Santa Clara's Display at The World's Fair.

The following bulletin, describing the pavilion of dried fruits built by Santa Clara county at St. Louis, has been mailed to all the leading newspapers in the United States by the promotion committee of the exposition:

"With dried fruits there has been performed at the world's fair a feat of architecture that vies in beauty of design with the most pretentious creations of staff. In the great palace of architecture is a most unique pavilion erected by Santa Clara county, California, for the display of its vast fruit products.

"Choosing for a model the old San Luis Rey mission near San Diego, the builders with dried prunes, apricots, figs and peaches have fashioned the walls and towers in all of their old Spanish picturesqueness, and with more of the edibles a miniature reproduction of the Lick Observatory has been designed as a crowning ornament for the unique structure.

"Thousands of dollars were appropriated for Santa Clara's participation in the world's fair, and the space covered by the county's exhibit is larger than that allotted to the island of Cuba, which adjoins it. The pavilion covers 33 by 21 feet of room and altogether 1610 square feet of space is taken up by the exhibits.

"Not alone do the luscious exterior walls faithfully portray the outlines of the old mission, but inside the products of the orchard have been displayed in such array of splendor that a mythological palace is at once brought to mind. Jars of preserved fruit are embedded in the structure of ballustrades and archways, giving the appearance of sections of stone inserted by the skill of masonry.

"What a gorgeous spectacle is the interior! Chandeliers formed by clusters of globes filled with sparkling wines and juices, behind which are hidden powerful electric lights, illuminate the chambers in which dainty dishes of Santa Clara sweets are served to visitors. Here will be served not only fresh and dried fruit, but demonstrations will be made of how they are used in making preparations intended to delight human appetites.

"Wonderful is the color effect achieved in the decorations with the limited shades to draw from. With an artist's hand the ebony hue of the prune has been blended with the bright red orange and tint of the dried apricot and the gray and white of the bleached peach in a scheme that is as pleasing to the eye as one made with all the colors of the painter's palette.

"Four tons of dried fruit were used in the installation for ornamental purposes. Vari-colored urns of fruit have been arranged in the windows with such pleasing effect as to cause the rays of light to delude the vision into the impression that they are panes of richly-stained glass.

"William Binder is the architect of the structure. It is the most elaborate effort ever made by the fruit-growing interests of Santa Clara county. Lending attraction to the building is the local color Californians will find in the model. The San Luis Rey mission is one of the attractions of Southern California. The Lick observatory is at Mt. Hamilton, in Santa Clara county.

Mr. Granger has an interview in the "Mercury" saying that he will at once undertake the building of more electric lines—to Berryessa and Evergreen, to Palo Alto and to Los Gatos, via Campbell. We trust he is sincere for the county can stand a whole lot of roads, but judging from past promises to the people of Campbell, we feel that it will be a long time before Mr. Granger builds a road here. In fact he has said of the Interurban road that they did not intend to come to Campbell. Let our people take this new report with a little grain of salt and stay by the only sincere railroad project—the First Street line—who are now purchasing a right of way to Campbell.

The Board of Trade met last night, President Whitman presiding. Mr. Whitman reported that Supervisor Roll had consented to the appointment of Howard Buffington as water wagon sprinkler, so that he could be kept at Campbell and act as a peace officer when occasion required. A vote of thanks was extended to Supervisor Roll for aiding us in this matter. Secretary Hurlbert reported invitations to the Board from California Promotion Committee to attend their annual banquet at Palace Hotel on April 30th; also to join them in their excursion to St. Louis. An invitation had also been received from Mr. Crandall of Sorosis to be present at the reception to F. S. Granger and Manager Chapin at Sorosis Hall to-morrow (Thursday) evening. The Board is starting the new year in earnest and new members are being constantly received. J. S. Fay added his name to the roll and many more will join at the next meeting.

The Goldy Machine Co.

Wm. T. Garrett and Mr. Geldert, representing the Goldy Machine Co. of San Jose, were in Campbell last Thursday with an object of interesting some of our citizens in that company. This company proposes building the finest machine shop on the coast near San Jose, the main feature being the manufacturing of the Goldy Polygonal wood turning machine, which has just been perfected after years of hard work and at great expense. This machine bids fair to revolutionize the wood turning business of America, and what the Mergenthaler Linotype typesetting machine is to the printing business, so will be this new machine to the wood turning business. The Company are securing twenty acres for their plant; the buildings alone are to cover one acre, and built in the most substantial manner. We understand the plant and buildings will cost $150,000, and several hundred hands will be employed when fully under way. Some forty expert machinists will be brought here from the east. The architect who is drawing the plans for the buildings and grounds is an expert from Connecticut, and the superintendent is an expert from New Jersey.

Several Campbell persons have interested themselves in the Company by purchasing some of the stock, and Mr. James Relfé has been appointed agent at Campbell for the placing of a limited amount of stock. It is expected that within 60 days the buildings will be under way as the requisite amount of money ($150,000) has very nearly been reached. It would appear from what we know of the concern that it promises to be the greatest thing ever started on the coast.

A picture of the machine, with samples of the work turned out, as well as the Company prospectus can be seen at this office.

The following article is from the Company's book on "The Era of California's Supreme Industrial Possibilities" and is worthy of careful perusal.

There is no section of the world when weighed in the balance with California that equals her in her advantages of location, resources, raw materials, fertility of soil, and climate. Political economists, statisticians, and historians, agree that California is an "empire within herself," and that she could support the population of France, which is 38,514,000.

The area of California is thirty-two times that of Connecticut. A population thirty-two times as large would be 29,069,440. The value of California's manufactures in the same proportion to area and population, and at the present value of the manufactured product of Connecticut, would be $11,290,371,392, which is nearly forty times greater than the present manufactured product of California.

California could do this and yet not be over developed. But the point has been reached when the more she adds to her agricultural population without industrial enterprises, the essentially weaker she grows. There is but one remedy, and that is to develop the industrial force of the people, and encourage others to locate within the State for the same purpose.

If the present conditions of inactivity continue, and California does not use her vast resources, she will advance but slowly. While she is as she is, better organized sections have nothing to fear from her trade competition, and they will continue to use her as their "dumping ground." She can, of course, bar out agricultural products; but she can win but a small share of the world's trade, and cannot apparently build up domestic industry and trade of much importance. She has a large and fertile area, is rich in minerals, and has a great variety of natural products, all of which represent a great force of the future; but all of this latent force is useless unless grasped by the people with modern appliances and improved methods, that the results of her energy may be distributed in generous quantities over the world.

Observe the greatness of Great Britain, with an area 34,000 square miles less than that of California, and with a population of 40,906,000, and is it unreasonable to assume that California, with her uncomparable resources, will reach even beyond the mark above indicated for her?

The work of husbandry and the ability to develop mines and mining, in which directions the people of California have shown themselves masters, and a patient, obstinate adherence to present matured methods, can co-much, can make California as they have made her, formidable to all as a land of gold and fruit. But further than this she cannot go, no position of a greater magnitude can she fill, until the energies of her people are called forth to encourage industrial development. These energies, once set free to hope and to strive, will prove capable of high economic development and California will then win a position as a world-power, commensurate with her vast resources, formidable, indeed, but with kindness to all who come within her borders.

How New Zealand Abolished Poverty.

By Prof. Frank Parsons of Boston Law College.

This article is the first of a series by Professor Parsons, written especially for the Hearst papers. Professor Parsons, has recently returned from New Zealand and written the most complete book yet published on New Zealand's progress. It is entitled "The Story of New Zealand," and published by C. F. Taylor, 1520 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia. Price $3.

SEVENTY years ago New Zealand was a group of cannibal islands; to-day she heads the procession of politico-economic progress. Her people have done more in the last dozen years to ameliorate the conditions of labor than all other nations put together. The reason is that the Common People own and operate the Government.

Years ago New Zealand was afflicted with unjust laws and a grievous congestion of wealth and power. The taxes rested mainly on the poorer classes. The land monopoly was one of the worst ever known. A system of multiple voting for the rich placed the Government in the hands of monopolists.

But in 1890 the workingmen united with the small farmers and tradesmen to elect "Liberal Labor" candidates pledged to the interests of the common people; they swept the monopolists out of power and made New Zealand the most democratic and the most progressive country on the face of the globe.

To put the burden of taxation on those best able to bear it, the Liberals established progressive taxes on land values and incomes, with complete exemption of all improvements and of all persons of small property and moderate income.

To checkmate land monopoly and move toward the nationalization of the soil they instituted a system of perpetual leasing in place of the sale of public lands and devoted a large sum each year to the State purchase of large estates and their division and leasing to capable workers, the landless being accorded the preference.

To undermine the interest sharks, a government loan office was opened, from which, through the postoffice, workingmen, farmers, tradesmen, manufacturers and all classes can borrow money from the State at low interest—4½ per cent.

To enforce the right to employment and the right to work under reasonable conditions (without which the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is but a glittering dream,) the Liberals established public employment bureaus, with a Minister of Labor, whose principal function it is not to publish statistics, but to find work for the workless.

Every policeman is an agent of the National Employment Bureau, to watch for and report all opportunities for work. The state railways carry the unemployed where they can find work, the fares being advanced by the Government, to be repaid by the worker when he is able.

Eight hours is the standard day, and a half holiday is required each week. Even the stores must close early.

Short hours are regarded as of vital moment in New Zealand. They mean leisure and vitality for self-development and civic and social activity.

Strikes and lockouts have been abolished. Labor difficulties are settled by judicial decision. There has not been a conflict between capital and organized labor in the nine years since the Arbitration Act went into effect in 1895.

We are about to spend $200,000,000, more or less, on the Panama Canal. Why? Because it will pay. In New York they have voted $100,000,000 for the improvement of the Erie Canal. Why? Because it pays. And yet, gentlemen, a thousand times more people travel on land and a thousand times as many tons of freight travel overland as ever have traveled over the water.—Winthrop E. Scarrit, discussing the Brownlow Bill.

Fulton Phillips Writes Regarding California.

McDonald, (Pa.) Outlook.

One time the writer narrowly escaped becoming a millionaire. The war was over, and he was packing his trunk to go to California, when a man approached him with a proposition to lease West Virginia timber land down the river and take out barrel staves and ship them to Pittsburg on boats. The man had a stave machine, the first ever invented or made. Up to that time all barrel staves were "rived" out by hand, and this machine would do the work of fifty men. I was tempted, for I always loved to work in timber. But I turned aside at last to teach in the ward schools of Pittsburg, and the barrel stave men did make a fortune. This has no moral. It is simply a fact without significance.

When I was ten years old a man named James Haft, of Plum Run stopped at our house on a cold winter day when he was hunting rabbits. He told us he was going to California the next Spring, and I resolved then and there to make California my home. Haft did go and was killed by Injuns in Kansas. At least six times in my life I have tried to settle in California, and as often something dragged me back against my will. At last, with a model homestead and good business in that most glorious of all countries, I am still held here by diabolical circumstances to suffer through the most dreadful winter I ever saw on this Planet. But there will not be much more of it. A few weeks hence will again see me across the Great River. This is all personal, but very interesting—to me.

They are trying to persuade President Roosevelt to visit Washington, Pa., for an hour or two some time this summer. This is well. And he will be there. Our Congressman Acheson has invited him specially, and this makes it certain he will come; for whatever F. E. does results in something. It has also been thought worth while to have Senator Penrose to press upon the President the idea of making this short visit. This is all well. It is a great thing to have the President to visit one. But I can not but recall that without any invitation the President came to my California home and planted a tree and made a speech within hearing of the "shack" which I call my home. President McKinley was there, and everybody goes there; and they all say that that is the place to which they will come when they are "ready to settle down in piece and comfort." Out there we have ex-kings and dukes and magnates of all kinds walking our streets. This is only a fact and we wonder why it costs so much to get such people to go to other places.

When the Panama Canal is finished vessels may be built at Pittsburg that will go down the River and across the Gulf and up the west coast to California and Oregon with our goods and they will return with the products of that country. The steamers that make such a trip will find quiet water all the way, for it is seldom the Gulf waters are tumultuous and the Pacific is always plain sailing. There is no reason why a great trade may not be carried on that way. Pittsburg coal can be sold on the west coast at 50 to 60 cents a bushel. Think what profit there would be! Fifty thousand dollars could be cleared on every trip! If I were a young man I would look into this.

Cigarette Smoking.

"Dr. J. H. Kellogg of Battle Creek, Mich., an eminent physician, extracted the poison from one cigarette and injected it in equal amounts into two frogs and instantly killed both. Now of course a boy is not so easily killed as a frog or even two frogs, but the conclusion is inevitable, the cigarette is "loaded" and in a short time will poison the boy, soul and body. If we want sound, sane, strong, manly men, we cannot grow them on pale, tottering boys without moral or physical constitution. This movement should have the cooperation of all who are engaged in the education and elevation of the race. Educators everywhere should frown upon the cigarette habit. No one knows better that the instructor how injurious the smoking habit is."—California Christian Advocate.

SILVER BELLS

Revolution in Bread-Making

We have found the flour that is going to make a revolution in Bread Making.

WHY?

It is made from Blue Stem Wheat and Hard Wheat from Minnesota, and it is blended in such proportions as to produce flour for bread making that has never before been offered in this community.

Silver Bell Flour, the miller tells us, contains 28 per cent gluten.

Housekeepers coming here from the East ask why they can not obtain flour equal in quality to Pillsbury's Minnesota Flour.

The answer is that most California flour is made from Australian Wheat, while Minnesota's best Patent Flour is made from Hard Wheat.

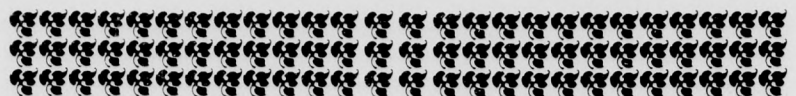

SILVER BELL FLOUR is put on the market with the assurance that it is not excelled in quality by any flour whether made here or in the East. We claim for Silver Bell Flour that it will make from eight to ten more loaves of bread to the barrel than flour made from Australian Wheat and we are going to offer this carload of Silver Bell Flour at the regular prices for our local flour:

Barrel.....	$5.10
100-pounds.....	$2.55
50 pounds.....	$1.30

It is our expectation that every bread maker in Santa Clara county will not rest satisfied with her bread until she has given the Silver Bell Flour a trial.

The Blossom Festivals.

We believe the Santa Clara "Journal" is right when it says this of the blossom festival:

"These events should be advertised more widely, with a view of drawing visitors from a distance. Immense excursions should be arranged to run from Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento and if possible, from parts as far East as Kansas City. Nothing will induce the best class of home seekers to settle in this valley more quickly than to take a look at our blooming orchards and rich green grain fields in all the beauty that we now see them. Thursday was a day that the Santa Clara Valley should have liked to entertain many thousand more visitors than we had here. Those who were with us will return to their homes in various parts of the country and declare to their friends there is no place on earth that excels the Santa Clara Valley."

Walnuts as a Wealth-producer.

Thirteen acres on the Los Berros tract, in San Luis Obispo county, California, yielded a ton to the acre of English walnuts, realizing $3,120. There are four hundred trees in this orchard planted forty feet apart. Between the walnuts are planted apple trees, twenty feet apart. It is the intention to remove the apple trees as soon as the walnut trees require more room, although the apple trees produced the same year sixty tons, which sold for $1,500. Other instances showing equally profitable results, might be given; and the fitness of the soil and climate for this crop, as well as for lemons and olives, has been so convincingly demonstrated that the newcomer is not called upon to experiment.—L. G. Sinnard in Sunset Magazine for April.

LOCAL NOTES.

Mrs. R. W. Kennedy retained over Sunday, her cousin Miss Carrie M. Powers of Decatur, Illinois, who has spent the winter in Los Angeles and is now on her way home.

The following pupils of the 7th and 8th grades of Campbell school, accompanied by Mrs. Weeks, Miss Elizabeth P. Cooper and Anna J. Cooper, teacher, spent April 13th at Leland Stanford Junior University, it being their holiday won by good attendance for the last two months: Lillian Appleby, Harmon Bibb, Claud Buttrick, Mildred Duncan, Ernestine Kennedy, Ethel Lent, Ellen McMurray, Mamie McMurray, Frank Nelson, Ivy O'Connor, Helen Owens, Irene Pannell, Alice Sickers, Willie Speegle, Lelia Speegle, Lulu Vollmer, Frank Weeks.

A pleasant surprise was given Mrs. Call at the family residence on Harrison avenue Friday night. A "doe party" was the suggestive name given the affair which was delightful in every sense. The ladies came costumed as little girls and much amusement was occasioned by their attire. Refreshments of milk punch and cake and panache were served. Games suitable to the character of the event were played. Those present were: Mesdames Call, Robson, Ainsley and Wade; Misses Wood, Clark, Bracher and Call.
