SINN FEIN ACCEPTS BRITISH NOTE HUNGARY TO GET ULTIMATUM OIL TANK EXPLOSION ROCKS HALIFAX

Irish Parliament Dispatches Reply by Courier—Expresses Preference for Parley Without Raising Issue of Break From Empire—Stipulations Protested

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
J. N. S. Staff Correspondent
DUBLIN, Sept. 12.—Eamonn de Valera's reply to the British cabinet's note of last Wednesday protests against any stipulation for the peace conference at Inverness and expresses preference for a parley without the issue of a break from the British empire being raised, it was learned today. The Sinn Fein note, which accepts the British proposal for a peace conference at Inverness, was dispatched this morning. It is being taken to Premier Lloyd George in Scotland by Jos. McGrath, a Sinn Fein courier.

MANY EXECUTED IN MEXICO WITHOUT TRIAL IS CLAIM

By LOUIS P. KIRBY
J. N. S. Staff Correspondent
MEXICO CITY, Mex., Sept. 12.—Chapters from the story of mediaeval times are being enacted in some of the States, if the stories coming here are true. It is asserted that 18 persons were executed without trial in Puebla. The chief of police of that city, Arturo Camarillo, is under investigation. It is asserted that this official has ruled with a high hand, assuming power of life and death over a certain element. All of the men executed, it is said, were criminals, or persons whom the police believed to be criminals. But their summary fate has caused the circulation of other stories of Czar-like methods, which forced the present inquiry.

From Chihuahua comes a story that the Governor, General Ignacio C. Enriquez, has used something similar to the lettre de cachet to take into custody Alfonso Gomez Luna, a lawyer of some distinction. Jose Gomez Luna, brother of the lawyer, asserts that it was a secret arrest, due to the lawyer's defense of Francisco Madrid, editor of La Tribuna, an obscure publication in Chihuahua, which found fault with the Governor. As the Gomez Luna family has influential connections here, a great stir is being made.

The charges that Governor Enriquez has acted despotically has surprised the capital. He is looked upon as the most enlightened and progressive governor in Mexico. He is a graduate in engineering of the University of Illinois and has been a leader in reform movements, including prohibition. The improvements he has made in Chihuahua, the extension of the school system and the general good order he has maintained have caused many to look upon him as a model for other Governors.

Not long ago it was proposed that Governor Enriquez lecture in the United States, in the belief that he would be a convincing example of the soundness and strength of the new men now ruling Mexico.

BIRTHDAY MIXE
Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Turner and son, Emil, of 130 South Jackson street, accompanied by their house guest, Mrs. Russell, a cousin of Mrs. Turner, and Mrs. B. O. Carr and daughter, Hazel, spent the day at Brookside Park yesterday. They enjoyed a picnic lunch. The occasion was in honor of Mrs. Carr's and Mrs. Turner's birthdays.

INJURED MOVING DESK
John M. Ray, 369 Myrtle street, was brought to the Glendale Research hospital Saturday afternoon as the result of an injury received last Wednesday a week ago, while moving a desk in his Los Angeles office. At the Research hospital it was found a blood vessel had been broken in his leg. An X-ray picture is to be taken today.

OFFENSIVE AGAINST MOROCCO REBELS STARTS IN SPAIN

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A general offensive was launched by the Spanish army in Morocco this morning against the rebellious Rif tribesmen, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Madrid, quoting an official communication issued by the Spanish war office. The Spanish general staff has been preparing for the offensive for four weeks. Spanish officials said that a supreme effort would be made to end the warfare that has been in progress in Morocco since early in the summer.

VISITOR BACK HOME; GLENDALE BOOSTER

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Sept. 12.—F. E. Colson, of the Fair store, returned Thursday night from Glendale, a suburb of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Colson and family went west by automobile, leaving this city on July 9. Mr. Colson does not think much of Northern California, but was very much pleased with the southern part. He says the people are pouring in, and that at Glendale there are a thousand houses under construction. The place has a population of about 20,000. His family will spend the winter there and he expects to join them after January 1.

VANDERHOFF IS SATISFIED

"We cannot complain about the demand for real estate for the past few weeks, but the way things have been humming during the first 12 days of September shows that the fall demand for real estate in Glendale is upon us—the business is now in high gear and the prospects of the future are exceedingly bright.

"We find that the demand for homes is picking up wonderfully, and especially has this been true during the past week. Previous to that time the call for building lots predominated. Every section of the city seems to be coming in for its share of the patronage, and no locality is being left behind. We are getting quite a few calls from people who are now living in Los Angeles and Hollywood. Glendale seems to be the destination of many residents of Southern California as well as visitors to this section. The fall and winter rush to Southern California has begun and by the way it is starting out it would seem that it will develop into rather a husky child. We are looking for big things during the coming months."

Mr. Vanderhoff has been in Glendale about two years. Previous to entering the real estate field he was in the home building business, and while actively engaged in that line put up more than a dozen homes for Glendale folks and visitors. He has purchased a home at 517 West Lexington street, where he lives with his family.

The Vanderhoff realty office is a busy place these days. In addition to working in his office himself, Mr. Vanderhoff employs two salesmen who, also, are boosters for Glendale. The present demand is for homes running about $5000 to $6500, the price depending very largely on the location of the property. Mr. Vanderhoff believes that the business section of Glendale has started its northward movement. He says he has it on good authority that before Christmas the west side of Brand boulevard between California and Wilson, will be built up with business blocks. Similar buildings will doubtless be erected on the east side of the street, he says.

MANDATE QUESTION URGED ON ALLIES BY CHINESE

(By International News Service)
GENEVA, Sept. 12.—Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to England and president of the council of the League of nations, announced at today's meeting of the league assembly that he has sent a note to the Allied powers urging them to hasten a settlement of the mandate question with the United States.

GLENDALE ARTISTS CONTRIBUTE TO VALLEY FAIR

Glendale will have reason to be proud of her contributions to the art department of the San Fernando Valley Fair, for all are unusual. The list of exhibitors, which has been rounded up by the local committee, includes the following:
J. W. McCluskey of Verdugo Woodlands, four portraits.
John W. Cotton of North Glendale, four landscapes.
S. Grason Sayre, landscapes.
Mrs. Harriet F. Frank, two paintings by her deceased husband, one a marine, the other a landscape.
Dr. C. S. Steelman, five California landscapes by Granville Redmonds.
Mrs. E. Z. Phillips, two California landscapes and one marine, painted on the coast of Japan.
Japan.
Ed Weston, five art photographic studies.
E. B. Elias, photographic collection.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Two minor automobile accidents appear on the records of the police department for Sunday.
Paul Gena of San Fernando road, reported that another car collided with the machine driven by him Sunday at an oil station on San Fernando road. The left fender and running board were torn from Mr. Gena's machine.
H. W. McGuire, 221 East Broadway complained to the police that while driving west on Los Feliz road at the intersection of Brand boulevard, H. W. Gidhaven, 1902 Cordova street, Los Angeles, stopped without giving a warning signal. Mr. McGuire's car collided with the other machine.

DONATES FRENCH TUITION

Mme. Quizillon of this city, who was employed by the Government to teach French in army camps during the war, has agreed to teach, free of charge, a class of 20 persons who wish to study French, but to collect $5 a head to be turned over to the Monte Vista Children's Home. Mme. Quizillon is leaving for France at the end of that period, so there is no time to be lost in organizing the class.
Mrs. Ella Richardson, who is interested in the Monte Vista Home, suggests that persons interested address a note to her at 317 North Brand boulevard.

DUFFIELD RETURNS TO STAGE

Glendallians who claim as their own the venerable actor, Harry Duffield, warmly appreciate the honor paid him Saturday night at the Morocco Theatre, where he is winning fresh laurels in "The Tailor-Made Man."
It was the 59th anniversary of his first appearance on the stage in Mobile, Ala., where he began his professional career at the age of 12 years. Since then he has acted in more than 1500 plays, and has created a number of famous roles.
When he appeared on the stage Saturday evening, he was given a great reception.

Inter-Allied Council of Ambassadors Summoned to Paris to Handle the Belligerent Situation Which Is Rapidly Developing Between Austria and Hungary

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The inter-allied council of ambassadors has been summoned at Paris to consider the Austro-Hungarian quarrel and belief was expressed in official circles today that an ultimatum will be sent to Budapest.
The British foreign office views the situation on the Danube as most serious and utmost caution is necessary to avert war. If the ultimatum is sent, Hungary will be given a time limit to withdraw her armed forces from West Hungary. In the event of rejection, Czechoslovakia may be empowered by the Allies to send troops into West Hungary to clear the country of Hungarians.

BANKER TELLS HOW GERMAN TRADE CAN RECOVER

By FRANK E. MASON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
BERLIN, Sept. 12.—Enormous profits made on depreciated United States federal bonds after the Civil War gave Germany the financial start for her wide industrial expansion, according to Berthold Arons of the Berlin banking house of Arons & Walters.
"The beginning of my banking career, which dates back to 1866, was occupied with Germany's purchase and sale of American bonds," declared Mr. Arons to the International News Service. "At that time, immediately after the Civil War, the Confederate bonds were worthless and the Northern states' paper money had depreciated to a rate of between 30 and 40 cents to the gold standard.
"Berlin cleared between four and five million dollars' worth of business daily and all the available savings of private investors went into North American securities at these very low prices. The 6 per cent bonds bought below 40 were sold as high as 105. The tremendous profits were the foundations of some of Germany's largest enterprises today.
"Conditions are reversed today; we must sell our securities to America at a very low rate. America has the world's money; only America can make us the loan which will be necessary to stabilize the mark and put Germany on a sound basis.

PREACHER ADVISES ON HOW TO PICK A HUSBAND

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—What kind of a man should a girl marry? The one she loves, you say? Not enough; she should look deep into his character before saying "I will."
The Rev. Charles S. Stevens, of Chicago, in a sermon from his pulpit recently, advised girls not to marry a man who swears, who doesn't respect his parents, who is not physically clean, who is lazy and who is a grouch.
But even that is not enough, in the opinion of Miss Harriet Vittum, social worker. The ideal husband must have a definite object in life and enough ambition to stick to it.
CHICKEN THIEF HERE
Emil Gsell of North Pacific avenue reported to the police that during the past month some one had been stealing chickens from his yard. Early Monday morning the thief lifted more chickens, bringing the total up to 30.

MRS. BERGDOLL WILL BE EXAMINED IN FEDERAL COURT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The government today filed a "bill of complaint" against Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, mother of Grover C. Bergdoll, notorious Philadelphia draft evader who is now a refugee in Switzerland. This action was necessary, according to Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, because Mrs. Bergdoll and her attorneys have repeatedly refused to comply with the provisions of the law covering the property of herself and missing son.
The complaint was filed today in the federal district court in the eastern district of Pennsylvania.

CLUB SECTIONS TO DISCUSS VALLEY FAIR MATTERS

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery has invited to meet at her home on South Glendale avenue tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock members of the Shakespeare and Literary Sections of the Tuesday Afternoon Club to organize for cooperative work in connection with the sales table which will be operated as a free concession at the San Fernando Valley Fair to open next Monday. Committees on decoration and serving will be appointed and plans will be discussed.

COUNTRY CLUB OPENING

The Sunset Country Club had its opening Sunday, and many Glendallians who have taken memberships motored to the grounds to see them and swim in the fine pool just completed and note the progress of work on the hotel and club house now under construction.

A goodly number of cottages have been completed and the outlook is already so beautiful and promising that members expressed great satisfaction. It was estimated that more than 1000 automobiles entered the gates, filled with guests.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Richardson of this city are building a cottage there and were among the guests, as were also Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCourt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Platt, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stanford, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lushy, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery, Mrs. Ella Richardson and son, John, Mr. and Mrs. William MacMullin and many others from here.

GERMAN MARK SLUMPS

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The German mark today fell to the lowest price in its history. Its value on the foreign exchange market here was less than one cent—.0093, to be exact. Disquieting unconfirmed rumors of the possibility of a moratorium being declared in Germany was the reason for the decline. The pre-war value of the mark was about 24 cents.

DRIVE MEETING CALLED

A meeting of all the chairmen and committees having the Chamber of Commerce membership drive in charge, will be held at the White Inn, corner Glendale avenue and Broadway, at 6 o'clock Friday evening. It is urgently requested that all members of committees be present, as the progress of and plans for this drive will come up for discussion at that time.

One Missing and Two Badly Injured When Six Oil Stills Are Wrecked—High-Pressure Tanks Give Way—Damage Exceeds $1,000,000—Recalls Munitions Shock

U. S. CITIZEN NOT TO DIE SAYS OFFICIAL OF GUATEMALA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The Government of Guatemala hastened to assure the United States Government today that the sentence of death imposed by a lower court on Estrada Cabrera will not be carried out. The Guatemalan minister of foreign affairs has informed the American minister at Guatemala City that the President of the republic will issue a decree preventing the execution of the sentence.

MRS. CARR SURPRISED

Last evening Mrs. B. O. Carr of 136 North Jackson street was pleasantly surprised when a number of her friends came in to help her celebrate her birthday. The house was attractively decorated in shades of lavender and old gold, and the evening was spent in games and music. Mrs. Carr received many beautiful gifts of asters, dahlias and several boxes of candy.

During the evening refreshments of punch and cakes were served. One of the cakes was a large birthday cake with "sixteen" candles on it. This had been baked and prettily decorated by Mrs. Carr's daughter, Miss Hazel Carr. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Whestphal and daughters, Ruth and Grace; Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Neff and son, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Brandstater and son, Kenneth; Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bather, Mrs. G. W. Reaser, Miss Helen Steele, Thomas Steele, the guest of honor, Mrs. B. O. Carr, and the hostess, Miss Hazel Carr.

BENEFIT DANCE

The building fund of the Holy Family Catholic Church is richer by about $65 as the result of the benefit dance and card party given Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tuohy at their hospitable home at 414 East Lomita. Assisting the hostess in receiving and entertaining the 90 or more guests were Mmes. Simms, Farrell Patch and Blanchett, and Misses Dorothy Vogel and Susan Wendell.
About a dozen tables were occupied by the card players, who entertained themselves with whist and five hundred. The rest of the company danced to Victrola music and refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

ATTEND ALHAMBRA EXPOSITION

A party consisting of L. T. Rowley, wife and daughter, Virginia, and Jas. Rhoades, secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Rhoades, attended the elaborate exposition that is now being held at Alhambra. They went as representatives of Glendale. The exhibits were by Alhambra merchants and others. Mr. Rhoades estimates that there were about 3500 people in attendance at the exposition Saturday evening.

DANCE AT POLLOCK'S

A grand opening dance is to be held next Saturday evening at the Pollock Garage and Service Station at the corner of Broadway and Pacific avenue. Elaborate preparations are being made for the event and the proprietor of the establishment says there will be something doing every minute.

THE HIBBERTS ON TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hibbert, Walter Hibbert, Miss Louise Moniot, and Ernest College, all of Glendale, left yesterday for a motor trip to Yosemite National Park. They will return in about a week.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 12.—A terrific explosion wrecked six great oil stills of the Imperial Oil Company here today.

One person is missing and two others badly injured. The damage is estimated at more than $1,000,000.

There were 12 high pressure oil stills in the district swept by the explosion. The explosion caused tremendous excitement, as many recalled the unprecedented war munitions explosion here in 1917, when part of the city was destroyed, and they feared a similar disaster. The scene of the blast was at Dartmouth, on the opposite side of the river.

ORIENTAL COLORS TO PERVADE ALL IN PERSIAN GARDEN

The splendid production of "In a Persian Garden," which is to be given in beautiful Verdugo Woodlands on Saturday, September 17, at 8 p. m., will have a cast of star singers and musicians, the famous Danishwani dancers will be one of the features and the entire performance will be Oriental in costume and character. To carry out the effect the ushers will also be clothed in Persian costumes. Wonderful lighting effects are also promised.

Members of Los Angeles society will be present to witness the performance and cars will run every 15 minutes from the Pacific Electric station to the grounds.

As this is the first big open-air production to be given in Glendale the affair will be a gala event, as its success may mean a continuation of outdoor performances in the future.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Gertrude Hawkins, 412 East Harvard street, was pleasantly surprised Saturday evening when a group of her friends called on her to help celebrate her birthday. Miss Hawkins had intended going out, but when this jolly crowd gathered at her home she soon changed her mind. The evening was given over to dancing, and refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were served. Miss Hawkins received many pretty gifts in honor of her birthday.

Later in the evening the party, motored to Big Tujunga canyon where they had a weiner roast. The guests included Miss Alice Holmes, Miss Margaret Crawford, Miss Mildred Smith, Miss Elaine Hudson, Miss Dorothy Rowley and the guest of honor, Miss Gertrude Hawkins, and Messrs. Roy Selover, Robert and Don Cowlin.

JACK AWAITS EXECUTION

Jack is arrested. Jack, be it known, is a large dog, formerly the property of a motion picture director who is at present in the East. He is being held at the police station on a vagrancy charge and if some one does not come to his rescue he is doomed to the pound.

It appears that his former owner went East and apparently forgot all about his faithful dog. His license was paid up until February of this year. Since that time Jack has wandered about the country, searching for someone that would give him a home.

Jack apparently realizes his fate, for he lays with his head on his paws and occasionally voices a low moan.

FIRST BAPTISTS WELCOME HOME PASTOR FORD

Rev. Ernest E. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Glendale, who for the past four weeks has been enjoying a much-needed rest in his cabin in the Arroyo Seco, above Oak Wild camp, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist Church yesterday morning and evening. He assured the members of his congregation that there was only one thing wrong with his vacation and that was that it was too long. His anxiety to get back to work with his people caused the hours toward the latter part of the stay in the hills to drag a little. He said he was back fit and trim for an active year's work.

Yesterday morning Rev. Ford took for his subject, "United We Stand." He said in part: "Christ said, 'If ye love me keep my commandments.' He also said, 'If you love me ye will love one another.' What are his commandments? One is that ye love one another. My message this morning is fellowship. About work and joy together—fellowship. Working together with God—yes, United.

"I have been away from you for a month. With all my heart I wish that I could have been with you and be preaching in this old pulpit. I wish to say something about the excellent work that has been done here since my leaving you. I understand from those who have been here that the preaching has been wonderful, and I thank those who so very ably filled the pulpit in my stead. I have known Rev. Scott for years and have heard a great deal about the excellence of Rev. Morgan's work.

"In my ministry here, I have helped any of you to get closer to God. I can feel that I have not worked in vain. You need Christ. This year we are going to pray more and to study the good old book more. We must look upon this church as a big business venture, for that is just what it is. We are a great body of people associated together—united—one body. A pitiful thing is that probably less than 50 per cent of the members in the churches are doing all the work, when 100 per cent of the people should be on their toes.

"The usefulness of any organization is measured by the percentage of the membership who are workers. 'Ye are the branches,' said Christ. Did you ever ask yourself 'why did I join the Baptist church?' Scores of members unite with the church without any definite idea as to why they are joining. It should be 'not what shall I get,' but 'what can I give—how may I further the Kingdom of God?'

"Let us magnify his name together. A concert of voices sounds a little sweeter. Every interest in the church is helped by every other interest. To lift our voices in united praise, each heart is enriched greatly. Let our joys be known. The part of the prayer meeting that is most helpful is the testimony section—the old-fashioned testimony meeting. Many testimonies are better than most sermons.

"What is fear? It is all imaginary. When my Master is with me I am not afraid. Most people are affected with the fear of calamity, not of the actual calamity. Their lives are full of light, but they pull down the shades. God will deliver us from all fear. He has declared that He will and we, in faith, must believe Him. They looked unto Him and He cleared away all darkness.

"Take time to be holy. The world rushes on—let us spend much time with Jesus alone and we shall be like Him. The Christian does not have to go around with his head down. He should be the proudest person on earth. When sin is so rampant in

"Martha Malicia Goes Shopping"

You'll simply be amazed at the prices on high-class washing machines and vacuum cleaners at the Jewel Electric Company, 200 East Broadway. Why, really, no family can afford to be without these electric "housemaids"—and particularly when they are being offered at such a low cost! Will you believe that you may buy a wonderful electric washing machine at the Jewel Electric store for only $50? Yes, indeed, their prices on brand new washers of standard make range from $50 up! And just think of the time and labor that it will save you—to say nothing of the weekly laundry bills (and now that school has commenced, the laundry bills just seem to grow each week, don't they?). Then, there's a vacuum cleaner—why, it's no trick at all to run a vacuum over your rugs and carpets in the morning—and it's so much more sanitary than to raise a lot of dust as a broom always does. And, too, the vacuums at the Jewel Electric Company have such excellent attachments for dusting and getting into dirty crevices—it is truly a joy just to own one! And the prices on vacuums, too, are almost unbelievable—imagine cleaners from $5.00 up! But they are characteristic of the values at the Jewel Electric Company!

Salmon flavored with orange juice instead of lemon is a pleasing little innovation for the dinner table.

EXQUISITE GARMENTS
IT'S REALLY SO MUCH wiser to make your own silk undergarments, for they'll wear so much longer! The daintiest of combinations may be made with a pretty edging of hemstitching—and at the BROOKS' SHOPPE, 123 North Brand boulevard, you can have the hemstitching beautifully done—and most reasonably, too! Brooks' Shoppe makes just the loveliest of buttons for the new fall dresses too, and of your own materials if you wish!

Meats should be seasoned after being partly cooked. To put salt in before cooking destroys the flavor.

BUY THERE AND SAVE
ZITTELEEN'S PLAY shoes for boys are made of the very best quality California tan, and you may be sure that they will give excellent service—for those who've tried them say that they do wear well! And another thing—these shoes are so easily repaired, once they commence to wear! If you stop in at the store—140 North Brand boulevard, for the little tots' shoes you'll save quite a little money on them!

the world we should not fight alone. How much we need the shoulder touch. Don't give up. How easy it is when one person gives up, for another to do likewise.

"Let us praise and work and fight together. Every man is either a worker or a shirker—we should be workers together with God. There are only two great things in Christian work. One is to take the sinner to God in prayer and the other is to take God to the sinner for salvation. That's all there is to it. Let us unite in prayer and in the study of God's word—in song. Let us do faithfully our part."

Rally Week Coming
Next week will be rally week at the church and Sunday school. The week will start next Sunday morning when Dr. Davis will be present and will deliver the sermon. Monday evening the officers, teachers and other workers of the Sunday school will meet, and at this session Dr. Springer will be the principal speaker. Tuesday evening the official family of the church will meet in the church. On Wednesday the rally week prayer meeting will be held. The choir of the church will meet on Thursday evening. The young people of the church will meet in a rally service on

IN SPITE OF YOU
IF YOU WOULD HAVE GOOD HEALTH—and retain that health—just come with me to the FANCY BAKERY at 142 North Brand boulevard! Why, do you know that their breads and pastries are the most healthful you can buy? Yes, for you see they are made of the purest ingredients, only tested and proven products can go into their baking—and as for the plant—well the Fancy Bakery is known all over the county for its unusually sanitary plant and the exceptional sanitary conditions that prevail throughout the shop! But to

WHEN ALL IS SAID AND DONE!
WHAT IS THE USE—even though you are having "particular" guests for dinner, why fuss and fume over a hot old stove baking pies and "goodies"? True, home made pie is just an ideal dessert—but if you just phone the ELITE SWEET SHOP, of 134 South Brand boulevard, they'll bake the most delicious pies you've ever tasted—just to order for you! And, it will really be lots more reasonable than you could make them yourself when all's said and done! The Elite Sweet Shop is famed for the wonderful pies which they serve—and if you've never tasted them you have truly missed a real treat! Stop in some time when you're down that way and try them for yourself—they practically "melt in your mouth!"

An egg cracked at one end cannot be boiled successfully, but if cracked at both ends it will prevent waste. The egg will then boil as well as if it had been whole.

AT THE HEAD OF THE LIST
A BOY MUST HAVE good, sturdy, strong shoes for school if he is to get any wear out of them at all! Just such shoes is the line which Mr. O'Neill of the EUREKA SHOE SHOP, 208 1/2 East Broadway, has just taken over! He carries both men's and boys' work and dress shoes in several of the best known makes—and they are priced right, too! For expert repairing of shoes, too, you know Mr. O'Neill heads the list of good shoemakers!

To remove the skins from tomatoes, prick holes in the bottom with a large fork and hold them over a fire. This causes the skin to crack and it can then be readily peeled off without waiting for water to boil and sometimes soaking the tomatoes to a soft mass.

the final day of the rally. The various classes of the Sunday school are making a strenuous effort to double the membership of their classes.

Annual Meeting
The annual meeting of the membership of the church will be held in the church parlors on the evening of September 28. Much business of interest to the church will come before this meeting, including the annual reports of the various officers. A full attendance of the membership is expected.

ACACIA P. T. A. MEETING
Friday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. W. B. Alexander, members of the executive board and committee chairmen of the Acacia Avenue Parent-Teacher Association met to discuss work for the coming year. Ladies present were: Mrs. Anna Carr, vice-president; Mrs. Ed Evans, secretary and publicity chairman; Miss May Cornwell, treasurer; Mrs. Wesley Bullis, auditor; Mrs. Will Esselman, parliamentarian; Mrs. Arthur Wilson, historian; Mrs. Bennett, finance chairman; Mrs. Strong, philanthropy chairman; Mrs. Windas, educational chairman; Mrs. Hartman, membership chairman; Mrs. Harry Levey, chairman of patriotism. Following the conference, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the hostess.

ADVENTIST SCHOOL CROWDED
The Seventh-Day Adventist school on North Isabel street is now in session, and opened with an enrollment of 152, of whom 55 are in the academy and 97 in elementary grades. So crowded were the middle grades that the teaching force had to be increased and Miss Mavis Smith has taken grades No. 3 and 4. They are temporarily in the domestic arts building, but a room is being made ready for them. Mrs. F. H. Westphal is teaching a large class in Spanish. Miss Sadie Beard and Miss Lola Preston have been added to the academy faculty, and Miss Ethel De Groot to the primary department this year.

TEACHERS' MEETING
Teachers' meeting was held Saturday afternoon at the Broadway school where there will be but one new teacher this year, Mrs. Francis Wilkinson, who will have the A 1 room. Others on the staff are the principal, Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, who has grade 6, Miss Jennie Matthews B. I. Miss Lucille Sparks 2nd grade, Miss Holliday 3rd, Miss Speik 4th, Mrs. Hazel Williams 5th, Miss Susan Cook, kindergarten.

return—the 100% Whole Wheat Bread made and sold at the Fancy Bakery is one of the most healthful foods you might eat—and as for nourishment—there is far more nourishment in a slice or two of this whole wheat bread than in a whole loaf of some of the cheap products being sold for pure! You'll notice the change in the children, too, if you just feed them the whole wheat bread instead of the other—"they'll simply grow fatter in spite of you." At the Fancy Bakery you can buy a twenty four ounce loaf of this 100% Whole Wheat Bread for only 15c. Try some today—it is perfectly delicious!

THE BEST IS NONE TOO GOOD!
LITTLE DO WE REALIZE the importance of correct plumbing installation! So many people ask only for prices—and care nothing for quality—and it is people such as these who are always paying plumbing bills! If you have Mr. Sheehy of the GLENDALE PLUMBING COMPANY, 134 South Orange street, contract for the installation of the plumbing fixtures in your new home—you may then be certain that it will be well done—and most economically, too! Another thing, you can also consider yourself comparatively free from all plumbing worries and bills for many years to come—because the work which the Glendale Plumbing Company does is done to endure! You can also, you know, buy your fixtures from the Glendale Plumbing Company, and you'll find that they carry only the best—not the most expensive perhaps but the best quality! And, after all, while you're buying something to make your home more comfortable, more beautiful and more livable—the best is none too good, is it? If you are building a new home, go down to the Glendale Plumbing Company, anyway and talk over the plans with Mr. Sheehy, he'll be glad to give you any information that will be of help to you in laying your plans!

Soak potatoes in cold water for two hours before boiling and they will be white when cooked.

The new neck dressing for men seems to be low, apparently shirt, white or colored, with nicely tied ties over pleated shirts.

MAYHAP YOU'RE EVEN NOW CONSIDERING IT!

MR. MURPHY of the CLUB GARAGE, 107 East Colorado street, is certainly proud of the new model Sheridan—and well he might be, for have you seen it? It is an exceptional car—a car built of the very best materials money can buy, and made by experts—men long skilled in their lines! And it will climb anything! Yes, indeed, you need never worry about reaching the top if you're driving a Sheridan! Mayhap you've thought of exchanging your old car for a later model—then the Sheridan is the very machine for you to look at—for Mr. Murphy will make you a very liberal allowance—and the price of the car itself is amazingly reasonable! Better drive your old machine down to the Club Garage and let Mr. Murphy look it over—and incidentally I know you'll simply lose your heart to the Sheridan!

POLICE HUNT FAKE COUNTY WARDEN

The police are hunting for a fake county warden who operated yesterday in Verdugo canyon. Edward Parker and Tom Morgan went dove hunting there yesterday, on Lieut. George Mesnager's place. The alleged county warden accosted them, took their guns and licenses and ordered them to return home. The licenses were in perfect shape, and they are at a loss to understand the man's actions. Had the owner of the land complained, it would have been a city, not a county offense. In any case, their guns and licenses, they learned later, are not subject to confiscation.

CENTRAL AVENUE CHURCH DEDICATED

Dedicatory services were held yesterday morning at the Central Avenue Methodist Church, Rev. L. Y. Davis, presiding elder of the Pasadena district, being the principal speaker on this occasion. Rev. Brink, pastor of the church, had charge of the service. At the same time the mortgage, which has been standing against the church ever since it was constructed, was burned, this lifting a great weight from the shoulders of the members of the church. The mortgage burning ceremony was an unusual and impressive affair.

ENJOY WEINER ROAST

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Betz, 424 North Kenwood street, took a party of young people to Santa Monica Saturday evening for a weiner roast. They left about 5 o'clock in a big truck and ate their dinner up in the canyon. Later in the evening they went down to the beach and enjoyed the concessions. Those in the party were: June Hurlburt, Frances Betz, Earl Van Dyke, George Russ, Leland Brown, Frank Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Webster, Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Betz and daughter Hazel, Mrs. Krieger and daughters Zetta and Cora, and Harold Betz, the honor guest, who celebrated his 16th birthday.

Old West Revived With Indian Dances

BLISS, Okla., Sept. 12.—Boots and saddles. The swish of cowboy chaps. Clanking of spurs. Sombreros tilted at wide angles. Flashy corduroy shirts. Cracks of lariats. Whinnies of prize ponies. Refined beauty rubbing elbows with the roughness of Western cow-camps. Virility of the primeval stampeding for a brief interval the technical points of social denizens. Women marveling at the prowess of daring riders. The bark of carnival splinters inviting an inspection of their wares.

A browsing herd of complacent buffaloes. Indian chiefs in gaudy dress and war paint. Wigwams in the background. Pipes of peace. Thousands of eager folks shaking the hand of Chief Iron Tail, made famous through the medium of "buffalo nickels."

There we have more panorama of the old West as it is being reincarnated for a brief spell here today in the annual "round-up" at Miller Brothers' famous 101 Ranch.

Myriad glories of the past were brought back to thousands of Oklahomans who today visited the attractions in the walled-up city of the West. Here today is an exact replica of frontier towns made famous while Oklahoma still was a territory.

Past the frontier village the Indian camp of tepees rises up on a vast plain. In feather and war paint the tribes of "braves" and their squaws are holding a pow-wow. Few words of English are spoken. The old chiefs, aristocracy of gaudiness, have formed their smoking circle to puff pipes of peace, silent except for occasional grunts of acquiescence.

During the intense heat of this afternoon five score of "redmen" did the "sun dance." Bedecked in varicolored finery, the Indians danced to the monotonous droning of tom-toms, each participant chanting in sing-song language. Gazing intently at the sun, the "original Americans" danced in a circle until they were exhausted. Tribes represented in today's program were Poncas, Osages, Arapahoes, Cheyennes, Pawnees and the almost extinct Tonkawas.

The Red Dog saloon stands near the entrance. Within its walls men are seen standing passionately over the roulette wheel, as they stuff off thousands of dollars in make-believe money furnished for the occasion.

"Volsteadism" prevails in the Red Dog. Cowpunchers and the visitors are imbibing freely of drinks that lack the "authority." There's a thrill, though, in taking a glimpse at the grizzly bartender, with his diamond-studded necktie and the long mustache of bygone days.

The dance hall—"the days of '49"—came in for a big share of the patronage. With only meagre furnishings, the "joint of One-Eyed Mike," grim frontiersmen, the hall of "sinful synecopation," was thronged.

Champion cowboys competed for purses totalling $2,500. The roping of steers and "bull-dogging" furnished excitement for those interested in lariat skill.

Indians Do Sun Dance
With Chief Horse-Eagle as host, "redmen" in their Indian village to day entertained with tribal dances, arrow shoots, buffalo hunts and roping and riding events. Five huge buffaloes fell in death before the terrific onslaught of steel-pointed arrows, strung from bows of youthful "braves."

REUNION OF 91ST NATIONAL SINGLES DIVISION MEANS GAY FESTIVAL

With stores, office buildings and theaters promising to decorate with the pine tree in honor of the occasion, entertainment lining up, delegations from San Diego to Seattle sending word that they are coming to town in OD, and overseas caps to flood the streets with khaki, and banquet committees busily in search of the right sort of special entertainment, smokes and refreshment, the reunion of the Ninety-first Division, to be held in Los Angeles Saturday and Sunday, September 24th and 25th promises to be the biggest veterans' event the city has seen since the troops came home.

In order that the Division may show its strength, OD has been adopted as the uniform for the two days. Badges with space for the wearers' name and unit above and a pine tree dangling below will be passed out to all who register at headquarters—Los Angeles Post, American Legion, clubrooms, in the Washington Building. Cigarettes, apples, postcards, matches, candy, everything the soldier had passed to him through the train window, will be handed out at booths to be maintained by welfare organizations at headquarters. There will be automobiles waiting to show the stranger around the city. There will be bands to make marching from depot to headquarters easy and to lead the parade to take place Sunday. The only thing the visitor will miss will be the French maids running from the roadside to kiss him as he enters town. But then Los Angeles girls do love the uniform and you can't tell what they may do in private, and Hollywood movie queens do hate publicity.

Though ample provision has been made for large crowds, the banquet and billeting committees are worrying for fear they may be swamped, and hence are asking that every man who knows he is coming, get in touch with them. Frank X. Goulet, care Los Angeles Post, American Legion, Los Angeles, is making reservations—with each unit quartered together—and asks that as many as possible get in touch with him immediately.

Banquet committees also are anxious to know how many they will have to feed. W. W. Vickery, 343 South Hill street, is in charge of the 364th arrangements, and expects to dine the greatest number. But 363d is bringing a crowd from San Francisco and G. P. Hazler, 1122 Stock Exchange Bldg., hopes to have seven or eight hundred present. He is particularly anxious that 363d men in Southern California write to him.

Eugene Blanche, Union Oil Bldg., is making arrangements for the 361st feed; Clair Cardell, 908 Garland Bldg., for the 362d men; Alexander McDonald, 824 Van Nuys Bldg., for the 346th F A; Richard Griffith, Security Bldg., for the 347th F A; and Porter Brock Merchants National Bank Bldg., for the 348th F A.

Lloyd Cole, Van Nuys Bldg., is in general charge of all banquets and can furnish information about affairs of smaller units.

NATIONAL SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIP OPENS

(By International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—One hundred and eight tennis players made up the classy field of entries that started competition on the courts of the Germantown Cricket Club here yesterday for the men's national singles championship.

William T. Tilden 2d, international and playing through national champion, is in the lower half of the draw. William M. Johnson, his partner in the Davis Cup competition, is in the same half, as are Vincent Richards, Walter T. Hayes, Dean Mathey, R. L. Murray and Willis E. Davis.

The upper half of the draw is strengthened by R. N. Williams 21, Watson Washburn, S. Howard Voshell, J. O. Anderson and Ichiji Kumagae. Kumagae was expected to default his first round match to Voshell owing to his departure for Japan September 20, and this will leave Williams and Washburn as chief contenders for honors in the upper half, with Johnson, Tilden and Richards the leading contenders for honors in the lower half.

The presence of British, Australian and Japanese stars in the competition this year, coupled with the fact that the country's best players from coast to coast are entered, makes the 1921 tourney the biggest in history. The draw follows:

MRS. RYAN RETURNS

Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan returned Friday night from San Francisco where she has been the summer guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Hyde. The last two weeks of the spring term she was in the hospital but she has completely recuperated and says she never felt better. She attributes it in part to the expert medical attention she had from her son-in-law.

Aeroplane Ambulance Operates In Jungle

By T. N. SANDIFER,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—One of the most unusual cases on record of transportation of an injured man by airplane has just come to light in a report to the Navy Department from the commander of the Fourth Air Squadron, Marine Corps, in Haiti.

Recently an urgent call was received in Port au Prince, Haiti, requesting aerial transportation for a case at Maissade, in the inland jungles of that island, to the hospital at Port au Prince, on the coast.

Lieutenant Kenneth B. Collins, a Marine flying officer, at once started for Maissade in a DH-4B plane. On his arrival, however, he was met with a problem. Transportation of wounded and sick by air is a common thing in the island, where roads are rudimentary and at times bandit-infested, but this case was special. The injured man was badly mangled so that he had to be put in splints from head to foot and accordingly could not be carried in the usual way, upright, in the cockpit of the machine. His condition was critical and hospital attention was urgent.

The injured man accordingly was bandaged to the eyes, given a special face mask, wrapped securely to a six-foot plank, with a blanket, given a helmet and goggles, and lashed to the wing of the machine, close to the fuselage or "body."

The man was given a morphine injection and, unconscious most of the time, "stood the trip better than expected," according to the report.

The bulk of this bundle on the wings made the flying "rather difficult," the report commented. It required thirty-five minutes to make a trip that otherwise would have taken hours, or even days, of jolting and travel. In forwarding the report it was

To Tour Battlegrounds

A novel tour of some of the French battlegrounds has been started by Brigadier-General Cornelius Vanderbilt in his yacht, Romola, piloted by Captain Leonard Rouse of the British Naval Reserve. The yacht left from opposite the French Foreign Office. Plans are for travel through the network of rivers and canals until Dunkirk is reached. The party will follow the Seine to Charleuton, thence into the Marne. If low water prevents navigation of the Aisne-Marne Canal a return to Paris will be made and the trip continued through the Oise and the St. Quentin Canal as far as Cambrai.

urged that the service be speedily equipped with a type of plane fitted to carry patients in a prone position, as they are now compelled to carry all cases in an upright position in the machine.

EXPANSION OF HIGH SCHOOL OPPORTUNITIES

In outlining plans for Glendale high school Principal George U. Moyses has stated that the work of the school the coming year will be materially broadened by provisions made for the expansion of several departments.

As an example he mentioned the fact that last year one instructor carried the work of both the machine and the auto shop. This year each will have an instructor, and a much larger number of students can be accommodated. Special quarters have been provided for the auto shop by rearrangements of the machine and wood-working shops. Additional teachers have been employed for free-hand drawing and crafts work, giving the mechanical arts department three new full-time instructors.

Another teacher who has been added to the staff will divide her time between cooking and sewing.

By the addition to the music department of Z. Earl Meeker chorus work and piano instruction, heretofore impossible, can now be provided.

The staff of the commercial department has been increased by the addition of a teacher, and it is expected that intensive work in shorthand can be carried on, which will enable students to accomplish in one year what has previously required two years. This intensive work will be open only to post graduates or mature students.

Heretofore there has been little opportunity for games that can be played in short periods. This will be overcome by the new volley handball courts, which can also be used for tennis practice in serving. The idea behind these provisions is to give a large number of students an opportunity to play at the same time.

The new policy of continuous sessions from 8:15 a. m. to 3:25 p. m., with the understanding that students will remain on the grounds until their school day is finished, is in line with the practice of Los Angeles, Pasadena and many other schools of the state. Students will be expected to bring lunch or to patronize the school cafeteria, unless they are excused to go home for lunch on the special request of their parents.

It has always been a problem how to accommodate students with the small number of study rooms available and how to have these rooms supervised. This year the problem has been turned over to Mrs. Daisy Wilson, who will devote all her time to organization along this line and relieve teachers who shared the work last year. For the lack of sufficient space elsewhere it will be necessary to use the main auditorium as a study room.

DECENCY

The Glendale Press has been criticised because it allowed itself to be "beaten" in a story, which was the latest symptom of human degeneracy in the moving picture world.

The Glendale Press will continue to allow itself to be "beaten" on all such tales. It trusts that in the future no mistake of management will permit it to present to its readers such stories as "news."

In the modern idea of newspaper making the old belief that the "news" must be printed is discarded. A modern newspaper selects its portion of the news of the world and presents it to its readers much as a merchant selects his line of goods. A bootlegger and a panderer select different lines of goods from a dry goods store. Both make sales, do business, prosper and have friends.

The Glendale Press has selected and will continue to select and offer for consumption of its readers a line of news bearing on community upbuilding, national progress and foreign news of world-wide importance.

The Glendale Press believes there are, in this crucial hour of reconstruction following the war, deep and serious problems that should hold the fixed attention of all minds of high endeavor. It does not propose to offer such an audience the unfortunate degeneration of individuals, sex maniacs, divorce scandals or the passing hysteria of Morons.

Eliminating these elements of the "news" of the day, it is possible to give to the readers of The Glendale Press as complete a survey of the news of the world as any Los Angeles paper.

Those who wish to learn of the doings of habitues of the slimy sideways of the world can still secure this sort of "news" elsewhere.

OVER 4000 KNIGHTS SPLENDID DOUBLE OF PYTHIAS ATTEND BILL AT PALACE

Between 4,000 and 5,000 members of the Knights of Pythias order in Southern California attended the Page Rank ceremonial which was held at Tournament Park, Pasadena, Friday evening. Sixty of this number were from Glendale, the trip to Pasadena being made in ten automobiles. Frank Kennedy of 415 West Lexington drive took the part of Damon in the ceremonies, while Check Linn, the actor, was in complete charge of the dramatic part of the program. Prior to the ceremonies, Hon. Stanley Brown, of Los Angeles, grand chancellor of the order, delivered a short address.

The officers from Glendale who attended the ceremonial were Chancellor Commander E. E. Fram, Vice-Chancellor Calvin Nicholson, Prelate Frank Willett, Master of Works J. W. Hibbert, Master of Arms Milton Edwards, Keeper of Records and Seal Best, Master of Finance Edward Melzer, Inner Guard Samuel Brown and Outer Guard Fry.

WEST VIRGINIA IS A BATTLEFIELD OF "OPEN" SHOP.

NOTE—Any comprehensive, dispassionate discussion of the fundamental conditions underlying the present turbulent situation in West Virginia must logically comprise two separate, though independent, chapters—first, the social-economic causes and effect of the mining warfare, and, second, the emotional background of that bitter struggle. The adjoining is the first of two articles dealing with the first subject; the second will be discussed in a succeeding one. Both are based upon the results of the writer's several months' personal investigation upon the spot.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The West Virginia mining war is, in the last analysis, an Armageddon between organized capital and organized labor. Upon its ultimate outcome, which seems far off for the present Government intervention can only enforce an armistice but cannot end the war—hinges, primarily, the issue of the closed or open shop.

The struggle between the coal operators on the one side and the United Mine Workers of America on the other, revolves around the non-union coal fields in the southern part of the State, adjacent to the border of Kentucky and West Virginia.

There are altogether 92,000 miners in West Virginia. Approximately two-thirds of this total are union men. There are altogether some 40,000 miners in the southern part of the State, of whom 15,000 are union miners in Mingo county. The northern part is almost solidly organized by the Union.

Acid Test of the Open Shop
But between Mingo and the north lies the crucial coal district—the Guyan Valley, in Logan county. This is the richest "black diamond" field in the country and one of the richest in the world. Together with various unorganized districts to the south, it produces enough coal to supply the whole of the United States in an emergency. From these mines is derived the finest grade of bituminous coal to be found anywhere on the face of the globe. They hold the key to the country's coal industry. Consequently they form the crux of the capital-labor struggle which once again has come to a bloody climax.

These mines are unorganized. With them stands or falls the open shop. Logan county is the bulwark of the coal operators in their determined last stand against unionism. To get these mines organized is the all-overriding aim of the United Mine Workers of America. To bring these non-union miners—numbering between 15,000 and 20,000 men—into the fold of the most powerful branch-body of the American Federation of Labor is the dream of more than half a million union miners in all parts of the country.

The coal operators, on the other hand, are not one whit less determined to fight this unionizing effort to the bitter end.

The whole history of the unionizing of the West Virginia coal fields is written in the crimson of human blood. The organization of most of the fields was accomplished only after the miners moved on them en masse. Nine years ago they swept down upon the Paint and Cabin Creek mines, in Kanawha county, unloosing civil war that cost 600 lives.

In 1919, in the midst of the war, the great national coal strike was wrecked against the rock of non-unionism in the south of West Virginia, notably the Logan mines, as well as the unorganized Mingo fields, which kept supplying the Nation with steady streams of the vital "black diamonds" when the coal fields of the rest of the country were shut practically drum-tight.

Logan is Veritable Arsenal
That crisis accentuated the lesson to both sides—that in these regions lay the battlefield of Armageddon. Since then both the operators and the miners have prepared feverishly for the supreme contest. Gigantic sums of money, untold quantities of arms and legions of men of death-defying valor and iron will are at the disposal of each side.

CHARMING RECITAL AT LABADIE STUDIO

The charming recital given Saturday night by the two young women who are to assist Mrs. Evelyn Labadie in her Studio of Dramatic Art on Cedar and Broadway the coming year was thoroughly enjoyed by a most appreciative audience, which taxed the capacity of the studio.

Miss Vivian Aston, who will have charge of vocal work, has studied under Kavolsky and under Edward Strong of New York. She has toured the West in lyceum programs.

Miss Dorothy Wright, who will direct Oriental dancing, studied with the Morgan dancers and perfected her art in Washington, D. C.

Following this initial recital, to introduce the artists named, there will be weekly pupils' recitals Tuesday evenings.

It is the practice of Mrs. Labadie at these affairs to appoint pupils to act as hostesses, that they may become accustomed to the role, and on Saturday evening Miss Helen May Steele was charming in this capacity.

The evening closed with the little play, "Will o' the Wisp," and was preceded by the following program:

Miss Aston—"Villanelle" (Dell Aqua), "Mammy's Song" (Harriet Ware), "Alabama Coon" (Starr), "By the Waters of Minnetonka" (Lieurance), "Land of the Sky-Blue Water" (Cadman).

Miss Wright—"Awakening of the Statue" and "Ecstasy," in a costume of gray and rose, the gray representing the sea and the rose dawnning life; "The Secret" and "The Phantom," the last named being a scarf dance; "The Shepherdess" in a green and brown costume, in which the brown stood for falling leaves, and "The Pursuit of the Butterfly." The music for this charming dance was written especially for Miss Wright by Mr. Howard of Washington.

Following the "Will o' the Wisp," which is a little comedy, the title song was sung by Miss Aston and was then expressed in an interpretative dance by Miss Wright.

The program closed with an illuminating talk by Mrs. Labadie, who is a university graduate and who majored in psychology. Early in her work she discovered, she said, that the people who have powers of concentration are the people who succeed in art forms of expression.

STRAY AUTOMOBILE

A. L. Blodgett, 825 South Verdugo, telephoned to the police station yesterday that there was an automobile standing back of the mountain and east of Verdugo road that he thought had been stolen. Officers McLean and Collins investigated and found a car registered in the name of H. L. Mitchell of Venice. No one by that name can be found in that city.

ROB MORRISON HOME

Thieves entered the home of A. J. Morrison, 471 West Wilson avenue, Saturday night, and stole one suit of dark blue clothes, a silver wrist watch, a gold-filled watch case engraved with the initials "M. S." and a radiolite watch in an ivory case.

Entrance to the house was effected by cutting through a rear screen door.

In "Gentleman" Chaffin, as they call him, for his fame as a handler of guns is enhanced by his being a college man—and for the maintenance of which army the coal operators are levying so much per ton of coal.

That the present bloody clash was bound to come sooner or later was a foregone conclusion with all those familiar with the situation. The surprise to them was that it did not come sooner.

"Trigger Trial" Served as Spark.
But the proper psychological background for "action" was given at this particular juncture for both sides by the prospect of the second "Trigger Trial," beginning in Williamson, W. Va., September 6. There, in the little county court house of "Bloody Mingo" a dozen or more of the same men who last March were acquitted of the charge of murdering Detective Albert Felts, were to stand trial again before the same bar of justice, on the second of seven indictments growing out of the "Battle of Matewan," May 19, 1920.

The central figure of the first "Trigger Trial" and leader of the radical element of union miners, Sid Hatfield, was killed last month at Welch, W. Va., together with Ed Chambers, youngest of the sixteen defendants, by C. E. Lively, "star sleuth" for the Baldwin-Felts agency.

It is proper to interpolate here that the mining struggle is no different from warfare of any other sort in that propaganda is one of the main weapons of the mountainous battlefields, and that both sides are making liberal use of it. One of the essential arts of the propaganda game being to "create an atmosphere"—hostile or friendly—the killing of young Chambers of Matewan and the forthcoming Matewan murder trial, were dwelt upon at the psychological moment, and, duly linked, were profusely exploited both by the coal operators and by the union miners for their respective purposes.

Real Estate Review

By PAUL VISSMAN

Real estate sales in Glendale would be placed on a more efficient basis if the owners of houses or lots in this city would, when they list their property with an agent give him an exclusive listing for at least thirty days. Give the agent to understand that he alone will have the privilege of putting that certain piece of property on the market and in return he will expend every effort to effect a satisfactory sale.

By signing an agreement with an agent that he will have the exclusive listing of a certain piece of property for a certain period, the agent has an incentive to spend money advertising the property. He will plug hard, pushing that certain lot and above all else will take an interest in effecting a satisfactory sale.

On the other hand, if the agent knows that the property listed with him is listed with every other agent in town he loses interest and makes less effort to place it on the market. He always feels uncertain when he takes a prospective buyer to the door of a house that is listed with him, minus the exclusive clause in the contract; he is afraid that he will be met at the door and told that the house had been sold through other parties, and is no longer on the market. Such an occurrence lowers the agent's prestige with his prospect, and kills considerable interest, that is necessary to sell any commodity, especially real estate.

Signing the contract with an exclusive clause does not mean that the property cannot be listed with any other agent. It simply means that for thirty days or whatever time that is specified, the property will be listed with only the one agent. If at the expiration of the exclusive clause the agent has not sold the property the owner is then at liberty to remove the property from the hands of that agent entirely and give another salesman an opportunity.

Giving an agent the exclusive right does not delay the sale of that property, in fact it speeds the sale as the agent will make an honest and earnest endeavor to sell it before the expiration of his exclusive contract.

By granting a salesman an exclusive on the sale of property the original owner is only giving the agent an even break and a chance to demonstrate the fact that he is what his title implies, a real estate SALESMAN.

Favored by Nature.

Sacramento has the distinction of being the world's greatest distributing center for deciduous fruit, and has the largest almond plant and the greatest fruit and vegetable cannery on the Pacific slope. The pear orchards of the Sacramento delta produce the greatest crops in the world, the fruit being first to reach the markets each year. The delta district, which often is compared with the famed valley of the Nile, also yields thousands of tons of asparagus each year, as well as great quantities of other vegetables, while it is known throughout the nation for the variety and quality of its vegetable seeds. Lands bordering the streams of the valley produce most of the nation's hops. The eastern edge is prolific in the production of grapes and strawberries, while the recently developed rice acreage has placed California second only to Louisiana as a producer of this cereal.

Safety in Mid-Air.

A foreign investigator has made a special study of the possibilities of lightning stroke in mid-air and as a result of observation of nearly one hundred flights, in which the airplanes experienced some adventures with storms, he has come to the following conclusions: There is no danger to be looked for if the machine is not in the direct line of discharge, and if it does so happen there is little danger of the resulting from the nature of and distribution of the conducting metal portion. In 30 cases where the machines were struck directly, the writer maintains that there were no evil effects and in all cases where machines fell during a storm there was no evidence of scorching of parts or melting of metal.

Gem Was Natural Thermometer.

It was a wonderful sapphire, so it is said, that led the celebrated Doctor Sorby to the discovery of the nature of the liquid sometimes found enclosed in the cavities of crystals. The gem in question contained a tube-shaped cavity a quarter of an inch long and an eighteenth of an inch in diameter, which was so regular in its bore that it served, by means of the liquid partially filling it, for a thermometer. The contained liquid half-filled the bore at 50 degrees Fahrenheit, and completely filled it at 80 degrees. A study of the rate of expansion of the liquid led to the conclusion that it must be carbonic acid.

Boy Accused of Killing New York Policeman

Although William Hoey is only 21 years of age, the criminal career he has made is worse than that of any of the old, hard-boiled veterans of Sing Sing Prison, where Hoey himself is no stranger. At the age of 15 Hoey first got into trouble with the police, and since then his life has consisted of one arrest and conviction after another. Even in reform school he was accused of killing another inmate. When he gave himself up because he feared the wrath of the New York policemen, whose comrade, Patrolman Neville, he is accused of shooting down in cold blood, Hoey was at liberty only on parole following his conviction for another offense.

SHIP FIGHTS WAY TO FEED ESKIMOS

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 12.—Up in Eskimoland, fringing the Arctic, lookouts are anxiously scanning the horizon to the south for the first glimpse of the Nascopt. This steel-ribbed vessel, of the Hudson's Bay Company, is fighting its way through the ice-infested waters to victual the North against the rigors of another winter. She will return loaded with the annual fur catch.

The Nascopt is the link that once a year joins civilization with the wilderness of the Far North. Missionaries, police, Government officials and explorers depend on the arrival of the Nascopt or a sister ship for news of "the great world." They will learn for the first time of such events as the election of President Harding. When the Nascopt pokes its iron nose through the ice-locked straits and drops anchor, a shout not unlike that attending a ninth-inning rally rumbles through the wilderness. White men, natives and dogs clamber aboard the vessel in a brimming welcome.

It is the tenth time the Nascopt has made the 8,000-mile adventure.

MEXICO CELEBRATES 100TH ANNIVERSARY

(By International News Service) MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight.

Hot with wine, music, tamales and fireworks.

The greatest national celebration Mexico has ever seen started today. It is the one hundredth year of Mexico's freedom from the Spaniard. The celebration will last a month.

Not since the days of Porfirio Diaz, in 1910, has the country been calm enough to permit a national fiesta as magnificent as the one beginning today.

From the United States and from Europe troupers and visitors have come to participate in the celebration. The hotels are crowded. There is no Volstead amendment here, a fact to which the humor of the crowds testifies.

Back of the tinsel and wild display is the romantic history of Mexico's revolt against Spain. It was in September, 1821, that Augustine de Iturbide, who afterward became emperor, marched into Mexico City to announce that freedom from Spain had been won. Eleven years before, on September 15, 1810, occurred an event which set in progress the forces which brought about Mexican freedom.

Miguel Hidalgo y Costilla, priest in the village of Dolores, had joined the movement to secure Mexican independence. At midnight, September 15, 1810, Spanish soldiers came to his church to seize him as a conspirator. As he saw that he was to be taken he grasped the rope of the bell hanging in the belfry of the church, ringing loudly and shouting: "Long live independence! Long live to our Lady of Guadalupe! Death to tyranny!"

Celebration Has American Flavor

At midnight Thursday the President of Mexico, as well as every executive functionary in the republic, will do honor to the parish priest. His cry of freedom will be re-echoed in every section of the country.

The celebration is like nothing so much as a protracted American Fourth of July. Every city and State is engaged in local festivities. Peace, apparently, has descended upon the land—at least for the time being.

In Mexico City itself there are many typically American events in progress. Several American show companies are here. President Obregon is to pitch the first ball in a series of baseball games. In the great exposition hall many familiar American products are on display.

The Mexicans went into this celebration in regular North American style. Five million dollars is said to have been the cost of the great Legislative Palace in which the expositions are being held. This building is probably the most expensive and elaborate of its kind. There are 250,000 feet of floor space. The main stairway from the entrance is 162 feet wide. There are a great dance floor and a theatre in the building. On the stage of the theatre 500 performers will cavort. Opera stars and show-girls will tread the boards here.

Much of the display room in the Legislative Palace has been taken by American automobile manufacturers. In competition with the sound of their motors comes the music from numerous bands distributed throughout the building.

Great Pageant Planned

To this display at least two and a half million people from outside Mexico City are expected to come.

Concurrent with the centenary celebration is the International Aeronautical Show. Aircraft of all kinds hover over the city, at night illuminated by powerful searchlights.

The great event of the independence celebration is to be the allegorical pageant, produced under the direction of a Yankee movie man. This man is so used to handling great masses that he was employed to stage the pageant. In the pageant will be portrayed the early history of Mexico and Montezuma, and the Conquistadores will live again.

From Chapultepec Castle there shines a sun-bright searchlight, cutting through the night with an ever-widening, flame-like blade of light to Vera Cruz on the sea.

Music is everywhere. Politics is forgotten apparently. The whole land is warm—with the glow of wine, of music, of tamales and independence.

Preacher Denies He Murdered His Wife

The Rev. John A. Spencer, a Presbyterian minister, who was ousted from the church, accused of the murder of his wife, Emma Theresa Spencer, reads his Bible by the hour. Although he was in the company of another woman when arrested, Dr. Spencer maintains his innocence of any wrongdoing. Mrs. Spencer met death in Kencoti Bay, Clear Lake, Lake County, California, one night last July, and Spencer awaits trial in the County Jail at Lakeport—the first prisoner behind his bars since last February.

Elimination Of Germs From Dairy Utensils

By JOHN F. OSBORN, Assistant Farm Advisor

Clean milk from the standpoint of cooling immediately after drawing, care of the animal during milking, and the use of the narrow-top pail to reduce the number of bacteria caused by a milking process, was taken up in last week's farm page. The elimination of germs from dairy utensils is a vital factor in the production of clean milk. Greater precaution is necessary during the warm summer months if the bacteria count is to be kept down.

Before saying that milk is good one wishes to know that it is rich, clean and sweet. Accordingly, quality in milk is said to depend upon four items: (1) food value, (2) healthfulness, (3) cleanliness, and (4) keeping quality.

Of these four elements, keeping quality, or the ability to remain sweet, is the most difficult to protect successfully during the production and delivery of milk. If it were not for the action of germ life on the milk it would remain sweet indefinitely.

The larger problems of cooling and sterilization are very familiar to every commercial dairyman, but beyond the means of the man who has only a small herd. The information presented in this article is not meant to take the place of these practices but rather to supplement them.

Actual investigations in dairies have proved that the bacteria count may be reduced considerably if proper care is taken of the cans and pails. This study will be taken up in two parts, Part I, elimination of bacteria by rinsing, and Part II, drying in the sun and air.

and cans given such a washing as is practicable even on the farm, where steam is not available, will add to the milk later put into them less than 100 bacteria per cubic centimeter, provided they are promptly and thoroughly dried and kept dry until used.

When the sun is hot and the air dry, the exposure of the utensils, with the covers removed, to the heat of the sun is a satisfactory treatment. However, when the weather is rainy exposure to the damp air does not lead to quick and thorough drying and under such conditions the germ life in the utensils may hold its own or even increase in numbers.

General Conclusions

The studies have made it evident that the seeding of the milk under normal conditions comes principally from the utensils in which the milk is handled. They further point out that among the utensils coming into contact with the milk up to the time of its delivery to the milk plant, the cans are ordinarily the principal source of the bacteria added to the milk.

Observations made upon milk cans in Riverside county, as sent out from many of the milk companies, show that a considerable proportion of these cans are moist when returned to the producer. Accordingly the conditions are favorable for the development of an amount of germ life which will fully account for the seeding which the milk ordinarily receives before reaching the plant, if the milk is poured into the cans without their being rinsed or dried.

When the cans reach the dairy in this condition a rinsing with a liberal amount of water, at or near the boiling point, will so reduce the number of germs that if used immediately they will ordinarily add only about 100 bacteria per cc. of milk. It is also quite evident that if such cans as are not needed immediately are promptly and thoroughly dried and kept dry, the germs in them will not grow but will continue to decrease and the cans when used will have little effect upon the germ content of the milk. This does not mean that this treatment can take the place of cooling and sterilizing where the dairyman is equipped to do so, but where that is impossible the measures outlined above will greatly reduce the bacteria count.

There may be a surplus of milk on the market, but not good milk. The dairyman who produces a good clean grade of milk, of a low bacteria count, has always been able to command a large and fair price for his product and will be able to do the same in the future. But the dairyman who sends a low grade dirty product, of a high bacteria count, to the creamery cannot expect to get anything but a low price. The surplus comes only when the dairymen produce an inferior quality of milk.

Elimination of Germs from Cans by Rinsing With Hot Water

In the application of rinse water to milk cans the object usually in mind is the destruction of germ life. While such destruction is a natural result, particularly where boiling water is used, the rapid accumulation of germ life in rinsing water makes it evident that the mechanical removal of germ life is also an important function of rinse water.

When hot water is poured into utensils for the purpose of scalding them the heat passes quickly from the water to the walls of the utensils. Hot water below 140 degrees F. has but little effect when the time of exposure is short. Accordingly rinse water at 150 degrees F., in the quantity available on an ordinary farm, will be so promptly cooled as to have little killing effect upon the germ life in the utensils. Even boiling water is so promptly cooled by the cans that unless two or more quarts are applied directly to each can the germ-killing effect is much less than is commonly believed.

In summing up the data obtained in these investigations, it was found that when the cans were rinsed with water at 70 degrees F., no killing effect occurred, but the mechanical rinsing removed more than 2 billion living germs from each 8-gallon can. The use of one quart of rinsing water per can at a temperature of 150 degrees F., gives good results in the mechanical removal of germ life, but has only a small destructive effect upon the germs present. With the use of larger amounts of water at 150 degrees F., or of the same amount at higher temperatures, the removal or destruction of germ life is constantly increased.

Importance of Dryness

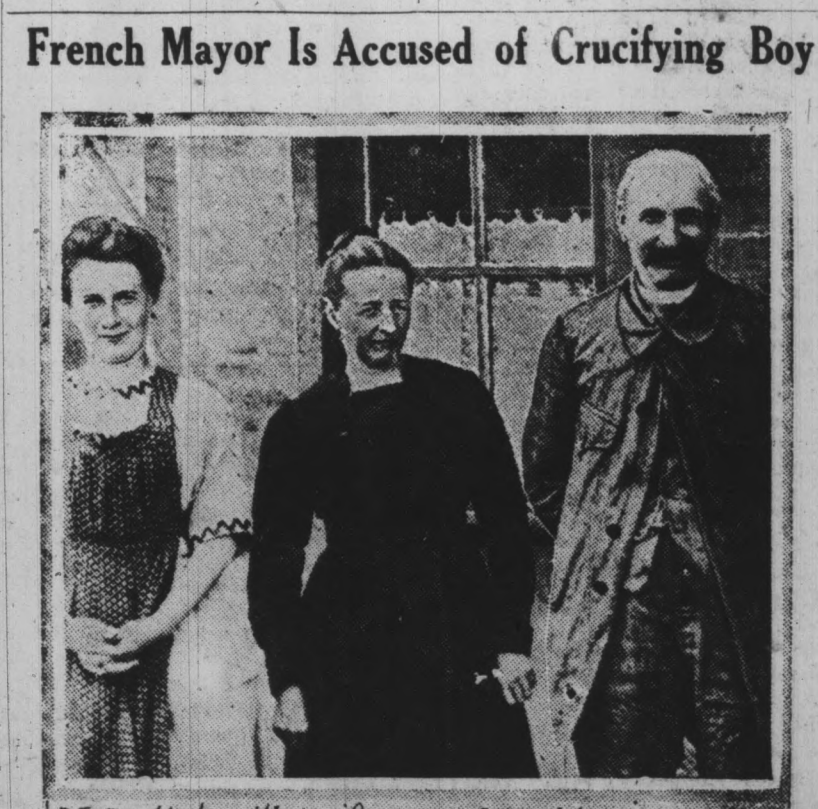

The main fact that stands out distinctly as the result of the studies reported in Part II, is the overshadowing importance of dryness as a means of reducing germ life in utensils. Pails

ARCHITECT AND DESIGNER

G. M. Lindsay, who has recently come to Glendale from Los Angeles, the city in which he was born, left that city in 1915 for the east and for two years was in Detroit. On returning he has become so impressed with the great possibilities of this city that he has decided to establish himself here as an architect and designer. He has taken quarters with Burton & Chandler on West Broadway. He is equipped to take commissions for all kinds of work, residences, public buildings, etc., but in the past has specialized to some extent in school work and supervised the construction of the Franklin School as the architect of the Los Angeles Board of Education.

French Mayor Is Accused of Crucifying Boy

M. Bullot with wife and daughter. This is the second time the attention of France has been called to this atrocious crime. It is said that the infuriated villagers, urged on by the Mayor, crucified and horribly mutilated the boy, and while there was still life in his body, he was burned at the stake.

ROMANIAN KING BREAKS PRECEDENCE

ROME, Sept. 12.—The King and Queen of Roumania will visit Rome in September.

The Roumanian minister to the Vatican, M. Penescu, has been received in private audience by Pope Benedict XV, to whom he delivered an autograph letter in which the Roumanian King asked for the honor of an interview.

This raises a rather delicate question, because, although the official religion of Roumania is the Orthodox Greek, the King and royal family are Catholics, and the Popes have always made it a point, since the fall of their temporal power in 1870, not to receive Catholic sovereigns, claiming that it is the duty of the latter to support the Pope in his protest against the occupation of the Eternal City by the Italian Government. According to the Vatican protocol, therefore, no Catholic sovereign should set foot in Rome while it is held by the "usurpers."

The Pope has consented to make an exception, however, in favor of the King and Queen of Roumania, who will be received at the Vatican.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat Too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water, before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless late them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

A Jealous Old Maid

By MURIEL BLAIR

"Don't talk to me about Elsie Strickland—Bonner, as she is now—my dear. If ever I had been tempted not to believe in original sin that girl's ingratitude would have convinced me. And after all I've done for that girl, to treat me the way she has!

"Of course Ralph Bonner was at the bottom of it—he and that Florence Williams. The Bonners were quite ordinary people—came here from the south, and nobody knows what they were before they came or why they had to leave their home, wherever it was.

"Elsie Strickland was a sort of cousin of mine. Her mother left her in my care when she died, and I took the girl into my home and looked after her from the time she was twelve years old. I must admit she was a good worker. I can't find any fault with her on that score. But she had common ways.

"Ralph Bonner used to call on me whenever he came home from the city. I don't know what he did there. People say I liked him, but that was just gossip. I hated him; I hate the very memory of him.

"I'm ashamed to death to tell you, but I suppose it's the only thing that will stop the neighbors saying I was in love with him.

"I can't tell you how shocked I was that that little guttersnipe Elsie Strickland should steal him from me! I spoke to the girl as kindly as I was able; I told her that the Bonners were a worthless lot and were under suspicion of having had to leave their town in the South in a hurry. I asked her if she thought any one of them worthy to wipe the shoes of a well-bred, well-brought-up lady like her.

"But I love Ralph," said Elsie, kind of piteously.

"The more fool you," I answered. "And that's more than he does you." I went into that parlor and sat down to think. You remember that Florence Williams, who left town suddenly last year, to take a position as a stenographer her folks said, but we thought she wouldn't have left so suddenly. If there wasn't something scandalous about it? Well, I knew she'd never dare to show her face in this village again. So I wrote a letter to her from Ralph—you know I'm quite good at imitating handwriting—and in it I had a few things that I knew would put an end to that garden flirtation. I showed the letter to Elsie next morning.

"That's how much he cares for you," I said. "He's playing with you, child, as he did with that poor girl. Now what are you going to do?"

"She turned so white I thought she was going to die. I had to give her ice water.

"What ought I to do, aunt?" she asked me. I brought her up to call me ma'am in public and aunt in private. I thought it sounded more affectionate.

"I'll dictate a letter to him that will save your pride, my dear," I answered. And believe me, it was a stinger.

"I found out that they were engaged and he was to send for her in a few months. I knew an answer would come from him. I watched for the postman. Sure enough it came. It almost made me cry. I'm so soft-hearted; but I knew my duty and burned the letter.

"Well, no more letters came, and Elsie went round growing as pale and white as a ghost.

"After Labor day I knew Ralph couldn't come back for another year, and I breathed freer. I forgot all about the business, in fact.

"And then, about the middle of October, the worst came to pass. I was sitting in my little room at the back, reading, and supposing Elsie was busy doing the laundry. She had got strong again and liked to be useful to me. Suddenly there came a tap at the door and I walked Elsie, Ralph, and that Florence Williams.

"I put a bold face on the matter. I had to.

"Ralph Bonner came forward and planked a document down on the table. 'I don't care to judge you, Miss Jones,' he said. 'That's between yourself and your Maker. But you'll sign this paper or I'll have you arrested for criminal libel.'

"I remember the very words; I hereby acknowledge that I have forged the appended letter purporting to be from Ralph Bonner to Florence Williams, it ran. There was a lot more to it, calling me names. But I signed it, dear. They had me trapped, you see.

"What do you think had happened? That false Jade, Elsie, had gone to the Williams woman and asked her about her relations with Ralph and found out about my well-meant plan to save her. They had telegraphed for Ralph, and the three of them had put their heads together and planned the miserable conspiracy. Of course Elsie had stolen the letter out of my desk—at least, I suppose she had.

"Well, they all marched out of the house together and that was the last I saw of them. So I don't expect to see Elsie Bonner again. You see, they were married that evening, and now the poor child's under her husband's thumb completely, they tell me. But anyhow, it's a satisfaction to feel that one has done one's duty, my dear, and I shall never regret it. Besides, they'll all go to the bad, some day."

ODD BELIEFS ONCE COMMON

Until Comparatively Recent Times, Silly Superstitions Had a Great Hold on the People.

Superstitions in regard to the most familiar things, as well as the most unfamiliar, still linger, even in a scientific age like ours.

What man of middle age cannot remember as a boy firmly believing that if he should touch a toad warts would grow on his fingers; that if he should drop a hair from a horse's tail into water it would become a water snake; that cobweb would stop the bleeding of a wound; that a stiff breast bone in a goose betokened a cold winter? Every countryman believes some of these and scores besides.

These superstitions are merely survivals of countless beliefs which seem to us mostly ridiculous, but which were once gravely accepted by everybody, even the most learned. How far back they go nobody knows. But Pliny, in his "Natural History," written in the First century of the Christian era, is full of them.

And all down the centuries, especially through the Fifteenth and Sixteenth centuries, there were scores of books which gathered and advanced such "wisdom," and they found a public way down into the Eighteenth century. They find their way—these beliefs—into literature, and Shakespeare's plays are dotted through with examples of them.

SHARKS IN DEADLY COMBAT

Sea Monsters' Duel to the Death Witnessed by Fishermen Off South Carolina Coast.

A combat between sharks is a rare sight, but a battle to the finish was witnessed in the sea off the South Carolina coast by some fishermen. A commotion in the water first attracted attention to the spot. The two monster fish were attacking each other with the utmost fury; and as the struggle took place at the surface of the water, the anglers had an excellent view of it. The sharks fought, not with their teeth, but with their long, powerful tails. They dashed furiously at each other, darting this way and that, each lashing at the other with his tail. At no time did the spectators see blood in the water, but the blows that were struck were evidently hard enough to do fatal damage, for after a while one of the combatants began to show signs of distress. It gradually weakened and presently turned sideways on the surface and then over on its back, in which position it floated, apparently dead. The men in the boat were about to attach a rope to the carcass when suddenly there was a mighty swirl in the water, and the other shark came swiftly to the surface, seized the defeated foe in his jaws and carried him down out of sight.

Quaint Garter Customs. There are several quaint customs in connection with garters. A description of two, however, must suffice. The one is that prevalent in several mid-European countries, of taking off the bride's garter by the best man at the breakfast, and cutting it up, and distributing the pieces among the groomsmen and guests.

The second is, or rather was, the practice in the German imperial family of giving the bride thirteen pairs, one pair of which was kept as a likely to bring her good luck. This pair is always made of pale blue silk (the maiden's color), and has diamond clasps. Another pair was sent to the museum of Berlin—where there are something like ninety most interesting specimens—and the remaining pairs were given as keepsakes to the young nobles and others who attended the bridegroom at the altar.

Judging from the modern specimens, garters are even nowadays scarcely less dainty, elaborate, or costly than of yore, though perhaps often worn more for ornament and sentiment than for use.—Kansas City Star.

Woman as Medal Designer.

Mme. Anie Mouroux, a French woman, is now on a visit to this country and has achieved a world-wide reputation as a designer and maker of medals. She designed a number of war medals, for the French government, and has done other notable work. She was a winner of the Prix de Rome, which was established in 1066, and during all that time she was the only woman who contested for the honor. When she was selected the award narrowed itself down to a group of six.

Up to Specifications.

"I do not insist," the old gentleman said, "that the man my daughter marries shall have wealth, provided he has sound judgment and unusual cleverness."

"Well, you must admit, sir," the youth replied, "that I showed sound judgment in selecting you as a prospective father-in-law, and considerable cleverness in getting Grace to accept an ordinary-seeming and poor chap as I am."—New York Sun.

Final.

"She refused you."
"Tentatively."
"What do you mean by 'tentatively?'"
"She said she would marry me when my salary got to be $10,000 a year."
"That wasn't a tentative refusal."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

PRACTICE OF ECONOMY

"MR. SQUILL, the druggist, is selling some wonderful liquid porcelain, and I think we ought to have a bottle," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "There are a dozen things about the house which would be greatly improved if enameled. The bathtub, for instance, is a disgrace, as most of the white coating has disappeared."

"People who don't like our bathtub don't need to wash themselves in it," replied Jamesworthy. "It's a good enough bathtub for any reasonable person. Of course, you want to put a coat of your liquid porcelain on it, as a measure of economy, but like all your retrenchment schemes, it would be a fizzle. The porcelain would never dry, and the first time I took a bath I'd get my person covered with it and would have to go to the taxidermist for relief."

"Last summer you had another great scheme for saving our hard-earned doubloons. You painted the lawn swing and never said a word to me about it. After dark, I took a seat in the swing, to rest my weary bones, and when I wanted to leave it, I found I couldn't. I stuck to that swing like a two-cent stamp to a dunning letter. The neighbors had to come over and pry me loose with spades and things before I could get away. My raiment was ruined, and it was a suit I had worn only three seasons. You explained to me afterward that you thought you'd be saving money by painting the swing yourself. Your passionate fondness for the kind of economy that involves spending money has brought these gray hairs to my sideboards and made me old before my time."

"There's only one reliable way to save money, Mrs. Jamesworthy. Salt it down. Put it in a tin can and solder the lid down tight. If you go to the druggist and grocers and hardware men, and ask them how to economize, they'll try to sell you something that will put you in Easy street. I don't blame them for it. They are in business for the purpose of selling things, but no sane woman would accept any one of them as her guide, philosopher and friend, in matters of retrenchment."

"It was the druggist who sold you five gallons of his patent disinfectant, telling you that you might save vast sums of money by having it on hand. There was a contagious disease in town then, and the druggist pointed out that people who had the disease were almost bankrupted by the expense. In case the disease was headed in our direction, all we had to do was to use this disinfectant and we'd be immune. The disgusted malady would turn in its tracks and hike away in some other direction."

"Of course, having the disinfectant on hand, we were suffering to use it, and when you heard that a man in the neighborhood had the heaves you concluded it was time to get busy. You sprayed the house with the stuff, and you know what happened then. We had to borrow a tent and camp out on the lawn for a week. The aroma infesting the house was so strong that the clock stopped and all our priceless oil paintings, turned black."

"Nobody could enter the house without wearing a sack over his head. It rained all the time we were camped on the lawn, and we all caught the champion colds of our lives. It was a week of unadulterated misery, and it was the result of your determination to save money by every expensive means. The only comfort or pleasure I got out of the whole business was derived from twisting the druggist's nose and telling him what I thought of him."

"The grocer told you last fall that you might save fabulous sums by buying several bushels of tomatoes, and eight dozen glass jars, and endless quantities of spices and vinegar, and making your own ketchup. You made it, Mrs. Jamesworthy, and it all spelt out. We buried it darkly at dead of night, the sods with our bayonets turning."

"You think you're smart, don't you?" inquired Mrs. Jamesworthy, petulantly.

In the Oil Belt.
"What is that man drilling?"
"A wildcat well."
"If he strikes a run of wildcats there ought to be good money in selling their pelts."

REALLY AN OLD, OLD STORY

The Younger Generation, it Would Appear, Has Always Been "Going to the Bow Wows."

Are the children of today going to the bow-wows, or is it just an appearance? Are the children of this world today worse in their generation than the children of yesterday? Let us take a census.

A volume of sermons printed in 1850, contains a wall from Dr. Lyman Beecher about "the terrible lack of parental discipline in these later days."

Dr. Jonathan Edwards made the same gloomy remark a hundred years before, saying that children behaved rudely and lacked the chastisement he had received.

Going back two centuries we find the famous Hugh Latimer, chaplain to Edward VI, declaring that during his 50 years of observation the manners of boys, their development at church and their conduct toward parents had undergone a woeful declension.

John Knox remarked on the discouraging signs of the times as to parents' lack of authority over their sons.

Going back to the Old Testament, it seems that the same doleful views prevailed among the Hebrews, for one of the prophets gives them this needed warning:

"Say not thou, what is the cause that the former days were better than these? Thou dost not inquire wisely concerning this."

So that, taking it all around, we are quite undisturbed about the present generation. It is probable that we were just the same little fools that they are—only a mere bit littler. We have forgotten.

BAN PLACED ON EXPLETIVE

Some Spanish Priests Prohibit Use of Word "Caramba"—Good Story in That Connection.

There is a church in La Guaira, Venezuela, which is said to have been erected with the proceeds of fines imposed upon the people of the parish who profaned their conversation with the word "caramba"—the common oath among all classes of people—or with stronger expressions. The church is therefore called "La Iglesia de la Santissima Caramba."

The word caramba is meaningless, but it is constantly in the mouths of all people, without regard to sex or condition, and is not usually considered reprehensible. But now and then a pious priest will be found who prohibits its use among the sheep and lambs of his flock.

A story is told of three pious friars who were traveling a hot and dusty road one day, driving a donkey which bore their luggage. The beast became obstinate, and finally lay down in the dirt, much to the damage of their property. One of them, more impulsive than the rest, forgot himself so far as to utter the first syllable of the forbidden expletive, and said "Car!" The second exclaimed "Ram!" and the third "Ba!" which completed the unholy word, and thus expressed their sentiments jointly without imperiling their souls.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Odors in Apartments.

There are times in the city dwelling, especially in an apartment, when just before the arrival of guests the hostess is conscious of a deadly odor stealing over the scene.

Instead of relying on the incense burner which must be carried from room to room in such an emergency and which often sends out only a fleeting fragrance, it is a good plan to keep on hand a little oil of cinnamon. Fill a shallow vessel with water and place it on the stove. When it boils put in a teaspoonful of the cinnamon oil. A spicy odor will soon fill the rooms. The water should simmer slowly, but not boil violently, after the oil is added. It is said that oil of lavender and other fragrant oils will give the same result. It is rather amusing to keep one's method of perfuming the home a secret, as this will add to the individuality of one's setting.

Birth of Photography.

Photography was cradled in obscurity. Centuries ago Lacoek, in Wiltshire, was a thriving town, famous for its tapestries. Today it has a far greater claim to fame, yet few people outside the county have ever heard of it.

It was at Lacoek that William Fox Talbot produced the first photograph. The event preceded the announcement of the discovery of the daguerrotype by four years, and five years later—in 1839—Fox Talbot startled the scientific world by exhibiting a series of photogenic drawings, as he called his photographs, at the Royal institute.

Fox Talbot's village resting place is marked only by a plain stone—a monument which has been the subject of very few photographs.—London Mail.

Calling in Cairo.

Foreigners who are compelled to live in Cairo sometimes take up their residence in a remote portion of the city which is not laid out with any regard to the convenience of persons who are finding their way about. There is no system in the arrangement of the streets or houses and strangers have great difficulty in finding any particular location. A well-known doctor undertook to furnish directions by which the house of a friend could be reached by a third party. Here are the "directions": "The M—'s live in a house without a number in a street without a name next door to an Armenian butcher who, I think, has no sign, west of Ahdin palace! The staircase has eighty-seven steps."

DIVORCED LONG-DEAD WIFE

Chinese Merchant's Action Due to Belief That Her Spirit Caused New Helpmate's Illness.

How a Chinese merchant divorced his wife after she had been dead for several years is the gist of a story which appeared in the Chinese press recently.

A Szechow tea merchant, the narrative says, by the name of Lyuh, had taken a second wife some time after the death of his first. As a result of the second union a daughter was born. Several days after giving birth, the young mother was taken ill and grew worse and worse as time went by.

All sorts of healing methods were tried without avail and it was feared that the young wife would die. At last a woman was called in and gave the opinion that the spirit of the man's former wife was causing the illness. Prayers were then offered to the dead wife, but still there were no signs of the living wife's recovery. The woman then suggested that the husband draw up a deed divorcing the dead wife just as if she were alive. This the husband, for a time, refused to do, but was later prevailed upon to do so in order to save his second wife's life. The deed was then taken to a temple and burned on the altar.

Immediately afterward the living wife showed signs of recovery and was soon her normal self again.

DEMAND IS FOR SPECIALISTS

Versatile Man Has Little Chance of Rising to Really Commanding Position in the World.

The versatile man has always been a source both of envy and of pity, says a writer in the London Daily Express. We wish at times we had his talents, but when we recollect the ancient proverb, "Jack-of-all-trades," and we wisely are content to be ourselves.

Versatility is an enviable luxury—but it remains a luxury. It is of little market value in this world. Each generation becomes more and more a generation of "specialists"—one man picks the hops, the other brews the beer.

So it is in every path of life, and so must be. Progress does not come of discussing delicately "cabbages and kings" in my lady's drawing room. Progress comes from gritting our teeth and mastering one thing at a time.

Once we have struck our roots, then, certainly, the wider our interests are, the more we appreciate life. But the merely versatile man has never struck his roots. His talents may be varied, but he fails to savor life in its finest sense because he has never learned the meaning of the finest sense.

Do one thing with all your might and happiness is yours. Do two things with half your might and your labors are vain. Make up your mind what you want to do or be. Then refuse to be led away by side issues.

Got It Straight.

Israel Zaigwill occasionally likes to slip among the crowd so that he can find out what they are thinking about his work, and he has never forgotten an occasion on a certain evening when he did so.

It was on the first night of one of his earlier plays. Filled with all a young author's anxiety, he ventured into the gallery in the hope of hearing some compliments. But there was "nothing doing," so he asked one man straight out what he thought of the production.

"Well, guv'nor," replied the man, "the leading actor ain't bad!"

"Ah, yes."

"And the leading lady, she'll do."

"Yes, yes."

"But, guv'nor, what a play!"

Valuable Snakes.

A nest of snakes, 15 in number, has been given an asylum on a doctor's estate in Woodbury, N. J. The doctor has found that all kinds of crop-destroying insects are eaten by the reptiles. The snakes are about early in the morning, hide at midday and are astray again in the evening. They are of a harmless species, brown in color and are difficult to distinguish unless seen on the move. The snakes prefer to loiter around tomato and cucumber plants, where many grub worms are to be found. Plants over which the snakes have assumed a protectorate are standing unscathed by worms. The snakes have grown several inches since first seen.—Exchange.

"Shape" of the Sky.

What is the apparent form of the vault of the sky? There is probably no one to whose eyes it seems a true hemisphere, with its zenith appearing as distant as the horizon. At sea, or in a flat country, the seeming greater distance of the horizon is best shown. One authority, in discussing this question, reaches the conclusion that the form of the vault, in vertical section, is that of the segment of a circle, the arc of which subtends at the center an angle of the order of 40 degrees. If the reader will draw such a segment, he may be surprised by the amount of flattening, which is thus ascribed to the sky. From this optical illusion many curious effects arise, such as the seeming increased magnitude of the sun and moon when near the horizon, and the apparently oval form of halos and coronas seen at low altitudes.

Criminal's Fatal Slip.

A curious error, due to the criminal's ignorance of science, actually kept the evidence of one murder intact for 12 months. The murderer, after killing his victim, a woman, placed the body in a dry cellar and covered it with chloride of lime. He thought the lime would destroy the identity of the body, whereas it did exactly the opposite. The body was in such a good state of preservation a year after that the medical experts had no difficulty in establishing through it the vital clue to the crime and the criminal. If the man only had mixed some water with the lime he might have escaped detection.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Porcelain Coin a Luther Memorial.

Eisenach—the German town in whose castle Luther was kept in hiding after his return from the Diet of Worms in 1521 and where he finished his translation of the New Testament—has celebrated this year's 400th anniversary of those events by the issue of a 1-mark piece in porcelain and special paper notes of half that value. There are several varieties of the notes. Some show the town of Eisenach in the middle ages, some the "Wartburg," the famous castle where Luther took refuge, and others "Junker Jorg" (the name under which the famous reformer passed during his seclusion) at work upon his translation of the Bible.—Manchester Guardian.

CHRIST IS WORLD'S KING DECLARES REV. TINNING

The sermon at the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning by the assistant pastor, Rev. Louis Tinning, was based on the words: "Blessed be the king that cometh in the name of the Lord." (Luke 19:28.)

Jesus Christ is the world's true King. He bears all the marks of a kingly ruler. When we think of all in the best of the earthly rulers, in Him were all those best things. He did not seek honor or power when among men. On this one occasion of the triumphal entry, when He rode into Jerusalem kingly, yet it was also humbly. Now He is the King of the universe and sits in power at the right hand of the Father. Men honored Him of old by hailing Him as a royal ruler. We may still do this for Him. How may we crown Him as King?

He may be crowned as King in the home. He should be a topic in our ordinary conversation. We speak of all else freely and easily. Why shun the name and kingdom of Christ when we converse with those nearest and dearest to us? He should be recognized at our table in the saying of grace, and at family worship. The entire atmosphere of the home should be charged and impregnated with the spirit of Jesus as the King and Lord of the home. You can notice the different atmospheres in the various homes.

And He may be crowned as King in business. We do not accept the idea that this cannot be done. The fact is that some of the greatest business men of the world crown Christ King all through their affairs. Are there any changes we would need to make in our business to adjust it to this standard?

He may be crowned in society. Not society as the term is ordinarily used, but society in the total, of all kinds and characters—how much society needs Jesus Christ!

That meeting of the Samaritan woman at the well—how skillfully He handled it; and she took Him as Lord, and brought others; yet that woman had been a sinner. And we are not to spurn such; we are in the world to let our lights shine where they are needed. As His spirit works in us, it will work out toward all, everywhere. If we love men as He loved them, it will be our joy to bring the Gospel message to those who do not know it.

We may crown Him in the State, politically. How much He is needed in the State, and yet, generally, He does not share that place. Slavery was driven out, the canteen was banished from the U. S. Army and the wine mess from the Navy; the brutal prize ring is banished from most of our States; intoxicating liquors are prohibited. What brought about these things—made them possible? It was the Church that made them possible.

And, most important of all, Christ must be crowned King in the individual heart, a place where He rules and reigns. All that we have and are must be laid at His feet for His use.

And we crown Him with honor in looking for Him as the coming King. After His sufferings for us were completed and He had risen to glory, the angels said, "This same Jesus shall come in like manner as ye have seen Him go into heaven." When is that time coming? We know not, but it is when He wills. We may honor Him by looking forward to His coming, with the song on our lips: "Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord."

Mrs. Nicholas Williams and little daughter, Margaret Lee, of Dallas, Tex., is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, at 216 East Windsor road.

REV. COLE RETURNS AND OCCUPIES HIS PULPIT

Central Christian Church Welcomes Back Its Pastor and Speeds Its Missionaries

The auditorium of the Central Christian Church was crowded at both services yesterday; in the morning because of the return of Pastor Clifford A. Cole from a three weeks' trip in the East, during which he attended the international convention of the Disciples of Christ, at Winona Lake, Ind., and in the evening on account of the farewell appearance of Willard Learned and wife, the Church's own missionaries to Africa, who leave here today for a year's intensive study at the College of Missions in Indianapolis, Ind., preparatory to taking up work at Lotumbe, 700 miles up the mighty Congo River, where Mrs. Learned's sister, Mrs. Evelyn Utter Pearson, is now working.

The pastor gave a brief resume of the doings of the great convention, which lasted a week, touching the high spots only. He stated that records showed a net increase in membership of 120,000 during the nine months just past, and an intensive campaign of evangelism for the next five years to secure 1,000,000 new members, was planned.

Several vexing problems of the home and foreign mission fields were solved to the satisfaction of all, and the coming year's work in all lines was laid out. Two remarkable addresses were those of Rev. F. B. Meyer, the noted Baptist minister of London, England, and Wm. Jennings Bryan. The latter made a flying trip from Chicago on Sunday afternoon for the special purpose of delivering the lecture. It consumed two and one-half hours, closing at 1:30 a. m.

Another outstanding feature touched upon by the pastor was the great communion service in which 7500 persons participated.

The evening service was one long to be remembered. The pastor, Rev. Cole, presided during the opening, and introduced the young recruit in a few earnest, touching words, telling how he grew up in the Church and Bible School, coming from a Godly home, and of his own volition dedicated his life to the cause of Christ several years ago. With this purpose in view, he attended Occidental College four years, graduating last June, preached for the Christian congregation at Oceanside during the summer and married his childhood sweetheart, Miss Grace Utter, who was herself a member of the Glendale congregation when a little girl, from 1908 to 1913. She, too, has devoted her life to the mission field and will study with her husband during the coming year to fit herself for the work.

Willard's subject was "What Shall I Do With My Life?" His text was Mark 8:35—"He that loseth his life for My sake and the Gospel's, shall find it."

Said the young speaker: "This question is one that comes to every boy and girl early in life, and it is only as he or she fixes a definite purpose that anything is accomplished for humanity. God gives to everyone the choice of a vocation and of the kind of life to lead. Many misuse this privilege and their lives count for naught. To achieve success, one must have a purpose and this purpose may be a selfish one, that of acquiring wealth, honor or fame, and many there are who thus resolve. A much smaller class set out in life with the fixed purpose of working for others, and theirs are the lives that count. Christ influenced the world for good because His whole life on earth was devoted to serving others. The biggest thing in life is to serve others. I challenge you to the task. Are you waiting for God to call you, or is He waiting for you to answer?"

Following the address, Rev. Cole conducted the beautiful and impressive ordination service of the Church, setting Willard apart to the work of a minister and an evangelist. He was asked to subscribe to several requirements, which he did, earnestly and reverently. Then kneeling, with the hands of the elders of the Church resting on his bowed head, he was consecrated to the work by the ear-

VERY UNIQUE SOCIAL AFFAIR HELD AT THE VERDUGOS

The famous old adobe manston, once the home of the Verdugos who gave their name to the green hills and canyon which constitute its beautiful setting, was on Saturday evening the scene of a brilliant and unique social affair at which Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell, J. W. McCluskey, and Miss Kathleen Shippen were hosts and hostesses.

It was a barbecue and seventy-five guests sat down to a beautifully appointed table made gay with pots of zinnias and the softer coloring of great mounds of grapes.

The thirty-five pounds of beef provided for the feast was roasted in a pit in the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. George Mason, friends and neighbors of the Russells, and one of the pleasures of the afternoon was a walk to the Mason home to witness the opening of the oven and removal of the delicious roasts. Another great pleasure was an inspection of the wonderful collection of paintings by Mr. McCluskey, whose studio has been a mecca for artists and art lovers for years.

It would be impossible to enumerate all the good things to eat that made up this typical Spanish dinner, or the beautiful old-time Spanish costumes in which many of the guests were clothed. In the quaint environment it was like turning the hands of the clock back one hundred years. After the feast a huge bonfire was built around which the company gathered, Miss Shippen directing an impromptu program of songs and recitations with which guests entertained each other. Some of the old-timers, survivors of that picturesque period, had interesting tales to tell of early California, but with the old-time songs and stories were blended the modern lyrics and dance tunes. Mrs. C. F. Baruda, who was present, gave one golden song which drew bravos from the delighted audience, and Mrs. Gibbons, and Miss Helen Peabody also sang beautifully.

Many of the participants were from Los Angeles, the list including Robert Newport, Mrs. Ella Robinson, Mrs. Peabody and Miss Helen Peabody, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Baruda, Mrs. Gibbons, Mr. and Mrs. George Flint, Mr. Hall, Mrs. Elizabeth Shippen, Miss Kathleen Shippen, Mr. and Mrs. Day, Mrs. Dock, Mrs. Haywood Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Sigurd Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell, Mrs. Joan Warren, Mrs. Rose E. Winer, Miss Lorraine Winer, Miss Alys Loos, Mr. Hollingsworth, Mrs. Hugh Phillips, Mrs. Ella Richardson and her son Johnny Richardson were present from Glendale proper and many from Verdugo Woodlands.

Rev. Ernest E. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city, will journey to Santa Monica today. He will remain there for three days in attendance on the conference which is being held by all the Baptist pastors of Southern California.
