P R E F A C E .

So much desire has been expressed during many years for the publication of the record of baptisms, in the Dutch church, that an effort has been successfully made to gratify it, and the result is presented in this volume. Not only has every name on record in those archives been transcribed, with the dates of births, baptisms, marriages, and deaths, as fully as they have been entered, but all names and dates that have been found in other places, are here grouped with them by families and arranged alphabetically, forming an extensive collection of genealogical information, pertaining to the ancient inhabitants of this city, extending over a period of nearly two centuries.

Following these is an arrangement of house lots into tables, forming a street directory of the city from the year 1650 onward, with the dates of patents and transfers of city lots, a most extraordinary achievement, the result of long and patient research by Prof. Jonathan Pearson, of Union College. It is hardly possible to over estimate the value of these results, or to appreciate the labor bestowed upon their discovery and arrangement. They serve to show the residences of the inhabitants of this city, of whom so much has been said in these annals, as they were located two centuries ago, and to mark the changes of ownership from time to time down to a comparatively recent period,

The annals of the two years embraced in that portion termed Notes from the Newspapers, show an unusual mortality among citizens who occupied eminent positions, or who will be remembered for various qualities. Among these may be mentioned, Gen. Stephen Van Rensselaer, the last of the patroons; Dr. Alden March, Prof. Amos Dean, the Rev. William James, the Rev. Isaac N. Wyckoff, Richard V. DeWitt, John S. Van Rensselaer, James Edwards, Peter Cagger, Charles L. Elliot, S. P. Jermain, Volkert P. Douw, B. P. Johnson, N. S. Benton, Dr. Pomfret, Isaac Vanderpoel, Dr. Wade, Egbert Egberts, Wm. Smith, Cyrus Hawley, Capt. R. W. Sherman, H. B. Haswell, W. A. Wharton, P. A. Sabbaton, Capt. Wm. Adams, Duncau McKercher, Wm. Mascraft, Matthew Burton, F. H. Hastings, F. L. Yates, Joseph B. Taylor, Gilbert C. Davidson, Thomas Noonan, Silas B. Howe, Joel W. Andrews, and others with whom we have been long familiar; all of whom passed off the stage of life during the years 1868 and 1869.

The same period witnessed the demolition of the Church on the corner of Beaver and Pearl streets, the most ancient church edifice in the city, known as the Old Brick, and of the market house opposite to it, and the erection of modern edifices on their sites; the erection of an unusual number of new churches; the removal of the burial grounds; the completion of the Susquehanna rail road; the paving of streets with wood; the beginning of a new capitol; the introduction of street fountains; the appearance and disappearance of velocipedes; the advent of the Cardiff giant!

The remainder of the volume is devoted to the County Records begun in the previous volume, to which reference was made in the preface to the same. The index contains the name of every person mentioned in the book, with references to all pages on which such name occurs.

This series of historical events now consists of ten volumes of Annals, and four of Collections. It was begun almost a quarter of a century ago, and has been prolonged in deference to the encouragement of a few who have taken an interest in these matters. The publisher will ever have a grateful recollection of their sympathy and support. But as there must be an ending somewhere, it is proposed to make it here. It is therefore almost certain that this volume will close the work, although so much remains unpublished.

ALBANY PAPERS.

NOTES FROM THE NEWSPAPERS.

1868.

JANUARY 4. Snow fell all day, but the temperature was above freezing point, and it melted as it fell in many places. Lowest temperature, 30°.....Mary, wife of Patrick Mullen, died, aged 38. John Seits died, aged 36. Mrs. Madden died, aged 60.

5. Air, highest 34, lowest 10.

6. Air, h. 12, l. 9.....Charles William Teelen died, aged 24. Mary J. Davenport, wife of J. W. Patten, died, aged 42.

7. Temperature at zero. At 6 o'clock in the morning a meteorolite exploded in the eastern sky, like a rocket, casting a brilliant light upon the earth, and leaving a horizontal bar of light which gradually faded during about sixty seconds.

8. Benedict Lewis died, aged 28. Philip Sohni died, aged 34.

9. Mary G. Redden died, aged 79.

10. Joseph B. Taylor died in New York, aged 45. He was one of the firm of John Taylor & Sons, which but very recently consisted of the father and four sons, now reduced to one, William H. Taylor, alderman of third ward. Joseph B. had resided some time in New York at the head of that branch of the firm, and was a member of the board of supervisors of that city. His remains were brought to this city for interment..... Mary Veeder, wife of Henry Niles, died, aged 49.

11. James S. Hitchcock died, aged 49.

12. William B. Wright, chief judge of the court of appeals died, aged 61. In 1846 he was a member of the Constitutional Convention from Sullivan county; 1846, was a member of assembly, and was an unsuccessful candidate for speaker; 1847, was elected judge of the supreme court, and was twice reelected; 1861, was elected one of the judges of the court of appeals, which office he held at the time of his death.....Christiana, wife of D. A. Bulson, died, aged 57.

13. Mary Ann Mullaly, wife of John Riley, died, aged 36.

14. Rebecca Vandervolgen died, aged 74. Michael A. Bigley died, aged 41. Eliza Rolman, wife of H. A. Anthony, died, aged 34. Charles H. Campbell died, aged 28.

26. Air, h. 26, l. 14..... Amos Dean died, aged 65. Professor Dean was well known in the city, and was respected and esteemed as thoroughly as he was known. He was born in Barnard, Vermont, on the 16th of January, 1803. He taught school at times while pursuing his academic studies. He graduated at Union College in 1826. He then, or very soon after, came to Albany, and entered upon the study of the law in the office of his uncle, the late Jabez D. Hammond, who was then in partnership with Judge Alfred Conkling. He was admitted to practice at the May term of the supreme court in 1829, and since then had been assiduously and earnestly engaged in his profession. For several years and during the earlier period of his practice, he was associated with Azor Taber, then recognized as one of our most eminent lawyers. The firm possessed an extensive practice, and attained an honorable fame. Professor Dean never assumed to attain celebrity as an advocate before juries. While he possessed marked abilities as an orator, which could have been educated to an eminent order by practice, his instincts and tastes led him to another field of industry in his profession. His amiability of disposition, his natural reserve, his kindly nature, his guilelessness, and his overflowing charity, repelled him from the theatre of professional strife and conflict. He was peculiarly adapted to the duties of the office and the counsel room. Here he became eminent for wisdom, prudence and sagacity, and these qualities added to that higher and nobler one of an impeachable integrity, brought to him clients, success and fame. Professor Dean was a scholar. He was such by education, study and taste. This led him to appreciate the benefits of, and to aid in the advancement of popular education. Impressed with such purposes, he in very early manhood conceived the plan of establishing associations for the mental improvement of young men. In 1833 he gathered about him a few young friends of kindred tastes in an office in the city, and there planted the germ of the Albany Young Men's Association, from which has grown the hundreds of kindred institutions that have since blessed the country by their beneficent influences. Upon the organization of the Association, Mr. Dean was by common and intuitive choice selected as its first president. By the energy and sagacity of his administration the foundation was laid for the erection of that noble edifice of popular education, from which for thirty-four years so much intellectual and moral light has been shed upon the youth of our city, and which has been adopted as the model for so many like structures in all sections of the union. In 1838 he was associated with Doctors March and Armsby in establishing the Albany Medical College, and from that time to 1859 held in it the position of professor of medical jurisprudence. When the law department of our University was established, Mr. Dean was wisely and appropriately chosen as one of its professors. In this sphere, so well adapted to his tastes, his talents and virtues shone most brightly. His pupils, scattered over all the land, will bear testimony to the value of his instruction. Professor Dean has attained some eminence in the field of authorship and literature. In early life he delivered a series of able and interesting Lectures on Phrenology, a science then in the embryo of infancy, and which lectures were subsequently embodied in a book. He was the author at an early age of a Manual of Law, which proved to be a valuable aid to business men. He was, at various times, the author of several able and valuable addresses and lectures upon subjects of public interest. In 1833, he delivered the annual address before the Albany Institute on the Philosophy of History. He delivered several lectures before the Young Men's Association during the first two years of its existence. He delivered an eulogy upon the death of Jesse Buel before the State Agricultural Society, and an annual address before the senate of Union College. But his greatest achievement in the walks of literature has not yet been given to the world. For several years past he has been employed in writing a History of Civilization. He had manuscript sufficient to constitute several volumes, and had been looking forward hopefully to the day when his work should have reached its consummation.¹ His industry, research and ability, gave assurance of the merit and attraction of the work. We have spoken of the deceased only as a professional and public man. Did we seek to add panegyrics to his memory, we should speak of his qualities as a man and of his virtues in his private life. Herein, if possible, his character was higher and nobler than in any other walk of life. To a thorough scholarship, solid intellect, practical wisdom, and sharp-sighted sagacity he united a pleasing address, a quiet demeanor, a generosity of sentiment, and an absence of guile that endeared him most strongly to all who fell within the circle of his companionship. His death leaves a void which will be keenly appreciated and deeply mourned by our citizens, and by all who knew him.—Evening Journal..... Ferdinand Schultz died.

¹Since the above was written, the great work of Prof. Dean, upon which he spent nearly a quarter of a century of labor, has been published in seven octavo volumes.

29. Air, h. 13, l. 10.....The South Pearl Street Theatre, built in 1825, and known as the Academy of Music, was destroyed by fire. It was owned by Hugh J. Hastings, and was leased by Miss A. G. Trimble. The building was insured at $20,000. The properties were an entire loss, and only the walls of the edifice remained..... Gilbert C. Davidson died in New York, aged 51. He was struck down by paralysis, while spending a few days at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Humphrey, in Oswego county, but had so far recovered that he was taken to New York only a day or two before his death, accompanied by his wife, son and brother. Hopes were entertained of his recovery, but death came sooner than was expected. Mr. D. commenced life as a clerk in the store of Corning, Horner & Co., in Marketstreet, below State, thirty-five years ago. He soon made himself distinguished as a promising business young man, and was entrusted with the management of the most important and difficult matters connected with the best interests of that establishment, extending, as they did, into the new states and territories of the west. He was called on once or twice a year to visit the customers of the concern in the west and settle accounts, involving thousands of dollars. His adventures and hair-breadth escapes in the western country in pursuit of absconding traders, would have made a volume of rare interest. He became a member of the firm of Corning & Co., over twenty years ago, and was connected with the establishment up to the time of its dissolution, a few years since, when he removed to New York. He was a thorough business man and a prudent merchant. We had known him as a boy and man; in all relations of life. He was open, frank and generous to a fault. He had a heart that charity never appealed to in vain. His purse was always open. No man of his means ever contributed more liberally to the poor than Gilbert C. Davidson. He was a devoted friend, and loved his friend with his whole heart and soul. He was foremost in every enterprise calculated to advance the interest of Albany. His residence was the home of hospitality. He entertained more magnificently than any other gentleman at the capital. How many hearts that have been made glad under his roof will weep for his departure; many an eye unused to tears will drop one at his loss. Peace to his ashes.—Knickerbocker.....Mrs. Ellen Powers died, aged 78. Mary Thomasine Landry, wife of Anthony Cherbouneau, died, aged 21.

7. Air, h. 28, l. 11..... Richard Varick De Witt died, aged 68. Born in Albany, he grew up with it, and was one of a few remaining, who were identified with its early progress. He was the son of Simeon De Witt, who for fifty years was surveyor general of this state; and was many years ago a man of great wealth. His generosity to others, to all, however, cost him the major portion of it. He built the greater portion of the Ithaca and Oswego rail road, and was engaged in other public enterprises in days agone. Mr. De Witt, was a brigadier general of the state militia many years ago. Of late years he has been employed as a procurer of patents and as insurance agent. He was possessed of fine architectural taste; and was a prominent member of the Albany Institute. Indeed his literary acquirements were vast, and his accomplishments varied. But it is not of these that we now seek to refer to. We have said that he was a good man, and the term good is meant in its broadest and most comprehensive acceptation. A Christian philanthropist, scholar, and model citizen, his going hence will leave a void in many circles. For twenty-seven years Mr. De Witt was in communion with the Middle Dutch Church, while under the pastorage of Dr. Wyckoff, and since under Dr. Elmendorf.—Times.

Richard Varick De Witt, known to all who have been long residents of this city, and loved and respected by all to whom he was known, died this morning after long illness. From his very boyhood he was marked for the purity, uprightness, amiability, and we may say, the religiousness of his character. Descended from those who were distinguished for intelligence and virtues, his outset in life was attended by every circumstance that promised worldly success and happiness, and although he subsequently encountered troubles and reverses that greatly changed the aspect of his life, they never impaired the fine qualities of his nature. Inheriting his father's scientific tastes, he always took a warm interest in all the scientific institutions, and in all the mechanical improvements and enterprises of his time, and gave to them in his own active years much of his time and his fortune. He was one of the founders of the Albany Lyceum and afterwards of the Albany Institute. Through all his many years of failing health and suffering, he ever preserved the original sweetness and serenity of his disposition, and elevated, as it was, by the religious hopes and convictions which had been the rule and comfort of his life. He has gone from us, leaving to us all good and endearing remembrance. — Journal.

Richard Varick DeWitt was born at the beginning of the present century, in this city, which then and for some time subsequently, was truly the capital of this state, and the centre of its culture, fashion and politics — a position of which Albany, in common with many other towns in this country, has been in a measure deprived by the overshadowing growth and progress of New York. He was descended from a family, which numbers in its ranks of soldiers and civilians, John DeWitt, grand pensionary of Holland, a statesman, who raised his country to a pitch of greatness. The association of his father Simeon DeWitt, and his uncle Richard Varick, both distinguished officers of the revolution, brought him in contact early in life with many of the eminent men who then flourished and afforded him frequent opportunities of personally noting their virtues and characteristic qualities. His anecdotes and recollections of Gouverneur Morris, the elder Livingstons, DeWitt Clinton, Kent, Spencer, General Armstrong, and many well known citizens, north and south, were very interesting. He graduated at Union College, and after the usual preparatory study in the office of the late Harmanus Bleeker, afterward United States minister at the Hague, was called to the bar. The possessor of a large estate of which a considerable portion of the village of Ithaca formed a part, and a favorite in and fond of society, his inclinations led him to literary and artistic pursuits as well as the cultivation of exact sciences. The designs and plans of buildings he has left behind him, show a careful study of good models, a correct eye for proportions, and a familiarity with the principles of architecture, while his sketches and paintings in water color and oil are spirited and true to nature. He was a patron of the old Albany Library and one of the founders of the Albany Institute. He established and maintained a line of steam boats on the Cayuga lake, which were in their day considered to be models of speed, comfort and safety. Through his exertions, and chiefly with his means, the Ithaca & Oswego rail road was constructed (one of the earliest lines in this state), and when the financial disasters of 1837 occurred, he lost his property by the forced sale of this road for a trifling part of its cost. Not long afterward he suffered the loss of his beloved wife (a daughter of the late Dudley Walsh), a lady of great worth and very attractive in person, mind and manner. He was vice president, and during the absence of Governor Fish in Europe acting president of the state Cincinnati Society. Many New Yorkers will remember with pleasure the dinner of the society at the Everett House, at which he presided, and when the late Senator Crittenden of Kentucky spoke so eloquently. He in connection with the late Mr. W. C. Miller, established the first of the Sunday schools in Albany, and through life and in every way exhibited a deep interest in their success. He was for many years an elder in the Middle Dutch Church, and was ever active in good works and zealous in the promotion of religion and virtue. There are many persons now living who can never forget his frequent acts of kindness. No changes of life or adverse depressing influences ever destroyed that natural buoyancy, geniality and vivacious bon homme which he possessed in a marked degree. These qualities ever attracted to him the young men, who enjoyed his society and profited by his example and advice, while his extensive reading, long observation of men and manners, his delicate humor and great refinement, threw a charm over his converse with people of all ages. In short, it may truly be said that in his unobtrusive kindness, his humble estimate of himself, his reliance for support on a higher power; in his unselfish regard for the welfare of all, his charity, his acts of forgiveness; in his consistent life and peaceful death he displayed in a marked degree the attributes of the Christian gentlemen. In the immediate circle of his family and relatives his loss has created an aching void which can never be filled, while his friends will ever cherish with mournful pleasure the remembrance of his many virtues.—Argus.

9. Air, h. 22, l. 2.....The Old Brick Church.—The Rev. Mr. Smart preached for the last time in the Old Brick (Congregational) Church last evening. The pews and other furniture are to be sold on Saturday, and must be removed by the first of March next, when stores are to be erected upon its site by Messrs. Mann & Waldman, the owners of this property. There are associations connected with this old church that will never be forgotten by those who have worshiped within its walls. Here the Rev. Dr. Nott, about the commencement of the present century, then in the dawn of that fame which afterward gave the widest celebrity as a pulpit orator, preached to crowded and delighted audiences. Here he pronounced that remarkable discourse against duelling, called out by the death of Alexander Hamilton at the hands of Aaron Burr in 1804, passages of which are still cited in the school books as among the finest specimens of American oratory. Dr. Nott became pastor of this church towards the close of the last century, and remained in charge until he was called to the presidency of Union College in 1804, a position which he filled with distinguished success for the unexampled period of about sixty years. Other remarkable preachers have filled this pulpit, including the Rev. Dr. Campbell, who remained until the removal of his congregation to the new church, built by his efforts, at the corner of Philip and Hudson streets. Dr. Campbell was one of the most celebrated and able of the many able divines of Albany. His sermons gave evidence of a keen and cultivated intellect; and if all that he delivered within the walls of that church could be gathered and published, they would constitute many volumes of discourses, characterized at once by great intellectual power, and by the most polished diction. Such associations will be cherished by the numerous congregations that have worshiped here, long after its walls have disappeared. The old church gives way to the demands of trade. This has long driven most of its members to other parts of the city, and now the site has become one of the most valuable in the city for commercial purposes. The present congregation will hold service hereafter in Association Hall until the completion of their new edifice on Eagle street.—Paper.....The temperature changed from extreme cold to moderate, with snow, and rain, and at night to extreme cold again.....

13. Air, h. 17, l. 8 William McCormick died, aged 57. John Tweddle, Jr., died at Bergen, N. J. John Gardner died, aged 84. The following account of him was written by General John Meredith Read, Jr., for the Evening Journal. Few residents of Albany had more friends or a wider circle of acquaintance than old Gardner. He was one of the few remaining specimens of the thoroughly trained, ancient family servants. Always efficient, honest and truly courteous, he offered an example which was not without its influence in this community. We have learned many lessons of true politeness from this good old man. The Bible dignifies the calling of a servant, while it inculcates humility and strict obedience to superiors. Gardner approached more nearly the requirements of the New Testament in this respect than almost any other we ever knew. He performed what are commonly considered unusual duties with an air of refinement which spoke volumes for his real gentility of mind and heart. Who, that has seen him of late years toiling up and down our steep streets, can ever forget the amiable smile, the deferential greeting, the raised hat, with which he saluted each passing acquaintance? Under the most trying circumstances, even when pain racked every nerve, his natural politeness asserted itself, and haloed his intercourse with all. Over the grave of such a man we may indeed shed mingled tears of joy and regret of joy, that he is released from all earthly suffering; of regret, that we have lost a gentle, genial and unselfish friend. To his memory we pay our tribute of respect, and to those who knew his worth we offer the following slight sketch of his life: John Gardner was born about 1787, on Colonel John Walker's plantation, called Belle Beau, six miles from Milton county, Virginia. His father was a captain in the royal British army, and his mother was for many years the trusted housekeeper at Belle Beau. Colonel Walker's wife was a Miss Custer, and their daughter married Mr. Cleland Kinlaw, of South Carolina. The granddaughter, Miss Kinlaw, married Judge Hugh Nelson, son of Mrs. Nelson, of Yorktown, whose fine mansion sheltered many of our wounded men during the late rebellion. Colonel Walker kept many house servants, and owned several hundred slaves. On one occasion Gardner said to the writer, "When I was a little tyke, sir, I was an outrider. I wore a little red suit, with gilt bell buttons and top boots, and I rode in front of Colonel Walker's carriage, to open the gates, and tend to the ladies' calls. Sir, Colonel Walker's house was a very fine one, sir. It had great pillars in front, and wings like the Manor house. The floors were washed twice a day. Every morning in the right season, sir, Colonel Walker would come out into the grounds dressed in a large flannel dressing gown, and call for me. And I would run by his side with a basket and pick enough mushrooms for breakfast, sir. Colonel Walker had a church of his own, sir, on his place, and Parson Murray preached in it. Some years ago, Mr. Frank Walker, sir, came to Saratoga Springs, and his waiter stopped here to see me. I remembered him, sir, for he used to live with Mr. Frank Tipball; but I 'spect they're all gone now, sir. While I lived with Colonel Walker, I frequently saw Mr. John Peyton. He was a stout, fine looking gentleman. I often went over to Monticello, Mr. Thomas Jefferson's place, on the top of the high hill. You have been there within a few years, sir; and you remember, in the hall, the bust of some famous Frenchman, I've forgotten his outlandish name, sir, [Voltaire]. Mr. Jefferson was a tall, thin man. Mr. Thomas Randolph was often there. He was tall and slim, too. His place was called Shadwell. Peter Hammond, a slave, a club footed man, was Mr. Jefferson's cook. His head waiter was named Burrill. The kitchens, you know, sir, were built partly under ground, and connected with the main building by long passage ways. If you stood at one end, it was like looking through a spy-glass, sir, to see the sun rise. Mr. Jefferson had glasses of all sizes, sir, arranged at different heights, so that he could sit on his piazza, sir, and look all over the country. He was a very kind man, sir, was Mr. Jefferson. He once found me asleep near his house, and he waked me up quite gently like, sir, and sent me home to Colonel John Walker's with a pocket full of cherries." We cannot do better than let Gardner tell his story throughout in his own words. "Colonel Walker bound me out to Wort Baker to learn the trade of a shoemaker, sir; but Baker turned out to be a drunkard, and he finally took me to the court house at Winchester and gave up to me my articles of indenture, although I had still several years to serve. I then went for a while to work for one Brady, a shoemaker; but I soon left him and engaged as driver to Judge Hugh Holmes, whose house, and office and other buildings were built of limestone, and occupied a whole square, sir, in the town of Winchester, Virginia. He was a very nice gentleman, sir; and I used to accompany him on the circuit. He was a great favorite in that section of country. We used to go to Culpepper, Rockingham, and so on, sir. I remember Mr. Monroe, sir. He was not a very large man. Mr. Madison though, sir, was pretty lusty. I stayed a week at his place, sir, when I was in Judge Holmes's service. I recollect well Judge Lee, of Winchester. He was tall and slim, and very good looking; and very much of a gentleman, sir. I drove Judge Holmes on one occasion to Mount Vernon, to attend a barbecue. You have seen such things, sir, in your time. And you remember that the meat is put in, and the trees are cut down and driven in around the fire in a circle; and a great dance is got up about it. General Washington was dead at the time I visited Mont Vernon. The stables were back of the house, and there were chains about the gap in the court yard. After I left Judge Holmes, I lived awhile with Mr. McGuire, who kept a very stylish boarding house, from thence I went by stage to Fredericktown. There General Peter Gansevoort saw me, and engaged me as his body servant. He was then attending the trial of General Wilkinson. I came north with him to Albany, and lived with him till he died, about the year 1813. He died in a house where the Delavan House now is. He was a very nice gentleman, sir. I remember I led the general's horse in the funeral procession, which was a very grand affair, sir. I next lived with Chancellor John Lansing till his death.

Then I lived with Judge Jacob Sutherland, who married Chancellor Lansing's daughter, afterwards with Mr. John Kane. Then I went to Mr. Pumpelly's as waiter, and there I had a very good home, sir, for twenty odd years. Since that I have done what I could for you, sir."

15. Air, h. 19, l. 15.....The Rev. William James, D.D., died, aged 71. He had been confined to his house during most of the past twelve months, by a very painful disease, from which he suffered intensely; but he exhibited, through all his sufferings, the utmost patience, and the most cheerful submission to the divine will. He realized during his illness in his own personal experience, the comforting influence of the truths which he had so long preached to others. And all who visited him, while he could give expression to his faith and hope, felt enveloped in a heavenly atmosphere, receiving comfort and strength themselves rather than imparting it to their suffering friend. His sick chamber was a perpetual bethel, and his last days were full of peace. Mr. James was born in this city in June, 1797. From his early boyhood, he had a love for books, and the opportunity was given him to gratify his tastes. He passed through all the grades of study, and about his 25th year, entered upon the work of the ministry. His first city pastorate was in Rochester, as early as 1825, with the Second Presbyterian Church, and he continued that connection until 1830 or 1831. Returning to his native city, he assumed the pastorate of the Third Presbyterian Church in Montgomery street. He, however, very soon gave up his position, and from that time onward, he has preached wherever providence seemed to indicate, and always acceptably, and with great ability. Although never a popular preacher, very few men of his day wrote with greater clearness, force or beauty. The publication of his sermons would be a rich legacy to the churches. But Mr. James was not merely a preacher of the word. We have never known a more thoroughly unostentatious, single hearted or noble minded Christian gentleman; and he was enabled, from the moderate income at his command, to gratify his benevolent predilections. Thousands of poor men, women and children live to bless his memory. Mr James was the second of the several sons of the late William James who was for years one of the most successful of the many successful merchants of this city, during the close of the last and the opening of the present century. He was, in every sense, a good man; and his death will be widely mourned, for two generations loved him —Journal.

MARCH 1. The Albany County Bible Society celebrated its fifty-seventh anniversary, the Rev. Dr. Elmendorf preaching the annual sermon. The election for officers resulted as follows: president, William Gould; first vice president, C. P. Easton; second vice president, John E. Page; corresponding secretary, Rev. D. Dyer; recording secretary, Stephen R. Gray; treasurer, Archibald McClure, Jr.

2. Great snow storm extending over the whole state, everywhere obstructing the rail roads, accompanied with wind and extreme cold..... The common council changed the name of Van Schaik street to Monroe street. We have witnessed with surprise and regret the indifference of the citizens of Albany to the memorials and traditions of their fathers. Several mansions preserving the peculiar architecture of Holland, instead of being preserved, as they would have been in any city with sense, taste, or ancestral pride, were relentlessly demolished. Nor does indulgence in vandalism content them. They not only obliterate ancient monuments, but reject time honored names. There has been a long line of Van Schaiks in Albany, reaching back to its origin, after whom a street was named, but which, for what reason we are unable even to conjecture, has been changed! Why is it that the Albany of to-day is so anxious to efface the antiquities, destroy the landmarks, weaken the associations, and wipe out the memories of the past? Was there anything in the characters or habits of their ancestors of which they are ashamed? Does the intelligence, enterprise, and prosperity of Albany show that her citizens are superior in these respects to their predecessors? Who among her lawyers, overshadow Abram Van Vechten, Ambrose Spencer, James Kent, John V. Henry, and John Van Ness Yates? What merchants of superior ability have taken the places of Dudley Walsh, William James, I. & J. Townsend, the Boyds, John T. Norton, Lewis Benedict, Rufus H. King. Indeed, without Erastus Corning, Thomas W. Olcott, and Ezra P. Prentice, who are among the few survivors of that class, Albany would be left to the illumination of lesser, but perhaps brighter lights, though we don't see it. If, however, modern is really ashamed of ancient Albany, then her new common councilmen, the present city fathers, more enlightened and venerable, doubtless, than the Van Rensselaers, Van Vechtens, Ganesvoorts, Wendells, Bleeckers, Yateses, Ten Eycks, etc., etc., of Dutch origin, should go on with their reforms and sponge out all that links the present to the past. Veneering will give the city a fresh aspect. This will not, we admit, improve it in the estimation of old fogies, whose memory and whose affections go back to Albany, as it was half a century ago, when the Dutch and English languages were heard; when in summer afternoons, wives and husbands smoked their pipes on stoops; when every corner was vocal with the concerts of whistling negroes; and when the annual festivities of Pinkster Hill were next to the Fourth of July, the event of the year.—*N. his early manhood. He had "followed the water" from his youth up, and was one of the most energetic and successful of the many prominent sloop captains on the North river, long before steam navigation was known or dreamed of. Having accumulated a moderate competency, he retired from active business many years ago, and has since lived to do good. In this, as in all else, his life has been a memorable success. Deacon Adams, through the entire of his long life, was a zealous and devoted Christian, decided, but gentle, humble and devout. He was one of the few who constituted the original membership of the First Baptist church in this city, when it met in the building on the corner of Orange and Pearl streets. From that day to the day of his death, he followed his master with loving devotion, and held every personal interest subordinate to his religious duties. Until within a few months he was enabled to continue his daily exercise, and to receive the congratulations of his friends. But he "longed to depart," and this longing had grown upon him since, a few years ago, his venerable wife and beloved daughter passed to their rest. He has now gone down to his grave "like a shock of corn fully ripe;" but the recollection of his earnest and devoted Christian life will continue, as a delightful memory, with all who knew him.—Journal. Joshua Cleary died, aged 64. He was the eldest son of Killian Van Rensselaer, the lineal descendant of the brother of the first patron of Rensselaerswick, who became the proprietor of the Claverack patent. The deceased thus fully inherited the characteristics of the early Dutch settlers of our city and the country hereabouts, and whose impress still, to some extent, gives tone to our character as a people. He was born in 1782, and received an education quite fully up to the standard of his day; graduated at Union College: studied the law, and for some years pursued its practice. His youthful ardor and patriotism led him to take part in the war of 1812. He was commissioned as a lieutenant, but for the most part of his term of service was attached to the staff of the general commanding the northern division of the state, whose field of duty was in the vicinity of Lake Champlain. Mr. Van Rensselaer held but few public offices, his ambition not leading him in that direction. He has been an alderman of the city, and in that capacity evinced his public spirit, his prudence and wisdom; also judge of the county court.—Journal.

In the death of General John S. Van Rensselaer, Albany loses a citizen who has been conspicuous in its society during a long life-time—a representative of one of the old Dutch families that founded our city and state. His father, Killian K. Van Rensselaer, represented this county for five successive terms in the house of representatives. Three of his uncles served in the Revolutionary war. Nicholas Van Rensselaer was an aid to Gen. Schuyler, Philip was quartermaster, and Henry K., colonel. Gen. John S., just deceased, though a young man, not yet of age, served in the war of 1812 as aid on the staff of Gen. Brown, and rendered some valuable services. His identification with this period of our national history made him in later years the representative and champion of the surviving veterans when their claims for services came before the country. He was military secretary and confidential aid of Gov. De Witt Clinton during his administration. He was educated to the bar, and was appointed judge of the county, but he did not closely pursue the profession of the law. For a while he edited the Albany Daily Advertiser, an influential paper; and took a prominent part in the political struggles of the day. But he was never led by party attachment to forget his obligations to the country. He was a warm-hearted patriot, and loved the constitution and government of his fathers, and dreaded the perils to which they were exposed, and allied himself to those who defended them. He was a public-spirited citizen, and warmly identified himself with whatever would add to the fame or progress of Albany. He had in his composition none of the phlegm, which is supposed to characterize the people of Holland; but was remarkable for vivacity of expression and manner, and a generous impulsiveness. His well-stored mind, and his wide communion with men and active participation in events, made his conversation as instructive as agreeable. And he retained to the close of his life the animation, and joyous and gallant spirit of his youth.—Argus William V. Hackett died, aged 30. Mary Turner, wife of William Grey, died, aged 43.

The high church ticket admitted men of both parties, in the spirit of liberality ; the low church did not. The former contended that the choral service being outside of the regular services of the church ; the weekly administration of the communion, and the daily morning evening prayers, need not be attended by those who had no taste for them ; but the rector had introduced an invocation in turning his face to the east at certain parts of the service, and took a position at the altar different to that of his predecessors, which was offensive to a portion of the brethren ; whereupon they resolved to oust the old officers that sanctioned it. 21. Air, h. 60, l. 51.....James Edwards died, aged 69. Mr. Edwards, from his former professional position and connection, was widely and honorably known throughout the state. He was born in Greenfield, Saratoga county, but came to this city more than half a century ago, and commenced the study of the law in the office of his uncle, the Hon. Alfred Foot, then one of the most eminent members of the bar of this city. Soon after his admission to the bar, Mr. Edwards entered into partnership with his uncle, and they continued together with a large and lucrative practice for some years, when Judge Foot removed to New York, leaving his large business here to Mr. Edwards. After continuing alone for a few years, he formed a partnership with the late Samuel Stevens, then and up to the time of his death, one of the ablest lawyers in this state. Their business was among the largest and most important of any in this part of the country, and Mr. Edwards brought to it admirable qualifications. He was always distinguished for his sound practical judgment, his solid legal attainments, his promptness and accuracy in business, the energy, firmness and integrity of his character, and his conscientious fidelity to the interest of his clients. His business was of a weighty and responsible character, and among his clients and friends he always numbered the most substantial men in this community. He was a man of great kind-heartedness, true in his friendships, warm and generous in his sympathies, ever open to the appeals of the poor and suffering, and ever seeking to rule his life in accordance with Christian principle. He was a liberal minded and public spirited citizen, and took a warm interest in all measures for the promotion of public interests. Up to the time he was taken ill, he had every appearance that would have indicated a prolonged and vigorous old age; and while we now feel that his course in life has been well and honorably fulfilled, the suddenness of its close cannot but remind those of us, who have journeyed with him, how frail and uncertain our own condition is.—Argus.....The Presbyterian assembly met in Dr. Sprague's church.....A long and severe rain storm continued with great force this day, and was attended with the first thunder and lightning of the season.....Elizabeth Pierce died, aged 82. Pouwelona, widow of Christian Long, died, aged 45.....Catharine, wife of Harmon Van Heusen, died, aged 66.

Air, h. 54, l. 52.....The drenching rains of the last week produced an extraordinary freshet, which came so suddenly as to surprise the merchants on the docks, who on resorting to their places of business in the morning, found them inaccessible by reason of the height of the water.....Caroline, wife of Philip Featherly, died, aged 60. Edward Scannell died, aged 26.

23. Rosa, wife of Joseph Weber, died, aged 54.

24. Dennis Kinsley died, aged 68.

25. Stephen Van Rensselaer, the last patroon of Albany, died, aged 80. His death was the result of the infirmities of age, and had been anticipated for nearly two years past. Gen. Van Rensselaer was the only son of Stephen Van Rensselaer (known as the Old Patroon), by his first wife, who was a daughter of Gen. Schuyler, of Revolutionary fame. Alexander Hamilton, who was his uncle by marriage with another daughter of Gen. Schuyler, drew up the leases on which the Manor of Rensselaerwyck was rented. This manor extended twenty-four miles along the Hudson river, and twenty-four miles east and west. The deceased succeeded to the western half of the manor, the eastern half being left to William P. Van Rensselaer, the first born of the old patroon's second wife, Miss Patterson, of New Jersey. These lands were nearly all leased under perpetual leases, most of which were recently purchased by Colonel Walter S. Church, of this city. Probably the most valuable of the lands not thus encumbered are what is now known as the Lumber district, and the real estate near the city. The entail of the manorial property ceased with the death of his father. This will now be divided among the children, except twenty-five hundred acres between the Troy and Shaker roads, north of the Manor House, in which he had a life estate, and which now reverts to his half-brother, William P. Van Rensselaer. The surviving children of the deceased are Margaret, wife of Wilmot Johnson, of New York; Cornelia, wife of Nathaniel Thayer, of New York; Catharine, widow of Mr. Berry, of New York; Justina, widow of Dr. Howard Townsend; Harriet, wife of Capt. Crosby, U. S. A., and Eugene, the only surviving son. The widow of the deceased, who was Miss Bayard, the daughter of a former distinguished merchant of New York, still survives him. Gen. Van Rensselaer never sought official honors. He lived a quiet and unobtrusive life; but he leaves behind him an enviable reputation for the sterling virtues which distinguished the race from which he was descended. The Manor House was always the home of an elegant and refined hospitality. He was liberal in his benefactions, and dispensed his wealth freely to all charitable objects and to the church, of which he was for many years a prominent member.—Argus.

Mr. Van Rensselaer never mingled in the active concerns of public business, with the interest that his father had manifested. The only public positions held by him were those of an alderman and of major-general of this division of the military of the state, for some years previous to 1840. In the latter capacity he evinced much adaptability and skill, and his activity and zeal are well remembered by his compeers in life. His manners were quiet, social and unobtrusive. His friendships warm and active. He was liberal, generous and charitable.—Journal.

Funeral of Stephen Van Rensselaer. This funeral was very largely attended, May 29, and the services were unusually impressive. The following were the bearers: Gouverneur Kemble, of Cold Spring; Jacob H. Ten Eyck, Esq., Hon. Erastus Corning, Harmon Pumpelly, Esq., H. H. Martin, Esq., Major Gen. Jno. Tayler Cooper, Hon. John V. L. Pruyn, of Albany; Henry Burden, Esq., of Troy; Howard Boyd, Esq., Gen. S. V. R. Talcott, Charles Van Zandt, Esq., Col. John O. Cole, of Albany. Officiating Clergymen: Rev. Drs. B. W. Clark, W. B. Sprague of Albany; Rev. Dr. Vermilye, of New York; Rev. Dr. Kennedy, of Troy.—Physicians: Thomas Hun, M. D., James P. Boyd, M. D.—Argus.

The remains were enclosed in a solid mahogany casket, covered with black broadcloth, ornamented with a narrow silver band forming a panel on each side, end and top. The plate was in solid silver in the form of a shield, bearing the following inscription in old English: "Stephen Van Rensselaer, born March 27th, 1789, died May 23th, 1868." At 3 o'clock the casket was brought down in the grand hall by four of the domestics acting as porters, and a prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Clark. The procession moved to the First Reformed Church in the following order in carriages: Porters, clergy, physicians, elders of the church, deacons, hearse, relatives, servants, friends. The clergy, physicians and bearers wore white linen scarfs, and the servants were clothed in black clothing and black kid gloves. The service at church consisted of reading portions of scripture by Dr. Kennedy, sermon by Dr. Vermilye, prayer by Dr. Clark, benediction by Dr. Sprague. The remains were conveyed to the family grounds in the Albany Cemetery. The attendants filled thirty carriages.—Argus.

16. Giles K. Winne, county clerk, died, aged 66. He was one of the original members of the Burgesses Corps. Matthew Burton died, aged 85. In the full ripeness of years, and leaving behind him a record of his life as significant for its purity as its length, Matthew Burton was yesterday afternoon summoned from his stewardship upon earth to that sphere above where his existence, his labors, and his enjoyments shall be immortal. Though his very great age, eighty-five years, gave monition of death, the event happened with suddenness. Of late, and till within a few moments before his decease, he had possessed a reasonable share of that health that he has always been blessed with, and which, by reason of his pursuits and habits of life, he has enjoyed to a degree of fruition beyond most men. But of a startling suddenness "the silver chord was loosened," and like a shock of corn fully grown, he was gathered in the granary of eternity. The deceased was born in Kinderhook, but he removed to this city in very early life and has ever since resided here. Unsited by education or taste to a participation in the busy turmoil of public life, he devoted himself to the quiet pursuit of those duties, and sought enjoyment in those associations that grow out of the relations of family, the social circle and the church. Imbued with the patriotic spirit of the times he united in the organization of the Albany Republican Artillery company, and for some time remained an active and earnest member. Since the death of Col. Ira Jenkins he has been the sole survivor of its organization, and thus his death has severed the last living link that joined that venerable association to its founders. In the first Reformed Dutch church he has for many years been an attendant and communicant, and was for a period one of its elders. In that sphere he publicly exemplified that character of the sincere and earnest Christian that adorned his life in all its private and household relations. He leaves behind him four children, and several grandchildren of mature years, upon whom the example of his life has not been lost.—Journal..... Edwin F. Quackenboss, formerly of Albany, died at Brooklyn.

17. Lelia B. West, wife of Manton Marble, died.

19. The transept of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church was dedicated. The Rev. Cyrus D. Foss, of Brooklyn, delivered a discourse after which the Rev. Mr. Meredith, brother of the pastor and presiding elder of this district, made a financial statement of the affairs of the society, which showed that the cost of the enterprise, including lots for church and parsonage, the foundation for nave, and the transept complete was $34,500, on which was an indebtedness of about $3,000, after selling their old church. He also stated the object now to be accomplished was to raise a subscription of $10,000 by the first week in August, or thereabouts, when the trustees would proceed to let a contract for inclosing the nave, for the sum of $14,000. The subscriptions during the day amounted to nearly $4,000. This is the last public subscription which the trustees will attempt. A moderate and manageable mortgage will complete the work. In the evening, the Rev. Robert E. Meredith, of the Newark Conference, preached an appropriate sermon..... Duncan McKercher died, aged 80. William Carroll died, aged 29.

20. Elida Van Valkenburgh, wife of James A. McKown, died, aged 52. Daniel McIntosh, Jr., died, aged 38.

21. Mary Sophia, wife of Robert Geer died, aged 30.

23. William Van Zandt died, aged 42.

25. Dennis Feehan died, aged 82. John Mahar died, aged 58.

26. The corner stone of a new mission chapel of the second Presbyterian church was laid on the corner of State and Snipe streets.

27. Julia L. Norton, wife of Isaiah B. Young, died, at Cincinnati, aged 42. Mary Hogan died, aged 42.

28. Ann Connelly died, aged 54.

30. At a meeting of the common council, final action was taken on rebuilding upon the Centre Market lot, and $50,000 appropriated to the purpose..... Henry Mix died, aged 58. He was superintendent of the Horse rail road, and a useful and energetic man. His family were prominent in the first ward, and among the earliest settlers at the lower end of South Pearl street. He had been an efficient alderman of his ward. He dropped dead in the street, in apparent good health.

July 1. DeWitt C. Main died, aged 56.

2. Robert Hagan died, aged 31. James A. Read died, aged 60. Martin Rochaupt died, aged 65.

3. Ettie Tracy died, aged 23.

4. The heat was excessive, marking 103 in Broadway. In consequence there were numerous cases of sun stroke during the procession. It was said to have been the hottest Fourth of July known in forty years..... David W. Springsteed died, aged 35.

5. The weather still warmer than the day previous, the thermometers that marked 103 on the 4th, were up to 104 to-day.

6. Peter Cagger was killed in New York, aged 56. The record of Mr. Cagger's life exhibits a series of happy antitheses. A Democrat of the Democrats, the bold, sagacious and widely known partisan, almost upon all occasions the sole daring manager of the interests of a great party, and the absolute controller of its fortunes and destiny, local, state and national; he was so happily constituted, as to attract without effort, in seasons of fierce political excitement, the most potential among those of antagonistic sentiment, and to number among his friends his most bitter political opponents. A Catholic of the Catholics, his very name a tradition and a household word among the people of his faith; largely identified with the early history of the old church in Albany; an intelligent, conscientious and faithful believer, he was at the same time the chosen confidant, the familiar friend, the trusted, most honored, and reliable adviser of many whose peculiar religious bias might have suggested other counsel and far different associations. To the young, to the middle-aged, his cotemporaries, and to the old, there was something so genial, so magnetic, and so inspiring about Peter Cagger, that the abrupt intelligence of his sudden and unlooked-for death will be clothed with additional pain. We might detail, if we chose, unnumbered instances of his kindness, his noble charities, the beautiful traits and Christian influences, which accompanied him through the years which providence has bestowed, and which will live before Heaven, and before men perhaps, when the record of the lawyer has faded and the memory of the politician is extinct. The poor, the widow, the orphan, the unprotected never appealed to him in vain; the tears of his own fatherless and bereaved family, will mingle, as it were, with a tide of grief from hidden sources, and the hearts his own kind heart made happy, and the homes his liberality blessed, will keep his memory bright when even the marble has crumbled upon his grave. Mr. Cagger was an Albanian by birth. His parents were natives of Ireland, where his father was somewhat extensively engaged in business. Previous to taking up their residence in Albany, the family remained for a brief period in New York city, and the remains of several of them are deposited in the Cathedral vaults of that city. Michael Cagger, the elder brother, was a young man of great promise, of thoughtful philosophic mind, and attracted the attention of distinguished men who discovered in him unmistakable elements of future greatness. He died in the very prime of life. William Cagger, another brother, was for a time engaged in business in Albany, and afterwards in the New York custom house, in which position he died. Mr. Cagger married Maria Maher, daughter of James Maher, well known for a considerable period as State librarian, and in the war of 1812 as the gallant captain of the Irish Greens, a military company originating in Albany and which bore a prominent part in the famous conflict at Sackett's Harbor. A daughter, the sole remaining issue of this marriage, survives him. A few years since, Mr. Cagger was united to a sister of the distinguished editor of the Argus. At an early period of life he was placed in the then celebrated law office of Reynolds & Woodruff. Even as clerk, his remarkable administrative capacity began to manifest itself, and the efficiency of his labors was occasionally recognized in the most handsome manner by the distinguished principals of that powerful firm. Mr. Cagger afterwards associated himself with Mr. Samuel Stevens, and the firm name of Stevens & Cagger became speedily potential in legal circles. After a successful practice of some years, Mr. Stevens, a very able man, and the peer of renowned lawyers in the legal arena, yielded to excessive labor; and shortly after his decease, a new legal firm, that of Hill, Cagger & Porter, was established, which will go down to posterity as one of the most remarkable combinations of ability and fitness for the several departments of a great law office, ever known in the annals of this state. The great intellect of Hill shone in the court of last resort, where his genius coruscated, and in which his profound learning and the unbending integrity of his character secured that reverence even of the bench; the commanding eloquence, the penetrating mind, the admirable sagacity of Porter took easy precedence of all others at nisi prius; and the extraordinary administrative talent of Cagger, ready at once and at a moment's beck for abstruse pleadings, for the minutiae of petty litigation with its inexhaustible fund of device and ingenuity; intuitively prepared for all combinations, of finance, of politics, and at home in important business negotiations, all these things combined to make this famous trio so constituted as if every requisite and possible demand had been foreseen and provided for. Alas! that time has broken the admirable compact which bound them together, and with us, and that the honored and revered survivor, Mr. Porter, will too soon hear in Europe the sad tidings of our great bereavement. It is somewhat remarkable, and the observation will occur spontaneously to many, that, while the stern summons of the grave has thus reached one of the most prominent and influential leaders of the two great political parties, the other is prostrated with a severe illness, which has excited the gravest apprehensions of his friends. One in the maturity of life, ripe as a sheaf for the sickle, remains; the other, seemingly with many bright years still before him, is taken; and the parallel is more striking, that neither have ever held a single political office during a career of unexampled duration of public life. The loss of either must be regarded by the entire community as a great public bereavement.—Journal. Margaret E. Pacey, wife of John Branigan, died, aged 35. Margaret, wife of John Kinsella, died, aged 37. Mary, widow of Joseph Cooke, died in New York, aged 62. Capt. James Cook died, aged 56.

7. The demolition of the Centre Market, corner of South Pearl and Howard streets, was begun.

THE CENTRE MARKET.

BY W. D. MORANGE.

'Tis vanished! the thing is gone at last!
The noisome hulk is with the past!
The rat, the roach, the slut, the flea,
Must breed in some other locality.
The poisoned odors, that like a shroud Hung over the square, and appalled the crowd,

Must elsewhere stifle the public breath,
Invite the dogs, disease and death.
The worthy judges, whose legal lore
Hard pressed the bench, till the bones were sore;

The motley crew that trod the stairs
And muttered everything else but prayers;
And the bailiff, with stick, and summons
and writ,

Have taken the popular notice to quit.
The legal serpents, that writhed and hissed,

And bit a client at every twist;
And flourished amid the ooze and slime,
Have crawled away, for at least a time.
The gang that bullied around the place,
And blasphemed law, and God, and grace;

The slysters, that out of the German and Celt

Took pounds of flesh, till Justice smelt;
Must belch their twaddle, and grab their fees,

Wherever their patron saint may please.
So much is sure, if they ever come back
To follow the ancient beaten track,
The circus wherein their feats are done
Will boast of human smells alone;
And the odor of onions and fish and meat Won't mingle with hair and clothes and feet;

For Justice, hereafter, wherever she dwells,

Will tolerate only common law smells;
And the uncommon mixture of law and beets,

Fish, constables, cabbages, man and meats,

Have had their day, and will flourish
no more,

Except in a grog or a grocery store.
'Tis a fact, by jingo, the shanty's down!
With its walls so yellow, and stoops so brown.

Where the bar once flourished, the crowbar's thump

Has given the bricks a final dump,
And the bloated vermin must fight and squeal

Elsewhere, for their usual daily meal.

Considering what a town we are,
More slow to move than a barrel of tar,
And how attached we seem to be
To the things our daddies used to see;
Tis marvelous how the shanty fell —
That Erebus, Hades, Tophet of smell!
O say, was it progress, or was it a job
To fatten some alderman's sickly fob?
Who tumbled it over? And what does it mean,

In a town where the fluid we drink is so green,

And stinks so foul, that a body would think

'Twas a merit for everything here to stink —

In a place, where a dark night raises a doubt

As to whether the street lamps shouldn't be out,

And out they go, and we learn full soon,

That the gas has a contract with the moon —

I say, in a place like this, so slow,
What hurried this brick and mortar so?

Why didn't they wait a score of years,
In spite of public jeers and sneers?

Why didn't they let the hulk remain,
All filthy and foul as it long has lain?

'Tis the way our people commonly do,
Although complaints be ever so true.

We guzzle each day a stagnant slime,
That, nicknamed water, is liquid crime.

We revel and plunge our noses in
The nasty, sickly, fluid sin.

And no matter what moans and groans
we make,

The dreadful dose we're bound to take.
No matter how much we swear and frown,

Our hopes go up, and the stuff goes down!

How public opinion could so combine
As to cause this castle's quick decline,

And not be able to move a jot Towards straining the dirty drink we've got,

I don't suppose we shall ever know
Till some of the Water Commissioners go.

In the meantime, let us abound in praise

For all that turns up in these turn-down days,

And thank our stars when time pulls
down

A single nuisance that spoils the town.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be clearly documented and verified. The text continues to describe various methods for organizing and presenting financial data, including the use of tables and columns. It notes that consistency in format is crucial for easy comparison and analysis over time.

The second section focuses on the practical aspects of bookkeeping, such as how to handle receipts and payments. It provides detailed instructions on how to record these entries, ensuring that each item is properly categorized and dated. The author stresses the need for regular audits to catch any errors or discrepancies early on.

In the final part of the document, the author discusses the overall goal of bookkeeping: to provide a clear and concise overview of the financial health of the business. It concludes by encouraging the reader to stay diligent and organized in their record-keeping practices.

Let's greet our Market Mulhall with cheers;
And trust that the next six thousand years
May bring us a Water Mulhall, whose aim
Will be pure water that's worth the name,
And so, good-bye to the famous walls,
The courts and cleavers, and juries and stalls.
Farewell, old mutton, and beef, and
veal,
That furnished the past with its daily meal.

Good-bye, old codfish, porgies, and bass,
That shone on the basement stands like glass.
Adieu, old bullheads, sturgeon, and shad,
Pike, mackerel, lobsters, good and bad;
Old eggplants, cucumbers, spinach, and greens,
And turnips and lettuce and corn and beans.
Good-bye, old hulk, farewell! adieu!
The Lord be praised that we're done with you;
And that people may find in the Pearl street view,
One more endeavor at something new.

Eve Elizabeth Nehemiah, wife of Jacob Van Aernam, died, aged 27. William Mascraft died, aged 82. He has been at all the periods of his life well known to many of our citizens. For many years he held the office of superintendent of streets, and in that capacity he evinced industry, intelligence and a stubbornness of honesty that no improper influences could shake. Underlying a blunt exterior of manner, he possessed generous impulses, and friendly sympathies. He leaves behind him the record of an unsullied integrity as a public officer that may usefully be held up as a model for men to study and imitate.—Journal.

8. John Gibson died, aged 73.

9. Mrs. Margaret McDonald Cushman died, aged 90. Jane Maria Shepard, wife of James Kidd, died, aged 55. Caroline Van Buren, wife of Abram Billson, died, aged 80.

10. Michael McGolrick died, aged 45.

11. John Gardiner died, aged 72. Philip Carlin died, aged 74.

12. Thermometer 100° in Broadway.....Mrs. Catharine Moakler died, aged 33.

13. Thermometer ranged from 100° upwards. No parallel found to the heat of these daysThomas Meehan died, aged 28.

14. A morning of unexampled heat. Forty cases of sun stroke, six of them fatal; temp. 105° in shade in Broadway; at the office of Dr. B. P. Staats thermometer marked 100° for the first time since 1824The Hon. Willis Hall died of congestion of the brain, caused by the extreme heat, at his home in New York. Mr. Hall was born in 1801, received a liberal education, and adopted the profession of the law. He entered political life in the year 1837, being elected a member of the assembly by the Whigs, who carried the state that year for the first time. He was a prominent member of the assembly. In 1838, he was made by the assembly attorney general of the state, filling the office for one year in a creditable manner. Having removed to Albany, he was elected to the assembly from this city, in the fall of 1842. He was for some time a lecturer in a law school in Saratoga, but resigned on leaving the country for a while, to recuperate his health. After his return he again took up his residence in New York, and was interested, although taking no prominent part, in the politics of the day. In 1848 he was one of the few who opposed the nomination of Gen. Taylor as the whig candidate for the presidency, and endeavored to bring forward the name of Hon. Henry Clay. After the failure of the effort Mr. Hall supported Van Buren and Adams, and this concluded his connection with political affairs. Retiring from professional and political life, he devoted his latter years to his personal and domestic affairs. He was very courteous in his manner and made many warm friends. Nathaniel S. Benton, Jr., died, aged 37.

15. The 5th day of intense heat; the heat still hotter. Thermometers ranged from 100° to 108°, in the shade.....Edward Walsh died, aged 51. John McCready died at Fire Island. Margaret, wife of Thomas Lynch, died, aged 41. Jane, wife of Edward Donnelly, died, aged 63. Cornelius Buckley died, aged 40. Richard Gannon died, aged 50. Margaret Bulman died, aged 38. L. Charles Tuck died. Samuel Legget died, aged 31.

16. Temperature at the lumber yard in open air, 130 degrees..... Thomas Noonan died, aged 66. Mr. Noonan was one of our oldest and most respected citizens. He was upright in his dealings, and affable in his social intercourse. For several years he has pursued the avocation of a real estate agent. 24. Thomas Jenkins died, aged 42. Agnes McKay, wife of John McKenzie, died, aged 55.

25. Charles L. Elliot died, aged 55. He was one of the few great and successful men of his profession. All his works were of superior excellence, and invariably won the admiration of all lovers of art. He had few, if any, superiors in this country. His death therefore, will be an irreparable loss to the art world, in which he occupied so prominent a place. His artistic hand has portrayed on canvas the life-like features of many of the great men of our nation. Among whom were the three last governors of this state; Seymour, Morgan and Fenton. The three last named now ornament the walls of our common council chamber, and never fail to win the admiration of strangers as they gaze upon them. Mr. Elliot was unquestionably one of the most successful artists this country ever produced. He has established a reputation by his works of art that will forever elicit homage from the American people. In his death, Albany will be a great sufferer. His fame as an artist added to her reputation. The former will live, but the latter expired with his demise.

Argus.....Mr. Elliot was born on the 12th October, 1812. His birth place was in the town of Scipio, Cayuga county. At the early age of fourteen he gave precocious evidence of that genius that has since shone so brilliant in the world of art. In 1834, he removed to the city of New York, and there formally entered upon that profession in which he has become so distinguished. Within the last two years he came to this city making it his permanent, and as it has proved, his last home. Mr. Elliot was a great and eminent portrait painter. But that characterization does not do ample justice to his fame. He was the best artist now living in this country. That is the judgment as well of the profession as of the public. In that one great merit of the portrait painter, without which all others fade in insignificance, the truthfulness of the likeness, Mr. Elliot was surpassingly great. The face stood out from the canvas in all the reality and perfectness of life. The similitude to nature was as perfect as a mirror, embodying tone and color, could have made it. Nor did he mar the beauty of his picture or do violence to truth by permitting himself to indulge in that license so often practiced of seeking to aid or improve the portrait by the colors of his brush or the efforts of his fancy. He clung to his subject with a fidelity that no motive could shake. And hence, when the picture passed from his easel, the spectator or the critic was coerced into the judgment that it was faultless. He had been active at his labors. He has painted the large number of seven hundred portraits. These embodied those of very many eminent men. Among them are those of Governors Seymour, Morgan and Fenton, that grace the galaxy of portraits in our common council chamber. During his residence in our city, he has made portraits of Messrs. Corning, Magee, Burden, Egberts and Williams, all of which are splendid monuments to his genius. In his private life the deceased was greatly esteemed. He attached friends to him with the strong cords of sympathy and affection. He was reserved in his disposition and was unobtrusive in his manner. He sought no ostentation. He made no parade of himself or his works. He did not court the applause of the world by those devices that men of lesser merit so often summon to their aid. He seemed content to do his labor in the quietude of his studio, and leave the honest and unsolicited judgment of the world the bestowment of the reward of fame due him. He has been stricken down in the very fullness and maturity of his genius, and the country must search earnestly and long to find one that shall fill the chasm caused by his death.—Journal.

The church is, for its size, says the Argus, without doubt, one of the most tasty and appropriately arranged edifices in the country, being in length 110 feet; from the ground to the cross on the spire, 177 feet; the length of the audience room, 85 feet; width of the audience room, 60 feet; to top of ceiling, 45 feet. The masonry work was executed by Mr. Finnerty, of Troy. The carpentry work by John Kennedy, Jr., of this city, and the plastering by Arthur Boyle; and taken together is a fine exhibition of mechanism. The altar is handsomely decorated with natural flowers, and tends the more to beautify the edifice. 22. Air, h. 53; l. 36.....The corner stone of the new Congregational church edifice, now erecting on the block bounded by Eagle, Beaver and Daniel streets, was laid at four o'clock, afternoon, with appropriate exercises. Rev. Dr. Palmer, the late pastor, and the Rev. Mr. Smart, the present pastor, delivered addresses. The building is to be in the Romanesque style, and consist of nave and apse, with tower and spire on the northwest corner of the nave. The walls of the basement and sub-basement are built of grawacke stone, from the quarries of Schenectady county. The superstructure and tower are to be built of red stock brick, making a fine contrast with the silver gray dressings of Lockport lime stone, which is to be used for dressings of doors, windows, water-table, string courses, weatherings, etc., and all the cut stone of the structure. This fine church is erected on a most singular lot, triangular in shape, bounded by streets of such diverse grades, that the sub-basement is entered from Daniel street, the basement is approached from Beaver street, and the audience room floor from Eagle street. The accommodation afforded is a sub-basement under the entire building. Basement sixteen feet high, divided into lecture room, 33 by 65, infant class room, 16 by 33, church parlor, 22 by 44, kitchen, ladies' room, closets, etc. The auditorium is 66 feet by 76, and 46 feet high from floor to apex of ceiling. The gallery will be three tier of seats deep, and extend on three sides of the auditorium, in horse shoe form. The organ will be placed in the apse, in the rear of the speaker's platform, and elevated above the speaker. The seats in this room will be segmental in form. The pastor's study and the library of the sabbath school are to be in the apse, and approached from Daniel street by a private stairs. The lecture room will seat four hundred and fifty. Infant school room will accommodate one hundred and fifty. The auditorium and galleries will seat nine hundred and fifty persons. The front of this building is on Eagle street facing the west, with massive tower on the north side, with main buttress on the south, terminated with turret, etc. The entrance doors are of heavily moulded cut stone; one in the tower and the principal entrance in the centre of the building is made to project from the face of the work, with pediment head, etc., and the other entrance on the south side. The front is further enriched by a large three-bayed window of cut stone. The tower is massive, and flanked by buttresses terminated by octagonal pinnacles. The clock section will be highly ornamented. The spire will be covered with slate and galvanized iron. The tower and spire will reach an elevation of one hundred and eighty-eight feet. The design of the church is by Woollett & Ogden, architects, of this city, who superintend its construction. The builders are, Robert Aspinall & Nephew, masons; John N. Parker, carpenter; Lang & Stormont, stone cutters; Osborn & Martin, slaters, and James McKinney, iron founder. It is estimated that this structure, with the lot, will cost not less than $125,000.....Josephine A. Remer, wife of Charles H. Bowers, died, aged 27.

14. Repaving Broadway.—A ballot of property owners on Broadway was taken at the Board of Trade rooms with a view of ascertaining their sentiments on the subject of paving Broadway with Nicolson or Belgian pavement. There was a large attendance, and considerable interest manifested. About 163 ballots were cast, and it was intended that each ballot should specify the number of feet owned by the voter, the result to be determined by the number of feet represented. But this was not done in all cases; some of the ballots not mentioning the number of feet. A few ballots were cast in opposition to either. The returns were not in proper shape, at the close of the polls, to ascertain the result precisely; and they were handed to the clerk of the common council to be arranged and returned to the inspectors of the election, who will certify the returns to the common council committee. A majority of votes cast were for the Nicolson; but it appeared, as near as could be ascertained, that the greater number of feet were in favor of Belgian. The latter stood for Nicolson, 4,252 ft. 3 in.; for Belgian, 4,587 ft. 7 in.—Journal.....Mary Hardy, wife of Charles L. Meigs, died. Maggie Josephine Farley died, aged 23. Albert W. Gates died, aged 57.

15. Messrs. Cushman and Payne completed their canvass of the votes recently cast by the real estate owners on Broadway, relative to the mode of repaving of that avenue. The total number of ballots cast was one hundred and fifty-seven, of which there were cast eighty-one in favor of the Nicolson pavement, representing 4,761.9 feet; there were sixty-nine in favor of Belgian pavement, representing 4,963.3 feet, and opposing any repavement, seven ballots; thus leaving a majority of five votes in favor of the Nicolson pavement, but a majority of 200.6 feet in favor of the Belgian pavement. Two-thirds of the owners of property from Hudson street to the South Ferry were in favor of the Belgian pavement. Two-thirds of the owners between Hudson street and Clinton avenue were in favor of the Nicolson pavement; and two-thirds of the owners from Clinton avenue to North Ferry street were in favor of the Belgian pavement.....James Ryan died, aged 42. 19. Charles E. Roberts died, aged 25. Lieutenant Roberts was the eldest son of the late E. E. A. Roberts, Esq., of Albany, and was born July 16th, 1843. He enlisted in Company A, Ninety-first N. Y. V., in the autumn of 1861, and was soon after made a sergeant of his company. He served his country two years in this capacity at Key West, Florida, and afterward in Louisiana, where, by the death or absence of his officers, he was in command of his company through a great part of the siege of Port Hudson. In the bloody attack and repulse of the 14th of June, 1863, he was conspicuous for the bravery with which he led his company in the charge, and the coolness he displayed in extricating them from their perilous position after the failure of the attack. Soon after the surrender of Port Hudson, he was commissioned second lieutenant in the Fourth Engineers, and early in 1864 promoted first lieutenant. Here he did good service as an engineer officer, at Camp Parapet and Brashear City, La. After the close of the war, his regiment (now become the Seventy-eighth U. S. C. I.), was sent to Western Louisiana, where six months of monotonous garrison life were only enlivened by an occasional excursion after guerrillas, &c. Mustered out in January, 1866, he returned to the dear home friends. For a time he seemed in excellent health, but the climate, the air and the exposures of a southern life had undermined his constitution, and he soon began to fail; and at last the end came, and another soldier has gone to his rest in the bivouac of the grave, only to awake at the Great Reveille. As a soldier, Lieutenant Roberts was brave and faithful; as an officer, he was beloved by his command and distinguished for his ability; as a friend and comrade, he was steadfast and devoted. There seemed to be an influence about him which the sternest superior officer could not resist. Fanny J. Martiman died, aged 34.

20. At a meeting of the common council it was resolved to abolish the cobble stone pavement in Broadway, and substitute the Nicholson pavement in part, and in the southern portion of the street which is submerged in time of freshets, to put down the Belgian pavement. Alderman Cook presented the following:

ALBANY, Oct. 19th, 1868.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Albany.

The Chairman of the Street Committee of the northern and southern sections, respectfully report that they held an election of the property owners on Broadway (in compliance with resolution of the Board), and the result was 157 votes were cast, representing 9,724 feet front. 81 voted for Nicholson on 4,761 feet; 69 voted for Belgian on 4,962 feet; 7 voted against Nicholson and not for any. From South Ferry to Hudson streets, 28 owners voted for Belgium on 1,372 feet, and 18 owners voted for Nicholson on 1,042; from Hudson to Wilson streets, 56 owners voted for Nicholson on 3,473 feet, and 29 owners voted on 2,579 feet for Belgium. From Wilson street to the north city line, the majority were in favor of Belgium pavement. In consideration of this result, and the unanimous desire to have Broadway repaired at once, would most respectfully report and urge the passage of three laws which have been prepared, and which your committee believe will meet the wishes and approbation of the citizens as well as the property owners. This will give to each pavement a fair chance to test its merits, and enable all to judge and decide understandingly in future.

A. COOK.

MARTIN DELEHANTY, Clerk C. C.,
(for Alderman Evans).

The report was accompanied by three laws, as follows: A law to repave Broadway from the South Ferry to Hudson street with the Belgian pavement. Passed, ayes 15; nays 1. A law to repave Broadway from Hudson street to north line of Wilson street with the Nicolson pavement, at a cost not exceeding $4 per square yard. Passed, ayes 16; nays 0. A law to repave Broadway from Wilson street to the north bounds of the city with the Nicolson or Belgian pavement.

The law provides that property owners north of Wilson street may lay the Nicolson pavement, in cases where the latter is preferred, upon giving notice to the superintendent N. S. Passed, ayes 15; nays 1.

Alderman Cook, from street committee southern section, reported in favor of removing obstructions on Quay street, from Arch to Gansevoort. Agreed to.

Alderman Mulhall, from the special Burial Ground committee reported that the work would be completed by Wednesday next, and that the entire cost would not exceed $45,000. The report gives the following list of expenditures :

The report was accompanied by a resolution appropriating $15,000 in addition to the amount heretofore appropriated ($30,000) to complete the work. Alderman Banks moved that the report be accepted and printed, and that the subject of the appropriation be laid over till the next meeting. Alderman Mulhall replied at length in opposition to the motion, and in defence of the action of the committee. Alderman Mulhall then withdrew the resolution until the next meeting.

16. Air, h. 36, l. 29.....The new store of Wendell & Roberts, No. 31 North Pearl street, was opened. The house of which the present members are lineal successors, is one of the oldest mercantile establishments in the city. It dates its genealogy back to the year 1810. Its founders then were Robert Shepard and William Boyd, the solid integrity of whose character gave an impress to the house that has never been effaced. These two gentlemen had been fellow apprentices in the jewelery establishment of Isaac Huston, well known in his day and generation. The store occupied by this new firm of young men was in the building that then stood upon the north-east corner of Broadway and Exchange street, and upon a portion of the site subsequently chosen for the erection of the Exchange building. In 1839, Mr. Shepard, whose age impelled him to retire from the cares of active business, retired from the firm, and gave place to John H. Mulford, who had been properly educated to the business by the service of an apprenticeship under Joseph T. Rice. In 1840, Mr. William Boyd died, and the vacancy thus created was filled in 1842 by the promotion of William Wendell. The latter had won his advance by years of faithful service to the former firm. In 1854 Mr. Mulford voluntarily withdrew from the business, and gave place to his nephew, Robert L. Mulford, and Wm. P. Feltman. The latter had won the favor of his copartners by years of industry as a clerk. In 1862 Mulford retired, and in 1864 Mr. Feltman died. Then Richard H. Roberts was advanced, by the order of gradation so long adopted as the policy of the firm, from a clerkship to a partnership. The firm thereby now consists of Mr. Wendell, whose connection as stated dates from 1842, and Mr. Roberts. This history shows in significant colors the policy that has ever governed the firm—that of elevating to partnership those who by industry and fidelity as clerks had proven their fitness, and merited the esteem of their employers. While this policy has preserved the cohesiveness of the firm, it has secured to it a large measure of that public approbation that has ever attached to it. And now, in the old days of its existence, with elements of youthful vigor, and in a store fashioned after the model of modern taste, it not only enjoys the favor that its history so well merits, but addresses itself with success to that same patronage that a new rival might solicit.—Journal.....Mrs. Clarissa Baldwin died, aged 67.

28. A meeting of citizens was held at the City Hall to consider the feasibility of removing Union College to Albany. Dr. Alden March presided, and Judge Clute delivered a written address. Speeches were made by Hon. J. V. L. Pruyn, Dr. McNaughton, Wm. Barnes, Mr. Cavert and Arthur Bott. Hon. Ira Harris, president pro tem. of the college, spoke in reply to questions about the condition of the institution and the probable willingness of the trustees to treat for a removal. He thought if the citizens of Albany would raise half a million of dollars the trustees would consider it advantageous to the institution to remove. It was held by the speakers that Albany would have a university soon, that all efforts to establish one at Schenectady had failed, and that two institutions so near each other could not succeed; and it was evident which would have to succumb, as Union had run down in scholarship from 330 to 140. A committee was appointed to confer with the trustees on the subject.

29. The German Catholics laid the corner stone of a new church, to be called Holy Queen of Angels, on the corner of Central avenue and Robin street. A procession was formed at the Cathedral, consisting of the prelates of the Catholic church, two brass bands, eight military companies and four civic societies. The foundation of the edifice had already been laid 150 feet long and 66 wide. The notice published, that the ceremonies would take place, and be attended with a grand procession, called out one of the largest crowds we ever saw on any similar occasion. The weather was cold and disagreeable, yet thousands of people patiently waited from about 2 P. M., until the close of the ceremonies, between 5 and 6 P. M. There could not have been less than six thousand people present to witness the exercises attending this imposing event. The procession that acted as an escort to the bishop and clergy, from the episcopal residence on Madison avenue, to the church site, consisted of Klein's and Freberthuyser's bands, eight military companies from the 10th and 25th regiments, and four civic societies, the Hibernian, St. Peter's, St. Joseph's and St. Francisquis. The bishop and clergy arrived on the ground at 4 P. M. and immediately formed into procession for the purpose of dedicating the church, blessing the spot on which the altar was to stand, and lay the corner stone, all of which duties were performed with imposing ceremonies. The Right Rev. Bishop Conroy officiated in the exercises, assisted by the Very Revs. Father Wadhams and Fidelis Dehm, Fathers Bayard, Ludden, McGinn, Burk, Doran and Lowery, of this city, and Fathers Alphonse and Robert, of Utica, and about thirty acolytes. At the conclusion of the exercises, the clergy took a position on the platform arranged for the purpose, from which the Very Rev. Father Wadhams delivered an appropriate address to the occasion in English, and the Very Rev. Father Fidelis Dehm in German. Owing to the lateness of the hour, these were short but very effective. At the close the bishop delivered a benediction, and the crowd dispersed. The new church is to be called Holy Queen of Angels, a very pretty title. Its pastor is Father Newbauer, of the order of O. M. C., who was also present and took part in the ceremonies. The auditorium will be 130 feet. The whole is to be of Romanesque architecture, and have a beautiful tower. The architects were Nichols & Brown. The builder is John McCabe. When completed it will be a splendid structure, and creditable to the German Catholics.—Knickerbocker..... John Haswell died, at Bethlehem, aged 89. The deceased was the eighth son of John Haswell, senior, who migrated from Northumberland, England, in 1774, with a family consisting of himself, wife and eleven children (seven sons and four daughters), who landed in New York, came to Albany in that year, and settled on the Patroon's Manor in Bethlehem, six miles south-west of this city, on the farm on which the subject of this obituary was born on first of January, 1780, and died aged 88 years, 10 months and 28 days. After the death of his parents, the farm was divided between three of the sons: Edward, John and William. The latter is the youngest and the only survivor of fifteen children, and is in the 85th year of his age. The title of the farm still remains in the family. With the exception of an attack of fever and ague, more than half a century ago, the deceased has enjoyed uninterrupted health until the 19th instant, when the inexorable messenger entered his sick chamber to call him from earth to a better world. He was always an active member in society, taking a lively interest in state, town, school and church affairs, never failing to attend meetings called to promote the interest of either; and while he was an active politician he was far from being a seeker for political favors. He was, however, elected and served as one of the members of assembly from this county, in the fall of 1826. With this exception he refused all other positions except as an officer of the church, school trustee, path master and quartermaster of the Bethlehem regiment of militia, and was never absent from duty on any occasion requiring his presence. During his life he lived in peace with all his neighbors, and highly respected by all who knew him, and departed this life without ever having had an enemy, full of years, and with an abiding hope of a glorious resurrection from the grave to eternal life through the atoning merits of the Saviour.....Jane B., wife of Geo. 20. Air, h. 18, l. 10Rain fell during the day, and the streets were slippery with ice and water.....St. Anne's Catholic church, in Nucella street, was dedicated, with the customary ceremonies. This church is, undoubtedly, one of the most beautiful specimens of ecclesiastical architecture in our city, already famed for its elegant churches. Its exterior is novel in outline and finish, and the entire design will bear critical examination, and can hardly fail to be admired by architects and connoisseurs, as something far beyond ordinary brick and mortar vagaries. The interior is especially beautiful, and the church may be justly considered a gem. It gives evidence in its proportions, interior ornamentation and general construction, of superior ability, is sufficiently large to accommodate a considerable congregation, and is a most important addition to a populous locality. The architects were Nichols & Brown of this city.—Argus.....Henrietta Josephine Bemis, wife of John S. Gentry, died, aged 20. Elizabeth Street, wife of J. B. Those of our readers whose memories can carry them back to the good times when De Witt Clinton was governor of this state will remember Caleb N. Bement. He kept a well ordered house in Green street, near State, which was the resort of all the leading politicians of that day, and where all the good things to eat and to drink were to be found. Quiet and unassuming, he was respected by all, and looked upon as a highly respected citizen. Several years since he left this city and took up his residence in Poughkeepsie, where he has since resided up to the moment of his death, which occurred on the 22d inst., after a lingering illness.—Journal.

He graduated at Williams College, Mass., and soon after commenced the study of the law. The strong political convictions of his family, and the influence of his brother-in-law, John Van Buren, brought him actively into politics. But though generous and enthusiastic, his mild nature and fine instincts forbade him to indulge in any of the acerbity of partisanship. While quite a young man he was elected alderman and supervisor of his ward. In 1852 he was assistant adjutant general under Gen. Temple, and on his death succeeded

12. Air, h. 30, l. 25.....The Susquehanna rail road was opened, throughout its entire length to Binghamton. The project of a rail road connecting Albany and Binghamton had been discussed for many years; but it was not until April 19th, 1851, that an organization was effected, with Edward C. Delavan as its first president; and during that year individual subscriptions to the stock of the company amounted to one million of dollars. In 1852 an act was passed by the legislature authorizing the city of Albany to loan the road its credit to the amount of one million of dollars, and in April of that year its citizens voted to make the loan. In the fall of 1853 the entire work was let to Morris, Miller, Baker & Co., to be completed at a cost of seven millions of dollars, they agreeing to take the individual subscriptions, the city loan and the balance of their pay in the bonds of the company. These contractors worked upon various portions of the route until they had expended about fifty thousand dollars, when, in the spring of 1854, they were forced, by the Schuyler frauds on the New York and New Haven rail road, and the consequent loss of public confidence in all rail roads, to suspend operations. In 1855, the subject of bonding the towns along the route was discussed, and a bill authorizing the issue of such bonds was passed by the assembly that year, but defeated by the senate. In 1857 the bill passed the legislature and became a law, and town subscriptions to the amount of nine hundred thousand dollars were obtained by this means. This amount having been exhausted, it was resolved to apply for aid from the state. Arguments were used to the effect that the portion of country through which the road was to pass had, for many years, paid its proportion of taxes for the canals, without deriving a corresponding benefit therefrom; and that the resultant benefit to the state, in the increased valuation of taxable property and increased productions, justified the measure upon grounds of public policy. In 1859, a bill appropriating $250,000, in aid of that portion of the road lying between Albany and Schoharie, passed the legislature, and was vetoed by Gov. Morgan. In 1860, a bill appropriating $1,000,000 for the whole line of the road, in installments of $250,000 each as the road progressed, the last installment to be paid upon its completion, passed the legislature and was vetoed by Gov. Morgan. In 1861 a bill, leaving out the appropriation for the western half of the road, and appropriating $500,000 for the completion of that portion lying between Albany and Oneonta, passed the legislature, and was vetoed by Gov. Morgan. In 1862, this bill again passed the legislature, and was again vetoed by Gov. Morgan. In 1863, the same bill passed the legislature, was signed by Gov. Seymour, and became a law. This bill provided for an appropriation of $250,000 when completed to Cobleskill, and the same amount when completed to Oneonta. With the aid thus furnished it was opened for transportation to the following points, at the dates named below: to Schoharie, 35 miles, September 16, 1863; to Cobleskill, 45 miles, January 2, 1865; to Richmondville, 50 miles, June 1, 1865; to Worcester, 62 miles, July 17, 1865; to Schenevus, 67 miles, August 7, 1865; to Oneonta, 82 miles, August 28, 1865. In 1866, a bill was passed giving the road an additional half million of dollars, payable in two equal installments, upon reaching Harpersville and Binghamton respectively, and was vetoed by Gov. Fenton. In 1867, a bill was passed and became a law, appropriating $250,000 for that portion of the road from Oneonta to Harpersville. With this aid, the building of the road was continued as follows: Otsego county, 90 miles from Albany, Jan. 23, 1866; Unadilla, Otsego county, 99 miles from Albany, March 21, 1866; Sidney, Delaware county, 103 miles from Albany, Oct. 22, 1866; Bainbridge, Chenango county, 108 miles from Albany, July 10, 1867; Afton, Chenango county, 114 miles from Albany, Nov. 11, 1867; Harpersville, Broome county, 120 miles from Albany, Dec. 25, 1867. In 1868 a bill was passed giving the additional $250,000 to complete the road from Harpersville to Binghamton, and was vetoed by Gov. Fenton. A temporary loan of $550,000 was then effected on the second mortgage bonds of the company, which loan matures during the present year. With this aid the road was opened to Binghamton, the last rail having been laid in December last. The road is now open for business, but it can hardly be called completed. Although it is safe in all its parts for present use, much expensive work remains to be done. The temporary tressle work at the western end is to be replaced by permanent embankments, and a large amount will be required to complete the arching of the extensive tunnel in Colesville. The road is 140 miles in length, and its total cost up to Sept. 30, 1868, was $6,387,455.94. At that date the total amount of funded and floating debt was $3,362,000, and its total earnings and expenses for five years were as follows :

Sept. 30, 1864,.....	$97,861 07	Sept. 30, 1867,.....	$484,228 19
Sept. 30, 1865,.....	175,729 13	Sept. 30, 1868,.....	535,822 64
Sept. 30, 1866,.....	385,198 86
Five years,			$1,878,839 89

Now that the road has formed a through connection with the west by means of the New York and Erie rail road, and is about to tap the coal regions of Pennsylvania, it may confidently be predicted that its earnings will henceforth steadily and rapidly increase, and prove a permanent source of revenue, as will the road itself a permanent blessing to the locality through which it passes, and to the whole state.—Argus.....

The first part of the book is devoted to a general history of the United States from its discovery by Columbus in 1492 to the present time. It covers the early years of settlement, the struggle for independence, the formation of the Constitution, and the development of the Union. The second part of the book is devoted to a detailed history of the United States from 1789 to the present time. It covers the early years of the Republic, the struggle for the abolition of slavery, the Civil War, and the Reconstruction period. The third part of the book is devoted to a detailed history of the United States from 1865 to the present time. It covers the Reconstruction period, the Gilded Age, the Progressive Era, and the modern period. The book is written in a clear and concise style, and is suitable for use in schools and colleges.

in envious longing for the capricious little ponies. The riding gave evidence of practice and patience in most cases, yet there were luckless exceptions, however, for several gorgeously decked and complacent beings came to sudden and unexpected grief, in the most trying places and moments. The easiest to master, is of rapidity of motion, much preferable to the other. The bicycle is to be the favorite, however, because less cumbersome, and more difficult to manage, rendering the mastering, a feeling of immense satisfaction and complacency. — Knickerbocker..... 27. Air, h. 39, l. 35.....The Rev. Dr. Wyckoff, so long the pastor of the Middle Dutch church on Beaver street, died at the advanced age of 76. Dr. Wyckoff was born in New Jersey, in the year 1792. He came here from Catskill, Greene county, about the year 1837. He officiated at Catskill some ten or twelve years before he assumed his duties as pastor of the Middle Dutch. He succeeded Rev. I. N. Ferris. From his arrival here until 1867, he filled the pulpit of the above ancient edifice, with faithfulness and fidelity. In 1867 he retired from the pastorate and was succeeded by Rev. Dr. Elmendorf, the present able and esteemed pastor of the church. Dr. Wyckoff was one of the oldest if not the oldest clergyman in the city. It was his age, and nothing else, that caused him to retire from service. He was a model minister, working always for the good of souls. He was able, and eloquent in his day, and no man was more revered by his congregation than Dr. Wyckoff. He had a smile and kind word for every one, and was indefatigable in his exertions in behalf of the poor.—Knickerbocker. The clergyman who for a long series of years has taken the direction of the chaplain service of the legislature has just ended a life which, so far as human judgment may pronounce of any man's career, has been one long existence of kind thought and tender word and loving service to his fellow men, rich and poor, home born or foreign. It is not true of him that he dies and makes no sign. His earnest, truthful eulogy is writing itself in the memories of those to whom he gave voice and labor that he might make their life happier. In many specialties of character, Dr. Wyckoff was a very extraordinary man. With a blending of shrewdness and simplicity which did not mar the outline of his career; with an overflowing appreciation and love for the beautiful wherever, whenever found, and yet a marked deficiency of order in the arrangement of his taste; with a heart that found itself especially near all scenes of grief or joy, but the interpretation of whose words were often far away in precision of expression; with a charity that grasped all men, and a fraternal, paternal manner that recognized no distinction of coat or gown, or cassock or mitre, folding all their wearers to his heart in brotherhood; with unceasing will and wish for the happiness of all humanity, this man lived in every hour Christian life. It is not surprising that as he dies all classes of people stop to notice it, and, forgetting that they may have differed from him in his theology, tell out their belief that one of the really good men of the earth has gone to his rest; that at last he has gathered to himself the exceeding precious promises whose intensity of value he urged to others. Dr. Wyckoff came to Albany in 1836, succeeding the Rev. Dr. Ferris (now chancellor of the New York University) in the ministry of the Reformed Dutch church between Hudson and Beaver streets—a church built to consecrate by its uses an ancient burying ground, and whose construction was regarded by the active men of the time of its building as a great good attained. It was formed of the old stones which had been brought there, material of the very old structure which occupied the lower centre of the present State street. His long ministry in its history belongs to the ecclesiastical annals of that prominent and prosperous church. He came to its charge when as yet some of its aged members were living; those who had endured in the truth till the thoughts and words and actions of the gospel became portion of their inner life. The biographies of the sainted men and women of that Middle Dutch church are, so far as this world's records go, in the quick formed dust of its oblivion. Only a few descendants, a few relatives, recollect even their names; but by all the memories of the highest, worthiest, wisest religious life, of unceasing prayer, of an intelligent religion that anticipated its glorious destiny — of all these there is written in light in Jerusalem the golden. Over such a people and their descendants Dr. Wyckoff labored, and forgot no mourner, overlooked no poor. His language was often almost eccentric, but the tortuous path of words never forgot its way to the celestial city. Especially was he the benefactor of the immigrant Hollander. In 1846, a new movement of emigration stirred Holland. The Netherlands seemed almost to have forgotten their once cherished possessions, and the emigration of 1608 and the years following had become historical; but ecclesiastical difficulties set a weaker party in motion, and, after they had led the way, others followed. These naturally went to such men as Dr. Thomas De Witt (clarum et venerabile nomen) and Dr. Wyckoff. These men were like the clergymen they had left in the old land, and Dr. Wyckoff was busiest, kindest, most persevering, most enduring of men with them. He listened to all their congratulations or complaints; talked with them about their old home and their new one; counselled, expostulated, scolded (for some scolding was a kindness); raised money for them; looked after their luggage; attended the very dray in its burden of their queer, quaint, conglomerated effects; preached for their cause; listened to their preaching; grieved in their woe; apologized for their errors; and entered into all their wants as a guardian. The Hollanders in America may well, when they get prosperous, make enduring monument to this most devoted friend, who devoted his time and talent to make them a solid home in the new world. I do not believe any man in Albany had more universal respect than Dr. Wyckoff possessed, because he had the general confidence. His charity was absolutely delightful. His name of brother would be given, and really intended, as it was said, as well to the clergy whom Archbishop McCloskey governs, as to those with whose faith he had nearer sympathy. This man went on in life looking on the world around him as a necessity of constant sympathy, because a necessity of constant suffering. In talent respectable, in learning sufficient, in theology broad but pure, in labor abundant, his life closes as a volume read by duty to its close. I write thus the more freely because while he lived it was the common thought of his friends that he was eminently a good man. His duties as clergyman had yielded their force to the feebleness of age; but his name does not pass from the record of the living without its being realized in a truth which it is delightful to recognize, that his name might be written among the first as

and that his love went beyond this to the highest.—Wm. H. Bogart in the New York World.....Mary O'Brien died, aged 63. Catharine, wife of Isaac Burton, died. Sally, widow of Horace Emery, died, aged 72.

28. Easter Sunday was the most beautiful day of the spring. Scarcely a breath of air was stirring, and the sun shone with almost uninterrupted brightness. The attendance at most of the churches was very large. The day was celebrated with unusual pomp by all the Catholic and Episcopal churches in this city. At the Cathedral, the church was decorated with flowers upon the side altars. The sanctuary and altar were brilliantly lighted, while on the pillars were small shades with appropriate inscriptions, such as — “Christ is 'risen from the dead and hath appeared to Simon Peter.” “This is the day the Lord hath made; let us rejoice

The first of these was the Declaration of Independence, which was adopted on July 4, 1776. This document declared the thirteen colonies to be free and independent states, no longer bound to the British Crown. The second was the Constitution of 1787, which established the framework of the federal government. The third was the Bill of Rights, which guaranteed certain fundamental rights to the citizens. These three documents are considered the foundation of the United States government.

THE CONSTITUTION

The Constitution is the supreme law of the United States. It defines the powers of the federal government and the rights of the states and individuals. The Constitution is divided into seven articles. Article I establishes the legislative branch, the Congress. Article II establishes the executive branch, the President. Article III establishes the judicial branch, the Supreme Court. The remaining four articles deal with the structure of the government and the rights of the states and individuals.

and be glad therein—Hallelujah.” The music was of the grandest character. Cherubin’s mass for four voices was performed with great brilliancy. The imposing services were conducted by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Conroy, assisted by a large number of the clergy. The building was densely crowded. At St. Joseph’s the services were very imposing. The service at St. Peter’s church yesterday morning was very largely attended. From the opening to the close, the interest of the large number of worshipers seemed unabated. The musical portion of the service (Mr. Squires, organist) was rendered with great effect. Among the most noticeable features, the Easter Hymn, arranged from Lambillotte, the Te Deum, with solos by Miss Coyle and Messrs. Whitney and Woodbridge, and the Offertory Anthem, solo by Mrs. J. M. Sayles, with chorus, were most pleasing. Altogether, this was one of the finest services ever given in this ancient church. The floral offerings were elaborate and tastefully arranged about the altar, pulpit, etc. The font was filled with a superb pyramid of pond lilies, etc., and a profusion of flowers surrounded the basin. The pulpit font was covered with flowers. The lector was similarly decorated; and a large cross of white and red flowers, surmounting a mound of flowers, stood upon the altar. Some idea of the magnificence of the display may be gathered from the fact that there were seven hundred camelias, besides other rare and beautiful flowers in proportion, the generous gift of Erastus Corning, Jr, while there was a profusion of equally elegant flowers from the conservatory of Gen. John F. Rathbone. We hear that even New York and Philadelphia were held under contribution for flowers for this church. It was the most beautiful floral exhibition ever seen in this city. At St. Paul’s church an eloquent and instructive sermon was delivered by the rector, Rev. J. L. Reese. The church was crowded, and a liberal collection was taken up for domestic missions. The music, under direction of Mr. T. Spencer Lloyd, organist, assisted by Mr. F. J. Lawrence, Mrs. Hoyt and a full choir, was of a very high order. The font was decorated with pond lilies and other rare flowers; a cross of white flowers stood in front of, and another large one, mingled with green, over the pulpit. In the evening the rite of confirmation was administered by Rt. Rev. Bishop Doane, to a number of candidates. The carols were sung by the children. But the Catholic and Episcopal churches were not alone in their observances of the day. The display of flowers at the Fourth Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Darling’s, was surpassed only by that at St. Peter’s. At the Third Presbyterian church the venerable Dr. Halley preached a very eloquent, able and appropriate sermon on the resurrection.....The Rev. William J. Boardman, rector of the Church of the Holy Innocents, resigned the rectorate, and preached his farewell sermon this day.....Egbert Egberts, formerly of Albany, died at Cohoes, aged 78. He was born at Coeymans, in this county, where his father, Anthony Egberts, who was an officer in the revolutionary army, settled at the close of the war. In 1812, he engaged in mercantile business in this city, with his brother, Cornelius, under the firm name of C. & E. Egberts. In 1831, he removed to Cohoes, where he first successfully introduced the power knitting frame, and established an extensive manufactory. In 1852, he retired from active business, with a competency, which he always used in the spirit of Christian liberality. In that year he was the candidate of the whig party for congress. In 1853, he organized the bank of Cohoes, and was chosen its president, which office he retained till his death. The Egberts Institute received from him an endowment of $20,000, and the Reformed Church of Cohoes, of which he was a member, is indebted in great measure to his taste and liberality for their beautiful house of worship. He was a friend of the poor, and for every good cause had an open heart and hand.—Evening Journal.....Rev. Ambrose M. O'Neil died, aged 29. He was endowed with extraordinary energy and fervor, and won a high place in the affections of the people of his church. The Cathedral was crowded to suffocation at his funeral.....Johanna, wife of Henry Boyle, died, aged 19.

29. The mild weather of the past few days, and a drenching rain of thirty-six hours duration, raised the volume of water in the river above the pier and dock, and drove the ice down below the city.....Old St. Peter's, the mother of the Episcopal churches in this section of the country, was this morning the scene of unusual excitement. For a century, and up to within the past two years, the election of wardens and vestrymen was a foregone conclusion, and attracted but little, if any, attention. But lately, by the infusion of a new element, more spirit has been engendered, which was exhibited to-day in the election of church wardens and vestrymen. The following is the result as published in the Evening Journal. 171 votes polled.

2. The ice barrier at Coeymans broke away, and left the channel open to New York..... William Smith died, aged 65. Mr. Smith was a well known merchant, having passed his whole long life, from his apprenticeship upwards, in the counting room. With the exception of a brief period in his youth spent in the service of Andrew Kirk, he has been engaged in the dry goods trade. In that traffic he pursued his apprenticeship under the tuition respectively of Mr. Tabor and of Richard Marvin & Co. In the latter house he was at length admitted a partner. Upon leaving that house he formed one of the firm of Smith & Strong; then he was one of the house of Smith, Woodburn & Deyerman; next of Smith, Cary & Mosely, and finally of Smith, Lansing & Hardee, with which he was connected at the time of his death. At the organization of the Albany City Bank in 1836, he was chosen one of the directors, and has uninterruptedly remained such ever since. Mr. Smith was a native of Albany, having been born upon the lot in Broadway next adjoining that which has of late been his residence. He was an active, sagacious and honorable merchant. He was of that type that is modelled upon the principle that integrity is the surest road to success, as it is the noblest attribute of the business man. He was mild in his disposition, unostentatious in his manner, affable in his demeanor, and kind in his intercourse. He never sought the distinction of place or power, but contented himself with the quiet pursuit of his business and the enjoyment of genial social intercourse. No act of dishonor or wrong stains the record of his life, and he has passed away with the sincere sorrow of all who knew him. Journal..... Mary A. Gray died, aged 25.

3. Cyrus Hawley died. Within a few weeks past, death, without sparing meanwhile either youth or strength, seems to have been unusually busy among our old and well known citizens. Our records of mortality have rarely chronicled, within a brief period, so many familiar names. Whoever scans the death column of our city press will not fail to observe how many old friends are passing away, and how ripe has been the harvest of the Destroyer; and this, too, among those whose green old age has borne with it so much of vivacity and the spirit of the youth, that their summons seems almost as untimely as though youth itself had fallen. We add this morning to the mournful catalogue the name of Cyrus Hawley, a name especially familiar to the residents of the western portion of our city, but wherever known, regarded with esteem and honor. Mr. Hawley was born in Herkimer county, New York, in the month of March, 1800. He came to Albany in the year 1814, and was employed as a clerk in the produce store of the late Daniel L. Newton. He remained with Mr. Newton, who was his brother-in-law, until about 1821, when he became a dealer in grains, seeds and country produce, and for a short time, about the year 1830, was a partner of Mr. Newton's. Their store was situated on the hill near the Brick point, and was well known many years before the Erie canal was completed, and before railroads were thought of. The Great Western turnpike in those days, and until the Erie canal offered greater facilities for transportation, was the grand thoroughfare to and from the West. All country produce was then brought to the Albany market by teams, and merchandize was carried to villages and country stores by wagons or sleighs, even to Rochester, which was then the far west. Real estate on Washington street, now dignified as Washington avenue, was greatly valued, and at one period

The first part of the document discusses the early history of the United States, focusing on the period from the late 17th century to the early 18th century. It covers the establishment of the first permanent English colonies in North America, the growth of the plantation economy, and the increasing tensions between the colonies and the British government. Key events mentioned include the Boston Tea Party and the outbreak of the American Revolutionary War.

The second part of the document details the political and social changes that occurred during the Revolutionary War and the subsequent years. It discusses the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776, the drafting of the Constitution in 1787, and the establishment of the federal government. The document also touches upon the westward expansion of the United States and the role of the military in shaping the nation's borders.

The third part of the document explores the economic and social developments of the early 19th century. It discusses the Industrial Revolution and its impact on the United States, the growth of the cotton trade, and the rise of the abolitionist movement. The document also mentions the War of 1812 and its effects on the nation's economy and politics.

The fourth part of the document covers the mid-19th century, focusing on the expansion of the United States into the West and the increasing sectional tensions between the North and the South. It discusses the Mexican-American War, the discovery of gold in California, and the growing divide over the issue of slavery. The document also mentions the beginning of the Civil War in 1861.

The fifth part of the document details the Civil War and its aftermath. It discusses the military strategies of both sides, the Emancipation Proclamation, and the Reconstruction period. The document also touches upon the challenges of rebuilding the South and the struggle for civil rights for African Americans.

The sixth part of the document covers the late 19th century, focusing on the Gilded Age and the rise of industrial magnates. It discusses the rapid economic growth, the expansion of the railroad network, and the increasing influence of big business. The document also mentions the Populist movement and the challenges of the late 19th century.

The seventh part of the document discusses the early 20th century, focusing on the Progressive Era and the rise of the modern state. It discusses the reforms of the time, the rise of the labor movement, and the impact of World War I. The document also mentions the beginning of the Great Depression and the New Deal.

The eighth part of the document covers the mid-20th century, focusing on the Cold War and the civil rights movement. It discusses the tensions between the United States and the Soviet Union, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War. The document also mentions the struggle for racial equality and the leadership of Martin Luther King Jr.

The ninth part of the document discusses the late 20th century, focusing on the end of the Cold War and the challenges of the 1980s and 1990s. It discusses the rise of the conservative movement, the end of the Vietnam War, and the economic challenges of the time. The document also mentions the beginning of the AIDS crisis and the challenges of the late 20th century.

The tenth part of the document covers the early 21st century, focusing on the 9/11 attacks and the War on Terror. It discusses the impact of the attacks, the invasion of Iraq, and the challenges of the early 21st century. The document also mentions the beginning of the Great Recession and the challenges of the early 21st century.

went up to almost fabulous prices. The Erie canal, changing the method of transportation from land to water, brought down values. In Mr. H.'s day as a merchant, his cotemporaries in commercial enterprise were such men as William Durant, Clark Durant, Wm. Jones, William Chapman, Wm. and John M. Newton, Duncan Robinson, Messrs. McNab, Morgan, McEntosh and Cumming, Aaron Roggen, Hubbell Knapp, John Taylor, Robert Boyd, Robert Dunlop and Andrew Kirk. From 1832 to 1840 he was connected more or less with Mr. Batchelder, in the purchase of flaxseed, &c. In the year 1841 he engaged largely in the purchase of wool, with Alexander Cumming and Robert Worden. In 1843 he formed a general partnership with William Appleton, which continued until 1849, when he retired from business with an ample competence. Since the period of his retirement from active business, Mr. Hawley has quietly and reasonably enjoyed the years allotted to him. He was always fond of exercise and intelligent companionship, and during recent years was accustomed to make frequent journeys on foot with favorite friends as far as Saratoga Springs and back, from Saratoga to Lake George, and from Gorham to the summit of Mt. Washington. Though never married, a marked trait in Mr. Hawley's character was his peculiar fondness for children. They were ever his favorites, and the kind hearted and the pleasant old gentleman will be remembered in years to come by many a little friend whose childish sorrows he soothed, or to whose innocent happiness he contributed. Mr. Hawley was not, we believe, a regular member of any church. But in his principles and deportment he exemplified the Christian gentleman. In all his relations to society he acquired and merited the approbation and respect of his fellow men. In his personal habits he was neat and careful without being too fastidious. In business he was singularly prompt and accurate, and always scrupulously honest. He was judicious but liberal in charities, and delighted in those quiet kindnesses which exhibit the true hearted gentleman far more than ostentatious display. His pathway to the grave was scattered with the blessings of the poor whom he relieved. The deceased was a relative of ex-Mayor George H. Thatcher, from whose residence the funeral took place. — Journal. John Rector died, aged 69.

The first part of the book discusses the early years of the United States, from the time of the first settlers to the end of the American Revolution. It covers the struggles of the colonies against British rule, the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and the formation of the new government under the Constitution.

The second part of the book deals with the period of territorial expansion and the westward movement of the population. It describes the Louisiana Purchase, the Mexican War, and the discovery of gold in California, which led to the California Gold Rush.

The third part of the book focuses on the Civil War, a conflict that resulted in the preservation of the Union and the abolition of slavery. It details the military and political events of the war, as well as the Reconstruction period that followed.

The fourth part of the book covers the late 19th and early 20th centuries, a time of rapid industrialization and social change. It discusses the rise of big business, the growth of cities, and the emergence of new political movements.

The final part of the book examines the 20th century, from the Progressive Era to the present day. It covers the two world wars, the Cold War, and the social and cultural revolutions of the 1960s and 1970s.

its provisions the following disposal is made of the estate: to the niece of deceased, Catharine Barclay Porter, he bequeathed the sum of $500, and an equal amount to his nephew, Sylvanus B. Jermain, 2d. The remainder of the property, real and personal, he bequeathed to his son James Barclay Jermain, whom he appointed sole executor for the estate. Attached to the will was a codicil bearing date January 20, 1856, in which the following additional bequests were made; to each of his brothers and sisters who should be living at the time of his decease, an annuity of $400, to continue during the terms of their respective lives. The survivors are Julia Ann Prince, Alanson Jermain, Caroline Porter, John Jermain, George W. Jermain, and Margaret P. Slocum. To Frances, widow of his late son John Jermain, and to Emily, relict of his grandson Sylvanus Jermain, deceased, a life annuity of $250 each was left, to be annulled, however, in case of the parties marrying again. The property was a valuable one, the net estate footing up a little over $1,500,000. Seven hundred and fifty dollars worth of internal revenue stamps were required for stamping the will. Sylvanus P. Jermain died, aged 86. He came to this city about 1800, while a lad, and was one of the first stockholders of the State Bank. He was a man of close business habits and of rigid economy; and by prudent and slowly gathered gains accumulated a fortune of a million and a half of dollars. While his life was devoted to the pursuit of riches, and he frankly acknowledged the mastery which this passion had obtained over him, he was strictly honest and in all ways free from blame. His large fortune was constantly in use, and in active investment, and he was little more than treasurer or actuary of the large fund. Riches afforded him neither luxury nor leisure; but only a care which absorbed his time and most of his thoughts. He was, however, successful in all his undertakings, and lived a cheerful, simple and frugal life to a remarkable old age.— Argus. The Journal of Commerce says of him: He was a native of Sag Harbor, on Long Island, but went into business at Albany in 1802, and continued for sixty-seven years an active man of business, having amassed a very large fortune, and continuing in attendance at his office until within ten days of his decease. A history of his earlier life would form a very interesting chapter on our internal commerce and the navigation of the Hudson, in which much of his property was invested before the days of steamers. His first partner was Capt. Sherman, who became the well known pioneer of steam navigation on Lake Champlain. Mr. Jermain was distinguished for his steady, upright and invariable business habits, though for many years past he has occupied himself with but little other work than the management of his immense property. He was a communicant in the Presbyterian church (now under the care of Dr. Sprague) from its organization, more than fifty years ago. Few, if any, merchants now survive who remember the commencement of Mr. Jermain's business life, but there are many in this city who recall their relations with him in the times of the war and the succeeding years, and who will be reminded now of the vast changes which have taken place in the whole system of commercial affairs during the period covered by his long experience..... 30. The fifth anniversary of the rector of St. Paul's church was observed. The Rev. Mr. Reese, the rector, briefly recapitulated the history of the church since he took charge of the parish. During that period the number of communicants had increased from one hundred and twenty-three to two hundred and twenty, and the collections and contributions by the congregation for pew rentals and religious and charitable purposes, amounted to nearly $72,000 during the past year. The rector officiated at sixteen marriages, at twenty deaths, and at upwards of sixty baptisms; and the collections reached about $15,000. In the afternoon the anniversary of the Sunday school, which continues to thrive, under the able superintendence of William Lacy, Esq., occurred, and the church was crowded. There was charming music, the exercises were highly interesting, and the floral offerings of the various classes were elegant and most liberal. The appeal to the congregation for flowers with which to decorate the graves of deceased soldiers to-day was cheerfully responded to. The rector stated that the day being a regular communion Sunday, the plate collections could not be diverted from their legitimate channel, viz: the relief of widows and other poor women belonging to the parish, but he had caused boxes to be placed at the doors for contributions with which to buy flowers for the soldiers' graves. When the congregation retired these boxes were not neglected.—Argus.

16. Volkert P. Douw died, aged 80. His death is to the city a severe loss, and creates in the circle of those accustomed to his kindly presence, and his judicious counsel, an irreparable void. He leaves to his family, and to our city, a princely legacy, in the memory and example of an upright life, well spent in their interest. Mr. Douw was a graduate of Princeton College, New Jersey, and for many years a successful merchant in this city, as a member of the hardware firm, of which John D. P. Douw, his father, was senior member, and which had its place of business corner of State street and Broadway, site of Douw's building. Upon the death of his father, Mr. Volkert P. Douw succeeded to the care and management of the business, and was long well known in the city and elsewhere as a judicious and successful man of business. Many years ago he retired from more active employments, having attained a large fortune. Few men have more strongly marked traits of character than had Mr. Douw. He possessed a most excellent judgment, which seldom led him astray, and rendered him in all matters decided and positive and entirely self-reliant. His sagacity was rarely at fault in the estimate which he formed of man. Unostentatious and unobtrusive himself, nothing was less likely to deceive him than the glitter of unfounded pretension. His manners and his habits of thought were stamped with the courtliness and finish of the earlier age in which they were found. A close observer, an extensive reader, a lover of the beautiful in nature and in the arts, travel in his own and in foreign countries had added to his native geniality and grace of character stores of information and anecdote, which a memory wonderful in its accuracy and retentiveness to the last, never failed to recall, as occasion warranted, and gave to him social accomplishments and conversational powers rarely possessed. A friend of the poor, an upright and enterprising citizen, a faithful and self-sacrificing friend, he goes down to the grave after an honorable and well spent life, deeply regretted by the community.—Argus.....Margaret E. Manning, wife of Wm. H. Finch, died, aged 22.

17. Dr. Alden March died, aged 74. He was born in Sutton, Worcester county, Mass., in 1795. His early life was passed on a farm, and the rudiments of his education acquired in public schools, in which, for a short time, he was a teacher. He studied medicine with an elder brother, who was surgeon in the United States army, and attended medical lectures in Boston. He graduated at Brown University, Providence, R. I., which, at that time, had a department of medicine. Williams College conferred the degree of LL.D. on Dr. March, and he was honorary member of most of the leading societies of this country. While a student of medicine, he was distinguished for his zeal and industry in the study of anatomy, and this laid a firm foundation for his future surgical renown. In the pursuit of his studies, no difficulty seemed too great, no obstacle too formidable for him to overcome. And the same indomitable will,

The first of these is the fact that the medical profession is becoming more and more organized. This is true in every country, and it is especially true in the United States. The American Medical Association, the American College of Surgeons, the American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and the American Association of Physicians and Surgeons are all examples of this trend. These organizations are not only interested in the welfare of their members, but they are also interested in the welfare of the public. They are working to improve the standard of medical education, to improve the standard of medical practice, and to improve the standard of medical research. They are also working to improve the standard of medical ethics. This is a very important task, and it is one that is being done more and more every day.

The second of these is the fact that the medical profession is becoming more and more scientific. This is true in every country, and it is especially true in the United States. The medical profession is now using more and more scientific methods in its practice. This is true in the diagnosis of disease, in the treatment of disease, and in the prevention of disease. This is a very important trend, and it is one that is being done more and more every day.

The third of these is the fact that the medical profession is becoming more and more humanitarian. This is true in every country, and it is especially true in the United States. The medical profession is now more and more interested in the welfare of the patient. This is true in the diagnosis of disease, in the treatment of disease, and in the prevention of disease. This is a very important trend, and it is one that is being done more and more every day.

The fourth of these is the fact that the medical profession is becoming more and more international. This is true in every country, and it is especially true in the United States. The medical profession is now more and more interested in the welfare of the world. This is true in the diagnosis of disease, in the treatment of disease, and in the prevention of disease. This is a very important trend, and it is one that is being done more and more every day.

perseverance and enthusiasm have characterized his whole professional life. He came to Albany in 1820, and immediately commenced the practice of his profession, which he pursued with untiring devotion and success until his death. His often-repeated wish, that he might "die with his armor on," has been amply fulfilled; for, until within the last few weeks, he has been most actively engaged in the laborious duties of his profession. Immediately previous to his sickness, he made the journey to New Orleans, to attend a meeting of the National Medical Association, of which he had been an honored member and president. On his return, he was in usual health, engaged actively in surgical practice, and only found time occasionally to look after the affairs of his farm, a few miles out of town. He was passionately fond of agricultural pursuits, and in this way exposed himself to cold, which kindled into activity a chronic disease, from which he had long and uncomplainingly suffered. He was attended by his beloved colleagues and friends, Dr. James McNaughton, Dr. James P. Boyd, and his brother-in-law, Dr. Armsby, and during his last illness was visited by most of the medical gentlemen of the city. His death, in the full vigor of mental and physical activity and usefulness, will leave a void in our city and in the profession, that will be most deeply felt and deplored. Dr. March was one of the most remarkable and gifted men of his time. No medical man in this country was more widely known, or more highly respected and esteemed. It was the common remark and testimony of medical men, that Dr. March was the highest and best surgical authority in this country. Among the prominent medical men of Europe, whose acquaintance he had made during his frequent visits abroad, he was everywhere received with distinguished notice, and honor. No improvement in his profession escaped his attention and investigation. His bold and independent habits of thought and action were always conspicuous, and he originated many new and important improvements in surgical science. As a bold, dexterous and skillful operator, Dr. March had no superior in this or any country. This is the universal testimony of the profession, and especially of those who have enjoyed the most extensive opportunities of foreign travel and observation. Few persons ever combined so many of the elements of a great and successful surgeon. He had a frame of wonderful power and endurance, a mind of electric quickness and ceaseless activity, with skill in discrimination and tact, and dexterity in execution, which carried him successfully through the most difficult and trying ordeal of surgical practice. He was a most thorough student of anatomy, having taught this branch ten years, before he occupied the chair of surgery in our Medical College. Thus armed with accurate knowledge and skill, he was never dismayed by the magnitude or danger of a surgical operation, upon which, perhaps, the safety or life of his patient depended. Having prepared himself for every emergency, he would commence an operation with calmness and self-possession, which inspired hope and confidence in his patients, and excited admiration and astonishment among his assistants and associates. He never seemed to consider that his own reputation was at stake, when the most hazardous operation gave but a slight and only hope of saving the life of a patient. At all hours of the day or night, his best services were cheerfully and promptly rendered; without partiality, to the poor and the rich alike, and while he required just compensation from one class, he rendered as faithful and willing service to the other. But the great beauty of his character was in his domestic and Christian life. No man was more loving or more beloved in his house, than Dr. March, and no one in the church of which he was a main pillar, was looked up to with more respect and confidence. His whole life was characterized by simplicity, honesty and integrity, as evinced in the faithful fulfillment of every trust confided to his care during a long life of public service and honor. He was the father and one of the founders of the Albany Medical College, and its offspring, the Albany City Hospital. More than forty years ago he delivered a public lecture On the Propriety of establishing a Medical College and Hospital in the city of Albany. Among the last acts of his eventful life, he donated to these institutions, each $1,000. To the college he bequeathed his pathological museum, the most extensive and valuable in this country, with $1,000, the interest of which is to be perpetually employed for its care and preservation. To the hospital he had given the same amount, the interest to be expended for the purchase of surgical instruments for use in the hospital. The name of Dr. March has long been a household word throughout the land. His students are numbered by thousands, in whose hearts his memory is embalmed forever. Every one has some kind and cherished remembrance of his honored and beloved preceptor. Wherever a student or graduate of Albany Medical College is found, and they are scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land, it is claimed, as their highest honor and merit, that they "have been a student of Dr. March, of Albany." When the deceased came to this city, it had a population of less than fifteen thousand. With the enterprise and activity which have characterized his whole life, he at once conceived the idea of establishing a medical college and hospital here. At that time there was but one hospital and two colleges in the state. He began a course of lectures on anatomy in 1821, in the attic of an old building in Montgomery street, above Columbia. His first class of students numbered fourteen, most of whom were young physicians. His material for demonstration was brought overland from Boston, at great expense and personal risk. These lectures were continued, and petitions were circulated among our citizens, year after year, for a charter for a medical college. At length, with the aid of his associate, Dr. Armsby, and the support of prominent citizens of Albany, a charter was obtained from the legislature, and our Medical College was organized and commenced operations January 3d, 1839. Dr. March has been at the head of this institution thirty years, after having labored eighteen years to prepare the way for its establishment. This institution, the fruit of his labors and enterprise; the church which he has contributed so largely to build up, and the hospital with which he has been so prominently identified since its foundation, and the various other public enterprises with which he has been connected, will associate his name with the history and progress of Albany, as enduringly as that of any other citizen.—Journal.

18. Joel W. Andrews died, aged 67. He was well known to our citizens, and universally respected. He was an enthusiastic meteorologist, and was recognized as one of the best manufacturers of meteorological instruments in the country. His recorded observations extend through a period of more than thirty years, and are probably more minute than those of any other individual. He made frequent visits to the mountainous regions of the country in the prosecution of his studies, and every unusual phenomenon was carefully noted. Mr. Andrews was of retiring habits, unweariedly industrious, an ingenious mechanic, and an exemplary Christian. Our readers and the general public will miss his scientific contributions, but his family and a small circle of intimate friends will mourn his departure, because they knew how deserving he was of their respect and affection.—Journal..... 7. The first stone in the foundation of the new Capitol was laid with ceremony. Among the distinguished individuals present was His Excellency Gov. John T. Hoffman, Hon. John V. L. Pruyn, several of the Capitol commissioners, John Bridgford, Esq., superintendent, and a large number of our prominent citizens. The stone was laid at the southeast corner of the grounds, by Hon. John V. L. Pruyn, who accompanied it with a few appropriate remarks. Haines, the photographer, was present and took a photograph of the scene. Workmen are engaged in cutting and laying stone, and the most perfect machinery in the world for handling stone has been erected. It consists of two large derricks, arranged on rail road tracks running the entire length of the proposed new edifice; by these derricks two men can handle a stone with ease weighing from ten to fifteen tons.—Times. Upon laying the stone, Hon. John V. L. Pruyn, one of the Capitol commissioners, made the following remarks: The occasion which has brought us together, marks an important event in the history of our state. The legislature has authorized the erection on this site of a new Capitol, for the accommodation of the executive, the legislative and the judicial departments of the government, the arrangement of which shall be commensurate with the wants of our

The first part of the book is devoted to a general history of the United States from the discovery of the continent to the present time. The author discusses the early exploration of the continent, the establishment of the first colonies, the struggle for independence, and the development of the federal government. He also touches upon the various wars and conflicts that have shaped the nation's history.

The second part of the book is a detailed account of the political and social changes that have taken place in the United States since the Civil War. The author examines the rise of the industrial revolution, the growth of the middle class, and the emergence of the modern political system. He also discusses the various social movements and reforms that have shaped the nation's identity.

The third part of the book is a study of the foreign relations of the United States. The author discusses the nation's role in the world, its relations with other major powers, and its participation in international organizations. He also touches upon the various wars and conflicts that have shaped the nation's foreign policy.

The fourth part of the book is a study of the culture and society of the United States. The author discusses the various cultural movements and reforms that have shaped the nation's identity. He also touches upon the various social movements and reforms that have shaped the nation's society.

great commonwealth, and mark its power and prosperity. The commissioners appointed by law will, at the proper time, make arrangements for laying the corner-stone of the building with the ceremonies appropriate to an occasion of so much interest. The thought which the subject calls out, will no doubt then find full expression. This is not the time to give utterance to them. Meanwhile the work will go on, and it has now reached that condition when the heavy masonry is to be commenced. Under these circumstances, and in behalf of the board of commissioners, I have been requested to lay, as I now do, in their name, this, the first foundation stone of the new Capitol of the state of New York. Here may wise laws be enacted. Here may purity and integrity of purpose always mark the action of executive power. Here may justice, the attribute of deity, be inflexibly administered, and may Almighty God bless the state and prosper the undertaking..... Volkert Whitbeck died, aged 70. 9. Mrs. Maria Van Ness died, aged 100 years, 7 months and 24 days. She died at the Home of the Friendless, where she had resided for some years at her own option, and at the expense of her relatives. She was born and has always resided in this city. She was the widow of John Van Ness, who died many years since. Her son, John Van Ness, Jr., who died about twenty years ago, was well known as an active business and public man. He was for some terms alderman of the old Fifth ward. Mrs. Van Ness has always been esteemed for the kind and generous characteristics of her nature, and though most of her associates in life have passed away, she was known and appreciated by a small circle of friends who have been left to solace her declining years. Her funeral took place from No. 15 Park street, the Home of the Friendless.—Journal.....Theodore H. Vandenburgh died, aged 33. Mrs. Mary Devlin died, aged 80. 10. Henry B. Haswell died, aged 67. Mr. Haswell was born in the town of Bethlehem, in the year 1803, and came to this city to live in the year 1837, and, with the exception of a few years' residence in the city of Washington, has ever since resided here. He was twice elected county clerk, and served in that capacity from 1837 to 1844. He was also, for several years, a member of the board of aldermen. In the year 1862 Mr. Haswell went to Washington, where he accepted an important position in the state department, which he held for four years, when he relinquished it and returned to this city. At no time during his public or private life, was his integrity ever called in question.—Journal.

removed to No. 12 Broadway, and thence the next year to Nos. 481 and 483, Stanwix Building, Broadway. This firm remained together several years, and after its dissolution Mr. Howe continued in business until 1853, when he sold his stock to Messrs. Duncan & Brother, and removed to New York, where he remained until his death. In early life he became a member of the First M. E. church, then Division, now Hudson street. He was a member and officer of the Sunday school of the church many years, and superintendent of the same for 12 years, between 1825 and 1848, Silas B. Howe will long be remembered for his genial and catholic spirit, and friendly disposition. His ear and heart were always open to the needy, and of his means, those who knew him best, were well aware that he bestowed with liberality, even, perhaps, to a fault.—Journal. 5. The Jewish new year began this evening. It was a season of great joy, and an occasion on which neighbors indulge in gift offerings among each other and a general renewal of old friendships. It was also attended with certain religious ceremonies at the different synagogues. The New Year is honored by the Jews as a great festival, and many closed their places of business and kept them closed until the allotted time of festivity was over.....The fortieth anniversary of Rev. Dr. Sprague's connection with the Second Presbyterian church was made the occasion of an eloquent commemorative sermon by that venerable divine yesterday morning. The church was very much crowded, and in addition to a full attendance of the congregation, there were gathered many members of other congregations, and prominent citizens of Albany. The pulpit was beautifully decorated with flowers: on each side of the Bible cushion there was a large bouquet of rare flowers, and within the panel upon the front of the pulpit there was a large bed of beautiful white flowers, surrounded by a border of green, upon which were the emblematic figures 1829, composed of small red roses. In addition to these floral adornments there were festoons of flowers, suspended from each of the upper corners of the pulpit and gathered in a loop beneath the figures. The reverend gentleman selected for his text Deuteronomy, 2d chapter, and part of the 7th verse: "These forty years, the Lord, thy God, hath been with thee." From this singularly appropriate text, Dr. Sprague preached a touching discourse, in which he alluded to the great changes that had occurred since he assumed the duties of the ministry in this city. In his own congregation, there is scarcely a person now living of those to whom he ministered in 1829. The changes in the city at large, the great increase of population, the growth of the churches of the various denominations, especially the churches which were the offspring of the Second Presbyterian, and the progress of Christianity throughout the world, were referred to, and the favoring providence of God during all that long period was acknowledged in language of great beauty and force. He also stated the remarkable fact that during his forty years of ministration here, there had invariably been the utmost harmony in all the counsels of his church. At times, during his admirable discourse, the venerable and venerated preacher was visibly affected by the reminiscences that crowded upon his memory, and the vast congregation listened to his eloquent words with deep emotion. At the afternoon service; Dr. Sprague repeated the first sermon which he preached in Albany, forty years ago. Previous to that time he had preached fourteen years, and he has therefore been connected with the sacred ministry for the long period of fifty years. May he long be spared to the congregation for whom in his vigorous old age he still performs his pastoral duties with such entire acceptance, and to the church, of which he is such a distinguished ornament.—Journal..... 9. James Henry Cafferty, died in New York, aged 50. He was a native of Albany, born June 17, 1819, and educated at the academy then presided over by the distinguished scholar, Dr. T. R. Beck. Mr. C. left this city at an early age, and resided in the city of New York nearly or quite a quarter of a century. When he left here he gave promise of becoming well known as among the best portrait painters in this country. Perhaps no more versatile and accomplished painter than the subject of our present brief sketch has existed, at all events, in America. His pencil had a facility and truth which enabled him not only at times to dazzle, but to defy criticism. Unfortunately the needs of existence compelled him to labor, which in many cases was barely profitable, while it could not conduce to his artistic reputation. Nevertheless he left behind him hundreds of portraits which are only excelled by those of his friend, the late Charles Elliott, and two of which, those of his father and mother, are works that the friends of any painter, dead or living, might be proud to claim. He was "stone of the old stone," for he was elected into the National Academy in 1853, and is not to be counted with the members chosen in obedience to a necessity forced upon it of late years. Many of our readers will remember his admirable painting of the harvest, exhibited some years since; his gem-like bits of landscape, as well as the dead fish and game, which testify to the universality of his ability. The disease under which

28. The Rev. Dr. Sprague resigned the pastorate of the church which he had served, with great distinguished usefulness and acceptability, for more than forty years. As an expression of their affection for him, and that they may still enjoy his society and spirital counsels, the church has voted him an annual salary of $2,000. This will place him above pecuniary embarrassment, and afford him an opportunity to pursue his literary labors uninterruptedly, and to close his long and useful life among those who have grown up under his ministry. The following are the proceedings of the joint meeting of the trustees and session of the church. At a joint meeting of the trustees and session of the second Presbyterian church, held at their chapel, Hon. Thomas W. Olcott in the chair and George C. Treadwell, Secretary. After stating the object of the meeting by the chair and reading of the resignation of Dr. Sprague, the Hon. Erastus Corning offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted: Resolved, That in accepting the resignation of the Reverend Doctor Sprague as pastor of the church we represent, we desire specially to acknowledge the divine goodness in which his pastoral connection originated, which has continued it in interrupted harmony through so

4. Greatest rain storm of the season; began on Saturday night, continued without intermission all day Sunday, and during the night increased in force, ending about 10 o'clock this morning, when about five inches of rain had fallen. Much damage was done to the streets; and with the cessation of the storm began the rise of water in the river, which reached an unusual height.....A new theatre was opened in Division street. The edifice was erected by the Methodists, and was occupied by the first Methodist society; then by the Unitarians. It was now fitted up in good style, and leased under the name of the Academy of Music, by Frank Lawlor. It opened with the comedy of Love's Sacrifice, and the following cast: St. Lo, Mr. Geo. Boniface; Matthew Elmore, Mr. Frank Lawlor; Paul Lafont, Mr. Geo. Ryer; Jean Ruse, Mr. A. L. Crosbie; Margaret Elmore, Miss Augusta Dargon; Herminie De Vermont, Miss M. Newton; Manou, Mrs. M. A. 5. The freshet continued during all of this day, doing immense damage to the lumber yards, the island gardens, and the commercial houses on the pier and docks. The water rose to a greater height than had been known except when blocked up by ice in the gorges below. More lives were lost than ever before by a freshet. All the rail roads were inundated, and trains ceased to run, except on the Central and the Troy roads. The water began to recede very slowly in the afternoon, no rain having fallen since the forenoon of the previous day.

14. The First Congregational church, corner of Eagle and Beaver streets, was dedicated, sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Smart, and the presentation by Hon. Bradford R. Wood. The following description of it was published in the papers: This new church edifice stands upon the plot of ground bounded by Eagle, Beaver and Daniel streets, and is the finest specimen of the Romanesque style of architecture in this city. It is built in the most substantial manner of hard burnt brick with dressing of Lockport lime stone. The exterior walls of the basement and lecture room stories are of graywacke stone from Schenectady, laid in cement. The basement is entered from Daniel street, and is occupied by hot air furnaces, fuel, &c. The lecture room floor is approached from Beaver street, and is divided into Sunday school room, capable of seating 380 scholars, exclusive of the infant department, which accommodates 110; the church parlor, a large room which can be made tributary to the lecture room, and will add one hundred seats to it; Sunday library, kitchens, &c. This story is sixteen feet high, the basement story extending under the whole of it. The audience room floor is entered from Eagle street (upon which the principal facade stands) by three richly moulded cut stone doorways, each of which are approached by cut stone steps, spacious vestibules with stairs to gallery on the north and south sides, and also to lecture room floor below. The auditorium is sixty-six feet by seventy-six feet and contains one hundred and twenty-eight pews capable of accommodating eight hundred and forty persons. The gallery will accommodate three hundred and sixty. The pews, gallery front, and the other fittings of the interior are painted in parti-colors, displaying great taste and surmounted by capping and moulding of black walnut. The pews are cushioned and upholstered with crimson damask; the platform is of most ample dimensions, and stands upon a semi-circular dais, raised one step above the level upon which the pews stand, giving convenient space for the communion table and the chairs for the deacons; directly in the rear of the pulpit is the manual of the organ, hid from view by a simple screen of black walnut, covered with crimson repps, which forms a back ground for the three massive black walnut chairs for the clergy. The ceiling is formed by three planes intersected by moulded ribs of stucco, dividing the whole into panels. The roof is sustained by six trusses of novel form, being the largest single span of trusses in the city. The ceiling and side walls are frescoed in soft neutral tints, and treated in what is technically called the flat mode. The audience room is lighted by Frink's patent reflector, suspended a few inches below the ceiling, containing sixty-four gas burners, and so arranged that the heat does not affect the air of the room. The light from without is obtained through stained glass windows, from the establishment of Geo. Morgan & Bros., of New York, and are formed of stencil quarries with hand painted borders and richly colored glass in circular heads and spandrils, and are the most satisfactory windows, in style and tone of colors, we remember to have seen. The organ, built by Messrs. Steer & Turner, of Westfield, Mass., has two manuals and pedal of seventy-seven notes; three composition pedals; the bellows has three feeders, and is worked by a balance wheel, and is an instrument of great power and purity of tone, and reflects great credit on the builders. This instrument stands in the recess formed by the apsis of the church, and is covered by a fret-work screen of wood painted in parti-colors, the three bags of pipes are decorated with much taste and skill, and are surrounded by tracery of black walnut and chestnut, and being directly in the rear of the platform, pulpit, &c., forms one of the most pleasing features of this chaste and beautiful auditorium. The ventilation of the church is secured by ventiducts of wood built in the walls — the column of air being rarified in them by means of braziers fed by gas, creating great heat and securing bottom ventilation; adjusted registers are placed in the ceiling, to be operated at pleasure. The principal front of this fine structure is on Eagle street, and covers a space of about 84 feet with massive tower and spire on the north-west corner, and rising from the sidewalk to a height of one hundred and twenty feet. The balance of the front is secured by the introduction of an octagonal buttress on the south side of front, rising to a height of ninety feet, and crowned by a circular turret. A pleasing feature of this front is the large centre windows, formed by two large bays, with a smaller one between and a circular one over all. The tower is of brick to the base of the spire, which is covered with slate from Vermont. The walls are of galvanized iron; the roof of the nave is covered with slate, same as spire. The erection of this structure reflects great credit upon all concerned — the trustees and congregation, for their liberality in furnishing the means; the architects, for the skill and taste displayed; and the builders, for the manner in which they have executed their trusts. Woollett and Ogden architects, Aspinwall and Nephew, masons; John N. Parker and Francis Clark, carpenters; John W. Osborn & Co., slaters; Arthur Boyle, plasterer; Lemuel Mickel, fresco artist; William Smith, painter; Lang and Stormount, stone cutters; Morgan & Brothers, stained glass; Tucker & Crawford, gas fitters; Doyle & Dugan, plumbers; Shanks, upholsterer; carpets furnished by Koonz. The cost of this enterprise will be about one hundred and thirty thousand dollars. — Argus.....James Drue died, aged 25.

15. Frederick H. Hastings died, aged 51, at Brainard's Bridge, where he had resided for some years. He was a man of refined instincts, of scholarly cultivation, and somewhat conservative in his political proclivities. He never mingled much or actively in party movements, nor figured as an office seeker. He represented the 12th district in the state senate of 1864 '65 (Rensselaer and Washington counties). His election to the senate was the result of a division between two factions in the district of almost equal strength, and was rather a compliment to his estimable personal character than a recognition of political claims. In the senate, Mr. Hastings distinguished himself by the fidelity with which he discharged his duties, by a conscientious regard for the public interests, and by an utter freedom from those artifices which demagogues adopt to promote their own reputation and secure a lease of power. Naturally quiet and reserved in temperament, he sought no occasions for display; but no one upon the floor was more respected than he. During his term the bill providing for the establishment of a capital police district was introduced, and its passage was due in a great degree to his earnest and laborious efforts in its behalf — efforts which were the more important and difficult, because he encountered the zealous and uncompromising opposition of the talented and eloquent Ira Shaffer, then senator from Albany. In the same term, the famous, and in many respects unfortunate, conspiracy bill was passed. From Senator Hastings's position on committee, his name became associated with this measure, and he was wrongly charged with being its author; a mistake which led many workingmen's associations to denounce him by resolution, and even to burn him in effigy. Although keenly sensitive to these significant marks of popular disapprobation, he had such a high sense of honor in his relations to brother members, that he never sought to explain, or to defend himself by placing the responsibility where it belonged. Even during his brief public life, Mr. Hastings was almost an invalid. Accustomed visitors of the senate chamber will remember his gaunt, spare figure; his pale, finely chiseled features; his eyes shaded by colored glasses. Upon his retirement from office, he withdrew to his beautiful rural home, and passed the closing years of his life in a hopeless struggle with chronic disease, relieved by the favorite companionship of books and nature, and by a slight attention to business. We believe his political career was confined to the county board of supervisors and to the senate. As a citizen, he was always distinguished by enterprise, public spirit, and a generous regard for the interests of his neighbors. But his chosen sphere was the domestic circle, and in this his abundant virtues and wealth of sympathies made him warm attachments, and secured for him esteem such as few men enjoy.—Journal.....William D. 17. Victor M. Rice, late state superintendent of public instruction, died in Buffalo, of malignant carbuncle. He was born in Mayville, Chautauque county, April 5, 1818. His educational advantages, while in his youth, were deficient, but after he became of age he attended Alleghany College, Pennsylvania. He studied law in Mayville, in 1842, but the next year was enlisted in school teaching in Buffalo High School. Subsequently he edited the Cataract and the Western Temperance Standard, and then returned to teaching. In 1852 he was elected city superintendent of schools in Buffalo. Here his talents as an organizer became better known. He had previously shown his adaptability to the educational and disciplinary branches. He was elected to the assembly in 1851, where he served as chairman of the committee on public education. In 1853, he was chosen president of the State Teachers' Association, and in 1854 was elected state superintendent of public instruction, to which position he was reelected in 1862, and served until 1868. Mr. Rice was possessed of a rare organizing ability, and was endowed with a strong, nervous, sanguine temperament. His early disadvantages rendered him a warm friend of the common schools. The office of school commissioner was created upon his advice, and the admirable Code of Public Instruction now in vogue in this state was the offspring of his genius and ability. Our common school system is one of the best in the world, and it owes the fact largely to Mr. Rice. The change in politics deprived the state of his services just as he was about bringing to still higher perfection laws bearing upon the subject.—Journal.....Catharine, wife of Thomas McLoughlin died, aged 53. 19. Ann E. Bratt died, aged 60.

The first part of the book is devoted to a general history of the United States from its discovery by Columbus in 1492 to the present time. It covers the early years of settlement, the struggle for independence, the formation of the Constitution, and the development of the nation as a whole. The second part of the book is devoted to a detailed history of the United States from 1789 to the present time. It covers the early years of the Republic, the struggle for the abolition of slavery, the Civil War, and the Reconstruction period. The third part of the book is devoted to a detailed history of the United States from 1865 to the present time. It covers the Reconstruction period, the Gilded Age, the Progressive Era, and the modern era.

20. The first snow-squall of the season. Snow fell in various places to considerable depth, and the atmosphere was cold and chilly.. Albert H. Brown died, aged 47. Henry Perron died, aged 27.

21. The work of laying the Belgian pavement in South Pearl street, from State street to the south boundary of the city, was completed..... Mary Frances Bowne, wife of Samuel K. Palmeter, died at Glen's Falls, aged 31. Robert C. Yates died at Cleveland, O.

22. Rosanna, wife of James Burk, died, aged 53. Mary Hinchy, wife of Thomas Neville, died, aged 42.

23. The New City Building was now nearly completed, composing one of the most pleasing and imposing edifices in the city, and is thus described by the Argus: The principal fronts are on Pearl and Howard streets, and are Lombardic in treatment, the material used being Lake Champlain lime stone and brick, making a very pleasant effect. In the centre of each front is a cupola continuation of the French roof, with smaller ones at each corner, the different stories being lofty and the windows in deep reveal with the massive rusticated stone work of the basement story, tend to form a most imposing facade. In the basement story is located the heating apparatus for the whole building, consisting of six large Oriental hot air furnaces, with fuel rooms, ash pits, &c. On the south-east portion of this story are the janitor's quarters. One room on the south side is set apart for cells to be used in connection with the Second precinct. This story is well supplied with hot and cold water. On the south-east portion of the principal story, and entered from Pearl street, is the office of the fire commissioners, a spacious apartment twenty-eight by twenty-nine feet, very tastefully fitted up and admirably suited for the purpose. Adjoining is the chief's room, twenty-four-feet by eighteen feet, equally good in appearance and adaptability. Across the hall from the fire commissioners' rooms are the offices of the police commissioners, superintendent and clerk, very conveniently arranged, the commissioner's room being on the corner of Howard and Pearl streets, with the clerk's office adjoining and fronting Pearl street; contiguous to the clerk's office, and having an entrance from the Howard street hall is the superintendent's room with private office attached. There is also a property room, lavatory, and other conveniences. On the right of the Howard street entrance is the detectives' office, with its rogue's gallery, and collection of horrors, which you pass through to the sleeping room for detectives. Passing along the spacious hall you next come to the poor master's office and waiting room attached, with a very necessary private entrance from William street. The remainder of this floor is devoted to the Second Precinct, with a room to the right of the William street entrance fitted up with two tiers of cells. On the Howard street side are three sleeping rooms for captain and sergeants; this precinct has also a private staircase to the court room floor above, and police dormitories in the third story. On the lower story, at the east end, are the police court and a room for private consultation. The large court room is forty-one feet by twenty-eight feet; the smaller one, adjoining, is twenty-eight feet square. Both are fitted up in a neat and tasty manner, with witness stand, spectators' seats, &c., a forcible contrast to the dirty, low, badly ventilated court room in the old building, and a source of congratulation to the justices. Next to the court room is the office for the city attorney, a good sized, pleasant room. On the west end are the justices' courts, with justices' clerk's office in connection, and the justices' private office. Both these courts (as well as the police court), are lofty — this story being seventeen feet high, and are fitted up in a similar manner to the police court. The north court room is thirty nine feet by twenty-eight, and the heating and ventilation admirable. There is also on this story a room for the reserve police — a great convenience. Ascending the main stairs to the third story, you come to the Fire-alarm telegraph office, very well arranged, the operating room being on the southeast corner of the building; on the west of it is the battery room, and on the north, extending over the Pearl street front is the sleeping room of the operators, and a private office for the superintendent. There are two other large rooms suitable for offices on this story, which have not as yet secured occupants. Ascending the private stairs, from the second to the third story, we found two dormitories for the police, covering the same space as the justices' courts below. Adjoining are two lodging rooms for male and female vagrants, and the photographing room connected with the police. These rooms, to which access is had from the private stairs, are entirely shut off from the Fire-alarm department, as the main stairs only extend to the third story. By ascending to the fourth floor by these private stairs, you reach the large drill room extending the whole length and width of the building. The whole of the smoke and ventilation flues being carried up in the outside walls, makes this entirely clear of obstruction, and specially available for its intended use. The building committee, consisting of the mayor, aldermen Mulhall, Smith, Mills and Parker, under whose direction, in conjunction with the architects (Messrs. Woollet & Ogden), the work has been carried out, are deserving of great praise for this substantial and ornamental edifice. We have no other public building in this city so well adapted and contrived for the purposes intended, and too much praise cannot be awarded to the builders, for a better example of masons' work than Patrick McCarthy has done in this work, or better carpenters' work than Geo. Martin has executed, we have never seen. The painting was done by Corliss. M. Delehanty furnished the furnaces, and did the slating and tining. Plumber, E. Kearney. Gasfitter, Joseph McCann. Iron work, Haskell & Orchard.....John S. Pruyn died of injuries received in jumping from a third story window at a fire; aged 35.

24. Oscar Rogers died at City Hotel.

25. Charles Cowell died, aged 67. Annie Lawlor, wife of James H. Haight, died, aged 22.

26. Catharine Westropp died, aged 65.

27. The morning light discovered the house tops covered with a layer of snow.....Henry L. Like died, aged 32. Norman T. Crapser died at sea, aged 39.

28. Hugh Sellers died, at La Libertad, aged 40.

29. Bridget, wife of Edward O'Keefe, died, aged 29. Rose, widow of William Sheridan, died, aged 47. Michael Ray died, aged 32.

30. Marie Antoinette, widow of Frederick de Peyster and daughter of the late John Kane, died, in New York.

31. Catharine, wife of Edward Birmingham, died, aged 34. Mary, wife of William Donovan, died, aged 26. John J. Roff died, while sitting in his chair, aged 54. David H. Brumaghim died, aged 50. Mary McCully, widow of John Bigham, died.

NOVEMBER 1. Paul A. Sabbaton, died, aged 81. Few men have been distinguished in their career by greater enterprise, or by more inventive resources and energy. Though a native of France, he was a true patriot and loyal American. Mr. S. was but 13 years of age when he left France to avoid the conscription, and when he arrived in New York, went into the office of the New York Spectator, as printer. He was a close friend of Fulton, and drew the specifications and prepared the plans of the first steam boat on the Hudson. In the war of 1812, he held the government contract for supplying shot and shell, and erected the works at Cold Spring. His career, though marked by many vicissitudes, was distinguished by uniform gentleness of character and serenity of mind.—Argus..... Upon his arrival in this country at the age of 13, he was sent by his uncle (a French importing merchant) to a school in New Brunswick to learn the English language. Here he remained until he was 17 years of age, when he went into the office of his uncle, who afterwards purchased the Mercantile Advertiser, and continued its publication with Amos Butler, as partner. Mr. Sabbaton continued in the office several years; afterwards turned his attention to the iron business, which he continued successfully until the disastrous year, 1837, when in consequence of numerous failures in New York, he became also involved, and soon after turned his attention to the manufacture of gas, in which business he continued until his death. He was a close friend of Fulton, and drew the specifications and prepared the plans of the first steam boat on the Hudson. In the war of 1812, he held the government contract for supplying shot and shell, and erected the works at Cold Spring. In all the relations of life, few men leave a fairer record. His mind was enlarged by general reading, and there were few subjects upon which he was not conversant. His nature was affectionate and generous in the extreme. Modest in his deportment, he was only appreciated by those who knew him best.—Journal..... Mrs. Jane McCready died. John Brown died, aged 71. James Nolan died, aged 67.

2. William Millbanks died, aged 59. Deborah, wife of William H. Shaffer and daughter of the late Amos Adams, died, aged 33. John Riedy, died, aged 63. Maria Elizabeth, wife of John Dobbs, died at Winona, Minn.

3. John Faney, died, aged 46. Mary Kearney, wife of Henry Carlin, died, aged 36.

4. Mary J. Babcock, wife of Horatio G. Cass, died, aged 25.

5. A democratic organization, called the Jacksonians, had a parade and torch-light procession in the evening, in honor of the triumph of the democrats in the recent election, by which the whole state was carried by them for the first time in twenty years..... Mrs. Sophia W. Huntington died, aged 76.

6. Mrs. Priscilla Hubbell died, aged 75. Edward Brown died, aged 65.

7. Catharine, wife of Richard Mirick, died, aged 55. Annie C. Garrett died, aged 33. Michael Reidy died, aged 38.

8. Emma Virginia Keeler died, aged 17.

9. William Bruce died, aged 51. Samuel Kingsbury, Jr., died, aged 25. Mary Gill died, aged 22. Albert Nehemiah died, aged 25.

10. Sarah Bulson, wife of Charles H. Connally, died. Thomas M. Gaffney died, aged 29. Frances, wife of Joseph Hill, died, aged 54.

11. Peter Conners died, aged 29. Peter Hosch died, aged 44.

12. Jane A. Johnson, wife of John W. Osborn, died, aged 37.

13. Charles V. Mann died, aged 26.

14. Perris Mills, wife of Harvey H. Tyler, died, aged 67. Mrs. Lemuel Sherwood, formerly of this city, died at Niles, Mich., aged 85.

15. Sarah, wife of John Rabson, died, aged 65. Catharine Louisa Hogan, wife of Wm. H. Shear, died, aged 26. David V. N. Cook died, aged 24. Charles H. Gill died in New York city, aged 34.

17. Martha A. Norris, wife of Henry Beardsley, died, aged 30. Jannett Law died at West Troy.

18. Peter Van Valkenburgh died, aged 37.

21. Edward Hanly died, aged 38. Maggie Flemming died in San Francisco, aged 21. Mary Hartigan died, aged 55.

22. Great storm which began in the previous night, and reached its greatest violence between 7 and 8 A. M., was the most violent that can be remembered in many years. But little rain fell, but the fury of the wind was unequalled. It appears to have extended over the whole country from the gulf of Mexico to the lakes, and from the Atlantic to our western territories. The destruction of property in this city and vicinity, and indeed throughout the country, was very great. In but few individual cases was the loss large, but the damage to buildings unroofed, fences and trees prostrated, and bridges injured, was very large in the aggregate.

23. Anna C., wife of Charles Dennstedt, died, aged 24.

24. Jacob Coon died, aged 29. Mary Catharine, wife of Henry Hauf, died, aged 50.

25. William Mahan died, aged 29. Patrick Murphy died, aged 67. Patrick Brophy died, aged 78. Isabella Reed died, aged 24.

26. Bridget Ward, wife of John Day, died, aged 46. Martin Ryan, died, aged 81.

27. The stone giant weighing 2,990 pounds, recently discovered at Cardiff, Onondaga Co., and which excited the curiosity of the public to an extraordinary extent, arrived in Albany, and was boosted with great difficulty into the hall of the geological building, where it was exhibited at 50 cents a head.....Henry M. Dunn died, aged 58. Christopher Wills died, aged 52.

29. Sarah Elizabeth, wife of Edward Savage, died, aged 25. Peter Joseph Boehm died, aged 80. Mary, wife of John Cletman, died, aged 36. Jacob Van Loon died in New York, aged 67. John Thomas, formerly proprietor of the American Hotel, died at Chippewa, Canada.

30. The burial vault on the west side of Swan street, north of Washington street, which was built about the beginning of the present century, and occupied by the Lush and Gansevoort families, was being demolished. Here the bones of De Witt Clinton reposed for many years. A dwelling was to be erected upon its site by B. P. The first part of the book is devoted to a general history of the world, from the beginning of time to the present day. The author discusses the various civilizations that have flourished on the earth, and the progress of human knowledge and industry. He also touches upon the political and social changes that have shaped the course of history.

In the second part, the author turns his attention to the history of the British Empire. He traces its growth from a small island in the North Sea to a vast global power that ruled over a quarter of the world's population. He examines the military and political strategies that enabled the British to achieve such a position of dominance, and the economic and social factors that supported their expansion.

The third part of the book is a detailed account of the American Revolution. The author describes the causes of the conflict, the military campaigns, and the ultimate triumph of the American people over British rule. He also discusses the impact of the Revolution on the development of the United States as a nation.

The final part of the book is a history of the French Revolution and the Napoleonic Wars. The author explores the social and political conditions that led to the outbreak of the Revolution, the rise of Napoleon Bonaparte, and the eventual defeat of the French Empire. He also discusses the long-term effects of these events on the European continent and the world as a whole.

There are numerous tables of the time of opening and closing of the river and canals, published in different years by different papers, all of which disagree. The following was published by the Albany Argus at this time. In the first volume of the Annals of Albany will be found a table commencing at a much earlier date, of the times of the opening and closing of the river at this city.

5. John J. Johnson died, aged 47. Dennis Healy died, aged 28. Almira Frances Snyder, wife of Daniel O. Eaton, died, aged 29.

6. Great snow storm—navigation closed. In a gossipy Albany letter to the New York Leader, we find the following description of this sensational snow storm, and of a sleigh ride on the road. He was a profane as well as a prejudiced member of the legislature who spoke of Albany in words following: "It's ten feet under snow in the winter, ten feet under water in the spring, and so d—d hot in the summer that you cannot live there!" It snowed here Monday with a fury seeming to indicate that nature intended to verify that wicked legislator's unkind assertion. Snow, like peace, hath its victories, and Monday's engagement proved a great triumph to the storm king. With the snow came sleighing, and with the sleighing came fancy cutters, fast horses, pretty girls and lots of fun. I interviewed a man who owns a 2:40 nag this morning, and he asked me to take a turn on the road. The road is the thoroughfare which lies

The following table shows the results of the study conducted by the American Medical Association in 1917. The study was conducted in order to determine the extent of the influenza epidemic in the United States. The results show that the epidemic was widespread and that a large number of people were affected.

The results of the study show that the influenza epidemic was widespread and that a large number of people were affected. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in some states than in others. The states with the highest number of cases and deaths were New York, Illinois, and Pennsylvania. The states with the lowest number of cases and deaths were Nevada, Wyoming, and Idaho. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the eastern and southern parts of the United States than in the western part. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the cities than in the rural areas. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the winter months than in the summer months. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the young than in the old. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the males than in the females. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the whites than in the blacks. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Protestants than in the Catholics. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Methodists than in the Baptists. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Presbyterians than in the Episcopalians. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Lutherans than in the Anglicans. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Quakers than in the Unitarians. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Jews than in the Christians. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Muslims than in the Hindus. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Buddhists than in the Sikhs. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Jains than in the Parsis. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Zoroastrians than in the Druids. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Pagans than in the Heathens. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Pagans than in the Heathens. The study also shows that the epidemic was more severe in the Pagans than in the Heathens.

between this city and the suburban village of West Troy. A very nice road it is. A cheerful cemetery nestles beside one portion of it, and close to the cemetery a widow lady keeps a tavern, where she dispenses hot drinks to cold customers. The air to-day is sharp and bracing. In the clear splendor of the winter sunshine the snow flakes glitter like diamonds, as they lie closely packed and hard on the frozen ground. Everybody is on the road. Merchant princes, politicians, gentlemen of leisure, men of business, lovely ladies and laughing children join in the general sport. Riding behind a team of bay horses you may see Erastus Corning, who seems of late, to have gained a new lease of life, and who is looking remarkably well and happy. I know of no man past middle age, with the single exception, perhaps, of Cornelius Vanderbilt, who has so handsome a face as Mr. Corning. More than half a century ago he came into Albany a crippled boy, friendless and penniless. By an industry marvelous to me, and a skill unknown to newspaper correspondents generally, this poor boy grew to be a very rich man; but unless the benignant mouth and mild, kindly eyes greatly belie him, he has not forgotten the suffering which poverty fetches and which wealth may relieve; and he cultivates that attribute which is of the three, greatest—charity. He bows pleasantly as we pass him in our cutter, and the fact that our horse can beat his team doesn't seem to trouble him as it would the Rev. Dr. Corey, of Murray Hill. Speeding along to the music of the tintinabulating bells, we presently met Governor Hoffman and his private secretary, Col. Van Buren. The governor handles the ribbons very skillfully, and seems to enjoy greatly this hour's relaxation from the trying duties of his official position. He is looking extremely well. The exercise has given a glow to his cheeks, which are ordinarily rather pale, and added new brilliancy to his eyes, which are never dull. If he was not in such a hurry, I'd stop him and inquire whom he was going to nominate for health officer of New York. The name of that gentleman would make an interesting item. Now comes William Cassidy, editor of the Argus, and the most accomplished and genial gentleman in Albany. He is driving at a very moderate pace, and is not, I should judge, much of a horseman, but he is a stupendous pedestrian. I took a walk with him the other evening, and after a few hours' experience I felt ready to back him against Weston or any other man. I have sketched but a few of the many who are enjoying this wintry pleasure. But I shall interview some more men who own 2:40 nags, and may hereafter meet other citizens worth describing on the road to Troy.....Catharine, wife of John Walsh, died, aged 52. Mrs. Catharine Burns died, aged 75.

7. John Cooke died, aged 69. Mrs. Anna I. Kane died, aged 74.

8. Jane, wife of A. A. Dunlop, died, aged 49. Dr. P. B. McKelvey died in New Orleans, aged 63, formerly of Albany.

9. John De Coffs died, aged 64. Bridget Quinn died, aged 91.

10. James Lillis died, aged 65. Mary E. Clapp died, aged 21. Catharine McCarty died, aged 71.

11. Margaret Grady died, aged 75. Jesse C. Van Patten, formerly of this city, died at Joliet, Illinois, aged 40.

12. The church of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin, the well known building situated on the north side of Hamilton street, between Grand and Fulton streets, was solemnly dedicated to divine worship by very Rev. E. P. Wadhams, administrator in the absence of Bishop Conroy. The building is a recent purchase from the First African Baptist Society. It has been in the possession of the late occupants since 1826, as a church and school-house, and in view of the fact that the residence of a majority of the late congregation had become too remote from the locality, was recently thrown in market and found a ready sale for a fair consideration. The French and Canadians in this city and vicinity have long desired a church of their own. From time to time efforts have been made to erect one, but apparently without success. The number of this class of our adopted citizens is constantly increasing, and the responsibility of the recent purchase having been assumed by competent parties, the African church passed into the hands of its present owners. It has been materially improved throughout. Its late dingy exterior has been brightened with a fresh coat of delicate hued paint, the old fashioned small paned window sashes have been replaced by modern plate glass, and the entrance door has been handsomely grained. Outside, in fact, the old building would hardly know itself. Inside, the busy hand of improvement is even more manifest. Upon the late interior, from ceiling to floor, remorseless time had bestowed a complexion which was indescribable. It was neither mysterious white nor undecided brown, but whatever it was, is undiscoverable now, so completely is the old obliterated by the new. The pews have been repaired, every part of the interior thoroughly cleaned and the ceiling and walls neatly frescoed and tinted. It is really a very pretty church. The sanctuary is of good dimensions and the altar tastefully designed. The altar piece representing The Assumption of the Virgin is a painting of much beauty, and in proportions as well as subject, admirably adapted to the position it occupies. It is the work of a distinguished artist. The services yesterday morning were attended by a congregation numbering perhaps four hundred. The mass was celebrated by Very Rev. Father Wadhams. Rev. Mr. Shehan was also present on the altar. The dedicatory sermon was delivered by Rev. Father Gagnier, of Montreal. It was in the French language, and was a fervently eloquent discourse. The preacher is a man of distinction, and both in manner and matter was well worth attention. At the close of the service, Rev. Mr. Wadhams briefly congratulated the assemblage upon the auspicious event of the day and alluded in terms of pride to the beautiful little edifice which their zeal and energy had secured for the French and Canadian people. The music consisted of what is known as the Gregorian plain chant, and was rendered with good effect by a number of sonorous male voices. It was a relief to listen to it, unpretentious and yet solemn as it was, after the operative hop-skip-and-jump music of the period. There are said to be about one hundred and fifty French and Canadian families in this city and vicinity who will attend this church exclusive, we believe, of a number attending other Catholic churches.—Argus.....William H. Smith died, aged 37. He had been a member of the old Veteran fire department of which he was at one time assistant engineer.

It was opened on the European plan, under the auspices of Mr. Charles Watkins, and was so completely renovated that the Hosfords, if they were living, would not recognize the edifice they erected for a printing and publishing house in the first quarter of a century.....Jacob Relyea died, aged 50.

The first of these is the fact that the history of ideas is not a neutral or objective discipline. It is a discipline that is shaped by the values and assumptions of the society in which it is practiced. This is particularly true in the case of the history of ideas in the United States, where the dominant values and assumptions have been those of a liberal, individualistic, and capitalist society. This has led to a history of ideas that is largely concerned with the history of the individual and the individual's relationship to society, rather than with the history of the community or the community's relationship to the individual.

19. The new Methodist Episcopal Church, corner of Ten Broeck and Lumber streets, was dedicated. This is the cheapest church ever erected in Albany, and yet it is one of the neatest, best looking, cozy, cheerful and inviting chapels in the city. The interior is a model of comfort and good taste. There is not an inch of lost room in the whole structure. All the space is occupied for church purposes. The side porches give an entrance which does not take from the church proper a single foot of room. The church will seat about 800 persons. The seats are very comfortable, with reversible backs, like the seats to be found in rail road cars. There is no pulpit in the church, its place being supplied by a railed in platform, some twelve inches above the floor. This allows greater motion to the preacher. As action is the soul of eloquence, it will be seen that better sermons can be preached from a platform than could ever be preached in a pulpit. Think of Demosthenes denouncing Philip in a washtub. He might denounce, but the denunciation would never amount to eloquence, simply because he could not emphasize his language with proper action. The Sunday School and class rooms are divided from the church by folding doors and sliding windows, a very excellent idea to save fuel and make things comfortable. The large class room is some 40 feet long, by 15 wide, nicely carpeted, and supplied with chairs, tables, &c., making it a very beautiful parlor. This room is subdivided by other folding doors, so as to convert it into three smaller parlors. The doors are so arranged that one large parlor can be converted into three small ones in less than two minutes. The church is lighted by two large gas reflectors in the ceiling placed in the centre of two large ventilators so arranged that the officers can always establish the proper temperature for church purposes. The stained glass windows give "a rose scented tint" to the church. The edifice was commenced eleven weeks ago. It cost only $5,500, and yet there is but one better looking Methodist chapel in this part of the state, and that is the Ash Grove Church, which cost $50,000. How the committee contrived to build so handsome a church for $5,500 is something we cannot understand, even when we know that the pastor, Rev. J. W. Alderman, helped to put the roof on, while the building committee all labored gratis. The furniture, carpets, stoves, &c., cost $600. Rev. Mr. Alderman informed the congregation that the late fair and festival yielded $2,000; expenses, $400; balance $1,600, or one-sixth of the whole cost of the church. Such a balance sheet is seldom presented to any congregation. The walls and ceiling are beautifully frescoed in panels, by George Merchant of this city. He has done a neat bit of work in a very artistic manner, and well deserves all the praise bestowed upon him. The painting and graining were done by John Chrysler. The singing is led by S. M. Birch, who has a round, full voice, which eminently fits him for the position which he occupies, as the leader of the whole congregation, for the whole congregation sings at the new church. The architects of the new chapel were Nichols & Brown. The dedication sermon was preached by Presiding Elder Meredith, of this city, from Deuteronomy, 33d chapter, 29th verse. It was a very interesting discourse, solid and substantial. The elder is not a brilliant preacher, and yet he is so intensely in earnest that the earnestness amounts to eloquence at times. From the elder's discourse we learn that the Methodists of the United States and Canadas are only 270,000 less than all the other members of all the other Protestant churches put together, and yet the Methodist church has only been established in this country one hundred years. He attributes the rapid spread of Methodism to its peculiar organization; the demonstrative habits of its clergymen and the social instincts brought forth at its class meeting, prayer meeting and love feast. The Rev. Mr. Alderman, pastor of the church, also addressed the congregation briefly, referring to its history and urging upon the united churches to forget the bickerings of the past, and live entirely for the future. Mr. Alderman is one of those broad minded, out spoken men, who comes from the West; he is earnest, affable and eloquent. The building committee consisted of J. W. Osborn, Wm. H. Young and S. J. Davenport. The trustees are J. W. Osborn, Wm. H. Young, S. J. Davenport, Smith Requa, S. A. Stratton, C. W. Pierce, I. J. Filkins, I. F. Seabury and S. C. Rice.— Evening Post.....Margaret Scranton, wife of Adam Ream, died, aged 24.

Bullock secretary, and the following resolution was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That we, the farmers of Albany and Rensselaer counties, will not, on and after Monday Dec. 20th, sell hay for less than the following prices, viz:

KEY TO THE NAMES OF PERSONS

OCCURRING

In the Early Dutch Records of Albany and Vicinity.

P R E F A C E .

The student who searches the early Dutch records meets with many difficulties, none of which are more vexations than their personal names. The majority of the First Settlers ordinarily used no surnames, some evidently had none. In these cases individuals were often distinguished by personal peculiarities, trades, &c. which, though sufficient for the time, give little or no aid to one tracing the pedigree of a family. It is only after great familiarity with the early writings and a careful noting of the use of surnames as they are sometimes subscribed to wills, conveyances, and other important papers that any connection can be established between a first settler and his later descendants.

But while many individuals had no surnames whatever apparently, a few families had two or more. Marcellis Janse Van Donnel was farmer of the burzer and tapster's excise of liquors in Beverwyck many years. Some of his children took Marcellis as their surname, others Van Jaeren; without a knowledge of this fact it would be quite impossible for his descendants to trace back their pedigree to him. A similar case occurred in the Albany branch of the Bratts. In the passage over from Holland one child was born at sea in a storm and he was named Storm Van Derzee, which epithet he and his descendants have since used as a surname.

It was not uncommon for the same individual to have two or more surnames and to use them indifferently. Jan Barentse Wemp (Wempe) was sometimes called Poest; he had a mill on the Poesten-kill which perhaps derived its name from him rather than from the Dutch word poesten. After his death in 1663 his widow Maritie Myndertse married Sweer Teunisse. He had two surnames, Van Velsen and Van Westbroeck. Jan Fort of Niskayuna had the following aliases: Jan La Fort, Jan Vandervoort and Jan Libbertse.

The change in the spelling and pronunciation of names is likewise a source of considerable embarrassment. Who would recognize the ancient Du Trioux (pronounced Du Troo) in the modern Traux, or Beaulais in Bovic, or Barrios in Barroway, or finally the familiar name of Jones in such laughable disguises as Tsans, Tjans, and Shawus.

The system of nomenclature in common use among the early Dutch settlers consisted in prefixing the child's to the father's Christian name, terminating in se or sen; in baptism but one name was usually given; the patronymic was used by custom in all cases, and in the absence of a surname was sometimes adopted as such. Thus the children of Rutger Jacobsen (Van Schoenderwoert or Van Woert) were respectively Margaret Rutgers, Engel Rutgers, and Harmen Rutgers, and Rutgers was subsequently assumed as the family name. The two sons of the First Settler Wynant Gerritse (Vander Poel) were Melchert Wynants and Gerrit Wynants. The First Settler, Harmen Tomasse Van Van Amerfoort, had a son named Tomas Hermense and a daughter Wytie Hermense. The First Settlers Philip and David Schuyler, were more commonly called Philip and David Pieterse, being sons of Pieter Schuyler.

Occasionally two patronymics were used, as Samuel Arentse Samuelse Eratt; i. e. Samuel Bratt the son of Arent, who was the son of Samuel.

The use of surnames gradually increased among the Dutch from the time the Province was occupied by the English in 1664, and after the first quarter of the following century few names were written without the addition of a family name.

The following list is intended to serve as a key to such surnames as are occasionally or almost constantly omitted in the ancient Dutch Records of Albany and Schenectady. It is as nearly full as the compiler, after a somewhat careful reading of these documents, can make it. The names of persons without surnames, or if having them were not entered in those records, will not of course be found here; unfortunately these are somewhat numerous. Another embarrassment in the identification of persons arises from the fact that some bear the same Christian name. When such cases occur in the following list, the dates annexed will sometimes aid in solving the difficulty. Thus the surname of Jacob Abrahamse, found in documents datin 1655-84, was Vosburg alias Kuyper; in those of date 1705, it was Van Deusen. But where there is little or no difference in the dates this help fails, and all is left to conjecture.

REPORT ON THE PROGRESS OF THE WORK

During the year 1900, the following work has been done:

1. GENERAL

The first part of the work was devoted to the study of the general principles of the theory of the function $f(z)$. It was shown that the function $f(z)$ is analytic in the region $|z| < 1$ and that it satisfies the functional equation $f(z) = z f(1/z)$. It was also shown that the function $f(z)$ is periodic with period $2\pi i$ and that it has a simple pole at $z = 1$ with residue $1/2$. The function $f(z)$ was then expanded in a power series in z and in $1/z$ and it was shown that the coefficients of the series are related to the Bernoulli numbers.

The second part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(z)$ in the region $|z| > 1$. It was shown that the function $f(z)$ is analytic in this region and that it satisfies the functional equation $f(z) = z f(1/z)$. It was also shown that the function $f(z)$ is periodic with period $2\pi i$ and that it has a simple pole at $z = 1$ with residue $1/2$. The function $f(z)$ was then expanded in a power series in z and in $1/z$ and it was shown that the coefficients of the series are related to the Bernoulli numbers.

The third part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(z)$ in the region $|z| = 1$. It was shown that the function $f(z)$ is analytic in this region and that it satisfies the functional equation $f(z) = z f(1/z)$. It was also shown that the function $f(z)$ is periodic with period $2\pi i$ and that it has a simple pole at $z = 1$ with residue $1/2$. The function $f(z)$ was then expanded in a power series in z and in $1/z$ and it was shown that the coefficients of the series are related to the Bernoulli numbers.

The first part of the book discusses the early years of the United States, from the time of the first settlers to the end of the American Revolution. It covers the struggles of the colonies against British rule and the eventual declaration of independence. The second part of the book deals with the period of the early republic, from the end of the Revolution to the beginning of the Civil War. It examines the development of the federal government and the role of the Supreme Court. The third part of the book focuses on the Civil War and Reconstruction, detailing the conflict between the North and the South and the efforts to rebuild the South after the war. The final part of the book covers the late 19th and early 20th centuries, including the Gilded Age and the Progressive Era.

The fourth part of the book discusses the period of the 1920s and 1930s, including the Roaring Twenties and the Great Depression. It explores the rise of the New Deal and the impact of World War II. The fifth part of the book covers the post-war period, from the end of World War II to the present day. It examines the Cold War, the Vietnam War, and the social movements of the 1960s and 1970s. The final part of the book discusses the current state of the United States and the challenges it faces in the 21st century.

The Board of Education of the City of New York has the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the report of the Superintendent of Schools, Dr. James M. Connelley, for the year ending June 30, 1918. The report is a most interesting and valuable one, and it is gratifying to find that the work of the schools during the year has been so successful. The Board is particularly pleased to note the progress made in the various departments, and to find that the schools have been able to maintain a high standard of efficiency throughout the year.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Genealogies of the First Settlers of Albany.

In offering to the curious the following contributions for the family history of Albany county, it may be expected that the compiler should briefly indicate the character of the people, the extent of territory occupied, the sources and deficiencies of information, and the peculiar difficulties of the work.

The site of the present city of Albany was first occupied as a trading post in 1614. After the charter of the Privileged West India Company, in 1631, Fort Orange, who claimed and exercised the entire Indian trade. Hence colonization was not encouraged, contrary to the provisions of the charter, by which they were bound to "advance the peopling of those fruitful and unsettled parts;" the greed of gain swallowed up all other interests. At length the evil became so apparent and so forcibly presented to the notice of the Directors in Amsterdam, that they were obliged to seek a remedy. On the 7th day of June, 1639, under the title of "Freedoms and Exemptions" concession was made to Patroons to plant colonies in New Netherland.

From the haste with which the Directors in Holland proceeded to avail themselves of the privileges thus granted, one might almost suspect this charter was granted for their special profit and gratification. The failure of the West India Company and the Patroons in fulfilling the requisitions of their charters relating to the colonization of the new province and the encouragement of agriculture, became so apparent in 1638 as to call for the interference of the States-General, and alter the agitation and rejection of many projects, the Directors were induced to proclaim free trade and free lands to private persons under what they conceived necessary restrictions. This measure had a happy effect in stimulating immigration to New Netherland from the mother country.

The population of New Netherland, at the beginning of Stuyvesant's administration (1647), is variously estimated at from 1,000 to 3,000; at its close in 1664 it was about 10,000. The Dutch had held the province fifty years, and this was the result of their attempts to colonize it. Its natural advantages both for trade and agriculture were unequalled by any like portion of the continent. The nation which had redeemed its own country from the ocean, which had conquered its freedom from the Spanish yoke, and led all European nations in foreign trade was just the people to found a new empire on these shores. The Dutch character was not wanting in the requisite energy, perseverance and pluck; but it was the system of government, persevered in against protests and petitions, that was chiefly at fault.

The population of Fort Orange at this early period can not be exactly known; that it was small may be justly inferred from several facts: First, The church built in 1643 was 24 ft. by 19 ft. and contained but nine banken (benches) for the worshippers; yet this house served the little community until 1656. Second, A Jesuit missionary who visited the village in 1646 mentions that it contained then but ten thatched cottages. Third, The number of settlers shown by the Van Rensselaer papers as having been sent over to the Colonie up to 1664 is only 210.* It is not to be supposed that all those persons who were attracted to Fort Orange by its happy location for Indian traffic, were either tenants or servants of the Patroon of Rensselaerswyck, or were even under his manorial jurisdiction. Fort Orange and the little hamlet which clustered around its walls for safety were always claimed by the West India Company as under their exclusive authority. This claim, however, was strenuously resisted by the Patroon. Hence originated that memorable and almost bloody contest for power between those obstinate, hard-headed officials, Gov. Stuyvesant and Commissary Slichtenhorst.

The Dongan charter of 1686, however, quieted further questions of jurisdiction; Albany became a city one mile wide on the river and 13½ miles long. All outside of these limits belonged to the Colonie.

The early population of Fort Orange and Beverwyck, though almost pure Dutch at first, was changeable; after a few years spent in traffic with the Indians, some returned to Babina; some retired to New Amsterdam (New York), whilst others passed beyond the limits of the Colonie and purchased lands at Kinderhook, Claverac, Catskill, Coxsackie, Niskayuna, Half Moon, and Schenectady.

The conquest of the province by the English in 1664 introduced a new element into the population; the sheriff of the county, clerk of the village and city, and officers and soldiers of the garrison were mainly English or New Englanders; a few of these intermarried with Dutch maidens and became permanent citizens. Later, another nationality was introduced; through the bounty of Queen Anne some thousands of Palatines were sent over in 1708-22; they settled at East and West Camps on the Hudson, and afterwards in the Scholiarie valley, and at German Flats on the Mohawk.

Until 1831 the powers of the magistrature of Fort Orange extended south to the Esopus (Kingston). By the division of the province into counties in 1683, Albany county comprised all the territory north of Dutchess and Ulster on both sides of the river, and the village of Albany was regarded as the fountain of authority both in church and judicial matters by the scattered inhabitants of this great region.

The Albany church founded about 1640 was the only one north of Esopus having a permanent ministry until long after 1700, save that of Schenectady; and as all young children in early times were christened in the church and their names entered in the Doop Boek, these ancient baptismal records have a peculiar value and interest to the genealogist. Unfortunately the records, previous to 1684, are wanting; from that date onward they are complete.

The following pages contain the names of all children baptized and recorded in this church from 1684 to 1800 posted and arranged in families. Large additions have also been made from other sources, among which are the wills, deeds, mortgages, marriage and other contracts, powers of attorney, proceedings of magistrates, &c., found in the offices of the county and city clerks; the early records and papers in the secretary of state's office, the most of which have been fully catalogued by Dr. O'Callaghan; and Mr. Munsell's Annals and Historical Collections of Albany. These sources of information are by no means exhausted; the patient antiquarian has still ample room for glancing in the same fields, and new ground for research in family papers, records in family bibles, and more especially in those of the Colonie belonging to the Van Rensselaer family.

THE POLYMERIZATION OF VINYL MONOMERS

The following table shows the results of the polymerization of various vinyl monomers in the presence of different catalysts. The data are presented in a tabular format, with columns for the monomer, the catalyst, and the resulting polymer yield and characteristics.

Monomer	Catalyst	Yield (%)	Characteristics
Styrene	Perchloric acid	85	Highly soluble in organic solvents
Acrylonitrile	Perchloric acid	72	Highly soluble in organic solvents
Methyl methacrylate	Perchloric acid	68	Highly soluble in organic solvents
Vinyl acetate	Perchloric acid	55	Highly soluble in organic solvents
Styrene	Chloric acid	78	Highly soluble in organic solvents
Acrylonitrile	Chloric acid	65	Highly soluble in organic solvents
Methyl methacrylate	Chloric acid	60	Highly soluble in organic solvents
Vinyl acetate	Chloric acid	48	Highly soluble in organic solvents
Styrene	Chloric acid	70	Highly soluble in organic solvents
Acrylonitrile	Chloric acid	58	Highly soluble in organic solvents
Methyl methacrylate	Chloric acid	52	Highly soluble in organic solvents
Vinyl acetate	Chloric acid	42	Highly soluble in organic solvents

Although these contributions are not to be regarded as full pedigrees of the families named, down to 1800, they are as complete in most cases for the first three or four generations as they are ever likely to be made from documentary evidence. Considering the great interest awakened periodically among the descendants of Anneke Jansse and the real or imaginary connection which most of the ancient Dutch families of the valley of the Hudson, claim with that noted lady, it might reasonably be supposed that their pedigrees would long before this have been clearly established. In some cases this is the fact, but it is to be feared that through tradition or something worse a large element of fiction has been introduced into many genealogies, which it is hoped may in part be removed by the facts hereafter stated.

The Schenectady Families occasionally referred to in the following pages is a work in manuscript similar to this, relating to Schenectady and the valley of the Mohawk.

- BANCKER, Adriaan, of New York, m. G. Elizabeth Van Taerling in New York, Jan. 30, 1729.

The first part of the report deals with the general situation of the medical profession in the United States. It points out that the number of physicians has increased steadily since 1900, and that this increase has been particularly marked in the larger cities. It also notes that the average number of years of medical education has increased from about 4 in 1900 to about 7 in 1930. The report then discusses the various factors which have contributed to this increase, such as the growth of the medical profession, the expansion of medical education, and the increasing specialization of medicine. It also points out that the increase in the number of physicians has led to a corresponding increase in the number of hospitals and other medical institutions, and that this has in turn led to a corresponding increase in the cost of medical care.

The second part of the report deals with the various methods of medical education and the standards of medical education. It points out that the standards of medical education have become increasingly strict since 1900, and that this has led to a corresponding increase in the quality of medical education. It also notes that the various medical associations have been working to establish uniform standards of medical education, and that this has led to a corresponding increase in the uniformity of medical education. The report then discusses the various methods of medical education, such as the lecture method, the clinical method, and the hospital method, and points out that the hospital method has become increasingly important since 1900.

The third part of the report deals with the various factors which have contributed to the increase in the cost of medical care. It points out that the increase in the number of physicians and the expansion of medical education have both contributed to this increase. It also notes that the increasing specialization of medicine has led to a corresponding increase in the cost of medical care, and that the increasing use of expensive medical instruments and drugs has also contributed to this increase.

The first part of the paper discusses the general theory of the firm, focusing on the role of the entrepreneur and the importance of capital structure. It examines how the entrepreneur's personal characteristics and the firm's financial structure influence its performance and growth. The second part of the paper presents empirical evidence on the relationship between capital structure and firm performance, using data from a large sample of firms. The results show that firms with higher debt ratios tend to have lower performance, but this relationship is moderated by the firm's size and industry. The paper concludes by discussing the implications of these findings for policy and practice.

The first part of the book discusses the early years of the United States, from the time of the first settlers to the end of the American Revolution. It covers the struggles of the colonies against British rule and the eventual declaration of independence. The second part of the book deals with the period of the early republic, from the end of the Revolution to the beginning of the Civil War. It examines the development of the federal government and the role of the Supreme Court. The third part of the book focuses on the Civil War and Reconstruction, detailing the conflict between the North and the South and the efforts to rebuild the South after the war. The final part of the book covers the Gilded Age and the Progressive Era, highlighting the rise of industrialization and the efforts to reform society and government.

Bogardus (Bogart), Anneke (Annetie) Janse.* This celebrated character came to Rensselaerwyck, in 1630 with her husband Roeloff Jansen who acted as assistant bonnevester for the Patroon at a salary of 180 guilders. Five or six years after, the family was found at New Amsterdam where Roeloff received a patent in 1636, for 31 morgens (62 acres) of land lying along the East river between the present Warren and Christopher streets. About this time he d., and in the year 1637 or 1638 his widow married Dominie Everhardus Bogardus or Bogart, the first settled minister of New Netherland. Ten years later she again became widow and so continued until her death which took place in 1693 at Albany, to which place she had returned after the death of her second husband in 1647. Her property consisted chiefly of the Dominie's Bowery above mentioned, and was divided by her will equally among her three daughters and five sons. By her first husband, whom she married in Holland, she had, First: Sarah Roeloffse who married Surgeon Hans Klerstedt, June 29, 1642. After his death she married Cornelis Van Borsum of Brooklyn ferry, Sept. 1, 1669; and later Elbert Elbertsen of New York, July 18, 1683. She came from Amsterdam with her parents in 1630, and became a great proficient in the Indian tongue; in 1664 she acted as interpreter in the treaty made by Stuyvesant with the River Indians. She died in 1693. Second: Cathrine Roeloffse. She married Lucas Rodeburg vice director of Curaçoa, who d. about the y. 1656. Her second husband was Johannes Van Brugh, who was a prominent merchant and magistrate of New Amsterdam, and served in the common council several years after the English accession. They were married March 29, 1657. He d. in New York at an advanced age about 1699. His widow survived him. Their children were, Helena, wife of Tannis Dekay, m. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both primary and secondary data collection techniques. The primary data was gathered through direct observation and interviews with key personnel. Secondary data was obtained from existing reports and databases.

The third section details the statistical analysis performed on the collected data. Various statistical tests were used to determine the significance of the findings. The results indicate a strong correlation between the variables being studied, suggesting that the observed trends are not due to chance.

Finally, the document concludes with a series of recommendations based on the findings. These recommendations aim to improve the efficiency of the current processes and address the identified areas of concern. It is hoped that these suggestions will be helpful in achieving the organization's goals.

Bratt. Two brothers of this name, Arent Andriese, and Albert Andriese, were among the early settlers of Albany. The former settled in Schenectady with his family in 1662, and became the progenitor of the families of this name in that city and vicinity; the latter remained in Albany. [Note. Some of the Bratts belonged to the Lutheran Church of Albany, whose ancient records are lost. Such children as were christened there, will not be found here.]

BRATT, Albert Andriese, de Noorman, had a farm and mill on the Norman's kil, which took its name from him. In 1672, his son Barent succeeded him in the occupation of the mill, and in 1677, Tenuis Slingerland, his son-in-law, succeeded to the lease of this farm. He died, according to Dr. O'Callaghan the 7th June, 1686. "een van de oudste en eerste inwoners der Colonie Rensselaers-wyck." His first wife was Annetie Barentse Van Rotmers, who was deceased in 1702. On the 24th Oct., 1670, the governor gave an order for

The first part of the book discusses the early history of the United States, from the time of the first European settlers to the American Revolution. It covers the exploration of the continent, the establishment of colonies, and the struggle for independence. The second part of the book deals with the early years of the new nation, including the formation of the Constitution and the early years of the Republic. The third part of the book discusses the period of westward expansion, the Mexican War, and the Civil War. The fourth part of the book covers the Reconstruction period, the Gilded Age, and the Progressive Era. The fifth part of the book discusses the period of the two world wars, the Cold War, and the modern era.

the separation of Albert Andriese and Geertruy Vosburgh because "strife and difference hath arisen between them." His children, all by his first wife probably, were Barent: Eva, the wife first of Antony de Hooges, and second of Roeloff Swartwout of Esopus; Storm alias Storm Albertse Vanderzee; Engelitie, wife of Teunis Slingerland of Onisquahaw; Gisseltie, wife of Jan Van Eechelen; Andries; Jan; Dirk.

BRATT, Barent Albertse, lived in 1700 without the North Gate just west of the Main Guard, near or on the east corner of Stenben street and Broadway, and had frequent warnings from the Common Council not to fence in certain grounds there belonging to the city. All his children were born before 1684, as their names are not found in the church records extant. The following came to maturity and had families: Antony, Dirk, Johannes, Daniël.

BRATT, Dirk Albertse, was living in Albany as late as 1678; his children if he had any, have not been met with in the records of the Dutch church.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be clearly documented, including the date, amount, and purpose of the transaction. This ensures transparency and allows for easy reconciliation of accounts.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze data. This includes direct observation, interviews with key personnel, and the use of specialized software tools. The goal is to gather comprehensive information that can be used to identify trends and areas for improvement.

The third section focuses on the implementation of new procedures. It details the steps taken to train staff, update systems, and ensure that all departments are following the same protocols. Regular communication and feedback loops are established to monitor the effectiveness of these changes.

Finally, the document concludes with a summary of the findings and recommendations. It highlights the key challenges faced during the process and offers practical solutions to address them. The author expresses confidence that the implemented measures will lead to more efficient operations and better overall performance.

The first of these is the fact that the medical profession has been largely unorganized and uncoordinated in its efforts to improve the public health. There has been no central authority to which all medical men could look for guidance and support. This has resulted in a lack of uniformity in practice and a waste of resources. The second is the fact that the medical profession has been largely uninterested in the public health. It has been content to look after the needs of its individual patients and to ignore the needs of the community as a whole. This has resulted in a neglect of the most important aspects of medicine, such as the prevention of disease and the control of epidemics. The third is the fact that the medical profession has been largely uneducated in the public health. It has been content to receive its education in the traditional medical schools and to ignore the most important aspects of the public health, such as the study of the environment and the study of the habits of the people. This has resulted in a lack of understanding of the causes of disease and a failure to take the most effective measures for its prevention.

Douw, Capt. Volkert Janse, from Frederickstadt was in Beverwyck 1628-1684. His house lot was on the west corner of State street and Broadway, property still owned by the family. He was a trader and brewer, and in connection with Jan Thomase dealt largely in real estate. Their brewery, situated on the east half of the Exchange block and extending to the river, they sold in 1675 to Harmen Rutgers, son of Rutger Jacobsen. In 1663, they bought of the Indians Schotack or Apjen's [Little Monkey's] island and the main land lying east of it. He also owned Constatpel's island lying opposite Bethlehem, half of which in 1677, he sold to Pieter Winne. In 1672, he

The first part of the document discusses the early history of the United States, focusing on the period from the late 17th century to the early 18th century. It covers the establishment of the first permanent English colonies in North America, the growth of the plantation economy, and the increasing tensions between the colonies and the British government. Key events mentioned include the Boston Tea Party and the outbreak of the American Revolutionary War.

The second part of the document details the American Revolutionary War, from its beginning in 1775 to the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776. It describes the military struggles, the role of George Washington, and the eventual victory of the Continental Army at the Battle of Yorktown. The document also discusses the challenges of the new nation, including the drafting of the Constitution and the early years of the Republic.

The third part of the document covers the period from the late 18th century to the early 19th century, often referred to as the Age of Jackson. It discusses the westward expansion of the United States, the rise of Andrew Jackson as a national hero, and the increasing sectional tensions between the North and the South. Key events include the War of 1812 and the Nullification Crisis.

The fourth part of the document focuses on the mid-19th century, a period of rapid industrialization and social change. It discusses the growth of the manufacturing sector, the rise of the middle class, and the increasing influence of the United States in world affairs. The document also addresses the growing divide over the issue of slavery, which ultimately led to the American Civil War.

The fifth and final part of the document covers the American Civil War (1861-1865) and the Reconstruction era. It details the military conflict between the Union and the Confederacy, the role of Abraham Lincoln, and the challenges of rebuilding the South. The document concludes with a discussion of the Reconstruction era, the passage of the Reconstruction Acts, and the eventual end of Reconstruction in 1877.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This not only helps in tracking expenses but also ensures compliance with tax regulations. The text further explains that regular audits are essential to identify any discrepancies or errors in the accounting process.

In addition, the document highlights the role of technology in modern accounting. The use of accounting software can significantly reduce the risk of human error and streamline the data entry process. It also allows for real-time monitoring of financial performance, enabling businesses to make informed decisions quickly.

Finally, the document stresses the importance of transparency and accountability. All financial activities should be clearly documented and accessible to relevant stakeholders. This fosters trust and ensures that the organization's financial health is always under control.

The second part of the document provides a detailed overview of the company's financial performance over the past year. It begins with a summary of the key financial indicators, including revenue, profit, and cash flow. The data shows a steady increase in revenue, which is primarily driven by the expansion of the product line and the entry into new markets.

Despite the challenges posed by the current economic environment, the company has managed to maintain a healthy profit margin. This is attributed to the implementation of cost-cutting measures and the focus on high-margin products. The cash flow remains positive, indicating a strong ability to meet short-term obligations and invest in future growth opportunities.

The document also includes a breakdown of the company's assets and liabilities. The total assets have increased significantly, reflecting the company's growth and investment in infrastructure. On the other hand, the liabilities have remained relatively stable, suggesting a conservative approach to debt financing.

In conclusion, the company's financial performance has been robust and resilient. The management team is confident in the company's ability to continue its upward trajectory in the coming years. The document ends with a call to action, encouraging all employees to contribute to the company's success through their dedication and hard work.

The first section of the paper discusses the importance of the research and the need for a more comprehensive understanding of the factors that influence job satisfaction. It highlights the limitations of previous studies and the need for a more holistic approach that considers both individual and organizational factors.

The second section presents the theoretical framework of the study, drawing on concepts from organizational behavior and human resources management. It discusses the relationship between job satisfaction, organizational commitment, and performance, and how these relationships are influenced by various factors such as job design, leadership, and organizational culture.

The third section describes the methodology used in the study, including the sample, data collection methods, and the statistical techniques employed to analyze the data. It details the use of surveys and interviews to gather data from a diverse group of employees across different organizations and industries.

The fourth section presents the results of the study, showing the findings of the statistical analyses. It discusses the significant relationships between the variables studied and the implications of these findings for practice. The results indicate that job satisfaction is a complex phenomenon that is influenced by a wide range of factors, and that these influences vary across different contexts and individuals.

The final section discusses the conclusions of the study and offers suggestions for future research. It emphasizes the need for further exploration of the factors that influence job satisfaction and the development of more effective strategies for improving it. The authors also discuss the practical implications of the findings for organizations and the potential for future research to build on the current study's contributions.

Loweridge, William, hatter. In 1671 he bought a house and lot of Pieter Jacobsse Borsboom on the east side of Broadway, bounded north by the king's court house. This lot was taken to extend Hudson street to the river. In 1676 he was accused of having charged the Dutch with supplying the Indians with ammunition, and ordered to be kept in custody until he made good the charge; not proving the same, he was fined 20 beavers. In 1678 he and others were condemned for planting a scandalous tree before the door of Richard Pretty, magistrate; he addressed Capt. Brockhols in extenuation, that it was a custom of the place to set up a tree on the occasion of marriage; notwithstanding his sentence was confirmed. In 1680 he owned a farm at Cats-kill, and petitioned for an addition of 40 acres. He had a son William.

Myndertse, Barent, master shoemaker, in Beverwyck, as early as 1659; d. about 1689, when Pieter Vosburgh administered on his estate. It is not known that he left any children.

Two brothers, Myndert and Carsten Frederickse, smiths, were among the early settlers of Beverwyck. They came from Iveren. Among other real estate in the village they owned the north corner of State street and Broadway, and had their smith shop without the south gate on the north corner of Broadway and Spanish (now Hudson) street. They were members of the Lutheran church of which Myndert was elder and Carsten deacon, in 1680. The latter died probably about 1690 leaving four children (see Frederickse).

Myndert Frederickse was armorer to the fort in 1697; made his will March 20, 1702, proved May 1, 1706, in which he spoke of "my house hard by the church in Cow street (now Broadway), and of "my [Lutheran] church book with silver clasps and chain." He married first Catharyn Burchharts (Burger), in New Amsterdam, Aug. 5, 1656; and secondly Pieterje Tennis Van Vechter, in 1663. At the date of his will, in 1701, he had five children living, viz: Frederick, b. in 1657; Burger, b. 1660, settled in New York; Neeltje, w. of Hendrick Douw; Reynier; and Johannes, who settled in Schenectady.

The unsettled condition of the early Dutch family names is well shown by the descendants of Myndert Frederickse, which follow; some took the surname of Myndertse, his Christian name; whilst others took that of Van Iveren, the place from whence he came in Holland.

Roseboom, Hendrick Jansse, trader, was the Voorlezer and sexton of the church; in 1674, he brought a suit to recover his fees from a man who had employed the grave-digger of the Lutheran church, styled an interloper; judgment for the plaintiff 18 guilders. His house and lot originally Pieter Bronck's was on the east side of North Pearl street, 192 Rynland ft. north of Maiden Lane, and in 1677, the stockades passed through it and the gate (called Roseboom's gate) and the burgher blockhouse were situated there; this was one of the best business places in the village because the Indians entered chiefly through this gate. He was for many years farmer of the slaughter excise. His first wife was Gysbertje Lansing; in his old age he married Tryntje Jansse Van Brestede, widow of Rutger Jacobson, d. Nov. 4, 1763. Rutgers, two brothers, Rutger and Tennis Jacobse Van Schoenderwoert or Van Woert were among the early settlers of Beverwyck and originated two families, distinct in name and locality. Rutger Jacobse's descendants assumed the surname of Rutgers, and were later found in New York and vicinity; his brother Tennis's descendants took the surname Van Schoenderwoert, or simply, Van Woert and settled chiefly in Albany county. [See Van Woert.]

Rutger Jacobsen, alias Rut Van Woert, was a man of considerable repute and wealth in the little village in which he served as magistrate many years, probably until his death in 1665. His business was varied: he owned a sloop upon the river which he sometimes commanded himself; at other times, Abraham De Truwe (Trux now) was his skipper; he was a considerable dealer in village lots and farming lands, among which was the island called Pachonakelick or Montcaender's Island, "obliquely over against Bethelshem," owned in partnership with Andries Herbstsen Constapel, and hence sometimes called Constapel's Island: in 1654, he bought Jacob Janse Van Noerstrant's brewery and lot in Beaver street nearly opposite the present Middle Dutch church, which was inherited by his son Herman: he m. Tryntje Janse Van Breesede in New Amsterdam, June 3, 1646; her sister Dorotea subsequently m. Volckert Janse Douw. After Rutger Jacobsen's death, his widow in her old age, m. Hendrick Janse Rosboom, Dec. 3, 1693. She is said to have d. at her son's in 1711 at a very great age. It is not known that Jacobsen had more than three ch.: two daughters, Margaret, who m. Jan Janse Blecker; and Engel, bp. in New Amsterdam, April 10, 1650; and one son, Harmen.

RUTGERS, Harmen, son of Rutger Jacobsen Van Schoenderwoert last mentioned, was probably b. in Beverwyck soon after his father moved there; he was still living in 1720. He was a brewer, his brewery, which he sold in 1753 to Goosen Gerritse Van Schaick, and Pieter Las-sinz, being on the east half of the present Exchange Block; in 1678, Richard Pretty, collector of the excise complained of him for defrauding the excise and selling beer to the Indians, but after considerable litigation the complaint was dismissed. He had two sons, Anthony and Harmen, who settled in New York.

Soegemakelyk, alias Van Wozgelum. Two brothers of this name, Pieter and Jacob Adriaense, with their mother, were early settlers of Beverwyck; both were inn keepers. In 1660, their mother Anna Pieterse Soegemakelyk was a widow by the death of her second husband, Barent Jansse Bal; she d. in Dec. 1669. Pieter Adriaense was apprehended by the revenue officer, Johan De Dekker, for refusing to pay the excise on his sales of wine, beer, &c., but escaped; he denied the right of the officer of Fort Orange to collect this excise in the Colonie where he lived and in this he was sustained by the Patroon. In 1664 he received a patent for a bouwery and home lot at Schenectady, which he sold in 1670, to Helmer Otten for 35 beavers; after Otten's death his widow married Ruyser Jacobse Schermerhorn, and this bouwery thus acquired has remained in this family until the present time. He had at least three children, Pieter, Jan, and a daughter who m. Jan Mangelse. The first, Capt. Pieter Pieterse Van Wozgelum, in 1669 had a lot and garden at Lubberde's land [a part of Troy] and in 1672 he bought of Myndert Jansse Wemp of Schenectady his father's bouwery lying upon and south of the Poestenkil, for 250 beavers; subsequently he sold this land to Dirk Van Der Heyden from whom it passed to his three sons, Jacob, David, and Matthys. Capt. Van Wozgelum was a skipper, and in 1684 was master of the open boat Unity plying between New York and Albany. Jan Pieterse Adriaense Soegemakelyk, the brother of Pieter, was also an inn keeper in 1655, and because he lived without the village of Beverwyck, in the Colonie refused to allow the excise collector to gauge his liquor casks. He is sometimes called Jacob Adriaense Van Utrecht (?).

VAN DER ZEE, Storm, son of Albert Andries Bratt "de Noorman" came to Reusselaerswyck in 1630. The tradition is that one of Bratt's children was born on shipboard on the passage out in the midst of a heavy storm, in consequence of which, he was called Storm Vanderzee. O'Callaghan's Hist. N. Y. A. That Van Der Zee was an alias for Bratt in early times is certain; in an old deed Storm's son Wouter is called "Wouter Storm Bratt, alias Wouter Van Der Zee." Storm Van Der Zee was a trader, and in 1661, was complained of for smuggling in New Amsterdam. He m. Hillelje, dan. of Gerrit Lansing, and had at least two sons who lived to maturity, Albert, and Wouter.

VIELE, Cornelis Cornelise, owned a lot on the west corner of State and South Pearl streets which he sold to Richard Pretts, in 1673; 1668, bought a bowery in Schenectady, which he sold in 1670, to Jurriaan Theunisse Tappen, in exchange for a house

THE OLD KOEYMANS MANSION.

Barent Pieterse Koeymans was the original settler, having emigrated to this country from Utrecht, Holland, in 1636, and engaged himself as miller to the first Patroon. He afterwards purchased of the Katskill Indians a tract of land having ten or twelve miles front on the Hudson river and extending westward to the head of the waters falling into the Hudson. A litigation followed between him and the Patroon, which terminated in favor of Koeymans, and in 1714 he obtained a patent from Queen Anne confirming the whole tract to him.

Barent Pieterse Koeymans had five children, and two only remained in Coeymans, the other three settled in other portions of the country. The two who continued to live on the Koeymans patent were Peter and Ariaantje. Peter married twice, but had no male descendants; but left five daughters, all of whom were married. Of the two daughters of his first wife, Mayica married Andreas Witbeck and Elizabeth married Jacob Van Alen. Of the three daughters by his second wife Gerritje married John Barclay; Anne Margaret married Andreas Ten Eyck; Charlotte A. married John Bronck. As we said before, there being no male issue, the family name of Koeymans became extinct in this locality with the death of Peter Koeymans.

Ariaantje Koeymans was married to David Verplank when she was of the age of 47, and died without issue. David Verplank subsequently married and left a large family of children; David inherited Ariaantje's portion of her father's property. The property now known as the old Stone House and all that portion that is now owned by the Ten Eyck family came to them from Peter Koeymans — Ariaantje having never owned any property north of Coeymans creek.

Elizabeth Van Dalsen, great granddaughter of Peter Koeymans, married Abraham Verplank, and was the only member of the Verplank family related to the Koeymans family.

Major Verplank, to whose memory a monument has been lately erected in the Cemetery, was in no way related to the old Koeymans family.

The original Koeymans mansion, or Castle as it was called, stood on the site of the building now occupied by the family of the late Josiah Sherman. — Coeymans Gazette. Of these officers four survive, namely, Messrs. Corning, Perry, Thacher, and Bleecker.

Philip S. Van Rensselaer held the office of mayor nineteen years, being the longest period that any person continued in the office.

Jared L. Rathbone was the first mayor elected by the people. Previous to his third term these officers were elected by the common council.

¹Dr. J. V. Quackenbush also claimed to have been mayor this year, the old board declaring for one candidate, and the new board for the other. Dr. Quackenbush was the acting mayor.

DIAGRAMS

Home Lots of the Village of Beverwyck.

In the preface to the Early Records of the City and County of Albany, published in 1869, the translator made the following remark: "The identification of the village lots here described is rendered nearly impossible by the brevity and vagueness of the descriptions, the streets and lanes having been without names. A few lots have been located, others may be, perhaps, by a long and patient examination and comparison." When this was written he had no serious purpose of essaying so difficult a task, but soon after, while the subject was still fresh, was led as a matter of curiosity to test the truth of the foregoing remark, and after much puzzling and putting this and that together, there grew out of his studies the following diagrams and accompanying explanations. It will be seen that this attempted map of Beverwyck is confined in time to the earliest years of its settlement, and as to space to the limited territory within the palisades. Indeed this was pretty much all there was of Albany for many years after 1652, in which year Fort Orange ceased to be the centre of the embryo city, which thereafter clustered around the new church built at the junction of State street and Broadway.

Many conveyances of gardens and house lots around and within Fort Orange are registered in the county records, but none of them can now be located. The fort and the ancient streets there, have been completely obliterated.

The remark that the streets of Beverwyck had no names should be qualified: several had names, though seldom used in the early conveyances. The names of Broadway were Cow, de breedde, or Broad, the Lower, Handelaers, and Brewers streets; of Hudson, Spanish street; of Green south of Beaver, Esplanade or Plain street, and north of Beaver, the Voddemart or Rag market, and Cheapside; of Chapel, Berg street; of State, Yonkers street; of South Pearl, de Kleyne straat; and of Maiden Lane, Rom street. After the charter was granted in 1686, the place was divided into three wards: the first embraced all that part of the town south of State and Exchange streets; the second lay north of State and west of James streets; and the third contained that portion lying north of State and Exchange, and east of James streets.

In the absence of any map of the lots of those early times, this attempt to construct one is based mainly upon the descriptions found in the Albany County Records, the Patents in the Secretary of State's office, and Mr. Munsell's Annals of Albany. In most cases these descriptions are brief and obscure; some are not only defective but false and contradictory, and capable of a correct interpretation by subsequent repeated conveyances of the same lots. It is not to be supposed that this performance gives a complete picture of all the house lots in ancient Beverwyck; several gaps in Broadway will be found which no ingenuity of the compiler could fill, and several lots will be found so imperfectly described in the records, that he has to confess his inability to locate them.

Much remains to be learned in this matter, by the patient student, in the later registers of deeds and mortgages, and it is to be hoped that some one who has leisure may pursue these researches and render more complete this imperfect attempt to illustrate the History of Ancient Albany.

BROADWAY.

Broadway, east side, Colonie line to Columbia.

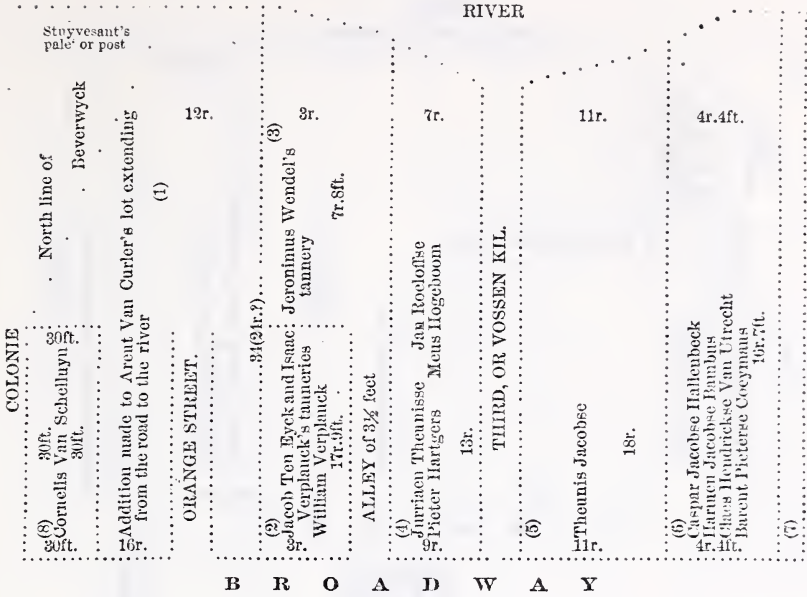

Lots (1) (2) (3) (4) (5) form parts of an additional grant made to the estate of Arent Van Curler. His first patent contained a parcel of land on the opposite side of Broadway, having a front on that street of 12 rods, and running back into the woods 4 rods. These two lots were patented to Willem Beckman (administrator of A. Van Curler), in 1680. Lot (6) was conveyed to Cornelis Van Schellhuyse by the administrators of Widow Van Curler in 1681; lots (2) and (3) to Jacob Ten Eyck and Isaac Verplank for a tannery, by whom lot (3) was conveyed to Jeronimus Wendel for the same purpose, with the use of an alley three and one-half feet wide from the street. In 1769, Isaac Verplank's grandson William was in possession of lot (2). Subsequently Orange street was laid out through the Van Curler lot to the river.—Patents, 1102; Deeds, III, 104, 105, 106; Alb. Ar., XI, 205.

(4) 1653, patented to Jurriaen Theunisse; 1659, Jan Roeloffse; 1659, Pieter Hartgers; 1681, Meus Hoogbeem.—Patents, 1103; Alb. Co. Rec., 207, 209, 270; Deeds, III, 104, 106.

(5) 1682-67, patented to Theunisse Jacobse.—Patents, 394, 500.

(6) 1652-67, patented to Casper Jacobse Hallenbeck; 1657, Harmen Jacobse Bambus; 1657, Claes Hendrickse; 1667, Barant Pieterse Coeymans.—Patents, 394, 544, 500; Alb. Co. Rec., 16, 31, 41.

(7) A portion of this lot is now taken by Columbia street, which was not opened to the river until long after.

Broadway East Side, Columbia to Steuben.

(1). In 1652-67, patented to Jacob Adriaense (Soegenackelvyck, alias Tadenmaker Van Utrecht); 1667, Cornelis Segerse (Van Voorhoudt); 1729, Grietje Ryckse (Van Vranken) had a lot on what is now Montgomery street.—Patents, 384, 444, 456, 500; Abb. Aa., ix, 47.

(2). 1652-67. Patented to Arent Andriese Bratt.—Patents, 444, 456. 1700-1, Barent Alberise Bratt owned a portion of his uncle's lot (2), and was forbidden to enclose the highway (Steuben street) at the back-side of the main guard. He then lived "without ye north gate westward of ye main guard."—Abb. Aa., iv, 109, 127; x, 60; In 1729, Johannes A. Cuyler had a lot on what is now the east corner of Steuben and Broadway, a portion of this patent.—Abb. Aa., ix, 47. On the south-east corner was the main guard by the river bank whence the palisades enclosing the north side of the village passed up the hill on the present line of Steuben street. Steuben and Columbia streets from Broadway to the river were not laid out at this early day. (1667).

The owners of the above lots in 1730 may be seen in Col. Hist. Albany, II, 577.

Broadway, east side, Steuben to Maiden Lane.

These lots are about 10 rods deep with gardens in the rear extending to the river. Deen street at first extended only to Maiden Lane; then a couple of lots further north, and finally in 1796, through to Steuben street, 30 or 36 feet wide.

(1). 1653, patented to Jan Verbeek; 1657, Jeremiah Van Rensselaer; 1686, David Pieterse Schuyler and Hans Hendrickse; Jacobs and Abraham, sons of D. P. Schuyler; 1729-35, David A. Schuyler; 1733, Widow Catharine Schuyler.—Patents, 436, 425; Alb. Co. Rec., 38; Deeds, III, 113; Alb. Ab., I, 106; IV, 103; V, 198; IX, 47; X, 60; XI, 84.

(2). 1653, patented to Frans Barentse Pastoor, Hendrick Andriese [Van Doeshurgh]; 1656, Philip Hendr. Brouwer; 1661, Jan Dirckse Van Eps; 1667, Cornelis Van Nes, who married Van Doeshurgh's widow; Hans Hendrickse whose descendants are surnamed Hanssen; 1680, the church parsonage; 1736, Gerrit Lansing and Hendrick Van Densen received a grant of a water lot in the rear of the parsonage lot 75 feet wide bylund and measure, and extending to low water mark leaving street [Deen] three rods wide.—Patents, 388; Alb. Co. Rec., 10, 11, 12, 21, 281, 300, 277, 384; Deeds, III, 113; Alb. Ab., X, 69; VI, 92; VII, 22.

(3). 1667, Theunis Jacobsen; 1686, Jan Salomonse [Goewey]—Patents, 388; Alb. Ab., I, 106, 121.

(4). 1660 66, the house of Jacques Tyssen where Nicolaas Marchael lives; 1665, Wm. Fred. Bont (?); 1680, Roeloff Gerritse [Vander Werken].—Patents, 828; Alb. Co. Rec., 66, 76, 264, 401; Deeds, III, 74.

(5) and (6). 1652, patented to Theunis Cornelise; 1657, Wm. Fred. Bont; (6), 1667, Jan Clute; 1667, Ludovicus Cobes; 1680, Jan Salomonse [Goewey].—Patents, 425, 470, 828; Alb. Co. Rec., 16, 17, 66, 76, 301, 401, 465, 428; Deeds, III, 74.

North Pearl, west side, between Steuben and Columbia,

The palisades on the north side of the village crossed North Pearl at first 192 feet north of Maiden lane; later 342 feet north of the same street; at the next remove probably at the junction of Columbia street, and finally in 1744, during the old French war at the present Canal street.

All the land from a point a few feet south of Steuben street nearly to the Vossen kil (to Canal street 3), and lying west of North Pearl was patented in 1667, to Andries De Vos. The dimensions of this plat were 30 rods on the north side, 31 rods on the south, 23 rods on the east and 15 rods on west. In 1673, De Vos conveyed this parcel of land to the church who conveyed the same the next year to Cornelis Van Dyck for a hop yard.—Abb. Co. Rec., 109, 132; Abb. An., VIII, 243.

(1) In 1736, Abraham Lansing had a lot on the north corner of North Pearl and Columbia streets opposite the old blockhouse.—Abb. An., IX, 61-2; X, 70, 80.

ALBANY COUNTY RECORDS.

Worshipful, valiant, most noble general, and right honorable sirs of the high council of New Netherland :

As the first of May next will be the time when the terms of office of the three persons now serving as commissaries shall have expired, viz: Jan Verbeeck, Jacob Janse Schermerhooren, who last year departed for Holland, and Jan Thomase [Mingael], so to fill up the bench, according to former custom, a nomination is made of a double number of six persons, viz: Philip Pieterse Schuyler, Derrick Janse Croon,¹ Volckert Janse [Douw], Rem Janse [Smit], Evert Wendel and Arent Andriese [Bratt], from whom, if it please your honors of the high honorable court, to elect three persons, for this bench, to supply the places of the aforesaid retiring officers; and our humble petition is, that your honor and the court will please make the election at the aforesaid time, otherwise the bench will be deficient, to the great inconvenience of the people here, and also the honorable company's service; awaiting the same, in the meantime, we pray Almighty God to prosper your honor's and the council's government, and that your counsels may long abide. In the meantime, Heer general and honorable sirs, we remain your honors' humble and trusty servants of the court, at Fort Orange and Beverwyck.

Fort Orange, 30th of March, 1655.

Steven Janse [Coninck] desires to sell, at this sale or auction, the following goods, on these conditions, to wit: The payments shall be made in good merchantable beavers, without any abatement, in the month of May. To Jacob from the Flat, a dog, but Andries and Goosen have assumed the debt. Also to Juryan the glazier, two hogs, for $3\frac{1}{2}$ beavers, but Andries Herpertsen and Goosen Gerritse [Van Schaick], must also have money for stones, and the $3\frac{1}{2}$ beavers go as an offset.

Jan Peeck desires to sell at this public sale his two houses, standing and lying in Fort Orange, with the garden thereto belonging, all according to the patent thereof. The houses adjoin on the west the angle of the fort, to the east Arent Van den Bergh; the garden lies to the south of the aforesaid fort, adjoining to the north the Heer Rensselaer, and to the south a public road. First.—The person who, as buyer, bids in the same, shall be holden to make the first payment of six hundred guilders, in the month of May, or at furthest, by the end of said month, the half, in current seewant, and the other half, in good beavers. The second payment, being the last, shall be paid before the following May, in the year 1656, the half, in current seewant, and the other half, in beavers as before; on this condition that the person, who bids off the same, shall be holden to furnish sufficient sureties; and failing in that, the property shall again be offered for sale at the charge of the buyer, and what less it shall bring, the buyer shall make good. The seller of the aforesaid houses shall be holden to deliver the garden inclosed in new pales, together with the sand that may be in the cellar of the one house, which he shall build and complete in a proper manner, after which the buyer must order matters himself.

Upon this 14th of April, 1655, Mr. Joannes Dyckman remained the highest bidder, for the sum of sixteen hundred and twenty-seven Carolus guilders, and on the aforesaid conditions hereunder set his usual sign manual; pledging the aforesaid houses and his estate, personal and real, all according to law.

JOANNES DYCKMAN.

We, the undersigned, as principals, stand sureties for the aforesaid Joannes Dyckman, in the purchase of the two houses, according to the conditions, to stand in his stead in case of failure of payment, and to pay

PIETER RYVERDINGH.

EVERT PELS.

On this the 16th day of April, 1655, appeared before me Pieter Ryverdingh, clerk in the service of, etc., Mr. Joannes Dyckman, who acknowledged that he had sold to Claes Hendrickse [Van Schoonhoven], citizen here, a certain lot adjoining on the south side of Abraham Pieterse [Vosburgh] carpenter, and on the north side Mr. Jacob [De Hinse] churgeon, on the east side a common cart road, breadth about six rods eight feet, length ten rods, together with a double garden, Nos. 1 and 2 lying behind the aforesaid lot, with the timber lying there for a house, and the pales for the garden, all delivered free, lot, garden and timber; provided that said Claes Hendrickse, therefor, shall pay the sum of four hundred Carolus guilders, the half in good strung current seewant, and the other half in good whole beavers, under this reservation, that whenever the said Dyckman delivers over the patent for the same, then the promised sum as aforesaid shall be paid without further delay. In acknowledgment of the same, they mutually pledge their respective persons and estates, personal and real, present and future, subjecting the same to the force of all laws and judges. In witness of which, without craft or guile, this is signed with their own hands, on the date aforesaid in Beverwyck.

Acknowledged before me,

PIETER RYVERDINGH, Clerk.

On this 17th day of April, 1655, appeared before me, Joannes Dyckman, customs officer, etc., in Fort Orange, etc., the honorable Pieter Gellisse Metselaer (mason), at present living at said Fort Orange, who declared that he had appointed and empowered, as by these presents he does appoint and empower, the virtuous Marytgen Jacobse residing on the Prince's canal at Amsterdam, being the subscriber's wife, and his grand uncle, in her husband's name and for his sake to claim, demand and receive all such sums of money as are due to him, for his child's portion, inherited by him from his mother, and further so to do and act as the matter demands, and as the attorney judges wise; the subscriber holding as fixed and irrevocable whatever said attorney, Maritgen Jacobse, has done or shall do herein, as if he were himself present in person.

In witness whereof, this is signed with his own hand, with witnesses hereto called and invited. Done as above.

Acknowledged before me, JOANNES DYCKMAN.

Their honors of this court desire to farm out, at public sale, to the highest bidder, the tapsters' excise of wine and beer, for the time of twelve months, beginning on the first of May next, on the following conditions, to wit: The collector shall be holden to pay the promised sum quarterly to the honorable court or to their order. This payment shall be made in good strung seewant. It is conditioned that the highest bidder shall be holden to furnish sufficient security for the payment, failing of which, it shall immediately be offered for sale again, at his cost and charge, without any opposition. On this 23d of April, 1655, at Fort Orange, Marcelis Janse became the buyer for the sum of two thousand and thirty guilders upon the foregoing conditions, and Claes Janse (?) and Philip Hendrickse [Brouwer]¹ became his sureties, to take his place in case of failure of payment, according to the foregoing conditions, pledging mutually their estates, personal and real, present and future, without exception, and subjecting the same to the force of all laws and judges.

In witness whereof this is mutually signed without craft or guile.

As buyer, MARCELIS JANSE.

As sureties,

Flip Hindricksen.

Claes Janse.

On the 22d day of December, 1655, Adriaen Gerritsen [Papendorp] and Adriaen Van Ilpendam, have in friendship covenanted and agreed in manner following: The aforesaid Adriaen Van Ilpendam has sold his house, lot and garden, with all that is therein fast by earth and nailed, standing and lying in Beverwyck, and promises to deliver them on the first day of August, 1656, with the patent and a proper conveyance, but expressly conditioned, that on the east side about three feet of the lot in front on the street, be sold to Rem Jansen Smit, so that the house of said Rem Jansen may stand on his own ground; for which aforesaid house, lot and garden, Adriaen Gerritse must pay to Adriaen Van Ilpendam, eighteen hundred Carolus guilders, in good merchantable beaver skins, at eight guilders a beaver, as consideration for the house, lot and garden; on the further condition that Adriaen Gerritse may occupy half of the aforesaid house, and cultivate the garden; pledging mutually their persons and estates, personal and real, in subjection to all laws and judges.

In witness of which, two copies of this agreement are made, and without craft or guile signed, of date as above.

* * * * * farmed out to the collector, Marcellis Janse, the wine and strong beer excise, at public sale, at the house of Henderick Jochemse, for the time of a whole year commencing on the first of May next, for the sum of two thousand and thirty guilders. We cannot conceal from your honor and the council, that the report has come to our ears, that your honor desires the ordinary excise of wine and beer in the colony, not to be paid to us, but rather to establish them [of the colony] in a position against us; in regard to which therefore your honor and the council will please return a very speedy answer, and in the meantime we have sent and delivered to the court of the colony of Rensselaerswyck the following reply: Reply to the written summons and protestation by the court of the colony of Rensselaerswyck, delivered in to our court [of Fort Orange and Beverwyck], on Tuesday last; where-upon the court aforesaid have thought good to return this our reply.— Inasmuch as Jan Baptist Van Rensselaer, in the capacity of court of the colony of Rensselaerswyck, has been pleased, through the schout (?) of said Rensselaerswyck, * * * * * [Wanting] the farming out of the wine and beer excise; so it is, that until we can show an order from the right honorable the director general and council of New Netherland, we trust your honor will remain content, for which end, your honor's original written summons and protestation have been sent to the right honorable the director general and council of New Netherland, who will order, in relation thereto, according to their accustomed resolutions; and if your honor desires to learn them he can address himself to our court as having proper authority.

FRANZ BARENTSE PASTOOR.

Upon this the first day of May, 1655, Steven Janse [Coninck] desires to sell, at this public sale, the house formerly belonging to the late Gysbert Cornelise [Van Wesap], as it at present stands, with the kitchen also, and garden, hogspen, and lot of the same, all according to the patent thereof on the following conditions: * * * *

* [Wanting] shall furnish sufficient sureties to the content of the seller, and failing of this, it shall at once be offered for sale again, at the expense of the buyer, and whatever less it comes to be worth shall be made good by the buyer. The payment must be made in the three following installments; the first, within fourteen days, or at least by the end of the month of May, the second next Amsterdam Fairday (Amsterdamsche Kernirs), and the third, next 1656, also in May; all to be paid in good whole beavers, on the aforesaid conditions without any delay; provided that the buyer or bidder is not to lay claim to the two months' rent due from Pieter the Fleming, who at present occupies the kitchen, but said kitchen shall be delivered on the first of July next, after which the buyer is to regulate matters himself, * * * *

* [Wanting].

On this the third day of May, 1655, I, James Dyckman, in the character of clerk and officer, at the earnest petition of Marcellis Janse, the collector, betook myself to the house of Jacob Adriaense Soogemackelyck.¹ There were present sitting before the door, the following witnesses, Hendrick Reur² and Barent Pieterse [Coeymans], the miller, and the aforesaid Gemackelyck himself. It was my earnest request that the collector, Marcellis Janse, should gauge his casks according to the farming of the excise [Verpachtinge], for which end he had come there. Then I received for an answer from the aforesaid Soogemackelyck that there was another gentleman undertaking it, and he would not permit it, so then I, Joannes Dyckman, before doing anything else, there at the house, before the door, made the following protest: since you, Pieter Andriaense Soogemackelyck, will not permit us to guage the wine and beer you have in your cellar, in the name of the right honorable director general and council of New Netherland, I protest that all the damage and expense which the honorable company and collector may suffer shall fall upon your person. * * * * *

[Some lines wanting] Steven Janse [Coninck] and also a person whose name I could not tell, from whom, on my friendly request for an answer, I received the like answer as Pieter Adriaense Soogemackelyck gave me; whereupon I departed again with the like protest and betook myself to the house of Adriaen Janse Van Leyden, finding him and his wife at home, I received the same answer as the other gentlemen gave; he expressly refused to give permission for the guaging, * * * * * so I protested against him word for word as I had done against the others.

Fort Orange, this 4th of May, 1665.

JOHANNES DYCKMAN.

MARCELYS JANSEN, Collector.

* * * * * [Wanting]. I, Anthonys de Hooges, acknowledge that I have sold to Volckert Janse [Douw] the west portion of my lot extending behind the house of the buyer aforesaid for a certain sum of money to my satisfaction, the length of the aforesaid part, being ten and a half and the breadth four rods, and I therefore so convey and release the same to and for the behoof of Volckert Janse, with such ownership and possession as were granted to me and others without making any pretension of right, claim, or authority to the same from this time forth.

As witness my hand here subscribed in Beverwyck this 5th of May, 1655.

ANTONIUS DE HOOGES.

I, Joannes Dyckman, customs officer and vice director in Fort Orange, and village of Beverwyck, having seen the above standing conveyance, promise that I will procure that Volkert Janse shall shortly be furnished with a patent in debita forma, for said lot of ground, ten and a half rods in length, and four rods in breadth.

Done as above,

JOANNES DYCKMAN.

Worshipful, valiant and most noble sir, and right honorable gentlemen of the council of New Netherland. General and right honorable sirs:

Our last to your honors was of date the 29th of April last, but to our great surprise, although a continual south wind has been blowing, no answer to the same has been received, notwithstanding the urgent letter that we wrote respecting the farming of the excise, about which the collector, as is proper, at the first opportunity, * * * or other like heavy claim makes, of which the honorable president and clerk of this court will give your honors minuter information by word of mouth, what treatment his honor [the collector] met with from the innkeepers dwelling without the limits [of the village of Beverwyck], who would by no means permit the guaging of their liquors, whereupon nothing more has been done, than in the presence of the collector, Marcellis Janse, to protest against the same in the names of your honors, as your honors shall be particularly shown in writing. Now it is so, that in case we do not receive the support of your honors in this matter, we shall not only be a by-word, but of little esteem in consequence thereof. We can but hope, therefore, that your honors will, in proper time, put in execution your former resolutions. How needful a secretary is here requires * * * * [wanting], being a sober and fit person to relieve his honor, the clerk¹, since his honor declines longer to serve here (?), of which his honor, by word of mouth, will give your honors an explanation, for his honor, confined to his house, is no longer fitted to perform the office of secretary in a community so greatly multiplied. Diverse complaints reach us, of those, who, last year furnished your honors with money, in a time of need, asking restitution and payment, for examples, Hendrick Jochemse, Willem Bout, and others; your honors will please, according to promise, make payment thereof, or confirm the writing relating to the same, to which end the original requisition, the said honorable custom officer takes with this, and further will so do and act therein as we have given order. Our humble petition is that your honors will give a favorable hearing, and also will please grant it to us speedily; and further referring you to his honor [the custom officer], for a verbal report respecting the condition of things up here; in the meantime, general and right honorable sirs of the council, we pray Almighty God your honors' counsels to bless and prosper more and more, and remain your honors' faithful servants of the court of Fort Orange and Beverwyck.²

Fort Orange, 10 April, 1655.

* * * * [Wanting] of the court of Rensselaerswyck, delivered the following petition: The court of the colony of Rensselaerswyck, understanding that from the fight between Steven Janse [Coninck] and Jacob Hendrickse Maet, there exists just reasons and motives, in the matter of their bounden duty, to be vigilant and watchful in the administration of justice, the offense being such, that Steven Janse was struck in the left side with a knife in the hand of Jacob Janse [Hendrickse] aforesaid in such a manner that he was redeemed from periculum vite, and that said Maet was committed in the jurisdiction of the aforesaid colony. So it is that they [of the court of Rensselaerswyck] send a friendly request to the honorable court of Fort Orange and Beverwyck, who have proposed the matter that they will please detain the aforesaid Jacob Hendrickse under their honors' jurisdiction, and put him into the hands of our officer, to be disposed of only according to his crime, and to do with his person as shall be found in accordance with the laws: this request of theirs being founded on a reciprocal accommodation and duty in case a like occurrence should happen on their side; their honors also not being ignorant that such is a mutual obligation of all (principal associated) courts, they wait for a speedy resolution and answer to this, inasmuch as danger comes from delay.

¹ Johannes Dyckman, whose health failing, he retired from the office and became insane.

² This is the last paper recorded by Joannes Dyckman, in these records.

Done at the session of their honors of the aforesaid colony this 2d of July, 1655. Presentibus ut in registro. Lower stood by order of the same.¹

A. DE HOGES, Schout and Secretary.

* * * * * [Wanting] reading as follows: the court of Fort Orange and the village of Beverwyck, having seen and examined the request made to them by the court of the colony of Rensselaerswyck, return as answer thereto, that they are sufficient of themselves as they have always shown, and with a like desire for the maintenance of justice are inspired, and moreover shall not stand idle. On the contrary, their duty shows that the person of Jacob Hendrickse Maat, in case he shall be found in their jurisdiction, must be apprehended and taken under the keeping of justice, placed and confined in a secure place, until such time as the state and condition of the patient Steven Janse [Coninck], shall have taken a favorable or unfavorable turn, in order that he may then be dealt with as justice and right may demand. In meantime their honors [of the Court of Fort Orange] testify their pleasure, that the court aforesaid [of Rensselaerswyck] show themselves lovers, and affect the maintenance, of justice.

Done at the session of their honors aforesaid, on the 7th of July, A.D. 1655. Presentibus omnibus.

By order of the same,

J. DE DECKERE,² 1655.

* * * * * [Wanting] by the schout, made to secretary Johan de Deckere, in order that certain persons, dwelling under our jurisdiction, may be brought by our constable, before the tribunal and court of Rensselaerswyck, are answered as follows: Your request, sent to me this morning, is, I acknowledge, in some cases wholly founded in justice and right, also some cases may occur, where the concession sought for with good reason should be withheld, unless the reasons, occasion and question were made known to us, why one dwelling under our jurisdiction should properly appear before your honor's court and there be tried. We request, therefore, that your honors will afford us, by the bearer, the occasion for this demand of yours, that having found reasons for refusal the same may be adhered to, or otherwise renounced, being content under similar circumstances to regulate our conduct in the like manner. Vale.

Done this 7th July, 1655.

J. DE DECKERE, 1655.

* * * * * [Wanting]. Immediately after our arrival here, we composed and promulgated a certain placard, a copy of which accompanies this; the effects we await with more patience than hope, as yet seeing nothing more than a superficial cure, because the disease (in my opinion), has grown old and penetrated to the bone. As it respects the person of Dyckman, we consider him, according to the report of the deputy, in a miserable posture, it is doubtful, which is most impeded, his understanding or speech; at all events he is absolutely unfitted to attend to civil, or judicial matters. As to the salary and hundred guilders for maintenance, received by Dyckman, I hope to be allowed the same, and request some evidence or acts that I may receive it. Johan de Hulter, on Tuesday last, the 2nd (?) of July, having appeared before the magistrates, asked for letters of recommendation to your honors, to the end that they would please make and publish a placard, for the prohibition, reformation and checking of the insolence, opposition and disobedience of his servants in particular, and of others in general, complaining and testifying that they are great and intolerable.

* * * * * [Wanting]. I request that some paper be sent, having hitherto used other folk's as my own, also four quires (?), in restitution of what the constable says he has used. According to order I have boarded at the house of pastor Schaets, for six guilders a week; I request a warrant by which the same may be paid. Herewith, worshipful sir, I commend you to the protection of the Almighty.

Fort Orange, the— of July, 1655.

On the 23d day of July, 1655, I, Johan de Deckere, in the character of clerk and officer, at the request of Marcellis Janse, collector, assisted by our constable, betook myself to the house of Jacob Adriaensen Soogemackelyek,¹ and requested him to please let the collector make a proper guaging of the wine and beer he had in possession. Whereupon the aforesaid Soogemackelyek gave me as an answer, that he could not serve two masters, and also that it was forbidden him. Since nothing else can be done at this time, I, Johan de Deckere, have made the following protest. As you, Pr. Adriaensen Soogemackelyek, will not permit us to guage the wine and beer in your cellar * * * * * [wanting] in the name and behalf of the honorable the director general and high council in New Netherland, for all the expense, damage and interest which the honorable company and the collector have been put to and suffered through your refusal, and by your perseverance therein shall cause them to suffer, that upon your person and those who may have ordered the same, such a punishment may be rendered as shall be proper. And in the act of making this protest, there appeared the person of Jan Baptist Van Rensselaer, accompanied by his brother and Brant Van Slechtenhorst,² who having been informed of the reasons of my coming there, said that I did not appear there with proper qualifications, demanded the same of me, and declared that unless the same were shown he would not permit the guaging, on the other hand, if the same were shown, the guaging should immediately be allowed; also that it was not according to forms of law, or the custom of soldiers, without previously notifying the person, as if boarding a vessel; that before they were brought to the knowledge thereof, they might have armed themselves against the same. So, in like manner, on this occasion, I have protested against the same as before.

¹ From the manner in which the names of Jacob and Pieter Adriaensen Soogemackelyek are associated in this protest, it would seem that they were in partnership.

² For an account of Brant Van Slechtenhorst, director of Rensselaerswyck, see O'Callaghan's History of New Netherland, ii, p. 69.

As before, by request, I betook myself to the house of Maria Goosense [Van Schaick], and made the aforementioned demand of her; she made the same kind of answer as Soogemackelyck did before. Accordingly I protested against her as before. * * * * [Wanting] at the house of Aricn Appel, and to him made the same demand. He gave for an answer, that he dare not take it upon him. Therefore I protested against him also as before.

Done on the 23d July.

J. DE DECKERE, 1655.

Marcelys Janse.

Worshipful, valiant and most noble Heer general, and right honorable sirs of the council, etc. My lords:

Herewith is sent a copy of a placard, which was referred to in a former letter, but omitted; there goes also with this a copy of certain questions and answers, and the protest made thereto; from which the condition of things may easily be judged and considered, and that without your honors, nothing more can be done by us for the maintenance of order. Therefore we shall await, in respect to this matter, for advice or the pleasure of your arrival. In the meantime, Heer general and right honorable sirs, may Almighty God grant his favor and blessing upon your honors' government.

We remain your honors' humble servants.

* * * * [Wanting]. Most noble Heer general and right honorable sirs of the council of New Netherland. My lords:

With the expiration of the service of commissaries Jan Verbeeck and Jan Tomasse [Mingael], according to old custom and use, we think it proper to propose to your honors herewith, a double number of persons, to wit: Rut Jacobsen, Andries Herbertsen, Dirk Janse Croon, and Dirk Telyer (?). We request, that you will please out of the said proposed number, or otherwise out of the body of the burgesses, two such persons to elect in place of the aforementioned, according to your honors accustomed wisdom, for the service of the aforesaid office of commissaries, as you shall judge fit and capable. Heer general, we cannot neglect this opportunity to congratulate your honor on your safe and happy voyage and arrival; we protest that the report and tidings of them were very pleasant for us to hear; it gave us occasion to thank Almighty God therefor, and to pray, that He would please more and more be present by His grace in your honors' government, and bless your honors' weighty affairs.

Your honors' willing and trusty servants of the court of Fort Orange and Beverwyck.

30th of July, 1655.

* * * * [Wanting] nevertheless afterwards being in discourse with Dominic Schaets, and from him understanding that the poor's purse was richly garnished, I particularly requested him in your honors' name, for the remission of some alms, with the recommendation that the church consistory should propose the same, it being a point that the power only depends on them, wherein he was wholly agreed, and consented that it was in the highest degree proper that to the poor without distinction, the helping hand should be stretched out; accepting his authority to be used therein with the consistory, and having delivered over to him an extract out of the letter relating to this point, it was allowed by the consistory, and a sum of 200 guilders was sent to the deacons of the city of New Amsterdam. The last matter to dispatch, about the disobedient tapsters, is the most scandalous; some being willing rather to fight to the last drop of blood, and others * * * that those persons should be sent away. In the mean while with this explanation (since winter is upon us), we shall wait till the next year. Mons. Rensselaer desires to send a pleasant greeting; he has as yet threshed no corn, on the contrary appears not inclined to do so. Thomas Chambers,¹ alias Clabbort (so it was reported), has indeed several hundred schepels of wheat; but on account of his absence at the Esopus he cannot be spoken to. Wherefore, on his return, the business can be arranged, and a vessel dispatched also. Your worship may look for the grain ordered, or at least a part of it. In place of the 4000 ordered not more than 2050 pantiles were sent, there being no more at present to be had; these were all sold to a third person, who not being able to get them off, threw up the purchase. The matters intrusted to Sander Leendertse [Glen] should have been dispatched by this time, except that in respect to the contemplated blockhouse of necessity to be set up and used, those of the respective courts ordered that it should be delivered again by Sander Leendertse to your honor next spring (God willing), or a contract and agreement be made with him on account thereof. Yesterday the gesondeur, Mr. Oldaten (?), arrived. I wish your honor had given order for more provisions, indeed I see not, who will help us to meat (for all have been called upon), and from what magazine to draw rations for them; and though I well remember that your honor has given recommendation in this respect to the magistrates, and letters have been received by them, and excellent promises made; nevertheless I also observe that they make a mere show of favorable inclination, and a superficial acceptance of short duration; and at once the major part as soon as your honor is lost sight of, will artfully get rid of their * * * and thrust the weight upon my neck (who have no remedy therefor or any means in hand); howbeit it is just what commonly happens with such shabby commissaries, having been too long in the world, your honor, not to have experienced the proof thereof at some time; nevertheless I shall do whatever is granted me within my short reach, and whatever shall fall within my capacity. There came here about 300 Mohawks, proposing (ut aiunt) to go to fight against the French Indians, in the meantime a vessel (?) has set sail and the watch is doubled. What conversation was had with them to-day, your honor can perceive from the annexed document. * * * [Wanting] the magistrate must allow (although contra mandatam), and thought highly needful to make a demand on the farmer of the excise for one or two hundred guilders, to be used for the purchase of wood and lights for the use of the watch, together with some food for the soldiers as necessity shall demand. The aforesaid Clabbort² is here also to-day; on his arrival, I spoke to him and asked for the said wheat; C. said, however, he did not believe he had it to spare. I see no chance elsewhere for doing anything. Herewith, worshipful sir, I commend myself to your honor's favor and yourself to that of Almighty God. To conclude, I am sir, etc.

Done 19th of November, 1655.

Propositions made by certain sachems (sachimaes) of the Mohawks before the clerk and those of the respective courts of Fort Orange and the colony of Rensselaerswyck, together with some burghers on the 19th of November, 1655.

Present.—J. De Decker, Rutger Jacobsen, Andries Herpertsen, Volckert Janse (Douwe), J. Bp^t Van Rensselaer, A. Van Curler, J. Van Twiller, J. Hap [or Stoll], H. Jochemse, Philip Pr^{es} [Schuyler], etc.

The first proposition was a remembrance of the late affairs, and a renewal of harmony and peace, including the French nation, together with the river Indians at the Esopus. Also they said they should go to war with the French Indians, and suspected the French of being opposed to their treaty, and their promises of being mingled with many lies; hence their request was, that we would keep ourselves quiet and show neutrality. Thereupon they laid down a belt of seawant. The second and third proposals were in form of a complaint, that we did not entertain them in such a manner as they entertained us when visiting their land. * *

* * [Wanting] that we did not provide the least thing for and mend their guns or other things, except they were asked payment and seawant therefor; with other trifles of the like kind: they held that it was not altogether brotherly. Hereupon they gave two bundles or belts of seawant.

Answer to the aforesaid propositions.

To the first that we were inclined as yet and at all times to maintain with their chiefs a renewal of peace, faithfully and without breach, that we could do nothing having an opposite appearance, and recommended that they on their side should remain faithful, suggesting that with their fights and wars we should not meddle or concern ourselves as being external to, and not concerning us. Hereupon were given them fifteen bars of lead. On the second complaint that we did not entertain and satisfy them as fully as they did us [we answered], that if one two, or three of them came as we did they should be properly lodged and accommodated, but that justice and law provided in this respect that none should be compelled to do so, since every person being free, must earn his own maintenance, and that no one was holden to be another's servant for nothing, that such being the custom among us, no more complaints were to be made about it, as our other brothers did. Whereupon there was laid down and presented to them 25 pounds of gunpowder: all of which with their customary barbarian applause they received and accepted.

Done ut supra.

J. DE DECKER, 1655.

Most noble, worshipful, valiant and right honorable Heer general:

Since my last intelligence delivered orally by Andries Herpertsen, touching the offenses of the tapsters, to me recommended and given in charge, that your honor [it being your purpose to come hither] should think it unless to begin the execution of my order and commission; the written countermand thereof has been received, causing me to doubt and stand in suspense till such time as your honor, in answer to this, shall have further declared his meaning and wishes. In the meantime inasmuch as your honor's written order continues in existence, I request more enlarged commissions, or at least instructions how to conduct myself in case of certain opposition, resistance, or affront which I suspect will happen. Provided your honor will appear with the first open water, you shall not for the present be troubled with any particular complaints, but they shall be postponed till then. I am teased by divers other [persons] and lately have been spoken to and petitioned by the wife of Dyckman, for some aid in her distress, for the settling with certain traders for provisions; I protest that I have no opportunity or means at hand from which to help her. But if your honor forbids any money to be levied from the farmer of the excise, we ourselves shall suffer from the like destitution. Your honor will first make known the same, and give an order to levy fifty, sixty or an hundred guilders out of the farmer's money, for this purpose, or inform me what is to be done. I desire also, that an authentic copy of the instructions for the subaltern bench of justice be made and sent to me.

Herewith most noble, etc., Heer general, kissing your hand, I remain your worship's humble servant.

10th January, 1656.

Worshipful, noble, valiant, wise and right honorable Heer general and right honorable sirs of the council:

All are here, God be praised, also the thirty Dutchmen, who, as rumor had it at Manhatans, were slaughtered, still live, and the report of the same post or messenger, of the infraction of the peace and the commencement of war between the two nations, is false. Heer general and right honorable council, as nothing material has occurred just now, I shall make no further complaints, especially as your worship proposes to arrive by the first open water. Only all are very desirous to understand the condition of things there, the news about which, by the bearer, we shall anxiously await. In the meantime we wish your worship and the right honorable council, a happy and more prosperous new year. We hope on the one hand that with the old year shall cease all sad rumors, adversities and calamities, and on the other hand that with the new year the rod of God's wrath shall also be cast into the fire, and at once with general tranquillity, prosperity and wealth be renewed. To this end we supplicate the Court of Heaven, that the divine Majesty will please to preside as well in the assemblies of the burgomasters, as of your worship and right honorable council, and that He will inspire the spirit of prudence, wisdom and manly valor, and also bless their designs and expeditions with desired prosperity (?) to the glory especially of His holy name, and the welfare of this province and the inhabitants of the same. Herewith Heer general and honorable sirs, we remain your worship's faithful servants of the court of Fort Orange and Beverwyck.

16 January, 1656.

Worshipful, valiant and honorable Heer General and right honorable sirs of the council :

On the ninth of September last, your honors' letters with the accompanying placard came to hand, which, having examined, it was thought proper to publish two of them, viz : those for the combination of separate dwellings, and the farming out of the duties on peltries, the third relating to the duties, or payment of the twentieth penny on slaughtered animals, hogs, etc., we have for pregnant reasons withheld, judging it to be unreasonable to publish the same, it being apparent at this conjuncture of time, and on the occasion of excessive expense which the community has incurred or shall hereafter incur by reason of the building of the fort, blockhouse and other works connected with the same, together with the ransoming of prisoners; that nothing less than murmurs, opposition, and resistance would arise; which we trust will be considered and examined by your honors with due deliberation. For the purpose of meeting the aforesaid expense, we convened the community, causing them to stand within, one by one, and inciting them to a free contribution, which ended to our reasonable contentment; upon the unwilling we imposed a certain tax. We have built a blockhouse according to resolution, ... feet square, and about a man's stature in height; receiving a communication from four qualified supervisors (gemeensmannen) that they desired to have it pulled down, and in place of it, contracted for a house with entablatures (gebinten), the size of which and the reasons for it, the bearers of this, Sander Leendertse [Glen], and Dirck Janse Croon, our assistants and fellow commissaries, will inform your honors and what is pertinent thereto; further recital is therefore unnecessary. Wherefore we are necessitated and forced to find some new source of taxation; though to make the best of it, together with the first [tax] it cannot reach farther than a bare subsistence: we would petition your honors therefore, to solicit and dispose the inhabitants of the city of New Amsterdam to a liberal contribution for the building of a church began here by us, and truly will they less doubt and mistrust this, inasmuch as on the like and other occasions, and especially in regard to the church there, we and our citizens gave and contributed according to our ability. From your communication can easily be perceived the uncertainty of your worship's coming up, which we earnestly request, and esteem the presence of your honor's person and the influence of greater authority highly needful, and especially is it demanded for the introduction of new imposts, and chiefly in reference to opposing factions whose shoulders are unaccustomed to such burdens. Herewith goes a copy of a certain placard against the congregation of certain persons of the Lutheran sect, published and executed by us against the transgressors and disobedient; we will await your earliest approbation, and otherwise request your honors' wise advice, how we must conduct ourselves on such an occasion.

Herewith, Heer general and right honorable sirs, we pray God to prosper and bless your honors' government, and remain your honors' trusty and faithful court of Fort Orange and Beverwyck.

Done at Fort Orange, 10th of March, 1656.

Worshipful, valiant and honorable Heer general, and right honorable sirs of the council:

The time having come again, that three of the existing commissaries, S. Leendertse [Glen], Frans Barentse Pastoor, and Volckert Janse [Douwe], according to custom, ought to be dismissed from their office, so, likewise, in accordance with the same custom, we desire to nominate and propose to your honors, a double number, viz: Abram Staets, Jacob Janse Schermerhoorn, Goosen Gerritse [Van Schaick], Philip Prse. Schuyler, Cornelis Teunise Bos, and Evert Wendel, to the end that your honors will choose from the same, two others as ordinary, and one as extraordinary commissaries, as may be esteemed fittest according to your usual wise discretion and judgment. We are much surprised, that no answer to our last letter, at least none on the subject of our expected collection there, has been received by us, indicating good success for it; in respect to the contracting for the Blockhouse church, and the excessive expenses for the same, * * * * our expectation and hope in the commencement having been very greatly set thereon, in case of a failure of the same, we should be very much confounded and distressed; even if everything should turn out for the best, it would be very difficult to collect the remainder from the church here. Will your honors please to recollect the next article of our instructions; and if ever orders ought to be carried into effect, these certainly, on this occasion, would bring forth good results, and be accomplished in the right time. Your honors cannot be ignorant of the fact, that the consumption of wine and beer here ought immediately to be farmed out, without any communication respecting the same having hitherto been received; in consequence of this we are uncertain how to regulate ourselves. It is true that the clerk, Johan de Deckere, by a special mandate, given to him by the Heer general, has reported to us that the payment of the excise should not be suspended, but continued according to the order of the collector thereon; likewise that no new farming out of the excise was to be made before the arrival of the Heer general or committee, with a recommendation, besides, to the collector, to keep a record of the wine and beer, consumed both in the colony, and in our jurisdiction; to which, your honors, we would object, that it is uncertain whether the collector will accept of, or acquiesce in, the aforesaid continuation; and, if he would, it must be done on the foregoing conditions and extension, which has not been done by him hitherto, and would require no little knowledge and exertion to carry out. Moreover, about three hundred guilders, not to be retained, have been paid by him on the promised excise money to relieve him from the promised conditions (?). * * At present, and before the close of the term [of the excise], it is impossible for any more money to be paid (so he says), arising from a registering of the beer, etc., consumed by the three public tapsters, Soogemackelyck, Marg. Goosens [Van Schaick], and Arien Jans Van Leyden, but is more reduced than the remainder of the excise money would amount to, wherefore, according to what he says, no money should come into his hands, so that the aforesaid continuation in the future, would cause and bring forth nothing, but a mere pretense. If, on the contrary, the collector shall decline or refuse the aforesaid registry, and further, if the honorable clerk, De Deckere, be impracticable, then your honors' orders, highly necessary in respect to that, or what is much better, your worship's immediate arrival in person, will be waited for and expected. Herewith, etc., your honors' obedient and faithful servants of the court of Fort Orange and Beverwyck.

Sent the 8th of April, 1656.

Noble, worshipful, valiant, wise, and right honorable sirs. Gentlemen :

In accordance with your honors' order to apprehend and positively to send away the public tapsters, P^r Ariensen, alias Soogemackelyek, and Arien Janse Van Leyden, the business was so directed by me, that the aforesaid P^r Ariensen had notice to come to my house, and, of course, was detained; I guarded him with some soldiers till evening, when Jan Baptist Van Rensselaer, with the schout of the colony, appeared before me, requesting that the prisoner might be set free, on representation that he, Rensselaer, was ready to interpose and answer for him; which by me, being declined, I was asked if he (the intervenient) was not considered sufficient; my answer was that his sufficiency or insufficiency was not disputed, but that my order was simply to send the prisoner away, and that if he wished to answer for him, he could do so; finally he requested ilico et stante pede a copy of my order and commission, but this was denied him; whereupon threatening (?) me with divers mischiefs, etc., he delivered a protest and therewith departed. This day being Wednesday, I sent the sloop (jacht) to the other side of the river, and, with Rutger Jacobsen, having examined the boards, I was with the sloop's boat, for some tools for the vessel and for my own service, having likewise two soldiers to keep up a constant watch; rowed to the fort again to catch in the trap the rat who had as yet not been taken; in the meantime, let the men on sloop busy themselves loading the boards; the plan, hitherto so successful, was, by the disobedience and carelessness of those boobies, the boatmen and soldiers, to my extreme distress and vexation, shamefully spoiled. Firstly.—By the boatmen, who came to me in the evening insisting on the boat, saying that it was necessary for getting in the rest of the boards in a proper manner at night, so I, crediting them, yielded, with the express and reiterated order nevertheless, that the boat, before the next morning, at least by day break, should be brought to the fort, my intention being to carry the prisoner then, immediately, to the sloop; in the meantime, that he might be well watched and securely kept, I made him sleep in my bed and by my side; but inquiring in the morning, I could hear of neither boat nor boatmen, without which I could not get to the sloop unless some other vessel was at hand. Owing to the carelessness of the three soldiers and my nigger, to whom the keeping and watch were intrusted, he was suffered in their presence to run away. I was made aware of his escape, and speedily was at the heels of the fugitive, and it would not have been in vain, except that he retired and took refuge in the house of the aforesaid Rensselaer: nevertheless, I addressed him there, and admonished him to go back with me, otherwise it would go hard with him; yet he refused, but said if I took the other tapsters, then he would willingly go with me; on the other hand, came Johannes Van Twiller, also (Rensselaer not being at home, but with some of his companions last night at the house of Arian Janse [Van Leyden] had watched with their guns and awaited my coming there), and asked what I wanted there; my answer was, that I wished to bring the prisoner away from there; he replied, that that should by no means be; being alone and having no help nor soldiers there present, and not seeing how I could conveniently succeed, I returned again to my house. I judge it to be in the highest degree absurd, that there should be an asylum in the midst of our jurisdiction for fugitives, and a free place for other abuses and usurpations, as have now lately existed in regard to De Hulter's widow, who, whilst dwelling in our fort, would hold a public sale of some wood without consulting me therein, and regardless of my rights with respect to the payment of the auction fees, whereupon a registry and interdict being made to her, to hold no public sale in our jurisdiction without consulting me, or having paid my just dues, yet said widow, notwithstanding, held the aforesaid sale, without consulting me, in the church, or at the house of the aforesaid Rensselaer, which and other impertinences and violences will the more exist in the future, not so much through the impulse of the people themselves, as indeed through the inducements and persuasions of certain bullies and boasters who have the management of the colony [of Rensselaerswyck], unless a fitting and timely order be made therefor by your honors, according to your wise discretion. I should have repaired to the house of Arien Janse Van Leyden to-day, with proper assistance, except that the aforesaid Rensselaer (such hypocrisy is indeed suspicious) came to my house yesterday evening, saying that if I would keep quiet, he would be answerable for the aforesaid persons, and, with the first sloop to Manhatans, would go thither; considering that there was not much danger in this, and moreover that some of them had escaped, I acquiesced in the proposal, leaving the disputes with the other people to your honor. The bellweathers being there, your honor understands that the public tapsters and others, who have not been as yet taken, must appear there also. Be pleased to send up more soldiers, and among them one or two who are not nice about taking hold of a man, that the people may be intimidated by numbers, and all bloodshed and mischief may be prevented. I have spoken to Dyckman's wife, and requested to have her husband sent to Manhatans, to go to Holland on the war ship, which she could hardly make up her mind to, inclining to speak about the matter herself with your honor, perceiving which, I advised her that the sooner she does it the better, and to take her husband with her, where she will learn the time thereof [departure]. In the meantime having commended your honor to the protection and defense of the Almighty, with my respects, I conclude, as your honor's humble servant.

Sent the 26 of May, 1656.

In accordance with the command and order, of date 13th of May last, to me, the subscriber, given and granted, by the director general. Petrus Stuyvesant, to apprehend, and securely to send away, the persons of Pieter Adriaensen, alias Soogemackelyck, and Arien Janse Van Leyden, both tapsters, I, Johan De Deckere, clerk at Fort Orange, on the 24th following, brought the person of said Soogemackelyck to my house and detained him there; through the carelessness of certain soldiers, to whose keeping he was intrusted, he escaped the following day and fled: in the meantime, watching for an opportunity to apprehend in like manner the aforesaid Arien Janse, this evening Mr. Jan Baptist Van Rensselaer came to my house and put the question, whether I would keep quiet and not send away said tapsters, if so, he promised, in such case, personally to repair to Manhatans, by the first sloop, declaring that the aforesaid persons were guiltless, as it was through his persuasion, and moreover that he would be answerable for them, which was acquiesced in by me for the following reasons: First.—Because the aforesaid Soogemackelyek, having fled, would perhaps remain away for some time. Second.—From fear of shedding blood; because, as was reported, the aforesaid Rensselaer, with some of his colleagues, passing the night watching at the house of said Arien Janse, waited and watched for my coming there, from which it is easy to see what might follow. And Lastly.—In consequence of the aforesaid free proposal, considering that the commotion, whilst they were in durance, the outworkings also of their desires, would indeed be put to rest and subjection. Notwithstanding this, on the 29th of this month, having received a certain letter from the said director general, of the date 23d of May, past, containing a renewal of my aforesaid order to send away also besides the aforesaid two persons, Marg. Goossens [Van Schaick]; so I, Johan De Deckere aforesaid, in conformity to the aforesaid reiterated order and commission, followed by three soldiers and the afternamed witnesses, found myself before the house of Marg. Goossens, but the door not being opened, from thence, I repaired to the houses of Pieter Ariensen and Arien Janse Van Leyden, and there finding the aforesaid Rensselaer with his colleagues, together with the schout and secretary of the colony [of Rensselaerswyck], and in the presence of them all, in the name and behalf of the director general and council of New Netherland, I warned, admonished and commanded the aforesaid tapsters, immediately, to go with me, and commit themselves into my hands and keeping; whereupon they separately answered as before, "There sits my lord," pointing to the aforesaid Rensselaer, "who will answer for me;" and said Rensselaer, in like manner acquiesced in the same, not suffering the tapsters to go with me. Whereupon, I, the clerk aforesaid, as well against the aforesaid Rensselaer and colleagues, as against said tapsters, respectively, in the name, etc., as before, protested in respect to all costs, damage and interests, which the honorable [W. I.] company, through their opposition, disobedience and non-compliance with the excise, have suffered, and may hereafter suffer, to be reclaimed and recovered, as shall be found reasonable.

Done and protested on the 31st day of May, 1656, in presence of Rutger Jacobsen, Andries Herpertsen, and Jacob Schermerhooren, as witnesses hereto invited.

J. DE DECKERE, 1656.

According to the order and mandates of the director general and council of New Netherland, of date 28th of June, 1656, to Mr. Rensselaer and those of the court of the colony [of Rensselaerswyck], to request that the placard, respecting the tenths, may be published in the colony, I, Johan De Deckere, chief clerk at Fort Orange, repaired with the afternamed witnesses, to the session and meeting of the court aforesaid, and said order introduced in the name, etc., as before, and requested, that they would please cause said placard to be published among them, as was done by us; whereupon Mr. Rensselaer answered: "We are not obligated, we and mine cannot grant it."

Thus done, introduced and answer received on the 6th of July, 1656, in presence of Rutger Jacobsen, and Dirk Janse Croon, as witnesses to this invited.

5th May. Mattheus Janse has complained to me of Jacobus Teunise [de Looper], who, without cause, struck him at the house of Georgiaen Glasemacker, in presence of said Juriaen, Jacob Van Luider, Gurgiaen de Cupper, Arnoud, and others.

Conditions according to which Hendrick Jochemse is minded to sell at public sale to the highest bidder, his house and lot, lying on Fort Orange, or to the north of the same, in which dwells Joannes Dyckman, who has hired the said house and lot till the first of May, A. D. 1660, for the sum of one hundred and forty guilders, the full rent of which from the first of May, 1659, till the first of May, 1660, the buyer shall receive. First.—The aforesaid house shall be delivered to the buyer, also the lot as it lies inclosed in fence with all that is earth and nailed fast, from this 16th day of July. Payment shall be made in two installments; the first, on the first day of September, 1659, half in good merchantable beavers, and the other half in good current seewant; and the second installment, on the first of August, A. D. 1660, in the aforesaid currency. The buyer shall be holden to furnish two sufficient securities, each for the whole, immediately, to the content of the seller, and if the buyer cannot furnish said sureties in said time, then it shall be offered for sale again at his expense and cost, and what less it comes to be worth, he shall be holden to make good, and whatever more it comes to be worth, he shall enjoy no profit therefrom. The auction fees become a charge to the buyer. After many offers Cornelis Cornelise Sterrevelt remained the last bidder for the sum of five hundred and seven guilders, and offered as sureties and principals Cornelis Teunise Bosch, and Cornelis Teunise Van Slyck, for the payment of the aforesaid sum, for which they bind their persons and estates, real and personal, present and future, submitting the same to all laws and judges.

Done in the village of Beverwyck, on the 16th of July, 1659.

Conditions on which the Heer clerk and the Messrs. commissaries of Fort Orange and Village of Beverwyck desire to farm out to the highest bidder the slaughter excise for the time of one year. The farming of the said slaughter excise shall begin on the first of October, of the year 1659, and end on the last day of September, A. D. 1660. The farmer shall receive for the slaughtered beasts (for every one, except those of the Minister and Heer Renselaer), whether ox, cow, calf, bull, hog, goat and sheep, for every guilder, of the value of the same, one stuiver, in case of any dispute to be valued by impartial persons. The farmer becomes holden to furnish two sufficient sureties to the content of the Messieurs contractors for the excise Money, a just fourth part of the same to be paid every quarter year in good current seewant, and if the farmer can not furnish sufficient sureties, it shall be offered again at his cost and expense, and whatever less it comes to be worth, he shall be holden to make good, and whatever more it comes to be worth shall afford no profit to him. After offering the slaughter excise for sale on the above conditions, it was stopped at six hundred and forty guilders; the Messieurs contractors coming together again came to an agreement respecting it with Marcellis Janse [Van Bommel], who, by private contract, has accepted said excise from the Messieurs contractors, according to the aforesaid conditions for the sum of seven hundred guilders and for the payment of said sum offered Rutger Jacobsen and Henderick Anderiesen [Van Doesburgh] as sureties and principals to the content of the Messieurs contractors, on a pledge of

In the name of the Lord Amen, be it known by the contents of this present instrument, that in the year of our Lord Jesus Christ, sixteen hundred and sixty-two, on the 23d day of September, appeared before me Johannes La Montagne in the service of, etc., Jacob Gevick, born at Mecklenburgh, of the one part, and Geertruy Barents Van Dwingelo, widow of the late Henderick Henderickse Van Harstenhorst, of the other part, who declare in the presence of the afternamed witnesses, that for God's honor they have contracted a future marriage; and before the same is consummated, have consented to the following conditions:—

First. The aforesaid betrothed persons [echtelyden] for the maintenance of this marriage shall bring together all their present estates and effects of whatever nature, in whatever places and with whatever persons the same may be, nothing excepted of what they each at present possess and are entitled to, to be possessed jointly according to the law of our Fatherland; except that out of the bride's estate, to wit, of that left [by her late husband], the half shall be reserved for the remaining children of the late Henderick Henderickse Van Harstenhorst, the one named Lysbet Henderickse, aged about six years, and the other Judick Henderickse, aged three years, which by the consent of the bride is charged by the orphan masters and the said witnesses, with a hundred good whole merchantable beaver skins, at eight guilders a piece; further in case the bridegroom comes to die before the bride without children by them, the bride shall remain in full possession of all the estate, as the sole heir of the same, and on the other hand should the bride decease before the bridegroom also without children by them, the bridegroom shall be bound to reserve for her children the half of the estate remaining to be paid to the same over and above the hundred beavers before mentioned, on which account he shall remain in possession of the whole estate; provided also that after the decease of the above mentioned bride, there shall come to the aforesaid children as their inheritance all their mother's clothing, also gold rings and silver ware, which belong to her; item that the aforesaid betrothed persons shall bring up in the fear of the Lord and maintain in food and clothes the aforesaid children to their majority and married state, without diminishing their patrimonial and assigned estate; which marriage contract said bridegroom and bride promise to maintain without craft or guile, on pledge of their persons and estates, real and personal, present and future, nothing excepted, putting themselves in subjection to all laws and judges.

Thus done in the presence of the honorable Frans Barentse Pastoor and Anderies De Vos, as witnesses hereto called, on the date as above, in Beverwyck.

Conditions on which the clerk and commissaries of Fort Orange and Village of Beverwyck propose to farm out to the highest bidder, at public sale, the slaughter excise for the time of one year. The farming of the aforesaid slaughter excise shall begin on the first of October of this year, and end on the last of September, A. D. 1663. The farmer shall receive for the slaughtered beasts whether ox, cow, calf, bull, hog, goat or sheep, for every guilder of the worth of the same one stuiver, to wit: for what is bought in beavers he shall give twenty stuivers in seewant per beaver, and in case of dispute an impartial appraisal is to be made. The farmer is to be holden to furnish two sufficient sureties for the excise money, to the content of those who farm out the excise. Every quarter year a just fourth part of the excise is to be paid in good current seewant, and if the farmer cannot furnish sufficient sureties, it shall be offered for sale again at his cost and charge, and whatever less it happens to be worth, he shall be holden to make good, and whatever more it becomes worth shall afford him no profit. After offering for sale the above excise, the Messieurs contractors stopped at seven hundred and fifty guilders; then appeared before them Jan Gerritsen Van Marcken, who accepted the aforesaid farming [pacht], and offered himself as farmer, for the sum of seven hundred and eighty guilders, according to the aforesaid conditions, and promises, because of his being released from furnishing sureties, to pay the half of the promise money within fourteen days or three weeks, for which he pledges his person and estates, real and personal, present and future, nothing excepted, putting himself in subjection to all laws and judges.

Conditions on which the Messieurs clerk and commissaries propose, in the name and for the sake of the Heer director general and council of New Netherland, to farm out to the highest bidder, the excise of all wines, beers and spirits (gebrande wateren), to be drawn and consumed by the innkeepers, tapsters and retailers (uytventers), in and about Fort Orange, village of Beverwyck and colony of Rensselaerswyck. The farming out as well as the collecting of the excise shall be done according to the laudable customs of our Fatherland, and the published ordinances and placards of their High Mightinesses the States General promulgated with regard to the finances. The farming shall begin on the first of November [1662], and end on the last of October, 1663, being the time of twelve months, during which time the farmer may collect and receive for all wines, beers and spirits to be drawn or consumed by the tapsters and innkeepers, in or about Fort Orange and village of Beverwyck, as follows:

for a ton of domestic brewed beer,.....	f	4.00
for a ton of foreign beer,.....	f	6.00
for a hogshead of French wine,.....	f	20.00
for an anker of ditto,.....	f	4.00
for an anker of Spanish wine, brandy or spirits,.....	f	7.00
for an anker of cider,.....	f	2.00

greater or less casks after the same rate, and that in beavers or else in sewant at twelve white or six black ones to the stuiver at the choice of the payer. The farmer is holden to furnish sufficient sureties to the content of the Messieurs contractors for the excise money, to be paid every three months in beavers or in sewant at twelve white or six black to the stuiver, a just fourth part of the promised excise money. To provide against cavils, misunderstandings and frauds, it is stipulated that after the expiration of the farming, and when the new farming is again made, the new farmer shall be free on the day of the new farming, or on the following day, at least within the time of three days after the farming, in the presence of the late farmer, if he wishes to be present, to make a gauging of the remaining wines, beers and spirits, held by the tapsters and innkeepers, and return two-thirds of the receipts, or excise due the old or preceeding farmer to his successor or the old [new?] farmer. The Messieurs contractors (verpachters) reserve to themselves the interpretation and enlargement of this paper, and promise the farmer all proper aid and assistance. For the above farming, Jan Gerritse Van Mareken remained the last bidder for the sum of four thousand guilders, according to the above conditions, for the payment of which Jurriaen Teunissen [Glasemaker] and Jochem Wesselse [Backer] stood as sureties and principals, and as such, they bind their respective persons and estates, real and personal, present and future, nothing excepted, subjecting themselves to the authority of all laws and judges.

Conditions on which the heirs of Annetien Bogardus, deceased, propose to sell at public sale, to the highest bidder, her house and lot, lying in the village of Beverwyck on the hill.—First. The buyer shall receive, on the first payment, the aforesaid house with an alley (uytlaet) on the east side, and a hen yard on the place with the lot, length to the west with the house five rods nine feet, and to the east five rods eight and a half feet, breadth to the north two rods eight and a half feet, and to the south two rods seven feet, with all that is fast by earth and nailed, except the little shed (afidackjen) that stands on the west (east?) side of the house, and to the east the little Indian house, and which remains with said little Indian house to the behoof of Jonas¹ and Pieter¹ Bogardus. *

* * * *

[This paper is incomplete and unexecuted].

Appeared before me Johannes Provoost, clerk, etc., the heirs of the late Annetien Bogardus of the one side, and Dirk Wesselse [Ten Broeck] of the other side, who declare in presence of the afternamed witnesses, that in friendship and amity, they have agreed and contracted with each other that the aforesaid heirs (being the surviving children of said Annetien Bogardus, deceased), have sold to said Dirk Wesselse, as by these presents they do, their late mother's house and lot, lying in the village of Beverwyck, adjoining to the east Jonas and Pieter Bogardus, and to the west Evert Janse Wendels, the same lot which she occupied to the day of her death; length to the west with the house five rods nine feet, and to the east five rods and eight and a half feet, breadth to the north two rods eight and a half feet, and to the south two rods seven feet, together with a shed (afidack) to the east side of said house, that has been rented out three months to the date of this purchase, and the rent of which the buyer shall receive; for which house and lot the said Dirk Wesselse, as buyer, promises to pay the sum of one thousand guilders, payable in good whole merchantable beaver skins, at eight guilders a piece, in three installments: the first immediately, the second on the first of July, 1664, and the third or last on the first of July, 1665, each time a just third part of the whole sum; the buyer shall, with the first payment, receive the aforesaid house and lot, and in the meantime said house shall be occupied at his risk, also with the last payment the buyer shall receive a proper conveyance, all of which the parties aforesaid mutually promise to hold good and true, under pledge according to law.

Conditions on which the administrators of the estate of Anderies Herbertsen and Rut Jacobsen propose to sell at public sale, to the highest bidder, all the grain (kooren) that is sown and stands on their island

(lying obliquely opposite Betlehem). The aforesaid grain shall be delivered to the buyer, on the understanding, that the whole island is sowed with fifty-three schepels of winter grain, of which eight schepels is rye and all the remainder is wheat, which the buyer may harvest and gather into the barn and rick there standing; also the buyer shall be permitted to lodge two men in the house there (at the close of the harvest), with their luggage, to plough and sow the land again. The payment shall be made on the 15 January, A. D. 1664, in beavers or grain at beavers price, within which time the buyer shall be holden to remove and carry away said purchased grain whether it be threshed out or not. * * * * *

[This paper is imperfect and not signed].

Conditions on which the administrators of the estate of Anderies Herbertsen propose to sell to the highest bidder, at public sale, the half island that belongs to him and Rutger Jacobsen in company, except the grain, which at present stands upon it. Said half island shall be delivered to the buyer so soon as the grain at present standing upon it is hauled off, that it may be properly ploughed, in such right, title and ownership, as the said Anderies Herbertsen had therein, according to the tenor and contents of the patent by the Heer director general and council of New Netherland granted him. The buyer shall permit the purchasers of the grain at present standing there, at their convenience to stow away and keep their grain in the barn and rick, and to thresh it out according to their contract, by the 15th of January, A. D. 1664. The buyer shall be holden his promised purchase money to pay in good whole merchantable beavers or grain at beavers price, in two installments: the first on the first of July, A. D. 1664, and the second on the first of July, A. D. 1665. The buyer shall be holden to furnish two sufficient sureties, one for all and each as principals to the content of the seller, in the time of twenty-four hours. If the buyer cannot furnish said sureties in said time, then said half island shall be offered for sale again, at his cost and charge, and whatever less it comes to be worth, he shall be holden to make good, and whatever more it comes to be worth, he shall enjoy no profit therefrom. The auction fees become a charge to the buyer, payable as above. Volkert Janse [Douw] remained the last bidder, according to the aforementioned conditions, for the sum of six hundred and twenty guilders, for the payment of which Adriaen Gerritsen [Papendorp] and Jan Tomassen stood as sureties and principals, for which they pledged their persons and estates, real and personal, present and future, subjecting themselves to the authority of all laws and judges.

Appeared before me Johannes La Montagne, in the service of, etc., and in the presence of the Honorable Jan Tomassen and Jan Verbeeck commissaries etc., Willem Janssen Schut, who declares that he has granted and conveyed, as by these presents he does grant and convey in real and actual possession to and for the behoof of Cornelis Bogardus² his heirs and assigns, his house and lot lying in the village of Beverwyck, bounded on the westerly side by the house and lot of Anderies Herbetsen, present owner Jurriaen Janssen [Groenwout], on the northerly side by the highway, on the easterly side by Jacob Loockerman, and on the southerly side by the garden of said Jurriaen Janssen. (the lot is of such magnitude as it lies at present in fence according to the aforesaid boundaries); which said house stands on the lot bought, by the grantor, of said Anderies Herbetsen, being a part of the patent to said Herbetsen granted, by the Heer director general and Council of New Netherland of date the for which house and lot the grantor acknowledges that he is fully paid and satisfied with the sum of eighty good whole merchantable beaver skins, reckoned at eight guilders a piece, assigned as an offset for what he the grantor is indebted to Johannes Withart; therefore he promises to free the same from all actions, demands or pretensions, which may hereafter arise, pledging therefor his person and estate, personal and real, present and future, submitting himself to the authority of all laws and judges.

Done in Beverwyck the 11th of September, A.D. 1663.

WILLEM JANSEN S SCHUT.

As the above standing sum of eighty guilders, beaver skins, is nothing different (?) after a further settlement of outstanding [debts] between each other (that is between J. Withart and Willem Janssen Schut), so each one remains daer van in syn geheel.

Done the 11th of September A.D. 1663, in Beverwyck.

Conditions on which the Messieurs commies and commissaries of Fort Orange and village of Beverwyck propose to farm out, at public sale to the highest bidder, the slaughter excise for the time of one year. The farming of the said slaughter excise shall begin on the first of October of this year and end on the last of September, A. D. 1664. The farmer shall receive for the slaughtered beasts, whether ox, cow, calf, bull, hog, goat or sheep, one stuiver for every guilder of value of the same, to wit, for those bought for beavers shall be given twenty stuivers in seawant a beaver, in case of dispute to be valued by indifferent persons; the farmer is holden to furnish two sufficient sureties to the content of the Messieurs contractors, for the excise money; the just half of the promised excise money to be paid within the time of six weeks; the other half within the two last quarters, each quarter a fourth part of the whole sum, in good current seawant; if the farmer can not furnish sufficient sureties, it shall be offered for sale again at his cost and charge, and whatever less it comes to be worth, he shall be holden to make good, and whatever more it comes to be worth he shall receive no profit therefrom.

On the above conditions Henderick Rooseboom remained the last bidder and farmer, for the sum of seven hundred and ninety guilders; for the payment of which aforesaid sum, Philip Pieterse Schuyler and Wouter Albertse [Vanden Uythoff] offered themselves as sureties and principals under pledge of their persons and estates, personal and real, present and future, nothing excepted, placing themselves in subjection to all laws and judges.

Conditions on which the Honorable Sander Leendersen Glen proposes to sell, at public sale to the highest bidder, his house and lot lying in the village of Beverwyck, on the hill, adjoining on the east side Wouter Albertsen [Van den Uythoff], and on the west side Jan Tomassen. Said house and lot shall be delivered to the buyer as it stands and lies in fence, with all that is earth and nail fast, and with the last payment a proper conveyance thereof shall be delivered to him. Payment shall be made in two installments, the first on the first of June, A. D. 1664, and the second on the first of June, A. D. 1665, in good whole merchantable beaver skins. The buyer shall be holden to furnish two sufficient sureties immediately, one for each and all, as principals, to the content of the seller. If the buyer can not furnish said sureties in the time aforesaid, said house and lot shall be offered for sale again at his cost and charge, and whatever less it comes to be worth, he shall be holden to make good, and whatever more it becomes worth, he shall receive no benefit therefrom. The auction fees become a charge to the buyer. On the above conditions, Jan Clute remained the last bidder, for the sum of six hundred and thirty guilders, for the payment of which, Jacob Tyssen Vander Heyden and Barent Reynldersen offered themselves as sureties and principals, on a pledge of their persons and estates, personal and real, placing themselves in subjection to all laws and judges.

Conditions on which the Messieurs Commies and commissaries of Fort Orange and Beverwyck, propose, in the name and for the sake of the Heer director general and council of New Netherland, to farm out to the highest bidder the excise of all wines, beers, and spirits (gebrande wateren;) to be consumed and drawn by the innkeepers, tapsters, and retailers, in and about Fort Orange, village of Beverwyck and Colony Rensselaerswyck. The farming out (verpachtinge) as well as the farming (pachtinge) is done in accordance with the praiseworthy custom of our fatherland and the printed ordinances and placards of their high mightinesses the Heeren States General issued on the subject of the finances. The farming shall commence on the first of November [1663], and end on the last of October, A.D. 1664, being the time of 12 months, during which time the farmer may demand and receive for all wines, beers, or spirits to be consumed or drawn by the tapsters and innkeepers, in or about Fort Orange, and village of Beverwyck, as follows :

for a tun of domestic beer,.....	4	guilders.
for a tun of foreign beer,.....	6	“
for a hogshead of French wine,.....	20	“
for an anker, do	4	“
for an anker of Spanish wine,.....
brandy, mead, or spirits,.....	7	“
for an anker of cider,.....	2	“

Greater or less casks (fastagien), proportionally, at beaver prices, or else 12 white or six black [sewants] for a stuiver, at the option of the payer. The farmer, or highest bidder, shall be holden to the content of the Messieurs contractors (verpachters) to furnish two sufficient sureties, for the pacht money a just fourth part to be paid every three months, in beavers or else in seawant, 12 white or six black a stuiver. To prevent all cavilling, misunderstanding, and frauds, it is stipulated that after the expiration of this farming, when a new farming out is made, the new farmer shall be at liberty, on the day of the new farming out, the following day, or at least within three days after the farming out (verpachtinge), in the presence of the late farmer, if he wishes to be present, to gauge the remaining wines, beers, or spirits held by the tapsters and innkeepers, and two thirds parts of the receipts, or excise due, is to be returned by the old or out going farmer to his successor. The messieurs contractors reserve to themselves the interpretation and enlargement of this contract, and promise the farmer all proper support and assistance. Willem Frederickse Bout remained the last bidder for the above farming, for the sum of three thousand eight hundred [3,800] guilders, according to the aforesaid conditions, for the payment of which Harmen Bastiaense [Visscher] and Jan Vinhagen stood as sureties and principals, according to the aforesaid conditions, pledging therefor their persons and estates, personal and real, present and future, nothing excepted.

Conditions on which the Messieurs Commis and Commissaries of Fort Orange and village of Beverwyck, propose to farm out to the highest bidder the burgher's wine and beer excise for the time of one year. The farming out (Verpachtinge), as well as the farming (pachtinge), shall begin on the first of November in the year 1663; and end on the last of October, A.D. 1664, according to the ordinances of our Fatherland. The farmer shall receive for a tun of strong (goet) beer one dollar, for a tun of small beer ten stuivers, for a hogshead of French wine six guilders, for an anker of brandy, Spanish wine, or spirits two guilders, at 12 white and 6 black seewants (sewantiens) the stuiver, and the farmer aforesaid shall not refuse any burghers a permit? (ceelen), who is entered upon the burgher's excise. The farmer shall be holden to furnish two sufficient sureties, one for all and each, as principals, to the content of the Messieurs contractors (verpachters), for the payment of the aforesaid burgher's excise, every quarter year a just fourth part of the whole sum, in good strung seewant, at 12 white and 6 black seewants (sewantiens) the stuiver, and in case the farmer fails of furnishing the aforesaid sureties, then the aforesaid farming shall be offered for sale again, and whatever less it comes to be worth, he shall be holden to make good, and whatever more it shall become worth, he shall receive no profit therefrom. The messieurs contractors reserve to themselves the interpretation and enlargement of this contract and promise the farmer all proper aid and assistance. For the above farming Willem Frederickse Bout remained the last bidder and farmer, for the sum of two thousand five hundred guilders, for the payment of which Harmen Bastiaense [Visscher] and Jan Dirkse Vinhagen, stood as sureties and principals, according to the conditions aforesaid, pledging therefor their persons and estates, personal and real, present and future, nothing excepted.

Conditions upon which the administrators of the estate of Philip Henderickse [Brouwer] propose to sell, at public sale to the highest bidder, the house, brewery and mill house of said Philip Henderickse. Firstly, the buyer shall immediately receive the aforesaid house and brewery, together with a kettle, two tubs and a cooler, with the mill house reserving the mill, also the lot and garden of such size as it lies in fence. Payment shall be made in good whole merchantable beaver skins, in three installments, the first on the 15th of July, of this year 1664, the second one year thereafter, and the third on the 15th of July, 1666. The buyer shall be holden to furnish two sufficient sureties, one for all and each, as principals, immediately, to the content of the seller. If the buyer can not furnish said sureties in said time, then said house, brewery, mill house, lot and garden, shall be again offered for sale at his cost and charge, and whatever less it comes to be worth, he shall be holden to make good, and whatever more it becomes worth he shall receive no profit therefrom. The auction fees become a charge to the buyer payable as above. After publishing the above conditions, Jan Dirckse Van Eps,² remained the last bidder of the brewery, for the sum of one thousand one hundred and fifty guilders, for the payment of which, Cornelis Van Nes and Pieter Van Alen, stood as sureties and principals.

Thus done in the village of Beverwyck, on the 29th of April, A.D. 1664.

Conditions on which the administrators of the estate of Philip Henderickse [Brouwer] propose to sell at public sale to the highest bidder, the bouvery, house, lot, and garden of Philip Henderickse Brouwer aforesaid of Schenhechtade, consisting of a lot of about twenty-five morgens, or so much as shall be allotted to each of the other inhabitants. Firstly, the buyer shall receive the aforesaid bouvery, or lot, immediately, and of such size as is above recited, all being broken up land, a part sowed with nine and a half schepels of winter wheat and two and a half schepels of summer wheat; furthermore, the house lot is two hundred feet square, and the garden as it lies in fence, on which is a barn thirty by twenty-four feet, besides the gangway, two ricks, the one of four and the other of five rods [square], a passable cart, a stretcher (span-touwen), and an after plough (achter ploegh). The payment shall be made in good whole merchantable beaver skins, in three installments, the first on the 15th of July of this year, 1664, the second on the 15th of July, A. D. 1665, and the third or last installment on the 15th of July, 1666. The buyer shall be holden to furnish two sufficient sureties, one for all and each as principals, immediately, to the content of the seller, but if the buyer cannot furnish said sureties in said time, then it shall be offered for sale again at his cost and charge, and whatever less it comes to be worth, he shall be holden to make good, and whatever more it becomes worth, he shall receive no benefit therefrom. The auction fees shall be a charge on the buyer, payable as above. Having offered it for sale, Cornelis Van Nes remained the last bidder for the bouvery, for the sum of one thousand two hundred and eighty seven guilders, according to the above standing conditions, for which sum Volkert Janse [Douw] and Jan Direkse Van Eps stood as sureties and principals, according to the aforesaid conditions.

¹ Robert Sanders son of Thomas S. of Amsterdam, and Sarah Van Gorcum, was baptized in New Amsterdam, 10 Nov. 1641. He came to Albany with his father before 1654; by his wife Elsie Barentse he had one son Barent and three daughters. In 1697 he was a merchant in New York, and admitted freeman in 1698.

On this 14 day of May A.D. 1664, appeared before me Johannes La Montagne in the service, of etc., in the presence of the honorable Jan Henderickse Van Bael and Jan Costersen Van Aken, commissaries etc., the following Indians, named Queskimiet, son of Pacies, Aepie, Wickepe, Kleyn Davidtie [Little David], who testify and declare, at the request of Jan Tomasse and Volckert Janse [Douw] as follows; translated by Jan Dareth. First, they say that eighteen years ago, Jacob Janse Flodder bought the Gojers kil, but no land with it, only a little piece north of said kil, which was granted him to make a garden, for the hire of which, these deponents, the owners of the same, have received only a piece of cloth. The deponents being asked if Jacob Janse Flodder had bought some land at Schotack, thereupon answered unanimsly, No, but that he only had a small piece of land that they rented to him to sow oats upon, furthermore, that he had a rick there to house his grain in for the winter, but that he never had any ownership therein. Again the deponent being asked who are the lawful owners of Schotack and of the fast bank extending the whole length of the island, declared that Jan Tomasse and Volckert Janse [Douw] are the lawful owners, who bought and paid for the same, and nobody else. They declare likewise, according to the conveyance of Wattawit, of date the 4th of October, A.D. 1663, that the land on the fast bank (vaste wal) where the house of Machack Notas stood, was justly owned by Wattawit, all of which aforesaid facts they declare were stated yesterday the 13th of this month, at the house of the Heer Rensselaer, in presence of the interpreter, Jan Dareth and Marten Gerritse [Van Bergen].

LA MONTAGNE, Commis at Fort Orange.

Appeared before me, Johannes La Montagne, in the service of, etc., Volckert Janse [Douw] and Jan Tomassen, who declare by way of complaint, that on the 12th of this month, the Heer Renselaer with the Schout Swart and the Secretary Scheliuyn were upon the island Schotack, and there forbade Jan Martensen [Wever], the subscriber's tenant, to proceed farther with the plowing and sowing, on account of which prohibition the tenant was afraid to proceed with the tillage. So it is that the subscribers free said tenant, Jan Martensen, from all harm which might come upon him by reason of said prohibition with respect to the tillage of the land, which is done without producing offence, except to complain to the officer and the subscribers in regard to the violence that may be done him.

Conditions according to which the Heeren commissaries of Albany propose to farm out at public sale to the highest bidder, the slaughter excise for the time of one year. The farming of the slaughter excise shall begin on the first of October of this year, and end on the last day of September, A.D. 1665, old style. The farmer shall receive for the slaughtered beasts, whether ox, cow, calf, bull, hog, goat, or sheep, for every guilder according to the value of the same, to wit, what is purchased for beavers shall give twenty stuivers in secwant for a beaver, and in case of dispute to be determined by an indifferent person. The farmer shall be holden to furnish two sufficient sureties as principals for the payment of the excise money, to the content of the Heer contractors, and in the time of six weeks from this date he shall pay the just half of the promised sum, and the other half on New Years day, being the first day of January, 1665, old style, in good current seewant, and if the farmer can not furnish sufficient sureties, then it shall be offered for sale again at his cost and charge, and whatever less it comes to be worth he shall make good, and whatever more it becomes worth he shall enjoy no profit therefrom. The farmer shall receive what has been paid in since the first of October new style, for the slaughtered beasts. After offering it for sale according to the above standing conditions, Henderick Rosenboom remained the highest bidder and farmer, for the sum of seven hundred and eighty guilders, for which he offered, as sureties and principals, Jan Tomassen and Evert Janssen Wendel, who pledge their persons and estates, personal and real.

Proposals and conditions on which Cornelis Vos proposes to sell at public sale to the highest bidder his house and lot lying in the village of Beverwyck, to the east Daniel Verveelen. Firstly, the aforesaid house and lot shall be delivered to the buyer, as it stands; the aforesaid house is 25 feet long and 18 feet broad except the leanto on the east side of the same; the aforesaid lot with the house is nine rods long, breadth in the rear on the kil seventeen and a half feet, in front on the road as broad as the aforesaid house, with a gangway on the east side of three and a half feet, provided the buyer when he comes to remove the house and build another in its place, shall leave a proper drip to both his and Daniel Verveelen's houses. The delivery shall be made on the first of May, A.D. 1662. The payment shall be made in good whole merchantable beaver skins at eight guilders apiece, in two installments, the first on the delivery; the second on the first of July, A.D. 1663. The buyer shall be holden to furnish two sufficient sureties one for all and each as principals, to the content of the seller immediately. If the buyer can not furnish said sureties in said time, then the house and lot, shall be offered for sale again at his charge and cost, and whatever less it comes to be worth, he shall be holden to make good, and whatever more it becomes worth he shall enjoy no benefit therefrom. The auction fees become a charge to the buyer payable as before. On the above standing conditions Barent Van Marle remained the highest bidder for the sum of one thousand and twenty guilders, for which the honorable Jan Verbeeck and Andries Herbetsen offer themselves as sureties and principals for the payment of the aforesaid sum, on a pledge of their persons and estates personal and real, present and future, submitting themselves to all laws and judges.

Done in the village of Beverwyck, this 30th of July, A.D. 1661.

Conditions on which the honorable Heeren Commies and commissaries of Fort Orange and village of Beverwyck, propose to sell at public sale to the highest bidder the slaughter excise for the time of one year. The farming of the aforesaid slaughter excise shall begin the first of October in the year 1661, and end on the last day of September, A.D. 1662. The farmer shall receive for the slaughtered beasts, whether ox, cow, bull, calf, hog, goat, and sheep, for every guilden of the worth of the same, one stuiver and in case of dispute to be decided by indifferent persons. The farmer shall be holden to furnish two sufficient sureties to the content of the Messieurs contractors for the excise money, a just fourth part to be paid every quarter year in good current sewant, and if the farmer cannot furnish sufficient sureties, it shall be offered for sale again at his cost and charge and whatever less it comes to be worth he shall be holden to make good, and whatever more it becomes worth he shall enjoy no benefit therefrom. Marcellis Janssen [Van Bommel] remained the last bidder for the above farming for the sum of six hundred and eight guilders, for which said sum Cornelis Teunissen Bosch and Gerrit Slichtenhorst offered themselves as sureties and principals for the payment of the same, on pledge of their persons and estate, personal and real, present and future, and placing themselves under the authority of all laws and judges.

Proposals and conditions on which Reynier Wisselpenningh, proposes to sell at public sale to the highest bidder, his house lot and garden lying in the village of Beverwyck at present occupied by him. Firstly, the aforesaid house shall be delivered to the buyer with all that is fast by earth and nailed, together with the lot as it stands; length two and thirty wood feet, with the garden as it stands in fence, adjoining to the south the garden of Gerrit Baneker, to the north the garden of Henderick Gerritsen [Van Wie] except the crop therein. Delivery shall be made on the 20th of next month, October, of the year 1661. * * * *

[This paper is incomplete and unexecuted].

Conditions and proposals on which the Commies and commissaires, propose in the name and for the sake of the honorable Heeren director general and council of New Netherland, to farm out publicly to the highest bidder, the excise of all wines, beers and distilled liquors to be drawn and consumed by the innkeepers, tapsters and retailers in and about Fort Orange, village of Beverwyck and colony of Rensselaerwyck. The farming out as well as the farming shall be done in accordance with the laudable customs of our fatherland, and in pursuance of the printed ordinance and placards of their high mightinesses the states general promulgated in respect to the finances. The farming shall begin on the first of November [1661], and end on the last of October, A.D. 1662, continuing the space of 12 months, during which time the farmer may collect and receive for all wines, beers, or distilled liquors to be drawn and consumed by the tapsters and innkeepers in or about Fort Orange, village of Beverwyck or colony of Rensselaerwyck as follows:

For a tun of domestic brewed beer,.....	f	4.00
For a tun of foreign beer,.....	f	6.00
For a hogshead of French wine,	f	20.00
For an anker of ditto,.....	f	4.00
For an anker of Spanish wine, brandy, mead or distilled liquor, f		7.00
For an anker of ditto,.....	f	2.00

And for greater and less measures in proportion; in beaver or else in seewant at twelve white or six black [seewants] for the stuiver at the choice of the payer. The farmer shall be holden to furnish sufficient sureties to the content of the Messrs. contractors for the excise money to pay every three months in beavers or else in seewant at 12 white or six black [seewants] the stuiver a just fourth part of the promised excise money. To provide against misunderstandings and frauds it is stipulated, and agreed that at the expiration of this farming, when the new farming shall be again made, the new farmer shall have liberty on the day of the new farming, or the following day, or at furthest within three days after the farming is made, to make a gauging, in presence of the late farmer if he wishes to be present, of the liquors held over by the tapsters and inn-keepers, of which wines, beers or distilled liquors found on hand two-thirds parts of the receipts, or excise due from the old or foregoing farmer is to be returned and made due to his successor, or the following farmer. The messieurs contractors reserve to themselves the interpretation and amplification of these conditions, and promise the farmer all proper aid and assistance.

In my presence,

D. V. SCHELLUYNE, Secretary, 1667.

Henderick Gerritse Vermeulen declares, by these presents, and in accordance with the above standing conveyance, that he grants, and makes over to the behoof of Arent Janssen, carpenter, here in Albany, his heirs and successors or assigns, with such right and title as was conveyed by Huybert Janse, in the foregoing conveyance, to Cornelis Van Nes, and by said Van Nes, as having the right and title of Philip Hendrickse Brouwer, to the grantor; without the grantor's making the least claim thereto any more, also acknowledging that he is fully paid therefor, and moreover, promising never more to do, nor suffer anything to be done, against the same, under the like pledge and subjection, as is mentioned in the aforesaid conveyance.

Done in Albany, datum ut supra.

HENDRICK GERRITSE.

R. V. Rensselaer.

Teunis Cornelisse.

Although the foregoing conveyances were before delivered, yet Henderick Gerritse Vermeulen acknowledges that in respect to the remaining purchase money for the aforesaid lot, due to the aforesaid Philip Henderickse or now to said Van Nes, he is justly indebted one hundred and nine guilders in beavers; and Arent Janse, carpenter, in like manner to Hendrick Gerritse [Vermeulen is indebted] nine beavers; so he, Hendrick Gerritse, assigns over to said Van Nes, the said nine beavers due from said Arent Janse, which said Arent Janse not only assents to by these presents, and said nine beavers promises to pay within six months from this date, but especially pledges and mortgages, therefor, the aforesaid lot, and house thereon standing, and further, pledges generally his person and estate, nothing excepted, subject to all laws and judges, to secure the payment thereof if need be, without cost or loss; and for as much as Henderick Gerritse furthermore remains indebted also to Van Nes for a balance of eighty-seven guilders in beavers, he promises honestly and justly to pay him the same, also within the time of six months after this date, under pledge of his person and estate, nothing excepted, subject as before.

Done in Albany, of date as above.

In my presence,

D. V. SCHELLUYNE, Secretary, 1667.

[On the margin of the above mortgage is the following note by the hand of Dirk Van Schelluyne.]

It appears to me, by the acquittance of Cornelis Van Nes, that Arent Janse, the carpenter, paid the nine beavers, mentioned herein, on the 24th of July, 1668, whereby this mortgage is cancelled.

We, the undersigned, commissaries of Albany, etc., testify and declare, that before us came and appeared, Mr. Gerard Swart, schout of this court, for himself, and to relieve and herein to act for Captain Abram Staes, both together attorneys for Mr. Pieter Hartgers, and declares in said character, that he grants, conveys, and in true rights, free ownership, makes over to and for the behoof of Hendrick Cuyler, in the aforesaid Hartger's house and lot, standing and lying here in Albany, in consequence and by virtue of a contract therefor, of date the 27th of February, 1664; as the same house and lot stands fenced, enclosed and bounded on the hill, according to the tenor of said contract to which reference is here made; without the grantor's (in his aforesaid character) making the least claim thereto any more, also acknowledging that he is fully paid and satisfied therefor, by the hands of Hendrick Cuyler, the last penny with the first, and therefore giving plenam actionem cessam, and full power to said Cuyler, his heirs, successors or assigns, to dispose thereof as he might do with his patrimonial effects; and promising in his said character, to protect and free the aforesaid house and lot from all trouble, claims and actions of each and every person, as is right, and further, never more to do nor suffer anything to be done against the same, either with or without law, in any manner, on pledge of his person and estate, nothing excepted, subject to all laws and judges.

We, the commissaries of Albany, etc., declare by these presents, that in true rights, free ownership, we grant, convey and make over by these presents, to and for the behoof of Jan Coster Van Aecken, in a certain lot lying here in Albany on the hill, adjoining to the east the lot of Jan Thomasse, to the south the highway, to the west the common fence, and to the north the lot of Capt. Backer, said lot being in breadth in front on the street to the south forty feet; ¹ without our making any claim on the same any more, also acknowledging that they are fully paid and satisfied therefor, by the hands of the aforesaid Van Aecken, according to contract, of date $\frac{16}{26}$ July last, and therefore giving plenam actionem cessam, and full power to the said Van Aecken, his heirs and successors or assigns, to dispose thereof as he might do with his patrimonial effects, but with his neighbors submitting to the public burdens; promising to protect and free the aforesaid lot from all actions of each and every person, and further, never more to do nor suffer anything to be done against the same.

Done at the session of the Heeren commissaries in Albany, the $\frac{25}{5}$ ^{NOV.} _{DEC.} 1667.

R. V. RENSSELAER.

PHILIP PIETERSE SCHUYLER.

Acknowledged before me,

D. V. SCHELLUYNE, Secretary, 1667.

Copy of an obligation and mortgage registered at the request of Mr. J. V. Rensselaer.

¹ This lot seems to have been on the east corner of State and Chapel streets. Capt. Backer's lot was on the east side of Chapel street, immediately in the rear of the above lot.

Appeared before us, Jacob Burhans and Hendrick Aertsen, commissaries of the village of Wildwyck, the honorable Hendrick Jochemse, who acknowledges that he is well and truly indebted to Mr. Abraham Weselse or his order, in the sum of two hundred and twenty-one guilders, six stuivers, growing out of wares received from Mr. Jan Bastianse [Van Gutsenhoven], and the subscriber promises to pay said sum of f 221.6, in harvest time of the year 1668; for which the subscriber specially pledges his house and lot with the declaration that the same is free and unincumbered, which house and lot are standing at Fort Orange [Albany], over against the church, to the south of Jan Rinchout, and to the north Philip Pieterse [Schuyler], further, pledging his person and estate, present and to come, subject to all laws and judges. The mortgagor witnesses the above with his own hand, with Jacob Burhans and Hendrick Aertse.

Subscribed in Wildwyck, this $\frac{1}{29}$ of Febr, 1668.

Below stood "Agrees with the principal," which was subscribed by Wil. Beeckman, schout of Esopus, as witness, in the absence of the secretary.

After a collation with the authentic copy of date and subscription as above, this is found to agree therewith.

In Albany, the $\frac{5}{3}$ of March, 1667.

In my presence,

D. V. SCHELLUYNE, Secretary, 1667.

Appeared before us, undersigned, commissaries of Albany, etc., the honorable Gerrit Lansingh, who declares that in true rights, free ownership, he grants, conveys, and makes over by these presents to and for the behoof of Jan Bricker, in his certain house and lot as said Bricker has purchased from him and occupies the same, and as the same was received by the grantor by conveyance and delivery from Jan Van Bael, of date the $\frac{1}{25}$ April, 1667; standing and lying here in Albany, built upon, fenced, enclosed and bounded according to the tenor and contents of the aforesaid conveyance, by virtue of the same and of a patent and other proofs to which reference is herein made, and which with the delivery of this paper are to be made over to said Bricker; without the grantor's making any claim any more on said house and lot, also acknowledging that he is fully paid and satisfied therefor by the hand of said Bricker, the last penny with the first, and therefore, giving said Bricker, his heirs and successors or assigns, plenam actionem cessam, and full power to dispose of said house and lot as he might do with his own patrimonial effects; promising to protect and free said house and lot from all trouble, actions and claims of each and every person as is right, and further, never more to do nor suffer anything to be done against the same, either with or without law, in any manner, on pledge of his person and estate, personal and real, nothing excepted, subject to all laws and judges.

Conditions and proposals according to which certain burghers of Albany are minded to employ a herder for their cattle. Firstly, The herder shall be holden to guard the cattle at his own expense, also to keep a proper youngster with him to watch the cattle, and shall begin to go out with them on the 20th of April, 1667, new style, and not leave off before the 16th of November. Secondly, The herder every morning before or with, the rising of the sun, shall blow three times with the horn, and then with the youngster and cattle go out where they can best get feed for the cattle, or where the masters (undersigned) shall order, and about a quarter of an hour before the sun goes down, he shall deliver the cattle at the church. Thirdly, If a beast or beasts receive injuries through the neglect of the herder, then the herder shall be holden to make full recompense for the beast or beasts (according to value). Fourthly, If the herder shall be found sitting and drinking in any tavern, he shall each time forfeit ten guilders seewant. If a beast or beasts happen to die or run away within the [first] half of the aforesaid time, then not more than half of the herder's recompense therefor, shall be paid, and that punctually at that time. In like manner also, shall all those who have their cattle herded, be holden, as soon as the half of the aforesaid time for herding is out, to pay to the herder the half of the herder's recompense without any delay.

On the aforesaid conditions Uldrick Kleyn accepted the contract and for his pains is to receive twenty guilders in seewant, for every great beast, or for two heifers in place of a great beast, and shall acknowledge and obey Jurriaen Theunisse and Arnout Cornelisse [Viele,] as his superiors for his masters. Below all those who have their cattle herded, pledge their cattle, and the herder pledges his person and estate, nothing excepted, as well having and as to have, under obligation to all laws and judges, and for the confirmation of the same, they have subscribed with their own hands this paper, without craft or guile, this $\frac{1}{2}$ of April, 1667.

ULDERICK KLEYN.

JUREJAN TUNSEN.

ARNOUT CORNELISSE.

On this $\frac{3}{10}$ ^{1st} March, 1668, Uldrick Cleyn, accepts the aforesaid cowherdership according to the aforesaid conditions, except the price for last year, but has now agreed for sixteen guilders in seewant for every great beast or for two heifers in place of one great beast, and he shall be holden to begin his driving on Friday the $\frac{1}{3}$ of April, of this year, and shall not stop before the $\frac{6}{15}$ of November, and shall acknowledge and obey as his superiors, for his masters, Jan Clute and Doctor (Meester) Cornelis Van Dyck. In acknowledgment of the truth of which, the aforesaid herder and the aforesaid masters with their own hands have subscribed this paper.

Done in Albany of date as above.

ULDERICK KLEYN.

JOHANNES CLUTE.

CORNELIS VAN DYCK.

On the aforesaid conditions of the year 1668, the aforesaid Uldrick Cleyn has again accepted the herdership, on condition that he shall begin to drive out the cattle on the $\frac{1}{3}$ of April, 1669, and not stop until the $\frac{6}{15}$ of November of the same year. And he shall receive for each great beast fourteen guilders in seewant, or for two heifers as much as for one great beast, and shall acknowledge and obey as his superior, for his masters the Honorable Dirck Wesselse [Ten Broeck] and Hendrick Bries.

Done in Albany this $\frac{6}{15}$ of April, 1669.

ULDERICK KLEIN.
DIERCK WESSELS.
HENDRICK BRIES.

On this 8th of April, 1670, Sacharias Sickels accepted the aforesaid cowherdership on the conditions aforesaid, provided he with his youngster and the cattle shall begin to go out on the 12th of this month and shall not stop before the 6th of November, old style, and shall receive for his pains seventeen guilders in seewant, and shall acknowledge and obey as his superior, for his masters the Honorable Jan Vinhagen and Heyndrick Kuyler.

[The above paper seems to be the closing sentence of a mortgage deed given to secure his infant children's inheritance from their mother.]

¹ Jacobus G. Van Vorst was born in 1612.—Notarial Papers, I. He was for a time public porter and carman.—Albany Annals, XI, 94-8. In 1684 he bound out his son Gillis, aged eleven years, to Jeronimus Wendel for six years.—Notarial Papers, II. This son removed to Schenectady and became the ancestor of the Van Vorsts of that vicinity.

The above obligation being first read, Willem Tailler answers that he does not know what he subscribed to, but the orphan masters suggested that he should select out of his effects whatever he pleased, out of which payment can be made to his infant children according to the sentence [of court]; with respect to his grown up children, he said that he assented thereto for their portion (namely that he, Tailler, should deliver to the two grown up ones an obligation, and with the first opportunity make payment to Helena, which agreement was arranged between him and Andries Teller and Pieter Van Alen in the presence of the orphan masters; and regarding the portion of Helena he said that he would reduce what she is to have according to settlement, excepting what by the aforesaid sentence is not to be done), he said also that he would give the orphan masters security as they demanded anew. "I shall provide for the payment, provided I receive payment of ten per cent interest yearly until the infants shall come of age;" the orphan masters, on the contrary, maintained that he, Tailler, be holden to sign the aforesaid obligation; the disagreement about which was turned over to the right honorable, the governor general, for his honor's decision in the matter.

Done in Albany the $\frac{23}{2}$ July, 1667.

Present, the Orphan Masters.

Willem Tailler and his wife.

$\frac{23}{2}$ July, 1667, I, the court messenger, with the Heer schout repaired to the house and dwelling of Willem Teller, and for the third time asked him whether he would sign the obligation shown him; if not, I was authorized by the honorable court to proceed to execution. Willem Teller answered that he could not see that the obligation was according to sentence, but was willing, as he before said, to give security on his estate according to the sentence of the court of assize given, again requesting his honor's decision thereon.

By me G. SWART, Schout.

LUDOVICUS COBES, Court Messenger of Albany, etc.

On date as above, the Heer officer reported to Willem Teller, that he, Teller, should give satisfaction to his daughter Helena, and make payment according to sentence of the court of assize, abating what he was to have by settlement; with regard to the infant children that he point out his estate to the satisfaction of the same, according to sentence as above. Willem Teller answered that he had nothing against the same but it was indeed reasonable, and that he would perform the same whenever it pleased them according to sentence of the honorable court.

G. SWART, Schout.

By me LUDOVICUS COBES, Court Messenger.

(The above registry was made by mistake, and is therefore wholly erased.)

On date as before, the officer by order of the magistrates, in presence of me, the secretary, asked William Teller if he pleased to sign the above-standing obligation, according to agreement made with Andries Teller and Peter Van Allen, and if he would pay the eighty-five beavers to

Helena Tailler according to sentence; thereupon he answered as in the above standing first statement of schout and messenger, and with respect to Helena, that in case the Heer [governor] general decides that what he is to have on settlement may not be abated (save the settlement which by sentence of the court of assize is not to be done), that he then will pay the full sum for or in behalf of Helena.

Done etc.

By me G. SWART, Schout.

D. V. SCHELLUYNE, Secretary, 1667.

On this $\frac{24}{3}$ July, 1667, Willem Tailler acknowledges that he is well and truly indebted to his oldest son, Andries Tailler, and Pieter Van Alen, husband and guardian of Maria Tailler, to each, in the sum of five and eighty beavers, according to sentence by the honorable court of Assize, at New York pronounced on the 1st of October, A. D. 1666, abating the value of twenty beavers by the wife of Van Alen received, namely, a toursse gown, and a red cloth coat, being clothing of her late mother; promising to pay the aforesaid respective sums according to the tenor and import of the aforesaid sentence, therefor pledging his person and estate, personal and real, having and to have, nothing excepted, subject to all laws and judges.

Done in Albany on date as above.

Evert Janse Wendel.

In my presence, D. V. SCHELLUYNE, Secretary, 1667.

According to the order of the Heer [governor] general, of date the 30th July last, Willem Tailler, subscribed the above standing obligation to the behoof of his four infant children on the $\frac{1}{4}$ of August, 1667, with promise also to pay his daughter Helena her portion, of eighty-five beavers.

Present, the orphan masters and magistrates :

Philip Pieterse Schuyler and

Goosen Gerritse,

besides the Heer Schout G. Swart.

[Copy.]

I, the undersigned, Helena Tailler, acknowledge that I have received of my father, Willem Tailler, the quantity of eighty-five good beavers, as adjudged to me by the honorable court of assize at New York, on the 1st of October, 1666, and I release him from all claims. In witness of the truth of this I have written and subscribed this with my own hand, in Albany, the $\frac{7}{17}$ of September, 1667. Was subscribed, "Helena Tailler widow of Cornelis Bogardus," and, "In my presence D. V. Schelluyne, Secretary," besides, "As trustees, Philip Pieterse, and D. V. Schelluyne."

Appeared before us, undersigned, commissaries of Albany, etc., Claes Frederickse Van Petten,³ and Cornelis Cornelise Viele,⁴ husbandmen dwell-

¹ This lot was a part of the lot fronting on Broadway, on which the Exchange now stands.

² This little alley widened, is now contained in that part of State street, between Broadway and the river.

⁴ Cornelis Cornelise Viele, one of the early settlers of Schenectady, left a numerous family, six of whom were sons and left families, save perhaps, the last. They were: Arnout who was an Indian interpreter and lived in Albany, Cornelis, Pieter, and Teunis who settled in Schenectady, Lewis who removed to Schaghticoke, and Volckert; besides daughters. The lands early belonging to this family were on the Mohawk river, three miles west of Schenectady.

ing at Schaenhectade, who acknowledge that they are well and truly indebted to Marten Cornelise [Van Ysselstein¹] in the quantity of two hundred and twenty beavers reckoned at eight guilders a piece, growing out of a matter of two remaining installments for the purchase and payment for a certain bouvery, dwelling house, barn and three ricks, with four horses, five milch cows, eight hogs, cart, plough and harrow purchased by the subscribers from him according to contract thereof, of date the $\frac{4}{14}$ July, 1667, which aforesaid sum of two hundred and twenty beavers, the subscribers, according to the tenor and contents thereof, promise to pay, to wit, one hundred and ten beavers in the month of February, 1669, and the remaining one hundred and ten beavers in the month of February, 1670, punctually; pledging specially the aforesaid bouvery and effects, and further, generally, their persons and estates, personal and real, having and to come, nothing excepted, subject to all laws.

This mortgage is satisfied as it respects the payment of Cornelis Cornelise Viele, but of Claes Van Petten not yet. Albany, 17 Sept., 1670.

Appeared before us, undersigned, commissaries of Albany, etc., Marten Cornelise [Van Ysselstein] husbandman, who declares that in true rights, free ownership, he grants, conveys and makes over by these presents to and for the behoof of Claes Frederickse Van Petten and Cornelis Cornelise Veilen, husbandmen at Schaenectade, their heirs and successors or assigns, in the grantor's certain bouvery, with dwelling house, barn, three ricks, four horses, five milch cows, eight hogs, cart, plough and harrow, standing and lying at Schaenectade, at present in possession of said Claes Frederickse and Cornelis Cornelisse, and according to patent of the right honorable Heer general, of date the 13 April, 1668, to the grantor given, and to the contract for the aforesaid bouvery and effects passed, of date the $\frac{4}{14}$ July, 1667, all of which are by these presents delivered to the aforesaid Claes Frederickse and Cornelis Cornelise, and regarding the boundaries, length and breadth of the aforesaid bouvery the grantor refers to the aforesaid four documents, acknowledging that he is fully paid and satisfied for the aforesaid bouvery and effects by the hands of said Claes Frederickse and Cornelis Cornelise, namely with the sum of one hundred and ten beavers by him to his content received and with a mortgage for two hundred and twenty beavers according to the tenor of the aforesaid contract, without the grantor's hereafter making the least claim any more thereto, and therefore giving plenum actionem cessam, and full power to said Claes Frederickse and Cornelis Cornelise, and their heirs, to dispose thereof as they might do with their patrimonial effects; promising to protect and free the aforesaid bouwery and effects from all trouble, actions and claims of every person as is right, and further, never more to do nor suffer anything to be done against the same, either with or without law, in any manner, on pledge according to law.

¹ Marten Cornelisse Van Ysselstein or Esselstyn, was one of the fourteen first proprietors of Schenectady. After the sale of his bouvery there he removed to Claverack, where his descendants are still found. He was born in the city of Ysselstein, his wife Mayke Cornelise in Berrevelt; they made a joint will in 1677. He was not living in 1705, when his eldest son and heir, Cornelis Martense [Van Ysselstein] confirmed the conveyance to Van Petten of the Schenectady property.

Acknowledged before me,

Ro : LIVINGSTON, Secretary.

Appeared before me, Ro^t Livingston, secretary of Albany, etc., in the presence of Arnout Cornelise Viele, and William Parker, Ryckie Staes, wife of Jacob Staes,¹ who declared that she has sold, and that Philip Schuyler has purchased her house and lot with barn, with all that is fast by earth and nailed, standing and lying here in Albany, bounded north by the first killetie and Jochem Wessells [De Backer], west by the highway, south by the house of William Loveridge, hatter, and east by the river, breadth in front on the street nine rods, and in the rear four rods and nine feet, length on the south side thirteen rods, and north seventeen rods, from which lot forty feet in breadth in front on the street, and twenty feet in the rear, must be deducted for the public street; with all the appurtenances according to patent thereof from governor R: Nicolls, dated the 3d of May, (?) 1667, (except the lord's right), in consideration of which the purchaser is obligated and promises to pay said Ryckie Staes, her order or assigns, the quantity of one hundred and fifty good whole merchantable beaver skins, to be paid in two installments, to wit, the first next July, a just half, being seventy-five beavers, and the last installment in July, 1680, the remaining half. The buyer shall have the privilege of occupying and using said house and lot immediately, and a conveyance shall be made on full payment for the same. In witness of which the parties hereto have subscribed their names, in presence of the aforesaid witnesses.

Done in Albany, the.....

[The above paper was not executed.]

¹ Jacob Staes, "chirurgion," was the eldest son of Maj. Abram Staes. He settled in Albany, but there is no mention in the records of any descendants. His brothers, Samuel and Abraham, left large families.
