SUBJECT: Investigation into Naval Hall and Marine Museum

1. Character of Naval Hall.

The Naval Hall was an organization established for the purpose to spread Naval Military thought and to cultivate Naval spirit, and its important posts were occupied by the high Naval officers in the present office, as we have reported before.

They founded the Naval Hall to accomplish these purposes and exhibited souvenirs, specimens, books and pictures concerned with Navy. Besides, they opened meetings of cinema and lecture also concerned with Navy. In this way, they made enlightening propaganda toward the general public with regard to the importance of Navy in the national defense.

2. Views as to the measures to be taken toward Naval Hall and Marine Museum.

The Naval Hall was voluntarily dissolved on 20 Mar 1946 at the same time when complete disarmament was made in our country, after the surrender, as their object of existence was lost, and transferred their property to the Marine Museum, a peaceful scientific research organization concerned with sea.

Although we order dissolution by the Imperial Ordinance No. 100, to the Naval Hall which does not exist in our country at present, the organization there no longer and the principal staffs have been already, purged from public offices, because of professional military officer, not waiting the order of the Imperial Ordinance No. 101. In case of the Naval Hall, we think the dissolution in accordance with the Imperial Ordinance No. 101, is not necessary and only the custody measure of property will be proper.

Although the Marine Museum is an organization established by the transferred funds of former Naval Hall, their purpose is peaceful scientific research concerned with sea, not making armament their object. This the purpose of establishment is entirely different from that of former Naval Hall. Soon after the foundation, greater part of their property was taken over by the American Military Team. Therefore, the organization made no practical activities yet. There are no professional military officers among their officers which consist of scholars concerned with sea. This also shows the difference of character from former Naval Hall.

ASANO Sennosuke, former Captain, is doing miscellaneous business as a clerk of the Marine Museum. However, his post is no more than a clerk and has no decisive right of the organizations intention. Accordingly, we think it is ~~not~~ necessary to recover its property transferred from the Naval Hall, ~~and~~ to dissolve the Marine Museum.

My Record:

Called Bill Hirsch who said that the property was desired for a Social Welfare School by the Welfare Ministry. CPC will receive a final report on 23 Jan 48 at which time we will decide on action to be taken.

On this date Mr. Honda was also informed that on the basis of this rpt KAIGUN KAN appeared to fall under P.O. 101.

- a. Foundation of Navy Hall, and its management and maintenance.
- b. Collection and exhibition of souvenirs, specimens, books and pictures concerning Navy.
- c. Cinema and publication regarding the spread of Naval Military thoughts.
- d. Supply and lending of materials to enterprises aiming at the spread of Naval spirits, or lending of the hall to them.
- e. Other works considered to be necessary by the decision of the board of trustees, beside the above-mentioned items:

4. Fund

The fund at the time of dissolution, 20 March, 1946, was as the annex (8).

5. History of the Organization

MITANI Tei, Shitaya, Tokyo Made a contribution of ¥1,000,000 for national defence, giving Army and Navy ¥500,000 each, about 1932. Consequently the Navy Department of that time was determined to establish Navy Hall, Foundational Juridical Person, in Harajuku, Shibuya-ward, Tokyo, for the diffusion of naval military thoughts according to the intention of the contributor. On 15 August, 1935; the plan was confirmed by the approval of Naval Minister. However, the contribution of MITANI was short of the establishment expenditure. Therefore, with more subscriptions of ¥ 400,000 from the plutocrats of MITSUBISHI, SUMITOMO, etc., the construction work was started in January, 1936 and it was completed on 30 April, 1937. The Hall was opened to public 27, May the same year, and was in use for the above-mentioned purpose.

and enterprises. However, as the Navy Hall lost its original mission to spread Naval military thoughts, by the surrender, there rose a suggestion of dissolution among the directors. It was decided to be dissolved by the approval of the Naval Minister, 30 November, 1945 and was dissolved by its own will, 20 March, 1946. The dissolution registration was completed on 27 May, 1946.

5. Process of the Ocean Museum.

The Navy Museum (Kaigun-kan) was dissolved of its own accord on March 20, 1946. The Ocean Museum was established on March 30, 1946, being donated all of the property of the former Navy Museum. Some of the land and buildings together with the movable properties of the Ocean Museum was, however, taken over by the U.S. 8th Army, dated Dec. 9, 1946. Consequently the business mentioned above has never been carried out successfully.

11. Their Relations with SUIKOSHA and KAIJINKAI

As above-mentioned, the Navy Hall was an organization established for the purpose of diffusion of Naval military thoughts and cultivation of Naval spirits, while SUIKOSHA and KAIJINKAI ran their business for the purpose of friendship and mutual aid.

Thus, their purpose was entirely different from that of SUIKOSHA and KAIJINKAI, and of course they were separate foundational juridical persons legally. However, the high officials of Navy Department were prescribed to be appointed the officers of Naval Hall, and the similar Naval high officials also were to be appointed the officers of SUIKOSHA and KAIJINKAI. Only on this point, they had relations with SUIKOSHA and KAIJINKAI in their personnel affairs.

Furthermore, the Marine Museum which was subscribed of the property by Navy Hall, also had no connections with SUIKOSHA and KAIJINKAI in their purpose, members and property. Accordingly, they were entirely separate organization.

12. Concerning the Proposal of MITSUBISHI-Main Office with regard to the Restoration or Use of Navy Hall.

When we asked MITSUBISHI-Main Office personnel of their opinion about the subject matter, they said that they had no thought to hold the Hall as their own, so of course they had no intention to restore or use the building, for the contributions at the time of foundation of the Navy Hall, were made by not only MITSUBISHI-Main Office but by other plutocrats also. They subscribed considerable amounts while MITSUBISHI contributed only ¥ 200,000.

However, as there are many MITSUBISHI line companies, the Main Office is investigating of their associated companies at present if there are some that possess such intention, among them. Therefore, they will report us as soon as the affair becomes clear.
