An Act of the Legislature

"ART. 5. And [illegible] the Mayor and [illegible] among the Citizens [illegible] and resident within the [illegible] election, and possess [illegible] required by the [illegible] Follow[illegible] condition in [illegible] declaring [illegible] for public [illegible] imperiously [illegible] candidate for the [illegible]

We are requested to announce [illegible] a suitable person to [illegible] at the approaching election.

The Courier has come out in favor [illegible] as a proper person to be supported [illegible]

The Hon. Henry Clay [illegible] York on the evening of [illegible] attend the fair of the Agricultural Institute, it was understood [illegible]

An article purporting to be [illegible] al accredited statements [illegible] forces under Sir Edward Pa[illegible] 1815, was, "beauty and booty." [illegible] English journals upon the authority [illegible] Lieutenant Keen, and other [illegible] the invading army. The Unanswered [illegible] reference made to the matter in [illegible] in America. They say that they were [illegible] serving, and that all orders during the troops were promulgated through them, and they most unequivocally declare that such watchword was given out. They add that the [illegible] of their delay in denying this calumny, [illegible] heard of it before this present year, 1833.

The pretext alleged in the above certificate [illegible] and impotent. The "calumny," now for the first [illegible] tempted to be disputed, has been a subject of conversation for more than twenty years, and has been repeated over and over again in public journals, books and military reminiscences, for more than eighteen years. Mr. Eaton, in his life of General Jackson, speaking on the subject, says—

"English writers may deny the correctness of the charge; it certainly interests them to do so, but its authority is too well established to admit a doubt; while its criminality is increased from being the act of a people who boast themselves up to surrounding nations as examples of everything that is correct and proper."

And Mr. Steuart himself, in his allusions to the subject observes:—

"This charge does not rest upon Mr. Eaton's authority alone. It is mentioned in all the American statements relative to this battle down to the present day. Mr. Timothy Flint, who has given a detailed account of the campaign, repeats it in his Geography and History of the Western States; and it also appears in the travels of Bernhard, Duke of Saxe Weimar, brother-in-law of the Duke of Clarence (now King of Great Britain,) published so late as 1828."

We were ourselves very young when the English cannonading shook the window-glasses of our houses, but far too young to remember the events of that memorable epoch, so disastrous to a proud and sanguinary foe, and so glorious to the martial ardor of our citizen-soldiery. No such remembrance of that period is too firmly rooted in the minds of every Louisianian to be effaced, and there still survive too many actors in the bloody drama to bury its memory with all its soul-stirring associations, even should any disposition to forget it be manifested.

If we mistake not, the watchword given by [illegible] to his soldiers at the battle of the 8th, was [illegible] the commander-in-chief, through several different [illegible] The transmission of it came to him, almost [illegible] time, from a secret correspondence he kept [illegible] the enemy's camp, from the deserters and from those taken prisoners. The fact that all the important steps about to be pursued [illegible] orders were made known at this head-quarters [illegible] many days, and all the old residents can substantiate it.

To admit for a moment the denial of Admiral Lambert, Keane and others, who have appeared at a late hour to obliterate a dark stain upon British chivalry, as true, is to utter a positive falsehood. That the affair should be made strife as to who is answering, as the affair stands [illegible] perpetual memorial of dishonor and disgrace; but we must confess our surprise that those honorable men, should so long have [illegible] to mask the slander.

The late storm experienced at New-York and Philadelphia is represented as having [illegible] the coast eastward. At New-Bedford several [illegible] Cape Cod, and the shipping sustained considerable [illegible] and at Boston the like damage was done to all the vessels in the stream.

CHOLERA IN SPAIN.—Captain Darrell, of the brig Repeater, which arrived at Baltimore on the 17th inst. from Malaga and Gibraltar, reports that the cholera had broken out in several places in Spain and created a great deal of alarm in Malaga; two days previous to the Repeater's sailing the cordon had been placed all round the town to prevent any communication with the country, in consequence of which it was supposed that the merchants would sustain heavy losses (having contracted largely for fruit, and made large advances) if not hostilities permitted to enter the town.

From the Philadelphia [illegible]

A large Jackson democratic [illegible] in Williamsport, Lycoming county, [illegible] at which the Hon. John Cr[illegible] of the gentlemen assembled [illegible] and express public [illegible] the recent measures of the [illegible] election of a United States S[illegible] tions involving the political int[illegible] Democratic party; and the civil [illegible] citizens of Pennsylvania and of the [illegible]

After passing resolutions complimentary [illegible] mon Martin Van Buren, and George Wolf, the following were agreed upon—two voices only dissenting.

Resolved, That this meeting decidedly approve of the course of those Democratic members of the last Legislature, who in the ballottings for United States Senator, gave their votes against Samuel McKean, the more than stupidious professor of Jacksonism, and the avowed and bitter opponent of the Vice President—and recorded their approbation of the Hon. Henry A. Muhlenburg, and of the Hon. George M. Dallas upon the statute book of the Commonwealth.

Resolved, That the Democratic members of the next Legislature, be requested to vote for such candidate for the office of United States Senator, as is the known and decided friend of the Vice President as such—and that they are hereby requested to concentrate their strength, and efforts to secure the election of George M. Dallas, Henry A. Muhlenburg, or James Buchanan, either of whom would do honor to the State, and faithfully represent the Democratic party in the councils of the nation.

Resolved, That the present Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, vests an amount of patronage in the Governor, which deprives the people of the balance of power in error, which deprives the people of the balance of power in appointments to office—thereby practically assimilates the appointments to office—thereby practically assimilates the executive power, and calls loudly for the reforming hand of the people in convention assembled.

Resolutions were also passed approving of a National Convention, and a general system of education. These proceedings would seem to give a death blow to the political [illegible] Gov[illegible] Most advancements in Lycoming county.
