SCHOOL REPORT.

TO THE CITIZENS OF GOFFSTOWN :

Your School Committee has attended to the duties imposed upon him by law, — duties which involve more care and labor than many suppose. He has not done all that might be done, but what seemed to be present duty.

The condition of the schools in town, with four exceptions, is better than one year ago, and in those exceptional cases the money expended has not been wholly wasted. An improved discipline, and a sure advance in scholarship, has been characteristic of many of our schools. Considering the number of teachers employed, the inexperience of several, and the difficulties under which they have labored, it is not too much to say, that it is doubtful if the same number of teachers in any neighboring town, where no higher salaries are paid, can show a better record.

A GOOD SCHOOL.

The indispensable conditions to a number one school are, a united, interested district, a good school-house, well furnished, a proper supply of text books, a judicious, earnest teacher, and pupils who attend school to learn. In proportion as either of these are wanting, according to their relative importance, the school falls short of what it ought to be, and those for whose benefit school privileges are afforded are wronged. And it is just as culpable an act to dwarf a child's mind, by withholding a suitable education, as his body by withholding proper food.

TEXT BOOK REFORM.

The labors of your committee have been especially directed towards a reduction of the number of text books by different authors, which have been introduced in various ways into the several schools; an evil which in a number of instances has been found to be wasting one half of the teacher's time by its necessary accompaniment of a multitude of classes, it being a well known fact. that the less the number of classes the greater the proportion of the teacher's attention that each pupil can have. Some idea of the extent of this evil in your schools may be formed from the fact that in one school arithmetics were found by six different authors: and in another, there was such a variety of geographies as to make ten classes necessary for their accommodation. To any efforts looking toward an improvement in this respect, some few parents have made strenuous objections, which have seemed similar to the reason a teamster might urge for working his oxen separately, "that it would save the trouble of yoking them" ; or the farmer for using his grandfather's old wooden plow "that it yet held together", which is more than can be said of some of the books for which such an affection has been manifested, one in particular, which was found on examination to be over forty years old. Feeling that present cursings would in future be changed to blessings, as foreshadowed in our last years' report, the committee has gone on and reduced greatly the number of classes in arithmetic and geography in that way which seemed "for the greatest good of the greatest number." To complete the overthrow of this Babel will be the task of years to come, and it will sooner or later be done, for when the golden age of our schools shall come, it will find, (as it is now in all well conducted schools the use of only one series of text books allowed.

PARENTAL INTEREST AND RESPONSIBILITY.

Our common school system with all its benefits has this disadvantage, that in making education a public work it destroys that sense of individual responsibility which parents would otherwise feel: the verification of that old adage, "what is everybody's business is nobody's. In consequence of this lack of a feeling of responsibility there is a corresponding lack of proper interest, and without interest there is no intelligent inquiry into the real wants of the school-room, among the masses: and to this want of correct ideas is attributable the bitter prejudices and factious opposition that have continually to be encountered by those who would have our schools keep pace with the advancement of the age. One of two things must be done or some schools will never prosper. Either the school system of large towns must be adopted, or the parents in these notoriously "hard districts" must come up and take a different stand, becoming willing to sink all party issues, ceasing to notice every grievance, and uniting in rendering the teacher an efficient moral support, let the rou fall where it may. With a conclusion to let "by gones be by gones" and a selection of experienced teachers.—teachers that you have to go after to secure, for the districts where there has been trouble the past year; with a few better houses and some new furniture, and an increase of your appropriation for schools, that will add but a triffe to the burden of the tax-payer, the time may soon come when good citizens will not leave town for the want of suitable schools in which to educate their children.

The following report of the schools in the respective districts is presented, intended to be truth/ul and just.

DISTRICT NO. 1. Village, South Side.

Summer Term. MISS M. C. HOLMES, Teacher.—At our first visit we found this teacher performing her duties in a very quiet. lady-like manner, and the general appearance of the school was good. Failing to receive notice we were not present at the final examination. Unable to present a report of our own, we quote from the teacher's:—"A very good school in point of numbers and a few good scholars, considering their ages. This school will not become what it might and should be, until parents take a greater interest. Visits from parents give importance to the school in the estimation of the children; they tend also to establish a sympathy between parents and teacher: the plea of want of time lacks in every element of consistency."

Winter Term. MR. H. M. GEORGE and MR. H. WOODBURY, Teachers.—The first five weeks of this term were taught by Mr. George, who might have succeeded very well in many schools, but failed to give satisfaction in this. The remainder of the term was taught by Mr. Woodbury, a teacher of well known abilities and established reputation. Already known and loved by many of his pupils, he proved the right man in the place he filled, and considerable was accomplished in a short time. school but once, it then appeared as well as could be expected with a perfect reign of chaos, so far as variety of text books was concerned. Miss B. taught this school with success the previous winter, and we have no reason to doubt that as good results were again realized. We could but regret that this teacher made on report of her own.

Winter Ierm. JOHN E. MORSE, Teacher.—This school was very much broken up by sickness among the children. Being obliged to report prematurely we cannot speak of results, but have been pleased with what we have seen of the teacher's quiet decision, and the devotion to study manifested in our presence by his pupils.

DISTRICT NO. 14. Plumer's.

Winter Term. JENNIE E. HART, Teacher.—Miss Hart succeeded finely and deserves, in common with her pupils, great praise. The exercises in arithmetic were in some respects unequalled in town. In recitations and declamations, a few scholars in this school exceeded anything of the kind we have been permitted to witness elsewhere the past year.

DISTRICT NO. 15. Dow's.

Winter Term. GEORGE H. AIKEN, Teacher.—This term closed abruptly the tenth week, under the following circumstances: One morning the teacher found a "nuisance" committed which rendered the air of the school-room unfit to be breathed, and on going to the prudential committee to get it "abated" he found him somewhat dissatisfied with his course, and refused to teach longer. The following has been handed to your committee:

"This is to certify that we, composing the District No. 15, in Goffstown, N. H., join in the support of the late teacher, G. H. Aiken, and consider that the children sent from our respective families have made good improvement as could be expected."

Signed

STEPHEN DWINELLS, ELBRIDGE G. PETTES, SAMUEL J. DOW, BENJAMIN DOW, JAMES RICHARDS, This school appeared well at our first and only visit, and we could wish that instead of leaving, the teacher had "fought it out on that line" and followed up that scent.
