1. Revision of the Japanese hunting laws is now being undertaken by the Japanese Government to adapt such laws to the democratic concept of the new constitution, and to afford more adequate protection to Japan's decreasing wildlife resources.
2. Information on the effectiveness and present status of the existing sanctuaries and hunting areas is needed in order to evaluate proposed legislation. The Japanese Government has submitted the enclosed lists of wildlife sanctuaries and public hunting areas (inclosure 1).
3. Military Government units will confirm and verify these lists and recommend deletions and additions to include pertinent information as to their present status and effectiveness. These reports will be forwarded to this headquarters at the earliest practicable date.
4. Description of the various types of areas listed is given in Natural Resources Section Weekly Summary No.133, General Headquarters, Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers, dated 25 April - 1 May 1948. In obtaining technical information on these reports, it is pointed out that the game wardens, who were formerly assigned to the Public Safety Bureau of the National Government, are now located in the Prefectural Governments.
5. When verified, these lists will be published for the guidance of occupation personnel during the coming hunting season.

1. Subject correspondence is returned for the following reasons:

a. The address of applicant's mother as stated in the application (44 Jinhodo Shashuyu, Keishohokudo, Korea) cannot be found in Korea.

b. The name of applicant's mother was not included in the application and a close check with families in the vicinity revealed no one who had heard of Sin To Setsu or any family who had a son in Japan who might possible be Sin To Setsu.

2. Delay in answering this correspondence was due to Office of Foreign Affairs, USAMGIK personnel making two separate trips to Kyungsang Pukto to locate the mother.

1. Attention is invited to basic letter reporting departure of Mr. Jorgen A. Frederikson from Japan.

2. Telephonic or verbal clearance of the increasing number of persons departing from Japan raises the two following propositions:

a. When an emigrant presents a clearance approved by the Diplomatic Section of GHQ, SCAP it would seem that verbal clearance is not necessary.

b. Clearances as now granted, of which the inclosure is an example, could easily be forged. A seal signature, or some additional distinctive mark would reduce the possibility of a person effecting a forgery.
