THE LEGISLATURE.

Since our last the Great and Generous Court of Massachusetts for the year 1892 has passed from its labors.

BYCING.

This mode of propelling one's self over the ground, after becoming at one time very fashionable, has again become popular.

MEMORIAL DAY.

We note that nearly every paper we take up speaks of the occasion as December day.

CITY PAPERS AND COUNTRY EDITORS.

Some of the city papers paid us what we presume we should consider the very high compliment of noticing our article.

EAST WEYMOUTH.

District Deputy Grand Master John A. Foggy visited Crescent Lodge, I. O. O. F., officiated last Thursday evening, a delegation also being present from Widley Lodge, of South Weymouth.

The initiatory degree was exemplified, three candidates being admitted. At the conclusion of the meeting the brethren adjourned to the banquet hall, where a collation was enjoyed, the delicious cream being of Boyie's manufacture.

Crescent Lodge is one of the most flourishing societies in the village, at the present time nearly two hundred members, fresh accessions being made to their numbers at nearly every meeting.

Mr. Henry Pratt is canvassing for a new patent broiler and toaster, which is having quite a large sale in this village.

Mr. Edward Burns is visiting friends in Fall River.

Mr. N. D. Canterbury has purchased a splendid looking three-minute trotter. It is a beauty.

The family of Mr. Alpheus Nichols have returned from Fall River.

Dr. J. E. Express has appeared out with a newly painted two-horse wagon. It was painted by Mr. Rowland and shows fine artistic workmanship.

C. L. Stetson & Co., shoe dealers, had a very heavy trade last Saturday evening. Their business is such as to necessitate an enlargement of their store, making a grand improvement.

The cry of "strawberries" was heard here Monday for the first time this season.

John Grady, the bootblack, while holding a pistol last Sunday morning, had the misfortune to shoot himself in the left hand.

Mr. C. H. Delano is building a house for Mr. Bradford T. Hollis, on Pratt's Avenue.

Mr. L. Cushing has resumed quarters in the old Weymouth House on School street.

A very interesting temperance meeting was held in Reform Club hall last evening, there being a good attendance.

Mr. Joseph Sherman is not so well, having met with a little mishap while getting into a buggy.

Frank Brant, who has been confined to the house for some time with a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism, is able to walk about the house. His young friends hope soon to see him out of doors.

The other evening, as a two-horse barge was being backed up to the Reform Club building, the driver, in some manner, managed to throw both the horses to the ground, besides nearly capsizing the wagon. With the assistance of a few passers the horses were righted without much damage.

Mr. W. J. Dunbar, who was injured at the "Advance" fire, is again on our streets, with the aid of a cane.

A three-year old child of Mr. W. A. Richards was playing on the stairs last Thursday afternoon, when he fell the entire length, fracturing his arm above the elbow. Dr. Fay is in attendance.

C. P. Turner has greatly improved the look of his shop by a handsome sign, painted by Rowland.

Four of Delano's carpenters laid six and one-quarter thousand of shingles in 3-1/2 hours last Wednesday morning. That is what we call quick work.

The Land League have vacated Hibernian hall and taken up quarters in Baker's hall, over the store.

The ladies connected with the W. C. T. U. visited the Reform Club last Monday evening, taking them by surprise, sixteen from the Hanover Reform Club, also being present. Quartette singing, and a variety of other topics kept up till nearly midnight. Thomas Gavin gave some remarkable exhibitions in clog dancing, while Patsy Lantry kept the members in a roar of laughter by his comical songs. Other entertainment helped to fill in the last of June when topics appropriate for the season will be discussed and measures will be taken to further the objects of the association.

The Conqueror Engine company partook of a supper of baked beans at their hall on last Saturday evening and a general good time was indulged in by the members. Most of the boys had a few bottles of beer kept up till nearly midnight. Thomas Gavin gave some remarkable exhibitions in clog dancing, while Patsy Lantry kept the members in a roar of laughter by his comical songs. Other entertainment helped to fill in the last of June when topics appropriate for the season will be discussed and measures will be taken to further the objects of the association.

The A. & H. A. Drum Corps of this place went to Boston on Monday for their annual parade and election of officers last night. The corps was fully sustained on that day and many compliments were bestowed upon them as they marched through the streets of Boston. Their drumming did not cease being in the ward.

Mr. Augustus Vining is slowly improving, though he is still confined to his bed.

Mr. Percy Sherman is gaining after a severe and protracted illness and is hoped that his complete recovery is not far distant.

Mr. Fred Clark, one of our highly esteemed young men, has been very sick with inflammatory rheumatism, but is now getting better every day and every body will be glad to see him out again.

Miss, daughter of Mrs. Christopher Blanchard, who has been sick with a severe case of Diphtheria, is on the road to recovery.

The W. C. T. U. had thought of having a strawberry festival on Tuesday of this week, but circumstances prevented them. The walks in front of the 2nd Cong'l. church are being graded and improved, giving a neat appearance to the green and other surroundings.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial Society on Tuesday evening, arrangements were made for a celebration for the 4th of July, and $300 was appropriated for that purpose.

The Juvenile Temperance Union

met at their hall Friday evening for the purpose of celebrating their third anniversary. The entertainment was opened with a song of welcome, by five of the juveniles; reading of the scriptures by the chaplain; prayer; song by three of the juveniles; reading of the report, by Miss Jennie Beane; recitation of the "Right or Wrong," Miss Lavinia Burrell; music by Fred Rogers, reading entitled "Mother's Fool," Miss Grace Mitchell; reading entitled "In-temperance and its Remedy," Miss Eva Orcutt; song, Miss Abby Pratt; music by Fred Rogers; song, Miss Abby Pratt; song by the juveniles. A few remarks were then made by Rev. D. P. Leavitt and Mr. Charles Cushing. The evening's entertainment was closed with a song by the juveniles, when Mrs. J. A. Cushing invited all present up stairs, where they partook of a fine collation, separating at an early hour, with wishes that the organization might live long and be prosperous.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harmon have returned home to Somerset for a week.

Mr. Thos. M. French remains about the same.

Mr. Geo. McFawn has recovered sufficiently to get out doors.

Mrs. A. D. Hollis is more comfortable.

Sup't B. W. Bowen has just purchased a promising colt.

The family of Patrick Weathers, on Lake street, were awakened one night last week by the crying of the child, and much interest and curiosity were excited by the juveniles, when Mrs. J. A. Cushing invited all present up stairs, where they partook of a fine collation, separating at an early hour, with wishes that the organization might live long and be prosperous.

Hon. Joseph J. Kelley, of East Cambridge, delivered a lecture in Dexter Hall, last Friday evening, under the auspices of the Land League, before a large audience, the subject being "The Irish Question of To-day." The subject was handled in a skillful and logical manner; the speaker has a very pleasant address, and is convincing in his arguments.

Fourteen members of the Executive Committee of the Improvement Association were present at the regular meeting at the residence of Geo. W. Bates last Friday evening, at which occasion Rev. Morton Dexter, of Boston, one of the speakers, was manifest, showing that village improvement is one of the most prominent questions before our citizens at this time.

The tree committee reported that about fifty trees had been planted this spring, and that the planting of the present season was manifestly the result of their efforts.

Considerable was said in opposition to the pasturage of cattle upon our public grounds, and a committee was appointed to notify all persons who are in the habit of feeding their cattle on our grounds, that they must discontinue the same, or be liable to a fine.

The committee on Public Grounds instructed the measure to secure money for painting the flag staff in Columbian Square, and the purchase of a suitable flag for the same. Rev. W. H. Bolster was elected a member of the Executive Committee.

Robert Reed, C. W. Peering, A. Titus Jr., B. F. Locke and H. A. Thomas were chosen to represent the association at the forestry convention to be held at Middlesex Falls the 17th of the present month.

A public meeting of the association will probably be held on the last of June, on topics appropriate for the season will be discussed and measures will be taken to further the objects of the association.

The Conqueror Engine company partook of a supper of baked beans at their hall on last Saturday evening and a general good time was indulged in by the members. Most of the boys had a few bottles of beer kept up till nearly midnight. Thomas Gavin gave some remarkable exhibitions in clog dancing, while Patsy Lantry kept the members in a roar of laughter by his comical songs. Other entertainment helped to fill in the last of June when topics appropriate for the season will be discussed and measures will be taken to further the objects of the association.

The A. & H. A. Drum Corps of this place went to Boston on Monday for their annual parade and election of officers last night. The corps was fully sustained on that day and many compliments were bestowed upon them as they marched through the streets of Boston. Their drumming did not cease being in the ward.

Mr. Augustus Vining is slowly improving, though he is still confined to his bed.

Mr. Percy Sherman is gaining after a severe and protracted illness and is hoped that his complete recovery is not far distant.

Mr. Fred Clark, one of our highly esteemed young men, has been very sick with inflammatory rheumatism, but is now getting better every day and every body will be glad to see him out again.

Miss, daughter of Mrs. Christopher Blanchard, who has been sick with a severe case of Diphtheria, is on the road to recovery.

The W. C. T. U. had thought of having a strawberry festival on Tuesday of this week, but circumstances prevented them. The walks in front of the 2nd Cong'l. church are being graded and improved, giving a neat appearance to the green and other surroundings.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial Society on Tuesday evening, arrangements were made for a celebration for the 4th of July, and $300 was appropriated for that purpose.

The matter of a new hall on the society's grounds was brought before the meeting, and it was voted to hold a festival and supper in their hall some time about the last of this month, in order to arouse an interest among the people of the town, and commence the work of raising funds for the new building. Of course only a few hundred dollars could be raised by one entertainment, but it will lay the foundation for a building fund, and perhaps be the means of securing generous contributions from interested parties. The date of the first festival was fixed for June 27, but, as Geo. Long and other speakers, who had been invited to be present, will be otherwise engaged on that evening, another date will probably be selected to accommodate these persons. The president of the society, Joseph Reed Esq., as well as the other officers, will do every possible effort to secure a hearty interest among the people of Weymouth.

The house of Mr. Austin Tirrell was offered at auction last Saturday by order of assignees, and was bid off by Z. L. Bicknell, Esq. for $5500.

The Land League club are making preparations to go to Boston June 17th, to attend the Grand Mass Meeting of the Land League in Mechanics Fair Building, when it is expected that besides the numerous array of great speakers Dillon and Mr. Davitt will be present. The club have vacated their quarters at Hibernian Hall and taken up quarters in Baker's Hall, over M. F. Baker's store.

NORTH WEYMOUTH.

The weather, the past few days having given promise that summer was approaching, has induced those interested in boating to begin on their floating wharf. It is to be constructed out of the debris of old Pilgrim wharf, which was carried away during the storm of last winter. Mr. Jas. Ford, proprietor of the Metropolitan Hotel, at last time succeeded in saving two pieces which did not break up, besides a great amount of loose plank and timber.

The head of the wharf will be directly at the foot of North street, using the wall for an anchorage. As it is to be a wharf on high supports, made by placing four heavy timbers in the ground, forming a square. These are braced at top and bottom by heavy joist, nearly a ton of rock being placed on the bottom braces to keep them in position. There are three of the supports, about 40 feet apart, on the top of which are laid long and heavy stringers. The wharf (at the time of writing this article) is almost ready for planking. To the end of this wharf will be attached a float about 40 feet long. From the wharf to the float will be a fall, over 20 feet in length, fastened to the wharf with hinges and resting on the float, with two iron wheels, so that as the tide ebb and flows it will be self regulating. When completed the wharf will be 100 feet long, and without doubt will be the most convenient landing on the shore.

A small party from this village visited Boston Light yesterday. They reported that never had they seen everything looking so good, condition as at present. All the buildings have been newly painted and the wharf, which had begun to show signs of decay, has been newly repaired under the direction of Mr. John F. Brown, of this place. They were taken around the place by the assistant keeper, who kindly showed them every object of interest. He also informed them that they intended soon to use kerosene for the lamp in the place of lard oil which they were using at the present time. After trying the perch the party set sail for home.

Frank H. Torrey and Luther Pratt landed their new stall last week, and although they did not work very well, it is one of the finest working stall on the beach.

Mr. Joshua Vinal is making some alterations on the house of Chas. H. Burgess, Bridge street. The windows on the west side have been taken out, the sills lowered and new ones put in. The front room, which some years ago was newly painted for a store, is to be finished off into a parlor.

Mr. Jno. Record lost a valuable calf last Sunday morning. It was seized with a fit, and although a doctor was called, soon expired. The calf was nine weeks old, and of Jersey breed.

A stone sheep had been looked for the last week, to take the stones off of the beach in front of the Monaquet House, a cargo of which was bargained for nearly a month ago. It will be a great improvement to the beach, and will perhaps induce some one to build a few boats on the beach.

Mr. F. H. Torrey has painted his shore house outside and in, and it is now the prettiest house on the shore.

Daniel Vining, who has been running a McKay sewing machine for John A. Holbrook, has accepted a position at Drake's book factory in Quincy, as foreman of the bottoming department.

House painting business is rushing in Old Spain now. Contractors have to send out their men for hands. We are glad to see them raising a good harvest.

Our highway Surveyor is grading the streets in a thorough, workmanlike manner. He is an experienced road builder, and that is the man we need when there is but fifty dollars appropriated for each mile in the ward.

The Actives had their engine out for practice Tuesday night, and threw a good storm. She is in good condition and is manned by a good company.

George Cleverly, who has been occupying Grove Cottage near Lovell's grove, has moved into a house on Lincoln street.

Potato bugs are swarming in the potato fields, ready for action. A gentleman in fact, Mr. P. A. Bicknell, by receiving from him the annual report of the Commissioner of Agriculture for the year 1880. It is an interesting work of nearly seven hundred pages, for which he has our thanks.

HISTORICAL DISCOURSE.

The Rev. Mr. Titus, as introductory to his sermon in the Universalist church on Memorial Sunday, gave the following relating to Weymouth in the earlier days of the country, and in the recent civil war. His remarks will prove of interest to all our readers.

Weymouth during the civil war was true to her history. Her settlers protected their homes from the wiles of the Indians. Some of the houses of our town were burned during the King Philip Indian war of 1676. In the crusade against Quebec in 1800 Capt. Hunt responded with men to protect the borders. In the French war of 1796 she gave militia. Weymouth responded on hearing the news from Lexington and Concord, and by men and substance was faithful to the last. Some of the wise counsels of the Revolution came from the lips of Weymouth men. Dr. Cotton Tuttle was an enviable reputation by his earnest letters and correspondence. No town in the commonwealth was abler represented in the General Court and Committee of Safety. Gen. Solomon Lovell was a Weymouth man whose memory should be cherished. We recall not the number of minute men and Continentals furnished by our town, but it was a worthy number. We can but honor them. We recently found a list of young men of about 21 years old who died of camp disorders or were killed during the Revolution. The list is from the private note book of Col. Thomas Vinson, a well known resident of South Weymouth. It may not be a complete list. The names are among the familiar names of to-day, Peleg Loud, John Vining, Samuel Holbrook, Noah Torrey, Benj. Grent, Ebenr. Tirrell, John Hunt, Thomas Porter, Nehemiah Pratt, Asa Reed, John Thayer, James Pratt, Christopher Colson, Noah Joy and Caleb Shaw. These names are familiar ones and are doubtless ancestors or relatives of ancestors of many of our present citizens. These men we can honor to-day. Their graves may be unknown, but we recalling the price of American liberty can honor them in worthy lives. From this same private note book of Col. Thomas Vinson, we gather the names of those soldiers who were living in the year 1831, and who at this time received pension for their services. These aged men are remembered by the older ones of our community. We give the names without their titles:—Matthew Pratt, John Vinson, Samuel Bates, Abner Blanchard, Daniel Blanchard, Thomas Vinson, Josiah Blanchard, Samuel Bailey, Ezra Reed, David Trufant, Benj. Tirrell, Barnabas Thayer, William Loud, Elijah Loud and Azariah Beals. These men were living in 1831, fifty-one years ago. Some of them lived some years after this, but their memories in these days have renewed freshness, and the mention of their names makes our hearts more loyal to the great principles for which they fought.

As introductory we said, Weymouth during the civil war was true to her history. Her sons were among the first to respond, and were ready to recruit the broken ranks. A hundred sons of Weymouth were in that valiant Regiment, the 12th, which learned the stirring strains at Fort Warren, and through the streets of New York city sang "John Brown's body lies moldering in the grave, and his soul goes marching on." And such was the effect it had upon the populace of that city on that June day, that the next morning the hymn, words and all of this glorious song, graced the first page of the Daily Tribune. This paper giving it to the loyal north, the song and sentiment spread as on the wings of the wind. Weymouth has done much for the world of song, but nothing comparable to the hundred voices she gave to send the music of this song into loyal hearts over the land and round the world.

The town of Weymouth furnished 751 different men for the war, 152 of them re-enlisted, and of these, the names of ninety-nine are upon the Soldiers Monument, and whose memory we are called upon to remember with gratitude and honor. It has been a pleasure since we became a resident to write the biographies of several of these brave men, and already to become more or less familiar with many more, trusting to complete the biographies at no distant day. It has been a pleasure. Those who went from this and other towns were for most part young men, grown up boys. Their young blood was early fired with patriotic purpose, and not having family cares, rushed to the front almost without thought. The war made men out of these grown up boys, and their memories are a delight. The death of these ninety-nine soldiers brought sorrow into Weymouth. It touched almost every home, and though to-day the younger members of society have little knowledge of those stirring days, yet many a heart still sorrows and many a home still mourns. In our writing of these biographies, it becomes a privilege to read letters and diaries of those soldier boys. These letters are not specimens of penmanship, grammar or rhetoric; but there is an earnestness in them which makes them touching and eloquent to our souls. Our hearts are stirred as we handle these torn and faded letters. These are kept and treasured as sacred. Our own mother has just such bundles, one of letters written by one who was spared, and the other by one who lies buried in an unknown grave at Spotsylvania. There is hardly a home in the north, or in the south, whether the family gave its sons to the army of the blue or the gray, but has a burning grief and will on this approaching Decoration day give a feeble expression of their sorrow and remembrance.

It is ever a blessed thought, that God does not ask us to do impossible things. Our hearts would delight to put flowers upon the graves of these heroes, but for some good reason has given us a backward season, and just only few of the beautiful flowers have come to lend their beauty and perfume. However, we bless God, that with a dear and deep remembrance in our hearts we can send out flowers to decorate their graves with wreaths of evergreen, emblematic of unending immortality. Our memories of the soldier dead will ever be fresh and green, but an earnest purpose in the service is to have our hearts that love of the nation thrill over the great principles of country, loyal to her great truths and the desire for her perpetuity fill and inspire our lives.

Weymouth Historical Society.
The regular June meeting of this society was held in the Tufts Library Rooms, on Wednesday evening, the 14th inst. President Richards in the chair. The meeting was well attended, and of an unusual character. Several papers of much importance and value were read; one of which was by Dr. P. F. Forsyth, being a continuation of his sketches, entitled "Physicians of Weymouth," beginning with Dr. James Weymouth, and following his successors in the profession, closing with Dr. Appleton Howe. These papers, forming an important addition to the local history of the town, and have been listened to with deep interest. They have been carefully prepared, at great expense of time and labor, and deserve a more permanent record. When completed they will probably be published. Another paper was read by the recording secretary, from the well known pen of Hon. J. W. Porter, giving quite an extended account of Peter Jacobs, who lived in Weymouth in the early part of the eighteenth century. This also was of much interest, and will appear in the columns of the Gazette.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. A. S. White and F. W. Lewis was appointed to provide some protection for the books and other property of the society, which are now somewhat exposed. Rev. Mr. Titus exhibited a memorandum book kept in the early part of the century by the well known Col. Thomas Vinson, of South Weymouth, containing many items of information of much historical value. Among other things as a list of those young men who were killed, or died of disease in the Revolutionary army, and who belonged to South Weymouth; also a list of the pensioners who were living about 1825 or '28. There was also a very valuable list of the Old Swamp Lots of the First and Second Divisions, containing the number of each lot, the number of shares it contained and by whom owned. A vote of thanks was passed for the two papers above mentioned, and the meeting adjourned to the first Wednesday of July. The following donations were reported: Mr. Titus also exhibited a list of deaths in South Weymouth, kept by Mr. Samuel S. Bayley, beginning 1817 and continued by himself and others to 1862.

From J. J. Howard, Esq. of Kent, Eng. Vol. 4, Nos. 52 and 53 of "Miscellaneous Genealogical and Heraldical," with the promise of future numbers regularly. Mr. Howard is an Honorary member of this society.

From Elias Richards Esq. "State Report of Agriculture, Mass. 1870-71"; "Report of the Statistics of Labor, Mass. 1871"; "Report of the Board of State Charities, Mass. 1870-71"; "Report of the 24 annual Registration, Mass. 1867"; "Powers of Congress over the District of Columbia, pamphlet, 1828."

From Mrs. Maria Hunt: "The Record of the first Female anti-slavery society of Weymouth"; From Mr. Josiah P. Peering, of South Weymouth: a copy of the "Constitutional Telegraph," a weekly paper published in Boston, advocating the election of Thomas Jefferson against John Adams, for president. Year's volume 1801, bound.

From G. H. Widley, Esq. of Castine, Me.: a photograph of Israel Trask, a drummer boy at the battle ofunker Hill and also at the storming of the fort at Castine. The picture is framed from wood taken out of a British frigate sunk in Castine harbor during the Revolutionary War.

Dedication of the Church of the Sacred Heart and Consecration of the Altar.
Twelve years ago, when the Catholic church in the centre of Weymouth was laid in ashes, the Catholics of this town had no place to worship in save the town hall, and afterward occupying a spacious room of the hotel, which now forms a part of the handsome paroled residence in Washington square. However, after the lapse of a few years, through the combined zeal, effort and determination of the Rev. D. P. Sayth, with the prompt and generous assistance of a liberal and devoted people, we see four fine Catholic churches raised to the worship of God, and which stand as so many monuments silent proclaiming that priest and people can accomplish what united in labor.

In the summer of 1871 the corner-stone of the Church of the Sacred Heart was laid by His Grace, Archbishop William Cardinal and after the lapse of a year the lofty and spacious basement was ready for the worshippers. Next Sunday, when the dedication will take place, and when the sacred ceremonies will be performed by the Archbishop, assisted by several of the clergy, the upper part of this beautiful structure, which is an honor to the Catholics and an ornament to the town, will be opened for public worship. At 8 o'clock in the morning, the children who are to receive the sacrament of Confirmation will assist at mass and receive the Holy Communion. At 10:15 the church will be dedicated, after which a solemn high mass will be sung, Archbishop Williams presiding. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Fr. Elliott, of the Congregation St. Paul, New York. At 9 o'clock P. M. there will be solemn vespers, after which the sacrament of Confirmation will be administered.

Monday morning, at 8:30, the beautiful marble altar will be consecrated. On Saturday morning, at 9 and 10:30, the Catholic children will be confirmed at East and South Weymouth.

Brief Mentions.
The Puttillow place now owned by Captain Thayer, is being painted by our veteran painter, Sargent L. Stoddard.

EAST WEYMOUTH.

Last Sabbath was observed as Childer's Sunday at the Union church, the Sunday school holding its anniversary, with appropriate exercises, the order of which was as follows:—Organ Voluntary; by the Syn; prayer by the Pastor; hymns by the school; address by Rev. H. Morton Dexter, editor of the Congregationalist.

The address of the Rev. Mr. Dexter, spiritual as well as material, gave a school during the year, several of having increased, the gain one being 49, while officers and teachers manifested a renewed zeal in the discharge of their duties. The address of Rev. Mr. Dexter was listened to with deep interest. They have been carefully prepared, at great expense of time and labor, and deserve a more permanent record. When completed they will probably be published. Another paper was read by the recording secretary, from the well known pen of Hon. J. W.
