DARKENED WINDOWS

By Cornelia Kane Rathbone, Is a Great Mystery Story. It Will Appear As a Serial In The Glendale Evening News, Starting Next Tuesday, February 17,

THE STORY OF SYNOPSIS

John Graham, young, wealthy, a junior member of one of New York's oldest law firms, found himself one evening in an unfamiliar part of the city, with just $1.25 in his pocket.

So he dined at a small French restaurant, where, by mistake, he received the wrong coat check and the overcoat of a stranger. In the pocket of this coat was a slip of paper bearing the address of a handsome residence in the same fashionable section of the city in which Graham himself lived. The note, in a woman's handwriting, was signed "E. H." and read-"Tonight must end it."

As Graham had left in the pocket of his own coat a valuable emerald bracelet, he hastened to the address on the note in the hope of finding both the stranger and his own overcoat.

But he found instead a deserted house and "Darkened Windows." Inside a dog yelped piteously. Making his way upstairs, he released the dog, which led him to the dimly lighted library. There, at the desk, sat the figure of a man-murdered.

"From this opening," says the New York Times in an enthusastic review, "the story moves swiftly, with many devious twists and windings, leading Graham into some peculiar places and inducing him to do certain things -such as playing burglar-which are not always regarded as strictly within the province of an entirely correct young lawyer. It is an entertaining tale, with plenty of suspense and more than one surprise, concocted with no small degree of skill."

Who was guilty of the murder and why was there murder?

This riddle is solved by Detective Flint, a bespectacled, insignificant little man, who, after making more than one mistake, brings the guilty one to light.

So cleverly do the motives and clues dovetail that the murderer, although present all through the story, is not suspected until the last suspense-laden chapter.

Says the Toledo News-Bee, in warning its readers: "Don't suspect everybody in the story. On the contrary, believe in everybody until you are sure you shouldn't."

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the members of the Glendale Park board met at the City Hall and after a brief meeting presided over by Chairman L. H. Wilson, drove to the park site and went over the tract. It was decided to take immediate steps to develop and beautify the immense site, taking full advantage of the one main canyon and four branch canyons, the heavily wooded sections and the live streams that gurgle down through this beautiful tract of land, which will be known for all time to come as Brand park, in honor of the donors.

To Provide Entrance As soon as the tract can be sureyed and entrances decided upon, Mr. and Mrs. Brand will give additional land to provide easy access by the public to Brand park, City Manager Virgil B. tone this morning, before the buncil and assembled audience in the council chambers.

Deed to the tract was signed last night by the donors, their names appearing on the documen as L. C. Brand and Mrs. Mary Louise Brand. It was presented to the council this morning by Albert R. Killgore, secreteary and trust officer of the Title Guarantee Co., of Los Angeles, of which Mr. Brand is president.

Tribute to Donor

In presenting the deed to the donors, Mr. Killgore pictured the see a future Glendale worthy of such a gift as has now been made and accepted. People Should Vote for Issues Next Tuesday

Editor The Evening News-I have just six reasons why anyone and everyone in Glendale who can vote must vote for the school

First-It does not matter whether you like it or not-children cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Taxes or no taxes,

Second-We must not think that we can dodge the issue. For just as certain as the sun shines. if we do not vote for the school bonds and give the school children the needed facilities to work with hen we will in a few short years hence pay out double and triple the amount of money in court costs and jail maintenance to correct the same bunch that we nov have an opportunity to protect. If we don't protect, then we must prrect. Gentlemen and ladies let' get our harness blinds in the shape of a dollar bill off our eyes and look this question fairly and squarely in the face.

Third-We need not expect the ment and permitting genius to dismoney we are going to pay our cover itself. In other words, you teachers in the future to accom may be a seventh wonder your- plish anywhere near what it ought if we do not give the teachers Take Paul Whiteman, for in- sufficient room and equipment to stance. Looking Into Future Fourth—Common gratitude de-mands of us that we do as much for the next generation as the last his parents invested largely in a generation did for us. Can we afmusical education. He learned to ford to do otherwise?

Fifth-If Glendale is to continue to grow as it has in the past and be up among the other cities of Southern California and the United States, that our schools must be constantly improved, and this takes money. Who wants to come to a city where everything but the schools are modern? Believe me, two very important questions asked by parents when choosing a new location is: How about your schools and churches?

Yankees' Love Of Chance Is Fortune Saver

TUNNEL CAMP, High Sierras, Cal., Feb. 14.—How the spirit of chance or the love of Americans for gambling has saved a power company $6,000,000 was revealed today by officials for the Southern California Edison Co., building Florence lake tunnel, the longest, widest bore in the world.

Wagering huge sums on their prowess as rock drillers, two crews at work on the tunnel project have completed construction twentytwo months in advance of schedule.

Pushed along by fighting spirit, increased by their healthy betting, the laborers have so reduced the finishing time of hte bore that it will catch the "run-off" from this winter's melting mountain snows, creating a water storage valued at more than $1,000.000. This, coupled with the interest saving on $17,000,000, the tunnel's cost, will save the company a total of $6,000,000, officials

John Brown Preaches Second Sermon at Tabernacle On Proper Material

A huge audience that filled all but a few scattered seats at the rear of the great tabernacle heard John Brown, evangelist, deliver his second sermon at the union revival services last night. Mr. Brown told his listeners that, as the most difficult task of the potter mentioned in the eighteenth chapter of Jeremiah is to find the proper material with which to work, so there is a great need for a greater number of men and women in the world whom God can use in making leaders in His

ENCOURAGE GOOD FILMS

Censorship of motion pictures as it is now carried on is rather absurd and will never be successful, since it is so manifestly unfair both to the picture industry and the public. There are no uniform standards. What is moral in one state is immoral in another, and a picture approved by the censorship boards in both these states might be turned down by another. Censorship is unsound and un-American because the censors are absorbed in trying to enforce their own tastes, their own moral viewpoints and their own prejudices and convictions upon people who may be just as moral and good in every way and still have different ideas from those of the censors.

In Ohio, the censors could not agree as to the degree of immorality of a certain picture that was widely advertised some time ago. The final decision was that it might be exhibited for seven days, but no longer. In a certain Massachusetts town a picture involving an illegitimate child may be shown on a week day, but not on Sunday. In some places the length of a screen kiss is limited to so many feet of film. Nearly all censors agree on one point, that a man may mistreat his own wife, but he must use discretion toward other women. One Ohio censor is said to have remarked that the people were not going to have the kind of pictures they wanted, but the kind they ought to have.

Under the present system most of the world's classic literature could not survive. Antony and Cleopatra would have to be married. "The Taming of the Shrew" would be barred in several states as a physical attack upon a woman. "Othello' would not be permitted at all in the south. Many states would reject "The Scarlet Letter" entirely and all the four gospels would be prohibited in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Kansas.

But the fact remains that there are a great many pictures appearing on the screen that are decidedly not elevating and are unfit to be shown, especially to children.

The city federation of Parent-Teacher associations of Memphis, Tenn., is dealing very capably with this problem. Members of the association attend every theatre in the city on Monday and on Tuesday there is posted in the schools of the city a list of the good shows being given at the theatres and special mention is made of those which are good for young children. And here is an important feature of the plan: No mention is made of those films which the committee does not consider good plays. They do not help to advertise the bad films.

A speaker recently told Los Angeles clubwomen that if he were to condemn or criticise any film or play their natural curiosity would cause them to go to see it or they would speak about it to others who would go. The thunder of silence is mighty effective.

The plan undertaken in Memphis to improve the quality of pictures is not spectacular. The women are not arbitrary. They do not say this must be or must not be. They simply encourage what is good and keep silent about the rest. This will be found a very good method of bringing about any reform. And it is said the theatre owners and managers of Memphis are taking the hint.

BOOTLEGGING IMMIGRANTS

According to the estimate of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, hundreds of thousands of aliens, neither nationals of Mexico nor Canada, are entering the United States across the international boundary lines. For this reason Secretary Davis is trying to push legislation that would place all the American states on the same immigration ratio that applies to the rest of the world. This is not for the purpose of keeping the people of Canada or Mexico out of the United States, but, if the quota law were applied to our neighbors, they would see that the benefit was reaped by their own people and not by aliens.

Of course it is impossible to know how many aliens have come into our country by the back door, but, be they few or many, it is evident that they are not the desirable class it is possible for us to secure under the selective principle of the new immigration law. That is one of the splendid features of the new law, that we may choose from those who wish to come to us, those who will make the best citizens.

It will be readily seen that the back door entrance into the United States is mighty convenient and unless it is closed in when defense plans will be much some way our new immigration law will be of little or no discussed, but without any creat benefit.

INSINCERITY AND MISUNDERSTANDING

One of the most difficult things in the world is to get some and it is well to remember that one who does not agree with you to look at any question from a soft answer turns away wrath. your standpoint, or for you to look at the matter from his. This lack of understanding accounts for most of the trouble in the world, from sectional differences in the community to wars tional divorce cases. between nations.

When we plead for unity in the community, nine times out of ten we do not mean what we say. What we really wish is that the people of this, that and the other section shall forget their own needs and work for ours. We do not intend to relax up of work, but they will be our diligence where our own interests are concerned.

The same applies to war. We say we do not want war and we assume that other nations do not want war, either. Yet a war machine must be built up for our defense. The trouble is, we are all insincere. Other nations see our self-righteousness and insincerity and we see theirs. Our war preparations are all for defense, theirs for offense, as we look at it. They canvasses. see it in just the opposite light.

Insincerity breeds suspicion and suspicion leads to all kinds of trouble.

Every effort is being made to eliminate grade crossings, but the grade crossers are devoting their talents to eliminating themselves.

HER VALENTINO

The Unescapable Self By DR. FRANK CRANE

There is one person we can never get away from, and that is one's self. There is a story told of Shelley that he had a dream in which he saw a man who thwarted his every purpose. He caused his business plans to fail, he interfered whenever he was on the point of success in a literary way, he did all he could to annoy and frustrate him. Finally Shelley was about to marry a beautiful girl, and when the minister at the altar asked if anyone could show cause why the two should not be joined together the stranger stepped forward. He had always worn a veil over his face so that Shelley could not see him. Angered by his interference Shelley leaped forward and tore the veil from his face. He discovered that it was himself

So the man that is always getting in our way and frustrating our endeavors is ourself.

Men take drink or drugs in the effort to escape from themselves. For a while they creature. But the old self eventually comes back.

A man committed a crime some years ago in New Jersey. On account of it he left his wife and family and finally settled in Detroit. There, under an assumed name he married again and achieved success. He was a highly respected citizen until the detectives found him and taxed with his old criminal record. self for many years, but it finally found him.

In one of Oscar Wilde's plays the man asks the woman to run away with him. They would go to some distant place. "For," he says in urging her, world is wide." "No," she replies, world is not wide for me. It has shrunk to a palm's breath."

There is an oriental proverb to the effect that man may sail the seven seas, but he will not escape from himself. It is a common delusion of people to think that they can be happy somewhere else. But happiness does not depend upon the place you are, but upon what you are. Even heaven cannot assure us happiness by the simple means of transporting us to another place; our characters must

Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

Those persons who endeavor to test their knowledge, and their intellect, by poring over the Edisonian questionnaires going the rounds of the press, are wasting their time.

One of the newest of these questionnaires, published in a leading newspaper with the information that it was used to "test" college students, includes the following queries: Who owns a ranch of about 160,000 acres in California? About how many golf clubs are made annually in the United States? On what college football team of 1924 did Horrell play?

"chaps"

From what word is "ch (worn by cowboys) derived? Who is Walter Hague? From what university was Booth Tarkington graduated? What are the "White Muleteers of Pennsylvania?" Who is "Buffalo" Jones? How far is it from Cleveland to Pittsburgh? Why is the Venus de Milo so called?

These are typical of the list, which is typical of such question-naires. Of what importance are any of the questions? And do they represent a sample of what is being taught in the colleges

Knowledge IS power-but it must be practical knowledge. There is nothing less powerful than knowledge unattached and incapable of application.

"I do not know much," said Samuel Butler, "but if I knew a great deal less than that little I should be far more powerful." Butler believed that the rule should be never to learn a thing till one is pretty sure that one wants it, or that one will want it before long so badly as not to be able to get on without it."

A great many useless things are taught in the schools. It is no wonder that many parents rebel against allowing their children's brains to be crammed with all that the schools want to force upon them.

Wash DAY and the laundry problem has ever been most trying. The woman who has her washing done at home—no matter how expert her help or assistants, can never get away from its odors and horrors, while the woman who sends her clothes out, is in constant dread of loss or damage.

The new "Family Finish" wash idea means that you can now send your entire washing to our modern, absolutely sanitary laundry, and at a cost that insures a 25% saving, have the entire wash returned, washed, starched froned and delivered.

Again, the "Family Finish" method and prices insure the life of every garment because your clothes are not rubbed and scrubbed, they are not marked with indelible inks, they are not torn or lost. They are returned to you as sweet and clean as is possible for soft water, soap and starch to make them

"Family Finish" positively is not an experiment. It is an old, tried and proven method that is fast bringing jox to thousands of homes today. Will you let us prove to you just how much PREMIER "Family Finish" can lift your wash day burden?

RadioFigures Now In Real Estate Value

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14. -Radio receptiveness is becoming a factor in real esstate values, it was disclosed today by Sacramento realtors.

Since the almost universal adoption of the radio, it has been discovered that "dead spots," in which for some unfathomable reason, the radio sets fail even to register "static" are quite numerous in California. It is declared that in one of the local churches not a sound can be obtained from an expensive radiograph.

While building restrictions. location and transportation tors in the selection of home sites by investors, to these three must be added another -radio receptivity. If the ether conditions are such that the family cannot receive massages by the radio, values fall far below adjacent lots in which the radio set operates without interruption.

The time is here when purchasers are asking a test of radio communication before making a binding payment. Following the example of many eastern realtors, California operators are beginning to include in their guarantees an additional one promising that etheric comnunication with the world at large is not prevented by the existence of celestial "dead spots."

Persons who desire quietade possibly may be content with a residence lot which atmospheric conditions forbid use of a radio but the vast majority demand other-

In other words if a property is worth $5,000 and there is a mortgage for $2,000, that the assessable basis of the $3,000 equity be assessed against the owner of the property, or mortgagor, and that the assessable basis of the $2,000 mortgaged be assessed against the mortgagee. In days gone past it was both advisable and good policy to not assess mortgages in order to encourage foreign mortgages to come into California; but, now that there is money in large quantities to be had for this purpose, it is only right that we follow the custom. of.. other

Santa Fe Official Predicts Great Advancement In 1925 for State

"It is time for all good Califor nians to pull the crepe off their doors and tell the undertaker to go hang," C. L. "Nothing is inherently wrong

Mr. Seagraves said that the year 1925 would be one of the best in the history of the state. California real estate, he de-clared, has a sound future, and is becoming more and more valuable as each new resident comes to this state to make his home.

Taxation Survey
According to the California
Real Estate association taxation survey the addition of every new family of five people to this state adds $5,000 assessed wealth to the state of California.

California has enjoyed a consistent growth in real estate deelopment for the past 75 years, the survey revealed, and the seers of today, basing their forecast on the record of the past, confidently visualize 25,000,000 and real estate worth $50,000,000,000 in California in the year 2000 A. Advisory Cabinet of State Body Backs Measure For Statistics

The advisory cabinet of the California Real Estate association last Saturday, meeting at Los Angeles, and in conference with Speaker Frank F. Merriam, and Assemblyman Howard Davis of Los Angeles, unanimously voted to place its support behind the bill introduced at Sacramento to provide for a bureau of real estate research and statistics under the state real estate department.

Such a bill has been proposed by Assemblyman Frank Eksward at the request of the California Realtors' Legislative committee. It would establish under the control of the department a bureau for research and investigation of matters pertaining to real estate. for the publication of the results of these surveys through the press and through bulletins issued by the department. The bureau would be maintained out of the funds of the state real estate de-partment and would be wholly under the supervision of the commissioner. The state association has for several years advocated a bureau of real estate research and statistics under the authority of the state of California.

New York Realtor Is Visitor In California

A. L. Kinsey, of Buffalo, president of the New York State as-sociation of Real Estate boards in 1,756 1924, is spending the winter with his family in California. This is his first visit to this state since 1911, and he notes the tremendous expansion of nearly every district that he visits. Cities as well as farming areas have come to the front rapidly, according to Mr. Kinsey, and he feels that California is one of the states with a large future. Mr. Kinsey visited the offices of the California Real Estate asociation, and plans to visit a number of the realty boards before his return east in the spring.

County Grows At Rate Of 100 Per Cent

Hugh Pomeroy, secretary of the Los Angeles Regional Planning commission, well known in Glendale and Bur-bank where he has made his home, is authority for the statement that:

Los Angeles county has a population of 2,150,000 people, an increase of 100 per cent since the federal census was taken in the latter part of 1919.

This is not a large increase in view of the fact that Glendale alone shows an increase of 400 per cent in the same period, jumping from 13,350 to approximately 56,000, according to postal estimates. Glendale and Miami, Florida, are having a neck-andneck race in comparatively fast growth in this decade.

Therefore, 125 the problem of plumbing is of the utmost importance in the preliminary planning of the dwelling. In regard to the plumbing, which includes the supply of water and disposal of waste, the best advice that can be given the home-builder is that the best possible grade of materials be used, and that the work of installing be of the highest grade. Even it the initial cost is greater, economy will be found in the conse uent lessening of repairs and replacement, and in the improved health of the family. Much of the plumbing specifications you will have to take on faith, as it is too technical a subject for the average person to understand easily, but, fortunately, Glendale has a city plumbing ordinance whereby minimum requirements are enforced to protect the public health in the matter of proper plumbing.

Your good judgment in selecting your plumber will determine the future comfort of your home. The safest and best guarantee you can have is the reputation of a reliable concern back of the work. If you deal with a reliable firm that is permanently located in business in your city, with an established reputation, they will gladly protect you with a guarantee to make good any parts or replace any fixtures that prove defective during the life of the building.

Honest plumbing merchants warn you "Don't buy seconds." You can't see the hidden defects in second-grade, non-guaranteed plumbing fixtures. They appear after installation. "Seconds" are ior to first-class, standard prod-ucts. "Used," or second-hand goods are always under suspicion. In plumbing fixtures, buying either kind of the foregoing is the wildest kind of speculation. It means gambling with health and money, with the cards stacked

The false economy of buying inferior plumbing fixtures is most likely to result in repair bills that might have been avoided. No one who buys inferior goods has a right to complain if they fail to give good service or permanent satisfaction.

CITY VALUATION PROBLEM IS TOLD

Bonding Capacity to Be Cut If Readjustments Made In Assessments

Editor The Evening News-The ssessed valuation of the city of Glendale was $30,092,460 in 1923 and $47.061,355 in 1924, an increase of $16,968,895, or about 56 per cent. Great as was the growth of values in Glendale real estate in 1923-4, this increase of 56 percent in valuation for taxable purposes has caused criticism and protest among Glendalians without exception, and recently the Chamber of Commerce appointed a committee to take up with the proper authorities the matter of securing an equitable reduction of the-assessed valuation of taxable property in the city of Glendale for the next fiscal year.

It has been conservatively estimated that the increase last year of approximately $17,000,000 was 50 per cent too high, or approximately $8,500,000 greater than the facts justified. If the Chamber of Commerce should be successful in obtaining an equitable reduction of assessed valuation it is manifest the bonding capacity of the city for school purposes would be reduced accordingly. Bonding Capacity

DYNAMITERS WIN IN LAST MINUTE

Berman Gets Goal for Locals When Score Tied; Beat Citrus 20 to 17

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR. Of The Evening News Staff.

Amid the shrill shrieks of a couple hundred co-eds and the hoarse sheiks the Glendale heavyweight casaba tossers yesterday took their "crucial game" from Citrus in one of the most tense and exciting exhibitions of the hard-wood sport ever staged in Glen-dale. The score was 20 to 17. Coach Apollo Pierce's men were playing a game of their lives, but they were up against another good crew. The Citrus gang was right on the job and kept the locals on the jump to maintain their scanty lead. The Dynamiters started blasting in the opening episode and by the snap-py dribbling and and shooting of Reed Stearman, and the foul tossing of Raber Berman, managed to get six markers while their opponents were able to shove the old melon into the hoop but once.

The second quarter saw th scorekeepers chalk up another two for the Lemons while the Dynamiters got six, the score standing twelve to four in favor of the home team at the end of the half. In the second quarter Berman forged ahead as high point man by tossing two field goals. Hardey contributed one.

Citrus Opens Up The Citrus men began to pep matters up in the third quarter and were gathering steam as they went. This period Rusman and Shiffler split with a goal apiece. Hardey counterbalanced the Cit rus scoring with four markers of own, on a field goal and foul

State Championship Will Be By Special Leased Wire to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925 Decided Tomorrow In Northern City

Intent upon winning the state championship in the K. C. league, and bringing back to Glendale the $275 trophy cup awarded by state officials of the lodge, members of the local Casey baseball team left Glendale last night for Oakland, where the titular game will be played tomorrow after-

Accompanying the team were forty or more rooters, members of the local K. C. council, who have followed the team to vic- question has been raised whether, tory through the present season. The team finished on top for the first half of the Southern California K. C. league schedule with a clean slate and the members intend to add another scalp to their belts tomorrow.

The team and rooters will reach Oakland this morning, and this afternoon the players will take a workout on the Oakland Pacific Coast ball fields, where tomorrow's titular tilt will be staged. Tonight the visitors will be the guests of the Oakland council at dance at Hotel Oakland, and tomorrow night a banquet will be held for the Glendalians. The will have its headquarters at Hotel Oakland.

Bonnelly to Pitch Dick Bonnelly, whose hurling ability is well known to many Glendale baseball fans by reason of his work here during the days of the old White Sox team, will be on the mound for the local Caseys. Myers will be on the receiving end, while McDonald will be the pitcher in reserve.

The infield positions will be held down by Gillispie at first base, Cryan at second, O'Shea at third and H. Doll shortstop. In the outer gardens will be Harry Manush, manager of the team, in center; Cozington in left field, and Seiser in right field.

By DAVIS J. WALSH 141 132 183 For International News Service. NEW YORK, Feb. 14 .- The skeleton in baseball's family closet will be tenderly laid to rest within the next 48 hours and thereafter will rattle no more. Landis' attitude has been forecast as one of tolerance and clemency toward O'Connell, whose loss in food and honor has been deemed sufficient to cover his offense. If Landis says the word, the skeleton will have rattled its

As matters stand, the dis-ict attorney has let it be known that he will be guided by Landis in his future actions, if any. He stands ready to indict O'Connell before the grand jury and prosecute his extradition from California. But Landis will not say the word because the man he is after is not Jimmy O'Connell.

He is an unnamed and unidentified somebody who was so much smarter than O'Connell that he covered his trail perfectly, leaving James holding the wellknown bag. It seems unlikely that the man in question, if he exists at all, will ever be apprehended.

With the start of another season, there will hardly be a headstone to mark the scandal's dishonored grave unless Cozy Dolan revives the issue temporarily with a civil suit for reinstatement. I am pleased to doubt that he will. Dolan, however, will make formal application to Landis for reinstatement, but it is almost certain that he will be greeted with a refusal as flat as a tailor's

JOHN B. FOSTER'S DODE BERCOT

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 .- The idea of erecting a $100,000 baseball monument in Potomac Park, Washington, has been given up because of opposition in congress, but the idea of erecting such a monument somewhere still per-

The national capital was an eminently suitable location for such a monument it is too bad that plan had to be abandoned. New York has been suggested as a site because the earliest history of the national game cen-ters around this city. But the if New York were chosen, Chicago, or some other American league city, might not feel slighted.

So far as American league history goes - and the monument was an American idea-Chicago would be a very suitable place for a monument. A site in Grant Park, near the immense stadium which has been erected, would be most fitting. The American league was born in Chicago if it was born anywhere, and a baseball memorial on the shore of Lake Michigan would be seen by practically every visitor to Chicago. and somehow be typical of the breezy western atmosphere which always has made baseball in that part of the United States a mighty democratic and popular

A monument erected in New York might be set in Central Park but then it would be removed from an athletic environment and would lose its national significance. Such a monument in Chicago, in the park which is in the heart of the city, would have a strong appeal in the west, which considers itself ahead of the east, at least so far as downright love of baseball is concerned.

Three players have been se-ected by the committee on selection of the American league as worthy of having their names engraved on the monument. which was designed to perpetuate the memory of the great game's greatest players. They are George Sisler of St. Louis, Babe Ruth of New York and Walter Johnson of Washington. Sisler and Johnson would go well with a monument erected in the middle west, for they are types of the west. And Ruth, even though he is a Marylander by birth, would have no objection to being enrolled in Illinois as the mogul of all swatdom.

The National league, having just begun its selection of valuable players, has only one name on the roll. That is the name of the Brooklyn no to go into the art gallery business and instead of building a monument has presented $1,000 in cash to the lucky player. Of course that appeals to the player, although it does not establish any condition of permanency relative to national distinction.

It is a little difficult to see just why the gentlemen of Congress were so strong against the idea of having a baseball monument in the capital. The men whom it is proposed to commemorate are typical of the greatest athletic game in the world, a game in which every congressman is proud along about world series time-particularly if one of the contestant teams hails from the congressman's home section.

But in any event, Washington full as it is of monuments is not going to hold the baseball shaft. It looks as though Chicago or New York might.
