California as a Vineland.

It has been very frequently remarked that the United States possess the elements of future power and wealth in the diversity of their productions. Each section supplies the other with some material of comfort or luxury, and receives some benefit in return. No State is likely to contribute more largely to the common wealth than the new empire of the Pacific coast. The products of the country have enabled the National Government to dispense with the aid of foreign usurers, and to sustain its credit amidst unprecedented trials. Upon the return of peace, we anticipate other and not less gratifying results from development of the agricultural resources of the State. It is chiefly in the vineyards of California, however, that we of the Atlantic States are to become interested. We do not desire to see the consumption of whiskey increase; we cannot afford to buy brandies and wines from France, while our country is burdened with debt—and we ought not if we could. All experience shows that the inhabitants of wine growing districts are temperate; while in colder countries by the use of fiery potations the people are far more debased with drunkenness. This has been the case for centuries, and we do not suppose that either legislation or preaching is likely to reverse the immemorial result. The true reformer, then, will favor the production of light wines, to take the place of brain paralyzing whiskey, and the fabricated liquors into which so much good breadstuffs are every year distilled.

The vineyards on the banks of the Ohio and the upper Mississippi will furnish part of the needed supply; but no one acquainted with the soil and climate of California can doubt that it is to that State we are to look for the wines that are to make us forget Bordeaux, Rheims, Epernay, Tokay and Oporto. The main features of the western slope are Asiatic, and the products of the vines even now in infancy of the business, are far beyond anything ever seen east of the mountains. Grapes, like the black Hamburg and the Malaga, (reared here in hot-houses at great cost,) grow there luxuriantly in the open air, having all the exquisite flavor and perfume which have made them so famous. And within a few years commissioners from the State Government have visited the principal wine districts of Europe, and have brought cuttings from all the rare vines, together with such information as they could glean relating to the manufacture and care of the priceless crop. Some species may not take kindly to the strange soil; others will doubtless gain even new virtues as being transplanted. We shall not expect further that the identical flavor of the identical wine will be repeated. We shall not probably get a Chateau Margaux, nor a Romance Conti, nor a White Hermitage; it will be a new result, like the individuality of a new race of men; and when science and skill have been exhausted in the preparation of the juices, we shall have a new nomenclature, and the ranchos with their pretty Spanish names may sound as sweetly in the ears of the future connoisseur as do Rosillon or Amontillado now.

The Commissioner for California estimates that in 1860 there were six millions of vines in the State, of which nearly one-third were in Los Angeles county; and he believes that the product of these vines in 1862 will reach five millions of gallons. How many varieties of grapes suitable for wine making are now grown we are not able to say, but already we have a dozen kinds of wine, each bearing some resemblance to well known European vintages, but still having a character and flavor of its own. The 'White Wine,' (for which no one has yet invented a name,) might have been grown upon the Rhine, and if the bottle were decked with the picture of some crumbling old castle, might pass for the genuine Leutonic article, worthy of a name four or five syllables long. 'Angelica' is dedicated to maidens and tender matrons, to the invalid and the aged, for palates that enjoy a luscious sweetness without an undue exhilaration. Very quaint is its flavor; something one cannot describe on paper, any more than he could give an idea of one of the shades of mauve. 'Port' is enough like its namesake to suggest the title. Others after their kinds are produced in California, and will soon supplant foreign wines. We trust that patient skill and careful experiment will develop this new branch of industry, and that returning steamers may bring to our shore the fire and sweetness of our new Orient—that East beyond the East of fabulous times. In time it may be that gold will be the least valuable export from that wonderful region.—Boston Journal.

AN Irishman coming from Boston to Lowell took the stage in preference to the railroad, because, as he said, he could ride four times as long for the same money.

The Realities of a Battle.

No person can begin to comprehend, from a description, the terrible realities of a battle; and even those who participate are competent to speak only of their own personal experience. Where friends and foes are falling by scores, and every species of missile is flying through the air, threatening each instant to send one into eternity, little time is afforded for more observation or reflection than is required for personal safety. The scene is one of the most exciting and exhilarating that can be conceived. Imagine a regiment passing you at 'double quick,' the men cheering with enthusiasm, their teeth set, their eyes flashing, and the whole in a frenzy of resolution. You accompany them to the field. They halt. An aid-de-camp passes to or from the commanding General. The clear voice of the officers ring along the lines in tones of passionate eloquence; their words short, thrilling and elastic. The word is given to march, and the body moves into action. For the first time in your life you listen to the whizzing of iron hail. Grape and canister fly into the ranks, bombshells burst overhead, and the fragments scatter all around you. A frier falls, perhaps a dozen or twenty of your comrades lie wounded or dying at your feet, a strange, involuntary shrinking steals over you which it is impossible to resist.

You feel inclined neither to advance nor recede, but are spell bound by the contending emotions of the moral and physical man. The cheek blanches, the lip quivers, and the eye almost hesitates to look upon the scene. In this attitude you may, perhaps, be ordered to stand an hour inactive, have meanwhile marking its footsteps with blood on every side. Finally the order is given to advance, to fire, or to charge. And now what a metamorphosis! With your first shot you become a new man. Personal safety is your last concern. Fear has no existence in your bosom. Hesitation gives way to an uncontrollable desire to rush into the thickest of the fight. The dead and dying around you. If they receive a passing thought, only serve to stimulate you to revenge. You become cool and deliberate, and watch the effect of bullets, the shower of bursting shells, the passage of cannon balls as they rake their murderous channels through your ranks; the plunging of wounded horses, the agonies of the dying, and the clash of contending arms which follows the dashing charge, with a feeling so calloused by surrounding circumstances that your soul seems dead to every sympathizing and selfish thought.

Such is the spirit which carries the soldier through the field of battle. But when the excitement has passed, when the roll of musketry has ceased, the noisy voices of the cannon are stilled, the dusky pall of sulphurous smoke has risen from the field, and you stroll over the theater of carnage, hearing the groans of the wounded, discovering—here, shattered almost beyond recognition, the form of some dear friend, whom only an hour before you met in the full flush of life and happiness—there another perforated by a bullet; a third with a limb shot away; a fourth with his face disfigured; a fifth almost torn to fragments; a sixth a headless corpse; the ground ploughed up and stained with blood; human brains splashed around; limbs without bodies and bodies without limbs, scattered here and there, and the same picture duplicated scores of times—then you begin to realize the horrors of war, and experience a reaction of nature. The heart opens its floodgates, humanity asserts itself again, and you begin to feel. Friend and foe alike receive your kindest sympathy. A battlefield is eminently a place that tries men's souls.

FARMERS, WRITE FOR YOUR OWN PAPER.—The editor of the Ohio Field Notes thus eloquently urges his readers to write for the paper:

Give us field news, stock news, horse talk, cattle talk, hog talk, turkey talk, bear talk, fox talk, duck and goose talk, always giving preference to the more useful and substantial items in the above list. Write early, write often, and continue to write.

Take up your rusty pens, O ye Cattle Kings, ye Horse men, ye Shepherds of hill and plain, ye Dairy men and women, Wheat growers, Corn growers, Grass growers, ye Apple Kings and Garden diggers, ye men and women of the rose tree and the pansy bed, ye lovers of the grape and the juices thereof, ye Nimrods of the bush and the saddle, ye Women of the gridiron and the frying pan, who know the mysteries of broiled quail and lordly steaks, and such generous dishes as make us stout and good natured.

A YANKEE has just discovered a plan for making ships of India-rubber, but Congress discountenances the scheme, because they are afraid that such ships, in crossing the line, would rub it out.

Modern Romance in Real Life.

The Paris correspondent of one of the English journals relates the following interesting story:

The restoration to the stage of the old play of 'Valerie,' in which M'lle Mars obtained such success as the blind heroine, has been occasioned by the immense interest thrown around the marriage which took place a short time ago at the new Russian Chapel in the Rue de la Croix. Strange is every incident connected with this union, and strangest of all, that each one should be almost identical with those of the play. The young Princess—, who had become suddenly blind from the effect of exposure to the sunlight upon the snow, had been sent to Dusseldorf to consult the great oculist of that place, and after having followed his treatment for some time, and being pronounced curable, with great care and patience and a warm climate, had been conveyed to Palermo, where she was deriving benefit from the doctor's prescriptions, and regarding herself as in a fair way of recovery, when a cold, caught by imprudently sitting on the ground, brought on inflammation and drove her once more to despair. Of course, the doctor was immediately applied to; he advised the patient remaining at Palermo, but proposed to dispatch one of his pupils, on whose attention he could rely, to watch the disease and report daily on its progress. The young man arrived and was soon installed in the family as its most valuable member. His attentions were unremitting—his exertions to please unvarying. The Princess gradually recovered the hope she had lost, and was once more pronounced so near perfect restoration to sight that the young pupil, according to the directions of the professor, was commissioned to escort her back to Dusseldorf, for the benefit of the advice and experience which could facilitate and complete the cure. The journey seems to have achieved the conquest begun at Palermo, and by the time the young doctor and his patient had arrived at Dusseldorf, a greater anxiety than that occasioned by the uncertainty of the return of sight had taken possession of the young Princess, and was shared by her medical attendant. It was a case of great delicacy and one in which the professor had staked much of his future fame; and he had called together a great number of his brother practitioners and the entire class of his pupils to be present on the day when the bandages were to be finally withdrawn from the eyes of the patient. The interest of the moment was so great that it was almost considered a solemnity, as the professor, surrounded by his friends and the students of the place, proceeded to loosen the band which held the bandage. A cry of delight escaped from the lips of the Princess as the daylight first broke upon her gaze. She glanced wildly round the assembly, and in one moment—despite her still weakened sight, seemed to scan every countenance turned with such interest towards her own, then, without an instant's hesitation, she walked across the room to where the young doctor—her friend and companion—stood, silent and trembling, concealed behind the rest, and forgetting all besides the gratitude she owed him, burst into a passion of tears! Needless to say to what degree the emotion was shared by him in whose favor it had been displayed. It will not be necessary to declare how much at first, all further progress of this attachment was opposed by the relatives of the Princess; but it may be as well to record the stoutness and determination with which she has pursued the happiness she has undertaken, and on Monday last she was united to the young doctor at the Russian Chapel, while in the evening 'Valerie' was played at the Theatre Francais, and M'lle Tordeus, who played the heroine, was loudly applauded by an enthusiastic audience, few of whom imagined that the very scene which so moved their pity had been enacted in real life but a short time before.

A GENTLEMAN observed an urchin who had a large slice of bread in his hand, and who was crying very bitterly, exclaimed:

"My son, what are you crying about?"

"Mother won't—boo hoo-oo—put any butter on my bread—boo-hoo-oo!"

"Oh, is that all? Come, dry up your tears and be a man."

"It aint so much the butter, it's the disposition of the old woman!" was the retort.

FOUND OUT.—A speaker in a meeting not long since, enlarging upon the devil, got off the following pithy words: "I tell you that the devil is a liar. For when I was about getting religion, he tried to dissuade me from it, and told me if I did get religion I could not go into gay company, and lie and steal, or any such thing, but I have found him out to be a great liar."

GEN. Wolf died Sept. 13th, 1759.

SHAKESPERIAN.—I'd rather be a tadpole, and feed upon the vitals of an Inquin than have one drop of water in the Rum I love! exclaimed Edward Adolphus, as he seized the arm of an officious waiter, who was about to pour the aqueous fluid into a jorum of punch just brewed. Suggest thou so, my noble lord? Aye, marry do I, thou child of Ethiopia! A punch with too much water, pah! I'd rather be a dog with a kettle at my tail than such a Rum'un! O, there be punches that I have tasted, heard others praise, and that highly—not to speak profanely—that neither have the taste of Punch, nor the flavor of Julep, Smash or Cocktail, have so offended my palate that I have tho't some journeyman blacksmith had made them, and not made them well, they imitated the Simon Pure so abominably. Give me the Punch that is not spoiled by water, and will engulf it all, aye, to the very dregs, as I do this. By Jove, 'tis nectar fit for Gods! Cæsar Augustus, come hither! Thou noble descendant of Ham, approach and listen! Dost thou see yonder closet? My lord, I dost. 'Tis well! within its dark and murky wall's entom'd you'll find an oblong box! raise carefully the lid, insert your opaque digits, and draw from thence a fragrant weed, which I myself, across the vasty deep, did'st bring from Cuba's balmy Isle. I'll e'en envelope my portly person for a while in aromatic vapor, and as the misty clouds curl gracefully round my brow, I'll meditate on love. Heigh, ho! Ah, Esmeralda, most exquisite of ducks! perdition catch my whiskers! but I love thee! and when I love the not, the crisis has come again. What, ho! bring forth some bivalves, acidulated and highly spiced! those denizens of the silver sand that doth fringe the frothy edge of Ocean's mighty exquisite surface! place them before me, thou dusky Scion of Africa's Sunny clime! then speedily leave the presence. Your Grace, 'tis done! So! If it were done when 'tis done, then 'twere well it were done quickly. Something too much of this. Now, for the banquet. O, my soul's joy! if after every tempest comes such CLAMS, may the winds blow till they have awakened all the babies, and let the shellfish shallop climb hills of seas Olympus high, and duck as low as Hell's from Heaven! If 'twere now to die, 'twere now to be most happy; for I fear that my stomach hath its contents so absolutely, that not another feast of clams like this succeeds in unknown fate. Edward Adolphus slumbers!

HOGS IN THE APPLE ORCHARD.—No body sends such apples to market as my neighbor, J. W. Jacobs. He always has apples to sell and gets the highest price. Folks prefer fair, large apples; and such are always packed in Jacobs' barrels. You might search them with a candle and not find a knotty fruit or a worm hole. Such Rhode Island Greenings and Roxbury Russets, I have never met with in the old States. They are as handsome as anything in the virgin soils of the west.

I was going by Jacobs' orchard last Summer, and I had the curiosity to call and examine for myself. Says I, "Neighbor, what is there in your soil that makes such smooth, large apples? They are a third bigger than anything I can get, and my trees look as well as yours."

"The secret is not in the soil," John replied, with a twinkle in his eye, "but on it. Do you see those grunthers there? My pork brings me fifty cents a pound—eight in flesh, and the balance in fruit. I began to pasture my orchard ten years ago with hogs, and since that time I have had no trouble with wormy fruit. Apples, as a general thing, don't fall from the tree unless something is the matter of them. The apple worm and curculio lay their eggs in the fruit, and the apples drop early. The pigs devour the apples, and by September every unsound apple is gone and I have nothing but fair fruit left. The crop of insects for the next year is destroyed by the pigs. They root around under the trees, keeps the soil loose, manures the land some, and works over what manure I spread. The apples help the pigs, and the pigs help the apples."

I saw John's secret at once, and have profited by it. I have never been so little troubled with insects as this spring, and I give the pigs credit for it. In turning the orchard into a pasture, put in pigs—no land pikes with snouts like levers. You might lose trees as well as insects in that case. But well bred animals, with judicious snouts, will root in a subdued and Christian-like manner.—Amer. Agri.

AMONG the conditions of sale by an Irish auctioneer, was the following: "The highest bidder to be the purchaser, unless some gentleman bids more."

Declaration of Homestead.

Persons wishing to procure a correct legal form for making out a Declaration of Homestead, as required by the Act of the last Legislature, with the acknowledgement attached thereto, will find printed blanks, on application to the KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS OFFICE. By filling out these blanks themselves, parties will be subject to no other expense than the fees for acknowledgement and record.

In another column we publish the official vote of Yolo county. It will be well for our readers to keep it for a reference.

WHEAT, BARLEY AND FLOUR.—The steamer Visalia, Capt. Zimmerman, took from this place, on Thursday last, 5,500 sacks—about 250 tons.

FAVORS.—We return thanks to E. Giddings, County Clerk, and S. Ruland, Deputy, for favors during the week.

CAMPMEETING.—The Campmeeting of the Methodist Church has been in progress since Sunday last, about one mile above Cacheville. The attendance has been very large, and much interest is manifested in spiritual affairs. We understand it will be continued until Tuesday next.

PROBATE COURT.—Estate of Wm. Wild: Petition of H. A. Pierce for Letters of Administration filed, and set for hearing 13th inst., (to-day).

Estate of Stephen Shellhammer: Final settlement of Administrator's to be made 13th inst., (to-day).

RELIEF.—We congratulate the people of Yolo on the relief sustained by the absence sine die, from the Board, of Supervisor Norton. We don't fully know what the views of his express constituents around Washington may be on the subject, but we can speak for this part of the county, and say the feeling is one of great relief to think, for the next three years we are to be rid of his supercilious bluster, self-importance, and overestimated services. He has evidently caused more discord in the Board, drawn more pay—and then did not get all he wanted—and done less good, than any Supervisor the county ever had. It is generally the practice now-a-days to eulogize dead men, whatever their faults were while living, but in this case—although we conceive Supervisor Norton politically dead, yet truth and honesty compel us to give him this flattering notice.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—The Board of Equalization wound up its labors last Monday week, after completing as nearly as possible the corrections necessary to the Assessor's work, and then met as a Board of Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors done nothing, except to complete, as far as possible, the corrections already attempted; but, after all, the members concede that it will be exceedingly difficult for the Clerk to make out anything like a regular Assessment List from the crude mass of corrections and additions made.

Bridges on Cache Creek.

The Board of Supervisors have entered into a contract with the firm of Baker & Hubbard, to construct two bridges across Cache creek, for the sum of $7,000, or $3,500 each. They make an appropriation of $2,800 for the upper bridge, and $2,300 for the lower; this, however, looks a good deal like partiality. We cannot see wherein one bridge should receive a more liberal patronage than the other from the county. The fact is, the lower bridge is solicited and advocated by the people of Knight's Landing as a means of communication with the county seat, and also to enable buyers and sellers from the south side of Cache creek, to come here to trade, instead of being forced out of the county to do their business; while, on the other hand, the upper bridge is especially the pet of Cacheville and vicinity. Now, if Cacheville had any merits in a commercial, or any other point of view, to commend it to this special consideration of $500, there would be no objection; but there is literally nothing there to attract trade—inland, isolated—without even a mill to grind a farmer's grist. It has a couple of decent country stores; but that is only one side of the accommodation. Farmers, now-a-days, need a place to sell, fully as much as a place to buy, and yet, in the face of these facts, Cacheville must be preferred to the tune of $500 of the County Road Fund, over the thriving town of Knight's Landing, with a water navigation to Red Bluff on the one side, and San Francisco on the other, with the best flouring mill in the State, with stores where goods can be purchased as reasonable as at Sacramento, with buyers of wheat for cash, and buyers of barley for cash, and in unlimited quantities; in fact, a point where trade is done, and will always be done. We never had an exalted opinion of the wisdom of our Supervisors—as in all their acts they rarely look farther ahead than the nose—but this seems the crowning climax of stupidity or prejudice, or both. We presume they thought the people of the Landing would not raise the extra twelve hundred dollars to build the lower bridge, consequently there would be but one, and that at Cacheville. In this, we think, they will find themselves mistaken. The people of the Landing have the public spirit to carry through any enterprise they undertake; and we also think they will have public spirit enough to vote for a Supervisor, when another chance occurs, who will come somewhere near doing them even handed justice.

The San Francisco Protest Orphan Asylum.

We are in receipt of a circular from the officers of this institution, wherein they make an appeal to the citizens of the State to aid them in enlarging, and preparing greater accommodations for the inmates. The high character of the officers, managers and trustees, is sufficient guarantee for the judicious application of any charitable funds they may receive; and we trust our citizens will make an effort to lend them what aid lies in their power. The following embodies the substance of the address:

The large number of inmates now under the care of the institution, and the constant applications for admission of orphans from all parts of the State, has rendered it absolutely necessary that the buildings and accommodations for children should be enlarged. Under this necessity the managers have commenced the erection of a new building, of sufficient capacity to enable them to receive all who apply. Inasmuch as this charity extends its benefits to all parts of the State, without regard or exception, to children of all religious denominations, and as the present inmates represent nearly every county of the State, the managers feel that they can with confidence invoke the charitable and benevolent feelings of all classes and creeds to aid them in their present hour of need. It is desirable and, in fact, absolutely necessary that the new building, already in a state of procedure, should be completed before the rainy season commences; and embarrassed as the institution now is for funds, the manager are compelled to call upon their fellow citizens for assistance. Any sums given for the purpose may be paid to the agent of Wells, Fargo & Co., at this place, who will immediately forward the same to San Francisco.

THE Italian rebellion is crushed, and Garibaldi is taken prisoner.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

The following dispatches are from the Sacramento Union of Sept. 10th:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—A paroled prisoner who arrived here last night, says that 50,000 rebels have crossed into Maryland. The main body of them passed over the Monocacy. He passed through their lines and counted twenty-seven batteries. This statement is believed by military men here.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8.—Rumors are in circulation that the rebels are gathering near Westminster, 22 mile from Baltimore. Some officers from there express the opinion that the rebels design moving on Baltimore.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 9.—The rebels are said to be entering Pennsylvania in force, near Hanover, York county, with the intention, no doubt, of destroying the Northern Central Railroad. Arms are being rapidly sent to the counties on the southern border.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 6.—Information from Fort Ridgely, under date of the 4th, says: The Federal force has been attacked by 250 savages, eighteen miles from the fort. During the engagement the troops managed to throw up breastworks of dead horses and earth. Behind this they held out until reinforcements arrived. Thirteen whites were killed and 47 wounded. Before the engagement our force had buried 800 of the massacred whites.

Capt. Vanderbrook, commanding Fort Abercrombie, writes that a large number of Indians had appeared around the fort, and carried off all the Government mules and cattle belonging to the post. He also says that unless reinforcements arrive soon, he will be compelled to abandon the post.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 9.—The latest information received, dated 6 o'clock last evening, says the rebel pickets were within twelve miles of Hanover, York county.

A gentleman who left Rockville, Md., yesterday afternoon, reports all quiet. Nobody knows anything positive of the rebel force at Poolesville.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Gen. Pope has been assigned to the command of the Department of the Northwest, to operate against the Indians.

The latest information from Centreville says Col. Flourney, with a regiment of cavalry, is in command there. The rebel pickets extend to within 12 miles of Alexandria.

MARTINSBURG, Va., Sept. 7.—Rebel cavalry to the number of 400 attacked the Federals stationed at this point to-day, but were repulsed with much loss. About 50 prisoners were taken with their horses and arms. Their loss in killed and wounded is not known. Ours was 2 killed and 10 wounded.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Gen. Hunter and staff have arrived, he having been superseded by Gen. Mitchell.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 6th.—Arrivals from Helena, Ark., report all quiet there. Prisoners lately captured in that vicinity report the arrival at Little Rock, a few days since, of a very large number of Texas troops, fully armed and equipped. It is reported at Helena that Rosecrans attacked the Confederates at Tupelo and was decisively repulsed.

Richmond advices to the 2d have been received. The Confederate Senate on the 2d rejected a bill concerning partisan rangers, by a vote of 9 to 10.

The new conscription law makes all subject to military duty who are between the ages of 18 and 45, and authorizes the enrollment of conscripts wherever found.

New Orleans advices to the 28th of August says: The Federals are perfectly confident of their ability to hold the city against Breckinridge.

The Grenada Appeal says: Beauregard and staff arrived at Mobile on Saturday last.

A Joint Committee of the rebel Congress has been appointed to investigate the charges against Secretary Mallory, who is said to be very unpopular amongst Secessionists. The rebels here call him the Federal right bower in the Confederate Cabinet.

The Appeal glorifies exceedingly over the late rebel successes, and seems to think the Federals are everywhere in course of ultimate extinction.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 9.—The rebels on Sunday tore up the rails for some distance on the Louisville and Frankfort Railroad, near Bagdad.

Rumors are in circulation, not traceable to any reliable source, that General Crittenden defeated a portion of Bragg's forces at Gallatin, Tennessee; also, that Bragg's entire forces are crossing Cumberland river, with a view to invade Northern Kentucky.

The rebels have burned all the bridges on the Louisville and Frankfort road, between Bagdad and Frankfort, except one over the Kentucky river.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—A Washington letter dated Sept. 5th, says: McClellan was to-night placed in command of the armies of the Potomac and Virginia. The whole army was ordered to be provided with three days rations.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—McDowell has been relieved from his command. His corps has been consolidated with Heintzelman's. McDowell has written a letter to the President asking a Court of Inquiry.

OMAHA, Sept. 8.—Letters from Sioux City say: Messengers from the Yancton agency bring information that that tribe is on the eve of rising against the whites. Some settlers of Dacotah have already been attacked. Their women and children are fleeing to Fort Randall and Sioux City for protection.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The Times editorially says: McDowell is in this city under arrest, as we are informed, on the charge of treason, by whom preferred, or on what grounds, we are not aware.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The steamer W. B. Terry was captured by guerrillas 120 miles above the mouth of the Tennessee river, on the 3d. Seventeen Government officers were taken with her.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 9.—Returns from 92 towns in the State give Republican majority of 2,900, against 6,800 last year. The aggregate vote in these towns is 5,250 less than last year. The Republicans have carried four out of five Congressional Districts, the First District being yet in doubt. There will be a large Republican majority in both branches of the Legislature, but smaller than last year.

LEAVENWORTH, Sept. 9.—On Saturday night, Quantrell, with a force estimated at 200, entered Olathe, Johnson county, Kansas. At last accounts he still held the place. Several stores were robbed. The Mirror newspaper office was demolished. Fifty recruits for Kansas regiments were captured. Governor Robinson has issued a proclamation calling upon all the citizens of the State to organize and arm for home defense.

Intelligence from Dacotah indicates serious Indian hostilities. Gov. Jayne, of that Territory, has issued a proclamation calling upon the settlers to organize. Two men have already been killed by the savages. On the morning of the 6th they made an attack within three miles of Yanktown, capital of the Territory. The Governor sends a dispatch to headquarters here, asking for a regiment, and arms and ammunition.

OMAHA, Sept. 9.—Powerful Indian bands are threatening the northern settlements of this Territory. The settlers are greatly alarmed, and are coming in with their families. The militia are being rapidly organized and drilled. It is believed that a moderate force, properly distributed along the border, will be sufficient to guard against an Indian insurrection.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Sept. 9.—One of our scouts reached Hagerstown, Md., on Sunday night, having left Middletown, eighteen miles southeast of Hagerstown, during the afternoon. He reports that the rebels are there in considerable force, and are advancing. All the rolling stock of the railroad has been removed from Hagerstown, and the telegraph office closed.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—A special correspondent of the Press, who has returned from Sykesville, Carroll county, Md., says the rebels are approaching that place, a portion of their cavalry having entered Monroe on Sunday morning. Speculation is rife in relation to the movements and purposes of Stonewall Jackson. Some say he is on his way to Gettysburg, Pa., so as to be within striking distance of Chambersburg or York, and that he is already near Hanover, while others assert that he has marched to Westminster, Md., and will move on Baltimore. Others think the latter movement merely a feint to cover his entrance into Pennsylvania.

This morning a special train, with 100 cavalry, collided with a troop train from Baltimore, near Gray's Ferry. The trains were considerably wrecked. Three men were killed and a number seriously wounded.

VINCENNES, Ind., —A special train conveying the Ninety-eighth Illinois Regiment over the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, en route to Louisville, was thrown from the track near Bridgeport last night. Five soldiers were killed and 30 or 40 wounded. Some will not recover. It is believed a switch was opened, throwing the train off the track. A man supposed to be the guilty party has been arrested.

CAIRO, Sept. 9.—Clarksville, Tenn., has again fallen into Federal hands. Col. Lowe was sent from Fort Donelson on Saturday to attack that place. On Sunday he was met by 1,500 rebels, who were quickly dispersed, 25 prisoners falling into our hands.

FT. MONROE, Sept. 8.—The Richmond Enquirer of the 6th says: The past few days have been occupied in the burial of the dead on the plains of Manassas. The movements of the armies beyond are unknown, strategy being now deemed essential by both combatants, the one for the preservation, the other for the capture of Washington.

A flag of truce brought down 600 paroled Federals, among them being 62 of Pope's officers who, since their capture, have been in close confinement.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Yesterday afternoon a detachment of Indiana cavalry went to Poolesville, which was found in possession of a rebel cavalry regiment. The enemy formed a line of battle to the right of the town. Our forces made a charge through the town. On returning they met a reinforcement, when another charge was made upon the enemy, who broke and ran, leaving several dead on the field. Our loss was one killed.

NEW STEAMSHIP LINE.—The new Nicaragua line between New York and San Francisco will commence from both sides on the 21st instant. The Moses Taylor, which has undergone a thorough overhauling at the Mare Island Navy Yard, will be the pioneer vessel of the new line from this side, and will connect with the America on the other.

VANCOUVER ISLAND.—A correspondent of the Alta writes from Victoria as follows:

Some time since the Government issued a proclamation offering a reward of $5,000 to any person who discovered gold fields in Vancouver Island, which should yield $50,000 in six months. Nothing thus far has been discovered, saving that the color may be found almost anywhere here.

It has been a matter of surprise to most people, that the agricultural lands of Vancouver Island should, for the most part, remain unoccupied, and that no progress should be made in agriculture; everything consumed here and in British Columbia being imported from foreign parts. Notwithstanding the existence of a very liberal system of pre-emption for the last two years, probably not more than a couple of dozen persons have become actual settlers in consequence. To try and remedy this anomalous state of affairs, the Government offered to convey any who wished lands, to the most favored spots. A few days since, the expedition started, consisting of about one hundred persons, accompanied by the Governor, Surveyor-General and Attorney-General; the whole being conveyed to Cowichie in H. M. S. Hecate. This experiment will show whether there are any number desirous of settlement. The supposition exists that the greater part of the expedition will return; not from the scarcity of land, but because the emigration came not to farm, but to make a pile at the diggings in a short time. The great curse of the country seems to be the desire to make a fortune rapidly. Every one knows this not likely to be the case if recourse be had to farming in V. I. and consequently that is neglected.

In consequence of a false dispatch sent by the operator at Salt Lake, to San Francisco to the effect that Pope had captured 34,000 prisoners, the Stocktoians became enthusiastic. The Independent says:

"The people became wild with excitement; bells were rung; fire engines were turned out; cannons were fired; rockets glared high and beautiful; and every demonstration of joy manifested by the people generally on hearing the glorious news. A more jubilant manifestation of gladness was never witnessed in the streets of Stockton. The platform used by public speakers before election was carried into the street in front of the Weber House; and as soon as the Stars and Stripes were wrapped around it, the people became wild in their calls for speakers. A number of gentlemen answered the call of their names and made short, patriotic speeches. There were probably as many as 800 or 1,000 men collected together at one time."

RICE.—The Farmer says, speaking of rice: As to its being a paying crop—it will pay four times as much as wheat or barley. Owing to the non-intercourse with the Carolinas, rice rules high; the best we have now comes from Honolulu, (Sandwich Islands) and is now selling at about 11 cents a pound. The "paddy" from the rice fields could be sold here for six cents. The loss in cleaning is about one-third; cost of cleaning about 1 cent. This, to the grower who gets it cleaned on his own account, would leave him about 6½ cents a pound; and rice can be raised as easily as barley, then why, with all these facts before us, has this valuable crop been thus long kept from our products?

The London Agricultural Gazette, in a notice of the agricultural department of the great International Exhibition, says:

"The finest wheat shown at any of the stands, and the finest that we have seen in the building, is the exquisite sample of 'Wheat from California,' shown by Mr. W. E. Chambers, of Mark Lane, at stand 708, of a pure cream color, every grain like its neighbor, a short, small, thin-skinned, full-bodied berry, with no stain of deeper tinge on any part of its surface, and weighing 68 pounds a bushel—this specimen may be taken as an example of what wheat ought to be. In the same are specimens of a good six-rowed barley in ear."

ORDERS FROM WASHINGTON.—A dispatch to the Bea, of Tuesday last, has the following:

Gen. Wright, the U. S. Marshal and Chief of Police Burke, yesterday received orders from the Secretary of War instructing them to place under arrest all men found uttering treasonable language against the Government.

From the 1st day of August to the 5th inst., the amount of grain exported from Stockton by two houses alone, amount to 45,000 sacks.

Knight's Landing News.

"SONNY, where is your father?"
"Father's dead, sir."
"Have you any mother?"
"Yes. I had one, but she's got married to Joe Dankin, and don't be my mother any more, 'cause he say she's got enough to do to tend to his own young 'uns."
"Smart boy! here's a dime for you."
"That's ye, sir; it's the way I get my living."
"How?"
"Why, by telling yarns to green 'uns like you, for a dime a pop."

At a recent meeting of a parish, a solemn, straight bodied, and most exemplary deacon submitted a report, in writing, of the destitute widows and others standing in need of assistance in the parish. "Are you sure, deacon, that you have embraced all the widows?" asked another solemn brother. He said he believed he had done so; but if any had been omitted, the omission could be easily corrected.

"I SAY, Sambo, were you ever intoxicated?"
"No, Julius, neber; was you?"
"Well, I was, Sambo."
"Didn't it make you feel good, Julius?"
"Yah! but golly, next morning I th' my head was a wood shed, and all the niggers in Christendom were spitting wood in it."

"WHY were you out so late last night, you rascal?"
"Oh it wasn't so very late—only a quarter of twelve."
"How dare you sit there and tell me that lie! It was three o'clock!"
"Well, isn't t'hrée a quarter of twelve, I'd like to know?"

A FAIR WARNING—A husband advertises thus: "My wife, Maria, has strayed or been stolen. Whoever returns her will get his head broke. As to trusting her, anybody can do so if they see fit; for, as I never pay my own debts, it's not likely I'll pay her'n."

WOMEN have a much finer sense of the beautiful than men. They are by far the safer umpires in matters of propriety and grace. A mere school girl will be thinking and writing about the beauty of birds and flowers, while her brother is robbing the one and destroying the other.

A COUNTRYMAN, who got a situation at the west end of London, on entering a room where there was a globe with gold fish, exclaimed, "Well, this is the first time I ever saw a red herring alive!"

A WOMAN shouldn't scratch her husband's face to keep him from running about. The best way to keep him isn't to nail him.

The man who undertook to blast his neighbor's prospects, used too short a fuse and got blown up himself.

Be just and fear not.

MANUFACTURER'S AGENTS, AND dealers in Pitt's, Ball's, Russell's, and other popular

Thrashing Machines.

Also, the following
Reapers and Mowers,

Improved for the harvest of 1862:
Burt's Eagle Combined Machine; New York do.; McCormick's do.; Heath's Eagle do.; Kentucky Harvesting Machine;

Haines' (Illinois) do.; Ball's Ohio Reaper and Mower; Manny's Improved Machine.

Esterly's Improved Machine; Rugg's Combined machine; Vermont mowing machine; Buckeye do.; Bay State do.; Molly Stark (Ohio) Mower.

And sole agents for the celebrated Nurse, Mason & Co's

Ketchum's Improved Mowers,

With or without Reaper attachments—the best mowing machine in use. They will be furnished this season at greatly reduced prices, bringing them within the reach of every farmer. These machines are very much improved, and never fail in the matted or lodged clover—cutting with equal ease the tall or tangled grass without clogging or breaking; and so close that it will save from one to five dollars' worth of hay per acre more than any other machine. They are furnished with Reaper Attachment at small cost—making them a good and serviceable combined machine; and when all other machines have failed in the tangled grain, the work has been done by the Ketchum machine to the perfect satisfaction of all. The one horse machine cuts four feet; the light two-horse machine cuts four and a half and five feet—two sizes; the heavy two-horse machine cuts five and five and a half feet, two sizes. Any boy capable of driving the machine can manage the machine; it is not liable to get out of order.

The New Bay State two-wheeled Mower.—We have purchased the patent right to the New Bay State Mower for the State of California. It is one of the many machines lately invented, and stands far ahead of all others in point of excellence as a two-wheeled mowing machine, having all the new improvements that have been fairly tested. It is very light, strong, durable machine, and cuts full four and a half feet.

The Vermont Mower.—Also, a two-wheeled machine. It is made mostly of iron, simple in construction, and can be managed with ease.

The Buckeye Machine has two driving wheels like the Vermont machine, and is simple in its construction.

The Molly Stark Mower, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a very light mower, of the Buckeye pattern.

Ball's Ohio Harvester, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a two-wheeled Reaper and Mower. Has two cutter bars—one for reaping and one for mowing. We have imported a few for trial this season.

The Kentucky Harvester cuts about five and a half feet. Said to be a very good machine.

McCormick's Reaper and Mower—a very good reaper—intended for four large horses.

Burt's Eagle Reaper and Mower, (Improved for 1862.) Baker & Hamilton, sole agents for this machine in California and Oregon.

We have imported these machines for the past two years, which were furnished to some of our neighboring farmers and thoroughly tested. They gave general satisfaction both in cutting grain and grass. The style is very much the same as the celebrated Esterly's machine, except that they are better made; have a strong iron finger bar; are hand-raking reapers and have no side draft. They have a large four foot driving wheel. The outside grain wheel is thirty inches in diameter. The driver's seat is over two iron truck wheels, each thirty inches in diameter, and the machine may be turned round without crowding the horses, as there is no weight upon their necks. They have two sets of gearing for fast and slow motion; a smooth knife for mowing, and a sickle for reaping; the back of each is made of hammered cast steel. They cut about six and a half feet, and can be worked with two light horses. We have but a few for this season's trade, owing to the fact that the great demand at the factory made it impossible for the manufacturer to fill our orders for a large number in season for shipment to this market.

Rugg's Reaper and Mower cutting six and nine feet. This machine cuts in advance of the horses, and the cutter can be raised by the driver from one to twenty-four inches. Sold very cheap.

Haines' Illinois Harvester, or Header, cuts ten feet. Improved for the harvest of 1862. We have also imported complete sets of trucks, or running gear for header-wagons, with neck yokes and whiffletrees complete.

P. Manny's Improved Combined Reaper and Mower.—This is a new style of machine, very light, yet strongly built, lately patented by P. Manny, in which there are many valuable improvements. We are willing to guarantee this Combined Reaper and Mower in every instance.

We have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash.

—ALSO—

Haying and Harvesting Tools
Of every description necessary to meet the wants of the farmers. These they have in large quantities, and can supply to traders wholesale and retail, at San Francisco prices.
