TO: Col Webb

Gen Watson indicated this afternoon that he wants priority given to the following four areas for detailed reconnaissance:

a Hokkaido - the "long bar" area on the N. coast.

b KANTO - OJOJI-Hara

c Kinki - Mt ODI-SEN d Kyushu - Area East of Kumamoto (Kanaoka is looking at this area now).

He plans to urge the construction of a Bn size camp at each of these good training areas as a starter, and wants complete information as to water availability etc.

Suggest we include the areas a b c d above in the letter.

1. Reference is made to letter NPR GGHQ, subject: "Weapons Firing," dated 10 September 1951, File NPR GGHQ OPR #188.

2. In order to improve the state of operational readiness of NPR units, it is directed that the following action be accomplished without delay:

a. The development of all present training areas, including the building of necessary field firing and known-distance ranges, improvement of road nets and the establishment of new training areas where necessary, making the most effective use of the advance funds distributed.

b. The completion of all field firing prescribed by reference letter. This firing will be conducted in the field and not on the 1,000 inch range. For this field firing, authorization is granted to move units into the field, utilizing tentage for billeting purposes if necessary.

c. The planning and execution of "alerts" for extended field operations. These "alerts" will include actual movement into field training areas, and organization for tactical operations. Emphasis will be placed on the unit's ability for independent tactical operations without support from its home camp. This will include the ability to maintain its own weapons and vehicles, and to feed and supply itself for indefinite periods. Personnel and pay records need not be separated for alert purposes at this time. This movement may be for only short periods to accomplish the training in alert movements.

3. Guidance concerning the manner of conducting field firing exercises will be found in the Instruction Books cited as references for each weapon prescribed in reference letter.

Upon receipt of Block, Demolition, M1 Chain and Explosive, TNT 1-lb the following information with regards to their use must be strictly adhered to.

a. The M1 demolition block has the same dimensions and explosive as the M2 demolition block. Instead of being cast into separate blocks, the M1 demolition chains, with 8 blocks per chain, 8 inches apart, are cast into a single line of detonating cord which passes lengthwise through them. If less than 8 blocks are needed, the chain is cut. When the chain is cut to individual blocks, 8 inches of cord are left attached to each block to which the blasting cap is taped or wrapped with twine, since the M1 block does not have a threaded cap well in each end to receive the priming adapter or fuze as is the case with the M2 block.

b. TNT is issued in 1-lb and ½-lb containers. The 1-lb package consists of two ½-lb blocks and in some cases, one single 1-lb block of TNT in a cardboard container with lacquered metal ends. The TNT may be removed by simply pulling one of the metal ends from the cardboard container. In the event the TNT is a 1-lb block, this can be cut in the middle with a hand saw of any kind. An electrical saw will not be used under any circumstances for this purpose. This cutting process will result in two ½-lb TNT blocks, one of which will be without blasting cap well. In order to detonate this TNT block without the internal blasting cap well, the blasting cap will be taped (or wrapped with twine) to one of the sides in intimate contact with the TNT prior to detonation.

1. It is desired that the following Standing Operating Procedure for reception and escort of visiting and inspecting officers be established.

2. Since the primary mission of the NPR is to accomplish its training objectives, and, as frequent visits and inspections are being made by officers of this Section, the normal scheduled training of units will not be changed or suspended. No unscheduled Guards of Honor, Parades, Reviews, or Ceremonies will be conducted, as the mission of visiting or inspecting officers is to observe scheduled activities.

3. It is desired that the reception and escorting party be kept to a minimum. This will usually be the Senior Adviser, and the Camp Commander, each accompanied by no more than one member of his staff and necessary interpreters. This party will be the escort throughout the entire camp. In cases where more than one officer is inspecting separately, other officers of appropriate rank will be detailed to accompany each inspector.

4. Commanding Officers of subordinate units and responsible officers of installations or activities such as Supply, Medical, Weapons Maintenance, etc., will be present with their units or installations and report to the inspecting officer upon his arrival in their immediate areas, accompany him during his inspection in order to answer any questions and to receive the comments of the inspector upon completion of his inspection of their units or installations. For example, a Battalion Commander will accompany the inspecting party throughout his battalion area only, each Company Commander reporting when the inspecting party arrives in his immediate area and accompanying the inspecting party while in his company area only.
