THREATENS TO APPLY CLOSURE RULE IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Government Tries to Limit Discussion by Opposition on Navy Bill

DESIGNS TO RUSH IT THROUGH COMMITTEE

Hon. Frank Oliver Protests on Behalf of Opposition Members

CHAIRMAN RULES OUT LIBERAL AMENDMENTS

Ottawa, March 15.—The opposition in the House of Commons was threatened with the closure last night when the government announced that it had been decided to limit discussion and not to allow opposition members the right to discuss principles of the bill. The intention to press the navy bill through the committee stage was announced by Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works who said that if the existing rules of the House did not prove sufficient to allow the passage of the bill, rules would be introduced.

The announcement was made shortly after 11 o'clock when the minister said that in case there might be any mistake or misunderstanding regarding the position of the government he desired to state certain things. As members of the House knew, the committee had been in continuous session for two weeks, and during that time the government had allowed the widest latitude. It had been desired to give the opposition every opportunity for discussion. When the bill was brought down there had been objections that the government was in league with British Unionists.

"This being an important measure, there has been the widest scope given to the discussion of the subject, but if we are to make progress we must adhere to the rules of debate, be strictly adhered to, and if the rules of debate which now apply will not be sufficient, then it will be the duty of the government to introduce such rules as will enable progress to be made. Because we recognize in all sincerity our responsibility and our duty to our fellow countrymen and our duty to the Dominion, we say in all earnestness, that we, as a government representing so large a majority of the Canadian people, can best fulfill our duty to our fellow countrymen and to the Dominion and to the Empire by passing this bill, and we are going to pass it."

Hon. Frank Oliver, who replied for the opposition, first made reference to the importance of the announcement. It was also important by reason of the fact that it was made by the minister of public works. However, it was no concern of the opposition who made the announcement. The concern of the opposition was with the measures presented to parliament.

Mr. Oliver said that he might perhaps be permitted to express his appreciation of the consideration which the minister of public works said had been extended to the opposition in connection with the consideration of the measure. It was in accordance with the views expressed by the ministers. The members of the opposition took their rights from the people, not from the government of the day. Parliament had been in continuous session for two weeks and the situation which had been developed in parliament and the country was due to the lack of consideration shown the public interest by the government. If business was not advanced the responsibility rests with the government.

The second reading of the bill had come on Thursday. On the next day the bill was taken up in committee. That same day the first clause had been passed. When the House met on the following Monday routine business had first been taken up and was considered until about 10 o'clock. At that hour the second clause of the naval bill had been taken up. That clause is the vital clause of the bill. It is the clause which really votes the money.

As to the suggestion of Hon. Mr. Rogers that the rules of the debate must be strictly enforced, Mr. Oliver said, the opposition would have no complaint to make. Properly interpreted, he said, those rules facilitate business, and if they are thus properly interpreted the opposition will have no fault to find.

Mr. Oliver then proceeded with a speech on the question under discussion. He said that the proposed contribution was neither gift nor loan, but a pawn to be used in the game of politics in Great Britain and Canada.

Premier Borden then raised the point of order that the principles of the debate had been discussed on the second reading, and that Mr. Oliver must confine himself to the details set forth in the clause.

J. A. M. Aikins, who was in the chair, sustained the point of order, and Mr. Oliver immediately appealed to the House. Speaker Borden, who was at the time, and had to be aroused.

CARTWRIGHT ON 1885 DEADLOCK

The following extract from Sir Richard Cartwright's "Life" gives an account of the deadlock of 1885, and his own opinion as to the permissibility of obstructive tactics, in certain conditions, which are of especial interest at the present juncture:

Reporter—How did you stop it?
Sir Richard—By sheer bulldog pluck and tenacity. It was a case of life or death, and we took advantage of every possible form of parliamentary obstruction. For full six months we fought the bill and the estimates inch by inch. For weeks and perhaps for months we saw the sun rise on our debates. We organized ourselves into brigades, relieving each other at regular intervals, and, in fact, left nothing undone that an opposition of our numerical strength could do.

Reporter—I wonder Sir John did not adopt the closure.

Sir Richard—It was an ugly measure for him to force through in that way, and, moreover, under our system I doubt if any closure could have got his estimates through for him. Also, in fairness to Sir John, I think he shrank from such an innovation. He was an old parliamentarian, and always greatly preferred to observe the regular parliamentary form of procedure.

Reporter—Looking back, what do you think of the business?

Sir Richard—That it was a desperate expedient, but one which was most justified under the circumstances. There is no doubt that a reckless minority under our system can block the wheels of government almost completely, and no opposition is warranted in doing this unless in self-defence against an act of gross tyranny and injustice. . . . You will bear in mind that it was always in Sir John's power to dissolve parliament and to appeal to the people to sustain him in passing this act. This he would very likely have done had he thought our case was a weak one. It would have been a just and proper punishment for a factious opposition. Still, I do not deny that we took an extreme step, and one which I would not wish to have recourse to for any less cause.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT ARMY APPROPRIATION

London, March 15.—The estimated amount which the House of Commons is to be asked to appropriate this year for expenditure on the British army is $141,000,000, against $139,300,000 last year. The sum of $1,700,000 is to be devoted to aviation.

OLNEY DECLINES

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Richard Olney, of Boston, to whom President Wilson offered the post of ambassador to Great Britain, has declined. His letter of refusal was received at the White House to-day.

This occasioned considerable delay. When he came into the House, Chairman Aikins repeated what he had said. B. Bennett, of Calgary, has taken a prominent part in the proceedings.

At an early hour this morning the opposition, who had been raising continuous objections to J. A. M. Aikins as chairman, raised the point that he could not understand French. It was agreed that the objection was well taken and Mr. Aikins was replaced by Deputy Speaker Blondin. Later on Mr. Blondin was replaced by Samuel Barker, who is still presiding.

At 5 a.m. Mr. Pugsley moved that the chairman leave the chair, this being equivalent to withdrawing the bill. The member for St. John proceeded to discuss the motion. Arthur Meighen, Portage La Prairie, here raised a point of order that Mr. Pugsley was discussing the merits of the bill previously under discussion. There was an appeal to the speaker, who upheld Mr. Meighen's point. The Liberals challenged this, and on a vote it was upheld 59 to 22.

The ruling had no visible effect on Mr. Pugsley, who persisted in discussing the merits of the previous bill, though repeatedly called to order by the chairman. Mr. Aikins ruled once again that there could be no discussion of the naval bill on a motion for adjournment.

A. K. McLean, of Halifax, then announced that he intended to discuss the Ottawa water supply, and he proceeded to do so. Mr. Meighen objected that this was out of order. Mr. McLean had ten minutes on water supply before being called to order, and then Martin (St. Mary's, Montreal) raised the point of order that Chairman Aikins was not conversant with the French language, and demanded that he leave the chair.

There was applause from the French members when Premier Borden, speaking in French, assured them that he had sent for Deputy Speaker Blondin, which would remedy the situation complained of.

F. B. Carvell, who spoke immediately after, raised a point by declaring that Acting Chairman J. A. M. Aikins had given decisions that not another man in Canada would have given, and adding that his tenure of the post of speaker was now speaking on his amendments.

At 3.45 this morning Chairman Aikins ruled the amendments out of order on the score that their purpose was to make a change in the bill's purpose. Mr. Carvell is now speaking on his amendments.

THREE MINISTERS IMPLICATED

Tancrede Marcell Says They Must Face Charges in Connection With Hon. Louis Coderre's Hochelaga Election Last November

Montreal, March 15.—"Not only one Crown Minister, but three of the members of Hon. Mr. Borden's Cabinet will have to face direct charges in connection with the last Hochelaga bye-election."

Such was the open statement made by Tancrede Marcell, one of the Opposition leaders in the fight which resulted in the re-election of Hon. Louis Coderre last November.

It has been rumored for some time past that the Opposition had in its hands, sworn affidavits which would cause a tremendous political scandal.

Mr. Tancrede Marcell, who was defeated in Bagot in the last general elections, is one of the first recruits in the National ranks. Formerly he was a journalist widely known in this province.

BORDEN GIVES NOTICE

Ottawa, March 15.—Premier Borden has given notice of a motion which indicates that the charges to be preferred on Monday against Hon. Louis Coderre, secretary of state, arising out of the conduct of the Hochelaga bye-election, will be made the subject of an immediate inquiry by the select committee on privileges and elections. The premier will move that in the committee the name of Mr. Arthur Meighen be substituted for that of Mr. Borden. That Mr. Meighen take the place of Mr. Borden, and that Mr. Rhoda be substituted for Mr. Coderre. The inference is that the committee will sit shortly, and that if the charges to be made on Monday are of a serious nature, Premier Borden will at once grant an inquiry.

DENMARK SELECTS EXPOSITION SITE

CHILE TO BE THERE

San Francisco, March 15.—Denmark planted her flag to-day on the plot of ground on which will rise her building in the Panama-Pacific Exposition in 1915. A salute of twenty-one guns from the cruiser Marblehead greeted the flag as it rose.

After the ceremonies the exposition directors gave a luncheon to the Danish court chamberlains, C. Brun, who, as minister to the United States, came here to select the site and take the title for his nation.

Santiago, Chile, March 15.—It was announced to-day that the Chilean government had accepted the invitation of the United States to take part in the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. A committee to take charge of the arrangements in America has been named at Washington, and a local committee has been selected to deal directly with exhibitors.

AURORA ARRIVES AT HOBART WITH DATA FROM MAWSON PARTY

Hobart, Tasmania, March 15.—The Antarctic exploration ship Aurora arrived in this port yesterday with valuable meteorological data secured by the members of the Mawson expedition party. The captain reports that the expedition is doing very serviceable and scientific work.

Referring to Lieut. Mawson's recent wireless message to Melbourne in connection with the terrible weather conditions existing in the Antarctic, the members of the Aurora crew state it has been proven by the party that wind has blown across the icy region at a rate of 500 miles an hour, with the result that the scientific party have suffered great privations.

MRS. PANKHURST TO MAKE NO DEFENCE

London, March 15.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst addressed a large orderly meeting in Edinburgh last night. She said she was certain to be convicted at her trial on April 1, because she would make no legal defence, but that she would immediately begin a hunger strike, and as a result of this, confidently expected to address the suffrage meeting to be held in Albert Hall, April 10.

Mrs. Pankhurst asked her audience if it was not a farcical situation which was bringing the administration of justice into contempt, when the authorities were compelled to face the dilemma of either convicting the suffragettes or allowing them to starve to death.

At 3.45 this morning Chairman Aikins ruled the amendments out of order on the score that their purpose was to make a change in the bill's purpose. Mr. Carvell is now speaking on his amendments.

CLOSURE CAN BE APPLIED ONLY BY BREAKING THE LAW AND CRIMINALLY TAMPERING WITH OUR INSTITUTIONS

In Upholding the Rights of Parliament the Opposition is Upholding the Will of the People; Custom of 46 Years in Canada Has Shown Closure Unnecessary

EMPIRE'S BEST GUARANTEE OF UNITY IS THE UNITY OF DOMINION OF CANADA

Application of Closure by Violence and Fraud Would Be the Last of a Series of Disastrous Blunders

The Opposition at Ottawa is threatened with the closure. The naval bill has not occupied a greater length of time than its importance demands. It is the Government that is compelling the House to sit all night, and thus creating the remarkable spectacle that is attracting public attention, and it is the Government that has compelled its own followers to keep silence, shirking the duty of discussion, and throwing it upon the Liberal members. It is wonderful that under such conditions the discussion maintains so high a level. Many excellent speeches are being made and strong arguments produced.

On several previous occasions obstruction has been openly practiced; by the Liberals against the Franchise Act in 1885, and against the coercion of Manitoba in 1896; by the Conservatives against reciprocity in 1911. On none of these occasions was a closure attempted. Moreover, the experience gained in these cases has not induced the Government to attempt to pass a closure bill at a time when there was no quarrel between the two parties. And that is the only right way to adopt the closure. If it is right to adopt it at all—when it can be adopted as a non-contentious measure, with the assent of both parties.

Strong Reasons Against Closure.

But there are strong reasons against the adoption of the closure in any circumstances. The executive in Canada is powerful enough, and tends to become too powerful. It has, with the aid of its Parliamentary majority, control over finance and taxation and over all important measures. It appoints the members of the Senate. It fixes the dates of elections, and calling of Parliament. There is a strong tendency for Parliament to lose its character of a deliberative assembly, and become a mere machine for registering the will of the Government.

In upholding the rights of Parliament, the Opposition is upholding the will of the people, who can bring an influence to bear upon the Government only through their elected representatives. By the custom of Parliament for forty-six years, it has been declared that the closure is not necessary or right in Canada. Moreover, whenever obstruction has been practiced, the people of Canada have afterwards endorsed the obstructionists. It is for these reasons that we have no closure law in Canada—because Parliament does not want it, and because the people do not want it.

Violent, Arbitrary, and Unconstitutional.

Therefore, if closure is applied, it will be in a violent, arbitrary, unconstitutional way. It will be by force and fraud, by an abuse of power. There is no legal means of applying the closure. It can be applied only by a gross and deliberate violation of the rules of the House, by deliberately breaking the law, by originally tampering with the institutions of the country. The fight is for freedom. We support British institutions because they are free. We want our British connection because we regard the British Empire as a bulwark of freedom. If we are to render aid to the Empire it must not come from a source polluted with violence and tyranny. We are told that a new era is dawning upon Canada, and that she must henceforth take a larger share in Imperial affairs. Surely it is of the utmost importance that the first step shall be taken freely and spontaneously. Here the first step is to be a surrender of self-government backed by coercion applied by violence and fraud. These are Mexican, not British, methods.

Unity of Canada is Best

The best guarantee of the unity of the Empire is the unity of Canada. Four years ago the Canadian Parliament presented a united front on the navy. Laurier, Foster, and Borden stood side by side for a Canadian fleet. The fleet was organized, the naval service bill passed. All that was necessary for Mr. Borden was to use the law and to enlarge and develop the fleet. Instead of that he has reversed his policy; destroyed the unity of Parliament, alarmed every friend of self-government in Canada, and broken the agreement with Australia. The application of the closure by violence and fraud would be the last of a series of disastrous blunders.—Toronto Star.

PIERPONT MORGAN IS NOT SAME MAN RELATES HORRORS OF SAN QUENTIN PRISON

Financier Arrives at Rome to Consult Pope's Physician Who Cured Morse

Rome, March 15.—J. Pierpont Morgan arrived here yesterday by special train from Naples. There is a great change in the banker's appearance since a year ago. Mr. Morgan's face is worn, his cheeks are hollow, and his eyes are dull, with a peculiar listless, wandering gaze. He has lost his usual alert and dominating air. Mr. Morgan has received no relatives or friends, and barely shook hands with a few who were awaiting him at the railroad station.

"Mr. Morgan," said Dr. Bastianelli, "is suffering from worry bordering on neurasthenia, due to his recent illness. As he had enjoyed uninterrupted good health heretofore, and relied on his robust constitution, his sudden illness surprised and unerved him."

Mr. Morgan insisted upon coming to Rome, cancelling his original plan of proceeding directly from Cairo to New York.

He was determined to consult the Pope's physician, Marchifava, who cured Charles W. Morse, the ice king, after his release from prison, when he came here, seriously ill.

JAPANESE REVENUE TOTALS $293,300,825

Tokyo, March 15.—The Japanese Diet adopted the government budget by a vote of 186 to 181. The total ordinary revenue is estimated at $255,300,825, and the extraordinary revenue $37,999,000. Against these the ordinary expenditures are $211,000,000, and the extraordinary expenditures are $32,299,000.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 15.—The twenty-six paintings by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president, which had been on sale in the gallery of the Arts and Crafts guild in this city for several weeks, were bound to-day, and sent to Washington, no offer for their purchase having been received.

MEXICANS IMPRISON THE GERMAN CONSUL

Declined to Negotiate Loan to Sonora State Authorities Who Then Seize Bank

REFUSE PASSAGE TO AMERICAN RAILWAY

Ojeda Accepts Offer to Move Out and Meet Thousand of Opposing Force

BRYAN REQUESTED TO RECOGNIZE HUERTA

Tucson, Ariz., March 15.—Max Muller, German consular agent at Hermosillo, Sonora, and manager of the Banco de Sonora, has been imprisoned by authorities of the insurgent Mexican state and the bank seized, say reliable and direct reports reaching here to-day. Muller is said to have aroused the displeasure of the state authorities by refusing to negotiate a loan. The bank was raided but only 2,000 pesos found, Muller having made some other provision for the safety of the funds.

The German consul is cut off from direct communication with his ambassador at Mexico City. He has sent out an indirect appeal to the German ambassador at Washington.

Many other business men of Hermosillo have been imprisoned owing to their refusal to make loans to the state government. Muller is said to have been the only foreigner arrested so far.

Nogales, Sonora, March 15.—Epsa Randolph, president and general manager of the Southern Pacific of Mexico, arrived here to-day to make a formal demand on General Obregon for the railway lines. The demand was either denied or ignored. The state troops holding Nogales, Sonora, are allowing no equipment of the American-owned line to cross into Arizona.

The number killed in the Nogales attack was fixed to-day at twenty. Two died in the hospital here last night. The few refugees remaining here, it is understood, are being protected by Mexican Consul-Agent Angel Aguilar, by order of the war department at Mexico City.

Naco, Ariz., March 15.—Daybreak found the contending forces in relatively the same positions as last night. Failure of the state troops to move on Naco was explained by the tardy arrival of Prefecto Bracamonte's group. On the approach of Bracamonte about 8 o'clock, making the Constitutionalistas nearly 1,000 strong, the two leaders sent a request to Ojeda to move south to meet them and so prevent any danger to Americans on this side of the line. The federal commander, with less than 500 men under his command, at first declined the invitation, saying that he would defend his position only, whereupon Calles and Bracamonte prepared to move on the town.

Nearly every Mexican family spent the night on the American side and the Mexican town was given over to Ojeda and his troops. At 8.30 o'clock this morning two troops of the Fifth Cavalry arrived from Forest, Arizona, to reinforce three troops of the Ninth Cavalry already on the ground. Sheriff Wheeler, of Tombstone, with six deputies, arrived later and demanded on the part of the Arizona state that no fighting occur on the line.

Fearing for American civilians and troops on the Arizona side of the line here, General Ojeda shortly after ten o'clock gave the command to evacuate the town. With his 475 men he marched away to the southeast, leaving his fortifications and facing an enemy twice his strength.

By 11 o'clock the battle was in progress two miles below the border. Ojeda's men charged to the top of a ridge of hills, dismounted and took skirmish positions. Calles' group advanced from the south and threw a grueling fire against the federal positions.

A. A. Hopkins, a deputy marshal, was wounded in the leg while standing at the international line.

The firing was furious from the start. The federals at once brought into play their three field pieces and the rebel outposts retreated. The federals pressed forward, encountering the main group of Calles' Constitutionalists. Each force held its position. Bracamonte's group, which was advancing on Naco at the time of Ojeda's unexpected departure, then began moving to the assistance of Calles.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Immediate recognition of the Huerta government in Mexico was urged on Secretary Bryan to-day by Major Cassius E. Gillette, U. S. A., retired, interested in mining properties in the state of Mexico.

"The sooner it is recognized by the United States the more quickly will the government be able to get money and suppress the little revolution in the outlying states," he said.

Major Gillette called at the White House, but did not see President Wilson. He would not discuss Mr. Bryan's law of recognition.

PAINTING OUT NAMES ON RESIDENCE GATES

Militant Campaigners Use Tar and Brushes and Break More Windows

ATTEMPT MADE TO WRECK RESERVOIR

London, March 15.—The latest exploit of militant suffragettes in London is the obliteration of the names on the gate posts by which houses in the residential streets are distinguished. Armed with pots of tar and brushes, they raided the Richmond district early to-day disfiguring many houses. The window-smashing campaign also was resumed this morning in the "clerk" district in Bond street and in Hoborn.

Miss Olive Hocken, arrested yesterday for attempting to set fire to a pavilion on the Roehampton golf links, agreed to abstain from militancy pending her trial, and was released on bail.

An alleged suffragette plot to wreck the great new water reservoir in the northeast of London was frustrated by the arrest this evening of a woman who was concealed in a recess of the works. She refused to give her name or any other information.

The great reservoir has an area of 416 acres and four and a half miles of embankment. Its excavation cost over $2,500,000. It is intended to supply about half of London.

LINEMEN ASK FOR BETTER CONDITIONS

General Strike Last Night in Provincial Towns by Union Men

STATEMENTS MADE BY BOTH SIDES

Vancouver, March 15.—It is understood that between 400 and 500 telephone workers in Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster, Nelson and Greenwood struck simultaneously at 5 o'clock yesterday. They demand recognition of the Electricians' Union and also improvement in their working conditions by bringing them up to standard similar to other places on the coast.

W. Farrell, president of the B. C. Telephone Company, said: "Our aim has always been to keep on good terms with employees, and with that in view we have from time to time improved their working conditions. I might say wages are higher than similar telephone men are paid anywhere else on the Pacific coast. Compared with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, which operates in all large cities from Blaine to San Diego, the highest wages are only 4¢ for journeymen. In the B. C. Telephone Company they are 35 cents higher. We believe the men acted impulsively when they ceased work abruptly without giving the company any advice whatsoever."

J. Mergenthaler, representing the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, gave the following statement: "We are looking for better working conditions. Our motive for breaking off negotiations with the B. C. Telephone Company is that after having appealed to Mr. Farrell, the manager of the B. C. Telephone Company, since last November for a change in our working conditions we were referred to a superintendent who stated that Mr. Farrell had nothing further to offer. We were also told by Mr. Farrell that it was satisfactory to him if the men actually left work."

Mr. Mergenthaler further stated that there would have been no strike if the same working conditions had been offered them as those of other telephone companies in British Columbia and generally on the Pacific coast.

"On March 2," said Mr. Mergenthaler, "we told the manager that we would vote for a strike if no satisfactory arrangement was forthcoming. They had more than ample warning. When the company states that their journeymen are better paid than those of other companies, that may be possible; but one must consider that there are five apprentices to every journeyman. The apprentices serve three years before they are considered competent and first-class workers, and their wages are not high; on the contrary, they are ridiculously low."

SHIPS FOR PANAMA

Stevens Announces Bill if Tolls Exemption is Repealed by Congress

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Representative Stevens, of California, announced to-day that if the free passage provision of the Panama Canal Act were repealed by congress he would introduce and press at the extra session a bill to provide a line of government-owned steamships from the Atlantic to the Pacific, to carry both passengers and freight. He believes the ownership and operation of a fleet of vessels by the government would act as a regulator of freight rates both by water and rail.

PACKERS OBSERVED ANNUAL SALMON DAY

Seattle, March 15.—Salmon Day, promoted by the salmon packers of the Pacific coast, was celebrated all over the United States yesterday. A huge fish was sent to President Wilson to be served at the White House. Lectures were given, and the merits of salmon and giving great numbers of recipes for serving it, and a government analysis showing salmon's superiority to beef as food, have been scattered all over the country, and the department stores have made special sales of canned salmon.

ICE BREAKS, GALT EXPERIENCES FLOODS

Galt, Ont., March 15.—Galt yesterday experienced another disastrous spring flood, which caused several thousand dollars' damage. The ice of the Grand river broke up so suddenly that all were taken unawares. The oldest residents of the town say they never saw a flood with such suddenness. The basements of all the factory buildings and houses along the east side of the river are flooded, and considerable damage to household effects was done.

HALIFAX CIVIC OWNERSHIP.

Halifax, N. S., March 15.—It is announced that a plebiscite will most likely be taken in this city to ascertain the will of the inhabitants in regard to the proposed purchase by the city of the Halifax Electric Tramways. Montreal capitalists are largely interested.

TWO BANK CLERKS EMBEZZLED MONEY

Employee of Crocker National Short $100,000, but May Not Be Prosecuted

PRESIDENT WOULD RATHER HELP HIM

San Francisco, Cal., March 15.—Charles F. Baker and Rupert T. Hooper, trusted employees of two banks in this city, have been found short in their accounts. One is in custody of detectives, charged with the embezzlement of about $2,000. The other may never be prosecuted, though more than $100,000 of the funds in his hands is said to have disappeared.

Baker, assistant cashier of the Crocker National Bank, is seriously ill at his home in Oakland. Another man was placed at his desk a few days ago and the shortage was uncovered. President William Crocker of the bank said to-day that it might be more than $100,000. The bank is protected by an insurance contract recently executed which more than covers the bonds required of all employees.

"How the bank shall act," said President Crocker, "it is too early to say. My life has been devoted to helping men. This man has fallen and may need help. This is a national bank, however, and the bank examiner has jurisdiction. What he may do I cannot say. We have gone far enough in examining the books to know that the shortage will approximate $100,000."

Baker entered the bank as a messenger boy. He is known by his associates as a man of modest tastes, and no explanation of his shortage has been found.

Hooper, head of the trust department of the Mercantile Trust Company, is closing up his affairs to-day under the eyes of private detectives, preparatory to surrendering himself on a warrant charging embezzlement of $1,925 of the company's funds.

John D. McKee, vice-president of the bank, said to-day the total shortage would reach $14,000. Hooper has been employed by the company for eight years. He is said to have engaged in real estate speculations.

CHAMBERLAIN GIVES PRESENT TO LEAGUE

Testimonial Fund of Six Thousand Pounds Presented to Tariff Reformers

London, March 15.—The Tariff Reform League at its annual meeting yesterday had a letter from Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, in which he presented his birthday testimonial fund of nearly 6,000 to the league. Mr. Chamberlain wrote: "It was not given to me to complete the work which I had begun, but I am greatly encouraged by the zeal and activity of those who have continued it. Much has already been achieved in the cause of Imperial unity, which is making rapid strides."

"The action of Canada marks a great forward step in the common organization of defence, but it still remains for us to take the next step by common organization of trade through the establishment of mutual preferences between all parts of the Empire."

A resolution reaffirming the policy of the league was moved by Sir Harry Chaplin, who declared it as true to-day as ever that there could be no effective preference without duties on foods.

Mr. Austin Chamberlain, in supporting the resolution, which was subsequently carried, hoped that they would be as considerate as they could for the weaker brother—meaning the Unionists who were opposed to food taxes. Mr. Chamberlain added, in conclusion: "I am increasingly convinced that we can appeal to his reason, and the same spirit of unity and good fellowship will induce him to meet us." (Cheers.)

Los Angeles, Cal., March 15.—A branch of the city prosecutor's office wherein women may receive legal advice from members of their own sex was established to-day. The new department, it is said, became necessary because of reluctance of women to interview men regarding their grievances. DISORDER AND CONFUSION MARK DEBATES IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Hon. Wm. Pugsley Calls for Retraction of Words Attributed in Hansard to Minister of Labor; Stormy Scenes and Denial Followed by Bedlam of Noise; Lalor Eventually Restores Quiet

Ottawa, March 15.—Scenes of confusion such as has seldom been witnessed in the House of Commons occurred yesterday afternoon, when Hon. William Pugsley quoted from Thursday's proceedings from Hansard, a discussion which occurred during the course of Hon. George Graham's speech. Mr. Graham had advanced the claim that a shipyard had been established at Forc River, Mass., at a cost of $4,000,000. According to the report of Hansard, the minister of labor had interjected the remark: "Who says so—Slippery Bill?"

Mr. Pugsley quoted the incident from Hansard, and said that it had always been his custom to treat other members of the House with respect. He said he desired to ask the minister of labor if he had made the statement attributed to him, and if it applied to himself. Mr. Crothers said that the incident was not quite correctly reported in Hansard. Attention had been drawn to the remark at the time, and Mr. Lalor, who was in the chair, had said that it did not refer to any one in particular. He added that he could not undertake to describe everything which had happened.

Mr. Pugsley said he had been informed that there were other reasons why the incident had occurred, and that they had to do with the condition in which the minister of labor was at the time. He had been told that from all appearances the honorable gentleman was at the time intoxicated.

"I must insist upon him retracting that statement," said Mr. Crothers with heat.

"I will retract when the honorable gentleman does," said Mr. Pugsley. "It would be more manly for the minister of labor to withdraw his statement with regard to me before asking me to retract."

Mr. Crothers again rose to explain that when the incident occurred on the previous day a point of order had been raised, and the chairman had given a ruling. As for the statement made by Mr. Pugsley in regard to him, it was absurd and without foundation. It was made out of whole cloth.

"All I can say is that it was mentioned by an honorable gentleman that was present," replied Mr. Pugsley. A scene of confusion such as has seldom been witnessed followed. There were cries of "order," and in a moment Chairman Armstrong, Mr. Pugsley and A. C. Boyce were all on their feet at the safe time, endeavoring to get an opportunity to speak.

Finally Mr. Armstrong exclaimed: "Will you both sit down." And the two aggressive members resumed their seats.

Then Mr. Armstrong said that he had understood Mr. Pugsley to say that he had withdrawn his remarks about the minister of labor.

"Not yet," said Mr. Pugsley. "Then the ex-minister of public works should be given an opportunity to make an explanation, ruled the chairman."

Mr. Pugsley, in the midst of much confusion, went on to say that he accepted the statement of the minister that he was not intoxicated when the incident of the previous day occurred. Apparently the honorable gentleman who had said he was, had drawn a wrong conclusion from his conduct on that occasion. Sometimes the actions of members in the House are such that a wrong impression is given.

Mr. Pugsley then proceeded to quote further from the incident as described in Hansard, and criticized the minister of labor for "allowing the dastardly imputation to remain on the records."

Hon. W. T. White then rose and tried to pour oil on the troubled waters. He thought that the ex-minister of public works, in resenting the remark made about himself, had gone too far in his reference to the condition of the minister of labor. "It was present," he said, "and the statement is without foundation."

"Do you think that the language used was such as we have a right to expect from members of the House?" asked Mr. Pugsley.

"I am not called upon to express an opinion as to that," said Mr. White. "The chairman has already given his ruling. I think the member for St. John has gone far enough in his ordinarily good judgment dictation."

Mr. Pugsley repeated his question, and Mr. White drew the attention of the House to the fact that, owing to the prolonged session, the Hansard reports are incomplete. Besides, the chairman had ruled that the remark made by Mr. Crothers did not necessarily apply to any member of the House.

Mr. Pugsley suggested that the minister of labor should state that the expression he used did not apply to a member.

"If the honorable gentleman thinks the remark does not apply to any but himself, I will withdraw," said Mr. Crothers.

"That is not a withdrawal," retorted Mr. Pugsley.

Chairman Armstrong then said that when the previous incident occurred the minister of labor had said that he did not refer to any member of the House. "The minister of labor has not so stated," said Mr. Pugsley.

He went on to describe the remark as an unkind statement. As for himself, he had nothing to retract, and desired to repeat that the remarks from the minister of labor were not creditable to him as a member of the House or as a member of the government.

Mr. Crothers said that the member for St. John had overlooked the fact that his remark in the House was made only in a general way.

being satisfied, and it looked at the moment as though trouble had all blown over.

Mr. Mackenzie, of Cape Breton rose to continue the naval debate, but was interrupted by A. C. Boyce, who created a still worse scene by insisting that Mr. Pugsley should withdraw the words "dastardly and ungentlemanly conduct," which he had used, as well as the statement that the minister of labor was in an intoxicated condition. More confusion followed, and after a time Mr. Pugsley said that he had accepted the denial of the minister of labor that he was in an intoxicated condition. It was unreasonable for the House to expect him to remain silent and not resent such words as had been used. The words which he had applied to the language of the minister of labor were only such as would properly describe it.

Mr. Boyce angrily insisted that the expressions of Mr. Pugsley were not parliamentary, and must be withdrawn.

"If you can tell me any words which would more fittingly describe the language of the minister of labor, I will use them," replied Mr. Pugsley.

Mr. White once more tried to straighten out the tangle. He thought the ex-minister was coming along pretty well, and that in the end would withdraw the unparliamentary language used.

Amidst a veritable bedlam of noise, Hon. Charles Murphy tried to ask Mr. White a question, but failed to make himself heard.

Chairman Armstrong then asked Mr. Pugsley to withdraw his expressions. He said that as he understood the situation, the minister of labor had explained that the words he used did not apply to the ex-minister.

"Ask him if he withdraws them," shouted several Liberals.

Mr. Meighen then took a hand in the fight. He intimated that it was the duty of the chairman to decide whether the words used by Mr. Pugsley should be withdrawn.

Mr. Armstrong said he had already stated that they were not parliamentary.

Mr. Pugsley stated that the words he had used were not applied to the minister of labor personally, but to his language.

Mr. Meighen rose to insist that this would not do, and was greeted with loud cries of "Sit down" from the Liberal benches.

"Let there be no misunderstanding," said Mr. Pugsley, who had managed to get the floor, "I did not apply the words to the minister, but to his language. I do not propose to withdraw them."

Mr. Meighen then again tried to get the floor, but was met with Liberal shouts of "The chairman has given his ruling."

Then there was a lull, and Mr. Mackenzie, rising, said: "I think the easiest way out of this difficulty is to start something else."

He then prepared to proceed to his speech, but was interrupted by Mr. Meighen, who insisted that Mr. Pugsley must withdraw.

Chairman Armstrong ruled that the explanation made by Mr. Pugsley was satisfactory, and ordered Mr. Mackenzie to go on with his speech.

Mr. Meighen, however, insisted on holding the floor, and announced his intention of appealing from the ruling of the chair. Then there was more confusion. Mr. Boyce got the floor and accused the Liberals of turning parliament into a bear garden. "You are the bear," shouted one of the members. For the next few minutes the fight was confined largely to Chairman Armstrong and Mr. Meighen, who, amidst a great uproar, differed as to whether the withdrawal of the ex-minister had been complete. When Mr. Pugsley arose again he was greeted with Liberal cheers.

Then Premier Borden walked into the chamber, and was received with applause from the ministerial benches.

Mr. Pugsley said he was glad to see the premier, because his presence would insure a proper observance of the rules of the House. After some more discussion Mr. Armstrong expressed the opinion that it would be far better for Mr. Pugsley to withdraw definitely the words he had used. The ex-minister of public works said he would do so, but added:

"I would say, however, that if the language used by the minister of labor was used anywhere else than in this parliament, I would describe it as dastardly and ungentlemanly."

Mr. Lalor rose to explain that when the remark was made by Mr. Crothers he was in the chair. He did not consider that it applied to any member of the House. Had he thought it did, he would have asked the minister to withdraw it. The statement was greeted with applause from both sides of the House, and at last Mr. Mackenzie was allowed to go on with his speech.

Previous to this occurrence, speeches had been made by Mr. Knowles, Mr. Verville and A. K. Maclean.

THE SEALING QUESTION.

The federal government has become strangely lethargic in regard to the sealing question. The treaty between Great Britain and the United States is now an old story, and yet apparently nothing has been done in the way of compensating the Victoria sealing interests for the loss of a profitable industry.

WATCHING ROGERS.

Sir Richard is narrowly watching the Ottawa situation at long range. He has sent a telegram to Mr. Borden for the purpose of stiffening his backbone. The Canadian premier is not a very handy man in crises, and he has the crisis of his life to deal with at this moment.

It was an open secret at Ottawa during the formation of Mr. Borden's cabinet that Rogers demanded his inclusion in the ministry with the object of "spiking the McBride guns."

And whereas the government of Canada has decided that any scheme of naval defence to be effective must be by co-operation with the Mother Country and the other parts of the Empire.

question of naval defence be considered at the earliest possible date; and be it further resolved, that an humble address be presented to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, respectfully requesting him to forward a copy of this resolution to the secretary of state at Ottawa.

And this is what he said at the Conservative convention in Revelstoke on Saturday, October 25 last:

Do you think of how little protection you are giving the big industrial projects, not even the protection which the ordinary policeman gives in his rounds? Across the broad Pacific are wonderful peoples, and perhaps in another decade the forces of China and Japan may be marshalled together in a naval and military armament to threaten our possessions in this part of the globe.

THE COCKPIT.

Public men in Britain are not a little alarmed over the warlike enthusiasm which is stirring the French people in consequence of the decision of the government to spend $115,000,000 for military purposes. The apprehension is not alleviated by the knowledge that France is probably better prepared for war than at any time since the height of the Napoleonic conquests.

NO PERMANENT POLICY.

Everybody knows that Mr. Borden has several times announced his intention of repealing the Canadian Naval Act because, he says, it is impossible for Canada to build up an effective naval organization.

Everybody knows that Mr. Borden has several times announced his intention of repealing the Canadian Naval Act because, he says, it is impossible for Canada to build up an effective naval organization.

And whereas the government of Canada has decided that any scheme of naval defence to be effective must be by co-operation with the Mother Country and the other parts of the Empire.

involves very large and wide considerations. If Canada and the other dominions of the Empire are to take their part as nations of this empire in the defence of the empire as a whole, shall it be that we, contributing to that defence of the whole empire, shall have absolutely as citizens of this country no voice whatever in the councils of the empire?

This means that Mr. Borden will not bring down a permanent policy until Canada receives a voice in the councils of the empire, which means a voice in the foreign policy and the issues of peace and war.

There have been proposals to which I shall not more than allude that we should build up a great naval organization in Canada. In my humble opinion nothing of an efficient character could be built up in this country within a quarter or perhaps half a century.

Is not the above conclusive? It was not lightly spoken, for Mr. Borden read that speech from manuscript. And our friend the Colonist, closing its eyes to the announcements of its own leader, pretends to believe that he will bring down a permanent policy that will provide for shipbuilding on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts.

Here is a new argument in favor of a contribution: Germany is spending $250,000,000 on her army. Consequently she must retrench in her expenditure on the navy. The German army is a menace to France, and the more money spent on it the greater the menace.

It is quite evident that the New Zealand government is not satisfied with its policy of contribution to the admiralty and intends to abandon it, as Australia did.

We are glad to be informed that the intention of the Churchill memoranda is not to show that Canada will not be able to undertake the construction of warships.

A few days ago the private secretary of one of the ministers at Ottawa approached the editor of a Conservative paper with the request that he reproduce in his paper a specially prepared editorial.

chairman had been illegal owing to his lack of knowledge of French. Hon. H. R. Emmerson urged that the committee should rise so members would be able to attend Hon. John Haggart's funeral Sunday morning.

At 9:30 Chairman Blondin stated that when the chairman made a ruling, and it was sustained by the House, there would be no further appeal to the House on a ruling involving a similar point.

Mr. Macdonald then made a speech in which he said that a grave condition of financial affairs was arising through the country owing to the neglect by the government of the business of the country.

Mr. Sinclair, Guyssboro', referred to the recent fall in C. P. R. stocks as indicating that business conditions throughout the country are not what they should be.

Chairman Barker ruled that word "disrespectful" was out of order, and Mr. Bennett withdrew it.

At 11:25 Hon. Frank Oliver used as a reason of urgency why the committee should rise, that the bill in regard to the extension of South African bounties should be considered.

Mr. Gauthier (St. Hyacinthe) rose to complain of the condition of the air in the chamber, and was called to order by Hon. J. D. Hazen, who said the same statement had been made by other members.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT BY LAWS

Measure is to Be Passed by Council Amending Present Regulations.

Owing to the necessity imposed on the municipal councils of passing by-laws regulating the manner in which local improvement work shall be transacted, the city solicitor drew the attention of the city council last evening to the subject and asked that a new by-law be prepared in accordance with the terms of the act which passed the legislature at the recent session.

Alderman Gleason thought that the present by-law would require amendment. A committee, consisting of himself, Aldermen Weston and Cuthbert, was appointed to bring in a by-law after consultation with the city solicitor.

IXION PAYS FIRST VISIT NEXT WEEK

Newest of Blue Funnel Liners is Now Steaming Across Pacific to Victoria

ONE OF FINEST FREIGHT VESSELS EVER LAUNCHED

Shipping Men Will Welcome Her; Expected in on Wednesday

During the past week shipping men here were welcomed by the new Harrison liner Crown of Seville, Capt. Smith, which completed her maiden deep-sea voyage, and next Wednesday they will have to duplicate the ceremony by honoring the arrival of the steamship Ixion, Capt. Rippenhausen, on her initial trip from Liverpool. So many new modern vessels are now coming to this port that shipping men will be called upon at frequent intervals to extend the glad hand to the skippers and their crews.

The Ixion, the largest of the Blue Funnel fleet, and also the greatest vessel to come to Victoria, is now steaming across the Pacific, having left Yokohama a week ago last Friday. She has been delayed in her run from Liverpool owing to the shipment of freight at Oriental ports. The agents here do not expect her in port until Wednesday, but it is possible that she may be driven hard across the Pacific and pass the quarantine station on Tuesday. A wireless message will be received from her on Monday, and not until then will the exact time of her arrival be known.

Ixion is Real Freighter. Judging from reports received here the Ixion is one of the finest freighters ever sent out by British shipyards. Her deck has been laid out splendidly, and the hatches, winches and booms are so well arranged that cargo can be handled in a most expeditious manner. The Ixion also has the speed of a passenger steamship, being able to make 15 knots when pushed. She is 10,200 tons and can carry 17,400 tons of freight, which makes her the largest carrier plying the North Pacific with the exception of the Minnesota. She has small first-class passenger accommodation, but can handle many steerage passengers.

Next week will be a busy one for pilots and shipping men, as a number of liners will berth here. Besides the Ixion the only deep-sea vessel to berth here will be the Chicago Maru, Capt. Goto, of the Osaka fleet, which is scheduled to arrive on Thursday. She has 800 tons of cargo for this port and also many Oriental passengers.

Four Boats Leaving. On Tuesday of next week the Osaka liner Mexico Maru, Capt. Kobayashi, will sail for the Orient. The following day the Antiochus, Capt. Flynn, of the Blue Funnel line, clears for Liverpool via the Far East, and the Royal Mail steamships Zealandia, Capt. Phillips, goes to the Antipodes, and the Empress of Japan, Capt. Hopcroft, to Yokohama and Hongkong.

SPECIAL EASTER RATES.

L. D. Chatham, city passenger agent of the C. P. R., announced yesterday that special rates were to be offered between Victoria and Vancouver for Easter week. The fare will be $2.70, and the tickets will be good from Thursday, March 20, to Monday, March 24. It is expected that there will be heavy travel between the two ports during the holidays.

ROBERSON GETS HENRIETTE; OTHER PROMOTIONS IN FLEET

Chief Officer Roberson, of the G. T. P. steamer Prince Rupert, has been promoted to master of the freighter Henriette, and will take over his new berth immediately. He has been given his first command following the promotion of Capt. Danny O'Brien from the Henriette to the Prince Albert. Chief Officer Davies, of the Prince John, is to fill vacancy on the Prince Rupert caused by the removal of Capt. Roberson. First Officer McKenzie, of the Prince Rupert, will become chief officer on the Prince John. Several shifts are also being made among the G. T. P. S. Co. vessels. The officials of the G. T. P. S. Co. have had to change their officers owing to the retirement of Capt. Barney Johnson from the service.

STEFANSSON'S SHIP LEAVES GATE TO-DAY

Karluk Coming North to Esquimaux to Outfit; Captain Will Pass Examination Here

San Francisco, March 15.—According to Captain C. T. Pedersen, commanding the auxiliary power whaler Karluk, the famous old craft will leave here late to-day for Esquimaux, B. C., where the fitting-out for the exploring expedition of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the discoverer of the blonde Eskimos, will take place. The Karluk, although of American register, will fly the British flag on the three-years' exploration trip.

FIRST WHALER TO LEAVE PORT

THE WILLIAM GRANT In company with the Black, steamed out of port to-day for Sechart. The two little craft will start their operations very shortly.

Karluk, even if the registry is changed, is to pass a nautical examination conducted by the British authorities, thus getting a British license.

CLASS PRIZEFIGHTERS AS "UNDESIRABLES"

When the Pacific Coast steamship Umattilla arrived here last night an interesting clause of the immigration act was disclosed and resulted in the prohibiting of a prizefighter, Chas. Reilly, of San Francisco, from entering Canada. Reilly was coming north to fight Joe. Bailey, lightweight champion of Canada, at Steveston on March 25. He was booked to Victoria but the immigration officials refused to let him disembark.

Prizefighters, or anyone who engaged in performances of an unconstructive nature, are classed as undesirables and therefore are not permitted to land in Canada. Prizefighters who bring down big purses for their fights will no doubt be somewhat put out upon learning that they are "undesirables." Reilly was not the only one who could not disembark from the Umattilla. His trainers and the moving picture man, who was to record the fight on the film, were also refused admission to Canada, being classed as undesirables.

OCEAN WAVES SEEMED HIGH TO THE PIONEER MARINERS

The height of the highest waves has now been fixed at about 60 feet or slightly under in the south-eastern ocean, 40 feet in the Indian, from 25 to 30 in the Atlantic, and about 15 in the Mediterranean. From this it would seem that the reports of the early navigators who ventured around Cape Horn into the Pacific or around the Cape of Good Hope, declaring that they had met waves 100 to 200 feet in height, must have been created largely by their imaginations. But the vessels they sailed in were exceedingly small as compared with the ships of to-day, so it is no wonder the ocean seemed larger and the waves higher. Navigators of to-day are not lacking in courage, but it would be impossible to find any who would be willing to venture into unknown seas and uncharted coasts in such craft as sailed the sea in the days when these giant waves were reported.

UNIQUE MEANS TO PURIFY AIR BELOW

Big Electric Fans Installed Over Hatchways of Oiltanker Before Workmen Descend

GASES FORM IN HOLDS; MAKE WORK IMPOSSIBLE

Examination of Roma's Hull to Be Made When Drydock is Emptied

Before any workmen could descend into the holds of the big oil-tanker Roma this morning a number of electric fans had to be set up over the hatchways in order to purify the air below. Unless extensive precautions are taken aboard oiltankers dangerous gases generate in the holds. While the Roma was waiting in Esquimaux to enter drydock the air below became contaminated and before the officials of the B. C. Marine railway would permit their men to carry out the novel scheme of circulating the air.

It is very seldom that electric fans are used for the purpose they were to-day. In cases of shipwrecks when the cargoes in the hold generate foul gases, fans are generally used to enable the workmen to work below. The use of the fans here to-day is an innovation. Although quite a number of fans were placed in commission it took some time before workmen could make their way down into the holds, as their way down into the holds, as

SOONER SHIP SANK THAN BE CONVERTED INTO HULK

Tacoma, March 15.—"After all, I would rather hear of her going as she did than to see her finishing her career towed about by a tug, a disfigured hulk that she will come out of dock on Monday. She will proceed at once to Vancouver to discharge 14,000 barrels of oil.

The British ship Glenalvon was familiar to most of the local shippers, for she has probably made more voyages to this port than any other foreign sailing vessel afloat. Capt. Andrews has been seven times on her and she was here seven times since he retired from her. The loss of the well-known vessel was reported in a cablegram from Hamburg on Wednesday. She was out from Mifflington with a cargo of nitrate. Details of the wreck were not given, other than that she had sunk and her crew were saved.

Bound for this coast the British steamship Lord Derby was reported sailing from Shimoda, Japan, on Monday. The Derby is coming to the Sound to take out her third cargo of general merchandise. She has been chartered by Waterhouse & Co. to relieve the freight congestion.

TOW NEW LIGHTSHIP TO MOORINGS SOON

Much Work Being Carried Out on Thos. Bayard; Passing of Trim Smart Schooner

Within the next two weeks all work on the former sealing schooner Thomas F. Bayard will be completed and the once trim and speedy little vessel will take up the prosaic work of a lightship, her station being at the Sandheads off the mouth of the Fraser river. The lengthy bowsprit, which added beauty to her graceful lines, has been cut down and both her fore and main topmasts have been lifted out of her. A small cabin has been built aft and her bulwarks are being raised. In a few days when all the work on deck has been completed, the house and funnels now installed on the old lightship, will be transferred, and bolted down to the deck of the Bayard.

The Bayard was built in New York and for many years sailed out of that port as the pilot boat. She sits deeply in the water, drawing 14 feet of water aft, and as she had good sticks in her she was able to carry an immense amount of sail, which made her one of the fastest schooner-rigged vessels on the Atlantic coast. The Bayard came around the Horn and was used on the Columbia river and flew the pilot flag of the Port of Portland. Owing to her great draft she was not a desirable craft for the pilot, as when the lights were broken off the Columbia she was a nasty sea breaker off the mouth of the bar she could not cross out to sea. A syndicate of local sealing men purchased her and for a number of years she ran out of this port, and she generally brought in the best catch of the season.

Will Go on Ways.

Before the Bayard is towed to her moorings at the mouth of the Fraser river she will be placed on the ways to have her bottom, which is sheathed in copper, scraped and painted. The Bayard is staunchly built and will be well able to stand the violent jerks she will receive when tugging at her chains during heavy weather. It is a sore sight for old-time sealers to see such a beautiful schooner as the Bayard finish her days as a lightship. However, the beams shining from the big lights which will be hoisted to her mastsheads at night, will give all mariners plying the Gulf of Georgia and other waters of danger, and the mournful notes of the big diaphone for alarm aboard her will play welcome tunes to the navigators when the waters between Active Pass and Point Grey are enveloped in fog.

Tenders Are Returning.

The lighthouse tenders Quadra, Capt. Macpherson, and Leebro, Capt. Hunter, are returning to Victoria and are expected here about the middle of next week. The Quadra has been on a trip to Triangle Island and is returning via the inside passage. This morning she left Alert Bay. The Leebro has been away from port since New Year's and has carried out much buoy work in northern waters.

LARGEST HARRISON VESSEL MAY COME

Wayfarer to Come and Assist in Handling Canned Goods Trade; Here Late in Year

Victoria shipping men will probably have an opportunity late this year of inspecting the largest liner flying the three-crown house flag of the Harrison Steamship Company. A report has just been received by the Times that the officials of the company are considering a proposal to dispatch the Wayfarer, a levithan of 9,250 tons, from Liverpool. The intention is to have the mammoth freighter on this coast at the time of year when San Francisco is shipping its canned goods to the United Kingdom.

Last year the Harrison liners handled most of the canned goods business. The prospects are, however, that the shipments will be heavier this year than ever before, and the Harrison people wish to be in a position to take care of the trade. The shippers at the Bay City commence to forward their goods about the beginning of November, so it is likely that the Wayfarer will leave Liverpool about the beginning of August.

Big Cargo Lost Last Year.

An immense cargo of canned goods was lost last year, when the Workman piled up 15 miles south of Rio de Janeiro, and became a total loss. Three of the four of the Harrison "Tory" line homeward-bound cargo ships, which carried nothing but canned goods, all their cargo space have been taken by the Frisco agents. The Wayfarer will be able to handle an immense amount of cargo. During the canned goods season the Harrison people will send its largest vessels here so that not only will they be able to look after that particular line of freight in an efficient manner, but also to enable the agents at Victoria and Vancouver to secure a little space on the vessels.

GREAT CANNERY FLEET

Seattle, March 15.—Tin plate, pig tin, lead, box shooks, webbing, rope, tar, lumber, salt, groceries and general cargo amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars are accumulating in Seattle wharves to be loaded in the vessels of the Alaska cannery fleet.

Three ships, the Benjamin F. Packard and St. Paul of the Northwestern Fisheries Company's fleet, and the Abner Coburn, owned by Libby, McNeil & Libby, are now loading at the Virginia Street Dock and will be the first to leave for the North.

Approximately 12,000 boxes of tin plate, worth about $60,000, will be taken to the Chignik and Orca canneries by the ships Packard and St. Paul. About 125 pigs of tin, varying in weight from 100 to 110 pounds a pig, and valued at $50 per 100 pounds; 10,000 bundles of box shooks which were brought to Seattle yesterday morning from Anacortes by the Sound packet Samsun; Packard's supplies will be taken by a one-half car of labels; between fifty and 100 pounds of tar for tarring trap nets; from thirty to fifty carboys of acid for soldering the cans; creosoted piling for the repair of old and building of new traps; coal, 200 or 300 tons of groceries and general subsistence stores, and machinery and other miscellaneous supplies will be taken by the Packard to Chignik.

Washington, March 6.—Adjourning congress for a month was a good thing. It gives the new president a chance to turn round and democracy a reasonable time to set its face toward the higher life which the new president stands for.

While Washington is all welcome to President Wilson on the surface, the undertone is suspicious, not to say hostile. There are reasons for this. Washington is a political town and has all the likes, dislikes, fears, tremors, petty enmities, and backstairs influences that go with the name. To begin with, society is sadly shattered. Old cabinet families who have been here for sixteen years and high officials who have been Vice of Bray to three presidents are being displaced, and the parting is bitter as death. New social alignments will need to be formed. The art cult of President Wilson's womenfolk threatens to oust the music hands that play or sing are cast down, while those who paint on china are correspondingly exalted. One way and another there is the deuce to pay in the best circles.

or burst. With so many generals and admirals chained to their desks day in and day out, it is only fair that they should get a chance to show off their uniforms once in four years.

Yes, Washington loves parades—loves 'em as much as imperial Rome did circuses. And why not? Pennsylvania avenue is one of the noblest avenues in the world to parade on, long, wide, spacious, fringed with open spaces for reviewing stands, and a coup d'oeil from the treasury building, which is nothing short of beautiful. I figure it out that beginning with the suffragette parade, the afternoon of March 3rd, which was a sort of curtain raiser, and ending with the last weary wobbler of the inauguration parade waving past the court of honor at 3 p. m., March 4th, Washington had run about thirty hours solid parading. That ought to hold Washington for a while, but I venture to say that if there was a parade to-morrow—Washington would go to it with unjaded appetite. The colored brother, who is half the population of Washington, dearly loves a good show, and would make almost any parade a success with his white teeth and infectious merriment.

Coming down to brass tacks, there are thirty-two thousand government jobs in Washington that are shaking more or less in their boots. Many of them have the shelter of the civil service commission, but who knows whether the hungry democrats will not take that shelter away by act of congress? Then there are the politicians, the professional politicians, who say frankly that their professions do not include understanding a high-brow President Wilson being a mystery which they cannot fathom, they openly announce that they prefer statements from Uncle Joe Cannon and Senator Cullom, who played the game according to the old rules. That they were good rules is proved by the fact that Uncle Joe remained in congress for thirty years and only now gets his walking ticket. These men who are not in politics for their health, or for anybody else's health for that matter, like a president that will answer to Ford's description of something not too bright and good for human nature's daily food, and President Wilson doesn't fill the bill. They dread him and his absolute convictions about right and wrong. Which is probably why Bryan gets more cheers than the president. They know Bryan, or at least they think they know him, while Woodrow Wilson is a problem that hasn't been given enough under their hand to write Q. E. D. to it. They believe in a tamed Bryan, a much changed Bryan from the one of 1896, a progressive Bryan, to be sure, but a Bryan who has been wise enough to flirt with expediency whenever and wherever he considered it good politics. There is hope in Bryan, but President Wilson is inflexible and his denying himself to office-seekers right at the start, in order to have more time to govern for the people, makes him look like a hard proposition to those who were going to teach him practical politics. To add to his difficulties, President Wilson enjoys the active hatred of Wall Street and Big Money, whose Washington agents are busy poisoning the wells of public opinion and with some success. The new president will need all the prayers the common people can offer up for him, because he is very much alone in Washington. The house is democratic, true enough, but they are not all Wilson democrats, and one of President Wilson's first tasks will be to find out who are the sheep and who are the goats in his own party. The senate is democratic by one, and you know just how much moral support that is. The senate may change its party name, but changing its heart is another story.

Washington does not converse freely on the subject of President Wilson. When it is not sighing for Bill Taft's cheerful smile, it is talking about the parade. With ordinary United States people the swearing in of the president and his inaugural address are the main features of inauguration day, but with Washington people the parade is the big end of the show. It is so big in comparison with the simple ceremony of inducting the president that it is almost a case of the tail wagging the dog. The Wilson parade was the biggest ever, but as that part of the proceedings is out of the president's keeping, it cannot be held against him that what amounts to a coronation banquet falls to square with his desire for the simple life. So far as parades go there seems to be little difference between crowning a king of England and crowning a president of the United States, except, perhaps, that the old king, being dead, has not the bitterness of seeing the new one inherit all the glory. If there is any difference in parades, it is in favor of the president of the United States—his parade being just a trifle longer than that last one in London. Major-General Wood and all the other major-generals are proud—and justly so—of the Wilson parade. There were fifty thousand marchers in line, of whom thirty-five thousand were military. It beats the record, which is something for the first plain democrat in the president's chair in sixteen years to ponder over. It all goes to show what a hard time one man has to lead the simple life against the wishes of a gold-lace majority.

I am told that the early presidents were opposed to spectacular inaugurations. Indeed some people take the view that the inauguration ceremonies are not so spectacular—which they are not—but that it is the accompanying features which have grown, as they certainly have. This may be a salve to their republican consciences, but when they talk of accompanying features they are simply excusing the inauguration parade. As a peace president, Mr. Wilson may have been surprised to see in Washington on March 4th twice as many soldiers as could take Mexico, but no doubt they were better when they were than mixing it up with the Greasers. Besides, it was not his fault, but Washington's. Washington must have its inauguration parade

When Washington has a parade, it's some parade—the major-generals take care of that. Give them fifty thousand men to march around and they'll see to it that they get their belly full of marching. When they're through with the high steppers there won't be a march left in them for another month. Like the brave old Duke of York, they march them up to the top of the hill and they march them down again. Then they march them all round town with no limit as to union hours. Take the inauguration parade for example. Its elements formed up at eight in the morning, stood at ease five hours to pass a given point. It was a long parade, miles long, hours long, columns long. The crowd sat or stood through it all. It was an endurance test for marchers and spectators and they came through it well.

Canadians have a wrong notion about the simplicity of United States uniforms. The United States army, regulars and volunteers, litter as much as any other army under the sun. They may have begun quite modestly with blue and grey, but all the other colors have crept in and even the British red has an honored place. As for gold braid, it has always been there. The United States army has every uniform known to military tailors, not to mention certain chatoyan combinations and fulgurant permutations invented by General Miles himself. The soft hat is an exception, most of the battalions favoring shakos, busbies, and such-like brisk headgear. But, shimmering bright as the United States militia is, I think if the Highlanders should come swinging down Pennsylvania avenue, pipes skirling, butts wagging, sporans bobbing, they would take the shine off any of them.

The state governors lend a touch to parades which we miss in Canada. The governor himself generally wears a frock coat and a silk hat, and the same goes for the lieutenant-governors. He sits a horse as if he were born to the saddle. Where do these straight-laced, strong-chinned—that is the governor type—self-made popular heroes learn to be centaurs? I never saw one yet that couldn't ride well enough to manage a fiery steed with his left hand, leaving the right hand free to doff his hat to the applause of the multitude. That, as it may, the governor dresses simply, but his gold-lace staff, entirely composed of colonels, blinds the eye with its splendor. We must do something for our Canadian governors. As the Windsor uniform of white Kerseymere breeches, white silk stockings and slippers with buckles is not suited to horseback riding, we should at least furnish them with a bunch of colonels suitable to their dignity.

DRUNKENNESS CAN BE CURED.

Old Fallacy That Drunkenness Cannot Be Cured Exploded.

Many men drink who desire to stop the habit. Whiskey, however, has undermined the constitution and created a craving that is not to be denied and the man must have whiskey or something that will remove the craving and build up the system and restore the nerves.

Samaritan Prescription stops the craving, steadies the nerves, builds up the general health and makes drink actually distasteful and nauseous. It is tasteless and odorless and can be given with or without the patient's knowledge. In tea, coffee or food. It is used regularly by physicians and has cured thousands in Canada, and restored happiness to hundreds of homes.

Read what Mrs. G., of Hull, says of it and what it did for her.

"It is four months to-day since I started to use your remedy. I followed the directions and had the best of results. One week after I started using your remedy the patient stopped drinking and has not drunk a glass of liquor since. I hope you will accept my heartfelt thanks. Hoping God will bless your remedy wherever tried, I remain,

Mrs. G., Hull, Que. (Name withheld by request.)

Now, if there is anyone in your town who needs this remedy, tell them of it. Practical philanthropy can take no better form. If you have a husband, father, brother or friend who drinks, help them help themselves. Write to-day.

A FREE TRIAL PACKAGE of Samaritan with booklet giving full particulars, directions, testimonials, price, etc. will be sent in a plain sealed packet, to anyone mentioning this paper, to-day. Write to-day, The Samaritan Remedy Co., Dept. 75, 49 Colborne St., Toronto, Canada. Also for sale at Hall & Co.'s Drug Store, 104 Yates and Douglas Sts., Victoria, B. C.

A BIT OF SCENERY FROM A NEW ZEALAND HIGHWAY

Members of New Zealand parliament are here shown touring the southern district of that colony as guests of the Dunedin and Invercargill Chambers of Commerce. That "stone walls do not a prison make" is effectively demonstrated in this countryside picture.

OUR LETTER BOX

Letters for publication in Daily Times must be received at the Times office not later than the day before the day of publication. When received later they will be held over until the following day.

While unobjectionable anonymous communications will be published, the name and address of every writer of such letters must be given to the editor.

OUR MOUNTED FORCE.

To the Editor:—We ask that the columns of your paper take up one question which has been looked upon with amusement in the past, but which assumes serious proportions at the present.

Our mounted police cause the trouble. It seems to me that a motor driver at a pace of from fifteen to twenty miles an hour is much safer than three policemen pursuing these motors at a like speed. I noticed last night that three of our city mounted police were enjoining the lives of the exclusive purpose of keeping their eye on the dangerous and vicious automobile drivers, and in their eyes everyone who drives a motor conforms to the above application.

Upon stopping a motor they approach and accost you as if you were an escaped criminal, while a little more politeness would not cost them any effort.

I would suggest that our mounted police, whom we are all paying for, should remain inside the city limits, and cover the city a little better. The idea of riding in a bunch to one part of the city, and leaving the rest unprotected seems to me to be poor policy.

Trusting our brave mounted band will in the future be a little more careful of exceeding the speed limit themselves and take a little more care for our public safety, also thanking the paper for their valuable space, I beg to remain,

NOT A CAR OWNER, BUT A PEDESTRIAN.

IDEAS OF A PLAIN MAN.

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

She has just died. She was not beautiful, nor famous. You have never heard of her. You never will hear her name. She was one of the myriad unknown who make up this world.

But she was one of the family. That means as much as to say she was empress of Great Britain, to the circle of broken hearts that suffer because they shall see her no more.

We look at one another and turn away to hide our tears. Her absence at the table seems to reproach us for living on.

I do not say she was superlatively good, wise or strong. She was human, and we loved her.

The one fact that we cannot make real is that she will never, never come back to us.

Never is a dreadful word. Yet that place to which she is gone seems very near to us, wherever whatever it is, it is as if we could at most reach out our hand and touch it.

We could not say now so weak a thing as that we believe in a future life; we know it; we are conscious of it; because we love her, and she is there.

It is love alone upon which the conviction of immortality feeds.

Because we love, life must go on, and death is an illusion.

No argument addressed to the reason could convince us; we know, we are persuaded by the deep instinct of the heart.

TOWN HALL BY-LAW

Esquimalt Council Instructs Clerk to Prepare By-law for $15,000.

Esquimalt council instructed its clerk, A. B. Ellis, last night to prepare a by-law for the erection of a municipal hall costing $15,000. It was estimated that the job could be done for this sum as that was what Oak Bay paid. The lots were acquired for this purpose some time ago.

Skin Peeling Nature's Aid to New Complexion

(From Woman's Tribune.)

Mercerized wax is a natural beautifier. By flaking off the dehydrated surface skin, it merely hastens nature's work. The second skin layer, brought gradually to view, exhibits the healthy, youthful color produced by capillary circulation. This because the capillaries are thus brought nearer the surface; also because the new skin is unsoiled by dust and dirt. This wax, to be had at any drug store (an ounce will do) is put on nightly like cold cream, washed off mornings with warm water. Its work usually is completed in from seven to ten days, long enough not to show too marked results from day to day, or cause pain or detention indoors.

A face bath to remove wrinkles, made by dissolving an ounce of sassafras in a half pint with hazel, is another natural beautifier, since its astringent and tonic effects smooth out the wrinkles in accordance with nature's own process.

COAST CHAMPIONS DEFEATED AT SIX-MAN STYLE ALL-STARS FLYING START BEAT THE LOCALS

Senators Six Goals to the Bad After First Period; Almost Win by Brilliant Finish; Poor Exhibition of Hockey

It was lucky for the Mainland all-stars that they piled up a six-goal lead in the first period in last night's exhibition of the six-man game against the champions at the arena. The selected sextette nosed out by the odd tally in a nineteen-goal scoring nightmare, but the Senators were by far the better team after the first period. The opening session was a horrible stanza for the locals, the All-Stars gathering in the scores from every and all angles. In the second period Victoria steadied down and pulled up quite a bit, while the third "act" was all Victoria, the All-Stars willing under the terrific pressure of the six-man game. About twenty-five hundred spectators witnessed the match and the novelty of the six-man game was the big attraction. Just how Victoria can figure against Quebec in this abbreviated game was the big topic, and after a woe-filled start, the champions came through with flying colors.

Senators' Game Fight.
Six goals is a terrific handicap to any team and the gameness of the Victoria aggregation was shown when it commenced to play real hockey in the second session. The All-Stars outskated, out-scored, and completely out-played the Senators at the start of the game, but after Victoria had fathomed the mystery of the two-man attack and four-man defence, they more than held their own with the choice of the Vancouver and Westminster clubs. Had the game gone five minutes further, Victoria would have been returned a winner, but at that the Senators missed half a dozen chances to score in the last ten minutes. Never have the locals missed so many passes as they did last night, while their shooting was terrible. The scoring was entirely individual, and while this is the one big asset of six-man hockey, the game dragged fearfully at times, the players tiring faster under the strain of keeping the puck in motion. Combination play, the feature that won the championship for Victoria, was entirely missing. It being impossible to get two men to go together, the forwards straggled back on the defence for the better part of the time.

Many Players Changed.
Lester Patrick started without Poulin and Rowe, because of this pair having to wear strange outfits, their own having been lost in transport from Vancouver after the last game, but he soon called this duo into play, the Victoria leader showing excellent generalship in shifting his players, keeping his attack as fresh as possible. This helped Victoria materially, for the All-Stars had but one spare, Carl Kendall, whereas Victoria had three men in uniform, Walter Small, Bob Genge and Silent Ulrich getting into the game at different periods. This rapid changing of players bewildered the fans, and only shows how six-man hockey plays on the hockey stars. Class counts for little in the six-man game, and the goal-tand has double the shots and single-handed rushes to look after.

All-Stars Secure Lead.

Ed. Oatman opened the scoring with a lone rush and Harris made it two on a pass from Frank Patrick. Russ MacDonald got a rebound a minute later and Oatman again went through alone before Lester Patrick raised a cheer by winding from goal to goal for the first Victoria score. MacDonald snapped in another rebound shot and Fred Harris skated up the port boards for a score on a long drive. Johnson's little stunt when he scored on the rebound of his own shot closed the summary for this period, Victoria being six goals in arrears. The Senators came back with a vengeance in the second session, scoring four straight goals, Dunderdale getting the first and Genge three in a row. MacDonald took a pass from Kendall and Frank Patrick went the length of the ice for a score. Dunderdale got the next on a pass from Lester, the teams coming out for the third period with the score nine to six. Frank Patrick made it ten on a nice single-handed effort and Victoria took the next three, Dunderdale, Lester Patrick and Progers scoring in turn. The windup was exciting, but both teams missed chances, Victoria, especially, giving a loose display around the nets in the final sprint.

Only One Penalty.
Bob Genge and Lester Patrick were the pick of the Senators, though Goldie Progers showed up well in the last period. Poulin worked hard and Lindsay, after a bad start, showed class in the nets. Frank Patrick, Hugh Lehman and Ed. Oatman were the pick of the All-Stars, the work of this trio in the opening session alone being enough to defeat the Senators. Jimmie Gardner and Chef Nichols handled the game well, Genge drawing the only penalty, though a number of warnings were handed out.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON HAS HAD PLENTY

London, Eng., March 15.—Sir Thomas Lipton gave a special interview following an all-afternoon conference with his yacht designer, Mr. Nicholson, in which he said:
"Any way, I will race at the Panama exhibition at San Francisco in 1915 with a 15-metre Shamrock, which is about the size of a 75-footer. There is a different sport from the feeling in yachting—certainly there than in New York, for they have accepted my challenge under European rules."
"Concerning the New York Yacht Club's refusal of my challenge, I do not know anything officially, so I cannot say anything about plans of renewing the challenge, except that it is impossible to race a 75-footer against a 30-footer. It is too much like a tug-of-war with eight men at one end of a rope and twelve at the other. It's all 'tommy-rot' about another Englishman challenging. There have been lots of rumors about other challengers during the last ten years, I am very sorry the New York Yacht Club declined my challenge, as I have been looking forward to meeting my old rivals at Sandy Hook. My races for the America cup are over."

UNIVERSITY TRACK TEAMS IN DRAW MEET

London, March 15.—Oxford and Cambridge Universities tied with five events each in their fiftieth annual athletic sports meeting, held at Queen's Club, London, yesterday. Oxford won the weight-putting, hammer-throwing, high jump, mile flat and three-mile flat races, while Cambridge carried off the 100 yards flat, the quarter-mile flat, the half-mile flat and the 120-yard hurdle races, as well as the broad jump.
Cambridge, however, showed best, as the light blue, H. S. C. Ashington, made a new record at these sports of 22 feet 5 1/2 inches for the broad jump, and but for a bad start, D. G. Davies would easily have lowered the quarter-mile record. He was actually left five yards at the start, but a splendid spurt on the home stretch landed him the winner by six yards, only 3-5 second outside the record.
It was owing to the assistance of Will Ziegler, who won the hammer-throwing and weight-putting, improving his previous records, that Oxford was able to tie.
Another American Rhodes scholar, H. R. Stutz, of Leland Stanford University, was second for Oxford in the broad jump, while E. P. Hubble, Chicago, was third in the hammer-throwing, and C. McCormick, of Chicago, was third in the weight-putting.
King George and the Prince of Wales, the latter an Oxford student, were present, and there was an unusually large gathering of spectators in spite of the dull weather.

The South Park hockey team again proved their superiority over the Central school at the Arena this morning. The game was by far the best of the series played so far. The final score was 2-0. The work of R. Copas and Wilby for South Park was the feature. Lipeky and Hall showed class on the Central lineup. The teams:

BIG LIST OF ENTRIES FOR THE GYMKHANA

A record entry list is looked for at the Easter Monday Gymkhana of the Victoria Polo Club, which is to be held at the Willows track. Secretary Metcalfe states that there will be twelve events in all, and nearly two hundred entries have already been registered for the different contests. The secretary would like to hear from intending competitors as soon as possible, in order that the list may be printed. The club has also decided to rent some of its polo ponies for Easter Monday afternoon, and those wishing to secure these animals for the holiday can do so by applying to the secretary or at the track.
Nigger, Dr. Richards' famous hurdler, is the favorite for this event and some spirited racing is looked for when the class of the Capital break from the barrier. Messrs. Bromley, Crawford, Richards, Clarke, Henderson and Lipsky have entered their stables, Galveris, Kitamet and Matricula being entered for the flat racing.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Six-Man Hockey Does Not Appeal to Real Fan.

After viewing last night's exhibition of the abbreviated hockey at the arena last night, one does not have to figure very much how every club in the National Hockey Association but one lost money last season. If ever there was a mongrel style of sport adopted by any athletic organization, the six-man hockey fills the bill. The game is not hockey at all and places the game on the same plane as baseball with the short-stop sitting on the bench. This accounts for the rapid scoring; for once a man grabs the puck, he has but three men in front of him. Individual rushes are plentiful, but the thrilling combination of the seven-man style is conspicuous by its absence. The real stick-handler gives way to the speed merchant, and the latter, because he cannot keep up the pace, must frequently be shifted about. Fancy a player at the finish of a season being unable to last sixty minutes. But three of the Victoria team remained on the ice last night for the full game, while with but one spare, the All-Stars also made numerous changes. Six-man hockey will never take on the coast for the simple reason that it is a step backwards, and the Patrick brothers are a progressive pair who will never consent to the adoption of this style.

Victoria's Chances Against Quebec.

Now that the Senators have had a chance to get a real workout at the six-man game, Lester Patrick will be able to drill his team at this style long enough to give Quebec a battle when they play at the arena on March 24. The Ancient City crew won two championships at six-man hockey and are known as the real battlers of the N. H. A. They possess a grand pair of scorers in Joe Malone and Tommy Smith, while in Moran they have the greatest goaltender in the east. To beat them Victoria must tie up Malone and Smith. Hall, Marks and Crawford are only fair players at their best, while the Victoria is a huge bulk whose weight is its chief asset. The Senators ought to outscore the Quebec team a couple of goals in the seven-man hockey, even more if their combination is working right, while at the six-man game, the result is a toss up. If Malone gets running loose he is liable to bang through half a dozen goals, while on the other hand if the Senators can strike their stride early, they should win two straight. The third game, if one is necessary, will be played half and half.

Eliminate Matt Wells as a White Hope.

That Al Palzer's win over Matt Wells in the second round last spring was no fluke was evidenced by the second-round K. O. that Gumbo Smith put over on the English champion at New York last night. As against Palzer Wells showed himself to be a beautiful boxer, with a grand style, but apparently he is not there when it comes to swapping punches. Wells' two defeats in such lightning style about kills his chances for a bout with McCarty, and even should this pair meet, McCarty would be returned an easy winner. Wells has everything but ability to take punishment, a most necessary qualification of any fighter, even for those without championship aspirations.

QUEBEC SERIES NOW ON THE CARD

Small and Genge Will Be Used at Left Wing; Art Ross Selects His All-Star Team for Coast

Lester Patrick announced this morning that Walter Small will be back at left wing for the Quebec series, while he will probably use Bob Genge, also. The Senators are not at all discouraged over their defeat at the hands of the All-Stars, considering the team that they were opposed to, and were glad to have chance to test their strength as a six-man aggregation. The team will work out a couple of times next week, in order to brush up their team play.

All-Stars Leave.

This morning the Vancouver and Westminster teams left for Winnipeg, stopping off at Regina and Calgary, en route. They will meet the Quebec and eastern All-Star teams at the "Peg" on their return to the coast.

The N. H. A. All-Star team will be composed of the following players: Bendict, Broadbent, Roman (Ottawa); Cameron, Neighbor (Toronto); McNamara (Tucumseh); Ross, O. and S. Cleghorn (Wanderers).

Tickets for the three games series with Quebec, starting March 24, are now on sale at the P. H. Rife. Next month Frank Patrick, managing director of the Vancouver Arena, will leave for San Francisco, where he will make arrangements to start work on the big artificial ice rink which will be completed in time for the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915, when a world's series will be played between the champion teams of Canada. Construction on the rink will be started next January.

ANOTHER CHALLENGE PROBABLE

London, March 15.—Sir Thomas Lipton will reply through the Royal Ulster Yacht Club next week to the rejection of his challenge for the America's cup.

Another Challenge. New York, March 15.—In connection with reports that some other British yachtsman than Sir Thomas Lipton is a prospective challenger for the America's cup, it develops that at least one such Englishman with eyes on the cup is Charles C. Allom, owner of the first fifteen-metre cutter Istra, which has made phenomenal speed in European waters. Like Sir Thomas, however, it appears that Mr. Allom desires a race with a smaller boat than the 50-foot maximum length allowed under the deed of gift of the cup. Syndicate Boat. "I have had the project of a challenge in mind," Mr. Allom, who is in this city, is quoted to-day as saying, "but with a twenty-three metre boat under international rules, the boat to be built by a syndicate consisting of several of my friends."

NEW STYLE SIX-MAN STYLE BARRED ON COAST

"Six-man hockey will never be introduced on the coast," stated Frank Patrick, the Vancouver manager after last night's game at the Willows. "I consider the brand inferior to the seven-man style of play, and as it is the intention of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association to give its patrons the best possible hockey, we will never adopt the six-man style." Lester Patrick is not over-enthusiastic over the six-man hockey, while Jimmy Gardner, the New Westminster manager, thinks that the Coast League will make the mistake of its life should it adopt the abbreviated style.

A Game For Dead Ones. "There is not the action in six-man hockey that the rover adds to the great winter game," continued Frank Patrick, "and while it gives plenty of scope for speed skaters, the ice area is too large for the players to keep up their efforts. The game may be all right in the N. H. A., where they have been forced to bring out all manner of dead ones and has-beens, but here on the coast, where we have the cream of Canadian hockey talent, the public must be given the seven-man hockey with its wonderful combination rushes and with such players as we now possess, it would be an imposition upon the P. C. H. A. fans to ask them to patronize six-man hockey."

FRANK CHANCE BARS POKER FROM HIS BALL CLUB

New York, March 15.—Frank Chance, the New York Americans' new manager, will bar poker playing for money by his men. According to advices from the training camp at Bermuda, Chance has put into effect a rule on this matter, violation of which will involve a heavy fine. Chance believes that poker games often cause ill-feeling and jealousy among his men, there being some experts who cause trouble by "flooding" youngsters fresh from the minor leagues. Chance, however, will not insist on total abstinence from other cigarette or liquor, but drinking to excess will be dealt with severely.

HEROIC MEASURES TO EFFECT CURE

One of the methods used widely in the sanitariums of Switzerland for the cure of tuberculosis is the sun-bath. In cases where the physical equipment is sufficiently rugged to stand the shock, the patient is required to take his sun-bath even though snow covers the ground. The view shows a group of Swiss children, tuberculosis patients, taking a sun-bath at Leyrain, with the snow as a carpet.

HOURS WITH NATION BUILDERS

F. D. MONK

By Paul Bilkey

F. D. Monk has ceased to be an active factor. He is—for the time at least—out of public life; that he went out to return is doubtful. Since he went out of the Borden government he has almost passed out of men's thoughts, he is no longer talked about. This is a condition of the struggle upon which he entered sixteen years ago, and in which he failed.

Why did he fail? Why is it that his withdrawal occasioned so little stir, that his disappearance has been so easily accepted as a settled and irrevocable thing? The reason must be—and it can be stated in all friendliness to a man who passed unstained through sixteen years of fierce warfare—that he was temperamentally unfitted for the work he had to do, or thought he had to do. Mr. Monk's public career has been a pathetic exemplification of the difficulties consequent upon putting a square peg into a round hole. He occupied a position which he did not fill. Few men could fill it. Canadian politics have no more exacting and no more thankless positions to offer. The titular, if not the actual representative of a jealous, vigilant, insistent and inconstant political element, he should, to succeed, have possessed every qualification of the practical politician. He should have possessed these qualifications in their greatest degree of material usefulness. He should have been endowed with a political finesse capable of producing dividends on demand. He should have embodied the fine art of politics in its highest state of result-producing efficiency. Because he did not have those attributes he is condemned to be a failure.

It may be fairly charged that he contributed to this result by misrepresenting either himself or his people. So far from being a practical politician he is an idealist. He is a man of more than ordinary culture, a scholar, and the world of books is his proper world. It is true that a man may succeed in Canadian politics even though he be a scholar and a lover of the inner things. There have been instances of it; there are to-day one or two quite notable instances of it. But in these instances the man of culture has not been permitted to interfere unduly with the business of politics. With Mr. Monk it has been otherwise. Furthermore, he has been hampered by a super-sensitiveness which has no proper place in politics, least of all in the Quebec brand of politics. He wanted to please everybody, tried to please everybody, and suffered the inevitable consequences. He succeeded in alienating and repulsing where he sought to conciliate and attract. In his personal failure the cause for which he carried on his misdirected fight, suffered a reverse probably irretrievable.

Of both English and French descent, Mr. Monk should have been the man to have obliterated the line dividing the politics of Quebec from the politics of the rest of Canada. His father, who was the Hon. Samuel Cornwallis Monk, a judge of the Court of Queen's Bench for Quebec, came of Devonshire stock. All the world knows that there are no harder nor more loyal Englishmen than are the men of Devon. The wife of the Quebec judge was a French-Canadian from the shores of the Richelieu, a lady whose people had emigrated from France under the old regime, where upon the Swiss border, and were in part, it is said, of German blood. The name was DeBartzch.

When F. D. Monk was a youngster, George Etienne Cartier was a great figure in Quebec, his name is now a great name in Quebec and out of it. Cartier's birthplace was not far from the home of the DeBartzch family and he often visited these neighbors with whom he was on terms of friendship. F. D. Monk at the famous provincial leader then, knew him well, admired him, and was, in a sense, his student. The influence of this early association always remained.

R. L. Borden and F. D. Monk entered Parliament together. They won their seats in the election which put the Conservative party out of office after so many years and for so many years. In the hands of these two men were placed the fortunes of the Conservative party. Before the campaign of 1896 Mr. Monk's political activities had not been accounted great. After completing his education as a lawyer he had gone to Europe, spending several months in France, Italy and other European countries, widening his vision and storing up memories which have been his boon companions in later life. He was deeply impressed with the better and brighter side of European life, and afterwards as a professor at the Montreal branch of Laval University, he used to entertain the students with stories of his travels. These stories, of course, formed no part of his lectures on constitutional law. They were told at the numerous social gatherings of the students' entertainments, upon which the professor spent his money bountifully and without stint. As professor emeritus he is still beloved by the university in whose welfare he shows the keenest interest.

It has been said that as between F. D. Monk and the Conservative party, the sacrifices have all been on the side of the party. So far as political sacrifices are concerned, it is perhaps not altogether true. But of personal sacrifices Mr. Monk has unquestionably made in share, and than his fair share. Without going into other and more intimate counts—and there are such—he has given up a fortune in fighting the battles of the Conservative party. From 1896 to 1899 he contributed generously to help defray expenses properly incident to the campaign of the Montreal district. He is not of the men who have entered political life poor and have made a good thing out of it. He enters it well to do, if not rich, and he spent his money without any idea of ever getting it back.

Of his work in Parliament it is perhaps not necessary to speak. He was the recognized leader of the French-Canadian Conservative from 1901 till 1902, when he resigned, though he continued to speak for them on the floor of the House, and when the Borden Government was formed he headed the French-Canadian representation in the cabinet. His withdrawal from the Government on the 1904 referring the Dreadnought question to the people, was altogether to his credit, inasmuch as he believed that because of his personal pledges during the campaign there was no other honorable course. Not every man would have remembered, or remembered, would have so acquainted high regard by the people of Quebec, who have sent him back to Parliament as their representative with ever increasing majorities since his first election in 1896. He is the only Quebec Conservative with that record.

It has been said that as between F. D. Monk and the Conservative party, the sacrifices have all been on the side of the party. So far as political sacrifices are concerned, it is perhaps not altogether true. But of personal sacrifices Mr. Monk has unquestionably made in share, and than his fair share. Without going into other and more intimate counts—and there are such—he has given up a fortune in fighting the battles of the Conservative party. From 1896 to 1899 he contributed generously to help defray expenses properly incident to the campaign of the Montreal district. He is not of the men who have entered political life poor and have made a good thing out of it. He enters it well to do, if not rich, and he spent his money without any idea of ever getting it back.

THE EXCUSE.

New York, March 15.—The New York Yacht Club "would have accepted with pleasure an unconditional challenge for the cup similar to those it has received in the past from the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, and which have resulted in three series of matches for the cup between our respective clubs." This is, perhaps, the most striking sentence in the reply of the New York Yacht Club, declining Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for a race for the America cup in 1914.

HOPE TO DISCOVER THE TEMPLE OF ZEUS

Princeton Expedition's Work in Asia Minor Attracts Interest In England

A dispatch from London says: Attempt to discover the Temple of Zeus will occupy the attention of the Princeton expedition in Asia Minor for the next six months. Prof. Butler of Princeton, who has just procured permission from the Turkish Government to resume his work at Sardis and who left for Smyrna yesterday, discussed his project with the correspondent of The Sun before his departure.

"If we discover this we shall also surely come to a tremendous find of the Palace of Croesus," he said. "Before leaving Sardis last year we discovered a stone inscription in front of the temple of Artemis which was completely uncovered. It is said that the great temple of Zeus was founded by Alexander the Great on the ruins of the Palace of Croesus and not far away, being in the same sacred enclosure, the Temple of Artemis. There is corroborative evidence of this on a coin of Sardis now in the British Museum which shows the temples of Artemis and Zeus side by side.

"Our discoveries up-to-date consist in the complete uncovering of the Temple of Artemis, which is remarkably well preserved, and also an early Christian church with a primitive altar in perfect preservation. This is the earliest altar known. We have also discovered an unknown language, which has turned out to be Lydian, through the unearthing of a second Rosetta stone in Lydian and Aramaic. England. Assistant Director W. H. Buckler lectured on it before the Hellenic Society on January 23 in London. Prof. Arthur Evans said our discoveries were the most important ever made in Asia Minor, and asked for details of the work.

Prof. Butler said that 500 natives were now employed by the expedition, but he expected to increase the number to 600 during the coming winter. At first these natives were very shy and suspicious.

"We were obliged to do everything ourselves," said Prof. Butler, "even to take our food and cooking, owing to tales we heard that in Turkey there is a pleasant practice of putting pulverized camels' hair into coffee, which is invariably fatal after most painful illness and which cannot be discovered by a post-mortem."

"We won the confidence of the natives, and now the men and women come to me for medical help. I am their doctor, counsellor, and judge and even the family disputes are referred to me. The work of excavation is necessarily slow, as every shovelful of ground has to be gone over four times. The workmen are very careful, and every find is rewarded with back-sheesh. We pay the workmen 40 or 50 cents a day, whereas in Egypt they get only four or five cents a day."

THE CHINESE ABACUS.

The Chinese abacus is simply a counting board, on which the results of computations done in the head are tallied, as it were. It is a shallow box divided lengthwise by a bar, and having several wires crossing the box and passing through the bar. On one side of the bar are five balls, and on the other side there are two balls. The five balls stand for units, and the two balls stand for five each, or ten taken together. When the five balls on one wire have been tallied, one of the two balls is pushed up, the two balls are pushed back, and the tally proceeds till another five has been tallied when one of the two balls is pushed up and this ten (or two fives) is pushed down. Any wire may be taken as units. Those to the left will be tens, hundreds, etc.; those to the right of this will be tenths, hundredths, etc. Simple tallying of calculations is done on the abacus with rapidity, but if a mistake is made it cannot be detected. The work must be done through again. A similar instrument was employed in ancient times by the Romans, but modern nations find paper and pencil a better way to perform their reckoning.

- Six goals were scored under a minute.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT
 By RUTH CAMERON

When I was a very little girl, if I made a slip of the tongue, my big brother used to say to me, "Why don't you say what you mean, Ruth, not mean what you say?"

And then I puzzled my small brain over the difference, if there was one, and over the joke, if that was what it was intended to be.

I often think of that now-a-days when I hear people failing to say what they mean. And that, it seems to me, is very often. It may be because we are too much in a hurry to bother, or it may be because we lack intellectual training to make us accurate, but it surely seems to me that very few of the ordinary people we meet and talk to are absolutely accurate speakers. We make ourselves understood well enough, but we don't say exactly what we mean.

For instance, people often say to me, "Do you know what time it is?" And whenever they do, I am tempted to answer logically by simply saying "Yes" or "No," as the case may be. What they meant to say is, "What time is it?" Or, "Please tell me what time it is." And so, knowing how often I fall in logical speech myself, I answer the intention rather than the actual question.

I think my own most common mistake in the use of accurate English is to begin a letter of thanks, "I want to thank you." Whenever I catch myself using that silly phrase I say "myself," "Then why don't you?" And if I am not too lazy I begin the letter over again by writing simply "I thank you."

The misplacement of the negative or other verb modifier is a most common inaccuracy. Also the wrong use of can and may. Of course no one fails to understand when you say, "Can I do this?" meaning, "Have I your permission to do this?" The use of the proper word in the proper place is simply an accuracy of speech which is a hall mark of the educated and logical mind.

There is another inaccuracy that always amuses me. If you meet a friend who has been suffering with a cold and ask, "How is your cold?" and she answers, "Better, thank you," you say you are glad. But ought you not really to be sorry to hear that such an affliction as a cold in the head is in a flourishing condition? I suppose there are many people who will call this hyper-accuracy. Perhaps it is, but I know I am not the only person in the world who has thought about this, for just the other day I asked, "How is your cold?" of a friend who is a very logical and rather whimsical person, and he answered promptly, "Finely, thank you, and I'm about as miserable as possible."

It was that discovery of a mind-matter in this matter that made me feel there must be others who would be interested, and so gave me courage to write about it.

ESSENTIALS
 By GEORGE MATHEW ADAMS

Do you want to Double your Efficiency, your Influence, your Results—your very Life? Here's a Secret—Cut out the Non-essentials.

Give your Time to Things that Count.

Half the "Faithful" Employees, the "Always-to-be-depended-upon" people that fill the Offices and Shops of the land, are nothing more nor less than "Non-essentials." Their Employers are too blind to see it. They do their work from day to day—but they take twice the Time necessary and thus Waste for their Employers one-half.

Give your Time to Things that Count.

Did you ever watch the Doer, the Executive, the Leader—at his job? He instantly sees the Big things in his Correspondence; immediately he sees the Large side of an Employee or a Problem. Then he dismisses the Non-essentials, and sees that the Essentials are Done—carried out according to his orders. Such a man is usually the one, too, that does the most and yet always has Time—for things Worth While.

Give your Time to Things that Count.

Try to pick out the things in your Work To-day that really look Essential. For you will never Count in this world unless you—

MOTOR DELIVERIES THIS MONTH GOOD

One Firm Will Receive 75 Cars Within the Next Few Weeks

FAST SALES ARE RECORDED ALSO

One Car Delivered to Nanaimo Purchaser — Roads Are Excellent

First shipments of the new Packard "48," for which the Dominion Motor Company, Fort street, are acting as agents, were made this week, and the first month's sales of this model have already exceeded the wonderful record made by the previous "48," which was practically sold out six weeks after the announcement of its appearance. This mid-winter sales record of the new "48" is even more significant when it is recalled that the former model made its appearance at the height of the selling season.

The new Packard "48" embodies all of the advanced engineering features of the "38"—electric self-starter, separate magneto ignition, and centralized control. The electric self-starter is an integral part of the car. To operate, the driver pushes a button, presses the starting pedal, and, as the motor turns over, throws the ignition switch. Centralized control is achieved by the steering column just below the steering wheel. The ignition, starting, lighting and carburetor controls are within easy reach of the driver's hand. The ignition is by Bosch high-tension magneto and storage battery, both of which are entirely distinct from the starting and lighting systems. Motor oiling is by forced feed to the main bearings, with an auxiliary system feeding oil directly to the cylinder walls and automatically regulated for the different power requirements.

The phaeton-runabout, designed to fit the phaeton chassis, is a rakish two-passenger car. The brougham and imperial limousine may be had in either the double compartment or salon type. The salon type is a single compartment body which permits the owner to drive without being separated from the passengers in the rear. The cabriolet is a distinctive type of body, designed as a ladies' town car. The imperial coupe is a new style, seating four and designed to fit the runabout chassis.

Western Motor Company. Mr. Clarke, manager of the Western Motor Company, last week took a model thirty-one McLaughlin car to Nanaimo by road, travelling over the Malahat drive just the day before this road was closed by order of the road superintendent. The journey was accomplished in excellent time, with easy driving, the machine making the distance without mishap of any kind within a few hours after starting. There were three passengers, two of these being men recently arrived from England, who had never made the trip before, and who expressed their surprise that the car stood the trip so well. The road over the Malahat drive was naturally in a somewhat bad condition, as even had the surface not been loose the grades would have meant some difficulty. At Duncan the party stopped for luncheon, proceeding thence to Ladysmith over surprisingly good roads. From Ladysmith on to Nanaimo, however, the best section was found, this probably arising from the fact that there is little traffic there to cut up the surface of the highway. Needless to say, the man to whom the machine was delivered was highly delighted with the manner in which it had accomplished the journey.

During the past week Mr. Clarke has sold a model "40" McLaughlin to Mr. Stewart, of this city, in addition to two second-hand cars, and has had a number of pressing inquiries which show evidence of materialization during the ensuing week. A new carload of "31's" and "25's" which is due in about ten days' time, will probably prove of interest, as these models have many attractive features which appeal to the lover of serviceable and smartly-built machines.

Moore and Pauline. Moore and Pauline, of 921 Wharf street, who are the local agents for the Cole and Studebaker cars, have just commenced to make deliveries of the 1912 cars, the factory having allotted them for delivery during the present month thirty of this year's models, and for delivery during April no less than forty-five. This is one of the largest deliveries which has ever come into the city by any one firm during so short a time, and the firm will be in splendid position to fill all orders for model "25" and model "25" that come in during the next few weeks. The six-cylinder model, the advent of which looked forward to with great interest, will not arrive in the city until some time in May. Two carloads of the Studebaker machines will arrive here next week, and delivery of a shipment of Cole cars will be taken on Monday.

Plimley Motor Company. Owing to the first shipment of Overland machines with electric starter and electric lights having been made to the above firm during the past week, the firm has had an air of unusual activity. The cars, needless to say, have been difficult to hold, and one of the models has been delivered already to Mrs. Berkeley, at the Angela, this being the second of these machines purchased by her. A second Overland, model 71, 45 h.p., has been delivered to D. H. Hale, this purchaser also making his second purchase of one of these excellent cars, all of which are equipped with the U. S. L. system, one of the best known and strongest electrical starters on the market. This self-starter is built in as part of the fly-wheel of the engine, and revolves the engine at a speed of 150 revolutions per minute. The Knight Russell, 1913 model, which is to arrive on Monday morning, is being eagerly anticipated by those who have been withholding their purchase until they have had the opportunity of seeing the machine. An interesting feature of the Plimley showrooms is the stripped chassis of the Overland model 63, which is so arranged that visitors may see all the workings of the engine, bearings, etc. Along commercial lines, there is a general re-awakening, also, and Messrs. Thorpe & Co. have just ordered a 1913 2-ton Gramm truck which is the most up-to-date output in this class of machine, being fitted with numerous improvements such as electric lights, electric starter, etc., not found in previous models. The motorcycle department recently received the largest shipment of this class of auto machines ever sent to the city, or, for that matter, in the entire province, no less than fifty being received in a single shipment. Forty-two of these were delivered at once to fill waiting orders, and there is every evidence that motor-cycling, which is comparatively in its infancy on the island, is to be pursued with keen interest during the forthcoming season. E. J. Cameron. Another motorist who has recently tested the road between here and Nanaimo is E. J. Cameron, agent for the Alco, National and Stutz pleasure cars, who last Monday afternoon made the journey over the Malahat drive after it was re-opened. Mr. Cameron also found the road in first-rate condition for the time of year, and made good time with only three changes of gear between here and the Coal City, which he visited for the purpose of establishing an agent. The National car recently scored a victory near San Jose, Cal., in a hill-climbing contest over the Alum Rock Park road; the distance covered being 1.2 miles, and the winner's time being 3 minutes 4 seconds. In connection with the Stutz car, it is stated that several of these machines will be entered in the "Indiana to Pacific Coast tour," which is being conducted by the Indiana Automobile Manufacturers' Association, one of which cars will be piloted by Harry C. Stutz personally, who is credited with the ability to build the staunchest and fastest stock cars that ever competed in a racing event. The Paige machine manufacturers are devoting their attention to the development of the greatest amount of comfort, as the mechanical part of the design of these machines has already reached an almost irrefragable degree of efficiency which precludes room for improvement. The latest addition to the comforts of the machine are the self-starting and electric-lighting systems, which may be manipulated from the driver's seat. Davis & Head. Messrs. Davis & Head have received their consignment of Reo cars during the past week, two having been sold this week, and two at present being in stock. Others are already on order, and are expected to arrive almost daily. The newly-arrived machines are 18 h. p. models, with 112 in. wheelbase, and, to insure the extra strength of the machine, 50 h. p. rear-axle and transmission gear. Graham-Davis self-starting devices are fitted, and are operated from a foot pedal. The machines are not only silent-running, smart in appearance and luxurious, but combine all that is best in automobile construction, and are about 25 per cent. cheaper than last season. Wood Motor Company. Business with the above firm has been very brisk during the past week, and the demand for cars still keeps on. Ford cars have been delivered to the following purchasers during the past week: W. L. Daille, H. Cresch, W. J. Fraser & Company, C. L. Armstrong & Co., J. E. Painter & Sons, H. F. Lazebny and B. W. Bolton. Messrs. Corfield Bros., of Duncan, have also taken delivery of two Ford cars. A very handsome 1913 Winton "Six" was delivered to Lieutenant-Governor Paterson during the past week, and two Chalmers cars, of the touring and torpedo type, were delivered at Nanaimo. Mrs. H. A. Itchell has purchased one of the electric broughams, and after the unloading of another carload of these small pleasure cars during the coming week the firm will at once dispose of two more. Deliveries have come close upon one another, and all the staff have been kept busy during the past few days unloading machines. Three carloads of Fords and one of Chalmers have been taken delivery of, this constituting in all 24 automobiles, every day evidence being given to the firm of the growing demand for pleasure cars for general use.

CRANKS ARE GOING OUT OF FASHION

The Practically Infallible Self-Starter Device Has Become Ubiquitous

"What's become of the cranks" is the comment of many visitors to recent automobile shows. "Crankers are not in style now; they are not putting them on cars any more—this is a self-cranking exhibit," an attaché of a large exhibit explained to a curious visitor at the late New York show. "Cars are not even shipped with the crank in the usual place at the front any more," he continued. "It is not necessary, owing to the fact that this year we have a positive self-cranking system which is practically infallible. You see, the transmission in the system meshes with the cog on the fly-wheel and the electric generator turns the transmission around, hence revolving the fly-wheel, which in turn transmits this power to the crank shaft and revolves the engine, which is the same result that you get by twirling the unpopular crank which used to adorn the front of the car. Crankless Show. "And the show this year is surely a crankless automobile exhibit. The electric self-cranking system is the ultimate system, and all wiring is housed in fireproof asbestos and metal conduits, so that the heat of the engine and dust and dirt cannot get near them. The coil is compactly enclosed up near the top of the hood, and is thoroughly accessible. There is nothing in the operation of the latest models which cannot be accomplished from the driver's seat. You merely press a button to crank the engine. Three buttons on the dash turn on and off the electric lights, head lights, side lights, tail light and dash lamp. The generator, which is operated when the engine is running, manufactures electric current and automatically stores it in the battery, where it is used for lighting and starting. "To anyone of mechanical tendencies the system is fascinating. It consists of generator, battery and distributor. The purpose of the distributor is to furnish ignition in the usual way to the various cylinders of the car. The generator, which is operated by the motor through the medium of a shaft, operates while the motor is running, thus manufacturing electricity and sending it to the storage battery on the side of the car, and when this battery is filled the superfluous electricity is discharged into the air. Stored-up electricity is utilized later in cranking the motor and at night in lighting. Running the car but a short time supplies all the light anyone wants to use at night."

Many railway townsites in the prairie provinces have become large cities. Most of these cities have attained their present size owing to the rich farm land surrounding them.

In addition to rich farm lands, SMITHERS is surrounded by incredible wealth in coal areas, gold, silver and copper deposits; large tracts of merchantable timber; and the many mountain streams will furnish unlimited power and light. With all these advantages SMITHERS will undoubtedly be the largest city between Prince Rupert and Prince George.

THE NORTH COAST LAND COMPANY, Ltd., besides owning an interest in the townsite of Smithers owns several thousand acres adjoining and surrounding and will sell a few 160-acre tracts on easy terms to responsible parties who will subdivide into lots of small acreage tracts.

Lhevinne Entertains.

For several years Wannsee, near Berlin, where Josef Lhevinne, has his country home, has been a mecca for musicians, both amateur and professional. Many famous composers and instrumentalists go there each season, while students flock by the score to visit the famous Russian pianist.

Although Lhevinne is extremely busy with his professional work—concerting, teaching and practicing—he shows his greatest good humor when interrupted, and is invariably a delightful host. The Lhevinne villa is on the shore of the lake, the "Kleine Wannsee." Among the celebrities whom the Lhevinnes have recently entertained was the Norwegian composer, Christian Sinding, who was en route for his summer home near Christiania, Sweden. An afternoon tea was given at Wannsee, Mr. and Mrs. Lhevinne being assisted in entertaining by their five-year-old son, Constantine; while in the evening, a beautiful starlight night, the lake was toured in small boats.

Lhevinne will play at the Victoria theatre on Wednesday, March 13, under the auspices of the Ladies' Musical Club.

"Kathleen Mavourneen."

Two nights of the coming week the Williams Stock Company will rest—on Monday night when the Conservatives have the theatre, and on Friday night because it will be Good Friday. A fact which will be regretted, as the bill will be the perennially fresh story of picturesque Ireland, "Kathleen Mavourneen." Many lessons are taught by capricious Kathleen, with her longing for the things money can buy warring with her love for her Irish lad, Terrence, and when the dramatic scenes are presented, with their fierce intensity—contrasting with the tenderness of the romantic moments, even those who have seen the play often find themselves wondering if it really will all come out as they are hoping eagerly it will.

Miss Mildred Page will have the role of the lovable colleen. Miss Farnsworth will appear as the haughty Miss Dorothy Cavanaugh. Mr. Howland will portray the impetuous lover, Terrence, and Mr. Belasco will be Bernard Cavanaugh. A feature of the scenery will be the true Irish atmosphere it will give. The costumes are to be exact copies of the quaint attire of that age.

"Mutt and Jeff." Bud Fisher, a cartoonist on the New York American staff, conceived the idea of two eccentric characters whom he called "Mutt and Jeff." At first the pictures created but little comment, but, like wine, they improved with age. Soon the pictures began to attract the attention of the children, then grown-up folks became interested, then doctors, lawyers, brokers and professional men of all sorts found themselves unconsciously opening the American at the funny part to see what new stunt Mutt and Jeff were up to. Quietly securing the rights for the stage to "Mutt and Jeff," Fisher had a suitable book and music written, rehearsed four companies of forty-five people each, and sent them forth. Gus Hill produced a real show and provided a company of capable people, and this musical comedy pleased the country sufficiently to create huge business. "Mutt and Jeff" comes to the Victoria Theatre for one night, Thursday, March 20.

Crane is Coming. William H. Crane is one of the important underlined attractions of the immediate future at the Victoria Theatre, where, on Monday, April 7, he will offer his current great success, "The Senator Keeps House." It is a comedy in four acts by Martha Morrison. The action develops in Washington, D. C., with the star introduced in the personage of Christopher Larkin, a U. S. senator, from a northwestern state, who is vainly trying to adjust the ruffled domestic relationships of an unscrupulous crowd of schemers who are endeavoring to get through congress a land bill with ensueing profit to themselves.

Joseph Brooks is directing the present extensive tour of Mr. Crane and has given it his personal attention because this year marks the fiftieth season that Crane has been upon the stage.

That company, which last week started on its western trip, was insured for any loss it might sustain through any failure to give a performance.

Andreas Dippel is the manager of the company and according to the terms of the policies the company is protected against any cause which might prevent an advertised performance. The company is to give sixty-five performances between its opening in Dallas, Texas, and the last performance on April 23.

The policies cover every possible contingency. Should Mary Garden sprain her shoulder and thus compel the cancellation of a date, the company will be reimbursed to the extent of $10,000. Delayed trainings, or the blocking of tracks, quarantine regulations, fire strikes, riots or earthquakes are all provided for in the insurance.

The total amount of the latter is $1,267,000, so that in the case of any accident which might happen before the first performance and compel the abandonment of the whole tour, the company would receive the full amount of its guarantee. The premium on the policies amounts to $15,000.

SNAPSHOTS OF THE CITY

Almost every man has had some nightmare-like experience with a barber and delights to hear of an instance where some Napoleonic genius succeeds in overcoming one of the dread monsters. The incident of the man who went in the shop and balled out, "I want a shave, and I've only got fifteen cents," is well known, as is also the story of the man who drew himself up to his full height when the barber suggested that he needed a haircut and declared with dignity, "Sir, do you realize that you are making very offensive personal remarks about my appearance?"

But this story is of a more subtle victory. Moreover the young man who succeeded in besting the barber is well known about town. He is a native of the city and his brother is a member of the police force, removed from the ordinary patrolman by at least one promotion.

This chap had a disagreement with a barber regarding the length that his hair should be after it was cut. The barber was an American and a very sporty, talkative chap, and he began to be vindictive when then customer (or patient, as persons who frequent barber shops are now better known), won his point and insisted upon having his hair cut shorter than the barber liked.

"You have dandruff very badly," suggested the barber.

"Thank you so much for telling me. I shall have to have it attended to at once," replied the patient.

"I have some stuff here that I'll put on. It will fix you up in no time," and the barber was about to suit the action to the word.

"Just let me see that," requested the patient. "Ah, I thought so. I cannot permit you to put any of these cheap patent preparations in my hair. I shall go to my physician and have him give me a prescription. I am very grateful to you for warning me as I never like to let anything like this go. Thank you; good day."

It was boat race day. The telephone bell rang in the Times editorial office for the millionth time.

"Who won the boat race?" asked a sweet young voice, breathlessly eager.

"Oxford," answered the reporter with the weariness of a man forced to repeat an oft-told tale. "By a quarter of a length."

A few minutes later the phone rang again. The same fair young voice came tripping over the wire.

"I say," she said, "whom was Oxford beating?"

Then the reporter tore his hair.

DIAMOND FROM THE SKY. Story of a Wonderful Find Made by a Swiss Peasant.

"Two hundred years ago a peasant family lived in a Swiss hamlet, and one evening a terrific storm broke from the Alps, and amid the incessant flashes of lightning and peals of thunder came a blinding glare and a deafening crash, rattling fire, the roof of the cottage. Next day the peasant, as he ruefully contemplated the smoking ruins, noticed a deep fissure in the garden leading to the root of a pine tree.

Without knowing exactly why, he fetched a pickaxe and began digging until from the depths of the hole a mysterious blue light shone brightly.

In the beginning of a strange story from Lyons that says the Paris correspondent of the London Standard, reads "just like a fairy tale."

Hurriedly making a sign of the cross the man fled, but the following morning returned and saw the same curious gleam, like a star, from the depths of the furrow cleft by a thunderbolt. Thrusting his hand down he brought out a marvelous stone still darting uncanny rays of light.

Much disturbed in his mind, the honest peasant took his find to the parish priest, who said: "This stone came to you from heaven and it is the finger of God that placed it in your field. As long as you keep it you and yours will be safe from storms and evil chances." Faithfully respecting the priest's word, the stone has been ever since religiously preserved by succeeding generations of the family.

"But it has never brought much luck, the last survivor being now without a penny. The present possessor, a woman aged 45, is married and the mother of twelve children, five of whom are still living, while a thirteenth is expected shortly. A few years ago she and her husband left their native village and went to Berne, where they started a small business which failed."

continues the story. "They then came to Lyons, where they have since lived a hard to mouth existence. Reduced to the last extremity of want, they decided to part with the famous thunderbolt stone and took it to a well known Lyons jeweler.

"Perfected with astonishment at seeing such a splendid diamond in the possession of almost a beggar woman, the jeweler informed the police, and not till the family had sent to Switzerland for documents certifying that the diamond had really belonged to them for the last two years was the woman allowed to regain possession of the precious pebble.

£40,000 RAPHAEL. Picture Which Has Been Exhibited Under Armed Guard at Cecil.

A picture of the Madonna, attributed to Raphael, which has been exhibited at the Hotel Cecil under armed guard, is by order of the Law Courts to be removed to the Chancery Lane Safe Deposit, pending the hearing of a law suit.

The order was made by Mr. Justice Bucknill in chambers, and on Monday an appeal was made against the order in the Court of Appeal by the Anglo-Russian Gazette (1911) Ltd., a company formed to advertise and sell the picture, which they say is the Madonna della Quercia. It is valued at £40,000.

Their lordships dismissed the appeal, and the order for the removal of the picture to the safe deposit accordingly stands.

The history of the transaction was described during the proceedings as most curious. In April last Mr. Biscel gave a formal option to Mr. Genazzini to see what was the matter, and the latter purchased the picture for £40,000, in consideration of which he acknowledged receipt of "one shilling." Mr. Genazzini was at that time head waiter at the Hotel Cecil, and had successfully negotiated sales of valuable pictures to persons with whom he came in contact at the hotel, who included many wealthy Americans. Since then he had left the Cecil and become a dealer in antiques. He was not the sole owner, for there was a document to the effect that Novo, Bisci, Besti and La Rocca acquired the picture as partners.

REFERENCES TO B. C. IN MINES BULLETIN

Dominion Geologists' Work in Provincial Fields Figures in the Report

In the recently published bulletin of the Dominion Department of Mines there are several references to British Columbia which are of interest. Alluding, for instance, to the copper mines of the interior the following remarks show the work that was carried on by Charles Cumsell during the summer of last year.

1. Examination of gold-copper deposits of Kruger mountain at the southern end of the Okanagan valley.
2. A brief study of the copper deposits at Copper Mountain, Similkameen district, where the British Columbia Copper Company has for the last year been carrying out some important development work with a large staff of men. The result of this work has been to prove the existence of large deposits of low grade copper ore, which, if they can be successfully treated, will mean that a new and important copper-producing field will be opened up.
3. An examination of gold-copper deposits on Independence mountain in the range between Keremeos and Twenty-Mile creeks, Similkameen district.
4. A brief study of the Alligene coal-bearing rocks of White Lake, in the Okanagan valley. In the course of this work an interesting discovery was made of an extinct Tertiary volcano, the outlines of whose crater can still be clearly defined in spite of the injuries it has suffered through the ravages of time. This extinct volcano is situated directly west of Okanagan Falls.

In the report the work also of C. H. Clapp, who was engaged in field study on Vancouver Island, is outlined. Mr. Clapp geologically surveyed the area represented by the Sooke and Duncan sheets. "Of economic interest," he said, "was the outcropping of a number of intrusive stocks of gabbro, which, on account of the sulphides that they carry, may be well worth prospecting."

Some interesting observations on the geology of the Selkirk were fructified in a report which stated that the section from Salmon Arm to Albert Canyon crosses the ancient crystalline basement of British Columbia, whose weathering and erosion furnished debris (sand and mud) which was accumulated in vast thicknesses to the east of Revelstoke. After consolidation and uplift, this material now forms nearly the whole of the high Selkirk as well as the Purcell mountain system and a large part of the Rocky mountains. The actual contact of the old basement with the enormous cover of sedimentary rock was found at Albert Canyon. It is, in many ways, the most significant rock contact in British Columbia.

ASKS MUNICIPAL GRANT

Inner Harbor Association Would Have Council Recognize Its Work.

To mark recognition of the work done by the Inner Harbor Association, the secretary, T. C. Sorby, has applied to the city council for a grant of $500 towards the expenses. The letter was read at the city council last evening and was referred to the finance committee for consideration. Mr. Sorby pointed out that the association had conducted surveys of the inner harbor, had advised the council on some 20 applications, and during its existence had done much to promote the development of the commerce and industry of the port.

UTTERS A PROTEST AGAINST THE COURSE

Alderman Cuthbert Declares Council Minority Has Been Badly Treated

BREACH OF AGREEMENT REACHED ON MONDAY

Chamber is Cleared for Consideration of Estimates in Camera

Last evening in the city council when the estimates were reached Alderman Cuthbert asked if the rumor was true which stated that a majority of the aldermen had been sitting in secret session during the week to discuss the estimates; in spite of the fact that the council had agreed by resolution to adjourn till Friday night to take them up.

Mayor Morley stated that the committee on finance had been sitting to discharge its duties. Alderman Cuthbert said he had not known such action by the council and declared it placed the minority at a disadvantage with those who had been given the opportunity to familiarize themselves with the details. He objected to hole-and-corner methods of doing civic business.

The mayor: "Look here Alderman Cuthbert—"

Alderman Gleason took up the defence of the committee at this stage. The finance committee had been discharging its duty and following the experience of past years. Their object had been to bring the departmental estimates within the amount which would be available from the estimates. Alderman Dilworth joined in the protest against the committee's action. Alderman McCandless asked why the council had a finance committee unless it was for this purpose.

The mayor said if anyone was wrong it was the finance committee of last year. The aldermen looked to the chairman of the committee to give them a lead in this matter. Nothing had yet occurred but what the whole committee was estimating up without their presence, giving the aldermen a free chance of discussing salaries.

Alderman Porter, a member of the committee, said he did not care for the action of his colleagues. Alderman Gleason: "You did not say so."

Alderman Porter: "I certainly did." Alderman Gleason offered a further remark about the procedure of the past when Alderman Cuthbert intervened to say it was not done last year.

The mayor: "How long did it take you to go through the estimates?" Alderman Cuthbert: "No matter, but it was well done, and there was no boss rule."

The mayor then instructed the janitor to clear the chamber, and the council subsequently sat in camera on the estimates.

DIMENSION OF PIPE WILL BE INCREASED

Larger Supply From Esquimalt Waterworks Company; The Narrows Bridge

The supply from the Esquimalt Waterworks Company is to be tripled by the increased dimensions of the water pipe to be laid from the Sooke pressure main on the Gorge Road to the Narrows at Victoria Arm. The intention was to supply the water through a twelve-inch main, but instead an eighteen-inch main is to be laid, making it possible to supply six millions daily instead of two as proposed. The great increase in the demand outside the city as well as within the boundaries necessitates this course.

At last night's meeting of the city council the reply of the secretary of the Dominion department of public works to the city's application for the crossing of tidal waters with the proposed trestle across the Arm was read. It stated that while the department has no authority to approve of the plans of a bridge, even though it be a temporary one, unless the requirements of the Navigable Waters Protection Act have been complied with, still, so far as the department is aware, there is no objection to the temporary structure which the city proposes to build, and, in view of its temporary nature, the department will raise no objection to its construction, although, owing to the requirements of the act, it cannot give formal and legal authority for such construction.

The work will in consequence be proceeded with at once, the temporary bridge being given a vertical clearance under the central span equal to that at the Point Ellice bridge.

The agreement for the supply of the water has been prepared with the company.

Mayor Morley Suggests Greater Victoria Development Commission

FIRST MEETING OF JOINT COMMITTEE

Inter-Municipal Body Starts Work—Isolation Hospital Charges

At the first meeting of the inter-municipal committee, held at the city hall yesterday afternoon, the usefulness of the new body, which was appointed by the municipal clearing house of the peninsula, at once demonstrated itself.

A number of matters came under review as soon as the jurisdiction of the body had been established. At the outset it was decided that the acts of the committee should be consultative and that the decisions reached should be confirmed by their respective councils. Development Commission.

Mayor Morley, who was chosen chairman, brought up the important question of establishing a Greater Victoria Development Commission to supervise the construction of highways and the park system of the peninsula, and suggested that the time had come for an organization of this class.

The citizens could have saved a large sum of money in the last few years if they had succeeded in having a definite system of development, and thus escaping the expropriations of land necessary before improvements could be effected. Expropriations were among the most costly and most wasteful proceedings possible.

Councillor George McGregor observed that in Saanich there were streets close to the city limits only 40 feet wide. What would the circumstances be when the district filled up, as it must inevitably do with the rapid development of the district? He hoped that the committee would do all it could to help in obtaining uniform streets 66 feet wide. In its small way the Saanich council had put up a fight on behalf of this principle.

Esquimalt. Councillor Mesher referred to the circumstances in Esquimalt and hoped the committee would deal with the matter.

On the suggestion of Councillor J. H. McGregor, who said the whole subject wanted careful attention, the matter was left over for consideration at a future meeting, the councils to take the subject up meanwhile in their individual capacity.

Reeve Nicholson believed this inter-municipal committee would be for the best interest of the whole district, as the interests of the municipalities were identical. He believed this plan to be the only feasible method of removing difficulties which would inevitably arise in the administration of public affairs.

Dr. G. A. B. Hall, city health officer, addressed the conference with regard to a common plan for fumigation in cases of infectious diseases, and pointed out how much better it would be for the city to carry out the disinfection throughout the municipalities, at a small charge to the respective bodies, and with greater efficiency than at present.

Councillor J. H. McGregor pointed out a problem which had arisen at Oak Bay, where they were asked to assume responsibility for patients taken from that district to the Isolation hospital. Dr. Hall explained the method of collecting charges for patients in that hospital. Mr. McGregor thought that the municipalities would have trouble in collecting from the patients in their respective districts, who would have been removed in many cases after treatment. Mayor Morley stated that the outside municipalities would probably be better off than the city, which would not only pay for patients, but had the cost of the hospital to meet.

Notification. Argument ensued as to whether any medical practitioner could send a case to the hospital without notifying the health officer of the municipality. Dr. Hall said agreements covering this point had been prepared with the municipalities. Alderman Cuthbert suggested that the district councils should agree to guarantee fees which could not be collected. Councillor George McGregor believed that the city should control this phase of the subject.

A suggestion was then made that the joint municipalities should appoint a collector to make the collections throughout as uniform as possible.

Reeve Hattenbury thought this last suggestion would fill the necessity of the case.

The mayor believed that as the hospital was a utility in common with water and sewerage, it was better not to create a dual system, by having a man collecting fees in another municipal area. Meanwhile the city had gone to the expense of maintenance, as well as the initial cost of construction. If the city maintained the hospital, surely the municipalities would meet their share of the expense.

The subject was referred to the reeves and medical officer to formulate a scheme for the next meeting, both with regard to quarantine and the Isolation hospital.

Library Grant. The recommendation of the library commissioners for the outside municipalities to contribute $250 a year to the library funds was next taken up.

The reeves of the districts did not welcome the proposal, and the subject was left over for further consideration.

Alderman Houston observed that the number of borrowers was about 208 in each district.

Assessment Plan. Reeve Saunders suggested assessment on a uniform percentage of the value. The chairman said the city's assessment was based on a full value estimate. He pointed out how difficult it was to reach a system satisfactory to all. Reeve Nicholson believed that the councils had no power to regulate assessment; that was in the jurisdiction of the assessors.

Councillor George McGregor believed that a uniform system on assessment of land would be possible, to avoid the inequality of rates now levied. The chairman thought that the outside assessors should study the city collector's books. It would undoubtedly be of assistance to them. Mr. Northcott was careful to avoid over-assessment.

The subject dropped.

Oak Bay Avenue. Alderman Cuthbert urged that the city should arrange with Oak Bay council with regard to the permanent paving of Oak Bay avenue. It might also co-operate in connection with the paving programme of Saanich. Councillor J. H. McGregor said it had not been decided definitely what course would be adopted as to the class of material to be used.

To the engineers will go the important question of the trunk sewers, Councillor George McGregor bringing the subject up with regard to the northwest sewer, which must serve the Maywood district, emptying at Macaulay Point.

The same member also referred to the water shortage in Saanich. Mayor Morley stated that shortly the water situation would be relieved by the supply from the Esquimalt mains.

It was decided that the Saanich council should be formally notified as to the water available.

Annexation.

Dealing with the question of the addition of Dean Heights to the city, by its transfer from the municipality of Saanich, Reeve Nicholson thought a satisfactory arrangement could be reached, as both the owners and council favored the transfer, which would add to the city a neck of land which really belonged to it. The mayor said this course would bring the Isolation hospital within the city. It was stated that a petition will be presented to the city council covering this section of territory, asking for annexation.

Miscellaneous.

With regard to the alteration of street names to avoid duplication, in passing subdivisions, Councillor J. H. McGregor mentioned that the subject could well be taken up by the engineers in passing plans. A resolution was adopted that in cases of duplication the older street should retain its name, and the newer one have the name altered. The engineers will be asked to refuse plans in which duplication of names occurs.

The question of the interchange of sewerage facilities was referred to the engineers of the districts, the subject being introduced by the recent letter of the Oak Bay council to the city.

Future meetings will be held on the second Friday of each month.

"A Most Valuable Food"

At a time when the preparation of artificial foodstuffs is receiving more attention than ever before, and when new forms of easily assimilable fat to take the place of cod liver oil are being frequently brought to the notice of the medical profession, it is desirable that some of the older forms of administering natural fats should not be lost sight of. Among natural fats, butter easily takes first place for nutritive value, and when combined with a suitable soluble carbohydrate, a most valuable food is produced.

The BUTTER SCOTCH which Messrs. Allard & Bowser (Duke's Road, Euston Road, W. C.) have prepared for fifty years, is such an article, which has the great advantage of being palatable, so palatable, in fact, that children are more likely to need restraining from excess than any persuading to take it. This BUTTER SCOTCH is stated to contain 11.7 per cent. of fat and 73.3 per cent. of sugar, and the results of an analysis which we have made recently of a specimen substantially confirm these figures; further chemical examination of the fat extracted showed it to be genuine butter fat. This confection can therefore be recommended, not only as a harmless sweetmeat, but also as a very useful addition to the diet in suitable cases. In all the Principal candy stores in Victoria.

IN THE LODGE ROOM

I. O. O. F. Meetings Next Week.
Monday—Victoria Lodge No. 1. General Relief Committee.
Tuesday—Vancouver Encampment No. 1.
Wednesday—Columbia Lodge No. 2.
Thursday—Dominion Lodge No. 4.
General Relief Committee.
The regular meeting of this committee will be held on Monday evening next at 7.30 o'clock.
Vancouver Encampment No. 1.
The second degree will be conferred upon several candidates on Tuesday evening next. Good work is being done in the camp this term.
Columbia Lodge No. 2.
Those who witnessed the first degree as exemplified last Wednesday evening by the officers of this lodge had the pleasure of seeing some degree work very superior to any put on by this lodge for some time. The officers and others who took part seemed to be in the humor for this particular degree, and the result was most satisfactory. The second degree will be put on next Wednesday evening.
Dominion Lodge No. 4.
It is quite evident that the members of this lodge are ready and willing at all times to demonstrate their enthusiasm in the work of the order, as evidenced by their putting on the second and third degrees last Thursday evening. This is something quite out of the ordinary, and is done only on rare occasions when good and sufficient reasons warrant it. The work, however, in both degrees was most commendable, each member on the team filling his office with credit to himself and the lodge as a whole.

Canton Victoria No. 2.
There was a good attendance at the meeting of the canton last evening and some important business was transacted. The members of the canton are busy practicing in the competitive drill to be put on at the meeting of the Grand Lodge at Nanaimo this summer.

Visit of Grand Master.
Odd Fellows in the city will have the pleasure of meeting Grand Master W. A. Johnstone on Friday evening, March 28, when a special meeting will be called by one of the subordinate lodges for the purpose of greeting him. Committees are being appointed from the various lodges to make suitable arrangements for the event. The grand master will leave for Duncan on the following day, and will officiate at the laying of the corner stone of the new I. O. O. F. hall at that place. Duncan Lodge No. 17 has extended an invitation to the members in this city to attend the ceremony and the banquet in the evening, and it is expected a large number will avail themselves of the opportunity. All those intending to visit Duncan on the occasion are requested to notify the secretary of their lodge, so that the number may be known definitely.

I. O. O. F. Ball.
The committee in charge of the arrangements for this event met in the library last evening and transacted much business in connection therewith. There is every indication of the ball on April 4 being a huge success.
Competition Committee.
This committee met at the I. O. O. F. hall last evening, and as a result of the deliberations competitions will be held in the first, second and third degrees until the cup donated by Grand Treasurer P. W. Dempster has been won three times by one lodge. The first competition will be held on Friday evening, May 10, 1913, in the first degree. The next competition will be in the second degree, and the third competition will be in the third degree. No dates have been set for these two, as it was thought advisable to leave that until later. By having the competitions in the three degrees it was thought that it would give all lodges an opportunity to win, as every lodge has some degree which it is more proficient in than the others. No rules have been drawn up as yet, as it was considered that the first questions to be decided were what degree was to be put on, and at what time the competition would be held, so that the lodges could commence practice work as soon as possible. The committee will meet some time during the coming week to draw up rules and regulations to govern the contests.
Social Evening.
The home of Mrs. J. W. Walker was the scene of a very jolly crowd of young people on Monday evening last, the occasion being in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Sewell, who had returned from their honeymoon. Miss I. Walker had prepared a splendid programme of vocal and instrumental selections, which proved most enjoyable. A pleasing feature of the evening was a guessing contest. T. Graham and Miss I. Sewell winning the first prize, and A. J. Cleary and Mrs. Arnaout the second. The booby prize was won by Miss E. Chislett. Refreshments were served during the evening, the table being beautifully decorated with flowers and foliage. Dancing and other forms of amusement were indulged in until midnight.

Dutch Auction.
A Dutch auction is the form of amusement for the next social evening of Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1. Those attending are supposed to bring some article to be auctioned off.

HER WISE CHOICE.
"Daughter," said an anxious father to the eldest daughter of a brood of seven, "your mother tells me that you have had a proposal."
"Yes, father, I have," demurely replied the young woman. "In fact, I have rejected several."
"I hear the ice man proposed to you?"
"He did."
"And you accepted him, of course?"
"I did not."
"Unwise child. Think of the money he cools every summer."
"The plumber also proposed."
"Ah! that is better. A man of untold wealth garnered every winter. Beyond doubt you told him 'yes.'"
"No, father."
"Wha-a-a-a-! Do you mean to tell me you let an opportunity slip by ungrasped?"
"Yes, father. You see, I accepted a man who sells ice in summer and is a plumber in winter."
"Ah, daughter! Fly to my arms! You make me weep with pride!"

The Best Treatment for Itching Scalps, Dandruff and Falling Hair.
To allay itching and irritation of the scalp, prevent dry, thin and falling hair, remove crusts, scales and dandruff, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, the following special treatment is most effective, agreeable and economical. On retiring, comb the hair out straight all around, then begin at the side and make a parting, gently rubbing Cuticura between the partings, comb the hair out straight all around the end of the finger. Another additional parting about half an inch apart until the whole scalp has been treated, the purpose being to get the Cuticura ointment on the scalp skin rather than on the hair. The next morning, shampoo with Cuticura soap and hot water. Shampoo alone may be used, as often as agreeable, but once or twice a month is generally sufficient for this special treatment for women's hair. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. A liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet on the care and treatment of the skin and scalp, sent post-free. Address "Cuticura," Dept. 223, Boston, U. S. A.

NEWS OF PROVINCIAL TOWNS

NELSON

That the Dominion government should be asked to make an appropriation for building a cement retaining wall along the waterfront with a view to reclaiming the flats which under present conditions are under water during the greater part of the summer months, that the material taken out during the proposed dredging operations around the boat houses should be used to make a fill inside the cement wall and that the reclaimed ground would in time become available for an enlarged Canadian Pacific railway terminal for which, he declared, plans were already drawn, is the statement made by Mayor Keefe, of Nelson. He suggests that the railway company should assist in the project.

He points out what is done by other cities under conditions similar to those prevailing at Nelson, and emphasizes the value of the proposed reclaimed water frontage for use as industrial sites as the population of the city and district increased in the next few years. The outside concrete retaining wall, he says could be so constructed that it would form an esplanade upon which citizens and visitors could promenade the summer months beside the water. He expressed the opinion that the people of Nelson should communicate with R. F. Green, member for Kootenay in the federal house, and ask his assistance in bringing the matter to the attention of the federal authorities.

It would be much better, argued the mayor, to use the material taken out during the proposed dredging operations for reclaiming the waterfront in question than to dump it in the middle of the lake and later be compelled to secure earth for the reclamation purposes from some other place at great expense.

The waterfront concerned is owned, it is said, by the Canadian Pacific railway, the city of Nelson and the Porto Rico Lumber company.

NEW MICHEL

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade, held last week, there was a fair turn out and much business that will be a benefit to the town was transacted. A large amount of correspondence was dealt with and some $2,000 were included in the estimates for improvements in town. Joseph Seigle's name was added to the executive, filling the vacancy caused by the elevation of Geo. Fisher to the vice-presidency. Messrs. Wagner and Fisher were appointed a committee to solicit membership for the board and to collect the semi-annual dues.

NEW WESTMINSTER

Relation of bad roads to the deplorable condition of agriculture in the Fraser Valley was discussed by the executive of the New Westminister Progressive Association, and resolutions covering this were passed, and ordered forwarded to Hon. Price Ellison, minister of agriculture, and Hon. Thomas Taylor, minister of public works, to local members of parliament, and to the Fraser Valley Municipal Bureau, and the New Westminister Board of Trade for endorsement.

The resolutions ask the provincial government to float and guarantee bonds on behalf of the rural municipalities and that the municipal councils expend the money so obtained on constructing good roads under the supervision of a government engineer. That the provincial government appoint a commission to be called the Road Commission, which shall devote all its time and attention to studying the best methods of building roads in the different parts of British Columbia and to direct the municipalities along these lines.

NANAIMO

There is said to be another property investment starting along Wallace street. Just what is back the movement is not known except that Wallace street is considered one of the best inside buys available at present.

An option for $30,000 was taken on the Addison property on the corner of Wallace and Fitzwilliam streets by Vancouver people. The option was taken for 30 days, and from the size of the deposit it is altogether likely that the deal will go through.

J. N. Addison has had this property for about one year, and it has been his intention to build a block on it, the excavation work, in fact, having been already completed.

A meeting of property owners on Wallace street was held last night, the meeting being unanimous in the decision to have the street widened to 75 feet throughout and paved from Commercial street to Comox road.

Sam Peterson, the noted hunter of big game, returned to Nanaimo yesterday from a several weeks' hunt for big game in the Deep Bay district, and expects to leave in the course of a few days on a hunting expedition to the west coast.

Peterson brought to town with him two panther skins and the hide of a big black bear, the results of his own skill and that of his pack of trained dogs.

CRANBROOK

Postmaster Henderson has moved the post office into the new building provided by the Dominion government. On Monday the corridors were crowded with patrons waiting for their new keys and box numbers, by evening everybody was satisfied.

Postmaster Henderson is to be congratulated for his prompt and efficient efforts in the removal to the new building, which did not in the least discommode the general public.

The staff at present consists of Postmaster Henderson, Miss Havel, assistant; Miss Leaman, register clerk; Miss Finley, delivery clerk, and Miss Dixon and Miss Bargett, dispatch clerks.

In the second story of the new building Customs Collector White has his offices with a private office alongside, store room and a fire proof vault. An elevator delivers mail and parcels from the post office to the customs department.

On April 1 the collector of inland revenue will have his office in the new building.

BLIZZARD AT PORT ARTHUR.

Port Arthur, Ont., March 15.—The strongest blizzard of the season developed yesterday, and promises to block traffic. Four trains were reported snowed-in on the C. P. R. line at Schreiber. The temperature is not low, however, being only down to eight below.

BIRTHDAY CALENDAR

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY
Attend to your interests with care. If in employ do not allow scheming acquaintances to influence you against those over you. You will gain by steady application.

Those born to-day will succeed where courage and quick action is necessary. They should be taught not to yield to quick taken fancies, for although their loves and hates are short-lived, their results may not be so easily forgotten.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

Penetanguishene was marked out by Governor Simcoe as a suitable place for a military and naval station, and, in 1798, the bay and islands were purchased from the Chippewas for "£101 worth of goods," but it was not till 1815 that the first block-house was built to defend what a traveller described some years later as the "remotest and most inland dockyard that owes obedience to the meteor-flag of England." At that time "Penetang" was reached by a path through the woods, and there was no inn at which travellers could stay, though twenty or thirty marines were stationed there, and there were extensive docks connecting Magazine Island with the mainland. But the glory of Penetanguishene as a naval station was short-lived. On March 15, 1852, there began a sale by auction of boats variously described as a schooner, a brigantine, a cutter, a whale-boat, a jolly-boat, three gunboats, two gigs and several lateaux, as well as chests and casks, cordage and canvas, sails and tools. After that the "reduction of the naval and military establishment" went on step by step, "until the ancient depot was finally extinguished," and in 1858 the stone of the old barracks was used for the building of a reformatory for boys.

PRESENT FRESH VIEW
THE PLUMBERS' BOND

Council Receives Petition From Other Side Not Favoring Abolition

SUBJECT IS REFERRED TO SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Invitation to Victoria to Be Represented at Winnipeg Conference

Another view of the proposed amendment of the sewers by-laws to release plumbers from the $300 bond now required to be put up was presented to the city council last evening in a petition from Hayward & Dods and other plumbers.

They set out that the well-established master plumbers have to compete with outside competition of a very questionable variety, and they felt that the bond gave them a guarantee of legitimate competition. If the council dispensed with a bond the petitioners were ready to agree that a $300 certificated cheque should be deposited with the city treasurer. The letter was referred to the special committee which has the subject in hand.

There will be a meeting of this committee next week, to which representatives of plumbers have been invited. The petition presented last evening had influential signatures. The council also received an invitation to attend a conference to be held in Winnipeg in connection with the preparation of a uniform system of plumbing throughout western Canada. The conference to be representative of the plumbing inspectors and sanitary engineers of the west. The writer, Inspector James Smith, of Winnipeg, pointed out that under present conditions the differences in specifications called for in the various plumbing by-laws made it very difficult for manufacturers to supply the necessary material.

There had been a good deal of program made, he explained, on the draft of a uniform plumbing code, and all that remained was for the convention to discuss the different questions and adopt the best methods. The presence of a representative from the city was invited at the convention. The council contented itself with receiving and filing the communication.

MAYOR DECLINES TO DRAW ASIDE VEIL

Declares Some Alderman Violated Agreement in Giving
Out Statement

In view of the rumor which has been given currency with regard to the differences in the council last evening when sitting in camera with regard to the officials of the city, and the statement that Mayor Morley took advantage of the officials' absence to call for the resignation of City Clerk Dow-ler, who has held that position for a quarter of a century, the Times representative this morning asked his worship for an opinion.

Mayor Morley said: "By resolution of the council the meeting of the estimates committee was secret last night, and I was following the wishes of the council in clearing the council chamber. Whatever happened thereafter was private, and should have been regarded as secret. In fact we agreed at that time before leaving the chamber, I, therefore, do not propose to discuss the statement in any manner."

SAID SERGEANT HIT HIM

James Hughes Expresses Opinion of Police Before Leaving for Prison.

"When they get a man down here
they always keep him down," declared
James Hughes, a police court habitue, to Magistrate Jay this morning just prior to departing for the provincial prison on a three months' sentence for vagrancy.

This was the third time in two weeks that Hughes was in court, arrested the same day as he was discharged from prison. In each case he said he had had time to arrange for a position but not time to get out of town to the scene of activities.

Sergeant Harper said that Hughes habits were to loiter about Louis Johnson street. He also said he was a nuisance in the lock-up as he stirred up discontent and got into fights. He had been in a fight this morning.

"You hit me first, Harper," interrupted Hughes. "When did you ever see me bum a drink?"

"You're always doing it."
"Name an instance, never bummed
a drink in my life," declared Hughes.
"If you policemen would tend to your jobs and assist the detectives instead of rounding up drunks there would be fewer houses broken into."

ent buildings will be issued shortly in the form of a map in order to enable

LORD'S DAY ACT
IN FORCE SUNDAY

Chief Langley Says Cigar Stands, News Stands, Baker-ies, Etc., Are Banned

ATTORNEY-GENERAL HAS DISCRETION AS TO CHARGES

Distribution and Sale of Sunday Papers Interfered With;
Hotel Cases Doubtful

To-morrow will be a blue Sunday.
Chief Langley announced this morning that the Lord's Day Act would be enforced in toto. Selling cigars, refreshments, bread, milk and newspaper in the street, in stand, hotels and stores will be prohibited, as well as all kinds of work.

A list of all cigar stands, whether in hotels or not, newsstands, bakeries, milk depots and refreshment shops open for business will be taken and submitted to the attorney-general for him to determine whether or not prosecutions will be in order.

All institutions prohibited from doing business on Sunday in other provinces where the Lord's Day Act is in force will be proceeded against. This will affect the distribution and sale of papers on Sunday, as the act does in all other provinces. A very large sale of Seattle papers will be cut off by the change also.

How hotels and drug stores will be affected is a matter of some doubt, as the other provinces have had great difficulty in interpreting the application of the act to those places. The matter is within the discretion of the attorney-general, however, and upon his decision rests the doubtful cases.
Prosecutions may be tried in some instances where the law is not clear in order to obtain judicial interpretations, but it is expected that the attorney-general will not authorize prosecutions except in the case where there is an ambiguity.

That the new restrictions will meet with strong public disfavor is stated by many citizens, although the act is enforced in every other province, this one having been observed with great curiosity by the other portions of Canada because of the freedom in Sunday observance that obtains here.

INVESTIGATE CHARGE
MADE BY CHINAMAN

"Cocaine Sam," Accused of Having Drug, Said He Had
Prescription From Doctor

Charged with having cocaine in his possession, Sam Ching Koo (known in Chinatown as Cocaine Sam), declared in police court this morning that he got it from a certain local drug store on a prescription from a doctor whom he named. Sam was remanded until Monday for the detectives to investigate these statements.

The quantity of cocaine in Sam's possession was very large, about $4 or $5 worth, it is estimated.
Sam was just out of jail a few days ago from serving a term for the theft of a camera from a drug store, which the proprietor, testifying he was accustomed to frequenting.

Sam was arrested last night by Detectives Murray and McDonald in a raid on an opium joint at 547 Fisgard street. Mow Lee, Lee Sing and Lee Sam were also arrested there, the first two for smoking opium and the other for having opium in his possession.
Each was fined $25 and costs.

ST. PATRICK'S MEMORY
WILL BE CELEBRATED

Monday is Birthday of Patron
Saint of Ireland;
His Story

Scotland, England, France, and even Wales, claim to have been the natal soil of St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland, whose birth is to be celebrated in almost every corner of the world on Monday next. All these people, however, agree that St. Patrick was of patrician family. He was born about 372, and at the age of sixteen, according to tradition, was sold into slavery in Ireland, where he was employed for seven years as a swineherd on Slemish Mt., County Antrim. Finally the boy escaped from his captivity and fled to the Continent, where he had many adventures, and, being from his earliest years of a devout nature, was ordained successively as deacon, priest, and bishop.

Of the many miracles accredited to the Irish saint the greatest was the driving of venomous reptiles from Ireland, and the making of the soil fertile after so onerous to serpents that they could not live on it.

The shamrock, so inalienably associated with St. Patrick's Day, is almost universally worn in the hat all over Ireland on March 17.

St. Patrick died at Saul on March 17, 543, in his one hundred and twenty-first year.

BRIEF SKETCHES OF NEW PRESIDENT'S CABINET

William Jennings Bryan, the new secretary of state, will be 53 years old on March 19. He was born in Salem, Ill., and was educated at Illinois College and the Union College of Law.
He has lived in Lincoln, Neb., since 1887.

His political career began with campaign speeches in 1888. He was in Congress from 1891 to 1895, and editor of the United World-Herald and as a delegate he attended the national Democratic convention at Chicago in 1896.
He wrote the free silver plank in the platform and in defending it made his famous "cross of gold" speech which the next day resulted in his nomination for president.

He made speeches in twenty-seven states, but was defeated by William McKinley. McKinley beat him again in 1900 and William H. Taft defeated him in 1908. In 1905-06, Mr. Bryan went around the world and was cordially received everywhere. Between elections he has profited by lecturing and supervising his weekly newspaper, the Commoner.

William G. McAdoo, who will be secretary of the treasury, is best known as the builder of the Hudson tunnels, for which he framed the motto, "The Public Be Pleas'd." He was "an original Wilson man" and as vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee
he managed the presidential campaign for six weeks while Chairman Mc-Cone was ill.

He was born near Marietta, Ga., on October 31, 1863. His father, Judge William G. McAdoo, was a soldier in the Mexican and civil wars and in later life was a professor at the University of Tennessee. Young McAdoo attended the university, practiced law in Chat-taanooga, came to New York at the age of 23 and formed a partnership with William McAdoo, the present chief magistrate, to whom he is not related.
In 1902 he began enlisting support for his scheme of linking New York and New Jersey by tunnels. The project was completed in 1908.

Last fall Mr. McAdoo was urged to run for governor of New York, but refused, saying he was seeking no political office. He lives at Irvington. Mrs.
McAdoo died about a year ago. There are three sons and three daughters.

James Clark McReynolds, appointed attorney-general, has been for four years a special assistant to the attorney-general of the United States in matters relating to the enforcement of anti-trust laws. He managed the prosecution of the tobacco and anthracote coal trusts. He was born in Elkton, Ky., in 1862, and is a son of Dr.
John O. McReynolds.

He was graduated from Vanderbit
University and from the law department of the University of Virginia. He attended the University of Virginia from 1890 to 1892, he taught law at Vanderbilt. For four years thereafter he was an assistant attorney-general.
The fact that he was a Democrat did not prevent Presidents Roosevelt and Taft from entrusting him with important trust prosecutions. For several years Mr. McReynolds has had a law office at 141 Broadway, New York.
Joseph Daniels, the new secretary of the navy, has been editor of the States, N. C. News and Observer since 1894. For nine years before that he edited the State Chronicle. He is a member of the Democratic National Committee and managed the publicity end of the Wilson campaign. He was born in Washington, N. C., in 1862.
He attended the University of Virginia and at the age of 18 was editor of the Wilson, N. C. Advance. He got into political office as state printer.
From 1892 to 1896 he was chief clerk
in the department of the interior.
He is a trustee of the University of North Carolina and was formerly president of the North Carolina Editorial Association. In 1888 he married Miss Addie W. Bagley, a daughter of Major
W. H. Bagley.

CITY MUST PLOW A LONELY FURROW

No Assistance at Present Towards Cost of Laurel Point Bridge

MAYOR INDICATES POSITION OF MATTER

Government and Railways Do Not Consider Proposal Part of Reserve Plan

That neither the provincial government nor the railway companies regard the Laurel Point bridge as part of the Songhees reserve settlement, and that, therefore, the bridge if built at the present time will be exclusively a civic proposition, was the announcement made by Mayor Morley to the city council last evening when the resolution of Alderman Cuthbert came up asking for consideration. This motion was laid over till Monday night, the object being to affirm the position taken by the council in the past in endorsing the scheme and appointing the special committee on the subject again to aid in carrying through the scheme to the best of its ability.

Alderman Cuthbert thought the city should take the initiative and that 90 per cent of the citizens favored the proposal. When the information was available the council would be in a better position to approach the railway companies and the government. Presumably the bridge would be for vehicular, pedestrian and railway traffic.

The mayor then made the above statement, based on information obtained at Monday's conference, and said if the citizens desired the bridge the action of these authorities would not prevent the city from going ahead with the project. He mentioned that the Johnson street bridge would receive the bulk of the attention at the present time. Neither the city engineer nor himself had been able to sway the government or companies in their attitude on this subject.

Chief Engineer of Railways Gamble wrote forwarding a plan for the partition of the reserve, and said with regard to the Johnson street bridge that there would be double electric tracks and two driveways, 47 feet between trusses, with sidewalks outside the trusses. The type of bridge had not been decided upon.

The mayor stated that there would be a further conference on Monday on the subject.

Election of Officers Takes Place; Mrs. Crowe Appointed President

The second annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the S. P. C. A. was held yesterday afternoon at the Alexandra Club, with an excellent attendance of members. Mrs. J. A. Macdonald presided, and after the reading of the annual report the election of officers for the ensuing year took place. This resulted in the following being elected to office: Hon. presidents, Mrs. Paterson, Lady McBride and Mrs. Croft; president, Mrs. Crowe; vice-presidents, Mrs. Doull and Mrs. Gavin Burns; hon. secretary, Miss D. Kitto; treasurer, Miss Pooley; committee, Mesdames Macdonald, Rithet, Ross, Sutherland, Love, C. Todd, Shallicross, Luxton, Connor, Maillard, Home, Paterson, Griffiths, M. Kitto and N. Dupont.

The secretary, Mrs. Hope, in her annual report, outlined the work accomplished during the past year by the society, which was organized last March to work in conjunction with the parent society of the S. P. C. A. for the purpose of lessening suffering among dumb animals. Since its formation the auxiliary had greatly increased its membership, the number on the membership roll now being 80. The auxiliary was working to augment the funds to carry on the great work of mercy, and to educate the younger generation to treat animals with kindness.

During the afternoon Rev. E. G. Miller addressed the meeting, quoting a number of instances in which the S. P. C. A. had prevented cases of cruelty to animals, and citing still further measures which might be adopted for helping forward the good work. It was decided to hold the monthly meetings of the Woman's Auxiliary at 2.30 p.m. the first Friday of each month. At the next meeting a plan for the ensuing year's work will be drawn up.

CITY CIRCULATION AGENT

Of Leading Montreal Daily Endorses GIN PILLS

I've long years of suffering from Kidney Trouble--two boxes of GIN PILLS--and it's all gone. That has been the experience of Mr. Eugene Quesnel, Chief City Circulation Agent of La Patrie, of Montreal. He describes it feelingly: "Montreal, May 3, 1912. I have been suffering from Kidney Trouble for over five long years. I had also Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles, could not sleep nights and on some occasions could hardly walk. I had been treated by some of our best Physicians but without relief and I lost over fifteen pounds. One day I met one of our leading hotel-keepers, who had been cured by your famous GIN PILLS, and he advised me to try them. So I bought two boxes at my druggist's and before I had used one box I felt a big change. Before I finished the second one I was completely cured. "I can assure you I can hardly believe it for if I had only known what I know now I would not have spent over One Hundred Dollars for nothing when two boxes of GIN PILLS cured me."

"EUGENE QUESNEL" GIN PILLS--are gaining a world-wide reputation, by the way they conquer the most obstinate cases of Rheumatism and all kinds of Kidney Trouble. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50. Sample free if you write National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto.

PROVINCIAL CHAPTER CONCLUDES SESSION

First Meeting of New Organization Discusses Constitution; Annual Meeting Next Month

The long session of the Daughters of the Empire held yesterday morning at the Alexandra Club for the purpose of forming a provincial chapter, concluded with an earnest discussion over the constitution. Mrs. Hanington reading the amendments to this which are to be voted on at the annual meeting which it was decided to hold next month in Vancouver.

Mrs. Henshaw, formerly recording-secretary of the Municipal Chapter of Vancouver, read her annual report of this chapter, pointing out that three new chapters had been formed during the past year, the Ruskin, the Sir Charles Tupper, and the children of Empire. Mention was also made of the fact that among other things the chapter had opened a Scott memorial fund for the purpose of founding a scholarship in connection with the science course of the University of British Columbia.

Before concluding a vote of thanks to the minister of militia for his action in promising to place a drill hall in the university grounds was passed on motion of Mrs. Hanington. Votes of thanks were passed to the Alexandra

Club, which had lent the hall, and the press, the proceedings closing with the singing of "God Save the King." In the afternoon the first executive meeting of the newly-formed chapter was held.
