

AMERICAN A. S. SOCIETY. 142 NASSAU STREET, NEW-YORK. PUBLISHED WEEKLY. TWO DOLLARS PER ANNUM.

benefit and security to the United States. As regards the Southern States, the Constitution is not only the basis of their political existence, but also the basis of their moral and political existence.

social and political affinities and sympathies, are steadily removing the Governments and the Southern States from the European and the Pacific States, and from the functions in Asia and Africa.

promises in general, I should object to its extension to the Territory of California. It is an independent question whether it is expedient to perform the same in California.

It is in the Constitution of the United States in 1787, and in the parties were the Republican States. The Law of Nations disavows such compacts as are made by the States with respect to the rights of freemen, repudiates them.

document, of impossibility to give a Territorial Government to California, and to adopt the people, and of dismemberment of the Territory of California under these circumstances I would have considered as a slave State.

Sections. GOV. SWANSON SPEAKS ON THE SLAVERY QUESTION. Delivered in the United States Senate, Monday, March 19, 1850.

Only a year ago it was proclaimed that the crisis of the military power to maintain law and order in the Southern States was at hand.

And now it seems to me that the perpetual duty of Empire hangs on the destiny of this day and hour. California is already a day and a night further advanced than she ever was.

This seems to me to be—that the free States of the Union are now in a position to be able to do what they please in relation to the Territory of California.

It will not stop to protest against the injustice and impolicy of the measures now proposed, which are so palpably and so manifestly unjust.

It is not only in the law of Nations and of Nature, but also in the law of Justice and of Equity, that the rights of the people are equal.

Mr. President having the floor rose and said, Mr. President: Four years ago California, according to our usual immemorial desire, was unknown to our country.

Only a year ago it was proclaimed that the crisis of the military power to maintain law and order in the Southern States was at hand.

And now it seems to me that the perpetual duty of Empire hangs on the destiny of this day and hour. California is already a day and a night further advanced than she ever was.

This seems to me to be—that the free States of the Union are now in a position to be able to do what they please in relation to the Territory of California.

It will not stop to protest against the injustice and impolicy of the measures now proposed, which are so palpably and so manifestly unjust.

It is not only in the law of Nations and of Nature, but also in the law of Justice and of Equity, that the rights of the people are equal.

Mr. President: Four years ago California, according to our usual immemorial desire, was unknown to our country. It is now a State, and its people are engaged in a struggle for freedom.

Only a year ago it was proclaimed that the crisis of the military power to maintain law and order in the Southern States was at hand.

And now it seems to me that the perpetual duty of Empire hangs on the destiny of this day and hour. California is already a day and a night further advanced than she ever was.

This seems to me to be—that the free States of the Union are now in a position to be able to do what they please in relation to the Territory of California.

It will not stop to protest against the injustice and impolicy of the measures now proposed, which are so palpably and so manifestly unjust.

It is not only in the law of Nations and of Nature, but also in the law of Justice and of Equity, that the rights of the people are equal.

Mr. President: Four years ago California, according to our usual immemorial desire, was unknown to our country. It is now a State, and its people are engaged in a struggle for freedom.

Only a year ago it was proclaimed that the crisis of the military power to maintain law and order in the Southern States was at hand.

And now it seems to me that the perpetual duty of Empire hangs on the destiny of this day and hour. California is already a day and a night further advanced than she ever was.

This seems to me to be—that the free States of the Union are now in a position to be able to do what they please in relation to the Territory of California.

It will not stop to protest against the injustice and impolicy of the measures now proposed, which are so palpably and so manifestly unjust.

It is not only in the law of Nations and of Nature, but also in the law of Justice and of Equity, that the rights of the people are equal.

Mr. President: Four years ago California, according to our usual immemorial desire, was unknown to our country. It is now a State, and its people are engaged in a struggle for freedom.

Only a year ago it was proclaimed that the crisis of the military power to maintain law and order in the Southern States was at hand.

And now it seems to me that the perpetual duty of Empire hangs on the destiny of this day and hour. California is already a day and a night further advanced than she ever was.

This seems to me to be—that the free States of the Union are now in a position to be able to do what they please in relation to the Territory of California.

It will not stop to protest against the injustice and impolicy of the measures now proposed, which are so palpably and so manifestly unjust.

It is not only in the law of Nations and of Nature, but also in the law of Justice and of Equity, that the rights of the people are equal.

Mr. President: Four years ago California, according to our usual immemorial desire, was unknown to our country. It is now a State, and its people are engaged in a struggle for freedom.

Only a year ago it was proclaimed that the crisis of the military power to maintain law and order in the Southern States was at hand.

And now it seems to me that the perpetual duty of Empire hangs on the destiny of this day and hour. California is already a day and a night further advanced than she ever was.

This seems to me to be—that the free States of the Union are now in a position to be able to do what they please in relation to the Territory of California.

It will not stop to protest against the injustice and impolicy of the measures now proposed, which are so palpably and so manifestly unjust.

It is not only in the law of Nations and of Nature, but also in the law of Justice and of Equity, that the rights of the people are equal.

difficult.

ROMANTIC STORY OF THE FITZCARRIN ISLANDERS.

There are few names unacquainted with that of the Fitzcarrin, and with the story which is connected with it. Yet we have some fresh information to give respecting Fitzcarrin's Island, and the doings of the missionaries on that island.

It became known to the commander of the Pandora, that the crew of the ship were desirous to settle on the island, and he accordingly gave them leave to do so.

Such was the information obtained by Captain Beechey. He found, on surveying the island, that it was a very fertile soil, and that the climate was very healthy.

Other information brought by the Pandora revealed to the world the fact, that the population here had been born.

The joy of the inhabitants of the island was increased by the fact, that the population here had been born.

Such was the romantic adventure of the missionaries, and the story which is connected with it.

that George Adams, married to Polly Young, and that two sons, were left on the island.

After the death of Captain Beechey, the island was visited by a vessel from the West Indies.

The children acquired such a thirst after Scriptural knowledge, that Adams in a short time had acquired the rudiments of the English language.

Such was the information obtained by Captain Beechey. He found, on surveying the island, that it was a very fertile soil, and that the climate was very healthy.

Other information brought by the Pandora revealed to the world the fact, that the population here had been born.

The joy of the inhabitants of the island was increased by the fact, that the population here had been born.

Such was the romantic adventure of the missionaries, and the story which is connected with it.

Such was the romantic adventure of the missionaries, and the story which is connected with it.

light and intelligence, a convention call be made to regulate for self-government, and to elect a non-representative body.

A YILLAGE CURATE. The condition of the Reformed Church in Hungary does not by any means present a very favorable picture.

THE ALBANS. The Danish Obshelskabet is a very interesting and useful association.

REPEAL ASSOCIATION. Mr. John O'Connell is a very interesting and useful association.

THE LONDON WEEKLY NEWS. The London Weekly News is a very interesting and useful association.

THE WORK OF THE GLOBE. The work of the globe is a very interesting and useful association.

THE WORK OF THE GLOBE. The work of the globe is a very interesting and useful association.

THE WORK OF THE GLOBE. The work of the globe is a very interesting and useful association.

THE WORK OF THE GLOBE. The work of the globe is a very interesting and useful association.

THE WORK OF THE GLOBE. The work of the globe is a very interesting and useful association.

THE WORK OF THE GLOBE. The work of the globe is a very interesting and useful association.

THE WORK OF THE GLOBE. The work of the globe is a very interesting and useful association.

THE WORK OF THE GLOBE. The work of the globe is a very interesting and useful association.

THE WORK OF THE GLOBE. The work of the globe is a very interesting and useful association.

000, which was in 1849, under the old system, was 6,000,000.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

he would be easy to collect nearly instructive from the Count of Provence (Louis XVIII) and his wife, who were on their way to live in the palace of Versailles.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

THE MARRIAGE CHRONICLE. This is a very interesting and useful association.

Copyrighted by Fitzcarrin's Island in the copyright of the Standard. An account of his voyage was published in the Standard, December 15th, 1849, and is now reprinted by the Standard.