RICHMOND RIVER VISITORS will be welcomed, and will find all modern conveniences at the hotel.

An Empire.

Can you tell me in Woodburn where to stay?

Perfect rooms I want, moderate terms to pay?

Right good attendance, with all liquors good.

Is not a hotel I most surely should like well—for travellers should be well fed?

Dream sweetly, tired, in a model bed; Leave with reluctance. Can you solve the riddle?

Quickly! The Empire—kept by G. FRIDALE.

IN OTHER WORDS.

No. 1—JAPAN.

(Specially written for the Courier by "Tommy Atkins.")

To the European or Occidental the Orient is a series of surprises in gradation, travelling east by way of Suez. For everything appears strange, with an amount of novelty that makes one doubt at least half of the sensations experienced and goes through. In journeying eastward to Japan, we find from Suez to Nagasaki that the majority of the Asiatics are dumb, so to speak, and do not, like the Europeans, understand the meaning of the words "Hello" and "Good-bye". After the muddy river, the red and brown hills of China, and the misty and uninviting Japan, we come to the view of the island of Japan, its green hills and its blue sea, and we find that the majority of the Asiatics are dumb, so to speak, and do not, like the Europeans, understand the meaning of the words "Hello" and "Good-bye".

The bold and irregular coast (Japan is in the volcanic belt, hence the serrated form of hills and irregular lines of coast) is rich in color, the green on the hillside is deep and soft, and the snow mountain (Fujiyama), with its perfect cone some 12,000 ft. high, completes the landscape grown so familiar on fan, lantern, horse, plate, etc.—Every-day life in Japan looks too theatrical, too full of artistic and decorative effects, to be actual and common, and the streets and shops seem set with deliberately studied scenes and carefully posed groups. Half consciously, when witnessing such scenes, the spectator waits for the bell to ring and the curtain to drop.

The above is by way of preliminary to a little descriptive narrative, I propose to give of a trip that I took some few years back to this very interesting country for the sake of my health, and I trust when my trip is over, and we are back in Australia once more, that your many readers will be satisfied with my endeavor to weave them, and if I may say so, instruct them on the manners and customs of a nation so very much, in my opinion, misunderstood, and about whom so very little is known to most. I am glad to say that the trip to Japan is now becoming much more common and popular than in years past, and those who want to see old Japan should lose no time in making the trip, as I am afraid in a few years most of real old Japan will have disappeared, killed by the march of western civilization and its ideas.

To make the trip realistic, I travelled by one of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha's fine steamers, on board which only the captain and chief officer, chief and second engineers, were Europeans, with the balance of officers and crew Japanese. Going this way, by the time Japan was reached I was almost able to make my way about with the Japanese. I had picked up, and such as it was it proved many a time of good service to me. Travelling by these very comfortable steamers—which by the way all carry good libraries—I was able to satisfy my natural hunger for the history of the land I was going to visit, reside, and travel in for some time, and it is only by knowing something of the history of the country and people visited that one is able to thoroughly appreciate the various beauties, customs, etc. Sight-seeing here and there is a very poor way of getting the most fun and enjoyment out of the trip—in fact, it can be likened to eating an egg without salt and pepper.

During a thunderstorm at Glen Innes, one evening last week, Miss E. M., the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. F. Bouchard, stationmaster, went to the lavatory in the dining room, where the lightning ran down the spout and struck the girl's right hand which was on the tap. There was a pain across the chest and at the heart, while the arm was paralyzed. The young sufferer is, we are glad to say, recovering.

"A kiss, I'm told," said pretty Susie Brown, "is both a nuisance and a nuisance." "That's true, her lover said," but you will find it is a nuisance not really desired."
