INTRODUCTION.

THE MS. called in this publication Liber Elemosinarii possesses no such title in the original, nor in fact any title at all. It is a compilation made by many hands at widely different periods, and some of which additions are introduced by the phrase In tempore . . . Elemosinarii. Thus on the dorse of the first folio we find In tempore Johannis Suddebury, Elemosinarii, 7 Edward IV.

Folio 129. De tempore Fr. Rogeri de Steuyntone.

Folio 160. De tempore Fr. Rogeri de Stiuintone.

Folio 162. De tempore Roberti de Weston.

Folio 163. De tempore Johannis de Muchelneye.

None of these indicate the date of the central and oldest portion of the volume, wherein the script used is large and regular, carefully written, and consists almost wholly of copies of the various charters relating to the estates assigned to the Almoner for the upkeep of his office. This portion can hardly be later than the early part of the reign of Edward I.

The MS. is called Liber Elemosinarii simply because it is obviously a cartulary and precedent book of that Obedientiary containing all the particulars of the endowment, outgoings and receipts of his office. As such it belongs to a rare class of monastic cartularies; the only other Almoner's Book known to the editor being the MS. in two volumes in possession of the Dean and Chapter of Durham.

It is interesting to note in this place the contents of the book, somewhat in the order they occur:—

Profits of manors.

Charters of Ankerdam, Icombe, Worcester.

Note of the Prior's rights in Icombe.

Notes of Rents, &c., Pensions, and Mill dues in various parishes in Worcester, and from Sedgeberrow, Harvington, Overbury and Lawarne, together with the dates upon which they fall due.

A list of fixed payments to various persons and a list of lights to be provided in the Cathedral Church at the Almoner's expense.

A note of tithes, and payments of bread and corn from various Manors.

Copies of episcopal confirmation and records of a suit in the Bishops' Court arising out of a dispute between the Almoner, Henry de Antioch, and Richard de Micham, rector of Icombe.

A list of payments disbursed by the Almoner for matters relating to his office, on the death of certain Monks, viz., W. Molenys and Thomas Carter, payments for vestments to the Master in Theology and so forth, including dues to his substitute in choir and rents to the King for the use of the Severn Bridge. Clothes for his servants, candles and beer.

A list of the corn paid in kind for the use of the Almoner.

Charters of Ankerdam, Worcester, &c.

The form of Blessing for the Alms of St. Wulstan, of Bishop Blois, and Prior Evesham and others.

Bounds in English of the manors of Shirnak and Icombe.

Charters of Shirnack, Tolwardine, Bradecote, Worcester, Ancredam, Doddenham.

A list of the Prior's temporalities in the Archdeaconry of Gloucester.

A list of the Almoner's tenants in Doddenham.

A list of dues of the Obedientiaries under the headings Medietas decime—Quarta pars decime—and Quadrans de Marca.

Charters of Lawarne and Hindlip, Timberdene, Shirnak and Astwode.

Summary of the Statute of Mortmain.

Account of property in the Hundred of Oswaldeslowe.

Debts due to the Almoner, 3 Henry V.

Brief of King Henry IV.

Brief of Edward III.

Charter of Henry II.

The volume is written upon parchment and retains its original binding of white beech boards covered with sheepskin, and its press number is A IX. in the modern Calendar. The outside measurement is 11 by 8½ inches.

From the above short summary of the contents it will be seen that there is sufficient matter in its pages to make the publication desirable. Perhaps its most interesting feature is the folio containing the English bounds of the two manors of Shirnak and Icombe, and this has been selected for reproduction. It would appear from the note upon folio 9, That whereas Icombe was granted to the monastery by King Offa, in the Episcopate of Bishop Athered, 781—798, it was not assigned to the support of the Almoner until the time of Bishop Wulstan, who was perhaps responsible for the arrangement of the several Obedientiaries and instrumental in obtaining fixed endowments for their offices. A pension of one mark was due from Icombe of ancient right, but Bishop Walter de Cantelupe made a further assignation of £1 13s. 4d. out of the profits of that church, which no doubt led to the suit between the Almoner and its Rector. Icombe was apparently at one time a peculiar exempt from Ruridecanal and Archidiaconal visitation. A fact which is also carefully noted.

The various lists of receipts and expenditure are of interest, especially as serving to illustrate these rolls of the Almoners, already printed in the Society's transactions, and also because they are of far earlier date.

The Almoner of a monastery held an important position in the community, and was therefore usually in Holy Orders. His principal duty, as his name implies, was the distribution of the alms of the monks, including their worn-out clothes and the remnants of their food, as well as a dole of bread and sums of money. It was part of his duty to provide extra clerical help on the death of a monk in order that the long office for the deceased might be fittingly rendered. It was his duty to arrange the Maundy ceremony and choose the persons of the poor, who represented on that occasion the laving of the feet of the Apostles. It was he who disbursed the corody of St. Oswald and St. Wulstan, and paid on one occasion on the death of the Sub-prior, the sum of 7*s.* 3*d.* to the precentor, and 6*s.* each to thirty other monks. He also paid for the tolling of the bells. The Priory schoolmaster in the person of the Master in Theology, whose salary was 20*s.* per annum, was supported out of his funds, and it was his business to distribute the Maundy money and buy fryze coats for the poor.

In the Cathedral he provided the lights at the Altar of St. John the Baptist, and lamps at night on both his feasts, and also the large processional torches used in the procession and the following High Mass, as well as similar torches for the High Mass at the Altar of St. Oswald celebrated there upon the Feast of St. Thomas of Canterbury, The Invention of the Holy Cross, and the Decollation of St. John the Baptist.

The Editor has to thank the Dean and Chapter for their kindness in allowing this volume to be printed, and Canon Wilson in particular for kind help and advice. He is also greatly indebted to the General Editor for suggestions and emendations.

Pardon from the Crown to Thomas Musard, prior, for obtaining lands without licence.

15 April, 8 Edward IV. (1468).

7. Bond of John Preston, rector of the church of Ickombe, and John Sklatter al. Smyth of Stowe St. Edward, Co. Gloucester, to Robert Multon, prior of Worcester, in £10, 14 May, 12 Edward IV. (1472), concerning a pension payable from the said church to the Eleemosinarius.

8. Quitclaim by John Gregory, citizen and weaver of Worcester, to Richard Webbe, citizen and corvyser of the same, of all claim in a tenement in Ewport, in the lane leading to the church of St. Clement, between a tenement of the Prior and that of Robert Poleyn, and reaching from the lane to the land of William More, clerk.

Witnesses: Richard Dalton, Richard Hawke, William North, and others.

Dated 4 October, 10 Edward IV. (1470).

Grant by Richard Webbe to Thomas Wylls of Cleve Prioris of the said tenement.

Witnesses: John Brooke, John Pete, Roger Proctur, and others.

Worcester, 20 May, 10 Edward IV. (1470).

9. Incumb and other appurtenance of the Almoner.

The Prior had it by collation of King Offa in the time of Bishop Athered, and it is of the liberty of the Hundred of Oswaldeslowe. It is situated before Wyburnestre and gelded for one hide; part was assigned to the Elemosinarius by Bishop Wulstan.

The said Elemosinarius receives a pension of 1 mark of ancient right, and 2½ by concession of W. de Cantelupe, Bishop. The church is free from all jurisdiction of the courts of the Archdeacon and Dean. There are 8 virgates of land in desmesne. In 1242 there were 13 villeins holding farms for 15 years, and the Almoner receives every year from each, at each of the four quarter-days, 20s. They have besides to find a lodging for the Almoner every year, with all necessaries for horses and hay, &c. There are in villeinage 12 virgates of land, of which quarterly rent is paid, viz. xxs.

The Elemosinarius receives the profit of land-setting, pleas and markets; also the best chattel [of a tenant deceased] and the fine of his successor. He receives for pension of the church of Seggesbarewe, at Michaelmas, 7s. 6d. At Letare Jerusalem, 7s. 6d. From the fulling mill of Overbury on the Feast of the Nativity, 10s. From a certain house at Herforton, 10s. He receives from Calewe about the Invention of the Holy Cross by the hand of the hospitallers of Dunmore, 2s. From lands at Lauverne Abetot, 40d. quarterly.

In the Parish of St. Peter.

THE ALMONER PAYS:—

To the bursarius for the land of Adam the Carpenter, 12*d.* The same for land of Nicholas Hoc, 6*d.* Richard de la Hulle for lands, 2*s.* To the heirs of Ruddoc for land at Clive, 9*d.* William Baterich for a house, on the Nativity, 7*d.* At Hokeday, 7*d.* To the heirs of Alexander Ringwuth for a house, 10½*d.* For the house of Simon Sutare to the heirs of Thomas Gos, at Easter, 1 pair of gloves or 1*d.* For the same house to the wife of Henry Fuster, at Michaelmas, 6*d.* On the Feast of Annunciation, 6*d.* To Sir A., vicar of Sawernestoke, for a meadow, at Easter, a pair of gloves or 1*d.* To John de Herforton for a house, at Easter, a pair of gloves or 1*d.* For a house in the Corvisary, at Christmas for socage, 3½*d.* Item at Hokeday, 3½*d.*

The Eleemosinarius is bound to provide a lamp burning every day at every Mass at the Altar of St. John Baptist, and at nigh burning at both his feasts. Item torches (cereos) sufficient at the processions and Masses on both feasts.

He is bound to find a torch as above at the procession and Mass at the Altar of St. Oswald on the Feast of St. Thomas M.

He is bound to find on the Feasts of the Invention of the Holy Cross, the Translation of St. Benedict, and the Beheading of St. John the Baptist, and at each ij^a and iiij^a vi^a fr^a. In Advent and in Lent loaves (worth) 12*d.*, "deportandos ad digitum¹ ad elemosinam."

He has to find each day loaves for the monks, worth 3*s.*, delivered at the hand of the Almoner.

He receives in each year a *cronnus*² of corn from Humelton, another from Lypard, and one from Cornebury to make bread; for distribution ad digitum on the day of the Anniversary of Prior Ralph.

12. OF THE ALMONER'S TITHES. He receives a third part of the tithe from the demesne of Thomas Ruppe of Herforton, and from one virgate which belongs to the mill there. A third part of the tithe of the lands of Hugh Salford at Cleve. A third part of tithes of Lady Emma de Belowe at Cantertun³. The tithe of the assarts at Humelton "propriis sumptibus excultis."

The tithe of land called Horsham at Seggeberewe. The tithe of the demesne of Alexander de Abetot beyond the brook at Lauwarne, and tithe of two villeins who held of the same lord, and small tithes and tithe of land of W. Buffle, who held of the same lord. He takes tithe of the bakery without "scandum⁴" and the alms of the Prior in Lent, and bread for the poor on Maundy Thursday.

² A measure of four bushels.

³ Above this Cliva is written in a later hand.

⁴ MS. "exceptis scandis," whatever that means.

He receives tithe of the bread bought and tithe of the oblations and legacies to the chaplain.

He receives each week "vj justatas de meliore cervisia et totidem de secunda pro relevio cervisie die Sabbati post Collationem."

The Almoner is bound to find on Maundy Thursday in the cloister for every monk two poor men, and to each poor man 13*d.* without the poor of the prior, to each one of whom he pays 13*d.*

THE ALMS OF ST. WULSTAN.

Item. He receives from the several hands written below a cronnus or lxii quartern loaves, one loaf to be given to the gatekeeper and to other servants of the Almoner.

Of a windmill and plot of land acquired of John Ambroys, that they held it some time before the statute.

For the 4 acres of Walter Cradam in Bedwardyn and 7 acres of Richard the Goldsmith, they have held the past four years without licence. It is worth 21*d.* yearly.

Of an acre of John Balle, they have held it the past year. It is worth 2*d.*

A messuage and carucate in Schirnak acquired of William ate Mulne ; they have a charter of the King for c. shillings, and they are worth no more.

Of the Park of Timpeleye, which the Prior acquired of Edward Burnel, they have a licence for 160 acres of wood in Kyderminster, and they swear this wood is called Timpeleye Park.

Villa Wygornie.

204. Inquisition taken at Worcester on same day. Jurors: William de Wynyntone, Alan le fatte, Geoffrey le Mercer, John de Herde, Thomas de Bromyard, Walter de Poywyke, Roger Gnawebon, Richard Adam, Richard de Ruswyke, John de Stocton, William de Apelton, and John Lay.

The Property in Crupelegatestret is held and has been held time out of mind "Ut in gleba et fundatione ecclesie."

£4 10s. 2d. rent which William Kalabre held they declare is part of a cs. rent which the Prior and Convent acquired of William of the Mill by licence from the King (produced).

The remaining 11s. rent from tenements of William de Salop, 4s. from Henry de Upton, 4d. from a plot of William de Salop. Two years have elapsed without licence of the King.

The curtilage near the Severne obtained of Robert Peet, they have held without licence for 4 years.

For the 11s. rent held of John the Carter in the High Street said to have been acquired after the statute; the Jurors say that it was paid by William, father of John, time out of mind, and that nothing was acquired after the statute.

51s. rent out of La Baileye in Sudbury, &c. 3 years have elapsed without a licence.

205. Debita que debentur officio Elemosinarii per J. H. Cellarium tempore Johannis Hatfeld in festo Annunciationis anno regni Regis Henrici V. iii^o, lxxvii. xiijs. viij^d. Item J. Hambury, Cellarius pro tempore suo, in officio cellarii ut patet in pede compoti prefati Johannis Hatfeld anno regni Regis Henrici IV. xij^o. vij^l. xjs. iiij^d., remanentes idem J. Cellarius debet de hallelond de Schyton pro obitu Prioris Johannis pro v annis.

206. Grant by John, lord of Hankedam (sic), to Helen his daughter, for homage and service, of his land in Ancredam and a messuage there he held of Thomas de Ancredam with its curtilage and with an addition reaching in length to the Court of the lord, and from a gate called Ehuc next the Court, and in width from the way to the same gate, and one crufta

(?croft) called Erushale, and other land upon Eylwardushulle, reaching to the lord's meadow called Godushale to the lands of Hugh de Ancredham.

207. Blank.

208. Letter of King Henry IV. to the collectors of taxes, declaring that the tenements held by the Prior and Convent within the precinct of the Cathedral are exempt from the King's tenths and fifteenths, and have been so since before 20 Edw. I.

209. Letter of King Edward III. to his collectors of taxes in the County of Worcester for the tenths and fifteenths declaring the Prior's private property to be in like manner exempt.

27 January, 14 Edward III. (1340), "apud Levyington Evesch"¹.

Charter of King Henry II. granting in perpetual alms a carucate of land in the King's assart of Hay², with rents and appurtenances to the Worcester monks residing at Kalewe. (Apud Wirec[ester], without date.)

Witnesses: R., Bishop of Worcester, Roger de Curtenai, Thomas Bassett, Randolf de Glanville, Gaufred de Perche, Gervase de Capella.

Copy of the bond of Alan, Prior of the Hospitallers in England, for 2s. See p. 12, f. 37.

¹ This date is interesting. Edward III. sailed "from Orwell" in the following month (Feb. 1340), and Levington is a place on the Orwell estuary; so that it can be identified with very little question with this "Levyington," though another instance of its being called Bishop's Levington is still to seek.

² "In meo essarto de Haya Herefordie." The "Hay of Hereford" was an enclosed park, originally a forest, near the city. Note that Kalewe (or Calewe) is described as situate "in trenchato Herefordie," whatever that may mean. There is a Callow some four miles S. of Hereford; but Habington, in his survey of Worcestershire, describes the parish of Mathon as bounded on the South by "Callow" in Herefordshire, thus identifying Callow with Colwall. Wherever it is to be found, a manor of Callow was bestowed by Richard I. on the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, a gift which seems to have involved the displacement of a colony of monks from Worcester.
