

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14590
(716) 872-4503

CIHM/ICMH
Microfiche Series.

CIHM/ICMH Collection de microfiches.

Canadian Institute for Historical Microreproductions / Institut canadien de microreproductions historiques

© 1985

Technical and Bibliographic Notes/Notes techniques et bibliographiques

The Institute has attempted to obtain the best original copy available for filming. Features of this copy which may be bibliographically unique, which may alter any of the images in the reproduction, or which may significantly change the usual method of filming, are checked below.

L'Institut a microfilmé le meilleur exemplaire qu'il lui a été possible de se procurer. Les détails de cet exemplaire qui sont peut-être uniques du point de vue bibliographique, qui peuvent modifier une image reproduite, ou qui peuvent exiger une modification dans la méthode normale de filmage sont indiqués ci-dessous.

- Coloured covers/Couverture de couleur
- Covers damaged/
Couverture endommagée
- Covers restored and/or laminated/Couverture restaurée et/ou pelliculée
- Cover title missing/
Le titre de couverture manque
- Coloured maps/
Cartes géographiques en couleur
- Coloured ink (i.e. other than blue or black)/ Encre de couleur (i.e. autre que bleue ou noire)
- Coloured plates and/or illustrations/
Planches et/ou illustrations en couleur
- Bound with other material/
Relié avec d'autres documents
- Tight binding may cause shadows or distortion along interior margin/
La reliure serrée peut causer de l'ombre ou de la distortion le long de la marge intérieure
- Blank leaves added during restoration may appear within the text. Whenever possible, these have been omitted from filming/
Il se peut que certaines pages blanches ajoutées
lors d'une restauration apparaissent dans le texte, mais, lorsque cela était possible, ces pages n'ont pas été filmées.
- Additional comments:/
Commentaires supplémentaires:

- Coloured pages/Pages de couleur
- Pages damaged/
Pages endommagées
- Pages restored and/or laminated/
Pages restaurées et/ou pelliculées
- Pages discoloured, stained or foxed/
Pages décolorées, tachetées ou piquées
- Pages detached/Pages détachées
- Showthrough/Transparence
- Quality of print varies/Qualité inégale de l'impression
- Includes supplementary material/
Comprend du matériel supplémentaire
- Only edition available/
Seule édition disponible
- Pages wholly or partially obscured by errata slips, tissues, etc., have been refilmed to ensure the best possible image/Les pages totalement ou partiellement obscurcies par un feuillet d'errata, une pelure, etc., ont été filmées à nouveau de façon à obtenir la meilleure image possible.

This item is filmed at the reduction ratio checked below/
Ce document est filmé au taux de réduction indiqué ci-dessous.

10X	12X	14X	16X	18X	20X	22X	24X	26X	28X	30X	32X
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>

The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Library of the Public
Archives of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

La bibliothèque des Archives
publiques du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

FACSIMILE

OF THE

Illustrated Arctic News,

PUBLISHED ON BOARD

H.M.S. RESOLUTE: CAPT. HORATIO T. AUSTIN, C.B.

IN SEARCH OF THE EXPEDITION

UNDER

Sir John Franklin.

Dedicated by Special Permission

TO THE LORDS COMMISSIONERS OF THE ADMIRALTY,

BY THEIR LORDSHIPS VERY OBEDIENT SERVANTS,

LIEUT. SHERARD OSBORNE, & MR. GEO. F. M. DOUGALL,

By & Sec. Ld. to the Queen.

Dedicated by Special Permission
TO THE LORDS COMMISSIONERS OF THE ADMIRALTY,
BY THEIR LORDSHIPS VERY OBEDIENT SERVANTS,
LIEUT. SHERARD OSBORNE, & MR. GEO. F. M^c DOUGALL,

The Editors.

LONDON. PUBLISHED BY ACKERMANN & C^o 96. STRAND, 15th MARCH, 1852.

By Appointment
TO HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN, H.R.H. PRINCE ALBERT, H.R.H. THE DUCHESS OF KENT & THE ROYAL FAMILY.

Cynias
G 662
IA
1852

Preface.

A Polar public having smiled upon us during the long night of an Arctic Winter, we fear not the frowns of the Temperate Zone;—yet being of a peaceable disposition, would deprecate wrath, or jealousy on the part of the Titans of the Southern Press, who may fear our entering the field as competitors in these Regions,—by assuring them, that unless Old England be overtaken by a night of three months duration, it is not our intention to appear again in the Editorial line.

Where merit cannot be pleaded, novelty, as in Bloomerism, may avail,—we sincerely hope it will, for the sake of the kind and liberal Publishers, Messrs. Ackermann.

A few articles have been omitted, for fear the bad taste of a long-shore Public, might lead them to object, on the score of raciness, for this we apologize to our gallant contributors, and we now in the spirit of our motto, commit the Illustrated Arctic News, 'safely and fearlessly' to the British Public.

The Editors.

T H E

ILLUSTRATED ARCTIC NEWS.

N^o. 1.

"TUTO ET SINE METU."

OCTOBER 31. 1850.

ES! The Illustrated Arctic News!
 Shake thy head as thou wilt good friend—such we intend to be, the name of our publication—an aspiring one, no doubt, yet, 'tis that lacketh ambition, lacketh all—and provided our motive be good,
 what care we for the result.—

Thy object friend? demands Matter of Fact—Amusement, good dame, is our reply—We seek to attain no more than,
 we profess—to relieve the monotony of
 sunless days—to show to all, that fun
 & good fellowship, may exist by Purser's Moonlight that Romance can survive the dense atmosphere of twenty four to the pound, that in the desolation of land & Ice around us, the gentle
 lily Wisdom can still be culled, either in the contemplation of the ruins of an old World, or in the strange, & ever changing phenomena of Nature, by which we are surrounded;—and lastly, to keep alive in all our hearts, those sweet recollections tender
 and true, which bind us to our Homes, our Country,
 and our Friends—

And come what will, we shall not travel
 in vain, if Meth should be lured to spend a winter on the floe, or that growling fellow Care, be banished from our Arctic Circle.

WE gladly avail ourselves of the kindness of an anonymous correspondent, who has forwarded us
 copies of a series of letters, written by himself to his Friends,—and to a fair creature, who is, as he assures us, 'all soul'

We presume, our friend, has the young lady's heart in safe keeping—

LETTER N^o. 1.

My Dear Father,

We are about to sail for
 the shores of Lancaster Sound, and to turn
 our backs on the civilized World for some years;—
 Already has our escape from the wreck, & destruction, been almost miraculous!—Imagine three Icebergs, as big as St Pauls! tilting at each other,
 and we in our poor vessels!—Two Captain's Cassuans, & three Quarter Masters, became grey-headed men that terrible night! & me it made a wiser, &
 I trust, a better man, recalling to my recollection
 the fact that a small Bull, about £36, is still owing to Looney in Regent Street; for some cigars,
 (you remember I told you the Commodore insisted on our smoking) for which Bramble will send you the amount, about Christmas day.

The Officer of my Watch is delighted!

we profess - to relieve the monotony of
 sunless days - to show to all, that fun
 & good fellowship, may exist by Purser's Moonlight that Romance can survive the dense
 atmosphere of twenty four to the pound - that in the desolation of Land & Ice around us, the gentle
 lily Wisdom can still be culled - either in the contemplation of the ruins of an old World, or in the strange & ever changing phenomena of Nature, by which we are surrounded; - and lastly to keep alive in all our hearts, those sweet recollections tender
 and true which bind us to our Homes, our Country,
 and our Friends. -

And come what will we shall not travel
 in vain, if Murth should be lured to spend a winter on the floe, or that growelling fellow Care, be banished from our Arctic beds:

In conclusion, we have only to add,
 that as the success of the 'Illustrated Arctic News' must necessarily depend on the voluntary contributions of our readers, we trust that for want of support, it will not become

My Dear Father,

We are about to sail for
 the shores of Lancaster Sound, and to turn
 our backs on the civilized World for some years; -
 Already has our escape from Shepwick, & destruction
 been almost miraculous! - Imagine three Icebergs, as big as St Pauls, talking at each other, and we in our poor vessels! - Two Captains beswains, & three Quarter Masters become grey headed men that terrible night! & me it made a wiser, &
 I trust, a better man - recalling to my recollection
 the fact that a small Bill, about £30, is still owing to Looney in Regent Street; for some cigars,
 (you remember I told you the Commodore insisted on our smoking) for which Bramble will send you the amount, about Christmas day.

The Officer of my Watch is delighted with my zeal & activity, and appears to enjoy my company, and cigars - I think the Captain regrets he cannot at once promote us, and I'm firmly resolved that the name of _____,
 shall become memorable in the annals of the Arctic Ocean

The Gold Repeater you so kindly gave me, I, on second thoughts could not think of bringing with me. — Fastman, who keeps the 'Barque' at Woolwich, presented me with a small account, at a moment the safety of the ship, required me not to leave the deck, & I therefore gave him the Watch to keep until you called and settled his demand. The 'Brandies' were for the Policemen, whom we were obliged to conciliate, and they drink horribly.

To work is my sole delight, and being on double pay, I feel called on for double exertion. — I sometimes however accompany a few friends on a shooting excursion, in order to study & obtain specimens of Natural History. —

By the bye, the Bill for £12, drawn at the Ordnance, was expended in Oil & Candles, to enable me to read upon various important subjects during the Winter months. —

I am grieved to say, that civilization, has made but little progress, among the benighted inhabitants of these regions, Alas! their minds are as barren as the hills which now surround us.

I had almost forgotten to inform you, that the Landlady of the Ship & Tower and Mrs. Chelud from whom my frugal supper of Potatoes & Hysteria was nightly obtained, refused to receive payment until the Michaelmas, & in my absence will you oblige me by letting your Agent square the tally?

Every blessing attend you if I fall, remember it is in a good cause.

* * * * *

P.S. — Kibber and Raids, the witches never sent their Accounts in, I do not wish them to overtake my memory.

SEAMENS GRAVES — BEECHY ISLAND.

A lonely hour spent beside the Tombs on Beechey Island, recalled to our recollection the many lands, in which we had not similar traces of our Countrymen's wanderings — Alas! in this case the associations were indeed sad, and melancholy; for those simple head boards, are the sole records left of the sojourn & departure of those we seek — and in this scene they but mark the first stage of the perilous voyage of the missing Explorers towards renown.

The day we chose for our visit, was dark, and gloomy, — with sudden gusts of wind sweeping over land & ice, hiding every distant object from our view in snow drift — and as we surmounted the point of land, and lost sight of our Vessels, all was as dreary and lonely, as the most saddened heart could wish.

Before us lay the Bay, on whose lone brow Franklin's Squadron once had rode — here was the site of the ruined observatory, where science had laboured with honest zeal, and ambition; there, the deserted mound, on which once had stood the workshop, alive with life, and racy jokes, whilst the little Garden at our feet, long since fallen to decay owned, that even the poor shivering Flora of the North had had her retreats in that Gallant Company. It was further down the slope that the three dark beacons

specimens of Natural History. —

By the bye, the Bill for £12, drawn at the Ordnays, was expended in Oil & candles, to enable me to read upon various important subjects during the Winter months. —

I am grieved to say, that civilization, has made but little progress, among the benighted inhabitants of these regions, Alas! their minds are as barren as the hills which now surround us

I had almost forgotten to inform you, that the Landlady of the Ship & Tower and the Ethelred from whom my frugal supper of Potatoes & Oysters, was nightly obtained, refused to receive payment until Michaelmas, & in my absence will you oblige me, by letting your Agent square the tally?

Every blessing attend you, if I fall, remember it is in a good cause.

* * * * *
P.S. — Kilbee and Raals, the wretches, never sent their Accounts in, I do not wish them to accrete my memory

The Bergs are breaking in all directions, Hands save Ships!! — Good Bye! —

STATE OF THE WEATHER.

The weather for the last few days, has been remarkably mild and dry. We are happy to say our Cheroots are in the same condition.

missing Explorers towards renown.

The day we chose for our visit, was dark, and gloomy, — with sudden gusts of wind sweeping over land & ice, hiding every distant object from our view in snow drift, and as we surmounted the point of land, and lost sight of our vessels, all was as dreary and lonely, as the most saddened heart could wish.

Before us lay the Bay, on whose lone boom Franklin's Squadron once had rode — here, was the site of the ruined observatory, where science had laboured with honest zeal, and ambition, there, the deserted mound, on which once had stood the workshops, alive with life, and racy joke — whilst the little Garden at our feet, long since fallen to decay, evinced, that even the poor shivering Flora of the North, had had her polaris in that Gallant Compagnie; — It was farther down the slope that the three dark beacons stood, which were placed over the remains of those who fell victims to the rigour of an Arctic Winter. What a tale of regret and kindly feeling, was told, by the neatly finished head board! — all repetitive with interest.

Yet apart from regret, for the departed, and anxiety for the missing, there was nothing unusually terrible in such a last resting place from the fevered labours of this life - here at any rate, the cairn, which marks one's resting place, stands a monument of human enterprise of British perseverance! -

What the Carved stone of the Scandinavian Viking is to the modern antiquary - so shall in future ages be, the humble Tombstone of the English Seaman - proofs in both alike of hardihood, & energy.

The following particulars were copied from the head boards of the graves on Beechey Island.

Sacred
to the Memory of John Turnbull
A.B. of H.M.S.
Erebus.
died Jan^r 16th 1846
aged 25 years
Haggas - Oct. 79.
Thus saith the Lord of Hosts
"Consider your ways"

Sacred
to the Memory of
W. Dracoe R.N.
J. M. S. Tobias died April 3rd 1846 32 years

"Come you this day whom ye will serve"
Joshua: C. 24. part of 15th verse

Sacred
to the memory of John Torrington, who departed this life, January 1st 1846, on board of H.M.S. Terror,
aged 23 years

UNION BAY — BEECHEY ISLAND.

C. P. W. D.

SONGS OF THE NORTH.

Dedicated to Mr Austin,

By the Authors

No. 1. - The Traveller's Evening Song.

Air. - As slow our Ship.

When last we saw our Shipmates hind,
And heard their farewell greeting;
Though loath to leave them all behind,
We hope a joyful meeting;
And trust to see our Ship once more,
That o'er the Ocean bore us;
And cheer the Friends, who men replace
The fate of those before us

When of the joys of home we think,
One lovely face comes cheering,
A sweet voice whispers - do not shrink!
The absent you are nearing!
With hope renewed, then on we go,
England must not blush for us!
And with fresh vigour cross the sea,
In search of those before us

G. F. M. D.

UNION BAY — BEECHY ISLAND.

SONGS OF THE NORTH.

Dedicated to Mr Austin,

By the Authors.

No. 1. — The Traveller's Evening Song,

Air. — Adieu our Ships!

When last we saw our Shipmates kind,
And heard their farewell greeting,
Though loath to leave them all behind,
We hope a joyful meeting;
And trust to see our Ships once more,
That o'er the Ocean bore us;
And cheer the Friends, who now deplore,
The fate of those before us.

When of the joys of home we think,
One lovely face comes cheering,
A sweet voice whispers, do not shrink!
The absent you are nearing!
With hope renewed, then on we go,
England must not blush for us!
And with fresh vigour cross the flood,
In search of those before us.

And whilst this dreary waste we roam,
May conscience oft remind us,
What raptures will be felt at home,
By those we've left behind us;
If with success our hopes are crown'd,
And fortune should restore us,
To Britain's shore, with those we've found,
Our Comrades gone before us.

G. F. M. D.

C. F. M. D.

DEPARTURE OF THE TRAVELLING PARTIES.

Editors Portfolio,

IN the morning of the 2nd Inst^o Lieut. Aldrich, with six men, and one Sledge, left for Somerville Island, with a view to form a depot towards Cape Walker. Lieut. McClintock & P. Bradford, with twelve men & four Sledges, started at the same time, in order to deposit provisions, as far as possible on the line of route to Melville Island.

Mr. Cheyne with 1 Sledge, & six men, as a fatigue party, accompanied the above Officers to assist in drawing the Sledges a day's journey.

Lieut. Meham & Mr. Ede, with a lightly equipped party, finishes the Examination of the South Coast of Cornwallis Isld^o between Capes Hotham & Martyn.

Heartily did we give them a Sailors' God Speed, & in Cheers as in the highest possible spirits they commenced their laborious march.

We gladly insert the following extracts, from a Skeleton Journal, kept by an Officer during his absence with the return the Compliment.

6 P.M. - Struck Tent, and a light, commenced smoking - Bacon spoiled by Boreas - Took Tea, and turned in, thought of the time when I revelled in Tea, Toast, Tanks, & Testament, or Sherry, Scandal, Songs, & Sentiment. Took to the bottle & bag - Slept & Snored as usual; although Cold & Comfortless - Ther. 10°

11 P.M. - Dreaming of Dolly - Water made in - we made off - thought of Childhood's Copyslip, referring to Time & Tide.

Oct. 3rd - Awoke, horribly hot - Ther. 17° Cocoa and Conversation - Had a Slide and smoke - Noon, dined - digested ditto by dragging.

The M.S. here ceases in consequence of the Ink having become solid, an evil which might have been remedied, had not the pencils been already used for fuel.

Sept. 16th - Lieut. W. Cluncock & J. Bradford, with twelve men & four Sledges, started at the same time, in order to deposit provisions, as far as possible on the line of route to Melville Island: -

Mr. Cheyne with 1 Sledge, & six men, as a fatigue party, accompanied the above Officers to assist in drawing the Sledges a day's journey -

Lieut. Mechem & Mr. Ede, with a lightly equipped party, finishes the Examination of the South Coast of Cornwall's Isl^d between Capes Hotham & Martyr.

Heartily did we give them a Sailors' God
Speed! in Chorus as in the highest possible spirits, they commenced their laborious march.

We gladly insert the following extracts, from a Skeleton journal, kept by an Officer during his absence with one of the late Travelling parties. -

Oct 2nd - 7 A.M. - Having stowed
Sledges with pemmican, pork, and pipes,
Belly with Tea and Tommy - left the Ship - Crew Chired - Too full - feelings I mean to

when Travelled in Sea, Toast, Tark, & Testiment, or Sherry, Scandal, Songs, & Sentiment.

Took to the bottle & bag - Slept & Snored as usual; although Cold & Comfortless - Ther: 10°

11 P.M. - Dreaming of Dolly - Water made in - we made off - thought of Childhood's Copslip, referring to Time & Tide: -

Oct. 3rd - Awoke, horribly hot - Ther: 17°
Cocoa and Conversation - Had a Slide and smoke - Noon, dined - digested ditto by dragging.

The M.S. here ceases in consequence of the Ink having become solid, an evil which might have been remedied, had not the pencils been already used for fuel. -

CONSOLATION TO A CAPTIVE FOX.

Poor Reynard! like thy reputation,
Thy life is now not worth a fig -
Thou art collar'd at their next Collation,
They'll serve thee like a collar'd Pig -

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14590
(716) 872-4503

ARCTIC THEATRICALS.

THE Intrepid Royal Saloon was on Thursday honored with the presence of the principal personages in these realms.

The performances consisted of a series of songs, sung by accomplished vocalists, and a pathetic recitation or two, so admirably delivered, as to cause all the handkerchiefs to be put in requisition, that had not previously been stolen by some loose characters at the door, who had succeeded in gaining admittance, notwithstanding the vigilance of our active police force. All the arrangements were admirably carried out, and the company separated at a late hour, highly gratified with their evening's amusement. We hope the good example thus shown, will be followed by the other Ships of the Arctic Squadron, and although a flaw exists between us, we shall always be happy to contribute our mite towards forwarding such a desirable object. —

G.F.M.D.

THE DREAM — MIDNIGHT — MIDDLE WATCH.
Quartermaster — 'At 12 o'clock Sir' — blowing hard and snowing heavily

LITERATURE.

The Arctic Periodicals; —

We have perused with great interest the three numbers of a charming periodical; — 'The Aurora Borealis' conducted by the Officers of Assistance & Intrepid. — We cannot speak too highly of its contents, which are at once amusing & instructive.

regions, so our cotemporary, with its brilliant coruscations of wit and pointed pencillings, will enliven the dull solitude of our winter, and under its benign influence dispel dark despondency from our minds.

LAURA GLAUCUS, LEAVES THE "RESOLUTE" AND

G.F.M.D.

THE DREAM — MIDNIGHT — MIDDLE WATCH.
 Quarter Master — 'It's 12 o'clock Sir' — blowing hard and snowing heavily

LITERATURE.

The Arctic Periodicals;—

We have perused with great interest the three numbers of a charming periodical;— 'The Aurora Borealis' conducted by the Officers of Assistance & Intrepid.— We cannot speak too highly of its contents, which are at once amusing & instructive, and we look forward with pleasure to its next appearance.

Like its great namesake, which during the dark rigours of an Arctic Winter, illumines with lustrous rays of light, the dreary waste of these inhospitable

regions, so our cotemporary, with its brilliant coruscations of wit and pointed pencillings, will enliven the dull solitude of our winter, and under its benign influence dispel dark despondency from our minds

Laura Glaucus, LEAVES THE "RESOLUTE" AND
 DIES ON BOARD THE "ASSISTANCE."

*Laura Glaucus why didst roam,
 And die midst strangers at a distance.
 Had'st thou not remain'd at home,
 And eorn thy bread without assistance.*

PARODY ON THE LEGACY.

When in a Tent, on my back I recline,
I sigh, and with hunger exclaim! Oh dear!
I'm obliged to forego both beer, and wine,
And luxuries all, whilst I linger here;—
When hungry, and cold, alas! to my sorrow,
I cannot forget our soft tack so light,
And to soothe my feelings, I'm forced to borrow,
And drink in advance, my Rum for the night.

When the light supper and song are o'er,
I sleep, and then dream of my Father's hall,
But hang it, the snow comes in at the door,
And the outside man, won't answer my call;—
Then if some Bear, that roams forsaken,
Should our pemmican smell in passing along,
I have only to bawl out 'a Bruin' to waken,
All hands, who frighten him off with a song.

When at Morn' I awake, and with tin pot cirflowing
With Cocoa— My fast I break with the rest,
Contented I feel— not a sad thought bestowing,
On privation or care— but think myself blest;—
For the Cup of pure joy— I have as a lover,
Seen filled by my maid, almost to the brim,
And whilst I am absent, young Cupid will hover,
Around me, whilst I prove constant to him.

G. I. MED

CAPT^N PENNY'S EXPEDITION.

HE arrival and departure
of Captain Penny has been another break in the monotony of the past month— Our gallant conductor, arrived on Thursday the 17th inst. in his Carriage and eight, from his winter quarters — a

Franklin, and Sophia, were in good health and high spirits, and that the veteran Arctic Navigator— Sir John Ross,
as well as his gallant comrade Captain Phillips, looked forward as cheerfully
as the youngest of us to a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

I have only to hawl out 'a Bruin' to waken,
All hands, who frighten him off with a song.

When at Morn' I awake, and with' tin pot cirflowing
With' Cocoa - My fast I break with the rest,
Contented I feel - not a sad thought bestowing,
On' privation or care - but think myself blest; -
For the Cup of pure joy - I have as a lover,
Seen filled by my maid, almost to the brim,
And whilst I am absent, young Cupid will hover,
Shroud me, whilst I prove constant to him.

C. I. M. S. D.

CAPT. PENNY'S EXPEDITION.

HE arrival and departure
of Captain Penny has
been another break in the monotony of the past month - Our gallant coadjutor, arrived on Thursday the 17th inst. in his Carriage and
eight, from his winter quarters - a distance of twenty-four miles, which he accomplished in four hours & a half.

He looked as well as his best friend could desire, and brought the gratifying intelligence that the Officers and Crews of the Brig's Lady

Franklin, and Sophia, were in good health and high spirits, and that the
veteran Arctic Navigator - Sir John Ross,
as well as his gallant comrade Captain
Phillips, looked forward as cheerfully
as the youngest of us to a merry Christmas, and a happy New Year.

STRAY SHOTS.

Our great Guns, ought to pay a tribute,
Unless they sporting news contribute—Relate discreetly, what befel
The ducks and drakes at seven o' bell,— Inform us, what the size of shot
They used when killing for the pot—
Whether an old bird chanced to know,
Men white with sheets, from heaps of snow
And if the subterfuge succeeded;
Or failed, as on the same night, we did—
Why Mantons did not kill as well
As those Guns, other makers sell—
Why at the first discharge there burst
A Hopping, that seem'd sound at first,
Why doves do refuse to die—
When struck so hard they cannot fly,
When seemingly they're not alive!

They quietly cock tail, and dive,
Or if the little duck or puffin
Repay the trouble of a stuffing (g)
The hour of day, divers best see,
Their double barrell'd enemy—
Your ammunition pray display,
And teach the novices the way
To scatter shot in right direction,
Piercing the feathery protection—
That filled the oldest with surprise,
Ay! made them doubt their well tried eyes.
Thus like your lead, you'll scatter round,
Knowledge by long experience found—
Your Artists then at any rate,
The Arctic News will illustrate
And as sage Punch can not here roam,
Supply his place till we reach home.

ESQUIMAUX CANOES.
AT THE WHALE FISH ISLANDS.

Shortly after anchoring we were surrounded by Esquimaux in their canoes, which are well worthy of notice, being proofs of the ingenuity & workmanship of the builders.

They are composed of a light frame work of wood (imported from Denmark) over which Seal skins are sown,

Over this is drawn the Deer skin frock of the setter, so that the Boat fitted in this manner is quite water tight.

The implements used for fishing, consist of Spears, and Knives—the former are tipped with bone, and are thrown in a very dexterous manner by an experienced hand.

The one used for Seals, is somewhat larger than the others, a small line is fastened to it, and

As those Guns, other makers sell—
Why at the first discharge, there burst
A Tipping, that seem'd sound at first,
Why do they do refuse to die—
When struck so hard they cannot fly,
When seemingly they're not alive

Thus like your lead, you'll scatter round,
Knowledge by long experience found—
Your Artists then at any rate,
The 'Arctic News' will illustrate
And as sage Punch can not here roam,
Supply his place till we reach home.

ESQUIMAUX CANOES.
AT THE WHALE FISH ISLANDS.

Shortly after anchoring we were surrounded by Esquimaux in their canoes, which are well worthy of notice, being proofs of the ingenuity & workmanship of the builders.

They are composed of a light frame work of wood (imported from Denmark) over which Seal skins are sown, rendering the Boat light & buoyant, and quite impervious to water.

A hole large enough to admit a man's body is left in the centre of the canoe— around it is placed a combing of wood, about 2 inches in height—

Over this is drawn the Deer skin frock of the setter, so that the Boat fitted in this manner is quite water tight.

The implements used for fishing, consist of Spears, and Knives— the former are tipped with bone, and are thrown in a very dexterous manner by an experienced hand.

The one used for Seals, is somewhat larger than the others, a small line is fastened to it, and then coiled on a kind of Skeleton drum, (one of the fixtures of the Canoe) the other end is attached to an inflated Seal skin, which serves to indicate the position of the Seal, which always dives on being wounded. —

REMEMBRANCE.

*In the wastes of the North, if e'er thou should'st roam,
And thy pathway with snow be enwreathed—
Should the song, and the strain, thou hast once heard at home,
By the lips of thy messmate be breathed—
It will come e'er to thine ear like a dream of delight,
Of the scenes of thy youth will remind thee,
Twill brighten thy thoughts, and its echo will light,
The darkness, and shadows round thee.*

*For remembrance is like to the Seasons that roll,
And run their appointed time—
For Summer departs, — but paints on the scroll,
The return of pure joys left behind;—
Thus memory will last 'mid the storm and the blast,
And cheer the wanderer's way
To his home, he will turn, to think of the past,
And dream of a future day. —*

J.P.C.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

On Monday last Benjamin Balloon, literally inflated himself, from a basket containing Hydro-Gen — he became light-headed in consequence, and falling into a current of air, soon disappeared from the sight of the astonished spectators.

He is supposed to have on his person, papers to a great amount. — Active steps will be taken for their recovery they being for the most part, Drafts at sight, on the firm of Messrs. Lusk and Case, of Cape Hotham, and Leopold Island. —

"THERE'S A SWEET LITTLE CHERUB THAT SITS UP ALOFT."

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

Guiffeth's Island,

Oct. 30th 1850.

H.M. Ships, Resolute, Assistance, Pioneer,

& Intrepid, bound westward, admitted to

To his home, he will turn, to think of the past,
And dream of a future day. — J.P.G.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

THERE'S A SWEET LITTLE CHERUB THAT SITS UP ALOFT.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

Sniffeth's Island,

Oct. 30th 1850.

H.M. Ships, Resolute, Assistance, Pioneer,
& Intrepid, bound westward, admitted to practice by the authorities, having brought clean bills of health from Greenwich.
They intend wintering under the island.
Homeward bound Fleet not yet have in sight.

On Monday last Benjamin Balloon, literally inflated himself from a cask containing Hydro-Gin — he became light headed in consequence, and falling into a current of air soon disappeared from the sight of the astonished spectators.

He is supposed to have on his person, papers to a great amount. — Active steps will be taken for their recovery, they being for the most part, Drafts at sight, on the firm of Messrs. Cask and Case, of Cape Hotham, and Leopold Island. —

OH! — RELEASE ME — OH! RELEASE ME — OR BY HYDRO
YES WITH HYDRO-GIN YOU'LL MAKE ME BURST.

OUR PROSPECTS.

THE Arctic Winter is fast throwing its mantle over us the departing Sun, the falling Thermometer, and the decreasing light with the sombre aspect of the Sky, and all around, betoken that the gloomy & rigid season is at hand. How do we meet it? Thank God! in good health and spirits.

We feel that the glorious cause in which we are engaged, has received our undivided energies & abilities, that we have made every possible search and advanced as far as the state of the season permitted.

Our labors have been in some measure crowned with success.

We have found positive traces & although from the circumstance of no record having been left by our missing Countrymen to mark their track, we are still at fault; yet we look forward with bright hope to the future, & trust that the operations of the Spring if they do not lead us to their relief will at least enable us to ascertain their fate.

Our present object is to pass the dismal time before us, as pleasantly as possible & seeing how entirely we depend on each other for amusement to wile away the weary hours, it behoves us all to contribute what we can to the common weal. and by social intercourse, avert that depression of spirits we should otherwise feel. Let us also embrace every opportunity

the worse, either physically or mentally

Although far removed from the society of families, and friends, we are often, united with them in thought, at the sweet Village Church family Table or participating in the amusement of the domestic Circle, and as

'Anticipation forward points the view'
The delight in the prospect of happier days to come, when we shall again in reality enjoy the blessings of domestic intercourse around the hearths of those we love best

Hope (J. L.)

STATE OF THE SUN.

It is our sad & painful duty to announce to our Readers the increasing infirmities of the Arctic Sun. His state for some days past has been so low as to render him incapable of reaching the summit of Griffith's Island, and the time devoted to daily exercise is gradually diminishing. There are some who are of opinion that he cannot longer beyond the second week of the ensuing month.

Alas! we remember him a short time since, the light of the Season, the brightest luminary of the Arctic world. He observed of all observers, and his endurance so great, as to be able to dispense with rest for months

Although we do not claim the gift of prophecy we foretell his made every possible search and advanced as far as the state of the season permitted.

Our labors have been in some measure crowned with success.

We have found positive traces, & although from the circumstance of no record having been left by our missing Countrymen, to mark their track, we are still at fault;— yet we look forward with bright hope to the future, & trust that the operations of the Spring
if they do not lead us to their relief, will at least enable us to ascertain their fate.

Our present object is to pass the dismal time before us, as pleasantly as possible.
I see how entirely we depend on each other for amusement, to wile away the weary hours, it behoves us all to contribute what we can to the common weal, and by social intercourse, avert that depression of spirits we should otherwise feel. Let us also embrace every opportunity of enjoying pure air and proper exercise, recollecting how necessary they are to health, and when the delightful Spring bursts upon us—
if we do not rise as Lions refreshed—
we shall in all probability be little

STATE OF THE SUN.

It is our sad & painful duty to announce to our Readers, the increasing infirmities of the Arctic Sun. His state for some days past has been so low as to render him incapable of reaching the summit of Griffith's Island, and the time devoted to daily exercise is gradually diminishing. There are some who are of opinion that he cannot linger beyond the second week of the ensuing month.

Alas! we remember him a short time since, the light of the Season, the brightest luminary of the Arctic world—the observed of all observers, and his endurance so great, as to be able to dispense with rest for months.

Although we do not claim the gift of prophecy, we foretold his fall, but were among those who sincerely regretted it. Even after it became apparent that he was sinking rapidly, he for some time obstinately refused to try the effects of sea bathing.

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 45800
(716) 872-4503

There are those who despair of his recovery; in consequence of his increasing declination. We however his professional attendants think differently; being in our own minds confident his declination is decreasing; and on that we found our hopes, that with returning Spring, he will again be restored to us, and we trust that all our Readers will live to enjoy in health and happiness the enlivening influence of his delightful presence.

G. F. M. D.

THE ARCTIC DRAMA
ADVERTISEMENT.

The Manager & Company of the Royal Arctic Theatre, beg to announce their intention of commencing their performances on board H.M.S. Assistance on Saturday the 9th Nov: 1850, in honor of the anniversary of the birth of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales — On which occasion the Captain and Officers will perform the Farce of "Married Life" or "Did you ever send your wife to Camberwell?"

The Entertainment will conclude with the Farce of the "Lottery Ticket" to be performed by the Ship's Company.

The Manager trusts that the attention which has been bestowed on the magnificent Scenery, Decorations, & Dresses, will be fully rewarded by the approbation of his numerous patrons, & an Arctic Public.

He also takes this opportunity of returning his best thanks to that eminent Artist, Lieut. Browne for his valuable contributions to the Scenery.

SHAKINGS.

A good horse must be a prodigal man.

Opening of the Royal Arctic Theatre.
H.M.S. ASSISTANCE,

In honor of the birthday of H. R. H.
the Prince of Wales.

Manager. — Capt. Emmannery.

Under the patronage of Capt. Hon. Austin, C. B.

*On Saturday the 9th Nov: 1850, will be performed by the Captain & Officers,
the popular laughable Farce of*

MARRIED LIFE!

OR

DID YOU EVER SEND YOUR WIFE TO CAMBERWELL?

After which several Comic Songs, and the Orchestra will perform some of the most select Pieces!

The whole to conclude with the much admired Farce of

THE

LOTTERY TICKET!

Which will be performed by the Ship's Company, and embraces scenes of great interest!!

The Scenery has been prepared by the most eminent artists, and together with the Dresses are on a scale of unsurpassed magnificence!

(A splendid Drop Scene by Lieut. Browne!

*Doors open at 6 o'clock. — Commence at 6. 30.
The Police are directed to take in charge all disorderly Women & dogs.*

Arctic Theatre, beg to announce their intention of commencing their performances on board. "H.M.S. Assistance" on Saturday the 9th Nov: 1859, in honor of the anniversary of the birth of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. On which occasion the Captain and Officers will perform the Farce of "Married Life" or "Did you ever send your wife to Camberwell?"

The Entertainment will conclude with the Farce of the "Lottery Ticket" to be performed by the Ship's Company.

The Manager trusts that the attention which has been bestowed on the magnificent Scenery, Decorations, & Dresses, will be fully rewarded by the approbation of his numerous patrons, & an Arctic Public.

He also takes this opportunity of returning his best thanks to that eminent Artist, Lieut. Browne for his valuable contributions to the Scenery.

SHAKINGS.

A good Ponce must be a Resolute man. The men however Intrepid, but have felt the want of Assistance.

CONUNDRUMS.

- Q. — Why should we in our present position be considered very knowing?*
A. — Because there's nothing green about us.
Q. — Why are Pocholia like Indian Hunting Dogs?
A. — Because they are meek-suns (moccasins).

MARRIED LIFE!

OR

DID YOU EVER SEND YOUR WIFE TO CAMBERWELL?

After which several Comic Songs, and the Orchestra will perform some of the most select Pieces!

The whole to conclude with the much admired Farce of

THE

LOTTERY TICKET!

Which will be performed by the Ship's Company, and embraces scenes of great interest!!

The Scenery has been prepared by the most eminent artists, and together with the Dresses are on a scale of unrivalled magnificence! —

A splendid Drop Scene by Lieut. Browne!

Doors open at 6 o'clock. — Commence at 6. 30.

The Police are directed to take in charge all disorderly Women & dogs.

F.K. Printer.

It were needless to attempt excuses for the many defects of this our first number: — and an equally hopeless task, to express our heartfelt thanks to our many kind contributors. Trusting therefore to the generous criticism of the Squadron, we shall give the Winter Part a holiday, and drink success to the "Illustrated Arctic News". — (Editors.)

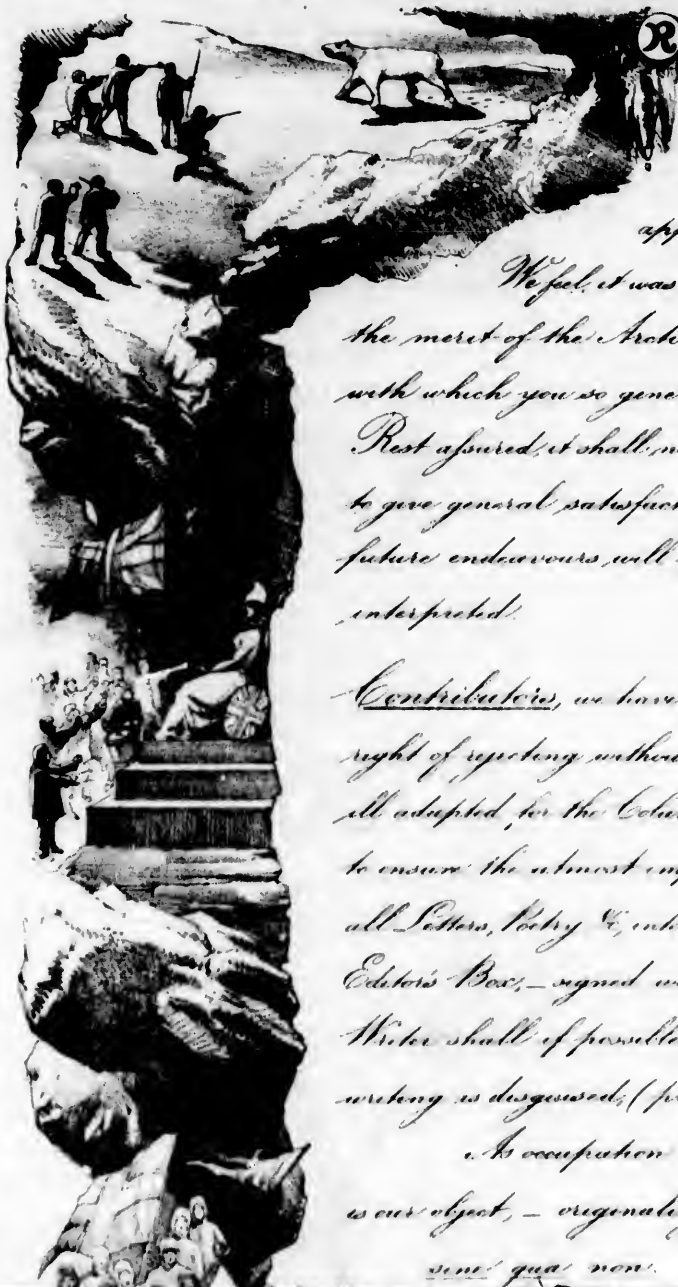

ILLUSTRATED ARCTIC NEWS.

No. 2.

TUTO ET SINE METU.

NOVEMBER 30. 1850.

 The flattering encomiums so bountifully showered on our first essay in the Editorial line we deeply appreciate, and heartily thank you for—

We feel it was the more kindly meant, in so far that the merit of the Arctic News, lay, mainly, in the able M.S.L. with which you so generously answered our call.

Rest assured, it shall, not be our fault if we fail, in continuing to give general satisfaction; and we sincerely trust, all our future endeavours, will be as warmly received and as generously interpreted.

Contributors, we have a favor to ask— that you concede to us the right of rejecting, without comment, any Publications adjudged to be ill adapted, for the Columns of our Periodical. — and furthermore, to ensure the utmost impartiality at our hands we request that all Letters, Poetry &c, intended for publication, be placed in the Editor's Box, — signed with some feigned name; to which the Writer shall if possible constantly adhere, and the more the writing is disguised, (provided it be legible) the better.

An occupation and exercise for pen and mind is our object, — originality in all Articles is a sine qua non.

...of the ... laws, lay, mainly on the ...
with which you so generously answered our call.

Rest assured; it shall not be our fault if we fail in continuing to give general satisfaction, and we sincerely trust, all our future endeavours will be as warmly received and as generously interpreted.

Contributors, we have a favor to ask—that you concede to us the right of reprinting, without comment, any Publications adjudged to be well adapted for the Columns of our Periodical.—and furthermore, to ensure the utmost impartiality at our hands we request that all Letters, Poetry &c, intended for publication, be placed in the Editor's Box,—signed with some feigned name; to which the Writer shall if possible constantly adhere, and the more the writing is disguised, (provided it be legible,) the better.

As occupation and exercise for pen and mind is our object, — originality in all Articles is a sine qua non.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the 'Illustrated Arctic News.'

Sir,

As an old Naval Officer with several Sons at Sea, my feelings have been outraged, by a Letter which appeared in your first number.

Sir—let me tell you the wit was milder: all gammon Sir!—I have made it pass muster with my respected Father, but I'd like to see a Son of mine, 'raise the wind' under similar excuses.—

Our Fathers were soft I grant you but we are of sterner mould.

Indeed Heaven knows in these extravagant days our poor boys need no excuses for justifying extra draughts—

My Charles's letters would astonish you, picture to yourself Mr Editor, the little fellow being ordered to ride to Jerusalem, and go a tour thro' the Holy Land, because the 'Smash' was on the Syrian Station

I got him into the 'Flag Ship' He was immediately ordered to keep a 'Horse' & escort the Admiral's daughters!

I exerted interest, and he was sent to the Coast of Africa when to my horror, I learnt that one of the secret articles of the Coast blockade, was that the Midshipmen had to keep the Frenchmen on Champagne, and the Yankees in cigars, to preserve the 'intimate cordials'

that of exposing his Miss in the 'Rag and Pamish' under the name I now subscribe myself.

Yours devotedly, Brutus.

ARCTIC ANTHEM.

God bless the Resolute,
(A ship of good repute!)
And all her Crew!
Make her victorious,
Over old Boreas,
Whence he's uproarious,
Our Consorts too.

Of Button's Balloons, a store,
We have sent on a tour,
Franklin to cheer!
From toil will not refrain,
To release his crew from pain,
And return with them again
To friends sincere.

Let this our Winter be,
From every care quite free,
Health to us all!
Don't let old Zeros' tricks,
Perplex the brave Anches,
Nor let for want of Sticks,
'Sylvester' fall

Let us return once more;

Our Fathers were soft I grant you but we are of sterner mould.

Indeed Heaven knows in these exuberant days our poor boys need no excuses for justifying extra draughts—

My Charles's letters would astonish you, Picture to yourself Mr Editor, the little fellow being ordered to ride to Jerusalem; and go a tour thro' the Holy Land; because the 'Smash' was on the Syrian Station.

I got him into the Flag Ship. He was immediately ordered to keep a Horse & escort
the Admiral's daughters!

I exerted interest, and he was sent to the Coast of Africa, when to my horror, I learnt that one of the secret articles of the Coast blockade, was— that the Midshipmen had to keep the Frenchmen on Champagne, and the Yankees in cigars, to preserve the 'entente cordiale'

He is now in H. M. S. 'Pent Plug'; and he assures me every one is sent on shore from 4 p. m. to 11 o'clock— to eat Cysters, Hot Potatoes— drink 'eight penny';
and study human nature.

I have only one comfort—

Whene'er his uproarious,
Our consorts too.

Of Button's Balloons, a store,
We have sent on a tour,
Franklin to cheer!
From toil will not refrain,
To release his crew from pain,
And return with them again
To friends sincere.

Let this our Winter be,
From every care quite free,
Health to us all!
Don't let old Zeros' tricks,
Perplex the brave Arctic,
Nor let for want of Sticks,
Sylvester fall.

Let us return once more,
To England's happy shore,
Never to roam!
May we ne'er want for prog;
Or— what is better— Grog,
To keep all our lives agog,
Till we reach home.

C F M S D.

*The name of the inventor of the warm air stove

ARCTIC EXPEDITIONS OFF CAPE DUDLEY DICGES. AUGth 14 1850.

Albatross

Thetis

C. Dudley Digges
Resolute

Discoverer

Assistance

Septa

Lady Franklin

P. Albert

Intrepid

A TENDER STRAIN.

Air.—There's a good time coming.

The North Water's coming boys,
The North Water's coming!
We are certain now to see the day,
The Tenders there will lead the way,
In the North Water coming—
Steady hoave, may open the Nip!
But Steam's a great deal stronger,
Will win the water by its aid
Steam a little longer.

There's 'large water' making boys,
Large Water making!
Screw! not sail shall be the word,
To make the Ice obey its lord,
In the large water making—
The Tenders there, will tow us all,
Screw than us are stronger
The 'flee' asunder has been riven!
Steam a little longer!

The 'flee' is surely moving boys
The 'flee' is surely moving!
Cool in the 'Lows'—hang the prop,
Where's the Purser?—Serve the Grog
The 'flee' is surely moving—
Penny's Breech may have the lead,
But Steam's a great deal stronger
Honour calls us to the North
Steam a little longer!

The East land is sinking boys
The East land is sinking!
To rescue those who want our aid,
With joy alone will well be paid,
The East land is sinking!
The dreary west is now in sight,
We wish the wind was stronger
But the Screw can't do without its aid
Steam a little longer!

The winter Ice is making boys,
Winter Ice is making!
Pay out the hawsers—take us tow

Air.—There's a good time coming.

The North Water's coming boys,
The North Water's coming!
We are certain now to see the day,
The Tenders there will lead the way,
In the North Water coming—
Ready heave, may open the Nip!
But Steam's a great deal stronger,
Will win the water by its aid,
Steam a little longer!

There's 'large water' making boys,
Large Water making!
Screw! not sail shall be the word,
To make the Ice obey its lord,
In the large water making—
The Tenders there will tow us all,
Screws than us are stronger,
The 'floe' asunder has been riven,
Steam a little longer!

The 'floe' is surely moving boys,
The 'floe' is surely moving!
Cool in the Lines—hang the prop,
Where's the Purser?—Serve the Grog
The 'floe' is surely moving—
Penny's Bugs may have the lead,
But Steam's, a great deal stronger,
Honour calls us to the north,
Steam a little longer!

The East land is sinking boys,
The East land is sinking!
To rescue those who want our aid,
With joy alone well well be paid,
The East land is sinking!
The dreary west is now in sight,
We wish the wind was stronger,
But the Screw can do without its aid,
Steam a little longer!

The winter Ice is making boys,
Winter Ice is making!
Pay out the hawser—take in tow—
The Tenders help will fetch the 'floe',
For the winter Ice is making!—
Both Bird and Beast, are fleeing South,
The North wind blows yet stronger,
By God's help will find them yet—
Steam a little longer!

SAILOR'S FOOTSTEPS.

"Footprints that perhaps another,
 "Sailing o'er life's stormy main,
 "Some forlorn & shipwrecked brother
 "Seeing may take heart again."

Ye, are not amongst those who look on the bowne whence Traveller ne'er returneth, as one,
 to which is attached ought of melancholy or regret—

Hope! bright hope! sets beside the lone tombstone, be it wreathed in snow—
 Shaded by the solemn Elms of an English Churchyard—Scorched by Africa's Sun— or smiled over by India's Palms— He held with the Poet—

"A life of honour and of worth
 Has no Eternity on Earth."

And they who have steven through life in that best of all characters, as honest men must care but little whether it please
 God to call them hence on Sea or Land—
 at Home or abroad— 'Twas truly said by a Sactor of the olden time when asked to quit his foundering Bark— "Friends we are as near Heaven here as on shore."

There have been few prouder moments
 of our life than when in some distant spot
 far from 'Old England'— whom they have served so well— we mark the seaman's grave,
 and trace the Epitaph placed as a last
 tribute to departed worth or valour—

Quaint and homely many of them are, never theless to each there is an interesting tale attached
 Who amongst us read and felt that

EPITAPH.

Kron Prins Is! — Whale-Fish Group.

You Mariners that pass by here,
 Upon my Grave let fall a tear,
 Henry Markenson is my name,
 In the Albon— Captⁿ Hall, I came,
 'Twas the month of April I came here,
 But did not think death was so near.

On the 15th day of April,
 It was my lot to have a fall
 From the Cross-trees of the main Top-mast,
 I, on the Quarter-deck, was cast,
 And was so hurted by the fall,
 My life soon after God did call.

C.F.M.G.

WHALE-FISH ISLANDS.

Brother wanderers ere we turn from a subject, which has an interest for us all—
 for all alike must come to it,— let me crave
 your attention to the Tombstones of our Countrymen— may be the first ever placed in the Polar Regions of America— Who has not heard or read of James, the Navigator— his perilous voyage— his sufferings and endurance, Embayed late in the year in the Shoals of Hudson's Bay— his puny Craft Ice encumbered, shattered and wrecked— he, and his crew two hundred years ago, wintered on an island of

Churchyard - Scorched by Africa's Sun - or smel'd over by India's Palms - We hold with the Poet! -

'A life of honour and of worth,
Has no Eternity on Earth! -

And they who have striven through life in that best of all characters, as honest men, must care but little whether it please
God to call them hence on Sea, or Land -
at Home, or abroad - 'Twas truly said by a Sailor of the olden time, when asked to quit his foundering Bark! - 'Friends, we are as near Heaven here, as on shore.' -

There have been few prouder moments
of our life, than when in some distant spot
far from 'Old England!' - whom they have served so well - we mark the seaman's grave,
and trace the Epitaph placed as a last
tribute to departed worth, or valour. -

Quaint and homely, many of them are, nevertheless to each there is an interesting tale attached!

Who amongst us read, and felt not a sympathy
thusing interest for the young Seamen, whose Tombstood at the threshold of our Arctic labours. -

We repeat it lest it should not have been seen by all.

WHALE-FISH ISLANDS.

Brother wanderers - ere we turn from a subject, which has an interest for us all -
for all alike must come to it, - let me crave
your attention to the Tombstones of our Countrymen - may be the first ever placed
in the Polar Regions of America. - Who has not heard or read of James, the Navigator. his
perilous voyage, his sufferings and endurance,
Embayed late in the year in the Shoals of Hudson's Bay - his puny craft Ice encumbered,
shattered and wrecked - he, and his crew - two hundred years ago, wintered on an island of the Bay which bears his name. - Some there fell manfully. The survivors reached England with difficulty. - Years afterwards, on that desert Isle the Tombs of those who perished, were found and fastened to a Cross, sweet emblem

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580
(716) 872-4503

25 2

of their hope — this humble

EPITAPH.

'Their lives they spent to the last drop of blood, Seeking God's glory, and their country's good.'

* * * * *

'So have they spent themselves, & here they lie,
A famous mark of our discovery —
We that survive perchance may end our days,
In some employment, meriting no praise!
They have outlived this fear, & their brave ends,
Will ever be an Honour to their friends!'

S. O.

C.F.M.D.

'Now all the world is sleeping love,
But the Sage has Star-watch keeping love'

Moore

LETTER NO 2.

(From our Anonymous Correspondent.)

My dear Mother,

We may now be said to have arrived in the Regions of the North — the scenes of our exertions, and I trust of our success. Ah! little did you think the child of your bosom would have had to contend with such dangers and privations, as we have experienced.

Shortly after my letter to Father, we set sail for the gloomy shores of Lancaster sound; where we fell in with a gale of wind, which according to the testimony of the oldest Seaman on board, has not been equalled in

During the whole of this trying period

C.F.M.D.

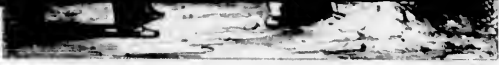

THE OFFICER OF MY WATCH.

asserted himself to the utmost — taking alternate pulls at the braces & bottle. — Poor fellow! he is a perfect martyr to cramp in the Stomach which generally comes on during our watch on deck. — The only remedy is my Cherry Brandy, which I am convinced possesses some peculiar properties — I offered him some of the universal Medicine, Pills you so kindly sent me but with grateful thanks he declined accepting any thing so truly valuable.

He generally during my watch, wiles away the weary hours by giving me sound advice and imbibing Punch made in the dear little 'Conger' you gave me.

In return for what he is pleased to term my kindness he has promised to advance me in my professional duties and often at the risk of his own reputation as he avows me entrust me in part, with the responsibility of the Watch — My watching he thinks may be improved during the winter months and he has promised to

Chaman on board has not been equalled which claim on their persons some property

C.F.M.D.

Now all the world is sleeping love
But the Sage has Star-watch keeping love

Moor

LETTER NO 2.

(From our Anonymous Correspondent.)

My dear Mother,

We may now be said to have arrived in the Region of the North - the scenes of our exertions, and, I trust of our success.

Ah! little did you think the child of your bosom would have had to contend with such dangers and privations, as we have experienced.

Shortly after my letter to Father we set sail for the gloomy shores of Lancaster Sound, where we fell in with a gale of wind, which according to the testimony of the oldest Seaman on board, has not been equalled in violence since the last war. The Ship fortunately sustained no damage, altho' at one time there was a large hole in the main Hatchway, with the water up to the loads. This will give you a faint idea of our situation.

properties. I offered him some of the universal medicine, Pills you so kindly sent me, but with grateful thanks he declined accepting any thing so truly valuable.

He generally during my watch, wiles away the weary hours by giving me sound advice, and imbibing Punch made in the dear little 'Conjurer' you gave me.

In return for what he is pleased to term my kindness he has promised to advance me in my professional duties, and often at the risk of his own reputation as he assures me entrusts me in part, with the responsibility of the Watch - My writing he thinks may be improved during the winter months and he has generously given me his log to keep for practice. - The Sextant and Sourd dear God-father's present, I left in charge of a friend of my messmates a highly respectable & very accommodating person, who has promised to retain them in safe keeping.

He is I believe

A Gentleman of the Jewish Persuasion.

and was so particular that in addition to taking an inventory of every thing we left, he placed a ticket on each article.

(As the remainder of this estimable young man's letter is strictly private, — we refrain from making it public.) (E. D.)

NOTES FROM THE ICE PLANK.

by S. O.

Four hours sleep and away — Ships in tow — slip round a head land see Penny's Bays — pass them, a broad bay a-head, strewed with islands, ice-lands and bergs — one of the former known as the Sugar loaf very conspicuous — the land of water takes us under a precipitous Headland 1600 feet high, — Red Granite — Iceis-pigmy glaciers, sharp and gloomy ravines and snow white wreaths makes the scene novel and exciting — the solemn stillness of land, and ice — the water smooth and clear — our vessels stealing silently along, the plunge of the seaman's lead in the water, and flap of wild fowl wing the only thing to break the general stillness.

Men and Officers gazing in awestruck admiration at the fearful masses of granite overhanging the decks and threatening with the slightest concussion to hurl down huge boulders, or an avalanche upon us and snow white wreaths makes the scene novel and exciting - the solemn stillness of land and ice - the water smooth and clear - our vessels stealing silently along, the plunge of the seaman's lead in the water, and flap of wild fowls being the only thing to break the general stillness.

Now past

Men and Officers gazing in awestruck admiration at the fearful masses of granite overhanging the decks and threatening with the slightest concussion to hurl down huge boulders, or an avalanche upon us

Snow past

G. F. D.

CAPE SHACKLETON.

we graze the edge of a floe piece, and almost run down the Seal, which has been wondering with its lusty eyes at our novel approach. - Then slide past one of those wonderful fjords of Greenland, to see which would well repay a voyage to the North. - Its deep and placid waters winding away with every diversity of scenery and colouring.

of which the gum North is capable of assuming and indeed of nature here does not assume these rich & gorgeous forms under which the imagination becomes enthralled in more genial climes, yet the sweet and delicate looks thrown by her across the heavens, and filling up the background of some of her most striking tableaux leave a pensive and reflective effect upon the mind which cannot be well expressed or easily forget.

Millions (aye millions) of wild fowl darkened the face of a Cliff which we passed, and as we were to fasten to some Icebergs for the next four and twenty hours a boat was despatched from each Ship to shoot them for the use of the crews, and already we dreamt of Loon soup.— Was it was a dream only, for in the morning, an old Captain of the Forecastle we had sent, looking very sheepish, reported he and his party had only shot one.— One, we exclaimed. How many did the Christened shoot? I think 200 was the reply. And you only shot one? That's all, for but we worry our go a Bear, the fact was they had fired unless this 3lbs of P's small shot, one unaccounted Button, which they happened to possess, and the blade of a knife, a inch by great ingenuity they contrived to cram down one of the guns!— when having expended all their missiles, they endeavored to drown Bruin by making him constantly dive to avoid blows from their oars and boat hooks,— He eventually got away, because as the Captain of the Forecastle maintained the men would not allow him to heave a bouling knot over the brute's head, which they strongly argued might have ended in their prank being turned into serious work by the Bear, which was an old one, and rather more astonished than hurt by the old salute, he had been receiving.

S. O.

LAND ABOUT CAPE FAREWELL.

C. F. M. D.

LINES ON SEEING CAPE FAREWELL.

This lofty Cape when hoary grown,
Is wreathed in everlasting snow;
Its ever frozen gullies frown,
On Sea and Ice, which rage below.

This dreary Cape which ages past,
Was planted there by law divine;—
It still for ages yet will last,
And overlook the stormy main.

Oh! many a Shipwreck has befall,
The bark of Norseman, & of Dane;—
They struck on dreary Cape Farewell,
To sink, and ne'er to rise again.

But now with Compasses and Charts,
And better hopes we pass this land;—
To search in unknown frozen parts,
For Franklin, & his long lost band.

C. M.

G. F. M. D.

LAND ABOUT CAPE FAREWELL

LINES ON SEEING CAPE FAREWELL.

*This lofty Cape whose heavy crown,
Is wreathed in everlasting snow;—
Its ever frozen gullies frown,
On Sea, and Ice, which rage below.*

*This dreary Cape which ages past,
Was planted there by law divine,—
It still for ages yet will last,
And overlook the stormy line.*

*Oh! many a Shipwreck' has befall,
The bark' of Norseman, & of Dane;—
They struck on dreary Cape Farewell,
To sink, and ne'er to rise again!*

*But now with Compasses, and Charts,
And better hopes we pass this land;—
To search in unknown frozen parts,
For Franklen, & his long lost band!*

C. M.

G. F. M. D.

MODERN SEAMANSHIP RIGGING FOR THE WIND

Setting up the Mast-rod

G. F. M. D.

if so you ride the waves do you,
Ah! a devilish easy berth you'll have of it this Winter.

EDITOR'S PORTFOLIO.
Summary of the Month's Proceedings.

The Sun has gone! Granted - but it has not taken with it the jollity - (no other word will serve) of the Arctic Expedition. On the contrary as our Country Cousins used to aver, 'there's twice the fun now the lights are out.' All the voluminous journals and diaries we have examined, bear evidence to the fact - N.B. Our private opinion is that we are manned with 'Mark Tapleys'.

The month commenced with the Commodore's 'Evening at home'; - Sweet-hearts and Wives! - this is the place for constant men. The enquiry as to 'know ye the land of the Cypress and Myrtle?' started the Company off for Strada Reale and the Golden Horn, only to be recalled to a sense of the fallen state of man by 'Eliza Davis, her wrongs', for which there was consolation in the fact being announced that 'Good old English Gentlemen', once existed.

Tuesday the 3th came, peace of course, we thought calm opened scientific Manual, got as far as page 3 when yells! drums! gongs! Fire! shouted our Punter's devil - Fire! cried we? Now Ser, said our Ice-seer, - they be all gone mad. Ser, here's Guy Fawkes alongside! -

Then came the Prince of Wales's birth

His Royal Highness - Then a polishing up of Carriages. N.B. There will be a row at the Horse Guards, (with regard to the Guardsman's attire being desecrated!) -

That day finished with the opening of the Royal Arctic Theatre - for which our STATE CARRIAGE.

left at 6, and our poor ribs attest how we laughed and enjoyed our selves - As Lord Gough says, - it would be unjust to individualize, where all threw themselves into the breach of public opinion with like self devotion, and heroism - indeed were we inclined to criticise the Actors, or Acting our Pen would wither, and Ink bottle bolt, ere we could do so, after the admirably delivered prologue, by the gallant Manager -

May he and they live a thousand years! - The Pickles! - we maintain it was the Pickles, gave us a head ache, - we survived, said Tak tak, to the Sun, made a pen and a good resolution - when Intrepid Saloon again opened, and it required a week to work off the hearts and Wives! — this is the place for constant men — The enquiry as to 'know ye the land of the Cypress and Myrtle?' started the company off for Strada Reale, and the Golden Horn, only to be recalled to a sense of the fallen state of man, by — 'Eliza Davis, — her wrongs', for which there was consolation in the fact being announced that, 'Good old English Gentlemen', once existed!

Tuesday the 5th came, peace of course, we thought calm — opened scientific Manual; got as far as page 3 — when yells! drums! gongs!
Fire! shouted our Printer's devil! — Fire!
cried we? Now Sir, said our Ice-seer, — they be all gone mad Sir, here's Guy Fawkes alongside! —

Then came the Prince of Wales's birth day, more cheering! more singing 'Inauguration of Charing Cross, eloquent speeches! —
verging yet not encroaching on the Liceroman School, a most loyal and rapid despatch of Treacle and Rum, (of the two we preferred the latter) to the health of left at 6, and our poor ribs attest how we laughed and enjoyed our selves —

As Lord Gough says, — it would be unjust to individualize, where all threw themselves into the breach of public opinion with like self devotion, and heroism! — indeed were we inclined to criticise the Actors, or Acting, our Pen would wither, and Ink bottle bolt, ere we could do so, after the admirably delivered prologue, by the gallant Manager —

May he and they live a thousand years! — The Pickles! — we maintain it was the Pickles, gave us a head ache, —
we survived, said Tah-tah, to the Sun, made a pen, and a good resolution —
when Intrepid Saloon again opened, and it required a week to work off the adventures of the Homeward bound that night —

The Committee of taste is sitting and you're wanted! Oh dear! all right! I'll be there directly! — Noses wanted for a Masqued Ball! — Music for the Orchestra! — Mamma's will not allow daughters to go unless we are exclusive. Pigeons (What 35) won't attend unless properly secured. Bachelors want Champagne Supper! Old Boys a corner for Whist, and Dawgers! — Sailors want Grog! 'Seven bellers' want! — Oh! they don't know what! — Committee to supply all. —

A Titanic member of the Aurora, next breaks upon us and adds another strand to the cable of good-fellowship by which the Squadron is riding. There, sweet & strong as its own Punch, Saturday night of 'Resolute' comes round! Alas! we are shocking bachelors — we blush, yet own it — but Ladies single or married, feel assured after the libations, toasts and songs of that night, influenza can never hurt the noses of the one; nor hooping cough worry the sweet pledges of the other.

A dash of Brandy — minus the salt, — the following morning set us all to rights and canto 1.st of an Epic poem on the Arctic Moon was progressing rapidly when up again went the drop scene of the Arctic Theatre. 'High life below Stairs' and 'Done on both sides' did us up as well as poor November. The graceful manner in which the fair Lydia Whiffles sunk into her chair, will (to use the eloquent words of one of our correspondents) never be effaced from the glowing tablet of our evidently deeply enamoured with the lovely English Hornah. We understand he ingenuously inspected several two ton bunks the following day for the purpose of ascertaining the where ab is of the fair Lydia.

All the Characters were admirably sustained and the entertainments went off with great eclat.

Then came a Bear hunt by moonlight, and the triumphal return of the hunters with the object of their chase.

What! A Seaman's School! — Well done! — Education & Improvement are twins Encourage! Foster the one, the other must follow. The School master is indeed afloat. S. B. We are ready to take in hand! Young Editors & Printers' devils. Bang 'goes right-bells' out goes Nov²¹ — in comes Nov²² of the Ill N, and Christmas commences amid excessive mirth all at the expense of those devilish funny dogs.

The Editors. —

ARCTIC SKETCHES

single or married, feel assured after the libations, toasts and songs of that night, influenza can never hurt the noses of the one nor hooping cough worry the sweet pledges of the other.

A dash of Brandy - minus the salt, - the following morning set us all to rights, and Canto 1.st of an Epic poem on the Arctic Moon was progressing rapidly when up again went the deep scene of the Arctic Theatre - 'High life below stairs' and 'Done on both sides' did us up as well as poor November. The graceful manner in which the fair Lydia Whiffles sank into her chair, will (to use the eloquent words of one of our correspondents) 'never be effaced from the glowing tablet of our memory'. Brownjohn's love was an object of envy to many of the audience but to none more so, than Erasmus York (the Esquimaux) who was

Young Editors & Printers deems 'Bang' goes eight bells' out goes Nov^r - in comes No^v 2 of the J.A.N., and Christmas commences amid 'accessive' mirth, all at the expense of those devilish funny dogs

The Editors. -

ARCTIC SKETCHES

HOME IN THE WILDERNESS.

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580
(716) 872-4503

25
2

U. S. BRIGS — ADVANCE & RESCUE, PASSING CAPT. HOTHAM.

The Sketch above represents the two Vessels under the orders of Lieut. E. J. De Haven, (of the American Navy) and 'could' must that Englishman's heart be, that does not thro' with generous sympathy towards an Expedition fitted out through the munificence of a private individual to afford aid to Sir John Franklin's Expedition.

We see in the English Searching Squadron the fulfilment on the part of the Nation of a high & imperative duty to seek and save those she sent to execute her behests, we behold in the American Vessels the generous liberality of a good & virtuous Man! — Henry Ginnell, who in the rescue of the distressed, hesitated not at expense, and whose great heart appears in its charity to know no alien either in Nation or creed! — Honor! high honor! to such men say we, and assuredly when in after years, History shall tell how those who went into the Ice-bound regions of the Pole for a World's advantage were sought and watched for by the common race of civilized men — the name of Henry Ginnell will be imperishably emblazoned on her scroll, and be cherished by every heart that can appreciate pure and holy motives when mayhap all else of this eventful page in our Naval Annals, shall have been forgot.

There is another highly interesting feature in the Squadron now before us, it is this:

all, in crossing Baffin's Bay further South than any of the British Vessels, and how has this been accomplished? — Ask their gallant Officers they will tell you that they had only one Man, who had ever seen Polar Ice — he was their Leader, yet they encountered all the much talked of dangers of Melville Bay — they met with gales of wind in Lancaster Sound — they have been under our eyes surrounded with drifting ice, in a fruitless attempt to push up Wellington Channel since then, but for the Pioneer, they would have passed the Resolute when she was beset off Cape Hotham, and we see them now alongside of Her Majesty's Vessels, as far west as Vessels will go this year, & to-morrow they sail for New York! — There is therefore but one reply to the question, they have all exhibited energy, skill, a fearlessness of ice which half takes from its dangers, and zeal in a good cause which was effective because it was sincere. —

Had the Vessels been filled with Men grown grey amid the Ice, had their minds been properly stored with all the long yarns attached to every disaster that ever has befallen those who travail in the North, they could not have done more than they have done — they might have done less, and as it is they have the honor like our own North West Fox, of performing their voyage unaided by such questionable tho' we are told orthodox assistance!

the fulfilment on the part of the Nation of a high & imperative duty to seek and save those she sent to execute her behests, we behold in the American Vessels the generous liberality of a good & virtuous Man. — Henry Ginnell, who in the rescue of the distressed, hesitated not at expense, and whose great heart appears in its charity to know no alien, either in Nation or breed. — Honor! high honor! to such men say we, and assuredly when in after years, History shall tell how those who went into the Ice-bound regions of the Pole for a World's advantage, were sought and watched for by the common race of civilized men — the name of Henry Ginnell will be imperishably emblazoned on her scroll, and be cherished by every heart that can appreciate pure and holy motives when perhaps all else of this eventful page in our Naval Annals, shall have been forgot.

There is another highly interesting feature in the Squadron now before us, it is this: —

The Americans tied down by no dogmas and unshackled by foregone practices, indeed setting totally at defiance all Arctic rules & regulations have in much less time than ourselves, and after incurring much less risk, transported themselves from Home to the Flood-ledge off Griffiths Island, besides beating us with drifting ice, in a fruitless attempt to push up Wellington Channel since then, but for the Pioneer, they would have passed the Resolute when she was beset off Cape Hotham, and we see them now alongside of Her Majesty's Vessels, as far west as Vessels will go this year, & to-morrow they sail for New York. — There is therefore but one reply to the question, they have all exhibited energy, skill, a fearlessness of ice which half takes from its dangers, and zeal in a good cause, which was effective because it was sincere. —

Had the Vessels been filled with Men grown grey amid the Ice, had their minds been properly stored with all the long yarns attached to every disaster that ever has befallen those who travail in the North, they could not have done more than they have done — they might have done less, and as it is they have the honor like our own North West Fox, of performing their voyage unaided by such questionable tho' we are told orthodox assistance.

Long labour little rest gave us during the time we happened to be in the company of the American Squadron, but little time to show how gladly we would have known more of them, they have however our best wishes, and that on their arrival they may be greeted as men who deserve well of their Country, is our sincere hope.

ILLUSTRATED ARCTIC NEWS.

No. III.

"TUTO ET SINE METU."

DEC. 31. 1850.

CHRYSTMAS-day in Latitude 74° North! At any rate, it has the merit of being a novelty, although we must plead guilty to being like most other people, sufficiently old-fashioned, to prefer spending it at Home:—

A rare occurrence by the bye, for we 'Mariners of England'—and we shall have to do in 1850, as we have done before; namely, spend a merry Christmas and a happy New Year, amongst these jolly mortals called Shipmates.

It is true, no gentle hand rests on our no laughing child clumbers on our knee. We have not to smile at the vivacity of three score, nor rejoice in the unfeigned beauty of her who never speaks a word without—

Such can only be found in that one bright spot, an Englishman's Home!—Yet our Chair will be there, and our name will not be forgotten.—

God be thanked we have each our consolation the joyce in the hope, that they are happy, they gladden with the thought that we are happy entrance to the Coming Year, by drawing still closer the bonds of friendship, which unite us to our Brother Arctic Navigators.

ARCTIC SKETCHES

FASHIONS FOR THE MONTH.

ARCTIC LITERATURE.

THE AURORA BOREALIS.

On the 15th inst. the 'Aurora Borealis'—we allude to the interesting Paper so called—again made its appearance, and in defiance of winter, bids us hope that Summer is rapidly advancing—if we are permitted to judge by the great increase to its leaves.

Like its predecessors, this No. contains a great diversity of matter, combining useful information, with lighter articles—and we sincerely wish that of England - and we shall have to do in 1850, as we have done before;

namely spend a merry Christmas and a happy New Year, amongst those jolly mortals called Shipmates

It is true, no gentle hand rests on ours, no laughing child clambors on our knee.
We have not to smile at the vivacity of their society, nor rejoice in the unfeigned beauty of her 'who never speaks a word unkind' -

Such can only be found in that one bright spot - an Englishman's Home! - Yet our Chair will be there, and our name will not be forgotten -

God be thanked we have each our consolation
We rejoice in the hope, that they are happy;
they gladden with the thought that we are doing our duty.

And so we will, gallant Friends!
Thanks to Her Majesty's Roast Beef and Plum-pudding, - our Christmas in spite of Emperor Zero, must be a jovial one, and we can best ensure a

FASHIONS FOR THE MONTH.

ARCTIC LITERATURE.

THE AURORA BOREALIS.

On the 15th inst! the 'Aurora
Borealis' - we allude to the interesting Paper so called - again made its appearance, and in defiance of Nature, bids us hope that Summer is rapidly advancing - if we are permitted to judge by the great increase to its leaves.

Like its predecessors, this No^o contains a great diversity of matter; combining useful information, with lighter articles - and we sincerely wish that the Editor's Box of the 'Illustrated Arctic News', was in as flourishing
a condition, as that of our cotemporary.

Our Box intended originally for literary purposes, produces only pipe lights, and half smoked cigars

Reminiscences of the Whale Fish Islands.

The Huts are composed entirely of turf; the lower half being below the surface of the ground. From the interior runs a long, low, & narrow, and always filthy, underground passage by which the inhabitants keep up a communication with the upper world. I certainly did succeed in exploring one of these subterranean passages, but on reaching the Chamber, was overpowered with anything but an odiferous compound stench which obliged me to beat a hasty retreat through the window.

We were occasionally honored with the presence of Marie, the belle of Kuona Pinn Isd and the readiness with which the lovely creature discussed Cherry Brandy Rum, Gingerbread, Tea, Bonbons and various other articles in succession induced us to believe her digestive organs were in admirable order.

Our little squadron (consisting of 5 Vessels) impressed the Esquimaux with an idea that the Queen of England possessed inexhaustible wealth as a proof of which one of them (who knew the difference between Rum and Water) on being shown an Engraving of Her Majesty exclaimed in a rapturous tone "Uk' vare juu Koonah (Woman) plenty-Ship' plenty Rum!"

C. F. M. D.

you have believed it? Why no, I think not. - Then my dear friend how can you expect me to do so? -

Such dear Reader, is what each individual will, in all probability have to submit to, on our return, but not even the expectation of being snubbed shall prevent our attempting to convey an idea of the fun at our Fancy Ball, which will, we trust be related to our Children's children, as a proof of the capabilities of British Seamen, and of the unanimity which existed between the few adventurers, who, separated from the civilized world by icy seas, and frozen in midst snowy plains, within the Arctic Circle, exerted themselves to dispel the settled gloom of winter, with all its attendant evils - and defied the chilling blast, or nipping frosts, to affect their hearts - which were kept in a general state of thaw by the warm feelings which pervaded them.

On Wednesday, Dec. 5th at 6 P.M. a Rocket announced the opening of the Masked Ball, and shortly afterwards lights glancing in the distance told of the approach of the visitors, many of whom were in costume, whilst others completed their toilet in the Wash house, where Mirrors, & other necessaries were prepared.

A good fire, & sustained walls, rendered this operation not an unpleasant one, whilst the discussed Cherry Brandy, Rum, Gingerbread, Tea, Bonbons and various other articles in succession, induced us to believe her digestive organs were in admirable order.

Our little squadron (consisting of 5 Vessels) impressed the Esquimaux with an idea that the Queen of England possessed inexhaustible wealth, as a proof of which, one of them (who knew the difference between Rum and Water) on being shown an Engraving of Her Majesty, exclaimed, in a rapturous tone,
"Ah! rare fine Koonah (Woman) plenty Ship! plenty Rum!"

C. F. M. D.

"RESOLUTE'S" BAL MASQUÉ.

WHAT! a Bal Masqué in the Arctic Regions! with as you confess, the Temperature at 30°? — Pooh! Pooh! you're playing on my credulity, but don't look annoyed — my dear fellow:
Now suppose you had not witnessed it, would

Seas, and frozen in midst snowy plains;
within the Arctic Circle, exerted themselves to dispel the settled gloom of winter, with all its attendant evils — and defied the chilling blast, or nipping frosts, to affect their hearts — which were kept in a genial state of thaw, by the warm feelings which permeated them.

On Wednesday, Dec. 25th at 6 P.M. a rocket announced the opening of the Masked Ball, and shortly afterwards lights gleaming in the distance, told of the approach of the visitors, many of whom were in costume, whilst others completed their toilet in the Wash-house, where Mirrors, & other necessaries were prepared.

A good fire, & curtained walls, rendered this operation not an unpleasant one, whilst the transparency with the words: "Welcome Comrades" over the door, assured them of a hearty reception.

Our arrival was well timed, for on reaching the entrance, we observed Ser Greasy-hide Walrus (who had just descended from his carriage), was now with the Officials bearing the Insignia of his elevated office entering within the portals where mirth, with all her votaries held their revelry.

C. F. M. D.

From the centre of the Marquee, (the manufacture of a country thousands of miles distant) was suspended a magnificent Chandelier, to which was attached a globe, on whose pole stood a miniature sailor, waving the Flag which for a thousand years, or more for which we know, is said to have braved the Battle and the breeze.

Proceeding below, our breath was almost taken away, by the strange scene which presented itself to our astonished gaze. By dint of great perseverance, we succeeded in forcing our way through the dense crowd, to a spot from which we had a good view of the reception of Sir J. H. Walrus, by Mr. Punch, M.C. in four round belly, with good Capon lined;—

Sir Greasy then read the following address:—
‘May it please your illustrious gollity—

‘We the Mayor & Corporation of Guffith’s, in haste taking hearing of your approach, hasten to welcome you to our shores, and humbly tender our duty on this happy occasion. We regret that our cherished Noona has prevented

‘we therefore feel sensible of the honour conferred by the visit of so renowned a Potentate. We had sinister ideas that Punch was something good to drink;—but we are now satisfied it is an illusion; there being no doubt of your solidity.’

‘Your presence here we trust, is indicative of good tidings from our friends in Europe and that you have happily been the means of restoring peace & tranquility to those troublesome States.’

‘We have heard of a very happy country swayed by a mighty Lady; whom we hear you recognise as your Queen.— We trust she may reign many years in happiness & prosperity.’

‘We have the pleasure to inform you that hitherto from time immemorial, the inhabitants of these realms have enjoyed uninterrupted tranquility, wild sports, and the chase contribute to our amusement;—and with the society of our Noona’s & a good table, we have all we wish for.’

‘But worthy Sir, our citizen Kulaher, informs us that of late these peaceful solitudes have been disturbed by a terrible white man called Commodore Horatio Austen, who has kicked up such a rumpus, the like was never known before;—

we have viewed the Battle and the breeze Proceeding below, our breath was almost taken away, by the strange scene which presented itself to our astonished gaze. By dint of great perseverance, we succeeded in forcing our way through the dense crowd, to a spot from which we had a good view of the reception of Ser J. H. Watrus, by Mr. Punch, M.C. in full round belly, with good Capon lined;

Ser Gussy then read the following address

'May it please your illustrious gollyty-

'We the Mayor & Corporation of Suffeth's Ishertack hearing of your approach, hasten to welcome you to our shores, and humbly tender our duty on this happy occasion. We regret that our cherished Koonah's prevented by indisposition from participating in the pleasure we feel at your arrival.'

'Of late years, we have heard of your sovereign sway over certain other realms, far too hot we understand for our endurance;

We have heard of a very happy
'country swayed by a mighty Lady,
'whom we hear you recognise as your
'Queen. — We trust she may reign
'many years in happiness & prosperity'

'We have the pleasure to inform 'you that hitherto from time immemorial,
'the inhabitants of these realms have
'enjoyed uninterrupted tranquility, wild sports,
'and the chase, contribute to our amusement;—
'and with the society of our Koonahs & a good
'table, we have all we wish for.'

'But worthy Sir, our citizen Kalaheva in'forms us that of late these peaceful solitudes have 'been disturbed by a terrible white man called
'Commodore Horatio Austen, who has kicked
'up such a rumpus, the like was never known before;
'and he has brought out two such infernal Devil-
'ships, that we are frightened out of our 'lives. —

'The ice he has treated with many indignities,
'what with his new schemes of blasting and
'steaming' — we know not how far his

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580
(716) 872-4503

25

2

'impudence' will carry him

'Magnanimous Punch! See this Austin,
'and enquire his business here - gladly
'will we facilitate the accomplishment
'of his designs, and wish him every 'possible success - Then take him back
'to his Koomah, and tell her to take care
'of him.

'We hear that you preside over fun
'& jollity. Welcome then at this season.
'Come to our Teepah's & give us a specimen
'of your merry doings. bring Austin with
'you and make a jolly winter of it.

'Now if you are for a jolly night -
'we are the boys, and in duty bound will
'ever pray. Long live Punch!

After the address, the following glee
was sung with great effect by the band.

Hail! Comrades all.

You're welcome here to night

To assist the Resolute's opening day

Hail! Hail! Hail!

On all the strange faces red, black & white
At our masqued Ball pleasure hath the sway
Before the voices ceased our thoughts had carried us across the floor, & transferred us to a land of happiness & heavy wet. Lovely forms penning. We were recalled to the sad reality of our situation, by a whack from an impermanent clown, and awoke from the pleasing but illusive dream.

Mixing with the crowd, we were reminded of the responsibility of our office - but the ever varying figures before us rendered it difficult to describe as we could wish, the groups by which we were surrounded.

We observed Queen Boadicea, who had been specially invited deploring the state of society to the King of Icebergs, whipping his Tops and with good reason too, for at this moment a Brown or rather a red Devil passed escorting a lovely girl to his palace
the Gen Shop, where another depraved young creature in a Blue Cup was indulging in a 'go of blue ruin'. The sight almost Chained us to the spot, but stifling our feelings with a word's worth of recherche, we noticed a villainous looking Saracen, (who Allah'd Allah'd every minute) looking scymchors at a Gallant Crusader and his lovely bride, whom we supposed to have been spiced by a 'Ficar' of Orders Grey, apparently setting out on a pilgrimage,
judging by the Shell-he-bare.

Mr Bumble in full parochial costume endeavoured to ward off the blow occasioned by the desertion of the late Mr Cooney with a

you and make a jolly winter of it.

'Now if you are for a jolly night -
'we are the boys, and in duty bound will
'ever pray. Long live Punch!'

After the address, the following glee
was sung with great effect by the band.

Hail! Comrades all.

You're welcome here to night

To assist the Resolute's opening day

Hail! Hail! Hail!

(On all the strange faces red, black & white)

At our masqued Ball, pleasure hath the sway

Before the voices ceased, our thoughts had carried us across the floor, & transferred us to a
land of happiness & heavy wet, - Lovely forms flitted by - their eyes glancing brightly in all the excitement of the whirling dance - we could not refrain - our souls thirsted - or in other words we became thirsty souls and drank deeply of the intoxicating draught called night passed, escorting a lovely girl to her place in the Gen's shop, where another depraved young creature in a Blue Cap, was indulging in a

'go' of 'blue ruin'. - The sight almost Chained
us to the spot, but stifling our feelings with a wad's worth of 'recherche', we noticed a mellancholic looking Saracen, (who Allah'd Allah'd every minute) looking scymeters
at a Gallant Crusader and his lovely bride, whom we supposed to have been spliced by a 'Fuar of Orders Grey' apparently selling out on a pilgrimage,
judging by the Shell-he-bare.

Mr Bumble in full parochial
costume endeavoured to ward off the blow
occasioned by the desertion of the late Mrs Cooney, with a 'go' of Nigus, which a Nigger generously Purchased. - The love of a Highland Chief sustained no cross from a lovely representative of the present. But we question the Smuggler Chief inducing that lovely piece of Goods 'La Vivandiere' to run of it, notwithstanding his eye being such a Piercer.

My old Chair-mender? cried a voice close behind us - Turning round, we saw a respectable old Gent, in a bad Hat and blue Stockings, Accosting a Crabbed Sir Charles Grandison, who deigning no reply, turned hastily round on his heel, & danced with an Intrepid old English Gentleman!

'At the battle of the Nile'

I was there all the while'

sung in rather a husky tone, an old Sailor, with a Wooden Leg, dressed in the Greenwich Uniform. - And where my friend said I, have you been besides? Why I served with Jarvis, and lost this here Leg in Galder's Action! At this moment a Black Monk pushed rudely by the old Sea dog; Sheer-hard, to starboard you lubber he cried, or shiver my old timbers but I'll douse your top-light. -

Do you know those? I asked, pointing to two figures, the one in a dark Robe, while the other wore a dress half black, half white. Why Yes! - the tall 'un is My Chum, but I'm afraid he's too much in company with Mr Allegory, but I'll Mark 'em well to night if he don't take 'em!

It would be quite impossible to describe all the Characters which amounted to about the

it to be the best

We gave our Printer's devil our tickets, but soon regretted doing so for although the wretch was well aware of our assumed character, we were connived by the Villain at least a dozen times.

The Refreshments, which consisted of Punch, Grog, & excellent Cade, (all of which were discussed & appreciated) were under the entire superintendance of Mr Gough & her hensman, from Gunter's we were told -

We don't believe it, and we found our dissent on the profusion displayed; - for if our memory is not treacherous, Gunter was a scaly fellow

Against the festooned & curtained sides, were placed Paintings, Prints &c. which heightened the effect considerably - whilst over the Orchestra, the word Welcome, in a brilliant transparency, put a finishing stroke to the whole.

Dancing was kept up until past Ten o'clock, when the visitors began to leave for their respective vessels, much gratified with the evening's entertainments, and buoyed up with the hope that such another would follow.

The humble old Chair-mender, to whom we thought of tendering alms, proved to be the originator of this great Festival & welcomed us all to his Cabin.

Uniform. — And where my friend said I, have you been besides? Why I served with Jarvis and lost this here Leg in Calders Action. At this moment a Black Monk pushed rudely by the old Sea dog; Sheer-hard; to starboard you lubber he cried, or shever my old timbers but I'll douse your top-light. —

Do you know those? I asked, pointing to two figures, the one in a dark Robe, while the other wore a dress half black, half white. Why Yes! — the tall 'un is My Chum, but I'm afraid he's too much in company with Mr Allegory, but I'll Mark 'em well to night if he doesn't take heed!

It would be quite impossible to describe all the Characters which amounted to about 100, of the number of Tickets* taken at the Restaurant, be considered a fair criterion. We considered

* Two wads as Tickets, were given to each Visitor on admission, which entitled the owner to two glasses of Punch with cake

memory is not treacherous, Junter was a scaly fellow

Against the festooned & curtained sides, were placed Paintings, Prints &c., which heightened the effect considerably. — whilst over the Orchestra, the word Welcome, in a brilliant transparency, put a finishing stroke to the whole.

Dancing was kept up until past Ten o'clock, when the visitors began to leave for their respective vessels, much gratified with the evening's entertainments, and buoyed up with the hope that such another would follow.

The humble old Chair mender, to whom we thought of tendering alms, proved to be the originator of this great Festival, & welcomed us all to his Cabin, where we put down our Masks & picked up appetites at the sight of Sandwiches & Sherry.

So ended this eventful night, which will ever be remembered with feelings of gratification by all concerned and whilst we in our humble capacity have attempted however badly to describe the scenes which occurred, we feel convinced that our friends in England would be delighted to know that every individual in the Expedition enjoyed himself heartily and rationally on this memorable occasion.

C. F. M. D.

AN ARCTIC CHRISTMAS SONG.

Air—"Oh! nothing in Life can sadden us."

I delight, I confess in a snug Christmas party,
 Where mirth, wit and humour combined for the night,
 Dispel all our sorrows, and make us quite hearty,
 Where friendship and fun in a family unite—
 Where the old folks from their fire-side corner,
 Look joyfully on at the company there,
 Whilst young fellows, under the Mistletoe—warmer,
 Are made, by kissing the Maidens so fair.

Since the Bergs have not done so, don't let care upset us,
 Nor allow it the flow of your spirits to nipt,
 For though we are absent, our Friends don't forget us,
 But are drinking our healths in a jorum of Flip—
 Our Parents—the friends of our earliest childhood,
 Are thinking of us, who to them are so dear,
 And our Sweethearts and Wives, could they see us, they smile would,
 And dash from their eyes the sensitive tear.

For here, where stern Nature in darkness doth reign,
 Where the Mountains & hills, with snow are all crown'd,
 Sweet Memory will ever convey us in thought again,
 To our Homes, where Happiness only is found—
 Let us hope for the best, and on sorrow not ponder,
 But partake with kind feelings our bountiful cheer,
 Till to those whose hearts by absence grow fonder,
 A right merry Christmas, and happy New Year

C. F. M. D.

Since the Bergs have not done so, don't let care upset us,
Nor allow it the flow of your spirits to reel,
For though we are absent, our Friends don't forget us,
But are drinking our healths in a jorum of Flip—
Our Parents—the friends of our earliest childhood,
Are thinking of us, who to them are so dear,
And our Sweethearts and Wives, could they see us, they smile would,
And dash from their eyes the sensitive tear.

For here, where stern Nature in darkness doth reign,
Where the Mountains & hills, with snow are all crown'd,
Sweet Memory will ever convey us in thought again,
To our Homes, where Happiness only is found—
Let us hope for the best, and on sorrow not ponder,
But partake with kind feelings our bountiful cheer,
Fill to those whose hearts by absence grow fonder,
A right merry Christmas, and happy New Year

G. F. M^c D.

THE OLD YEAR GOING OUT—AND THE NEW YEAR COMING IN

G. F. M^c D.

INTREPID SALOON.

On the 19th this favorite place of resort, attracted a large concourse, from the various Ships to witness 'Feats of Agility & Strength' besides Comic Songs, Recitations, and other amusements.

About the middle of the entertainment, the audience were informed that a few of the songsters were absent, and some regret was experienced in consequence. This feeling was however but of short duration, for with the most commendable zeal, several volunteers sang Comic Songs, and were deservedly encored.

The Band also, sang a Glee, with much taste & good execution. — The dialogue between Edward IV. & Warwick, was very creditably delivered by two of the seamen.

The entertainment on the whole was very successful, and to use the words of Mr Tooke (in reference to his Wife) 'cannot be too often repeated.' —

OUR CHRISTMAS.

on board the 'RESOLUTE.'

The Christmas festivities commenced on the night of Tuesday 21st with a Dinner, & 'At Home,' in the Evening by Captⁿ Austin

Had we bespoken a fine day, or have brought one, as we did our Tomato Pudding with us from England we could not have wished for anything more beautiful than that of Wednesday last.

At 7.30 A.M. — A faint reddish tinge, on the Southern horizon, announced the arrival of the Sun within the twilight circle, (We don't care how soon his jolly phiz shows out in the Arctic dille) —

Every minute increased the light, until the sky to the southward in a wide spreading arch, was illuminated with the most brilliant colors.

It reminded us of the dissolving views, we witnessed at the Polytechnic for at noon, the light gradually declined until all around was shrouded in the darkness of night. —

The floor during the day presented quite an animated appearance, but particularly so towards noon when dark masses of men might have been observed wending their way toward the Resolute. — and were deservedly encored.

We took the same direction — went below — but fancy our feelings, if it be possible on finding nearly all the Officers of the Squadron assembled in the Sun Room, partaking of — What! Champagne? — Vo!

The Band also, sang a Glee, with much taste & good execution.—

The dialogue between Edward IV. & Warwick, was very creditably delivered by two of the seamen.

The entertainment on the whole was very successful, and to use the words of Mrs Took (in reference to his Wife) 'cannot be too often repeated'.—

OUR CHRISTMAS.
on board the "RESOLUTE".

The Christmas festivities commenced on the night of Tuesday 24th with a Dinner, & 'At Home', in the Evening by Capt Austin

The Officers of the Pioneer (who by the bye are always 'At Home') also gave an entertainment the same evening and few if any were asleep, when the sonorous Gong proclaimed the arrival of 'Father Christmas.

the most brilliant colors.

It reminded us of the dissolving views, we witnessed at the Polytechnic, for at noon, the light gradually declined until all around was shrouded in the darkness of night.—

The fleet during the day presented quite an animated appearance, but particularly so towards noon when dark masses of men might have been observed wending their way towards the 'Resolute';—

We took the same direction—went below—but fancy our feelings, if it be possible—on finding nearly all the Officers of the Squadron assembled in the Gun Room, partaking of—What! Champagne? No! Hock? No! Burgundy? No! Nothing more or less than Gin and Sugar bread!!! brought from England especially for this occasion by———?

We resolved to publish it to the world, & mentally exclaimed with the Poet—

'A Child's among you taking notes,
And faith he'll print it—
But here our spirits forsook us— Our feelings were overcome, or nearly so for we perfectly remember struggling against the dreadful remedy they wished to apply, but notwithstanding our most strenuous efforts— we found on recovering, a 'Ginny' flavour in our mouths— What could we do?— Challenge them to Mortal Combat on the floe, with Shep's Rifles?— but then perhaps they'd have come— so we left them, obliged to pocket the insult— and three pieces of Gingerbread—

Our lower deck was decorated with great effect by the seamen, who with Flags formed each mess into a bunting bower, where Fresh Beef— Plum-puddings, Cakes &c, adorned with Paper-flags) were strewn in great profusion— Nor were Chandeliers, or transparencies with appropriate devices wanting, but good taste prevailed on every side.

Two Messes; Marines on the one, & Sailors in the other, fraternized on this occasion, which produced the following lines from the pen of William Sweeney (able Seaman).

'Here Royals & Johnnies are doing together
(As Christmas today with very cold weather)
'On roast Beef & Plum-pudding the best in the town,

The Officer's Dinner.

At 3 P.M. all the Officers, including Captain Austin, sat down to a substantial dinner in the Gun Room of the 'Resolute'.
We almost feel inclined to mention the various dishes which amounted to no fewer than 22!— We cannot however refrain from speaking in the highest terms of the Fresh Beef & Mutton killed in June last! and in almost as perfect a state as any we ever tasted.

The cloth being removed, the first toast of the Navy, 'The Queen' was proposed (by the President—Lieut. Aldrich) & responded to, with all the honors, by as loyal a body of subjects, as any other Majesty
can boast of— Band— 'God save the Queen'—

2nd Toast— 'Prince Albert— Prince of Wales, & the rest of the Royal family'— was received with great enthusiasm.

3rd Toast— 'The Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty'
was drunk with great applause.—

Band 'Rule Britannia'—

4th Toast— 'The Expedition's emp' in search of Sir John Franklin including the one which preceded us, & not forgetting our friends the 'Americans'—

Band 'Cheer up, my lads'.

Other toasts followed in rapid succession among them were the following which were rec'd with the most enthusiastic cheers— 'The Artillery Corps' Band 'The British Grenadiers'— 'The Marine Corps'— Band 'In the Conquering Hero comes'— by Capt. Austin 'Lady Franklin & the wives of the Officers & Men of the missing Expedition'— 'Mr Austin' (Capt. Austin

Our lower deck was decorated with great effect by the seamen, who with flags formed each mess into a bunting tower, where Fresh Beef - Plum-puddings, Cakes &c, adorned with Paper-flags) were strewn in great profusion - Nor were banners, or transparencies with appropriate devices wanting, but good taste prevailed on every side.

Two Messes, Marines in the one, & Sailors in the other, fraternized on this occasion, which produced the following lines from the pen of William Sweeney (able Seaman).

'Here Royals & Johnnies are dining together, (Tis Christmas today with very cold weather)
'On roast Beef & Plum-pudding, the best in the town,
'With a drop of good Grog we will wash it all down.'

'Let us hope that next Christmas we all may be home,
'With Sir John & his comrades for whom we have come.
'Resolution's success! so will all do our best
'At the Wheel, at the Sloop or in the Crew's Nest.'

can boast of. Band - 'God save the Queen. -
2nd Toast - Prince Albert - Prince of Wales, & the rest of the Royal family' - was received with great enthusiasm
3rd Toast - 'The Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty
was drunk with great applause. -
Band - 'Rule Britannia' -
4th Toast - 'The Expedition's emp^{ty} in search of Sir John Franklin including the one which preceded us, & not forgetting our friends the Americans' - Band - 'Cheer up, my lads'.

Other toasts followed in rapid succession, among them were the following which were rec^d with the most enthusiastic cheers - 'The Artillery Corps' Band - 'The British Grenadiers' - 'The Marine Corps' - Band - 'See the Conquering Hero comes' - by Capt^m. Justice - 'Lady Franklin & the wives of the Officers & Men of the missing Expedition' - 'Mr Austin' (Capt^m Austin returned than his) 'our absent Friends' - Band - 'The Girls we left behind us' - 'Sir Edw^d Parry' - 'Our comrades of the Squadron not present' - 'The Public' department of the Navy' - The festivities were kept up till a late hour, & all separated delighted with their Xmas evening, spent in good fellowship and social mirth.

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580
(716) 872-4503

ROYAL
ARCTIC THEATRE

Sub. Oper.

H.M.S. ASSISTANCE.

Manager: Capt. Emmannoy.

Patronised by Capt. Horatio Austin, C.B.

GRAND ATTRACTION FOR THE NEW YEAR.

*On Thursday, the 9th of January, 1851,
the Favorite Actors of the Ships Companies present will perform the truly laughable*

FARCE OF THE

TURNUED HEAD.

To be followed by the Grand Farcical, Tragical, Melo-dramatical, Serio-Comic

PLAY OF

BOMBASTES FURIOSO!!!

*which will be produced by the Officers of the Squadron. The only Lady in this piece,
has been engaged at an Enormous Sacrifice,
it being her first appearance on any Stage!!!*

The whole to conclude with the entirely

NEW PANTOMIME OF

ZERO!

ROYAL INTREPID SALOON.

GRAND ATTRACTION!!!

*On Friday, January the 17th 1851,
the Performance will commence with the celebrated Gallantio Show of*

MOVING FIGURES!!

And conclude with the

LIFE OF A SAILOR!!

in Six Acts. —

*Several Comic Songs will be sung
between the performances —*

*The following Talented Company
will appear:*

Mess.^{rs} Lewis, Urquhart, and T. H. Morgan.

Doors open at 6 o'clock. — Commence at 6-30. —

N B Children on arms not admitted.

the Favorite Actors of the Ships Companies present will perform the truly laughable

FARCE OF THE TURNED HEAD.

To be followed by the Grand Farcical, Tragic, Melo-dramatical, Serio-Comic

PLAY OF

BOMBASTES FURIOSO!!!

*which will be produced by the Officers of
the Squadron. The only Lady in this piece
has been engaged at an Enormous Sacrifice,
it being her first appearance on any Stage!!*

The whole to conclude with the entirely

NEW PANTOMIME OF

ZERO!

OR HARLEQUIN LIGHT!!

*Written expressly for the occasion by a talented member of the expedition.
In which the celebrated Clowns will introduce some of their favorite airs.*

Doors open at 6 o'clock. — Commence at 6_30.

*the Performance will commence with
the celebrated Gallantio Show of*

MOVING FIGURES!!

And conclude with the

LIFE OF A SAILOR!!

in Six Steps. —

*Several Comic Songs will be sung
between the performances —*

*The following Talented Company
will appear.*

Mess^{rs} Lewis, Urquhart, and J. H. Morgan.

Doors open at 6 o'clock. — Commence at 6_30. —

N. B. Children in arms not admitted

N. B. The large type headings as well as the Arms and devices were cut on board by the Seamen.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO LIBRARY

1900

1900

ILLUSTRATED ARCTIC NEWS.

No. IV.

"TUTO ET SINE METU"

JANUARY 31, 1851.

And now the Daylight comes; slowly it rides,
In rosy lustre, o'er the cloudy tides,
Like the soft foam, upon the billows' breast;
Or feathery light, upon a shadowy crest:
The vernal breezes from their slumbers wake,
And o'er the distant hill tops cheerily shake,
Their dewy locks, and plume themselves, & pose
Their rosy wings.

* * * * *
Now comes the Sun forth! not in blaze of fire,
With rainbow harnessed Courses that inspire,
In atmosphere of flame!

* * * * *
No chargers in array
Scatter through heaven & earth their fiery spray,
No shouting Chariot, in transport flings
Ten thousand Anthems from tumultuous strings.

* * * * *
No! No! he comes not thus in pomp and light
A new Creation bursting out of night!
But he comes darkly forth in storm arrayed!
Like the red tempest marshalled in his shade,
When Mountains rock ----- Stale

Is there amongst us, one whose heart
Does not leap with fervent gratitude at the return of Light? No! assuredly not. we all must feel that it, Heaven's first born, Best harbinger of returning Summer, - is replete with bright hopes and anticipations
for each and all of us.

A fresh gale after a long calm -
Land after a dreary voyage - and sweeter
still, Home! Peace! after buffeting in the

It is light after darkness - It is indeed!
after so long a night! a renewal of life -

Fain would we impart to others the elasticity of spirits, the re-invigoration of hope wrought in us by the fresh flood of health coursing in our veins

Saddened we grant we were as 1850 drew its sombre shroud around us at the futility of our exertions during that season,
to reach our suffering Countrymen - As the
arch of sunlight overhead daily diminished,
and the black North scowled more & more lowering on us, we could not but think of those who for the sixth time had seen the Sun
quit their Heaven, & we felt with the Poet -

'The ample proposition - that Hope makes,
In all designs begun on Earth below,
Fails in the promised largeness -

Yet will we not avoid her rosestrewed path - She, the brightest and fairest, of weak man's triple virtues whispers Hope! Ay! that we do, and moreover we believe! Our mission was to save Life -
and Life will be saved!

To less hopeful envy us not, if you cannot participate in what we feel, we would

With rainbow harnessed Courses that respire,
In atmosphere of flame!

* * * * *
No chargers in array
Scatter through heaven & earth, their fiery spray,
No shouting Chariotier, in transport flings
Ten thousand Antheims from tumultuous strings.

* * * * *
No! No! he comes not thus in pomp and light
A new Creation bursting out of night—
But he comes darkly forth in storm arrayed!
Like the red tempest marshalled in his shade,
When Mountains rock —————

Niall

Is there amongst us, one whose heart
does not leap with fervent gratitude at the return of Light? No! assuredly not. we all must feel that it, Heaven's first-born—blest harbinger of returning Summer, — is replete with bright hopes and anticipations
for each and all of us.

A fresh gale after a long calm —
Land after a dreary voyage — and sweeter
still, Home! Peace! after buffeting in the 'World's broad field of battle', were we once thought Earth's richest blessings. — Are we wrong in saying that there is yet another second to none, and which perhaps far more than any other, calls the contemplative mind from 'Nature to Nature's God? — draw the sombre shroud around us at the fidelity of our exertions during that season,

to reach our suffering Countrymen — As the
arch of sunlight overhead daily diminished;
and the black North scowled more & more
lowering on us, we could not but think of those who for the sixth time had seen the Sun
quit their Heaven, & we felt with the Poet —

'The ample proposition — that Hope makes,
'In all designs begun on Earth below,
'Fails in the promised largeness —

Yet will we not avoid her rose-strewn path — She, the brightest and fairest, of weak man's triple virtues whispers Hope! Ay! that we do, and moreover
we believe! Our mission was to save Life —
and Life will be saved! —

To less hopeful envy us not if you cannot participate in what we feel, we would rather sorrow with disappointment, than lack the joy of so bright an anticipation.

With the Stoic prepared for disaster
we have no sympathy; yet we would ask him as he profs to the charms of — Imagination on every side? Does not 1851 contain even within its short span many a joyful expectation! many a rainbowed tinted project!—

Hast thou no gentle whisperings when alone and communing with thy self and building those fairy Castles, which have so often fallen?—

Does not

*The beloved - the true hearted
Come to visit thee once more:
With a slow and noiseless foot-step
Comes that Messenger divine Takes the vacant Chair beside thee
Lays her gentle hand on thine.*

Yes! Yes! blush not - it was of Home, Peace and Love! she whispered;— May God send thee find a bright realization but scorn him not whose Imagination leads him elsewhere?

Both will equally well do their duty! both will exclaim His will be done!

Hailing with all heart felt gladness the return of day we would not have it supposed we couple the past period of ninety days with sadness, as well as night far from it for apart from the pleasant recollections associated with every Christmas day and the pure consolation, which indulgent Memory loves to throw around every hour of that time honoured Season, with the thought— They are thinking of thee we sincerely believe that in after years few of our past Christmas days will be remembered

Should we have returned to England and this our little community have dispersed!— only perhaps to meet in some remote quarter of the globe!— We pledge them not to forget in a bumper, the merry Christmas and Happy New Year of 1851, and Health & Happiness to all who enjoyed it with us in the Expedition of 1850.

S O

ARCTIC SKETCHES.

WATER CARRIERS.

THE SAILORS BED.

HE places on board Ship which were appropriated for the purpose of Sleep previous to the discovery of America were inconvenient in the extreme and subjected the occupant to all the rolling & pitching motion of the Vessel! No mention however is made of any such places in the Ark and Chryser one of the antediluvian patriarchs who according to Sanchoniatho the Phœnician historian was the first man that ever trusted himself on the great deep— probably made use of the bottom of the

Yes! Yes! 'Tis not 'Twas of Home, Peace and Love! she whispered;
- May God send thee find a bright realization but scorn him not whose Imagination leads him elsewhere!

Both will equally well do their duty! both will exclaim This will be done!

Hauling with all heart felt gladness the return of day we would not have it supposed we couple the past period of merry days with sadness, as well as night - far from it, for apart from the pleasant recollections associated with every Christmas day, and the pure consolation, which indulgent Memory loves to throw around every hour of that time honoured Season, with the thought -
"They are thinking of thee, we sincerely believe that in after years few of our past Christmas days will be remembered more deeply and pleasantly than that of 1850 -

Should we pass another winter
in the Frigid zone, we sincerely trust it may be spent as the past one has been, in mutual kindness and goodwill.

WATER CARRIERS.

THE SAILORS BED.

HE places on board Ships which were appropriated for the purpose of Sleep previous to the discovery of America were inconvenient in the extreme and subjected the occupant to all the rolling & pitching motion of the Vessel.

No mention however is made of any such places in the Ark, and Chrysor one of the antediluvian patriarchs who according to Sanchoniatho the Phœnician historian was the first man that ever trusted himself on the great deep - probably made use of the bottom of the boat as a sleeping place, so that the use of regular Couches appointed for the accomodation of the votaries of Morpheus, must be referred to a period subsequent to the universal deluge.

Neither the Expedition of the (Vigonauts or any of the Phœnician Navigators possessed better sleeping-accommodation, and many were the inconveniences arising therefrom. The Fleets of the Saracens, Venetians & Normans suffered the same discomfort, and it was doubtless on account of the hardness of the Bed, and the violent motion of the Vessel, that our own Henry II. was visited by that disagreeable nightmare, concerning Priests, Soldiers, and Peasants, which caused his Royal conscience so much discomfort.

The terrible dream of the Duke of Clarence was also probably produced by the misery of the Sea Voyage, and when he says

Oh! Lord, me thought what pain it was to drown,
What dreadful noise of water in my ears -
What sights of ugly death within mine eyes

He is merely describing the disagreeable sensations which are felt in a standing-bed place while in a dosing state just previous to falling off to sleep.

Another great drawback to the comforts of a standing bed place, was the danger of being precipitated from a height of 3 or 4 feet on the deck, or as Virgil describes -
It

Such were only a few of the inconveniences encountered by those who attempted to bottle off any quantity of sleep on board Ship previous to the beginning of the 16th Century. It was then that the great Navigator Columbus conceived those ideas which he had gleaned in his youth from the writings of Ctesias, Xearchus & Marco Polo, and which he afterwards so nobly executed!

Among the novel habits & customs of the West Indian Islanders which attracted the attention of that enlightened man, the mode of sleeping in bags, suspended from the branches of trees, for the purpose of avoiding the reptiles which abound in their forests, was the most remarkable,

and from which he conceived that noble idea, which some years afterwards was put to such practical utility in the adoption of a new system of sleeping places -

The name 'Hammock' is derived from the Indian word 'Humaca' - They were first used in Columbus's third voyage, and it is well known that the

The terrible dream of the Duke of Clarence was also probably produced by the misery of the Sea Voyage, and when he says

Oh! Lord, mine thought what pain 't was to drown
 What dreadful noise of water in my ears -
 What sights of ugly death within mine eyes

He is merely describing the disagreeable sensations which are felt in a standing bed place, while in a dazing state just previous to falling off to sleep.

Another great drawback to the comforts of a standing bed place, was the danger of being precipitated from a height of 3 or 4 feet on the deck, or as Bergel describes -

— Tum proa avertit, et undis, da' latus, insuper cumulo praeruptus aquae mons ——— prorsusque magister cacuhitur in caput! —

avoiding the reptiles which abound in their forests, was the most remarkable;

and from which he conceived that noble idea, which some years afterwards was put to such practical utility in the adoption of a new system of sleeping places. —

The name 'Hammock' is derived from the Indian word 'Nimoca' — They were first used in Columbus's third voyage, and it is well known that the crews of the vessels employed in that expedition, enjoyed more repose than any other sea-faring persons since the days of Chryser, the great grandson of Cain. The use of Hammocks was soon disseminated over the maritime countries of Europe, but it was not until the days of Cromwell, that they were generally adopted in the English Navy, and the continued hostility of Elizabeth and Philip II well in some measure account for the delay in introducing this most important alteration for the comfort of English Seamen & Marines which has added so essentially to sound sleep, & happy dreams.

C. M.

C. F. M. D.

SITUATION OF H. M. S. RESOLUTE — MELVILLE BAY — JULY 29 — 1850.

The above sketch represents the position of H. M. S. Resolute in Melville Bay when severely rapped between two extensive fields of Ice during a heavy S.W. Gale — The pressure was such as to raise the Ship 14 inches causing her

Masts to wave to & fro whilst the pitch & creak in many places was started from the seams in the deck. All the bells in the Ship were set in motion as if they were sounding the funeral knell of the poor old "Resolute", but the old Craft was not yet doomed!! —

EREBUS AND TERROR BAY.

UNDER some such name will be long remembered by English men & the world in general, that noble harbour in which without doubt Franklens squadron spent their first Arctic Winter. God send that at the first and only base of their voyage absorbing not only to those their relatives who have long watched & prayed for them but likewise amongst that great God who feel with ourselves that a Nation's honor is involved in the search for her missing Sons.

Anxious therefore that our know

SITUATION OF H. M. S. RESOLUTE — MELVILLE BAY — JULY 29 — 1850.

The above sketch represents the position of H. M. S. Resolute in Melville Bay when severely nipped between two extensive fields of Ice — during a heavy S.W. Gale — The pressure was such as to raise the Ship 14 inches, causing her

Masts to wave to & fro, whilst the pitch & caking in many places was started from the seams in the deck. All the bells in the Ship were set in motion, as if they were sounding the funeral knell of the poor old "Resolute", but the old Craft was not yet doomed!! —

EREBUS AND TERROR BAY.

UNDER some such name will be long remembered by English men, & the world in general, that noble harbour, in which without doubt Franklin's Squadron spent their first Arctic Winter — God send that at the first and only trace of their voyage Westward, may have more pleasing associations than the painful uncertainty under which we all at present labour.

Be that as it may the interest attached to the scene of Franklin's first resting place, must and will be deep, and absorbing not only to those their relatives who have long watched & prayed for them but likewise amongst that great body, who feel with ourselves that a Nation's honor is involved in the search for her missing Sons.

Anxious therefore that our knowledge of that spot may be perfect and to entitle ourselves to the right of calling upon all who possess a mite in the shape of observation, to throw it into the common stock, we publish what we know, court assistance & request correction.

At Cape Riley, H. M. S. Assistance

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580
(716) 872-4503

and Intrepid, (of the Naval Expedition under Captⁿ H. J. Austin) first picked up the clue of the missing Expedition, in numerous traces, and the remains of a small encampment. The Cairn on the top of Beechey Island was then searched, but no record was discovered.

The next trace found was at Cape Spenser, in Wellington Channel, by Captⁿ Penny. It consisted of the carefully paved floor of a temporary hut or Tent, and bones of Birds in large quantities - showing that a party must have been there some time. Sledge marks, pointing Northwards, were also found; - The American Officers followed these up, and lost them, one day's journey beyond Cape Innes, at which place a piece of Newspaper, & a bottle was found.

The Winter quarters were next discovered by Captⁿ Penny's Kings. - We will describe it, as we saw it - on our arrival shortly afterwards in H. M. S. Resolute & Pioneer. -

The spot A, had been much disturbed, but enough was left to show that a series of layers of preserved Meat Canisters, filled with earth had been formed into a remarkably firm foundation: either for an astronomical observatory, or else (from its position) probably as a Cairn to direct the Cape Spenser travelling parties an idea that struck us when looking at it from the Sledge tracks on the north side of Union Bay -

The garden B, was a small oval enclosed by a neatly formed border of Moss. - The Mould evidently brought from some more fertile spot, was dug up, and heaped in wild confusion; - for anxious hands had been even there seeking to find some clue to the direction the last Expedition had taken.

Another few hundred yards I was stood on the foundation of the Store or Workshop C, - it was startlingly painful to see such apparently recent sledge marks, pointing Northwards

The Mould evidently brought from ridge marks, pointing Northwards, were also found; - The American Officers followed these up, and lost them, one day's journey beyond Cape Innis, at which place a piece of Newspaper, & a bottle was found.

The Winter quarters were next discovered by Captⁿ Penny's Dogs - We will describe it, as we saw it. On our arrival shortly afterwards

The Mould evidently brought from some more fertile spot, was dug up; and heaped in wild confusion; - for anxious hands had been even there seeking to find some clue to the direction the last Expedition had taken.

Another few hundred yards we stood on the foundation of the Store or Workshop C, - it was startlingly painful to see such apparently recent traces on all sides as here met the eye.

Coal Sacks - Wood Shavings - pieces of Canvass and Rope - all considerably bleached or weather worn.

The interest attached to these inani-
-mate objects was deep, yet harrowing -

The embankments were about 5 feet through at the base, & tapered up to a height of 3 feet - into these posts had been sunk (Oak or Elm quartering) to support the superstructure - Some of the posts had been removed by the short process of cutting them down with an axe, - the remnant being left in the embankment.

The graves of which we gave a correct sketch, & likewise copies of the Epitaphs in our first number, were very neatly finished. The Headboards 3 & 4 inches thick deeply carved. Slabs of slaty Limestone placed round the grave a boulder at the feet, and the whole carefully finished with small pebbles & shingle.

A curious sledge for transporting Stones - a mass of which lay by it was formed (as in the annexed sketch) of four neighbouring glaciers - At this latter spot we found a flannel and a pair of Officers Horseymore gloves spread out to dry, the stems placed to prevent them blowing away; were still on them; the flannel was perfectly rotten; the gloves almost equally so.

At Point G & H two pipes were found, the one at the former point was erect with a finger nailed on it, the other was blown down, & had no finger or hand.

It was conjectured that they were direction posts to guide travellers to the vessels.

On both sides of the Harbour, viz: under Beechy Island, & within Cape Riley - as well as near some peony lakes at the South end of the harbour, the traces of shooting parties were numerous, here a Porter bottle, there Cooper's Rest Boat Tons - then a heap of Dove how bones, & scraps of Arctic Hare skin showed that pleasure had had somewhat to do with the parties at these spots.

Overriding all hypothesis or opinion we will conclude this subject by saying that the Sledge tracks were deep & well defined although over shingle - those towards a height of 3 feet - into these - posts had been sunk (Oak, or Elm quartering) to support the superstructure - Some of the posts had been removed by the short process of cutting them down with an axe, - the remnant being left in the embankment.

The graves of which we gave a correct sketch, & likewise copies of the Epitaphs in our first number, were very neatly finished. The Headboards 3 or 4 inches thick deeply carved. Slabs of slaty Limestone placed round the grave a boulder at the feet, and the whole carefully finished with small pebbles & shingle.

A curious sledge for transporting

Stones - a mass of which lay by it, was formed (as in the annexed sketch) of four Cash staves -

The forge B, with its scrap & dust heap was close by one of the washing & drying grounds - The second washing place B, was about 400 yards farther on - they were both situated beside gullies, down which ran the waters of small as near some pigmy lakes at their North end of the harbour, the traces of shooting parties, were numerous, here a Porter-bottle, there, Cooper's Roast Veal Tens - then a heap of Dove-hens bones, & scraps of Arctic Shore skin showed that pleasure had had somewhat to do with the parties at these spots.

Beverly Island

C. Spencer

C. Riley

G. F. M. D.

Avoiding all hypothesis or opinion we will conclude this subject by saying that the Sledge tracks were deep & well defined, although over shingle - those towards Caswell's Tower, were the most marked. They were traced for some two miles, and lost in consequence of a thick snow storm coming on. Either two sledges had taken this route or else the party on returning had taken a line almost parallel to their outward course.

It is worthy of remark that the state of the flat country, doubtless from the thawing snow &c, had apparently forced Franklin's travellers to take to the higher beaches, or terraces, which, in North Devon, as well as about us, form such a marked feature in the structure of the land.

S. O.

ARCTIC SKETCHES.

SCENE - WINTER QUARTERS - TIME, 6 A.M.

*I say - What sort of a morning is it - eh?
Oh! Stunning! - only ss - and were been obliged to Ventilate.
Ah! I thought so - its down to zero in my Cabin and my Macassar's solid.*

OUTWARD BOUND.

*Behold those gallant Ships, from their Anchors now set free,
How gallantly & steadily they cleave
the watery main,
Bearing their noble Crews far, far
beyond the Sea,
From Country Home, & Friends, they
ne'er might see again -
And now the land is distant, every eye
is strained to see!*

LETTER NO 3. - From our Anonymous Correspondent.

Much loved Penelope,

I have just returned from visiting, as is my daily custom, your Fox traps - Yes! it is yours - already have I no less than four skins, and with the addition of about another dozen I question not your Bridal Boa - (you know love we shall be married in November!) will be made of Arctic Fox skins. -

That poor nose which you have so often vowed you loved, has been sadly bitten by the frost, but still I am told preserves its original shape, would that your fairy self were here to make for it, what has been denominated a 'Jub Liver'. -

My promise to your respected Mamma of three Bear skins has been ever in my mind. She could never, I feel certain, have dreamt of the risk such a promise entailed on her future son-in-law. As yet my endeavours have only been rewarded by one, altho' I have even burnt red herrings in a Lanthorn to bring them around me.

You are, believe me never absent from my thoughts & I can only say that my Cabin is filled with proofs of constant and ardent affection.

AN ARDENT ATTACHMENT TO A SEVEN BELLER.

SCENE - WINTER QUARTERS - TIME, 6. A.M.

I say - What sort of a morning is it - eh?
Oh! Stunning! - only ss - and were been obliged to Ventilate.
Ah! I thought so - its down to zero in my Cabin
and my Macassar's solid.

OUTWARD BOUND.

Behold those gallant Ships, from their
Anchors now set free!
How gallantly & steadily they cleave
the watery main,
Bearing their noble Crews far, far
beyond the Sea,
From Country Home, & Friends, they
neer might see again -
And now the land is distant, every eye
is strained to see
The last of that dear Shore, containing all they love
And as they stand & gaze, till it sinks
beneath the Sea,
They offer up a prayer for them, to Him who reigns above.

entailed a 'Job Cover' -

My promise to your respected Mamma of three Bear skins has been ever in my mind. She could never, I feel certain, have dreamt of the risk such a promise entailed on her future son-in-law.
As yet my endeavours have only been rewarded
by one, altho' I have even burnt red herrings in a Lanthorn to bring them around me.

You are, believe me, never absent from my thoughts, & I can only say that my cabin is filled with proofs of constant and ardent affection.

AN ARDENT ATTACHMENT TO A SEVEN BELLER.

The same Loon is just learning to pronounce your name - the Greenland Dove whistles 'Cherry-Ripic' from his little bags - the bulkheads are covered with Silk, and Satin, play, and Casino bills - the collection of Planks, Shells, & Insects -

A term applied to engaged but unmarried men.

is very nearly complete. I copy every month by number of the 'Illustrated Arctic News' and 'Aurora Borealis' for your amusement. I record all the funny sayings and witticisms of our Mess for your gratification, and all all I ask in return my own Penelope, is that you do not dance too often with your 'Dragon Cousin, Lionel! There are some wags in our Squadron who amuse themselves at the expense of happy men like myself. I had little their nonsense, though it is annoying to be reminded that if my affection cannot be put to the proof by the temptations arising from the Society of other politicians, still that your case is wide by different.

They hint that the Horse Guards were about to issue moustaches to the Infantry, and that Cornets pay was to be increased. I tremble dearest to think that such additional charms might even shake, but no! no! your portrait before which I daily shave, smiles and I feel so assured.

Do not think I am to blame for not writing by the 'North Star' I had the letters No 114 798 all ready and packing her had to do (in Lancaster Sound as I did in Buffin's Bay) put them in a preserved meat canister. Ah how often have I missed the Concentrated Soup. I wished I could so reduce my bulk as to float home on the bellow to love and thee!

My brother seven letters and I held sweet converse upon the subject of the happiness you have in store for us. (ay?)

You would be shocked, could you hear them discussing the various Young Ladies who so kindly came to bid them adieu. - 'Jolly little girl' says one. 'Too round in the shoulders - give me the tall one, she was a skinner!' replies the shortest member of the mess. 'I pity your taste is the rejoinder she was straight up and down like a yard of pump water. - 'Hang me' says a voice from the depth of a comforter. 'I'd be sorry to keep that white faced beauty in Bonnets. No! nor that fat girl in Breeches & Skirt!' chimes in another.

Women! hush! - keeps out a third, here am I out to please a girl who will only marry a hero! I have not been thoroughly warm for three months, those precious welsch wigs are rubbing off all my hair. my feet are getting daily larger, and if turned into a Turnip field, I feel I could but Nebuchadnezzar himself. - you are right, my boy says the Miss female fascinator, and I surely believe that all the ugly women in England were sent to see us off, in order that we might be reconciled to leaving it.

Now all this is mighty agreeable to your own dear. Alfred I repeat it, in order that you may see how wrong it would be visiting any vessels during my absence and how impossible it will be for me as you once suggested to search for a N.E. passage after I am once yours - * * * *

— Here the M. S. S. facts. —

by different

They hint that the Horse Guards were about to issue moustaches to the Infantry, and that Cornet's pay was to be increased. — I tremble dearest to think that such additional charms might even shake — but no! no! your portrait before which I daily shew, — smiles and I feel so assured.

Do not think I am to blame for not writing by the "North Star", I had the letters Nov 10th 78 all ready and packing her, had to do (in Lancaster Sound as I did in Buffin's Bay) put them in a preserved meat canister. Ah! how often have I envied the Concentrated Soup, I wished I could so reduce my bulk as to float home on the bellow to love and thee!

My brother seven letters and I hold sweet converse, upon the subject of the happiness you have in store for us, lay your plans for the future, and laugh at the "Cold Shoulder of Mutton" pleasantries of the unengaged.

merry as here! I have not been thoroughly warm for three months, those precious wotch wigs are rubbing off all my hair, my feet are getting daily larger, and if turned into a Turnip field, I feel I could beat Nebuchadnezzar himself. — you are right, my boy — says the Miss female fascinator, and I verily believe, that all the ugly women in England were sent to see us off, in order that we might be reconciled to leaving it.

Now all this is mighty agreeable to your own dear Alfred. I repeat it, in order that you may see how wrong it would be visiting any vessels during my absence and how impossible it will be for me, as you once suggested, to search for a N.E. passage after I am once yours — * * * *

Here the M. S. fails.

EDITORS PORTFOLIO.

JANUARY, 1851, has gone by the first milestone on our journey towards another Christ-mas, that it has passed quickly and pleasantly: all the squadron could attest, and nothing perhaps has conduced more to throw cheerfulness around us than the daily perceptible increase of daylight. How delightful it has been to observe with every fresh day some distant point of land return again to view, after having been hidden in obscurity for weeks, how interesting to hear daily each individual repeating some fact which proved satisfactorily to his own mind that the days were indeed lengthening.

From New Years Eve to Twelfth night we are under the impression that we nearly lived at the hospitable board of the gallant leader of our Expedition, hospitality which (we are merely the voice of the public in proclaiming it) seems only to be limited by the number of Chairs in the 'Resolute' and the size of the Cabin.

On each occasion was pledged with sincerity the health of Her Majesty

ROYAL ARCTIC THEATRE.

G. F. M. D.

Scene from "Bombastes Furioso."

The Queen Her Consort and Ministers, the Admiralty and those at home who both publicly and privately had tended so much upon the happiness of the absent dependant but not least we pledged our brother Sailors now wintering within the Arctic

ROYAL ARCTIC THEATRE.

G. F. M. D.

Scene from "Bombastes Furioso".

The Queen, Her Consort and Ministers, the Admiralty and those at home who both officially and privately had lent so much to the success of our enterprise our safety & our comfort.

Absent Friends! would they could have heard the cheer that followed, it told volumes for the health and happiness of those upon whom the happiness of the absent depend - last but not least we pledged our brother Sailors now wintering within the Arctic Circle. God send that they have spent an equally happy winter and if those who entered by Bherings Straits have rescued the gallant men we came to seek pleasing indeed for us as well as them, will to the recollection in after years of the Winter 1850.

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580
(716) 872-4503

25
22

Admirably as we believe all have succeeded in shaking off the tedium of a night of three months duration—there was one evening especially worthy of remark—we feel assured it will never be forgot by any one in this expedition—we allude to the re-opening of the Royal Arctic Theatre on the 9th inst.

The curtain rose for the well known Farce of the Turned Head, the Characters in which were ably supported by Seamen & Marines.—

The famous Extravaganza of Bombastes Furioso, was next performed by Officers—the cast of Characters was as follows.

King Artaxerxus, — Mr. Brookman

Fusos, ————— Mr. Markham.

Bombastes, ————— Lt. Elliot.

D. Staffena, ————— Mr. Cheyne.

We hardly know which to applaud most, the admirable manner in which the piece was brought on the Stage— the comic magnificence of the dresses, or the thorough appreciation of the Characters assumed by those Officers who so kindly came forward to conduce to the amusement of their comrades.

Sincerely do we thank them for as hearty a laugh, as ever we had in our lives. This rich entertainment closed with an original Pantomime from the pen of especially the one which our worthy cotemporary the 'Aurora Borealis', has, with its usual good taste introduced in its January number, and we can only wish that the Author may succeed equally well in all he undertakes.— The back scene during the Pantomime, was an Artistic representation of H. M. S. 'Assistance', in a Nip— every way worthy of the well-established reputation of the Painter, Lieut. Browne.

The able remarks of the 'Aurora' on the performances at another place of public amusement, the 'Intrepid Saloon', we heartily concur in, and wish the lefsee crowded houses, and unparalleled success!

A slight interregnum has now occurred in the round of our festivities, shortly to be broken by a Fancy dress Ball at the Royal Arctic Casino. We feel ourselves justified in declaring that it will be crowded by all the youth rank & beauty of Guff's Island—the deep interest taken by some individuals in the parts they intend to assume, we became fully aware of, on scaling a Ravine some three miles off, attending a somewhat stout brother Officer practising Clowns antics on a Snow drift, with the temperature about 42° below zero.

We remonstrated with our friend, but finding him obstinate, we determined thus to expose his folly.

Our correspondents deserve our best

by Officers - the cast of Characters was as follows -

King Artaxemachus, — M. Brookman

Tusbo, — M. Markham.

Bombastes, — St. Elliot.

Dustaffina, — M. Cheyne.

We hardly know which to applaud most, the admirable manner in which the piece was brought on the Stage! — the comic magnificence of the dresses, or the thorough appreciation of the Characters assumed by those Officers who so kindly came forward to conduce to the amusement of their comrades.

Sincerely do we thank them for as hearty a laugh, as ever we had in our lives. This rich entertainment closed with an original Pantomime, from the pen of M. Eds; of H. M. S. Assistance. — We feel a natural diffidence in criticising the performance of a friend, but this we must say, that it was admirable, & the Songs introduced in it, told with great effect — of public amusement, the 'Intrepid Saloon'; we heartily concur in, and wish the lease crowded houses, and unparalleled success!

A slight interregnum has now occurred in the round of our festivities, shortly to be broken by a Fancy dress Ball at the Royal Arctic Casino. We feel ourselves justified in declaring that it will be crowded by all the youth rank, & beauty of Griffith's Island. — the deep interest taken by some individuals in the parts they intend to assume, we became fully aware of, on scaling a Ravine some three miles off, offending a somewhat stout brother Officer practising Clowns antics on a Snow drift, with the temperature about 12° below zero. We remonstrated with our friend, but finding him obstinate, we determined thus to expose his folly —

Our correspondents deserve our best thanks for their Contributions, & we wish them & our Readers

A MERRY SUNRISE.

C.F.M.D.

ADVERTISEMENT.—

Fifty Pounds Sterling of the Current Coin of these Realms, payable at the North Polar Bank, will be given by Her, the Grand Vizier of the Poles, to any person or persons, who shall write the best articles, on each, or either, or all of the following subjects, viz:—

- 1.— On the Ventilation of Ships, wintering in the Arctic Regions. N.B.— The mode of regulating the supply of fresh air to Sylvester's Warming Apparatus, to be gone into thoroughly.—
- 2.— The effect of light on the human system, especially as to how it affects sleeping at night.
- 3.— The freezing of Mercury.—

Conditions.

- 1.— They shall appear in one or both of the Arctic Newspapers at the discretion of the writers.—
- 2.— Each article to be sufficiently brief to admit of its occupying no more than one page of the Illustrated or four pages of the Aurora.
- 3.— The umpires shall be 'Foul Air,' 'Jack Frost,' and 'Minus Fifty.'—

(By command of the Vizier)

Barny Buntline,
Secretary

P.S.— Barny Buntline has laid the clever production of 'Tomerhas' before His Highness

'A plant deprived of sunny rays,
Is pale and sickly seen—
The Sun's been gone near ninety days
Still some of us are green'—

HINTS TO ARCTIC TRAVELLERS.

In walking across the floor in any direction, it may be observed that the snow which lies upon it is arranged in a particular manner— Baron Wrangel in his journey along the shores of the Arctic Seas, observes that the Eskimos of Northern

By way of making the subject clear to those for whom this short article is intended, we will suppose a heavy fall of snow takes place on the floor, which surrounds the Ships, & that soon after a high wind comes on— The particles of snow will soon drift away before the wind, and in their progress will be arrested here & there, & form hard, crisp, wave-like ridges (sastrugi of Wrangel) which point in the direction of the wind.

Now in most parts of the world, there is a prevailing wind— such is the case here, it is that from the N.W.— Consequently the before mentioned ridges lie N.W. & S.E. and in course of time become large & permanent.—

When the wind blows strongly from any other quarter, or if there has been a fresh deposit, these ridges may be covered or hidden, but they are not obliterated, for on clearing away the upper layers of snow, the same ridges will be found pointing as before.—

Observer. (R. & A.)

SONGS OF THE NORTH.

Dedicated to Mr. Austin,

By the Authors

No. 1. Appeal to the Seamen & Marines of the Expedition.

(Sung by Lieut. R. D. Aldrich at the close of the Royal Arctic Theatre, March 4th 1851.)

Air.— 'Hearts of Oak'

Come, cheer up my lads! the season draws near
When all wish to strive, nor care where they steer;
In the human's cause, which may Providence bless,
And crown all our efforts & toil with success,
(Chorus)— Our hearts are all stout, our motto shall be Ready! eye! Ready!
To rescue our comrades from dire misery

With Sledges well manned, and provisions in store
Will search Creek & Inlet of this barren Shore
For from the shipwreck, despair, or an untimely grave
Is a Briton's proud boast, to succour & save!

of its occupying, no more than one page of the 'Illustrated' or four pages of the 'Aurora';
3. - The umpires shall be 'Foul Air', 'Jack Frost', and 'Minus Fifty' -

(By command of the 'Vizier')

Barney Buntline,
Secretary

P.S. - Barney Buntline has laid the clever production of 'Tomeritas' before His Highness.

A plant deprived of sunny rays,
Is pale and sickly seen -
The Sun's been gone near ninety days,
Still some of us are green -

HINTS TO ARCTIC TRAVELLERS.

In walking across the floor in any direction, it may be observed that the snow which lies upon it, is arranged in a particular manner - Baron Wrangel in his journey along the shores of the Arctic Sea, observes that the Natives of Northern Siberia find their way across the snowy plains, by a knowledge of this fact (vide Wrangel's Expeditions to the Polar Sea - 2nd Ed. p. 144). -

We would call the attention of the Seamen & Marines of the Expedition to this subject, as under circumstances of fog, or snow-drift, it may prove useful by enabling them to find their way back to the Ship, or to proceed to their destination.

SONGS OF THE NORTH.

Dedicated to Mr. Austin,

By the Authors.

No. 1. - Appeal to the Seamen & Marines of the Expedition.

(Sung by Lieut. R. D. Aldrich, at the close of the Royal Arctic Theatre - March 4th 1851.)

Air. - 'Hearts of Oak.'

Come, cheer up my lads! the season draws near,
When all wish to strive, nor care where they steer;
In Humanity's cause; which may Providence bless,
And crown all our efforts, & toil with success,
(Chorus). - Our hearts are all stout, & our motto shall be,
Ready! eye! Ready!

To rescue our Comrades from dire misery

With Sledges well manned, and provisions in store,
We'll search Creek & Inlet of this barren Shore;
For from Shipwreck, despair, or an untimely grave,
Tis a Briton's proud boast, to succour & save.

And if by our aid, those we seek should once more
In health see again old England's lov'd shore;
We'll make these bleak hills, with our loud cheers
And add another laurel to our Naval renown.

Then Friends to our motto be constant & true,
Sleep unswell'd the honor confided to you;
To relieve the lost crews, let your minds all be bent
Oh! think on the glorious mission you're sent

ILLUSTRATED ARCTIC NEWS.

NO V.

"TUTO ET SINE METU!"

MARCH 14. 1851.

HE Winter is past, and our labors cease. exertion of a more active nature, than that of Quill, and Pencil, calls us and our Friends likewise elsewhere.

A novel and energetic attempt to search a feet a great extent of the Arctic Ocean is about to be put on execution. All that human foresight, and ingenuity could devise to insure a perfect equipment of the Travelling parties has, we all know, been done, and how thoroughly our gallant Leader has enlisted all our zeal and goodwill in the work before us, will, we question not, be proved in a glorious issue!

Every man and Officer amongst us feels how much is expected of him, and knows full that where his duty calls how those can be best fulfil his Country's expectations.

The generous emulation pervading the Squadron, as to who shall during the coming operations, as soon the severest task is not a little pleasing. Yet we hardly knew where that honorable post is to be found. Those who travel will have

series, looking alone to the overflowing state of our contributions, & the steady and constant increase, evincing that we were gradually gaining on the goodwill and diffidence of our Readers. It is possible that in July we may issue a sixth number. In it we will introduce, with the permission of our Contributors any thing, they may in the meanwhile favor us with, and should we spend a second Winter in the Arctic Regions, we hope for their kind support.

It has been our object to avoid giving annoyance or pain to a single person in the Squadron. We believe we have succeeded. Should we not have done so in any one case: we trust the individual will kindly write, and inform us and the offensive sketch or paragraph shall be immediately erased.

Friends! we bid you all a kind and hearty-farewell!

feel a great extent of the Arctic Ocean is about to be put in execution. All that human thought, and ingenuity could devise to insure a perfect equipment of the Travelling parties has, we all know, been done, and how thoroughly our gallant Leader has enlisted all our zeal and goodwill in the work before us, will, we question not, be proved in a glorious issue.

Every man and Officer amongst us feels how much is expected of him, and knows full that where his duty calls him, there can he best fulfil his Country's expectations.

The generous emulation pervading the Squadron, as to who shall, during the coming operations, as soon the severest task is not a little pleasing. Yet we hardly know where that honorable post is to be found. Those who travel will have hard work, those who remain, will have to feel severely and have that worst of all burdens anxiety for their absent friends weighing upon their minds.

Our Five Numbers of the 'Illustrated' might we feel certain, be extended to an unlimited the permission of our Contributors any thing, they may in the meanwhile favor us with, and should we spend a second Winter on the Arctic Regions, we hope for their kind support.

It has been our object to avoid giving any annoyance or pain to a single person in the Squadron. We believe we have succeeded. Should we not have done so in any one case we trust the individual will kindly write, and inform us and the offensive sketch or paragraph shall be immediately erased.

Friends! we bid you all a kind and hearty farewell!

THE ARCTIC COUGH

THE SAILOR'S DRAG.

A party of Tars in a jolly, round' net
 To the Shore for some gravel are going Sweet
 The sledge it is empty and smooth is the floor
 And hark to the ditty they sing as they go—
 Cheerily we go over the floor
 And soon to old England, we all hope to go.

And well may these Tars feel light hearted & gay
 For on them shines brightly the bright orb of day
 Altho' in its absence there's been lots of fun
 There are few but feel happy that work has begun
 Cheerily we go, over the floor,
 And soon to old England, we all hope to go?

But ere we go home, we're much yet to do,
 Yes! Travellers our hopes are now centred on you,
 And that you may succeed is the wish of each one
 Then home to Old England we'll merrily run
 Cheerily we'll sail, with a fresh gale,
 Yes! soon to old England we all hope to sail!

But alas! I'm diverging, how altered the scene!
 The sledge is now loaded full homely Tawny
 Their bells are all shrouded, their walk is now slow
 But still they continue to sing as they go;
 Cheerily we go over the floor,
 And soon to old England, we all hope to go?

ARCTIC SKETCHES.

ARCTIC SKETCHES.

NORTHERN SPORTS. — TUMBLING ON THE ICE.

An Arctic Tale of Bygone days.

For 275 years English Nautical skill has been directed to the unknown regions situated between Greenland & Bherings Straits during that lapse of time, no less than forty-one Expeditions, consisting either of one, or more Vessels have sailed to accomplish, but failed in achieving a N.W. passage, the two last Expeditions excepted. Their mission has been to seek the lost Squadron of Sir John Franklin. The impunity with which wretched ill-fated Shallops and Pinnaces of 30 and 40 Tons, battled with the difficulties of Arctic Navigation, appears to have been almost miraculous; and unhappily for the sake of these we are now in search of, the hair breadth escapes of Vessels like the Sunshine and Salspied seemed to have been looked upon by Arctic Authorities, as an argument in favor of the safety with which the Frozen North was to be navigated, an impression

And soon to old England, we all hope to go?

But ere we go home, we're much yet to do,
Yes! Travellers our hopes are now centred in you,
And that you may succeed is the wish of each one
Then home to Old England we'll merrily run,
Cheerily we'll sail, with a fresh gale,
Yes! soon to old England, we all hope to sail!

But alas! I'm diverging, now altered the scene!
The sledge is now loaded full heavily I woe
Their belts are all strained, their walk is now slow
But still they continue to sing as they go,
Cheerily we go, over the floe,
And soon to old England, we all hope to go?

ARCTIC SKETCHES.

THE PRODIGALS' RETURN.

that lapse of time, no less than forty-one Expeditions, consisting either of one, or more Vessels have sailed to accomplish, but failed in achieving a N.W. passage, the two last Expeditions excepted. Their mission has been to seek the lost Squadron of Sir John Franklin. The impunity, with which wretched ill-fated Shallops and Pennacs of 30 and 40 Tons, battling with the difficulties of Arctic Navigation, appear to have been almost miraculous; and unhappily for the sake of those we are now in search of, the hair breadth escapes of Vessels like the "Sunshine" and "Godspeed" seemed to have been looked upon by Arctic Authorities, as an argument in favor of the safety, with which the Frozen North was to be navigated; an impression which all the highly colored descriptions, and glibbery Indian ink Sketches of more modern Seamen have only in a slight degree been able to subvert.

In turning over the Chronological History of Arctic Voyages, I have been struck with the fate of an ancient N.W. exploring expedition. Their mysterious loss, and the discovery of their fate in after years has a parallel in Franklin's case, and it may serve as an incentive to a severe and close scrutiny of every thing like a Harbour or sheltered spot during the forthcoming season.

In the year of Grace 1669, the Hudson Bay's Company was first incorporated, the influence of Prince Rupert obtaining them a Royal Charter as a reward for an attempt to discover a N.W. passage, "at their own cost and charges" Capt. Sillam (who founded Fort Churchill in Hudson's Bay) having commanded the said expedition.

Fifty years afterwards an old Servant of the Company in charge of the Nelson River Factory became thoroughly impressed with an idea, originating in Indian reports of Gold and Copper Mines existing in the unknown North, and appears to have determined to make his Masters rich "inclens volens".

Unlike the old Dames in the Nursery who the Honorable Company were content with the golden eggs they had got, and Governor Knight would never have been

This succeeded, and the 'Albany' and 'Discovery' under command of Captains Barlow and Vaughan, were placed under the sole direction of Governor Knight he being at the time eighty years of age.

In 1799 this ill-fated expedition sailed from Traversend: to discover, by God's permission the Straits of Annon and bring home a Cargo of Gold dust! No intelligence having been again heard of them, a Vessel called the 'Whalibone' John Scroggs sailed from Churchill River on the 22nd of June 1792, to seek for the missing Adventurers.

Capt. John Scroggs sailed along the West Coast of Hudson's Bay, and reached in Sir Thomas Ross Welcome as far as the mouth of Wager River but seems to have quite lost sight of the object for which he was sent northward that of rescuing his starving countrymen not discovery. Indeed on finding open water to the westward, he came to the conclusion that the missing expedition had succeeded in reaching the Pacific.

It was forty eight years before the mystery was cleared up! although in the meantime two other N.W. Expeditions had sailed up the Welcome and returned in safety.

at their own cost and charges" Capt. Sellaum (who founded Fort Churchill in Hudson's Bay) having commanded the said expedition.

Fifty years afterwards an old Servant of the Company in charge of the Nelson River Factory became thoroughly impressed with an idea, originating in Indian reports of Gold and Copper Mines existing in the unknown North, and appears to have determined to make his Masters rich "nolens volens".

Unlike the old Dame in the Nursery who the Honorable Company were content with the golden eggs they had got, and Governor Knight would never have been allowed to sail in quest of either a N.W. passage into the Great South Sea, or the mines of precious metals, had he not been of somewhat an obstinate disposition, and threatened to appeal for support to the Ministers of the Crown.

Capt. John Soreggs sailed along the West Coast of Hudson's Bay; and reached in Sir Thomas Reed's Welcome as far as the mouth of Wager River but seems to have quite lost sight of the object for which he was sent northward; that of rescuing his starving countrymen - not discovery. Indeed on finding open water to the westward, he came to the conclusion that the missing expedition had succeeded in reaching the Pacific.

It was forty-eight years before the mystery was cleared up! although in the meantime two other N.W. Expeditions had sailed up the Welcome and returned in safety.

Some of the Company's Whale Boats in 1761, being on pursuit of Fish off Chesterfield Inlet, happened to enter a Harbour at the east end of Marble Island; here they discovered on shore the remains of a House; Guns

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580
(716) 872-4303

25

?

anchors, blocks, an anchor &c. and the hulls or rather bottoms of two ships were found under water. Through the Esquimaux residing in the neighbourhood the melancholy tale of suffering undergone by the Officers and Crews of the Albany and Discovery, was soon told.

In the fall of 1719 these Ships had with great difficulty secured themselves in the Harbour. Next Summer the Esquimaux visited them the English men appeared to be reduced in numbers and looking unwell they were then busy lengthening their long boat. By the commencement of the Winter of 1720-21 the poor fellows were reduced sadly in numbers from famine and sickness, and during the Winter the Esquimaux supplied them with Whale blubber and Seal fat for food. By the Summer of 1721 only six of the English were alive and they were starving. The raw food given them by the Esquimaux, which they swallowed uncooked, seems to have soon killed this small remnant and it is worthy of remark that the Armourer who the Esquimaux described as being constantly employed making and there weeping bitterly look forward to that relief, which came not... but from God.

Hearne, from whom the Esquimaux Tale is received was under the impression that all the party perished by the Winter of 1721-22, or eighteen months after the period for which their vessels were probably victualled.

There is however always a difficulty in understanding from the Esquimaux, the comparative measurements of Time, and our authority has extended the sufferings of the Armourer, and some of his comrades over a space of thirteen years.

How certain is the fact that Serrogs in 1722 sailed past the spot whereon lay his Countrymen, how painful the supposition; that had he kept the object of his voyage more in view, the life of even one individual might have been saved.

S.O.

ARCTIC SKETCHES.

A HEAVY LOAD.

men appeared to be reduced in numbers and looking unhealthy, they were then busy lengthening their long boat. By the commencement of the Winter of 1720-21 the poor fellows were reduced sadly in numbers from famine and sickness, and during the Winter the Esquimaux supplied them with Whale blubber and Seal, for food. By the Summer of 1721 only five of the English were alive and they were starving. The raw food given them by the Esquimaux, which they swallowed uncooked, seems to have soon killed this small remnant and it is worthy of remark that the Amourer who the Esquimaux described as being constantly employed making articles for barter, appears to have lived the longest.

This poor soul, with a comrade, so said the Natives - used to ascend a Hill, which looked to the South & East;

and his authority has extended the sufferings of the Amourer, and some of his comrades over a space of thirteen years.

How certain is the fact that Scroggs in 1722 sailed past the spot wherein lay his Countrymen, - how painful the supposition; that had he kept the object of his voyage more in view, the life of even one individual might have been saved.

S.O.

ARCTIC SKETCHES.

A HEAVY LOAD.

FOX TRAP.

MAN TRAP.

A TRIP TO BETHLEHEM.

by J. L. O.
 Still the same burning Sun! no Cloud in Heaven,
 The Hot Air quivers - and the sultry mist - Floats o'er the Desert with a show, of distant Waters. -

It was amid the dreary wastes of Judah, where not a cloud darkened the Heavens, not a shrub peeped above the arid soil to gladden our eyes that the lines of our poet Southey came in full force upon our memory; a hazy atmosphere arose from the ground, and gave an appearance of Waters around us; and an oppression and sultriness existed the air, that made us long for our destination.

The Country through which we were then travelling, was one of utter dreariness; we had left the solitude clad Convent of the Valley of Engaddi behind, and were now journeying towards the village of Bethlehem.

On all sides we were surrounded with Biblical and Historical Associations that mysterious Sea over whose Waters no Bird dare skim; within whose bosom no Fish can live, lay, as if at our feet - bounded by the far mountains of Arabia. -

The curse of ages still lies heavily upon its bosom.

No. 1. Bethlehem from the Wilderness of Judah Δ
 To the Northward, the Mosque of Omar | peeped above the waste of Hills.

No. 2. Jerusalem above the Wilderness of Judah. Δ
 whilst the Mons Regalis

were then travelling, was one of utter its baseness.

No 1. Bethlehem from the Wilderness of Judah. Δ

To the Northward, the Mosque of Omar | peeped above the waste of Hills.

No 2. Jerusalem above the Wilderness of Judah. Δ

whilst the Mons Regalis

No 3. Mons Regalis from Wilderness of Judah. Δ

(a witness of the last efforts of the Crusaders) and the Jericho Hills, limited the scene.

Oppressed by the Weather, and the thought which that gloomy sea had excited within us, we experienced real enjoyment when the walls of Bethlehem rose to our sight, and the anticipation of hospitality and rest; - and of a visit to that Grotto so deeply interesting to the Christian; - infused a new spirit into us

No. 1. Wilderness of Engaddi - Dead Sea and mountains of Arabia beyond. Δ

C-28297

Quickening our pace we rode by a Valley spotted with the black Tents of the Children of the Desert. - Their Tents formed the encampment of a tribe which had crossed the Jordan, a few days before seeking refuge from the tyranny of the Conquerors, and only waiting an opportunity for revenge.

We passed by them unquestioned merely returning the Salam Aleikhom with which these bronzed Children of Ishmael greeted us

With a pleasure only known to the wearied traveller we alighted at the Convent; and as we put feet within the magnificent temple we felt as if we had entered another world so delightfully cool was the air we breathed

All our wants were attended to a well laden table was placed before us, and when the ravings of hunger were appeased the

a good night's rest having refreshed our weary limbs, we sallied forth. -

The Church built over the sacred Grotto, would have been a splendid building had it been completed, but it remains grand even in its unfinished state.

Forty-two Columns of Corinthian order are ranged along the sides of the Nave, which though deserted breathes into the solitary Visitor a strange unearthly feeling. The walls still glitter with Mosaic, & everything speaks of a past replete with associations.

A feeling of respect, and awe pervades the pilgrim, as on descending the steps, he finds himself in holy ground in presence of the Stable the Manger, and the spot consecrated by the birth of Our Saviour.

Placing aside all that superstition and walled imagination has

of the Children of the Desert. —
Their Tents formed the encampment of a tribe which had crossed the Jordan, a few days before, seeking refuge from the tyranny of the Conquerors, and only watching an opportunity for revenge. —

We passed by them unquestioned, merely returning the 'Salom Aleikom' with which these bronzed Children of Ishmael greeted us

With a pleasure only known to the wearied traveller, we alighted at the Convent, and as we put foot within the magnificent temple, we felt as if we had entered another world, so delightfully cool was the air we breathed.

All our wants were attended to, a well laden table was placed before us, and when the cravings of hunger were appeased, the Monks came anxiously around greedy after news from their long left home; as tales which to us appeared old were related. a ray of disappointment, or of joy was elicited by the greedy listener

Hunger and thirst appeased, and

The Church built over the sacred Grotto, would have been a splendid building had it been completed, but it remains grand even in its unfinished state.

Forty two columns of Corinthian order are ranged along the sides of the Nave, which though deserted, breathes into the solitary visitor a strange unearthly feeling.

The walls still glitter with Mosaic, & everything speaks of a past, replete with associations.

A feeling of respect, and awe pervades the pilgrim, as on descending the steps he finds himself in holy ground, in presence of the Stable, the Manger, and the spot consecrated by the birth of Our Saviour.

Placing aside all that superstition, and exalted imagination have attached to the spot, there is something sweetly interesting in a visit to this Grotto: the marbled and silvered Walls bedecked with the simple tokens of the Christian pilgrim are little noticed by the eye of faith; the spot hallowed by the birth of a Divine Redeemer, is that which is only seen, & which only interests.

Among the many who kneel before this shrine, one struck the Spectator from his entire absorption, and the sense of deep veneration in which he appeared plunged; he was one who had seen, and travelled much; in his own words 'a poor & obscure pilgrim, he had come from the land of Godofroy de Bouillon, to kneel amid the dust of the sorrowful Jerusalem.'

Having saluted the last remains of Thebes, of Memphis, of Tyre and Sidon, he was about to return to his father's hearth, with more cheerful thought, & a heart better prepared for the great journey to Heaven.

But from these Holy associations Time that stern Mentor called us away.

When taking leave of the hospitable Convent, the good old Prior accompanied us to where our Horses stood, and ere parting, blessed us with a wish that our way through that land might prove safe & pleasant.

Leaving Bethlehem & visiting Solomon's Pools, David's Mill, and Rachel's Tomb we alighted in the Wilderness of St John, where the hospitality of the Convent had followed us in the well stocked bags and well filled flask of the golden wine of Lebanon.

We have travelled other scenes, and seen many places, but the reminiscences of Bethlehem linger fondly on our memory.

Hadj. (J.L.D.)

ARCTIC SKETCHES.

To the Editor of the 'Illustrated Arctic News'. —

My dear Mr. Editor,

I cannot agree with your correspondent 'Observer', I have walked up the floe, and down the floe, & across it, in every direction, and I beg to differ from him.

The Sastrugi will be found to vary as much as sixty or seventy degrees in the direction in which they point in very many places up the floe. — How it may be in Barrow's Straits, where probably there are no eddy winds, I cannot say, but 'Observer' has remarked that we may, when at a distance from the Ships, walk for them by means of the Snow drift around them, and so that I object — it may be the case here, and there, but it is not an infallible guide.

I am aware that I have great odds to contend against, when we know that Baron Wrangel says much the same thing, but I do not think this floe can be compared to the 'Stony Tundra' and besides the Inhabitants of those regions, from great experience, acquire the faculty of discriminating between the true & false Sastrugi. — Even Wrangel himself, when travelling with them, referred to his Compass, once an hour.

Through the medium of your

When taking leave of the hospitable convent, the good old Prior accompanied us to where our Horses stood, and in parting, blessed us with a wish that our way through that land might prove safe & pleasant.

Leaving Bethlehem I visited Solomon's Pools, David's Mill, and Rachel's Tomb we delighted in the Wilderness of St. John, where the hospitality of the convent had followed us in the well stocked bags, and well filled flask of the golden wine of Lebanon.

We have travelled other climes, and seen many places, but the reminiscences of Bethlehem linger fondly on our memory.

Hadj. (J.L.D.)

ARCTIC SKETCHES.

Travelling costumes

marked that we may when at a distance from the Ships, walk for them by means of the Snow drift around them, and so that I object - it may be the case here, and there but it is not an infallible guide.

I am aware that I have great odds to contend against, when we know that Baron Wrangel says much the same thing, but I do not think this floc can be compared to the 'Story Tundra' - and besides the Inhabitants of those regions, from great experience, acquire the faculty of discriminating between the true & false Sastrugi. - Even Wrangel himself, when travelling with them, referred to his Compass, once an hour.

Through the medium of your columns, I would call the attention of 'Observer', to his too hastily written article.

Yours, &c

Jack Steadfast.

Feb 4 1851

WALK ALONG THE NORTH SHORE OF
"EREBUS & TERROR BAY."

A report, that Sledge tracks had been seen to-wards Caswell's Fen, a remarkable detached piece of Table Land some 20 miles East of Beechey Island induced myself & others to form a party to visit that neighbourhood.

Landing on the North shore of what from common consent had been termed Union Bay, we struck to the Eastward along a series of remarkable terraces, or ancient sea beaches, which already commenced to form so striking a feature in the Lime-stone Region, into which the Expedition had now entered.

These elevated beaches, some as high as 200 feet above the sea, were as distinctly marked as the present margin of the waters of Wellington Channel & showed that whether the Sea had subsided, or the Land risen, the form of the Basin had been essentially the same.

Standing on some elevated point, and looking down on these tidal marks it reminded one much of the regularity of an Amphitheatre, so singularly parallel to each other, were these beaches and the intermediate spaces varying from 8 to 50 feet.

Here and there the continuity was broken by some recent rush of water, or slip of detritus from the time worn over the multitudes of Fossils, which strewed the ground around us, and I candidly plead guilty to a recreant sight for the sunny lands of the South, on picking up a mass of fossil Coral which had once grown in these now frozen climes.

A freshening Autumnal gale, & threatening appearance left the imagination little time to indulge in what this Region might have been, for its sad reality of Snow, Ice, & Barrenness, thrust itself painfully upon the mind's eye, and brought it back to the gross reality.

Surmounting a spur from the high lands of North Devon, which divides the Basin of Union Bay from that of the "Erebus & Terror";— We walked down to the Sea Beach, and having been joined by some friends from Beechey Island, who ran considerable risk in crossing the broken Ice that filled the hardly perceptible division, between the Island & the Main— alternately availing ourselves of the Land or Floe which still filled the Bay, in which the lost Expedition had once rode— we made rapid progress to some low land on the N.E. side of it.

Robinson Crusoe's heart never throbed with such varying emotions of hope

These elevated beaches, some as high as 200 feet above the sea, were as distinctly marked as the present margin of the waters of Millington Channel, & showed that whether the sea had subsided, or the Land risen, the form of the Basin had been essentially the same -

Standing on some elevated point, and looking down on these tidal marks, it reminded me much of the regularity of an Amphitheatre, so singularly parallel to each other, were these beaches, and the intermediate spaces varying from 8 to 50 feet -

Here and there the continuity was broken by some recent rush of water, or slip of detritus, from the time worn cliffs whose rent and frost-bitten faces reminded me strongly of Humboldt's expression, that we were amongst the bones of an old world: -

An enthusiastic Geologist might have spent much time in philosophising.

Surmounting a spur from the high lands of North Devon, which divides the Basin of Union Bay, from that of the "Erebus & Terror"; - We walked down to the Sea Beach, and having been joined by some friends from Beuchey Island, who ran considerable risk in crossing the broken Ice that filled the hardly perceptible division, between the Island & the Main - alternately availing ourselves of the Land or Floe which still filled the Bay, in which the last Expedition had once roved - we made rapid progress to some low land on the N.E. side of it

Robinson Crusoe's heart never throbb'd with such varying emotions of hope & anxiety as mine did on scanning the numerous traces of our Countrymen having once been here: -

On arriving at a spot which had evidently been the spot on which Franklin's

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580
(716) 872-4503

people had been in the habit of landing after a transit over the frozen surface of the Bay. Several deep & well defined Sledge tracks, up & down the Beach, showed where nervous arms had dragged the heavily laden Sledge over the ridge of Shingle, and then three diverging trails, pointed towards Cape Riley, a gorge in the Hills to the Northward, and lastly towards Caswell's Tower.

The first trail had of course been struck by our Squadron at its head, by the discovery of the Shooting Station at Cape Riley.

CAPE RILEY, (NORTH DEVON)

FIRST TRACES OF MIDDING EXPEDITION DISCOVERED.

The Northern trail I conjectured to be that of some shooting & exploring reached a series of small Lakes, and on the borders of one, where a slight rise in the land afforded a shelter against the bitter Northerly gales — an encampment had evidently been formed. —

Stones which had been used to hold down the Tent remained in their original position — Cases in which preserved Meat had once been, were thrown about — a few bottles lay here and there — a few Bird bones — the Skin of an Arctic Hare, torn to pieces by Foxes — and a few Bird feathers, led us to conclude Sportsmen had been here. —

After carefully turning over every Stone, and strolling into the waters of the shallow lake to assure ourselves that no written clue as to Franklins whereabouts was here, to be found, we again took up the trail, and crossed several intervening spaces from the neighbouring Hills which people, had been in the habit of landing after a transit over the frozen surface of the Bay. Several deep & well defined Sledge tracks, up & down the Beach, showed where nervous arms had dragged the heavily laden Sledge over the ridge of Shingle, and then three diverging trails, pointed towards Cape Riley, a gorge in the Hills to the Northward, and lastly towards Caswell's Tower.

The first trail had of course been struck by our Squadron at its head, by the discovery of the Shooting Station at Cape Riley.

CAPE RILEY, (NORTH DEVON)

FIRST TRACES OF MISSING EXPEDITION DISCOVERED.

The Northern trail I conjectured to be that of some shooting & exploring

reached a series of small Lakes, and on the borders of one, where a slight rise in the land afforded a shelter against the bitter Northerly gales — an encampment had evidently been formed. —

Stones which had been used to hold down the Tent remained in their original position — Cases in which preserved Meat had once been, were thrown about — a few bottles lay here and there — a few Bird bones — the Skin of an Arctic Hare, torn to pieces by Foxes — and a few Bird feathers, led us to conclude Sportsmen had been here —

After carefully turning over every Stone, and strolling into the waters of the shallow lake to assure ourselves that no written clue as to Franklin's whereabouts was here, to be found, we again took up the trail, and crossed several intervening spaces from the neighbouring Hills which

The first trail had of course been struck by our Squadron at its head, by the discovery of the Shooting Station at Cape Riley -

CAPE RILEY, (NORTH DEVON)

FIRST TRACES OF MISSING EXPEDITION DISCOVERED.

The Northern trail I conjectured to be that of some shooting & exploring party in that direction.

Taking up the Eastern trail,
which showed that two or more sledges had gone in that direction, we soon thrown about - a few bottles lay here and there - a few Bird bones - the Skin of an Arctic Hare, torn to pieces by Foxes - and a few Bird feathers, led us to conclude Sportsmen had been here -

After carefully turning over every Stone, and strolling into the waters of the shallow lake to assure ourselves that no written clue as to Franklins whereabouts was here, to be found, we again took up the trail, and crossed several intervening spaces from the neighbouring Hills which the Travellers appeared to have dragged their sledges over, the marks of the runner being as deep & distinct, as the day it was made. - We naturally inferred that

Franklin's people must have taken to the high ground to avoid the water on the plains, & that their journey must have been accomplished after the snows had for the most part thawed.

From this difficult ground, the trail again descended to the plain, & here it became faint & uncertain, for the ground was nothing else but much broken limestone, without a vestige of soil, and this again intersected in every possible direction by water-courses.

The snow drift and wind had meantime increased to a perfect gale. — the temperature was below freezing point and the fast falling flakes of snow, had already begun to cover the landscape in a universal mantle of white, and as the trail was soon lost, we decided on returning whilst we could yet see the road back.

A few Sand Snipe were running about the margin of a brook, and these beyond a solitary Seal or so whose

the Examination of Caswell's Tower, plans which it fell to another's lot to fulfill. — We marched to our wooden huts as much in a straight line as possible, a decision which diversified our journey, undoubtedly, but entailed much hard labour, for the ground was cut up into precipitous ravines in every direction, and what with sliding down the Glaciers on the one side, and scaling those on the other, we were heartily tired, and the hour was late by the time we reached the Ships.

It was not until the spring of 1851, that the object Franklin's party had in travelling Eastward was ascertained by Mr. J. M. Stewart of the Lady Franklin, who was despatched by Capt. Penny for that purpose, & amongst many other interesting incidents connected with his journey, he discovered at the base of Caswell's Tower, two carefully constructed Cairns of a peculiar form, built opposite to each other, at the distance of a few yards — the deep anxiety with which Mr. Stewart pulled down these memorials of Franklin's of Soil - and this again intersected in every possible direction by water courses.

The Snow drift and wind had meantime increased to a perfect gale. - the temperature was below freezing point and the fast falling flakes of snow, had already begun to cover the Landscape in a universal mantle of white, and as the trail was soon lost, we decided on returning whilst we could yet see the road back.

A few Sand Snipe were running about the margin of a brook, and these, beyond a solitary Seal or so, whose bark we had disturbed in the morning, were the only living things we had seen during the day. -

Projecting plans to accomplish

the hour was late by the time we reached the Ships.

It was not until the spring of 1851, that the object Franklin's party had in travelling Eastward was ascertained by Mr. Geo Stewart of the Lady Franklin, who was despatched by Capt. Penny for that purpose; & amongst many other interesting incidents connected with his journey, he discovered at the base of Caswell's Tower, two carefully constructed Cairns of a peculiar form, built opposite to each other, at the distance of a few yards - the deep anxiety with which Mr. Stewart pulled down these memorials of Franklin's visit in hopes of finding a document, we can readily understand, but in this case as in all others, not a vestige of a record, was found -

ROYAL ARCTIC CASINO.

The Manager has the honor to announce that this highly fashionable, and usually crowded resort, will be again shortly — thrown open —

The Splendid Suite of Apartments are re-decorated in the old Hyperborean style — at an —

ENORMOUS OUTLAY,
OF TIME, TALENT, AND MATERIAL.

At the suggestion of an exalted personage of this realm, the Season will close with

A

GRAND FANCY DRESS BALL!!

On Wednesday, the 11th of February, 1851,
for which Tickets will be issued in due season.

The M. C. guarantees that the Refreshments
under the able caterership of Madame Sough (from Gunter's) shall realize the most sanguine expectations and that the Wines, Liqueurs, &c. &c. shall be worthy of his distinguished Guests.

A

HIGHLY TALENTED BAND

will attend.

ROYAL ARCTIC THEATRE.

H. M. S. ASSISTANCE.

LAST NIGHT FOR THE SEASON!!

On Friday, the 28th February, 1851, being the Anniversary of Commissioning the Expedition, will be performed, the

GRAND HISTORICAL DRAMA
in Two Acts, of

CHARLES THE TWELFTH.

Charles XII. ———— Lieut. Meham:
Adam Brock; Mr. Ede.

Maj. Vanberg; (as Firman); Capt. Ammaney:
Sustavus de Mervelt; Mr. Markham.

Troptolemus Muddlowerk; ———— F. J. Krabbi.

Sen. Duchert, Lieut. Cater:
Col. Riichel; Mr. May.

Officers, Miss^{es} Richards and Shellabear:
Eudiga; Mr. M. Dougall; Ulrica, Mr. Pearce.

Act 1. The scenes are laid in the Id. of Rugen; Swedish Pomerania. Charles XII. in
cognite, as an Officer of the Royal Household.
Act 2. Scenes in the Town of Stralsund;
during a state of siege. Charles in propria persona.

Entirely new scenery & dresses!!!

After which, Grand Phantasmagorical
MAGICAL FIGURES.

OF TIME, TALENT, AND MATERIAL.

At the suggestion of an exalted personage of this realm, the Season will close with

A
GRAND FANCY DRESS BALL!!

*On Wednesday, the 11th of February, 1851,
for which Tickets will be issued in due season.*

*The M. C. guarantees that the Refreshments
under the able catership of Madame Lough (from Guters) shall realize the most sanguine expectations and that the Wines, Liqueurs &c. &c. shall be worthy of his distinguished Guests.*

A HIGHLY TALENTED BAND

will attend.

N. B. - Personages of distinction desiring to present addresses to the august M. C. must announce the same on furnishing their Cards at the Grand Entrance.

CHARLES THE TWELFTH.

Charles III. ———— Lieut. Meham

Adam Brock; M^r Ede;

Maj Vanberg; (as Firman); Capt Ammaney;

Gustavus de Movell; M^r Markham;

Tripolemus Muddlowerk; ———— F. J. Krabli;

Sen. Duckert; Lieut. Calor; —

Col. Kuchel; M^r May;

Officers, Mess^{rs} Richards and Skollabear;

Eudiga; M^r M^r Dougall; — Ulrica; M^r Pearse.

*Act 1. — The scenes are laid in the Id. of Rugen; Swedish Pomerania; Charles III. in
cognite, as an Officer of the Royal Household.*

*Act 2. — Scenes in the Town of Stralsund,
during a state of siege; Charles in propria persona.*

Entirely new scenery & dresses!!!

After which, Grand Phantasmagorial

MAGICAL FIGURES.

To conclude with

THE NEW PANTOMIME OF

Z E R O!

Repeated by special desire and prepared with unusual magnificence!

Doors open at 6 o'clock. — Commence at 6.30. —

ARCTIC SKETCHES,

Returning from the Bal Masque.

The Resolute's second Ball.

Although the wind had somewhat subsided on the evening of the 12th of Feb'y, the weather was not such, as some young Ladies we know would have ventured out in; the temperature being 24° with, to quote our Meteorological Journal, considerable snow-drift, — knowing however that the young ladies of Griffith's Island were of somewhat masculine habits, in which by the bye they all agreed and that the Cake and Punch were great inducements, — the preparations on this scale alluded to in the Balls were completed, nothing was forgotten, not a nail too many was driven, all was perfection, even to the providing a tiring woman to settle the Ladies' attires.

It was not until 7 o'clock that the Ball Room was filled, then indeed the fun grew fast & furious, tho' never exceeding the bounds of propriety.

Notwithstanding that our resources were nearly expended, without a costume to fall back upon, we were happy to perceive that

Ball Night was again displayed and we really feel commiseration for those who have never seen an Arctic Naval Fancy Dress Ball. —

By 10.30 P.M. the visitors had left except the Officers of the Squadron for whom Supper &c had been provided by the Captain and Officers of H.M.S. Resolute.

A few Songs, and a Toast or two concluded one of the most agreeable evenings we have spent in the Arctic Regions.

BEECHEY ISLAND.

By the kind assistance of our Friends we are able to add the following particulars:—

A small cairn of stones on the Northern edge of the Table Land of Beechey Island about South from the Huttopi. A circular Tent mark close to the place marked.

The rough Sledge, of which we gave a sketch when first found was in this form. During the stay of the Resolute in Union Bay, the neighbourhood was examined carefully, but beyond the fact of H.M. Ships Erebus & Terror having apparently wintered under Beechey Island in 1845-46, no farther traces were discovered than we have already stated.

Events of the Month of February

The storm of February 1st.

weather was not such, as some young Ladies we know would have ventured out in the temperature being 24° with to quote our Meteorological Journal; considerable snow drift, - knowing however that the young Ladies of Griffiths Island were of somewhat masculine habits, in which by the bye they all agreed and that the Cake and Punch were great inducements; - the preparations on the scale alluded to in the Bells were completed; nothing was forgotten - not a nail too many was driven all was perfection even to the providing - a tiring woman to settle the Ladies' attires

It was not until 7 o'clock that the Ball Room was filled - then indeed the fun grew fast & furious, tho' never exceeding the bounds of propriety

Notwithstanding that our resources were nearly expended, without a costume to fall back upon, we were happy to perceive that there was no falling off in the Characters, which were numerous and well sustained. -

The same good taste in the choice of costume, the same skill in all branches of Millinery, that we had occasion to remark on a previous

By the kind assistance of our Friends we are able to add the following particulars: -

A small barn of stones on the Northern edge of the Table Land of Beechey Island about South from the Workshop. A circular Tent mark close to the place marked

The rough Sledge, of which we give a sketch when first found was in this form:

During the stay of the Resolute in Union Bay, the neighbourhood was examined carefully, but beyond the facts of Hull Ships Erebus & Terror having apparently wintered under Beechey Island in 1845-46, no farther traces were discovered than we have already stated

Events of the Month of February

The close of February and the first week of March 1851 are replete with interest, and mark a fresh epoch in the fast changing history of our eventful season in these Northern Regions

The arrival of the Sun in our heavens, was we may say commemorated by the 'Fancy Dress Ball': of it we have elsewhere spoken. Hardly had our daylight extended itself to the length of ten hours, when 'Mr Hamilton' & 'Dr Bradford' with a Sledge & a party of Seamen, performed a pedestrian feat by walking to the Expeditions wintering under Cornwallis Island and we rejoiced to see them return with some of our gallant friends who kindly came over to pay us a visit & we heard with no small satisfaction that during the Winter, all had been health & merriment in their little Society as well as our own.

Scene from the Pantomime of 'Kero'

The 'Assistance' had made arrangements to celebrate the anniversary of our Expedition, having been put into commission by a performance on the boards of the Royal Arctic Theatre: unhappily a very severe gale of wind prevented this their intention being carried into effect, and the performance as well as the closing

Scene from Charles XII.

Not small are the obligations which the non-performers labour under to the many individuals who have in such diverse manners tended to the general amusement Managers, Actors, Painters, Prompters and Scene Shifters, &c.

'Nobly each & all their means have used' as the neat Epilogue truthfully says - and the result has been a Theatre unequalled in excellence by any Squadron, reflecting no small credit on the 'Assistance' in general especially when it be remembered that the performances have taken place on the Upper Deck with the external temperature as low as 30° below Zero.

The Original Pantomime of 'Lero' was again performed, and had been evidently much improved. A new Song or two was introduced & the indefatigable Mr Dean astonished the Audience by his clever imitation of a Bear & a Fox & with a highly diverting explanation of the figures exhibited by a Magic Lantern next to

ZERO

CLOWN

HARLEQUIN

BEAR

G.P.M.B.

wintering under Cornwallis Island, and we rejoiced to see them return with some of our gallant friends who kindly came over to pay us a visit, & we heard with no small satisfaction that during the Winter, all had been health & merriment, in their little Society as well as our own.

The Assistance had made arrangements to celebrate the anniversary of our Expedition, having been put into commission by a performance on the boards of the Royal Arctic Theatre, unhappily a very severe gale of wind prevented this their intention, being carried into effect, and the performance as well as the closing of the Theatre was unavoidably postponed to 10th of March.

On that Evening a crowded house proved how unabated was the interest felt in a Stage which has been a source of great amusement throughout the Squadron

Managers, Actors, Painters, Prompters in Scene, Shifters, &c. &c.

'Nobly each & all their means have used' as the neat Epilogue truthfully says - and the result has been a Theatre unequalled in excellence by any Squadron, reflecting no small credit on the Assistance in general. especially when it be remembered that the performances have taken place on the Upper Deck with the external temperature as low as 30° below Zero.

The Original Pantomime of Zero, was again performed, and had been evidently much improved. A new Song or two was introduced & the indefatigable Mr. Dean astonished the Audience by his clever imitation of a Bear & a Fox.

A witty & highly diverting explanation of the figures exhibited by a Magic Lanthorn, next followed in rapid succession, and as the Family Herald would say we were constantly thrown into a sweet agony of joy & sorrow, by the sudden transition from the burning of Hindoo Widows, to the bombardment of Jean d'Arc.

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic
Sciences
Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580
(716) 872-4503

The pretty drama of Charles the 12.th with the following Cast of Characters:—

Charles XII.	St. Meckam
Major Vauberg,	Capt. Commanney
Adam Brock,	M ^r Ede
Triptolomus Muddelwark,	M ^r Khabbi
Gustavus de Mervelt,	M ^r Markham
Colonel Ruchel,	M ^r May
General Puchert,	St. Galor
Officers,	Mess ^{rs} Richards & Shellabon
Romios	Eudiga,	M ^r M ^r Dougall
	Ulrica,	M ^r Pearce

closed the Evening's entertainment. — From the Royal Swede to the Officer of the Guard, all the parts were admirably sustained. Adam Brock was as like the original as the imagination could picture it, and the worthy Burgomaster kept the Company in roars of laughter. Freeman looked the picture of conscious innocence, and appeared fully alive to the fact that altho innocent, he might yet be drawn & quartered for Royal pleasure or Stage effect.

Oh! for a Crowquill to tell of the fascinating performance of Eudiga & Ulrica. England's fair daughters would have had no reason to blush, could they have seen the truthful representation of the loves of Ulrica & Gustavus de Mervelt, or Eudiga & Coln^{el} Ruchel.

Where the young ladies could possibly have acquired the subtle knowledge they displayed in the woeful intricacy of female allers we know not, suffice it, that not a point was missing. — As a finale, the Manager delivered.

The following Epilogue

That those so near, could not with us unite;
And in this mimic world, the hours beguile,
Where all must feel the want of woman's smile.
But now 'tis o'er, the flow'rs of day expand,
And greedy time new sacrifice demands.
The strength of youth, the wisdom of the sage,
Must soon appear, upon life's boundless stage
Amusement then to duty will give place,
And lines of thought will mark the anxious face.
In merriment & fun, we've joined together,
Defying cold & every change of weather.
Nobly each and all their means have used,
First the Amusers, then in turn the Amused!
In health & happiness the time has fled,
And bright success on all, its rays has shed.
That our neat efforts may as well succeed,
Is the great wish, in which we're all agreed!

The Curtain then dropped amidst the loud cheers of a delighted audience, and thus concluded the performances of the Royal Arctic Theatre. A Supper & Refreshment, was as usual hospitably provided by the 'Jolly Assistances', to which right good justice was done and by Scene from Charles XII.

imagination could picture it, and the worthy Burgomaster kept the Company in roars of laughter. Freeman looked the picture of conscious innocence, and appeared fully alive to the fact, that altho' innocent, he might yet be drawn & quartered for Royal pleasure or Stage effect.

Oh! for a Crouquill to tell of the fascinating performance of Eudiga & Ullica.
England's fair daughters would have had no reason to blush; could they have seen the truthful representation of the loves of Ullica & Gustavus de Mervelt, or Eudiga & Colon Reichel.

Where the young ladies could possibly have acquired the subtle knowledge they displayed in the woeful intricacy of female allure, we know not, suffice it, that not a point was missing. — As a finale the Manager delivered;

The following Epilogue,
from the pen of M^r. Edde —

When first this curtain rose, we strove to say,
All our success in your applause would lay
Thus trusting we have tried, & not in vain,
To hear your laughter o'er & o'er again.
One sole regret we had, until to night,

In health & happiness, the time has fled,
And bright success on all, its rays has shed.
That our next efforts may as well succeed,
Is the great wish in which we're all agreed.

The Curtain then dropped amidst the loud cheers of a delighted audience, and thus concluded the performances of the Royal Arctic Theatre. A Supper & Refreshment, was as usual hospitably provided by the Jolly Assistances, to which right good justice was done and by

Scene from Charles XII.

Midnight the time consuming gaities of our Arctic Winter had passed away and we rose on the morrow, to look forward and prepare for the great & glorious labour before us.

To the Editor of the I. A. N.

Sir,

That Advertisement about the ventilation in your last number amused me and my Messmates very much.

I've been a student that ere interestin' subject ever since, to see if I couldn't get the prize but I can't make nothin' of it.

Some people says that the fresh air should be supplied from the top, & others that it should be let in from the bottom — Some says that the valves of Silvester should be nearly closed always, whilst some says we shall be choked if it aint kept quite open.

I heard some of our Officers say that that black-guard Mr Zero was found in their Mess place, the other morning. What a sight of valves they must have there! How very fond they must be of ventilation!! — I heard tell the other day too, that temperatür aint got nothin' to do with ventilation, & yet our Officers never considers the Gun room properly ventilated unless they has icicles hangin' to their noses, as they takes their forty winks in their easy Chairs about our dinner time.

I never goes a nigh the Gun-room door, myself nor I can help, & then I takes good care to have my Mitts & Monkey Sacket on.

Whenever I does take a peep in the door, there I sees the ventilation a streamin' down on the Table thro' the two valves, for all the world like Steam from a pair of high pressure boilers, and well nigh blown' out the Candles.

And then you'll see one gentleman stove, declarin' all the time that ventilation's all bosh, & that they get quite enough of it during the four hours they'm obliged to be out on the ice every day.

Praps we shall have a heavy article about it in the 'Rory Bory',* in which hope I shall for the present bide quiet.

Yours to command,

Joe Muggins.

P.S. — I expects some on 'em will come out strong on ventilation next ship.

* Our Cotemporary — 'The Aurora Borealis' (Ed.)

SONGS OF THE NORTH.

Dedicated to Mr. Austin,

By the Authors.

No. 3 — Song of the Sledge

Air. — 'Im' Afloat.'

We're away! We're away! on the bleak frozen Sea,
When glories ahead, none so fearless as we;
Danger's our birthright; we have scorned it before,
When friends need our help, will dare it the more.
No home but our Tent; our bed the cold snow;
Is not Heaven above us wherever we go;
A fog for all hardship, will shove all the more
Across the woud' floe, & along the lone shore.
Our Shipmates last cheer, bore the sound of success
Our efforts, the prayers of the Mourner will bless Sleep out my brave hearts, who so dauntless as we We're away! We're away! on the bleak frozen Sea.

Hark! Save or we perish, is borne on the gale
When such is their need, is there one that would fail?
No! shoulder to shoulder, will search the dark Mist
And smile at all toil, dash not for rest,

guard Mr. Zero was found in their Mess place, the other morning. What a sight of walves they must have there! How very fond they must be of ventilation!! - I heard till the other day too, that Temperair ain't got nothin' to do with ventilation, & yet our Officers never considers the Gun-room properly ventilated unless they has icicles hanging to their noses, as they takes their forty-winks in their Easy Chairs about our dinner time.

I never goes a nigh the Gun-room door, myself more nor I can help, & then I takes good care to have my Mitts & Monkey Jacket on

Whenever I does take a peep in the door, there I sees the ventilation a streamin' down on the Table thro' the two walves, for all the world like Steam from a pair of high-pressure boilers, and well nigh blowin' out the Candles.

And then you'll see one gentleman walking up & down buttoned up to the throat, with his fur Cap down over his forehead, his Comforter round all, and his hands in his bechets swearin' they'll all die of scurvy if they don't ventitate.

Another sets at the table with his pen in his mouth, rubbin' his hands like mud while his Ink is undergoin' a thawin' process on the

No 3 - Song of the Sledge
Air. - In' Affloat.

We're away! We're away! on the bleak frozen Sea,
When glory's ahead, none so fearless as we;
Danger's our birthright, we have scorned it before,
When friends need our help, will dare it the more.
No home but our Tent, our bed the cold snow,
Is not Heaven above us, wherever we go,
A fig for all hardships, will strive all the more,
Across the wide floe, & along the lone shore;
Our Shipmates last cheer, bore the sound of success,
Our efforts, the prayers of the Mourner will bless,
Step out my brave hearts, who so dauntless as we,
We're away! We're away! on the bleak frozen Sea

Hark! Save or we perish - is borne on the gale,
When such is their need, is there one that would fail?
No shoulder to shoulder, will search the dark West
And smile at all toil, & task not for rest,
Till we grasp by the hand our Countrymen dear
And o'er the Soul that has sped, drop a Sailor's sud' tear
Yes! the Ice it may rend, the Snow Storm may rage,
We Seamen, with both, a struggle can wage!
Our duty says Onward! & Onward, we'll go,
And abide His behest, for weal or for woe.
Step out &c.

FINIS.

