THEATRE OWNERS DEMAND CUT IN AMUSEMENT TAX
Mr. Holland frankly admitted that the Government was not getting all it was entitled to from some of the smaller theatres. It was only human for owners to minimize their losses, he remarked. If the amusement tax were reduced to five per cent, however, the tax would be considered absolutely stable and every cent of it would be paid, Mr. Holland asserted.

STAND FIRM ON PREVIOUS REPORT ON LANDAHL PLAN
Iron and Steel Committee Unable to Support Coast Range Steel Scheme
Committee's Condemnatory Report Will be Sent to Members of Legislature

The iron and steel committee of the Chamber of Commerce, in a supplementary report to the Chamber of Commerce directors to-day, stated that since interviewing J. H. Landahl, author of the scheme, they could not change their attitude towards the Coast Range Steel scheme as outlined in their previous report condemning the plan.
The report was signed by Hon. P. A. Pauline, chairman; C. P. W. Schwengers, T. Hincliffe, R. P. Matheson, M. Johnson, R. R. Neill, J. E. Clearhouse, C. P. Hill, M. P. Blair, Edwin Tomlin, M. B. Jackson and G. E. Mitchell.

OBITUARY RECORDS
Impressive scenes were witnessed at the funeral on Saturday over the remains of James Arthur Daly, a highly respected member of the City Hall staff. Services were held at the Sands Funeral Chapel, where the Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick officiated. Relatives and many friends were present as well as delegations from the City Hall staff, from Victoria Far West Knights of Pythias, and the Native Sons of Canada. The many beautiful flowers bore witness to high esteem in which Mr. Daly was held. The hymns sung were "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." The pallbearers were Messrs. J. H. Eccles and George Andrews, particular friends of the late Mr. Daly. J. Barf and J. Taylor of the Civic Employees, E. E. MacLellan of the Native Sons of Canada, and Arthur Manson of the Knights of Pythias, interment was made at Ross Bay Cemetery, where members of the Knights of Pythias read their burial service at the graveside.

LOCATE RICH FOSSIL BED
They found there what had been predicted, one of the world's richest fields of fossilized remains of Prehistoric ages. Portions of which had become exposed by rains and winds were perfect skeletons of the arthropod dinosaurs. One skeleton was found a few inches in the rock above where lay a nest of nine eggs. The eggs, believed to be the first discovered in the world, were split open and sand had filtered in to become stone, thus preserving the shell intact. In one egg was found an embryonic dinosaur, perfect in form. In all the party found upwards of seventy skeletons, complete to fractional, and twenty-five eggs of the great reptilian monsters.

JAPAN SEEKING LUMBER AND STEEL
matter of discussion, but both lumber and steel, and these in large quantities, would be required from this continent.
After a severe blow at its economic status Japan was recovering from the appalling losses of the earthquake and fire, he indicated. The moratorium was now at an end, but by a system of commercial credits the Government of Japan would advance up to 100,000,000 yet to cover new work of institutions without credit of their own.

CHURCH UNION CAMPAIGN OPENS IN CITY TO-DAY
The new interdenominational campaign for church union was formally launched to-day at a banquet at the Y.M.C.A., and then adjourned to the Metropolitan Methodist Church.
A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the meetings at St. Andrew's Church this evening, when the Rev. W. H. Edwards will talk on "The Vision and the Task of the Church."

NAVY LEAGUE OPENS WEEK'S CAMPAIGN
Saturday's Tag Day Netted $257 For Local Branch; Signal Hoisted
Saturday's tag day in aid of the Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada netted the sum of $257 for the funds. Mr. Kennelly organized the street collection in which the members of the Boys' Naval Brigade assisted as taggers, looking particularly smart in their uniforms. The day commenced with an impressive incident when the brigade under Lieutenant Tribe, commanding officer, and Petty Officer Budd, marched to the Parliament Buildings and hoisted Nelson's famous signal at the Battle of Trafalgar.

GREECE HAS GREAT REFUGEE PROBLEM
Mr. Norcross will have direct charge of the drive in this locality. The provincial committee already includes a number of leading business men in the Coast cities.
Continuing his discussion of the Near East situation Mr. Talbott told The Times:
"With her empty treasury and with more than a million and a quarter refugees within her borders, little Greece is extremely anxious to avoid war. The Greek Government is just as patriotic and just as sensitive to injured dignity as other nations but it is more concerned with the homeless fugitives from Turkey who must be cared for. How the little country is going to do it unless it receives outside aid is difficult to see, but it is determined to try."

GERMANY FOOLING HERSELF

Germany's proposals to protest to twenty-three countries against the present attitude of the French Government will certainly not be taken seriously at the Quai d'Orsay.

In spite of elaborate and costly efforts to keep up the bluff by paying workmen to remain idle the debtor nation discovered that passive resistance was altogether too costly and held no prospect of success.

Germany does not seem to realize that she is playing into the hands of the extreme militarists of France. Every day's delay in coming to terms, every new attempt at double dealing, strengthens the hands of Premier Poincare and simplifies his weekly task of justifying the attitude of his country.

FATE AND NATURE CONSPIRE

Whether there will be a wheat blockade at Fort William and Port Arthur will depend to a very large extent upon the number of American bottoms that are not tied up to the Association of United States Shipowners.

One fact that is brought out clearly by the situation is that the westward shipment of Alberta wheat is coming to be a matter of necessity rather than of choice.

As the Vancouver World very truly observes: "Sometimes fate appears to conspire with natural conditions to direct commercial movements."

EVENTS MOVING QUICKLY

Bavaria undoubtedly presents a complex problem to the German Government at Berlin and one of more than passing interest to France.

finds it necessary to deal with Munich and a Rhineland capital, as well as with Berlin, remains to be seen. For the moment this appears to be a fairly substantial possibility.

HOW TO GET THINGS DONE

Vancouver feels that it does not possess a respectably appointed and comfortable auditorium that may be used exclusively for concerts and public meetings and the like.

It has been said of the individual that if he wants anything badly enough he can usually get it if concentration shall be sufficiently sustained.

Note and Comment

Former Premier Bonomi of Italy has organized a league to oppose Fascism. It ought to get some fun out of Mussolini if it asked him to call an election on his electoral reform measure.

Senator Moses of New Hampshire says the Volstead Act is a "jackass statute." Meanwhile President Coolidge is asking every authority in every State to help the Administration to enforce it.

It is now suggested that France may soon be brought to the point of recognizing Soviet Russia through the completion of a trade agreement that is now being negotiated by a group of French bankers and capitalists and the head of the Soviet State Bank.

The question is now being asked whether it is possible for Mr. Lloyd George to get back to power in the political life of Great Britain. This is a problem and will be a problem as long as there is a line of demarcation between those Liberals who flirited with the Tories and those who had no use for the Coalition.

Some Thoughts for To-day

A little nonsense now and then, Is relished by the wisest men.

Anonymous.

And I must bear What is ordained with patience, being aware Necessity doth front the universe With an invincible gesture.

E. B. Browning.

Be Briton still to Britain true, Among oursel's united; For never but by British hands Maun British wrangs be righted.

Burns.

The trenchant blade Toledo trusty, For want of fighting was grown rusty, And ate into itself for lack Of somebody to hew and hack.

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and clearly written. The longer an article is, the more likely it is to be rejected.

CREDIT

To the Editor—Mr. Milne's explanation of the difference between financial credit and real credit is very satisfactory.

If that is so I don't see why he should say that "industry and commerce are carried on largely by means of credit borrowed from the banks."

Mr. Milne had said that the credit is borrowed through the banks he would have been correct.

I fail to see the force of the argument. The credit purchasing power, which is created by the ability to make and deliver goods, belongs to those who do the making and delivering of the goods, not to the consumer.

Mr. Milne's explanation—that it is not a definition—of his unit of credit is not satisfactory.

He says, "We are the dollar as a unit of currency to-day. It is not a dollar redeemable in gold but in goods."

He says, "It possesses a certain purchasing power." Where did he get that idea?

The one and only commodity that the dollar bears any certain relation to is gold, and if Mr. Milne wanted to make payment for a debt in any other thing, that the currency itself it would have to be in gold.

The banks are not obliged to redeem the bills in gold, but the gold is the only thing they will accept in place of them.

Mr. Milne says, "Money should be issued against ascertained capacity to make and deliver the goods demanded."

To show that this is not necessary Mr. Milne quotes Henry Meulen, who says: "In the primary pricing of commodities we compare their respective worth with that of one standard commodity, the worth of which we fix at one, and when these numbers have been assigned we may reject all reference to the commodity against which we originally measured them, since the numbers themselves thenceforward indicate the varying exchange relationships of all commodities."

Great Crowd Watches Oak Bay beat Tommies

Rugby Witnessed Great Revival With Sidelines Crowded on Saturday, When Season Opened With One Senior and Two Intermediate Fixtures; His Hon. the Lieut.-Governor Kicked Off and Formally Opened Season; Seniors Had Tremendous Struggle

All doubts as to whether or not rugby football would witness a revival this winter were dispelled on Saturday afternoon when large crowds attended the three games played. The senior tussle between the Garrison and Wanderers, which proved a herculean affair, attracted close to 1,000 spectators, the largest that has attended a game other than a McKechnie Cup fixture, in history. Even the intermediates drew good gatherings.

It is possible that all attendance records this season will be broken. There is no doubt but that the rugby will be far more thrilling and exciting than before and the rugby union will receive handsome support from the public.

His Honor the Lieut.-Governor kicked off the ball on Saturday, and formally opened the season. The results of the games were as follows: Senior League Oak Bay Wanderers 10; Garrison 6. Intermediate League Oak Bay Wanderers 12; Normal School 3. Brentwood 8; J.B.A.A. 3.

The Oak Bay Wanderers on Saturday defeated the Garrison rugby fifteen by ten to three on Saturday afternoon in the initial encounter of the rugby football season. Although the Garrison was generally expected to sweep through, the Wanderers made them feared. It was at this time that their stalwart forwards, Pender and the "wild man," Crump, literally crushed the Wanderers' scrum and kept the ball in the five-yard area for many minutes at a stretch. It was due to the effective kicking of the Wanderers' backs, and particularly to Ken Adams and Goddard, that the heroically defended line was kept as free from scores as it was.

Opening up with all the speed of which they were capable, and following His Honor the Lieut.-Governor's forward pack stretched out down the field and tussled with the Garrison in the neutral area for possession of the ball. The Garrison made a three-quarter run the Garrison found itself in close proximity to the goal line of its enemy. It was here that he was halted by Eaton full-back, who tackled the runner, sprang to his feet, grabbed the ball and kicked free.

The First Score Following the resulting line-out, the Wanderers' scrum dribbled the ball down field and they gained possession of the pigskin. His pass to the runner beside him was high, but Gilmer, just behind, snatched the ball to his breast and kicked it far out on the corner with half a dozen Garrison men tearing at his heels.

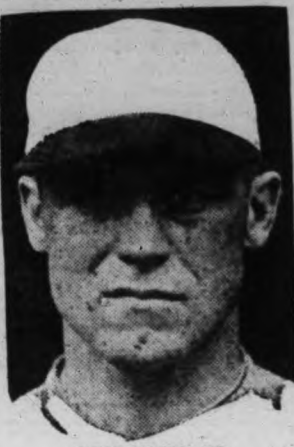

Greatly aroused by the vigorous work of the opposing forwards, the Garrison began an offensive with the first kick after the score. The Wanderers, however, were not to be stopped. Their three-quarters flashed up field and kicked well to touch in the opposing half. The Garrison gained possession and kicked up field, but the ever reliable Parker "marked" the ball. From a recent angle and from the far side of the twenty-five-yard line, his drop kick sailed fairly and truly over the bar and the score was doubled.

Garrison Unsettled Still pressing, and while the Garrison players were having a hard time in finding themselves, the Wanderers kept the ball on a most tankard game. The ball was ground with a short run and even while the body of Wingert was hurtling through the air in his direction, he sailed majestically between the posts. This score brought the Wanderers' total to ten, and the game began to look a little one-sided.

But it was then the Garrison suddenly came to life. His forwards went down the ball, and they were through the whole of the game. Almost all the time the Wanderers were on the defence. Though they fought with an admirable persistency and with plenty of grit, the tussle forced on the seven forwards against a scrum which outnumbered as well as outweighed them, tired them considerably. The Garrison played a truly siegework game. They began a series of scrums which they broke for fifteen minutes could they break the Wanderers' line. They could not even get a score. The Wanderers began to tell more and more upon their opponents, they began a series of scrums which proved the greatest weapon of their game.

Ken Adams Hurt In the ten-yard area, Adams was knocked in the head and was carried (Concluded on page 11.)

Maroons to Open Season Here Nov. 16

Schedule for 1923-24 Season Adopted by Pacific Coast Hockey Association at Meeting To-day; Thirteen Games Will Be Played in Victoria This Winter; No Games Scheduled on Coast Between December 10 and Christmas Day; Goalies Will Not Be Allowed to Wear Wings on Their Pads

Vancouver, Oct. 22.—Starting with the opening game of the season on Monday, November 12, Vancouver hockey fans will sit on fifteen league and inter-league fixtures, before the thirteenth season of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association comes to an end in preparation for the playoffs to decide which team shall go east in search of the Stanley Cup.

Another feature of the schedule is that from December 10 until the afternoon of Christmas Day, there will be no hockey on the coast.

Only this was it possible to meet the wishes of the prairie sportsmen and at the same time keep the regular coast dates intact.

Saskatoon, led by the great "Newy" himself, will be the first eastern invader. They come in November and are followed by the Calgary Tigers.

Co-operation with the Western Canada Hockey Association in minor changes in hockey rules, principally affecting goalkeepers, was decided on by the moguls of the P.C.H.A. at the annual session this morning.

The schedule for the 1923-24 season will be as follows:

FILM VERSION OF KELLAND'S NOVEL

"The Steadfast Heart" Being Screened To-day at Dominion Theatre

Joseph Striker, the good-looking young man who plays opposite the winsome Marguerite Courtot in the screen version of Clarence Budington Kelland's latest novel, "The Steadfast Heart," which comes to the Dominion Theatre to-day, has been long identified with both the stage and screen.

Striker started his brilliant career in his parents' front parlor in New York. There he dressed up in his father's clothes and used candles for footlights, charging a penny admission to those children of the neighborhood who were sufficiently impressed by his histrionic ability to view the performances.

After he had finished his education, he went to New Britain, Conn., and there Striker joined a stock company and stayed with it for quite a while. He then returned to New York and played juvenile leads and won fame in "Tell It to the Marines." After which he was signed by John Golden for three years to play the leading role in the famous comedy, "Turn to

To-day's Amusements

Columbia—"Driven,"
Pantages—"The Last Round-up,"
Capitol—"Zaza,"
Dominion—"The Steadfast Heart," Royal—"Pioneer Trails."

the Right." With this company he played in every state in the Union and in every province of Canada, which is some traveling, even in three years. After this triumphal tour, Striker went into the motion pictures and has been starred in "Silver Wings," "The Queen of the Moulin Rouge," "What Fools Men Are," "The Wilderness of Youth," and other photoplays.

In "The Steadfast Heart," Striker plays the role of a youth who is attempting to beat down the barred doors of society to win the girl he loves, and in a series of thrilling incidents finally wins his goal.

GLORIA SWANSON IN PARAMOUNT FILM

"Zaza" Showing at Capitol Creates Interest

Gloria Swanson set a record for sustained emotionalism in a scene for "Zaza" during the filming of that superb production at the Paramount Long Island studio. Miss Swanson remained in tears constantly during five hours for one of the most dramatic scenes in the picture. So far it is known she established a record for sustained emotion that has never been equalled by any screen star.

Miss Swanson's remarkable work was done in Zaza's love nest, when Zaza learns that her sweetheart, Du-fresne, has a wife and that he is leaving France for America. She runs the gamut of emotions in the scene, passing rapidly from hate to frenzy, mockery to jealousy and then to bitter contrition. Tears roll from Miss Swanson's eyes throughout the sequence. When the electricians were changing the lights for new photographic angles of the action, she sat in a corner and cried softly to herself, keeping in character from the time Director Dwan started the scene, until he finished it four hours later, without a break except for necessary technical delays.

"She is the most remarkable actress I ever saw on stage or screen," declared Mr. Dwan. "Her work in this picture has been amazing. She spaces perfectly, and there seems to be no limit to the depths of her emotion." "Zaza" comes to the Capitol Theatre to-day for a week's run.

MUSIC LOVER'S NIGHT AT ROYAL

To-night will be music lovers' night at the Royal. A very fine programme of music has been arranged, which will, no doubt, meet with the approval of the above theatre's many patrons. Some of the numbers to be rendered during the evening are as follows: "Light Cavalry"....Suppa "Indian Legend".....M. Baron "March Indienne".....A. Sellick "Atonement".....J. S. Zameckin Fox Trolis— "Are You Lonely?".....Joe Burke "Wow!".....Ted Baxter In addition to this the management have engaged Ernest Hammond, a New York baritone, to render three of the latest illustrated songs, "Wonderful One," "Swinging Down the Lane," and "River Shannon Moon."

"PIONEER TRAILS" FILM AT ROYAL

Story of Gold Rush Days is Theme of Unique Attraction

Photoplay fans at the Royal to-day found the motion picture different in

"Pioneer Trails," a Vitagraph special production. Here is a film of the early West was visualized in a dramatic manner that thrilled and pleased a delightful story of young love and youthful chivalry and daring. It is the kind of story that picture fans crave, and so seldom get.

"Pioneer Trails" is a human interest story, despite the fact that it goes back to the days of the great gold rush of 1849 for its start, and is all the more colorful because of the pleasing atmosphere set by this period. The story opens with a prologue of tremendous appeal, that of a young couple with their boy setting out for the unexplored recesses of the West in a prairie caravan. Midway to their destination, the train is attacked and the party, with the exception of the young son, killed off by Indians. This sequence is one of the most realistic ever seen on the screen. It gives spectators a thrilling idea of what the early settlers were up against.

The boy is found by another group of pioneers and is adopted by Mrs. Salter, who rears him as her son. Twenty years later finds the boy grown to manhood in a mountainous home. He risks his life to stop a runaway stage coach. This is a splendid scene of daring and sends a real thrill shimmering up and down the spine. By this daring, Jack Plaine meets Rose Miller and falls in love with her. Philip Blaney, her father's secretary, tries to force his attentions on the girl. Jack's foster-mother interferes and is shot down by Blaney. Rose flees in terror and is taken in by "Laundry Lou," a lovable character.

Jack is accused of the crime, but eludes the sheriff with the aid of "Easy Aaron" Crosey, itinerant lawyer and roadside philosopher. After many complications Jack manages to clear his name and win the girl he loves. A fake marriage and the Robert Dale estate figure materially in the developments.

Alice Calhoun again shines in a charming role, that of Rose Miller. No sweeter or more delectable person could have been found to play this part. And Alice Calhoun lends that gracious touch to it that wins the hearts of all.

Cullen Landis, the brilliant young fighter of the screen, who made such a name for himself through his work in Vitagraph's great sea story, "Masters of Men," gives a characterization of his dual role in "Pioneer Trails" that justifies the great popularity he is attaining with fans. A daring, strapping youth he is—clean, virile and strong. His acting reflects an understanding of histrionic art few seem to know.

Bertram Grassby offers an interesting interpretation of the villain role that is different from the usual type of screen portrayal. He is calm, cold, efficient in his destructiveness. The kisses accorded him assure his work is effective.

Otis Harlan is quite a character in the difficult role of "Easy Aaron" Crosey, wandering lawyer with waddling ways and ambitions. He fits perfectly into the role cast for him, and the bits of homely philosophy he utters are pleasant bits given in the picture. Aggie Herring is seen in another character interpretation, that of "Laundry Lou," mine's widow and town washwoman. The love affair growing between "Laundry Lou" and "Easy Aaron" is a pleasing inter-theme in the picture. David Smith, who produced "The Midnight Alarm" and "Masters of Men," directed "Pioneer Trails."

TOO HOT FOR EVEN FIREMEN.—Firemen were forced to abandon their equipment when fire destroyed a big furniture store at Erie, Pa., with a $200,000 loss. So intense was the heat that firemen were unable to get close enough to the blaze to throw water upon it. Several firemen were injured. The pumper in the foreground of the equipment was abandoned by its crew a minute after it started to work when flames shot out from the windows of the store.

A SOCIETY WOMAN'S MUSICAL PROTEGE.—Mrs. J. A. Drake, a wealthy New York woman, shown in the picture, thinks this young man, Antoni Bilotti, is going to be another Paderewski or something like that. So she is having his hand cast for preservation. Dr. Christian Jaeger, who was brought from Europe by the United States Government to make reproduction casts of microbes, accomplished this.

VALUABLE DERELICT FOUND.—The Nova Scotia schooner, Governor Parr, a derelict, was picked up by a liner about 200 miles southeast of St. Pierre-Miquelon. When boarded she was found to contain a large quantity of goods and her valuation is placed at $100,000.

AN ENGINE ON ITS SIDE.—A freight train of thirty-three cars was wrecked at St. Johnsbury, Vt., recently. The engineer of the train was killed when the engine rolled over on its side, pinning him underneath.

VICTORIAN INVENTS INGENIOUS CAR SIGN TO SIGNAL TURNS

James M. Mellis and Associates Plan Extensive Factory in Victoria

Though the automatic man is still a creature of fiction, one portion of his highly metallic anatomy is here in the "Mellis Hand Signal," an ingenious invention which will, its inventor claims, soon command universal usage by everything that runs on wheels.

James M. Mellis, a native of Newfoundland and for the past twenty years a Victorian, is in possession of patents which control his device on the North American continent.

Briefly, the Mellis Hand Signal is a metallic hand, electrically lighted, and operated mechanically from the steering wheel, which is designed to do away with auto accidents from mistaken signals and to standardize traffic signals throughout.

Five years ago Mr. Mellis got the idea. Patient development, in which J. H. Yates, pattern maker, at 506 Yates Street, played an integral part, followed, until the first model was exhibited two years ago. Since that time the traffic signals changed from three positions in a lateral plane to a like number now but in a vertical direction.

Changing the design of the metallic hand Mr. Mellis took a special prize at the New York Exhibition of inventions, in February of this year, and was awarded a silver medal for his entry.

That was merely the start. To-day, with W. Davis Morgan as business manager, a syndicate is forming to take over the rights of the Mellis

KNOX MISSION BAND BAZAAR

With tables laden with many pretty and dainty things the Knox Church Mission Band held a very successful bazaar Saturday afternoon. The superintendent, Mrs. McDougall, and the children had worked hard, and the tables showed the good results of the work. A pleasing part of the program was the presentation of beautiful bouquets to Mrs. MacKay, who graciously opened the bazaar, and in Mrs. Laing, as president of the W.M.S. Tea was served during the afternoon to the many visitors.
