Our Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, June 22, 1862. It takes a great number of days to teach a dumb animal...

...But above ordinary men, and communication, it takes a Congressman very many years to learn the House...

...The Senate has at last agreed to the Pacific Railroad bill...

...Now, Mr. Speaker, I appeal to the gentleman from Vermont...

...I cannot add my vote to the tide of almost universal congratulation flowing on the lips of Abolitionists...

...What are the exact grounds of hope? Was not the first...

...I have been told that the slaves are "property" of their owners...

...I have received some facts corroborating the favorable statements...

DR. BROWNSON ON THE PEACE AND THE WAR POWERS OF THE GOVERNMENT.

From Brownson's Quarterly Review, for July.

Few of us who call ourselves loyal men and patriots had at the outbreak of the rebellion...

The adoption of the peace theory by the government as the constitutional theory, and many of its...

The Constitution says expressly that, "The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of death, or forfeiture, except the life of the person attainted."

...the real danger to our institutions comes from the tendency to devolve more and more of the duties of government on the President.

...clear up the confusion we have referred to as may be seen in Mr. Sumner's masterly speech...

The question might arise whether the rebels are not States rather than individuals. The States are not States until they demand the right of allegiance to the State.

The principle on which we defend the constitutional confiscation of enemy's property enables us to defend the emancipation of the enemy's slaves as a military measure.

...the power of the Commander-in-Chief to emancipate the slaves, that it is not in a military point of view...

...the military can do it only as a measure necessary to its operations, but Congress can do it as a legislative act.

...the real danger to our institutions comes from the tendency to devolve more and more of the duties of government on the President.

...we are not to be understood as recommending that Congress should not do its duty.

...the Union, we have great confidence in his shrewdness and judgment, and would treat with grave consideration his criticisms or even predictions of his course.
