

Advocacy – Logic Model

Without external voices pushing legislators and organisations to change, they may keep restrictive policies in place. This means that people cannot access content, because it is being kept closed. By advocating for it to change, we could improve the situation. By encouraging people to create content in their language, we create accessible content for people speaking minority languages.