. 681. Section 68 of 57 Geo. 3, c. 29, prohibiting the keeping of swine within forty yards of any street, being a power of preventing and not of suppressing nuisances, was decided not to apply to the larger district of the metropolis as defined by the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, dub. Buildings projecting beyond general line when taken down to be set back (a).

74. In case any building, situated within any of the parishes, districts, or places comprised in the schedules of the firstly-recited Act, which shall in any part thereof project beyond the general line of the street in which the same may be situate, or beyond the front of the building, wall, or railing on either side thereof, shall at any time be taken down to an extent exceeding one-half of such building, such half to be measured in cubic feet, or shall be destroyed by fire or other casualty, or demolished, pulled down, or removed from any other cause to the extent aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the metropolitan board of works to require the same to be set back to such a line and in such a manner for the improvement of any street as the said board shall direct; provided that the said board shall make compensation to the owners of such building for any damage and expenses which he may sustain and incur thereby: Provided also, that this section shall not apply to any building in the places mentioned in schedule (C.) to the Metropolis Local Management Act which does not abut upon any public street or place.

75. The one hundred and forty-third section of the first recited Act, and the one hundred and fortieth section of the Act passed in the seventh year of His Majesty King George the Fourth, chapter one hundred and forty-two, intituled "An Act for consolidating the Trusts of the several Turnpike Roads in the Neighbourhood of the Metropolis north of the River Thames" (b) are hereby repealed; and in lieu thereof be it enacted, that no building (c), structure, or

(a) This section is in substance borrowed from a provision in the City Sewers Act, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 163, s. 153, by which a similar power is given to the commissioners of sewers for the city, which is not interfered with, as this enactment only applies to the places mentioned in the schedules to 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120. See Lord Auckland v. Westminster District Board, L. R., 7 Ch. 507, cited in note to next section.

(b) The 140th section of 7 Geo. 4, c. 142, provided that, with certain specified exceptions, no building shall be erected on any new foundation within fifty feet of the sides of the road leading from the Edgware Road, near Paddington, to the Great Northern Road in Islington, and from the north end of Great Portland Street to such road,—that no part of the said roads should be paved except under the provisions of that Act; and that if any building should be so erected or pavement laid down, &c., the same should be deemed common nuisances.

(c) Neither this Act nor 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, gives any interpretation to the word building. The 1st section of first schedule to the Metropolitan Building Act, post, appendix, regulating the structure of buildings, requires that every building shall be enclosed with walls. See as to the meaning of the word building in the Building Act; Stevens v. Gourley, 29 L. J. C. P. 1, where it was held that a shop of wood built on wooden joists laid upon the ground not let into the soil, was a building within the Metropolitan Building Act, 1855.

See Vestry of St. George's, Hanover Square v. Sparrow, supra; and see Simpson v. Smith, L. R. 6 C. P. 87. But a contrary rule was laid down by the Queen's Bench in Bauman v. Vestry of St. Pancras, supra; see observations of Cockburn, C. J., and Mellor, J., dissenting from the decision of the Common Pleas in the Vestry of St. George's Hanover Square v. Sparrow, supra, and the remarks of Shee, J., which seem to leave the magistrate a somewhat wider discretion.

The limitation of six months in section 107 for making a complaint, does not apply to the order of a magistrate directing a building beyond the general line to be pulled down, the clause in question only applying to pecuniary penalties or forfeitures; Vestry of Bermondsey v. Johnson, L. R. 8 C. P. 441, the court dissenting on that point from the judgment in Brutton v. St. George's, Hanover Square, L. R. 13 Eq. 339, where it was held that the limitation applied. It was also in that case decided that the summons could only issue against the builder whilst the building was in course of erection, and at the completion could only go against the owner or occupier; and that the limitation runs not from the completion, but from the time the full extent of the projecture becomes apparent, ibid.; but see Morat v. Suffering a party-wall to remain unaltered in contravention of a bye-law was held not to be a "continuing offence"; Marshall v. Smith, L. R. S. enactment, to appear at a time and place to be stated in the summons to answer such complaint; and if at the time and place appointed in such summons the said complaint shall be proved to the satisfaction of the justice before whom the same shall be heard, such justice shall make an order in writing on such owner or occupier, builder, or person, directing the demolition of any such building or erection, or so much thereof as may be beyond the said general line so fixed as aforesaid, within such time as such justice shall consider reasonable, and shall also make an order for the payment of the costs incurred up to the time of hearing; and in default of the building or erection complained of being demolished within the time limited by the said order, the said vestry or board shall forthwith enter the premises to which the order relates and demolish the building or erection complained of, and do whatever may be necessary to execute the said order, and may also remove the materials to a convenient place, and subsequently sell the same, as they think fit (a); and all expenses incurred by the said vestry or board in carrying out the said order and in disposal of the said materials may be recovered by the said vestry or board from the owner or occupier of the said premises, or the builder or person engaged in the work, either by action at law or in a summary manner before a justice of the peace, at the option of the said vestry or board, in manner provided by the two hundred and twenty-seventh section of the firstly-recited Act as to the recovery of penalties.

76. The metropolitan board may, in giving consent for any erec- Conditions as tion (b) beyond the regular line of the buildings in any street, annex to buildings any condition to the consent given by the board, and in case such beyond line of erection shall not be made in accordance with the consent of the board, or be in any manner altered or raised without their consent, the board may enter and demolish or alter the buildings or structure, or

A bye-law made by a local board of health imposing continuing penalties on any person who shall do or omit to do certain acts contrary to such byelaw, is invalid, as exceeding the authority given by the Local Government Act; Young v. Edwards, 33 L. J. M. C. 227.

The Metropolis Management and Building Acts Amendment Act, 1878, section 7, prohibits the erection of houses or buildings at less than the prescribed distance from the centre of roads or passages not being highways. Section 4 interprets the term prescribed as twenty feet from the centre of the roadway where such roadway is used for the purpose of carriage traffic, and ten feet from the centre where such roadway is used for the purposes of foot traffic only.

(a) This is a new power. In Tear v. Freebody, supra, the removal of the materials was held to be a conversion.

(b) This section is evidently hastily drawn, and contains some verbal inaccuracies. The word "erection" only is here used, omitting the word "building" and "structure" occurring in the preceding section, and in the subsequent part of this section the words "buildings or structures" are used, and the word "erection is dropped. If the preceding section proceeds upon the supposition that there may be structures or erections which are not buildings, the present section seems to lose sight of the distinction. and it treats all three expressions as synonymous. Where a building was erected not in accordance with the conditional permission granted by the metropolitan board, an order for demolition was sustained; Bauman v. any part thereof, and recover all expenses, or may impose any penalty not exceeding 40s., to be summarily recovered for every day during which any building or structure being a contravention of such condition shall exist after notice from the said board or any officer of the board to remedy the complaint.

Expenses of paving new streets.

77. Where any vestry or district board shall, under the powers given by the one hundred and fifth section of the firstly-recited Act, have paved or be about to pave (a) any new street (b), the owners of the land (c) bounding or abutting on such street shall be liable to contribute to the expenses or estimated expenses of paving the same, as well as the owners of houses therein, provided that it shall be lawful for the vestry or district board to charge the owners of land in a less proportion than the owners of house property, should they deem it just and expedient so to do; and any such costs or expenses, including the costs of paving at the points of intersection of streets, and all other incidental costs and charges, shall be apportioned by the vestry or board, and shall be recoverable either before the work shall be commenced, or during its progress, or after its completion; and it shall be lawful for the vestry or district board at their discretion to accept payment of the amount apportioned or charged in respect of each house or premises by instalments spread over a period not exceeding twenty years, and any such amount shall be recoverable from the present or any future owner of the premises either by action at law (d) or in a summary manner before a justice of the peace, at the option of the vestry or board.

Vestry may flag footways and levy the costs.

78. In case any footway laid out at the passing of the firstlyrecited Act shall have been repaired by the vestry or any other body, but shall not have been flagged, and the vestry or district board shall have deemed it necessary or expedient, or shall deem it necessary or expedient that the same should be flagged, and such vestry or board shall have flagged or shall flag the same, either throughout the whole breadth thereof or any part of such breadth, it shall be lawful for such vestry or board to levy the cost and expenses by a rate or rates (e) upon the occupiers (f) of the houses (g)

(a) See interpretation of word "pave," section 112. post.
(b) See R. v. Dayman, 26 L. J. M. C. 128, cited in note to section 105 of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, ante, wherein it was decided to be a question for the magistrate to determine whether or not a street was a "new street," and refer to Bowles v. St. Mary, Islington, 39 J. P. 757. See now the definition of the expression "new street," section 112, post.

(c) The provision referred to imposed the cost of this work on the owners of houses exclusively, and the section as now framed contains additional provisions for the recovery of incidental expenses. It also gives a wider discretion to the vestry as to the time and mode of payment. See the decision on this and the provision in the earlier Act cited in note to section 105 of Metropolis Management Act, 1855, ante.

(d) These expenses could before not be recovered by action; Vestry of St. Pancras v. Batterbury, 26 L. J. C. P. 243.

(e) What is here called a rate would be a rateable proportion of the expenses of flagging distributed among the occupiers according to some criterion to be fixed by the vestry, probably the frontage of the premises abutting on the footpath. The word apparently has no reference to the rateable value of the property, as in the case of other rates under 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120.

(f) The cost is here thrown upon the "occupiers," and not upon the "owners," like the expenses falling under the preceding section. There in the road, street, or part abutting on or next to the footway which shall have been so flagged, either in one sum or by equal instalments spread over a period not exceeding twenty years, as the said vestry or board may see fit; and the said vestry or board shall thenceforth keep the said flagging in good and sufficient repair.

Section 78.

79. And whereas at the time of the coming into operation of the firstly-recited Act (h) certain houses were in course of erection or about to be erected by private parties on certain lands, parts of the estate belonging to his Grace the Duke of Bedford, in the parish of Saint Pancras, and the roads and footways in front of the said houses and land were partly paved by and at the expense of the said parties before the coming into operation of the firstly-recited Act : And whereas the commissioners acting under the local and personal Act of the session holden in the thirty-ninth and fortieth years of King George the Third, chapter forty-nine, relating to the paving of the said estate, and whose powers were determined by the firstly-recited Act, ought, under the power vested in them by the said Act of the thirty-ninth and fortieth years of King George the Third, to have executed the said works of paving, or to have defrayed the cost thereof, and payment for the same would, if the powers of the said commissioners had not been determined, have been made out of the money arising from rates or assessments to be made under the said Act of King George the Third, or money borrowed on the security thereof; but the arrangements respecting the said works were not such as to be binding on the vestry of the said parish under the transfer made to such vestry by the said firstly-recited Act (i) of the debts and liabilities legally charged upon or payable out of rates or assessments authorized to be made under the said Act of King George the Third: And whereas certain of the said parties are willing to complete the said roads and footways in consideration of the payment to them of certain sums of money, such sum to be received in satisfaction as well of past as of future expenses incurred by them in the making or paving of the said roads or footways: And whereas his Grace the Duke of Bedford is willing to advance such sums of money, and it is expedient to authorize the addition of such sums to the said debt on the completion as aforesaid of the said roads and footways and payment of the said sums to the said parties respectively : Be it therefore enacted, that upon the completion of the said roads and footways to the satisfaction of the said vestry, and the production to them of the receipts in writing of the said parties respectively for the said sums from his Grace the Duke of Bedford or his agent, such sums shall respectively become debts to the said duke, and be added to and form part of the debt which at the time of the coming into operation of the firstly-recited Act was legally charged upon the said rates or assessments, and shall carry interest at the rate of £4 per seems no reason for the distinction, as both classes of works are of a permanent character, and more especially benefit the owner. This provision would operate with great hardship on a tenant from year to year, or for a short term.

centum per annum, payable half-yearly on the 1st day of January and the 1st day of July in every year from the time of the receipt of such sums by the said parties or the completion of the said roads and footways as aforesaid, which shall last happen; and section one hundred and eighty of the firstly-recited Act shall be applicable accordingly in respect of such sums and the interest thereof in like manner as in respect of such debt as last aforesaid.

Proviso to section 106 of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, repealed. Notice of intention to repair street not being a highway.

80. The proviso of the one hundred and sixth section of the firstly-recited Act is hereby repealed; and in lieu thereof be it enacted, that no street not being a highway (a) shall be repaired as in the said section mentioned, unless notice be given to the owners (b) and rated occupiers of the houses in such street respectively; and service of any such notice may be effected by leaving the same at the several houses in such street, or where any of the said houses shall be unoccupied, by affixing the same upon the outer door or some conspicuous part of such houses; and provided further, that no such street shall be repaired as in the said section mentioned if within one month after notice has been given as aforesaid written notice of objection to such repair, signed by at least two-thirds of the owners or rated occupiers of houses in the said street, shall be given to the vestry or district board.

Where owners of courts, &c, omit to drain and pave, vestry or district board may perform the works, charging expenses to owner.

81. In any case of default by the owner or any court, passage, or public place, not being a thoroughfare, to comply with the requisition of any vestry or district board to perform works of paving or draining of the nature described in the one hundredth section of the firstly-recited Act, it shall be lawful for the vestry or board, should they see fit, in lieu of enforcing the penalty therein mentioned, to execute and perform such works, and recover the expenses thereof from the owner either by action at law or in a summary manner before a justice, at the option of the vestry or board.

Reinstatement of pavement broken up by works of companies, &c. (c) 82. In every case in which any company or person shall be liable under the firstly-recited Act to reinstate the pavement, surface, or soil of any street under the control of any vestry or district board which may have been broken up or opened, or to repay to such vestry or board the expenses of reinstating the pavement, surface, or soil of any street, every such company or person shall be liable to reinstate the pavement, surface, or soil, or to pay the expenses of reinstating the pavement, surface, or soil of such parts of the street as shall have

(a) The term highway may include streets other than those repairable by the parish. See R. v. Dayman, 26 L. J. M. C. 128.

(b) Instead of the provision in the repealed section requiring notice to all "persons interested," notice is to be given to owners and rated occupiers, and a special mode of service is prescribed. The objection must now proceed from two-thirds of the owners or rated occupiers instead of from a single person interested, as under the repealed section. The word "owner" is for this purpose by section 250 of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, defined to mean the person receiving the rackrent of the premises.

(c) The provisions in 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, as to the breaking up and reinstatement of pavements disturbed by companies, are the 109th and following to the 115th inclusive. The direction in the 110th section is, "to make good the pavement, or surface, or soil, broken up or injured." The obligation of companies is now extended so as to comprise not only the parts actually broken up or opened, but such parts contiguous thereto as may be affected by the works of the company. This provision is founded upon the

been so broken up or opened, as well as of the part or parts contiguous thereto which may be affected by the works of such company or person, to the reasonable satisfaction of the surveyor for the time being of the vestry or district having control over the pavements in such parish or district.

Section 82.

83. The metropolitan board of works may, in order to secure the efficient maintenance of the main and general sewerage of the metropolis, from time to time make, alter, and repeal bye-laws for the guidance, direction, and control of the vestries of parishes in schedule (A.) to the firstly-recited Act, district boards, and all other persons, in relation to the levels, dimensions, construction, maintenance, ventilation, and cleansing of sewers in their respective parishes, districts, or parts, and for the other objects enumerated in the one hundred and thirty-eighth section of the firstly-recited Act, subject in all respects (e) to the several provisions relating to bye-laws contained in the two hundred and second section of the said Act; but this provision shall only extend to the city of London and the liberties thereof, so far as regards the main drainage of the metropolis.

Metropolitan board may make byelaws for guidance of vestries, &c., in construction of sewers (d).

84. It shall be lawful for any vestry or district board, with the Vestries, &c., previous sanction of the metropolitan board of works, to close or stop may stop up any street (g) within their parish or district, during the execution of any paving, sewerage, or other works by such vestry or board in such street, and to keep the same closed and stopped up for such time as shall be necessary in that behalf, and allowed by the metropolitan board.

No building, except a church or chapel, shall be erected on the side of any new street of a less width than fifty feet, which shall exceed in height the distance from the external wall or front of such building to the opposite side of such street, without the consent in writing of the metropolitan board of works; nor shall the height of any building so erected be at any time subsequently increased so as to exceed such distance without such consent; and in determining

(d) The power of making bye-laws given by the 202nd section of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, does not extend to regulations respecting sewers, but is limited to those relating to pipes, drains, and other means of communication with sewers.

there specified.

Metropolitan board inay place roadway, footpaths, &c., in different parishes or districts under management of one vestry or district board (a).

86. Where in any street the roadway and footpaths or either of them are or is situate in more than one parish or district, or where the whole of the roadway and footpaths of any street are situate in one parish or district, and the whole or any part of the houses and buildings abutting on such roadway or footpaths are situate in another parish or district, in either of the said cases it shall be lawful for the metropolitan board of works, should they deem it convenient and proper so to do, to order that any such roadway and footpaths shall, for the purposes of sewerage, drainage, paving, and lighting, or any of them, be under the exclusive management of the vestry or district board of one of the said parishes or districts, and to order and direct in what proportions the costs of constructing and maintaining any new sewer or drain in such street, or of the reconstruction, reparation, or maintenance of any existing sewer or drain therein, or of the paving or making up or lighting of the roadway or footpaths thereof, and the repair and maintenance of such roadway or footpaths, shall be borne and defrayed by the vestry or board of each parish or district, and the decision of the said metropolitan board thereon shall be final and conclusive; and in case of default by any vestry or board liable under any such order to any such payment, the vestry or district board entitled thereto may sue for and recover the amount thereof from the vestry or board so making default by action at law.

Affixing names of streets by vestries and district boards (b).

87. The one hundred and forty-first section of the firstly-recited Act is hereby repealed; and in lieu thereof be it enacted, that vestries and district boards shall and may, within the limits of their respective jurisdictions, from time to time cause to be painted or affixed on a conspicuous part of some house or building at or near each end, corner, entrance, or other convenient part of any street in their

(a) By the 140th section of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, the metropolitan board is authorized to place any street in different parishes under one management, and the 160th section directs that the sums required for defraying the expenses incurred in the part so placed under their management, shall be paid by the vestry or district board having control over that part. This enactment empowers the board, in the cases comprised within the enactment, to determine the proportions in which the cost of the works and operations specified shall be borne by such parish.

(b) See case of Daw v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 31 L. J. C. P. 223, referred to in note to section 141 of Metropolis Management Act, 1855. By this provision, as re-enacted, the several vestries and district boards as to parts out of the city limits, and the commissioners of sewers within those limits, are to affix the names of streets instead of the metropolitan board as directed by the repealed section. Further, the power of the metropolitan board to alter the names of streets is not limited to cases in which more than one street is called by the same name, and the exercise of that power is no longer subject to the approval of the commissioners of Her Majesty's works. And with respect to the numbering of houses, the duty of the metropolitan board is henceforward limited to the making parish or district, the name of such street, and renew such name whenever it may be obliterated or defaced; and the metropolitan board of works may alter the name of any street to any other name which to such board may seem fit; and before any name is given to any street, notice of the intended name shall be given to the said metropolitan board, and the said board may, by notice in writing given to the person by whom notice of such intended name has been given to them, at any time within one calendar month after receipt of such notice, object to such intended name; and it shall not be lawful to set up any name to any new street in the metropolis until the expiration of one calendar month after notice thereof has been boards. given as aforesaid to the said metropolitan board, or to set up any name objected to as aforesaid; and whenever the said metropolitan board shall, under the power hereinbefore given, have ordered or directed an alteration in the name or names of any street, or of any place or row of houses, or in any line of road (c), they shall transmit a copy of their order directing such alteration to the vestry or district board in whose parish or district such street, place, row of houses, or line of road shall be situate; and such vestry or district board shall thereupon cause to be painted or affixed on a conspicuous part of some house or building, to the satisfaction of the said metropolitan board, at or near each end, corner, entrance, or other convenient part (d) of the said street, place, row of houses, or line of road, the altered name or names specified in the order of the metropolitan board, and shall perform all other necessary acts for giving effect to such order; and it shall be lawful for the said metropolitan board from time to time to order and direct that any row of houses or buildings in any street or in any line of road in the metropolis shall, for the purpose of distinguishing the same, be marked with such numbers or names as they shall deem convenient and proper for that purpose, and which they shall specify in their order in that behalf; and whenever the said metropolitan board have passed any such order as last aforesaid, they shall transmit a copy thereof to the vestry or district board in whose parish or district the said street, place, row of houses, or line of road shall be situate, and it shall thereupon become the duty of such vestry or district board to perform all necessary acts and to take all requisite proceedings for carrying the order of the said metropolitan board into execution, and for that purpose they shall give notice to the owners or occupiers of the houses and buildings in such street, place, row of houses, or line of road to mark their several houses and buildings with such numbers or names as the said metropolitan board shall by their said order have ordered or directed, and to renew the numbers or names of such houses or buildings as often as they are obliterated or defaced; and if any occupier of any such house or building neglect for one week after notice from the said vestry or district board to mark such house or building with such number or name as shall be mentioned and required in the said notice, or to renew the number or name as aforesaid, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding

Persons omitting to give notice required by section 76 of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, liable to peralty (b).

88. If any person shall, without having given the notice directed by the seventy-sixth section of the firstly-recited Act, begin to lay the foundation of any new house or building within any parish mentioned in schedule (A.) of the said Act, or any district in schedule B. of the said Act, or to make any drain for the purpose of draining either directly or indirectly into any sewer under the jurisdiction of the vestry or board of such parish or district, he shall become liable to a penalty for every such offence not exceeding £5, and to a continuing penalty of 40s for each and every day during which he shall omit to give the notice directed by the said Act.

89. If any person or persons other than the person or persons employed by or contracting with the vestry or district board of any parish or district, or those employed by or under such person or persons, shall receive, carry away, or collect any dirt, dust, cinders rubbish, ashes, or breeze from any house or premises, or from any street or highway in any parish or district, or any road scrapings refuse, or mud, from any street or highway within any parish or district, it shall and may be lawful for any justice of the peace, upon complaint to him made, to grant a summons, or, if such justice shall think fit, a warrant to bring before him such offender or offenders and such justice shall examine on oath any witness or witnessess who shall appear to give information or evidence touching such offence and any person convicted of any such offence shall forfeit to the said vestry or district board a sum not exceeding £5, to be recovered by a summary proceeding; provided that nothing hereinbefore contained shall be deemed to apply to the removal of the refuse of any trade manufacture, or business, or of any building materials from any house or land by the direction of the owner or occupier of such house or land (d).

King, 34 L. J. M. C. 9.

In Fowler v. Vestry of Kensington, 36 J. P. 69, the magistrate was held under the circumstances of the case to have acted properly on an information for keeping swine contrary to this enactment, in disallowing an objection that the premises were incorrectly described.

A bye-law by a town council, forbidding the keeping of pigs generally, was held bad; Everett v. Grapes, 3 L. T. (N.S.) 669; but a bye-law prohibiting the keeping of pigs within 100 feet of a dwelling-house, and a byelaw requiring certain drainage for the premises where pigs were kept, was held not unreasonable, Wanstead Local Board v. Wooster, 37 J. P. 403; neither was it necessary to prove that the infraction of the bye-law created a nuisance, Ibid. Compare section 8 of Nuisances Removal Act, 1855, and 2 & 3 Vict. c. 47, s. 6, sub-section 5, as to keeping swine to the front of streets, &c., so as to be a nuisance.

The 41 & 42 Vict. c. 74, Contagious Diseases (Animals) 'Act, 1878, by section 34 empowers the Privy Council to make general or special orders for (1) registration with the local authority of all persons carrying on the trade of cowkeepers, dairymen, or purveyors of milk, (2) for the inspection of cattle in dairies, and for prescribing and regulating the lighting, ventilation, cleansing, drainage, and water supply of dairies and cow-sheds in the occupation of persons following the trade of cowkeepers or dairymen, (3) for securing the cleanliness of milk stores, milk shops, and of milk vessels used for containing milk for sale by such persons, (4) for prescribing precautions to be taken for protecting milk against infection or contamination, (5) for authorizing a local authority to make regulations for the purposes aforesaid, or any of them, subject to such conditions, if any, as the Privy Council The Metropolitan Board of Works are the local authority for the metropolis, exclusive of the city of London and the liberties thereof, where the Corporation of London are the authority, but subject to the provisions in section 9 of the Act, viz., that the Corporation of London shall alone be the local authority in and for the metropolis for purposes of the provisions of the Act relating to foreign animals; that the city of London and the liberties thereof shall contribute for the purposes of the Act to the metropolitan consolidated rate; and that no part of the expenses of the local authority for a county shall be included in any precept or warrant for the levy or collection of a county rate within the metropolis. This Act, with certain exceptions, repeals the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1869, and the Acts enumerated in the schedule. Act shall be used by any person carrying on the business of a slaughterer of cattle (b) or cowkeeper or dairyman as a slaughterhouse for the purpose of slaughtering cattle or a cow-house or place for the keeping of cows, without a license had for such purpose respectively from the justices of the peace assembled at a special sessions held in the division or district where such slaughter-house, cow-house, or place is situate, and such license shall continue in force for the period of one year from the granting thereof, and thenceforth until the special sessions to be held next after the expiration of such period, and no fee or reward exceeding 5s. shall be taken for any such license; and if any person carrying on such business of a slaughterer of cattle, cowkeeper, or dairyman, use as a slaughter-house or cow-house any place within any parish or place mentioned in the schedules of the firstly-recited Act which is not so licensed, every person so offending shall for each offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding £5, of which offence the fact that cattle have been taken into such place shall be deemed sufficient prima facie evidence : Provided always, that before any licence for the use of any place as a slaughter-house (c) or cow-house is granted as aforesaid, fourteen

The provisions in relation to slaughter in case of cattle plague and compensation under the Act of 1869, were contained in part V. of that Act, sections 65 to 74 inclusive. The annual report of the metropolitan board for the year 1877, contains a circumstantial narrative of the operations of the board under that Act for that year, with tabular statements showing the outbreaks of cattle plague in the metropolis in the same year, the number of animals slaughtered, the amount of compensation paid to the owners, and other particulars.

(a) Cow-houses are hereby subjected to similar rules with respect to licensing, as slaughter-houses. See previous note.

(b) The repealed provision referred to places used as "slaughter-houses." The present section alters that expression, and substitutes "any place be used by any person carrying on the business of a slaughterer of cattle, as a slaughter-house, &c."

(c) This incorporates the words "by any person carrying on the business of a slaughterer of cattle," occurring in the earlier part of the section.

Section 93.

It shall be lawful for every vestry and district board, if they i their discretion think fit, to appoint and employ a sufficient number of persons, or to contract with any company or persons, for collecting and removing the manure and refuse straw from such stables and cowhouses within their parish or district, the occupiers of which may signify their consent in writing to such removal; provided that such consent shall not be withdrawn or revoked without one month's previous notice to the vestry or district board, and that no person shall be hereby relieved from any penalty or penalties to which they may be subject for placing dung or manure upon the footways or carriageways of any parish or district, or for having any accumulation or deposit of manure so as to be a nuisance or injurious to health (e).

Vestry or district board may require payment of costs or expenses from owner 96. The two hundred and seventeenth, two hundred and eighteenth, and two hundred and nineteenth sections of the firstly-recited Act are hereby repealed; and in lieu thereof be it enacted, that it shall be lawful for any vestry or district board, at their discretion, to require the payment of any costs or expenses which the owner of any premises may be liable to pay under the said recited Act or this Act

These sections are in substance here re-enacted in this and the following section, with the additional provision that the vestries and district boards may, at their option, proceed against the owner in the first instance. Roads, &c., laid out as streets to be of full width of forty feet for carriage traffic, and twenty feet for foot traffic (c).

98. No existing (b) road, passage or way being of a less width than forty feet shall be hereafter formed or laid out for building as a street for the purposes of carriage traffic, unless such road, passage, or way be widened to the full width of forty feet, the measurement of the width of such street to be taken half on either side from the centre or crown of the roadway to the external wall or front of the houses or

(e) The power of making bye-laws conferred upon the metropolitan board by the 202nd section of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, is for regulating the plans, level, &c., of new streets and roads, and the bye-laws promulgated by the board in pursuance of this authority applies to new streets only. This provision subjects to the same incidents as attach to new streets, old roads, and lanes newly laid out for building, and represses the mischief arising from building in narrow and ill-ventilated situations. By the Metropolis Management and Building Acts Amendment Act, 1878, post, Appendix (by section 5 to be construed as one Act with Metropolis Local Management Act, 1855, and the amending Acts), it is enacted by section 6 that no house or building shall be extended or begun to be extended, in such manner that the external wall or front shall be at less than the prescribed distance from the centre of the roadway, without the consent in writing of the board. See section 4 for the interpretation of term "pre-

(d) Where a magistrate found that the defendant, by erecting a permanent fence in a lane 28 feet wide, near his plot, did begin to lay out and form the road as a street for carriage traffic and that this 98th section only required a widening of the road to 20 feet from its centre to the defendant's boundary fence, and convicted him, the conviction was sustained; Taylor v. Metropolitan Board of Works, L. R. 2Q. B. 13; but where the respondent had done no act towards laying out a lane as a street for carriage traffic otherwise than by the removal of an old bank and fence, and substituted a new fence within his own land, it was held he was not bound to set back his fence so as to leave a space between it and the centre of the lane, and had committed no offence; Metropolitan Board of Works v. Clewer, L. R. 3 C. P. 531. Under a bye-law of the Birkenhead Improvement Commissioners requiring an open space of a certain extent between a building and the opposite property, the distance is to be measured from any and every part of the building, and it is not sufficient that some part of the building is at the specified distance; Anderton v. Birkenhead Improvement Commissioners, 32 L. J. M. C. 137.

Penalties may be recovered in manner provided by 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43 (c).

The Small Penalties Act, 1865, 28 & 29 Vict. c. 32, enacts

103. The expenses incurred by the metropolitan board of works in applying for and passing this Act, and preparatory or incident thereto, shall be and are hereby included among the general expenses of the said board in the execution of the firstly-recited Act, and may be defrayed accordingly; and the expenses incurred by any vestry or district board in relation to this Act shall be and are hereby included among the other expenses incurred by that vestry or district board in the execution of the firstly-recited Act, and may be defrayed accordingly.

104. The provisions in the two hundred and twenty-seventh section of the firstly-recited Act for the recovery of penalties and forfeitures imposed by the said Act is hereby extended to any damages, costs, or expenses payable or recoverable under the said recited Acts or this Act; and any such damages, costs, or expenses, the recovery whereof is not otherwise provided for, may be recovered by summary proceedings in manner directed by the said section (d).

105. The two hundred and thirty-fourth section of the firstly- Application recited Act is hereby repealed; and in lieu thereof be it enacted, that all penalties or forfeitures payable or recoverable under the (e). firstly-recited Act or this Act, and all penalties or forfeitures recovered by any vestry or district board acting as the local authority for the execution within their respective parish or district of "The Nuis-that where upon summary conviction any offender may be adjudged to pay a penalty not exceeding £5, such offender may, without any warrant of distress, be committed to prison for any term not exceeding the period specified in the scale given in the Act, unless the penalty shall be sooner paid; and the Act applies to penalties, including costs recoverable in a summary manner, in pursuance of any Act of parliament, whether passed before or after its commencement.

(d) Where a local board had the option of recovering the expenses of sewering and paving a private street, either in the county court or by a summary proceeding before justices, it was held that the six months' limitation in Jervis' Act applied to both proceedings; Tottenham Local Board of Health v. Rowell, L. R. 1 Ex. D. C. A. 514.

(e) The 234th section of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120 (hereby repealed), provided that all sums which might be recovered by any vestry on account of any penalty, should be applicable to their general expenses; but by section 47 of 2 & 3 Vict. c. 71 (Metropolitan Police), it was enacted that where by any Act or Acts any penalties, &c., were or should thereafter be made recoverable in a summary manner before any justice, &c., and by such Act or Acts the same should be made payable to Her Majesty, or to any body corporate, or to any person or persons whomsoever, save the informer, &c., or any party aggrieved, the same, if recovered before any of the metropolitan police magistrates, should be adjudged to be paid to the receiver of the metropolitan police district. It was held under the 17 & 18 Vict. c. 38 (Suppression of Gaming Houses), that where a conviction took place under that Act at a metropolitan police court, the receiver of the metropolitan police district was entitled to one half of the penalty directed by the Act to be applied in aid of the poor rates; Wray v. Ellis, 28 L. J. M. C. 45. The section as now framed is intended to secure the penalty to those bodies whose property has been injured by the offence, including the metropolitan board, who were not within the repealed enactment. See Receiver of Metropolitan Police v. Bell, L. R. 7 Q. B. 433, as to what penalties recovered before two justices were held not payable to the receiver, and as to disability of a corporation to sue for penalties as a common informer unless expressly empowered by statute; Guardians of St. Leonard's Shoreditch v. Franklin, L. R. 3 C. P. D. 377.

Notice of action, &c. (b).

106. No writ or process shall be sued out against or served upon, and no proceeding shall be instituted against the metropolitan board of works, or any vestry or district board, or their clerk, or any clerks, surveyor, contractor, officer, or person whomsoever, acting under their or any of their directions, for anything done or intended to be done under the powers of such board or vestry under the said Acts or this Act (c), until the expiration of one calendar

(b) This section is founded on the 127th section of the Metropolitan Sewers Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 112, but in addition to the words "writ or process shall be sued out," it uses the words "no proceeding shall be nstituted."

(c) An omission to do something to be done for the complete performance of a duty imposed on a public body by statute, or continuing to leave such duty unperformed, amounts to an Act done or intended to be done within the meaning of section 139 of the Public Health Act, 1848; Jolliffe v. In order to entitle a party to notice of action for a thing done, "in pursuance of" or "in the execution of" an Act of parliament, it is not necessary that he should at the time of doing the act be cognisant of the existence of the statute giving him such protection, or that he should be acting strictly in the execution of it; Read v. accrual of the cause of action or ground of claim or demand, and not afterwards, and every such action shall be laid and tried in the county or place where the cause of action accrued (a), and not elsewhere; and the defendant shall in any such action be at liberty to plead the general issue, and give the said recited Acts and this Act and all special matter in evidence thereunder; and it shall be lawful for the board or vestry, or any person to whom such notice is given as aforesaid, to tender amends to the plaintiff, his attorney or agent, at any time within one calendar month after service of such notice, and in case the same be not accepted to plead such tender in bar, and (by leave of the court) with the general issue or other plea or pleas ; and if upon issue joined upon any plea pleaded to the whole action the jury find generally for the defendant, or if the plaintiff be nonsuited or discontinue, or if judgment be given for the defendant, then the defendant shall be entitled to full costs of suit, and have judgment accordingly; and in case the amends tendered be insufficient, it shall be lawful for the defendant, by leave of the court, at any time before trial, to pay into court under plea such sum of money as he may think proper, and (by the like leave) to plead the general issue or other plea or pleas, any rule of court or practice to the contrary notwithstanding.

Penalties to be proceeded for within six months (b).

107. The two hundred and thirty-third section of the firstly-recited Act is hereby repealed; and in lieu thereof be it enacted, that no person shall be liable for the payment of any penalty or forfeiture under the recited Acts or this Act, or any bye-law made by virtue thereof, for any offence made cognizable before a justice, unless the complaint respecting such offence have been made before such justice within six months next after the commission or discovery of such offence.

(a) An enactment in similar terms in the 11 & 12 Vic. c. 63, was decided not to deprive a court or judge of their common law power to change the venue if the ends of justice required it; Itchin Bridge Company v. Southampton Local Board, 8 E. & B. 803.

See now Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1875, order 36, rule 1, enacting that there shall be no local venue for the trial of any action, but when the plaintiff proposes to have the action tried elsewhere than in Middlesex, he shall in his statement of claim name the county or place in which he proposes that the action shall be tried, and the action shall, unless a judge otherwise orders, be tried in the county or place so named.

(b) There was a contradiction between the text of the repealed section and the marginal note, the former mentioning three, and the latter six months, as the period within which the complaint must have been made.

Where a local Act empowered justices to make an order for the demolition of a building erected contrary to the directions of a corporation, it was decided that the complaint must have been made within six months from the completion of the building, as required by the 11th section of 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43; Morant v. Taylor, 45 L. J. M. C. 78; L. R. 1 Ex. Div. (c.A.) But in Vestry of Bermondsey v. Johnson, L. R. 8 C. P. 441, it was held that this limitation did not apply to an offence under section 76 of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, which only relates to pecuniary penalties or forfeitures; and for encroaching on a highway by a building or fence, under 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 51, within six months from the completion of the building or fence; Coggin v. Interpretation of terms.

112. In the construction of the recited Acts and this Act the term "metropolis" shall be deemed to include the city of London and the parishes and places mentioned in the schedules (A.), (B.), and (C.) to the firstly-recited Act; the word "drain" shall be deemed to apply to and include the subject matters specified in the two hundred and fiftieth section of the firstly-recited Act, and also any drain for draining a group or block of houses by a combined operation, laid or constructed before the 1st day of January, 1856, pursuant to the order or direction or with the sanction or approval of the metropolitan commissioners of sewers (d); the expression "water company" shall mean and include any of the companies enumerated in the twentyninth section of the Act of the session of the fifteenth and sixteenth years of the reign of Queen Victoria, chapter eighty-four, for the making better provision respecting the supply of water to the metropolis, and also any other company, board, or commission, association, person, or partnership, corporate or unincorporate, for the time being supplying the metropolis or any part thereof with water for domestic use; the word "cattle" shall include sheep, lambs, and swine; the word "street" shall be deemed to apply to and include the subject matters specified in the two hundred and fiftieth section of the firstly-payment of money within 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, s. 11; and the six months' limitation does not apply; R. v. Hannay, 44 L. J. M. C. 27.

As to what is a continuing offence making the limitation inapplicable, see

Higgins v. Northwich Union, 22 L. T. (N.S.) 752. (c) A notice of rate was held to be "a thing done," within Public Health Act, 1875, section 343; R. v. Justices of West Riding of Yorkshire, 4 L. R.

(d) The definition of the word "drain," section 250 of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, ante, included the drainage of a block of houses by a combined operation under the order of any vestry or district board, but did not extend to combined drainage laid down before the passing of that Act. That species of drainage, therefore, came within the definition of the word "sewer" in the section referred to, and as such would probably have been maintainable by vestries and district boards out of the public rates. The new definition declares them to be drains, and, as a consequence, subjects them to the incidents applicable to private works.

recited Act, and also any mews and a part thereof; the expression "new street" shall apply to and include all streets hereafter to be formed or laid out, and a part of any such street, and also all streets, the maintenance of the paving and roadway whereof, had not, previously to the passing of this Act, been taken into charge and assumed by the commissioners, trustees, surveyors, or other authorities having control of the pavements or highways in the parish or place in which such streets are situate, and a part of any such street, and also all streets partly formed or laid out; the word "pave" shall apply to and include the formation of the roadway or footway of any street; the word "clerk" shall include any officer called or to be called "secretary;" the word "surveyor" shall include any officer called or to be called "engineer;" the word "print" shall apply to and include every mode of taking impressions, whether by letter press, stereotype, lithography, or otherwise.

Finsbury Park Act, continued till 1863 (a). 113. Whereas an Act was passed in the session of parliament holden in the twentieth and twenty-first years of Her Majesty, "to enable the Metropolitan Board of Works to form a Park for the Northern Suburbs of the Metropolis, to be called Finsbury Park:" and whereas it is expedient to continue the said Act ifor such period as herein mentioned: Be it therefore enacted, that the said Act shall be continued in force until the 17th day of August, 1863, in like manner as if the time so limited had been the time limited by the said Act of the twentieth and twenty-first years of Victoria, chapter one hundred and twenty.

Amendment of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, s. 193. 114. There shall be repealed so much of the one hundred and ninety-third section of an Act passed in the session holden in the eighteenth and nineteenth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter one hundred and twenty, intituled "An Act for the better Local Management of the Metropolis," as provides that the auditor of the accounts of the metropolian board shall be paid by such board not exceeding five guineas for every day he is fully employed on such audit, and all expenses he is put to in the auditing of such accounts; provided always, that such payment shall not exceed fifty guineas: and in lieu thereof, be it enacted, that the auditor of the accounts of the metropolitan board shall be paid by such board a sum not exceeding two guineas for every day that he is fully employed on such audit, and all expenses that he is put to in the auditing of such accounts, provided that such payments do not in the whole exceed one hundred guineas (b).

22ND JULY, 1861.

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the session holden in the fifth and sixth years of the reign of King William and Queen Mary, chapter ten, intituled "An Act for the relief of the Orphans (a) and other Creditors of the City of London," it was enacted, amongst other things, that towards raising a fund as therein mentioned a duty of 4s. per tun should be imposed upon all sorts of wines (b) whatsoever which, from and after the 4th day of June, 1694, should be imported into the port of the city of London, or the members thereof, by way

(b) See origin and history of the duties on wines in the port of London Pulling's Laws of the City and Port of London, p. 395, Notes.

By the shutting of the Exchaquer in the close of Charles the Second's reign, funds to the amount of £75,000, consisting of orphans' moneys which had been invested by the court, were wholly lost to the corporation, and the mode of paying off the orphan's claims was settled by Act of parliament 5 & 6 Will. & M. c. 10, by which, besides various other charges upon the city estates, an annual sum of £2,000 was directed to be raised from the present property of the inhabitants, and collected in each ward, but the orphan's claims having since been satisfied, the charges upon the corporate estates have been applied in various public improvements; Pulling's Laws of the City and Port of London, 114. A portion of the duties which had formerly been a part of the Orphan Fund, were continued by Act of parliament, and the fund was from time to time charged with various amounts for the purpose of making the approaches to London Bridge and effecting other public improvements. See the course of legislation with regard to these duties described in the Third Report from Select Committee on Metropolitan Local Taxation, with minutes of evidence, ordered by the House of Commons to be printed, 2nd May, 1861.

Subsequent Acts contained provisions for charging this fund with the expenses of other undertakings authorized by those Acts, and for better enabling the board to obtain loans on the security of the fund.

The works originally authorized by the Thames Embankment Act, 1862, comprised a solid embankment chiefly upon the bed or shore, and upon the northern bank of the Thames between Westminster Bridge and the cast side of the Temple Gardens, and a viaduct from the last-named point to Blackfriars Bridge, with a roadway upon the embankment and viaduct throughout the entire length, such roadway to be 100 feet in width from the clock tower of the Houses of Parliament to the east end of the Temple Gardens, and 70 feet in width through the remaining part of its length; the reclaiming and inclosing all or so much of the bed or foreshore of the river Thames, as lay between the then left bank of the river and the intended embankment; and the making the approach road and certain new streets more particularly described in the 8th section. It empowered the board to borrow, with the consent of the treasury, on the security of the lands and funds acquired under and appropriated to the purposes of the Act, sums not exceeding one million pounds.

the board for embanking other portions of the river.

The 31 & 32 Vict. c. 111, Thames Embankment (North and South) Act, 1868, enacted that the board should abandon certain parts of the new street described in the 8th section of the Act of 1862, and, amongst other provisions, it repealed the 26th, 55th, 61st and 82nd sections of the same Act. The 33 & 34 Vict. c. 92, Thames Embankment (North) Act, 1870, enacted that the board should abandon the proposed new street from the Thames Embankment below Charing Cross Railway Bridge to Wellington Street. Strand, which was authorized by the last cited Act, and repealed the sections of that Act mentioned in the schedule.

The 36 & 37 Vict. c. 100, the Charing Cross and Victoria Embankment (Approach) Act, 1873, enabled the board to construct a new street commencing at Charing Crosss and terminating at the Victoria Embankment near the Charing Cross Station of the Metropolitan District Railway, and enacted that the Duke of Northumberland and Earl Percy should sell, and the board purchase and take for the purposes of the Act, the lands and property comprised in the agreements set forth in the schedules, with the requisite powers for carrying into effect the objects of the Act. The board were authorized to apply for the purposes of the Act, any money raised or authorized to be raised by them under any other Act and not required for the purposes of that Act.

The 36th and 37th Vict. c. 40, the Thames Embankment (Land) Act, 1873, after reciting, amongst other things, that certain heads of arrangement respecting the conveyance by the commissioners of woods and forests to the metropolitan board of works, of certain lands adjacent to the gardens of Fife House, Whitehall, as set forth in the schedule, were proper to be recommended for the consideration of parliament, confirmed and declared valid such heads of arrangement, and by section 4, enacted that all lands acquired by the board in pursuance of the Act should be appropriated for the purposes of a public garden and be maintained by them as such.

The 35 & 36 Vict. c. 66, the Thames Embankment (North) Act, 1872, placed the roadway on the Victoria Embankment under the management and control of the board, with the sole power and duty, except as therein expressed, of paving, macadamizing, &c., the same, and with a power to make bye-laws.

The 26 & 27 Vict. c. 45, the Metropolis Improvement Act, 1863, empowered the board to make a new street from Blackfriars to the Mansion House in connection with the embankment on the north side of the Thames.

By the 26 & 27 Vict. c. 75, the Thames Embankment (South) Act, 1863, the board were empowered to make and execute in the parish of Saint Mary, Lambeth, the embankment and works, the new street, and other improvements described, and were required to lay out and maintain a public footway of not less than 20 feet in width between certain points specified in the Act. They were authorized to borrow, subject to the provisions and on the security on which they were authorized to borrow by the Embankment Act of 1862, to the extent of four hundred and eighty thousand pounds. And 27 & 28 Vict. c. 135, the Thames Embankment Amendment Act, 1864, authorized the board for the purposes of the lastnamed Act to purchase additional lands and make further improvements in the same parish.

The 36 Vict. c. 7. Thames Embankment (South) Act, 1873, placed the wall and footway adjoining the Albert Embankment under the management and control of the metropolitan board, with the power and obligation to repair and maintain the same, and with power to make bye-laws.

The 27 & 28 Vict. c. 61, Thames Embankment and Metropolis Improvement (Loans) Act, 1864, authorized the commissioners of the treasury to guarantee the payment of the principal and interest of money raised under Section 10.

This Act was repealed by the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869. See schedule 3 to that Act.

The 31 & 32 Vict. c. 43, Thames Embankment and Metropolis Improvement (Loans) Act, 1868, empowered the board to borrow for the purposes of the Embankment and Improvement Acts, further sums in addition to those authorized by the Acts specified in the schedule to the Act of 1864, not exceeding one million eight hundred and fifty thousand pounds.

The 31 & 32 Vict. c. 135, the Thames Embankment (Chelsea) Act, 1868, authorized the board to embank the river Thames between Chelsea Hospital and Battersea Bridge, and make a roadway and execute other works connected therewith, with power to carry out auxiliary and connecting works. They were empowered to borrow, subject to the provisions in and on the security on which they were authorized to borrow money by the Thames Embankment Act, 1862, but subject to the charges so created or authorized by the Act and the other Acts specified in the 29th section, to the extent of two hundred and eighty-five thousand pounds in addition to any other money which, independently of this Act, they were authorized to borrow.

32 & 33 VICT. CAP. 102.

9TH AUGUTS, 1869.

WHEREAS under the Acts mentioned in the first schedule to this Act the metropolitan board of works has incurred debts now amounting in the whole to nearly eight million pounds:

And whereas it is necessary for the board to borrow such further sums for the purposes of the said Acts as, together with the sum already borrowed, will not exceed in the whole the amount of ten million pounds sterling, and it is expedient to authorize the board to raise the whole or any part of the said sum of ten million pounds by loans in manner hereinafter provided, without the guarantee of the commissioners of her Majesty's treasury, and for that purpose to create consolidated stock or annuities charged indifferently on all the securities mentioned in the said Acts, and to establish one fund out of moneys arising from those securities, for the purpose of paying the dividends on and redeeming such stock and annuities:

⁽a) This Act authorizes the board to raise such further sums as with the sum already borrowed will not exceed ten million pounds sterling, and enacts, amongst other things, that after its passing the board shall not raise, except in the case specified, any money under any powers of borrowing otherwise than in conformity with the Act. It also empowers the board, for the purposes and in manner mentioned, to create capital stock to be called metropolitan consolidated stock, to be charged indifferently on the whole of the lands, rents, and property belonging to the board under the Acts referred to, and on all money to be raised by rates, and on the improvement fund, subject to existing charges. It provides for certificates, transfers, and other matters relating to consolidated stock, and empowers the public works loan commissioners and the commissioners for the reduction of the national debt, with the approval of the treasury, to make advances to the board on the security of such stock. The Act also authorizes the board, in lieu of consolidated stock, to create for the like purpose terminable annuities. For the purpose of paying dividends on and redeeming consolidated stock and other purposes, the board are required to raise a rate to be called the metropolitan consolidated rate, in lieu of all other rates or assessments authorized to be assessed by them generally over the metropolis, to be assessed and raised in manner provided by the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and the amending Acts, with respect to raising the sums therein referred to, with special provisions relative to precepts, estimates, and orders by vestries and district boards on overseers. It further establishes a consolidated loans fund for paying dividends on and redeeming consolidated stock, and specifies the moneys to be carried to such fund and their application. It contains provisions for the application of moneys becoming part of the improvement fund until the 5th July, 1888, and for a transfer, in the event named, of the improvement fund from the treasury to the board; and amongst other provisions, it gives the board additional borrowing powers for the purposes specified, and enables them to lend money to the managers of the metropolitan asylums district. The first schedule enumerates and classifies the Acts authorizing loans by the board; the second contains forms of transfer, and the third specifies the enactments repealed, with the date and title of the Acts, and defines the extent of the repeal. This Act was amended by the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1870, the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1871, the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1875, which regulates the raising of money by the board for their expenditure for general improvements, and contributions for fire brigade purposes, and loans to vestries, district boards, and other bodies; and contains provisions limiting the amount to be expended by the board for the several purposes named, up to 31st December, 1876, and limits the amounts to be advanced to vestries, district boards, and other bodies, up to the same date, with provisions relating to returns and other matters. Acts have since been passed annually, regulating the raising of money by the board. The last of these Acts is the Metropolitan Board of Works (Money) Act, 1878, which is to be read as one with the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Acts, 1869 to 1871, and the Metropolitan Board of Works (Moneys Acts, 1875 to 1876. Pursell, L. R. 11 Ch. D. 412.

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869.

(e) See decisions as to meaning of the term "owner," within this interpretation, referred to in note to section 73, infra. By the 97th section, post, the adjoining and building owners are included in the term "owner."

Denn, 22 J. P. 129. Though the extent of the exception in this section is a fruitful source of contention between builders and district surveyors, there is a great dearth of positive authority upon the subject. The question as to what operations fall within the definition of necessary repair, not affecting the construction of any external or party wall, came before the Westminster Police Court in several cases, the particulars of which are referred to in an article in the 40th vol. of the Justice of the Peace, p. 49, where it was closely and carefully considered.

The Metropolis Local Management Act, 1862, s. 105, repeals the enactment in the first management Act, and provides that notwithstanding the Metropolitan Police Act, the penalties recovered by the metropolitan board and vestries and district boards, shall, to the extent defined, be paid to their treasurer. This applies to penalties under the Metropolis Management Acts, and not in terms to this, the Metropolitan Building Act. Though the decision in Wray v. Ellis would probably override the preceding enactment, if taken alone, it might not be unworthy of attention to consider the effect of the present provision as to the payment of penalties to the metropolitan board, with unfettered discretion as to their application, connecting it with the previous section of this Act, and the sections of the Metropolis Local Management Act, relative to the powers, duties and expenses of that board.

TO ALTER AND AMEND "THE METROPOLITAN BUILDING ACT, 1855."

23 & 24 VICT, CAP, 52,

23RD JULY, 1860.

Whereas certain rules of "The Metropolitan Building Act, 1855," have been found to operate prejudicially by limiting the contents of buildings to be erected in workshops for the manufacture of the machinery and the boilers of steam vessels, and as the increased and increasing size of such machinery and boilers for the royal and comercial marine of this country requires larger areas for their manufacture than are allowed by such rule, it is expedient to amend the said Act; Be it therefore enacted, by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same as follows:

Short title.

1. This Act may cited for all purposes as "The Metropolitan Building Act (Amendment) 1860."

Rules as to cubical dimensions of the metropolitan building Act, 1855, not to apply to buildings to be used for the manufacture of machinery and boilers of steam vessels, provided that such buildings shall consist of one floor only. &c. (a).

2. The rule of "The Metropolitan Building Act, 1855," limiting the cubical dimensions or contents of buildings used either wholly or in part for the purposes of trade or manufacture, shall not after the passing of this Act apply to any building to be used wholly for the manufacture of the machinery and boilers of steam vessels beyond the distance of three miles from Saint Paul's Cathedral: Provided always, that every such building shall consist of one floor only, and shall be constructed of brick, stone, iron, or other incombustible material; and it shall not be lawful for the owners, lessees, or occupiers thereof, or for any persons interested therein, to use such building for any other purpose than the manufacture of the machinery and the boilers of steam vessels until all the rules and provisions of the said Act, as to party walls and other matters which are applicable to buildings of a similar character, shall have been duly complied with: Provided also, that every such building, if of greater dimensions than two hundred and sixteen thousand cubic feet, shall be subject to the approval of the metropolitan board of works, in the same manner as iron buildings or buildings to which the rules of the said Act are inapplicable as set forth in the fifty-sixth section of such Act.

TO AMEND THE METROPOLITAN BUILDING ACT, 1855.

24 & 25 VICT. CAP. 87.

WHEREAS by "The Exhibition of 1851, Roads and Lands Act," all 17 & 18 Vict buildings erected or to be erected by the "Commissioners of the Ex- c. 107. hibition of 1851," were exempted from the operation of the Acts then in force for regulating the construction of buildings in the metropolis and its neighbourhood: And whereas the said last-mentioned Acts were repealed by "The Metropolitan Building Act, 1855," and new regulations for the construction of buildings substituted; but doubts are entertained whether the exemption provided by the said first-mentioned Act is continued by the said Building Act of 1855: And whereas it is expedient that such doubts should be removed: Be it enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. The first part of the Metropolitan Building Act, 1855, containing Provisions the regulations relating to the construction of buildings in the metropolis, shall not, nor shall any provision therein contained, apply to Vict. c. 122, any buildings erected or to be erected by or with the sanction of the commissioners for the exhibition of 1851 on any lands belonging to them, and purchased in pursuance of any power vested in them by charter or act of parliament, with the exception of such streets or blocks of buildings as may be erected by them, or with their sanction, as private dwelling-houses.

magazine.

An applicant for such a license shall submit to the secretary of state the draft of a license accompanied by a plan (drawn to scale) of the proposed factory or magazine, and the site thereof (which plan shall be deemed to form part of and to be in this Act included in the expression "the license").

The draft license shall contain the terms which the applicant proposes to have inserted in the license, and shall specify such of the following matters as are applicable; namely,

(a.) The boundaries of the land forming the site of the factory or magazine and either any belt of land surrounding the site which is to be kept clear, and the buildings and works from which it is to be kept clear, or the distances to be maintained between the factory or magazine, or any part thereof, and other buildings and works; and

(b.) The situation, character, and construction of all the mounds, buildings, and works on or connected with the factory or magazine, and the distances thereof from each other;

(c.) The nature of the processes to be carried on in the factory and in each part thereof, and the place at which each process of the manufacture, and each description of work connected with the factory or magazine, is to be carried on, and the places in the factory or magazine at which gunpowder and any ingredients of gunpowder, and any articles liable to spontaneous ignition, or inflammable or otherwise dangerous are to be kept; and

(d.) The amount of gunpowder and of ingredients thereof wholly or partly mixed to be allowed at the same time in any building or machine or any process of the manufacture or within a limited distance from such building or machine, having regard to the situation or construction of such building, and to the distance thereof from any other building or any works; and

(e.) The situation, in the case of a factory, of each factory magazine, and in the case of another magazine, of each building forming part of such magazine in which gunpowder is to be kept, and the maximum amount of gunpowder to be kept in each factory magazine, and in each such building as aforesaid: and

(f.) The maximum number of persons to be employed in each building in the factory; and (g.) Any special terms which the applicant may propose by reason of any special circumstances arising from the locality, the situation or construction of any buildings or works, or the nature of any process, or otherwise.

The secretary of state, after examination of the proposal, may reject the application altogether or may approve of the draft license, with or without modification or addition, and grant to the applicant permission to apply to the local authority (b) for their assent to the establishment of the factory or magazine on the proposed site.

7. The local authority, upon application being made for their assent Application to the establishment of a new factory or magazine on the proposed for assent of site, shall cause notice to be published by the applicant in manner directed by this Act of the application and of the time and place at which they will be prepared to hear the applicant, and any persons objecting to such establishment who have not less than seven clear days before the day of hearing sent to the clerk of the local authority and to the applicant notice of their intention to appear and object, with their name, address, and calling, and a short statement of the grounds of their objection.

Upon the hearing of the application, or any adjournment thereof, the local authority may dissent altogether from the establishment of such new factory or magazine on the proposed site, or assent thereto, either absolutely or on any conditions requiring additional restrictions or precautions.

Where the site of the proposed factory or magazine is situate within or within one mile of the limits of the jurisdiction of any urban sanitary authority, or of any harbour authority, the applicant shall serve on such authority, if they are not the local authority, notice of the application and of the time and place of hearing fixed by the local authority.

The said notices shall be published and served by the applicant not less than one month before the hearing.

The local authority shall fix the time and place of hearing as soon as practicable after application made to them, and the time so fixed shall be as soon as practicable after the expiration of the said month from the publication and service of the notices by the applicant, and their final decision shall be given as soon as practicable after the expiration of the said month.

The place so fixed shall be situate within the jurisdiction of the local authority, or within a convenient distance of the limits of that jurisdiction.

The costs of any objections which the local authority may deem to be frivolous shall be ascertained by an order made by the local authority, and shall be a debt due from the objector to the applicant, of which such order shall be conclusive evidence.

Where the site of the proposed factory or magazine is situate partly within the jurisdiction of one local authority and partly within the jurisdiction of another, the assent of both local authorities shall be applied for in manner provided by this Act.

Grant and confirmation of license.

8. If on the hearing of the application for the establishment of a factory or magazine the local authority assent thereto either absolutely or on conditions submitted to by the applicant, the applicant shall be entitled to the license applied for in accordance with the draft approved by the secretary of state, with the addition (if the assent was on conditions) of the additional restrictions and precautions required by those conditions.

If the local authority assent on any conditions not submitted to by the applicant, or dissent, the applicant may appeal to the secretary of state, giving notice of such appeal to the local authority, and requiring them to state in writing their reasons for such conditions or dissent; and the secretary of state, after considering the reasons (if any) so stated, and after such inquiry, local or other, as he may think necessary, may if the local authority dissented, refuse the license, or may in either case grant the license applied for in accordance with the draft license either as previously approved by him, or with such modifications and additions as he may consider required to meet the reasons (if any) so stated by the local authority.

The secretary of state, when satisfied that the factory or magazine is sufficiently completed according to the license to justify the use thereof, shall confirm the license, but until so confirmed the license shall not come into force.

The land forming the site bounded as described in the license shall, with every mound, building, and work thereon for whatever purpose, be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, to be the factory or magazine referred to in the license.

9. In every gunpowder factory and magazine—

(1.) The factory or magazine, or any part thereof, shall not be used Regulation for any purpose not in accordance with the license; and

(2.) The terms of the license shall be duly observed, and the manufacture or keeping of any process in or work connected with the manufacture or keeping of gunpowder shall not be car-

(3.) The factory or magazine and every part thereof shall be maintained in accordance with the license; and any material alteration in the factory or magazine by enlarging or adding to the site, or by externally enlarging or adding to any building, or by altering any mound otherwise than by enlargements or by making any new work, shall not be made except in pursuance of an amending license granted under this Act.

In the event of any breach (by any act or default) of this section in any factory or magazine,

(a.) All or any part of the gunpowder or ingredients thereof in respect to which, or being in any building or machine in respect to which, the offence was committed, may be forfeited; and

(b.) The occupier (a) shall be liable to a penalty (b) not exceeding in the case of the first offence fifty pounds, and in the case of a second or any subsequent offence one hundred pounds, and in addition fifty pounds for every day during which such breach continues.

The occupier of a factory shall not be deemed guilty of a breach of this section for using in a case of emergency, or temporarily, one building or part of a building in which any process of the manufacture is, under the terms of the license, carried on, for another process of the manufacture, if he do not carry on in such building or part more than one process at the same time, and if the quantity of gunpowder or ingredients thereof in such building or part do not exceed the quantity allowed to be therein, or any less quantity allowed to be in the building or part of a building in which such other process is usually carried on; and if upon such use being continued after the lapse of twenty-eight days from the first beginning of such use he send notice of such use to a government inspector, and the government inspector do not require the discontinuance of such use.

⁽a) See definition of "occupier," section 108. (b) See section 91, as to prosecution of offences and recovery of penalties under the Act.

Section 10.

General rules for factories and magazines. 10. In every gunpowder factory and magazine the following general rules shall be observed:

(1.) In a factory every factory magazine, and in any other magazine every building in which gunpowder is kept, shall be used only for the keeping of gunpowder, and receptacles for or tools or implements for work connected with the keeping of such gunpowder; and

(2.) The interior of every building in which any process of the manufacture is carried on or in which gunpowder or any ingredients thereof, either mixed or partially mixed, are kept, or in the course of manufacture are liable to be (in this Act referred to as a danger building), and the benches, shelves, and fittings in such building (other than nuchinery), shall be so constructed or so lined or covered as to prevent the exposure of any iron or steel in such manner, and the detaching of any grit, iron, steel, or similar substance in such manner, as to come into contact with the gunpowder or ingredients thereof in such building, and such interior, benches, shelves, and fittings shall, so far as reasonably practicable, be kept free from grit and otherwise clean; and

(3.) Every factory magazine and expense magazine in a factory, and every danger building in a magazine, shall have attached thereto a sufficient lightning conductor, unless, by reason of the construction by excavation or the position of such magazine or building, or otherwise, the secretary of state considers a conductor unnecessary, and every danger building in a factory shall, if so required by the secretary of state, have attached thereto a sufficient lightning conductor; and

(4.) Charcoal, whether ground or otherwise, and oiled cotton, oiled rags, and oiled waste, and any articles whatever liable to spontaneous ignition, shall not be taken into any danger building, except for the purpose of immediate supply and work or immediate use in such building, and upon the cessation of such work or use shall be forthwith removed;

and

(5.) Before repairs are done to or in any room in or other part of a danger building, that room or part shall, so far as practicable, be cleaned by the removal of all gunpowder, and wholly or partly mixed ingredients thereof, and the thorough washout of such room or part; and such room or part of the building after being so cleaned shall not be deemed to be a danger building within the meaning of these rules until gunpowder or the wholly or partly mixed ingredients thereof

are again taken into it; and

(6.) There shall be constantly kept affixed in every danger building, either outside or inside, in such manner as to be easily read, a statement of the quantities of gunpowder or ingredients allowed to be in the building, and a copy of these rules, and of any other part of this Act required by the secretary of state to be affixed, and of such part of the license and special rules made under this Act as apply to the building; and with the addition in a factory of the name of the building, or words indicating the purpose for which it is used; and

(7.) All tools and implements used in any repairs to or in a danger building shall be made only of wood or copper or brass or some soft metal or material, or shall be covered with some

safe and suitable material; and

(8.) Due provision shall be made, by the use of suitable working clothes without pockets, suitable shoes, searching and otherwise, or by some of such means, for preventing the introduction into any danger building of fire, lucifer matches, or any substance or article likely to cause explosion or fire, and for preventing the introduction of any iron, steel, or grit into any part of a danger building where it would be likely to come into contact with gunpowder or the wholly or partly mixed ingredients thereof; but this rule shall not prevent the introduction of an artificial light of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger of fire or explosion; and

(9.) No person shall smoke in any part of the factory or magazine, except in such part (if any) as may be allowed by the special rules; and

(10.) Any carriage, boat, or other receptacle in which gunpowder, or the wholly or partly mixed ingredients thereof, are conveyed from one building to another in a factory or magazine, or from any such building to any place outside of such factory or magazine, shall be constructed without any exposed iron or steel in the interior thereof, and shall contain only the gunpowder and ingredients, and shall be closed or otherwise properly covered over; and the gunpowder and ingredients shall be so conveyed with all due diligence, and with such precautions and in such manner as will sufficiently guard against any accidental ignition; and

(11.) A person under the age of sixteen years shall not be employed in or enter any danger building, except in the presence and under the supervision of some grown-up person;

and

(12.) In a factory the ingredients in course of manufacture into gunpowder shall be removed with all due diligence from each working building so soon as the process connected with those ingredients which is carried on in such building is completed, and all finished gunpowder shall with all due diligence either be removed to a factory magazine, or sent away immediately from the factory, and such ingredients and gunpowder shall be loaded and unloaded with all due diligence; and

(13.) In a factory all ingredients to be made or mixed into gunpowder shall, before being so made or mixed, be carefully sifted, for the purpose of removing therefrom, so far as practicable, all dangerous foreign matter.

The secretary of state may, from time to time, by order, make, and when made rescind and alter, such modifications in the foregoing general rules as may appear to him to be necessary for adapting the same to floating magazines, and such modifications shall have effect as if they were contained in this section.

In the event of any breach (by any act or default) of the general rules in any factory or magazine,-

(a.) All or any part of the gunpowder or ingredients thereof in respect to which, or being in any building or machine in respect to which, the offence was committed, may be forfeited; and

(b.) The occupier shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and in addition (in the case of a second offence) ten pounds for every day during which such breach continues.

Section 11.

Special rules for regulation of workmen in factory or magazine. 11. Every occupier of a gunpowder factory or magazine shall, with the sanction of the secretary of state, make special rules for the regulation of the persons managing or employed in or about such factory or magazine, with a view to secure the observance of this Act therein, and the safety and proper discipline of the said persons, and the safety of the public.

There may be annexed to any breach of special rules made in pursuance of this section such penalties, not exceeding forty shillings for each offence, as may be deemed just.

The occupier may, and if required by the secretary of state shall, with the sanction of the secretary of state, repeal, alter, or add to any special rules made in pursuance to this section.

If an occupier is required by the secretary of state to make, repeal, alter, or add to any rules under this section, and fail within three months after such requisition to comply therewith to the satisfaction of the secretary of state, the secretary of state may make, repeal, alter, or add to the special rules, and anything so done by the secretary of state shall have effect as if done by the occupier with the sanction of the secretary of state.

If the occupier feel aggrieved by any such requisition, or by anything so done by the secretary of state, he may, after receiving such requisition or notice of the same being so done, require the matter to be referred to arbitration in manner provided by this Act.

Supplemental as to Factories and Magazines for Gunpowder.

Alteration of terms of license and enlargement of factory or magazine. 12. Where the occupier of any gunpowder fastory or magazine desires that any alteration should be made in the terms of his license, or any material alteration made in the factory or magazine by enlarging or adding to the site or by externally enlarging or adding to any building, or by altering any mound otherwise than by enlargement, or by making any new work, he may apply for an amending license.

If he satisfy the secretary of state that the alteration may be properly permitted, having regard to the safety of the persons employed in the factory or magazine, and will not materially either increase the danger to the public from fire or explosion, or diminish the distance of any danger building in the factory or magazine from any building or work outside and in the neighbourhood of the factory or magazine, or increase the amount of gunpowder allowed to be kept in the factory magazine, or in any building in the magazine, the secretary of state may grant the amending license of his own authority, but save as aforesaid, the provisions of this Act with respect to the application for and grant of a new license shall apply to such amending license.

Devolution and determination of license. 13. A gunpowder factory or magazine license shall not be avoided by any change in the occupier of the factory or magazine; but notice of the name, address, and calling of the new occupier shall be sent to the secretary of state within three months after the change, and in default such new occupier shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings for every week during which such default continues.

A factory or magazine license shall be determined by a discontinuance of the business carried on in pursuance of any such license if such discontinuance continues for a period of two years or more, or if the factory or magazine is used for any purpose not authorized b the license.

Provided that if the occupier sends to the secretary of state, and Section 13. publishes in manner directed by the secretary of state, a notice to the effect that the right to the factory or magazine license is not intended to be surrendered, the license shall not be determined until after the expiration of five years after the first discontinuance of the business, whether the factory or magazine has or has not been used for any purpose not authorized by the license.

Application of Act to existing Factories and Magazines for Gunpowder.

14. A factory or magazine for gunpowder used at the time of the Continuing passing of this Act shall not be deemed to be a lawfully existing factory or magazine within the meaning of this Act unless the occupier thereof apply for and obtain in manner provided by this Act a certificate (in this Act referred to as a continuing certificate) in respect of such factory or magazine.

certificate for existing factories and magazines.

The occupier desirous of obtaining such certificate shall, before the expiration of three months after the commencement of this Act, send to the secretary of state an application for such certificate, stating his name, address, and calling, and the situation of his factory or magazine, and accompanied with such particulars respecting the factory or magazine and the site thereof, and the mounds, buildings, and works thereon or connected therewith, and such copies of any plans in the possession of the occupier, as the secretary of state may deem necessary for enabling him to make out the certificate.

The secretary of state upon receiving such application shall grant the continuing certificate for the factory or magazine to which the application relates, and shall insert therein, by reference to a plan (which shall be deemed part of the certificate) or otherwise, such particulars as he may consider sufficient to identify the factory or magazine and indicate the site and all the existing mounds, buildings, and works thereon or connected therewith: the plan so referred to may be either the plan sent by the occupier or such other plan as the secretary of state may cause to be made for the purpose.

The continuing certificate shall specify the maximum amount of gunpowder to be kept if the certificate is for a factory in each factory magazine, or in all the factory magazines of the factory, and if for a magazine in each building in the magazine, or in all the buildings of the magazine, and the amount so specified, where the maximum amount so to be kept is at the passing of this Act limited by any Act or by license or otherwise, shall be that amount, and where there is no such limitation, shall be the maximum amount which the factory magazine, or all the factory magazines of the factory, or the building or all the buildings of the magazine, was or were capable of holding on the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five.

The regulations in part one of the first schedule to this Act shall be deemed to form part of the terms of a continuing certificate for a factory.

The land forming the site bounded as described in the certificate shall, with every mound, building, and work thereon, for whatever purpose, be deemed, for the purpose of this Act, to be the factory or magazine referred to in the certificate.

Where a license has been obtained before the twenty-fifth day of

Section 14.

February one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, for a factory or magazine for gunpowder, and such factory or magazine has not been completed before the passing of this Act, such factory or magazine shall be deemed to be, for the purposes of this section, a factory or magazine for gunpowder used at the time of the passing of this Act:

Provided that-

(1.) The particulars to be stated in the continuing certificate shall, as regards such mounds, buildings, and works as are not completed at the date of the certificate, relate to the same as designed on the commencement of the construction of the factory or magazine; and

(2.) The maximum amount of gunpowder to be specified in the continuing certificate as being allowed to be kept in any building shall, subject to the provisions of any Act or license, be the maximum amount which such building was designed on the commencement of the building thereof to hold, or such less amount as it is completed for holding at the time of the passing of this Act.

For the purposes of this Act, a continuing certificate shall (save as otherwise expressly provided) be deemed to be a license, and the factory or magazine, as the case may be, mentioned therein to be a factory or magazine licensed under this Act, and the provisions of this Act shall be construed accordingly.

Provided that-

It shall not be necessary in any case to apply for the assent of the local authority to an amending license for an alteration in the terms of such certificate, or for an alteration in the factory or magazine; and

(2.) Such factory or magazine, if the certificate is determined by the discontinuance of the business carried on therein, shall cease to be deemed an existing factory or magazine.

The occupier of any lawfully existing factory or magazine may, until the expiration of the time within which he is required by this section to send to the secretary of state an application for a continuing certificate, and if he has sent such an application as is required by this section may, until he obtains such certificate, carry on his business in such factory or magazine in like manner as if this Act had not passed.

CONSUMERS' STORES FOR GUNPOWDER.

Licensing and Regulation of Stores.

15. Any person may apply for a license for a gunpowder store to the local authority at the time and place appointed by such authority, stating his name, address, and calling, the proposed site and construction of the store and the amount of gunpowder he proposes to store therein; and the local authority shall, as soon as practicable, if the proposed site, construction of the store, and amount of gunpowder are in accordance with the order in council hereinafter mentioned, grant to the applicant, on payment of such fee, not ex-

(3.) Prescribe the maximum amount of gunpowder, not exceeding two tons, to be kept in stores, graduated according to their construction and situation and their distance from the said buildings and works.

Provided that an order under this section shall not require the removal of any building lawfully in use at the date of the making of such order.

17. In every gunpowder store the following general rules shall be observed; that is to say, for stores.

(1.) The provisions of an order in council relating to stores, so far as they apply to such store, shall be duly observed:

(2.) There shall not be at the same time in the store an amount of gunpowder exceeding the amount specified in the license;

(3.) The store shall be used only for the keeping of gunpowder, and receptacles for or tools or implements for work connected with the keeping of such gunpowder; and

(4.) The interior of the store, and the benches, shelves, and fittings therein, shall be so constructed or so lined or covered as to prevent the exposure of any iron or steel and the detaching of any grit, iron, steel, or similar substance, in such manner as to come into contact with the gunpowder, and such interior, benches, shelves, and fittings shall, so far as is reasonably practicable, be kept free from grit, and otherwise clean; and

(5.) The store shall have attached thereto a sufficient lightning conductor (b) unless it is made by excavation or is licensed for less than one thousand pounds of gunpowder; and

(6.) Before repairs are done to or in any part of a store, the store shall, so far as is practicable, be cleaned by the removal of all gunpowder and the thorough washing out of the store; and after such cleaning, these rules shall cease to apply to the store until gunpowder is again taken there; and

(7.) Except after such cleaning, all tools and implements used in or in any repairs to the store shall be made only of wood, copper, or brass, or some soft metal or material, or shall be covered with some safe and suitable material; and

(9.) No person shall smoke in any part of the store; and

(10.) A person under the age of sixteen years shall not be employed in or enter the store, except in the presence and under the supervision of some grown-up person.

In the event of any breach (by any act or default) of the general rules in any store,-

(a.) All or any part of the gunpowder in respect to which or being in the store when the offence was committed may be forfeited; and tinues.

Non-transferability, renewal, and forms of store licenses. 18. A store license shall be valid only for the person named in it, and shall annually, unless the circumstances have so changed that the grant of a new license would not be authorized by this Act, on application by post or otherwise, and payment of such fee, not exceeding one shilling, as may be from time to time fixed by the local authority, be renewed by that authority, by endorsement or otherwise, for that year, and unless so renewed shall expire.

Store licenses shall be in the form from time to time directed by the secretary of state.

Special rules for regulation of workmen in stores. 19. Every occupier of a gunpowder store may, with the sanction of the secretary of state make, and when made may, with the like sanction, repeal, alter, or add to, special rules for the regulation of the persons managing or employed in or about such store, with a view to secure the observance of this Act therein, and the safety and proper discipline of the said persons and the safety of the public.

There may be annexed to any breach of special rules made in pursuance of this section such penalties, not exceeding forty shillings for each offence, as may be deemed just.

Application of Act to existing Stores for Gunpowder.

Definition and continuing certificate for existing stores which are to be subject to this Act.

20. Any magazine established without a license from a local authority in pursuance of the Gunpowder Act, 1860, or of any enactment repealed by that Act, for the use of any mine, quarry, colliery, or factory of safety-fuzes, and in use at the passing of this Act, is in this Act referred to as an existing gunpowder store.

An existing gunpowder store shall not require a continuing certificate as a magazine from the secretary of state, but shall require a continuing certificate from the local authority, and if such certificate is not applied for and obtained in manner provided by this Act, shall not be deemed to be a lawfully existing store.

The occupier of the store desirous of obtaining a continuing certicate shall, before the expiration of three months after the commencement of this Act, send an application for such certificate to the local authority, stating his name, address, and calling, and the situation and construction of the store, and accompanied by such particulars Section 20. respecting the store as may be necessary to enable the local authority to make out the certificate.

The local authority upon receiving such application shall, as soon as practicable, on payment of such fee, not exceeding half-a-crown, as may be fixed by that authority, grant the continuing certificate, inserting therein such particulars as appear to them to be sufficient to identify the store, and inserting the maximum amount of gunpowder which the store is to be limited to hold, and such amount shall be the maximum amount which the store was capable of holding on the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventyfive, or such less amount as is limited by the regulations below in this section mentioned.

The regulations in Part Two of the first schedule to this Act shall apply to every store to which a continuing certificate is granted, as if they were contained in an order in council under this Act relating to

If within one year from the date of the provisional order, or within such shorter time as is prescribed in the same, the works are not substantially commenced; or,

or suspension.

19. When a tramway has been completed under the authority of a provisional order by any local authority, or where any local authority has under the provisions of this Act acquired possession of any tramway (c), such authority may, with the consent of the board of trade, and subject to the provisions of this Act, by lease, to be approved of by the board of trade, demise to any person, persons, corporation, or company the right of user by such person, persons, corporation, or company of the tramway, and of demanding and taking in respect of the same the tolls and charges authorized; or such authority may leave such tramway open to be used by the public, and may in respect of such user demand and take the tolls and charges authorized; but nothing in this Act contained shall authorize any local authority to place or run carriages upon such tramway, and to demand and take tolls and charges in respect of the use of such carriages.

Where the local rate is limited by law to a certain amount, and is by reason of such limitation insufficient for the payment of such expenses, the board of trade may, by the provisional order, extend the limit of such local rate to such amount as they shall think fit, and prescribe for the payment of such expenses.

Such local authority may, for the purposes of such provisional order, borrow and take up at interest, on the credit of such local rate, any sums of money necessary for defraying any such expenses; and for the purpose of securing the repayment of any sums so borrowed, together with such interest as aforesaid, such local authority may mortgage to the persons by or on behalf of whom such sums are advanced such local rate; but the exercise of the above-mentioned power shall be subject to the following regulations:

(1.) The money so borrowed shall not exceed such sum as may be sanctioned by the board of trade;

(2.) The money may be borrowed for such time, not exceeding thirty years, as such local authority, with the sanction of the board of trade, shall determine; and, subject as aforesaid to the repayment within thirty years, such local authority may either pay off the moneys so borrowed by equal annual instalments, or they may in every year set apart as a sinking fund, and accumulate in the way of compound interest by investing the same in the purchase of exchequer bills or other government securities, such sum as will be sufficient to pay off the moneys so borrowed, or a part thereof, at such times as the local authority may determine.

The provisions of "The Commissioners Clauses Act, 1847," with respect to the mortgages to be executed by the Commissioners, shall apply to any mortgage executed under the foregoing provisions of this section, and for the purposes of such application the said provisions shall be incorporated with this Act.

For the purposes of such incorporation, the terms "the special Act," and "the commissioners," shall be construed to mean respectively a provisional order under this Act, and the local authority.

Such local authority shall keep separate accounts of all moneys paid by them in applying for, obtaining, and carrying into effect any such provisional order, and in the repayment of moneys borrowed, and of all moneys received by them by way of rent or tolls in respect of the tramway authorized thereby.

FOR FACILITATING THE IMPROVEMENT OF TH DWELLINGS OF THE WORKING CLASSES IN LARGE TOWNS (a).

38 & 39 VICT. CAP. 36.

29TH JUNE, 1875.

WHEREAS various portions of many cities and boroughs are so built, and the buildings thereon are so densely inhabited as to be highly injurious to the moral and physical welfare of the inhabitants:

And whereas there are in such portions of cities and boroughs as anoresaid a great number of houses, courts, and 'alleys which, by reason of the want of light, air, ventilation, or of proper conveniences, or from other causes, are unfit for human habitation, and fevers and diseases are constantly generated there, causing death and loss of health, not only in the courts and alleys but also in other parts of such cities and boroughs:

And whereas it often happens that owing to the above circumstances, and to the fact that such houses, courts, and alleys are the property of several owners, it is not in the power of any one owner to make such alterations as are necessary for the public health:

And whereas it is necessary for the public health that many of such houses, courts, and alleys should be pulled down, and such portions of the said cities and boroughs should be reconstructed:

And whereas in connexion with the reconstruction of those portions of such cities and boroughs it is expedient that provision be made for dwellings for the working class who may be displaced in consequence thereof:

Be it enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

(22.) Nothing herein contained shall prevent the local authority from requiring any further abstract or evidence of title respecting any lands included in any such award as aforesaid, in addition to the abstract or statement hereinbefore mentioned, if they think fit, so as the same be obtained at the cost of the local authority.

(23) If from any reason whatever the local authority does not deliver the certificate aforesaid to any party claiming to be entitled to any interest in any lands the possession whereof has been taken by the local authority as aforesaid, then the right to have a certificate according to the provisions of this Act may, at the costs and charges of the local authority, be enforced by any party or parties, by application to the high court of chancery, or any court to which the jurisdiction of the high court of chancery may be transferred, in a summary way by petition, and all other rights and interests of any party or parties arising under the provisions of this Act may be in like manner enforced against the local authority by such application as aforesaid.

(25.) The money so deposited as last aforesaid shall be paid into the Bank of England to such account as may from time to time be directed by any regulation or Act for the time being in force in relation to moneys deposited in the bank in similar cases, or to such account as may be directed by any order of the court of chancery, or of any court to whom the powers of the court of chancery may be transferred, and remain in the bank by way of security to the parties interested in the lands which have been so entered upon, for the payment of the money to become payable by the local authority in respect thereof under the award of the arbitrator; and the money so deposited may, on the application by petition of the local authority, be ordered to be invested in bank annuities or government securities, and accumulated; and upon such payment as aforesaid by the local authority it shall be lawful for the court of chancery, or any other court to which the jurisdiction of the court of chancery may be transferred, upon a like application, to order the money so deposited, or the funds in which the same shall have been invested, together with the accumulation thereof, to be repaid or transferred to the local authority, or, in default of such payment as aforesaid by the local authority, it shall be lawful for the said court to order the same to be applied in such manner as it thinks fit for the benefit of the parties for whose security the same shall so have been deposited,

- 2. The schedule to the principal Act shall be construed as if the schedule to this Act formed part thereof.
- 3. On the occasion of assessing the compensation payable under any improvement scheme in respect of any house or premises situate within an unhealthy area, evidence shall be receivable by the arbitrator to prove that at the date of the confirming Act authorizing such scheme, or at some previous date not earlier than the date of the official representation in which the scheme originated, such house or premises was by reason of its unhealthy state, or by reason of overcrowding or otherwise, in such a condition as to have been a nuisance within the meaning of the Acts relating to nuisances; (b) and if the arbitrator is satisfied that from either of such causes as aforesaid, such house or premises was, at such dates as aforesaid or either of them, a nuisance as aforesaid, he shall then determine what would have been the value of such house or premises supposing the nuisance to have been abated, and what would have been the expense of abating the nuisance; and the amount of compensation payable in respect of such house or premises shall be an amount equal to the estimated value of the house or premises after the nuisance was abated, and after deducting the estimated expense of abating the nuisance.

And whereas it not unfrequently happens that, having due regard to the requirements of persons of the working classes displaced by an improvement scheme, equally convenient accommodation at a much less cost can be furnished to such persons or some of them at some place other than within the area or the immediate vicinity of the area from which they have been displaced: Be it enacted that-

Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the confirming authority on an application to authorize or modify an improvement scheme that equally convenient accommodation can be provided for any persons of the working classes displaced by an improvement scheme at some place other than within the area or the immediate vicinity of the area comprised in the improvement scheme, and it is also proved to the satisfaction of such authority that the required accommodation has been or is about to be forthwith provided, it shall be lawful for the confirming authority accordingly to authorize any such improvement scheme, or to permit a modification of any such scheme, and the requirements of the principal Act with respect to providing accommodation for persons of the working class shall, to the extent to which accommodation is provided in accordance with this section, be deemed to have been complied with.

A local authority may for purpose of providing accommodation for persons of the working classes displaced by any improvement scheme, appropriate any lands for the time being belonging to them which are suitable for the purpose, or may purchase by agreement any such further lands as may be convenient.

3. Notwithstanding anything in section ninety-two of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, the arbitrator may determine that such part of any house, building, or manufactory as is proposed to be taken by the local authority can be taken without material damage to such house, building, or manufactory, and if he so determine may award compensation in respect of the severance of the part so proposed to be taken, in addition to the value of that part, and thereupon the party interested shall be required to sell and convey to the local authority such part, without the local authority being obliged to purchase the greater part or the whole of such house, building, or manufactory.

The local authority, or any person interested, if dissatisfied with a determination under this enactment, may, in manner provided by article twenty-six of the schedule to the principal Act, submit the question of whether the said part can be taken without material damage, as well as the question of the proper amount of compensation, to a jury; and the notice of intention to appeal shall be given within the same time as notice of intention to appeal against the amount of compensation awarded is required to be given.

If the arbitrator is satisfied that the failure or omission to purchase the said estate, right, interest, or charge arose from any default on the part either of the claimant or of the local authority, he may direct the costs to be paid by the party so in default.

TO REPEAL THE ADULTERATION OF FOOD ACTS AND TO MAKE BETTER PROVISION FOR THE SALE OF FOOD AND DRUGS IN A PURE STATE (a)

38 & 39 VICT, CAP, 63,

Section 3.

Description of Offences.

Prohibition of the mixing of injurious ingredients, and of selling the same. 3. No person shall mix, colour, stain, or powder, or order or permit any other person to mix, colour, stain, or powder, any article of food (a) with any ingredient or material so as to render the article injurious to health (b), with intent that the same may be sold in that state, and no person shall sell any such article so mixed, coloured, stained, or powdered, under a penalty in each case not exceeding fifty pounds for the first offence; every offence, after a conviction for a first offence, shall be a misdemeanor, for which the person, on conviction, shall be imprisoned for a period not exceeding six months with hard labour.

Prohibition of the mixing of drugs with injurious ingredients, and of selling the same. 4. No person shall, except for the purpose of compounding as hereinafter described, (c) mix, colour, stain, or powder, or order or permit any other person to mix, colour, stain, or powder, any drug with any ingredient or material so as to affect injuriously the quality or potency of such drug, with intent that the same may be sold in that state, and no person shall sell any such drug so mixed, coloured, stained, or powdered, under the same penalty in each case respectively as in the preceding section for a first and subsequent offence.

Exemption in case of proof of absence of knowledge. 5. Provided that no person shall be liable to be convicted under either of the two last foregoing sections of this Act in respect of the sale of any article of food, or of any drug, if he shows to the satisfaction of the justice or court before whom he is charged that he did not know (d) of the article of food or drug sold by him being so mixed, coloured, stained, or powdered as in either of those sections mentioned, and that he could not with reasonable diligence have obtained that knowledge.

Prohibition of the sale of articles of food and of drugs not of the proper nature, substance, and quality.

6. No person shall sell to the prejudice of the purchaser (ε) any article of food or any drug which is not of the nature, substance, and

(a) Including "every article used for food or drink by man other than drugs or water," section 2, ante.

(b) It is a common law misdemeanor to sell unwholesome victuals; R. v. Haynes, 4 M. & S. 220, and R. v. Southerton, 6 East. 133; Lord Ellenborough referred to R. v. M'Carty, 2 L. Raymond, 1179; and see R. v. Foster, 46 L. J. M. C. 128.

(c) This seems to refer to section 6, sub-section (3), and section 7, but these contain no directions as to compounding drugs or other articles.

(d) The necessity of showing that the act was done knowingly is confined to the prohibitions in the 3rd and 4th sections, and does not apply to that in the 6th.

(a) The vexed question whether a sale to a public officer for the purpose of analysis was a sale to the prejudice of the purchaser within this enactment, has been set at rest by the Sale of Food and Drugs Amendment Act, 1879 (post). But before that Act it had already been decided that such a sale was a contravention of the Act; and where an inspector, appointed under section 13, purchased for analysis an article of food, and took the proceedings prescribed by this Act, and it was proved that the article was not of the nature, substance, and quality of the article demanded, but an inferior article, though not known by him to be so at the time of the purchase; held, that this was a "sale to the prejudice of the purchaser" within this section. The case of Davidson v. MoLeod, referred to in note (g) below, was dissented from. Hoyle v. Hitchman, 48 L. J. M. C. 97.

By the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, post, section 2, it is enacted that "In any prosecution under the provisions of the principal Act for selling to the prejudice of the purchaser any article of food or any drug which is not of the nature, substance, and quality of the article demanded by such purchaser, it shall be no defence to any such prosecution to allege that the purchaser, having bought only for analysis, was not prejudiced by such sale."

(f) By the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, post, section 2, it is enacted that "it shall not be a good defence to prove that the article of food or drug in question, though defective in nature, or in substance, or in quality, was not defective in all three respects."

(g) It was not necessary under the repealed Act 35 & 36 Vict. c. 74, that any proof should be given of the knowledge of the adulteration, and where the defendant sold as unadulterated an article which was in fact adulterated, without having declared the admixture to the purchaser in conformity with section 3, he was held liable to conviction; Fitzpatrick v. Kelly, 37 J. P. 373. See Mullins v. Collins, 22 W. R. 297, and Roberts v. Egerton, 43 L. J. M. C. 135.

In a case in which gin was diluted with water, and the magistrate found that the quantity of water was in excess of what could properly be added, the conviction was affirmed; Webb v. Knight, 41 J. P. 388; L. R. 2 Q. B. D. 530. Where the appellant sold gin adulterated with 44 per cent. of water, and the justices found as a fact that the dilution was excessive, a conviction was sustained for selling an article not of the nature, substance, and quality demanded; Pashler v. Stevenill, 41 J. P. (C. A.) 136.

By the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, post, section 6, it is enacted that "In determining whether an offence has been committed under section 6 of the principal Act, by selling to the prejudice of the purchaser, spirits not adulterated otherwise than by the admixture of water, it shall be a good defence to prove that such admixture has not reduced the spirit more than twenty-five degrees under proof for brandy, whisky, or rum, or thirty-five degrees under proof for gin."

In the case of Davidson v. McLeod, before the high court of justiciary at Edinburgh, referred to in the J. P., January, 1878, on appeal against a conviction by the sheriff in Glasgow for selling, to a city inspector of health, cream in which the per centage of fatty matter was greatly below the standard of cream as sold in that city, it was held that to sustain the conviction, the article must be different in all three respects, viz., nature, substance, and quality, that these words could not be disjoined, and that the very nature of the substance must be altered; and secondly, that it was not and could not be alleged that the purchase was to the prejudice of the purchaser, as the power of compulsory purchase given to a public officer was given with a view to prosecutions under sections 3 and 5 only, and the conviction was quashed; dissentientibus Lords Craighill and Adam. This decision was dissented from in Hoyle v. Hitchman, cited in note (e) to section 6, ante; and see now Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, section 2, post.

Where the seller brings to the purchaser's knowledge the fact that the article sold is not of the nature, &c., of the article he demands, the sale is not to his predudice within section 6, though the seller puts no label on the bottle containing the article as directed by the 8th section of the Act, as it is not intended that the mode pointed out by that section should be the only method of bringing home knowledge to the purchaser; &andys v. Small, L. R. 3 Q. B. D. 449. See article on this Act in the Justice of the Peace, vol. 42, July 6, 1878.

- (2.) Where the drug or food is a proprietary medicine, or is the subject of a patent in force, and is supplied in the state required by the specification of the patent;

(3.) Where the food or drug is compounded as in this Act mentioned; (b)

(4.) Where the food or drug is unavoidably mixed with some extraneous matter in the process of collection or preparation.

Provision for the sale of compounded articles of food and compounded drugs.

7. No person shall sell any compound article of food or compounded drug which is not composed of ingredients in accordance with the demand of the purchaser, under a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

Protection from offences by giving of label. 8. Provided that no person shall be guilty of any such offence as aforesaid in respect of the sale of an article of food or a drug mixed with any matter or ingredient not injurious to health, and not intended fraudulently to increase its bulk, weight, or measure, or conceal its inferior quality, if at the time of delivering such article or drug he shall supply to the person receiving the same a notice, by a label (c) distinctly and legibly written or printed on or with the article or drug, to the effect that the same is mixed.

Prohibition of the abstraction of any part of an article 9. No person shall, with the intent that the same may be sold in its altered state without notice, abstract from an article of food any part of it so as to affect injuriously its quality, substance, or nature, and no person shall sell any article so altered without making dis-

What arc deemed nuisances under this Act.

(a) This definition of the term "nuisances" is by the Sanitary Act, 1866, section 19, extended to houses overcrowded, fireplaces, furnaces and chimneys (not in private dwelling houses) in the condition described in that section; see the Act post. The 108 section of the Public Health Act, 1875, empowering local authorities to proceed in case of nuisances caused by acts or defaults without their district, is extended to the metropolis so far as to authorize certain proceedings to be taken under it by any nuisance authority (i.e. the local authority in the metropolis for the execution of the Nuisances Removal Act, 1855, and the Acts amending the same) in respect of nuisances within the area of their jurisdiction caused by acts, &c., within the district of a local authority under the Public Health Act. It had been previously decided that where certain brewers had poured refuse into a river in one parish and created a nuisance in another, the local authority could not prefer a complaint: R. v. The dripping of water from a railway bridge upon a highway underneath, was held not to be a nuisance within this Act: Great Western Railway Company v. Bishop, L. R. 7 Q. B. 550; 41 L. J. M. C. 120; as to nuisances within this Act see Soltan v. De Held, 2 Sim. (N.s.) 133.

The escape of sulphuretted hydrogen gas from a sewer which appellants were bound to cleanse, was held a nuisance within this section (8), and respondents might make complaint though they might have contributed to the nuisance: St. Helen's Chemical Company v. Corporation of St. Helen's, L. R. 1 Ex. D. (C. A.) 196.

A house which is so overcrowded as to be dangerous or prejudicial to the health of the inmates, is included within the definitions of "nuisances" in section 19 of 29 & 30 Vict. c. 90, although occupied by one family only: Guard. of Rye Union v. Payne, 40 J. P. 166; 44 L. J. M. C. 148.

An order to discontinue black smoke under a repealed Act was held to be a "liability" within saving of repealing Act: Barnes v. Eddleston, L. R. 1

Ex. D. 102.

(b) The nuisance must be injurious to health: Great Western Railway Company v. Bishop, L. R. 7 Q. B. 550; and see Smith v. Waghorn, 27 J.P. 744; see section 53 of Sanitary Act, 1866, as to the periodical removal of manure in mews, stables, &c.

The latter is suspended from two supports from the side by means of trunnions upon which it may be made to oscillate, it is provided with a spout, the mouth of which is one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter. The socket which is to hold the thermometer is fixed at such an angle and its length is so adjusted that the bulb of the thermometer when inserted to its full depth shall be 14" below the centre of the lid.

The cover is provided with three square holes, one in the centre, $\frac{5}{5}''$ by $\frac{7}{15}''$, and two smaller ones, $\frac{7}{15}''$ by $\frac{2}{15}''$, close to the sides and opposite each other. These three holes may be closed and uncovered by means of a slide moving in grooves, and having perforations corresponding to those on the lid.

In moving the slide so as to uncover the holes, the oscillating lamp is caught by a pin fixed in the slide, and tilted in such a way as to bring the end of the spout just below the surface of the lid. Upon the slide being pushed back so as to cover the holes, the lamp returns to its original position.

Upon the cover, in front of and in line with the mouth of the lamp, is fixed a white bead, the dimensions of which represent the size of the test flame to be used.

The bath or heated vessel consists of two flat-bottomed copper cylinders (24 B.W.G.), an inner one of 3" diameter and 2½" height, and an outer one of 51" diameter and 53" height; they are soldered to a circular copper plate (20 B.W.G.) perforated in the centre, which forms the top of the bath, in such a manner as to enclose the space between the two cylinders, but leaving access to the inner cylinder. The top of the bath projects both outwards and inwards about 3"; that is, its diameter is about g" greater than that of the body of the bath, while the diameter of the circular opening in the centre is about the same amount less than that of the inner copper cylinder. To the inner projection of the top is fastened, by six small screws, a flat ring of ebonite, the screws being sunk below the surface of the ebonite, to avoid metallic contact between the bath and the oil cup. The exact distance between the sides and bottom of the bath and of the oil lamp is one-half of an inch. A split socket similar to that on the cover of the oil cup, but set at a right angle, allows a thermometer to be inserted into the space between the two cylinders. The bath is further provided with a funnel, an overflow pipe, and two loop handles.

The bath rests upon a cast-iron tripod stand, to the ring of which is attached a copper cylinder or jacket (24 B.W.G.) flanged at the top, and of such dimensions that the bath, while firmly resting on the iron ring, just touches with its projecting top the inward-turned flange. The diameter of this outer jacket is 6\frac{1}{2}". One of the three legs of the stand serves as support for the spirit lamp attached to it by means of a small swing bracket. The distance of the wick holder from the bottom of the bath is 1".

Two thermometers are provided with the apparatus, the one for ascertaining the temperature of the bath, the other for determining the flashing point. The thermometer for ascertaining the temperature of the water has a long bulb and a space at the top. Its range is from about 90° to 190° Fahrenheit. The scale (in degrees of Fahrenheit) is marked on an ivory back fastened to the tube in the usual way. It is fitted with a metal collar, fitting the socket, and the part of the tube below the scale should have a length of about 3½" measured from the lower end of the scale to the end of the bulb. The thermometer for ascertaining the temperature of the oil Schedule I. is fitted with collar and ivory scale in a similar manner to the one described. It has a round bulb, a space at the top, and ranges from about 55° F. to 150° F.; it measures from end of ivory back to bulb 24".

Note.—A model apparatus is deposited at the weights and measures department of the board of trade.

Directions for applying the Flashing Test.

1. The test apparatus is to be placed for use in a position where it is not exposed to currents of air or draughts.

2. The heating vessel or water bath is filled by pouring water into the funnel until it begins to flow out at the spout of the vessel. The temperature of the water at the commencement of the test is to be 130° Fahrenheit, and this is attained in the first instance either by mixing hot and cold water in the bath, or in a vessel from which the bath is filled, until the thermometer which is provided for testing the temperature of the water gives the proper indication, or by heating the water with the spirit lamp (which is attached to the stand of the apparatus) until the required temperature is indicated.

If the water has been heated too highly, it is easily reduced to 130° by pouring in cold water little by little (to replace a portion of the warm water) until the thermometer gives the proper reading.

When a test has been completed, this water bath is again raised to 130° by placing the lamp underneath, and the result is readily obtained while the petroleum cup is being emptied, cooled, and refilled with a fresh sample to be tested. The lamp is then turned on its swivel from under the apparatus, and the next test is proceeded with.

3. The test lamp is prepared for use by fitting it with a piece of flat plaited candle wick, and filling it with colza or rape oil up to the lower edge of the opening of the spout or wick tube. The lamp is trimmed so that when lighted it gives a flame of about 0·15 of an inch diameter, and this size of flame which is represented by the projecting white bead on the cover of the oil cup is readily maintained by simple manipulation from time to time with a small wire trimmer.

When gas is available it may be conveniently used in place of the little oil lamp, and for this purpose a test-flame arrangement for use with gas may be substituted for the lamp.

4. The bath having been raised to the proper temperature, the oil to be tested is introduced into the petroleum cup, being poured in slowly until the level of the liquid just reaches the point of the gauge which is fixed in the cap. In warm weather the temperature of the room in which the samples to be tested have been kept should be observed in the first instance, and if it exceeds 65° the samples to be tested should be cooled down (to about 60°) by immersing the bottles containing them in cold water, or by any other convenient method. The lid of the cup, with the slide closed, is then put on, and the cup is placed into the bath or heating vessel. The thermometer in the lid of the cup has been adjusted so as to have its bulb just immersed in the liquid, and its position is not under any circumstances to be altered. When the cup has been placed in the proper position, the scale of the thermometer faces the operator.

5. The test lamp is then placed in a position upon the lid of the cup, the lead line or pendulum, which has been fixed in a convenient position in front of the operator is set in motion, and the rise of the thermometer in the petroleum cup is watched. When the temperature has reached about 66° the operation of testing is to be commenced, the test flame being applied once for every rise of one Schedule 1. degree, in the following manner:—

The slide is slowly drawn open while the pendulum performs three oscillations, and is closed during the fourth oscillation.

Note.—If it is desired to employ the test apparatus to determine the flashing points of oil of very low volatility, the mode of proceeding is to be modified as follows:—

The air-chamber which surrounds the cup is filled with cold water, to a depth of 1½ inches, and the heating vessel or water bath is filled as usual, but also with cold water. The lamp is then placed under the apparatus and kept there during the entire operation. If a very heavy oil is being dealt with, the operation may be commenced with water previously heated to 120°, instead of with cold water.
