SPECTACULAR CAREER OF A BOSS

To be a political boss is no easy matter. The head of the boss 'Tis the press that rules the earth. unless particularly hard is likely to lie measy all the time. In the end unless the boss is very wary he may land in jail. Sometimes he lands in the senate. Sometimes after having landed in the senate he is cast out again. Many will remember the long struggle of "Gas" Addicks to get into that august body; no one who is acquainted with modern high politics can fail to know of the career of Lorimer, the blond boss of Illinois.

Lorimer is at present on trial in conjunction with other officials of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank on a charge of having been guilty of irregularities in connection with the affairs of opportunity and seized it. that institution. Lorimer has all along contended that he is absolutely innocent of any fault. His partner, Munday was convicted she was ready to exercise her skill of complicity in the irregularities and was recently sentenced to on reasonable terms. Plain materthree years' imprisonment. He is now released on bail, as the case is to be appealed.

Lorimer has all along maintained his own innocence of the irregularities charged. He stated that he had left all the details of the business to Munday. He also further asserted that the bank the business. COLLAPSE OF IRISH INSURRECTION

As was anticipated the Irish "insurrection" collapsed with a suddenness that showed that it was confined to a small section of of cycle, and there may be mor that element that has always been against everything. The sinking revolutions just as there are chang of the German transport that was conveying arms and ammunition of seasons. In any case the movement engineered by a section of the Irish come a common possession of h opposed to the plans and work of the responsible leaders of the torical students. From a thinke Nationalist movement was not one that would have commanded any as Tacitus obviously did, and wh adequate support that might have given it a measure of success. had he not possessed great streng All that has been accomplished by the revolt of the "Sinn Fein" of mind and character, might ha society has been the deaths of a few people; the destruction of a words are these: "This I regard few historical monuments in Dublin and the burning of a portion of history's highest function: To Sackville street.

Another chapter has been added to the history of that perverse of posterity as a terror to evil wor fate that seems to follow the cause of Ireland and to dash the cup and deeds'. of success from the lips of the nation just as it is about to satisfy its thirst. Ireland is deserving of a better fate than to be dragge in the mud by those who should be upholding the national standar in honor.

Ireland, at a time when England was wrapped in ignorance an superstition, was the center of enlightenment and learning. Th "sacred isle" with a history dating far back along the stream time; with a native race throbbing with poetry and with noble aspirations, was just now about to enter on a new page in its history, having obtained a measure of home rule that would have fulfilled all its best desires. This unfortunate outbreak, treasonable and traitorous to the Irish cause, gives grave reason to fear that what has been gained may be lost in the reaction against this futile attempt to deliver the island into the hands of the Teutons.

It is to be hoped that those who have been responsible for the wonderful campaign that brought Irish freedom and national aspiration to the verge of fulfilment may be able to offset this unfortunate fiasco and gain for Ireland the consummation it has so richly deserved. .

There is no city near the Mexican border as well fortified against attack as the Panama California International exposition, which is surrounded by Uncle Sam's fighting men. The south portion of the exposition grounds is the site for the camp of a thousand United States marines of the Fourth regiment. The north section of the grounds has the camp of the 21st regiment U.S. infantry; the east side of the grounds is given to the remaining troopers of the First Regiment U. S. cavalry which was recently ordered across the Mexican border. On this side also is the camp of the San Diego Army and Navy academy battalion of cadet soldiers, while at the west of the grounds are the ships of the Pacific fleet and the government
