OBSERVATIONS OF THE STROLLER

On Theatrical Life and Environment

STORIES AND ANECDOTES

Jack Oberly was a playwright who promised a most remarkable career. By sheer merit and ability he had worked his way from obscurity to the point where metropolitan producing managers ever had a look-out for the output of his brain. Oberly was earnest and indefatigable in his pursuit of success and the pleasure incident to the cognizance of having earned his rank. He looked forward to the time when he could say with Robert Louis Stevenson, "I have tasted of pleasure for I have done good work." All his boyhood had been spent in the study of his art. His mind had been receptive, alert, observant—never susceptible to the excitement that lures most men from intellectual pursuits during the early period of their lives.

But his time came. To him she was unattainable. To a man of his temperament there is never but one and even with his strength of character, he could not reconcile himself to the disappointment. Realizing that his condition was not conducive to good work, he ceased to work at all, meaning that the dereliction should be only temporary. But the mood held on. Morning after morning he was piled into a cab on Broadway and sent home. It was the only way he could find forgetfulness. But his Lethe cost him his health, and the doctors advised a change of scene and of climate.

With characteristic originality, he shipped under the regime of a captain who had been an old friend of the family. His finances were exhausted and it was essential that he secure an income of some kind. The sea appealed to him. So did the prospect of working under a man whom he knew would bear with him "for auld lang syne." They kept him sober during every voyage, but the captain had to seek him out at every port and escort him back to the steamer.

One muggy night in Liverpool, the captain made the round of the grog-shops, as usual. Finally he found Jack in his usual condition, with the added disfigurement of a tumble in the gutter.

"Jack, my boy," said the superior officer, in tones of gentle reproach, "just look at the shameful condition you're in."

"I know, I know, cap'n," responded the leering Jack, "that's all right. I know, but why call attention to it?"

The following advertisement of the Low Dockstader Minstrels in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat last week occasioned much merriment.

Dockstader Scale of Prices. Owing to the present difficulty in obtaining currency, Mr. Lew Dockstader announces the following scale of prices for the week:

Entire Lower Floor—One Extra Sirloin Steak.

Ten Rows Balcony—Ten pounds of Pork Chops.

Six Rows Balcony—Two pecks of Snurkraut.

Gallery—18 Fresh Eggs.

Box Seats (Upper)—One peck of Onions.

Box Seats (Lower)—15 pounds of Cal's Liver.

Standing Room—Two gallons of Buttermilk.

Opera Glasses rented for Two Pigs-feet.

LYLLIAN LEIGHTON.

The beautiful woman whose picture appears above, is well known in the vaudeville and dramatic world, and is making her way to the front with meteoric rapidity. She opened last September in a new one-act playlet, entitled Bowertown Junction, written by the well-known comedian and monologist, John H. W. Byrne.

Mention of Garden City, Kansas, and the Sells-Floto Shows brought to light the following story on J. E. Hennessey, the press agent A Modern with that circus:

Cliff Dweller. While the parade was on at Trinidad, Hennessey was the main figure in stopping a runaway which threatened to upset and open the panthers' cage. After the pack-up at La Junta, and as the train was leaving Colorado, Hennessey, while dreaming of the runaway, made an excited leap out of an upper berth, thereby accumulating a bunch of bruises and sprains.

Although Garden City is a town of but 4,000, it possesses, among other improvements, a $100,000 hotel, which runs up into the air some four or five stories. As the shows Sundayed in Garden City, Hennessey demanded a room on the top floor, where he might gather in a cool breeze and nurse his hurts.

The editor of the local daily had learned these things about Hennessey when he was telephoned by one of a number of young ladies who had just returned for their college vacation, and who wanted to inquire if the Sells-Floto shows had brought "anything of a purely ethnopsychological nature in which they might profitably be interested."

"Why, yes," said the newspaper man, "they have a real cliff dweller. He's up on the top floor of the hotel and won't come down, but if you'll come down to-morrow I'll point him out to you."

"A real elf dweller! How lovely!" was the delighted comment. The next day Hennessey was pointed out to four excited college girls, who followed him at a respectful distance clean down to the lot, making ethnological notes, meanwhile. Two of these notes relate that circus men call a cliff dweller a "side-waller," and that coming down to a low altitude makes him walk lame.

A Philadelphia property man was relating, in a sad and respectful voice, his memories of Richard Mansfield.

"If one worked hard," It Was he said, "one got on with The Real Mr. Mansfield well. He Thing. never rebuked me but once, and then it was hardly my fault.

"It was a sultry afternoon in the spring, and we were rehearsing one of the Mansfield plays—I think it was Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde—and here and there I had to supply a clap of thunder.

"Everything went well for a time. Then, in an unexpected place, a loud roar of thunder rumbled forth. Mr. Mansfield hurried to me.

"'Look here,' he said, with a hurt look, 'do be careful, won't you? A mistake like that would be very serious before an audience. That clap of thunder came in the wrong place.'

"'I'm very sorry, Mr. Mansfield,' said I; 'but it wasn't my thunder. It came from outside.'"

A little girl, the French erlite Sarcey related, once presented herself at the Paris Conservatoire in order to pass the examination for admission. All she knew was the First fable of The Two Pigeons, Of a Star, but she had no sooner recited the opening lines when Auber stopped her with a gesture.

"Enough," he said, "come here, my child."

The little girl, who was pale and thin, but whose eyes gleamed with intelligence, approached him with an air of assurance.

"Your name is Sarah?" he said.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"You are a Jewess?"

"Yes, sir, by birth, but I have been baptized."

"She has been baptized," said Auber, turning to his colleagues. "She has said her fable of The Two Pigeons very well. She must be admitted."

Thus Sarah Bernhardt, for it was she, entered the Conservatoire.

WAGON SHOW MISTAKES.

When I traveled with a wagon show, our jumps were very small, Our driver was so cross-eyed, he could hardly see at all.

He had to have a helper riding with him on the seat, To show him just what road to take, or we'd a railroad meet.

One night it blew an awful storm, I thought it would be best,

For me to take the reins myself, saying "Old man, you need rest."

"You're right, my lad, I'm tired, too. I guess I'll hit the hay.

We've only thirty miles to go, before the break of day."

With horses dashing through the rain, a funny thing I spied,

The barns I passed all looked alike; "Wake up, old man," I cried."

"What's the matter? Stop the team, while I investigate.

It's day-light, now, we're not in town, I fear there's some mistake.

This road is good, it's all fenced in, there's a grand stand on the right,

By heavens, it's the race track, kid, you've been driving round all night."

Amusement News of the Week in Three Big Western Towns

Thomas Shea has Fine Run in Minneapolis

The New Coliseum in Seattle, with a Seating Capacity of Twenty-six Hundred, is Playing Generally to Capacity. Business good in Milwaukee.

THE popular Henry W. Savage production, The Prince of Pilsen, is pleasing large audiences at the Metropolitan Theatre this week with a company that is almost entirely new. This comic opera is clean and healthy and contains none of the sly and rather objectionable features, which is so often the case with plays of this style. It is quoted as being full of mirth, rhythm and laughter, and the songs and musical numbers are of the highest merit. The chorus is well trained and charming, and taken as a whole, the production is well worth seeing. The last half of the week brings to this theatre the well-known star of the Pacific Coast, Florence Roberts, in the new production, Zira. This play is founded on the book by Charles Reade, The New Magdalen, but has been changed to some extent—the scene being now first laid in South Africa, at the time of the Boer War, instead of the Franco-German war as is the time of the book. The half-week of November 17, The Belle of Mayfair, an English musical comedy, will be the attraction at the Metropolitan and November 21, December 4, Walker Whiteside will play in The Chain of Blood, a new production of which great things are expected. November 25 Olga Nethersole will begin her engagement here in Sappho, also giving Carmen, followed by William Collier in Caught in the Rain. Other near hookings are Fascinating Flora, Louis James in The Comedy of Errors, and The Merry Wives of Windsor, The Girl From Out Yonder and The Honor of the Family.

Thomas Shea, tragedian, and very popular in this city is giving some more than excellent work in repertoire at the Bijou Theatre this week. Two years ago, when he was last here, he won the fullest approval of the press and public for his strong and emotional acting which has but improved and mellowed by the lapse of time. Mr. Shea is presenting The Tolls, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, and an entirely new play entitled The Soldier of the Cross which is a story of ancient Pompeii at the time of its destruction by the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius, and is both strong in dramatic effect and of excellent value as to the cast and setting. In this play Mr. Shea appears as Ajax, the pagan gladiator, with great success. For the week of November 17 Rose Melville and her imitable production of Sia Hopkins will be the attraction at the Bijou, and other hookings for the near future are Kellar, the magician with Howard Thurston, The Ninety and Nine, Lena Rivers, in which Bonah Poynter is being starred, Parted On Her Bridal Tour, Harry Clay Blaney in a new play, Willie Live, The Boy Detective, Fiske O'Hara in a new romantic drama entitled Dion O'Dare, and Texas.

The Christine Hill Stock Company, at the Lyceum Theatre, drew packed houses all last week with the famous play of Medieval France, The Celebrated Case. For the present week with the famous play of Medieval France times by Franklin Fyles, author of The Girl I Left Behind Me, and entitled Cumberland '61, which the playwright declares is a better production even than the first-mentioned. The play requires the full strength of the company and elaborate scenic effects and is full of the atmosphere of the civil war and the fascination of army life and characters. The company is happily cast and the houses are so far more than satisfactory. Next week, Miss Hill offers a novelty in the way of stock productions, it being none other than the famous Ibsen play, A Doll's House, which deals with the great vital question of all times, Is Marriage a Failure? A complete and conscientious production has been promised, and is looked forward to with great anticipation by the patrons of the Lyceum.

The headliner at the Orpheum Theatre this week is another condensed chorus called The Crickets, which is one of Joe Hart's musical acts, and which is full of color, action and beauty. Katherine Bunn, soprano, and William M. Criles, tenor, are the principals appearing with this chorus. Another important feature of this week's bill is Ben Welch, impersonator, whose act contains very clever representations of Hebrew and Gago types. Other acts of great merit on this bill are Emma Francis with her two dancing Arabs, Perry Corvey, Bedelair Brothers, Leona Thurber with her quartet of colored children and Daisy Dumont. Next week the headliner will be Gayer and Crislin, and other features will be The Sunny South, Paul Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Volkler, The Holdsworths, LaToska and Casey and Craney.

An all-star performance has been announced for the coming week at the Union Theatre and the acts are not only of exceptional worth and merit, but also of great variety. Nellie, the marvelous juggler, is a very important feature of the bill and he is quick and graceful in executing a large number of startling tricks. Ahlbi, the magician, is also an entertainer of note, and does many mysterious and interesting stunts. The Helm Children, Billy and Nellie, are pleasing as usual, and Kretore, the marvellous musician gives a mixed classic and popular program which is well received. Bessie Allen is a clever single girl turn in which wooden shoe dancing is introduced and Byron and Blanche are a bright comedy team. Eugene White, with the illustrated songs and the motion pictures close the bill. Next week the Union has booked The Cowes, who are prominent aerial artists, and who have been endorsed by both the public and press for the closing week of the month. Rose and Severns, a team quoted as more than popular, will present a capital playlet.

T. W. Dinkins' old and well-known extravaganza company, The Yankee Doodle Girls, is the offering at the Dewey Theatre this week will be heard in grand concert with the Twin City Union of Swedish Singers, assisted by Wm. MacPhail, violinist and Mrs. J. F. Dahl, pianist.

The Scenic Theatre is drawing well this week with moving pictures and illustrated songs. The Gem Family Theatre is also doing good business with continuous vaudeville, motion pictures and illustrated songs. Business at the roller skating rinks continues good. RODERIC STE. FLEURE, Minneapolis, Minn.

SEATTLE, WASH.

Your correspondent just returned from a three weeks' trip to Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland, and was glad to see every theatre I attended crowded to capacity, especially the Auditorium in Chicago. As long as they give the public the kind of a bill they had week of Oct. 28 at this theatre, they will certainly do the business as all of the fourteen numbers were headliners.

All the theatres are playing to capacity in Seattle, the Coliseum in particular, with its twenty-six hundred seating capacity, is doing a business, much better than they anticipated. The acts are practically the same as the Magjestic in Chicago. The Five Bellatzer Sisters, city gymnasts, was the headliner this week. They are not only well grounded in their work as are many of the European acrobats who greatly missed. This is mostly noticed in the sketch, The End of the World. Lew Hearn has ability as Scribner Tucker, and is very entertaining. Alan Coogan, in his impersonation of Gey, M. Coban, is clever; Raymond, as Proctor Kelth, also made good. H. Steinhman is convincing as Chanucey O'cott, and the balance of the impersonations were favorably taken. There are a number of pretty faces among the show girls, who are both stumping and young all dressing their best, the Pony Ballet particularly. Max Armstrong's "ponies" are as snappy and gingery a lot as have been seen here this year. Bonita billing here has been immense; the gowns displayed by her are handsome, as well as the costumes of her assistants. On the whole, this show is one of the best seen at the Alhambra for many a day, and for which Mauder Biller deserves credit.

Davidson-George Broadhurst's interesting play, The Man of the Hour, is playing a return engagement at this house. It was greeted by a large and appreciative audience. Next, Prince of Pilsen, 17-20.

Bijou-Keller and Thurston are holding the boards at this house to large lossness. This show brings his successor, Howard Thurston, who seems to be a very good successor of Kellar. Next, Ninety and Nine. Shubert (Home of Advanced Vaudeville)—This week brings somewhat of a variety bill. The opening act is that of M. Desroches and Mlle. Blance in a French singing and dancing number, which won heavy applause. Well trained dogs, costumed similar to that of their master and mistress, Froslin, wizard of the accordion, plays a number of pleasing selections. The Olympic Quartet also give selections while performing a military drill. Two acts which might be spoken of as features were those of Joe Welch and Joe Karno's English Pantomimists. Joe Welch remains the same great Hebrew character, and his act contains plenty of laughs. Karno's English Pantomimists' A Night in an English Music Hall, is somewhat dragged at the opening, which could be remedied, but as the act goes it becomes screamingly funny. It requires a number of players to complete it, and is very odd. Kara, the juggler, has an act which is somewhat in the style of the other juggling acts seen this season. It shows neatness and one or two new stunts. The act of Al. Shean and his company, Que Vadis Pasde Down, is not up to the standard of the bill. It should be overhauled at once. Animated pictures close the bill.

Star-Colonial Girls is the offering at this house. The company carries a large crop of comedians and show girls fairly good looking and with pretty costumes. The opening piece is that of an old-time minstrel show. It contains several weak points, but this being mostly due to the end men, their looks being aged as well as their songs being poorly sung. The olio is good, and includes Frank Heath, Cotto, Bethel and Arthur, Lee Sisters, McFarland and McDonald and Chas. Folke. It Happened in Paris is the closing burlesque. This part is carried through with a whirl, and has any amount of snappy numbers and a good chorus arrangement. Frank Gotch, wrestler, appears on the bill as an extra attraction.

Gaiety-The Commercial Drummers, a play containing plenty of catchy songs and dancing of high class, is giving the patrons a good show this week. The Bovey Trio, Fox, Slater and Packer keep the audience in continuous merriment of laughter, and Beauty and the Beast, a novelty in vaudeville, is presented by Grace and Reynolds. The Livingstons, in an unusually clever acrobatic stunt, have one of the best turns on the program. Monahan and Monah present the Minstrel and the Maid, in which there is a number of popular songs and dances. The concluding number is the presentation of A Pair of Kings, a musical extravaganza, in which a number of new jokes are handed out. An able impersonator of Anna Held is Estelle Rose, who is making quite a hit.

Crystal-The patrons of this theatre are seeing some of the most marvelous trick bicycle riding ever seen in this city this week, and they are the Baker Cyclists. In addition to this, a dainty little playlet is being presented by Joseph J. and Myra Davis, Howling A Sage Brush Widow. The Grazers, in a high class musical and dancing turn, Miss Adele McNeal, the handsome singer, who is making quite a hit with a number of the latest sentimental songs. The rest of the bill is made up of good acts. Animated pictures close the bill. J. H. YEO.

PITTSBURG, PA.

From all appearances the money stringency has not figured here, at any rate, the theatres are all playing to elegant business. In fact, this week promises to be the banner one of the season, and it is possible also, that the introduction of several new plays is having the desired effect. It is a rare thing that we have at one time three new plays, and each of such character as to get the highest praise of the different dramatic critics of the press. Brewster's Millions, at the Nixon, The Road to Yesterday, at the Duquesne, and Chanucey O'cott, in his new play, O'Neill of Berry at the Alvin. Brewster's Millions is playing an extra matinee this week, (Tue.) benefit of Children's Hospital, and to big business. In fact the week's business at the Nixon will equal any so far this season, and at the Duquesne this will also be the case, while at the Alvin and the other houses, where business has all along been elegant, there surely will be no falling off, and since Chanucey O'cott is a great favorite and always stays with us two weeks, and usually plays to capacity business, it is very evident that he will keep up his usual good record.

The bill at the Grand is another that will again tax the capacity of this favorite playhouse. The bill includes Chas. E. Evans, Beale Wynn, Cliff Gordon, Henry Horton and Company, Clara Bollerlin, Paulton and Dooley, Dorothy Kenton, McKay and Cantwell, Knight Brothers and Sawtelle, Milton's Dogs, Ward and Weber, Marie Hollis and the Cinematograph.

Chinatown Charlie is playing to the usual big Bijou audiences, and business is good at Blaney's, where Louis Hartman, in The Original Cohen, holds the boards, and the burlesque houses, the Gaiety and Academy, are also sharing honors this week. The Gaiety has New York Stars and Jack O'Brien, and the Academy has Watson's Burlesquers.

The good bills and the manner in which the Family Theatre is being operated, is meeting with the success it deserves; in fact the attendance has exceeded the expectations of this popular ten cent vaudeville house will continue to show improvement as it gets older. Realists, at the Hippodrome, is a very novel feature, and in connection with the other offerings, is giving the public a good bill for

LEONARD SHEPHERD.

As Richard the Third.

and they are quoted as being new in every quality but title. This company gives a very meritorious performance, and contains such well-known favorites as Leonard and Whitney, comedy sketch artists; Jack Mathewa, eccentric talking act; Jules Herron, character German; Sadie Huested, the California lady baritone; Rose and Ellis, called The Jumping Jacks; Martini and Maximillion, the world's worst wizards; and Edna Davenport, the magnetic comedienne. The company offers two musical burlesques, entitled Sullivan on Parole and A Strike On the Metropolitan Street Railway. The chorus is shapely and well-gowned, and the scenic and electrical effects are gorgeous and artistic. Friday was Teddy Bear Matinee, when each lady attending was presented with a Teddy Bear as a souvenir.

The Auditorium Theatre has a number of good hookings for this month, and chief among these is the advent of Sousa and his band, on Friday, November 22, matinee and evening. The Philharmonic Club of 330 voices gave a concert at this theatre on Friday evening, November 15, singing selections from The Flying Dutchman, in which they were assisted by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, and the following soloists, Corinne Rider-Kelley, soprano; Janet Spencer, contralto; Edward Johnson, tenor; Charles W. Clark, baritone, and Herbert Witherspoon, basso. The conductor, Emil Oberhoffer, also comes in for his share of praise. On November 18, Monday evening, Capt. Rold Amundsen lectured at this theatre on The Conquest of the North-east Passage, and used 150 colored stereopticon views, making the talk a very interesting one. On Wednesday evening, November 30, Kerelli, the prima donna of Covent Garden, London, come to the coast, but they possess the unusual qualities of youth and extreme good looks.

Olga Nethersole, in repertoire, played a very successful week Nov. 4 at the Grand Opera House. Her best piece being The Awakening. The work of Mr. Mills stamps him as one of the most finished of leading men.

A Night in Bohemia, under the direction of T. P. Getz, will be presented by Seattle R. P. D. Elks at the Grand Opera House, Nov. 26 and 27.

Floyd T. Thompson, manager of the Eden Musee, has sold out his interests and will build a similar house in San Francisco in the near future.

Buncean Inverarity, for the past three years assistant manager at the Grand Opera House, has been appointed as manager for Sullivan & Conside's house, The Coliseum. Carl Reid has been appointed to succeed Mr. Inverarity at the Grand.

Rosa Naynon's trained tropical birds is a big and interesting feature act at the Star Theatre this week.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

Alhambra—Wine, Woman and Song, after its run of three hundred nights in New York, and after a whole season's waiting, has at last visited Milwaukee, where it was received with open arms. With the personnel of the company practically the same as seen in New York, with the unavoidable exception of Alex Carr, who has succeeded by his brother, Nat, who has the leading role. Nat follows his brother rather closely, both in make-up and method, but there are times when the originator is small admission. The opening of the new Ex-position rink was one of the events of the past week. To appreciate the rink in particular, and everything in connection, in general, one must pay a personal visit. At the East End Auditorium no falling off is noticeable, and this is said to be the case with the other rinks, yet there's a chance that the attendance at each of the rinks will be noticeable shortly, as the Duquesne opens Nov. 20 to ice skaters, and a great many roller patrons are ice skaters as well, and some prefer the smooth ice to the highly polished floors.

LUIS L. KAUFMAN.

CLEVELAND, O.

The latest development in the local theatrical field has been the organization of the S. H. O. Club. Its members consist of all the managers, treasurers and press agents of all the houses. With them, as associate members, will be a limited number of local newspaper men and representatives of the prominent dramatic and amusement papers. The details of organization has been in the care of capable committees and all work is progressing rapidly. Options have been secured on desirable headquarters, to be furnished in up-to-date club style, affording opportunity for members to visit daily. Excellent buffet and cafe service will be installed, making it possible to cater to all aesthetic tastes. This organization is a move in the right direction, bringing into closer communion the managerial staffs of all amusement places and showing great success. On Jan. 10, next, the Club expects to put on its first show. This will be given at the Opera House, which Mr. Hartz has kindly donated for the occasion. The principal members of companies, vaudeville and burlesque artists visiting the city at that time, as well as the stars of our two excellent stock companies have volunteered their services on the program. This promises to be the greatest all-star show of the season and is looked forward to with great interest.

Last Friday night before the performance a light in one of the dressing rooms at Kelt's theatre caused a small blaze. It appears that after the night pressure was turned on a tip from the gas jet blew off, allowing the flame to extend beyond the guard, thus setting the wood-work on fire. Prompt action upon the part of the floor-keeper and fire department prevented the spread of flames.

At the Opera House The Lion and The Mouse is repeating its success of last year. The company is very capable and with Oliver Doud Byron and Marie Shotwell in the leading roles was much appreciated.

Vaughan Glaser still continues to play to packed houses at the Colonial. This week's offering is E. S. Willard's great success, The Middleman. Judging from the crowds it appears this may run for another week.

The shows at the burlesque houses are good. At the Empire, Hytes Comedians and Blue Ribbon Girls, including Miss Holmes and her eight English Dancers, made a big hit.

The Lady Birds made a distinct impression on Star Theatre patrons. The production is sparkling and Will Fox, the clever impersonator, created a lot of merriment.

The Malesic Stock Company's offering at their theatre is that striking military play, Wincheater. The attendance has been large, everyone enjoying the thrilling story of heroism.

F. W. BEACH.

BOSTON, MASS.

Large patronage in return for the monster bills each week is the result at the Tremont Theatre where Klaw & Erlanger Advanced Vaudeville holds the boards. In the second week of the "vaudeville festival" the following acts were used: Vesta Victoria, Wilfred Clarke and Company, Maude Lambert, Curzon Sisters, Mosher, Houghton and Mosher, W. S. Harvey and Company, Howard Brothers, James F. McDonald, Baptiste and Franconi.

Kelt does not seem to be effected by the war when it comes to patronage, but is using a little more money in the papers than usual, and putting on better shows.

Paderewski, the pianist, turned away a good sized audience after using all of the space in Symphony Hall he could. State seats were bringing $2.50. Paderewski is also getting one dollar for his autograph, which he turns over to Mme. Paderewski, who is trying to get sufficient funds to erect a monument in Poland to Chopin.

The Star Theatre, under the management of Harry Campbell, is doing a good business with moving pictures.

George W. Britt, a Winthrop, Mass., theatrical manager, filed a petition in the United States District Court, asking to be adjudged a bankrupt, and stating his liabilities at $4,132 and assets at $175. His creditors are M. B. Ryan, Bridgeport, Conn., $400 on promissory note; Brockway Lecture Bureau, Pittsburg, $345 on commissions; Midland Lyceum Bureau, $277; Copley Square Bureau Co., $208, for services; Chicago Lyceum Bureau, $120, and Curtis Brown, Covent Gardens, London, Eng., $117.

Lohengrin, now being produced by the Stock Opera Company, at the Castle Square Theatre, is being received by the press and public.

PRESTON LOMBARD

AMONG THE AGENTS.

Homer Sheridan, press agent and newspaper man, of Cincinnati, O., is hustling in advance of A. L. Saville's Humpty Dumpty Company, now in Illinois, having come down from the "North country." His unique card explains that he is "Blazing the trail seven days ahead" and he signs himself "Humpty Dumpty's Hired Man." His card made a hit in the North Michigan country, which Steward Edward White described in his "Blazed Trails," for everyone in that section, even in the big town, knows what it means to "Blaze a trail." At Appleton, Wis., Sunday, Nov. 3, Charles R. Roworth, agent for Lyman Howe, the traveler, Geo. Baker, manager of Midland Hotel, and formerly manager of Howe's Theatre, Cincinnati, O., and Mr. Sheridan, Sunday together and discussed ways and means of publicity. "Sherry" is gathering material for short stories and articles about the woodsmen, miners and sailormen of the interesting northland.

Appropos of the present financial stringency, Homer Sheridan, who is "Blazing the trail seven days ahead" of Saville's Twentieth Century Humpty Dumpty Company, writes:

"We are feeling the effects, too, of 'tight money' just as every show on the road is, but, truth to tell, not as much as many who play ahead of and after us. The reason is that dear old 'Humpty' appeals to all classes, and a man in the dumps goes to see it just to have a good laugh and forget his troubles. We went north through Michigan, through the Upper Peninsula, then around through Wisconsin, into Illinois, and are headed for Missouri and Kansas. We have been playing to the same prices as the topnotchers, and getting as much and more business. Manager Saville is featuring Geo. H. Adams, undoubtedly the best pantomime clown of America, has surrounded him with a picked company of eighteen artists; carry our own special scenery, and the paper is the most attractive turned out by the Enquirer Job Print of old Cincy, so I have no trouble in handling the advance work, that is, no more trouble than falls to the lot of the man ahead of a one-nighter, but the Lord knows, that's enough. If the financial situation grows no more serious than at present, that man Saville, more power to him, will have a nice balance on the right side of the ledger when the season will have closed. The amusement business is an established institution, and while it will surely feel the effects of 'tight money,' it is strong enough to withstand many a gale."

Grace Armond, comedienne, is making a great hit on every bill with her new character comedy act, introducing clever songs, artistic character work and eccentric dancing.

CHAS. A. DAVIS,

A splendid gentleman well adapted for the responsible position he so ably fills with the Ringling Brothers' Shows as Legal Adjuster.

MUSICAL.

Russell, O'Neil & Gross are in their thirty-second week with the Matinee Girl Company as the feature attraction. The organization has not missed a day since last April, and at the following parks they played to record-breaking business: Cycle Park, Dallas, Texas; Bolmar Gardens, Oklahoma City, and Wonderland Park, Wichita, Kansas. The roster is J. E. Frank, manager; Frank DeAtley and Wm. Wisner, agents; N. Ripple, musical director; Mrs. J. E. Jackson, wardrobe mistress; Tom Burt, property man; Jno. Alexander, electrician; Sid Hearn, carpenter; Dan Russell, director; Wm. Gross, stage manager, and Vic LeRoy, Jack Ripple, Blanche O'Neil, Gladys Jackson, Floyd Wilson, Helen Edgar, Etta Donnelly, Vivian Demore and the Ray Sisters.

Chas. Daly and Kattie O'Brien, now on route with A Romance in Ireland Company, have received their contracts for their European tour, and will open at the Tivoli Theatre, Dublin, Ireland, July 8, 1908, after which they will appear at the Hippodrome, Belfast, Ireland, and the Pavilion, Glasgow, Scotland, as well as many other places of note.

Ernest Lantson has been engaged by Joe Weber to create the part of Judge Madews in the travesty of A Grand Army Man, which opened at the Weber Theatre, New York, Nov. 14.

New Orleans Winter Garden Converted Into a Theatre For the Production of First-class Attractions

The New Shubert Theatre, on the Other Hand, has been Converted into a Popular Priced House, Following Mrs. Fiske's Successful Engagement.—Notes of The Week.

THE new, large Winter Garden, which was operated last season by Thomas Preston Brooke and his Band, has been converted into a theatre, and will open December 1 with first-class attractions.

Mrs. Minnie Madsen Fiske closed a successful two weeks' engagement at the new Shuking, is the headliner at the Orpheum this week, and business has been phenomenal. The others on the bill are as follows: James and Sadie Leonard and Richardson, in Caesar and Cleopatra, Ferrero and his Dog, Kelly and Viollette, Gonn, Downey and Willard, in The Doings of Doctor Louder, George Austin Moore, Two Lototos, and the Kinetrome. Rose Oughlan, in The Age of Trumps, will be the headliner next week.

Lohle's Kniekerbocker's was the attraction at the Greenwood last week and experienced good business. The Gay Masqueraders is the attraction this week. The show is an excellent one and drawing big business.

The Philharmonic Society will give their first concert at the French Opera House December 2. The following artists will appear: Charles W. Clark, haritone, and Jean Gerardy, cellist. The second concert will take place January 16, with Fritz Kreisler, violinist, as the star, and the third will be March 16 with Mme. Semblich as the attraction.

The Milano Opera Company will play an engagement in this city for several weeks at the French Opera House. The operatic season will open some time in December.

The New Era Lyric Club has engaged the services of Willette the Wizard and his own company of vaudeville stars, viz.: Willette the Wizard, Man of Mystery, and King of Kards and Kolns, assisted by Robert H. Koepke; Miss Emma Levy, soprano singer; Ed Laville, monologist, con-shouter and mimic and the moving picture machine, for an entertainment to be given Saturday evening, November 30 at the Olympia Theatre.

It is rumored that the Shubert will inaugurate Advanced Vaudeville. The opening will be about Mardi-Gras week, with Vesta Victoria as the headliner, and she will be supported with a strong bill.

The continuous vaudeville house, The Bijou, which is operated by McAllister & Morris, is meeting with big success, and the line of attractions offered are excellent.

The original Passion Play, which is being presented at the Penny Wonderland, is enjoying its fifth week, and is still drawing big crowds.

The Baldwin-Melville Stock Company presented Josie, the Little Madcap, at the Lyric last week to big business. This week Texas Ranger is being presented in fine style and big business is ruling.

WM. A. KOEPKE.

DRAMA DAY OF OHIO WOMEN IN NEW YORK.

The Daughters of Ohio in New York, held their regular monthly meeting in the banquet room of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Monday afternoon, Nov. 11. The affair was called Drama Day, and was under the direction of Miss Cady Whaley, who provided a program of professional talent as given below.

- Tenor Solo.....Lewis Johnson
a. Love's Rhapsody—Goriz
b. When Blossoms Grow—Sara Sorel
Recitation.....Charles Dickson
Between the acts, Original Monologue.....Hilda Gilbert
Italian Character Studies.....George Behan
Imitations.....Hilda Gilbert
Tenor Solo.....Lewis Johnson
The Hawthorne Wins the Damask—Footie.
The Italian Baseball Player.....George Behan
Accompanist Miss Webb.

Mr. Johnson, who is a pupil of William Nelson Burritt, late of Paris, has a pure, sweet tenor voice and sings with intelligent and refined interpretation. Miss Webb's accompaniments were dainty and pretty. Hilda Gilbert is a charming young actress who has just finished a successful season of drawing-room recitals in London. Her work shows originality and fitness. George Behan, playing in Lew Fields' Company, at the Herald Square, captured the hearts of the large number of ladies present by the humor and perfect realism of his character sketches. While Charles Dickson's ability as an unlimited entertainer has long been firmly established.

Elsie Janis had promised to be present and entertain with some of her delightful imitations, but was prevented by having a rehearsal at the same hour.

After the entertainment, a reception was held and refreshments were served. The club numbers among its membership, Mrs. Myron T. Herrick, Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Mrs. Bellamy Storer and other distinguished women. Mrs. Margaret Holmes Bates, the authoress, is the president, and Miss Cady Whaley is chairman of the Executive Committee.

DRAMATIC.

Miss Lucia Moore opened her five-year contract under Ernest Shipman's management at Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 18, in Alice-Sit-By-The-Fire. She will cover territory through the south and west, where she has been a big favorite for many years, touching such points as Memphis, Dallas, Ft. Worth and New Orleans. Her cast is one of exceptional merit.

The Robert H. Harris Enterprises opened the season Sept. 2 at Huntington, W. Va., and since that time they have played to good business all along the line, though the opposition was exceedingly strong at some places. They are carrying eighteen people and special scenery.

GREATER NEW YORK NEWS BY Our New York Correspondent.

Suite D, Holland Bldg.,
1440 Broadway

LAST week in New York was a busy one—busy for everybody, managers, actors, press agents, and the great amusement-loving public. It was a notable week also because of the fact that several important plays were offered for the first time in this city. These included a comic opera, and the return of one of England's famous actresses, Henry W. Savage presented at the Astor Theatre, an original musical comedy, entitled Tom Jones, which is an adaptation of Fielding's novel. The opera was heralded as a great success in England, and will, no doubt, be a winner here.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the famous English actress, began her American tour, appearing at the Lyric Theatre in a revival of standard dramas.

Miss Henrietta Crossman appeared in a stage version of Pilgrim's Progress, which faithful readers of The Billboard will remember I reviewed on the occasion of its premiere in Philadelphia a few weeks ago.

May Robson was seen in The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary, a dramatization of the book of that title.

At the German Theatre, a play, entitled The Education of A Don Juan, was presented for the first time.

Among the plays that held over last week and continued to enjoy a heavy patronage, are The Merry Widow, at the New Amsterdam; The Round Up, at the Broadway; The Right of Way, at Wallack's; The Great Divide, at Daly's; Arlec, at the Garrick; Robert Edison in Classmates, at the Hudson Square; The Coming of Mrs. Patrick, at the Madison Square; The Lion and the Mouse, at the Academy of Music; The Dairymaids, at the Criterion; Francis Wilson in When Knights Were Bold, at the Hackett; Miss Elsie Janis in The Hoyden, at the Knickerbocker; The Thief, at the Lyceum; John Drew in My Wife, at the Empire; Mme. Nazimova in The Master Builder, at the Bijou; The Man of the Hour, at the Savor; Two Islands, at the New Circle; and Aborn Opera Company, at Blaney's Lincoln Square Theatre.

Among the changes of attractions were The Street Singer, at the Yorkville; Billy B. Van in Patsy in Politics, at the American; Edna May Spooner and the Stock Company in The Masqueraders, at the Keith & Proctor Fifth Avenue Theatre; The Boys of Company B, by the stock company, at the Keith & Proctor Harlem Opera House; The Spoilers, at the Metropolitan; Conyiet 1893, at the New Star; Dustin Farnum in The Rangers, at the Grand Opera House; Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl, at the Fourteenth Street Theatre; The Brothers Byrne, at the West End; The Ezy Foster Company, at the Dewey; The Tiger Lillies, at the Gotham; and Fred Irwin's New Majesties, at the Hurlitz and Seamon Music Hall.

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL BEGINS HER AMERICAN TOUR.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell opened her American tour Monday evening, Nov. 11, at the Lyric Theatre. The week was one of repertoire, and the piece Monday night was The Second Mrs. Tanqueray, which was well received by a large audience. This is the piece in which she has scored her greatest success, in fact, it is the piece which first made her prominent as a star. The play was presented here for the first time in 1893, and has received a number of productions here in addition to those in which Mrs. Campbell appeared. It is enough to say that the presentation left little to be desired by those who saw it. Mrs. Campbell was as pleasing as ever in the richness of her voice, in the dramatic fire of her acting, and in her wonderful expressiveness, facially and by gestures.

One notable event was the appearance of Miss Stella Patrick Campbell, Mrs. Campbell's daughter, as Ellean. This was her first appearance here, and the general opinion was that her acting was very effective, especially in her revelation of her love for Ardale. Curtain calls were frequent, and when mother and daughter together responded, their pride in each other, and their affection for each other were so unmistakable that the deepest sympathy of the audience was won.

During the week Mrs. Campbell was also seen in Magda, Hedda Gabler and The Notorious Mrs. Ebbosmith.

Following is the cast for The Second Mrs. Tanqueray:

- Aubrey Tanqueray Ben Webster
- Carley Drumme Edgar Kent
- Capt. Hugh Ardale Allan Pollock
- Gordon Jayne Wallace Aston
- Frank Misquith, Q. C. M. P.
- Alban Lovett Aldan Lovett
- Sir Geo. Orreyed Chas. Garry
- Morse Mr. Newman
- Eileen Miss Stella Patrick Campbell
- Mrs. Cortelyou Miss Margaret Watson
- Lady Orreyed Miss Florence Wells
- Laura Mrs. Patrick Campbell

HENRIETTA CROSMAN IN THE CHRISTIAN PILGRIM.

Henrietta Crossman, that most charming of actresses, opened an engagement in her new vehicle, The Christian Pilgrim, at the Liberty Theatre, Monday night, Nov. 11. This new aspirant for popular favor, which may be variously termed a music play, a spectacular production, a series of magnificent tableaux, a triumph of electrical and spectacular effects, had its premiere in Philadelphia several weeks ago, and at that time I gave an exhaustive review of it. This was the first time that it was presented in New York, and the New York papers generally were very conservative in their criticisms. While they did not go into raptures over it as a piece that would entertain the average playgoer, they admitted that the acting of Miss Crossman and Tyrone Power was artistic, that their support was adequate, that the scenic effects were beautiful, that the tableaux were magnificent, that the climaxes were approached in an artistic manner, and were startling and effective in their impressiveness.

My opinion, expressed when I saw the production in Philadelphia, was verified by a number here, and that was that The Christian Pilgrim must be a financial success for the reason that there will be general curiosity on the part of the better class of theatregoers, all of whom have seen and admired Miss Crossman in her comedy roles, to see her in the role of The Pilgrim, which requires serious emotional acting, and for the further reason that The Christian Pilgrim will appeal to church people, to people that are not habitual theatregoers, who never visit the theatre unless convinced that they are going to see a play, the mission of which is analogous to that of a sermon or a moral lecture.

PREMIERE OF TOM JONES, THE ENGLISH COMIC OPERA.

At the Astor Theatre Monday night, Nov. 11, was presented for the first time in America, a new English comic opera, under the title, Tom Jones. This offering is founded on the Henry Fielding story of that name. The book is by Mr. Robert Courtneidge, and Mr. A. M. Thompson, the lyrics by Mr. Chas. H. Taylor, and the music is by Mr. Ed. German. It has been on the boards in London for many months and has been a financial success, and if we may judge by the enthusiasm manifested

- Honour Miss Quinlan
- Lady Bellaston Laura Butler
- Etoff Jessie Richmond
- Hostess Florence Burdett
- Bessy Wisener Marjorie Fairbanks
- Letty Wheatcroft Odette Bordeaux
- Rosie Lucas Lonise Meyers
- Susan Lucy Tonge
- Peggy Evelyn Smith
- Anna Hall Anna Hall

Among those who witnessed the production on the first night, were Walter Baumrosch, David Bispham, Lina Abartanelli and Kittle Cheatham.

THE MASQUERADERS AT THE FIFTH AVE. THEATRE.

Edna May Spooner and her company appeared at the Fifth Avenue Theatre last week in Henry Arthur Jones' drama of English society, entitled The Masqueraders. Miss Spooner was delightful in her characterization of the part of Dulcie Larondie, and the feminine contingent of the audience went into raptures over her gowns. As David Remon, Augustus Phillips made a handsome lover.

The cast was as follows:

- David Remon Augustus Phillips
- Eddie Remon Harold Kennedy
- Montagne Lushington Ben F. Wilson
- Sir Brice Skene Arthur Evers
- Hon. Percy Blanchflower Edwin Curtis
- Jimmy Stokes Wm. L. West
- Sir Winchmore Wilks Walter D. Nealand
- Faneourt Lawrence Wakefield

BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

The busiest Viaduct in the World.

by the audience that saw its first presentation in New York City, it will prove a like financial success in Yankcetown.

The piece introduced the music, language, costumes and manners of the eighteenth century, and is timely all the way through. Introducing old English melodies in the shape of duets, trios, quartets for the principals with a complement in the shape of a charming chorus by Miss Gunning and Van Rensselaer Wheeler. Miss Louise Gunning was very effective in the role of Sophia, the heroine. She was in splendid voice, and sang her lyrics sweetly and expressively. She was the recipient of many curtain calls. As the piece advanced, the audience fell more deeply in love with her, culminating in an enthusiasm that must have pleased the charming songstress. Her acting was equal to her singing, and many expressed the opinion that she is a coming prima donna. Squire Quinlan, in the role of Honour, divided the honors with Miss Gunning, and also did some fine comedy work. Wm. Norris got everything possible out of his comedy part, as he always does. Van Rensselaer Wheeler was an effective Tom Jones, and Henry Norman was very natural as the whole-hearted Squire Western. John Bunny, as Gregory, and Bernard Gorey, as Grizzle, contributed liberally to the comedy of the piece.

The stage settings were beautiful. All in all, Mr. Henry W. Savage, who brought the piece to America, must have been pleased with its premiere, and the merry, rollicking show should pack the Astor Theatre for some time to come. The cast was as follows:

- Tom Jones Mr. Wheeler
- Mr. Alworthy Mr. Pelbarton
- Hilli Naughton Trevor
- Benjamin Partledge Mr. Norris
- Squire Western Henry Norman
- Gregory John Bunny
- Grizzle Bernard Gorey
- Dobblu Chas. Horne
- Cloody (Squire) E. P. Foster
- Phibott E. W. Bowman
- Tony E. A. Clark
- An Officer Whitlock Davis
- First Highwayman J. R. Kerns
- Second Highwayman P. J. Crittenden
- Post Boy William Hornum
- Walter Louis Haight
- Col. Haunstead Banning Willis
- Tom Edwardes Chas. Kingsland
- Col. Wilcox John Hansing
- Sophia Miss Gunning

- Shardul Harold Clairmont
- Brinkler Walter Crosby
- George Copeland Warren Rogers
- Earl of Grandover M. J. Briggs
- Randall Walter Crosby
- Barter Wm. Offerman
- Thomson Chas. Winsleigh
- Lady Grandover Olive Grove
- Chas. Wisnanger Jessie McAlister
- Helen Larondie Josephine Poy
- Lady Clarice Bondeau Eleanor Wisdom
- Dulcie Larondie Edna May Spooner

THE BOHEMIAN GIRL AT THE LINCOLN SQUARE THEATRE.

The Aborn Opera Company appeared last week in The Bohemian Girl, and again emphasized the popularity of this piece with the public. Balfrey's romantic opera has always been a favorite. It is not strange, therefore, that a large audience greeted its arrival and they were not disappointed, for the performance was satisfying in every respect. Miss Estelle Wentworth was quite charming as Arline, and the audience went into ecstasies over her rendition of I Dreamed I Dwell in Marble Hall. Harold Blake added to his popularity by his two solos, You Will Remember Me, and Fair Land of Poland. Harry Luckstone achieved a triumph in Hearts Bowled Down.

Many honors were won by the members of the cast, which was as follows:

- Count Arnheim Harry Luckstone
- Thaddeus Harold Blake
- Florostein Phil Trasson
- Dovlishoff Arthur Woodley
- Captain of the Guard W. Phillips
- Buda Grace Wall
- Queen of the Cypriotes Fritz Von Busing
- Arline Estelle Wentworth

THE HOYDEN AT THE KNICKERBOCKER.

A number of changes were made last week in The Hoyden at the Knickerbocker Theatre, that greatly improved the Elsie Janis show. The first act was entirely new. Joe Carthorn appeared in the cast as Baron Weylech, and Ed. Halstead took the role of the Village Blacksmith, and this resulted in the addition of a great deal of genuine comedy.

Miss Janis put on for the first time her full fallop of the famous waltz from The Merry Widow, her partner being May Murray, one of the charms, who has shown unusual ability, and who has rapidly advanced until she has reached feature business with the star.

MISS BLANCHE BATES AT THE BELASCO.

Miss Blanche Bates, The Girl of the Golden West, returned to New York last week and again captured the city. She really returned to resume her run of last spring, which was interrupted by her engagements on the road. Since then, she has played continuously in Mr. Belasco's melodrama of the days of '49 in most of the important cities of the east and middle-west. It is almost superfluous to say that she scored another triumph.

The Girl of the Golden West will remain only three weeks, and will be succeeded by Mr. Belasco's new play, The Warriors of Virginia.

BILLY B. VAN AT THE AMERICAN.

Billy B. Van returned to the American Theatre last week in Patsy in Politics, and as Patsy Bolivar, Mr. Van again threw his audience into paroxysms of laughter, especially when Rose Beaumont, who played Glorious Bird, a stranded opera star, gave him his first lesson in putting on a corset. Miss Florence Brooks, appeared in a pantomime of operatic selections. Other members of the company who distinguished themselves, were Mabel Reed, Clara Bevins, Frank G. Evans, J. H. Wright, Chas. Gray, Nat Whitestone, Blanche Latell and May Hilliard.

THE COMING OF MRS. PATRICK.

The Coming of Mrs. Patrick, under the direction of Walter N. Lawrence, had its premiere at the Madison Square Theatre, Nov. 6. The audience that witnessed its initial production was much pleased, and most of those who saw Miss Rachel Crother's first play, The Three of Us, in which Carolina Nilsson played all last year at the Madison Square Theatre agree that the new play is superior to the old one.

The story of the play concerns the doings of Mrs. Patrick, a nurse who comes in to a family disturbed by sickness and dissension. She grasps the situation firmly and brings order out of chaos. The mother has been ill for many years, and the family circle has in consequence become disorganized. By her courage and buoyant optimism, she wins the heart of all the members of the family except the oldest daughter, who gives credence to a slender told against the nurse by a man-about town, who seeks to marry the youngest sister. The fact is that Mrs. Patrick knows this same man through a girl on whom she has taken pity, and with whom the son of the family is in love. Subsequent events produce a series of complications in which Mrs. Patrick allows herself to be accused of trying to marry the son. The denouement comes when Mrs. Patrick realizes her love for the physician who recommended her to the family as a nurse. The tender sympathy, the role of the nurse was played effectively by Laura Nelson Hall, and she had capital support. The entire cast was as follows:

- Dr. Bruce Melville Stewart
- Mr. Lawton James L. Carhart
- Billy Lawton Walter Thomas
- Tom Crowell Forest Winant
- Dudley Birmingham Chas. D. Colburn
- Matthews Geo. H. Wiseman
- Eleanor Lawton Elizabeth Stewart
- Sina Lawton Millicent Evans
- Pauline Shaik Minnette Barrett
- Christy Heath Berla Landers
- Maria Lillie Eldridge
- Mrs. Patrick Laura Nelson Hall

THE GAY WHITE WAY.

The Casino continues to be crowded with playgoers anxious to see The Gay White Way, in which the three stars, Jefferson De Angelis, Blanche Ring and Alexander Carr, are appearing. The management endeavors to introduce something new every week in this popular revue. The latest novelty is an insurance scene in which Jefferson De Angelis, Alexander Carr and Frank Isoune appear, and which has proved such a hit that the Shuberts have planned the introduction of other sketches which will not be travesties or burlesques on other productions. A great laughing hit was introduced last week in the shape of a travesty on The Thief, which introduced Mr. De Angelis and Miss Ring. In the operatic section of the revue, Miss Ring will shortly introduce a new Irish song, and it is said that a big mechanical effect will also be added within the next week or so.

Since the piece opened in New York at least a dozen new sketches, travesties, burlesques, songs and ballads have found their way into the book. Miss Laura Gierke sings a new song, entitled Rudi in The Face, Maud Raymond's new song, Somebody's Been Around Since I've Been Here, is a great hit. It is one of the songs whistled most on Broadway, and Blanche Ring's songs, Hyle, Dan and An Irish Gibson Girl, and her duet with Alexander Carr, are all immensely popular.

AIDA AT THE MANHATTAN OPERA HOUSE.

The first production of Aida at the Manhattan Opera House, was given last Monday night. It was a large and appreciative audience that witnessed the effective performance of Verdi's masterpiece. Not only the size but the character of the audiences at the Manhattan Opera House this season indicate that the institution is gaining ground rapidly.

Mme. Nordica's Aida is one of her best roles and she essayed it on this occasion with unusual skill and picturesqueness. Mr. Zengari by the richness of his voice and dramatic power, Mme. Cheronis, by her superb impersonation

CHICAGO AMUSEMENTS
BY

Our Chicago Correspondent.

Suite 907-909 Schiller Building
103-109 Randolph Street

THE most interesting thing in a theatrical way here of late has been the conflicting rumors with regard to a reconciliation of the contending vaudeville factions. Hostility to what few sensational theatres are doing business is active. Jan Kubelick and Fritz Kreisler, each considered by many to be the world's greatest violinist, have come and gone, leaving more admirers than ever.

THE VAUDEVILLE WAR

Just what the real and actual situation in the vaudeville contest is, no one appears to know. Conflicting statements have come from the rival camps that a truce has been effected. The situation is full of uncertainty as was the Portsmouth Peace Conference. Manager Martin Beck, of the Orpheum Circuit, returned to New York a few days ago, and stated in an interview: "We have realized the impossibility of warfare conducted by opposing vaudeville interests in the same city. It was a costly proceeding by which neither faction benefits financially. A project including the merging of the interests between Klaw & Erlanger and ourselves is now under way. In New York I held several conferences with Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger. Details of the merger we contemplate will be completed in a few weeks." Mr. Beck has returned to New York to confer further with Eastern theatrical heads. Kohl & Castle have maintained a significant reticence, but have allowed the inference to get out that the war is over with honors even. C. E. Kohl, while refusing to talk at length, remarked: "I do not believe that Klaw & Erlanger will continue in vaudeville much longer in Chicago, and it is likely we may find it to our mutual interests to work together in the future."

George W. Lederer, who represents the Klaw & Erlanger interests here, has kept on with his work just as though there were no likelihood of a cessation of the war, asserting that he had a telegram from A. L. Erlanger, instructing him to place no faith in the reports of a truce. He therefore keeps stroking up the "steam roller." "It is true," said Mr. Lederer, "that the representatives of the allied circuits have been making overtures, or rather, attempting to make them, to Klaw & Erlanger, but they have never seen the heads of the firm, nor will they be able to. They have been down in New York dining and dining men whom they thought would be of use to them in opening up negotiations, but they have not been successful. Klaw & Erlanger's vaudeville is highly successful, and they have no thought of withdrawing. The other fellows have been handing out this line of talk in a settlement in order to scare the actors. We have got them licked in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, and you will notice our ads will continue to give our opponents hot shots."

THE MAN FROM HOME

Americans have always been loyal to the American play, especially when they get it in the form of a comedy. When the flag is waved, you can always hear a cheer. There are various ways, however, of waving a flag. Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson have waved it with a subtlety and charm that compel admiration from every true American. And they have also done it through the medium of a comedy, which is a comedy in the highest sense of the word.

Their play, The Man from Home, which is now in its seventh week at the Studebaker, is conceded by critics to be one of the biggest successes played here for many a year. Further than this, there are those who affirm that it is one of the most enormous successes produced anywhere this year. The Studebaker management is having the engagement extended four weeks, and the crowds which pack Chicago's theatre de luxe every night seem even more enthusiastic than at the opening of the engagement. William Hodge is hailed as an important accession to the stellar ranks. Not a performance has passed but he is compelled to make a curtain speech, and there are hundreds who have seen the play as many as four times—which is indeed a compliment to the pleasing powers of a comedy. Such dignitaries as Uncle Joe Cannon, the speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives, and Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who fined the Standard Oil Company $20,000, have attended the play with parties, and expressed their pleasure at the splendid Americanism of it. It seems to appeal to every class of amusement seeker. The Indiana lawyer who goes over to Europe and calls a Grand Duke "Doc," because "the words they have over there don't seem to fit his mouth," is an American through and through, full of ready wit, ready for the worst, if necessary, and he makes the thrill of American blood go through every one who sees the performance.

AT THE ILLINOIS THEATRE

The Follies of 1907 is the attraction which began running last Sunday night. It is a feast of musical spectacle served in thirteen courses by a cast of more than one hundred, and brims with novelties. Manager Ziegfeld adjusts the form of his production from the Parisian venues, but made the matter thoroughly American in humor and spirit. Instead of travesties on plays, he has substituted timely take-offs on prominent personages and events of the day. The play moves like a panorama, the shifting scenes showing the Jamestown Exposition grounds, the "Weary" railroad station, a New York court room, the shopping district of Broadway, New York Public Library, the stage door of the Broadway Theatre, and so on, down to the "horse show" of the Metropolitan Opera House, where an operatic ballet is produced.

Each scene serves as the setting for an appropriate skit. Some of the satirical bits are those on Roosevelt, Mark Twain, Caruso, Harman, Anthony Comstock, Chauncey Depew and District Attorney Jerome. Prominent stage people and citizens are caricatured by such clever comedians as Biekel and Watson, Nora Bayes, "The handbox girl"; Mlle. Dazle, "The Franco-American danseuse"; Grace La Rue, Annabel Whitford, the "Gibson girl"; Lillian Leigh, Frank Mayne, Marcus Libby, William Powers, James Mauls, Dan Baker and the Anna Held Girls, Gibson Bathing Girls. The novel gaiety of the piece is winning large audiences.

WILLIAMS AND WALKER AT THE GREAT NORTHERN.

Those dusky comedians, Williams and Walker are at the Great Northern this week. The outpouring from both the pale and the dark neighborhoods has been large, and they have been getting an abundance of fun at the subway street playhouses. The two colored comedians head a good company this year and give a good darky show. The company has forsaken the nose rings and spangles of Senegambian potentates and appear in a down

An interesting part of the Auditorium bill is that taken by a dozen or so dogs and three or four monkeys. They are called Barnold's Dog and Monkey Actors. The animals appear on the stage alone, and without a tutor go through various tricks in imitation of persons, the dog, which furnishes one of the best laughs of the performance, caricatures a man with a "jag" on. There is an elopement via a ladder from a second-story window, and several other original stunts make the act one of the best of its kind. The instructor of the animals is well rewarded with applause after his pupils have performed.

THE BUSH TEMPLE.

Adelaide Keim is delighting her clientele this week in On Parole. Last week, one of the finest successes of the season was scored in The Middleman, with Harry Corbett taking the leading role.

South entertainment, fashioned rather obscurely on musical comedy lines. Williams and Walker are visible in the guise of two refugees from a theatrical troupe. Williams acts the part of Bowser, a shrewish, lazy thick-skulled darky, and Walker is found again as an alert and blurring black dandy, Bud Jenkins. The story of the play is rather slender and is called Bandana Land. The two darkies played by Williams and Walker enter a southern railroad company has a park and fine residence suburb along its line, and Bowser and Jenkins seek up a plan to establish a playground for colored folk near the railway company's park. The company buys off the two promoters—and that is all there is to the story.

Williams is as funny as ever, and Walker is a wonder in his pictorial clothes. Aida Clayton Walker has a new dance which is extraordinarily good while it lasts, but it is too short. The first act in the piece is the best, because it is an out-and-out darky entertainment, minus fine feathers. All the men of the chorus appear in this act, and each one in a different character. Some of them act their parts well. Rogers and J. A. Shipp wrote the book, and Will Marion Cook wrote the score for Bandana Land.

IN VAUDEVILLE

Trixie Friganza, lately of The Orchild, is displaying her comedy and her voice at the Auditorium this week. Miss Friganza is billed as a headliner, and on the program she is called "dippy and fulsome." She sings the songs that were hers in The Orchild, and her exhibition is minus the coarseness that was a feature of that lately departed musical piece. Miss Friganza continues to make apparent her desire to appear like May Irwin, Marie Dressler and Fay Compton, and besides some original gags and stories, she takes occasion in lines between her songs to give a few jabs at her size, a la Miss Irwin.

habits of the leading woman at the Bush Temple, but a question was put to Manager Barker the other day, and he couldn't figure it out. This was the question: When does Adelaide Keim sleep? "Think of it," said the manager, "the company plays seven nights a week and three afternoons, there is a rehearsal every day from ten in the morning till one, two or three in the afternoon, then the new parts must not only be memorized, but they must be thought out, costumes secured, and a hundred and one details attended to. Well, they eat when and where they can, and as for sleep, I guess most of the players have learned to do with Edison's five or six hours."

McVICKER'S ANNIVERSARY

On the night of Nov. 5, McVicker's celebrated its semi-centennial. Fifty years previous, when Chicago was a town of a hundred thousand, McVicker's, occupying the same site on which it is now located, was dedicated to the twin arts of music and the drama. It was then the finest playhouse in the west and one of the biggest buildings in the town. It was a three-story structure of brick, erected at a cost of $80,000, and much pains by James H. McVicker, one of the pioneer actors of Chicago.

In the half century that has elapsed, McVicker's stage has reflected the best art of the times. A succession of celebrities and passing idols has added to the joy of Chicagoans from behind its footlights. Adelaide Pattil, in the first flush of renown; Edwin Booth, in his heaviest roles; Charlotte Cushman, supreme actress of her day; Chicago first listened to Nordica, Lotta and Adelaide Nelson there, John C. McCullough, one of the greatest of tragedians, played there for the last time on any stage. John Wilkes Booth, brother of Edwin, and assassin of Lincoln, played Othello at McVicker's in 1862. One of Edwin Booth's first appearances after that event was at McVicker's, when an unsuccessful attempt at assassination was made on the tragedian. In the early '60's Sarah Bernhardt and Joseph Jefferson established financial records at McVicker's. Mary Anderson, Etelka Gerster, Mrs. Siddons—a long list of stellar lights, included in the names that have graced the boards of McVicker's. Jesse Bartlett Davis made her first stage bow here, and Langtry and Terry delighted Chicagoans from McVicker's boards. The roll is a long one.

Between Chicago of 1857 and Chicago of today, a more startling contrast could hardly exist. Vanluren street then was "pretty far out," and little, low wooden houses of a story and a half or so were characteristic. Across the street from McVicker's was the Scanmon school; a little alehouse adjoined it on the east; on the west, the neighbors hung their weekly washing to dry. From that day to this McVicker's has been closed but on few occasions. It was destroyed by fire in 1871, when the present building was erected.

THE GARRICK THEATRE

Holding the boards at the Garrick this week is Fascinating Flora, a musical comedy, with beautiful costumes, stunning girls, excellent singing and dancing numbers, and a great cast of New York favorites. The piece is the joint work of R. H. Burnside, Joseph W. Herbert and Gustav Kerker. Adelaide Ritchie, who has not appeared in Chicago since she scored in Fantana, has in her present vehicle a role well suited to her. Surrounding her is a company containing the following well-known musical comedy artists in the principal roles: George A. Schiller, Ada Lewis, James E. Sullivan, Frank Rusworth, Helen Boyton, Sam Edwards and Sadie Jansell.

Following Fascinating Flora at the Garrick will come The House of a Thousand Candles, a dramatization of the popular novel of that name by the Indian, Meredith Nicholson. What with Ade and Tarkington, and now Nicholson, Indiana seems well represented on the American stage. Henry Miller and Margart Anglin in The Great Divide, Vaughn Moseley's tremendous success, will be the holiday attraction at the Garrick, beginning Dec. 16. It was originally produced at the Garrick under the name of A Sane Woman. Arrangements are being made at the Garrick for a grand opera season, beginning about the middle of January. Mme. Nordica and Miss Neilson are the most prominent members of the company.

Bookings at the Garrick for the rest of the season include, besides the attractions named above, Julia Marlowe in repertoire, Frances Starr in The Rose of the Rancho, Blanche Bates in Madame Butterfly and The Girl of the Golden West, Mme. Alla Nazimova, the Russian actress; Virginia Harlan in Anna Karenina, a dramatization of Tolstoy's novel, and The Road to Yesterday. The Donald Robertson Players, who have been having such crowded houses at their presentations of standard drama, will continue their matinees for an indefinite period. They have been making decided successes with Hessen's Rosmerholm and Mollere's The Miser, and seem to have solved the problem that caused the downfall of the ill-starred New Theatre last winter. The public will attend standard drama when it is well presented by enthusiastic artists like those of the Robertson company, and when properly unique methods of publicity are utilized.

K. E. P. NOTES.

Toledo Lodge No. 2.

At a meeting of the Toledo Lodge No. 2, Knights of Everlasting Pleasure, held on Wednesday last, it was resolved to call a meeting on Nov. 29. This meeting is for the election of new officers, and for the purpose of initiating nearly a hundred new members, whose applications have already been passed upon by the board. At the meeting held on the 6th, Chas. A. Bartlett, grand secretary of the order, was present in the interests of the Grand Lodge. He spoke about the progress the organization was making in the east, and stated that several new locals were to be started.

One of these is to be New York City, another in Chicago, and a third in Cincinnati. A vote of thanks was tendered by the lodge to Spivey Wire, second vice-snarck of the Toledo Lodge, for the press notice he has been instrumental in obtaining in various directions, and it was unanimously agreed, that a letter of thanks be sent The Billboard, especially thanking Mr. Clyde Phillips, its editor, for his kindness in so liberally granting space to K. E. P. matters. Most of the members of the order being traveling performers, The Billboard's courtesy will be particularly acceptable. Secretaries of all locals will be instructed to send notices of all doing to the official K. E. P. Journal.

Detroit Lodge No. 1.

A big initiation was held by the Detroit Lodge on Thursday Nov. 7, last at their hall on Gratiot avenue, twenty-five helpless and benighted Shines were initiated into the mysteries of the ancient and noble order, and a big bundle of applications were brought in for investigation. After the ceremonies, there were the usual dolines, and a pleasant time was spent. There was an excellent vaudeville bill, and Fritz Marks had managed to get together over thirty windjammers, all members of No. 1. They furnished some good music, and all was merriment.

Thomas V. Morrison, late with Miss Ann Hamilton, in vaudeville, has been engaged by Mrs. Leslie Carter for Du Barry.

QUITE the most interesting item of variety news at the moment is the engagement of Miss Ruth Vincent at the Palace Theatre. Miss Vincent in the course of a conversation a few weeks ago declared that she had not the faintest idea of joining those who had left the operatic and musical comedy stage for that of variety entertainment. It is evident, however, that the lady who has been described by a characteristically captious critic as "the queen of the light opera stage" has changed her mind, for we are able to announce that arrangements have been made and a contract signed as the result of which Miss Ruth Vincent will in February next commence an engagement at the Palace. Although no details have yet been settled, it is practically certain that Miss Vincent's repertory of songs will include a number of those with which in opera, musical comedy, and on the concert platform she has so often delighted her audiences. At present Miss Vincent is playing Sophia in Tom Jones, which is this week at the Marlborough Theatre. Holloway. If you were to seek for the immediate causes of the present popularity of the Palace one might with safety attribute a fair percentage of the prevailing prosperity to the presence of Margaret Cooper and Cambo Diablo. It should not for one moment be supposed from our picking out these particular features for special mention that the rest of the program consists of what are sometimes known as "wine and spirit turns." On the contrary, the bill throughout is a fine one, but in all programs, no matter how excellent they may be, there is always a special "draw." At the Palace Miss Cooper has returned to the scene of her early music hall successes, and if her voice has lost some of its freshness and if she has so perceptibly broadened her style as to savor at times of extravagance, she is still a great popular favorite and a powerful influence on the box office. Of her new songs the Zoo is unquestionably the best, since it exactly belongs to the class of work for which her style is particularly suited.

As to Cambo and the really astounding demonstration of it given by M. M. Rene and Marcel Philpart, it must be remembered that the tremendous interest aroused in the game by the newspapers is responsible for the eagerness with which the people will crowd to see it played. In a box at the Palace the other evening was a certain journalistic member of the peerage, who is, probably, one of the most consistently infrequent theatre-goers in town. Miss Marie Dressler made her first appearance at this house last Monday, October 28.

Eugene Stratton is returning to the Oxford at Christmas time after an absence of between five and six years. Since March, 1902 Mr. Stratton has been touring with very great success throughout the country and his re-appearance in London with new songs and some of the old favorites of his repertory will be most welcome. Fregolina a quick change child performer, commenced an engagement at the Empire last Monday night. Fregolina comes from Italy as also does Fatima Miris who is now performing at the Hippodrome as a quick change artiste. This fact impels us to ask why it is that all the quick changers come from Italy? There is evidence that at this particular moment London has precisely the number of quick change performers which it can comfortably carry, and public attention is directed to the Italian monopoly so that other countries can, if they like, retaliate and send great shipments of quick-change goods to Rome, Milan and Florence. With regard to Fregolina, however, it is officially announced that when she was a small child she saw Fregoli, and that the sight of the truly swift raiment remover, so filled her childish brain that she went straight home and became a confirmed and hardened Protean.

Walter Passmore, the famous comedian, and Miss Agnes Frazer will present at New Cross Empire this week a humorous musical incident entitled The Constable and the Pictures. It is written by A. Wimperis and L. Godfrey Turner, the music being by Marjorie Slaughter, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Walter Slaughter, late musical conductor of the London Coliseum. The wonderful Hadji Mohammed troupe of acrobats and pyramid builders are also in the bill.

GAIETY ACTRESS AS VARIETY ARTIST.

Arthur Reece, the lively comedian; Ted and May Hopkins, the Welsh entertainers; the Three Prestons in one of their clever sketches; Kent and Keith; Amy Sullivan and Marie San Tot and Co. complete the program. Just at present the female element is very much to the fore at the Alhambra. Signorina Bordini delighted all in the gorgeous ballet, Les Cloches de Corneville, while Mlle. Gaby Deslys has made a sensational success in her entertainment, La Journée d'une Parisienne. To-night another addition will be made to the already strong program at the National Theatre of Varieties, Leicester Square, when Miss Annie Mars will appear in a song scene entitled Daisy of Dakota, the music for which has been composed by Mr. George F. Bingham.

Gotham Quartet, Sam Elton, Henry Helme, Ballet Urbanora, Speed of the S. S. Mauretania complete the program this week. The performance of Fatima Miris is still drawing thousands to the London Hippodrome, whose astounding performance as a quick changer is something marvelous. His excellency, the Italian Ambassador and suite, visited the London Hippodrome last week to witness the performance of his talented countrywoman and afterwards expressed the highest opinion of her performance to the manager. The Avalanche still continues a great success, in fact the whole program at the present time is a very strong one.

That lively and vivacious young lady, Miss Sybil Arundale, is to appear at the Tivoli on Monday in a new line of business, preparatory to starting her Christmas engagements in pantomime. As a "swell of the period" she ought to do remarkably well, being eminently adapted for "boy" parts. Other features will be a new sketch by Edward Laund and Miss May Beatty in a comedy trifle called In Her Bonnet, and Harry Gratian and Co. in Man the Hitter. Miss Blanche Gaston Murray, a lady bearing an honored name, will open at the London Pavilion on Monday week.

Lazern the Mystic (the original) has just returned from a very successful week at the Palace, Glasgow.

The program for the Canterbury this week includes Syd May, Mark Shoridan, Johnny Danvers, Ara, Zebra and Nora, Foy Brothers and Co., Will Knox and many others.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

The Sugar Bowl, now being played at the new Queen's Theatre, Shaftsbury Avenue, continues to be a great success, and Miss Ellis-Jeffreys is so delighted with her success that she has decided to go on tour with it to America and expects to arrive about Christmas time. The Convict on the Hearth is the title of the curtain raiser to The Sugar Bowl, which is also greatly appreciated by the audience. Mr. Edmund Gwenn has taken up his original part as George Midden, the somewhat unruly young gentleman who, after "doing time," returns to his home to cut up rough by reason of the pity or patronage or hard words and hard looks of his relations and of those about him who are ready to remind him of his sin and to preach repentance. The better way, it will be remembered, is preached by the young parson who, in place of the "dressing down" threatened by the head of the family and the homily

OTHELLO AT HIS MAJESTY'S.

The King having "recommended" Mr. Cyril Maude and his company to appear at Southringham on the evening of Nov. 9, His Majesty's birthday, the playhouse will be closed on that day, but there will be a special matinee of French As He Is Spoken, and The Earl of Pawtucket at the Playhouse on Thursday, Nov. 14 by way of making up for the closure. Mr. Cyril Maude's share of his Royal program will consist of the dressing room scene of The Clau destine Marriage and French As He Is Spoken. The cast of the former will be as follows:

- Lord Ogilby..... Mr. Cyril Maude
- Starling..... Mr. Lionel Rignold
- Caution..... Mr. Eric Lewis
- Brush..... Mr. Charles Maude
- Chambermaid..... Miss Jean Aylwin

For a third time within a month record has to be made of the production of a new English play of real artistic value—this, be it noted, despite the existence of the much denominated censor.

To Irene Wycherley and Tib Mellars must now be added Mr. W. Somerset Maugham's Lady Frederick, produced by Mr. Otto Stuart on Saturday at the Court Theatre, a comedy artificial perhaps and of dimly theme, but she made clear the fact that she is a comedienne of genius. Genius is a big word, but it will be unjust not to use it. Very excellent, too, were Mr. C. M. I. as Partridge, and Mr. Graham Brown as nephew, and indeed every part was well played. Lady Frederick is in his entirety an excellent and delightful entertainment. The cast and scene plot are as follows:

- Lady Frederick Berolles..... Miss Ethel Irvine
- Sir Gerald O'Mara (her brother)..... Mr. C. M. I.
- Mr. Partridge..... Mr. C. M. I.
- Lady Mereston (his sister)..... Miss Deryl Taylor
- Lord Mereston (his nephew)..... Mr. C. M. I.
- Mr. W. Graham Brown
- Captain Montgomery..... Mr. Arthur Holmwood
- Admiral Carlisle..... Mr. E. W. Gardin
- Rose (his daughter)..... Miss Beatrice Terry
- Thompson (Mrs. Foulde's man)..... Mr. Reginald Egan
- Pierre (a waiter at the Hotel Splendide)..... Mr. Heath J. Havilland
- Maudie (Lady Frederick's dressmaker)..... Miss Florence West
- Albert (Lady Frederick's footman)..... Mr. Claude Verman
- Angelique (Lady Frederick's maid)..... Miss Ina Polly
- Act I—Room at the Hotel Splendide, Monte Carlo.
- Act II—The same.
- Act III—Lady Frederick's Dressing room—Time—The present day.

HIPPODROME FOR LEXINGTON.

The Hippodrome, L. H. Ramsay's new Vandeville Theatre at Lexington, Ky., is rapidly nearing completion, and will open its doors to the public Monday, Nov. 25. The lobby and interior is finished in marble, with the latest decorations. Large, comfortable opera chairs to the number of 450, have been installed, and a convenient and attractive balcony for colored patrons, with separate entrance and exit, added. The big feature is the immense electric sign, "The Hipp," the largest in this part of the country, which will cost between $500 and $800. The letters are six feet high, with a two-snake border, one snake chasing the other around the letters. The sign faces both east and west, the front of the theatre facing south, and can be seen from all street and suburban cars. Three performances daily will be given, consisting of three first class acts, moving pictures and illustrated songs. Messrs. Sun and Murray, booking managers, have promised only the best attractions. Two local favorites, Miss Hogarty and Gus Hartman, have been engaged at large salaries. Miss Hogarty will be known as the Pluffy Ruffles Pianist, and Mr. Hartman as the great tenor. Adjoining the Hipp, will be Kearsy & Brandt's new $15,000 arcade on the east, with Mr. Myers, of Indianapolis, with his new moving picture theatre on the west, on North Upper street, just off Main, the Majestic Vandeville Theatre of Steves & Brett, with western vandeville acts, will be a factor in the amusement life of Lexington. The Hippodrome will be extensively advertised for the opening of the sides of many prominent downtown business houses have been painted in colors with "Try to get in the Hipp; polite vandeville, one hour show, 10c." The street cars will all bear banners in front. "This car passes the Hipp," and the most prominently located billboards will be covered with attractive sheets, to say nothing of the newspapers and out-of-town display. It is the opinion at Lexington that the above new ventures in the amusement field will all enjoy capacity business.

FAVORITE EPIGRAMS OF PERCY G. WILLIAMS.

By MARIE V. FITZGERALD.
Never jump—walk and then if you think all O. K. leap—Good advice when signing a foreign star.

Think much speak little—publish less but do much—Excellent for the present vandeville disposition.

"I don't know" often saves one a friendship where an abrupt denial or refusal would lose—Also appropriate for the present vandeville game.

When you are in deep thought—always smoke a good cigar. Then if you are thinking kindly of one, a good smoke will do much to make life more rosy. Very good when studying other's wishes against yours.

Always give the little frog a show as well as the big King frog. Take the phenomenal success of Irene Franklin and Bert Greene.

When you talk slowly—sometimes, even with a drawl—you know a lot for you have time to collect your thoughts.—Most appropriate.

How about that "he laughs best who laughs last"—Too much said.

A little wisdom makes us wondrous wise and then Broadway beckons to us.—So with the three-day sourette out West.

It isn't a snap to be a manager—A player is akin to a genius and you know the old saying, "All is not gold that glitters" well, "All is not play that plays."

Incidentally, if one be wise, they will never boast. I never claim to know it all in the theatrical game for I learn every day.

Epigrammatically speaking relative to the present vandeville situation I follow my own advice, "I have nothing to say," think much, speak little, etc. No. 2 Epigram please.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole, of the team of The Musical Colon, dissolved partnership Sept. 4, and since that time Mr. Cole and his four and one-half year old son have been acting together, making a tremendous success. They are with the Emerson Floating Palace, which closes the season Nov. 10 near Cincinnati, O. The act will be known the same as "The Musical Colon."

SUN BROTHERS' SHOW.

The above are some of the leading characters of Sun Brothers' Show, which met with the utmost success the past summer.

advised by the district visitor—one of the Bible-jumpers, as papa calls them—suggests a cordial and kindly welcome, a good supper, a friendly chat, and a determined effort to help the wrongdoer to recover his self-respect. Mr. Gwenn, as the ex-convict, and Mr. Wilfred Forster, as the Rev. Mr. Dale, got all the sympathy that is to be had in The Convict on the Hearth; but there must be genuine and hearty admiration for Mr. Edmund Gurney's portrayal of Thomas Midden, the convict's workman father. Here is a picture that in every little detail is true to life.

Mr. A. Bertram took the entire company in The Sugar Bowl to a flying matinee to Brighton a few days ago, where they played to over $2,000.

Last night, October 26, The Sins of Society reached its fifth performance at Drury Lane Theatre, and is still playing to enormous business on six evenings and three matinees each week.

The Christian at the Lyceum is decidedly a big winner and it will run until December 7, when preparations will be commenced for the pantomime, Robinson Crusoe.

Mrs. W. K. Clifford's new play, Hamilton's Second Marriage, produced by Mr. Otto Stuart for a series of matinees at the Court Theatre yesterday afternoon, is a clever little drama, full of humanity and quite well told.

Maurice Hamilton married the first time a girl of nineteen and divorced her two years afterwards. After another twelve years he met Sylvia Callendar and fell in love with her. But, as a matter of fact, she never became the second Mrs. Hamilton. At first she did not mind the first wife, but when she met her things were different, and she declined to marry Maurice after all. And Maurice, instead of telling her not to be silly, as he would have done if he had the humor sense, went away with a broken heart. In the last act there is a dramatic and well written scene between Hamilton and his divorced wife, and the play finishes with their reconciliation. The acting was excellent. Mr. E. W. Gardin, Mr. Dawson, Mr. Ward, Miss Alvanora Carlisle and Miss Frances Dillon all distinguished themselves.

written with skill, observation, and most delightful humor.

Mr. Maugham first attained fame as a realist with his book, Liza of Lambeth, and until Saturday he was best known in the theatre for his "strong" painful play, A Man of Honour. But that he possessed a power of humorous observation and witty expression was evident in his novel, The Bishop's Apron, and it is this power that characterizes Lady Frederick.

Lady Frederick Berolles is a widow, Irish, resourceful, pretty, clever, adorable, and about thirty-five.

The scene of the play is Monte Carlo. The young Marquis of Mereston falls in love with Lady Frederick, and his mother, in terror of a marriage, summons to her aid, her brother, Partridge Foulde, himself an old lover of the Irish widow.

Lady Frederick loses a fight, and fights squarely, deliberately burning a bundle of letters that would have put Lady Mereston hopelessly into her power. But her opponent has no scruples.

AN OLD SCANDAL.

She takes care to tell her son that the woman he loves is hopelessly financially ruined, and she unthinkingly sacrifices herself for a friend. But the boy only adores her the more—and then, winning, Lady Frederick yields.

She realizes that Mereston is much too young to marry her, and she has him watch her "smoke up" to cure him of his infatuation. He is evidently disillusioned, but he sticks to his proposal, to be equally evidently rejected when it is declined.

Then Fate and Mr. Maugham are kind to this enchanting heroine of thirty-five. Partridge, cynical, selfish man of the world as he is, has fallen in love with her again, and she feels that he will understand her better how to make her happy than his nephew could ever hope to do.

AUSTRALIA LETTER

By DR. W. H. H. LANE.

At Her Majesty's Theatre, Andrew Mack has been holding forth nightly under the able management of W. M. Wilkinson, playing to capacity, or nearly so. This wonderfully successful season will close November 1. Nightly have they had the theatre filled and the situation during the eight weeks' season at Melbourne. The Sydney engagement has been for nine weeks and Mr. Mack has already produced "Tom Moore," "The Way to Kenmare," "Arrah Na Pogue," and at the present time is producing "The Ragged Earl," with Jack Shannon to follow the 5th, all of which have been triumphantly mounted, and he has had the support of some very clever people brought from America.

Previous to his engagements in Australia Mr. Mack made a three months' tour of New Zealand, where his reception was almost, if not quite, as enthusiastic as here. Just what Mr. Mack's intentions are after he has finished his season here has not been announced. It is quite on the cards that he will return to Melbourne for "Cup" week, which takes a place the week after he closes here, and enjoy a well earned holiday. There has been some talk of his making a further stay in Australia, and visiting the cities of the interior, and also the western part of Australia. Not many of his company will remain in Australia, if any, and they will probably return to the Moana that week from this port on the 25th of November. Among them will be Martin Alsop, the leading man of the company; Miss Jane Kellon, the leading lady of the company; E. J. McCormack and his wife, Annie Mack Reelin, Charles Aveling, Wm. Townshend and his wife, Irene Gordon and Fred Monley.

Mr. Alsop and Miss Kellon have had offers for work, which they will probably accept immediately on their return to the States, the one in Chicago, the other in Los Angeles, Cal. Your scribble is deeply indebted to Mr. Wilkinson for the courtesies that he has freely extended to him, and it would be just to the advantage of others connected with that place of amusement if they took a lesson out of his book, and learned it thoroughly.

Until Mr. Mack's season I had not entered the theatre for more than eighteen months, and so someone that would not have done so had it not been that I met Mr. Mack one day at the Australia Hotel and had a chat with him, and he insisted that I must come and see his productions, and freely acknowledged that the Billboard was not to be trifled with, that it had become a power in the field of journalism that had to be reckoned with and recognized.

At The Theatre Royal.—Messrs. Meynell and Gunn are nightly presenting Walter Howard's delightfully original play, Her Love Against The World, to good success, and when I say that I have sat the production out twice, that in itself speaks a lot in its favor. Mr. Harcourt Beatty and Miss Madge McIntosh are the stars of the production while other characters are in the hands of such sterling actors as Gaston Mercalo, Charles Vane, Miss May Congdon, and Miss Lizette Parks, and here let me compliment all hands concerned in the production of this play for the fine and artistic work that they have produced. I have for some time just watched Miss Parks and I predict for her a most successful stage career. If she continues to improve in the future as in the past, Messrs. Meynell and Gunn are fast making a bid for the premier position in the theatrical world on this side of the globe.

Messrs. Meynell and Gunn have several companies on the road and they seem to have struck a regular groove somewhere, for good luck has been attending them ever since they first entered the field of entering for the amusement world.

Mr. Ernest G. Snowin looks well after the wants of the members of the journalistic fraternity, while he is well assisted by Mr. Stanley W. Cherry, who takes the money down to the vaults for safe keeping, and sees to it that the ghost is right on schedule time as regards the walking act. Messrs. Meynell and Gunn's season will close at this theatre on the 24th inst, and they open at the Theatre Royal in Melbourne on the 26th, but I neglected to ask what the production was to be, but I shall say that it would be the present one here. Messrs. Meynell and Gunn have a ten weeks' lease of the Royal in Melbourne and they also have a lease of the Criterion for a lengthy term here, so you see that they are making bids for the position that I have already spoken of in an earlier portion of my letter. Shall keep your readers well advised as to the movements of this firm.

At The Criterion Theatre.—Elwyn Good has been presenting to the amusement loving public of this city Hal Reid's beautiful play, Human Hearts, and I regret to say that from an artistic standpoint it is just to my liking, but somehow or another it does not seem to go with the Sydney public. I have seen it three times, and the more I see of it the better I like it. Ernest Leicester is the star as Tom Logan, and while he is an Englishman, he need never tell anyone that he is, for to hear him speak on the stage and to the manner born I would put him down as a New England Yankee, the same as the writer.

At The Palace Theatre.—Miss Florence Raines has achieved a success that has put her in the members of the theatrical managers of this city. She will close the Sydney season here with the fitting performance of Miss Lancashire Limited, and when she said that she would play her whole season with this piece, the managers shook their heads and said, "Impossible," but she has done it and to very phenomenal business. Miss Raines came to this part of the world you might say almost an entire stranger, and now they are talking about her on all sides, and well they may, for were Maggie Moore dead, I should say that Maggie's ghost had got into Miss Raines' body and was playing tricks, for all the time that I was in the theatre all I could think of was Maggie.—Hope Mr. Roberts will not call me out.—Was glad to see that talk from Maggie in The Billboard and it has been copied in extenso all over Australia, and she hath had bold advertisement as the Bard doth say. Well we hope to see her back here once more, but I am a thinking that it will be some time. Good luck to Maggie and may time rest lightly on her shoulders is the wish of this scribble. On Saturday next at this theatre, there will be produced for the first time in Australia an entirely new drama by Mr. Charles W. Taylor's English and Australian Dramatic Company, entitled The Yellow Pearl, and as the dresses are said to be authentic and exact copies from the Royal palace in China of the dresses worn by the different Mandarin and officials, and the play itself deals with the virtues of the Chinese, I presume also the virtues, shall give a full report of the same in my next letter to The Billboard.

Miss Tittle Brune leaves for the land of her birth on the steamer that carries this letter and so does her husband and his big motor car, and I have not the slightest doubt but what Miss Brune will look often with longing eyes to this part of the world and long to be back here once again, and if rumor doth not lie, she will soon be back to these shores again with new productions.

William Horace Bent, one of the finest burlet makers, all round corner men and writer of farces and negro skits, was laid to rest in his grave and will be missed by thousands who have laughed at his comedies, farces, and burles. He was an American and will be well remembered by many in the United States today. At the same time in New Zealand and at Wellington another well known end man and negro artist, Alf Lawton, died in the hospital and was also laid to rest. Both were for years end men in the same company at the Tivoli.

Madame Mabel La Blanche has been the top liner the past week and she is the wife of Mandy Gerald and she has a host of admirers on this side of the world for she took part from this side of the world for Melbourne. Its funny, but all artists like this city the best of all in the commonwealth. Guess they get treated better, and have better air and better chances for outings than in the other cities. Other members that go to make up a strong bill are Ernsto, juggler; Hayman and Franklin, Hybrew comedians; Hamilton Hill, burlesque; Price and Devoet, comedy acrobats; Sheenan and Monahan, musical artists, and a lot of others too numerous to mention, and not forgetting the latest picture machine with the sensational film, The Dieppe Circuit, that shows the great motor car race with its exciting and thrilling scenes. This was received with rounds of applause and will continue to draw for some time. Mr. Heckards and his family are in Europe but were to have sailed the latter part of this month for Sydney, no doubt to get away from the rigors of an English winter.

At The National Amphitheatre, you will find a theatre that is unique in all of its appointments, and one that is packed to suffocation nightly where a really first-class entertainment is dabbed up at million prices, and where some of the turns are equal to anything that is shown at any other hall, but of course the public does not or could not expect, at the prices ruling that they are to get European and other stars of the first magnitude, but that they do really get a first class show is a fact that your correspondent can vouch for. Here you have the same fault to find as at the other places of vaudeville, they give you too much. J. C. Bain is the business manager, Mr. Harry Brennan is the lessee and manager and James Brennan is the sole proprietor. They too have got the great film, The Dieppe Circuit, and so all three houses are running what was supposed to be the one great turn at another house. Mr. Percy Denton, American artist, and a lot of his friends, and says he is looking with longing eyes toward Home Sweet Home.

At The London Rio-Tableaux.—They are going strong with their silver screen and they have weekly changes of first-class up-to-date films, and give a two and one-half-hour show of moving pictures. The Clement Mason Trading Company of The Queen's Hall are the owners of the show. Clement Mason is the manager. They show in their shows films and machines, and lease and hire same.

Wonderland City.—The beautiful City Island of Australia, will open to the public on next Saturday, the 5th inst, under the management and proprietorship of William Anderson, but with Mr. E. S. Salambo in supreme charge of all. It is to be run strictly on business lines and with many new and added attractions. Mr. Anderson is at all times on the lookout for new things, and he will give you some boys in the States the hint as to the way to make a pile of coin if they took the trouble to read these lines, and used ordinary business sense. I get frequently letters that are sent to me, instructing me to reply to such and such an address, which I invariably do, and in nine cases out of ten, my letters are sent back and endorsed, "left and no address recorded." Now it takes at the very quickest twenty-four hours to get a letter out here, then we have to wait for three weeks before there is a return steamer, and yet lots of people think that it is at the most a ferry boat trip, judging by the way that they write me, and the time that they expect answers in.

BALTIMORE, MD.

Ben Hur was presented at the Academy of Music during the past week and the play was well received. Thurston Hall played the title role and made an excellent impression. Other members of the company were also well received. The elaborate scenery and effects are still the admiration of the multitudes.

Nat C. Goodwin appeared at Ford's and presented in Missouri, An American Citizen and The Gilded Fool, in which he achieved success many years ago. The plays were thoroughly enjoyed by the large crowds. Edna Goodrich was very attractive and made quite an impression. Miss Butler, who is well known here for having been a member of the George Fawcett Stock Company, was also well received. She was here earlier in the season with Fernanda Elsen.

Leopold Spachner, the well known manager of New York and husband of Mme. Bertha Kalk, has leased the Baltimore Theatre, located on East Baltimore street. This house was formerly used as a church, but was afterward conducted as a Yiddish theatre for several years. The Jose Van Den Berg Grand Opera Company will appear there in an operative repertoire, presenting Il Trovatore and other operas, commencing November 15. L. Cohn Little will be the resident manager.

Much to the surprise of the public, as well as the young lady herself, Miss Katherine Emmett received notice that her services were no longer required with the George Fawcett Stock Company. Miss Jane Oaker will be her successor. Miss Oaker recently appeared in The Silver Girl with George Fawcett, and after the play was presented in New York. It was shelved. In explanation of their action regarding the sudden retirement of Miss Emmett, the management publicly stated that owing to the fact that Miss Oaker was now at liberty, Mr. Fawcett sent her here to play the leading roles. Miss Emmett has won great favor here with the public, and her leaving has aroused many expressions of regret.

Henry Bishop, well known here as Bishop, the Bird Man, died at his residence on Nov. 3. He was a native of Langwiesel, Hanover, Germany, and was sixty-one years of age, being one of the city's well known figures and a man of considerable wealth. Mr. Bishop was devoted to the Zoo in Druid Hill Park here, making many contributions, and being greatly interested in fish culture, he contributed colored fish to the lakes in local parks, and made donations to the aquariums in Battery Park, New York; Detroit, Mich., and the National Zoological Park, at Washington, D. C. He has been an importer of birds and animals and a breeder of fine show fish since 1874, and in 1871 was connected with Barnum's Hippodrome in New York. His favorite recreation was the theatre.

The first concert of the season of the Boston Symphony Orchestra was given at the Lyric Theatre, November 7. This is the most popular musical organization that visits this city, and no matter what the elements may be the house is inadequate for the attendance. Dr. Karl Muck, the new director, is as popular as his predecessors.

John Gerardy, the cello virtuoso, gave an excellent concert at the Peabody Institute, November 7. The concert was largely attended and he is now quite a favorite in the Hub City. An interesting feature of the present tour is that he is on his honeymoon, as he was married in London a month ago.

Gustavus A. Wegefarth, the Philadelphia theatrical manager, who died recently, is well known in Baltimore, he having several brothers who are prominent physicians here. A sad feature of the case was that his brothers could not attend the funeral, all being confined to their homes with serious illness. The sudden death of Mr. Wegefarth is attributed to ill-health and to the worry over his venture in erecting a new theatre in Philadelphia.

Mundy's Zoo Rink opened for the season November 9, and a large crowd was in attendance. There are many new animals presented this season and as the season advances many attractions will be given. The roller rink is still drawing large crowds. Among the trainers who are with the Zoo are Major Crawford, lion trainer; Albert Stadler, German trainer with a mixed group; Mme. Lole, the Leopard Queen; Marquette, the bear trainer; Cleo, the Lady of Lions. One of the star features is Carlus, the riding tigris. Mr. George W. Owens is the resident manager.

Florence C. Owens, wife of George W. Owens, manager of Mundy's Zoo Rink, died in this city, October 18. Mr. Owens was away from the city at the time, and was unable to reach her in time for her burial. His many friends regret his untimely loss.

Allan Fawcett, the popular stage manager, was quite ill with a fever several months ago and went to Atlantic City to recuperate. He recently returned, and is now in harness again.

SYLVAN SCHENTHAL.

KANSAS CITY, MO.

A Kansas City girl, Miss Pearl Warner, joined The Belle of Mayfair Co., which played at the Willis Wood last week, on Saturday, November 9. She will have a small speaking part. Miss Warner sang contralto in St. Mary's choir.

James T. Powers in The Blue Moon was seen last evening at the Willis Wood Theatre, and received a cordial welcome, as this is Mr. Powers' first appearance in Kansas City in five years. The Blue Moon is the attraction for the week and is making a decided hit with Kansas Cityans.

Dream City, at the Grand Theatre, proved a very satisfactory show, for Little Chip and Mary Marble are the two chief attractions. Miss Marble was suffering last evening from the effects of an operation, and although quite lame, she played with great sprightliness and cleverness. Miss Loftus' role of last season, Nancy Dinglebender, Little Chip performed under great stress of mind, as he heard Saturday, Nov. 9, of the death of his father.

The Orpheum Theatre this week is to be congratulated upon the high standard of the bill offered the patrons of vaudeville. Every act is new to Kansas City, with the exception of Miss Rose Goshlan, who, although well-known in this city, is this year offering a new one-act drama, The Higher Law.

The hand-picked kings were in Kansas City last week, Bonhill at the Orpheum, and Hardeen at the Shubert Theatre. Both are marvellous and draw large crowds to the vaudeville houses.

George Evans' Honey Boy, at the Shubert theatre, is one of the best entertainers seen this season in Kansas City. His brilliant new sayings and clever songs proved a hit with the audience.

Oppl at Vassar is the offering of the Auditorium Theatre this week, and with Florence Gear as star of the company, the show made good yesterday.

Harry Clay Blaney in his old character, Willie Live, is at the Gillis Theatre this week, but in a new play, called The Box Detective. It is a very strong play, and as Harry Clay Blaney is very popular here, capacity houses rule at the Gillis.

Both the burlesque houses are doing good business this week. The Imperials being the offering at the Century Theatre, and they are very enjoyable, with many good laughs. At the Majestic Theatre, Waldron's Troubadours are very acceptable. Frank Fluney's burlesque of President Roosevelt is one of the best bits of comedy seen here.

It is understood that Kansas City is to have a new skating rink, to cost fifty thousand dollars, with a seating capacity of three thousand. The location is to be at the corner of Fifteenth street and Lydia avenue.

Mrs. Flske comes to Kansas City November 18. In two of her strongest plays, Leah Klesha and Tess of the D'Arceyville. Both plays are new to Kansas City, and are looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

WM. W. SHELLEY.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

The Wall Street panic has had but little effect on the theatres here, and all of the houses are doing well. The attraction at the Montauk Theatre this week is Minnie Dupree in The Road to Yesterday, at the Broadway. Bustin Farnum in The Rangers, and Dupree in The Power That Governs.

The benefit given at Payton's Theatre last week for the Sick Fund of the White Rats, was a big success.

La Veen, Cross and Company are seen in a new vaudeville offering this week at the Nov-city Theatre.

The Western Burlesque Wheel Theatre in Williamsburg, is being rapidly finished, and will be one of the largest theatres here when completed.

Anna Held in The Parisian Model, is the Thanksgiving week attraction at Teller's Broadway Theatre. The advance sale is large.

The Shubert Theatre has been opened by S. Lubin, of Philadelphia, and vaudeville, moving pictures and illustrated songs are presented. This is another theatre added to Mr. Lublin's chain of similar places.

Fred McClellan, manager of Luna Park, returned from Europe a few weeks ago and has started the work at Luna Park, where many new attractions are being built.

Gas Edwards' Blonde Typewriters, with Johnnie Stanley and the prettiest lot of girls that have been seen here in many a day, are at the Orpheum this week, and are the hit of the bill.

Town Talk is the title decided upon for a musical comedy to be written by Harry Von Tilzer and Barney Gerard. The piece is claimed to be very lifelike and full of originality, and negotiations are now pending for a metropolitan production around the holidays or in the spring.

Louis Mann heads a big vaudeville bill at the Grand Opera House this week.

Lea Parker, who has been manager of the Shubert here, is now on the road with The Man in the Box. Mr. Parker is manager of the company.

In spite of the fact that other managers say this is a bad season "on the road," Walter S. Lawrence has four exceptionally prosperous companies on tour. They are Charlotte Nilsson, in The Three of Us; the western Three of Us company; James Lee Finney, in The Man in the Box, and Mrs. Temple's Telegram. As these companies are playing territory from Oregon to the New England States it seems as if their results might reasonably be taken as a criterion of successful management.

There is much activity about Golden City, Canarsie, where fifty laborers are employed making improvements in the grounds, laying out grass plots and improving the walks. W. J. Warner, under whose management Golden City will open next season, plans to make the park attractive. When the season opens in May it is understood that elevated trains will be running over the Williamsburg Bridge through to Canarsie. This arrangement will bring Golden City in closer touch with New York than ever before.

Preparations are being made at the Majestic Theatre for an exceptionally busy season during the Christmas holiday time. A special engagement has been arranged with Cecil Spooner and her company as the attraction. Miss Spooner will be at the Majestic for two weeks, beginning the week before Christmas. She has been welcomed back to Brooklyn most enthusiastically by her admirers on each occasion since she has headed her own company, and now that her sister and mother have left Brooklyn it is believed that the large Spooner following will be particularly interested, and will pack the Majestic for the two weeks.

Harry Von Tilzer, the famous song writer, was the headliner at the Orpheum here last week.

A Testimonial was given to Thos. F. Shannon, the Brooklyn band leader, at the 23rd Regiment, Army last week.

The Rehman Show, which is under the management of the Jack Singer Amusement Co., is at the Gayety Theatre this week.

The bill at Perry G. Williams' Orpheum this week is: The Song Birds, with William Burress; Almont and Dumont, Enting, late feature Moll and Millionaire Co.; In Graecum, Gus Edwards' Blonde Typewriters; A Picnic For One, Godney and Sutherland; Five Bersecois, Parkinson and Goetz; Vitagraph, and George Abel.

Will Rossiter's, the Chicago publisher's, songs are making good here in the East. Stated You Called Me Doodle, When the Moon Plays Peck-a-boo, Napanee, Pretty, Witty Kitty From Killarney and Stingy have been sung by many of the best vaudeville people seen here recently.

The bill at the Grand Opera House last week was Betty King, London's foremost male impersonator; Climpaville, the world's greatest juggler; Romany Operatic Troupe, Pae Goodschmidts, Will Rogers, Chas. Kenna, Fitzhull and Harris, Rodie Burns, Zaretsky Troupe, Herbert Lloyd and Company was an even attraction at Hyde & Rehman's Olympic Theatre last week.

Within a few weeks work will begin on a new amusement place at Rockaway Beach, which is to be finished by Decoration Day. The new attraction is to be built by the Gondola Amusement Co., which has leased a large tract of land on the ocean front at Seaside from J. W. Walwright, and will erect a device on a plan similar to the scenic railways and coasters and other like attractions, that will appeal to the excursion crowds. The amusement place will cost about $25,000 to build.

Brooklyn seems to be a good place for music publishers and popular songs are in great demand in The City of Churches and Homes. During the past week nearly every theatre here used some of Gus Edwards' music or songs. School Days, and That's What the Rose Said to Me, also Bye-bye, Dear Old Broadway are very popular here and heard everywhere.

Leon Washburn's herd of elephants were presented here for the first time at Keeney's Theatre last week. Many new tricks were shown, and the act is sure to make a bit wherever presented.

Thos. Bayless is to have a new play. She is still in "Way Down East." Wm. A. Brady and Joseph E. Grismer have commissioned Philip Verrill Nichols to write her a play of life to-day in the California foothills, still as colorful and vital with romance as in the time of sluggish Spanish rule or the rude, serventous period of Argonaut discovery. Nichols is a California novelist and magazine writer. Miss Davies is a native daughter of the Golden West. GEO. H. HAKES.

The Leichs, presenting The Musical Maid and the Juggling Tramp, are booked solid over the Southern Circuit until May 1, 1908.

San Francisco Office 879 Ellis St.	SAN FRANCISCO LETTER	Rube Cohen Representative
---	-----------------------------	--------------------------------------

REPRESENTATIVES of the eight local theatres whose licenses the supervisors talk of revoking, on the report of the Chief Building Inspector, declaring the buildings to have been constructed in violation of the ordinance, appeared before the Fire Committee and pleaded for leniency. It was represented that to tear down their present buildings and erect others at this time was virtually impossible.

The request was made that two or, if possible, three years be allowed the management of the theatres in which to substitute proper buildings. The committee showed themselves inclined to be as easy as they might be with the petitioners, but declared it would be impossible to consider a delay of three years. It has been hinted that possibly two years might be allowed. The eight theatres concerned are the Van Ness, National, Novelty, Empire, Wigwam, Central, Lyceum and Davis.

Al Johnson has signed to play comedy parts with Walter Sanford's Players, opening at the Globe Theatre November 11 in Behind the Mask. It is understood the contract is to run sixteen weeks.

Wilfred Douglass, who had charge of the stage at the Princeton Theatre during the vaudeville season, was the most surprised man the eve of the changing of the policy to comic opera. One of the stage hands notified him that he was wanted downstairs in one of the dressing rooms and, anticipating one of the usual kicks which comes up at all times in a vaudeville house, he prepared himself with his affable and diplomatic manner to grasp the situation; when lo and behold, he was presented with a beautiful gold locket studded with diamonds, and it almost took his breath away. It was a token of esteem and friendship from the stage hands. Mr. Douglass intends taking a partner and will fill vaudeville dates.

Punch Wheeler, who is ahead of The Royal Chef, dropped in on us this week. He was full of business, in a big hurry, as round as ever, and rushed right in and turned around and rushed right out again. Too busy—no time to talk—will call again. He reported a very satisfactory season for The Royal Chef all along their route.

Henry M. Blossom's play, Checkers, at the Van Ness Theatre, has no cause to complain of the attendance here and is splendidly attended and there is a vast amount of interest crowded into each of the four acts. Hans Roberts in the title role made good. The Lion and The Mouse follows for a two weeks' stay.

Maudie Fealy in The Stronger Sex shines at the American Theatre and the local press devoted columns of praise for her rendition of the part of Mary Warren. She has a host of admirers here and a good week's business was enjoyed. The Royal Chef followed with a matinee performance on Sunday, November 10.

West's Minstrels held forth at the Novelty Theatre. Billy Van, Major Smith and the singing contingent were all good cards, and a most satisfactory week's business resulted.

The Princess Theatre is rapidly coming to the front, and the patronage is increasing nightly with its comic opera productions, which are presented in a most creditable manner. Last Saturday and Sunday evenings it was a case of turn-away houses. This week The Gelsba did a big business, and this house is destined to become the home of comic opera. The Serenade is the next offering with the following new faces: Edith Bradford, Harold Crane and Jas. S. Murray.

Sassa and his Band during his four concerts at Dreamland Rink did a record business. The vast building was crowded to the limit. At the Central Theatre, The Outlaw's Christmas was presented during the week with J. N. Heffson in the villain part, Evelyn Selbie in the heroine part and other familiar performers in the cast to a good week's business. The melodrama season is to be interrupted by a week of Italian grand opera by the Milan Opera Company.

The Orpheum had an all-star bill last week, and every night and all the seven matinees the house was sold out before the curtain run up, breaking all records in the history of vaudeville in San Francisco, and all this in the face of election week, bank failure, etc. Nance O'Neil in the curse scene from The Jewess proved her popularity in her native city, and the thunder of applause that was beatowed on her was not stilled until the actress reappeared before the curtain several times. Lew Hawkins reappeared and created much merriment. La Scala Sextet was another strong card for music-lovers and their grand opera songs were much appreciated. Tom Nawn and Company, who have not been here for four years, returned with their Irish comedy sketch, Pat and the Genll, and proved as good a turn as when first seen here. Ward and Curran, Massias O'Connor and Sisters O'Meer were the hold-overs.

The National Theatre's bill was composed of the Two Gordon Brothers in a novelty act in which they introduce a boxing contest while standing on revolving globes; George Kane, the German dialect comedian, was a good card and created considerable laughter. Firm and Ford are as clever a pair of dancers as we have had for some time, and although following some six similar turns in the same number of weeks, they went big. Les Bohemes is a high-class musical turn composed of two ladies, Marie Wondra, an accomplished flute and saxophone soloist, and Elaine Forrest, a cultured soprano, and their turn met with universal approval. The Three Ernsts, in their comedy trampoline horizontal bar performance, was a continued scream from start to finish. All are comedians, and with their ludicrous make-ups and funny stunts deserved the curtain calls they received. Arthur Don and Minnie Thompson, as the Sailor and the Maid, was a talking specialty. Earl Brothers, two boy musicians, was another good turn. Al Johnson, playing a return date, is the one big favorite at this house. All he has to do to get the laughs now is simply to make his appearance on the stage. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb are booked to appear at the National this week.

Acadla, now called Coney Island, the downtown amusement park, positively announced the opening for November 16. All the concessions have been taken up.

The Wigwam this week had a banner show and one hard to beat. Foremost on the program was Totio and Company, a foreign act direct from England, presenting a novelty act consisting of juggling, balancing and break-away ladder. The company is composed of one man, one lady, one dog and a teddy bear. They introduced several new and novel stunts and were rewarded by several curtain calls. Dancing Davey continues to win laurels with his "dance-your-head-off" style, and the audience never seems to tire of him. The Buckeye Quartet can hold their own with any of them, for they are real singers, and their selections and renditions were one of the feature acts, judging from the repeated calls demanded of them. Morton Jewell Troupe and Hugh J. Emmott repeated their downtown successes. The Vaughners, a refined colored team of entertainers, held their own on this strong bill. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick furnished a very entertaining sketch which brought out their talent. It is called The Cowboy Visitor and just suited the Wigwam.

Nickelodeons continue springing up all over the city, and with few exceptions all seem to prosper. We have in the neighborhood of forty at present, with more to come.

The Empire Theatre offered its patrons a straight vaudeville bill this week, with the Flood Sisters, globe walkers, juggling and balancing ladder act for the initial number. Al-hurlua and Altus, with their juggling merriment proved a taking turn. Both these performers are pastmasters in their art and they accomplish many difficult tricks with apparent ease. The comedy part a full of laughs. Dan J. Harrington made his first appearance in the West. He is a ventriloquist, using six figures, and is full of comedy. The funniest of acrobatic turns was performed by The Gergis, two foreigners, one lady and one gentleman, and their old work caused considerable laughter. Miss Gergis wears most beautiful and expensive Paris gowns, which were much admired. The first appearance of Grant Churehill, assisted by Miss Daisy Alice Bishop and Frank Chatterton, presented a little sketch called The Billionaire, full of up-to-date points.

IN OAKLAND.

Ye Liberty Theatre broke the record last week with Zaza at the attraction. It was most sumptuously mounted and every detail carried out to the letter. Isabel Fletcher and Izetla alternated in the title role. Miss Fletcher carried the honors, the character being more in her line. The play could easily run another week. The Milan Opera holds the boards for the first half of the following week.

The Orpheum continues doing a banner business and the excellent programs offered keep them a-coming. Adgie and her Lions were featured at the Bell Theatre this week, and this house also had a record week. All the matinees were crowded to the limit, Adgie being a special drawing card for the ladies and children. The Three White Kullins on their second week have proved as strong a card as ever and are established favorites here. Fox and Foale's Circus was the laugh-getter on the program. Others on the bill were Freeman Brothers, Fred Duprez, Harry Rutter and Company and moving pictures. The Novelty Theatre, with American Newsboys' Quartet, Jimmy Cowper, Al Williams, Hall and Calhorn, Drake's Sheep and Dogs, kept up the standard of the house. Guy Smith, who has been the manager of this house for some time, retires December 1. A beautiful pneumatic fountain has been installed in the lobby, which is a big attraction for the front.

RUBE COHEN.

The first memorial of the Baltimore Lodge No. 14, were held Sunday, Nov. 10 at their lodge rooms.

FROM ACROSS THE ROCKIES.

The season is at hand now in the western country for the shows that have not met with popular favor to close or turn homeward, and during the past week I have met about six companies that had disbanded or that would close in a few days, and among these being Salomy Jane, Liebler & Company's beautiful play and production which should have made a bunch of money on the coast, the story being one of early days in California, but their poorest business happened to be in the Golden State. The company closed Nov. 9 in Denver. I also understand that several musical shows will close during the next two weeks.

There is plenty of money in the west and I can't understand why shows of the caliber of Salomy Jane should not reap a fortune.

I met Matt Smith, the boy agent who is ahead of the Strongheart organization this season, Ollie Mack, and Mr. Charles A. Murray in the Wilson Hotel in Salt Lake City the other day. Matt wanted to bet Mack that he (Mack) was engaged to a young lady in Milwaukee, but as it was personal, Mack refused to take the money, by informing him that he had Milwaukee mixed with Salida, Col. By the way, Murray and Mack are giving a great show this year and are winning new laurels everywhere. Take it from me, this show is going to get as much money as any one that will visit the coast this season.

The Time, The Place and The Girl has made a bank role for the Askin & Singer Company out here, but I believe that they made one mistake by going over the $1.50 price.

Charles A. Murray informed me the other day that he would put out a two-act tent "oper" next season, called Murray's All Stars. He did not tell me how many stars there would be, but offered me the position as general agent. He also needs a real press agent, one of the 57, Tom North or E. E. Meredith. Please write.

Frank Mathews, who was manager of the Murray and Mack Company for a few weeks this season, is now the pathfinder for The Honeycombers, which is playing the one-night stands in the east.

ZECH & ZECH.

The above is an excellent likeness of Zech and Zech, high-class novelty aerial artists. They are now playing western time, booked by Chas. E. Hodkins.

Walter W. Stirling, Mrs. Ray Samuels, Mrs. James Patchin and Mrs. Chas. Barney.

Everyone approached the work with great courage except Charles Barney, who kept prowling around during all the early evening hours, endeavoring to find out where the goat was hidden.

Among the amusement features presented were acts by all the members present. Toastmaster Smith, we are sorry to say, had to close two or three on account of old jokes being used. One of the most regrettable features on the program was the inability of Col. N. L. R. Sawyer, to tell an old Irish story that some one had put him next to in the alley before he came in. The gallant Colonel tried three or four times to accomplish the feat, but unfortunately the noise from the gallery was too great.

The special thanks of the lodge are due Mrs. C. R. Andrews and Brother William Sutton, (Fontinelle) for discarding sweet music during the evening's festivities.

Brother Sutton, on the drums, was especially good when it came to silent work. Among the out-of-town brothers present, were William Sutton of Oakland Lodge No. 24, Charles Rosey of No. 58, Streator, Ill.; Mack Wheeler of Houston Lodge No. 15, and James Patchin of Lodge No. 40.

A very enjoyable time was spent by everyone and not until the daylight commenced to peep its way through the darkened streets of Muncie, did anyone think of hotel or home.

Among those present were C. R. Andrews, W. D. Sawyer, William Sutton, Thomas Reed, Arthur Bennett, Forrest E. Andrews, Dr. G. R. Andrews, John C. Proctor, Chas. Ford, Harry J. Tuttle, Robert F. Tumyeson, Ed. M. Kilen, Frank W. Gray, E. A. Kramer, W. E. Floyd, Andrew Davis, Leroy Tudor, Chas. Duffy, Chas. Rosey, Carl Proctor, Wilbur L. Ferris, Mrs. C. R. Andrews, Mack Wheeler, Charles Barney, Chas. Hreckenridge, Dorothy Smith, Alvah D. Simms, James Patchin, Fred E. Ellsworth, Frank M. Amstein, Miss Edna Erline, Miss Grace Burke, Mr. J. Rus Smith, Mrs. Chas. Barney, Col. N. L. R. Sawyer, Walter W. Stirling, Mrs. Walter W. Stirling, Mrs. Ray Samuels, Mrs. J. Rus Smith, and Mrs. James Patchin.

At the regular meeting held Sunday, Nov. 10, four applications were acted on, and at a special meeting held the following Saturday at the Academy, two applications were acted on. The Dyster Boast Committee was present and announced the feast would be held Dec. 8.

Joseph Murray, vaudeville artist; John J. McCormick, property man with Himmelein's ideals, and John H. Jacob, property man with Murray and Mackey, were recently initiated into the mysteries of Lodge No. 63 of the T. M. A. Lodge at East Liverpool, O.

LACKAYE BREVITIES.

Wilton Lackaye has just returned from a flying trip through the South. For the benefit of The Lambs he notes:

Many a hotel has a French chef—but he has a Canadian accent.

One-night stands are all right—when—you stand 'em up.

The actor's life is a hard one—on the seats of the (H)air Line.

The L. & N. is long and nasty—better off the B. & O.

Going South is great when—you "go South" up North.

The three-cent fare—is fare enough.

The cotton crop is bad in Texas—the pass crop is always good.

I before E or E before I—Wels should be Wise.

Don't drink—The agent represents the Company.

Four men a side and five in the flea—is ten more than you get.

It's hard to be a good actor—and count the house too.

One-nights in Texas mean—whole days on the trail.

The South is going dry—it takes an actor to shed tears.

Mileage books—are not included in Carnegie libraries.

Don't tell the agent business is good—it reflects on his expense account.

The correct title for the second man—The Business Manager's Valet.

THE SKINK.

T. M. A. NOTES.

Muncie, Ind.

Lodge No. 29, T. M. A., at Muncie Ind., initiated a large class of intelligent and promising candidates on Friday evening, Nov. 1.

After the ordeal was over, everyone sat down to enjoy the spread, which consisted of everything good to eat or drink, from a screaming oyster to a bottle of soda water.

That the feast was so complete in every particular was due to the untiring efforts of the Star Theatre's popular manager, Brother C. R. Andrews, and his wife.

The stage of the theatre was used for the occasion, and was handsomely decorated for the meeting, by the stage manager, Brother Robert F. Tumyeson and his assistants.

Brother J. Rus Smith, manager of the Murray Comedy Company, acted as toastmaster, and kept everyone in happy humor by his witty sayings. In fact, the entire lodge voted Brother Smith the best monologue artist of recent years and warned him to look out or Klaw & Erlanger would have him in advanced vaudeville within the next few years.

The following artists and artisans were initiated: W. E. Floyd, Leroy Tudor, Wilbur L. Ferris, Charles Barney, Charles Hreckenridge, Alvah D. Simms, Fred E. Ellsworth, ED. E. DALEY.

AMONG THE SKATERS.

Secretary Reynolds, of the Professional Roller Skaters' Association has received a special offer from C. P. Crawford, general manager of the Tournament Hall Roller Rink, Blige Lane, Liverpool England, for an early engagement of ten weeks for himself and Miss Nellie Donegan. Mr. Crawford managed successfully the Brighton Rink for the past two seasons. He also built and managed successfully a number of others. He is known in the United States as a roller skating magnate of the progressive and successful type. He is interested with the Winslow Skate Co., of which Robert Winslow is the principal member. Mr. Winslow has been instrumental in the promotion of roller skating in almost every civilized country. He will build a chain of rinks throughout England, Ireland and Scotland, and if successful in popularizing the sport in these countries he will extend his efforts over the Continent. He is extremely fortunate in having associated with him a man of calibre like Manager Crawford, who is untiring in his energy.

The Boston newspapers, even during election time, devoted much space praising the performance of Miss Nellie Donegan at the Park Square Coliseum Rink. It will be some time before a skater will obtain anywhere near the recognition this little wonder has gained in the East. The Park Square which is four laps to a mile, was crowded daily and nightly and the Queen of Rollers was compelled to give two exhibitions to the enthusiastic audiences. The Boston press claims that ten thousand people witnessed her opening performance.

Komick Karndine, the King of Hobos, we are sorry to say has been very ill at his home in Bridgeport, Conn., for some time. This clever comedy skater is a member of the Association of Professional Roller Skaters and Secretary Reynolds is investigating the situation. Should the case demand it, a benefit will be arranged in the very near future at which a large program will be presented, made up of many acts of the association that may be in the eastern district at the time.

The report that Miss May Taylor of the Taylor Twin Sisters was thinking seriously of abandoning single life was denied by this clever skater. The large three carat diamond ring which she wears continually on her third finger, shows plainly that the lucky party might be quite rich and that there may be something in the report at that.

Miss Adelaide D'Vorak, the racing girl, has been booked until after Christmas throughout the New England States. Manager Bowen will book Miss D'Vorak for a series of races at his famous Park Square Rink in the near future. Miss D'Vorak defeated all the crack speed skaters in New Jersey last week, at Trenton.

The Renowned Sterlings, a juvenile acrobatic skating act, were admitted to the Association of Professional Roller Skaters last week by the committee on admissions. This team of juveniles does some very clever work, one special feature being a top mount spin and double electrical whirl, while one is upon the other's shoulders.

The Great Monohan, better known throughout the west where he has been playing to capacity everywhere as "The Wizard of the Skates from Skatesville" has been booked for a two weeks' engagement at Omaha, opening this week. This great novelty artist is booked solid for the rest of the season.

Reckless Recklaw, the eccentric comedy cyclist and artist, has arranged to draw cartoon pictures of the association skaters. The reckless one has succeeded in getting a real good one of Prof. Tyler. "More power to the artist."—But Bob Fitzsimmons may get jealous.

Tyler and Berton, the professor and his California gold nugget, the matinee girl, are doing capacity business everywhere they play. Rink managers keep writing Secretary Reynolds to try to book this team for them at any price.

John F. Davidson, who has been playing continually in Canada since the season opened, has accepted ten weeks time in the north-west where he will present many new novelties heretofore unknown to roller skaters.

The Lawler Children are well booked throughout the northwest for some time to come. Cities that they will visit include Baker City, Ore., Seattle, and other points in the vicinity.

C. J. Clark and James Cunningham are about to open a thoroughly equipped and up-to-date skating rink at Ottawa, Kansas. Work has already commenced on what promises to be one of the best rinks in the state.

J. Henkel Henry, is erecting a new skating rink in the center of the city of Winchester, W. Va., and will open same about Dec. 1. The rink will have a seating capacity of 800.

Prof. Chas. Franks and Baby Lillian have accepted a six weeks engagement throughout the northwest. The professor opened the Fort William Roller Rink at Fort William, Canada, last week.

Miss Jessie Darling has arranged for an extended tour through Canada. Miss Darling's cake-walk and her many other features created a sensation through the south where she has been appearing.

The Great LaSalles have been offered a six weeks' engagement in New Mexico, but previous bookings may prevent their appearance in the South until later in the season.

The Elite Rink, East Liverpool, O., recently inaugurated the idea of giving souvenirs to their Friday night patrons. Consequently each Friday sees a packed floor.

The El Rey Sisters are well booked in the provinces for some time to come. It is evident that no nation appreciates good skaters better than Canada.

Miss May Demancourt pleased large audiences at Salt Lake City last week and is booked solid throughout the Rocky Mountain region.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

The Billboard's advertising patrons will greatly oblige by sending in the copy for their advertisements as early as convenient, instead of waiting till the last moment. All ads received early in the week will be given preference in position and display.

It would seem that our strenuous President has started something now that bids fair to engage his entire attention for a time. The present financial stringency is perhaps correctly Condition, attributed to the action that has been taken against the railroads and the trusts, so called.

Its general affect is well known. The amusement business is perhaps more seriously impeded than any other individual branch as the luxuries of the masses are always sacrificed first.

Other causes are also attributable, such as the poor quality of plays and a super-abundance of theatres. It is estimated in theatrical circles that almost 3,000 actors and actresses are out of work. Actors and actresses may be seen daily in Broadway, New York City, vainly making the rounds of the agencies. The financial stringency, the dearth of satisfactory plays, the sterility of playwrights and the construction of too many theatres have combined, it appears, to bring about a serious condition of affairs in the theatrical world. A record of failures was established in September and October, for eighty per cent. of the new serious plays were fiascos. The authors of these plays comprise the most successful writers in their class. The companies which were gathered for these plays were disbanded, and few of the players have found new engagements. Meantime, many road companies have returned, having found the season a bad one. As the actors and actresses have suffered, so have stage hands and theatrical employes of all classes. Daniel Frohman says that unless conditions improve there can be no improvement, and plays of strength and originality must be written by the playwright before managers can be induced to invest thousands of dollars in them.

THE VAUDEVILLE SITUATION.

General Belief That The Cruel War is Over.

By WILL S. HECK.

There is not much of anything to say that is new in regard to the vaudeville situation in addition to what I said last week. The official announcement of the consummation of a deal is still withheld, but there is every indication that such a deal has been made, and that Klaw & Erlanger will gradually withdraw from the field of vaudeville. It is pretty certain that before the close of March, Klaw & Erlanger will be confining their attention to the legitimate strictly, and that so far as the vaudeville situation is concerned, the Keith-Prospector-Williams-Hammerstein combine will be monarchs of all they survey. Pending the official announcement from the parties concerned, the public has full liberty to continue to indulge in conjectures. Naturally such old sayings come to mind as "There is many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," and "The best laid plans of mice and men, gang aft aglee."

New York papers continue to discuss the matter freely, and one afternoon an interview reported to have been held with F. F. Proctor, Jr., and occupying a column and a half of space, created quite a sensation. In this interview Mr. Proctor was made to say a good many things.

He denied that the Keith & Proctor forces were to pay Klaw & Erlanger $3,000,000, as had been reported, that he estimated that Klaw & Erlanger had lost $250,000 in their efforts to establish a vaudeville, that he had that day received fifty contracts belonging to Klaw & Erlanger, which ran from five to forty weeks, that the aggregate of salaries represented by the contracts which Klaw & Erlanger had made with performers amounted to over $500,000, but the next morning Mr. F. F. Proctor branded the interview as absolutely false. He said he knew that negotiations had been going on between the rival vaudeville factions, but that he knew absolutely nothing concerning the situation.

Another statement was to the effect that the United Booking Office, the central body of the association of managers, is already booking the European artists brought over by Klaw & Erlanger, and that by February 1, all vaudeville houses operated by Klaw & Erlanger will be closed as such. It is said that the New York Theatre will close as a vaudeville house after the engagement of Harry Lauder, and that he will then be seen in the Keith & Proctor houses.

It is said that the deal is so far advanced that there are few prospects of a miscarriage. However, there are some obstacles that have, no doubt, considerably hampered the settlement. One of these is Mr. Wm. Morris, the independent booking agent. The rumor was current here last week that the United Booking Office has made tempting overtures to him to ally himself with them, thus wiping out the only remaining opposition, but this rumor could not be confirmed. It may be that in another week the atmosphere may clear up, and everybody concerned, including the vast body of performers, many of whom look with regret upon the ending of the war, fearing that it means a reduction in salaries, will know "just where they are at."

BANQUET GIVEN BY HAGENBECK-WALLACE BOYS.

The advance forces of the Hagenbeck Wallace Shows, which recently closed the season at Roanoke, Va., have returned to the following places homes for the winter: Foster Burns, James Eviston, Pop. Frank Purcell, Cincinnati; Wm. Lane, Rockford, Ill.; Mr. O'Brien, Sioux City, Iowa; Mr. Benkart, Sioux City; W. J. Bauer, Dayton, O.; C. S. Wright, Muncie, Ind.; and W. B. Menefee, Peru, Ind.

After the "blow off," the boys enjoyed themselves largely with one of those regular social sessions and some of the boys, after indulging freely in "sponge cake" and other delicacies, responded to the following songs and toasts: James Cochrane, of dear old Brooklyn, being of a humorous as well as musical turn of mind, composed and rendered beautifully, in a baritone voice, a song entitled "Green Corn, Green Corn. How I Love My Green Corn," and etc. Mr. Dawson responded with a recitation of reminiscences of Joe Morgan; Wm. Burkart, a song entitled, "Margie or Why Is A Lemon"; Mr. O'Brien recited "Con Some, Con Some Me Back to Terry's, and James Eviston, Altamont, My Altamont.

The number two car boys were real entertainers for the simple reason there being more glitters and burlesque among them. "Carmel" Beckett, who sang several songs from the Italian opera, was appreciated as well as Mr. Oliver, whose performance on the piano was extremely clever. Jack Scott sang that well known success, entitled "Dear Old Georgia," and the number two boys joined in the chorus and responded for an encore a song entitled "I could Live and Die in Dear Old Dixieland."

The number one boys not to be outdone, sang a song, Gilsey Abrams leading. That Watermelon Smiling on the Vine. This song was a fitting climax to the evening's festivities, as it seemed the boys, especially Mr. Abrams, made it their best effort, and as the last chorus was being sung, the rafters of the banquet hall shook as the melody pounded forth from the "cheese and cracker" voices, and tears were shed that night that were never shed before, as the boys bade each other good-bye, and a fond good-night.

As far as the boys were concerned, the season of 1907 was closed. In the shadow of the depot two familiar voices, in earnest conversation, one in particular, could be heard. "Will you write to me, 'Jimmie,' 'You bet your life, 'Benny' only to be interrupted by the conductor calling out in a loud manner, "All aboard," and half an hour later some of the boys were in "Dreamland."

NEW MANAGER FOR THE MARY ANDERSON HOUSE.

Max E. Friedburg, who was recently press agent of the Mary Anderson Theatre, Louisville, Ky., started his duties as manager of the house, Nov. 11. The Mary Anderson Theatre is one of Klaw & Erlanger's vaudeville houses in Louisville, and is doing a very nice business under the new management.

Playhouses

The Gaiety Theatre, situated at 92d street and Commercial avenue, South Chicago, owned by the South Chicago Amusement Company, of which Chas. E. Kohl, of Kohl & Castle Syndicate, is one of the principal stockholders, opened with a matinee, Monday, Nov. 4, to capacity houses. The theatre will be booked by the Western Vaudeville Association, and will run two performances daily, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. The seating capacity is 800, and cost approximately $25,000. It is beautifully decorated in old ivory and gold, and the furnishings are elegant. J. T. Connor, manager of the Calumet Theatre, South Chicago, is manager, and H. B. Fitzpatrick is resident manager and treasurer. The bill for the opening week consisted of the American Florence Troupe of Six, Murray K. Hill; Thos. J. Keough and Company, Adele McNeill, Alan Whitman and the Kinodrome.

Milton Nobles will offer new material at Tony Pastor's Theatre, New York City, week of Dec. 2. Two acts during the week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 2, 3 and 4, afternoon a legitimate farce for three characters, called "Married Filtra," Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 5, 6 and 7, afternoon and night, will be given an original dramatic episode, for three characters, called "Like A Thief In The Night." Both sketches are written by Mr. Nobles. Holly and Milton Nobles will be seen in both, and in widely contrasted character actors.

The Majestic Theatre, Des Moines, Iowa, opened its doors Nov. 17, with Fred Huchan as manager. The house has a seating capacity of 1,000 and the price range from 10 cents to $1.00. The place is beautifully decorated and will no doubt be a success from every standpoint.

The new Lyric Theatre, Rome, N. Y., is nearly completed, and the first performance is expected to be given about Dec. 1. The Washington Street House burned April 11, 1903, and since that time Rome has been without a playhouse. Jas. F. Woods is resident manager.

Morton Show, of the Masonic Theatre, Louisville, Ky., is writing a vaudeville sketch which he will produce very soon, and great results are expected from it. Buster Brown played at that house last week, and capacity ruled during the entire engagement.

Max Falish has resigned as manager of the Mary Anderson Theatre, Louisville, Ky., and is going to return to Denver, on account of poor health. Max Friedburg succeeded him as manager of the house.

James E. Humphrey has leased the Opera House at Winnebago, Minn., and will no doubt meet with success in his new venture, as he has had considerable experience in the theatrical business.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new Illinois Theatre at Urbana, Ill. Geo. W. Chatterton has the lease and E. E. Hea is to be the local manager.

MUSICAL COMEDY.

The first production of the new musical comedy, in Pensacola, the authors of which are A. A. Friedland and Irving H. Jones of Shore Park, S. C., will be given in the New Theatre at that city on Nov. 12. Arrangements have been made to take a short trip in the neighboring territories and from all indications, the new comedy will prove a success.

MARRIAGES.

BILLION-RICHARDSON.—Frank Richardson of Copeland Brothers' Stock Company, to Miss Mabel Dillon of New Orleans, La., Nov. 7, at the Davis Opera House, Meru, Ark.

LARSON-WILLS.—Harry F. Wills, late of the musical team of Halle, Wills & Halle, and now part owner in the Higgins-Wills Novelty Show, to Miss Alice E. Larson, at St. Patrick's Cathedral at East Clark, Wis., Nov. 10.

GIBBON-NEWBOLD.—Robertson Newbold, who plays the part of President Amador in the Roger Brothers in Panama, to Miss Marie Louis Gibbin, the girl who goes down in the tank at the Hippodrome, New York, two weeks ago. Mr. Newbold and Miss Gibbin sang in the same company two years ago and the wedding is the sequel to their acquaintanceship. The happy couple are living on West 27th street. Mrs. Newbold has been re-engaged as the prima donna in the new spectacle, which will open at the Hippodrome, Nov. 27.

SCRANTON-BELL.—Pete Bell, of the team of Bell and Henry, who were with the Barnum & Bailey Circus the past season, to Miss Eva Scranton, a member of Zeno, Jordan and Zeno, at London, Ont., Canada, Nov. 6.

DONAVAN-MACKIN.—While playing in Pittsburg, Pa., week of Oct. 28, Miss Fannie Donovan, formerly of Jas. B. and Fannie Tompkins, and Mr. Billie Mackin, of Berrian and Mackin, were united in marriage before Supt. McManera at the City Hall on Tuesday, Oct. 29. Mrs. Mackin will join the team of Berrian and Mackin, which will hereafter be known as Mackin, Berrian and Mackin.

BIRTHS.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lew Reynolds, a ten-pound daughter, Nov. 12. Mrs. Reynolds is professionally known as Mamie Texana.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Kaiser, manager of the Novelty Theatre, Stockton, Cal., Oct. 28, a son.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brook, of Truck Brothers and Edna, a comely acrobat, a baby boy Nov. 13, at Monroe, Mich. Mother and child are doing nicely.

DEATHS.

PETER HESS, of Albany, N. Y., who was well known to the vaudeville profession, died at his home in Albany, on Monday, Nov. 4. For many years he conducted a cafe next to the Gaiety Theatre which was known to the profession far and wide.

WIFE WANTED. FILM FOR SALE

The Woes of a Widower Who Would Wed Once More.

LENGTH, 848 FEET.
WIFE WANTED.

The hero of this film story having just lost his fifth wife, and left with an interesting family of nineteen children, advertises for another helpmate. In answer to this "ad" a cyclonic phalanx of skirts besiege his home, so the poor fellow, terror-stricken, rushes to the upper floor, dives through a window onto the lawn, and is off down the road with a herd of femininity at his heels. The chase leads through corn fields, over hills, down precipitous cliffs, across a lake—over which the entire party jumps in a most mysterious manner—and finally ends with one damed mounting a horse, overtaking and winning the prize. (It is a better skelter, harum-scarum harlequinade of fun.)

"AND THE VILLAINESS STILL PURSUED HIM."

FROM COLE BROTHERS' SHOWS.

The Cole Brothers' World Renowned Shows closed their 1907 season at Hugo, I. T., Nov. 9. Ever since circuses have closed their season it has been customary to say that the season closed was one of continuous money getting, not a losing stand, and kindred lines of imaginary praise, but such careless juggling of the truth carries with it a laugh from all good showmen. It will not be allowed to creep into this article. The figures are very substantially on the right side of the ledger, and with sickness not invading its family every one with the aggregation was satisfied.

The first section of the advance closed on regular time, but number three car remained open, preceding the show but one day with all towns where there was opposition.

Starting early, as it did, with a belated spring and everything but circus weather to encounter and in direct opposition to circuses that made the same territory year after year, that it succeeded in securing the giant share of the patronage is unprecedented. This phenomenal success is a fact and not gush, but truth attested to by the leading show owners and an assertion that laymen can take without the least iota of allowance.

The press agent, whose lack of originality compels him to say that "everywhere the press and public endorsed the performance," would not be untruthful when speaking of the Cole Brothers' 1907 season. Personally and by letter, hundreds of those who saw the performance of this show unsolicited have beseeched the management to put their town permanently on the show's itinerary. City officials, clergy and members of various professions have branded it as one of the most perfectly organized and satisfying entertainments ever conceived. Every performer who opened with the show closed with it, and from the many artists who made up the varied and extensive programs, not one complaint was registered during the entire season. The treatment they received and the unsolicited favors extended them by the management have made the Cole Bros. Show one to be sought for my leading circus people. In the advance of the show every agent, car manager and twenty-eight of the billposters who opened with it closed with it. All the billposters were carried home on the advance cars making St. Louis, Toledo, Decatur, Cleveland and Erie, the drop-off points for the men. Every billposter who closed with the show signed for next season, and even now applications from others are coming in.

Since going out the past season, the show's winterquarters at Harbor Creek, Pa., have been enlarged. It was found necessary to do this in view of the contemplated improvements to be made in the show during this winter. Mr. Downs will enlarge every department and already several new, large cages have been contracted for. Many animals, including five additional elephants, have been purchased for the menagerie, and negotiations are pending for three entirely new features to this country. Forty mechanics will be in winterquarters all winter, outfitting, and when the show goes on the road next spring it will be almost entirely new.

There will be no change in the executive staff, the members of which will all make their headquarters at Harbor Creek. Mr. John D. Carey will have the first car next season and will do both car and press work with two assistants. John R. Feitus will have the excursion car. Contracts will be placed next month for a full new line of paper.

DEATH OF MARTIN WELCH.

Martin Welch, a veteran circus man, died at Bridgeport, Conn., Sunday, Nov. 10, aged fifty-two. His funeral took place Tuesday, Nov. 12, and was attended by many circus people of Bridgeport and New York. Mr. Welch was for twenty-four years in the immediate service of Frank Melville, now circus director at the Hippodrome, and served with the different shows for which Mr. Melville was circus director. Mr. Welch was born in Burlington, Illinois, but spent most of his early life in San Francisco. The first show he ever with was the John Wilson Circus, which he joined at 'Frisco for a trip to the Orient, visiting India, China, Japan and the Philippines with Wilson's Circus. Upon his return to America, he took charge of the bareback and high-school horses with the old Cooper-Balley Circus, and it was there that he first met Mr. Melville, with whom a life-long friendship was formed. He served as Mr. Melville's head groom with the Barnum & Bailey Circus, and with the Forepaugh & Sells' Circus. Two years ago, when Mr. Melville went to the Hippodrome, Mr. Welch retired from the circus business, and with the love of the sawdust strong within him, settled down in Bridgeport, where he could be near the old circus, when it was in winter quarters. He spoke French, German, Russian and Dutch fluently, having picked up these languages in the course of various trips to Europe with the different circuses. He was well known throughout Bridgeport, and his funeral was largely attended.

PAWNEE BILL'S SHOW IN NEW WINTERQUARTERS.

Pawnee Bill's Historic Wild West and Great Far East Show is domiciled for the winter in spacious new quarters erected on Major Gordon W. Lillie's buffalo pastures in Pawnee, Okla. The season, which opened in Nashville, Tenn., on April 7, and closed in Denison, Texas, Nov. 9, was a period of uninterrupted prosperity. Seventeen states were traversed, and Mexico was given a hurried interview of the enterprise. Edward Arlington, general agent, guided the show over more than 18,000 miles of railroad without mishap or delay.

Active preparations for the entire rehabilitation of the physical part of the show are already on. Major Lillie has planned a large enterprise and one more elaborately and pretentiously equipped than ever before in his long career as an amusement purveyor. The business arrangement entered into a year ago, between Major Lillie and Mr. Arlington, will continue. It has proven a happy union of interests from all standpoints. Oscar J. Krause, who has won new laurels for his management of the show during the last season, will remain. All of Major Lillie's other executive heads will return with the exception of Ernest Houghton, superintendent of transportation, who terminated his engagement a few days before the closing of the season.

GENTRY BROTHERS' SHOW NO. 3 CLOSED.

Gentry's Famous Shows, professionally known as the Number Three Gentry Show, closed a very successful season on Nov. 2, and is now in winterquarters in Bloomington, Ind. The tour embraced the entire midwest and south, lasting thirty-one weeks and embracing all of the large and middle-sized cities in the above territory. The personnel of the company for the past season was as follows: J. W. Gentry, manager; H. L. Maddy, business manager; Harvey Bruner, treasurer; J. B. Austin, general agent; C. W. Finney, contracting agent; Clifford Byrd, manager advertising car; Joe Dawson, manager brigade; E. M. Riddle, press agent. In the above names will be found those who have contributed to the success of the Gentry Shows for the past decade, and the Number Three Show will be vastly improved and augmented for next season's tour. A thorough effort will be made during the winter to not only increase the size of the exhibition, but to add to the merits in every particular. One of the staff will make a trip to Europe in an effort to find some meritorious attractions for next season's tour.

CIRCUS GOSSIP.

The report comes from Denver that just before Sousa, the famous bandmaster, appeared on the stage at the Broadway Theatre last Sunday afternoon, he was approached by Otto C. Floto, representing the Sells-Floto Show, and asked for his terms to travel with that organization the coming season. At first the great leader did not care to discuss the matter, as his band had never played parks or with circuses, but when he was told that Mr. Tammen was absolutely reliable and would make good any contract entered into, he warmed up to the proposition, and assured Mr. Tammen that he would take the matter up at an early date.

The Bartine Consolidated Shows, located at Connersville, Ind., are getting into shape for next season and will, when completed, be one of the finest wagon shows on the road. Mr. Bartine will present the old time one ring circus, the old talking clown, with the now almost extinct costume, striped tights. Only the very best talent will be employed, and the territory covered will be that of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. Mr. Bartine will go West in January and buy 2 car loads of western horses, the large breed, to break for hauling the baggage.

Al. F. Wheeler's New Model Show, although it will be greatly enlarged for the season of 1908, will continue as a wagon show, notwithstanding all reports to the contrary. Twenty-eight wagons and about seventy head of stock will be used and many new and novel features added. Winterquarters are at Marion, N. Y.

Prof. A. W. Reynolds closed a very successful season with Pawnee Bill's Wild West at Denison, Texas, November 9. Prof. Reynolds has received some very flattering offers for next season, but as yet he has not contracted with anyone.

Hibbert and Rice, the past season clowning with Robinson's Ten Big Shows, are now on the McCarthy Vandeville Circuit, making more than good as a black face team. Rice will be with one of the big circuses next season and Hibbert will remain in vaudeville.

Harry DeMarlo closed his third season with the Ringling Brothers' Shows recently and returned to Sioux City, Iowa, after a special scenery. J. A. Stenard, his agent, is booking excellent time for the act.

The Wonderful LaRex, flexible aerialist, just closed a very successful season with Ringling Brothers' Circus and was a Billboard caller en route to his home where he will spend the holidays.

The Campbell Brothers Show closed the season Nov. 2 at Wynwood, Ind. Ter. The show will be thoroughly overhauled this winter and will start out next spring in a much improved condition.

G. D. Tarbox closed a successful engagement on Nov. 9 at Denison, Texas, with Pawnee Bill's Wild West. He will be with the New York Incubator Company for the winter.

W. E. Burkhardt, W. T. O'Brien and Claude Morris of Lord No. 26 N. A. B. P. & B. have returned to Sioux City, Iowa, after a season with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows.

D. J. Lynch, treasurer of the Great Fashion Plate Shows, is at the Cleveland, (O.) Hospital, suffering with typhoid fever.

Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' big show closed the season at Pine Bluff, Ark., Nov. 16. The organization has gone into winterquarters at Bridgeport, Conn.

S. Stough, formerly with Car. No. 1, Ringling Brothers, is now in advance of the Ellor show, Down Mobile.

The Moving Picture World

THE CASINO AMUSEMENT CO.

(By SYDNEY WIRE.)

One of the most enterprising firms in the moving picture business is the Casino Amusement Enterprises Co., of Detroit. They are now controlling a number of moving picture theatres throughout the middle west. In Detroit alone, they now control three, as well as several up-to-date penny parlors. The latest Detroit venture is somewhat of an essay, as the policy is new to Detroit. The attractions consist of high-class feature motion pictures mostly colored films. With each subject there is a descriptive lecture, and on each bill three illustrated songs, each song by a different singer. The new theatre is known as the Theatre Royale, and opened on Aug. 19 with Pathe's Passion Play; this was thirteen weeks ago, and the same subject is still showing to remarkable business, up-to-date nearly 250,000 people have visited the new house, and business remains as good as ever. The Theatre Royale is situated in one of the best locations in the city, on the corner of Monroe avenue and Farmer street, and has a most palatial front. The exterior is of white marble inlaid with the new glass mosaic, and can boast of the finest electric sign in the city of Detroit. It is an alternate flasher, reading in three different colors. The interior of the new theatre is equally handsome, and the walls are panelled with immense mirrors. An admission of ten cents is charged, the performances lasting about one hour.

The other Detroit houses controlled by the Casino Company, are The Casino on Monroe avenue, and The Star on Gratiot avenue, both excellent locations. The Casino Company, also owns and controls the three best electric theatres in Toledo, O. There are The Royal on Summit street, and The Bijou Dream on Adams street. These are both five cent propositions, their ten cent theatre in Toledo being The Victory on Adams street, where the same policy is followed as at The Royal in Detroit.

They also have a theatre in Lansing, Mich., which is known as The Vaudeville, as well as one at Waverly Park and at Put-In-Bay, O. The Casino Company is presided over by A. Arthur Castle, one of the best known men in the amusement field; the vice-president is John H. Kunsky, a well-known slot machine operator and dealer. The general manager is M. W. Schoenher, with W. Eisey as treasurer and secretary. The publicity and press department is under the direction of Sydney Wire, and the chief electrician is J. W. O'Brien. The Casino Company's offices are in course of construction, and will be located in the Theatre Royale Building, at Detroit, Mich.

BILLBOARD ADS BRING RESULTS.

The Casino Amusement Company, of Detroit, Mich., writes us that they have received so many replies to their advertisement for illustrated song singers, and moving picture lecturers, that they have been forced to leave many of the letters unanswered. They therefore request that those people who wrote them while en route, will write again to their offices at 93 Gratiot avenue, Detroit, Mich.

THE BIOGRAPH BULLETINS.

Lou Dockerty (spelled Dougherty), is causing folks in the moving picture business to sit up and take notice of the bulletins written for the American Mutoscope & Biograph Co., by him. "Doc" is an old showman and knows the value of a good "bally-hoo," so some of the chatter he weaves into those Biograph Bulletins is the finest kind of "dope" for the lecturer. Here is a sample of the line of "hot air" he is handling out:

Love—H'm—that omnipotent potentate of this terraqueous globe; that recondite puissance which has bewildered scientists from the rose-scented era of Venus and Adonis to the present day, has at last been elucidated. Our friend, the erudite Professor Cupido, obsessed with the hypothetical assumption that love is due to inoculation by a specific germ, starts out in quest of the primordial atomic affinity bug. In a sequestered spot in the park, far removed from the tramp of travel, he encounters a pair of turtle doves billing and cooing. Stealthily approaching the maiden, he extracts from her neck with his needle-syringe the coveted microbe. A like operation is performed on the young man, the couple imagining the jab of the needle a mosquito bite.

Back to his laboratory he goes with the micrococci for further investigation. Placing them on the glass of his microscope, he views them—first male, and then the female. Eureka! At last we have found that with which Cupid baits his darts! (The microbes are shown on the screen, tinted red, just as the Professor sees them.) Armed with this ducal virus, the Professor plays the role of Cupid, transforming acrimonious growches and tartary shrews into veritable Strephons and Chloes.

His first experiment is on his housekeeper, who, hitherto a virulent vixen, is immediately transmogrified into an angelical Dulcinea. Out into the park again he goes and comes upon a couple, who have evidently lived in immutable lethargy so far as the tender passion is concerned, but an injection changes everything—darkness is dispelled in the consecration of love—"they just can't make their eyes behave," and Sir Fretful Plagiarist becomes a gallant Knight, hastening to pick up the monochor the lady has coyly dropped, and they are soon folded in each other's arms. Next we show the kitchen of a tenement house apartment. The faithful wife is preparing dinner for her lecherous lord, when he enters. The man is despatched with the kettle for beer. While on his way back from the saloon, the Professor slyly adulterates the beer with the microbes. Meanwhile, at the house the querulous husband kicks about the food placed before him, criticising vehemently his wife's cooking. Patient, amiable wife retaliates by pushing a blackberry pie into his anger-distorted countenance. Wo-oo!—he leaps into the air, hurling anathemas at her—as well as everything else in the place. She bows for her life. Bishes, pots, pans, chairs fly after her down comes the shelving, the stoppage; then an attempt with the stove, but this proves hotter than his temper and burns his destruction-bent hands. At this moment little Johnny enters with the beer. One gulp is enough, and the roaring lion is now a gentle lamb, calling his better-half back to beg her forgiveness. The Misus re-enters cautiously, and in an unguarded moment, he gets a bang on the head with a rolling pin she has hidden behind her. She now drinks of the soothing potion, and once more peace reigns over the household.

Again at his office, the Professor tries a dose himself and is at once imbued with that indefinable something that causes him some embarrassment when he breathes words of love into the ear of a lady who visits him shortly afterwards. She hastens from his office to return later with her husband, who is about to resent the insult with a gun, when the dutiful housekeeper takes in the situation, and one job of the needle is all that is necessary—the irate husband is now as playful as a kitten, cuddling his wife, who departs with him in amazement. Left alone, the old Professor recognizes in the housekeeper his "soul sister"; thanks to the love microbe. Can you not imagine the possibilities for comic situations in this theme? Well, we haven't missed one.

Two moving picture theatres have been added to the list of amusement places at Ithaca, N. Y. Messrs. McGillivray and Belyea, both popular men of that city, recently opened their five-cent Theatrorium, which is pronounced to be one of the finest in the state. The entire front is illuminated by electric lights, making a very artistic and clever appearance. The seating capacity is 300. The pictures and song slides are changed weekly. The Grand, under the management of Vandemark and Costello, of Elmira, N. Y., also recently opened its doors. Like the Theatrorium, its front is illuminated by tiny electric lights. Both Messrs. Vandemark and Costello are experienced in this line of business, and report large attendances since their opening. Rumor has it that there will be another house opened on Heuatta street. A moving picture theatre there would certainly prove a gold mine, as the street is located in the very center of the college district, and would be the only theatre of any kind on the "hill."

Mathew M. Drake, former proprietor of the Scenes in Alaska, a moving picture show, which was destroyed by fire at Lenox, Arizona, will reopen at Pacific, Mo., Feb. 2, 1908, under the management of Lee Penfold, the talking clown, recently with Bill Brothers' Show.

The moving picture business in Newbern, N. C., is increasing steadily, there being three theatres of this kind in operation at present. The latest one to open is the Amnesia by the Newbern Amusement Co. All report good business.

Charles Ellison has dissolved partnership with D. Goldish at the Majestic Theatre, West Duluth, Minn., and the house is now owned by D. Goldish & Sons, who report good business.

The Crystal Theatre, a moving picture house at Hartford, Conn., has closed its doors. The part of the building which it occupied has been rented for business purposes.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Things theoretically here for the past several weeks have been exceptionally big, as the managers are endeavoring to present the best attractions, and they have been rewarded in nearly every instance with capacity houses.

The Girls of Holland, which held the laurels at the Belasco this week is a new comic opera by Reginald de Koven and Stanislaus Stange. The piece ran for a short period last season under the title, The Snow Man.

W. S. Clark's Jersey Lilies Extravaganza Company furnished the bill this week at the Gayety Theatre, of which house Mr. Clark is local manager. He is very proud of his offering, and has reason to be as it is one of the best companies that has visited here this season. The cast is headed by Leon Enol and included a beautiful, striking chorus. The scenic effects, wardrobe and music are fully up to the highest standard.

Miss Grace Vinton, a Washington girl, who has the part of Bern Douglas in The Great Express Robbery, scored a big hit this week, and won hearty applause from the large audience which the production drew.

One of the best productions ever given by a stock company was presented by the Kathryn Purnell Company this week, when they offered Nell Gwynne. The costumes and scenic effects were equal to a road company.

Burton Holmes, the famous traveling lecturer, will begin a series of lectures on travel at the Columbia Theatre on Nov. 18.

Robert Hickman, director of the Belasco Theatre School of Acting, has accepted the offer of George Washington University of the full professorship of oratory.

Harry Benley, of the Kathryn Purnell Company, is making a great reputation for himself as a song writer. A number of his compositions are enjoying a wide sale.

Miss Della Leon, formerly a member of the Eastern Stock Company for several seasons, has joined the Kathryn Purnell Company, to play heavies.

T. T. LANE.

NEW HOUSE OPENS.

The handsome new Majestic Theatre, Battle Creek, Mich., built and managed by the Bijou Theatrical Enterprise Company, of which Walter S. Butterfield is manager, opened in Kalamazoo Monday, Nov. 18, with vaudeville. While the house will for an indefinite time be devoted to variety, it will easily accommodate any of the big road productions. The Majestic covers a lot 90 by 140 feet, and has a seating capacity of 1,200, exclusive of the four boxes which afford room for fifty more. The house is built with one balcony, which extends far over the middle of the lower floor. The decorations in the auditorium are in red and gold and the hangings are red velvet. The stage is 70 feet wide, 39 feet deep and the opening is 38 feet. It is 64 feet in the clear to the rigging loft and the stage is equipped with every modern device. The policy of the house for the present season at least, will be two shows nightly with matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays only. Manager Butterfield is arranging to play some of the big acts here. The opening was a big occasion, and many friends of the Bijou enterprises were present.

PLAYWRIGHT-MANAGER DINED.

David Belasco was tendered a complimentary dinner on Friday night, Nov. 8, at the Hotel Astor in New York City, by the Friars and their friends, in all nearly 300 guests, who paid high tribute to the American playwright manager in a series of happy after-dinner speeches. The Friar's Song, composed by Victor Herbert, was given with lusty good will, and glasses were raised high to the welfare of the guest of the evening.

PHILADELPHIA LETTER.

BUSINESS keeps up to a profitable pitch at all of our theatres. While there seems to be decided scarcity of currency and many of our mills are paying off their employees in checks, there seems to be no falling off in business at any of the theatres. The popular price houses, that always feel the effects of hard times first, are doing a better business than they have done for many years and the high price houses are also doing well.

It looks as if the vaudeville war was about over. There have been many rumors in the last three months, but nothing definite has really transpired until this week. The People's Theatre here, controlled by Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger, and playing advanced vaudeville since the beginning of the season, will return to its old policy of melodrama and farce comedy after November 25. It is also positively stated that many of the other houses on the vaudeville circuit controlled by Klaw and Erlanger will cease vaudeville bills on the same date. The Forrest Theatre here will continue vaudeville for some little time, but eventually will give the better class of musical comedies and dramas. It is almost a certainty that the Keith-Proctor-Williams and Orpheum people have secured control of the vaudeville contracts of Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger and will play the performers in their houses for the rest of their contracts. This new deal goes into effect on November 25. Many of the performers who secured contracts for twenty-five weeks from Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger will lay off week of November 18, but will have their time extended so as to take in this week at the expiration of their contract. Keith will control the vaudeville situation in Philadelphia, and rumor has it that there will be two vaudeville houses in this city, Keith's Chestnut Street Theatre and the Chestnut Street Theatre, the lease of which is held by Percy Williams and in which the Orpheum Stock Company is now playing under the direction of Grant Laferty. The latter house is particularly adapted for vaudeville and will no doubt be a winner if they conclude to run this style of entertainment there. The business done by Klaw and Erlanger with advanced vaudeville in Philadelphia has been very satisfactory. The Forrest Theatre has been a whirlwind success since Dan Fishell took charge of it. Business has been enormous at every performance and the prospects are that it would continue that way all season. Notwithstanding the fact that rumors had it that People's Theatre was a failure from the start, that is not the truth. The house has done a very fair business all season, and the people of that section of the city were fast being educated up to vaudeville. Anna Held did not resume playing this week, as her illness was more serious than was at first announced. She is at one of our leading hotels, suffering from pneumonia and will not be able to play for a few weeks. The Chestnut Street Opera House was dark all week, but will reopen on November 18.

Adelphi Theatre.—We had our first glimpse of The Three of Us on November 11, and we liked it. By "we" I mean the press and public. The newspapers simply raved over the play and added their tribute to the warm expressions of admiration the play received during its New York run last season. The play is clean and strong, and full of action, and the climaxes aroused the audience so much that the performance was prolonged long past the usual hour by numerous curtain calls. The company is an excellent one, and Carlotta Nilsson, the star, pleased everyone. It will continue for several weeks.

Lyric Theatre.—Channing Pollock should have a warm spot in his heart for the Quaker City, for they always like his plays. His latest effort, The Secret Orchard, was presented at this house on November 11 for the first time, and it scored heavily. The keynote of the play, "that the erring woman is deserving of forgiveness just as is the sinning man," is one that is strong in its appeal to the masses and consequently the play was liked. Mr. Pollock in adapting a novel that met with great success a few years ago, has succeeded in preserving all the strength of that novel, and by adding many effective dramatic situations has given the stage a play that will be one of the hits of the season. The cast engaged was a notable one. It included Frank C. Bangs, Ida Lewis, Adelaide Prince, Vincent Serrano, Edward B. Mawson, Olive May, Henrietta Vaders, Walter Hale and many other prominent artists. The play was limited to one week at this house, although it could have been continued profitably for a longer time. It will go on its road and should meet with success in every place it is played.

On November 19 a Belasco premier will be given at this house when The Warrent of Virginia, a new play by William C. DeMille, will be presented for the first time on any stage. Mr. Belasco will personally superintend the production, and if the play is a success it will go to New York City for a run.

Walnut Street Theatre.—Yama, the new musical comedy that Alfred E. Arons has shaped up to suit the public taste, is proving that no man in this country knows better what the public wants than this amusement manager. The theatre is crowded nightly, and the production will be continued for at least a month yet. Although everyone who sees it is satisfied with the production, Mr. Arons is not, but is working on it day and night. The result is that at every performance some new song or a bit of comedy business is introduced, and the music is so good that the audience before he is through with it the comedy will be a rollicking riot of laughter and song. Nothing is announced for this theatre until the Christmas holidays, which are always given over to Channey Olcott.

Chestnut Street Opera House.—On account of the illness of Anna Held this house was dark all week, but will reopen on November 18 with The Rogers Brothers in Panama.

Garrick Theatre.—Sam Bernard in the Rich Mr. Hugoburner just jammed this house at every performance during his engagement. At least two more weeks of good business could have been secured, but other cities are clamoring for this quaint and funny offering, so it leaves us on November 16. On November 18 Brewster's Millions will open at this house, and as it made a big hit here last season it will no doubt do a very large business.

Broad Street Theatre.—Ethel Barrymore in Her Sister was an acceptable offering at this house week of November 11, and her new play pleased all who saw it. It is a problem play, but one of work and love and not of transgressions by a woman, so it pleased the ordinary person much better than a lecture on vice. There are many very effective situations in the play, a judicious blending of comedy and pathos, and the acting of Miss Barrymore was simply perfect. The play should prove one of the hits of the season. Week of November 25 William Russell will be seen in the new ragtime play, Wildfire, written by George Hobart and George Broadhurst. This will be its first production.

Park Theatre.—Creston Clarke opened at the Park Theatre on November 11 with a new play, The Power That Governs, written by his wife, Adelaide Prince. The personal popularity of the star secured for him many encores and frequent curtain calls, and business has been very good all week. The play did not please, and will have to be rewritten before it is a success. It tells of life in the South, West and in old Mexico. The first act was very weak, but it is being rewritten, and when the proposed changes are made Mr. Clarke will have a very effective vehicle to display his talents. Week of November 18 Frank Deshon in Miss Bob White will be the attraction, and, as he is very popular and that careful operator well liked here, the business should be enormous.

Grand Opera House.—The Social Whirl, with Ross and Fenton as added stars, drew immensely week of November 11 and pleased everybody. It is one of the biggest attractions on the road, and at the popular prices in vogue at the Grand was the cheapest thing ever offered in amusement circles. Week of November 18, The Isle of Bong Bong.

Chestnut Street Theatre.—The Orpheum Stock Company continues to give satisfaction and draw big houses. Each week the productions are simply perfect, and the clientele that is being built up by the hustling of genial Grant Laferty makes it impossible for the theatre to have a losing week. Week of November 11, Because She Loved Him So was the bill, and for week of November 18 The Sign of the Cross.

Girard Theatre.—The Boy With the Boodle, an exciting melodrama, jammed full of songs and specialties, pleased the patrons of this house week of November 11. Week of November 18, Fallen by the Wayside.

National Theatre.—Since Nellie Went Away is just the kind of a show that the patrons of this house like, so week of November 11 was a corker, with matinees crowded and the night houses jammed. Week of November 18, Deadwood Dick's Last Shot.

Blaney's Theatre.—The Candy Kid, a melodramatic farce comedy, pleased week of November 11, and for week of November 18 His Terrible Secret or The Man Monkey seems blood-curdling enough to please the people who patronize this house, so it should be a case of turn-away at every performance.

Forepaugh's Theatre.—The stock company is still doing well, Matilda being the bill for week of November 11, and Francesca Da Rimini announced for week November 18.

Standard Theatre.—Darcy and Speck's stock are also doing a nice business and pleasing. The Actor's Romance is the bill for week of November 11, and for week of November 18 The Banker's Daughter is in preparation.

Empire Theatre.—The Stanford and Western Stock Company is still at this house and doing fairly well. They give two productions every week. The bill for week of November 11 was The Two Orphans for the first three nights and The Black Hand for the last three.

Hart's New Theatre.—John Hart is doing well at this house, as he has the field of melodrama all to himself in that section. Week of November 11, Walter Stull in The King of Cowboys was the attraction, and week of November 18 The Millionaire's Revenge will be the thriller that will attract.

Eleventh Street Opera House.—Dumont's Minstrelia still keep attracting big crowds with timely skits on current local and national events and a good old-fashioned minstrel show.

Forrest Theatre.—Dan Fishell is all smiles these days, as the business at this theatre has jumped 100 percent since he took charge. Week of November 11 the bill included Louis Mann and company in a condensed version of All On Account of Eliza which met with success; Josephine Sabel, May Ward and her Dresden Dolls, Billy Clifford, Schenk Brothers, The Four Bards, The Tourbillon Troupe, Jordan and Harvey, Hanvarr and Lee and animated pictures. The bill for week of November 18 is another big one, with Hetty King as the star. Henry Lee, Julian Rose, Six Musical Cutties, The Six Yulianna, Radie Furman, Maud Hall-Macy Company, The Three Ernest Sisters and others will be on the program. This will get them again, for it will play as well as it looks, and that means a lot.

Keith's Chestnut Street Theatre.—This is anniversary week at this million-dollar playhouse, and the house has been filled at every performance by people who know that the pace is never lessened here, no matter whether the weather be rain or snow. The house has never missed a performance since its opening five years ago, and better than that, there has not been one unprofitable week in all that time. That's a record few other theatres have. Manager Jordan and Press Agent Barna were kept busy all week shaking the hands of patrons who claimed that they had never missed one week since the house was opened, and many of them brought proofs of this in the shape of programs of each week. It was just like a big birthday party all week, when all the folks come back to the old homestead to renew acquaintances and make promises of continuing the same of love they always had. The bill was a wonderful one for the week of November 11, being made up of Bransby Williams, Plechiana Troupe, Henry T. Walt, Minstrel Maids and Watermelon Girls, Jean Marcel's Etude d'Arts, Felix and Claire, The Basque Quartet, Genaro and Bailey, The Three Leightons, Arthur Whitelaw, The Abbotts and Co., Kathryn Bartlett, Allyn and Shuman, and as a special added attraction The Boys in Blue.

People's Theatre.—Announcement has been made that this house would discontinue vaudeville 23, and it seems like a shame, for business is constantly improving at that house. For week of Nov. 11 an excellent bill, made up of Caron and Herbert, Bellman and Moore, Ray L. Royce, Harry Corson Clarke and Co., in Strategy, Newbold and Carroll, James J. Morton, Fred's Big Circus and a new series of animated pictures drew good houses. For the closing week of vaudeville an excellent bill has been arranged. It will include Mme. Estelle's Society Circus Horses, Vinelli's Boxing Stal-

Our Christmas Number

As the time for the appearance of the Christmas number approaches, the interest of reader and advertiser alike increases. Certainly the mail brings many letters indicating satisfaction with our previous efforts. Even the last minor employee indicates in his smile of confidence—the conclusion arrived at—that the 1907 CHRISTMAS BILLBOARD will surpass in all departments—every holiday edition attempted. Our aim now is to see just how much better we can make it than is expected. Surely it will contain many pleasing surprises. And at the first motion of a lever—when the faint murmur of the grinding cogs of the presses is heard, we shall dedicate it:

"To the profession that brings more pleasure, more recreation, more thought, more education, more happiness than all others combined."

And we shall do so sincerely—earnestly.

The Advanced Novelty Skaters,

Powers Brothers,

DIFFERENT FROM THE REST.
NEW NOVELTIES THIS SEASON.

AT SKATING RINK.

One of the best acts ever seen on the skating rink at Idlewood Park, was put on Monday night, large crowds enjoying the performances of the Powers Brothers.

About a year ago the Powers Brothers were in Richmond and drew large crowds nightly, but this season they have added many new feats on rollers, and are likely to eclipse their previous good record here. Their dancing turn on pedestals while balancing glasses of water on their hands and heads never fails to bring down the house. The Powers Brothers are in a class by themselves, as rink entertainers.—Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch, Nov. 5th.

FOR OPEN TIME,

Address 15 Trask Street, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

 In "Parsifal" we offer the greatest religious subject that has been produced in motion pictures since the Passion Play was first produced by the Edison Company about eight years ago, and there has been a constant demand for this picture during all these years, and continuing up to the present day. At the same time, there has been not only a demand, but a long-felt want for a new religious picture of interest and merit similar to the Passion Play.
 In "Parsifal" we believe we have filled this want. A large amount of time, labor and money has been expended in producing this picture. The picture was specially posed and rehearsed for motion pictures. The same talent, scenery and costumes used in the original dramatic production were used for taking these pictures, the company having played "Parsifal" for several seasons. The result is, that we have produced a picture both dramatically and photographically perfect, which we offer to our customers and the public with every confidence that it will be received accordingly.
 With each film we furnish a complete, illustrated lecture, giving a historical sketch of the life of Wagner and his works, the story of "Parsifal" and a synopsis of the different scenes. This lecture is a special feature. It is in itself a literary work of merit, and every exhibitor will find it of material assistance and value in connection with the picture. We also furnish a musical score for the piano when desired.

No. 6045. Code, Vaquant. Length, 1,975 feet. Special Price, $335.75.

Three American Beauties, No. 2.

(Hand Colored, Complete.)

The first picture is a beautiful American Beauty rose, which dissolves into a beautiful young American girl, which in turn dissolves into an American flag waving in the breeze. The flag dissolves into a star-covered background, the stars gradually arranging themselves and spelling "Good-Night."
 This is a beautiful and appropriate closing picture for any exhibition or entertainment. It is hand-colored throughout, and is not furnished plain.

-it's all off in one week!

-the other day I received a fine letter from Mr. Power telling me that he has had complaints from all sections of the United States about my proposition to give ONE WEEK'S FILM SERVICE FREE WITH EVERY MACHINE BOUGHT OF ME. I have too high a regard for the Power people to continue the plan if it causes them annoyance, so I'll call the deal off on the last day of this month. Personally I think it's a cracking good advertisement for all the machine-makers, but I've written the Power's machine people that I can't refuse their gentlemanly request, so I give final notice that this is -your last chance to take me up!

-it's been a tremendous proposition while it lasted, and it made us hump some to fill orders. I'll give you one week more to slip me that letter or telegram, and then I'll do what I promised the Power's machine people.

-my Hoosier office is growing fiercely!

-because I'm giving just as high class a service from that office as I am from Chicago. Anything with the name "Laemmle" on it has got to be up to my standard—which is some high. The new place is in Evansville, Ind.

COASTERS Are Cheaper, Better and Earn More Money than Scenic Railways, That is, the COASTERS WE ARE BUILDING. We rebuilt the one in White City, Chicago, and its business doubled. We can build you a new one or rebuild your old one. A Coaster costs less to operate than a Scenic Railway by half. We are building our own Cars, which means absolute safety. Write us, as we can handle but a few more plants this season on contract. Don't make the mistake of building a Scenic Railway—that is a thing of the past. COASTER CONSTRUCTION CO. 6244 S. (THE NEW LINE.)

- SCHOOL DAYS -

A Great Big Singing Novelty AT NO EXTRA CHARGE Length, 470 FEET.

"SCHOOL DAYS" was made to go with the great Edwards' song now popular the length and breadth of the land. It tells a story of boyhood and girlhood substantially as it goes in the song, and the action is so spontaneous and natural that it is certain to make a strong appeal to everyone whose memory of school days is not altogether lost.

"School days, school days,
Dear old golden rule days,
Readin' and 'ritin' and 'rithmetic,
Taught to the tune of a hickory stick,
You were my Queen in Calico,
I was your bashful, bare foot beau,
And you wrote on my slate—
'I love you, Joe',
When we were a couple of kids."

Vaudeville

Edith Helena, the soprano with the great vocal range, has introduced an advanced idea of her own in Klaw & Erlanger's Advanced Vaudeville, by completely changing her act on alternate days of the week. At the Academy of Music, Montreal, where Miss Helena plays a return date the week of Nov. 11, after only eight weeks' absence, she is to give the garden scene, from Faust, in costume and full scenic setting on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, while on other days she will give her regular singing act. In One. Two days she will sing the Faust in English, and one day in French.

The Cycling Hoffmans have just closed a successful twenty weeks' engagement with the T. I. Cash Carnival Co., with whom they were engaged as the special feature free attraction. They opened on Nov. 4 at the Family Theatre, Clinton, Iowa, and are booked solid until April, 1908, playing all Western Vaudeville Association time.

Owing to the illness of Mr. Frank C. Young, of Young and DeVoll, he will leave the stage temporarily. His partner, Kathleen DeVoll, will continue in vaudeville in a single act, in which she figures as a monologist and dancer. Her route is being booked by the Western Vaudeville Association.

Dancing Darvey has filled three weeks of his twelve weeks' engagement on the coast, and his act is meeting with big success. He has a style of eccentric wooden-shoe dancing of his own origination. Friends can address him in care of the Empire Theatre, San Francisco.

Mr. Edward Dultz, the popular Hebrew comedian, and his sister, Miss Minnie Hultz, who has just closed a long engagement with The Musical Wizard of Wall Street, are spending a vacation with their folks at Kansas City, and will later go into vaudeville with a one-act musical comedy.

The Marinettas closed twenty successful weeks with the Lachman-Loss Carnival Company. They opened in vaudeville on the Houston Circuit for fifteen weeks, and immediately after the first performance were engaged for an additional fifteen weeks. Their act is one of the greatest ever seen in any of the theatres.

The Vaudeville Theatre, Connersville, Ind., closed for two weeks, Oct. 28, in order to enable them to make a change of circuits. Acts from now on will be furnished by the Henderson Circuit of Chicago. In the meantime some repairs will be made, including the inclining of the floor.

Leon Finch, the boy with the smile, is still appearing with the Flora De Voss Company as the vaudeville feature. His newest creation is the Gibson Girl number. Mr. Finch has some flattering offers for the coming season. He is under the personal direction of Roscoe Slater.

After closing a successful season of twenty-six weeks with the J. Frank Hatch Shows, the Kin Tanaka Imperial Japanese Theatrical Company, under the management of John S. Oskovon, returned to vaudeville. They played at Pittsburg, Pa., from Oct. 28 to Nov. 2.

Virginia Hayden, the well-known and phenomenal baritone, will soon be seen in a new act, making it a decided novelty in character changes. She is now touring California, having finished a very successful engagement in the northwest.

Lewis Prabant, of the original Prabant Brothers, has rebuilt his famous Shadowgraph Act larger and stronger than previous years, introducing new cartoon figures. He is now playing time in the midwest.

On Friday, Oct. 25, Victor Lemieux, a young man of Holyoke, Mass., made his initial bow before the public at the National Monument Hall. He gave a fine exhibition of up-to-date hypnotism and mystified and pleased the large audience with his marvelous and mysterious secrets. He was accompanied by a first-class vaudeville company, which made an equally good impression. Mr. Lemieux promises to become one of the leading hypnotists and fun makers of the day.

Harrison and Lee are meeting with great success throughout the south, and are booked solid until Christmas. They are now playing their seventh week and are booked to play return dates at nearly all houses in which they have appeared. They are presenting an entirely new act, entitled The Sport and The Hebrew.

The Dancing Earle and Lillian M. Fisher, comedy sketch artists, are in their twenty-sixth week playing Western time to the utmost success. They played in Yellowstone National Park five weeks to great business. At present they are playing an indefinite engagement in Salt Lake City, Utah.

The Two D'Comas, formerly one of the feature acrobatic acts with Ringling Brothers, are now doing time under the Western Vaudeville Managers' Association. Their act is very much in demand and at Springfield, Ill., recently, they responded to nine encores in one evening.

The Barnells, comedy jugglers, recently finished seven weeks in the south, playing vaudeville and rink time, booking independently. They opened Nov. 11 on the Ammons Circuit at Marion, Ind., and will play six weeks in the best houses on the circuit.

Cuming's Thornton and Company have played fifteen weeks on the Sullivan-Considine Circuit, and have ten more to follow. They are making a big hit with their comedy sketch, A Mail Order Wife, which has been a feature on every bill they have played.

The marvelous Cowles Family are booked solid over the Sullivan-Considine Circuit until June, 1908, and little Marguerite, the featured member of the trio, is making a tremendous hit. She is one of the most marvelous developed children in the world.

The Carol Sisters are returning east after a successful season on the Pacific Coast for Sullivan-Considine. They are booked solid until May, 1908, and will shortly present their new musical surprise, On Graduation Day, by James B. Donovan.

Harry E. Sutton, the merry musical minstrel, after four years in the west on the coast, is now presenting a new act, but still does his banjo solos and comely bell-ringing novelty. He is at present playing in the Central States.

Williams, Thompson and Copeland played the interstate time last May and June, and their act proved such a hit, they were re-engaged, and are now playing the circuit again. They have Orpheum and Kohl & Castle time to follow.

The Diamond Comedy Four, consisting of Bert Melvin, first tenor; Thos. G. Murphy, second tenor; Harry Hilgerl, bass, and Chris. Sorenson, baritone, are meeting with success with the Rocky Mountain Express Company.

Binney and Chapman closed a six months' engagement at the New Garden Theatre, Memphis, Tenn., Saturday, Nov. 16, where Mr. Binney was stage manager, and produced all the burlesque and musical comedies given.

The Tivoli Quartet, Reinhart, Mel-lar, Ellsworth and Thowen, have just closed a very successful engagement on the Majestic Circuit. They open on the Orpheum Circuit at El Paso, Texas, Nov. 20.

Geo. F. Howard, mimic and character impersonator, is still on the Royer & Baldwin Circuit. Week of November 4 they played the Grand Theatre, Homestead, Pa.

NEW PLANS FOR THE TOP O' THE WORLD.

For The Top O' The World, at the Majestic Theatre, a special Christmas week feature is being prepared, which will include a giant Christmas tree on the stage for the performers and presents for the children in the audience.

One of the decided hits in The Top O' The World is the comical work of Arthur A. Hill as the Friendly Bear, and when he, Bailey and Austin, Miss Anna Laughlin and Miss Kathleen Clifford are all on the stage in one of the scenes, it is a case of a continuous round of laughter.

Geo. W. Monroe, as Aurora Borealis, Queen of the Northern Lights, continues to make a hit with his monologue in the last act, to which he has added a number of new lines since the opening.

Arthur A. Hill's work as the Friendly Bear, is one of the most comical pieces of animal work seen on the stage for years. Hill is best remembered as the Cowardly Lion in the Wizard of Oz, and as Tiger in Buster Brown. Until twelve years ago, he was a member of an acrobatic troupe, when he was cast as a Donkey in The Forty Thieves in Manchester, England. Since then in Christmas Pantomimes, he has played Monkey, Parrot, Crocodile, Dog, Brown Bear and other animals. He was brought to this country by Julian Mitchell for The Wizard of Oz.

IN THE VAUDEVILLE HOUSES.

Vaudeville houses presented a brilliant array of attractions last week.

At Hammerstein's the topliner was Henry E. Dixey, who recently abandoned the legitimate for vaudeville. He appeared in a playlet, entitled The Passing Parent. Other favorites on the bill included Maggie Cline in her old-time Irish bits, Belle Blanche in impersonations of various theatrical stars, Charles F. Simon, Emmet Corrigan, Eddie Clark and Ned Wayburn's Phantastic Phantoms.

At the Alhambra, Marie Lloyd continued to win applause at every performance. Among the new features were Robinson Crusoe's Isle, Minnie Duncan and Arthur Godfrey, The Four Blues, Cain's Dogs, the Otto Brothers and the Rooney Sisters.

One of the attractive features at the Colonial Theatre was Gus Edwards' Blonde Typewriters in songs, dances and comedy. The Song Birds remain over from the week before. Others who appeared on the bill were Almond and Dumont, Ellinge, La Grannon, Gledney and Sutherland, and the Five Perasoffs.

Gertrude Hoffman returned to Keith & Proctor's Union Square Theatre as the headline feature appearing in new imitations and dances. Others who helped to entertain at this theatre were Lasky's Quintette, the Dancing Violets, Carter and Taylor, Grant and Hoag, Keno, Welsh and Melrose, Rossi's Musical Horse and Ben Heinbold.

William J. Kelly, the former stock leading man, returned to vaudeville last week and was the principal feature of the bill at Keith & Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street. Others on the bill included the Boston Badettes, the Four Fords, Irving Jones, Welch, Mearley and Montrose, Manage Fox, the Kratons and the Rigoletti Brothers.

The chief attraction at Keith & Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre was Stella Mayhew. Others who contributed to the entertainment were The Dancing Daisies, Murphy and Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Forbes, Marena, Navara and Marena, and Cameron and Flannery.

The headliners at Keith & Proctor's One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatre were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, in their new and funny playlet, entitled Billy's Tombstones. Others on the bill included Curtis, Palmer and Company, The Murray Sisters, Swor Brothers, The Zenatatos and Austin and Walsh.

Stine and Evans headed an excellent bill at Tony Pastor's. Other entertainers included Hayes, Mitchell and Fulton, McIntyre and Bennett and Charles and Ada Kalmo.

IRISH INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION.

P. T. Powers, the well known base ball magnate and sporting promoter, and president of the Eastern League of Baseball Clubs, has recently returned from a trip across the "briny," during which he visited London, Dublin and Paris. This was not a pleasure trip, No. Indeed, The astute Powers made the trip strictly in the interests of business. He is the promoter and will be the manager of the great Irish Industrial Exposition to be held at Madison Square Garden, from January 7 to January 26, and his object in visiting the three cities named above, was to secure attractions for this fair.

He announces that he has secured several of the main features of the great Irish Fair at Dublin, and also a number of other great attractions from London and Paris. From now on he and his force will be busily engaged in the advance preparations for this great event.

NAT GOODWIN AS A FINANCIER.

Nat C. Goodwin has purchased from Carroll Plumbe and Florence Miller, a new play, entitled The Master Hand, in which the principal character is patterned after J. Pierpont Morgan. It is a play of New York life, and it is said that there are several strong situations in it. Mr. Goodwin will play the role of the millionaire. The activity of the preparatations indicate that the play will be presented in the near future.

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL TO BE A NEW YORK MANAGER.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the English actress, arrived in New York on the Lusitania, and in addition to touring the country under Leiber & Co., it is said that she is contemplating the project of leasing a New York theatre for twenty weeks for a number of seasons. If she succeeds in obtaining it, she will manage it according to her own ideas, acting herself in a series of productions, supported by an English company. It is said that she has long desired to become an actress-manager, and is not discouraged by the failure of a similar attempt in London not so very long ago. She thinks that the American public gives more encouragement to serious plays than the English public.

Allan Urquhart, her son, made his debut as an actor in this country last Monday night at the Lyric Theatre in The Second Mrs. Tanqueray.

ARNOLD DALY'S LITERARY MATINEE.

One day last week Arnold Daly invited a number of people representative of literary New York, to see the three playlets that make up his present program at the Berkeley Theatre. Among the guests of the actor-manager were many well-known people, including Edward Markham, Richard Le Gallienne, Rupert Hughes, Lloyd Osbourne, O. Henry, Rex Beach, Phillip Mighels, Elsa Barker, Kate Jordan, Ethel Watta Mumford, Mrs. Wilson Woodrow and Beatrix Demarest Lloyd.

DEATH OF MRS. AUGUSTIN DALY.

Mrs. Mary Duff Daly, widow of Augustin Daly, founder of Daly's Theatre, died Sunday, Nov. 10 in her apartment at the Osborne, Broadway and 57th street. She had been in ill health for some time. Augustin Daly died suddenly in Paris on June 7, 1889, leaving a large estate, which has been involved in much litigation. Miss Ada Rehan, the actress, objected to the account of the executors, Mrs. Daly, the late Ex-Judge Jos. F. Daly, and Richard Dorney, former manager of Daly's Theatre, because they had not sold and converted into cash, the American rights of a number of plays controlled by the estate. She also protested against Mrs. Daly's claim for $34,389 as an indebtedness against the estate, and also to the payment to her of $43,499 realized from the sale of Mr. Daly's library.

Mrs. Daly leaves no children. Her two boys died of diphtheria within a week of each other some years ago. She was never on the stage. Her funeral was held at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Tuesday morning, Nov. 12.

PLANS FOR FRENCH PLAYS.

Plans for French plays and light operas have been made for the Bijou, and a company of French players opened at this playhouse Nov. 17. The opening play was L'Enfant du Merle, a comedy by Messrs. Paul Gavault and Robert Charvat. In the cast were Messrs. M. F. Dahvrol, Mlle. Jane Duran, Mlle. Lucie de Matha and Mr. Harmant.

In addition to Sunday evenings, the French Company will give performances on two afternoons during the week.

The repertoire of plays will also include La Main du Singe, Les Maitres des Forges, La Rafta, Le Jeune Gulliot, and La Courtoise. During the engagement it is also planned to give a number of light operas, including Lili Ninoche, Mlle. Nitouche, La Rousseotte, Le Petit Duc, Le Perichole, La Poupée and Veronique.

BRADY BUYS NEW PLAY.

Wm. A. Brady has purchased a modern drama written by James Buchanan, a new American playwright connected with the local newspapers. It is entitled The Intruder. Mr. Brady will give this piece a special production some Sunday night in the near future at the Savoy Theatre, through the company appearing there under his management in The Man of the Hour. He will do this in order to get an idea of the qualities of the piece without the expense of engaging a new company and building special scenery. If it stands the test, it will be sent on the road, and return to New York at another theatre.

KATHRYN HUTCHINSON'S BLONDE PARTY.

Miss Kathryn Hutchinson has sent out invitations engraved in gold letters on a green card, inviting the recipients to a "blonde party" on the stage of the Knickerbocker Theatre, Thursday night, Nov. 28. Miss Hutchinson is a perfect blonde, and has won much favor on the stage. She played straight comedy with Chas. Frohman's forces, was with Sam Bernard for three seasons, and impersonated Titania in Nat Goodwin's Midsummer Night's Dream.

Referring to her "blonde party," Miss Hutchinson said: "The idea of giving a blonde dinner to other women came to me when I recently saw in a London paper that the scientists threaten a famine in blondes. Before the extermination of the class, I determined to have a little celebration, and so we are going to get together on the stage of the Knickerbocker Theatre after the performance of The Hoyden, on Thanksgiving evening. "The stage will be dressed in green and gold, which are the complementary colors of the blonde, and my guests will be asked to appear in either green or black. We are going to have a lot of canaries singing in gift cages, and even the dishes will be chosen with regard to the peculiar nature of the party. If we can get golden portions, we will have that as the principal portion, if we can't we will have to put up with golden buck. "I expect to have a full table for my party, and I am going to get from each of my guests an autographed line referring to the blonde, which will serve as a souvenir of the dinner."

JOE WELCH AND HIS NEPHEW.

Joe Welch has applied to Justice O'Gorman for an injunction restraining Gus Hill, the theatrical manager, from advertising Louis Friedman, the actor, as Lew Welch, and enjoining Friedman from using the name of Welch. Joe Welch claims that his nephew is wrongfully using the name of Welch. Friedman, as Lew Welch, is starring in The Show-off, which at Joe Welch's claim he made famous. He declares that his nephew is deceiving the public into believing that in seeing him act, they are getting the real Joe Welch.

ELONA GEORGE LEONARD and THORNTON

Known as "THE GINGER KID" "THE DIMINUTIVE COMEDIAN." Now appearing in their Comedy Skit, "THE NURSE GIRL AND THE BABY." Address ALF. WILTON, Agent, 1133 Broadway, New York.

Rink Managers, Here They Come! WASTELL and WHITE,

The team of SKATERS that packed the Rinks last season with their original comedy Trick and Fancy Skating. Now looking season 1907-08. Address The Billboard, Cincinnati, Ohio.

He also avers that his nephew is using his make-up, which, to use the language of his petition, is "A Hebrew with a short, dark beard, a derby hat pressed down over the ears, and certain antitidulating positions in meditation and otherwise." The attorney for Joe Welch says that Joe Welch and Gus Hill formerly were partners in The Shoemaker in which Joe Welch originally appeared, and that after they dissolved partnership, Hill employed Friedman to play the part in the piece, and had him adopt the name of Lew Welch.

Counsel for the nephew says that Joe Welch has no exclusive ownership of the name Welch, and that Joe Welch's real name is Wollinsky. He further avers that there are several other Hebrew impersonators on the stage who use the name of Welch, including Lew Welch, Ben Welch, Lee Welch and other Welch's. The judge has not yet decided the case.

NOTES.

The Merry Widow post cards are very attractive. They are to be had in the lobby of the New Amsterdam Theatre. They fold over like a letter, one side bearing the address, and the other a picture of the Prime Minister peeping through a keyhole in the second act. Inside there are ten or a dozen measures of the famous waltz, and a picture of Dabielles and one of the fairies from Maxims.

Fannie Ward, who recently closed her American tour in A Fool and A Girl, under James K. Hackett's management, will sail for Europe shortly to appear in The Secret Orchard, the leading role of which contains a character especially suited to her personality. Last season she appeared in The Bishop's Carriage. Channing Pollock made both these dramatizations.

Messrs. Shubert and Anderson, of the Hippodrome, had as their guests last Monday afternoon, eight hundred children from the Hebrew Orphan Asylum, on Tuesday afternoon the little cripples from the Darrach Home for Crippled Children and on Wednesday afternoon the children from the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum.

The Shuberts' new musical production, The Girls From Holland, by Stanislaus Stange and Reginald DeKoven opened at the Lyric Theatre, November 18.

Mlle. Bezie, America's premiere dancer, has received two flattering offers to appear in London beginning with the New Year.

Al. H. Wilson, who will appear in Metz in the Alps, will introduce a new avalanche effect obtained entirely by a phonograph.

Herman E. Roth, the well-known theatrical attorney, returned from Europe last week after a two months' trip abroad. He brought back with him the rights to two operas which have met with success over there, one entitled Janos Vitez, and the other entitled Aranyvaz, which is interpreted The Iron Flower. He says that one of the best plays he witnessed in London was Under the Greenwood Tree, in which Maxine Elliott will shortly appear in America.

Laura Nelson Hall, who plays the title role in The Coning of Mrs. Patrick, manifested great courage during the rehearsals. Two weeks before the opening, November 6, she was seized with a severe attack of neuritis, due to nervous strain and a troublesome cold. On Monday, October 28, she fainted at rehearsal, and was compelled to spend two days in bed. For three days she rehearsed with a painful and swollen arm in a sling.

Messrs. Schneider and Ferrandini, two gentlemen from Baltimore, are constructing several novelty transformation acts for vaudeville, and James Horan, the playwright and transformations. The first number to be presented will be The Wise Inspector, and its three scenes will undergo transformation in five seconds each. In the cast are E. Lovatt Fraser, Chas. E. Edwards, Thomas Smith, Marguerite Farrel, Louise Manning, Mae Laura and Francis Polson.

Chas. E. Blaney's melodramas are certainly immensely popular. Three stock companies, playing at the Mission Theatre in San Francisco, the Third Avenue Theatre in Seattle and the Hane Theatre in New Orleans have contracted for thirty weeks of the Blaney plays, and stock managers of companies in Butte, Tacoma and Portland are also negotiating for these plays. The Haney management furnishes his clients with paper cuts, press matter, flashlights and other important equipment.

Miss Amelia Somerville, the charming comedienne, who became famous as The Merry Little Mountain Maid, and who was a co-star with Henry Dixey for years, and has lately been in vaudeville, will, it is said, go on the lecture platform.

Miss Connie Ediss, who divides the honors with Lew Fields in The Girl Behind the Counter, has three songs in rehearsal, one of which will be introduced in a few weeks. A new dance number is also in rehearsal, which will be introduced before the Christmas holidays.

Thursday afternoon, November 14, at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in this city, four new plays were produced for the first time in this country.

They were When Love Is Young, in one act, by Hedydy G. Humphreys; The Tempest in the Shade, in one act, by Gerolamo Enrico Nani; Antoinette's Holidays in one act by Edmond Noel; and The Return of Deborah in two acts, by Emille H. Gallaway.

Following Miss Elsie Janis in The Hoyden, Colan and Harris will present Victor Moore at the Knickerbocker Theatre in Geo. M. Cohan's new musical play, The Talk of New York, which is a sequel to Forty-five Minutes From Broadway.

Mr. Moore's supporting company will include Stanley H. Forde, Jack Gardner, Joe Smith, Martha, John Conroy, Lorena Atwood, Emma Littlefield, Nellie Bergen, Sadie Harris, Harry Gullnette, William Thompson, Maurice Elliott and A. J. Thornton.

It is said that Rex Beach, author of The Spoilers, and Paul Armstrong, author of Salomy Jane, are collaborating on a new American drama.

Among those who are meeting with great success in the song That's What the Rose Said to Me, are Mrs. Robt. Fitzsimmons and Mme. Zelle Du Lussan. This song is one of the largest sellers in the country, and among the best in the catalogue of the Gus Edwards Publishing Co. That new school day song called See-saw is also being generally sung.

Mr. Gus Edwards and his brother Leo have received a flattering offer to go into vaudeville, and they will open in New York at an early date. Gus Edwards' two vaudeville acts on titled School Boys and Girls and The Blonde Typewriters, are doing so well that they no longer require his care, and he can now turn his attention to an act for himself.

Mr. Arthur Stanford, Miss Elsie Janis' leading man, on his way to the Knickerbocker Theatre one night last week was knocked down by an automobile, and so seriously injured that he could not appear for several performances. During his absence the stage manager, Mr. Joseph Kaufman, played his role.

Edward Warren Carless, composer of the music of And What Happened Then, the new musical comedy by Austin Strong which will be produced in New York by De Wolf Hopper, has been engaged to write the music for Mr. Chas. Frohman's new production The Toy Maker of Nuremberg. Rehearsals are now in progress. Consuelo Bailey will play the leading woman's part.

The Man of the Hour will celebrate its five hundredth performance at the Savoy Theatre, Wednesday, December 11.

The Shuberts announce that they have purchased a new musical comedy by Frank Pixley and Gustav Luders, and will produce it in the Spring.

May Naudine has made a great hit in The Girl Behind the Counter, in her new song called The Glow Worm.

Eddie Foy will play a return engagement in New York during the holidays in The Orphan.

Immediately after the holidays, E. H. Sothern will come to New York in a new play by Lawrence Irving, entitled The Fool Hath Said in His Heart, There is No God. He will also be seen in a repertoire of his strongest plays.

Charles Frohman has organized a second Peter Pan Company, which will visit cities not included on Maude Adams' regular route. The title role is played by Vivian Martin.

Miss Janet Priest, who was married about five months ago, with her husband, Thomas Reish, will return to vaudeville in the near future, appearing in Mr. Augustus Thomas' charming little play, Editha's Burglar.

The wonderful run of The Great Divide, which has already earned a fortune, is nearing its end, and two companies will go on the road, one headed by Margaret Anglin and Henry Miller, which will play the principal cities, and the other will visit the cities of less importance.

Mortimer M. Theisler's Two Islands at the New Circle Theatre, continues to do big business. Many new features have been introduced, including a Shetland Pony Ballet, the great Aero-Auto scene, Barney Bernard's new song in the first act and Little Kendall's new song Miss Mexico.

The Round-Up at the Broadway, continues to play to big business. This is one of the greatest hits presented on the metropolitan stage this year. Maevyn Arcturke's sensational acting as "Sibby" Hoover, the Arizona Sheriff, the battle incident of the third act, the sixteen mounted Indians and the bucking broncho, combined with the dramatic story well enacted by capable players, has given this piece such popularity that it will likely continue to pack the Broadway to overflowing for many weeks to come.

Wm. Helcomb has obtained the stage rights to Yen Yensen from R. W. Taylor, the artist, and will write a farce around Yen, whose experience are plentifully represented in the Sunday edition of one of the daily papers. He has Lewis McChord in mind for the title role.

Notwithstanding the fact that other managers are complaining that business on the road is bad, Walter N. Lawrence has four prosperous companies. They are Carlotta Nilsson in The Three of Us, the Western Three of Us company, James Lee Finney in The Man on the Box, and Mrs. Temple's Telegram.

Miss Elsie Janis has written to each of the stage celebrities whom she has imitated, asking them what date it would be convenient to visit the Knickerbocker Theatre, and see themselves caricatured in The Hoyden. Those invited include Sam Bernard, Eddie Foy, Eva Tanguay, Anna Held, Ethel Barrymore, Richard Carle and Geo. M. Cohan.

WANTED--PLAYS WITH PRINTING

Do you wish to sell or let your plays for ENGLAND? I can do so for you. I deal directly with nearly all the A-1 Managers in this country, and have sold a great many winners. Quote your lowest price for cash. Fancy prices are not given, and a great deal of time is lost in correspondence. If authors of good dramas will send them over to me, together with samples of printing, I can arrange to have them produced by stock companies in London. This generally results in a play being let or sold for the road, I can arrange to copyright plays in London on the same day as their American production, thus securing a copyright according to English law.

"Death to Excessive Electric Bills."

"Cuts 'em in Half."

Does away with Rheostat.
Effects a saving of 50 per cent.
Adjustable to any amperes.
Stops that awful buzzing.
Absolutely no heat.
Can be used for Spot Lights or Moving Picture Arcs.
Can be used only on alternating current.
Indestructible; no repair expense.
WE ARE GIVING AWAY 3,000 RHEOSTATOCIDES under the most liberal conditions ever offered.

HERE IS OUR PROPOSITION.

Send us your electric bills for the past six months, together with a statement showing the exact number and candle-power of lights in use during the last month. Be sure to state number of electric fans, projection machines, electric motors and heaters, and incandescent and flaming arcs, if you have them. We will then arrange to install our Rheostatocide at absolutely no cost to you except transportation—you pay us what we SAVE YOU! the first six months, and we then give you a clean bill of sale for Rheostatocide.

REMEMBER, you don't put out a penny; just send us your bills, when we will forward to you an order blank to be signed by you and returned to us for approval, and the trick is turned. THERE ARE NO STRINGS TO THIS OFFER.

"Perfect Fire Extinguisher."

Minimax.

"Highest Possible Type."

RESUME:

Has neither hose nor pump.
Possesses absolutely no mechanism.
Always hangs ready filled on the wall.
Is put in operation by a touch of the knob.
Throws a jet automatically of about 45 feet in length and 35 feet in height.
May be put in operation by anyone, even by a child.
Can be carried, operated and directed by use of one hand.
With our assistance and guarantee it has become the most popular fire extinguisher on the market.

IN A WORD: THE MINIMAX IN 15 SECONDS WILL DO MORE EFFECTIVE WORK THAN THREE FIRE ENGINES, EVEN IF THEY HAPPENED TO BE RIGHT ON THE SPOT.

THE PRICE IS $12.50.

No Moving Picture House, Theatre or Public Hall can afford to be without a proper number of these fire extinguishers.
WE ARE USING AN EVEN HUNDRED IN THE MILES BUILDING.
Special quantity prices to all M. P. Theatre Managers acting as distributing agents. A Moving Picture demonstration free to all agents.
