BUDGET PROPOSALS LAID BEFORE HOUSE TO-DAY BY FIELDING

Most Changes in Canadian Tariff to Be Reductions; Reduced Sales Tax to Be Collected at Source; Maximum Tax on Cheques $1.

Ottawa, May 11.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, stated in his budget speech in the Commons this afternoon that he was reluctant to add to the taxes already existing. He expressed the hope that improvement in trade and on the railways would enable the Government to get along without new taxes.

For the current year he estimated the surplus on ordinary account at $14,000,000, but the National Railways would take $74,000,000.

The Minister proposed considerable reductions in excise taxes. The sales tax would be changed, he said. It would be imposed at the source. It would be six per cent. and would apply to imports and to home manufacturers.

A few items would be added to the list of exemption from the sales tax. Dealing with the receipt tax sales he said the maximum tax on cheques would be reduced from $2 to $1.

The excise tax on Canadian wines would be reduced from $3 to $1.50 per gallon.

He announced no change in the income tax. If any was to be made it would be done in a separate bill. The addition made last year to the tax on cigarettes would be dropped, he said.

The tax on beet root sugar also would be dropped. A tax one cent per pound would be placed on carbonized acid gas.

Raisins and Currants. Most of the changes in the tariff were in the way of reductions, but the duty on raisins and dried currants would be increased. It would be three per cent, except under the British preference. There would be no tax under the British preference.

This, he said, was designed to encourage trade with Australia. There would be a variation in the tax on crude petroleum.

Artificial silk would be made a new classification in tariff to encourage a new industry.

Principal Proposals. The following official summary gives a birdseye view of the principal proposals in the budget.

Customs: Preferential tariff is reduced by a discount of ten per cent on the amount of duty computed under such tariff when such goods are conveyed without trans-shipment to a sea or river port of Canada.

Articles on a discount will not apply: (1) On wines, malt liquor, spirits, liquors, liqueurs, medicines and articles containing alcohol, sugar, tobacco, cigars and cigarettes; or (2) To goods on which the rate of duty does not exceed fifteen per cent; or (3) To goods admitted into Canada under the Canada-West Indies Trade Agreement.

Sugar. Sugar, refined, reduced one-half cent per pound. Sugar, raw, reduced about forty cents per hundred pounds. Cigarettes are reduced to the former rate.

White oxide of antimony made the same rate as zinc, while firebrick for the construction of the iron printing presses at the rates of five per cent preferential tariff, seven and one-half per cent intermediate tariff and ten per cent general tariff.

Sheet feeding machines and "machinery for printing by photographic method" are added to the iron printing presses at the rates of five per cent preferential tariff, ten per cent intermediate tariff, and ten per cent general tariff.

Ottawa, May 11.—(Canadian Press)—The galleries were packed when Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, arose in the Commons this afternoon to present his seventeenth budget. On entering the chamber, Mr. Fielding was welcomed by an outburst of applause from all parts of the House.

It was 3.25 when the Finance Minister moved that the House go into committee on ways and means. Mr. Fielding commenced with a comparison of the financial figures since the present Government had taken office. The last fiscal accounts which were completed were those of the year ended March 31, 1922.

The present Government had been then in power only a few months. The estimates for that year had been prepared by the previous Government. The revenues were gathered under the Conservative proposal. Therefore, that might be considered a Conservative year. The revenue that year had totalled $361,952,338.99. The surplus, if only ordinary expenditures were considered, was $34,391,696.36.

There had, however, to be capital expenditures and demobilization expenses. There had also been advances to railways amounting to $97,550,644.56.

Deficit For Year. This made a deficit for the year amounting to $51,158,947.77. The net result had been an addition of $51,158,947.77 to the public debt. Coming to the year 1922-23, Mr. Fielding said ordinary revenue amounted to $293,619,000, while expenditure amounted to $327,780,000, leaving a surplus of $24,169,000.

Taking everything into consideration for the year the net results were shown to be an addition to the public debt of $45,253,986.

The addition of nearly $50,000,000 to the public debt last year had not, of course, caused much satisfaction.

A Balanced Budget. The war had inevitably led to big increases, and now that the country was passing through a period of peace there were many people, said

LONG IDENTIFIED WITH CIVIC AFFAIRS; JAMES L. RAYMUR

CITY COMPTROLLER DIED HIS MORNING

James L. Raymur Ends Thirty-five Years of Civic Association

Took Active Share in Shaping Important Policies

City Comptroller James L. Raymur died at his residence, 1315 Stanley Avenue, at seven o'clock this morning, at the age of 64 years.

Mr. Raymur's death leaves vacant the chief position in the city's service, and ends a career of 35 years in the City Hall. Members of the City Council were deeply shocked to-day to hear of Mr. Raymur's demise, but in the absence of Mayor Hayward in Bellingham, it was thought desirable to postpone a formal expression of sympathy with the relatives.

Mr. Raymur is survived by his widow, a daughter of the late Hon. D. W. Higgins, and two sons, Arnold in Seattle, and Kenneth M. in Victoria.

The funeral has been set from the house at 10.45 o'clock Monday to Christ Church Cathedral, where Dean Quinlan will officiate, the service commencing at eleven o'clock. The family desire no flowers. The interment will be made in the family plot at Ross Bay cemetery.

Toulouse, May 11.—Joseph Caillaux, former Premier of France, was assaulted with canes and blackjacks by members of a crowd which surrounded him to-day in front of the Chamber of Commerce building here. He was injured about the head. It was stated his condition was not serious.

BRIEF BRITISH NOTE URGES A NEW GERMAN REPARATIONS OFFER

London, May 11.—Brevity and incisiveness are the features of Great Britain's newest note to Germany on the reparations question, which is now complete. The document, consisting of two typewritten pages, avoids technical details, points out in simple language the inadequacy, from the British viewpoint, of Germany's proposals and urges her to try again.

The reply probably will be delivered to the German Ambassador to-morrow or Sunday, copies meantime being transmitted to France and Belgium as an act of courtesy.

As already indicated, Italy's reply follows the same general lines as the British response and will be presented to Berlin simultaneously.

The Turks and Greeks clashed again to-day over the question of liquidating Turkish property in Greece. The committee finally referred the question to the experts.

THREE MEN HELD EVERETT, WASH., HAD MORPHINE

Seattle, May 11.—Accused of picking the pocket of a fellow passenger on a Great Northern train from Vancouver, B. C., to Seattle, James Mulvihill, 42; Ed Larson, 37, and James Gallagher, 41, alias Frank White, were arrested at Everett and found to be in possession of more than $1,500 worth of morphine, alleged to have been smuggled from Canada. They are held in the Snohomish County jail pending final hearing next week.

OLD PISTOL BRINGS SECOND SENTENCE

New York, May 11.—The pistol with which Edward W. Stokes, owner of the Old Hoffman House, shot James Fisk, railroad financier, thirty-five years ago, in an argument over Josie Mansfield, the then reigning theatrical favorite, figured in a case in county court in Brooklyn yesterday.

Daniel B. Metzger pleaded guilty of second degree assault on Michael Conway, admitting he had threatened Conway with the weapon. Metzger displayed the ancient weapon, with some handle, nickel barrel and old-fashioned chambers, saying it had been in his family for thirty years.

Stokes served four years for using it on Fisk. Metzger will learn how many years had luck it brings him Monday, when he will be sentenced.

SMITH GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER, SAY ASSIZE JURYMEN

Sensational Murder Trial Ends To-day In Conviction of Principal on Lesser Charge; Burton Turned King's Evidence.

Ronald Smith was found guilty of the manslaughter of Ernest Lionel Lorenz on February 28, at the Victoria Spring Assize to-day. He was accused of murder, as was also a boy, Thomas Herbert Burton, who accompanied him to Bedford Street on the occasion of the slaying of the young bank clerk Lorenz, who was on his way home to Cowan Avenue from the Royal Bank, of which institution he was an employee.

Burton, who gave evidence against his companion, pleaded guilty to robbery with violence. A second indictment of murder was withdrawn, the Crown entering a nolle prosequi.

Sentence on Smith was deferred. In the case of Burton similar action was taken, at the request of counsel, who desired to submit character evidence.

American Goes From Peking to Chinese Bandits' Stronghold

Peking, May 11.—(Associated Press)—Roy Anderson, an American of long experience in Chinese political affairs and a personal confidant of several important Tchuans, or military leaders, has announced that he will personally visit the Suchow train bandits in their present stronghold at Paotuku for the purpose of negotiating an early release of the captives now being held by them for ransom.

At the present moment hopes of obtaining freedom for the brigands' victims seem to lie in the success of Anderson's efforts.

MAYOR ASKS TAXPAYERS TO PASS LOANS TO-MORROW

Defeat of By-laws Would Raise Tax Rate Heavily, He Warns

Money Needed and Must Be Raised by Borrowing or Levy Now

An official statement urging the ratepayers of Victoria to pass money by-laws totalling $760,000 to be laid before them to-morrow was issued by Mayor Hayward early to-day before he left the city for Bellingham.

"If the people of Victoria really understand the by-laws upon which they will vote to-morrow they will certainly pass them, I believe," the Mayor declared. "The only possibility that will not be obtained lies in the ignorance of some of the ratepayers on the subject."

"The three by-laws upon which a vote will be taken to-morrow are for finishing the Johnson Street Bridge, widening the city streets, and for borrowing $180,000 to cover accumulated current deficits.

Must Have Money. "In the first place, it is not only obvious that we must finish the new bridge but, secondly, we actually have awarded a contract for the work and (concluded on page 2)

SWISS WHO KILLED VOROWSKI MAY SERVE LESS THAN FIVE YEARS

Geneva, May 11.—Maurice Conradi, the assassin of M. Vorowski, the Soviet delegate in Lausanne, may escape with a slight sentence under the Swiss criminal laws, which vary greatly in the different cantons.

In legal circles here to-day it was said that if Conradi should be convicted of murder with extenuating circumstances, which was thought probable, he would be sentenced to five years' imprisonment, and possibly less. Capital punishment was long ago abolished in the Canton of Vaud, of which Lausanne is the capital.

REPRISALS FEARED

Lausanne, May 11.—There is considerable apprehension in Swiss Government circles regarding the consequences the assassination of M. Vorowski may have for the 800 Swiss citizens residing in Russia.

The police to-day declared they were not obliged to give special protection to Vorowski, as he was not an official delegate to the Near East Conference, but nevertheless the chief of police, recently asked if he desired protection. This offer was declined by Vorowski, it is said.

ACT OF VENGEANCE

Lausanne, May 11.—Maurice Conradi, who shot and killed M. Vorowski, Soviet delegate here, told the police that his uncle and brother had been tortured and murdered by the Bolsheviks during the terror in Russia. His act in shooting Vorowski, he declared, was one of vengeance.

DEMONSTRATION

Basel, Switzerland, May 11.—The executive committee of the Swiss Communist Party has called upon all workers regardless of political affiliation to join in a demonstration of protest against the assassination of Vorowski. The call characterizes the murder as "the signal for Fascist terrorism."

KNOWN IN ROME

Rome, May 11.—The assassination of M. Vorowski, head of the Russian delegation at the Lausanne Conference, is producing a profound impression here. He was a noble Soviet representative at the Italian capital.

RECALLED TO-DAY

It was recalled to-day that Vorowski's arrival in Rome in April, 1921, as head of the Russian Commercial Mission was marked by a lively conflict over his many trunks, which Vorowski refused to hand over to the Italian noble diplomat's immunity.

MAN YET LIVED

The Cabinet then in power ordered the trunks opened and it was found that the man was still alive. He was kept, although it was obvious they had originally belonged to his family, in a secret hiding place.

NOT FASCIST PLOT

Lausanne, May 11.—The killing of M. Vorowski, the Soviet delegate, has shaken Lausanne to its foundations. Swiss opinion is inclined to condemn the assertion that the crime was attributed to a Fascist plot. The Fascists are not taking the rumor very seriously. No one has imagined that they would go farther than to castor oil, like the Italians, to a person who had fallen into their bad graces. The idea that they would go to the extreme of taking his life has never been entertained.

RETURNED FROM RUSSIA

Conradi expressed no regret and admitted that he had formerly served in the Russian army. He returned recently from Russia and traveled to Lausanne yesterday from Zurich, where he had been residing.

Conradi, who is thirty-eight years old, was born in Anders.

The official attitude of the Conference is that the assassin was not here in any official capacity and that they obtained their visas before the Swiss Government was informed of the conditions under which they could be invited to participate in the conference. The murder, however, is profoundly deplored by the conferees and no one is more outspoken in condemnation than the Turkish delegation.

FLAMES TRAP LADY IN HOUSE

Mrs. J. K. Unsworth Rescued From Awful Peril

Prompt Action of Neighbor Averts Tragedy

Entrapped by smoke in a burning house Mrs. Unsworth, wife of Rev. J. K. Unsworth, 2380 Windsor Road, Oak Bay, had a miraculous escape from death at four o'clock this morning when her residence was gutted by flames that spread from the kitchen up through the rear of the premises.

Mrs. Unsworth was awakened by smoke shortly after 4 a. m., having retired at 12.30 a. m. She found that her escape through the house was cut off. Her room was on an upper floor of the dwelling which then was burning furiously.

The resourceful action of E. Davis, of 1070 St. David Street, a neighbor who quickly threw a ladder up to the window where his attention had been drawn by the cries of Mrs. Unsworth, and effected her rescue by this means, saved a tragedy. Mrs. Unsworth was rescued from the burning home unhurt, except for the shock of the distressing event.

The first alarm was turned in to the city fire hall at 5.55 o'clock. The Duchess Street fire hall engines responded with city firemen and fought the flames for nearly two hours before they secured control.

By this time the interior of the house, a handsome structure, was demolished.

Suffering greatly from shock Mrs. Unsworth was sent to the home of friends, where she is now recovering from the effects of the terrible night.

STUPART EXPLAINS CHILLY WEATHER

Cold Air From North Flows Over Central and Eastern Canada

Toronto, May 11.—Sir Frederick Stupart, Director of the Meteorological Service of Canada, in an interview yesterday explained just why the country is being treated to such unseasonable weather as has prevailed over so widespread an area. "In connection with Spring of this year," said Sir Frederick, "it has been shown that the persistent development of areas of high pressure in Arctic America and their subsequent movement southward has led to an abnormal flow of air from the northward over Central and Eastern Canada, bringing with it the low temperatures of high altitudes. The type of weather which prevailed during most of the last Winter and Spring is not yet broken, and the present cold wave is quite similar to many that have occurred in months past. It is a flow of air from the far north filling in behind in a barometric depression passing slowly eastward across Southern Canada."

CONVOCATION OF B. C. UNIVERSITY ELECTED OFFICERS

Vancouver, May 11.—J. S. Gordon was re-elected secretary of Convocation of the University of British Columbia last night. H. H. Morris was chosen as treasurer. The executive committee will consist of George E. Robinson, W. G. Graham, Dr. (Mrs.) H. E. Ryan (Victoria), Hunter Lewis and J. H. Kennedy. Mr. Graham and Mr. Lewis are new members of the Convocation, being this year's graduates. W.

H. MacInnes and George E. Robinson were chosen as auditors.

The gathering was the largest meeting of the Convocation in the history of the college.

Dr. R. E. McKechnie, Chancellor of the University, after welcoming the graduates to the Convocation, pointed out that this was the eighth meeting of the Convocation of the University of British Columbia, and said the gathering next year would elect a new Chancellor and some senators. Dr. Walter Murray, president of the University of Saskatchewan, delivered the Convocation address.

WORLD COURT SUPPORTED

New York, May 11.—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States concluding business sessions of its annual convention late yesterday, endorsed entry of the United States into the world court, advocated increasing by two per cent, the immigration quotas, and urged state regulation of public utilities rather than local regulations.

NORTHCLIFF'S LAST DIARY PUBLISHED

Tells of Round-the-World Trip; Found Reporters Very Insistent

London, May 11 (Canadian Press cable)—Perhaps the most striking thing in Lord Northcliffe's diary of his last long journey on earth, which was published to-day, is that he discovered that modern journalism, with its sleuth interviewers and reporters, is an intolerable nuisance. He mentioned reporters invading his private rooms on land and outraging his privacy at sea by wireless communication. He expressed himself quite warmly at their notion that he would be delighted to see them. At the same time the diary does not contain anything that would lead to the belief that Lord Northcliffe made any resolutions to use his influence toward altering this trend of journalism. The book as a whole, as the author confesses, is jerky in style. However, it is none the less a most interesting account. One notable phrase in it is this: "I have been away five and a half months, almost the longest time I have ever been away from England. I had no idea how much I did not know."

ONTARIO BUILDING

Toronto, May 11.—During April contracts awarded in Ontario, according to Maclean's Building Reports, amounted to $17,359,200, compared with $7,342,000 in March and $17,910,700 a year ago. The Ontario Government is to build an administration building costing $1,250,000.

Montreal, May 11.—General Sir Arthur Currie was elected president of the Dominion council of the Last Post Fund of Canada here yesterday. Colonel H. St. J. Montzambert, British Columbia; Howard Stutchbury, Alberta; and Lieut.-Col. H. F. Oster, Manitoba, were appointed to the council.

EXPLOSIVES WERE FOUND IN TRUNK

Owner Disappeared; Trunk Was Near Bath Heater

London, May 11 (Canadian Press cable)—A Canadian lodging in a house in Blackburn, Lancashire, left a trunk five years ago on returning to Canada, intimating he would send directions as to its disposition. Nothing was ever heard from him, and it is believed he died of wounds in the war.

The trunk was opened yesterday and found to contain sufficient explosives to wreck a town hall. There were also some harmless war souvenirs. The trunk had all the time lain near a bath heater and it is considered a miracle that the house was not wrecked.

NO WEAKENING OF FORGES IN IRELAND

Dublin Government Making No Compromise With Raiders

Dublin, May 11 (Associated Press)—In the Dail Eireann yesterday Tom Johnson, Labor leader, again urged the Government to endeavor to compromise with the Fenians. He suggested that the arms question could be met without weakening the Government's position, while peace by repression, he suggested, would leave 12,000 prisoners, whom it would not be safe to release. He advised the Government to announce the cessation of raids and arrests for one month.

President Cosgrave refused to recede from his previous position. He said the irregulars would accept peace only if guaranteed a lease of political life, and the Government would not guarantee that. When there was an honest peace effort the Government would not be found wanting, but in the meantime it declined to withdraw a single soldier from duty.

Message From U. S.

Washington, May 11.—The following cablegram has been sent to Eamonn de Valera by Thomas W. Spence, national secretary of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic:

"The American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic, embracing the entire United States, warmly congratulates you on your unflinching stand for the right of the people to decide issues by free election. Should it become necessary to resume military operations to protect the republic, we pledge our continued and fullest support, financial and otherwise, to the finish or until the people of all Ireland are given the right to choose by plebiscite between the republic and the so-called Free State free from threat of war by England in the event the republic is the choice."

Funds in U. S.

New York, May 11.—Securities valued at $2,000,000 claimed by the Irish Free State and by Eamonn de Valera were ordered sold and the proceeds converted into United States Government issues pending decision as to their ownership, by Supreme Court Justice O'Malley yesterday. The securities are part of $10,000,000 the Irish republic has claimed from the Free State was organized.

NOT APPROVING THE SOVIET SYSTEM

Washington, May 11.—The Central Labor Union of Seattle has been notified by the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor that it must either rescind its endorsement of Soviet rule in Russia or discontinue its affiliation with the Federation. Demands also were made that the Seattle union cease referring communications from the American Federation of Labor to a subordinate committee on political action and that it "comport itself in accordance with the policies and principles" of the Federation. Action with reference to the Seattle body follows a similar demand, it was announced by the Federation, on the Minneapolis Trades and Labor Assembly, which, it was said, accepted the conditions laid down.

MAIL RETURNED.

Washington, May 11.—A fraud order designed to curtail the oil stock promotion activities of Dr. Frederick A. Cook of North Pole fame, was issued by the Postoffice Department. The order is the third of its kind to be authorized in the department's war on wildcat projects in the southwest. It directs that all mail addressed to Dr. Cook as an official of any of the oil companies in which he is interested is to be returned to the sender. Dr. Cook and his companies already are being prosecuted by the Department of Justice, and the Postoffice Department acted after a hearing in which it compared evidence on both sides of the case.

The first automobile "crash" on record occurred in 1896, when Jonathan West, of Rochester, N.Y., riding in a car, collided with a wagon owned by a laundry company.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings relief from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream. (Adv.)

SAAR VALLEY COMMISSION IS CRITICIZED

London, May 11.—By a vote of 238 to 143, the House of Commons yesterday rejected a motion of Sir John Simon for a reduction of the Foreign Office vote in order to draw attention to decree promulgated for the Saar Valley Commission, imposing heavy fines and imprisonment on the inhabitants for criticizing the Treaty of Versailles or any other administration thereunder, including the League of Nations.

Mr. Hon. H. H. Asquith, leader of the Independent Liberals, supporting the motion, challenged the legality of the decree which had gone forth in the name of the League of Nations, describing it as "a more despicable piece of work than anything in Mayor R. D. Waugh of Winnipeg who had accepted the post at great personal inconvenience, chiefly out of sheer loyalty to the Canadian Government, and was trying to make the Saar concern a success. But on every important question he had been voted down by other four commissioners. He had thought that a great deal of importance might have been attached to the efforts of an absolutely impartial Canadian citizen, who had no axe to grind.

He expressed the opinion, he said regretfully, that joint Anglo-French action was henceforth impossible in view of the last French note.

Ronald F. McNeill, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, replying, agreed that the decree itself had no defender in the House of Commons, but he doubted the wisdom of immediately bringing the decree before the League by uncompromisingly denouncing it.

Canadian Representative J. R. M. Butler, Independent, referring to the Saar question, thought there was nothing more pathetic than the figure cut by the Canadian representative on the Commission, as

MR. J. L. RAYMUR.

After thirty-five years of faithful and efficient service at the City Hall death has claimed Mr. James L. Raymur.

It goes without saying that the position of City Comptroller is no sinecure at any time. Decisions which devolve upon the occupant of such an important office do not always please everybody.

The late Mr. Raymur held two of the highest offices in municipal service simultaneously—that of Comptroller and Water Commissioner—at a time of great expenditures.

"TAY-PAY."

Leaders of every party now represented in the British Parliament will meet at a luncheon on Tuesday of next week and mark the seventy-fifth birthday of Mr. T. P. O'Connor.

Mr. O'Connor's interesting and turbulent career has very naturally been selected by many brilliant knights of the pen for ample and picturesque treatment.

At the outset Mr. Collins declares that continuity at Westminster brings into happy interplay a venerable institution which bristles with complexities, and a human product of modernity east on diverse and uncommon lines.

"To acquit oneself creditably for half a busy century in the eyes of one's fellow-members, one must combine in a single entity a cat's indifference to night-and-day relations, the constitution of an engine-driver, the lungs of a tow-path coach, a sentryman's acceptance of hackneyed routine, the secret of retaining one constituency or of capturing another at will, the power of improvising appropriate anathemas on any subject and occasion, a wrestler's ability to wriggle through impossible positions, the suavity of a courtier, the canny of a politician, the foresight of Noah, the gumption of Solomon, and the patience of Job."

The writer of the foregoing lines points out that the natural modesty of Mr. O'Connor would disavow the possession of such a formidable array of inassimilable qualities; but argues that he is surely entitled to have a fair share of them inscribed upon his monument when he cares to order it.

For "Tay-Pay's" journalism Mr. Collins has the greatest admiration. He discourses brilliantly upon the veteran parliamentarian's unique ability to combine political with literary work, but quotes Mr. O'Connor's own words:

"I speak from long experience when I say that one of the hardest tasks in life is for a member to sit down after a long night's debate—perhaps at four in the morning—write a parliamentary article which shall present all the points and do the whole thing justice for the information of intelligent readers. I have often said that the duty of chronicling events and ideas like this is a horrible job. It is a wretched feeling to keep realizing in the midst of a debate, whether brisk or dull, that you have to keep the framework and the color of it alive in your head for reproduction when the pen is soon as you can get away to a quiet corner. And the better you succeed on a particular night the more intent the readers of the paper will be on your reporting the performance the next day, when after that again, perhaps with more inferior material. This is what explains the old adage that journalism is a good thing to get into if you can get out of it; and also the fact that so few ever get out of it at all."

In the general tribute which Mr. Collins pays to his old friend will be found the sentiments that must obviously prevail at next Tuesday's luncheon table. His final paragraph is worth quoting:

"One thought must have occurred to many of Mr. O'Connor's friends and admirers, especially in these days when Irish republicanism at Westminster is little more than a memory. He has earned his present position by diligent and faithful service, and it would be hard to find a man, either in politics or on the press, who has so consistently gained and kept the esteem of his colleagues and even of his opponents. These are laurels that need no addition, but they would be none the worse for expression in the time-honored way. Ireland is coming through the last dark tunnel of her approach to freedom, and the party that gave this aspiration constitutional expression is the party which finds in Mr. O'Connor one of its few survivors. That being so, I would like to see him, for one, admitted to the Privy Council and wearing a prefix which in his case would not be merely 'right honorable,' but 'right well-deserved.'"

Here is a case for recognition. Great Britain's commission on honors would not have to wrestle long with its individual or collective consciences to come to a decision about the merit of "Tay-Pay." On the other hand it is highly probable that the veteran Nationalist would prefer to pass along to the Great Unknown as other notable figures in British public life have done. The name of W. E. Gladstone was good enough for the "Grand Old Man."

able that the veteran Nationalist would prefer to pass along to the Great Unknown as other notable figures in British public life have done. The name of W. E. Gladstone was good enough for the "Grand Old Man."

SHORT AND SHARP.

In a small document of no more than two typewritten pages the British Government has told the German Government that the latest reparations offer is not good enough. Plain language has been used and the debtor nation is advised to have another try at something better.

This is just about what was expected. Britain has obviously reached the conclusion, both in the case of Russia and that of Germany, that plain talk is a great deal more effective than the usual form of diplomatic cumbersomeness. As a matter of fact the reparations issue, from a spectacular phrasing point of view, offers little opportunity for variation of argument. It has now resolved itself into a matter of the amount and its manner of payment. Moral considerations and arguments of justification have been presented in a hundred and one different forms.

It is also a matter for congratulation that the British note so emphatically backs up French opinion of the latest offer. Those scaremongers who saw the Entente split, because the Quai d'Orsay wasted no time in consideration or consultation with respect to the German note, will now realize that Anglo-French relations have not been very much disturbed by the incident.

THE REV. W. BAUGH-ALLEN.

Where he was known in various parts of the Province and on Vancouver Island particularly the death of the Rev. W. Baugh-Allen will be genuinely mourned. His work as a clergyman of the Church of England embraces a long period of years and he leaves behind him a lasting monument of faithful labors in many fields. His interest in all good works in this community was real and sympathetic and his support and assistance were never appealed to in vain. To the bereaved family The Times expresses its warmest sympathy.

MR. LARKIN'S OFFICES.

Waterloo Place would be a much more desirable spot for the official quarters of the Canadian High Commissioner than No. 19 Victoria Street. And if the Dominion Government completes negotiations for premises at this more central point it would make that part of Waterloo Place between Pall Mall and Charles Street practically a Canadian block, as the Bank of Montreal and the Canadian Pacific Railway already have offices there. Victoria Street is all very well for the highly-priced consulting engineer; but its distance from the great hub of movement obviously puts the representative of a young and energetic Dominion at a disadvantage. While he does not come into such close association with the average individual calling for information about this country as do the various Agents-General, there is value in a central location for the office of the High Commissioner. It may also be observed that Mr. Larkin's active and successful business career in this country has not fitted him for the mustiness and comparative solitude of Victoria Street.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An Aldershot court martial has acquitted a private of Dragoons on a charge of insubordination which was laid because he asked an officer to treat him as a human being and not as a dog. But what happened to the officer?

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States in annual convention yesterday endorsed the entry of the United States into the World Court. This important decision of an influential body should cheer up President Harding.

There will be joy among the golfers of Great Britain over the results of the semi-finals of the open championship. This trophy at least will not cross the Atlantic in the wake of the St. George's Cup. The two American contenders upon whom the United States had pinned hopes were eliminated this morning and two Britons will wrestle for the honor.

The American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic has congratulated Eamonn de Valera upon his "unflinching stand for the right of the people to decide issues by free election." The organization promises financial and other support until the people of all Ireland are given the right to choose by plebiscite "between the republic and the so-called Free State." We are afraid our friends over the way have forgotten a few things that have taken place. They overlook the fact that the North has been doing business on its own for some months and that the South is no longer seriously worried about de Valera and his rebels. Meanwhile absent treatment by the Association will not console the republican chief very much.

MUCH TO ANSWER FOR. Toronto Globe—There were fifty-four fires in Toronto in February the origin of which remains unknown. The cigarette stub and the convenient waste-paper basket have a great deal to answer for.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS. Winnipeg Free Press—Is the genius of the country to-day turned toward an effort to move the products of the Canadian farms to the markets of the world at the smallest possible cost? One doubts it. If it were, and the farmer were getting a fair profit on his investment and his labor, it might not be necessary for so many persons to be going about wondering what is wrong with business. To-day, in western Canada, there is just one main business—farming. Make it profitable and the country will take care of itself.

COWICHAN I.O.D.E. "SILVER TEA" SUCCESS

Special to The Times. Duncan—The silver tea given under the auspices of the Cowichan Chapter, I. O. D. E., and held by kind permission of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Solly at their lovely home, Lakeview Farm, drew quite a large number of people. Everything was thrown open for inspection. The two mammoth incubators, each holding 12,000 eggs, in one of which 1,800 chicks were just coming out of their shells, the wonderful brooder houses, etc., were all most interesting and proved a great attraction.

Two competitions had been arranged, guessing the number of eggs in a pail, and guessing the number of chicks in a brooder house. Mr. A. J. Marlow won the former, with Mrs. F. Parker second, and Mrs. H. L. Swan and Mrs. J. L. Gibbs the latter. Altogether about seventy people were present, and a sum of $100 will be added to the funds of the Chapter.

Waterproof and Easy to Clean

Gold-Seal Congoleum Rugs are made all in one piece on a durable fabric-felt base. They are waterproof, germproof and accident-proof. Neither dust, dirt, nor spilled liquids can penetrate the smooth, enamelled surface. Unlike woven rugs, they require no tiresome sweeping or beating. A quick going-over with a damp mop makes Congoleum as clean and spotless as when new—its color fresh and sparkling.

Lies Flat Without Fastening

This is another important feature of Gold-Seal Congoleum. No tacks, nails, or cement are ever required to hold it in place. It literally "hugs" the floor and never "kicks up" or curls at the edges or corners.

Genuine, Guaranteed Goods

All the Gold-Seal Congoleum offered in this sale is fresh new goods, just received from the factory. All of it carries the famous Gold Seal pledge of "Satisfaction Guaranteed or Your Money Back." Look for the Gold Seal on the face of the goods. It protects you against inferior imitations of Gold-Seal Congoleum.

This is Your Last Chance!

If you wait until tomorrow something may prevent your going. And then you will have to pay much more for your Congoleum. After tomorrow prices will positively go up to their former level.

SOCIAL SERVICE COMMITTEE NOW BECOMES 'LEAGUE'

Takes New Name With Broadening of Work; Annual Meeting Yesterday

Since the advent of Miss Olive Snyder in the capacity of family case worker, the social service movement in Victoria has shown considerable progress. Another step forward was made yesterday at the annual meeting of the Social Service Committee when that organization decided to change its name to 'Social Service League, this decision typifying the broadening of the work and the desire to enlist a wider interest in its undertakings. Still further evidence of this forward movement was given by the consideration of a proposed constitution, based on such sound principles as to remain effective should the League ever consider incorporation. This constitution was considered clause by clause and was tentatively adopted.

The president, Very Rev. Dean Quinton was in the chair and he, with Miss Snyder, Mrs. Bond and Miss O'Brien will form the nucleus of a special finance committee to consider ways and means. Mrs. Connell was appointed convener of the Family Social Service Committee and given power to add to that committee. Miss Snyder gave an interesting report showing that she had dealt with eighty cases since commencing her work in this city. Last month's statistical report revealed that 37 cases had been carried over from March; nine new ones had been dealt with; ten cases closed and 36 carried over into the present month. This work had involved 24 calls at the office, nine calls on behalf of the family, 13 consultative calls, and 55 visits, in addition to which Miss Snyder held eight social service classes and gave four addresses dealing with her work.

The volume of clerical work involved in the handling of her office led Miss Snyder to emphasize the need of a typewriter. The scarcity of funds and the heavy cost of a machine was considered by the meeting and the hope was expressed that some kind friends would donate a machine or funds with which to purchase the same, in order to facilitate the work. Miss Crease reported on the Girls' Club announcing that it had completed one year of existence free from debt. Thirty-six women and girls had been housed for varying periods and helped out of their difficulties. Miss Crease in reviewing the causes contributory to these difficulties stated that mental deficiency, waywardness, typhoid and poor health were among the factors. Mrs. Northam also gave the financial statement of the Club.

PUBLIC INVITED TO VIEW ST. JOSEPH'S

National Hospital Day to Be Observed To-morrow; Babies In-worried

National Hospital Day at St. Joseph's will again this year be observed in a most cordial and instructive manner. All departments of the institution including the Nurses' Home will welcome visitors to-morrow, and in compliance with the intention of organizers of National Hospital Day, competent persons will be in the different departments to acquaint the interested public of the ways and means by which patients are restored to better health.

The Sisters will be pleased to give any information relative to the equipment. Visitors will find the laboratories particularly improved and instructive.

A silver tea will be held under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary. A home-cooking and candy booth will be conducted by members of St. Joseph's Alumnae Association. Mothers are invited to come with the babies born in St. Joseph's in the last four years and a group picture of the little ones will be taken on the hospital grounds at 4 o'clock. All visitors will be most welcome from 2.30 to 5 o'clock.

WOMAN M.P. WOULD CHANGE PARTS OF MARRIAGE RITUAL

Agnes McPhail Objects to "Relics of the Old Servitude"

Montreal, May 11.—Addressing the Temple Emmanuel Sisterhood here yesterday, Miss Agnes Macphail, Canada's only woman M.P., vigorously objected to those passages in the marriage service such as "Whit thou give this woman?" and "Who gives this woman?" which she claimed were relics of the old servitude, although the old condition had been a happy one, generally speaking. "Love and service" were woman's two most distinctive characteristics, she declared. She believed that the old ideal of fighting has gone, and added: "I think one of the things women can do is to make war look what it is—hell."

Miss Macphail concluded: "Politics should be viewed as the business of looking after this great family of ours in Canada—that is the kind of politics I think women should be in."

Reared Ten Children Then Started Farming

After you've reared ten children, you've just started on your career. Don't lose your interest in life at the age of 83 and sit down in the corner by the fireplace to doze and snore.

Mrs. Ann Elizabeth Rodgers didn't. And she's a mother of ten and 83 years old.

She's gone in for farming. And last season, on her land near here, she raised—

A bale of cotton, 50 bushels of potatoes, six barrels of corn, more than 800 pounds of meat and land knows how many eggs or how much butter and milk.

She did all the work herself save the plowing.

"Why, I couldn't sit still and hold my hands," she says.

UNDESERVED HONOR

"What did you think of that cigar I gave you? It was an Admiral, you know."

"Well, well, how appropriate! There's something about that cigar that's suggestive of an admiral."

"What's that?"

"It's rank."

YOUR HOME AND YOU

By HELEN KENDALL
Spring Refreshments

The May meeting of the local welfare league had been concluded, and the pretty young matrons of the community shifted their chairs into groups, as the refreshments were served. The day was a warm, breezy one, with Spring at its full tide, and when the two serving maids brought around the plates of salad, their exclamations of pleasure over its fresh, inviting appearance.

The salads were "fruit pyramids." On a large deep-green lettuce leaf lay, first, a thin slice of green fruit, pared and with the sections separated by a sharp knife, although the slice was not broken in shape. Over this was spread a thin layer of cream cheese. Next above that was a round of pineapple, surmounted by a slice of orange, and then a delicious slice of alligator pear. This was topped by a wee slice of golden apricot, and at the peak was a perfect strawberry. The whole effect was cool, sprinkly, and appetizing.

One of the tricks of successful catering is to produce decorative dishes that are appropriate to the season. At this time of the year everything we serve should suggest the young growth of the garden. Dishes wreathed in water cress and garnished with the first radishes taste far better than those adorned with the same decorations we have used all winter—parsley, red pimientos, stuffed olives and the like. The tiny new leaves of rhubarb, with their pink and green delicacy, speak of the change of season just as much as does the stewed rhubarb on our breakfast tables.

Good for the family as well as attractive to the guest is the crisp spring salad of ringed cucumbers, young silvery green-handled onions, and a few sections of early tomatoes, laid in a nest of tender sprigs of mint. Keep a few of the first green peas back when dinner is served, and use them next day for a spring vegetable salad, combining them with tiny cubes of carrot, a little sheaf of young string beans, a few asparagus tips, and a spoonful of vegetable mayonnaise, a delicious variation of mayonnaise which the housewife has taken to her pantry-shelf with much enthusiasm.

Keep the table, the refreshment tray, and the tea-wagon looking as springlike as the daffodils and tulips by garnishing with the first shoots of the vegetable garden.

Make the Rinsoliquid first
Do not put Rinsoliquid direct from the package into the tub. Mix half a package of Rinsoliquid in a little cool water until it is like cream. Then add two quarts of boiling water, and when the froth subsides, you will have a clean amber-coloured liquid. Add this liquid to the wash tub, until you get the big lasting Rinsoliquid suds. Then soak the clothes clean.

NOTE: In hard water it takes from 1 to 2 packages of Rinsoliquid to a tub to make good suds. In very hard water you will need from 1 1/2 to 2 packages to a tub to get the big lasting suds that loosen all the dirt.

MANUAL TRAINING SATISFIES SAANICH
Parent-Teacher Association Discusses Good and Bad Points
John Kyle, provincial organizer of technical education, last night defended the manual training course as it was in the schools to-day, at North Dairy School at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association, against the arguments of Trustees George McWilliam and J. Cheetham and Dr. Francis, W. P. Jeanne, President of the Saanich Central Parent-Teacher Association and J. McE. Paterson, president of the Ward Two Ratepayers' Association, both stood with Mr. Kyle in defense of the technical education subjects, and endeavored to point out their value. The vote was twenty to one in favor of the retention of manual training.
The meeting was open to all ratepayers, and Mrs. Calvert, president of the parent-teacher organization, took the chair. Miss Bekker, singing class gave a little programme before the meeting commenced, and at its termination the older girls served the company with refreshments.

METROPOLITAN GROWS STEADILY
Healthy Activity in All Lines of Senior Methodist Church
The annual meeting of the official board of Metropolitan Church was held on Tuesday evening, and reports a year of marked progress. There has been a considerable number brought into the church by letter and by profession of faith, increasing the total membership by fifty-three. The financial returns for the year amount to nearly $22,000, of which $4,844 was contributed to the General Mission Fund of the church, $1,554 to the Woman's Missionary Society, and $2,000 to other benevolent and communal interests. The Sunday School Young People's Forum and the Ladies Aid report substantial progress and a splendid year's work. The Sunday School contributed $500 to Missions while the Young People's Forum contributed $150 to that fund. The board expressed its unanimous appreciation of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Sippell, as also of the Deaconess, Miss A. Garbutt, and extended a hearty and unanimous invitation to Miss Garbutt to be continued with the church as Deaconess.
The spiritual condition of the church is most gratifying. The congregations are large and the attendance at the regular mid-week service approximates seven hundred and fifty. Arthur Lee and J. H. Baker were elected to the annual district meeting. This church is enjoying great prosperity in all its activities and is looking forward to an excellent year of service in all its varied organizations.

OCEAN AND COASTWISE SHIPPING

ALGERINE RETURNS FROM WRECK SCENE

Capt. J. M. Hewison Says SS. Lake Gebhart Was Doomed From Moment She Was Claimed by Reefs—Ship Fast Went to Pieces Before Pounding Breakers

The relentless breakers of the restless Pacific made short work of the S. S. Lake Gebhart after she had the misfortune to pile up on the rocks off Umatilla Reef. It did not take the salvage experts of the Pacific Salvage Company on the steamship Algerine long to determine that the craft was doomed.

Within 36 hours after being dispatched in response to a hurry call to proceed to the assistance of the wrecked freighter Lake Gebhart on the Washington coast south of Cape Flattery, the Algerine was this morning back at her berth in the Inner Harbor here.

When the Algerine left the scene of the disaster yesterday afternoon the wrecked ship was buckling and fast going to pieces. "We met the tug Humacoma on the way to the wreck, carrying the crew, 23 in number, to safety," said Capt. J. M. Hewison, master of the Algerine on his return to-day. The captain, the chief engineer and one of the crew were left on board the wrecked vessel. Owing to the many reefs in that vicinity, and the tremendous sea which was running, the Algerine did not get closer to the wreck than was absolutely necessary. She stood off about a mile away. We took the launch into the maze of reefs and looked things over.

"As soon as I got on board," said Captain Hewison, "I could see that the ship was practically hopeless. The captain of the vessel and the chief engineer were standing by their posts, however. The forward part of the ship was in very bad condition. The big steel plates were straining and buckling. The engine room, we warned to get out of the engine room as soon as possible, for if the ship did break, which was more than likely, he would be trapped down there. Shortly afterwards, when the inspection of the vessel was completed, and we decided that she was a hopeless wreck, we left her to her fate. She is rapidly being battered to pieces by the heavy seas, and as she hangs on the Giants' Grave Yard Reef, cannot remain long out of the water. The waves swing her first one way and then the other, and are tearing the vital out of her. The Algerine started for home yesterday evening, and came into port at daylight this morning."

ARGONAUT LINE HAS ROMANTIC HISTORY

Ships Forming Fleet Presented by J. D. Farrell to His Son as Wedding Gift—SS. Lancaster, One of Fleet, Completing Lumber Cargo Here for Philadelphia

There is a delightful tinge of romance associated with the formation of the Argonaut Line, which owns and operates the steamship Lancaster, in port here to-day loading lumber for Philadelphia.

The Argonaut Line was the wedding gift of J. D. Farrell, of the United States Steel Corporation, to his son.

Young Farrell was married a few months ago and his father presented him with a deep-sea steamship to keep him busy. Then the father thought that one ship would not be sufficient, so he gave him six, which comprise the present Argonaut Line.

The ships comprising this fleet are doing well, securing full cargoes east and west in the intercoastal service by way of the Panama Canal.

The Lancaster, Capt. J. N. Craven, is now berthed at Pier A, Ogden Point, loading 600,000 feet of lumber supplied by the Cameron Lumber Company for the Atlantic coast.

She is expected to get away to-morrow for American ports to complete her cargo for Atlantic ports. Greer & Company, of Vancouver, are agents for the Argonaut Line, while King Bros. are acting for the agents here.

GOVICHAN BAY RAIL PLAN APPROVED FOR NEW TIMBER LINE

Minister of Railways Gives Sanction for Start of Work

Plans for the Govichan Bay Railway were given final approval late last night by Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Railways. This is the first of seven miles. This line will enable the C. N. R. line from Deerholme on the Canadian National line, back of Duncan, across the E. & N. Railway to salt water at the head of Govichan Bay. This line will be about 10 miles long. The line will be built on a right-of-way which is now lying idle, to be put to some use.

Surveys for the line were made last Summer by D. O. Lewis, former chief engineer of the C. N. R. here. The work was financed by $20,000 raised by Victoria and Duncan men, under J. Islay Mutter, of Duncan, who is general manager. It has been estimated that the cost of the line and development of a townsite at Govichan Bay.

The Govichan Bay line is projected to be built on a right-of-way which is now lying idle, to be put to some use. The line will be built on a right-of-way which is now lying idle, to be put to some use.

CITY COMPTROLLER DIED THIS MORNING

J. D. Helmcken, the late H. Dallas Helmcken, K.C., and H. M. Graham, J. R. Carmichael, of this city, was also at the school about the same time, coming out to Victoria in 1888.

Mr. Raymond, on completing his education, joined his father's company, and was bookkeeper, and later secretary of the Hastings mill. Later he returned to Victoria, and followed the profession of auditor.

In City Service.

It was in that profession that he entered the employment of the city in September, 1888, where he was so long engaged, at one time occupying two of its chief positions. His best period, and the one when his chief work was done for the City of Victoria, was from 1907 to 1913. That period coincided with the great expansion of Victoria, when large works were undertaken, and carried through to fruition, the financial effects of which will long survive his active participation therein.

Water Commissioner.

He was head of the city's water department at Water Commissioner during the long years of negotiation and reports which preceded the decision to submit the Sooke Lake waterworks undertaking to the citizens, when the decision had been definitely reached to abandon the expropriation of the Esquimalt waterworks undertaking. He had the reports made on Millstream and other alternative schemes, as well as having direct responsibility for the reports of the late Arthur Adams on the Elk Lake undertaking. As a result the service was patched up until more permanent arrangements could be made. It was at this time that Smith's Hill reservoir was started.

Mr. Raymond carried through the arrangements for the award of the Sooke Lake contract, the largest in individual one ever awarded by the Victoria City Council. As water commissioner, he was naturally closely identified with the removal of the contractor from the undertaking in 1912 for non-fulfillment of the specifications, a subject which led to much controversy and protracted litigation in subsequent years. Shortly afterwards City Engineer Rust was appointed Water Commissioner, and Mr. Raymond's long connection with the department then terminated.

As Comptroller.

Mr. Raymond had charge of the sale of millions of dollars worth of city

ESQUIMALT ENTERS CHILDREN'S FLOAT

Although the city School Board did not approve of the children of the public schools participating under their teachers in the May 24 parade and other events of the celebration, Esquimalt is entering a float in the parade with sixty choristers, trained by P. Waddington, in the parade. The Esquimalt Council in collaboration with the Board of the municipality is responsible for the entering of the float. Mr. Waddington will have charge of the float and the choristers have been trained outside of school hours.

Other plans for the parade are proceeding very satisfactorily, and the committee is assured of the success of the enterprise is assured.

CASE ADJOURNED.

In the Assize Court this morning the case against Simon John, of Nanaimo, charged with committing robbery on a white girl, was deferred until Monday. It is liable to be a somewhat lengthy trial, and the judge, therefore decided not to start on Friday afternoon as the jury in that event would have to be kept together over Saturday and Sunday. The case against Charles Bridgen, charged with stealing letters from the mails he already been set down for hearing on Tuesday. The Court, therefore, adjourned until Monday at 10.30 a. m.

VANDERBILT WILL JUDGE IN MAYTIME GYMKHANA IN CITY

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., millionaire journalist, will come here during the Maytime Frolic to act as judge at the gymkhana to be staged at the Willows by the Vancouver Island Racing and Breeding Association. Word that Mr. Vanderbilt had accepted the Association's invitation to act as judge reached racing officials to-day.

debentures during the construction period, and it was largely upon his advice that the council decided on the policy of having fiscal advisers in the East to look after city business of financial character. As a result the long association with the Dominion Securities Corporation began.

As Comptroller from 1909 to the time of his death mayors and aldermen were in the habit of giving special attention to his advice, and owing to his long association with the City Hall, it is doubtful if any person occupied so large a share in the affairs of the municipality. Falling health had of late years somewhat militated against his receiving the full advantage of his experience.

SALES TAX CASE DECISION RESERVED

Court Hears of Apple Tarts and Tax Percentages Upon Such Delicacies

Charged on remand in the city police court here to-day with neglect to pay sales tax on taxable pastries, Archibald Hugo Hunter, a baker of Fort Street, was remanded after further evidence, until May 17. William Straith appears for the Department of Customs and Excise, and Frank Higgins, K.C., for the defendant.

Had Many Callers.

The accused in the box told the court that he did not consider he was liable for the tax in the first place, and that in the second he had no means of knowing to what extent, if any, he was liable. He purchased most of his taxable pastries from a manufacturer who in turn paid the sales tax, or was liable for it. What was made on the premises was the filling of orders for customers and not for sale to the public. This he would estimate would total a value of $20 a week, and what proportion of that was taxable he could not determine. Witness added that the Department of Customs and Excise had called upon him a total of approximately twelve times, and intimated his confusion had been produced by each visit. He would refuse to pay the tax, but merely wanted to know more about it and to settle the point as to his liability. Many other bakers in his line of business had not paid the tax.

Evidence of Officials.

For the prosecution Edgar H. Polard, Assistant Inspector of the Department, stated that he had called on the accused and would corroborate the evidence given by a former witness, Assistant Inspector Mason. Witness with Mr. Mason had estimated the tax due to the Department to be $49.14 cents, and a license fee of $2 in addition. The accused estimated his business in pastry as about $80 a week, said witness, but kept no books.

"How do you estimate how much of it is taxable—like the apple tarts for instance?" inquired the court.

"If he had been able to produce books the tax would have been four and a half per cent upon sixty per cent of the manufacturer's cost of the taxable pastry," was the reply from the witness.

Daniel O'Sullivan, an officer of the same Department, gave similar evidence stating that he had presented a letter to the accused asking payment of the tax. Witness called three times, and each time had a talk with the accused.

"Why were other bakers not prosecuted? Why was it only this man?" Mr. Higgins wanted to know.

"There was not time to get round to the others," replied the witness, who intimated that that phase of the work was not under his care.

A Peculiar Position.

Frederick William Davey, Surveyor of Customs and Acting collector, stated that he was the official authorized to receive the payment of sale tax. He was not necessitated to make the demand, as the tax was obligatory in the same manner as income tax proceedings. Yet in this case fearing a misunderstanding might have arisen he had called twice personally on the accused and failed to secure a return.

"How could a man be charged with failure to pay his tax when he does not know the amount of that tax?" asked the court.

The tax was computed, in the absence of books, by the payer upon an estimate of his business. This estimate was subject to revision by auditors and a refund would meet any over-payment, was the reply.

Summing up for the defence Mr. Higgins quoted a judgment given by Mr. Justice Audette in the Eschequer Court in the hearing of Rex versus Pedrick, where he said the trial judge had held that a manufacturer was one who manufactured only in a wholesale way and that the term did not apply to a business that was essentially retail.

Mr. Straith held that the tax was payable by the defendant, Mr. and others in the same class where taxable pastry was manufactured for sale by retail to the customer. At this stage Magistrate Jay adjourned the proceedings.

or whether the gun went off in a scuffle. He submitted that Burton's evidence, at its face value, showed that Smith did not intend to shoot. If the jury took this view, he asked them to bring in a verdict of manslaughter.

Judge's Summing Up.

His Lordship began by explaining to the jury what constitutes murder under the law. The accused was a young man, approaching his seventeenth year at the time Lorenz was killed. It was important to remember that every person of the age of fourteen upwards was prima facie supposed to have capacity for committing, and therefore to be responsible. And every such person was prima facie supposed to recognize the necessary or even probable natural consequences of his own act.

If the evidence of Burton were accepted, the accused was in the position of being arrested by Lorenz, and it would have been a lawful apprehension. If a person went out to rob and if, in order to assist in that, he drew a revolver and shoots, even if he did not intend to kill, perchance was even desirous of not killing, inasmuch as he started out armed to accomplish an unlawful object, he would be guilty of murder.

The question the jury would ask themselves was, what was the purpose to be gained by the acts of these young men, and were they armed simply for the purpose of assisting in an unlawful object.

There were three possible verdicts, murder, manslaughter, and not guilty. To bring in a verdict of manslaughter, if they decided that the revolver in the hands of Smith killed Lorenz, they must find that it was done in the heat of passion, which was not suggested here, or there must be sudden provocation. If Lorenz was in the position of making an arrest, then the provocation would not be such as to reduce the crime to manslaughter. Then there was the condition of the revolver. If it was the same condition on February 28 as it was when found, it could only be fired by pressure made on the trigger, and it was for the jury to consider whether the weapon was likely to have gone on in an open counter. He pointed out that the accused was entitled, as of right, to the benefit of any reasonable doubt.

His Lordship then proceeded to make a brief review of the evidence. The bullet found in the body had been produced. They could examine it and see whether it had been prepared to fit the weapon produced. Then the question was whether the shot was fired from a revolver in the hands of the accused, Burton admitted being an accomplice of the accused, and was endeavoring, by giving his evidence, to escape responsibility for his acts. A conviction on the testimony of an accomplice uncorroborated was not the practice of judges is to advise jurors not to convict on such evidence. The Crown, however, in this case claimed to be offering a quantity of corroborative evidence, pointing to the guilty party being the one on trial. There was the recovery of the revolver at a place pointed out to the police by the accused. There was the testimony of young man who loaned the bicycle. There was also the testimony of McKinley, to whom Smith some time after the act said he had killed Lorenz, although the remark was not taken seriously. Also there was Kenneth McKay, who is said to have discussed with the other two boys in prison, the methods of disposing of the evidence. If this testimony was accepted, then the evidence of Burton could also be accepted and given the weight to which it was entitled.

Burton's Statement.

"Lorenz rushed him and I saw Smith fire. I heard Lorenz holler 'Help, help,' in a gasping voice. I did not see Lorenz fall. I saw him put his hand to his breast. It was on the rise of the street and in the light."

The statement was made by Thomas Herbert Burton to the jury yesterday during the trial of Ronald Smith for the murder of Lionel Lorenz, on February 28. Burton admitted having been with Smith at the time the killing occurred, and he gave an account of it which somewhat palliated his own connection with the affair. When asked if he had been promised anything for giving evidence, Burton replied that the Attorney-General had promised that the charge of murder would be reduced to robbery.

Claims Privileges.

Burton took the witness box just a moment after the Grand Jury had brought in a true bill against him for robbery with violence, in stealing from Lorenz a purse containing twenty-five cents. There is also a true bill against him for murder, in the same connection. His counsel, J. A. Aikman, at once claimed the benefit of the Canada Evidence Act, under which no evidence given by him on this occasion could be used against him on other occasions. After these preliminaries, Burton proceeded to testify.

He stated that he had known Smith for about three months when he saw him about eight o'clock on the evening of February 28. They went to the theatre and afterwards to the G. N. W. telegraph to borrow Austin Gisham's bike, as Smith did not have one. They then went to a Johnson Street store where they intended to get two revolvers, but of the window, but there was a crowd outside the Empire Hotel, so they went away from there. They went to Oak Bay Junction at Fort Street and Pandora Avenue and went around to the back of a drug store, but a dog barked and they left. Then Smith suggested holding somebody up. They stopped in the vacant lot by the church, and witness

SAANICH GARDENERS MEET.

The executive of Ward Two Cottage Gardeners' Association met at the home of President J. C. Richards last night. The finances of the association were reported to be in a very healthy state. W. Carey having resigned the treasurer'ship, his duties will be assumed by the secretary, Frank Bullock. Mr. Carey will continue as a member of the executive. He was warmly thanked for his ungrudging services since the association was established six years ago. Owing to removals from the district and resignations several vacancies on the executive will have to be filled, and for that purpose a meeting of the Cottage Gardeners will be held in the Victoria Public School on Friday next, May 18, at 8 o'clock.

A parched brown plain rolling off to a deep blue line against a turquoise sky and in the foreground is a group of zebras drinking from a pool that is gold in the afternoon, sun-perfect little creatures, elegantly striped in black and white, smooth and glossy as if they had been cured, quick and graceful in movement as an Arab mare. A herd of giraffe are feeding among the gray-green, thorny mimosa—animals—eighteen feet tall, their orange-tawny hides covered with an irregular network of black lines. Ugly rhinos snorting like great angry pigs in the night just outside the hut of stones and thorn-bush. These are all seen in Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson's picture of "Trailing African Wild Animals," showing at the Columbia Theatre for the balance of the week. Face to face the spectator stands with a great African elephant whose tusks are longer than a man is tall and whose ears are big enough for the sides of a pup-tent. Day and night, there is a constant procession of animals, from jack-rabbits to fierce black buffaloes. Everywhere the spectator looks he sees them. To ride in the railway train is like visiting a zoological garden. Everyone should see this wonderful picture which is brimful of interesting scenes.

At a luncheon given in his honor by Mayor Charles Fisher, of Miami, and the leading business men of the city, Mr. Ingram said:
"The reason whatever why Miami should not in time become a producing centre for motion pictures that will rival Los Angeles is a tremendously encouraged at what I have seen here. "We want a city without smoke-stacks, and yet we want industry here. We started out in business with tourists, and to-day we have the biggest tourist list of any city in the southeast—if not in the entire south."
And now we have the motion picture industry—and we have, too, Mr. Rex Ingram, the last word in the motion picture business."
The Rex Ingram production, "Where the Pavement Ends," was adopted by Mr. Ingram from the story by John Russell. Alice Terry and Ramon Navarro play the leading roles. The photography was done by John F. Seitz.

CAPITOL

Benjamin Franklin's maxim—"Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise"—was in the mind of a girl of the name of Priscilla Dean, who is the heroine of a new picture, "The Flame of Life," which is being shown at the Capitol. It is a story of a mining village in North England in 1870. They were early to bed and early to rise, but it got them nothing but the privilege of enjoying a most miserable existence, a life of drudgery and privation.

AGAS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The digestive stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows well.
Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismuth Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quart glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismuth Magnesia (in powder or tablet form) is a safe and entirely harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. (Advt.)

ROYAL VICTORIA

Days of grandeur in the old South live again on the screen in "White Shoulders," the first National attraction starring Katherine Macdonald now running at the Royal Theatre.
One of the novel incidents in this photoplay and one of great beauty depicts a fancy dress ball, the aristocratic Pittman home with the guests attired in costumes that reflect the styles of the sixties.
Katherine Macdonald, "the American beauty" of the screen, is never more lovely than she appears in the old fashioned costume of black taffeta, trimmed with rare Valenciennes lace, which formerly adorned one of her grandmother's "party dresses." It is cut low, both in front and in back, and reveals the actress' gleaming ivory shoulders.
The old fashioned dances that were enjoyed at this party prove that in the matter of real grace and rhythm such pronounced favorites of another day as the schottische, the Virginia reel, the polka, and the "hop waltz" are superior to the leaders of the modern dance school, born of jazz, nurtured in syncretic and artificial atmosphere of leaving brasses and moaning saxophone blues.

DOROTHY MACKALL TO STAR AT ROYAL IN FILM NEXT WEEK

"When you dance you pay the piper," but the crooks in the new Edwin "Mighty Lak' a Rose," to be shown at the Royal Theatre next week, never dreamed they would have to pay because of the music of the innocent young girl they tried to make one of them. This Carew picture is said to be a thrilling story of the charms of music. He has worked his way into a thrilling photodrama. Curtis Benton, author of several big screen hits, is directing the picture. It is a First National release.
In the cast are Dorothy Mackall, who plays the role of the young violinist, is an eighteen-year-old English girl, who came to this country two years ago and immediately went into the Zeigfeld Follies as a dancer in the chorus numbers. So clever was she that in a very short time she was made a leader of the numbers. Her beauty and her good and won the heart of Dorothy O'Neil, who is still active on the stage. He was in the cast of "Shore Leave," a Broadway success. Sam Hardy was also on the company, pointing out the importance of the industry here and for that reason urged the election of the industrial candidate.
Mrs. H. F. Hodges, candidate of the Kunitz Club, spoke for herself. "When I was asked to stand," she said, "I felt that whether or not I was elected, if I could give them a run for their money and assist in raising funds for the frolic, I would be satisfied." Pointing out that the Kunitz Club had a membership of only 45, Mrs. Hodges said that it had at least fought a fair fight, and had given the others "a run for their money." "May the best woman win," she concluded.

HAROLD LLOYD IN "SAFETY LAST" IS COMING SOON

"For a thousand dollars I'd climb to Heaven and hang by my heels from the ceiling—that is just about what Harold Lloyd does, only it's a twelve story department store he climbs in "Safety Last," his new seven-reel Pathedrama, which is being shown next week at the Dominion Theatre. The maid in the story is Mildred Davis, of course, and being shown next week at the Dominion Theatre. The maid in the story is Mildred Davis, of course, and being shown next week at the Dominion Theatre. QUEEN CANDIDATES APPEAL FOR VOTES

Candidates for the throne of Victoria's May Queen appeared on the stage of the Royal Victoria Theatre last night and asked people in the audience to vote for them in the present election contest.
Thomas B. Myers introduced the B. C. Electric Railway Company's candidate, Miss Amy Richardson, and said that close rivalry existed between her and the C. P. R. busen candidate, Mrs. T. Styles Sohl, Gyro Club candidate, was introduced by her manager, Jack Barton. Mr. Barton said the Gyro candidate symbolized service and for this reason he asked for support.

Rotary had entered a candidate in the contest in order to help to make the frolic a success, said P. B. Scurlah, President of the Rotary Club, in introducing Miss Dorothy Peden, Rotary queen.

Miss Gladys Thorpe, candidate of the ex-service men's clubs, appealed to the audience on behalf of the veterans. It would be nice for the returned men if they could elect their candidate as they would feel that the citizens of Victoria still had a warm place in their hearts for them, she said.

Introducing Miss Arnall, of the Hudson's Bay Company, Captain Smith, her manager, pointed out that obligation placed on them by the exposition management, most of the entrants are desirous of employing Mr. Cox. As there will be displayed every evening on the great stage of the Coliseum many original floats the aggregate for the five weeks of the exposition will tax the originality and ingenuity of the artist. Plans for the historical revue are well under way and they promise pageants of the most wonderful magnitude and most beautiful conception. Hundreds of actors and actresses will be mobilized for this part of the Monroe Doctrine Centennial celebration.

Work on the Spanish-Colonial city, which will house the exposition, is progressing rapidly. A number of the exhibition bungalows are nearly finished and they give promise of the most unique and most picturesque setting.

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for over 20 years and I feel that I owe my life to them. I suffered severely from rheumatism and heart failure. One doctor just gave me one year to live, and even told me I might be found dead at any time. A neighbor advised Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and I have been using them as needed ever since. I am now 70 years of age, weigh 217 pounds and can work as well as any young man."

The Holy City of Russia lies in the form of two circles, both of which are surrounded by fortified walls, and both represent periods of Moscow's growth. The inner circle is the capital of medieval czars the far-famed Kremlin. Its sixty-foot parapets were built more than 500 years ago as a defence against Tartar invaders. Here reside Lenin, Trotsky and other red leaders, in the safest spot in Unsettled Russia. Most of the important government offices are situated here, also the Soviet assembly hall.

took off his overcoat and laid it on his bike. Smith asked for shells, and witness gave him all he had. "I told him," said Burton, "that I would not give him any if he was going to shoot, and he promised me he would not. He took the shells and put them in the gun. The shells were too big for the barrel. Some of the shells we had already scraped and others I scraped." Witness then put on his coat. It in an army coat and was produced and identified by him. He went on to say that some people they were going to hold up went into a house on Mitchell Street near the church. There was a man and his wife drove up in a car and stopped at a garage and walked down Oak Bay Avenue and turned up Chamberlain. "We laid down our bikes, and the man's wife spoke to him and he looked around, and they went into the house."

It was now about 11.15 p.m. and the two boys went up Oak Bay Avenue. After some further wandering around a street car passed them and they followed it and Lorenz got out.

The Murder

"We went ahead of Lorenz and stopped. Lorenz passed us and Smith said 'Hands up.' Lorenz said, 'Put down your guns and don't be a fool. We had on masks.'

"Had you a gun too?" "Yes; a .32 calibre. It was broken." Lorenz said, "How can I give you money when I haven't any?" Lorenz ran about fifteen paces and came back. He pulled out a purse and gave it to me. There was 25c in it. He tried to pull down my mask when he gave me the purse. I stepped back and he went after Smith and backed away over the bicycle, Smith nearly falling."

Witness by this time had started to move away. He had got about 100 yds when he looked back and saw Lorenz rush Smith and rushed him nearly to the centre of the road, with the result that Smith fired and killed him.

While they were riding away Smith said to witness, "Are you cool?" Witness replied to this, "Cool? If I had a revolver I would shoot you, and when we rode up Oak Bay Avenue I told him I didn't want to see him any more, and he laughed." Burton then went home.

How was Smith dressed? In a coat and blue suit; no overcoat. He left his overcoat at the Girls' Central School.

Where did Smith get the gun he had that night? At Mac's store on Store Street. Stole it from the window the night before.

By the Court—Where did you first know that Smith had this revolver? At Foul Bay Road and Oak Bay Avenue. When we were at the library I asked him if he had his revolver and he said "No." I said, "That's good." Witness added that he put on his army coat this night because it was raining. His own revolver happened to be in the pocket and he did not know it.

Cross-examined by Mr. Davey, witness repeated that it was Smith who suggested the hold-up.

Why did you ask Smith if he had a gun? Because he had it in the afternoon. You were on your bicycle and that gun fifty or seventy dollars down the street, when you looked back? Yes.

What for? To see if Smith was coming. I saw Lorenz rush Smith and he used his gun.

When did you get on your bike? Just when Lorenz had him backed into the road.

By the Court—What size man was Lorenz? Not a very big man. About the same size as Smith.

By Mr. Davey—You said to O'Leary you were glad you told because you could not get over the look on Lorenz's face? No. I said I could not get over the way Lorenz said he did not have any money. I could not see his face in the dark. He had just 25c, and I was sorry I took it. I gave it to Smith afterwards.

By the Court—You spoke of putting on masks? Yes. When we left the corner of Foul Bay Road and Oak Bay Avenue.

You didn't have them on when you were proposing to operate on the store? No.

What were the masks? I didn't have anything, so Smith gave me a handkerchief. His was the lower part of the face.

Dr. Fowler's Evidence.

Dr. G. M. Fowler, 1922 Chamberlain Street, stated that he reached home that evening at approximately 11.30 o'clock. He was with his wife.

They left their car in the garage at walk home along Chamberlain Street. About half way along the block he passed two boys standing with bicycles. His wife called attention to the fact that the boys were following. They were quite close and were making no noise, either because they were walking on the sod or had walking shoes. They had left bicycles behind them. He and his wife reached their home and went in. He could not identify either of the boys.

In cross-examination he said one of the boys seemed to be wearing knee breeches, and the other a rain coat buckled in at the waist.

George Henry Thompson, mechanic, 1928 Cowan Avenue, said he remembered the night of Feb. 28. His mother was at Dr. Fowler's attending the telephone while the doctor was out. Witness drove his own car home and finding his mother not at home, drove over for her to Dr. Fowler's. While waiting there, two men crossed the road, the taller was a few feet ahead of the other. Witness drove around the block and back again to Dr. Fowler's. At that time the two men were near Oak Bay Avenue. The last time he saw them was when he passed them on Chamberlain Street after he got his mother and was going home. He was in the house a few minutes and was standing on the front veranda when he heard a shot which he took to be a firecracker. Both of the men seemed to be wearing overcoats, one of them apparently a khaki trench coat. He could not recognize them again.

Police Called.

Sergt. Malcolm Blackstock told of the police getting telephone messages from Redfern Street at 11.45 p.m. He went there with the wagon and found the man on the street, with his pulse still beating. The man was at once taken to the Jubilee Hospital. He saw the body at the hospital about an hour later. It was Lionel Lorenz. He was dead then.

What time were you called? It was put down on the record at the police station where the telephone call was received.

Witness did not search the body. That was done at the hospital and the police who were there telephoned to him at the station who the man was and where he lived. Going to the scene of the murder, after the call was received, did not in his opinion take more than five minutes.

Detective John Rogers stated that he saw the accused Smith on March 12 in the detective office and went with him to Pendergast Street. Smith took Detectives McLennan, Starkey and himself to a vacant lot where, under the sidewalk they found a .32-calibre Smith & Wesson revolver. It was not in perfect working order and had to be cocked in order to be fired. If it were in perfect order, it could be fired without cocking.

A bullet was produced which witness pronounced to be a .32 Winchester bullet. It would have to be trimmed before it could be used in a Smith & Wesson.

Theft of Revolver.

A. C. Foulger swore he had owned a Smith & Wesson revolver which he sold about the first of the year to a man named Mac who kept a shop on Store Street.

At this point Mr. McLennan was brought into court and identified by witness as the man who had sold the gun. Witness also identified the weapon. It was in perfect order when he sold it, but not now.

Joseph McLennan, who has a new and second-hand shop on Store Street, heard glasswork breaking about 11 o'clock p.m. He thought it was the cat, and got up and looked around, but saw nothing wrong. In the morning he saw the window was broken and a gun, two watches and two pocket knives gone.

F. P. French told of selling 45-calibre shells to Herbert Burton. There was some one outside waiting for him. Burton came back a little later and exchanged these for 38-calibre Winchester shells. He made a memorandum of the sale, and put it on the file. Some weeks later Burton came into the store again, accompanied by Smith.

Austin Gisham, 1623 Tolmie Avenue, worked for the Victoria Machinery Co., but formerly for the G. N. W. Telegraph. Their place of business runs through from View Street to Trounce Alley. He had known the accused, Smith, about a year, and saw him about 10 p.m. on February 28. Smith came to the alley and wanted to borrow a bike. He brought it back at 12 o'clock.

"I asked him," said witness, "where he had been, and he said don't tell anybody I had seen him around to-night. I said, 'why,' and he said because he shot somebody. I saw him next day and he was reading the paper all about the murder, and he told me to keep quiet about it."

Witness on cross-examination was unable to say whether Smith wore an overcoat or not. He put the time required to go from the G. N. W. office to Redfern Avenue at 20 minutes. Smith borrowed the bike about 10 o'clock, and brought it back about a quarter to twelve.

Jack Barr, a G. N. W. telegraph messenger, said he saw Burton the day after the murder. Burton gave him 25 cents to give to Smith, which he did. Smith supposed it was for cigarettes, and asked what kind Burton wanted. Witness didn't know.

The McKay Boy.

Kenneth McKay, who is now at the Boys' Industrial School, but who formerly lived at 1294 Montrose Avenue and worked for The Times, said he had known Smith about two years and Burton about six months. On the night in question he was at the show with them until about 10 o'clock, when he left. The next time he, Burton, and Smith was in the 'coop.' He was in the same room with them, and they had conversations about plans to avoid getting caught. One gun was to be thrown over the breakwater and the other down at the end of Cook Street. One, the .32 calibre, was thrown away. He did not know about the other. Witness was to say that Burton went home with him that night after they left Smith.

Did you go home with Burton? No. Would you know that .32 calibre gun if you saw it? Yes, I guess so.

The gun was produced and identified by witness. The police, he said, got the gun at Burton's, where witness had taken it.

How many days were you in jail before the gun was produced? About four days. During this period the three of them were together all the time, and they talked a good deal about the murder. While in jail, the police saw him about once a day and pressed him with questions.

Were you told that you didn't need to answer these questions at all? No.

Were you examined together with Smith and Burton, or alone? Alone.

Detective J. A. McLellan told of finding in the ground at the northwest corner of the Burton home and digging the .32 calibre gun, and the body of Lorenz was searched at the hospital. When he got there, the clothes were lying on the floor. He found some letters and some money.

Was there a purse there? I think there was a folder. I am not sure. There was money found in the clothes. All the contents of the clothes were put into a handkerchief and turned over to the jailer at the police station.

It being now 5.45 p.m. the Court concluded to adjourn for the day. His Lordship explained that the reason he made a practice of sitting late in murder cases, was because the jury had to remain together and he did not wish to keep them longer than was necessary. To his suggestion that a start be made on Friday at 9.30 a.m., the jury agreed.

In the course of the afternoon the Grand Jury brought in a true bill against Charles Bridgen for theft of letters. It is probable that the Crown will now drop the former indictment against him and have him tried on this one.
