OBSERVATIONS OF THE STROLLER

On Amusement Life and Environment

STORIES & ANECDOTES

It must be admitted that when an exhibition of a novel turn is first introduced there are many people who are willing to disparage it on general principles. They set up a cry of "fake," though the act may be superior to others that receive more favorable criticism.

Frequently, too, these cynics come to grief, their ill-chosen theories forming a basis of much amusement for the onlookers. An incident wherein one of these lampooners played the "butt-end-of-a-joke" role is related by a Stroller correspondent, who cites the occurrence thuswise:

"During the carnival recently held in Noblesville, under the auspices of the subject of much curiosity to the unsophisticated natives. Two ladies, especially, had displayed an unusual interest in Trixie, having visited the show several times during the day. Upon the occasion of their last visit, one of the pair espied a canvasman pumping up the acetylene lights, which function she misconstrued, as was evidenced by her comment:

"Look!" she whispered, at the same time nudging her companion, "that man is pumping her up now. She isn't as big now as she was when we came in. Let's get out."

Their exit was made hurriedly, but not so fast that the audible twitter of the bystanders failed to escape their hearing.

If you come upon any newspaper man in any metropolis, city, town or hamlet in the United States and ask him suddenly to name some one in the theatrical business who, at one time or other, has impressed him, he will very likely tell you that the cognomen of Tunis F. Dean occupies the most conspicuous place on the tablets of his memory.

Although Mr. Dean has never, to the knowledge of the oldest inhabitant, donned the sock and buskin, he has been in the limelight as a press agent and manager of theatrical attractions for many years. He is at present manager of Planche Bates, and if the reader should desire information regarding Miss Pates' theatrical career, Tunis F. (why does he not write it furore?) will produce in a twinkling of an eye a document covering all the necessary details. And, if you happen to be a newspaper man, you will also get photographs and scene pictures that would be an ornament to the pages of an up-to-date publication. He will delicately convey a hint to that effect.

Although Mr. Dean is famed as a purveyor of theatrical news and is always on the job, there are other things in life which have engaged his fancy. Every man has his certain tastes, inclinations and idiosyncrasies. The trend of thought of each individual has its peculiar dip toward the horizon. If he happens to have a predilection for rum and violence he invariably nominates a certain brand of whisky to boost him along on his spectacular career toward a drunkard's tomb; if he is a health fiend, he may prefer Wheatgerino to Brickbats breakfast food. Every cornfed pilgrim has his fad, and Tunis Dean is no exception to the rule.

His weakness is buttons. As a monument to sartorial perfection, he is an ornament to the leading temples of Theatrics and the highest roof gardens in America. His clothes fit him like the proverbial glove, and the man who originated silk hats must have had Tunis in mind when he turned out his first design. Although Mr. Dean pays particular attention to his evening clothes, to say nothing of the largest chrysanthemum east or west of anywhere, which is always to be found on the lapel of his coat, his heart is in his buttons.

They are the buttons that ornament his immaculate evening vest. Mr. Dean may wear the same vest more than once, but it is said that he has yet to be seen on two consecutive occasions wearing the same vest buttons. It is well worth a walk around the block to see Mr. Dean and gaze in rapture at his buttons. They cover every design, composition and color ever made. Today he may wear the conventional white pearl buttons, to-morrow those of an onyx hue, and he has been caught red-handed with buttons set in diamonds. Button manufacturers seek his custom, and his trail throughout the United States, and even into the solemn hush of the Canadian forest, is always peopled with agents who want to show him some new creation in vest buttons.

Mr. Dean carries with him a hat of vivid green hue. Ever and anon when he stops at a dead town he puts on his green skypiece, and, parading down the main street, wakes up the village. They tell weird stories of that hat and of how he wore it one day and held up an Orangemen's parade. But he will be best remembered for keeping society in touch with the latest novelties in vest buttons for evening wear.

It is not generally known, but it is a fact, that Tunis F. Dean has cured at least one man of a thirst for drink. A long time ago, a friend of his called at the theatre and asked him to partake of a modest quencher. Tunis was on his way back to the stage to make some arrangements for the departure of his company, which was to leave the city in the morning. He told his friend that he would be back in a moment and under no circumstances to take a drink before he returned. His friend promised not to imbibe unless Tunis were with him, and the manager disappeared in the theatre.

Time passed, the audience filed out of the house, the lights were extinguished, but Tunis came not. The friend thought that he might yet find the theatrical manager at some of the stage doors and he haunted them continually. Time passed, and the man who patiently waited grew whiskers until he looked like a populist. Months fled, and at last Tunis Dean returned to the same theatre, but his friend no longer had a desire for a drink. And thus the theatrical manager had done a good bit of temperance work without the aid of a pledge.

This friend who had been converted loomed up at the theatre one night, where he found Manager Dean gorgeously attired and vest-buttoned. Time had dealt gently with him. The two friends shook hands cordially and heaped upon each opprobrious remarks, as old cronies will after being parted for months or years.

Mr. Dean's attention was finally called to their last parting and the drink that failed to materialize. Tunis evinced great surprise as he toyed with an onyx vest button. "Why, bless me," he exclaimed, "I thought—er—well—I think—yes—yes, I think I'll change my buttons!"

Had it not been for his acknowledgment of a "good evening" from a friend, as he was about to enter a building, causing him to turn around, E. A. Clifford, of the theatrical firm of Rowland and Clifford, of Chicago, would now be mourning the loss of his 36-horse power Bulck machine. Stopping his machine a few doors south of the Grand Opera House Building, Mr. Clifford entered a nearby building, and, with a customary "look-about," to recognize a friendly greeting, Mr. Clifford was astonished to see a quick-witted youth working the lever of his machine for a quick getaway. Mr. Clifford called a policeman and, in a sensational chase through congested thoroughfares, the policeman fired four shots at the auto thief. The shots brought the thief, who gave his name as Fred Galvert, to a "reverse" stop.

In court, next morning, Mr. Clifford's lawyer used a quotation from Mr. Rose's "Rosary," in that he said "Not revenge is wanted in this case; simply justice." On witnessing the theft of his machine, Mr. Clifford said he was thinking more of a gold-laced surplice that was loaned to him an hour previous by a Catholic priest of Chicago, and which was to be used in the church scene of The Rosary, than he did of the machine. Mr. Clifford had placed the surplice on the rear seat of the machine, and was about to take it to a rehearsal of The Rosary Company at the Globe Theatre.

Joseph N. Edmonston, manager of the central publicity department for Al. Woods, had just encountered a glaring billboard: "Classic Drama at the Plutonian To-night! William Shakespeare in His Great Creation of Hamlet! Booth and Farret as Rosencrantz and Guildenstern; Wagner and Mozart Orchestra! Seats Free! Everybody Welcome!"

"Surely this can't be Hades, with this great dramatic feast free to all?" he suggested, hopefully, to a bystander.

"Oh, it's hell, all right," groaned the bystander. "You see, they use a drop curtain depicting sunrise in the Alps, surrounded by the names of fourteen kinds of whisky and sixteen varieties of chewing gum; the local Smart Set enters during the progress of the second act; the performance is preceded by moving pictures showing a chase after criminals in automobiles; the man behind you has already witnessed the show four times; the ushers sell the complete words and music of the production for ten cents a copy, and the audience invariably demands 'Casey at the Pat.'"

NOTED BEAUTY'S EXIT IN SOUTHERN CLIMES

May Yohe Stricken with Paralysis—Was Once the Wife of English Nobleman—Married Son of a New York Mayor—Daughter of Seamstress

May Yohe's stage career is at an end. Every cent of her money is gone. She was once the possessor of the Hope jewel, which included as the gem of the collection the wonderful Hope blue diamond. But they never brought anyone anything but ill luck, and the worst luck of all to May Yohe.

She climbed high. She achieved a marriage into the British nobility, but she would not stay among the society of peers' matrons.

Done with Lord Francis Hope, she married the son of one of New York's proudest families, Putnam Bradlee Strong, whose father was the mayor of the city.

That was the climax. Thereafter the circle of her destiny swung downward.

May Yohe, years ago, was a simple little girl in a little town not far from Philadelphia. Her mother took her to Philadelphia, and while she worked as a dressmaker, she let May be taught the things that usually only society buds acquire. She learned French and German, dancing and singing and finished with four assets to her career.

The four assets were four remarkable contralto notes in her voice, which she had been trained to sing with their utmost effect. She took these four notes with her into a church choir and became talked about. Then she took them upon the stage.

Philadelphia was but the stepping stone for New York. The four full-throated contralto notes gained her a reputation here over night. The circle had started on its swing upward.

New York led to London. Once more the four contralto notes. But by this time May no longer was the little miss from the Quaker City, E. S. A. Personality had been infused into the four famous throaty notes and that meant a stage-door crowd.

One of this stage-door crowd was Lord Francis Hope, son of the Duchess of Newcastle, one of the oldest and richest Earldoms in Great Britain. He spent his mother's fortune on her and her stage ventures and he gave her another fortune in the family jewels. Then, in 1893, he married her, and her wedding gift from him was the great Hope blue diamond.

By a strange dovetailing of circumstances, the glittering jewel that had once glittered from out the forehead of a placid East Indian idol, that had afterward been the central gem in the kingly diadem of France, now sparkled, pendant, at the corsage of the erstwhile demure miss from Pennsylvania.

Lord Francis and his wife came to New York and she returned to the stage. Seven years had been the span of their married life. Lady Hope blazed with diamonds as she appeared at the New York Theatre. But the ill-luck of the Hope diamond was enough to offset the lucky number "seven."

Putnam Bradlee Strong, back from service in the Philippines with a captaincy, then promoted

Performer Writes of His Experiences in the Land Far South of the Equator—First-Hand Description of Conditions as He Finds Them

SYDNEY, N. S. W., AUSTRALIA. The Billboard Pub. Co. Cincinnati, Ohio.

Sirs:—I know you will be pleased to publish for the benefit of the many thousands of readers of the Billboard a few items of news concerning this, my second tour of the world. We have up to the present played Honolulu. Our business here averaged over eight hundred dollars per night for a week, notwithstanding the fact that we had as a counter attraction against us, the Philippine Band from Manila, a great organization which also did a phenomenal business. We were in the Opera House which place is the property of municipality, and the band held forth in the Orpheum. One night, while the boat stops in port can be advantageously played in Suva, in the Fijian islands where the caudinals are. This is a fine place and these descendants of King Thackeray, with their brick colored hair, standing on an end like a circusian's filled with chloride of lime, to kill the vermin and what not, will flock to the hall to pay twenty-five cents to one dollar a seat. About three hundred dollars may be seen in the night.

After arriving in Brisbane Australia, where we opened our second tour of the Antipodes, we played to capacity business for one week then proceeded to New Zealand, over three thousand miles by sea, where we repeated our previous success of two years prior. The south island was not as profitable for me as the North Island proved to be, due no doubt to the stringent condition of the money-market, as the crop of wool for the years previous did not sell as well or for the high prices it formerly brought, which was attributed to the panic during that time in America for the greatest and highest buyers in these countries, (of wool) are the Americans, who set the price by their bidding. We are indeed a very important nation, and if we are not prosperous, heaven help the other parts of the world. Our panic was felt in China, Japan, Malay Straits, India, and in every part of Europe. In North New Zealand alone our business was capacity and everywhere, in many places playing return dates after an absence merely of one week.

We are now back in Australia, where we have continued the same business. At present I am filling a twelve weeks' engagement here in Sydney, under the management of Mr. Harry Rickards. His beautiful theatre is packed to the ceiling every night. Finishing here we shall repair to Western Australia, thence to Africa, India, Egypt, Italy, France, Germany, Russia, Belgium, England, and America, when I shall open with my own show if the rates are propitious to my wanderings and permit me to return safely.

My illusions and tricks are the talk of the world everywhere. The European and the native are my patrons. If there are no theatres available, we build one. During my last tour in Singapore, the Chinese built me a theatre

Male Chorus Opens Season

The Mountain Ash Male Chorus of twenty-seven artists, under the leadership of Prof. T. Glyndwr Richards, opened a concert tour from coast to coast, one hundred and eighty bookings, with their initial concert at Ocean Grove, Sept. 5. The chorus was in this country two years ago and had a successful tour through Eastern and Central States, by special request giving a concert to President Roosevelt at the White House.

Their repertoire consists of eighty choruses, eight of which are given at every concert, also quartettes, trios, duets and solos. They will give concerts in music halls, conservatories, theatres as well as some of the leading churches through New York, Ontario, including Massey's Music Hall, Toronto, also have already booked through portions of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas; thence they go to the Southern States and on to California as far north as Vancouver, B. C., returning via Salt Lake, Colorado and Chicago. East. D. J. Evans has charge of the bookings and itineraries.

LOUISE BEATON,

Wife of A. H. Woods. She is en route to Seattle to spend several weeks at the Exposition.

Doctor Ball in Minneapolis

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 5.—Dr. W. H. Ball, the well-known medicine show man spent several days at the National Hotel, in Minneapolis last week, where he was engaged in organizing another large medicine show. Dr. Ball possesses the distinction of being not only a real showman, but a licensed physician as well, being a graduate of the medical department of the University of Missouri. He owns and operates a large number of the more prominent medicine shows, and is arranging for a new show which will carry from eighteen to twenty-five people in addition to a band and orchestra, trick ponies, trained dogs, and high-grade vaudeville acts, and will play opera houses through Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and the Indian Territory, opening his season September 5. From credentials and press notices of the various towns where he has played, it is evident that the W. H. Ball Shows have more than made good during the past seasons, and that they are far superior to the ordinary medicine show. Dr. Ball is a Virginian of true Southern charm of manner and hospitality, and it is as much due to his personality as to the merit of his productions that his enterprises have met with so much public favor. He wishes to be remembered most kindly to all his friends and acquaintances in the profession, and to say to them that "Little Doc" and "Pawnee" are on the trip.

The Port Huron Theatre, Port Huron, Mich., opened August 14 with The Three Twins.

New Plays Satirize Women

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—During September Charles Frohman will present two satires on the new woman, one treated from the English point of view, and the other from the French. One will be Smith in which John Drew will open the Empire Theatre, on September 5, and the other Decorating Clementine.

Rehearsals for this latter piece were begun last week. The comedy which was written by Mme. de Callavet and de Fiers has been running eight months in Paris. In it will appear a new co-star combination—G. P. Huntley, and Miss Hattie Williams. They will be assisted by a notable cast including Doris Keane, Ernest Lawford and Riehl Hug.

VERSATILE AUTHOR-MANAGER.

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—The people engaged for the Adolf Philipp lyric comedy, Theresa Its Mine are: Hon. Berge, Glenn Ellis, Helen Keene, Georgiana Leary, Agnes Atherton, Julia Eastman, Oscar Figman, Garrick Major, Harry Lane, Maurice Lavigne, Harry Benham, Walter Pashal, Luigi D'Orta, Alfonso D'Orta, George Robbe, Albert McGarry, J. S. Kinslow, Herman Noble and Emil Herman. Adolf Philipp is the only author-manager on record who is rehearsing the same play in two languages with two companies in both English and German. J. J. Rosenthal is general manager of all the Philipp enterprises.

Seven Days Opens Season

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—The second season of Seven Days began at the Astor Theatre last night, with almost all the original company back in the play. The cast contains Florence Reed, Georgia O'Ramey, Hope Latham, Lucille LaVerne, Carl Ekstrom, Jay Wilson, William Eville, Allan Pollock, F. C. Butler and Albert Brown. Of these Mr. Brown is the only one who was not with the company last winter. Much new scenery and an entirely new equipment of Paris gowns made their first appearance last night.

J. Stanley Smith, manager and owner of the Columbia Theatre, Alliance, O., has purchased a farm near Salem, O. Consideration, $18,000.

TWO TRICK SONGS

Recent Publications of Songs of Magic Exhibit the Cleverness of Authors and a Certain Genius of Parallel in Idea and Construction

There has just been published two songs embodying ideas quite out of the ordinary. In one of these songs, which is illustrated with the quaintest of pictures, Yucatan Man, there is a trick refrain, which is either shouted or sung with unique effect. The music, by S. R. Henry, is marvellous, stirring and exceedingly restful. The words were written by the prolific writer, Monroe H. Rosenfeld, and run as follows:

YUCATANA MAN.

(Vocal setting to the popular march and two-step, Down in Yucatan.) Words by Monroe H. Rosenfeld; music by S. R. Henry.

Down in a cozy spot, down in a rosy spot,
Down in a bungalow old,
There dwelt a chieftain bold, who loved a fair
maiden madly;
Every night he plead for her love so sadly;
Down in a mossy nook, down by a glossy brook,
Down where the coconut grows,
Said he: "I'll crown you queen of forest and glade.

My little lily-white maid, my little Rose,
For I'm a mighty king,
With my magic ring,
I can take and make you do—do most anything;
Come to my jungle cave,
There I'll be your slave,
I'm wild with love my dove,
So sing to your brave:

Chorus:
Yucatan man, Yucatan man,
You can take me in your caravan;
Take me in your arms,
To the land of palms;
Put your saddle on,
We'll skedaddle on,
To Yucatan!

The other song is a real novelty. It is entitled Stop Your Blushing, Rosie. It begins in an ordinary way and innocently leads up to a chorus, until the last two lines are sung. Then there is a scream. When Bessie Wynn the clever little vaudeville star, sang it last week at Brighton Beach, she had to respond to three curtain calls. Here is the chorus which raises riot:

STOP YOUR BLUSHING, ROSIE.

Chorus:
Stop your blushing, Rosie, stop your blushing,
Posy,
True love has its charms;
What's the use of blushing, soon I will be crushing
Rosey Posy in my arms.
I've a cottage cosy waiting for you, Rosie;
Let your lovelight shine;
When we're wed for one or two years, maybe,
We will have a little—money—
Stop your blushing, Rosie mine!

Both songs are from the press of Joseph W. Stern & Co., New York.

NAZIMOVA'S PLAYS

Noted Actress Will be Seen on Tour in The Fairy Tale, Johannisfeuer, Little Eyolf and A Doll's House—Under Direction of Shuberts

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—The Messrs. Shubert announce that the company which is to support Mme. Nazimova in the first English production of Arthur Schnitzler's The Fairy Tale, is now complete and includes Brandon Tynan, Elsie Esmond, Mrs. Jacques Martin, Gertrude Berkeley, Margaret Lindsay, Alice Wicka, Edward R. Mawson, Orlando Daly, William Hassam, L. Race Dunrobin, Thomas Russell, Master George Tobin and Evelyn Tobin. A special translation of The Fairy Tale has been made by Mrs. Nina Lawton. Mme. Nazimova's repertoire will also include Sudermann's Johannisfeuer, in which she will now be seen for the first time; Ibsen's Little Eyolf, the piece in which she last Spring opened the new theatre in New York City, which bears her name; and Ibsen's A Doll's House. The Fairy Tale, however, is to be the opening attraction of the repertoire in every city where Nazimova appears.

Mme. Nazimova's season will open in New Haven, Conn., on Wednesday, Sept. 7, and, after two days, will go directly to Chicago, opening there at the Garrick Theatre the following Monday. Her tour, before she returns to New York for her regular season at Nazimova's Thirty-Ninth Street Theatre, will take her to the Pacific Coast and back. The company is to be known as the Nazimova's Theatre Company in support of Mme. Nazimova.

EDNA SHOWALTER

Prima Donna of the Psoletta Opera, playing at the Ohio Valley Exposition, Cincinnati, who alternates with Bernice de Pasquall.

FOLLIES ON VIEW AT THE COLONIAL.

Chicago, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—The many whose interests were aroused by the "coming" posters and pictures which decorated the lobby of the Colonial Theatre in announcement of Follies of 1910, have now the opportunity of seeing in person the charming young ladies which are characteristic of a Ziegfeld revue. This much discussed and long anticipated entertainment comes to us with an Eastern reputation and the "World's Largest and Greatest Cast." James Jay Brady received the frivolous crowd with open arms and immediately introduced them to Chicago.

FORTUNE HUNTER LEAVES THE OLYMPIC.

Chicago, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—Thomas Ross and The Fortune Hunter, after enjoying one of the longest non-musical runs in the history of Chicago theatricals, left the Olympic Theatre to make room for The Girl in Waiting. This is a comedy by Mr. J. Hartley Manners, in which Miss Laurette Taylor is the leading character. Miss Taylor is supported by the Messrs. A. H. VanBuren, Wilfred Draycott, Percy Ames and Wallace Erskine; and the Misses Alice Gale, Julia Ralph, Mary Keogh, Geraldine Peck and Eliza Mason.

Burlesque Bills in Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—The Weber Bros., this week, are offering The Queen of Bohemia, at their Alhambra Theatre while at the Star and Garter the Columbia Burlesques are on display. Mr. Wm. Beebe, manager of the Star and Garter, speaks very encouragingly of the coming season and expresses it as his intention to run his show house along the same high-class lines as he did last year. The attraction offered the patrons of the Folly Theatre this week is the Broadway Gaiety Girls. At the Empire Theatre The Star Show Girls is the offering of the week.

Playwrights Are Strangers Here

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—Oddly enough, many of the authors of the most remarkable European successes that Chas. Frohman will present in America this year have never yet visited this country.

Among them are Frank Anstey, author of The Brass Bottle; Alfred Sutro, author of The Fire Screen; Elizabeth Baker, author of Chimes; Henri Lavedan, author of Sire; Mme. Armand de Calliacet and Robert de Fiers, authors of Decorating Clementine; Mme. Tristan Bernard and Alfred Athis, authors of A Thief in the Night; Louis Henkerse, author of Paddlon; and Henry Batallie, author of The Scandal.

Mr. Frohman has invited each to come to America to witness the first performance of their plays.

Ora Parks, who has been resident manager of the Gemett Theatre, Richmond, Ind., for H. C. Somers, has been transferred to Cairo, Ill., where he will act in the same capacity at the Cairo Opera House.

Gladys Hulette in Blue Bird

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—Miss Gladys Hulette has been engaged to play the role of Myrtle in Maeterlinck's The Blue Bird at the New Theatre. Miss Hulette first came to notice when she appeared in DeWolf Hopper's revival of Wang. Her performance brought her to the attention of Mme. Bertha Kalich who was then rehearsing The Kreutzer Sonata, and the child was engaged for the boy's part of David. Her work in this attracted considerable attention. The following season she appeared with Mme. Kalich in Sapho and Phaoon, and the same year played Ivan in The Doll's House with Mme. Nazimova. During the last two years she has been with Henry Miller. Miss Hulette is a Brooklyn girl and the daughter of Mrs. Francis I. Hulette.

PORTRAIT OF CARUS PAINTED BY MRS. M. O. ROCKEFELLER.

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—Mrs. M. O. Rockefeller has presented Emma Carus, who is now appearing in New York at the Casino in 19 and Down Broadway, with a large water-color portrait of herself painted by the donor. The painting is to be hung in the lobby of the Casino. Mrs. Rockefeller, who is related to the Rockefeller family of Standard oil fame, has done the portraits of numerous well-known society people but has never before permitted any of her work to be exhibited in a public place.

In and Around Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—The Marlowe, which opened last week, is this week housing The End of the Trail, to be followed by Brewster's Millions. At the Haymarket is being offered The Broken Idol, while the National is entertaining with The Time, the Place and the Girl. The Globe is offering as its initial attraction, The Rosary, by Mr. Edward E. Rose. Mr. Rose is also staging this production. At the Bijou is seen A Child of the Regiment, and the Criterion has as this week's attraction, How the Hearts Are Broken. At Weber's Theatre, Lena Rivers is being revived and at the Crown, Live Wire is emitting its sparks.

After going into some detail—the critic on The Times sums up the production by saying—“On the whole, Our Miss Gibbs, in spite of its faults, is a fairly diverting entertainment. As such it will probably please most people. But frankly, it is not quite up to concert pitch.”

Pointed Pencillings From a Press Agent

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard). —The secret of the hobble skirt and other extreme styles in the matter of feminine dress is out! Women wear them merely as an excuse for their own awkwardness. So much, at all events, may be gleaned from the interesting prospectus of the newly formed Conservatory of Walking, which Miss Irene Fenwick will open in Carnegie Hall, beginning September 15.

This unique school, quite the newest in educational circles, has been planned by Miss Fenwick solely to teach society women how to walk. The fee is nominal, for as the prospectus sets forth, she is not going to conduct the school for a profit. In fact, she has quite enough money of her own.

“My only reason for founding the Conservatory of Walking,” said Miss Fenwick, in her preliminary prospectus, which was mailed yesterday to all members of the enlarged “four hundred,” “to give women an idea of what constitutes graceful movement. Women in this country walk so little that they have apparently forgotten how. Their awkwardness, particularly in the smart set, where they have the leisure to learn differently, is deplorable. They have recourse to the most burdensome, tight-fitting gowns in order that their men admirers may say to themselves, ‘Oh, it’s not her, it’s her gown.’”

“Not one woman in ten that you meet in the fashionable hotels and restaurants, in the theatres, and at receptions, know how to walk correctly. If you study the charming grace of the sixteen-year-old girl who has been brought up out-of-doors, away from the towns and cities, and who has been able to live and walk naturally since babyhood, you will understand why it is the usual woman in society has so little refinement in her walking. This cultivated person, who gets her ideas of gracefulness from her mother, walks entirely from her knees, instead of allowing herself the free swinging movement from the hips. We were given two sets of joints to use. But most women neglect one utterly. The result is they don’t walk; they toddle.”

familiar type. With some elimination of tiresome scenes that now delay the action and are of no importance it will probably turn out to be a fairly popular entertainment. But its English success will be duplicated here is not in the least likely.”

Another writer—“Our Miss Gibbs is the new musical comedy which Charles Frohman has imported from the Gaiety Theatre, London. It was presented at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night, but it failed to make the impression that was the good fortune of its predecessors, The Dollar Princess and The Arcadians. The fault of the piece does not lie in the music, by Ivan Caryll and Lionel Monckton, which is bright and tuneful. It is in the book.”

MISS PATSY OPENS

Critics Differ Again in Their Estimates of the Merits of a New Production in New York—All Praise Gertrude Quinlan's Handling of Leading Part

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard). MISS PATSY, a farce in three acts, by Sewall Collins. Nazimova's Thirteenth Street Theatre.

- THE CAST.
- Rear Admiral Gilroy—Hardee Kirkland
 - Flora Gilroy—Florence Nash
 - Lieut. Paul Crawford—Laurance Wren
 - Helen Inverle—Dorothy Tennant
 - Minna Black—Adeline Dunlap
 - Pansy Hoffman—Lone Bright
 - Mrs. Lynch—Jennie LaMont
 - Ada—Maude Earle
 - Ida—Myrtle Wellington
 - Maizie—Pauline Winters
 - Marion—Eileen Jackson

Quite a lot of doubt exists as to the ultimate success of Miss Patsy. In the language of one critic—

“Miss Patsy is a slangy bodge-podge of farce, comedy, pathos and vaudeville, and is just as likely to be a popular favorite as it is to ‘come a flivver,’ to use some of the slang not spoken by the principal character. The audience laughed, and then parts of it went out between the acts and remarked on the hopelessness of the play’s success. There was practical unanimity on one point, however, and that related to the superabundance of the said principal character. Without disparaging Gertrude Quinlan’s consistent characterization and her very clever way of saying the great deal she had to say, this role could be reduced one-half without affecting either the spirit of the entertainment or the opportunities of the actress. If the author’s classification of the piece as a farce can be taken at its face value, the last act is very good.”

“Miss Patsy is the companion and mentor of a popular stock leading woman, playing at a theatre in Annapolis. With the best of intentions she causes all sorts of discomforts to all of the people whose names appear in the cast, and winds up by accepting the proposal of a young and sturdy farmer of the neighborhood. The leading woman accepts a Lieutenant from the flagship, and the other principal girl takes up with an impetuous doctor who has written a play.”

And another critic—“Gertrude Quinlan was once upon a time a bright, particular sourette of the Castle Square brand and hurried diversely through devious arias in the lyric organization of Henry W. Savage. How this astute purveyor of public dainties has always had a hunch that Miss Quinlan was a sourette of star magnitude and that she could shine on a first night if the dramatic weather was proper.”

Catherine Countiss Is to Star

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard). —Catherine Countiss is to star the coming season by Stair and Havlin, who have secured for her Margaret Anglin's greatest success The Awakening of Helena Ritchie. Miss Anglin owns this popular book-play and the negotiations for it, carried on through Alice Kaiser, play broker, covered a period of nearly four months. There were complications because Miss Anglin herself continues in the play until near the close of the year, but those were overcome by arranging a tour for Miss Countiss that will not conflict with her own. Miss Countiss in personality, temperament and method is peculiarly suited to the strong emotional part created by Miss Anglin. Her production and costumes will be exact replicas of the original. The play will be staged by Frederick Kaufman, director for Sothern and Marlowe, who was identified with the earlier presentation. Miss Countiss' season will begin at the Majestic Theatre, Brooklyn, Sept. 12, and will cover all the principal cities. No emotional play of recent years exerts a stronger appeal to woman-kind and this, with the tremendous popularity of the book, from which Charlotte Thompson made her dramatization, renders it one of the most profitable of current theatrical attractions.

George W. Lesterer is back in New York. He is associated with Frazer and Woods in the production of Madame Sherry.

Personal Chatter From Broadway

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard). —G. P. Huntley is doing the hit in several new-fangled suits. Maude Adams has returned from Ireland. Kyrie Hollow is also back from an around-the-world trip. According to the press agent, the baby elephant at the Hippodrome is seventeen days old—remember, the one Coxy once wrote about? Charles Frohman announces Love Among the Lions for Coronation week in London—suggestion—owing to the crowds subsequent on such festive occasions it is advisable to reserve seats early—or better yet—another suggestion—see it on this side and save the expense of a European trip. The Girl I Left Behind Me, that famous old stock opener, sufficed for the Academy of Music stock opening last night. It was a success. Christie McDonald is spending a little time in the Thousand Islands, thinking over the plotting of Lenseher and Werba. The Brass Bottle is in its fourth week at the Lyceum. Howard Scott, an old Alcazar favorite from San Francisco, is on Broadway, sporting a lot of new toga just lifted in England. If some shrewd manager don't let Scott escape to the Coast again, New York will see one of the best actors that California ever produced. Cohan and Harris have eleven productions this season—and five theatres.

Laurette Taylor in Girl in Waiting

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard). —Miss Laurette Taylor, the newest star, opened her season in J. Hartley Manners' comedy, The Girl in Waiting, at the Star Theatre, Buffalo August 29. Messrs. Cohan and Harris have staged the piece magnificently. Miss Taylor is a Buffalo favorite, and her welcome was enthusiastic. The Girl in Waiting was tried out last spring, and proved to be an unqualified success. It repeated its triumph there. Miss Taylor has everything in her favor—youth, beauty and a vivid sense of delicious comedy. Her supporting company is excellent. The Girl in Waiting goes to the Olympic Theatre, Chicago, this week for a run, after which it will be seen on Broadway.

The curtain rises on a rainy night in London, and shows the girl and her father coming home from a function, only to discover that the night key has been mislaid. Dispatching the servant for the key they perch themselves on a neighbor's step, which is sheltered by a portico, where the father dozes off. Their predicament prompts the young man, who is passing to offer his assistance. The funny side of the situation appeals to the girl, and she accepts the young man's voluntary offer to break a window and open the front door for them. As the crash of glass proclaims his entrance to the strange house, the footman returns with the key, the father and the girl enter their own home, while the young man is left to the mercy of the policeman who is attracted by the sound of broken glass. The kind young Sainar Han is the nephew of a member of Parliament, who succeeds in having the boy liberated, so to let the story of his escapade blow over his

In pictorial language the characters in On the Eve endeavor to portray socialistic things of an inflammatory nature which have to do with "the Russian revolutionists, the silent heroes." They succeed melodramatically. The play is handsomely staged. Miss Hedwig Belcher is the featured player; she has much personal charm and considerable magnetism.

GAME AND ISMAN OUT.

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—There is a persistent rumor that Marcus P. Loew has purchased all the vaudeville theatres controlled by Felix Isman and Wm. Game. This would make Loew a decided factor in vaudeville.

IN MEMORY OF SAM S. SHUBERT.

New York, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—Messrs. Lee and Sam S. Shubert have had pictures of their brother, the late Sam S. Shubert, hung in the lobbies of all their New York City playhouses in order to perpetuate the memory of the founder of the firm. It is the intention of the Messrs. Shubert to place these portraits in every theatre throughout the country which they control.

HARRINGTON REYNOLDS.

This pose shows him as Father Kelly in The Rosary, which opened for a run at the Globe Theatre, Chicago, September 4.

Askin Production at La Salle

Chicago, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—The Sweetest Girl in Paris opened at the LaSalle Opera House on Monday evening, August 29. Before this stand it was put on view at Milwaukee. Press notices tell us that it pleased the theatre public at the Cream City. James O'Donnell Bennett, the talented judge who presides at the dramatic desk of the Chicago Record-Herald, evidently enjoyed the performance as he saw it. He heads his printed opinion "Cheerful, Diverse and Pretty Girls at LaSalle," and then refers to Mr. Harry Askin as "a shrewd and capable manager, who has deserved well of the public and of fortune by his excellent conduct at the Grand Opera House." Mr. Askin is now in actual possession of the LaSalle. It has been a turbulent course, that which commenced with the Grand Opera House. Mr. Askin has been a turbulent course, that which commenced with the Grand Opera House. Mr. Askin has been a turbulent course, that which commenced with the Grand Opera House.

The inaugural offerings at the LaSalle Opera House is all that it should be as to manners and morals. Mr. Burkhardt has put together a workable book. Several of Mr. Davis' lyrics are not half bad. Mr. Howard has provided enthralling lyrics. The piece is animated and perky and it is gayly staged. Miss Trilzie Fritzen is an ample confection who sings willfully. Miss Alice Yorkie is diminutive and displays real talent in getting a song or a bit of dialogue over the footlights. Miss Cathryn Rowe Palmer is not nearly so funny to the temperate observer as she is to those who like the boisterous hawl and the grotesque prance. Above all is Alexander Carr. Give Mr. Carr his chance, and we warrant that in one season he would have Otis Skinner and Tyrone Power as Wilton Lockare fighting for their laurels—which would be an excellent thing for those desirous gentlemen. It is a matter for very interesting speculation as to what Mr. Carr will do with himself. He ought to go a long way. John E. Young, as a Pittsburgh millionaire launting about in Paris, was active and bland and not especially persuasive. His store of comic tricks seems limited. The audience was full of good will, and peace and prosperity seem to have settled down at the LaSalle.

HENRY GUTHRIE VISITS CHICAGO.

Chicago, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—Henry Guthrie, who for a long time was a familiar figure on Chicago's radio, came out of the wilds of Louisville last week and is bent on to say "howdy" to his many Windy City friends. Mr. Guthrie was formerly associated with Herbert Duce, of the Garrick Theatre, and was connected with Martin & Emery the producers. At present he is in the real estate business at Louisville, Ky., and is also interested in Florida lands. Guthrie is the picture of prosperity and his manner savors decidedly of optimism. He has "made good" in his business ventures and is accordingly happy.

Ulrich Makes Announcement

Chicago, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—Renaud Ulrich recently announced that the following opera would be rendered during the impending season of grand opera which is to be given at the Auditorium by the Chicago Grand Opera Company. Thais, by Massenet; The Juggler of Notre Dame, by Massenet; Louise, by Carpentier; Salome, by Richard Strauss; Pelléas and Melisande, by Debussy, and Samson and Delilah by Saint-Saens.

Most of these operas are new to the West. However, some of the more familiar ones to be included in the repertoire are: Madame Butterfly, by Puccini; La Bohème, by Puccini; Tosca, by Puccini; Aida, by Verdi; Il Trovatore, by Verdi; La Traviata, by Verdi; Rigoletto, by Verdi; Otello, by Verdi; Lohengrin, by Wagner; Tannhauser, by Wagner; Faust, by Gounod; Carmen, by Bizet; Pagliacci, by Leoncavallo; Cavalleria Rusticana, by Mascagni; Les Huguenots, by Meyerbeer.

These works will be interpreted by such well-known singers as: Mmes. Garden, Melba, Gadski, Nordica and Alda; Messrs. Palmrosa, McCannino, Zerola, Renaud, Sammarco and Dufranco as well as others now being signed by Andreas Hippel, general manager of the company.

She Goodwin, even shouter and imitator, opens on the P. B. O. time at Cleveland, O., August 29.

George S. Wood Forsakes Theatre

Chicago, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—Theatricalism has lost George S. Wood, and 'tis no small loss. Mr. Wood for years (we dare not mention the exact number) has been prominent in things theatrical. His name has long been associated with Chicago's amusement enterprises. Recently he resigned from his position at the Colonial Theatre. Now his friends are told of his plans in the following letter:

"After several years of more or less successful effort in advancing the interests of others, and for the past five years assisting in guiding the destinies of the Colonial Theatre, I am going into business for myself. My determination to secure results, not only for myself but for those with whom I am associated, remains unchanged, although I believe more material returns may be evolved.

"Associated with Mr. Fitzgerald, a man of unquestioned and unqualified business character and integrity, we undertake to handle some safe, sane and reliable investments, carefully weighed and closely inspected. Back of every assertion is our simple, yet unassailable word, but in every instance is our full warrant of accuracy of statement."

The above are excerpts from the letter which in its entirety makes the announcement that George S. Wood is now a member of the firm of Wood & Fitzgerald, who at present are engaged in the sale and exploitation of lands in Montana and who are equipped and prepared to handle other securities.

Chicago Shows Held Over

Chicago, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—Jumping Jupiter continues to jump and amuse at the Cort Theatre. Col. Jim Hutson who "did" the press work for Manager Hermann has transferred his efforts to the advantage of The White Sister.

Baby Mine remains at the Garrick and keeps that house filled with mirth and laughter. Otis Harlan is credited by his press agent as the regular little daily buyer of theatres.

The lyric retains possession of the Midnight Sons. The music of this piece is of an excellent standard and much of it has here attained a whistling vogue.

Soon The Girl of My Dreams will leave the Illinois Theatre. It is one of the prettiest and most wholesome productions of this season.

Following The Wife Tamers, at the Princess Theatre, will be We Don't Go Home 'Till Morning. Campbell Casad is the author of the new comedy. Mr. Casad made many friends in Chicago during the time he was here as agent for The Beauty Spot Company.

HUGH M'LENAGHAN MAKES A CHANGE.

Chicago, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—Mr. Hugh McLenaghan, who for the past five years has been doing duty at the box-office of the Majestic Theatre, under the guidance of Mr. Glover, is now diligently dispensing pasteboards at McVicker's Theatre. Mr. McLenaghan is a young man of pleasant address and fully capable of performing his newly assumed duties to the satisfaction of all concerned. It is evident that he has mastered his chosen line and will realize on every opportunity presented.

THE TRAVELING SALESMAN AT POWERS' THEATRE.

Chicago, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—With the original company of players practically intact, The Traveling Salesman again comes to Chicago. This time, however, it occupies Powers' Theatre, where it succeeds Her Son. Last season the Illinois housed Frank McIntyre and his crew of entertainers. The play is a favorite and is replete with laugh opportunities.

LAST WEEKS OF THE OLD TOWN.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—The Old Town will soon leave Chicago and following in at the State-baker will come The Slim Princess, in which play Eisle-Janis is the featured person. We are told by George Ade Davis that the cast in support of Miss Janis "is quite the most expensive Chicagoans will see for many a season." The story of The Slim Princess has been adapted for stage purposes by Henry Blossom who made it into a musical comedy book and provided the lyrics. Leslie Smart composed the music.

SYNDICATE PLANS

Klaw & Erlanger Will Open the Fall Season at the New Amsterdam with Madam Sherry—Miss Dudelsack, Berlin Opera, to be Produced

New York, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—Klaw & Erlanger will produce Miss Dudelsack in November. It is the operatic success of Berlin and Vienna. The book is by Fritz Grünbaum and Helne Reichert, with music by Rudolph Nelson.

Klaw & Erlanger will star Nat Goodwin in a comedy by George Broadhurst, called The Captain. Its scenes are laid in Manila. Mr. Goodwin's role is that of a financial soldier of fortune.

Klaw & Erlanger will inaugurate the fall season at the New Amsterdam Theatre in New York with Madam Sherry, with Lina Abarbanell and Ralph Herz heading the cast. This musical farce ran all spring and summer in Chicago.

Thomas W. Ryley is holding rehearsals of The Storm, by Langdon McCormick. He has engaged Robert T. Haines and Conway Tearle to play the leading roles. The play opens in Washington in September.

Klaw & Erlanger's production of The Round Up opens its fourth season in Boston. Ripley Holmes will play the part of the fat sheriff whom nobody loves. This play of the Arizona desert, with its horses and battles, is the most successful melodrama of the current decade of theatricals.

Henry Miller goes to the Pacific Coast early in the season with Her Husband's Wife, a comedy by A. E. Thomas, which was quite the tion of Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, which will be presented in New York in October, is the guest of the author, Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin, at her summer home, Quilicote, near Hollis, Mass. The scenes of the book and play are laid in and about this Maine village, so that Miss Taliaferro is absorbing "atmosphere" during her vacation. She will remain at Quilicote until after the Dorcas Fair.

Maclyn Arbuckle will be starred this season by Joseph Brooks in a farce by George Hart, called Welcome to Our City. It will have its New York hearing at the Bijou in September. Mr. Arbuckle's role is that of a Southern gentleman who comes to New York on his first visit. He is welcomed by a Broadwayite, who lands him in court and then into a mass of trouble before he learns that a winning smile is not always a sure sign of good intentions.

Fred Terry, the English actor, will come to New York in October with his wife, Julia Nelson, to play a ten weeks' engagement under the management of Klaw & Erlanger. They will bring with them their own company, appearing in The Scarlet Pimpernel and Henry of Navarre. The former play has been running for three years, on and off, in London. Mr. Terry produced one play after another, but his admirers insisted upon his returning to the role of Sir Percy. Mr. Terry will play brief engagements in Boston and Philadelphia and Chicago while in America.

Laws against the appearance of children on the stage are being enforced actively in Massachusetts, Louisiana, Maryland and Illinois. In the latter state the attitude of certain statesmen, so called, has developed into a nasty scandal. None of the laws as passed were aimed directly at stage children, but as the field is a prolific one for notoriety seekers, the children of the stage were forced to bear the brunt of the presentation.

In the Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm production, which Klaw & Erlanger will open in October in New York, there are six players who started their stage careers at the ages of from 2 to 5 years. Edith Taliaferro, who plays the part of Rebecca, made her debut when she was two and one-half years old. Speaking of her stage life, Miss Taliaferro said: "I'm a horrible example of what a wreck the stage makes of a child actor. I began acting when I was two and one-half years old, and my sister, Mabel, began when she was two and one-half. We are both as healthy as we can be, though the Gerry Society said it was cruel to make my sister act when she was little. Here is my daily routine when I was nine years old:

"I went to the theatre at 7.30 in the evening. I was home at 11. When I got home after the performance I used to have a glass of milk and some crackers and then I got to bed by 11:30. At 9 in the morning I was up. I had lessons from 11 to 12. Then I studied till 2, and from 2 to 4 played or did what I liked. I had an afternoon nap from 5 to 5:30, went out to walk to 6, had dinner and got ready for the theatre.

"Moreover we generally had a week's vacation at Christmas, often another week at Easter, and we closed for the season on May 1. Seven months' work and five months' vacation—up in the mountains or down at the seashore. Killing, wasn't it?"

"And money! The child who has the smallest part in my company—there are none under sixteen—gets $40 a week. Rehearsals aren't so hard on children, either, as they are on older people, for the child is so active and imitative. Of course we travel a lot and it's a very good thing. Stage children see more interesting places—hundreds more—than ordinary children."

Miss Viola Fortescue, who will appear as Mrs. Simpson, is the daughter of George Fortescue, the heavyweight comedian. Miss Fortescue was practically born on the stage. Her mother was known as Mrs. Gratton, a famous "Mrs. Malaprop of her time." Before Miss Viola was born she had reached the age of sixteen and appeared only in this country, but in the greater part of England. She starred successfully in Cludella throughout Australia, and later starred in The Belle of New York in the British provinces. About four years ago she decided to desert musical comedy for the legitimate stage, and in 1906 starred in this country in conjunction with John Keilard in Taps and Hamlet.

Ernest Truax, who appears as Abijah Flagg, the charity boy, played through the Middie West in classical repertoire at the age of eight. He appeared as Little Lord Fauntleroy, little Aulin in Quo Vadis, Ike Ekenstein in The Girl and the Judge, and the jockey with Lillian Russell in Whiffle.

Ada Reeves, who plays the role of the village gossip, made her first stage appearance at the age of six years with Barrett and McCullough.

Three of the other girls of the company made their first appearances on the stage as children. At present there are five of them with the attraction. On the road they are accompanied by their mothers, as well as a tutor. The total number of hours the girls appear on the stage during the week is eight.

POLICY CHANGED TO STOCK.

Hayoune, N. J., Sept. 3.—The Corse Payton Stock Company opened its initial season at the Gayety Theatre on Monday. This house formerly played Eastern Wheel burlesque. This is not an experiment in stock, as, after the close of the burlesque season, the Gayety Stock Company played there for the summer, and made such a decided hit that Corse Payton took over the house to play one of his comedies. The cast of the Payton Company, headed by George Henry Hart and Miss Fina Abell-Brinker, leading man and lady, and includes Bernard J. McIwain, character man; Elizabeth Rathburne, character woman; and Emilie Lessing, Jack Daly and John Gray, formerly of the Gayety Stock Company. Stage director, Albert A. Warburg; manager, Isidore Cohen; treasurer, Saul Kraus.

vogue in New York City in the Spring. Laura Hope Crews will be with him in the cast, which is of high standard. Mr. Miller will appear later in the season in a new play.

Klaw & Erlanger and Joseph Brooks will produce Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm in New York in October. The dramatization of the Rebecca stories was made by the author, Kate Douglas Wiggin, and Charlotte Thompson. Edith Taliaferro will play the part of Rebecca. Archie Boyd is cast for the role of the philosophical stage driver.

Ben Hur, Klaw & Erlanger's great Biblical production, opens the season in September. This is its eleventh year. The leading members of the cast are Richard Duhler, Anthony Andre, Walter M. Sherwin, Frank Weston, J. Arthur Young, Van Dusen Phillips, Charles Canfield, A. J. Golding, C. Russell Sage, Walter Colligan, Helen Singer, Loyola O'Connor, Maude Ream Stover, Alice Haynes and Pauline M. Darling.

Lillian Russell will begin rehearsals this week of her new play, In Search of a Sinner, by Charlotte Thompson. Miss Russell will inaugurate her fourth season under the management of Joseph Brooks at Powers' Theatre, Chicago, September 19. The company engaged to support her includes Harry C. Browne, Lynn Pratt, Irving Cummings, Joseph Tuchs, John G. Bramm, Ed. Warren, Victor Bonitt, Olive Harper, Hattie Russell, Jessie Ralph and Viola Leach. This is surely the smoothest and most diversified list of great acts seen in one week in Chicago for some time, each and every one being of that sure-fire sort which makes the audience feel that without vaudeville pleasure would be incomplete. Opening and closing the show with troupes of remarkably astonishing feats of silent art, these two spots are cared for in the ideal booking manner, while the remaining acts are all of such a caliber that it is almost unnecessary to distinguish by preferred position. The headlining honor, which, in a list like this, is certainly conspicuous, falls to no act holding this honor on any regular bill. At the Majestic, Mr. Andrew Bonicault and Company, in an impressive sketch called "The Fall of Rome," topped the bill very artistically, as did Cleopatra at the American Music Hall, but an observant eye will not find either act on the all-star bill. Notwithstanding this fact, the act for the capital letters was very easy to find, for over at the Music Hall were the Cooper boys, giving their farewell vaudeville appearance or to Harry Cooper's entering into his newest field of endeavor, namely, principal comedian of the Manhattan Opera House. And what would a better act be than Camille Ober's offering for Harry to burlesque, and at the same time fill the refinement lack noticeable on most bills?

Remember Conroy and Lemaire, of "bean" fame? They're back, with cork on both of their faces and some new material, as good and better than the old. Easily could they handle the black face end of the bill and fit between Oler and Charles Lindholm and Company very advantageously. This sketch of Lindholm's, called "The Man From Minnesota," would make a sphinx laugh, and for this reason is the only comedy sketch admitted to the list. The best novelty act was very easily chosen, the Salammbos' offering being of the highest class, which is characteristic of each of the others in their respective branch of vaudeville.

Taylor, Kranzman and White "hogged" the bill at the Majestic last week in the spot next to closing. Just as did Harry Cooper at the American Music Hall. Let that be enough. They would do it just as well in the fourth position, following the Four Hanlons in their pantomime, made famous in Supria and Fantasma. Just to show how really strong this all-star list happens to be, look who graces the spot next to opening the show. Can you imagine a bill so strong that Whitehead and Grierson are second? But the fact that they held it here is of little importance, for they could as easily make good next to closing, so evenly balanced is this picked aggregation of stars.

Just as predicted, the quality of these all-star bills has taken a most remarkable jump toward the elastic limit of possibilities of such an undertaking, and still there is yet no real competition as keen as it will be, and then--well, we hate to predict further, but what would you think of a list of headliners alone--all on one bill? And how would you like to see your act topping this bunch of headliners? When this bill is run, the headliner of headliners will be printed in gold letters, instead of simply B. F.

NEW ACTS REVIEWED.

MR. ANDREW BONICAULT & CO., PRESENTING "THE FALL OF ROME."
Majestic Theatre, No. 9. Full stage; special scenery, 17 minutes. Seen matinee, August 29.
Announced in a haze of red and gold, Mr. Andrew Bonicault topped the bill at the Majestic last week with two scenes in his sketch. Playing the part of a tribune, who defies Nero to his effort to save a Christian maiden from death by finally kills the Emperor as the flames destroy the city of seven hills sweeps over the palace. The scene of Nero's palace was very nicely set, and the back curtain, showing the burning city, rather effective, but the sketch itself was so utterly void of anything that fell with a much louder thud than did the Bonicaults, it fell at its end.
Of the six people cast in the production, for surely has never heard of him or seen him before, consultation of the program would have been necessary. Here is the cast:
Caesar Joseph Wilkes
Petronius Clifford Illinois
Leo James Bryson
Maximus Edward Downe
Patriella Miss Adele Lang
Lutitia Andrew Bonicault
SCENE 1--The Applian Way.
SCENE 2--The Palace of Caesar.
As far as headlining is concerned, the best place for this offering is at an entertainment where the Lyceum attracts those of the long trains and eye-sticks.

TAYLOR KRANZMAN & WHITE, ENTERTAINERS.
Majestic Theatre, No. 10. In one; 12 minutes. Seen matinee, August 29.
Another "rathskeller" trio, but entirely different from all the rest in that they boast no song and offer not a single specialty. They opened with a "Hello" telephone song, and in My Merry Automobile, but in such a thoroughly theatrical and burlesqued idea that the chances are even that neither of these titles are the real ones of the songs. From this point on the act is almost insupportable. They announce "five minutes of real rag time," and that's about as close as one could come to it in words. They yell, they sing, they dance, and they buffoon, but just what they yell, sing, dance and buffoon no one knows but themselves, and we liked it. In fact, the four letters of riot spells the reception given this trio in a truer sense than in any this word has ever been used in the reviewing of vaudeville acts. They work too much as a trio to pick any particular star from the combination.

WESTERN VAUDEVILLE MANAGERS' ASSOCIATION SIGNS UNION AGREEMENT.
On Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, General Manager C. E. Bray, of the Western Vaudeville Managers' Association, signed the agreement which the Actors' International Union presented, by request of the American Federation of Labor. The result lifts the impending gloom which was fast thickening as the days went on, without any apparent settlement. John Nemo, district deputy of the western states of the Actors' International Union, Mr. C. E. Bray, T. P. Quinn, delegate to the Chicago Federation of Labor, and J. E. Colgan, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, are all wearing smiles over the settlement, proving, beyond a doubt, that it was an amicable settlement all around, so little more need be said, other than every one is satisfied, performers included. The letter addressed by Mr. Bray to the various agents in the city, regarding the settlement, reads as follows:
Chicago, Aug. 30, 1910.
Dear Sir--
I have to-day signed the attached agreement with the Actors' International Union upon the request of the American Federation of Labor.

This agreement becomes effective September fifth (5), 1910.
Yours truly,
C. E. BRAY.
One of the Kallinoski Brothers broke his wrist while playing his engagement at Oak Summit Park at Evanston, last Tuesday. Davis and Dooley are no more. Instead of embarking in a new act as was stated a few weeks ago, the team has split, and Davis has teamed up with J. J. Callahan, formerly leading man with Little Johnny Jones. This combination looks good, when one considers the combined ability of these two chaps, and with an entirely new act, which is their present idea, there should be little doubt as to the success, which will be theirs. The act, which is billed as His Last Act, will be embellished with special scenery and effects, and the characters portrayed will be those of an Italian bootblack and a race-track tot.
Miss Adele Oswald, late of the My Cinderella Girl Company, is now in vaudeville, having signed contracts with Martin Beck for a number of weeks. Her opening will occur in New York early in September, and it is said that she sings Rossini's songs exclusively, her repertoire consisting of I'll Have to Powder My Nose, Twilight and Peek-A-Boo, Mister Moon.
One of the biggest of song boosting novelties of the year was pulled off at the Majestic last week when Mile, Camille Ober, the vocal phenomenon Parisian star vocalist, sang Dinah, from Carolina, for which Jules Von Tilzer gets all the credit. Mile, Ober, who covers a range of three octaves and reaches counter G in the fourth octave, closed her act with a soft, soothing rendition of Dinah, while enveloped in colored spots and with the announcement of the title made by means of a placard nearly three feet square, repeating the second chorus one octave higher. As presented, the effect was surely unique as billed, and literally tore the house down with applause, making Jules give birth to a smile, which doubtless will live as long as Dinah is listed in the Von Tilzer catalogue.
Sittner's is now "un-shut." Two packed houses greeted the opening of the North Side's popular little vaudeville theatre, which was reopened for the season Monday evening, August 23. Sittner's is located on North avenue and Sedgewick street, one block from the Comely Theatre, which was formerly under the management of the Jones, Linick, Shaffer Co., and which this season will be under the control of a stock company to be known as the Comely Amusement Company. The comedy will give two shows nightly, with matinee Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays--the same policy as at Sittner's. The comedy will be booked by the Western Vaudeville Managers' Association, while Sittner's will continue to use the Sullivan & Conside brand booked by Paul Gondron. The following acts embellished Sittner's opening bill with the right sort of diversified entertainment, which is so characteristic of S. & C. bills: La Belle Helene's Dogs, Happy Jack Gardner and Company, Ward and Stone, Dave Itafael, The Swickards and Esten Hurlitz's Balloon Girl as the feature. None of these acts were shut.
Bessie Leonard will open shortly in a new act written entirely by J. Brandon Walsh, which will be embellished with special scenery and electrical effects. Some of the numbers provided Miss Leonard by J. Brandon include: Sometimes It's Awful Hard to Be a Lady, I'm a Comic Opera Sailor, It Seems I'm Learning Something Every Day, and a Medley on The Girls I Left Behind Me. Bessie will be featured at the American Music Hall week after next.

BLANCHE BATES AND NANCE O'NEIL,

Under the management of David Belasco.

RUSH TEMPLE TRY-OUTS FOR THE W. M. V. A. SEEN EVENING, SEPTEMBER 1.
1--E. A. SMITH & CO., Novelty Electrical Singing and Dancing Act. Scenery fair, act flat.
2--ERNA MAY STEWART, Pianologue and Singing Act. Act well received. Good voice and pleasing appearance, but some stage presence necessary.
3--WEST & BOWERS, Comedy Sketch. Notable Noodles. Girl good. Lines well written, but their closing with a song hurt considerably.
4--LE MICHELE BROS., Street Musicians. The boy violinist is a wonder and the harp player good. The wielder of the bow closed his eyes and fairly made the box sing the lines of Nevin's Rosary, Garden of Roses, and Every Little Movement. The act made the house shiver with excitement, and all of it was deserved. The team acts strange to the stage.
5--HERBERT & HERBERT, Singing and Talking Act. Material used very old. Good feature act for five-cent theatre, but not ready for the small time.
6--THE EAGLE & THE GIRL, Novelty Singing act. A similar offering to the balloon girl, the only difference being the prop eagle. Her song in one, Yiddishka Itak, brought the house. The act as a whole went big.
7--ALLENE WILSON, Singing and Dancing Act. What good there was to the offering was forgotten when one considered the cheapness of the scenery.
8--PARLAND NEWHALL, CO., Musical Act. Went very big, both the playing and singing. More singing would not detract from the value of the act.
9--HAMILN SISTERS, Singing and Dancing Act. An act not ready to review.
10--HURNISON & TAYLOR, Protean Comedy Sketch, Graham's Valet. A cleverly arranged protean comedy with a girl in the cast, who is undoubtedly clever in an artistic extreme. The sketch would itself make good, but with this girl--well, let it be sufficient that she has a future brighter than any one, who ever "tried out" at the Rush.

I want you to read this agreement very, very carefully; I want you to observe the spirit and the letter of this agreement in every detail. I especially request that in dealing with a subject apparently so delicate you do so in the most polite manner and take the utmost care in explaining the subject to any act you may be booking that is affected by this agreement.
Yours very truly,
C. E. BRAY.
The agreement is as follows:
The agreement, the cause of satisfaction, was worded by Mr. Bray, as follows:
Chicago, Aug. 30, 1910.
Mr. John Nemo,
Pres. Actors' International Union,
Local No. 4, Chicago.
Dear Sir--
Referring to the conversation had with you and your associates on Friday last, I beg leave to herewith submit the following:
For the association, I agree not to arrange to book any act at a salary less than $25.00 per week single, or $50.00 per week double. I agree for the association not to book acts for more than one split per week.
I agree for the association not to discriminate against any act because of a connection with the Union. I agree for the association that its employees shall ask every act that we may book whether they have a permit from Local No. 4, Actors' Union, stating to them plainly that the Union will not refuse them a permit if they make the request. This inquiry shall further be made by mail wherever acts are booked through that method, and I further agree for the association to offer its services in securing this permit.
It must be understood, however, that there is nothing in this agreement which prohibits this association from booking any act, provided such act refuses to apply for or accept a permit from the Actors' Union, Local No. 4.
It must be understood that this agreement applies solely to the booking of acts in the city of Chicago, Cook County, Illinois.
It is further agreed that either party to this agreement can annul this agreement by serving thirty (30) days' notice on the other party.

The Lyda Theatre at 48th avenue and Lake street opened Monday night with vaudeville, booked by the Western Vaudeville Managers' Association. George H. Hines is manager of the pretty playhouse, and the first show was hardly half over when Mr. Hines was called upon for a speech in such a manner that one not acquainted with the neighborhood could readily learn the popularity, which characterizes his dealings with his patronage. His little Lyceum effort was greeted as were all the acts of the opening bill, which is saying considerable. A crowd impossible to accommodate, gathered for the opening performance and the slogan of the evening was "What's the Matter With Hines?" This newest of Chicago's completed theatres is thoroughly replete with all the necessities of a vaudeville theatre and up-to-date in every detail. The seating arrangement could not have been bettered and the opera chairs provided by the A. H. Andrews Company lent both an artistic and metropolitan atmosphere to the pretty little auditorium, a detail, which for the comfort of his patrons, Manager Hines considers ultimately important. The opening bill consisted of The Belmonts, Arthur Deming, The Harmony Quintette, Wilson Brothers and Donzo Brothers and Friday, and it is needless to say that every act went as high as at any house it had ever performed.
Three pairs of vaudeville sister teams, The Reeds, The Falconers and The Dumdases, adorn The Old Town, the attraction current at the Studebaker Theatre.
Chas. Lindholm and Company, presenting The Man From Minnesota were the feature at the Apollo Theatre last week, after having returned from a most successful tour of the Pantagos time. The act is still as much a screen comic as when last seen at the Marlowe and Sittner Theatres, season of 1909-10.
The Hopkins Theatre in Louisville, Ky., opened August 28, under the direction of the Princess Amusement Company, whose vaudeville is booked by Jake Starnad, of Chicago. Jake arranged an excellent opening bill, which was headed by Gladys Vance, whose "mirror dress" is fast becoming the rage since the recent controversy with The Follies of 1910, as to the originality of its innovation characteristics.

Catherine Countess will be starred by Stair and Haylin in The Awakening of Helena Ruble. She will open at the Majestic Theatre, Brooklyn, on September 12, and her tour will be arranged so as not to conflict with that of Margaret Anglin, who will continue in this play until the first of the year.

Percy G. Williams' Orpheum Theatre opened here Monday, August 29, to a packed house, with the following bill: Mlle. Le Bat and Company in The Arrival of Roses; Harry R. Lester, Bobby Paundor and Bros., Chas. and Faule Van Co., Dan Burke and his Wonder Girls, Avery and Hart, Clark and Bergman, Herbert's Dogs, Chas. Leonard Fletcher and Co., in a new study, His Nerve.

Teller's Broadway Theatre opens the season Sept. 3 with The Three Twins. G. A. Forbes Stock Company opens the season at the Gotham Theatre Sept. 3.

The Court Theatre, which is managed by M. J. Middleton, opened the season Aug. 29 with Gus Edwards' School Days. Nuey and Nine is booked for week of Sept. 5.

Course Payton's Stock Co. has returned to the East Avenue Theatre, and is attracting the usual large crowds.

The Bijou Theatre opens soon with stock. Labor Day, September 5, will witness the re-opening of Percy G. Williams' Orpheum Theatre, after a period of general renovation and embellishment.

Miss Florence Barker is the new leading woman at the Crescent Theatre, which opened for the season Saturday, Sept. 3.

The house staff of Hyde & Behman's Gayety Theatre for this season is as follows: H. Bernard Denny, manager; John J. McDonnell, treasurer; Frank Clark, assistant treasurer; Nick Welsh, stage manager; W. J. Phillips, musical director; Geo. Underhill, props; Jno. Gatty, electrician; Geo. Banglass, main door.

The many friends of John H. McAleer will be pleased to learn that he has recovered from his illness. He was sick for nine weeks with typhoid fever, but is now back at his place in the box office at the Star Theatre.

The Hyde & Behman Amusement Co. controls several of the largest burlesque theatres in Brooklyn and other cities, and is now looking for big feature acts for extra attractions at its chain of theatres.

GEORGE H. HAKES.

PITTSBURG, PA.

Theatre Ads. Withdrawn From Two Pittsburg Newspapers.

The Nixon's attraction this week, namely Seven Days, has an added interest in the fact that the playwright is a Pittsburg authoress. Mrs. Rheinhart, the author of Seven Days, can be well pleased with the reception given her efforts during the past week.

The Alvin, which opened Saturday evening, really enjoyed its real first night audience on Monday night, and an immense audience was well pleased with The Girl and the Drummer.

An incident of more than passing note to Pittsburgers was the withdrawing of the Nixon advertisements from the Bazette-Times and the Chronicle-Telegraph, two of the largest newspapers, adverse criticism being the cause.

Two Theatres Open Their Doors for the 1910-1911 Season.

The second season of F. Ray Constock's tenancy of Harmons Bleeker Hall, opened Tuesday, August 30, with one performance of Jefferson DeAngels in The Beauty Spot, with the same strong cast which has sung this opera for two years. Amusement Features Galore at Moose Convention.—Theatres Opening.

The twenty-second annual convention of the Loyal Order of Moose is now past history, and the thousands of people who came to rejoice in our midst have returned to their homes to tell their friends about the Monumental City and the good time they had here. This will, no doubt, be a topic of conversation until the next convention, which goes to Detroit in 1911. The program of entertainment was so large that if the visitors had taken in everything they would have been compelled to neglect their business sessions. Everybody was delighted and they are homebound bound, singing praises for the great reception they received. They all want to come back in 1914, to participate in the great celebration of the anniversary of the Star Spangled Banner.

The big event of the week was Moose Day at River View. This popular pleasure resort had the biggest crowd of the season. Mr. Fitzsimmons, who has been manager of River View for sixteen years, stated that never in his career has he seen so many young women at the park as were there that eventful day, August 25.

There were about five girls to every male that was in the crowd. A feature of the evening which pleased the spectators was the marching of the Royal Artillery Band around the park, with the crowd trailing behind and throwing confetti. The following night the visitors went to Electric park, where there was more rejoicing.

The opening of the preliminary season at the Academy of Music was highly appreciated and large audiences were present at every performance. The bill was made up of Fred Bigelow and his company in School Room Frollics; Helen Carmen, vocalist; The Great Hornamos, in feats of strength, and Conley and Zebby, comedy singing. The new improvements about the theatre were the topic of interest. Altogether the house is now an object of artistic admiration, to attain which end required an outlay of $20,000.

put on so as to have its completion by February 1.

SAVANNAH, GA.

Prospects for a Good Season, Theatrical, are Very Bright.

The theatrical season is starting up with a big boom this year. The Savannah Theatre, under the management of William B. Seeskind, opened its regular season with The Smart Set, a colored organization, which played to a top heavy house August 26. Sidney Drove, in the farce comedy, Billy, played to a very good attendance from the opening of the season. Billy is under the management of Sidney Wells, who formerly managed the Savannah Theatre.

The Liberty Theatre will reopen Labor Day, and will play vaudeville booked by the Princess Theatrical Exchange. This house is owned and managed by Frank and Hubert Handy, and was first opened with stock about June. The opening bill at this house consists of the following: Tutes McGuire, comedian; Charles Lesler, the bounding butchman; Julian and Dyer, acrobatic comedies; Alton and Weyman, comedy sketch, and Three English Madcaps.

The Orpheum is the only house that has remained open through the entire summer, and they have been receiving liberal patronage, with vaudeville booked by the Interstate Circuit. The bill for the current week consists of F. Artusa, equilibrist; Sully and Hussey, comedy duo; Admiral Dewey, juvenile; Russell and Church are playing a return engagement at this house; Roberts, Hays and Roberts, presenting The Cowboy, the Lady and the Swell Motion pictures, changed daily, and orchestral selections by Austin and Taps complete the bill.

The Idle Hour, an exclusive picture house, which opened up recently, is doing a thriving business, with three reels of pictures changed daily. This house is under the management of C. E. Cambridge, a new comer in amusements in this city.

The parks still continue to draw well. Bartee's Park, at Isle of Hope, is still doing a big business, and the Casino at Thunderbolt, with Van Osten and his band, have broken all previous records for this resort this having been the best season ever known at this park. Van Osten and his band close their engagement at the Casino Labor Day.

The Bijou Theatre will reopen with stock September 19. The productions will be presented as heretofore by E. A. Schiller, but the company will not bear the name of the Bijou Stock Company, but will, in the future, be known as the Schiller Players, this being the name adopted by Mr. Schiller for his numerous companies which will play the Wells' houses this season. Many of the old favorites of last season will return, such as J. H. Boyle, J. M. Byrnes, Elbert Benson, Rodney Ransou, Irene Thumous, Ella Fontaine, Eddie Darling and others.

Leon S. Levy, the former advertising agent of the Savannah Theatre, has been promoted to the position of treasurer of this house, after many years of efficient service. Charles Season will succeed Mr. Levy as advertising agent.

Tony Ybanez, who for the past few months has been with the 101 Ranch Show, is now manager of the Little Rock Opera House. Mr. Ybanez was formerly treasurer of the Savannah Theatre.

The Elks have secured the services of the John Robinson's Ten Big Shows for a benefit performance October 20. This will, in all probability be the only circus to visit Savannah this season, owing to the exorbitant tax put on circuses, which play this city. Savannah is a good circus town, and it would surely pay the big shows to visit here.

Ed. Bronson, in advance of Lena Rivers Co., stopped over in the city between trains, he says the one-nighters look good and that every one is hungry for shows.

"Bill" Rusb, nicknamed "Raffles" in this city, is among us again after being in the East for the past summer.

Jas. McKennie, one of the local billers, will be assistant to Advertising Agent Plue of the "Valentine," the coming season.

James Nathan is making good with the American Theatre publicity department.

CLEVELAND, O.

All Cleveland Theatres Now Open for Season. Notes.

The theatrical season in Cleveland is now in full blast. The latest houses to open are the Opera House and the Colonial which ushered in their respective seasons on August 29.

The Girl in the Taxi was the offering at the Opera House, playing to crowded houses throughout the week. Pearl Sinclair enacted the title role and did it admirably. Bobby Perry, Harry Hamilton, Ed. Richards, Cecil Breton and Helene Salfinger received favorable mention in the local press.

Lew Dockstader and his minstrels are the attraction at the Colonial. Harry A. Ellis made a distinct hit in singing When a Boy From Old New Hampshire Loves a Girl From Tennessee, while Carroll Johnson, with a picturesque old-time dance won much applause.

Cleveland's theatrical season would not seem fittingly opened unless Lew Dockstader was in town to start the ball rolling.

Beniah Poynter, in her original emotional drama of the South, The Little Girl That He Forgot, is the Lyceum's attraction. Miss Poynter's exceptionally strong emotional work in this drama and is supported by a well-balanced cast.

At the Cleveland Theatre the Holden Stock Company presented The House of a Thousand Candles, giving a performance ranking close in merit to that seen in the higher priced houses.

John T. Baker is the new treasurer of the Star Show girls at the Star this week. The chorus is finely gowned and can actually sing, as well as look pretty and dance. The military ensemble at the close of the performance made a big hit.

The College Girls, at the Empire, was one of the classiest girl shows seen here of late. Joe Flores is the star. A Cleveland boy, Andrew Tombes, made a decided hit.

At Keith's Hippodrome, Reed Brothers, in novel feats on the rings, opened the bill. This act is a combination of a contortionist and straight ring artist. Several brand new features were introduced and the act enjoyed the distinction of being an opening act which got merited applause.

The Boston Road Inn, have a ventriloquist act of rare merit. Valerie Hergere Players in What Happened in Room 44, was liked. The acting of Ruth Raynor was artistic. Augusta Glose, with her tete-a-tete pianologue, is a rare entertainer of grace and talent.

At the Lyceum, Walter Moore, manager, the week of August 28, was presented Vaughan Glaser's production of At the Mercy of Tiberius, to large attendance.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

The Walnut St. Theatre Has Auspicious Opening. Other Notes.

The new Walnut Street Theatre opened last week. The initial performance was followed by a banquet in which the company and about 150 guests attended. It was a most auspicious opening and Messrs. Ward and McCarthy may rightly feel that the new venture has been well and truly launched.

The Buckingham is now in its second week, having opened up with the Broadway Gaiety Girls, which drew a large crowd all week. The Merry Whirl drew well, week of August 28.

Walter T. Roberts, formerly with the Avenue and the Masonic, is the new treasurer of the Walnut Street Theatre.

Gregg's Imperial Band is still giving concerts at Fontaine Perry Park. Miss Marie Florence, billed as The American Sembrich, is the band's soloist.

Labor Day was fittingly celebrated here Sept. 5, with a big street parade and pageant, and a big festival and fair at the fair grounds.

The big Beaver Festival given by the I. O. R. N. D. Dam 43, at the fair grounds August 28 to raise money for their Orphan Fund, was a financial success.

At the Lyceum, Walter Moore, manager, the week of August 28, was presented Vaughan Glaser's production of At the Mercy of Tiberius, to large attendance.

The American Federation of Catholic Societies will hold their convention in this city November 13-16.

EDITORIAL

Coney, Behave!

For a time to come, at least, there seems a well-defined effort on behalf of the police to nose out the objectionable part of Coney Island.

Grafters, pickpockets and demimondes have brazened their trade in the open—disgustingly brazen, and only now and then a puny attempt is made by the blue-coats to bring order and decency out of chaos.

No one familiar with the Island and its habits need look far for evidence that should convict a certain element to the penitentiary for years—for the sake of the few, Coney would be prostituted beyond redemption for the better element's enjoyment. As Coney—that is, certain parts of it—has conducted itself this season, it's worth one's pocketbook or life to have a good time.

The devilry has been confined mostly to the Bowery—an isolated spot, infested by beer halls, concert dens and Japanese gaming devices; and they existed openly, with splendors, thugs and roustabouts.

The Coney police are solely to blame; had they wished, the gate could have been shut at any minute, the women rounded up and driven away, the thugs arrested, the resort keepers refused a license—and exactly this did not happen!

Frequent cases of thuggery have been reported to the police. A shrugged shoulder or knowing wink—and there it would end. But the acting-mayor, anxious not to gain penny fame, but to further the earnest desire of the stricken Gaynor, means to run the city as would the wounded executive, and for this, every decent citizen of New York should be grateful.

Years ago, Coney originated as a prize-fight Mecca, the rendezvous for toughs, gamblers and their consequent evils. Then, realizing that New York needed a playground, certain interests invested money, gave clean entertainment and, by degrees, the lawless element was legislated away.

Suddenly the place grew, a half-million tired toilers would find recreation in the parks or on the sandy beaches on a Sunday, and soon Coney Island's fame spread world-wide.

To-day, it outranks in prestige all the amusement places the world has ever known. Millions of dollars have been invested by the different park interests, and now comes a gang of thugs, thieves and prostitutes, to wrest away from Coney all that made it famous and desirable.

Thousands of hard-working people gain an honest livelihood each summer at Coney, concessionaires spend fortunes to tease the public's nickel, and brainy men of nations each year set about to devise something attractive, something that will perpetuate Coney in all its glory.

It appears amazing that a few degenerates can so completely dominate Coney. From the inception of the present season vice has run rampant over certain portions of the Island. It reminds one of the old Barbary Coast in San Francisco. There the dives were underground, at Coney they are level with the walk; a spieler stands outside, through half-drawn gauze curtains you see a collection of beer-sopped tables, sawdust-covered floors, an orchestra of three or four pieces and a stage littered with tawdry, half-dressed femininity. These women act as chorus girls, sing, dance or screech a farce, so-called. From a theatrical viewpoint, it is a pitiable sight, but they are not there for the purpose of entertaining—that is, on the stage. The gallery is lined with boxes, where "actresses" and waiters importune the visitor to go. The waiters will short-change you, the girls rob you, and the bouncers, on the first word of complaint, promptly administer a beating and throw the luckless one in the gutter—and nearby a cop munches peanuts he hasn't paid for.

There you have the situation as it exists in certain portions of Coney. No finger of censure has ever pointed to the parks—Luna, Dreamland and Steeplechase are all conducted in a most commendable manner. In fact, they are the only safe places of refuge on the Island. There are a number of restaurants and amusements on Surf Avenue that are properly conducted, and there are a number that are not. To find out which is which doesn't take the intelligence possessed by a lame dog with a crooked nose.

Coney Island concessionaires have not made a worldly fortune this season; in fact, few of the parks anywhere have. Many reasons are responsible for it. At Coney, bad weather figures very prominently. Aside from that, however, it is generally conceded that the unsavory reports emanating from week to week about Coney have done a lot to keep people away. Coney is not supported by New Yorkers. This may sound strange; the money that puts a profit side on the ledger comes from strangers—visitors from the wide world, who have heard of Coney. They come and go; they must see it all, and that's what makes the profit. There are but few New Yorkers that do not visit the Island once during the season. They take all the rides, see all the shows, but seldom repeat. After that they take a lunch basket and go on the sands for the Sunday or week end—very rarely do they visit the park more than two or three times. It's the stranger, then, that spends the money. It's he that gets the fleecing by sharps and thugs—and he carries away the story to tell to others, and that is where Coney is being advertised in a way that hurts.

Keep Coney clean. If necessary, the park managers and decent-minded Surf Avenue interest holders should get together, raise a fund and police Coney themselves—it will pay.

This thing of letting the underworld pervert decent and innocent fun must cease, or the Island will close.

Acting-Mayor Mitchell is doing his share—the managers and other clean-minded men should contribute.

Clean Coney, and clean it good. Wipe out, once and for all, the parasites, grafters, demimondes and polluted Inn-keepers. Make Coney a fit place to take your wives and mothers for a day's outing—it can be done—it will be done.

Do it good and plenty.—F. W.

CINCINNATI VAUDEVILLE NOTES.

Arthur Browning, singing and dancing comedian, occupied the second position on the bill at the American. Arthur is a local boy and consequently proved a drawing card in his act, entitled "The Tramp, Bottle and Dog, Spot." However, he is not able to work this week due to the noxious effects of a rat bite received a week before last. All will be well shortly.

Kretore, in his musical act at the Empress, last week, is displaying a new musical instrument termed the one-string cellophone. He is the father of a juvenile act of decided merit, the Helm Children. Both the young ones are good, and it will not be long before the little boy will be taking part as a real comedian in some big comedy.

Petrie and Lewis, a team of eleven weeks' standing, now on Coney Holmes time, was seen locally at Robinson's. Petrie will be remembered as having formerly been of Petrie and Hudd, while Lewis formed the last half of Lipman and Lewis. They are presenting a harmony singing and talking act.

Williams and Sterling in their singing, talking and dancing act, at the American, last week, announced that on September 12, they receive their S. & C. opening at Sittner's in Chicago. They are featuring Von Tilzer's song, "I Want Some One to Flirt With Me."

The Smiletta Trio, consisting of two straight acrobats and one comedy man, at Auditorium, last week, will be in New York about the first of October. The clown has something up his sleeve that he intends pulling off in the near future.

J. Bogert, black-face comedian, put forth at Robinson's, last week. In four weeks he intends to put out a two-person minstrel act, in which himself and Georgia Nelson will appear, entitled "The Lady and the Minstrel Boy."

Lind closed the bill in his beautifully set act at the Empress, last week. Here is a female impersonator that has hit upon an original and effective idea in his dance of the Five Senses.

In view of the extra patronage at Chester Park, Manager Wolfson booked Colburn's Minstrel as a drawing attraction. The corks held up their part, needless to remark.

Little O'Malley, formerly of the above named sisters, has now spent her fifth consecutive week on Coney Holmes time in her dancing and singing. Last week at Robinson's.

The Six Wayfarers, under the management of Will Bradley, enjoyed the third position on the American's bill last week. They came in from the West over the W. V. A. route.

John Dillon, singing comedian, put forth at the Empress, last week. He displays his ability in an excellent number, entitled "Don't Forget Your Dear Old Father."

Clarence Burton, artistic and eccentric soft shoe dancer, presented at the Auditorium last week in a new act. This marked his fifth consecutive week on Sun time.

Edward L. Nelson is back again at Robinson's only until the 10th of this month, at which time he joins Frank A. Wade's Tim, Place and the Girl.

The Ten Knights put forth at the American, last week. They are starting on their second season with Gus Sun.

Hallen and Fuller presented their vehicle, "11 P. M.," which brought them much favor at the Empress, last week.

CIRCUS BREVITIES

Notes of the People with the Barnum and Bailey Show--Impressions Gathered Along the Way. Happenings Under the Spreading Canvas

In Wichita, Kansas, there lives a man named Allen. Three years ago his name might have been Smith, for all busy Wichita cared. But Allen wasn't so cold hearted. He liked the looks of Wichita, and concluded to number in its population. He peeled his weather eye and got busy.

At that time the daily Beacon was about as important an asset in Wichita's make-up as a cucumber is in a disordered stomach. Allen knew this, but he wanted to locate, so he bought the junk shop and rolled up his sleeves. The first year he did considerable sweating without attracting much attention. But this did not discourage the little man. He continued hustling, and soon had the kinder-hearted persons of Wichita flocking to his aid.

Two years later, Allen and his Beacon became so active that the dominant "Eagle" became frightened and flew to a new perch. This famed Allen's desire to pluck the great bird's feathers, so he tightened his belt another hole and sallied forth with a vengeance.

That his indefatigable application and careful adherence to business methods have borne fruit becomes apparent upon examining the Beacon's six feet in height and a form cut on the bias. And such a tower of self-satisfaction. There was an ingenue, too, whose pedals hinted of a mud scow. She was graceful to the extent of tangling up with the furniture and scenery. At one time she so clumsily connected with a footstool that the audience misjudged her exit for that of a comedy aerial act.

Then came the comedian (?). He hit the stage at an angle of forty-five degrees, divulged several mouthfuls of appendix-producing nonsense, and concluded by roasting the audience for failing to bestow approbation.

There were others in the company, too, just as there are thousands of other beings who call themselves actors and actresses, but are as deserving of the title as the onion is of being called a pineapple.

I have an uncle, just as many other fellows have. But my uncle is a shade different from the general run of unks. Five years ago he couldn't see the show business with a spyglass, and put stress on the subject by calling me a bonehead when I deserted the ribbon counter for a stroll in the theatrical field.

Three years later I happened to meet unkl, and, in the course of conversation, suggested vaudeville as a safe means of swelling my relative's bank roll. Unkl balked. But I didn't weaken. I kept applying the "vaudvill" gad to unkl's flank until he half way agreed to look into the matter.

The other day I received information that unkl is knee deep in "vaud," and so busily engaged in counting his income that his finger tips are becoming freckled. Moral: "One good turn deserves another."

One evening last week, before entering Kansas, Mehaffy, Mahler and Beck, with the Ringling Show, seated themselves at a table in a gilded cafe. Mehaffy, with the air of a Chesterfield, ordered the first round. Later on, Mahler displayed his good-fellowship by ordering the empty glasses refilled. Then after the second round had been drunk, Beck discovered that the beverage was sour. Duct by Mehaffy and Mahler, entitled, "Never Again."

Charles Address, adjuster, late of the Ringling and Barnum and Bailey shows, has been spending the past three weeks at Great Bend, Kansas. In this section Mr. Address owns 640 acres of rich farming land. The property was acquired during the early '80's at a very low figure. To-day it is valued at $125 an acre. Mr. Address is accompanied by his wife.

In the baseball line-up of Robinson's Car No. 1, we note that the umpire's name precedes those of the players. No wonder the team is meeting with such phenomenal success. However, the pligskin wallpapers of Ringling Bros.' Car No. 1 state that they would be de-lighted to accommodate the Robinson bunch, umpire and all.

John Heckabee Finger says: "It appears that Edward Cleggett, who recently resigned from Robinson's Car No. 1 to assume the management of Glue Brothers' Company, should develop into a full-fledged stickler."

The long tongued, hatchet-faced busybodies who neglect their household duties to criticize Mrs. Nicholas Longworth should bear in mind that it is far better to smoke while on earth than in the hereafter.

"The Elizabethtown Steam Laundry TOOK fire just before the parade at Elizabethtown, Ky.," reads a note in a recent issue of The Billboard. I have always been under the impression that a laundry takes water.

George Washington Goodhart says: "Izzy Stanley holds the record for firing the paste boiler on Ringling Bros.' Car No. 1." George also says: "When it comes to fire, it is impossible to beat a Jew."

Were I to candidly express my opinion of the man who wears his hat on the side of his head, I fear the fellow would number amongst my enemies.

"Something is wrong. Harry Goodhart has received but ten letters during the past week. Can it be possible that the girl's love has cooled?"

"Age is a terrible thing to hang on a fellow, especially where he draws but ten dollars a week and has fourteen youngsters calling him dada."

"Slim Falkner was dressed so well, upon visiting his home town, that his creditors failed to recognize him."

Editor Whalan says: "It's an easy matter to contract daubs, but tarnation hard to cover them."

"We lost our pet dog. Now we have another. Who will be the unlucky cuss to reap its fleas?"

One of the joys gotten out of the newspaper game is being able to pan the fellow you dislike.

WALKER WHITESIDE AND MARGARET ANGLIN,

Who will appear in Henry W. Savage's production, The Wife Tamers. Under the management of Liebler and Co.

The Zeldia D'Compe Show will open the season at Wellsville, N. Y., August 23, for one week.

Fosworth and Otto are now playing East for S. & C. after finishing 26 weeks of coast time.

Christy and Willis commenced their regular season at Chase's, Washington, August 29.

Bill Tom Ward, the merry minstrel, has joined Colburn's Minstrels as principal comedian.

The Two Ingrans open at Port Arthur, Can., September 5 for George H. Webster.

To have accomplished in three years the almost impossible trick of transforming a moth-eaten sheet into an up-to-the-minute, twenty-thousand-a-day newspaper, doesn't sound plausible. But Allen has done this. And Allen has done more. He organized a stock company which made possible the erecting of the tallest building in the state. It will be completed and ready for the housing of the Beacon about September 1.

The building is ten stories in height. In construction it is fireproof. The walls and partitions are supported upon reinforced concrete arches. The exterior is of brick and terra cotta. In interior design the structure is a plain, straight-forward office building, and every line on it indicates the purpose for which it is to be used.

In the basement will be located the heating and power plant, storage rooms and a room for a portion of the Beacon's mechanical equipment. The first floor is occupied by the main entrance corridor, which extends through the building from east to west, forming an arcade with an entrance at each end. The space north of this corridor will be for rent as small stores. The space south of the corridor will be occupied by the offices, press room and mechanical department of the Beacon Publishing Company. Above the first floor the entire space will be devoted to offices.

This great edifice represents an outlay of $350,000. Its corner-stone was laid March 8, 1910, by the Kansas Editorial Association.

The presentation of a riot by a company of self-called artists, as witnessed at Salina, Kans., prompts my remarking, there are many persons in the theatrical profession who should be man-leuring the streets or shuffling dishes—according to their sex.

In this particular instance, the leading man did sport a full-fledged Windsor tie and raised shoe heels, but outside of these earmarks, he could have easily passed for a fog horn or a strike breaker.

And the leading lady—suffering sunfish! What a sight. Briny-eyed, a mop of variegated hair,

The Sweetest Girl in Paris Scores at Pabst Theatre, Milwaukee--Girl Makes Advent to Isadore Witmark Household--Notes of the Publishers

Items of Gossip About the People Who Lend Their Modicum to the World's Joy by Making and Rendering Songs and Music for the Masses

THE SWEETEST GIRL IN PARIS SCORES AT PABST THEATRE, MILWAUKEE.

The Sweetest Girl in Paris, music by Jos. E. Howard, book and lyrics by Addison Hurkhardt and Collin Davis, met with a great success at their opening performance Sunday, August 21. This production is produced by Harry A. Slin, manager of the Grand Opera House, Chicago, Ill., the musical numbers were staged by Gus Soltko, the well-known producer of former successes, while the dramatic production was looked after by Frank Koenan, of the Belasco forces. From the gross reports in Milwaukee, it is a very expensive and beautifully staged production, richly costumed and effectively, a large and attractive chorus appearing in a variety of fetching changes, and throughout the entire performance there is evidence of the carefulness in preparation and unusual and welcome feature in this day of hurry productions. The music is catchy and tuneful, the lyrics are bright, the book is unusually well provided with entertaining lines, and there is a thread of consistent story; a great many amusing situations are introduced, while the chorus effects are picturesque, best of all, it is not a thin performance, as practically every song takes on at least some of the proportions of a big number. The big song hits of the production are Don't Forget the Number, Boys, I Want a Man, I Love the Girls from A to Z, Little-He-Little-He-I, The Weather Man, The Sweetest Girl, while other songs used in the production are The American Millionaire, The Osculation Bombshay, Lady Wine, Nothing Too Good for You, Dear Mary. The cast includes such stars as Alice Carr, Trixie Priganz, John E. Young, Alice Yorke, Zoe Barnett and Katharine Rowe Palmer.

It is predicted that this will be the biggest musical lines that Mr. Harris has ever had in any of the Western shows, and it certainly must be a hit to overcome such successes as Time, Place and Girl, Girl Question, Goddess of Liberty, A Stubborn Cinderella, The Prince of To-Night, The Golden Girl, The Flirtin Princess, Miss Nobody from Starland. All the music is published by Chas. K. Harris.

MISS CAROLYN HENRIETTA WITMARK.

"It's a girl!" Now, this is not the title of the very latest song published by that enterprising Witmark contingent. It is simply the echo of the cry of joy which, at 9:30 A. M., on Sunday, August 14, went up to the blissful abode where babies come from.

The joyful exclamation was born simultaneously with the advent of little Carolyn Henrietta Witmark, at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Witmark, Manhattan, and, as it echoed this joyful personage into being, it also expressed the fond delight of her parents and of the entire Witmark family and their numerous connections and friends.

Isadore was so hopelessly "choked up" with reasonable parental pride, when approached on the subject, the other day, that all one could get out of him was: That the new baby is a natural born contralto (the happy father scornfully denies that she belongs elsewhere in any quartette); that he intends hiring the Madison Square Garden as being the only available auditorium in which the young lady's voice can find suitable scope; that she is named Carolyn Henrietta for her maternal and paternal grandmas; that she is "just what the doctor or doted."

Well, what's the use? You know Isadore!

TILLIE'S NIGHTMARE LINGERS ON BROADWAY AT THE HERALD SQUARE THEATRE, AND WILL CONTINUE TO LINGER.

Marie Dressler is having a hilarious time, cutting up capers in Tillie's Nightmare, and the beauty of it is she is getting paid for making a fool of herself; in fact the audience seems to be crowding their way in every evening, packing the house to see and here Miss Dressler go through her stunts in this production. As the music is by Sloane, it can not fail to sell, especially the number, Life is Truly What We Make It After All, which is now being hummed and whistled through New York. This song is without doubt one of the best numbers Mr. Sloane has ever written. Other hits in the show by Sloane are Be-See, Heaven Will Protect the Working Girl, There Goes Another One, It's Hard to Love Just One Girl All the Time. The interpolated number by John Golden I Want to Bring You a Ring, is also a big hit. All the music is published by Chas. K. Harris.

SUMMER WIDOWERS STILL PLAYING TO CAPACITY HOUSES IN NEW YORK.

Chas. K. Harris certainly has a winner in the music rights of this production, which is with out a doubt one of the biggest productions Low Fields has ever produced in New York. There seems to be no let up in the sale of the hits of this show, which includes tie, But I'd Like to Furnish a Flat for You, Calcium Moon, Oh, You Summertime Romeo, Those Were the Happy Days, Mandalay and There's No Place Like Home, Boys, When Your Wife Has Gone Away, also Peaches.

BLANCHE RING'S NEW SONG.

When Blanche Ring opened her season in The Yankee Girl at Ashbury Park, she introduced a new and striking number by Annie Andros Hawley, called The Wise Fisherman, which was immediately made one of the features of the production.

The Wise Fisherman very humorously and tunefully describes a pretty brookside courtship. Miss Ring sings the number charmingly with ensemble, and from all reports, it appears to M. Witmark and Sons, its publishers, to be a decided go.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT'S NEW PLAY.

Barry of Ballymore is the distinctive Irish title of the new play with Chauncey Olcott, has made the medium for the display of his talents, both vocal and histrionic, during the season of 1910-11, now beginning. As with Ragged Robin, Mr. Olcott's play of last season, and the one before, so with Barry of Ballymore

WITH THE WITMARKS.

Mildred Haywood is by no means the only vaudeville favorite who is more than making good with that new Witmark character song, That Yiddish Love. She has plenty of company in her use of this amusing ditty, and good company at that, notably James Waters, John Nieman, Mildred Gilmore, The Four DeWolfs, Ben Russell and Whinnie Crawford.

NEW SONG IN THE SOUL KISS.

The Soul Kiss, two companies playing which will be on tour this season; has opened very much to the satisfaction of all concerned, which statement, of course, includes Maurice Levl, the well-known band and orchestral director, who melodious song, My Love is Greater than the World, and will continue to feature it in their new act, Adam Sowergy, based on J. A. Murphy's well-known comic sketches.

Amelia Summerville, the favorite comedienne, who is a stellar attraction on limited time, is featuring with enormous success Louis F. Muir's new and clever novelty numbers, The Oklahoma Twirl, which promises to succeed his Barber Shop Chord in popular favor.

The Minstrel Four are capturing vaudeville audiences with My Love is Greater than the World, I'd Rather Say Hello than Say Good-bye, and Play that Barber Shop Chord, with which they are winning lustrous encores.

Play that Barber Shop Chord, the popularity of which continues uninterrupted, wins innumerable encores for Matthews and Ashley, and will probably prove their biggest drawing card throughout the season of 1910-11.

Edwards, Murray and Tierney, a headline attraction on big time, have made a genuine hit with Muir's success, The Oklahoma Twirl, which seems likely to figure prominently among the song triumphs of 1910-11.

The Excelsior Trio, with The Shoemaker, in which Gus Hill is starring Lew Welch, will feature during the season of 1910-11 J. Fred Helf's popular march song, I'd Rather Say Hello than Say Good-bye.

Maryland is the pleasing title of an act which is one of the newcomers in vaudeville. Chester V. Brothers, a rollicking song by Louis Westly, which is even newer than the act, is being prominently employed therein.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Powers, featuring My Love is Greater than the World, in vaudeville, are winning numerous encores with this high class ballad hit, the success of which continues uninterrupted.

Speaking of Louis Westly's new song, Cheer Up, Brothers, is a reminder that Al Carlton is now using this latest Witmark laugh-provoker to great advantage while playing the big time.

Loretta LeRoy, with Al Reeve's Hit Beauty Show, which opened the season of 1910-11 at Hurlitz & Seamon's, is duplicating her former success with Play that Barber Shop Chord.

Those popular comedians, Avery and Hart, continue to successfully sing Play that Barber Shop Chord, which has proved the biggest hit they have had for a number of years.

Stepp, Mehlinger and King are repeating in the West their enormous Eastern bit with Play that Barber Shop Chord. This popular number is undeniably a hit from coast to coast.

Al Jolson continues to please his audiences with Oh, You Bear Cat Rag, by Fred Watson and Lewis F. Muir, which is a big seller, in both instrumental and vocal form.

The Rag Trio, recently at Henderson's, Coney Island, received hearty applause, with numerous demands for encores, with their rendition of Play that Barber Shop Chord.

At Brighton Beach Music Hall, last week, appeared The Four Musical Monarchs, who are using the Witmark instrumental number, Temptation Rag, with signal success.

Mildred Haywood is making a distinct hit with James Brockman's character song, That's Yiddish Love, one of the latest additions to the Witmark catalogue.

The talented and well-received quartette, The Arlington Comedy Four, continue to delight their audiences with Play that Barber Shop Chord.

Erichette and Frigone are making excellent use at present of Alb. H. Fitz's attractive "kiddie" song, Don't You Want a Pissy Wussy Cat?

The Three Leightons, playing limited time are dedicating the success they made last season with Play that Barber Shop Chord.

Houston and Kirby are featuring Betty Brown and report excellent results. This song is published by the Morse Music Co.

Caroline Ballman is making them sit up and take notice on the LaSalle Roof, Chicago, singing Good-bye, Betty Brown.

Tawcott, the popular singer of syncopated song successes has found his biggest hit in Play that Barber Shop Chord.

JACK NORWORTH & NORA BAYES.

They will be seen in a new musical comedy this season.

—both were written for the popular Irish actor by Rita Johnson Young, the gifted playwright. Regarding the songs in the new play, they are by Mr. Olcott himself, in collaboration with Ernest R. Ball, who composed in the garden of My Heart, which fine ballad Mr. Olcott sang so effectively in Ragged Robin. The titles of the Barry of Ballymore numbers, all of which, as in former years, are published by M. Witmark & Sons are I Love the Name of Mary, Mother Macree, In the Sunshine of Your Love, Wild Rose and My Land.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

Suppose you were working at Hammerstein's and was approached by a prominent music publisher and offered, say, fifty dollars a week (for a certain number of weeks) to take off the song you were using and put on one of theirs. What would you do? Neary, Bliss and Ross have just gone through that experience. They are using a new song called You're Mine, All Mine, written by Theodore Morse, and published by the Theodore Morse Publishing Co., and that was the song they were asked to discard. After much deliberation, it was decided to keep on using Mine, All Mine, and to pass up the tempting offer. The song is a genuine hit, and goes extremely well at every performance. It threatens to surpass by far Mr. Morse's Won't You Be My Honey?

Annette Goldie, with The Big Banquet Show, playing The Girl from Paris, made a pronounced hit with Play that Barber Shop Chord, when the show opened the season of 1910-11 at the Olympic, New York. It was a phenomenal success with their last season.

composed the music, and M. Witmark & Sons, who publish the same.

And this is a reminder that two new numbers have been added to the production. They are Henry Lodge's brilliant Temptation Rag, which is used as a big number, and done in ensemble, and a beautiful new duet by Louis Westly and Ernest R. Ball called Awake, Dearest One, both are published by M. Witmark & Sons.

MUSIC NOTES.

Fred Watson, the popular rag time singer, player and dancer, is successfully presenting his own composition Oh You Bear Cat Rag, on limited time. His rendition of the new novelty success, The Oklahoma Twirl, is warmly received, and when My Marie Sings Chilly Billy Bee and Play that Barber Shop Chord are repeatedly encores.

Ben Harney, who is billed as the originator of piano ragtime, has added Play that Barber Shop Chord to his repertoire of syncopated hits. He is working with his wife, Jessie Haines, and their singing, eccentric dancing and piano rag time act is a big success on the Pacific Coast.

The most applauded numbers sung by John Vogel's Minstrels are I'd Rather Say Hello than Say Good-bye, My Love is Greater than the World, Play that Barber Shop Chord, Oh, You Bear Cat Rag, and The Oklahoma Twirl, all published by the J. Fred Helf Co.

Miss Elsie Willard, of Murphy and Willard, has made a genuine hit with J. Fred Helf's

VON MECKEL BUSY.

Gustav Von Meckel has written a new song entitled Baby's Mirship, which is being sung at all the kindergartens and different choirs throughout the country. It is also being sung as an added feature at the different society functions. Mr. Von Meckel has also written a new Sacred Lyric entitled Repentance which is also meeting with great success.

OHIO VALLEY EXPOSITION

Opens Auspiciously August 29---Twenty-three Thousand Persons Attend First Day---Weather Conditions Have Been Excellent for the First Week. All Concessions and Shows Doing Big Business.

The opening of the Ohio Valley Exposition on the morning of August 29 marked the inauguration of the greatest event held in the Queen City since 1888.

President Taft was unable to be present on the first day, but he officially opened the exposition by telegraph.

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 29, 1910. Robert R. Reynolds, President Ohio Valley Exposition Company, Chamber of Commerce Building, Cincinnati, O.: I congratulate you on the opening of your exposition and I sincerely hope it will be successful in all its purposes.

The opening exercises were brief and informal. The officials who participated in the inauguration were gathered together on the stage of the Music Hall.

In the afternoon a parade was given through the principal streets of the city. While parades necessarily are similar in make-up, there is no palpable reason why the exposition parade was not considerable better than it was.

The turnout was in six divisions, in the first of which rode Ohio's highest executive, Governor Harmon, and his staff.

A local newspaper stated that there were 100,000 persons in line to see the parade, but as it has been conservatively estimated that 50,000 visitors were in town the day before the opening, it is safe to say the number was larger.

Once inside the spacious Music Hall, the spectator wanders about the corridors in bewilderment. To see all the exhibits in a day, is an impossibility, so numerous and diversified they are.

To Claude L. Hagen, whose title is superintendent of construction and director of amusement, belongs a vast amount of credit for the completeness of the exposition. It was he who conceived the plan of converting the untightly banks of the canal into beautiful flower gardens, with picturesque Swiss buildings; to furnish the exposition with superlative amusement attractions, and arrange the multitudinous details of laying out the numerous spaces for exhibits.

The Fire Show is the most interesting. The scenes represented in this production are typical of the tenement district of Hoboken, and the 200 persons employed depict the daily "mirrors and employments" of the proletariat, living upon the river wharfs.

Women and men promenade the sidewalk, enter stores, and make purchases, as naturally as though they were not being paid for acting. Garrulous housewives exchange gossip, peddlers cry their wares and a Salvation Army band marches through the street.

The sailors, valiantly stick to their posts, the passengers are rescued, and the audience breathes a sigh of relief, though all ailments have been lost. But they reckoned too soon for the conflagration has spread to a large tenement building, in which two score men and women are in danger of being incinerated.

One of the most interesting and instructive shows are the infant incubators, in charge of Dr. S. Fisher. The value of these machines as life-savers cannot be overestimated.

A, as it was and as it is to-day. His was one of the finest addresses ever heard in Cincinnati. President H. E. Herbert closed the session with a few well chosen remarks, then all adjourned to the banquet hall, where a splendid lunch was served.

Newark Lodge No. 28, T. M. A., held its regular meeting on Sunday, August 21, at Musicians' Temple. Considerable business was transacted and three candidates initiated.

Members of the Kansas City Lodge Theatrical Mechanical Association performed an act of charity to one of the profession, last week, when $100 funds were raised to pay for a railroad ticket and other expenses of Miss May Corbett, a young actress, who had been waiting at the Union depot in Kansas City for three days for a letter from her father which would contain the money for her ticket home.

Tiny Town or Midget Circus, an importation from Europe, is evoking much appreciation from all who have witnessed a performance of these little people. A number of world famous midgets they are, each doing some stunt of the grown-up performers with our regular circuses.

A visit to the exposition is not complete unless the Sea Nymphs show is taken in. That which differentiates this water show from other aquatic productions is the novel way in which the performers first appear before the audience.

While the Over the Rhine Restaurant can not be compared with any of the above enumerated amusements, its importance as a money-making proposition must not be overlooked.

First in importance, taken from an artistic point of view, is the opera Paoletta, the production of which for the season of twenty-four days will cost approximately $75,000.

"What a superb production Paoletta proves to be. All the promises made in advance, which sounded so extravagant, have been fulfilled. A more sumptuous mounting of an opera in this country has never been presented.

"Mme. Bernice de Pasqual sang [at the inaugural production] the title role. She is a finely gifted coloratura soprano, singing in the approved Italian style.

"The most important role in the opera dramatically and musically, is Gomez, the Moorish astrologer. This part was ably acted and sung by David Blispam, whose great experience, whose complete mastery of the comicalities arise in the sphere of music drama, permitted him to give a performance such as can stand with his best efforts in the past.

His finale of the second act was a splendid example of intensity and dramatic power. The chorus is excellent and fully deserving favorable mention.

THE CAST. King of Castile ... Tom Daniel Gomez ... David Blispam Don Pedro ... Humbird F. Duffey Don Fernando ... James Harrod Don Julian ... Harrison Brookbank Corda ... Joseph Schenke Court Crier ... Joseph Schenke Jaclinta ... Cecelia Hoffman Paoletta ... Bernice de Pasqual

The production was staged by Ben Deal. Emil Ankermillier is the business manager of the opera. Chas. A. Zuber, in addition to promoting the publicity department for the entire exposition, looks after the advertising for the opera.

If at the close of the exposition, a deficit is shown, it will not be due to any discrepancy on the part of its producer, or any lack of excellence of the opera. For the first week the attendance was not very encouraging, however, the promoters the hopeful for an increase in patronage this week.

It will be remembered that at the last fall festival held in Cincinnati, four years ago, The Blue Moon was produced, and the opera lost money while in the Queen City. The rights to produce this opera at the festival were secured from the Shuberts at an expense of $38,000.

While the exposition has not progressed sufficiently to warrant making any predictions, a few figures at hand indicate that the amusements will register successes; that is, of course, if last week's business continues. The general admissions to the grounds have shown no increase; in fact, the first day's attendance was the largest.

It is estimated that 400,000 persons will attend during the exposition. This number will bring the gate receipts to $100,000, and if business at the shows is as good as anticipated, $100,000 more will be added to the funds.

NEW CLUB ROOMS. Kansas City Lodge No. 13, T. M. A., has established its home in the palatial residence, No. 1431 Central street on the site which is known as Quality Hill.

The parlors, library, ladies' reception room, pool room, grill room, have been furnished and decorated in an elaborate manner, such as to make the club first-class in every respect.

Kansas City Lodge No. 13 is, this week, entertaining Mr. C. C. Chandler, of Cumberland Lodge No. 96, Hrother Chandler is Deputy Grand President of the State of Maryland.

CINCINNATI LODGE SESSION. Cincinnati Lodge No. 33, T. M. A., held a big social session Tuesday evening, August 23, in honor of third Grand Vice-President Herbert Ashton, of Portland, Oregon Lodge, No. 36.

Members of the Kansas City Lodge Theatrical Mechanical Association performed an act of charity to one of the profession, last week, when $100 funds were raised to pay for a railroad ticket and other expenses of Miss May Corbett, a young actress, who had been waiting at the Union depot in Kansas City for three days for a letter from her father which would contain the money for her ticket home.

the time being at least, Miss Corbett had become ill in Grand Island, Neb., and was confined in a hospital there. From Grand Island her professional friends raised funds sufficient to send her to Kansas City.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. Jacksonville Theatres Doing Big Business. Changes of Management.

For the first time in years this city is without any amusement park, and this, no doubt, accounts for the excellent business being done by the theatres and moving picture shows.

Manager J. C. Gray, formerly of the Amuse Theatre, has leased the Bijou. Bookings are made through the Princess Theatrical Exchange. This week's bill consists of Julian and Dyer, comedy acrobats; Tutz McGuire, singing southerner; G. C. Davis and Bernice Hodges, in comedy; Austin and Wesley, fancy dancing; Miss Belle Rosa, singing comedienne.

The Dural Theatre, under the management of J. D. Delcher, opened the season with Ishmael September 4. Owing to the excellent condition of business in all lines here, the coming season will outclass everything in the past.

Spotts' New Enterprise. Topeka, Kan., Sept. 3.—During the coming season the John Spotts Amusement Co., of Topeka, will have seven vaudeville stock companies on tour. The first, Ketchell Bros., open their season Sept. 12, playing week engagements. This firm has taken a decided departure from the regular routine in sending high-class vaudeville to territory that can not afford permanent vaudeville, having recently opened a New York office with a vaudeville play bureau in connection, to supply material for all our companies.

BAKER'S STOCK ENTERPRISES.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 5.—George L. Baker, of Portland, Ore., inaugurated the first of his series of stock companies in Spokane, yesterday. The company is headed by Franklin Underwood and Francis Slossen. The current bill is My Wife, to be followed by Merely Mary Ann, The Rose of the Rancho, Fifty Miles From Boston, The Man on the Box, Via Wireless, The Hypocrites, The Barrier, etc.

In addition to opening these three stock companies within a span of twenty days, Mr. Baker will complete his $125,000 theatre in Portland, for the housing of his Portland company and to be known as his general headquarters.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 3.—Frank Darlen and Miss Marlow Sherwood are new members of the Poli Stock Company, playing at Poli's Theatre.

101 RANCH CREW ENTERTAINED.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 27.—Miller Bros.' 101 Ranch Wild West advertising car number one pulled into Minneapolis in charge of Paul W. Harrail, August 17, and remained a week. Sunday morning, August 21, a committee of Minneapolis I. A. B. P. & B. of A., with W. J. Erickson at the head, met the crew and took them to a chartered car, where they departed for beautiful Lake Minnetonka.

Those present were: Paul W. Harrail, car manager; Paul Lamont, boss billposter; Mark Wischart, assistant boss billposter; L. P. Rarick, Joe Dietwiler, Willie Ingram, George Singleton, Danny Judge, "Bessy" Babecek, G. Blodgett, Ernie Scott, Frank Ross, billposters; G. H. Phillips and Loy Burton, lithographers; Two A's Murdoch, program manager; Willie Schaban, secretary; John Hanley and Charlie Smith, kinkers.

HAGENBECK-WALLACE NOTES.

The show is no longer suffering from a lack of property men. Last Sunday a week there was only three lacking from the full quota. This makes it much nicer for the artists who were forced to assist in the work in order that the show might continue to move.

The show will have a southern season of twelve weeks, and will close late in November. A child born to Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rutherford recently lived but two hours. Mrs. Rutherford (Almee Sutton) will rejoin the show shortly.

Frank Ferleman left the show Sunday and returned to his home at Shelbyville, Ind.

The Humana did not leave the show as was printed a few weeks ago.

Mrs. George Holland hurt her knee again recently, and this may lead to The Hollands giving up circus for the remainder of the season.

Joe R. Andrew spent last Sunday a week ago in Chicago, leaving Richmond, Ind., and returning to Eaton, O.

Henry Stant developed so many folks at Richmond, Ind., recently that the local papers gave him a long write-up for his clowning.

C. E. Cory returned to the show August 27, after a visit to Mrs. Cory, who had been on the sick list.

C. Mack and Doc Miller spent Sunday, Aug. 28, in Cincinnati.

BOSTOCK WILL SELL.

With the extending of Frank C. Bostock's enormous European operations that showman has decided to sell out the various acts now at his Dreamland, Coney Island arena.

The name of Frank C. is so well known as being consistent with only the best of trained wild animals that the publication of the sale will be interesting to many of the other exhibitors of similar exhibitions.

The stock to be sold comprises a large number of lions, tigers, bears, wolves, etc., and "Queenie," the trained elephant.

The services of Captain Jack Bonsvita can also be arranged for.

COOK HOUSE SCANDAL FROM JOHN ROBINSON'S 10 BIG SHOWS.

The show spent Sunday and Monday at Clyffside Park, Ashland, Ky., and it certainly is the sweetest place on earth to put a show.

Had the elephants, bears and carabos in the lake Sunday afternoon. Someone had told about it before hand and about ten thousand people (one paper estimated it at about twenty thousand) from Ashland, Ironton, Huntington and Catlettsburg came out to see the big fellows in the water.

The press department entertained the newspaper men from Ashland, Huntington, Ironton and Catlettsburg at a Singlessee supper at Clyffside Park Sunday.

H. L. Hamilton, manager of Clyffside Park, certainly is some hustler; that's why the park gets the crowds.

Jobe McDonald, Malneck Man, McDonald Bros. Show visited at Huntington.

John McNulty, Jr., had his foot crushed under a wagon wheel at Mt. Sterling, Ky.

The mother of Miss Vance of the team of Leach and Vance, was a visitor at Huntington.

The father of the Singer Trio is spending a few days with the boys.

Joe Fisher joined as assistant boss hostler.

TOM NORTH DOES GREAT PRESS WORK.

Tom North certainly did put over some great press stuff in the interest of Gentry Brothers' Circus during the time that show was making stands in and around Chicago. The way he broke into print was simply scandalous.

Any one of the knights of the quill who has tried to place circus plants with the newspapers of the Windy City can appreciate what it means to have such people as Dick Little, of the Tribune; Molly Morris, of the Daily News, and Will Reed Dunroy, of the Record-Herald, take a material interest in a proposition.

North did all of this and then some. He had special stories in print with startling regularity, big layouts of pictures at frequent intervals, and news gulps galore. In other words, he gilded his already glittering reputation as a publicity purveyor to the extent that he is now a star exploiter of the first magnitude, and some of his more ardent admirers even venture the opinion that he is a planet.

Anyhow, as Bobby Gaylor used to say, he is the "Plant-it" kid, and when it comes to dallying with the application of printers' ink he is there twenty-seven different ways. He has a battling aversion in the "get there" league that is one hundred per cent. On Saturday, September 3, North left the Gentry Brothers' outfit to join The Newlows and Their Baby Company at Charleston, S. C. What is a Gentry loss is the Newlows' gain. There are but few, if any, of the theatrical gentling schedule that North is famous for. During the winter he is on the job until the box-office barometer signals the advisability of a rest for the show, then he stops just long enough to get a whiff of the sawdust and then off he hikes to where the band plays on the lot and the weekly stipend is doled out from a wagon window. North is the perennial traveler. He is known from coast to coast. His host of acquaintances are innumerable and correspond to the number of his friends. He is inherently a "live one," and by application a producer. North gets results; the right kind at the right place. He is a ten-time winner as a press agent, and as a "good fellow" he is in a class alone.

RELIEVE AN ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Mrs. L. McWilliams, 335 N. Illinois street, Decatur, Ill., would like to have information regarding her son, Virgil McWilliams, supposed to be with a circus. He is fourteen years of age, about six feet, five inches high, has light blue eyes; very freckled; small black mark on the corner of his right eye. His mother would appreciate any information. Address as above.

While it is generally understood that the Colonel is taking his vacation for the benefit of his health, Dame Rumor has it that a big deal is back of the trip.

UNKNOWN EMPLOYE FOUND DEAD.

Jacksonville, Ill., Sept. 1.—An unknown employee of the Selfs-Floto Shows was found dead here Monday morning in the horse tent, where he had gone to sleep for the night. A thorough investigation among the showmen and careful inquiry by the coroner failed to disclose the man's identity. Sunday night he was taken with an epileptic fit at the supper table from which he was carried to his sleeping quarters.

He had only been with the show a few days, having joined last Saturday at Alton. He was employed in the property department and assisted in putting up the equipment for the ring performers.

It is said that the dead man claimed to be an old trapeze performer and an old showman and said that while working in this capacity he had received an injury in which several ribs were broken and other injuries had been sustained, which unfitted him for work in this line.

FIGHT OVER CONFLICTING DATES

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 3.—The board of county commissioners met in special session Monday of this week for the purpose of hearing the matter relative to the revocation of the license issued to Ringling Bros.' Circus for Thursday of fair week, Oct. 17-22. The board left the matter open until next Monday in hopes that some adjustment can be made.

Secretary Pogue, of the fair, requested before the board early in August that license be refused to circuses during fair week. It appears that while the board was looking into the question the circus people had slipped in and secured the license. The advisory board also met last Monday and had adopted a resolution asking that the board either get the circus to change its date or revoke its license. The fair people claim that the presence of a circus will conflict with the fair. A special effort will be made to get the circus to change its date.

CIRCUS BREVITIES.

By CHARLES A. WHITE.

Bartlesville, Okla., is not only a well groomed, thriving, up-to-the-minute city, but has folded in its population many men who have made history, with the six-shooter and otherwise.

It was in this city that I met John Moore, better known to the western world as "Mustang Jack"—and remembered by many, who are doing penal servitude, as the gamest man who ever trailed a law.

Moore first saw the light of day, April 14, 1882, on Mustang Draw, near San Saba, Texas, being the only baby within miles of that section he was dubbed "Little Mustang" by the cattlemen and cowboys. His father was a white man while his mother's ancestry dates back to the Grey Eagle Rogers line of Cherokees.

During the spring of '87, Moore's parents moved to the Indian Territory where the son was called John Grey Eagle by the Indians. While still in his teens he engaged in the hunting of outlaws. Later he was dispatched to the Rio Grande country, where he figured prominently in the breaking up of several bands of rustlers and Mexican outlaws—many of whom are either serving sentence or sleeping in forgotten graves.

In October, '07, he was selected to escort the famous old Apache chief, Geronimo to Collinsville, Okla., where 5,000 full-blooded Indians had congregated with Old Spynuck—the last chief of the Shawnees—to celebrate the "Dawn of Statehood." A month later Moore's Government commission expired and he returned to live on his allotment, eight miles from Bartlesville.

Of late years he has been active in the show business, having suffered the ups and downs of the full-fledged trooper. His last engagement was with the 101 Ranch Show, during which he was badly hurt by a horse falling on him.

In speaking of the mishap Mr. Moore has naught but the kindest words for Messrs. Miller and Arlington. "Not only did the management bestow every attention and courtesy," said Mr. Moore, "but when I was able to travel they gave me two months' salary, railroad transportation, home and an order for a $40 tailored suit."

To-day Mr. Moore is a wealthy man, his lands having produced oil. He has just erected a $6,000 home in the residence district of Bartlesville. Mr. Moore is now organizing a wild west show in which he intends to present over 100 Indians from every territorial tribe.

Hear ye! Cartersville, Mo., needs the money. And, hear ye, again! Cartersville is exerting every muscle to get it. Of course, the cesspool of Joplin has not resorted to the mask and gun method, but her governing heads and tin-star sleuths have come within a hair's breadth of doing so.

It was inspired this wise: Cartersville "went dry." Joplin didn't, therefore, Cartersville's thirst must be quenched in Joplin. This naturally causes an influx of Cartersville dimes to pour over Joplin bars, into Joplin tills, thence into Joplin banks and improvements; consequently, pinching the bolt on Cartersville's anatomy. So Cartersville has hoisted the black flag and gone in for blood-money.

That she is making fair progress may be attested by the Sells-Floto and Ringling aggregations; to former to the tune of $17.50, the latter for a ten-dollar William.

The representatives for both shows were active in the billing of outside territory; both dispatching trusty knights Cartersvilleward. And Cartersville's tin-star brigade licked their greedy chops, winked a knowing optic and swooped down upon the unsuspecting.

Of course there were offered several lines of tearful argument and protestation, which proved of no avail. The offenders were informed that "Cartersville needs the money"—and, in this particular instance, GOT IT.

Although greatly vexed at the hold-up method practiced by the John Lawa of this defunct village, we do not feel the outrage as keenly as the opposition does, simply because they had hung but a few "oil paintings" while the Ringling sticker-licker had completed his billing before the bewhiskered law-preservers appeared.

The regular license for the privilege of billing this back yard edition of Joplin is $1.50 per day; so, ye showmen who have a date booked at Joplin and an optic on Cartersville, be—ware!

picture shows. Again I say: Great Bend wants a theatre. And better still, she will aid the hustler who has nerve enough to build one.

I have been informed, by reliable authority, that the Sells-Floto management have climaxed the billing of country routes where the exhibition stand is over 40,000 in population. They have also issued instructions that the country posting out of the smaller exhibition stands shall not exceed 400 sheets to a route.

The debating society, on Ringling Bros.' Adv. Car No. 1, will meet next Friday evening to thresh out the question of whether a billboard is indecent when composed of undressed lumber.

A LETTER OF APPEAL.

Rio Janeiro, June 11, 1910. The Billboard Publishing Company, 416 Elm St., Cincinnati, O., U. S. A.:

Gentlemen—I send you this letter to ask you if you will kindly announce the death of my husband, George Carlo, the last of the Three Brothers Carlo, celebrated acrobats; if you will, kindly put the announcement in a few other papers, so his family can hear of it, as I have lost the direction of their house. I know it is somewhere in Brooklyn. I have often heard of the Billboard, and now apply to see if they will help me, for I am in very reduced circumstances. I, Amelia Carlo, tight-rope artist, also rider and general performer, that was the only lady that drummed a drum solo on the tight-rope, and did a fifteen-minutes' act without a balance pole, have helped and supported my husband and a stricken son, who was a very clever club juggler, but five years ago got congestion of the brain and is unable to work, so I have, with the help of another son, to support him by playing the piano, which is very poorly paid; also circus business here is not worth anything, so my son gets very little also, and sometimes does not receive his money. It is very hard for me. I have a very hard struggle of it, and I have gone through so many troubles and trials that now my health is falling. I have no doubt that if you will take the trouble to inquire in New York a great many friends and colleagues that know of me will confirm my letter.

Hoping, dear sir, that you will kindly take interest in my appealing letter. I have also some relatives in New York. If you could find them, also in St. Charles, Leane county, Ill., called Andrew Gulle. He is no relative, but he might help me for old acquaintance sake.

My maiden name was Amelia Bridges, of the Bridges family in England. I have also relatives in England and well off. I am also related to John Henry Cooke, the Cooke family on my mother's side, consins of hers. My mother's name was Amelia Woolford, married in Batty's Circus; she was a niece of Ducrow.

I explain these few things to you, dear sir, to enlighten you as to who I am. Hoping you will do something to help me try and start a little boarding house or rooming. I could do that, as I have acquaintances in the light and power company.

Hoping you will excuse me, sir, for troubling you, but I am nearly out of my wits what to do. Hoping you will kindly answer my letter, I remain, Yours truly, MRS. GEORGE CARLO, (proper name), MRS. AMELIA LAWRENCE, (proper name), of the Brothers Carlo.

P. S.—My address, one that will always find me, is Spinelli's, Circo Spinelli, Rio Janeiro.

HELP SUSIE WILEY.

No matter how small the contribution you can afford to give, due credit will be given you if bestowed in care of The Billboard, to help Susie Wilely to liquidate the debts incurred by the death of her husband, William Wilely, who was well known to the circus fraternity as free to give where assistance was needed, and he was liked by all the trouper with whom he became acquainted. His widow had worked hard to pay her debts and get ahead to buy property for her act, and is really suffering for the necessities of life, as her husband's death has rendered her destitute, and her present employment brings her but a mere pittance. She is now serving as janitress at 713 North Delaware avenue, Indianapolis, Ind. Troupers who are in sympathy with unfortunate members of the profession are asked to assist this worthy woman, who is anxious to get out of debt and get enough to pay for the property she needs while at work on the road. Mail contributions in care of The Billboard, payable to Mrs. Susie Wilely, Bonheur Brothers, proprietors of Bonheur Brother's Shows, have suggested the institution of this fund, and they guarantee the cause a worthy one.

TWO BILLS' NOTES.

St. Paul and Duluth, Minn., proved to be the three largest consecutive days' business ever experienced in this show. Turn-aways at each performance.

The seating capacity this year is greater than has ever been carried before with this show. The very much criticized extra seats that were installed by Major Lillie this spring have repeatedly proved their efficacy for without them the immense business at numerous stands this year could not have been taken care of.

Either one of the above three days, extra seating capacity paid for the entire installation, trouble and expense of carrying them, and then some, and once more shows the sterling worth of Major Lillie's judgment and forethought.
The day's business at Duluth, Minn., was remarkable in more ways than one. The long run from Minneapolis, necessarily made a late arrival, etc., long haul to the lot, the first wagon arriving on the show grounds at twelve noon, the rapidity with which this show moves was illustrated there when the doors opened at two-thirty and the performance started at three P. M.

Taking into consideration the fact that they were the fourth show in Duluth, the turn-away that marked both performances was remarkable and speaks volumes for the exceptional drawing powers of this institution.

The extraordinary business that has greeted the Two Bills' Organization in their invasion of the Northwest, is very gratifying to the management. The stands that were booked to break the long jumps necessary on this North-west route to the Coast, developed into remarkably profitable stands.

At Billings, Mont., the largest turn-away this show has ever experienced at an afternoon house, occurred. A special train of twelve Pullman sleepers, every reservation filled, was run from Cody, Wyo., the home of Col. Cody (Buffalo Bill) this being the nearest point to Cody this show will play. The distance is over two hundred miles, and the fare alone was $16 for each person. This speaks volumes for the esteem and respect, Codyites bear toward the distinguished founder of the town that bears his name. The cars were decorated with banners. Some of the slogans were quite novel. Among them were: "Roosters for Cody, Wyo., and Buffalo Bill." Another was: "We raise big crops every year without any if's." A band of twenty pieces accompanied them.

Great Falls again demonstrated the remarkable efficiency of the working forces of this show. We gave a night show in Billings, Mont., the run of Great Falls, Mont., is a distance of 254 miles; we arrived at Great Falls at ten minutes past one o'clock, about a one-mile haul to the lot, and the performance started at three-thirty-five. Capacity at both shows resulted and only our late arrival prevented an immense turn-away in the afternoon.

The very wonderful business experiences by the Two Bills' Combination has set many to searching for the why, for and the cause. The fact that this Col. Cody's farewell tour finds many ardent supporters, the combination of the two shows also has its adherents, but in the estimations of the writer and his opinion shared by many, the very excellent program presented this season, more than anything else, brings the crowds daily, and proof of the fact that news travels fast, is evidenced by listening to the comments of the people on the streets in the morning. The public are remarkably well informed regarding the merits of our performances.

The retiring of Buffalo Bill forms a general subject of conversation and the public are unanimous in their regrets and all wish that so picturesque a character as Buffalo Bill, could remain before the public for all times.

GIRAFFE BORN IN CINCINNATI.

A giraffe was born at the Cincinnati (O.) Zoo, on Wednesday night, August 31. The new arrival was five feet high when born, and to the astonishment of the spectators two hours after birth the giraffe was able to stand on its long, slender legs.

This is the third time that a giraffe was born at this Zoo, and it is not known that any giraffe was ever born in captivity anywhere else in America.

PAWNEE BILL AUTOS.

Major G. W. Lillie (Pawnee Bill) "Napoleon of the tent shows," has an automobile. The major is enthusiastic over the new car and says it beats bronco busting a mile. He has had many rides in other peoples' cars but now he has one of his own and will try it out in a few days.—(continued next week).

SELECT WINTERQUARTERS.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East will winterquarter at Trenton, N. J., this season. The show opens in Boston next year for a run.

CIRCUS GOSSIP.

A promoting department seems to be a new adjunct to the John Robinson Shows. Being applied on a limited scale this year, it is understood that they will work it more extensively next season. Herbert Madly, who by the way is a hustler, is in charge of the promoting of the show and is quite successful with it. He completed arrangements at Atlanta for the show to play under the auspices of the Elks, and at Savannah under the Shriners and at Augusta, Ga., for the benefit of the Firemen. If the show makes good and the performance is satisfactory, it will go a step to help Madly do even better work in that department in another season.

Following is the complete roster of Adv. Car No. 1, of the Tentry Bros.' Circus: Frank B. Harris, car manager; Wm. Porter, boss billposter; Jerry Keller and Sam Stough, special agents; Happy Holmes, in charge of lidos; Howard Hendricks, banners; Oris Althenmeyer, Wm. (Pat) Goodwin, Harry Meyers, Harold Mahey, Wm. Holts, John Haggerty, Geo. Cable, Jas. Brown and Wm. Hill, billposters; Edward Bailey, programmer, and Grant Keeney, chief.

While in Staunton, Va., Aug. 28 and 29, the attaches of the John Robinson's Ten Rig Showa remembered Mrs. Eva Clarke of Colebrook Circus, who was shot and killed there several years ago, by placing flowers upon the grave at Thoronose cemetery. The circus band played several funeral airs. The woman's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howard, and her two sisters, attended the memorial services.

Notwithstanding the remarks of knowing ones regarding the tour of Indiana by the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows, the facts are that the long stay in that State was highly profitable to the management. The privileges did suffer, scarcely paying their way, but the big door receipts were of such proportions that had the privilege been closed there would still have been a nice profit for the Hooker Showman.

The following members of the Sells-Floto Shows attended a Mulligan at Gravel Springs, Ill., Aug. 28: Chas. Curzer, Jack Horner, W. R. Grazer, C. R. Black, Tony Spring, C. McIlhenny, Schaffer, M. Gooding, Tony Kalm, Jack McGee, Fred Ledgett, Miss Belle Julian, Spader Johnson, Willie Lavedan, Harry Curran, Frank Raven, Paul Wilson, and Howard McIlhenny.

The lithographers on the Ringling Car No. 1 defeated a local team at Iola, Kan., in a ball game Aug. 28 by a score of 12 to 3. John (Dutch) Finger, manager of the boys on the No. 1 car, challenges any team on the road.

Three new acts joined J. E. Henry's Wagon Show last week, viz.—A. Leroy, contortionist and slack-wire artist; George Rontour and wife, double balancing trapeze and Roman rings; Miss Rontour, contortionist.

Ben Holmes' Wild West closed with the Cosmopolitan Shows No. 1 at Elvidere, Ill., Aug. 19, and is now playing fairs, using a front consisting of twelve double-deck banners.

The Ringlings have opposition with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows in four southern cities and the Robinson Show is in conflict with the Indiana aggregation in two cities.

Harry C. Benson, trombone player with the Sells-Floto Circus, who has been confined to his home in Jacksonville, Ill., rejoined the show at that place.

J. C. Murphy, female impersonator, John d. Al. F. Wheeler's side show on Aug. 29. Murphy was formerly with Jones Bros.' Buffalo Ranch.

K. P. Carl, of the Howe's Great London Shows, joined Al. F. Wheeler's Show Aug. 17. He is doing a strong act in the concert.

Miss Josie Ashton, principal rider with Al. F. Wheeler's Show, has had a number of professional friends call on her lately.

Three horses belonging to Keller Bros.' Wagon Show, were killed by lightning in the vicinity of Needmore, W. Va., Aug. 28.

The Two Bills' Show refused to pay the city license at Madison, Wis., consequently they did not give a street parade.

Robt. E. Kane, who lead the up-town wagon with the Sells-Floto Circus, left that organization to play fair dates.

Lulu, tattooed lady, has left the Mighty Haug Show on account of sickness. She has gone to her home.

Ed. C. Walton joined Prof. Wm. Mitchell's Band with J. E. Henry's Wagon Show last week.

Francis J. Welthorn has charge of the forage with John Robinson's Circus.

Claude Orton is now the boss hostler with the John Robinson's Circus.

ROLLER SKATING POPULAR IN FRANCE.

In response to popular French demand several roller-skating rinks have been opened in the cities of Lille and Tourcoing, France. They have proved successful from a financial standpoint, and as a result a company has been formed in Lille to erect a large rink on the Rue Nationale to cost 200,000 francs ($38,600). A rink is also to be constructed in Roubaix by private enterprise, and will cost about half that sum. Roller skates of American manufacture are being used in all the rinks.

SKATING RINK NOTES.

Riverview Rink, Milwaukee, was opened for the season September 3. Jos. W. Munch is again at the helm.

The Coliseum Skating Rink, Lead, S. D., will be opened Sept. 10. Skating acts will be booked.

CINCINNATI, O.

Keith-Columbia Opens Season With Big Bill. Other Theatres Open.

With the current week's openings, the 1910-11 theatrical season, so far as Cincinnati is concerned, is really commenced. The Walnut, Em-

Harry K. Shockley, last season in charge of the Walnut Street Theatre, has been promoted to the position of general manager of Geo. B. Cox's theatrical interests.

The Ohio Valley Exposition, which opened August 29, is being attended by large crowds. Labor Day was an exceptionally big day at the Expo.

D. J. Tasker, head of the Lyman G. Howe forces, is with us for a short stay. He is wearing the smile that won't come off, as the Howe pictures are crowding the Lyric at every performance. Mr. Tasker is one of the most popular managers traveling, and deserving of the success that is coming to him.

ATLANTA BRIEFS.

Theatrical Season is Opened. Exposition for Atlanta is Planned.

The regular theatrical season opened in Atlanta last week. The Shuberts' Grand opened Wednesday, August 31, with Sidney Wells presenting Sidney Drew in Billy. For years past Tim Murphy has had the honor of opening the Grand.

The Lyric opened Monday, Labor Day, with Wildfire as the attraction.

The Forsyth opened Monday, August 29, with seven good acts.

Miss Emma Bunting left the Lyric last week. She and her company go to Jacksonville, Fla., for the winter.

ABE LEVINE AND MAX BRADY,

Who are now completing a journey on skates from New York to 'Prisco.

press, American, People's, Standard and Auditorium have been opened the past week, and the latest to enter upon the fall term are the Grand, Keith's Columbia and Henck's Opera House.

The season at the Grand was opened with The Girl in the Taxi, while the Keith's Columbia had a sterling vaudeville bill arranged for its first week patrons. The bill includes Harrymore-Hankin Co., Great Auroras, Hedgoc Bros., and Jacobson, Walsh, Lynch and Co., Raymond and Caverly, Ryers and Herman, Melotte Twins and Clay Smith, Mildred Grover and Richards, and pictures.

Henck's had At the Old Cross Roads as the season's first attraction.

Walter Messenger, agent for The Girl in the Taxi, was a Billboard caller last week.

Another Billboard visitor the past week was Jos. N. Edmonston, who is in charge of the advance work for The Thief.

At a meeting held in Cincinnati last Thursday, the final formalities in the transfer of the Columbia and other theatres to H. F. Keith and E. F. Albee were completed. The deal involved the transfer of the Columbia Theatre, Cincinnati; the Grand Opera House, Indianapolis, and the Mary Anderson Theatre, Louisville. Officers of the Anderson Ziegler Theatre Company, elected during the meeting, are as follows: H. F. Keith, president; George B. Cox, vice-president; F. R. Williams, secretary-treasurer; Walter W. White, of Cleveland, O., and E. H. Donovan, of Boston, directors.

This fall Atlanta is planning to have a Land Owners' Exposition in the mammoth Auditorium. Work on the plans has already begun, and definite arrangements for holding the affair will be announced shortly under the auspices of the Atlanta Real Estate Men's Association.

The Shuberts, having teased the old reliable Grand, and Klaw & Erlanger having secured the Orpheum until their own theatre is ready. There will be a merry war on in Atlanta.

E. D. Eldridge is the newly-appointed manager of the Shubert Grand.

The Orpheum, controlled by Klaw & Erlanger, opens its theatrical season next week with Polly of the Circus.

Moving picture shows still draw well. The local papers are urging the city council to appoint a censor to pass on all films in order to eliminate any pictures which are suggestive or are in any way immoral.

REPRESENTS RACE

One of the Greatest Automobile Speed Contests of History Reproduced in Motion Pictures that will Gratify the Public Desire for Excitement

What was done at Elgin, Ill., on August 26-27, is now a matter of automobile history. The wonderful racing which took place is indelibly recorded in the annals of motoring. It was a wonderful meet from every point of view. Favored by perfect weather conditions and generous attendance, the racers exhibited to every advantage. The course was ideal in lay-out and replete with interesting curves and spots where the going was sensational. Many motor enthusiasts witnessed the races, and those who couldn't join the "amazing throng present crowd," disappointedly read of the stirring event they had missed. However, science has given them a splendid opportunity through the medium of moving pictures to view the races as they actually occurred in a manner that diminishes not one whit the interest and excitement. E. F. Seavolt is the man to whom they are indebted for the treat. For it was he who realized on the importance of this chance of recording on film the races for the benefit of the entire automobile world. Mr. Seavolt secured the exclusive privilege from the officials who governed the meet, and then in his usual thorough manner laid out his campaign and accomplished his purpose. He stationed three camera men at vantage points around the course, and then personally directed their operations. To those who know Seavolt it is unnecessary to add that he "made good" to the fullest extent of the phrase. On Monday evening, August 29, he exhibited the finished picture before the autoists who had gathered at the Chicago Athletic Club to celebrate and banquet. These experts hailed them with vociferous applause and decided appreciation. For the time it took to run off the pictures they lived over the race and participated again in its frenzied excitement. The American Motor Racing Picture Company is the name of the organization which Mr. Seavolt has designated as the distributor of the picture to the exhibitor, who desires a fine feature film and this picture is all of that. Mr. Freeman Owens, one of the camera men employed by Mr. Seavolt, did some fine work which is worthy of special mention. Mr. Owens is a young man who is rapidly coming to the front in this line of photographic endeavor. In fact, he has already arrived.

THE NEW HOME OF "IMP" FILMS.

New York, Sept. 5. (Special to The Billboard.)—One of the wonders of the world, as far as motion pictures are concerned, is the feat recently accomplished by Manager Tom Cochrane, of the Independent Motion Pictures Company, who installed a completely equipped plant and factory at 102 West 101st street, in the record time of forty-eight hours, despite the handicap of moving from his former quarters at 111 East 14th street. However, the many who know Tom Cochrane were prepared for a surprise of this sort. It is characteristic of this man that, once his plans are formulated, no time is lost in their execution. He is what may be termed a rapid, conservative thinker. That is, he pursues a prudent policy in the outline of his plans and in their pro and con discussion, but once decided, he violates the speed laws and never rests a moment until another worthy feat has been added to his record of past performances. The IMP factory, as it now stands, is a marvel of completeness. Not one detail in its construction has been neglected. Its appointments are replete with every necessity of the business. Everything pertaining to the manufacture of moving pictures is in place—the right place—the best place. The facilities are unexcelled. Everything in the factory is there by reason of its utility. Not one useless feature is harbored. There is a wealth of floor space (approximately 10,000 square feet) but not one bit of it is wasted. It is, in fact, ideal and well adapted to the standard of requirements which qualify it in the eyes of the most critical experts of the business who are conversant with its rigid demands. With a place like this at his disposal, Mr. Cochrane feels that the sky is the limit as regards the possibilities of the output. Always, of course, quality is the watchword. With the present quota of machines in operation 400,000 feet of finished film can be turned out every week. Then there is a reserve and emergency preparation which can take care of 100,000 more feet a week without crowding the work to the slightest extent. One of the greatest—in fact, the greatest—things in the factory is the organization which is responsible for its being. Pre-eminently that organization is Carl Laemmle, with his wonderful record of things well done. Laemmle is the veteran of the moving picture business. He has done many things which are recorded in the annals of this field of commercial endeavor. One of the best things he did was to select Tom Cochrane as his lieutenant. It was a wise choice. It was one of the best investments Carl Laemmle ever made. Cochrane believes with Laemmle in organization. He realizes the importance of this essential to success. He has accordingly surrounded himself with men of his own caliber. He has so systematized every movement of his well-oiled machine that there is no suggestion of frictional delay. Every swing of the pendulum which signals their progress is in perfect harmony with the general scheme.

So it is with the entire force of people who so assiduously devote their energies to the furtherance of the IMP business. Their ability and the right sort. They have been well selected, handled with discreet fairness and are directed by a master hand, who understands his business. The result is that the IMP is steadily adding to its reputation and to the incidental filling to Laemmle's already generously loaded coffers.

THE PROJECTING POINT OF VIEW

The picture business has many phases, the study of each and every one of which enables one to form an opinion on the condition of things. For example, there is the projector end of matters. H. B. Coles, the ostensible representative of the Nicholas Power Company, has recently returned from a long trip to the Far West, in the course of which he learned that the picture outlook all over the country is exceedingly brilliant. The picture men have recently had a good time and are putting their houses in order for the fall season. So far from there being any diminution of public interest in the picture, it was Mr. Coles' experience, wherever he went, that it was on the increase, as evidenced by the prosperous condition of the exchanges and theatres. There is a general tendency, in his experience, to pay closer attention to good projection. The exhibitors more and more realize that they must show a good picture; and that in order to show a good picture an efficient projector in competent hands is essential. Hence the great success Mr. Coles met with the Power's Cameragraph on his trip, which extended through practically every State in the Union, enabling him to see, in his own words, "something of his own country." In such able hands as those of Mr. Coles the Power's Cameragraph is bound to acquire added popularity by having its many valuable features lucidly and convincingly explained and demonstrated.

MOVE TO LARGER QUARTERS.

New York, Sept. 3.—So as to be in a better position to handle their large local business, the Novelty Slide Company have removed from their East 53d street building to No. 63 Fifth avenue, corner 13th street.

The products of this concern are very much in demand by exhibitors everywhere, and their latest novelty in the way of "next day feature" slides, are meeting with great success and big sales. These slides are cleverly designed to advertise the next day feature, and are gotten up for all makes of film, including the manufacturers' trade-mark. Without question these slides are of great help to picture theatre owners, and the unanimous report is that they increase business.

The Novelty Slide Company are manufacturers of the well-known line of Novelty Announcement Slides, also produce Modern Lecturottes and Novelty Puzettes. Further information and free catalogue can be procured by addressing the company.

The Auditorium, Lynn, Mass., opens its season September 5. On the initial bill will be Zena Keefe, Ernest Farr and Company, Davis and Merrill, Thos. F. Simon, Hayes and Johnson, Pederson Brothers, The Lucifers and James Burns and Company. Harry Katz is manager of the theatre.

WRECKED BY DYNAMITE.

Burlington, Ia., Sept. 3.—The Grand Opera House was wrecked this morning about one o'clock by a terrific explosion of very mysterious origin. It is the opinion that a dynamite stick or bomb was exploded on the stage, tearing a large hole in that structure, blowing out every pane of glass in the house, the office excepted, tearing off large pieces of plastering and wrecking the ornamentation of the proscenium arch.

At first it was thought a leakage of gas might have caused the explosion, but, on examination such was found not to be the case. A large hole in the center of the stage near the footlights, about a dozen feet square, was discovered, nearby, a number of burned pieces of fuse. Evidently an attempt had been made to destroy the opera house by some unknown person with an unknown object. The motive could not have been robbery, as the safe and office were undisturbed.

Manager Scovill was called to the scene. He was greatly surprised to find his house in such a condition and could furnish no solution for an act of this kind.

Those first on the scene saw dense clouds of smoke rolling out of the rear doors of the stage. The big iron doors were blown wide open. All the alley doors and those on the north side were forced open by the concussion. The windows in the front of the building were blown out and glass scattered over the street. The rear rooms of the house were filled with fallen plastering, and the footlights and proscenium arch were torn and splintered.

Miss Nobody From Starland played to capacity Friday night, and all the property of the company had been removed. Not a soul was in the building when the explosion occurred. "Prof," the property man of the house, stated that everything was in first-class condition when he left. He could give no clue to the mysterious explosion.

Manager Scovill has cancelled all shows for the next two weeks. It may perhaps take longer to repair the house. The damage will amount to about $5,000. John Gert, of Seattle, is the owner, and had just recently made the purchase.

The executive staff featuring Miss Olive Vall in Miss Nobody From Starland is composed of Charles Donoghue, manager; Zack M. Harris, general representative; Harry B. Jones, stage director; Guy Deacon, assistant stage director; P. Hans Fitch, musical director; Fred McWeathy, master mechanic; Chas. Fillmore, properties; Eddie Moore, electrician; Albert Rejack, transportation, and Mrs. Rueger, wardrobe. The company played at Joliet, Ill., September 1, and has been playing to capacity houses.

INTERESTS COMBINE

Van Ronkel Sells to General Film Company Thus Making The American Film Service and The General Film Company One.

Chicago, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—It had been rumored for more than a few days that the American Film Service of Chicago, was to be absorbed by the General Film Co., but the official announcement of the transaction was deferred and not given out by L. Van Ronkel until Friday, August 26. According to Mr. Van Ronkel what was rumored is now a fact and operations under the banner of the General Film Company will be inaugurated on September 5. During the discussion of this important bit of news, Mr. Van Ronkel opportunely remarked on the pertinent points of the policy he will actively advocate as an executive of the big company with which he has affiliated. "I will still continue to give the best service in America," he said. "In fact, I can even improve it now that I have the advantage of my present powerful association. Our watchword is quality and the satisfaction of the exhibitor. We have centralized a power for the benefit of the business. Ours is not a monopoly that means oppression. We have combined for mutual protection of all concerned, which includes the moving picture theatre managers who through us get service. We have systematized the business, concentrated our efforts, and are throwing an unbroken front into the fray from the one purpose of eliminating those practices which have been detrimental to the growth of this field of endeavor. We have no intention of discouraging competition. On the contrary we invite it; it is indeed welcome. It is a case of the survival of the fittest, and by that I mean only those men and companies who have a heart the best interests of their patrons are entitled to their business life. We like to live. We believe in the 'let live' motto. We believe in all that is best, and intend to keep up to that standard. In my opinion the General Film Company is a logical step taken in the right direction. It is the ultimate company. It is significant of progress."

OPERA SINGERS DROWNED.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 5.—Kittie Nield Perle, aged 39, prima donna with the Manhattan Opera Company, and Louis Perle, her husband, musical director of the same company, were drowned in a boat accident last night, at Lake Guntersdammond. Today's performance of Gilda has been canceled.

THE CAST.

Rev. James Edward Mitchell, David Glassford, Beatrice, Jane Cowl, John Ide Mitchell, Geo. Woodward, Larry O'Neill, Frazer, Hymn, Clarkston, Daniel, Pennell, Mary, Catherine, Robertson, Coventry, Putnam, John Westley, A Small Boy, George Clarke
The Upstart is a good show. Tom Barry says so—he wrote it. Most of the critics differed. They see in the play a generous revamping of ideas owned by George Bernard Shaw.

OLD FASHIONED COUNTY FAIR.

The recently organized movement to establish an old-fashioned county fair, with hundreds of new-up-to-date features, which the New Jersey State Fair Association has undertaken, promises to bring back a revival of interest, that marked the old fairs at Waverly. The new company will hold forth at Olympic Park, Newark, on October 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8. With its one-half mile track, one of the fastest in this section of the country, with superior stabling accommodations for horses, a well-equipped number of exhibition buildings and fifty acres of ground to install the side shows and other attractions, the plant is unusually well equipped for a successful fair and the entertainment of immense crowds.

The general interest, which this fair has aroused, and the immense population of Newark and the surrounding territory, including New York City, Brooklyn and Jersey City, gives a field of over six million people to draw from, and the affair seems ready to spell "Success."

Trotting, pacing and running races, motor cycle, bicycle, automobile and aviation contests are planned, while the free outdoor acts, all thrillers, promise plenty of excitement and diversion for the public, during each day of the fair.

The management is bending every effort to secure a midway, that will rank with the best, and are making a special price concession, so as to make this department a big feature. Fred W. Wright, Box 5, Newark, N. J., is the general manager. The offices of the Association are located at Rooms 604, 606 and 608 Schenck Building, Newark, N. J.

Frank S. Dodd is president, Henry Robrecht, king of a chain of moving picture theatres in New Jersey, is vice-president and Charles Finkel, treasurer, William Wall Weaver, a widely known horseman, is manager of the speed department.

A NEW TEAM.

Harry Pearce and Kern Aylward, two clever Cincinnati boys, have formed a team to be known as Pearce and Aylward, doing a comedy singing act. They appeared at Coney Island, Cincinnati, Sept. 4-5, and scored substantially. Arrangements are being made for a tour over the Sullivan and Conditine Circuit.

THE GIRL AND THE DRUMMER AT THE GRAND.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—After a week of darkness the Grand Opera House opened on Sunday with The Girl and the Drummer, a new musical farce by George Broadhurst, with music by Augustus Barratt. Herbert Corthell is interpreting the leading male role while Vera Michelena, last season seen at the LaSalle, in the prima donna role, is assuming the leading female part. Included in the cast: Belle Gold, Phil Ryby, Marj Flynn and others.

BROADWAY GOSSIP.

Henry W. Savage has incorporated. Each member of his staff will receive certain shares of stock. Mr. Savage retains a controlling interest and will be active in the production of new plays.

Leo Harrison and Harney Bernard have joined the Ethlie Fay Company.

Truly Shattuck has filed a petition in bankruptcy.

Adolph Phillip opened at the Wintergarten Theatre last night.

FRUDENFELD BECOMES OWNER.

Waukegan, Ill., Sept. 3.—By a deal just closed, Arthur A. Frudenfeld, for three years manager of the Harrison Theatre here, has become sole owner of the house. The deal was closed in Milwaukee with Jos. E. Howard and Mabel Harrison, former owners of the theatre. The policy of vaudeville, acts being booked through the W. V. M. A., will be continued.

WALTER KEEFE & E. P. CHURCHILL JOIN FORCES.

The Theatre Booking Corporation is the name of the newest of Chicago's vaudeville agencies, its originator taking place last week. As the plans are laid at the present time, several very prominent Chicago agents will be affiliated with the new corporation, among the most noteworthy of the mentioned names being Charles Doutrick and Jake Sternad. The Theatre Booking Corporation feels that right now there is a moment opportune for a systematic association, which will vie with the only other in the field, the Western Vaudeville Managers' Association. Both Mr. Churchill and Mr. Keefe having been associated in turn with the offices of the W. V. M. A., as assistant managers to J. J. Murdoch prior to Mr. C. E. Bray being made general manager, the co-operation of these heads in one corporation looks like a mighty strong combination to offer the opposition mentioned.

Mr. E. P. Churchill, who will bring with him the houses in Grand Rapids and Peoria, and a new one under construction in Peoria, will be the business manager, while Walter Keefe will handle the bookings entirely. Mr. Keefe brings with him the bookings of the Crystal, Milwaukee, in which he is financially interested, and the Jones and O'Brien houses at Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, and Marquette, Wis., in all of which Mr. Keefe is said to be more than merely interested in a booking way.

The Miles houses of Detroit, Minneapolis and St. Paul will figure in the deal. Miles himself having a financial interest in the new corporation. It is a known fact that he served Pantages with the necessary sixty days' notice on August 22, which terminates the Miles Pantages booking agreement. Mr. Keefe, last week, signed up the Miles houses which were previously booked by Sullivan and Conditine and later by the Pantages people. Estimates on just what the new corporation will have to offer as consecutive time, shows that gets worth up to $100 can get twenty weeks, $500 acts, twelve weeks, and $750 acts, ten weeks.

THE TWO DAUGHTERS (Drama; release Sept. 12; length, —).—A humble farmer is the father of two daughters. The favorite of the father is married to a rich young man, but the other is engaged to a simple farmer boy. After marriage they become estranged, and their lives run in entirely different paths. The mother is taken ill, the illness develops into a serious phase of scarlet fever. The grim visage of death haunts the sick chamber, and contemplating her end the mother sends for the rich and favorite daughter. She arrives in an automobile, and finding the ominous scarlet fever sign on the door, refuses to enter. On its return trip the auto breaks down in front of the poor sister's farmhouse, and they are obliged to enter the home. During the conversation ensuing, the letter from the mother is shown, and the poor girl, frantic with anxiety, rushes to the home of her mother and nurses the invalid until she becomes well. The contrast of their behavior strikes home to the pained heart of the disdainful, haughty daughter, and she repents the folly of her mistaken course.

War is declared between the North and South, and the young man swears allegiance to the Northern flag, the flag of his sweetheart. But his father is of the South and for the South, and he takes him away and insists upon his enlisting in the rebel army. At the battle of Gettysburg, the boy falls holding the Confederate flag, and on the battlefield there is an old school chum, a Union officer, who recognizes him. The wounded man asks his friend to write the girl, urging her to come and see him before he dies. She immediately comes South, nurses him and brings him back to health. Once more the dove of peace settles over the land, and the brave Northern and Southern boy perform the same mathematical trick.

Kingston later finds that he was in error, and hastens to his wife, who forgives the penitent husband.

Harold rapidly regains his strength and presently is discharged from the sanitarium as completely cured. Meanwhile Evelyn has lost her position, and is about to be evicted as Harold appears upon the scene, to become the head of the household.

MATILDA'S WINNING WAYS (Comedy; released Sept. 8; length, 900 feet).—"Bach" Skinner centers his affections upon Sally Handell, who teaches the kindergarten class. To be near the object of his affection, "Bach," who is a very little fellow, discards his man's attire and disguises himself as a child. The scheme works for a while, but Sally is engaged to be married, and her sweetheart comes to take her to the minister, bringing with her the superannuated and attenuated relief teacher. The new teacher does not appear to "Bach's" fancy, and when she announces that she wants to kiss all the lit-the boys and girls. "Hatch's" decides upon an impromptu graduation. In the excitement "Hatch's" wig comes off. That's enough for the teacher, and she runs after him, the chase ending in the water, where the teacher rescues him and drags him off to the minister. Sally and Jack have just been made man and wife, and in their new-found happiness they agree with the teacher, that, having saved "Hatch's" life, she is entitled to it. "Hatch" resigns himself to the inevitable.

ESSANAY.

WHIST (Comedy; release Sept. 14; length 515 feet).—Mrs. Hink gives a whist party, during which the players are interrupted by an aspiring virtuoso across the court, who starts knocking the teeth out of the piano. Other neighboring musicians arrive upon the scene and lend their aid to their comrade, causing a succession of deafening noises. Mr. Hink is sent out to quiet the musicians, but instead forms an acquaintance with them through the medium of a bottle of Scotch whisky, utterly forgetting his social duties. The catastrophe comes when Mrs. Hink, suspicious of what may have happened to her spouse, hurries off to the musician's apartments, where her suspicions are confirmed.

HE MET THE CHAMPION (Comedy; release Sept. 14; length, 455 feet).—A cheerful idiot reads on a poster in front of a theatre that Professor Hrawn, wrestler, will meet all comers, and posts a forfeit of $100 to any one who will put him on his back. The former endeavors to learn "by book," but meets his mishap on the mat.

GAUMONT.

(George Kleine.)

UNHEQUITED LOVE (Society tragedy; released Sept. 3; length, 584 feet).—A youth is loved by two sisters, but his love is returned to but one of the two. He unfolds his mind to one of the maidens asking her to intercede with her sister in his behalf. This she does in spite of her own great love for him. The wedding shortly follows. The less fortunate sister, believing she now has nothing to live for, gradually declines until she has become an invalid. The sister and her husband both exhibit the greatest kindness to her at all times. One day, while the rest of the family are happily engaged at the Flower Carnival, the invalid girl passes away. To add to the pathos, the happy party, on their return, thinking she is asleep, shower her with flowers.

CALINO TAKES NEW LODGINGS (Comedy; released Sept. 3; length, 427 feet).—Calino moves to his new lodgings, accompanied with all the awkwardness at the command of the usual crowd of teamsters and baggage smashers. Next Calino attempts hanging pictures and fixing shelves, but displays utter inability to cope with the easiest situations. The aid of all neighbors is enlisted more to radical confusion than to profit and aid. The film, which is a satire on the flimsy flat buildings of Paris, finally closes by Calino being casually dragged through the ceiling by irate neighbors, who object to his driving nails up through their floor in his efforts to hang a chandelier.

THE WAY OF THE TRANSGRESSOR IS HARD (Tragedy; released Sept. 6; length, 952 feet).—A confidential secretary, hard pressed for personal funds, overpowers a bank messenger and obtains a goodly sum. The messenger is hidden in an office chest. The fellow betrays himself to his wife, who, broken in spirit, confides in the family, and requests their aid. The old father, though heart-broken, would still aid his son to avoid the legal consequences by supplying him with a revolver, trusting him to make his own punishment. But the son, struggle as he will with himself, can not bring his courage up to the sticking point. When his fear has conquered and he is about to flee, the police arrive and he is forced to leave his sorrowful family.

ROBERT, THE DEVIL (Mystery play; released Sept. 10; length, 598 feet).—Robert, the Devil is a mystery play with the upholding of righteousness as its moral.

AN EASY WINNER (Farce drama; release Sept. 13; length, 463 feet).—There is a quarrel between two young men over a woman. One of the duellists hires a friend who is possessed of greater courage than himself. His substitute is made into a perfect likeness of the cowardly bean. The battle is magnificently won by the hired duellist. The maid arrives to see and admire the grand finale. When she congratulates the victor and assures him of her love, he finds it impossible to maintain his disguise, but still holds the girl.

A POWERFUL VOICE (Comedy; release Sept. 13; length, 486 feet).—An aristocratic appearing guest arrives at a small hotel and orders his style of room. One hour later his voice is heard throughout the building. The voice is of such sweetness that the servants neglect their business to listen. In the street, by the power of his voice, he commands vehicles and buildings at his will. At the restaurant a short song wins him especial favor, while at the cafe strangers insist upon treating him, and waiters outdo themselves. Policemen, too, have no powers against these tones and readily grant all the possessor asks.

FRAN-CLIPSE.

(George Kleine.)

INGRATITUDE (Drama; released Sept. 7; length, 947 feet).—A fairly wealthy farmer foolishly gives all his effects to his son on the condition that a comfortable living be given him until his death. The son proves untrue to his trust, and developed a fierce cruelty toward his kind but unwise father. But for his sweet-natured grandson, the old man would often suffer for the barest necessities of life. The two become great companions. In the course of events which follow the father is made wealthy through the death of a local lord, while the son suffers the misfortune to lose his home. But the old forgets the past, and gives his aid to his son who has so ill-treated him.

MILITARY KITE FLYING AT RHEIMES (Topical; released Sept. 7; length, 256 feet).—Scenes of this film are shown in the following order: Preparing the Kites; Sending Kites into the Air; Suspending the Car Containing Passengers; the Windlass; the Car in the Air; the Descent.

THE ARTISAN (Drama; release Sept. 14; length, 457 feet).—A wayfarer in search of work is aided by a strange quarryman. The two become comrades. Through the influence of his benefactor, the journeyman obtains a position. Six months later fate has ironically made the two chums rivals for the hand of a mutual friend. One day one of the men enters the quarry just as blasting operations are about to commence. His comrade rushes forward and saves him, but is fatally injured, and as he lies he joins the hands of his comrade and the girl.

THE TRAMPS (Comedy; release Sept. 14; length, 525 feet).—The lamplighter of an inn sees her husband flirting with a girl, and threatens to throw some vitrol over him if he does not discontinue. She forthwith obtains a wine bottle full of poison. The vitrol by accident is given to some tramps. When the mistake is discovered there is a chase after the tramps, who are found unconscious. When revived they are offered the best wines in the inn as a recompense. This does not satisfy them, however, and they ask for more of the liquor supplied them before. To pacify them their request is granted, but the outsiders are amazed to find that no ill effects follow, beyond a further advance in intoxication.

EDISON.

ALICE'S ADVENTURES IN WONDERLAND (Fairly comedy; released Sept. 9; length, 995 feet).—This story is of the variety written by Lewis Carroll, with whose tales of Alice and her strange adventures in Wonderland all are familiar.

THE GREAT SECRET (Comedy; release Sept. 13; length, 390 feet).—A clever American woman is engaged by a firm of New York corset makers to go to Paris and make designs of the forthcoming fashions in Parisian corsets. She happens to do some sketching and makes a snapshot of some pretty scene within a French fortification, and she is immediately suspected of

AMUSEMENT PARKS

Season's Tag-end News of the Resorts for the Pleasure and Recreation of the Millions. Concession and Show Notes.

AN INVENTIVE GENIUS.

Pyrotechnical reproductions of famous naval battles, inaugurated as free attractions in summer parks at the Ludlow (Ky.) Lagoon this season, have achieved a popularity and attracted an amount of attention augur a continuance of this ambitious form of entertainment.

J. J. Weaver, "Wizard of Ludlow," as he is described by members of the American Park Managers' Association, has promised another season of battles and it is possible that the new fad may penetrate the winter parks of the South and Southwest in the next two months as a number of inquiries from managers in those territories have reached the Ludlow park, and Mr. Weaver left for Arkansas and Texas, Monday, in response to their propositions. Sure in thickly populated centers, however, it isn't likely the spectacles can succeed, no matter how popular they may be.

The cost is prohibitive to a large extent. The fleet of steel battleships employed at the Lagoon this season is the same that was imported from Dusseldorf, Germany, for the St. Louis World's Fair at a cost of $80,000 to the importers and they are said to have cost more than that to construct. The ships are equipped with real guns and are manned by real men so that the interest on the amount invested and the cost of operation must amount to a large sum. Still, parks located in or near the large cities may find such form of entertainment profitable.

J. J. WEAVER.

Proprietor of the (Ludlow, Ky.) Lagoon and inventor of scenic railway and chutes.

The introduction of the naval spectacles is something akin to other works accomplished by the Ludlow "wizard." Mr. Weaver has been largely responsible for many innovations in summer park amusements. He and Fred Thompson were responsible for the scenic road and Mr. Weaver built the first summer park chutes. His next notable achievement was the building of the automobile aerial railway, first introduced at the Lagoon a year ago and this season duplicated at St. Louis. He is working on some mysterious plans in his "den" at the Lagoon the past three months. Those who know him say something new is on foot.

It was raining Sunday morning at the Lagoon. A friend of the "Wizard" who happened along and wanted to distract his thoughts from the promise of a several thousand dollar loss on the business of the day, asked: "Well, what is the next thing you are going to do?"

"Do you know this rain is fine for the farm. It's going to help us out a whole lot," said Mr. Weaver. "I have always believed that every owner of a summer park should have a farm in conjunction. He can supply all the vegetables, milk, butter and eggs for the restaurant service and knowing the profit in that can rest content when he watches the idle gatekeepers on a wet day." Mr. Weaver has the farm.

CHICAGO'S AMUSEMENT PARKS.

RIVERVIEW.

Only a few more weeks remain of the park season. At some of the resorts many of the side shows have pulled out to follow the fairs while others will go into vaudeville. However, at Riverview everything is still in full bloom and the rides and concessions are selling their wares with as much zest as ever. Hand's Hand has supplanted the American Ladies' Concert Band which just terminated a two weeks' engagement at this park.

SANS SOUCI.

This is Sans Souci's last week, and if rumor be correct its last year as an amusement park. Something has been said about converting it into a concert garden similar to Bismarck Garden. This would mean that all the concession buildings, rides, etc., would have to be torn out, leaving only a few of the larger buildings to be utilized as may be seen fit.

WHITE CITY.

Liberati's Band will be the musical feature until the end of the season at White City. Sept. 18 will not be the closing date as formerly announced, as the management has decided to book a carnival company in the park for one week, making the closing date Sept. 25.

GIGANTIC PARK FOR ROME.

London, Eng., Aug. 25 (Special to The Billboard).—The Rome International Amusement and Construction Co. has been established at a capital of £75,000, and is headed by Col. Frederick T. Cummins and Amos M. Baber. The company has been formed for the purpose of constructing a mammoth zoological garden and amusement park.

The zoological gardens are now in course of construction, under the supervision of the celebrated Carl Hagenbeck, and are being modeled on the same design as the Zoological Gardens of Hamburg, the finest in Europe and under the terms of the contract with the municipality are to be opened on or before January 1, 1911, in which year the great Italian National Exhibition, to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the unification of Italy, will be held in Rome, where also will take place the ceremony of unveiling the statue of the late King Victor Emanuel, the first monarch of united Italy, which statue has been under construction for the last twenty-five years and will probably be the finest of the kind in the world. The dedication of the great Law Courts also takes place during the year. This Exhibition is supported by the Government of Italy, and will be the first exhibition ever held in Rome, the capital city. The most extensive preparations have been made for this celebration, and no expense will be spared by the Government for the successful carrying out of this great scheme.

It is proposed to have on the area set aside for the purpose of amusements (about seven acres), seven permanent and at least sixteen temporary shows. The following permanent attractions which it is proposed to erect, or work on royalty, will approximately cost to construct as follows:

|---|---------|
| Scenic Railway | £8,000 |
| Old Mill (water rides) | 3,000 |
| New York to the North Pole | 8,000 |
| Human Bullet Wheel | 1,000 |
| Katzenjammer Castle | 900 |
| Double Whirl Wheel | 500 |
| Cinematograph Theatre and Animated Pictures | 600 |
| Total | £22,000 |

The directors of this undertaking have been associated with some of the most successful amusement enterprises of the world. Mr. Brossy Kralffy, the chairman of the company, has been called the "Monarch of Spectacular Productions." His wonderful and gigantic spectacles are known the world over.

Mr. F. T. Cummins has had a long and almost unique experience as an exhibition and park manager, and he has consented to act as managing director of the company for six years at a moderate salary and traveling expenses. He has long been well-known as one of the foremost exhibition managers in the United States, and was manager at London Olympia Winter Season, 1908-9. Mr. Amos M. Baber has also had a long and successful experience in the management of shows and exhibitions.

It is popularly estimated that there will be something like half the population of Italy, or 17,000,000 visitors to Rome, besides the 500,000 tourists who visit there each year. It is estimated that there will be from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 visitors to the Rome Exhibition. To afford the people full facilities for visiting Rome the Government has arranged to considerably reduce the railway fares, and of those visiting Rome it is reasonable to estimate that at least 3,000,000 people will visit in the first year. The Zoological Gardens and Luna Park, as the amusement grounds will be called.

NOT POPULAR WITH CHINESE.

Reports from China concerning the popularity of the merry-go-round in the country of the Mongolians, inform us that the carousel which forms such a popular class of entertainment in this country is distasteful to our almond-eyed contemporaries. In fact, a circus which invaded this country some years ago was compelled to sell a merry-go-round at forced sale at Shanghai, and no circuses have ever invaded the interior of the forbidden country with this amusement device. Managers of parks in cosmopolitan locations have remarked that curiously enough, few of their Asiatic patrons have frequented this whirling form of amusement.

CONEY'S BIG SEASON.

Labor Day, September 5, marked the closing of beautiful old Coney, Cincinnati, and despite early rains, later dry weather and subsequent low water in the Ohio, the management is jubilant over the fact that it is by far the best season for years. The installation of the daily free attractions and other new and novel features is held partly responsible for the increased attendance, and the tireless efforts of Coney's working staff, from Commodore Brooks down deserve all the credit possible for their part in its success.

Already plans are on foot for next year, and among the possibilities are a big new vaudeville house overlooking Lake Como. The seating capacity will be much greater than that of the present outdoor theatre, and a better class of acts than ever before will be played in the new house. New shows and mechanical devices are planned for the Midway, and, if possible, everybody will be better taken care of than ever before.

A TESTIMONIAL.

Schenck Bros., leading park managers, express themselves on the Frolic:
Novelty Machine Company,
2 Rector Street,
New York City.

Gentlemen:—The Frolic which you installed here in readiness for the opening of our park on May the 28th, has been in successful operation continuously since that time, has given us perfect satisfaction at all times and although Palisades Park had more new riding devices this year than any other park in the country and, consequently, made competition strong and put your machine to the test of winning on its merits, it has, at all times, had its share of the business and the receipts have been most satisfactory to us.

The three distinct motions make your machine unlike any other device now in operation and it is the third motion of swinging outward from and inward toward the supporting structure, that causes the passengers to laugh and yell so as to draw the patronage from all parts of the park.

We consider the Frolic a high class attraction and cheerfully recommend it and should you, at any time, so desire, you may refer your prospective purchasers to us as one of your references.

Very truly yours,
PALISADES AMUSEMENT PARK,
Schenck Bros., Managers.

RECORD TIME FOR BUILDING AMUSEMENT DEVICE.

The Novelty Machine Company, of 2 Rector street, New York City, has made a record for time in building an amusement riding device that has never been equaled before.

On Sunday, August 21, it was agreed with the White City Amusement Company that a Frolic would be installed, ready for operation, by September 1. The Frolic at the time was finished, but set up in the shop at New York and it was necessary for the Novelty Machine Company to take the Frolic down, truck it to the railroad and load it into a car and the car consumed almost three days from the time it was loaded in getting to Philadelphia, when it was unloaded and trucked to Chestnut Hill Park, where it was erected ready to run on Thursday, Sept. 1. Mr. H. B. Auchey, the manager of Chestnut Hill Park, said that in all of his experience he had never seen such excellent time made, especially when there was so much work to be done.

This work done in such a rush cost a great deal more money than where the work could be done without such haste, but it, nevertheless, shows what thoroughly organized forces can

One at Chestnut Hill Park, Philadelphia, was installed complete, ready to run, in eleven days after the contract for it was signed. Mr. H. B. Lindley Park, Greensboro, N. C., of which Ed. G. Gidley is manager, closed its season on Saturday night, August 27, after a season of twelve weeks. FAIRS AND CARNIVALS

The Great Eastern United Shows Give First Performance at Alton, Ill., and Score Success. Notes of American Fairs

OPENING OF THE GREAT EASTERN UNITED SHOWS.

Alton, Ill., Aug. 22.—The first exhibition of the Great Eastern United Shows, in Alton, Ill., was most successful. The attendance was big in spite of the fact that Alton has had three carnivals this year. The aggregation consists of 12 shows, outside of the numerous concessions, and although this was their first town all attractions were on hand save two, which will join at Barry, Ill., their next stand. Among the shows in the company are: Francella & Bill's Mammoth Vaudeville Top, Dog and Pony Circus, Ferris Wheel, Four in One Show, Moving Picture Theatre, "Lulu," Silas Leachman's eight-legged Educated Horse, and Oriental Theatre Co., etc.

Col. Coffey, Barnum's Dude, joined the show at Alton, as did Billy Johnson, of the Young Bros.' Shows, in his bounding rope act. The feature show was Francella, the Strong Juggling Act, and it must be said of this act that it is the strongest feature ever carried with a carnival company, his wardrobe and paraphernalia are the best of its kind and the stage is a most pleasing sight when set for his act. He was a complete hit with the people and the attendance increased nightly at his big top. The free act was McPherson on the high trapeze. The company is controlled by Col. I. N. Fisk and L. E. Pitt.

SMITH GREATER SHOW.

The Smith Greater Shows have postponed their engagement in Lorain, and will furnish the attractions for the Akron, O., Gala Week, Sept. 5 to 10, inclusive.

This will no doubt be a big week as it is widely advertised and comes just at a time when things are slack in the amusement line in that city. The shows will be centrally located and will occupy two of the principal streets in the "show town" district. It is the intention of Mr. Smith to play Lorain a little later, as the people there are desirous of seeing them again. They played there three years ago.

From Akron the company goes to Defiance for the fall festival and home-coming, where a big week is assured. Defiance held the record on the company's cash book for a number of years and was only broken by the recent engagement at McKeesport, Pa.

BIG BINGHAMTON FAIR.

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Among the attractions already engaged for the 1910 Binghamton, N. Y., Fair, Sept. 27-30, are: James E. "Carnival Bingo," Sept. 28-29, in connection with the Binghamton Fair, promises to be a big thing and draw a large crowd to Binghamton during that week. A program of entertainment is being mapped out that will fill every minute of the two evenings named, and Binghamton will probably be a lively place throughout the entire week of Sept. 26.

LOUISIANA STATE FAIR FEATURES.

Shreveport, La., Sept. 3.—One of the big features at the Louisiana State Fair, which will be held November 2-11, will be a big aviation meet. Chas. J. Strobel will be one of the aeronauts to compete. THE ELGIN NATIONAL TROPHY ROAD RACES

125,000 People saw the races.
75,000,000 more want to see the pictures.

NOTE—At a private exhibition of this film at the Chicago Athletic Club, Aug. 29, the assembled members of the Chicago Motor Club and the participants in the different races got on their chairs and wildly applauded the splendid reproduction of this greatest of all races ever held in this or any other country.

WHAT THE RACE OFFICIALS SAY:
HONORARY REFEREE HUNTER (Elgin National Watch Co.):—"I saw the race from the grand stand each day of the contest. After witnessing the pictures I feel that I was a spectator at all times clear around the entire course."
REFEREE BEECROFT:—"The pictures are wonderfully true to life."
STARTER WAGNER:—"The pictures are immense."
CHIEF EXECUTIVE ROOT:—"The moving pictures, besides being of unusual interest, are of practical value to me. I superintended the preparation of the course and the manner in which racing cars are shown rounding the turns tells me exactly what to figure on for the next race in constructing corners."

WHAT THE WINNERS AND PARTICIPANTS IN THE RACE SAY:
MULFORD, winner of Elgin National Trophy:—"It's great to see one's self as others see him. The pictures are magnificent."
LIVINGSTON, winner of Illinois Trophy:—"I did not know the race was so exciting and dangerous until I witnessed the moving pictures."
BUCK, winner Kane County Trophy:—"I have seen the moving pictures of ALL the auto races but none compare with these."
HEARNE, winner of Fox River Trophy:—"Nothing could be better than perfect. The moving pictures are perfect."
BARNEY OLDFIELD, who has driven the fastest mile ever made by mortal man—133 miles per hour:—"The intense interest, the wild cheering indulged in by guests at the Chicago Athletic Club banquet where the pictures were first shown tells more than I ever could say of their realism. To this let me add that I led in the cheering."

WALTER A. BIRMINGHAM, of the INTER-OCEAN: After reviewing the moving pictures of the Elgin road races, I do not hesitate to state that they are the best reproduction of a motoring contest I have ever seen.

Complete from the Start to the Presentation of Prizes. Length, 1,000 Feet. Price, $125.00.

Brush Electric Lighting Set

Save the difference between 3 cents a K. W.—what it costs with a Brush Outfit—and the 8 to 15 cents which you are now paying the Electric Light Company.

Also save one-half of the lamp current by using 60 volt instead of 120.

Use Direct Current, which is far superior to Alternating Current.

BUFFALO BILL PICTURES.

That there is a merry war on in the film game may be evidenced from the fact of contention over the Buffalo Bill Wild West pictures—there are two kinds—Carl Goldenberg offers a set of pictures and along comes Pat Powers of moving picture fame—(needless to say that Mr. Goldenberg until very recently was for years prominently identified with Pathe Freres).

Mr. Goldenberg offers a set of slide pictures taken while the Wild West Far East was at Madison Square Garden, and afterwards on the road. Every picture is colored and each shows some scene in action. Mr. Goldenberg was fortunate enough to catch Col. Cody with the camera in many unique positions—none of which have ever been reproduced in print.

The set numbers twenty-five slides and range the entire show from beginning to end. From the opening to finish the interest is maintained. Every detail stands out clearly; there are pictures of bucking bronchos, the attack on the stage coach, the greatest of Indian pictures, showing Iron Tail, chief of the Ogallala Sioux, and many other Indians who at one time fought Buffalo Bill.

These pictures were not taken hurriedly—out of nearly six hundred negatives used, these were selected as being the best—those really showing the great Wild West as it really is. From start to finish, the interest is never permitted to lag—always something doing—something of particular interest.

Mr. Goldenberg is quite sure that the slide pictures will be a sensational hit—every one shows action and each is taken with particular care to please the patrons of moving picture theatres.

There are only two chances to see Buffalo Bill—if he has played your city he will never come back, and if he hasn't, here is the best way to witness the performance, away from the dust and excitement. In the twenty-five slides that Mr. Goldenberg puts out you will see the entire show just as it is playing to-day.

COUNT AND COUNTESS CHILO SCORE HEAVILY.

What has since developed as one of the greatest psychic acts ever introduced to the two-day had its first presentation at the American Music Hall a week ago.

Though in some respects it parallels the Fays act, which has for years been received with open arms by the managers on the big time, it surpasses it to the extent of the rapidity with which the act is handled and the almost perfect percentage of correct answers given to questions.

The countess claims for herself no supernatural qualifications nor does she reveal her process of mentality in arriving at her answers. Suffice it to say that this act has proven to be a positive success. At every performance the audience has become so enthusiastic that patrons invariably run down the aisle to ask the Count questions, forgetting their dignity in their anxiety to test the powers of the Countess.

NOTED BEAUTY PASSES.

to the rank of major, saw lady Francis Hope in San Francisco. She smiled at him and he was at her feet. She hung away title, ambition, ev- erything—and eloped with Strong. Their hearts ran away with their heads—both have since said it. They went to Japan and Lord Francis discovered her. Then they rotted over the whole bowl of the globe. They quarreled, they made up; they quarreled again, and then they went their separate ways. Strong was last heard of at Macao, the Monte Carlo of the East. May Yohé bobbed up into no- toriety now and again, but always, successively, one peg lower.

And at last, in the cheap cafe of the West, nature strikes at her. She was skipping from one to another of the four contralto notes, now coarsened and raucous, when suddenly her mouth slipped from her control, twisted to one side of her face, and the last of the four con- tralto notes became a groan as she fell to the stage, a cripple.

Editorials will be written, the clergy and those opposed to the stage will see in May Yohé—there is—a sterling one, too—the lesson of life that follows the misguided footsteps anywhere and always in any walk.

There will be some to profit by May Yohé's experience, others will read of this, make an impulsive resolve and promptly forget it when the music resolves and the white lights flood mid- night.

There will be other May Yohé's and more's the pity.

IN SOUTHERN CLIMES.

of bamboo in one month while we were playing in Java. The place was lighted by electricity and had many modern conveniences otherwise. In India alone I gave sixty performances to Hindus and Buddhists, packing the place to suff- ocation each performance. Over seventy-five thousand of these simple natives, of all castes, from the poor "junglewall" to the rich Maha- rajah, were patrons of my mysteries. I have dozens of letters now from India imploring my return. This is my last tour of the world.

For good showmen, with good paper, good at- tractions and competent management, my two successes can be repeated. But only the best will live. There is no room for the mediocre. That class can be found in any part of this great world. Some day there will be a circuit of theatres around the world. It can be done. The many nations will support it. The ship- ping companies and great ocean liners will co- operate. Two year's tour, extending from New York to New York. Such a liberal education is herein contemplated. I am sure that noth- ing in my future life, on this sphere at least, will be as rich in promise and experience as my several cycles of strange and wondrous wander- ings over tempestuous seas and foreign lands.

It is given to the magician alone to thus en- compass the earth. In his seven league boots he may wish for other climes, when heigh, presto, and he is there.

Best wishes to yourself, The Billboard, and all friends, from CHAS. J. CARTER.

A NEW VAUDEVILLE SKETCH

I have just completed a vaudeville sketch that I am willing to stake my newspaper reputation on. A corking good sketch for two clever people. Absolutely new and original. I wish to place this sketch in the hands of capable people as I have others to follow. Price right to right people. J. A. MADEOX, care of The Billboard, Cincinnati, O.

OUR MISS GIBBS.

which is uninteresting, and in the acting of the parts which are dull. The production was lavish, but unwieldy. It may improve with certain changes, but last night the bright spots were few and far between."

And The Herald has the following—"Miss Pauline Chase came back to the New York stage at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night in the English musical comedy, with the Gaiety Theatre stamp, entitled Our Miss Gibbs. She received a welcome home as hearty as any little American actress could wish, after starring it in dear old Lannon. She was the pretty shop girl who was loved by a lord and was married to him in the end, and she smiled, sang, danced and pranced her way through the play. She appeared in the "moonstruck" song in the last act wearing a suit of pink pajamas, the garb that made her famous here years ago in The Liberty Bells, and got a big hand for that. She is as winsome as ever and received a lot of applause."

"But Miss Chase is only one of many clever women in Our Miss Gibbs. There was Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt, for instance, whose singing and dancing with Mr. Fred Wright, Jr., in the Goldfish number in the first act got the first big and genuine applause of the night; there was the artistic dancing of Miss Kitty Mason, one of London's stage beauties, late in the evening, and there was Miss Julia James, another English favorite, whose song and dance made a genuine hit. Miss Jean Alwyn, still another of the English girls, was well liked, particularly in her Scotch song."

Louis DeFoe, in The World, says—"Perhaps it was the odious of The Arcadians still lingering in the Knickerbocker that made Our Miss Gibbs seem just a bit wan and pale on first acquaintance last night. Anyway, the new musical comedy did not succeed in eclipsing some of its predecessors from the London Gaiety, nor did it efface a select few of our own staples of that form of light-hearted entertainment. Miss Chase has accumulated much of the demerence that has come to be the trademark of English musical comedy, and in clothing herself in it she has had to shed a good deal of her old vivacity and sparkle. Some of us would rather have had the sparkle."

And in The Tribune, the following appears—"That large part of New York's population that finds the presence of an English musical farce indispensable to its happiness may now regard the theatrical season as fairly well under way. Our Miss Gibbs came to the Knickerbocker Theatre last night. For two years this musical play has prospered in London and reports of its quality along with some of its music had been heard here. What prejudiced New Yorkers most in its favor was the knowledge that at least a part of the musical numbers had been written by the composers of The Arcadians. The size of the audience at the Knickerbocker last night proved that London still inspires confidence as the source of these plays and there was every evidence of satisfaction with the latest specimen of them."

And still another writer says—"Our Miss Gibbs made her bow to 'The States' in the Knickerbocker Theatre last night. She had passed two arduous years in the Gaiety Theatre, London, and she was a 'wee bit' tired and in bad voice, but she had a wealth of gowns, Yorkshire, Scotch and broad English, some new American slang and an occasional novelty for the theatre folk. "A musical comedy it was, devoid of a musical star and with only mediocre choruses. Pauline Chase, the new Miss Gibbs, danced and capered across the stage in pajamas, but when it came to singing—well, there have been many songs better rendered in other musical comedies in Broadway all this summer."

MISS PATSY OPENS.

Her time has arrived and a firmament has been found for her. "She emerged as a thoroughgoing, halfmarked star last night at Mme. Nazimova's Thirty-Ninth Street Theatre. The play was admitted to be a farce and it was called Miss Patsy. Miss Quinlan was the impersonator of the title role, and she was assisted by a lot of smaller stars and some assorted nebulæ. There was an audience in which actor people were not inconspicuous and there was a generous amount of that happy first-night applause and laughter which greets all productions in these days of theatrical venture."

The Tribune prints the following—"There was a play last night that was not unlike the jig-saw puzzle pictures which soothe the aching intellects of Suburbia. Much ingenuity was required for assembling the queerly-shaped parts, and great patience was required of all who tried to put the fragments together. But all the placing and patience and all the exclamations of the curious could not make anything more of a contraption than a jig-saw play which came to an end as unfortunate as Plumpty Plumpty's. All the manager's horses and all the manager's men could not pull the puzzle play together again. There were times when the author seemed to forget what he was about, and then somebody would throw in a song and dance just to keep the pot a-bolling. Then there was a lady who seemed to be the star of the occasion, because her name was printed in extra large type, and she talked slang and sentiment, and gave effective imitations of bad manners, and acted as if her part were intended to be a low comedy one, with branch connections into the realm of pathos, bathos and overgrown childishness. What the play was about is for the most part a mystery, but how it ever found its way to a New York theatre and the backing of a leading manager is a mystery still greater."

"The play was called Miss Patsy. It was about naval people, theatrical people and ordinary people. Each class had a selection of a programme page to itself. Miss Patsy (in a class by herself) had with her impersonator, the large type mentioned. The star of the theatrical class was not the star of the evening, but she was called the star of the play and she was an actress. In the play, of powers so miraculous that she performed for fifty nights in Annapolis? Who shall say that Mr. Sewell Collins, the author of this troubled dream, has no imagination? No one will doubt that he has a memory, say a memory for the nightmarish of plays, he had cut up so many familiar bits of plays in his jig-saw work little snippets of all the absurdities and complications that ever were known on the stage.

There was even the female villain, in shimmering green, of course, who was spoken of as "the most dangerous woman in our theatre"; there was an irascible admiral (why are stage admirals so rude and peppy?); there was a dashing lieutenant, an old fool of a stage manager, first violin, property man or stage door-keeper, or something, it doesn't matter what, there is always a tiresome, dozing old stage party in plays which deal with theatrical life; there were German dialect, Irish dialect, negro dialect and Trovatoysce, and there was a property room to which the entire population of Annapolis seemed at odd moments to have access while the ladies of the great star's great troupe were dressing therein."

In The Herald—we find—"Miss Patsy is a farce in all that that broad gauge term of comedy entertainment implies, and it is almost too crude to be true, and at times its action descends to childish horseplay, where slapsticks and an inflated bag on a string would seem out of place."

"The audience tried to enter into the spirit of the comedy, but it was hard work and the laughs that went over the footlights to the stage were earned principally by Miss Quinlan, Mr. Laurance Wheat and one or two minor members of the company."

LAURETTE TAYLOR IN GIRL IN WAITING.

is sent to the country, carrying with him, however, a vision of the mysterious young woman whom he tried to befriend. The girl also goes to the country to visit an aunt, who keeps a tea shop, and in a spirit of mischief dons a cap and apron and waits on the customers. The residents of the village are greatly exercised over a series of burglaries, and the day after the girl makes her appearance in the tea shop some valuable jewels are stolen from a wealthy woman in the neighborhood. Suspicion is directed against The Girl in Waiting, just as she once more meets the young man of her midnight adventure. By chance the missing tiara comes into her possession, but the young man is so thoroughly fascinated by her that although he believes her to be a thief, he offers to take the jewels and permit the suspicion of the theft to fall on him."

Howe's Pictures are the topic of interest at Ford's Opera House. August 29 marks the final week of the travel tours, as pictures displaying views and scenes of foreign lands were a conspicuous feature. Al. H. Wilson will be the attraction for the opening of the regular season September 5.

The patronage at the Suburban Gardens has been excellent, and the place is crowded to capacity every night. The clientele is distinctly representative, and comprises the most elite of the city. Owing to the increased patronage, great improvements were made to afford larger capacity and comfort for the patrons.

Receivers were appointed for the Luna Park Amusement Company August 27, through the efforts of George M. Brian, who claims that the company is indebted to him for $275. Mr. Henry Geiglein, president of the company, states that the park will continue business, and the company will shortly be in good standing.

Mrs. Chas. E. Ford, wife of the manager of Ford's Opera House, will make an extended automobile tour through Europe in 1911 with a number of friends. They will start from Paris and they will travel in a famous French car. The trip will be unique, as it will be the first on record that American ladies have auto-mobiled through England and the continent without a male escort, other than the chauffeur and a courier. SYLVAN SCHEINHAL.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.

average. Following is the order in which the acts appeared: Babebl Valentine Moore, remarkable muscular poses; J. Francis O'Reilly, monologue; Mr. and Mrs. Perkins Fisher, in The Half Way House; Helen Stuart, Polly in Society; Josephine Saxton and her Dixie Kids, and The Wheelers, in Fun on the Boulevard, a juggling act that is different.

Week of August 22 The Belasco Stock Company was seen to good advantage in the amusing farce, A Contented Woman, with Miss Helene Sullivan in the title role. The character parts in this play stand out prominently, and were handled cleverly. Following A Contented Woman this company will give a big production of The Servant in the House, for which Hohart Bosworth has been engaged to play Hanson. Much preparation has been made and this should prove a great success.

The Orpheum, week of August 22, offered a bill of much variety, most of which was highly pleasing. Headling the bill, Annette Kellermann gave one of the daintiest acts of the season. Perhaps next of importance on the bill was Edwards, Davis and Company, in The Picture of Dorian Gray. The Imperial Musicians, twelve soloists, formed a musical act far above the rest. Clifford and Burke, in black face. The Four Cliftons, athletes, will this evening, Harry Atkinson, Australian Orphan, James Thornton, songs and sayings, and Fred Apple's Zoo Circus, made up a good bill.

Week of August 29, Henrietta Crossman, in Anti-Matrimony, will be the attraction at the Mason Opera House, with Frances Starr, in The Eastest Way, to follow.

The Gorton Stock Company, at the Grand Opera House, the past week, gave The Yankee Doodle Detective a good production. The Girl and the Gambler follows.

There has been some very warm weather the past week, and although the beaches are all doing large business, it has seemed not to effect the attendance at the theatres. Santa Catalina Island, the most popular Southern California resort, is doing capacity business, perhaps the largest business in years. EUGENE D'INGOMAR.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Impresario Will L. Greenbaum promises a splendid array of talent for the coming season. Contracts provide for the following features: Concerts by Scotti and Bernice de Pasquale, both from the Metropolitan Opera House, in the middle of October; Gaski comes early in November; Liza Lehman, the composer, and four English singers, presenting the Persian Garden and other Lehman works, with the composer as accompanist from November 15 to 21; Anna Pavlova and Michael Norikin, the Russian dancers, with eight principals, and twenty-four in the ballet and the Metropolitan Opera Company's second orchestra, will present "ocular operas" during Thanksgiving week. Other artists booked are Kevian, Bohemian violinist; Emilio de Gogorza, Gorgi, French, contralto; from Manhattan Opera House; Madame Calve, in concert; Josef Hofmann, the pianist; Mischa Elman, the violinist; and The Russian Symphony Orchestra of fifty-one pieces, with a vocal quartette. Modest Altshuler will be the conductor.

Prosperity surely hovers around the Portola Theatre, for this week, Manager Bert Altorn purchased a five seat Cadillac automobile for $6,500, and intends to make an extended tour through California with the intention of opening up a string of vaudeville theatres. He certainly has made wonderful success as a showman, for together with Tom Leahy, he owns the Portola, the Grand Theatres, the Thornton plumbhouse, and has another site in San Francisco upon which a large theatre will be built. Close attention to business, good foresight and plenty of nerve have placed them at the front in a short time.

The event this week, theatrically, was the reopening of the Savoy Theatre, which took place Sunday evening, August 21. The house which has been closed for several months, has been thoroughly freshened up and appeared like a brand new theatre. The Lottery Man, the first of the Shuberts' attractions, was presented. The piece will remain a second week. Seven Days, at the Columbia, continued its second weeks' stay to immense audiences. Rose Stahl in The Chorus Lady, follows.

James K. Hackett is on his last week as stock star at the Alcazar Theatre. Sanison was the bill.

At the Princess, Ferris Hartman and Company are presenting Florodora to fair audiences only. Next week a revival of Mikado is announced.

At the Orpheum, Al. Johnson is the big gun. It was in this city that Johnson really made his first success, and he has improved considerably with some four years' more experience. His turn is well liked and he has no trouble keeping the attention of his audiences, always leaving them in the best of humor. Miss Minnie Dunree, assisted by J. Paul Jones and Harry Larabee, in The Minister's Wife, is the head-lined act this week, which was well liked. The Six Kaufmanns, bicyclists, was the big act, and are as clever as any troupe in their line. Renee, another new act, offered a beautiful refined musical act. The holdovers included J. C. Nugent and Co., The Harvey-De Vora Trio, Flanagan and Edwards, and The Operative Festival.

At the Chutes Theatre, throughout the week, standing room was at a premium at every evening performance. This house gives but two shows daily, a matinee and evening performance. Arizona Joe, with a company of eight people and three horses, is about the "biggest thing" yet seen on a vaudeville stage. He presents A Glimpse of Prairie Life, which is nothing short of a wild west show improved with a lot of clever dialogue and plenty of comedy. Maxini and Bobby, with their clever dog, is about the best thing seen here in a long time in the way of an acrobatic act, the dog being a very important member. Other numbers were Kresko and Fox, Johnson and Howland and Thomas and Ryan.

Henry Lee, impersonator of great men, headed the bill at the National, and is indeed a splendid drawing card. Eddie Mortlock is back again, this time with a new and interesting sketch called The Other Woman. Beatrice McKenzie and Walter Shannon also presented a breezy sketch called More Ways Than One, which hit the mark. The others on the bill were three singles, Lew Hoffman, tramp juggler; Musical Irving, and George O'Malley, singer and dancer. Scott Brothers, Heulah Dana, Viola Crane and Co., Albin, George Devoy, and Dayton Sisters and George Alexander are at the Wigwam, this week.

At the American, Kelly's Musical Comedy Company are on their last week. In the olio are Abdallah, Zulpelle and Bontelle, Cabaret's Dogs, Tovey and Norman and The Ormsbys. At the Portola Theatre are Varley, character change artist; Clause and Radcliffe, singers and dancers; Princess Susana, midget wire performer; Robinson and Warriner, sketch artists; Daly and O'Brien, dancers; Cole and Cole, gymnasts; and Johnstone and Cooke in a sketch called Military Proposal. Four reels of moving pictures are added to the above bill. RUBEN COHEN.

The close of the season at Luna was featured by Bert Marshall's Musical Comedy and Vaudeville Show at the Plaza Theatre. The Flea Circus held over, as did many of the other attractions. Luna Park notes would not be complete without a word of mention regarding the Great Stanleys, astrologers, palmists and nihil readers who have been at the park all summer. Not only is Prof. Stanley, professional speaking, without a peer in his line, but his fund of reminiscences covers a period of forty years' acquaintance with the great and near great. Luna Park will be entirely remodeled for the season of 1911. The invitation of the management of Coney Island's Luna was accepted to visit New York, and on the 5th, a party consisting of Jake Miziz and Son, M. F. Bramley, James Walter, Mr. Sobel, Mr. and Mrs. Lehr, R. E. Tice, Ed. Miller and Phil Brock took a train for the metropolis and Bear Old Coney Island, where they will endeavor to get some new features for next season.

The vaudeville bill at Larry Boyd's Theatre, Forest City Park, on August 28, included Nellis Hall, Chas. Lovison, and Tuscan Joe. Tuscan Joe is the only Mexican Indian singing English songs in English on the American stage today and, by the way, is a prince in his native tribe. Thomas J. Gray, of New York, is writing a new act for Ed. Dunkhurst, which will be produced in November. They tell a good one about Ed. the incident occurring in Buffalo. Ed. is so glad he has to go through the ordinary door-side ways, and while playing in Buffalo, a fresh guy wanted to run a race with the human freight car. The big fellow consented after "ten" had been posted, the condition being that he was to select the spot, was to have two feet start and the race was to be 100 feet. This was readily agreed to and the principals, accompanied by the stake holder, took a walk around the block. Foxy Ed. picks out an alley between two skyscrapers just wide enough to admit his royal self takes his two feet start and his opponent being unable to push him over and get by pays the price of his freshness.

Glenn Curtiss, in his Hudson float, went from Euclid Beach to Cedar Point on the 31st. Lew Dockstader's minstrels, in full dress parade uniform, played the Star Spangled Banner as he started on his flight.

Rosalind Lee and Co., who have been rehearsing Lena Rivers in Cleveland, the past two weeks, open at Webber's Theatre, Chicago, the week of September 4.

The Columbia Stock Co. closed its local season the week of the 22nd. Geo. Graham will be seen with Lulu Glaser in musical comedy. Clifford Stark will be with William Gillette. W. H. Lyel has not decided his plans definitely, but some rumor has it that he will either head a musical comedy cast or a Western stock company for the season of 1910-11. Miss Elizabeth Kinney will take a two months' vacation in the mountains, while Miss Adelaide Mathews rejoins the Shubert forces in New York. Gara Marvolo, who was leading lady at the opening of the season, is in the Shubert company at Albany, N. Y. Seldom has Cleveland become acquainted with a company of artists whose departure they so much regretted from their midst as the Colonial Players of 1910.

Martin Gullid has secured for his musical comedy, Actors Wanted, the services of Jack Murray, the well-known singing and talking comedian. Actors Wanted opened in Lorain, O., on Sunday the 29th, and was a big hit. Mr. Gullid is very well known in that city. Benjamin Thompson dropped in Cleveland and saw the opening performance of the Girl in the Taxi at the Opera House. Mr. Thompson expects to shortly present a farewell offering of The Old Homestead. TOP NOTES AND LOW.

Master Frank Corbett, the phenomenal boy tenor, who has been singing in New York in airdromes, happened to be singing one evening when Max Spiegel, the owner of the College Girls Company, also The Queen of Bohemia, heard young Corbett sing It's Always June When You're In Love. He lost no time in engaging young Corbett as one of the principal features of his Queen of Bohemia Company, and Mr. Spiegel had a special clause drawn in the contract that young Corbett was to sing It's Always June When You're In Love.

James Abirich Libby, the man that made After the Ball famous, has no doubt found a worthy successor in the song that he is now creating a sensation with, entitled My Sweetheart's Favorite Waltz (After the Ball), if the criticisms of the are any criterion to go by. Mr. Harris' office, the last three weeks, has been flooded with newspaper criticisms of the success Mr. Libby is meeting with this song, in conjunction with his talented wife, Katherine Trayer.

The Charter Sisters, who are playing at Wm. Morris' American Theatre Roof Garden, are introducing The Nightingale. While one of the sisters is the possessor of a beautiful soprano voice, which she uses to great advantage, the other sister whistles an accompaniment to the song. The effect of this combination on the American audiences has been so strong that they have been receiving an ovation at every performance.

Miss Viola Sheldon, the California Nightingale, who is the possessor of a beautiful soprano voice, and is known from coast to coast, has been engaged as the special feature on the Eastern wheel, and her feature song is Star of My Dreams, Shine On. Mr. Hastings has spared no expense in surrounding this lady with a clever company, and the way this song is produced is only equaled by Broadway's best productions.

Ronnie Aubrey, with H. Clark's Runaway Girls Company, is making a feature of and meeting with success in singing Underneath the Sweet Magnolia Tree. Also, in the same company, the Misses Croix and Wilson are singing All the World's In Love. The Penn City Quartette, with instrumentalists, is using Mike Bernard's Ticklin' Rag, which never fails to win applause.

Paul Rubens, the composer of the score of The Queen of Bohemia, has been invited by Manager Max Spiegel to be his guest at the opening performance in Milwaukee on August 27. This will be Mr. Rubens' first visit west, and, as he has written several hits in some of the Chicago productions, he will be no stranger in the western cities.

Mr. Barnhardt, of Barnhardt and Delavan, is making a special feature of Mr. Harris' song, Was I a Fool? His acting and rendition of this song will some day make him famous. Miss Delavan, of this team, who is the possessor of a beautiful soprano voice, never fails to receive several encores on her singing of The Nightingale.

The big song hit of the George Evans Honey Boy Minstrels first part seems to be Andrew Mack's great song, Go 'Way, Mr. Moon, sung by Pierce Keegan. This number is beautifully staged and the repeat choruses by the members of the company never fail to bring out storms of applause.

Stuart, the male Patti, has decided to continue his big hit, I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now, for the coming season, and has also added to his repertoire My Sweetheart's Favorite Waltz (After the Ball), Star of My Dreams, Shine On, and If All the Moons Were Honey moons.

Gallagher and Shaw's banner show, producing The Girl From Paris, is making a feature of the song entitled Dear Heart of Mine, by Paul Rubens; this high-class ballad is sung by Mr. Ed. Gallagher and Miss Leslie, and receives four and five encores at every performance.

Mr. George Best, of the Star and Garter Company, is meeting with success in singing Star of My Dreams, Shine On, and also I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now. Mr. Best is the possessor of a beautiful high baritone voice, and knows how to deliver these songs.

Eva Tanguay will open her new season with several new songs in the near future, among which will be one specially written for her by Blanche Merrill, the clever n w o m e n w h e n Eva Tanguay discovered. The song will be entitled Egotistical Eva.

Earl Lenham, of the George Evans Honey Boy Minstrels, and Elsie Snowden, in vaudeville, are meeting with great success singing Andrew Mack's Go 'Way Mistab Moon, and The Same Old Me. This act is a star act, by two very clever people.

Jesse Lasky's Planophonds are making a feature of Andrew Mack's song, Go 'Way, Mistab Moon, Star of My Dreams, Shine On, by John T. Hall and Arthur Lamb. Mr. Lasky has gone to a great deal of expense in producing both of these numbers.

Mr. Al Leighton has been indefinitely engaged at the Million Dollar Pier at Atlantic City, to sing with the band and orchestra during the dances, and his feature numbers are It's Always June When You're In Love, and Star of My Dreams, Shine On.

Mandy Jane, one of the greatest quartette songs ever written, is also a feature with the Banner Company. Other Harris numbers used in this show are the Espanola Prance, Four Eyes, and The Hokey Pokey Man.

Walt Till Wo Gather in the Golden Corn is the big song hit of the Lew Dockstader show, and receives so many encores that it never fails to stop the performance until the song is repeated over and over again.

The Longacre Four is singing Somebody Else, It's Always Somebody Else; That Fussy Rag, and It's Moonlight All the Time On Broadway; all published by the F. B. Haviland Pub. Co.

Leno Bruce, one of the youngest prima donnas with the Lovemakers Company, is making a feature of The Nightingale and It's Always June When You're In Love.

The Great American Four is featuring Somebody Else, It's Always Somebody Else, on the eastern circuits; published by F. B. Haviland Pub. Co., New York.

Kitty Ross, the phenomenal contralto, is one of the special features of Queen of Bohemia, and her feature song will be Star of My Dreams, Shine On.

Revere and Guir, with The Pennant Winners Company, report success singing I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now and The Espanola Prance.

Dove and Wolford, in vaudeville, singing Star of My Dreams, Shine On, and My Sweetheart's Favorite Waltz (After the Ball).

Clark and Bregman are singing Somebody Else, It's Always Somebody Else, and I'm Bugs About You, at the Alhambra this week.

Beatrice Haynes, with Miner's Americans, writes us that Somebody Else, It's Always Somebody Else, is the hit of her act.

The Misses Young and Young, in vaudeville, are featuring It's Always June When You're In Love and The Same Old Me.

"Those Three Fellers," Sharkey, Glesler and Lewis, are scoring their usual success with Play That Barber Shop Chord.

Melroy Trio and their seven Kid Kidders write that Good-bye, Betty Brown is the best song since Blue Bell.

Max Witt's Southern Lassies are making a feature of All the World's In Love and a medley of Harris' songs.

Agnes Scott and Company, in their vaudeville act, are using The Same Old Me, by Gillespie and Sherman.

Doherty Sisters are a riot in Chicago, singing Down in Sunny Honey Town and Betty Brown.

Pat Randolph, Dooley Wilson, Grace Vaughn and Dule Finley are featuring all Haviland's songs.

Ed. Mazler is meeting with success singing The Espanola Prance, in Dockstader's Minstrels.

Leon Erroll has added Somebody Else, It's Always Somebody Else to his clever list of songs.

Edna Luby, one of the cleverest of imitators, is using The Same Old Me, to repeated encores.

Carrie Roe is at Phillips' Lyceum, singing Somebody Else, It's Always Somebody Else.

Stevens and Primrose Sisters are rehearsing Somebody Else, It's Always Somebody Else.

Play That Barber Shop Chord is still York and Adams' featured parodied number.

Hanson Boys continue to use You'll Come Back, and That's the Fellow I Want to Get.

Margaret Scott is using Somebody Else, It's Always Somebody Else, at Soutag's.

Hathaway-Kelly and Mack are singing Somebody Else, It's Always Somebody Else.

Matthews and Ashley are a "riot" with Somebody Else, It's Always Somebody Else.

Levigne Sisters have added Phoebe Jane to their act, and doing well with it.

Jimmy Robinson is a big hit with Somebody Else, It's Always Somebody Else.

Pierce and Roslyn say that Phoebe Jane is a valuable addition to their act.

The Amsterdam Quartette has added That Fussy Rag to its clever act.

Jack Wilson Trio has added That's the Fellow I Want to Get, to its act.

Milton Lee is using That's the Fellow I Want to Get.

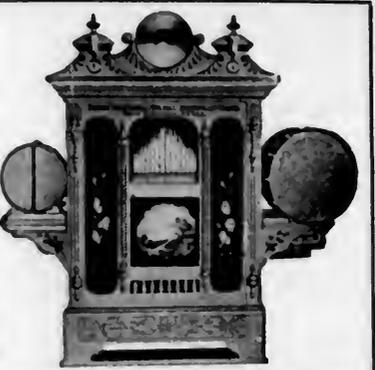

May Belmont is singing That Chinatown Rag.
