AMUNDSEN RETURNS Party Mushed Back After Getting Within 100 Miles of Pole ARRESTS AND SUMMONSES IN WONG CASE

ABDUCTION OF WONG IN VANCOUVER TO BE AIDED AS RESULT OF LENGTHY INVESTIGATION CARRIED OUT BY THE PROVINCIAL POLICE

Manager of Private Detective Agency and Another Man Under Arrest in Terminal City and Warrants Out for Two Others; Summonses Issued for Eight, Including Point Grey Police Chief and Two Police Commissioners.

Vancouver, June 18—Alleged abductors of Wong Foon Sing, Chinese houseboy of F. L. Baker, who is now charged with the murder of Janet Smith on July 26 last, are being rounded up by the provincial police. Two men already are in custody, warrants have been issued for two others, and summonses have been issued in eight other instances.

The men now held are Oscar B. V. Robinson, manager of the Canadian Detective Bureau, Vancouver, and V. W. Norton, taken in the State of Washington and brought back to this city Wednesday. These arrests were made on warrants issued by Magistrate H. O. Alexander on the information of Colonel J. H. McMullin, superintendent of provincial police, on charges that the men concerned did "without lawful authority forcibly confine Wong Foon Sing."

Both Robinson and Norton appeared before Magistrate G. R. McQueen in the Point Grey police court last night and were remanded until June 25.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of William Robinson, son of O. B. V. Robinson, and K. W. Wrightson, the latter being the alleged driver of the abduction car, and who is now said to be in California.

Summons issued. Summonses connected with the same charge upon which Robinson and Norton were arrested were sought by the Crown and issued by Magistrate H. O. Alexander against the following:

David Patterson, resident of the Scottish Societies of Vancouver. Mrs. F. H. Stratton, who was secretary last year of the Scottish Societies.

John Murdoch, Chief of Police of Point Grey. H. P. McCraney and H. O. McDonald, Point Grey Police Commissioners.

A. S. Matthew, former official of the Scottish Societies. J. S. Cowper, editor of The Weekly Tribune of Vancouver.

Sergeant P. Kirkham, of the Point Grey police force.

The search for Wong's abductors has been pursued by the Provincial police relentlessly and in the face of almost insuperable difficulties and lack of co-operation from sources which might have assisted. Rumors were heard and traced to a point where a clammy silence prevailed.

Slowly Provincial police officers traced the abduction, what is understood to have been a strong circumstantial case was substantiated by the statement of one of the alleged principals.

Holes in floor. The scene of Wong's detention in Vancouver was at 2443 Twenty-fifth Avenue West, half a block from Dunbar Street. The house was rented through house agents and the parties who had taken the place returned the keys to the agents and disappeared.

Last night detectives visited the place and found holes bored through the floor which had evidently been used to secure chains which were fastened to the Chinaman.

Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General, visited Vancouver on Tuesday evening. The following morning an atmosphere of tense activity pervaded the provincial police offices at the courthouse. Colonel McMullin, the superintendent, had arrived from Victoria and conferred with Walter Owen, assistant superintendent. Magistrate Alexander participated in the consultation and the advice of H. S. Wood, crown prosecutor for Vancouver County, was sought. Later in the afternoon J. H. Senkler, K.C., Wong Foon Sing's counsel, conferred with the officials.

Norton is reported to have spoken freely. Plans were prepared for the arrest of Robinson. Staff Sergeant Sam North and Constable Walker Crick-

SUPREME COURT GIVES JUDGMENT IN BOAK CASE

Appeal Dismissed and Case Remitted to B.C. Court on Misdirection Claim

Vancouver, June 18—A Province dispatch from Ottawa to-day states: "The Supreme Court of Canada gave judgment at noon to-day in the criminal case of King vs. Boak."

"The appeal on the grounds heard in the argument here is dismissed, and the case is remitted to the Court of Appeal of British Columbia to hear argument on the claim of misdirection."

Following his conviction Dr. Boak, Victoria physician, charged, appealed to the Appellate Court on two grounds (1) that one of the jurors was deaf and (2) that the trial judge misdirected the jury.

The B.C. Appeal Court quashed the conviction on the point of the juror's deafness, and ordered a new trial upon which the crown appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada.

"The judgment to-day dismissed this appeal and 'vacated' the judgment of the Appeal Court, but directs that the latter now pronounce on the claim of misdirection of the jury by the trial judge. Upon this aspect of the case the B.C. Court did not give a decision. The Supreme Court says it should have."

CANDIDATES ARE NOMINATED FOR NOVA SCOTIA GENERAL ELECTION

Halifax, June 18—Ideal Summer weather throughout Nova Scotia to-day greeted the nomination day proceedings in anticipation of the provincial general election to be held June 25.

A strenuous contest for each of the forty-three seats was assured, with both Liberals and Conservatives offering a full slate of candidates. Indications were that when the nomination proceedings closed at 3 o'clock to-day Labor would be represented by twelve candidates.

The Progressive Party, which was a factor in the last Legislative Assembly, offered no candidates, although D. G. McKenzie, leader of the Opposition in the House, having been elected as a Progressive in Cumberland, is again a contestant under the endorsement of the Conservatives. Similarly, Archibald Terrie, elected as a Laborite in

Electric Car Speeding Into City From Springbank Park Struck Standing Car

Five Men Are Now in Hospital; About Twenty Others Were Hurt

London, Ont., June 18.—One man lost his life, five men are in the Victoria Hospital here, and a score of more others are suffering painful hurts as a result of a midnight crash on the Springfield line of the London Street Railway.

Shortly after 12 o'clock two Springbank cars, crowded to capacity with passengers, came together at the Riverside stop, just west of the city. A disconnected trolley pole had caused the stopping of the first car and thrown the vehicle into darkness. The second car, speeding on its last trip to the city for the night, rounded a curve and crashed into the standing car.

Charles W. Hoskins, fifty-five, Springbank inspector for the street railway, was seriously injured by the motorman of the second car and was struck by the control box when the motorman's cubicle was crushed in as the cars collided. Death was instantaneous, and it was found impossible to extricate the body after the crash.

Narrow Escape. Allen Painter, motorman of the second car, was seriously injured by the moonlight excursion. Saturday night the C.P.R. has arranged to use the Princess Victoria for the trip. The Princess Adelaide had been chosen as the excursion ship but the sale of tickets convinced shipping officials that a larger vessel would be needed. An added attraction will be provided for the excursionists by the presence of the band of the Sixteenth Canadian Scottish, which will play on board the Princess Victoria all evening.

VICTORIA TO TAKE LARGE CROWDS ON MOONLIGHT VOYAGE

To accommodate the large crowd expected to take part in the Victoria Liberal Association's moonlight excursion Saturday night the C.P.R. has arranged to use the Princess Victoria for the trip. Pendray Delighted City Has Acquired Royal Athletic Park

Mayor Carl Pendray is keeping a close eye to the affairs of Victoria during his visit to Portland, as the city's representative at the annual Regatta Festival. He at the annual Regatta Festival, he enthusiastically approved the ratepayers' accorded purchase of the Royal Athletic Park, by adoption of the Parahale Estate Purchase By-Law on Tuesday, has greatly pleased the Mayor, as evidenced by the following special telegram, sent The Times this morning:

"Just received word of success of Parahale By-Law. I am delighted with the result of the poll. This is a good sound business proposition, and properties acquired, especially Athletic Park, can immediately be made revenue producing. I am also pleased to think the council has the confidence of the ratepayers."

Intrepid Explorers Are at Spitzbergen Again After Period of Silence Which Lasted From May 21; Failed to Reach North Pole, But Set a Record in Aviation by Flying to "Top of World."

New York, June 18—The North American Newspaper Alliance announced to-day that Roald Amundsen, the explorer, had returned to Spitzbergen from his North Pole flight.

Vernon S. Prentice, brother-in-law of Lincoln Ellsworth, co-leader of the expedition, said he had received word here that all six members of the expedition had arrived safely at Spitzbergen.

Copenhagen, June 18—The reports of Captain Roald Amundsen's Return from his Polar expedition were received in Copenhagen this afternoon. They were not, however, accompanied by any details.

Amundsen and his five companions, it is reported, were within approximately 100 miles of the North Pole when they were forced to descend.

In making a landing on the Polar plain the aeroplanes were damaged, but the Polar air navigators escaped without serious injury. Finding themselves 500 miles from their base and with their means of transport out of commission, the daring airmen turned from the coveted goal and munched back to the coast of Spitzbergen.

It took Amundsen and his party several weeks to traverse on foot the distance they had covered by air within a few hours. In musing back the party encountered innumerable perils and obstacles, which were successfully overcome by sheer pluck and endurance.

The story of the return of Amundsen and his men from their unsuccessful flight to the North Pole will undoubtedly be the most thrilling recital gleaned from the path of adventure since aviation became a commercial possibility.

Those with Amundsen, and who returned safely to Spitzbergen with the intrepid Norse explorer are Lincoln Ellsworth, Oscar Omdahl, Riser-Larsen, Lief Dietrichson and Carl Feucht.

Under flying conditions which were said to be as good as could be expected, the Roald Amundsen-Lincoln Ellsworth expedition departed from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, on May 21 at 5:15 p.m. (7:45 a.m. Victoria time) and left civilization behind it in an attempt to fly to the North Pole. To-day scant word comes from their place of departure saying the aviators have returned, but what was their success the world does not yet know.

It was Amundsen's great ambition to be the first man to stand upon both poles. He was the discoverer of the South Pole and for years had planned to fight his way to the other "top of the world."

Under conditions which had never been tested, two smart aeroplanes set forth from Spitzbergen bearing the great explorer and his little band of five courageous companions, seeking everlasting fame and glory while the whole of the civilized world stood and watched, with bated breath. And now Amundsen is back.

LAST MESSAGES. The six men who constitute the crews of the two Polar aeroplanes made the following statements just before their departure: Capt. Roald Amundsen, plane commander: "Forty-four years ago in 1911, I reached the South Pole on foot, driving a dog sledge before me. It is not natural to-day, and in the cockpit of a 700-horsepower flying machine, I should feel confident of an equal success!"

Lincoln Ellsworth, plane commander: "I am interested in this great Polar flight, not because it is spectacular, but rather because of its call to the scientific explorer to see, to find, and not to yield, in the endeavor to add to man's knowledge of the planet on which he lives."

Hjalmar Riser-Larsen, pilot: "When I asked my wife's permission to join this expedition, she said 'No wife should be a ball and chain about her husband's ankle.' She is watching me from afar and I am determined not to disappoint her hopes of a great success. Nothing I can say could be stronger than that."

Lief Dietrichson: "Our flight has been somewhat delayed, but now a complete plan is at hand. There has been a lot of talk about our plans, but now we are about to transform ourselves—planning into bold action. I have flown for the past nine years, and I am certain the North Pole flight will not be my last."

Calgary, June 18.—Negotiations between the Red Deer Valley Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of America, District 18, resulted yesterday in an agreement to accept a reduction of fifteen per cent. in all rates governing tonnage work and the day wage scale which have previously been effective in the Drumheller and Wayne coal fields. Approximately 3,000 miners who will be affected by the proposed reduction have yet to decide by ballot whether to accept a reduction of fifteen per cent. or not to accept the cut in wages.

LIVE TRADE BOARD IS NOW ASSURED

Special to The Times. Shawnigan Lake, June 18.—The prospects for a live Board of Trade taking in the Shawnigan Lake, Cobble Hill, Hillbank and Bamberton areas look very promising. At a meeting held in the Community Hall at Cobble Hill on Monday evening it was unanimously decided to proceed with organization. The act covering formation of Board of Trade calls for a signed petition addressed to the Secretary of State containing thirty names and the district covered by the petition must have 1,500 inhabitants and not represented by a similar organization. All of the conditions have been complied with. Recently the Shawnigan and Cobble Hill branch of the Duncan Board of Trade disbanded with the consent of the parent body at Duncan. The meeting at Cobble Hill was well attended, Shawnigan Lake sending the largest number. Mrs. G. McInnes, Hillbank, and Mrs. J. L. S. Cherry, Shawnigan Lake, were present. Mrs. J. L. S. Cherry was elected secretary of the proposed Board of Trade and presented a motion to take the necessary steps towards formation of the Board of Trade. The motion was carried. Mrs. J. L. S. Cherry, secretary of the late branch board, was proposed as temporary secretary and instructed to comply with the provisions of the act. One question of a name was taken up and a proposal by G. A. Cheeke that the name "Malahat" would seem appropriate and avoid sectional feeling was adopted without a dissenting voice. The name to appear on the official application will be "The Malahat and Shawnigan District Board of Trade." It was also proposed that the next meeting be called on receipt of the charter from the Secretary of State and be held in the Shawnigan Lake Athletic Association Hall, Shawnigan Lake. In the meantime names will be enrolled and other necessary work done. Judging from the spirit of the first meeting a good live board will be the result and the immediate affiliation with the associated Boards of Vancouver Island.

STROMKINS UNSHAKEN ON WITNESS STAND THOUGH HYSTERICAL AT POINTS

Grilled by Counsel for Defence Main Witness for Crown in Gillis Murder Hearing Reaffirms Story, Says Bodies of Captain Gillis and His Son Were Ripped Open to Prevent Them Floating to Top.

With his head buried in his arms and sobs convulsing his frame Paul Carl Stromkins broke down at the murder trial yesterday when asked to tell for the third time his story of the ghastly deeds he says were done on the decks of the Beryl G.

After the brief hysterical lapse the man who turned King's evidence braced himself and withstood three hours of grilling cross examination without departing in any essential particular from his gruesome story.

Thirty-three witnesses had been heard when the Crown virtually closed its case, shortly before 11 o'clock last night. Mrs. Alice Gillis, widow of the late Capt. W. J. Gillis, was the witness to take the stand. She said the Beryl G with her husband and son on board left Vancouver on August 22 for Victoria.

September 12 Mrs. Gillis received a letter from Capt. Gillis, posted in Victoria the day previously, and which now forms the basis for a probate application in the gillie estate here in Vancouver courts. This letter was the last word she heard from Capt. Gillis, and it dealt with ordinary family matters, concluded his widow, Pale and said Mrs. Gillis made a pathetic figure in the witness stand, but did not falter in answering to questions put. Sparring her feelings the Crown and defence alike withheld all but formal questions. Witness and three children survive Capt. Gillis and his son "Billy" Gillis, a boy of eighteen, whose alleged murder is the subject of the trial of Rex W. Baker and Sowash.

The impassioned story of Paul Baker, responsible for the shooting which killed Capt. W. J. Gillis and Sowash with the blow that felled Billy Gillis, the son, formed the feature of the afternoon session of the trial.

Stromkins stood firm under three hours of grilling cross-examination, but broke down when asked for the third time to recount incidents in connection with the actual killings.

Mrs. Stromkins, his wife, and many other women present as spectators, were crying openly when Stromkins dropped his head into folded arms and gave vent to piteous sobs, which convulsed his frame. He was calmed from a state of hysterical breakdown, and continued his evidence in very broken English and with a convulsive clutching at the rails of the witness stand.

Baker, said Stromkins, slit open the bodies of Capt. Gillis and his son as they lay handcuffed side by side on the deck of the Beryl G with a butcher knife taken from the galley of that craft. This was done, he affirmed, to prevent the bodies rising after their commitment to the water. It was in going over this ghastly detail of his story for the third time that he broke down and cried like a child.

Apart from this ghouliah addition Stromkins's evidence was a complete rehearsal of his story as given at the preliminary hearing. On cross-examination the story was supported time after time by constant repetition until the defence lost ground immeasurably from its very insistence. After three hours of grilling R. C. Lowe, counsel for the defence, left the witness without having effected a breach in the chief evidence for the Crown.

A crowded courtroom listened with immovable attention to the dramatic case, the sound of weeping women alone serving to break the silence of the pauses between questions and answers from the witness stand. Thirty-three witnesses were heard in the two-day session of the Crown's case before Mr. Justice Morrison adjourned the hearing until 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Alice Gillis, widow of the late Capt. Gillis, a sad and lonely figure, was the last to take the stand for the Crown. She had last seen her husband alive on August 22, when he set out with their son, "Billy" Gillis, on the Beryl G for Victoria. On September 12 she received a letter from Capt. Gillis, posted at Victoria on the day before, dealing with family matters and now the subject of probate action in the Vancouver courts. The letter was the last intimation she had received from Capt. Gillis. At Victoria later she examined the Beryl G and identified it as the captain's boat. Three children and herself survived Capt. Gillis and his son she said.

Coming as a sensational denouement after the story of Paul Stromkins was the written statement of Rex Sowash read to the court by Inspector T. W. S. Parsons, who brought that accused back from New Orleans. Sowash referred in this statement to himself as a friendless boy who had been released from an American jail with $5 in his pocket and a desire to retrace his steps along the paths of right living.

Feniless and alone he fell in with Barker, Morris and others, he had written, and joined in their plans when told by Baker that the latter had a commission from the Canadian Government to expose liquor caches on Barkley Sound. The murder scene Sowash described differently to the story told by Stromkins, omitting entirely any reference to the boy whom Stromkins said Sowash struck down from behind in cold blood.

As Sowash wrote it the actual killing of Capt. Gillis came when two shots were fired as Baker had lunched on the deck of the Beryl G. Morris was climbing up to her deck, and as he Sowash sat still in the dinghy of the Denman II drawn up alongside. Sowash referred in this statement to a noise of dragging chains and a burping heard overhead while he was in the cabin of the Beryl G. He was forced, he wrote, to unload liquor and was a compulsory guest at the party directed by Baker and Morris.

While there were many differences of reference to his own actions, Sowash's story corroborated in its main essentials of the movements of each boat the story of Stromkins, and concluded by stating that he had seen said $400 by Baker, with which he settled his debts and sought work with the Brewster-Cigna Store in Seattle intending to lead an honest life. Later he learned he was a hunted man, and flew for his life to New Orleans, where his capture took place.

Coming with the effect of a bombshell on the case was the written statement to the police was the testimony offered by Jailer John Delahunty and Warden William McMyrn of Oakalla Prison Farm, who said that three days before the preliminary hearing was due to open in Victoria Sowash dropped a copy of his statement to the police, and to cells two tiers below, with notes telling Baker how to use Sowash's story and vary it to benefit them both.

This annotated copy was dropped on the end of a piece of blanket cord ripped from his bedding and missed fire when the string broke. To get Baker's attention, Sowash stated, two magazines were dropped by Sowash telling Baker where to look for the message. All this correspondence passed into the hands of the warden and was cited as evidence against Sowash in evening session last night.

Around the story of Paul Stromkins, with thirty-two other witnesses, the Crown wove a tale of circumstantial evidence in corroboration of the main theme. The movements of Baker, Charles Morris, John Majewski, Sowash, Cheatwood, Kramer and others were traced in side-journeys incidental to the main action of the story in and around Victoria and nearby Gulf Islands.

The trail of the hi-jacked liquor from the holds of the Beryl G was traced by the Crown to numerous caches and spots where it had been allegedly jettisoned in the water and later recovered. How such a consignment of the 200 cases was disposed of was shown, with corroboration in many important particulars by independent witnesses.

Robert Harrap told of seeing Baker, Morris and Stromkins go on board the Denman II at Cadboro Bay on the evening of September 15. Stromkins stated Sowash was already on the boat at that time.

Sowash's and Stromkins's stories agreed along the course taken by the Denman II and the events leading up to the boarding of the Beryl G. Thornton Paulson, Albert Clausen, Harold Wainman, the islander, Earl Whitecomb and others told of various parts, in the recovery of the liquor caches from the Beryl G stock and the two other men had guns also.

It was a pale, jumpy, excited man who called at her ranch at Lopez Island asking for enough gasoline to get him home, said Mrs. Traines, picking out Stromkins as that man. Stromkins had already told of his visit to the ranch on the island for this purpose, and stood corroborated similarly as to time, place and circumstance on other details of his story.

Henri D. G. Parizeau, chief hydrographer of the C.G.S. Lillooet, stated that a boat abandoned as the Beryl G was said to be left would be found just where she had been found by the lightkeeper of Turn Point, A. C. Walters. Bodies, if jettisoned as described, would sink in water 100 feet deep and could not be recovered, he stated in answer to another hypothetical question.

Dealing with the actual tragedy, Stromkins, Sowash and Morris rowed away towards the Beryl G. Baker had a flashlight and a revolver in his possession, while the two other men had guns also. Morris, said Stromkins, wore a white yachting cap.

Fifteen minutes later he heard two shots ring out and was met by Baker returning alone in the dinghy. He was ordered to bring his boat alongside the Beryl G and there saw William Gillis Jr. strung down from behind by Sowash, and saw the body of Capt. Gillis dragged alongside it on the deck. The bodies were then handcuffed together and their abdomens opened with a knife through-out their length.

Baker, said Stromkins shuddering and closing his eyes as if to shut out a mental vision of the sight, stood on the deck of the Denman II with the anchor in his hand and dragged the bodies off into the water from the decks of the Beryl G. After towing them some forty feet Baker dropped the anchor and witness saw the bodies of father and son pass and repass a port hole in his boat as the two launches yawed and swung alongside each other with the action of wind and tide.

Sowash ripped off a bloodstained shirt, rolled it up and threw it into the water, said Stromkins, in telling of the getaway. Baker and Sowash washed their hands. After the younger accused had felled the boy, Baker walked up to Sowash and shook hands. This grim ritual took place, said Stromkins, right over the bloody patch that marked the top of the companionship and virtually over the body of the boy.

A new witness for the Crown was George M. Payne, special agent for the Northern Pacific Railroad at Seattle, who said he met Baker on the eastbound train and the latter talked to him, saying he was going east "as it was getting kinda hot on the coast."

Witness did not at first realize the significance of the statement, but after reading the story of the Beryl G hi-jacking, recalled the statement and reported to Sheriff Matt Starwich, Seattle, Baker's arrest in New York followed in consequence.

Taking the stand for formal evidence Inspector Truickbank was asked by the defence if he had searched the home of Baker's mother at Auburn, Washington. Witness replied that he accompanied American deputies who searched, but that nothing had been found.

Waiting her call to the stand in defence of her son Mrs. Mary Baker,

GIRL IS CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

New York Judge Hopes Verdict on Dorothy Perkins Will Be a Lesson to Others

New York, June 18.—Convicted of manslaughter by a jury of fathers, Dorothy Perkins, seventeen-year-old bobbed blonde who worked for a newspaper as an advertising clerk, was in jail today awaiting sentence.

At a convivial party at her Greenwich Village home during a scuffle with her father over a pistol, she shot Thomas Templeton, whom she had refused to marry. It was the state's contention she was trying to shoot her father, who objected to her relations with Mickey Conner, forty-year-old truck driver, now in jail for wife-beating. He father wanted her to marry Templeton.

When the jury returned its verdict after deliberating two hours, during which some jurors argued for a first-degree murder conviction, the defendant fainted. She was led from the courtroom sobbing for her mother. The jury refused to recommend mercy.

Sentence will be imposed Monday. The maximum penalty for the first-degree manslaughter of which she was convicted is imprisonment for ten to twenty years. The minimum is within the discretion of the court.

A verdict like this may stop women from shooting men in the future, said Judge McIntyre in praising the jury. "Too many times have women appeared in courts on mere

FOUND GUIDE MOVEMENT MAKING GREAT HEADWAY

Miss Frances Mara, Deputy Provincial Commissioner, Returns From Long Stay in Europe

Miss Frances Mara, deputy Provincial Commissioner for Girl Guides, in British Columbia, returned to Victoria yesterday after an absence of nearly nine months in Europe. She has come back more enthusiastic than ever over the future of the Girl Guide movement, after spending the past six months in close association with its workings in Great Britain, where she visited "Foxlease," and attended various courses and represented Canada at several conferences.

MOVEMENT SPREADING

The latest and most convincing proof of the solidity of the movement is shown by recognition accorded by the International Committee on Child Welfare at Geneva, which formally requested that the Girl Guides be represented on this committee, said Miss Mara, to "Times" representative this morning.

SMART WEDDING AT CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL TO-DAY

Commander C. W. Baldwin of Kelowna Marries Miss M. Spinks at Pretty Ceremony

A wedding of much interest to residents of the Okanagan Valley as well as to Victorians was solemnized at Christ Church Cathedral this afternoon at 2:30 between Miss Mary Manley (Mollie) Spinks, daughter of Mrs. Nicolas Schoch of Vernon, B.C., and Commander C. W. Baldwin, B.N. (retired), son of the late Dr. W. A. Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin of Kelowna, B.C. The marriage was performed by General Archdeacon Laycock, former rector of St. James' Church, Vernon, in the presence of a smart congregation.

WAS AT "FOXLEASE"

Miss Mara attended the training school for guides in London in the Autumn and also took one week's training at Foxlease under Miss Joyce Wolton, who visited this city some time ago. Miss Wolton is divisional commissioner for Greater East London and a member of the examining committee for blue diploma guides.

SPIRITUAL NOTE

"I was most struck with the spiritual note stressed at the commissioning conference at Swanwick, Derbyshire," said Miss Mara. "Over 200 commissioners were present, and the Chief Guide, Lady Baden-Powell, presided at all meetings. Dr. Henderson of Walsingham gave an excellent address on the 'Good Ship Guide'.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, JUNE 19
A rather routine day is foreseen from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. With care things may be made to progress, but money should be handled conservatively and any tendency to rash or precipitate conduct should be suppressed. The mind may be found to be alert and enterprising, under the high stimulus of Mars in Uranus. In social, domestic and romantic affiliations there is a probable augury of pleasant and active conditions.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a rather routine year, but one in which benefits should accrue from systematic attention to affairs, rather than indulgence in rash and impetuous moves inspired by highly stimulated faculties. Personal affairs should flourish and bring pleasure. A child born on this day may have an enterprising nature, with the mind turned to active and perhaps unusual projects. It should be well liked and happy in its personal affairs.

Victoria W.I.—The regular meeting of the Victoria Women's Institute will be held Friday, June 19, at 2:30 p.m. All members are requested to attend as an important business will be discussed.

Garden Party at Temple Hall.—A garden party, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the City Temple will be held at Temple Hall, Fort Street, on Friday afternoon and evening. This will be a family gathering for members and their friends. Refreshment tea will be served, and a cold-meat supper in the evening at 8:15 o'clock. There will be ice cream and candy stalls, and pony races and a tug-of-war for the children.

MRS. BUTCHART WAS HOSTESS WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB

Garden Party Attracted Nearly 500 to Lovely Spot Yesterday

The generous hospitality for which Mrs. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart are widely renowned again found expression yesterday when they threw open their beautiful home and gardens at "Benvenuto." Tod Inlet, to the Women's Canadian Club for its annual garden party. Glorious weather and brilliant sunshine enhanced the social amenities and lent illumination to the glories of the garden, now at the height of their early summer bloom.

Against the emerald green of the lawns, masses of purple violas, delphinium in every shade of blue, flaunting poppies of scarlet and the more modest Shirley poppy, and wonderful roses of velvety fragrance, made a riot of color, and throughout the afternoon a crowd of nearly 500 members and their friends wandered in the pleasures of this beauty-spot. Mrs. Butchart's much-appreciated invitation to the house was accepted by a large number who listened with pleasure to the fine organ, and revelled in the beauty of the flowers.

GRACEFUL DANCERS The lawn before the house made a natural amphitheatre for the delightful programme of dances arranged by Mrs. C. Conyers.

The Misses Marjorie Atkins, Gertrude McDonald, Julia Meighan, Eileen Shonbalt, Jenny Beckett, Eleanore Duncalf, Molly Eskina, Evelyn Lytton, Eileen Tomlin, Nancy Craig, Jean Dempster and Mabel Townsend, all pupils of Miss Lillian Michaelis, charmed the gathering with a Spring pastora and a quaint Chinese dance, the graceful evolutions of the young people in their pretty costumes making a gay splash of color against the green.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the body of Joe Dan Bon, Chinaman, was found in his room, was flung down stairs by his cousin, and immediately reported to the police. The deceased, medical examination showed, apparently died of natural causes. He had been ill for some time.

WONG CASE

Reeve J. A. Paton of Point Grey was very emphatic in his denials of any implication of the police of that municipality in the kidnapping of Wong Foon Sing. The Point Grey police had nothing to do with the kidnapping of Wong Foon Sing, he declared, and he cannot understand the "sleazebag" of the provincial police. Sing was brought to the courthouse from Okalla jail to-day, and, according to Mr. Paton, an architect and police officer, will visit the scene of his alleged incarceration by abductors.

Vancover, June 18.—There is no question in the mind of Mrs. Wong Foon Sing, who visited her mother, brothers and sisters at the home this morning, was the place where Wong Foon Sing was confined following his abduction, declared J. H. Senkler, K.C., lawyer for the Chinaman, this afternoon.
"Everything was exactly as Wong described it. It is a peculiar type of house and there could be no mistake about it," said Mr. Senkler.

TREASURES REPORTED

Vancover, June 18.—Wong Foon Sing, the Chinese houseboy now awaiting trial on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Janet Smith last July, was threatened with death by hanging, and one of his ears was broken during the time he was held captive by the abductors who carried him from the Shaughnessy Heights home on the night of May 1, according to the Vancouver Morning Sun, which to-day published what was claimed to be the story of Wong Foon Sing's own story of his abduction.

PUT IN CHAINS

After recounting the incidents which occurred on the night of March 20, describing how he was seized and hurried away in an automobile by three masked men, and the circuitous journey which lasted several hours and how he was dragged into a building which he knew very little about, the Chinaman is credited with the statement that he was put in chains and threatened with a revolver in efforts to make him talk.
Repeated efforts were made to force the captive to tell of incidents before the girl's death, but these were unavailing, the Chinaman being well supplied with food, it is stated.

SAW SCAFFOLD

For fourteen or fifteen days the inquiry was kept up from time to time, and when it came the experience which Wong tells with evident terror.
It is stated Wong was unchained and conducted upstairs to what he described as a garret or unfinished story of the house in which the search was conducted. There he saw a rough scaffold or platform on a beam above the platform was a rope with a noose.
They put me on a chair and fix rope on my head," he is reported to have said. "Man says you tell everything or we kill you. You tell or you die. I say I can't tell any more. I do know nothing more about poor nurse. Man say again they hang me. Man pull chair and I feel rope.

"Then I die," said Wong, simply.
It was his only English to tell that he had lost consciousness. He had himself choking and then remembered nothing more.
"Then I wake up I lying on floor. Man is beside me and I think he doctor. He felt my hand and put his hand on my side."
That was Wong's description of what was evidently an examination of his heart and pulse.

WAS VERY ILL

"I hear doctor speak to other men. He say him very near dead. He say not hurt him more, perhaps he die."

WILL HEAD APPEAL FOR NANAIMO WORKMEN

Application Granted in Court of Appeal This Morning
Leave to be Heard is Granted in Opium Case

Leave to file cross appeal claiming the right of woodman's lien for wages for sixteen men was granted by the Court of Appeal this morning in the case of Sheppard vs. J. R. Green made the application, which was opposed by H. A. Maclean, K.C. The court rules applicant must pay all costs involved. Mr. Carter, by advice of the appeal books.

Appeal is taken from the decision of County Court Judge at Nanaimo, which decided that the men were entitled to lien. The application of the defendant respondent to raise the question of lien by a cross appeal involves two points. Notice of appeal was served May 15, and the appeal was settled June 2. No question of lien appeal or cross appeal was made before the court, Mr. Maclean argued.

CONVICTION SET ASIDE
Deputy Attorney-General Carter agreed to the setting aside of the conviction of Magistrate J. A. Maclean, North Vancouver, of Lee Soy Yuen for having opium in his possession. J. A. Maclean appeared for the appellant. From information since received, Mr. Carter said the conviction appeared unfair. Yuen was found in possession of smoked opium. He was a former addict, and used the smoked opium for stomach troubles.

ORDER NEW TRIAL
A new trial was ordered in the case started yesterday in the appeal of Ian Stinch against the judgment of Mr. Justice Murphy, who gave judgment against him for $1,345 and $100 in favor of Barron Douglas Maclean. The trial judge, the appellant, and Mr. H. MacNeill, K.C., for respondent. A motion by Mr. MacNeill to introduce new evidence was refused. The action was with financial transactions between the two Hindus in the joint purchase of German marks and bonds. A disagreement arose subsequently to the purchase, and the trial judge discredited the oral evidence entirely, and based his case on the documentary evidence.

WIFE CLAIMS GOODS
Judgment was reserved by their Lordships in a case which involved a wife's right to possession of certain articles which included furniture, a piano, a phonograph and an automobile which had been seized for her husband's debts. The case was that of Canary vs. Cohn against the judgment of Mr. Justice D. A. McNeill. The wife claimed there was no conclusive proof to show that the husband had presented the piano to his wife. The furniture was joint property, it was argued. It was admitted that the phonograph and automobile belonged to Mrs. Cohn. They were bought while she was a partner in her husband's business. A. H. MacNeill appeared for the defendant.

CRIMINAL APPEAL

Application to be heard in an appeal in a criminal case was granted. It was that of Rex vs. Lee Soy Yuen, in which accused was convicted by Magistrate R. A. Sargent at North Vancouver with having opium in his possession. J. A. Maclean for the appellant said the Deputy Attorney-General was agreeable to the placing of it on an early date.

BUILDING MOVE TO FOLLOW AUCTION SALE

Sixty-one Oak Bay Lots on Block Bring $25,700; More to go up Saturday

Sixty-one lots were sold for a total of $25,700 at yesterday's auction sale of Oak Bay property by Auctioneer Charles S. Austin, acting for the Oak Bay Lands Limited.
The lots brought from $200 to $1,300 each. One lot, however, on Lafayette Road, a dead end street back of Shoal Bay was knocked down for $150. The uplands lots brought from $50 to $1,300. Substantial overnight profits were available to-day on many of the purchases, as new buyers sought lots which were missing up at snap prices yesterday. Ben Naason got one of the uplands lots for $50. Right after the sale he was offered $1,000 for it but he had other matters to sell it to-day.

TWO BUY SAME LOT
Frank E. Barr and Coal-Eve were after the same lot on Uplands Road when it was knocked down for $1,000. Each thought he was the lucky one as they were sitting one behind the other and had made $1,000 bids. Mr. Barr settled the dispute to-day by Austin settling the dispute to-day by saying it was Mr. Barr's bid that had taken first. As soon as Mr. Barr was notified that the lot was awarded, he engaged a contractor to start building operations at once on a large home.

About 700 persons participated in yesterday afternoon's bidding in the big auction sale at the end of the Oak Bay car line. The sale will be continued Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

MANY NOW EAGER
This auction sale has started something, said Mr. Austin this morning. "People for the first time in years are now buying real estate again and making profits on it."
Inquiries to-day at our offices here indicate that there will be greater interest in the sale than yesterday and there are many others who now regret that they did not get in on the bargain, now that the bargain prices which ruled here so obvious and higher prices are being offered.

We are giving over to-day and Friday afternoon morning to persons who want to inspect the property to be offered Saturday afternoon.
As a result of this sale and what it has started there will be more building in Oak Bay during the next two months than there has been in the last five years. The buyers of the six uplands lots auctioned intend to build at once and as far as I have checked up about fifty per cent. of the buyers of Oak Bay lots intend to build.

SALE RESULTS PLEASE
Alfred Carmichael and David Leeming, heads of the Oak Bay Lands, said they were well satisfied with the sale as it had accomplished what its purpose of distributing the Oak Bay lots, re-created confidence in values in the district and given a sudden boom to home building there.

Some outside real estate men were present and bought property. Harry Leech, realty operator from Sania Monica, for $125 bought a small lot east of Mitchell Street on the south side of Oak Bay Avenue. This property is classed as semi-lots on the north side of Oak Bay Avenue and will build on it.

Lots around the corner of Newport Avenue and Margate Avenue brought from $250 to $400, according to size and outside location. Lots on Linkless Avenue ran from $200 to $275; those on St. Patrick Street from $200 to $250, while a large lot on the south side of Central Avenue, 96 feet frontage and 326 feet depth went for $600. Lots on New Harpshire Road of north of Oak Bay Avenue shire Road of north of Oak Bay Avenue brought $275 in most cases.

Mrs. Austin, wife of the auctioneer, went for $125 for 100 sq. ft. on Beach Drive just east of Transit Road. The lot is rocky and high, with a commanding view. Mr. Austin said his wife would make $1,000 on it.

ROTARIANS ASKED TO GIVE SUPPORT TO HOSPITAL DRIVE

Rotarians luncheon to-day at the Chamber of Commerce were addressed by Rev. Father Deeley on behalf of St. Joseph's Hospital. Father Deeley assured the club that he was making an appeal for financial support, but desired to enlist the active sympathy of the members towards the campaign. He gave a brief resume of the service given by the hospital in past years, the institution being the pioneer hospital of the city.

Extension of the buildings being completed by circumstances, the Sisters of St. Ann are appealing for aid for the first time since they came to Victoria.
Father Deeley pointed out that St. Joseph's Hospital is a truly public institution, and has never refused any patient admission because of lack of ability to pay.
Ninety per cent of the patients are non-Catholics, he asserted, and religious propaganda had no part in the hospital activities of the Sisters of St. Ann.
The construction of the proposed additions will cause the expenditure of almost half a million dollars in Victoria. Any support by the city's merchants would therefore be good business, Father Deeley said in closing.
At the demand of Stewart Williams, chairman of the acquaintance

THIRD ARREST IN WONG CASE

Vancover, June 18.—William Robinson, sought following investigation by the Provincial Police of the abduction of Wong Foon Sing, Chinese houseboy, was taken into custody at noon and appeared before Magistrate McQueen, who remanded him until June 25.

POPULAR COUPLE MARRIED LAST NIGHT

Miss Daisy Thompson Became Bride of Wilfred Moore Last Evening
Dean Quinlan officiated at the marriage last evening of Miss Margaret (Daisy) Thompson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Thompson, Cook Street, and Mr. Wilfred J. Moore, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moore, of Comox, V.I., formerly of Victoria.

The ceremony was performed at Christ the Redeemer at 8:30 in the presence of a large company of friends. The chancel had been prettily decorated with marguerite, syringa and carnations by girl friends of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin charmeuse and silk net embroidered with sequins and silver. Her tulle veil fell in train-like effect from her hair, where it was caught with orange-blossoms. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas, and her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Irene Moore, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, gowned in gold-figured crepe de Chine trimmed with ostrich and a hair band of gold, which she married a dead of gold, and a silver tea-bouquet of sweet peas. The little Misses Constance and Ruth Gilroy of Chemainus, attired in pink silk tulle, acted as trainbearers.

McMURRAY SHARES IN RAIL FREIGHT DEBATE

Ottawa, June 18.—Hon. E. J. McMurray, Liberal, North Winnipeg, and Sir Henry Drayton, Conservative, West York, shared in the debate on the railway freight legislation in the Commons yesterday.

Mr. McMurray said the cancellation of the Crow's agreement was a mistake. The Board of Railway Commissioners, he said, had acted with "undue and indecent haste" in setting aside the Magna Charta of Western Canada's transportation rights. Since 1877 the agreement had been the policy of Liberal and Conservative Governments alike. The Railway Commission should have hesitated to remove it. Mr. McMurray was dissatisfied with the attitude of the Government on the whole question.

Mr. McMurray urged that Western Canada should have at least one more representative on the Railway Commission. If possible each western province should have a representative.

He also thought Western Canada should have another judge on the Supreme Court bench.

Mr. McMurray did not see why the Canadian National Railway, with its easier grades and lower operating cost in the mountains, could not reduce rates to the level of the C.P.R. to reduce also.

He thought Western Canada was being made to pay whenever the railways found they needed more money. The roads could not increase rates in Eastern Canada, because of water competition.

Mr. McMurray thought the legislation was unfair to British Columbia and consequently unfair to a large section of the prairies.

DRAYTON'S VIEWS

Sir Henry Drayton, Conservative, West York, said the last two days' debate had proved only one thing and that was that Parliament was not the proper body to consider freight rates. He thought there had been too much sectional talk. It was absurd for the West to say Eastern Canada was a "barren" territory to pay for. The East had transcontinental railways and the "barren" ridge in Northern Ontario. It was "perfect nonsense" to say the West was shouldering the cost of transportation through unsettled country.

Sir Henry also branded as "sectionalism" the suggestion by Mr. McMurray that railway commissioners be appointed to represent the West. He thought the Dominion wanted only the best man, no matter where he came from.

DID NOT SQUARE

Hon. T. A. Crerar interrupted to say that while he did not altogether disagree with Sir Henry, the argument the latter was presenting did not square with the proposal to equalize freight rates, afraid to look as if the equalization of rates was "a hazy dream."

Sir Henry agreed with Mr. Crerar that equalization would be very difficult of attainment.

Sir Henry said that in 1917 the freight earnings per ton per mile in Eastern Canada were sixty-nine, and in Western Canada, seventy. If any one could show a closer approximation than that he would like to see it.

DO YOU ACT TOWARDS YOUR WIFE AS YOU DID BEFORE YOU MARRIED HER?

"Exactly. I remember how I used to act when I first fell in love with her. I used to lean over the fence in front of her house and gaze at her under the curtain, afraid to go in. And I act just the same way now when I get home late."

PRINCESS CHARTERED TO TAKE CONVENTION CROWD TO VANCOUVER

President Madison Brings Large Body of Several Hundred From Seattle Here on Saturday; Princess Victoria Carrying Portion of Delegates to Vancouver Following Visit Here.

According to an announcement made here this morning the Princess Victoria, speedy coast steamer of the Canadian Pacific fleet, has been chartered to take a large body of delegates from the foreign trade convention meeting in Seattle next week from Victoria to Vancouver. The Princess, recently overhauled and put in good condition for Summer work, is well suited for such a trip as this will be and it is stated that she will carry about 200 passengers to the mainland.

The President Madison, as has already been announced, will bring the delegates here from Seattle on Saturday of next week. There will be a large number of them, together with Seattle business men, but just how many it is impossible to judge. The Madison brings them in following the convention in the Victoria to the Washington port and the Victoria takes at least a portion of them away again. The remainder return to Seattle on the Madison.

WANT CANADIAN AND U.S. PILOTS ON SAME FOOTING

Victoria Delegates Will Bring Matter Before Ottawa Convention; Criticize United States Mosquito Fleet of Rum Chasers With High Angle Guns

Equal right for British Columbia and United States pilots in Pacific Coast waters will be fought for by Victoria delegates attending the Great War Veterans conference at Ottawa commencing June 24. At present the United States pilots have rights which the Canadian pilots do not enjoy, the local men claim. W. G. Stone who leaves Victoria to-morrow on his way to Ottawa will enlist the support of the Vancouver delegation in the fight. Present regulations permit a United States pilot to operate in Canadian waters, he asserts, whereas a Canadian pilot would be turned off a boat entering United States waters. The B. C. delegation will ask that pilots of both countries be treated alike and enter B. C. pilots be permitted to enter U.S. waters or that U. S. pilots be barred from Canadian waters.

The convention also requires publicly or export licenses for all armaments material that can be used for war.

The convention will be discussed by the Victoria local, in which it was asserted that under the guise of prohibition enforcement the United States was building up a mosquito fleet of armed boats equipped with high angle guns suitable for anti-aircraft warfare will also be brought before the convention.

More consideration for ex-service pilots from Government-owned boats and a Federal examination of all pilots will also be called for.

Empire migration will be discussed and consideration for ex-service men traveling to different parts of the Empire. A problem has been created by disabled men from other parts of the Empire entering Canada and being thrown upon the same labor market as Canadian returned men.

Revaluation of soldier farms will be discussed. The convention, it being argued by the Victoria and prairie delegates that the land on which many of the ex-service men settled under the Government plan were taken over at boom prices, far above the actual value.

TRAFFIC HEAVY FROM AUSTRALIA TO CANADA NOW

Shipping Man Says Movement Between Two Countries on Increase

"Passenger travel from Canada to Australia, and from the Antipodes to this country is exceptional this year, especially aboard R.M.S. Aorangi, the painted new motorship which has taken the place of the Makura in this service," said James C. Irons, manager for the Canadian Australasian Royal Mail Line at Vancouver.

Mr. Irons is a visitor in this city to-day and speaks in words of praise of Victoria as a centre of attraction for visitors to this continent from the south and from all parts of the world.

"There is much to please the eye and rest the mind in Victoria. It is a pleasure-ground of tourists and should have a great future. In years to come it will be remembered as one of the most beautiful cities in the world, even though the smoke of factories shall dim the whiteness of its natural buildings. Victoria will not only be popular with tourists, it needs no advertising."

Mr. Irons is satisfied with the conditions prevailing on the Pacific with the travel from Australia to this port, and southbound as well. He says that this will ultimately grow bigger and bigger, and that trade between Canada and Australia will flourish to the satisfaction of all concerned.

SOUTH SAANICH

A very enjoyable evening was spent by the members of the South Saanich Young People's Club on Monday evening, when the regular meeting took the form of a bonfire party at Island View, arranged by the special committee in charge of Miss Blanch Sherring. There was an excellent attendance of members, and several visitors present. Besides other items of business, arrangements were made for the forthcoming picnic, which it was decided to hold on July 25. Through the kind permission of Mr. McDonald of Sidney this event will be held on the grounds at his home. After the adjournment, games were played on the sands, and later popcorn and sandwiches and cake were partaken of by all present, bringing the evening to a close.

EFFECTIVE

At one of the theological colleges it is the custom for students to take turns in asking a blessing before meals.

Last term the meat had not been as tender as the students thought it should be. The eyes of the faculty were opened to the fact when one day a young student offered the following blessing: "O Lord, give us strength to eat this meat."

ALABAMA LOWERS SPEED RECORD SET BY ARIZONA

O.S.K. Liner Made Port Last Night After Averaging 14.08 Knots

Lowering the speed record of the Onaka Shosen Kaisha's Pacific fleet, the Alabama Maru docked here at 9 o'clock last night from the Orient, having reeled off an average of 14.08 knots throughout the voyage. The Arizona Maru's record was 14.05 knots.

Fine weather made the speedy crossing possible, and although the ship maintained an steady speed, her skipper, Capt. G. Fuchigami, never pressed her.

The Alabama's silk consignment, totaling 8,636 bales, was valued at $4,000,000. It will be rushed from Seattle by a special freight train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul tracks.

Rubber and porcelain made up the bulk of the cargo for the mainland and general freight was put ashore through the pier. The vessel was alongside the Rithet pier.

The ship left for Seattle about 10.30 last night.

There were four hundred passengers on the ship who disembarked at Victoria. The remainder of a total list of thirty-six proceeded to Seattle. There were twenty-five Oriental students aboard. Altogether there were thirteen first saloon and twenty-three steerage.

RUM SEAPLANE AND THREE MEN SEIZED

Seattle, June 18.—A rum-running seaplane with a cargo of twenty captured by Federal prohibition agents on Lake Washington last night. Officers declared liquor had been brought into Seattle at the rate of a thousand cases a month by the plane as flown by Glenn Holt, aviator. L. H. Swisher, reputed former captain in the United States army, and George Roseman, shore helper, were arrested as they attempted to unload the liquor onto a waiting eight-cylinder automobile. The automobile was also seized.

The aerial liquor depot was in Champagne Bay, just across the lake from the Sand Point aviation field. The seaplane had been observing the flights of the plane for several weeks and had timed its arrival to coincide with the plane's landing. The plane was required for a round trip from the "Canadian" landing across from Whidbey Island, the watchers observed.

Last night the dry agents pounced upon the plane as the rum was being unloaded. The plane was towed to the shore near where the automobile had stopped a short time before.

Eddie Hubbard, pioneer Seattle aviator, who makes his headquarters at the airport, was Holt's teacher in flying. The liquor pilot told police.

"I only look a twenty-minute lesson in flying, you know," he said. "Eddie Hubbard taught me. In this same machine I have won a number of races, and I'll tell the world I got a thrill."

CHURCH PROTEST IS MADE IN WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, June 18—Action is being taken by the Continuing Presbyterian Church in this city to prevent the taking of a vote in the Presbyterian churches here Sunday June 21 on the question of entering the United Church of Canada.

The necessary legal documents for the purpose of serving an injunction on the Presbyterian churches in Winnipeg are being prepared and will be served at the earliest possible moment. A. A. Praeger, solicitor for the Manitoba Presbyterian Church Association, stated today.

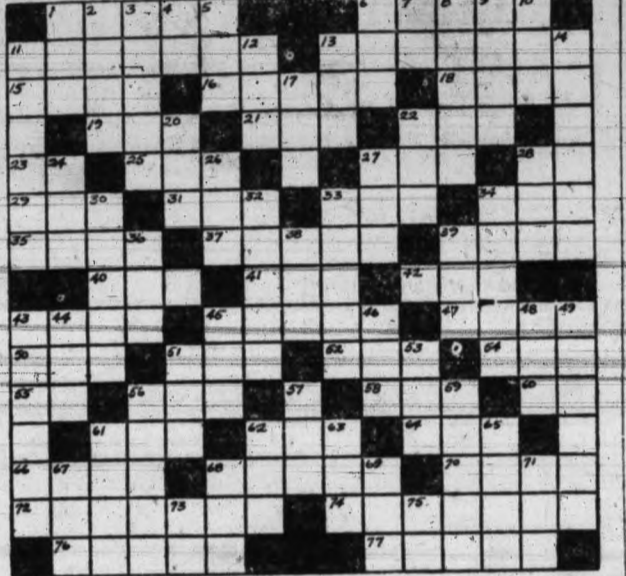

It is understood the Continuing Church will claim it is against the Lord's Day Act to transfer property on the Sabbath or transact other business. It is also claimed the Federal act in regard to church union should be the only adopted, and not the Manitoba provincial act.

"The Steadfast Heart"

By Clarence Budington Kelland

On the day when Dave Wilkins made his first appearance out of doors and was sitting emaciated and weak in a big chair on Craig Brown's porch, Mr. Woodhouse had been engaged on some such plans for Angus. On his way to the bank he had chanced to pass the house and Wilkins waved to him a thin and feeble hand.

"Young man," said Mr. Woodhouse, as he turned in at the gate, "this is good-looking, unexpected, too." Dave replied, "I'm wondering if I'm not an anticlimax."

"There were times when hope was faint," said the old gentleman, depositing his shining silk hat on the railing. "And, as to being an anticlimax, Wilkins, it's a thing no man can be—so long as he retains one useful muscle in his body."

"The most useful muscle in the human body," said Dave, is located inside the skull. As I have laid here, utterly useless, I have wondered if my life in bed were not about as useful as any of my active life has managed to be."

"What have I done? What have I been? What have I accomplished? I'm stepping along toward fifty, Mr. Woodhouse, and the sum total of my victories is that I've kept a one-horse paper out of bankruptcy for twenty years."

"The sum total of your victories, Wilkins, is that you have lived a life which has gained you many friends—and the respect of your enemies."

Dave laughed shortly. "That's like saying that a man's life has been a funeral procession ever seen in town."

The world seems to have wagged pretty efficiently without my utility, anyhow. . . . But editorial advice, anyhow. . . . I've had a substitute." His eyes glistened.

"I'm marveling at Angus," said Mr. Woodhouse, "Do you remember when I first saw him? I shortly confess I was dubious. He hadn't the look of workable raw material."

"It was always there. . . . Didn't I tell you he couldn't have so much skull behind his ears for nothing. . . . I've laid upstairs and tried to imagine what it must have meant to him to come back to Rainbow to face Rainbow. . . . There are different sorts of heroism, Mr. Woodhouse—and some sorts are about as good as others. . . . How have the folks treated him?"

"So far," said Mr. Woodhouse, "more as a curiosity than as a menace. . . . But it hasn't been easy for him. Rainbow resents him. When his interest in watching him walk on his hind legs has worn off, it will resent him more actively. If he had shown he was afraid the town would have been on his back before this, but he hasn't shown it. I wonder if he feels it—if he understands."

"He understands," said Dave, "better than you or I can ever hope to understand."

"In another month you'll be fit for work," said Henry G.

Dave regarded him inquiringly.

"Your paper—it doesn't offer opportunities for more than one. When you go back there'll be no place for Angus."

"Wherever I am," Dave said fiercely, "there will always be a place for Angus."

"Isn't it possible he could do better elsewhere? . . . College, say?"

"He shan't go away again. . . . He's back with me—to stay. I won't let him go."

"If there were something in Rainbow's success because he had the longest funeral procession ever seen in town."

"Where?" asked Dave bitterly.

"I've been watching the boy. He seems to have qualities; a sort of dogged industry, patience, carefulness of detail. Mightn't those qualities be useful in—say—a bank?"

"You wouldn't dare," said Dave.

"I were always with him—yet always

SCHOOL DAYS By DWIG

Henry G. elevated his eyebrows, but made no retort. "I would like to place him in my bank—in a modest place, you know—to help me and to be useful all around—where he could render the business."

Henry G. unconsciously assumed his most dignified bearing, and tinged it with severity. "It would do no harm," he said, "for myself to thank you." He said, "I'll put it up to Angus."

"By all means. Discuss the matter with him. The place, and all of my confidence and backing, will be ready for him when you can spare him."

Dave watched the erect, stately old man so aristocratic, so aloof, so lonely in his exclusiveness, yet so kindly, so scrupulously honorable, so sweet and human within the shell which grief had hardened around him. Unhurried, unharried, Henry G. Woodhouse pursued his way through the world, and from the fine calm of his face one might read that it was a well-nigh broken heart. The corroding grief and disgrace of his daughter's disappearance; the suspense of the mystery surrounding her whereabouts, her fate, her reported death; were always with him—yet always twice, in indecision, he reached toward a small, locked drawer, but as often withdrew his hand and shook his head. . . . In that little drawer were five photographs of his daughter Kate, the first in infancy, the last in young womanhood. He looked at them almost never. To-day he did not look at them, but resolutely set his hands to the work which called him, putting from his thoughts that which had been and that which might have been—and could never be. . . .

Angus Burke, uninformed of the plans being made for him by others, sat in Dave Wilkins's chair in Dave Wilkins's room. He was busy. Even the few months of his man-life had altered him; at once he looked younger and more mature; he looked less phlegmatic and more determined. His face was not less heavy to a first glance, but a second made one grasp after the elusive wreath of a new expression—one which was there, yet vanished under the eye. . . . Presently he arose, put on his hat, and walked to the hotel for supper. He had taken to going to the hotel after deliberation. After the meal he went to see Dave Wilkins, whom he found, blanket-wrapped in the Brownian's parlor.

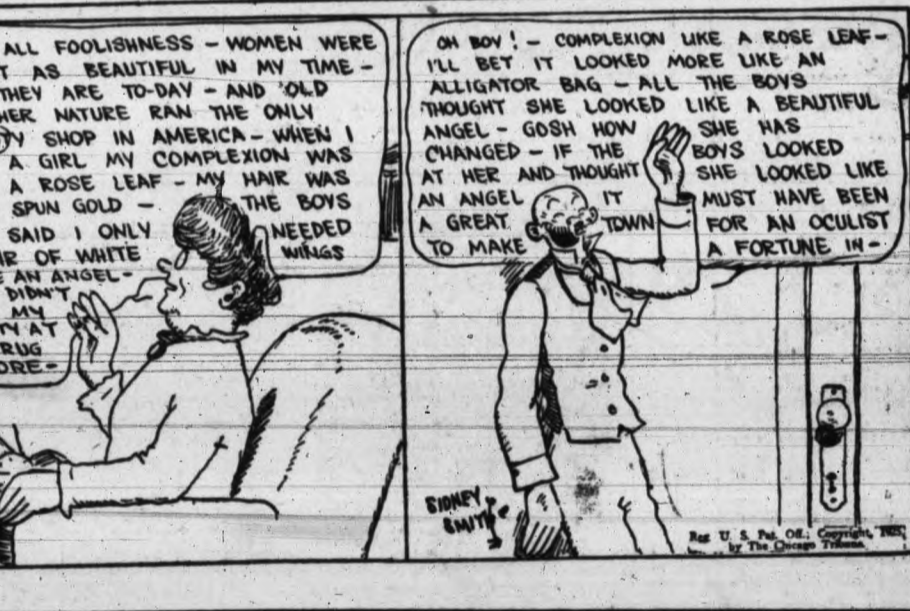

"Well," said Dave happily, "I'm almost a man again to-day."

The International Association of Parks Commissioners of the Pacific Coast will convene in Victoria, for the first time since organized in 1919, on July 7 and 8. Delegates from most of the cities between Los Angeles and Calgary are expected to attend.

Alderman Woodward is president of the association being elected at last year's convention at Yakima. John Baxter, secretary to the Mayor, will be convention secretary.

The business sessions of the convention will take place at the Empress Hotel, and will open at 9 o'clock on Tuesday, July 7, with an official welcome to the city.

Inspection of the city's parks will occupy the afternoon, and a banquet in the evening will be held at the Empress Hotel, at which Hon. Dr. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, has been invited to speak. Other guests of the convention will include Mayor Penderay and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart.

On the afternoon of Wednesday a tour of Butchart's Gardens will be the feature entertainment offered the delegates. Election of officers will close the convention proceedings on Thursday.

The Interferences of Daddles

A DUTY DISCHARGED

I do certainly wish it were possible for even twenty-five per cent of the inhabitants of this City of Victoria to have seen what I have seen, and to have heard what I have heard during the past five weeks in my self imposed task of finding out all about the great Carnival which will open its gates to Victorians and their guests within a short week.

Could they have witnessed the quiet but steady flow of work going on, irrespective of much unconstructive criticism, could they have talked to a few only of the members who, undiscouraged by lack of adequate help and support, and intent only on making a success of the Carnival, worked steadily ahead, they would have bowed their heads in humble admiration of the wonderful spirit prompting these loyal souls who are "carrying on" and slowly but surely building up for the lasting benefit of Victoria what will ultimately prove to be the finest and fullest week of carnival Victoria has witnessed since a carnival became a yearly occurrence.

This is not flattery publicity. It is written in sincere admiration of the workers, and as an outcome of personal contact with them and their work over a period of weeks.

For example I wonder the man in the street realizes the full magnitude of the debt Victoria owes to Dr. Clem Davies and Bob Webb for their work in connection with the drive for funds to finance the Carnival.

These gentlemen had little, if anything, to do with the initial discussions at the early public meetings which led up to the decision to hold the Carnival, nor had they anything whatsoever to do with the details of the Carnival itself, nor with its finances. But when, in a pinch they were asked to take hold of an onerous task, a task which would necessitate the surrender of numerous business engagements and with nothing to gain save the satisfaction of a duty discharged, they cheerfully stepped into the breach. And they succeeded in doing the seemingly impossible. To them and their willing, if small, band of canvassers can be ascribed the main success which has attained the appeal to the public for funds.

To them and the other enthusiasts who are shouldering the burden I take my hat. They care not why the Carnival, this year, is being held on July 1, nor do they concern themselves with any of the idle criticisms they hear. They are only concerned in going ahead and seeing to it that Victoria's reputation will be further enhanced by the entertainment offered its guests during the forthcoming Carnival.

Some of us, I fancy, are going to feel mighty mean when, as the Carnival programme unfolds itself day by day, and the lasting results of the work of the last two months is gradually revealed, we realize how little we did to help produce it or to add to the prestige of this our city. I know I shall! But I also realize there is still time to help!

PLEASANT TIME SPENT AT I.O.O.F. HALL LAST EVENING

Columbia Lodge No 2 Banquet Their Wives and Sweethearts

Although there is a social evening at one of the lodges of Odd Fellows almost every week, the event last evening, when Columbia Lodge, No.

2, entertained their wives and sweethearts, was one of the most elaborate which has taken place there for some time.

At 9.30, 200 gathered around the festive board, which had been decorated with the lodge colors, the tables being bountifully laden with all the delicacies which go to make a banquet a success.

The programme was an excellent one, encores being called for in many cases several times. There was not a dull moment from the time that the Noble Grand, A. Foubister, proposed the toast to the King until the singing of the National Anthem at 11.30.

A few brief remarks were made by the chairman, S. V. Bowers, welcoming the guests of the evening, showing how the members of Columbia lodge and their wives had progressed in the different branches of the order and especially welcoming the widows of the deceased members who were present. The toast was then proposed "Our Wives and Sweethearts." Mr. H. F. Bishop, a member of long standing, responding in a pleasing manner.

"The Grand Lodge of British Columbia" was proposed by Anton Henderson, P.G.M., and responded to by E. Dewar on behalf of the representatives of the recent meeting at Revelstoke, of which he was one.

"The Rebekah Assembly" was proposed by J. Gardiner, who has just been appointed District Deputy Grand Master for this district, and was responded to in an able manner by the new President of the Rebekah Assembly, Mrs. J. Hay of this city.

The programme, which was well balanced, was as follows: Vocal solo, Miss Verdie Johnstone; violin selection, Dr. W. Bryce; quar-ette selections, Mrs. De Gruchy, Miss Moore, Mr. French and Mr. Smith; recitation, Mrs. W. D. Todd; vocal solo, Miss T. Grant; selection by the quartette; solo Mrs. G. Norris; National anthem.

The accompanists were Mrs. Tice, Miss Vera Bickie and Miss Viola Johnstone.

Mr. King said the committee had been created for the purpose of only considering a proper design and the report of the committee would be made to Parliament.

IMPORTANT—In preparing feeding mixtures it is imperative that all utensils, bottles, nipples, etc., should be sterilized in boiling water before using. Use a dry spoon in removing contents from the can, and in measuring be careful to pour from can to spoon, allowing the milk in the spoon to level itself. Repeat this procedure with every spoonful measured, using the same spoon every time. This will insure accurate measurement and produce the best results.

DIET FOR CHILD DURING THE SECOND YEAR

Usually after the twelfth month, the mother should select a diet schedule. Every new article of food should be carefully prepared, and given at first in very small quantities. All meals are to be given regularly, with nothing between meals. With many children this expansion of the diet list is attended with considerable difficulty. They are thoroughly satisfied with milk, and refuse all other form of nourishment. In such cases, withhold the milk until the child is used to the new food. If both are given at the same time, the child will prefer the milk and when he has finished drinking it he will refuse the solid food. The following diet schedule will permit the mother to select a suitable meal from the foods listed. It is never advisable to make a change in diet during very hot weather.

NOTE: One teaspoonful of EAGLE BRAND CONDENSED MILK added to one ounce of boiled water results in a mixture equivalent in nutritive value to whole milk. Whenever the word milk appears in the following diet, EAGLE BRAND should be diluted accordingly.

12th to 15th MONTH—FIVE MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Oatmeal, barley, or wheat jelly, one to two tablespoonfuls in 6 or 8 ounces of milk. Stale bread and butter, or rusk and butter.

9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.

11 A.M.—Scraped rare beef, one to three tablespoonfuls, mixed with equal quantity of bread and moistened with beef-juice. Or a soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs; a piece of rusk and 6 or 8 ounces of milk.

3 P.M.—Beef, chicken, or mutton broth, with rice or stale bread broken into the broth. Six ounces of milk, if wanted. Stale bread and butter or rusk and butter. Many children at the above age will take and digest apple sauce and prune pulp; when these are given, milk should be omitted.

6 P.M.—Two tablespoonfuls of cereal jelly in 8 ounces of milk; a piece of rusk. Stale bread and butter.

10 P.M.—A tablespoonful of cereal jelly in 8 ounces of milk.

15th to 18th MONTH—FOUR MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Oatmeal, hominy, cornmeal, each cooked three hours the day before they are used. When the cooking is completed the cereal should be of the consistency of a thin paste. This is strained through a colander, which upon cooling will form a mass of jelly-like consistence. Of this give two or three tablespoonfuls, served with milk, 8 or 10 ounces of milk as a drink. Toast.

9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.

11 A.M.—A soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs, or one tablespoonful of scraped beef mixed with stale bread-crumbs and moistened with beef-juice. A drink of milk. Rusk or bran biscuit, or stale bread and butter.

3 P.M.—Mutton, chicken, or beef broth, with rice or junket or with stale bread broken in the broth. Custard, corn-starch, plain rice pudding, junket, stewed prunes, baked apple or apple sauce.

6 P.M.—Farina, cream of wheat, wheatena (cooked two hours). Give from one to three tablespoonfuls, served with milk. A drink of milk. Rusk or stale bread and butter.

18th to 24th MONTH—FOUR MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Cornmeal, oatmeal, hominy (prepared as in the above schedule). Serve with milk, or with butter and salt. A soft-boiled egg every two or three days. Hard chicken on toast occasionally. A drink of milk. Bran biscuit and butter, or stale bread and butter.

9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.

11 A.M.—Rare beef minced or scraped; the heart of a lamb chop, finely cut. Chicken. Spinach, asparagus tips, squash, strained stewed tomatoes, stewed carrots, mashed cauliflower. Baked apple or apple-sauce. Stale bread and butter. After the twenty-first month, baked potatoes and well-cooked strained beans.

3 P.M.—Chicken, beef or mutton broth, with rice or with stale bread broken into the broth. Custard, corn-starch, or plain rice pudding, junket, stewed prunes. Bran biscuit and butter or stale bread and butter.

6 P.M.—Farina, cream of wheat, wheatena (each cooked two hours). Give one to three tablespoonfuls, served with milk, or with butter and salt. A drink of milk. Rusk or stale bread and butter.

The following suggestions have proved to be helpful when properly used with Eagle Brand Condensed Milk.

Always pour the milk from the can into the spoon—allowing it to level itself but not run over. You can readily understand that by dipping the spoon into the can you get more than a level spoonful, because of the milk that would adhere to the bottom of the spoon. This is important.

When you have added the milk to the water stir thoroughly. After opening, it is safe to leave the milk in the original can. We recommend that you cover the can tightly with an inverted cup, and keep it in a cool, clean place.

- ORANGE JUICE
When baby is four months old, give one teaspoonful of strained orange juice, diluted with equal quantity of boiled water, once daily before feeding time. Gradually increase the amount until you are giving the strained juice of a half of an orange undiluted, once daily before feeding time. Orange juice may be continued until child is old enough to eat other fruits as well as oranges.
- OATMEAL JELLY
When baby is five months old, add one teaspoonful of oatmeal jelly to each feeding. Gradually increase the amount until you are adding three tablespoonfuls of oatmeal jelly to each feeding. To make oatmeal jelly add four ounces of oatmeal to one pint of water; boil for three hours in a double boiler, and add enough water so when cooking is completed a thin paste will be formed. This while hot is forced through a strainer to remove coarser particles. When cold a semi-mass will be formed. Oatmeal jelly may be continued until child is old enough to eat well cooked whole cereals.
- CONSTIPATION
Oatmeal water very often relieves this condition. To make oatmeal water add one heaping tablespoonful of oatmeal to one pint of water, and boil for three hours in a double boiler. This will make a little more than half a pint of thick gruel to which add one pint of water that has been boiled. After straining mixture through fine strainer, you should have a little more than a pint of whitish liquid. This should be used with each feeding instead of the plain boiled water. If you find that this makes bowels too loose, dilute oatmeal water with plain boiled water. Barley or rice water may be used instead of oatmeal water. If necessary two to three drops of plain codliver oil may be given twice daily added to the morning and night feedings.
- DIARRHEA
Give nothing but plain boiled water for twenty-four hours. Then start feeding with barley water, or rice water, to which has been added a little salt to improve the taste. If these feedings are retained, and bowel movements lessened, small amounts of very weak regular feedings may be started and gradually increased according to baby's condition. If your baby does not improve after trying the above suggestions, consult your doctor at once.
- BARLEY WATER
Obtain the very best barley flour. Add one rounded tablespoonful to one pint of water. Boil for thirty minutes, strain; then add enough water to make one pint.
- RICE WATER
Add one tablespoonful of rice to a pint of water. Boil three hours, adding water from time to time so that you will have one pint of rice water at the end of the three hours.
- LIME WATER
It is seldom necessary to use lime water with Eagle Brand Milk but should there be undigested particles of food in the bowel movements (which seem to be otherwise normal) or should there be vomiting of large curds shortly after feeding—or colic—it would be then advisable to try lime water. Obtain freshly prepared lime water at the Druggists, which add 1 to 2 teaspoonfuls to each feeding.
- COLIC OR VOMITING
These conditions may be due to over feeding, or constipation. Reduce quantity of food and use constipation formula, or lime water formula, as given above.
