TALKS OUT Doctor Talks About Food.

It is often the case that doctors themselves drift into bad habits of food and drink, although they know better, but doctors are human you know like the rest of us, but when they get into trouble they generally know better how to get out of it, and the "food" note is a common one among them.

TRIBUTE TO PASTOR

The Vernon-News says: "The city of Vernon and the surrounding district will sustain a distinct loss next week, when Rev. J. P. Westman leaves to assume the pastorate of the Centennial Methodist church of Victoria. Mr. Westman, during his residence here has built up a reputation of which any man might well be proud, and has gained for himself a large circle of friends, who, while deploring his departure, are glad to know that he will now have a much more extended field for his activities, and that in the wider circle of a large city congregation he will be afforded scope for work of a perhaps more important nature than was possible in the somewhat limited field in which he has labored here."

Trust Deeds Amendment Bill

The bill to amend the Creditors' Trust Deeds Act, 1901, was read the third time on the motion of Hon. Mr. Eberts and passed.

Judgments Act Amendment Bill

On report the following amendment (in lieu of section 3), moved by Mr. Martin, was made to the bill to amend the Judgments Act, 1890: "All judgments registered under the provisions of said chapter 33 and amending acts, after the coming into force of this act, shall rank pari passu as to the proceeds of all lands sold under any judgment, but this section shall not in any way affect judgments registered under the provisions of the 'Land Registry Act' and amending acts, nor judgments registered under said chapter 33 and amending acts, prior to the coming into force of this act."

BETTER TERMS.

It is scarcely necessary for the Colonist to quote the remarks of Senator Templeman to prove that he was once in favor of "better terms" for this province. He always has been, and is yet, in favor of justice being done to British Columbia.

PREMATURE REJOICING. The Colonist and the Mail and Empire, the two leading Tory papers of Canada, have "figured out" that the parties in Ontario have come out of the elections even.

ally elected Liberals. We sympathize sincerely with the charge of the people who alone possess the instinct of government. After the example they set for eighteen years and more no one will deny that they possess in an eminent degree an instinctive knowledge of the art of profiting to the fullest extent by the possession of power.

Dispar. There is yet hope for them. Besides a strong, active, vigorous opposition may be of great service to a province, as we have learned by experience in British Columbia. It is better for the country and better for Conservatives that the present governments of the Eastern provinces and of the Dominion should be maintained in power for another decade or so.

THE VOLCANO'S WORK.

The accounts of the disaster which befel St. Pierre are becoming more coherent and intelligible under the cooling down process through which nature and the laborers of her operations are passing. According to the statements of the observers who saw the destruction of St. Pierre or who have since visited the site of the disaster, it is evident enough that no description, either scientific or accurate, has yet been given of just what happened.

Mr. Greenhills has informed the Colonist that he is perfectly satisfied with the government's latest railway policy. He says he has no doubt that a practical agreement can be arrived at under it for the construction of a railway to the Coast.

Premier Ross had arrayed against him besides the prohibitionists who were discredited and the liquor men who were alarmed and the people who thought it was time for a change, the labor men and the socialists. The latter two parties put candidates in the field in nearly all the city constituencies, which all went Conservative.

A correspondent of the New York Engineering & Mining Journal predicts an early death to the Thunder Mountain, Idaho, boom. Speaking of one property which may be taken as a fair sample of the mountain generally, he says: "I do not see how the gold can be found to any great depth, and if the deposits are shallow then the whole thing is a failure, because no one pretends that it is a high-grade proposition, and if it is low grade there ought to be an immense body of uniform ore in order to make the treatment pay."

EMINENT PEOPLE TO ARRIVE ON EMPRESS

Passenger List Will Include a Commander-in-Chief—The Hong kong Contingent.

The Pacific liner Empress of India which will arrive from the Orient on Tuesday next, is expected to have an exceptionally large list of distinguished passengers. They will include representatives of Oriental potentates en route to London to attend the coronation of King Edward VII; army officers of all ranks from a commander-in-chief down to soldiers from Hongkong; officials of various countries, besides the numerous sightseers and tourists who usually make up the complement of passengers at this time of the year.

The commander-in-chief mentioned in another column, General Fukushima, who was in command of the Japanese army in the Japanese-Chinese war. He is a warrior of ability and is eminently honored in Japan. The Hongkong contingent consists of four officers and eighty-five men, divided as follows: Four officers, forty-three white volunteers, twenty-two Hindus, and twenty Chinese soldiers.

They are under command of Major Chapman, and will take passage from New York to London, where they are expected to arrive on the 22nd. While there they will be entertained with the other contingents in Alexandra park. It is altogether probable that they will return by the same route. The volunteer corps is made up of the following: Officers—Major Chapman (in command), Lieut. Armstrong, field battery. Field Battery—Sergeant E. Mosch, Corporal C. E. A. Hines, Bomb, S. A. Seab, Sgt. It is said in Brussels that the Boer delegates in South Africa has been secured, and that the settlement between the Boers and Great Britain will be signed in the names of the former citizens of the two South African republics, who are now in Europe, including Mr. Kruger, thus preventing the irreconcilable from continuing a guerrilla warfare on the pretext that they are obeying the orders of the Boer delegates in Europe.

SANAIMO.

Thos. Comerford, formerly of this city, who went to Cumberland to attend the funeral of Mrs. Jones, a week ago, broke quarantine and came to this city yesterday. The quarantine was for diphtheria. He was met at the wharf and placed under arrest by Provincial Constable McIndoo. He will be thoroughly fumigated and sent back to Cumberland.

MIDWAY.

Last week J. Murphy, who was in the employ of Laquime & Powers, sawmillers of this place, was crushed to death by falling into a log jam, a short distance above the mill. Just how the sad accident occurred is not known, as Murphy was alone at the time. It appears that for some time a small jam had lodged against one of the piers and Murphy had several times said that he believed he would remove it in order to prevent any damage to the pier, but Mr. Powers had warned him not to attempt its removal until the water subsided, when the work could be accomplished with less danger. The day of the accident the unfortunate man was piling slabs at the mill, and it is supposed that finding he had a little time to spare he undertook to remove the log jam. The place where the accident occurred was but a short distance from the boarding house and Murphy's cries for help were heard by some women, who rushed to the mill to inform the men at work there that a man had fallen into the river amongst the logs. All hands were quickly on the spot, but it was found that their number were insufficient to perform the work of rescuing a man whose body was forced by the boiling current, were holding the man fast and had to be removed before he could be liberated. The dogs were removed and the man, who was now dying, was taken out. Restoratives were applied but without effect, the pressure of the logs, together with the long exposure to the cold water, proved too much for the man's constitution and death came in a few minutes. Murphy leaves a widow and family, who live in the East.

NANAIMO.

That Nelson will have a celebration of which its victors will be proud may be summed up as the result of Tuesday evening's public meeting, says the News. In addition to the regatta of the North Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen, which has been scheduled for July 25th and 26th, there will be lacrosse and baseball tournaments, and a rock drilling contest. These sports, it has been suggested, shall commence on the day preceding the regatta, and continue for two days following. This arrangement should result in drawing a very large crowd to the city, and the greater the crowd the more readily will the merchants and business men contribute to the finances of the celebration. The meeting on Tuesday evening was largely attended, and from the interest manifested it may be assumed that there will be no lack of effort to make the three days in July next in every way attractive to visitors. Mayor Fletcher was in the chair, and G. C. Hodge was appointed secretary. There was a difference of opinion as to whether there should be a distinctive Dominion day celebration of whether popular sports should be pulled off in connection with the regatta. The proposition for the holding of a joint programme with the regatta was advanced by Edward Ferguson and seconded by E. C. Davison. This suggested that the sports should be held on July 24th, 25th, and 26th, and so arranged that they should conflict as little as possible with the regatta fixtures. This resolution commended itself to the majority of the meeting. The proposal of holding a distinctive Dominion day celebration failed to secure support from the meeting.

Personal.

M. J. Conig, of Crofton, arrived down from that flourishing little smelter centre last evening, and is staying at the Dominion. Mr. Conig is very enthusiastic over the future prospects of Crofton. There is already 40,000 tons of ore from the Lenora mine on the dump awaiting the completion of the smelter, which amount alone, he says, will keep the smelter going for three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nelson, who have been in the city for the past few days purchasing furniture for their new home at Dunsmuir, left this morning for home. The Quamichan hotel, when furnished, will be probably the most up-to-date house on "the line," and is admirably adapted to the trade to which it is intended to cater.

S. Robinson, master of Temple Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Dunsmuir, is in the city, a guest at the Dominion. He is here conferring with the reception committee of the local lodges for the purpose of making arrangements for the reception of the Masonic Grand Lodge, which meets here on the 12th of June.

Gerald Lipplatt and H. Trull, of Fernie, arrived from the Majland last evening and will leave for the North by the steamer Princess May on Monday evening. While here they are making their headquarters at the Queen's hotel.

Alex. Whyte and Evan Thomas, of Seattle, two mining experts who arrived from England about three months ago, left for Melbourne on business last evening by the steamer Milwaukee.

Chief Justice Hunter, after attending the assizes in the interior, returned by way of Seattle, arriving this morning on the steamer Rosalie.

Geo. C. Shaw, of G. C. Shaw & Co., left for Dawson this morning on the Klaskan City on a business trip. He expects to be away six weeks.

Samuel Harned and eleven other members of the Port Townsend baseball aggregation are staying at the Dominion hotel. E. Ehler, a mining man, after spending some days in the city, left by the steamer Cottage City for the North last evening.

J. Wallace, of the William Head quarantine station, is paying a business trip to the city. He is at the Dominion hotel.

C. Madson, master of the German bark Antigone, now lying at Chemalau's, is a guest at the Victoria hotel.

A. B. Johnson, the well known commercial man of Nanaimo, is a guest at the Victoria hotel.

A Healthy and Sound Body Will Enable Us to Battle Against the Wrongs and Injuries of Our Enemies.

Paine's Celery Compound

Banishes Disease, Establishes Health and Gives Us Physical Strength to Maintain Our Place in Life's Conflict.

Many of us find life hard and full of pain. While we cannot well avoid the sufferings that result from wrongs and injuries, we can keep ourselves from the pains and ravages of bodily ailments and diseases, and maintain that full measure of health that will enable us to meet the wrongs that assail us from day to day.

If you are rundown, fretful, despondent, irritable, sleepless, or annoyed, you are becoming physically impaired and weakened. If the relaxed and sluggish action of the excretory organs has loaded the blood and body with poison, producing headache, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver troubles, then disease is encircling you in its chains.

Prompt use of Paine's Celery Compound will save the weakened parts of the body from yielding to disease. The great medicine saves weak and enfeebled nerves from prostration and removes every feeling of exhaustion and despondency. It cures and saves those who are bound by disease and suffering and gives them a new lease of life. Mrs. J. H. Pierce, King St., St. John, N.B., writes thus:

"I suffered terribly from constipation, weakness, nervousness, kidney and liver troubles; I was also subject to those tired, weary feelings, and had a slight touch of skin disease. The first dose of Paine's Celery Compound relieved me; and now, after having taken three bottles, I feel much better. I am not constipated, I have no weak feelings, and I can eat and sleep well. It is a grand remedy, and I hope all who read this may benefit by my recommendation."

Weak Men, Read!

It is pitiable to think of the vast number of men who go on from day to day suffering mental and physical torture as a result of their weakness, while right at their doors other men are being cured of the same disease. One who has not known it himself cannot realize the feelings of a man in an advanced stage of Nervous Debility, nor does he hear it, for these men do not talk of their troubles. Even when they are fortunately led to use the remedy which is now so well known—Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt—and are cured by it, they do not mention it to their closest friends; hence the prevalence of this trouble, and the means of cure are appreciated only by those who have had experience. And yet I have thousands upon thousands of grateful patients who are willing to testify to their cures by and who would be glad to share their knowledge with others if written to. I send the names of these men to anyone who requests them. There is not another remedy in the world to prevent this. If you have a belt that breaks I will sell you one of mine at half price in exchange.

MY BOOK, devoted to the development of perfect manly vigor, with 80 pages, beautifully illustrated, will be sent, closely sealed, free to any man who wishes to recover the vigor that he has lost. It is a book written upon common sense, and any man will enjoy reading it. Write for it.

OPEN EMBROIDERY COLLAR WITH TULLE KNOT.

Something Concerning Summer Laces.

Since lace has become the trimming for all manner of gowns dressmakers have given us some unique arrangements of its filmy meshes, which in some cases produce rather startling effects.

Women will have lace upon their frocks, and also they are fond of soft, pretty collars, and yet contrasting bands and trimming effects are apt to shorten much coveted height. The problem seemed beyond solution, and it apparently had resolved itself into a question of one or the other, when some ingenious mind hit upon the scheme of coloring the lace to match the frock. Now my lady may choose as much ornamentation as she likes and still retain the appearance of long, unbroken hips. Clever, was it not?

As soon as she begins to embellish it with embroideries and palmettes of different hues then she spoils the whole effect, and the long inserted panel, deep pointed yoke

MILADY'S NEWEST SUMMER SLIPPERS & SHOON

BY ELSIE DEY.

During the summer no one now wears anything but low-cut shoes, and the lower they are even resembling slipper styles—the better they are liked. Nothing is quite so trim and smart for walking as well-shaped Oxfords, while the golf girl and the one who spends much of her time enjoying the freedom of the country choose a number of ties in varying weights of calf.

Russian calf, which is quite thin and particularly suitable for warm days, comes in both tan and black. Shoes of this service-while retaining the Cuban effect. Dull finished kid shoes made in this style are simply fastened with small black buttons, but there are vast possibilities in the way of fancy buckle ornaments. Of course, in the case of light suede or silk shoes one's taste may run riot among jewelled clasps, buttons and buckles.

Patent leather is dying hard. Notwithstanding the fact that they no longer consider it the modish footwear in Paris, there are many who cling devotedly to its varnished beauty. Extremely hot weather sees them an appearance of exaggerated smallness, as they peep from among such fascinating surroundings.

A NEW TIE WITH A COMBINATION HEEL OF CUBAN AND LOUIS QUINZE.

able leather are made upon a comfortable last, with a moderately rounded toe, which does not drop after the fashion of last season's styles. Some say that this novelty proved to be uncomfortable, so it has been abolished altogether.

With the drop toe a shoe had to be at least one size longer than usual, and that fact alone was enough to condemn it in the eyes of fashionable femininity. When did they ever take to a style which added a friction of an inch to the length of the foot?

While the drop toe met with disfavor, the reverse may be said of the Cuban heel. This high, sloping effect appears on all heavy shoes, while the Louis Quinze, with its novel variations and combinations, is the accepted thing for all other kind of footwear.

The Oxford ties shown in the illustration display a well shaped extension sole, with a straight line on the inner side. They are made of a lightweight calf, which takes a beautiful polish, not produced by a brush. There are neat perforations and stitchings, and the front is finished with extra large black enamelled eyelets, through which the broad silk laces are run. Finishing the ends of these are smart little silk tassels, which constitute one of the novelties in this line. It goes without saying that the heel is a rather high and small specimen of the Cuban variety, which shortens the apparent length of the foot, giving it a very pretty arch.

It is, perhaps, more difficult to find something new and satisfactory in the way of footwear than in any other department of the feminine wardrobe. This may be due to the vast number of imitations put upon the market, for the smart woman demands comfort first and a style that is trim, but not aggressive.

Seeing the new ideas presented, the season, and one which is still hanging in the balance, is the Bernhard tie, of dull finished black kid. The most striking thing about this shoe, and one which the photograph shows distinctly, is the heel, which presents a novel combination of the Cuban and the Louis. It is rather daring, to say the least, but shoe women have taken so fondly to that straight, sloping line characteristic of the Spanish riding boot, it seems only natural that they will like this variation.

It is a question, however, whether the seam down the centre of the toe will find its admirers, though Miss Bernhard, when last in this country, ordered over a hundred pairs of shoes made very much after this pattern. Hers, of course, were fashioned from all kinds of delicate silks and suedes, but each pair showed a high cut over the instep, it seems directly down the centre from top to toe, and a small strap fastening across the arch. Certainly, the cut is unusual and comfortable, too, but it requires a perfectly formed foot to look well wearing such a style.

Higher Heels Than the Louis Quinze. Ordinarily Louis Quinze heels satisfied this exacting French woman, but it has remained for some original designer to introduce the above novelty. This heel is higher than the Louis, and is made of a wooden form, lightly covered with dull black kid. The inner side curves, after the mode of that country, while the line of the back is perfectly straight and slanting, and the small, fitted lift finishes the bottom in the regulation manner. The advantage of such a heel, so far as can be judged from observation, is to secure lightness and height,

It cast off, however, in favor of either dull black or prettily colored suede ties. The fad for wearing afternoon gowns and shoes to match has grown apace, and in cut one may choose either an Oxford or a shoe somewhat resembling the colonial, or, more modish yet, a Bernhard tie of soft kid or doekin.

Such a shoe demands stockings of exactly the same shade, and the effect of this sympathy in mode, tan, gray or brown, as the case may be, is extraordinarily dainty and chic.

As pretty gowned women step from carriage to curb and trip across the broad pavement one catches a glimpse now and then of just a bit of fancy pale third hosiery, matching the small high-heeled shoe and likewise the dress.

There are petticoat ruffles of fine white lace, which make a pretty background for these daintily shod feet and serve to give

All styles in vogue are reproduced in glace kid, for those who prefer that variety, but it must be admitted that the dull finish is far more fashionable.

Hosiery of the Summer Girl.

There are pretty few ties in white doekin which are effective with sheer summer frocks, and for stockings to wear with these one may choose whatever one fancies, even including all-white.

Since the attempt to introduce white and white combined with black we have grown accustomed to seeing such styles on display in shops, though it is too early yet to predict safely just how the summer girl will receive such a decided innovation.

Of course, for evening wear, all panner of stockings are worn, the one restriction in regard to them being that they must match the shade of the slipper. Plain and open worked silk are always good taste, and for those who desire something more fanciful there are lace, intricate, embroidered, jewelled and even painted designs, which for elaborateness keep pace with the newest and most trimmed dresses.

Lace thread stockings in fancy open-work are by far the prettiest kind for ordinary wear, and just now there seems to be a vogue for designs which show tiny dots and flecks of white embroidery. With black shoes colors by no means obtain as decidedly as once they did, and it must be conceded that there is a certain chic about this black and white combination which is lacking in others of a brighter hue.

There is a liking now for more elaborate stocking, and with bits of some harmonizing color to emphasize the pattern.

Jewelled and painted stockings are reserved exclusively for evening wear, and those show to advantage above the very low cut slipper, in order not to detract from the beauty of the stocking slippers now have very little in the way of decoration, perhaps a tiny jewelled buckle or a very small, stiff bow—rarely anything more.

The liking for sandals has brought into favor a pretty slipper, made with three narrow straps, fastening at the sides with the thinnest of jewelled buttons, and sometimes with ornaments on the toe, with a buckle to match. The three-strapped one in the illustration is of wood-brown suede, showing trimmings made of fine embroidered white batwing bending. There is not the slightest stiffening of any kind, and the edging of the band makes a pretty finish at both top and bottom. This fastens at the back with small pearl buttons and loops.

At the front are arranged three straight pieces of the banding, the two under ones meeting at the centre, while the third covers this line. These are cut square off just above the bust, so that the effect is very much like that of a bishop's cravat.

While many of the smart new styles of neckwear are made with turnovers, the shops are showing quite a number of plain stocks. This does not imply that turnovers are less in vogue than formerly. On the of turquoise set in gold. These look very pretty peeping from beneath the soft, clinging draperies of a house dress.

Neckwear of the Mode. When considering smart effects in footwear one is very apt to cast a glance or two in the direction of fascinating neck trimmings. If novelties among the former are somewhat limited as to number, the same cannot be said of the latter.

Every conceivable shape, style and material contribute to this enchanting array in such a pleasing manner that all tastes, as well as every neck, may be suited.

Chief among the novelties in this line is the "bishop" stock, which bids fair to prove exceedingly attractive, adorning the trim and well-rounded throat of the girl who finds severe effects becoming.

The illustration shows one of these stocks, contrary, they have grown to be an essential part of nearly all kinds of collars and stocks.

Summer neckwear appears to have reached the very pinnacle of excellence in every respect. It is cool, which fact alone recommends it, and besides this it is comfortable. As these two characteristics have long been desired and rarely attained without sacrificing smartness and style, we may consider the newest stocks as eminently satisfactory in every respect, for certainly they are all immensely chic.

For coolness nothing could exceed the stock made of small overlapping folds of grass linen and reaching a depth of three-quarters of an inch at the top, with an inch wide open space running through the centre, then another band of folds finishing the bottom! Featherbone at the sides and back

A SMART RUSSIA N CALF OXFORD.

Once upon a time an all-lace frock was considered the very essence of beauty, but now it cannot pass muster unless its soft, clinging draperies are further enhanced by fancy lace incrustations.

Pleasures of one kind or lace fall over frills of another, while the corsage shows little patches of interwoven nettings.

And yet, with all this elaboration, in some remarkable way manages to keep a simple in effect. Paradoxical as it may sound, it is quite true, and lace gowns continue to represent elaborate simplicity.

Some time ago the fad for drying laces to match the shade of the gown received its approval from the women of fashion, and it is not at all startling to see misty effects in champagne, oyster, petawinkle, rose and deep reddish brown tints.

or waving bands and scrolls begin to assume a definite outline, which detracts from the one tone of the dress. This does not mean that with lace no other trimmings should be used. They may be, and lavishly, too, but it is much better taste to keep them more in harmony with the soft tone of the gown.

Another step in advance of this novelty is the new lace, or chiffon hat, which matches exactly the crepe or thin silk frock. Of course, it is large—the smartest hats are all far beyond medium size—and laid over the neck. This design is usually a long, cascading plume, not an ordinary one, either, but a really new effect, wherein each fluttering tendrill is weighted by a broad bit of downy tuft matching the shade of the plume.
