CONTRACT FOR ROAD LEVEE IS LET

S. F. MOTOR DRAYAGE CO. SECURE JOB OF CONSTRUCTING BANK TO PROTECT SAN BRUNO ROAD FROM WINTER FLOODING.

The San Francisco Motor Drayage Company was the successful bidder on the work of constructing the protective levee along San Bruno road through the low land south of this city, the contract being awarded to this firm at Monday's meeting of the board of supervisors. Four bids for the work were received, as follows, the smaller items being per cubic yard of earth:

P. Montague, San Francisco, Item 1, calling for the construction of the protective levee complete, including all incidental work	.55
Item 2, for the construction of timber bulkhead, per linear foot of bulkhead	6.00
A. A. Tieslau, Item 1	.40
Item 2	4.25
S. F. Motor Drayage Co., Item 1	.36
Item 2	4.00
Guerin Bros., Item 1	.39 1/2
Item 2	5.00

County Engineer George A. Kneese, who prepared the plans and specifications for the work, estimates that 10,000 cubic yards of material will be required for the levee and the bulkhead will be seventy feet in length.

A letter was received from Colonel Herbert Deakynne of the War Department, advising the board that from now until Saturday, November 4th, between 9 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. of each day, objections may be filed at his office at the custom house in San Francisco to the petition of the city of San Francisco for permission to lay pipes across Dumbarton Straits for the purpose of bringing across the Hetch Hetchy water supply.

The report of the county farm and hospital for the month of September was received and ordered filed.

Permission to lay a pipe along Ash avenue at Beresford was granted to Carrie A. Jury, on motion of Supervisor Rosalie A. Brown, seconded by Supervisor Francis. Mrs. Jury explained that she desired to run the pipe line from the highway, where it will connect with the pipe of the Spring Valley Water Company, to her property.

The matter of a renewal of the contract for lighting the Visitacion Valley district was referred to District Attorney Franklin Swart, and, upon receiving his approval, the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids, to be opened on November 20th.

A petition from Joseph Lafrance and other residents of Colma, asking that a light be installed on Ninety-first avenue between Edgeworth and Pacific avenues in Colma, was granted on motion of Supervisor Hickey, seconded by Supervisor MacBain, and the clerk was instructed to notify the Pacific Gas and Electric Company to install the light at once.

A long communication was received from George W. Gerhard, secretary of the Civic League of Improvement Clubs of San Francisco, requesting the board to urge upon the members of the Eastside Highway District Board to specify the site at Ravenswood for the transbay bridge, as recommended by the State Highway Commission. Gerhard contended that the bridge itself was of more importance to the people in general than the highway, but gave no reasons for such a conclusion. His communication was ordered filed.

A communication from the State Highway Commission advised the board that it would be impossible to deliver the trucks which the board expected to get from the War Department.

DEBT! DEBT! DEBT!

Suppose your books at the end of the year showed that your indebtedness had increased 900 per cent in the past ten years. Would that question occasion you any concern?

Suppose your expenses were 259 per cent greater in the same period. Would you consider that efficient business management, or would you merely be "surprised that it was so cheap?"

That is the condition of the state government in California today—or rather in 1919, when the total indebtedness amounted to $13.98 for every man, woman and child in the state. In 1921 it was far worse, the per capita indebtedness being $15.66.

Compare the debt of California with that of several other states in 1919, as shown by the Federal Census Bureau report:

	Per Capita Net Debt
New Jersey	.04
Pennsylvania	.10
Indiana	.11
Iowa	.03
Illinois	.33
Minnesota	.45
Wisconsin	.72
Washington	.36
Texas	1.13
CALIFORNIA	13.98

As governor of California, Friend W. Richardson will give unto the people the same kind of a quiet, constructive, satisfactory and economical service that he has rendered in the past as state printer and state treasurer.

REMOVE THE SHADOW

Friend W. Richardson, Republican nominee for Governor, has promised to remove the shadow of extravagance which now hovers over the state and substitute a business-like administration.

1734, 538, 450 NUMBERS DRAWN

PACHECO, DORN, NAMES ON TWO STUBS AT MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION DRAWING; THIRD STUB HAS NO NAME; PRIZES WAITING

As usual a large number of interested spectators were on hand at the Royal Theater Wednesday evening to see the numbered stubs drawn from the box in the South San Francisco Merchants' Association prize drawing. The stub which drew the first prize of $5 worth of merchandise orders was number 1734 and had the name of Mrs. Dorn written upon it. The number which drew the $3 prize was 450, but the stub had no name written upon it. The third prize winner was number 538 and had the name "Pacheco" written on the back. All three numbers are now at The Enterprise office awaiting the lucky prize winners. The prize merchandise orders are also here. If the fortunate owners of the prize-winning numbers will bring their tickets to this office they will be given their prizes.

The drawing Wednesday evening was in charge of H. A. Cavassa, president of the Merchants' Association. Little Miss Mary Brown drew the prize winning numbers from the box.

Each drawing at the theater sees a larger number of persons present and each time a larger number have tickets in hand ready to compare them with the numbers drawn from the box and announced from the stage. Interest in the great "Trade at Home" campaign of the local merchants continues to grow and has reached proportions beyond the expectations of those who started it. More and more local merchants realize it is boosting their sales and business, more and more local people are realizing it pays to trade at the stores which give the little blue coupons, as these coupons cost them nothing and lead in many cases to the securing of valuable prizes which are wholly "velvet" to the lucky holder.

Again it is in point to advise those having lucky numbers to hold their tickets after securing their prize merchandise orders. To those holding the greatest number of these further prizes will be awarded just before Christmas. As there will be some four or five of these prizes awarded, that number of persons will be materially helped in their Christmas buying.

MISS RUE CLIFFORD ENTERTAINS AT PARTIES

Miss Rue Clifford has been the hostess at two parties at her home on Miller avenue within the last week. At a whist party last week Mrs. M. L. Spangler was the winner of the first prize while Mr. Spangler won second prize. Refreshments and music were enjoyed during the evening.

Tuesday evening of this week Miss Clifford was the hostess to the senior class at the high school, the affair taking the form of a Halloween party. Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Adams, Robert Reed and Mrs. Nettie Reed were present as specially invited guests. It was a ghost party in keeping with the season and much merriment was occasioned by the costumes, Mrs. Reed as a witch being one of the hits of the evening.

Majority in South San Francisco seems beyond doubt. This was made more sure a few evenings ago when the Italian-American Citizens' Club of this city voted to endorse Richardson for governor. It is reported that at the same meeting the club endorsed H. W. Lampkin for sheriff and W. J. Smith for justice of the peace.

CITY TO HAVE CIVIC CENTER GRADED

Contract Awarded Monday; Thousands of Dollars Saved by Co-operating With County Supervisors

The city of South San Francisco is to have its civic center graded at a figure undreamed of until a few weeks ago. This developed at a special meeting of the city trustees called Monday morning at 10 o'clock for the purpose of awarding the contract. The great saving, which amounted to over $6000, was accomplished by co-operating with the county supervisors, who met at Redwood City Monday morning and awarded the contract for the construction of a levee to protect San Bruno road along the low land just south of this city from winter storm water. By awarding both contracts at the same time, figures were secured on the grading at considerable less than half of what would otherwise have been possible.

The contract for the grading was let to the San Francisco Motor Drayage Company. Bids for the work were submitted as follows:

S. F. Motor Drayage Co.	$3950
Guerin Bros.	3950
P. Montague	4750
John Phillips	5500
A. A. Tieslau	7000

By keeping in touch with the supervisors' proceedings by telephone the city trustees were enabled to award the contract here to the same firm which secured the contract from the county, thereby effecting a saving of thousands of dollars to both city and county, as the earth from the grading will be used in the levee.

VOTERS HEAR TALKS ON POLITICAL ISSUES

Eloquent Speakers Urge United Front Supporting Repub. Candidates.

One of the largest audiences that ever attended at a political meeting in South San Francisco was present at Fraternal Hall Wednesday evening to hear the speakers who had come down from San Francisco to address them in the interests of Friend W. Richardson, candidate for governor of California.

The meeting was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock by W. J. Martin, who presided. In stating the object of the meeting and why the residents of this city have a special interest in this campaign, Mr. Martin dwelt on the big development projects planned for the peninsula region, and appealed to all to support Mr. Richardson and the other Republican candidates in order that harmony might reign with and better cooperation be secured from the Republican administration at Washington.

The program was opened with a vocal solo by J. G. Walker, accompanied by Mrs. A. Clausen. Mr. Walker's selection elicited the applause which numbers by this popular singer always bring out.

The other speakers included Mrs. Frew Morton, prominent clubwoman; Mrs. E. C. Harrington, attorney; Mr. Davis of the machinists' union; Mr. Boleo, editor, and Dion Holm, all prominent in industrial, business and political life in San Francisco. All made eloquent and telling appeals for the support of Mr. Richardson and the other Republican candidates. All were most effective when they enlarged on Mr. Richardson's career in business and public life, and all were

MARTIN SCHOOL TO BE DEDICATED

Ceremony Will Be Held at New Building Monday Evening.

The Martin school, the new school opened this summer to grammar pupils in the north end of town, will be formally dedicated Monday evening of next week by simple ceremonies and a program in which the pupils and teachers will take part. The program is announced to start at 7:30 o'clock. It is open to the public and it is expected that a large number of local residents will be on hand to inspect the new school.

A feature of the evening's ceremony will be the presence of W. J. Martin, manager of the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company, after whom the school was named. If possible Mr. Martin will be accompanied by the woman who taught his class when he was a pupil in the primary grade at a school in the East. This teacher is now living in San Francisco at an advanced age, and if the weather and her health permits she will be present on this noteworthy occasion, the dedication of a school to one of her primary pupils of six decades ago.

Although the school has been in use for some months, the formal dedication has been postponed to the present time to allow of the finishing of sidewalks and street paving leading to the building.

There is a good excuse for a bald head but not for a walrus mustache roundly applauded in their tributes to the Republican candidate for governor. Mr. Boleo made an eloquent address, first in English, then in Italian.

FALSE STORY OF FUND RAISING EXPLODED HERE

Central Committeemen State They Were Not Approached to Con- tribute to Richardson Fund.

The story given circulation from San Mateo that each member of the Republican county central committee had been approached to contribute $50 to the Richardson for Governor campaign fund is false, so far as The Enterprise can learn and so far as South San Francisco members of that committee are concerned. The Enterprise has interviewed several members of the committee who live in this city, and each said he had not heard of anything of the kind before the story was given publicity. It is known that Richardson's campaign has been financed almost entirely by Mr. Richardson's own funds and for that reason much less money has been available for campaign expenses than Mr. Woolwine and his cohorts are spending. It is, in fact, stated on good authority that Mr. Richardson and his staunch supporters have spent and are spending only dollars where the opposition has laid out hundreds. It is also declared here by those closely in touch with the political situation that there is little need of spending money in this county, as all concede the county will poll a big majority for Friend W. Richardson, the businessman and economist, for governor. The same "wise ones" declare the story that members of the central committee were being "held up" for $150 each was undoubtedly started by Woolwine adherents to create an impression antagonistic to Mr. Richardson. That Richardson will poll a ma-

YANNIGANS VS. Y. M. I. GAME AT SAN BRUNO

(Contributed.)

Undaunted by their defeat by the high school last week, the South City Yannigans handed the San Bruno Y. M. I. football team a 26 to 0 beating last Sunday on the San Bruno grid-iron.

The Yannigans outclassed the San Bruno team in all departments of the game, allowing them only two first-downs.

The game was played in a strong wind that was a severe handicap to all aerial work. The only attempt at forward passing was an incomplete pass by the Y. M. I. fullback.

In the first minute of play the Yannigans scored a touchback by tackling a Y. M. I. man, who received the kick-off behind his own goal.

"Sam" Reid, halfback for the Yannigans, carried the ball over the line for the first touchdown on the Yannigans' third down. Reese Lloyd, fullback for the Yannigans, failed to convert, and the score was 8 to 0.

In the second quarter Lloyd carried the ball for the second touchdown, after a 35-yard end run by Reid.

The Yannigans failed to score in the third quarter. The Y. M. I. defense stiffened and held the South City backs on the one-yard line at the end of the quarter. In the fourth quarter Reid got away again, and made the score 21 to 0.

George Hinton, right halfback for South City, got away for a long run on a nicely executed criss-cross play to the final touchdown of the game. Score 26 to 0.

San Bruno, although it has no high school, has turned out three football teams, as against South San Francisco's two, including the high school, and some of the men would find places on any man's team, for instance Hoop, who plays quarter for the Y. M. I.

South City does not support the two teams it has. High school games are poorly attended, and the Yannigans' not at all. There are numerous organizations in town that can support football teams, but they seem to lack the sporting blood to even back the only two representative teams that South San Francisco has.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE FIRST TOWNSHIP

Friends and Fellow-Americans:

Of all the officials to be chosen Tuesday, November 7th, from United States senator and governor down the list to constable, no one is of more importance than is the official who by your votes will be chosen to dispense justice as justice of the peace.

While the justice court is called a "petty court," it is nevertheless the people's court, for in it all criminal actions originate and all civil actions as well in which the claim does not exceed $300.

During the past sixteen years the people of the first township have had reason to be proud of their choice of justices of the peace, in the persons of Ambrose McSweeney, John F. Davis, Ellis C. Johnson and William J. Smith.

As one who for fourteen years occupied the honorable position of justice of the peace in and for the first township, may I not ask that you give this matter serious and deliberate consideration, to the end that the high standard upraised and thus far upheld be not lowered.

The incumbents, Ellis C. Johnson and William J. Smith, are both men of recognized intelligence and integrity, with a knowledge of the law and of legal procedure, and above all, men of the judicial frame of mind.

Be it yours on Tuesday, November 7th, to see to it that the present high standard of the people's court of the first township be not lowered.

Sincerely yours,
E. E. CUNNINGHAM,
Justice of the Peace from 1893 to 1907.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Now that Hallowe'en is again behind us, all can heave a sigh of relief.

Weather favorable, the election next Tuesday should bring out a big vote here.

State traffic officers were "on the job" on the highway at the Cabin the beginning of the week.

City Clerk Miss Willits is able to be back at the office again after a brief spell of sickness.

If you wish to enjoy a good chicken dinner, call at the local M. E. church on the highway on Friday of this week.

Mrs. Louise Ficke, formerly of First Addition but now residing at Palo Alto, was here Saturday looking after her business interests.

The "Candidates' Ball" at California Hall, Saturday evening, November 4th, sponsored by the local volunteer fire department, should draw a full house.

Paul Ledwith of Belle Air Park is at a hospital at San Mateo as a result of breaking his left arm below the elbow in last Sunday's football game.

A special meeting of the Lomita Park Parent-Teachers' Association will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. Skelinder.

The new realty promoters are beginning to tidy things up a bit in Fifth Addition, preliminary to the real work to be undertaken early in spring.

Mrs. T. C. Deal, living at Belle Air Park, who went East early last summer, has again returned to the Pacific Coast. Last week she visited San Bruno, being the guest of Mrs. Spielman.

Recently a rifle club was organized here in San Bruno, which numbers some twenty-odd members, including several young men from Burlingame. William Wedell, the grocer, is temporary president and drill captain.

For Sale—A nice new bungalow of four rooms, just being finished. Very reasonable. Also other good buys, furnished and unfurnished, or will build to suit. It pays to investigate. Wm. Maurer, San Bruno, Calif.—Adv't.

Mrs. Blake of Belle Air Park has just returned from the Lane Hospital in San Francisco, whither she had gone to have her right arm amputated above the elbow, this member having been a source of worry for many years.

The P. O. M. boys, who were completely outclassed in the local baseball league the past season, pulling up a poor last with but one win to their credit, promise to reverse the tables in football, winning again last Sunday, the W. O. W. eleven being the victims this time. The score was 12 to 0. After this game the local Y. M. I. eleven matched their skill with the South City Yannigans, but suffered defeat, the score being 26 to 0.

The goose that laid the golden eggs wasn't as much of a goose as the one who killed her.

The man who has the reputation for "playing the game" never will lack for fellow-players.

Woolly Dogs Are Useful.

A widely known actress, says Nelson Keys, lost a little dog. She did not lose it for publicity purposes, having a genuine affection for her pet, and she besought the police to find it for her.

She spent a night of agony. Next day, to her infinite relief, a constable called upon her with the dog under his arm. The dog was very wet and very dirty, but the actress clasped it to her bosom and covered it with kisses.

"Where did you find my darling?" she asked the constable.

"Why, mum," replied the policeman, "a fellow had him on a pole and was washing windows with him."—Answers, London.

CALIFORNIA GRAPE PROTECTIVE ASS'N

NET TIGHTENS ABOUT DALY CITY KILLERS

Sheriff Sheehan Leaves for Vancouver to Bring Back Suspect.

With the arrest in Vancouver, B. C., of Claude Merritt, reported to Sheriff Sheehan at Redwood City last Saturday night, the principal of the alleged "higher-ups" in the Ersepke murder case is now in custody, according to District Attorney Franklin Swart, who identified Merritt as the man declared by authorities to have conceived and directed the murder of the Daly City shopman and the beating of his brother, Rudolph Ersepke, as the two were walking on the streets of Daly City on the morning of September 27th.

Testimony of Fred Merman, one of four men alleged to have taken part in the attack, revealed that three suspects being sought by the police are "Cocky" Green, an unidentified man known merely as "the tall fellow," and another known as "Sheriff."

Merritt, who admitted his identity to the Vancouver police and who has waived extradition, according to reports here, is declared by District Attorney Swart to be the man known to the others as "Sheriff." He is the man who hired the others and for whom John Cornelison acted when he paid Merman $37.50 to participate in the crime, it is charged by the district attorney. With the arrest of Merritt, there are now four men in custody, leaving two to be apprehended. Besides Merritt, the men now held are Fred Merman, Steve Apostolos and Cornelison, alias Ed White. Apostolos and Cornelison have already been held to answer to the superior court on the murder charge, following preliminary hearings before Justice of the Peace Ellis C. Johnson at Daly City.

Sheriff Sheehan left Tuesday for Vancouver to bring Claude Merritt back. District Attorney Swart has prepared extradition papers in case they are needed, although it is understood Merritt has waived extradition.

SENATOR KING COMMENTS ON WATER AND POWER ACT

San Francisco, Nov. 1.—"Some people may think that the King tax bill went to the limit in raising money by taxation in California, but if the people vote the water and power act with its bond issue of $500,000,000, and with the accruing interest and sinking fund which must be paid every year, the man who frames the next tax bill will have to erect a skyscraper, where I built only a bungalow," said Senator Lyman M. King, author of the King tax law and recognized as one of California's most studious economists, in addressing a mass meeting at Scottish Rite Hall, San Francisco, last night.

Senator King renounced any intention of discussing the proposed water and power amendment to the constitution, either for or against public or private ownership of public utilities. He objected to the amendment because it is loosely drafted and because it includes nearly all kinds of personal and private business and places them within the hands of a state commission which has power to take over the control of the mutual water and irrigation companies. These, he said, are essentially private concerns and have been the predominant factor in developing the farm lands of California and creating the cities and towns which are scattered throughout the rural communities.

"This amendment," continued Senator King, "contains provisions which place it in the power of five unknown men to raid practically every business house in the state—your business, my business, and everybody's business—and I feel it my duty to give those who are entitled to vote at the coming election my analysis of this unusual, ill-conceived and carelessly drawn act."

The senator explained that the measure was an amendment to the constitution and not a statute, and that it could only be changed by another constitutional amendment.

"The state legislature," he said, "composed of senate and assembly, and its acts subject to veto by the governor elected by the people, can only vote $300,000 in one year as an appropriation. This constitutional amendment appropriates $500,000,000, the interest alone upon which, at 5 per cent, amounts to $25,000,000, with an annual sinking fund of $10,000,000."

Stories of Great Scouts

"YELLOWSTONE" KELLY AND HIS RIFLE. "OLD SWEETNESS"

It was the year 1783. The hostile Sioux had surrounded Fort Stevenson, N. D., and any white man who went out alone went to his death. When the mail was sent to Fort Buford, 218 miles away, a full company of soldiers went along to guard it. One day, while the troops were out on a scout, important dispatches came which had to be delivered at once, and there was no one who would dare attempt the hazardous journey.

A young man, named Luther S. Kelly, learning of this, went to the commanding officer and offered to get them through alone. Kelly was a New Yorker who had come west seeking adventure. Because of his youth, the scouts around the fort had nicknamed him "The Kid," and now these men told him he would be scalped before he was a mile from the post. He laughed at them.

"I guess 'Old Sweetness' and I can take care of any Sioux who jumps us!" he said. "Old Sweetness" was his pet name for his favorite rifle. A few hours later Kelly walked into Fort Berthold, 18 miles from Stevenson. The Mandan, Gros Ventre and Arrikara Indians, camped about that post for protection against the Sioux, gathered about in admiration of his daring, for they lived in terror of the Dakota warriors.

Kelly stopped at Berthold only long enough to eat and then pushed on to Buford, 200 miles away. Four miles from Berthold he came to a timbered valley. When he reached the bottom, a bullet whizzed past his ears. As the scout dropped behind a log, three Sioux warriors rushed him. "Old Sweetness" spoke three times and the warriors dropped in their tracks. Kelly returned to Fort Berthold and told of his adventure. The friendly Indians were wild with joy, and after that they called Kelly "The Little Man With the Strong Heart."

The scout started again for Fort Buford and delivered the dispatches without further adventure. He became the regular mail carrier, but the Sioux were so frightened of his "strong medicine" that they never attacked him again.

Kelly remained in the United States service as a scout until 1883. He was a lieutenant of volunteers in the Spanish-American war and in the Philippines the old Indian scout, as captain of the Filipino scouts, added further to his laurels of war before he retired as a fighting man.

Save Repairs Paint Now

It Costs More to Rot a Building Than to Paint It

A GOOD way to determine how much it costs to rot a building is to find out how much lumber, needed to repair or rebuild, would cost.

You'll find that it costs several times as much as the paint which saves repairs. Paint your buildings when they need it. Rotting property is wasteful and extravagant.

The most economical paint, in the long run, is the best paint. It's easy to apply—saves labor cost. It covers more area per gallon than "cheap" paint.

The best paint serves five or more years longer than "cheap" paint.

"It is not important that I be elected, but if elected it is important that I be free from all selfish interests, political machines and bosses. And I assure you that when I take office I will be free and untrammelled, bound only by my oath to the people and the state."—Friend W. Richardson.

CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS DUE

The Enterprise is always willing, even eager, to give credit where credit is due, and because of something which happened this week this newspaper feels that credit, much credit, is due the trustees of this city for saving the taxpayers a large sum of money.

Here is how it was done: When the project to construct a levee and retaining wall along San Bruno road through the low land south of town to protect the road from storm water came up and the county supervisors agreed to have the work done, it immediately struck certain members of the board and County Surveyor George Kneese, who is also engineer of this city, that the earth from the hill on the civic center could be utilized in making the levee and both city and county would save money by having the two projects worked out together.

Both city and county have saved thousands of dollars by this stroke of genius, and both trustees and supervisors are entitled to credit accordingly. It is said that the idea was first conceived by one of the contractors, but the main thought is that both city trustees and supervisors were quick to grasp any plan which would save money for their constituents and are entitled to credit accordingly.

CARRYING THE MESSAGE

"I will carry my message to the people. That message will be Economy with Efficiency, smash the machine, abolish unnecessary expenses; substitute business for politics, put highway construction in the hands of skilled road builders, give aid to our war heroes, enforce the law justly and fearlessly, maintain progressive and humane policies, keep the schools free from politics and support them to the fullest extent and save the people millions of dollars."

These are the real issues of the campaign—not "wine and beer," the K. K. K., the A. P. A., the Better American Federation or any other class question. At the outset of his campaign, Mr. Richardson adopted the policy of absolute freedom from domination or control by any boss, political machine, or class or group of citizens. He has made no alliances and will make none. He has made no promises of any sort, to any individual or group of individuals, and he will make none.

"It is not important that I be elected, but if elected it is important that I be free from all selfish interests, political machines and bosses. And I assure you that when I take office I will be free and untrammelled, bound only by my oath to the people and the state."

Mr. Richardson is now, and will be as governor, the servant of ALL the people. He does not now, and never will, acknowledge any other master.

FINE, FINE, FINE!

Kiss! Kiss again! Kiss all you want to! Kiss everybody who is kissable!

For many years doctors have heartlessly told us to avoid kissing, claiming that the kiss is a spreader of disease germs.

But now comes Dr. Louis Katzoff, noted physician and psychologist, who advises us to kiss to our hearts' content.

"Some bacteriologists," he says, "would have us carry around a jugful of carbolic acid or other germicide to wash our lips before kissing. They forget that heat is the greatest antiseptic known, and that the heat generated by a kiss destroys the supposed germ."

"Among sweethearts, kissing sends forth ethereal and hypnotic waves, traveling with great velocity, electrifying and rejuvenating every cell structure of the body, so that next to love itself it becomes the most potent agency for courage, optimism, hope, health and longevity."

Hurrah for Katzoff! He's human. Perhaps he even enjoys kissing. At any rate, he would not rob us of one of our greatest delights. Kiss up, and keep kissing!

The less you expect the more pleased you will be with what you get.

Borrowing money is easy when you have it to pay back.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT

Has the United States government been duped and tricked into committing an act of folly? Our government was prompt in the disbanding of its great army and the scrapping of its navy. This was in accordance with the provisions of the Washington conference agreement.

Laws are made for the protection of the people who live under them. If a law is a good one it should be enforced. No favor should be shown either to the rich or to the poor, to the powerful or to the insignificant. If it is not a good law it should be repealed.

We have too many laws that are dead letters. They are only resurrected when some crusty cuss wants to satisfy a grudge, or some prosecutor wants to make a safe splurge. At other times they are disregarded with impunity. This condition is well known to the public, and even to the younger generation just merging into manhood.

It is to be hoped that peace of the lasting kind will eventually be restored in the Far East. But should we be disappointed in this, in the event of a resort to arms the government should clearly understand that it is no affair of ours and that we want no hand in it.

It is mandatory that American citizens in the troubled area be protected, and removed, if advisable, and the entire navy should be employed for this purpose if necessary. But right there our activity should cease. America for native-born or naturalized Americans, and no foreign entanglements.

Are you always right in your judgment? Many people think they are—no person ever is. Nineteen hundred years ago we had one perfect man, whose judgment was never at fault. Because of his perfection he died upon a cross, his agony shared by thieves.

Why, then, should we, humble mortals that we be, imagine that our judgment is never at fault, or that we are incapable of falling into error? The next time you get into argument, and lose your temper, and are on the point of resorting to force, stop and think of the years that have flown since the manger ennobled the beginning and the blood-stained cross witnessed the end of perfection in mankind.

If a merchant, or a banker, or a farmer, or an editor becomes involved in a row with his employees and has to close down his business for weeks or months, he accepts his loss as a man should. The coal operators, however, are not of this class. They are saddling their loss on to the public in the shape of enormously increased prices of coal, and are profiteering in a conscienceless and shameless manner.

TIME FOR THOUGHT

In the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific unmerger order the people of the Pacific Coast are not so much concerned with who possesses the Central Pacific as they are with what effect on transportation service will follow from separation of the two roads.

It is generally urged by the shipping public that the present arrangement is satisfactory and the consensus of opinion is that no good, but probably a great deal of harm, can follow from tearing the Southern Pacific to pieces.

Shippers express the fear, and there seems to be good reason for it, that the numerous additional interchange points, necessary to deal with two railroads instead of one in ordering cars, affecting settlement of damage claims and kindred transactions—vexatious to shippers under the best conditions—that would result from separation of the Central from the Southern is bound to impair the service if not ultimately result in rate increases.

Separating the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific would theoretically create two roads, but it would not build a new mile of track nor open up a new foot of country nor give the competition of two railroad systems. No one knows who would get the Central Pacific if it was sold. Neither can any one know what character of service or rates could be furnished by the Central Pacific operating alone or in conjunction with some other road.

When the question is disposed of before the interstate commerce commission it will be settled for a long time, so now is the time to consider it and act wisely. How it is settled may be of the gravest concern to the Pacific Coast. We know what we have now, but we do not know nor can we well foresee what we shall have if the present Southern Pacific system is broken up.

WHY HOLD HIM BACK?

Every young man is entitled to a fair opportunity in the business and social world.

He is entitled to be judged by his own mental and moral qualifications, and not by the standard of the parents who brought him into the world. Such is sometimes, but not often, the case.

Many a young man of great promise is seriously hampered by the reputation of one or both of his parents. The sins of the father are visited upon the son, and the innocent youth suffers for the acts of the guilty adult. This is true because as a civilized people we are not yet entirely civilized. A polished veneer covers the surface, but often fails to penetrate to the heart.

Give the young man a fair chance, and let his own acts make or break him.

A chronic critic seldom hears anything but criticism of himself.

Our sins find us out, but they don't always squeal.

HANSEN—In Oakland, October 28, 1922, Edith Hansen, dearly beloved wife of Andreas Hansen, beloved mother of Helen E. Straub, Mrs. B. G. Conner, Mrs. J. E. Hales, Mrs. E. A. Spooner and Edith Hansen. Interment took place November 1, 1922, at Evergreen Cemetery, Oakland.

Sounded Like "Ice Water."

A West Plains mother recently sent her youngster downtown on an errand. He went to the hardware store and as he couldn't talk plainly the clerk thought he wanted a drink and took him to the water cooler and filled him up. Another clerk asked him what he wanted and with the same result. After the third clerk had attempted to follow suit the baby began to whimper. A telephone conversation with the mother then brought to light the fact that it was a fly swatter that was wanted and not ice water.—West Plains (Mo.) Journal.

His Reckless Reputation.

In a certain town in Virginia lives a man who is noted for his reckless automobile driving. One day he was called to the telephone and a woman's voice asked whether he intended to drive out that afternoon. "I do not think so," replied the man. "Why do you ask?" "Well," resumed the voice, "I just wanted to know if it would be safe for my little girl to go uptown today."—Everybody's.

The Truth.

The lady of the house was very soft-hearted, and the tramp who had ventured to beg at the front door congratulated himself on his "soft touch." "My poor man," said the lady, noticing the tramp's woebegone face, "here is a quarter for you. Dear me, you must have had many trials!" "Yes, mum," replied the tramp, "I have. And a heap of convictions, too."

Cynicism in youth is always a pose and it's always funny.

Supervisor Rosalie M. Brown rendered a report on her investigation of the Beresford crossing, and advised the members of the board that she would immediately have a fence, painted white, placed at the turn, so that it could be seen by approaching motorists. Following discussion, a motion was made by Supervisor Hickey that Mrs. Brown be given power to act, and that a danger signal of her selection be purchased and placed at this crossing, in order that the danger which exists might be further removed.

George W. Jones, representing the Redwood post of the American Legion, appeared before the board and extended an invitation to the members to act as judges of the parade to be held on Armistice Day in connection with the celebration at Pacific City. The board accepted the invitation, on motion of Supervisor Brown, seconded by Supervisor Hickey.

District Attorney Franklin Swart and Sheriff Michael Sheehan were granted authority to leave the state for a period of not more than thirty days. It is expected that the two officials will go to Vancouver, B. The board adjourned to meet again next Monday.

S. F. CHAMBER APPROVES NO. 5 ON NOV. BALLOT

In line with the action of the San Francisco Real Estate Board, the Los Angeles Realty Board and other leading and commercial organizations, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, in passing on many measures to be voted on at the state election, November 7th, gave its approval to the state housing act, No. 5 on the ballot.

In endorsing the act the Chamber of Commerce states:

"State Housing Act. This act, applying to tenements, hotels and dwellings, is a regulation of building construction in the interests of insuring proper sanitation and restricting the fire hazards. It is a decided improvement upon the existing statutes on this subject adopted in 1917. The act, so far as the use of shingles is concerned, has no application to existing buildings or the repair thereof. As to future construction, it will permit the use of shingles for roofing provided they are covered with approved composition, fire resistive or fire retardant material, of which there are at least thirty-six approved varieties on the market."

WHERE ARE THE DEAD?

This topic will be discussed in a free lecture in South San Francisco, Sunday night, November 5th, at 7:45 o'clock, in Fraternal Hall, Grand avenue near Maple avenue, by George R. Maynard, Pacific Coast lecturer for the International Bible Students' Association. These Bible Students claim that there has been a great misunderstanding about the present condition of the dead, both the heathens and the Christians. This lecture has drawn very large audiences in other cities. It is nonsectarian. All seats are free. There will not be any collection. All are cordially invited.—Advt.

"Just a moment," interrupted the old gentleman, mildly; "would you mind closing your mouth for a moment till I see who you are?"—Medical Record.

A T. R. Story.

One of T. R.'s standing favorites concerned some cowboys who, after catching a supposed horse thief, discovered to their dismay that they had caught and executed the wrong man. One among them who had a reputation for tact was selected to break the news to the victim's wife. "Are you the wife of Jake Smith?" the impromptu diplomat began. "Yes," the woman replied. "No, ye ain't neither; you're his widow," proceeded the tactful one. "I have his body out-yonder in the wagon. We hung him for hoss lifting. But there's no need to feel bad about it. We found out after that he was not the guy we wuz looking for. The joke is on us."—Argonaut. Advertise your needs

Say it with a NO On the Ballot November the 7th

NUMBER (5) IS THE ONE—MARKED (THE STATE HOUSING ACT) REFERENDUM

THIS Law, if not defeated, will prevent you—Mr., Miss or Mrs. Voter—from using your favorite roofing material (shingles) on any building you may construct in the future. Sounds funny, doesn't it, for disinterested folks to tell you what you can and cannot have and use? Well, that's just what it says—that's why we are calling it to your special attention, that you may exercise your freedom of speech by telling those who are trying to force you to use something just as good that you have a mind of your own and prefer to use your own judgment as to how you will build and what materials you will use.

Speaking About Building—

Do you realize that now is the time to build—that competent labor and materials are to be had at reasonable prices—that the same money you are paying out for rent will meet payments on a home, and that in a few short years you will be the proud possessor of a DEED TO A HOME OF YOUR OWN instead of a BUNDLE OF WORTHLESS RENT RECEIPTS? Many of you have outgrown the home you are now living in. You have allowed your business to expand, your profession to grow, your earnings to increase—still you continue to exist in the home constructed to meet your needs while you were getting a start. That isn't the right thing to do, because your success can be measured from just one spot—YOUR HOME. If that isn't attractive, convenient and modern, you are depriving yourself and dear ones of the greatest of life's pleasures. It is in our own homes that we house our most beloved, where life's sweetest hours are spent and where we entertain our friends. Surely it should be modern, practical for all needs and reflect our standing in the community in which we reside.

Better accept this suggestion and make arrangements to build at once, and don't forget about November 7th. That State Housing Act Referendum—its number (5) on the ballot—and it should be marked (NO).

Build an ideal home of your own; create an atmosphere of attractiveness around your present home; after this lend your financial support in helping some one else acquire a home. Mortgage loans are the safest and surest of investments and in addition to the security you will be helping in a movement that will mark you a real benefactor—a citizen with the highest moral code of ideals.

Southern Rhodesia

The Cecil Rhodes Memorial.

Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

Entrance of southern Rhodesia into the Union of South Africa, now practically arranged, will supply still another parallel between the United States of America and Africa's "United States."

Just as the United States, a generation or so ago, reached out to the west and made its territories, one after another, into states, so the Union of South Africa is reaching northward—it is in that direction that the course of African empire takes its way—and is incorporating the frontier regions. Technically, the Union has had no definite claim on the British colonies, protectorates and regions more or less under British control that lie in the north; but it has boasted that it is "heir to all South Africa," and in adding southern Rhodesia it seems to be collecting the first installment of its patrimony.

Rhodesia is in many ways in a condition of development comparable to that of some of the western prairie states when they entered our Union. Only trunk line railroads have been constructed for the most part; the dense network of the well-developed country is yet to come. Highways, too, are still few and poor. Both production and markets are largely undeveloped, and the farmers and ranchmen necessarily live the somewhat hard and primitive lives of the frontier. In recent years, however, Victoria (capital of southern Rhodesia), Salisbury and other towns, have developed into modern municipalities with all the conveniences of the western world.

Still other similarities between southern Rhodesia and some portions of the United States lie in physical conditions and climate. The country is a plateau region, dry and hot during the southern summer, but with a reasonable rainfall usually during other portions of the year.

An Empire Owned by a Company.

In one way southern Rhodesia is without parallel in the United States, nothing approaching ownership of an empire by a commercial corporation has ever come up in our history. In fact, in the extent to which such control has gone southern Rhodesia, together with northern Rhodesia and adjacent territories, stands alone even in British experience which contains the stirring history of the East India Company's exploits in India.

The region, nearly half a million square miles in extent, became, through concessions from a native chief, a royal charter from the British crown, and by conquest virtually the private property of the British South Africa company, of which Cecil Rhodes was the moving spirit. The company, as might be expected of any developmental enterprise, sold land, leased mineral rights and built railroads and other engineering works. Besides all this it actually governed the country, though in late years the imperial government has assumed some measure of control over the company's governmental activities.

The known presence of gold in considerable quantities drew the attention of Rhodes and his associates to southern Rhodesia. The precious metal was scattered all over the country, though only in a limited number of places has its development proved profitable. Some students assert that it is the lost source of gold in the days of Solomon—gold which was brought through the Arabian port of Ophir and so came to be called "gold of Ophir." Very extensive ruins of ancient buildings solidly constructed of hewn granite blocks exist in Victoria and are said to be the remains of temples and workshops of the (perhaps Phoenician) gold seekers of the remote past. The ruins extend to a port on the Indian ocean, in what is now Portuguese East Africa, from which the gold was probably shipped.

Now a mining, ranching and agricultural country, southern Rhodesia may also have a future as a manufacturing region. On its northern border flows the Zambezi river with its Victoria falls of great volume, more than twice the height of Niagara, promising abundant power. Not far from the falls are extensive coal fields.

Status of the Natives.

The natives of southern Rhodesia, numbering some 800,000, are in the anomalous position of having no official political status. They have drifted, or like Topsy, have "just grown," into their present condition. They have never been formally made British subjects though British control has been extended over the country. They might almost be considered subjects of the British South Africa company. The company has all along laid claim to ownership of the lands on which the natives live except the areas recently set apart as reservations. The white population of the country numbers about 30,000.

Southern Rhodesia is roughly circular, with a diameter of about 450 miles. Its entrance will add to the Union an area approximately equal to that of California, second largest state in the United States. The center of southern Rhodesia is about the same distance south of the equator as the City of Mexico is north of that line.

Somewhat further south, in Basutoland, the "Young Basutos" are uneasy under the rule of their chiefs and are eager to make their government over on something like a European basis. This means little until one learns that Basutoland is a sort of Indian territory of South Africa, that it is probably the most progressive of the native states of the continent, and that to a large extent movements there are accepted as prophetic of developments over the whole of South Africa. British South Africa and the self-governing dominion, the Union of South Africa, are not synonymous. Outside the Union—and inside it—are regions not connected governmentally with the Union but administered directly by the British crown. Of these no better example could be found than Basutoland, an area the size of the Kingdom of Belgium entirely surrounded by the provinces or states of the Union but not subject to them.

This region is in effect a gigantic reservation set apart solely for natives, and whites are not permitted to own land in it. The few whites in the section are officials, missionaries and traders. A species of communism is in force such as that practiced among primitive peoples or under primitive conditions in many parts of the world. Cattle are pastured on commons and the chiefs allot plots for agricultural use.

Most Enlightened of Natives.

In Basutoland the British have in large measure practiced a hands-off policy. In effect they have merely built a figurative fence around the country; have managed the main machinery of the government, using Basuto laws and customs wherever possible, and have left practically all minor matters to the chiefs to manage in their own way under a paramount chief who is a sort of kinglet. Education in Basutoland is almost entirely in the hands of missionaries.

Under British guidance and missionary tutelage, the Basutos have forged rapidly ahead to the generally recognized position of the most enlightened group of South African natives. In a century their numbers have grown from 40,000 to nearly half a million; and there are almost as many cattle as people in the country. Physically Basutoland is the Switzerland of South Africa, containing the slopes and some of the summits of the Drakensberg, some of the latter reaching an altitude of 11,000 feet.

Everyone benefits by the Activities of this Company

EVERYONE residing in "Superior" California has benefited either directly or indirectly by the activities of this Company.

When over 8000 people are given employment—when over a million dollars a month is put into circulation—the butcher, baker and every home maker feels the prosperity created by such a payroll.

But the enterprise of the P G and E has benefited this section in other far reaching ways. Take for example, the Pit River development work:

The great amount of power ultimately to be generated in this one district will be equivalent to the work of five million laborers a day. This in itself will insure the industrial and agricultural growth for years to come.

And think of this: For every one horsepower in power plant development, on the average of 12 acres of unproductive land worth $300 may have four horsepower in motors for irrigation and general use applied to them. Such land then usually produces $1000 in new crops each year and becomes worth approximately $2400.

To industry it means that every time 25 horsepower is harnessed in the mountains, an average of a factory and a half is started involving a capital investment of almost $150,000, providing work for about 34 more people who can produce over $200,000 in new commodities.

AT THE PRESENT TIME this Company has developed power in excess of the immediate demand. While the work of developing power is progressing every effort must be directed to creating more uses for power, in order that the best interests of the community will be served.

'SANDWICH' LONG IN DISPUTE

Invention of Toothsome Morsel Has Been Credited to Many, Including the Great Napoleon.

Both Napoleon and Lord Sandwich have been given credit for inventing the sandwich, but Voltaire, in his history of Charles the Twelfth, king of Sweden, tells of how the king during his campaign in Poland and Russia never or seldom took time to sit down and eat his meals, but generally stood up, spread some butter on a piece of bread with his thumb and put a piece of meat, fish or cheese on top of the butter. This happened almost one hundred years before Napoleon.

And in 1762, or seven years before Napoleon was born, Edward Gibbon of "Decline and Fall" fame, noted in his journal under date of November 24: "I dined at the Cocoa Tree. . . . That respectable body affords every evening a slight truly English. Twenty or thirty of the first men in the kingdom supping at little tables upon a bit of cold meat or a sandwich!"

When Napoleon was two years old Foote introduced the word in a play of his, "The Maid of Bath," staged in 1771. But the origin of the word was traced by Pierre Jean Grosley in his "Londres," published in 1770. He resided in London in 1765, and refers to the word as having recently come into use. The title to authorship rests with the butler or attendant, who served thin slices of beef between thin slices of toast to John Montagu, fourth earl of Sandwich (1718-1792), while the latter was attending a prolonged session at the gaming table.

FLOWER BROUGHT BIG PRICE

English Horticulturists Paid Large Sum for American Plant With Somewhat Peculiar History.

Ten thousand dollars is an extraordinary price for a single plant; yet it was paid by English horticulturists for an orchid raised in America, the cattleya gigas alba.

This cattleya was flowered in 1910 and exhibited at an orchid show in the United States, where it was awarded a gold medal. The plant was found in 1909 in a lot of other specimens of cattleya gigas. It was only by chance that the plant was not sold for a dollar or two. The only reason was that, after most of its companions had been disposed of, this one, with some others was set aside. Finally all the specimens were potted.

To the great surprise of the horticulturists when, next spring, the plant came up, it was with pure white flowers. The plant was sold in London for perhaps the highest figure that an orchid ever brought.

Why "The Innocents" Succeeded.

How easy it is now to understand the prodigious success of "The Innocents Abroad," appearing as it did precisely at the psychological moment, at the close of the Civil war, at the opening of the epoch of industrial pioneering, in the hour when the life of business had become obligatory upon every American man! How easy it is to understand why it was so generally used as a guidebook by Americans traveling in Europe. It attacked not only the illegitimate pretensions of the human spirit but the legitimate pretensions also. It expressly made the American business man as good as Titan and a little better; it made him feel that art and history and all the great, elevated, admirable, painful discoveries of humankind were things not worth wasting one's emotions over.—Exchange.

Change.

Chiropodists at a convention discuss the probability that women in another few generations will have only four toes.

Tight shoes are deforming and dwarfing the little toe. Instructors at swimming pools frequently comment on the number of women whose little toes have almost disappeared.

Back of this is the biological principle that nature makes additions to the body when needed, and takes away parts no longer necessary. Thus fish in Mammoth cave are blind, not needing eyes. A change of diet has made a long human organ shrivel into a small appendix.

Chew Food Thoroughly.

A point which counts much for economy whether living at home or at restaurants is a rather funny one, you may say. I have not heard it mentioned often. People usually laugh about it, but it is very true, nevertheless. That is that most people—not just the average person—but most people, do not chew their food sufficiently to get the full nutrient value from it. If food were chewed three or four times as long as it usually is, we would not eat more than half as much of it as we do. Think of cutting your meat bill right in two in the middle! And feeling better for it!—Nellie Kelso in Thrift Magazine.

Largest Book in the World.

In the British museum may be seen an Atlas which is probably the largest book in the world. It measures 5 feet 10 inches in height, 3 feet 2 inches in width, and to lift it is considered a four-man job—with a foreman to stand by and say, "Gently, now!" It is bound in leather, and eight distinct skins were used. On it are diamond-shaped spaces showing alternately the rose, thistle and harp. Three gilt clasps hold it together. This heavy tome was presented to the nation by George IV, in January, 1823.

Father Was Horrified.

Susan was having her first beau, a youngster who drove a truck. And often when he came to Susan's home at night, since he lived in the other part of the town, he came in the truck. The family continually twitted her about it, saying such things as "I suppose the neighbors will think we're having our coal hauled at night," or "our flour" or some other commodity.

But one evening even father was horrified when one of the 10-year-old boys in the neighborhood said innocently, "My pa said that your pa would get pinched some night if he didn't quit having so much booze hauled here after dark."

Investigation disclosed the fact that the truck that stood at their door one evening each week was an old brewery truck.—Indianapolis News.

Clerical Humor.

"That was an excellent discourse you delivered last Sunday," said an old minister to a rising young preacher, "but I would hardly call it a sermon; it had no text."

"Don't you call a discourse a sermon unless it has a text, doctor?"

"Certainly not."

"How about the Sermon on the Mount; it has no text?"

"On the contrary, my dear young friend," said the old minister, "it is composed entirely of texts."—Boston Transcript.

Keep California Free from Political Control of Industry

We represent many owners of real property in California. The tax burden on real property, which falls ultimately on tenants as well, and the tax burden on public utilities, which falls ultimately on rate payers, have become oppressive.

The great bulk of our California taxes are laid upon us by popular votes and not by the local and state legislative authorities. The people are too prone to vote for bonds and other expenses without calculating the cost to themselves in taxes. When they get the tax bill, they groan and wonder who saddled them with such burdens.

from Enormous Debt

State Controller Ray L. Riley in his 1921 report, recently published, says:

"During the past decade the total bonded indebtedness for all forms of government in California has increased from $93,906,423 to $321,616,238.66, or 242 per cent, while the wealth of the State has increased about 60 per cent. This tremendous increase that aggregates more than 3 per cent of the total wealth of the State should have the attention of all tax-levying bodies. California's credit must not be jeopardized by over-financing and the same ratio of increase during the next ten years would impose confiscating tax burdens upon the people."

"During the past year the total amount expended for interest and redemption of debt was $27,559,297. To produce this amount it would require a tax rate of 56 cents on every $100 of assessed valuation."

from Destructive Taxes

In face of that warning, a proposed constitutional amendment has been put on your ballot to be voted on November 7th which creates a powerful new commission, called the Water and Power Board, and authorizes it, without further reference to the people or the legislature, to issue state bonds to the enormous amount of half a billion dollars. That bond issue will multiply the state's debt more than six times. The board is authorized to invest the money in water and power speculations and "to do any and all things necessary or convenient for the conservation, development, storage and distribution of water, and the generation, transmission and distribution of electric energy." It is authorized also "to purchase, acquire, produce, manufacture or otherwise provide facilities, materials and supplies, raw or finished, and any property or thing necessary or convenient to the accomplishment of the purposes of this article."

The board is authorized to fix its own rates, which need not be uniform, so that particular localities or industries could be favored. The proposed amendment makes an appointive board, sitting at Sacramento, the arbitrary masters of the credit and the industry of the State of California. The amendment even authorizes the board to appoint and fix the compensation of such employes as it may require and exempts the board from the state civil service.

This is bureaucracy in its completest form. We have had sufficient experience with government by bureaus to know that we don't want any more. California, prosperous as it is, cannot stand the proposed addition to the state debt and the proposed arbitrary control of industry by a board of politicians. Give a political board unrestricted authority to hire employes and fix their compensation, and give them 500 million dollars of taxpayers' money to play with, and in a year you will see the biggest political machine and the biggest tax bills that any state has ever had.

CARED LITTLE ABOUT MONEY

Daniel Webster Refused to Be Bothered Over Comparatively Paltry Questions of Finance.

In A. B. Farquahar's "The First Million the Hardest" he optimistically points out that the senate has greatly improved in business integrity since Daniel Webster's day, when senators could not be expected to bother about paying their bills. Mr. Farquahar was once talking with Mr. Corcoran (of the Corcoran art gallery fame) in his bank at Washington. Daniel Webster had just been in to borrow money and had asked the cashier to discount his note for $100. The bank did not discount notes that were not indorsed, so Webster went out and brought in a note for $200, indorsed by another senator with whom he had promised to divide the profits. Mr. Corcoran remarked that the only value of the note was as a curiosity. It was never paid, and the Riggs bank still has it. "Daniel Webster was very careless about all of his personal affairs," says Mr. Farquahar. "He was said to be scrupulous about paying his gambling debts, but he did not bother with little bills. He often thought it quite enough to give a creditor a copy of his signature without bothering to honor the promise to pay on it. "He was such a powerful, leonine sort of a man and his voice was so glorious and magnificent that I do not believe any one in the country would have ventured to mention such a trivial thing as money in his presence. Few more impressive men have ever lived—in fact, he had been called a living lie, because, as was said, 'no man could possibly be as great as Webster looked.'"

REALLY IS "CRANE'S FOOT"

Word "Pedigree" a Corruption of Term Which Was Applied to Idea by the French.

Perhaps, after all, it would be more appropriate to call a family "tree" a family "crane's foot." When one speaks of a person's "pedigree" he does not, at least consciously, mean to infer that this has anything in common with the foot of a crane. But this happens to be the literal meaning of the word, which, like a number of others, has found its way into English because of the difficulty in applying the proper pronunciation to a French phrase. A pedigree is, of course, nothing more than a list of ancestors, and this, when blocked out in the manner dear to the hearts of genealogists, takes the form of connecting lines radiating from the common progenitor of the family to his descendants. The French, always fond of painting word pictures of familiar objects, referred to a chart of this nature as a "ped-de-grue," or crane's foot, on account of the resemblance between the two. The English appropriated the term bodily and translated it phonetically as "pedigree."

Movements of Fishes.

Remarkable investigations into the habits of fish are being carried out by the British ministry of fisheries. The object is to discover how far and in what direction fish travel; whether there are seasons in which organized migrations take place; and how fast various kinds of fish grow. A special research steamer has been fitted with tanks through which sea-water flows continuously. This vessel sets out from Lowestoft and small hauls are made at selected spots. The catch is shot into a tank, and the liveliest specimens are measured and marked. After this they are put into a second tank, and all sickly fish are weeded out. The best specimens are set free, and a record is kept of the places where they were released.

"Adamzad."

The Chemosit, or Nandi bear, a mysterious animal that is said to haunt the deep forests in the more inaccessible parts of the East African highlands, has again been seen, this time by a party of reliable European and native witnesses.

It has been seen by various people several times during recent years, but no specimen has been killed or captured. The latest description of the bear tallies accurately with previous reports. The animal is between five and six feet high, walks on his hind legs something after the manner of a chimpanzee, and has a long fringe of white hair completely encircling its face.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Precocity.

In congress they tell this story of a certain youthful, but successful representative. This gentleman's self-confidence has always been most marked, a dominant characteristic even of his extreme youth.

When he was about eight years old, he decided to take a job during his school vacation, and accordingly sought work in a grocery. After he had been there a week or so his uncle meeting the old grocer, asked:

"Well, how are you getting on with William at the store?"
"I seem to please him," said the old grocer with a smile. "I seem to please him."

Americans as Lotus Eaters.

From the Iowa conservation board comes the suggestion that we grow water lilies as a staple article of food. It is claimed that the lily when peeled and boiled is as farinaceous and tasteless as the potato.—Scientific American.

CONGRESSMAN FREE FORCED TO CANCEL TRIP HOME

Congressman A. M. Free, who was very severely injured in an automobile accident on the road between Washington and Baltimore on September 22d, has recovered sufficiently to be removed from the hospital to his home in Washington, where he is now recuperating.

It has been necessary for Mr. Free to cancel his contemplated trip to California for the present. Although he had no contest for re-election, yet he had planned to visit his entire district in order to hear from his constituents at first hand their views on the needs of the district.

When Mr. Free has recovered sufficiently to leave the doctors who have been attending him he will probably go down to North Carolina to the plantation of a friend, where he hopes to regain his strength and restore the robust constitution which was his greatest asset in his fight for life.
