

HARDING GIVES PEACE MESSAGE TO CANADA

PARTY CHIEFS CONFER ON JOHNSON'S ADDRESS

Policies of Californian on Foreign Relations Are Under Discussion

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Senator Hiram Johnson's announcement in New York that he is as firmly opposed as ever to permitting the United States to mix up in European political affairs, either through the League of Nations or the world court as proposed by President Harding, caused little surprise in Washington today. It was generally admitted, however, that his speech last night has made it increasingly clear that the Johnsonian platform and policies with respect to foreign relations must be taken into consideration in any plans of the Republican party for the 1924 presidential campaign.

Those who had hoped that Johnson would take the opportunity afforded by his appearance in New York to make known his desire to run for the presidency were somewhat disappointed by the Californian's reticence, despite an indignant feeling among the Johnson followers that the time is ripe for him to definitely reveal any presidential aspirations which he may now have.

Political Leaders Confer As a result of the Johnson speech and the arrival of a number of senatorial leaders from both parties in Washington, there was considerable buzzing and stirring in political circles here today.

Senator James E. Watson, Republican, of Indiana, has arrived in the capital from Pennsylvania for a series of conferences with other Republican chiefs, including Senator Curtis of Kansas, the majority whip; Senator Moses of New Hampshire, Representative Wood of Indiana and John T. Adams, the chairman of the national committee. Moses and Wood are the chairmen, respectively, of the senatorial and congressional campaign committees.

The political upheaval in Minnesota, which reduced the republican majority in the senate by the election of the Farmer-Labor candidate, the national significance of Senator Johnson's New York speech and other recent political events were to form the subject matter of these conferences.

Fear Loss of Control Senator Watson and other leaders have been perturbed by recent suggestions from responsible Republican spokesmen, that are preparing to exert every effort to retain the slender advantage which they now have.

Among other senators who have arrived in Washington are Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, who will be a power in the next congress through his leadership of the "Progressive Republican" forces in both the senate and house, and Kenneth M. Keller, Democrat, of Tennessee, who predicts a Democratic victory in 1924 as a result of an agricultural uprising in the Middle West.

League and World Court Inseparable, Says Johnson

NEW YORK, July 26.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson last night delivered scathing broadsides in his speech against the World Court and its parent, the League of Nations. Some of his comments were: "Call it court, or what you will, its genesis is the League of Nations. It is part of the machinery of the League. It is the advisory body of the League, its opinions are based upon the prerogatives of the League, the law of the League is in reality the law of the League."

Oregon Senator Will Ask Law Fixing Wheat Price

PORTLAND, Ore., July 26.—Pursuant to requests from Oregon farmers, Senator Charles L. McNary will ask President Harding to call a special session of congress with the hope of enacting a law fixing the wheat price for the 1923 crop at $1.75 a bushel, it became known today. The Oregon senator expects to board the president's special train when it passes through Oregon on Saturday and personally lay the condition of the farm-

LOCAL MAIL EXTENSION APPROVED

Washington Official Gives Consent to Changes to Improve System

Approval of the entire plans for the extension of the city mail delivery in Glendale is contained in a telegram received this morning by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson from John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster-general, this approval covering all of the additional territory for which the postmaster has been waging a fight for the past six months. The action of the first assistant postmaster-general is attributed directly to the personal investigation of local conditions that he made a few weeks ago when he made a visit to Glendale for a conference with Postmaster Jackson and with Congressman Walter F. Lineberger, who has also used his influence untiringly to secure the extension of the Glendale postoffice service to meet the growing demands of the population.

Territory Included The following list of streets will be included in the extension, and the numbers opposite the names of the streets show the blocks that will be affected by the new arrangement: Oakridge Drive, 1200-1288. North Adams street, 400-698. Adams Place, 1100-1199. Monterey road, 1000-1098 (even numbers). North Glendale, 400-699. Raleigh street, 900-1090. Palm Drive, 500-699. West Stocker street, 500-699. South street, 500-599. West Dryden street, 500-699. Fairmont street, 600-699. Pioneer Drive, 600-699. Concord street, 500-599. East Stocker street, 401-499 (odd numbers). West Dryden, 100-199. Columbus street, 1400-1499. Spencer Place, 400-599. Dorothy Drive, 1400-1499. Porter street, 300-799. Griswold street, 300-599. Carr Drive, 1400-1499. Stanley ave., 1400-1499. Howard street, 500-599. San Fernando road, 300-429. Oxford street, 1800-1899. Road's End, 300-330. Windsor Road, 1200-1399. (Continued on page 8)

Bethlehem Steel Co. Announces Dividend

NEW YORK, July 26.—The Bethlehem Steel Company today declared their regular quarterly dividend of 1 1/4 per cent on the common stock. Net earnings before the payment of preferred dividends in the second quarter were $5,476,471. Unfilled orders on hand at the end of June 30 were $20,066,000. President Grace of the company said the present operating schedules are about 80 per cent of capacity.

REVOLT AGAIN THREATENS GERMANY

Rival Forces Ready for Outbreak; Government Prevents Parades

By S. D. WEYER For International News Service BERLIN, July 26.—"Verboten" was the stern warning issued by the government today to both the monarchists and communists to prevent any kind of demonstrations in connection with the ninth anniversary of mobilization of the great war. Both sides had prepared for activities, the communists to protest against future wars and the monarchists to attempt to increase the spirit of nationalism.

It was expected that the present issued would prove the supreme test of strength between the rival forces. The government took no chances. It put the "Verboten" sign upon all open air gatherings—both mass meetings and parades. The communist newspaper Rote Fahne, in defiance of the government's orders, urged all radical socialists to come to Berlin to observe "fascist day."

In Favor of Revolt The Rote Fahne was not as violent in tone as usual, evidently fearing suppression by the government if it exceeded the bounds. However, it went as far as it could in the way of suggestion to stir up the masses to revolt. In a veiled manner, the people were urged to go to Potsdam on Sunday to "smoke out the remnants of monarchism and militarism from its stronghold."

It is feared that, if red violence should break out, a slaughter of unprecedented proportions will follow. That the communists are out for blood was indicated at Frankfurt Monday when Public Prosecutor Haas was seized and dragged through the streets, sustaining injuries which resulted in his death.

It is reported that the reds have taken oath to kill all the old army chiefs and monarchist leaders once they go upon the war path actively. The disturbance at Frankfurt is only a single indication of what is happening in Germany and of what is threatened.

Opposed to the communists and socialists are the German fascists. They are just as bitter and as well prepared as the reds. Their leaders feel, however, that their best chance lies in letting the other side start the battle, when they can act on the plea that they wish to restore order. It may be possible to proclaim a dictatorship as was done in Italy.

The unknown quantity in the situation is the social democratic party which, though large in numbers and strong in Reichstag representation, is not compact. It (Continued on page 8)

Actor and Film Star Leave for Honeymoon

LOS ANGELES, July 26.—Slipping away from friends and relatives James Kirkwood, actor, and his bride, Lila Lee, film star, were believed honeymooning at Santa Barbara today following their wedding late yesterday. The wedding of the couple brought to an end a romance that had extended over several months during which denials were made by both Kirkwood and the young actress, who in private life before her marriage was Augusta Appel.

More Resignations in Philippine Imbroglio

MANILA, July 26.—Vice-President Sumulong of the Philippine democratic party resigned today as a result of the government crisis which led to the resignation of many members of the cabinet. He claimed that his attitude was not supported by the party.

President Montinola, who is due to arrive this morning from Ilo Ilo, is expected to resign also. These resignations will cause a big political realignment.

RE-INDICTED IN MYSTERY SLAYING

Walter S. Ward, Son of Millionaire Baker, Is Again Accused

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 26.—Walter S. Ward, son of the millionaire baker, was today re-indicted for the slaying of Clarence Peters, former marine whose body was found on the Kensico reservoir road a year ago last May.

The indictment was returned by the extraordinary grand jury, which for a month had been conducting an investigation of the murder upon orders from Governor Alfred E. Smith.

Ward was held without bail by order of Justice Wagner. Trial was set for September 4.

PARROT REVEALS STOCK OF BOOZE

Owner Promises to Strangle Polly When Set Free From Prison

LOS ANGELES, July 26.—Sam Beck was in the county jail today for violation of the Volstead act after his pet parrot had told prohibition officers where to find a quantity of liquor in Beck's possession. Beck said he would wring the bird's neck when he got out of jail.

According to prohibition agents they searched Beck's home for booze without avail. As they started to leave the parrot screamed "Upstairs, upstairs." Upstairs the agents went, and there, it is claimed, found a still and several gallons of freshly bottled whiskey.

BANDIT, FACING DEATH, ESCAPES

Member of Starr Gang Dodges Deputy as Electric Chair Awaits

HARRISON, Ark., July 26.—Handcuffed and shackled, Eulis Sullivan, 26, former member of the notorious Henry Starr gang, escaped early today from a deputy sheriff, who was taking him to the Arkansas state penitentiary, where Sullivan is sentenced to die in the electric chair on September 21. The Oklahoma bad man made his escape at 3 o'clock this morning, when he and the deputy were awaiting a Missouri Pacific train at Kensett, Ark., according to word reaching here.

Captain Gets Hasty; Now He Is Mad and Dry

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—Never again will Captain F. Von Schermsbeck of the good ship Tjisalak act over-hastily.

The Tjisalak sailed from Batavia June 9 for San Francisco. On that date the dry port ruling became effective in the United States. Captain Von Schermsbeck heard of the ruling on the high seas and before entering this port dumped over 700 cases of beer and 200 cases of liquor.

Upon arrival customs authorities told him, because of the date of his sailing, he might have retained the liquor.

County Officials Lose Their Positions

SACRAMENTO, July 26.—The office of county horticultural commissioner in every county in the state will become vacant on August 17 when a new law enacted by the last legislature becomes effective, according to an opinion handed down today by Attorney General Webb at the instance of Director G. H. Hecke of the state department of agriculture.

Dual Personality Is Attributed Clubman

LOS ANGELES, July 26.—Developments which reveal Frank Lowry, well-known clubman and sportsman, as a clever "Jimmy Valentine" with a dual personality, were promised by detectives investigating facts concerning Lowry's alleged safe-breaking activities. Lowry is now at the general hospital suffering from a broken leg sustained when he attempted to escape after being caught attempting to open a safe, the police said. At the same time Cliff Durant, automobile manufacturer, after visiting Lowry, his old-time friend, told the police he would spend $5,000, or more, for an operation on Lowry if it would restore him to his normal self.

COMMITTEE MEETS TO PREPARE FOR PRESIDENT

Glendale Will Be Gaily Decorated In Honor Of Chief Executive and His Party On Suburban Trip Set for August 3

REPRESENTATIVES of the various committees that have been appointed to prepare for the visit of President Harding on Friday, August 3, met last night at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to put the final touches to the plans that have already been made, and to report on progress.

The decorations, both official and unofficial, have been assured, according to reports presented by W. L. Twining and Chalmers D. Day, who have charge of this work; the route, as originally laid down, will be followed by the procession; and the order in which the cars that are to accompany the president's party through the city will take has also been arranged.

It was suggested by Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, that a reviewing stand be erected on Brand boulevard between Harvard and Broadway, but before final action can be taken on this it will have to be approved by the executive committee.

In the absence of Mayor Spencer Robinson, the chair was taken by Jesse E. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Blames Bomb Outrage On Labor Troubles

CHICAGO, July 26.—Guests of the Morrison hotel were roused from sleep early today, plate glass windows in the first floor of the hotel were shattered and fire apparatus and police called out by the explosion of a black powder bomb in Louis Bosco's barber shop in the Old Boston Oyster house building. Witnesses told police they saw four men alight from a large automobile, leave a package in the entrance to the barber shop and hurry away in their car. The damage was estimated at $2500. Bosco told police he had been warned to discharge non-union barbers who worked with union men in his shop.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The order of the interstate commerce commission forbidding the railroads to grant special privileges in the distribution among bituminous coal mines of privately owned cars and cars for railroad fuel was modified today to become effective October 1 instead of September 1.

French Compromise With Belgium On Reparations

PARIS, July 26.—France and Belgium have reached a satisfactory compromise upon their differences of opinion over reparations and occupation of the Ruhr, the Petit Journal announced today. The differences were not serious, but put obstacles in the way of negotiations for a joint reply to the British reparations note. Premier Poincare confirmed that France and Belgium are now in complete accord, regarding the reply to be made to London. While France and Belgium will make a common reply to Great Britain, they will send separate notes to London as soon as possible. Premier Poincare feels the negotiations with Brussels and London have progressed far enough to permit him to spend the weekend at his country home at Campigny. He plans to return to Paris early next week for a conference with Premier Theunis of Belgium.

LESSON FOR EUROPE IN COUNTRIES' FRIENDLY HISTORY

First U. S. President to Cross Border; Receives Royal Welcome

By GEO. R. HOLMES For International News Service

WITH President Harding, Vancouver, B. C., July 26.—President Harding made history today. He came to Canada—the first American president ever to set foot on Canadian soil—with an inspiring message of American friendship and peace which has existed more than 100 years on no firmer foundation than a scrap of paper.

This enduring record of Canadian-American peace—peace maintained without frontier fortifications or warlike display along the Great Lakes—affords an object lesson to the entire world, President Harding declared in his first speech in Canadian territory, delivered before a distinguished audience at Stanley park.

Particularly, President Harding asserted, the Canadian-American picture of contentment and prosperity without quarrelling or arming should provide a great moral lesson to those European countries that continually criticize and envy North American prosperity, yet who consistently refuse to take the medicines which would cure their ills and provide them with similar peace and prosperity.

Points to Lesson

"If only European countries would heed the lesson conveyed by Canada and the United States," declared the president, "they would strike at the root of their own continued disagreements, and in their own prosperity, forget to inveigh constantly at ours."

"That we would reproach them for their resentment and envy," continued the president, "after all is but a manifestation of human nature, but rather should we sympathize with their seeming inability to break the shackles of age-long methods and rejoice in our relative freedom from the stultifying effect of old world customs and practices. We are not puffed by the habits of thousands of years. Others derive satisfaction from contemplating their resplendent pasts. We have relatively only the present to regard with eager eyes fixed chiefly upon our future."

President Harding said he has no "departed greatness," no lost provinces to covet, no ancient grudges to gnaw eternally at the heart of our national conscience. The president mentioned no names in citing those oft-used causes for war, but the application to Central Europe was unmistakable.

Called Sister-Lands

The president referred to England as the motherland, to Canada and the United States as sister-lands and told his audience "the ancient bugaboo of the United States scheming to annex Canada disappeared from all our minds years ago." Continuing, he said, "Heaven knows we have all we can manage now," then he added, humorously, "If I might offer a word of advice to you it would be: Don't encourage any enterprise looking to Canada's annexation of the United States. You are one of the most capable governing peoples in the world, but I entreat you for your own sakes think twice before undertaking the management of the (Continued on page 8)

SOCIAL EVENTS

Surprise Party
An informal surprise party last night at 902 East Wilson avenue celebrated the birthdays of Mrs. George Ward and Ray Sherman. The evening was spent in games and music enjoyed. Miss Eileen Riches gave a group of piano numbers and accompanied William Hadsell on the mandolin and Wynn Grouthead, baritone, who sang some old Scotch ballads. One special number of interest was Mr. Grouthead's singing of Harry Lauder's popular song, "Roamin' in the Gloamin'." Late in the evening refreshments were served.

The guests included, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Addison, John Addison, Mr. and Mrs. Osmond Riches, Miss Eileen Riches, recently from Medicine Hat, Alberta, Can.; Mrs. Aitken, Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, recently from Ontario, Can.; Mr. and Mrs. Wynn Grouthead, Miss Annie Chapman, William Hadsell, Gilbert Grouthead, Henry Ward, Mr. and Mrs. D. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. C. Newhouse.

The Matthews and Riches families like Glendale so much that they have purchased homes here and will remain permanently.

Nimble Fingers
The all day meeting of the Nimble Finger club, auxiliary of the Daughters of Veterans, which was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Queen Danner, 1631 Garden avenue, proved to be an unusually enjoyable affair. Mrs. Danner was assisted in entertaining the thirty-two members and friends present by Mrs. Anna Dutton, Mrs. Gertrude Griffin, and Mrs. Susie Peck.

Luncheon was served at noon and a collection taken, amounting to $10.60. During the day considerable sewing was done on aprons and a beautiful quilt finished which are to be sold later. The afternoon program consisted of piano solos by Mrs. Winona Crawford, and readings by Mrs. Pearl Moore, which were greatly enjoyed.

Announcement is made at this time of the winners of the prize packages. The "mystery package" was won by Mrs. Hattie Tiffany and the "penny package" by "Grandma" Hapgood.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Susie Peck, 120 East Cypress avenue, August 23.

Party for Son
Billy Nicholson celebrated his fifth birthday anniversary Tuesday, when his mother, Mrs. W. R. Nicholson of 1224 East Wilson avenue, entertained with a party in his honor.

The rooms were artistically decorated in pink and white with sweet peas and dahlias. The refreshment table appointments were also carried out in the same color scheme with a beautiful white birthday cake decorated in pink and lighted with five tiny pink candles forming the centerpiece.

Those present, were the guest of honor, Billy Nicholson, Betty Raymond, Franklin Johnson, Bob Raymond, Paul Hall, Francis Jones, Richard Jones, Frances Mackoff, Howard Dunn, Gordon Plue, Dorothy Martinez, Paul Nicholson, Mrs. Plue, Mrs. Hall, Miss Grace Pollock, Mr. and Mrs. R. Heimer and baby Jane, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bess, and Mrs. L. Bess.

Mrs. Nicolson was assisted in entertaining by her two sisters, Mrs. P. Mueller and Mrs. Mattie Bess.

Club Group Sews
Mrs. E. V. Bacon of 3802 River street was hostess yesterday afternoon to a group of members of the Thursday Afternoon club who are busily engaged in needle work, completing articles for the fancy work booth for the club bazaar.

No business meeting was held, the afternoon being given up to planning many important details for the various booths. A handkerchief shower was a feature of the afternoon that resulted in a collection of pretty wares for the handkerchief booth.

A card party was planned to take place very soon, the proceeds to be used to purchase materials for fancy and useful articles for the coming sale. Hostesses for the affair will be announced at an early date. Light refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Al Vaulet.

Meeting Tomorrow
A Glendale organization that is of inestimable value to women interested in the administration of any club, school or church organization is the Women's Parliamentary Law club, meeting every Friday morning at the Public Library.

The club is to meet as usual at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning with Mrs. Dean S. Phillips, president of the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher association, presiding. Among the various matters to be considered will be subsidiary motions.

The time at the club meetings is not devoted to one subject, but is spent in discussions, practice and drill work.

Attend Luncheon
Dr. Jessie A. Russell entertained a group of Glendale women yesterday at a luncheon at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles, honoring Mrs. O. P. Clark, national Republican committee-woman, the first southern California woman holding the appointment since Mrs. Florence Collins Porter held it some years ago.

There were 500 women who listened to Mrs. Clark talk. "Let us pull together to make good at the next election," she said. "Let us be ready to place a dividing line between the essentials and non-essentials. Women must be careful about becoming too radical. I wish the national committees of both parties could get together and discuss vital issues, and take them out of the realm of expediency. In this way legislation could be put through such as the child labor problem, uniform marriage and divorce laws and the immigration question."

Among the telegrams expressing satisfaction in the appointment of Mrs. Clark was one from Governor Richardson.

Surprise Couple
Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson were very happily surprised one evening recently by a group of friends who came laden with gifts and eatables, to welcome them in their new home on Revere Street near Los Feliz Road.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Mabry, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wilbur, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Becker, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peters, Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. John Server, Mr. and Mrs. Al Vaulet, Mr. and Mrs. Newton and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Marek, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson.

Illinois Picnic
Glendale Illinoisans are planning to join other Southern California "Suckers" in a big summer reunion Saturday, July 28 in Bixby park, Long Beach. Mayor Buffam and Judge Carlos S. Hardy will be on the program. Headquarters will be opened for the counties' hot coffee and badges provided and basket dinners enjoyed.

Girls to Picnic
The Glendale Girl Scouts of Troop One have postponed the picnic that was announced for Friday of this week and will meet at the home of Wilma Gosser, 315 North Louise street at 2:30 in the afternoon. All members are requested to be present as business of importance is to come up.

FEAR IS EVOKED BY AIR RIVALRY
Aerial Armament Race Leads To Belief That War Is Near in Europe

LONDON, July 26.—The European armament race is on again in full force, to all intents and purposes.

No longer is it a race in naval armaments, but for aerial supremacy.

The announcement of the British government of increase in air force was immediately met with new appropriations for air-craft by the French government.

The British government stated then that it will not seek to equal the French air increases, and probably the government meant this, but it will not be long before public opinion will force new increases in the British air forces, which will undoubtedly again be met by new French increases.

Thus the merry little race will go on. Where it will lead none knows, but some make bold to predict that it will lead to the paths of war.

Liberal papers, such as the Manchester Guardian, the Star and the Outlook, which have always opposed increased armaments, are sadly conceding that France is leaving Great Britain no choice but to build more and more aircraft.

Some point out in the air-armament race between France and England the deadly parallel of the naval armament race between Germany and England before the World War. They fear that this new race in armaments will lead to the same result.

Find Unique Use for Shrapnel-Torn Tops
ST. PAUL, Minn., July 26.—St. Paul has found a peace-time use for the doughboy's tin hat.

A merchant here recently advertised that on a certain day each adult visiting his store would be given free of charge a doughboy's tin hat. He suggested that they make excellent flower pots.

St. Paul grabbed the suggestion—hook, line and sinker. There are now thousands of tin hat flower pots in use here.

PREDICTS GREAT ELECTRIC 'FINDS'
Knowledge of Present Day To Pale Before Future's Revelations

NEW YORK, July 26.—Stupendous advances in electricity are foreshadowed, Dr. Frank B. Jewett, president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and vice-chairman of the Engineering Foundation, declared at the twenty-fourth summer session convocation at Columbia University, attended by teachers and students from all parts of the country.

"So vast is the present stream of new knowledge from research work in the field of the structure of the atom and of the properties of ions, electrons and protons," said Dr. Jewett, "that one dare not predict what the future has in store for us."

Dr. Jewett, whose subject was "The Age of Electricity" added that "as a result of the knowledge acquired since we first began to have an insight into the mechanism of electricity there has developed and is still developing a knowledge of the ultimate structure of matter and of the various manifestations of what we term 'energy' which have not only tended to break down and diffuse many of the old barriers which separated the so-called sciences, but also give basis for the belief that, in the last analysis, all matter and forms of energy are different manifestations of electricity in its primordial form."

"If this turns out to be so, then we have indeed a real justification for the allegation that we are living in an age of electricity. Whether the electrons and protons of our present knowledge are in fact the ultimate devices of these great protean forces we have no present means of knowing, but even if they are not later found to be composites of some infinitely smaller units our present knowledge of them is sufficient to open up wide vistas of practical applications of electricity compared with which the developments of the present will pale into insignificance."

Stupendous advances are foreshadowed by discoveries of the last two decades, Dr. Jewett declared.

Acid Heart Is Man's Chief Trouble, Claim

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 26.—"We have solved most of the great problems of the world except the one of how to get along together," declared Rev. Dr. Daniel F. Rittenhouse, pastor of the First Baptist church here.

"Acid" in the heart gets a man in wrong with his neighbor, creates endless trouble and disputes among families and individuals and fills the jails and penitentiaries. Science has succeeded in making healing balms of some acids, but has failed miserably to take the bitterness out of the human heart.

"The basis of racial troubles is prejudice, which finds its root in the human practice of thinking ill rather than good of a neighbor," said Rev. Dr. Rittenhouse, who recommended that, in order to preserve neighborly peace, each person "believe the best, give the best, speak the best and expect the best."

Women Are Urged to Show Self-Reliance

AKRON, Ohio, July 26.—Miss Josephine Bauman, clerk of the City Council, believes every woman should fit herself to keep the wolf from the door if the necessity arises. She heartily supports the theory of Woodbridge N. Ferris of Michigan, who recently advised the girls of the Packard Commercial School not to marry till they were able to support their husbands.

However, Miss Bauman disagrees with the statement credited to Amy Lowell, Boston poetess, who said she believed the average woman was not intended for intellectual life.

"Women are entitled to the same opportunities as men when it comes to earning their living," Miss Bauman holds. She has been her own breadwinner more years than she will confess and is considered one of the best posted employees on municipal affairs in this city of 200,000 inhabitants.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE
The bleak hills of Norway and the great halls of ancestral estates in old England form a striking background for "Thelma," Marie Corelli's classic romance of the Norseland, now showing on the screen of the Glendale Theatre.

Jane Novak, as Thelma, "the pale little rose with a crimson heart," achieves an artistic triumph in a role that seemingly was fashioned for her alone. Imagine this simple little Jenny Wren of the great, open Northland, suddenly converted into a blazing Bird of Paradise and dominating aristocratic London society by the sheer power of her beauty and charm.

The story, briefly, concerns the experiences of a beautiful Norse girl who becomes the bride of a British nobleman, rising above the first scorn she is accorded to a pre-eminent position among the proud scions of the landed aristocrats of the nation.

THE GATEWAY
"Safety Last," featuring Harold Lloyd and his charming little bride, Mildred Davis, shows at the Gateway Theatre for the last times today. This Pathe comedy is in seven reels, the first such made by the popular spectacle comedian, and achieves new heights of drama and fun.

Incidentally, Harold goes higher than ever before, climbing up the outside wall of a twelve-story building, while the audience below hold their breaths, expecting him to rejoin them suddenly at any moment.

This sequence presents perhaps the longest piece of sustained suspense footage ever turned out of a film studio. For all of fifteen minutes, there is never a moment's let-up, as story by story, dare-devil star mounts higher and higher—until finally, after on the top cornice, he falls into the arms of his sweetheart.

CHILDREN STAGE ORIGINAL SHOWS

Pantomimes Are Presented By Girls With Striking Dramatic Effect

The pupils of Miss Ethelene Smith staged three very effective and original pantomimes on Tuesday—the first being acted by Catherine Reinhart, Evelyn Adkins and Helen Haskins, Catherine Reinhart, who told the story before presenting it, was the originator of this very clever pantomime.

Helen and Virginia Haskins and Jean Angier presented the second pantomime, "The Story of the Three Kings." This was exceptionally well planned and acted and showed the serious thought it had received at the hands of its originator, Helen Haskins.

The third and last pantomime was also in costume and was acted by Constance Angier, Violet Findlay, Betty Angier and Elizabeth Talbot Martin, who thought the story out and planned the costumes and directed the pantomime acting. The children show the effects of a thorough and careful training and are enjoying the work immensely.

World War Vet Awarded Bravery and Victory Medals by England

A victory medal and a bravery medal, conferred by England on British soldiers, have recently been received by P. J. Whelan of 133 North Palm avenue, Tujunga, in recognition of his services with the Royal Irish troops. The bravery medal was conferred for distinguished service in the front lines during the recent world war.

Mr. Whelan was in the service three years, spending twenty months on the Italian front and the balance in France. The victory medal bears this inscription, "The Great War for Civilization, 1914-1919."

The bravery medal bears this inscription, "George V Britt Omn Rex Et Ind Imp," with the head of King George V. On the reverse side appears a horseman, and purple, green, blue, yellow, orange and red ribbons are attached.

Miss Ida C. James of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, recently arrived in Tujunga to make her home with her mother at 126 South Cedar street.

TAX ON CAPITAL STOCK EXPLAINED

Corporations Are Compelled To Pay in Advance to Do Business

Forms 707, Return of Capital Tax for 1924, were raised corporations and organizations in the Sixth California district by Director of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell, on June 28. The capital stock tax, which is due July 1, is a tax payable in advance of the privilege of doing business on July 1, 1923, to June 30, 1924, and must be paid not later than July 31, 1923.

It has been found that many corporations and also associations liable for this tax have overlooked or where the regulations are not rightly understood, and wishes to advise all such corporations, and associations which function as corporations, that they are liable for a tax on Form 707 before the date of July 31, 1923.

Each corporation or association is required to pay annually the tax with respect to the property owned or doing business, amounting to $1 for each $1,000 of the fair average value (and not the par value) of capital stock for the preceding year ending June 30, as is in excess of $5000. It is immaterial whether the corporation is organized for profit or has a capital represented by shares or not.

Had Picks Babe's Name To Expedite Papers

CHICAGO, July 26.—While Hersk Tabak was to get his final naturalization papers he received word that his wife had received his "papers" Tabak hurriedly notified the court and asked to have his papers corrected to include the latest arrival.

"You'll have to give the child's name or he won't be a citizen," the court informed him.

Unwilling to delay longer receipt of his "papers" Tabak braved the probable displeasure of his wife and named the child after the clerk.

corporation which is exempt from payment of tax must file a return completely filled out, but instead of computing the tax should enter in the space provided for the computation thereof the notation, "Exemption Claimed." In all such cases the return so filled out must be filed with the collector, together with a comprehensive statement of the reasons for claiming exemption. The determination of liability rests with the commissioner of internal revenue, and without complete information it is impossible to make a decision. If exemptions have been allowed for the preceding taxable year and there has been no change in the status or conditions of the company, then the first thirteen lines of Form 707 should be completed and a statement attached to the return for the same reasons as for the previous year and that the same status and conditions of the company exist for the taxable period in question.

In case of failure to file a return on time, a penalty of twenty-five per cent of the amount of the tax is added to the tax due, and a liability is incurred to a specific penalty of $1000. In case of fraud or evasion the specific penalty is $10,000, and under the regulations those penalties apply to officers and employees of the corporations as well as to the corporations.

Many Fail to File
It has been found that in the Los Angeles district alone there are many corporations, and associations functioning as corporations, which have not filed capital stock returns for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, and such return must be filed, as well as that for the year 1923-1924.

Any information or interpretation of the regulations may be obtained in the office of Collector Goodcell in the Federal Building, Los Angeles, or at any of the branch offices located in San Diego, San Bernardino, Santa Barbara, Long Beach, Pasadena or Santa Ana.

ANTI-K. K. K. LAW FAILS OF OBJECT

New York Statute 'Toothless' Is Belief of State's Attorney General

ALBANY, July 26.—There is a general feeling at the capital that the Walker law, enacted by the last legislature to unmask the Ku Klux Klan, will never accomplish its purpose.

Attorney-General Carl Sherman, it is expected, soon will issue a statement setting forth his views of the new law. Unfortunately, it is said, the attorney-general is convinced the law is "toothless," in other words, it is not strict enough to bring the Klan under its provisions.

When the bill, which later became the Walker law, was suggested last winter it was suggested that the words "Ku Klux Klan" be incorporated in it so there could be no misunderstanding as to the organization it was aimed at. This was not done because the men who frame the bills said it could not be done; that under the present law an organization like the Klan could not be mentioned in a bill of its nature.

Will Shut Loophole
However, it was thought that by providing in the new law that all organizations and unincorporated associations of more than twenty members "not mentioned in the Benevolent Orders law" should file a list of members, oath, constitution and bylaws with the secretary of state once each year, the Klan would have to come under its provisions. It was pointed out that the Klan was not mentioned in the Benevolent Orders law.

Shortly after the bill became law the "Knights of the Ku Klux Klan" and the "Kameia," the female organization, were incorporated at the secretary of state's office. The state headquarters of both the Klan and the Kameia were given in the incorporation papers as Buffalo.

If the Walker law is found to contain flaws it is believed an attempt will be made at the next session of the legislature to amend it so that the Klan cannot escape through a loophole.

MEYERS MATCHED FOR MAIN EVENT

Glendale's Fighting Fireman Will Meet Frisco Kid on Sunland Card

Fireman Meyers of Glendale and the Frisco Kid will have the spotlight on the boxing program being arranged by Louis Waite for his next show at Twin Pines pavilion, Sunland. In order to secure the talent desired the show has been postponed one week and will be given on Friday, August 3.

The fireman stopped Canadian Carter, to local hish, several weeks ago, in the fourth round of their bout. Carter is a local boy, but had not appeared here previous to this spring, but claimed to be the fly in the Canadian middleweight champ's vinegar. Meyers firmly removed him from the same by the knockout route.

The Frisco kid lost to Bob Kelley at the last show, but wants to show the valley ring worms that he can do some nifty stuff, as he was in the midst of a spell of sickness when he appeared against Kelley. Meyers will endeavor to knock him into the midst of another spell of nausea a week from Friday. The winner of this little scuffle will get a chance at Bob Kelley in the main event two weeks following.

There will also be a return bout between Kid Chili and Gonzales, 110 pounders.

Extra Attractions
The last card was staged on Friday, July 13th, and the well-known jinx of that day was much in evidence. Some of the battlers failed to show up on account of unavoidable accidents and substitutes had to be used, musing up an otherwise good card and disappointing the fans. In order to local this disappointment, Waite has announced that the entire house will sell for $1.10 for this show and he will endeavor to have an added attraction or two as surprises for the poor showing of the last show, which is fair enough.

DUNDEE FAVORED TO BEAT CRIQUI

Veteran Italian Boxer Has Chance at Title in Tonight's Battle

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, July 26.—Eugene Criqui, the Frenchman with a sheep home for a jaw and a policeman's night stick for a right hand, will meet Johnny Dundee, the esteemed Italian-American, with the leaping complex, at the Polo grounds tonight in a 15-round bout for the featherweight championship of the world. It will be John's tenth attempt to do an Isadora Duncan to a world's title and possibly his last. He has become somewhat elderly and can no longer frolic with the grasshoppers.

John, however, is conceded to have better than an even chance by no less an authority than John Patrick Kilbane. The latter might be classed an authority on the subject. Ten years ago he fought a title draw with Dundee and less than three months back was ill-advised enough to leave his jaw and title in the path of Criqui's right hand.

Dundee Favorite

That which prompted in increased respect for Criqui's ability, not sufficiently so to make him a pronounced favorite in tonight's affair. In fact, many believe Dundee's speed will carry him through fifteen rounds to the official decision, it being the prevailing impression that the Frenchman must either score a knockout or finish second.

Criqui's style is to hot shot the enemy with one punch. He follows his man like a hip pocket and usually takes quite a beating before he can bring him down.

On the question of whether Dundee's feet are faster than Criqui's punch hangs the fate of tonight's bout. The Italian, somewhat passe after having indulged in nearly 300 fights, is still an elusive target and a very tough citizen, altogether. It is just as difficult to hurt him as to hit him. In this respect he figures a superior bet to Kilbane, the worst of whose delinquencies was that he couldn't shake off a punch and come back—a talisman of age.

Dundee, likewise, is believed to be slipping. Not long ago he lost his 130-pound title to Jack Bernstein and although many critics failed to concur with the verdict, Johnny obviously was not the man who carried Benny Leonard to the limit of eight separate occasions and made the rest of the lightweight colony hasten elsewhere. He seemed to lack his accustomed speed and endurance and that is tantamount to stating that a ladder needs rungs.

Few of us are rabid fans—to such an extent, at least, as to be able to tell offhand what teams and players played in the World Series ten years ago. Yet there are eleven players still in major baseball who participated in world series games ten or more years ago.

Ty Cobb of Detroit played in the series of 1908 between the Cubs and the Tigers, and yet Cobb is still the game's greatest hitter.

George Burns, for ten years in the field for the Giants, is another who snagged flies in a big series more than ten times twelve months ago, and Burns hasn't an equal as a lead-off man or a "sun" fielder today.

Stuffy McInnis, who is still the stabilizing records for the coming generation of first sackers to Speaker Still whammin' 'em to when the Athletics played the Giants in 1911.

Babe Adams and Rube Marquard are still zipping their baffling slants past batters. Adams won renown for pitching the Pirates to a World Series victory back in 1909, while Rube was present in a Giant uniform when Philadelphia beat New York in 1911.

Eddie Collins is an old vet who has seen service in six World Series contests. Then there's Strunk, Harry Hooper, and Tris Speaker, still whammin' 'em to all four corners of the lot.

Wally Schang and Joe Bush complete the list. The last two are still stars in their respective positions.

Verily, Old Pop Time hasn't such an easy job of it, after all, with such a garnet of tough old-time World Series participants still whooping it right in his face.

THREE TEAMS IN FIGHT FOR FLAG

Giants, Pirates and Reds in Drive for Pennant at Mid-Summer Stage

By GEORGE T. HOOK
For International News Service

NEW YORK, July 26.—The same fight-to-the-finish that featured the National league pennant marathon last season will be repeated this year, if the standing of the clubs at midseason is to be taken as a harbinger.

And to the dyed-in-the-wool type of baseball fan it's going to be some battle, with the world's champion Giants pushed to the limit of the fighting "esprit de club" for which they justly have become noted.

Quite naturally the struggle for the championship centers around the New York Giants and, in the main, takes in Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. Unless all three fall into an unprecedented slump one of these clubs is going to sport the league trophy. A glance at the figures will show that it doesn't take a marvelous intellect to dope that out.

Records of games played up to mid-season show such a tangle existing among these three clubs that, for a matter of choice, it is everybody for his favorite. Whereas the Reds have found the Giants comparatively easy picking—for several of ten games at the conclusion of the last series, to be exact—the Pirates, on even terms with the champions, have bested the men of Moran eight times out of fourteen games. Get out the cook-book and you'll find that this bit of dope will make good sense.

Best performances of these teams seem to preclude anything but a nip-and-tuck fight, with none possessing the supreme confidence of victory.

The failure of the McGraw mer to possess a more comfortable lead is placed to the discredit of the pitching staff—the twirlers have been blamed for everything untoward that has happened and probably will be blamed for anything that occurs during the remainder of the season. And just as surely as the Bible proved Job should have eaten more yeast, so the National League records prove that the champions would not be enjoying even their present meagre lead but for the wrecking crew headed by Kelly and Frisch. This same crew has turned robber many times in more years than the games that were considered safely in the icebox.

Giants Easy for Reds

A part that is peculiar about the tightness of the national merry-go-round is the attitude of New York Yankee rooters. It may not be a secret, but it's a fact, at any rate, that the vast majority of Yankee yellers are yapping for Pittsburgh to jump into the league lead now held by the Giants. The favoritism over the Reds may be attributed to the close fight the Pirates put up against the champs last year, when they lost by a slight margin.

This feeling is not to be placed to fear that the Giants will again make the Yankees look like sandlotters in the event of a world series. Shortly after the last Yankees-Athletics series, which turned out so beautifully for the former, I walked into conversation with the coolest type of Yank fan. Before I got the opportunity of asking the question I had all ready for him he gave me the answer, with a look like that of a movie villain who visions his dastardly design wreaking vengeance upon the oily-haired head of our modest hero.

"Oh, boy!" he let out of a corner of his mouth. "I wish they'd bring on those Giants now. What we'd do to them would make a homicide court case look like a bed-time story."

Pan Krooters Bitter

Yankee rooters are bitter over the statement issued by Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, that the Yankees would not be in a battle with Tunney.

Jacobs says that the idea that McTigue is afraid to fight is a joke, but just because Gibson made the crack, he will not let the champion fight Tunney. Any other logical contender can have a match, says Jacobs, but Tunney is off the books.

Jacobs defends his stand by declaring that Tunney turned down matches with both Tom Gibbons and Harry Greb. Trying to call a champion into a match is an old stunt, says Jacobs, but it will not work this time.

Jacobs now admits that McTigue did not do so well against Tommy Loughton in Philadelphia, but he is going to let Mike fight him again to show that he can do better.

Matchmaker Tom O'Rourke of New York is trying to match John Wilson, middleweight monarch, for a championship bout with Harry Greb at the Polo grounds, New York.

about putting the negro in the ring against the champion,

SPORT Snaps

By JACK KEENE

Here is a good story of the Jeffries of the old days. It has come down from the mountains where the former world's champion used to hunt deer.

"Doc" Shafer is a well known western character, a great big-hearted, adventurous fellow who would have made a good pal for Daniel Boone. Some of the real he-man stunts he pulls would make the stuff of some of those movie stars look like kindergarten calisthenics.

When Jeffries was world's champion he met Shafer in Bakersfield, Cal. Shafer was as big as the fighter, weighed 230 pounds, carried no fat, was a noted bear hunter and never carried a gun into the mountains.

His stunt was to take a pack of hounds and a good club and trail bears. When his dogs would find a bear, Shafer would call them off and then sail into the bear with his club. Usually he won his fight.

When Doc met Jeffries, it irked him to see another man so big and strong as himself running around loose, and he became enthusiastic over seeing if he couldn't rough up the champion. On the other hand, Jeffries, with his discipline to show his stuff outside the ring, tried to decide even a friendly test of strength.

"All right," said Shafer. "Then I'll make you another proposition. The boys have just trapped a big cinnamon bear up in the mountains. They want me to tame it. I'll shake dice with you to see whether you or I go into the bear's cage with nothing but a club for a weapon." Jeffries took the challenge and, much to his relief, won the throw and then proceeded with "Doc" to see that the bet was fulfilled.

"Doc" Shafer never hesitated, but stepped into the cage with his trusty stick. The bear rushed him and he sidestepped, rapping the bruin squarely on the nose. It rushed him again, and another solid bump sent the aggressor down for the count. After a space of a few minutes the bear sat up and rubbed its nose, but refused to renew the attack. The victor looked around for Jeffries, and there was the champion, just outside practicing a rapid sidestep.

"Gee, 'Doc,'" said Jeff, "if I could get away as quick as you do, old Fitz would never lay a glove on me!"

Joe Jacobs, who manages Mike McTigue, the light heavyweight champion, is considerably excited over the statement issued by Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, that the Yankees would not be in a battle with Tunney.

Jacobs says that the idea that McTigue is afraid to fight is a joke, but just because Gibson made the crack, he will not let the champion fight Tunney. Any other logical contender can have a match, says Jacobs, but Tunney is off the books.

Jacobs defends his stand by declaring that Tunney turned down matches with both Tom Gibbons and Harry Greb. Trying to call a champion into a match is an old stunt, says Jacobs, but it will not work this time.

Jacobs now admits that McTigue did not do so well against Tommy Loughton in Philadelphia, but he is going to let Mike fight him again to show that he can do better.

Matchmaker Tom O'Rourke of New York is trying to match John Wilson, middleweight monarch, for a championship bout with Harry Greb at the Polo grounds, New York.

When Sherry Smith, former Brooklyn southpaw, turned back the Yankees in his first start of the season in New York, he had added the scalps of the Athletics to his collection. Cleveland critics then and there swore he was the greatest southpaw that ever wore the uniform of the Forest City team.

Otto Hess, Vean Gregg, Fred Coumbe and Walter Mills were southpaws to whom Smith was compared with all honor to the present portlander.

Cleveland writers give Smith the credit for being the first Indian pitcher to check the fleet-footed Wid Mathews of the Athletics on the sacks. First time Mathews got on first against Smith he took a long lead. Smith's quick throw trapped him eight feet from the bag, but First Baseman Guisto dropped the toss. The second time Smith chucked Guisto held the ball and Mathews was nailed flatfooted.

Those former major league athletes who dyed their nose black are just beginning to find out what it cost them to toss a world series to help the sure thing men. Though some of the exiled players were internationally famous, little is heard of them nowadays. Once in a while the name of Eddie Cleote appears in the public prints and he is generally connected with an ultimatum of sand lot teams that they will not play against him. The former Sox pitcher is a game warden in Michigan, earning $3 a day. Other players to earn a living afield have been playing ball under assumed names. Announcement was made recently that Hal Chase will manage a team in Nogales, Sonora, Mexico. This town is on the other side of the border, where everything is wide open. Chase, according to word from California, has been working in a lumber yard.

HUSMAN WINS IN CROQUET BATTLE LEADERS TIE IN SPURT FOR FLAG

Maet Artists' Tournament to Be Held on Local School Grounds

The limitation croquet tournament will be held on the Glendale Union High school grounds yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of Community Service, recruited by Joe Husman topping his list by defeating Ross Kinney in the final. Those who entered were Glen Case, Leland Harris, Lee Zimmer, Jess Kinney, Jennie Sheppard, Jas. Coleman, Joe Husman and J. Dinmitt.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock, teams of four from the high school and the various school grounds will play on the grounds.

And today and tomorrow, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, elimination croquet tournaments will be run off at the Central avenue grounds, with Coach F. McMaster in charge. After R. Ernest Tucker of Community Service.

City Employees and Student Of Night Schools Race To Win Pennant

By winning from the Newt Electric last night, on the Glendale Union High school grounds the City Employees have a chance at the championship of the T. Light Baseball league.

The politicians took the game from the electricians by the decisive score of 33 to 21. The winners have the alibi, however, they had but eight players, against the winners' ten.

The City Employees and Night Schools are now tied for first place, each having played eight games and won seven. They have another game to play. Should they both win, there will have to be a play-off for the cup.

Firpo Seeks Easy Money on His Tour

NEW YORK, July 26.—Luis Angel Firpo's signature on a contract to meet Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship on a day in September is yet unannounced. Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine battler, was on his way today for a barnstorming tour during which he plans to "smoke himself up" as a real box office attraction.

Tomorrow night the wild bull is scheduled to meet Joe Burke at Grand Rapids, jumping to Omaha for a bout with Homer Smith on August 3, then going to St. Louis to exhibit against Tom Cowler on August 6. He will conclude his tour on August 8 at Indianapolis after meeting either Bill Reed or Ed Ebyll.

After the tour, and in the event one of the "fast ups" does not land a sleep punch on Firpo's jaw, Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Firpo affair, is expected to make the announcement that the big battle will be at the Polo grounds on Labor day.

Firpo will establish camp at Long Branch, N. J., while it is expected Dempsey will arrive from Los Angeles, setting up quarters somewhere near New York.

Evans and Sweetzer Leading in Tournament

MAYFIELD COUNTRY CLUB, CLEVELAND, July 26.—Chas. Evans of Chicago, defending champion, was three up on Fred Lamprecht, local star, at the close of the first eighteen holes of the thirty-six-hole match here today in the annual tourney of the Western Golf association. J. Sweetzer was five up on Dex Cummings, Yale under-gardner and National collegiate champion.

In the other matches, J. Wells of East Liverpool, former Ohio state champion, was one up on Clarence Wolf, while W. Gardner of Buffalo had a lead over Ira Couch, the Chicagoan who upset the dopey yet by his defeat of Captain F. Fier, champion of Ireland.

Ne Stars Face Stiff Tournament Game

LOS ANGELES, July 26.—Willard Tilden, world's champion net wayer, and Manuel Alonzo, Spanish tennis ace, faced a stiff competition they have met whosted in the South California open champions tournament when fourth round matches were played today on the courts of the Los Angeles tennis club.

Tilden today tackled G. Warren, one of the best in local ranks, while Alonzo faced Dick Hinckley of Hollywood, strong tournament player.

Security Bank Gives Calendar to Clients

The Security Trust & Savings Bank has issued to a few of its clients a handsome calendar showing the new building that is to be erected at the corner Brand and Broadway. The calendar, which bears the slogan "Growing With Glendale," is made of gold lacquer work, steel, and is a splendid example of a dignified and artistic advertisement for the institution. It sends it out. One of these calendars decorates the wall of Glendale Evening News office.

TAGGING ALL BASES

Brooklyn stopped Luque's winning streak, taking the opener from Cincinnati, 6 to 3.

Winning a double-header from the Braves 5 to 2 and 10 to 3, the Pirates went into a tie for second place with the Reds.

Pirates Beat Braves Twice in Same Day

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—Pirates romped on the Braves in a double victory yesterday. Scores were 5 to 2 and 10 to 3, the latter being that of the light affray. The Bucceron piled up a substantial lead in first inning of the finale, registering six tallies before they retired.

Salt Lake	54	55	.495
Oakland	55	58	.487
Portland	45	65	.413
Sacramento	45	67	.402

Five teams shifted their standings during the playing of the sixteenth series in the Pacific Coast league—Vernon, Los Angeles and Portland each moving up the scale one position, while Salt Lake dropped one place and Seattle two.

The San Franciscans did some more sliding so that the Sacramentans are only thirty-five points behind. The retrogression in the last five weeks by the following percentage figures compiled at the close of each series:

1922	W.	L.	Pct.
San Francisco	69	44	.611
Sacramento	64	57	.526
Portland	55	56	.496
Los Angeles	53	56	.486
Oakland	52	57	.477
Vernon	53	58	.477
Salt Lake	51	58	.468
Oakland	45	65	.406

It will be noted that the race this year, after all, has developed into a better one than took place last season, although for a time it looked as if all interest had been lost in the 1923 struggle. The decline of the Seals has put an entirely new face on the proceedings, and unless they begin to pick up at once, folks will be able to settle down in their seats for something worth while in a few weeks.

Unofficial batting averages show that Strand of Salt Lake and Kelly of San Francisco are the only two leading batters of the coast who were in relatively the same positions last season at this time on the batting list. Wauer, who leads, is a new man, and he has been slowly falling back of late. This San Francisco player has shown marked ability to connect with the ball, but it would be foolhardy to predict anything regarding him. It is a toss-up.

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—Word comes here from New York that Jimmy O'Connell, bought by the New York Giants of the National League for $75,000, is discouraged and homesick. It augers poorly for Jimmy's future. No man can remain in this frame of mind and be a success. That this news is authentic there can be no doubt, and being true, does it mean the collapse and failure of O'Connell as a major leaguer?

According to friends of O'Connell, the youngster is finding the burden of being a "$75,000 beauty" more than he can stagger under. Fans are constantly reminding him of the price paid for him and urging him, more or less forcibly and imperatively, to do something that will make him worth the outlay.

O'Connell, whose disposition is more or less reticent, finds the jobes are getting under his skin. With his mind so occupied he has been unable to concentrate on the game, to the end that he has been called down for certain errors of omission and commission and finally benched.

There seems to be no question that Jimmy would pack up his grip and come back to the Pacific Coast if he had half a chance and an excuse to do so. All has not been beer and skittles for the youngster. On the coast he was a hero. He stood out among the players and was made much of. Now he does not show in the ruck. Although not a youngster who was wanting or self-seeking, he probably feels that he is a disappointment to his purchasers. It speaks well for him that he does care in this manner. Many youngsters are not so conscientious.

Pacific Coast friends of O'Connell still believe that McGraw made no mistake in purchasing O'Connell even at the price paid, but whether or not a return for the money is received will be entirely in the hands of McGraw as to how he handles the youngster in the light of his very evident distress over his position.

Contrasting with O'Connell is the case of Willie Kamm, for whom Chicago paid $100,000 and who has made a hit with both the players and the populace by reason of his all-round brilliant play both on the offense and defense. Even though Kamm had not started off so gaily, it is not likely that he would have been disconsolate as is O'Connell. His disposition is more optimistic and the chances are he would have made a better battle against disappointment and not so ready to confess to it. McGraw has "made" many a ball player out of youthful material and there seems no reason why he should not solve the problem of psychology and equation as well.

A Firpo-Dempsey match will have an incalculably greater drawing power than a Willard-Dempsey match ever could have done. We all know what happened to Jess when he stacked up against Dempsey. No one knows what the conditions will be when the other pair get in the ring together. It is the element of uncertainty which is the life of sport. If we knew every time which horse would win there would be no horse-racing.

Now that Firpo has beaten Willard poor old Harry Willis is as far away from a match with Dempsey as he was three years ago when they first began talking

Four Win Way Through Second Round of Play

MAYFIELD COUNTRY CLUB, CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 26.—Jesse Sweetzer, Dexter Cummings, Chick Evans and Freddy Lamprecht came safely through the second round of play in the western amateur championship here yesterday. They are the survivors in the upper bracket.

Sweetzer defeated Frank Godchaux, New Orleans, 3 to 2, in a slow death match and was dormie four at the fourteenth.

Dexter Cummings, collegiate champion, had but little difficulty defeating Russell Martin, Chicago, winning, 4 to 3.

MAKES REPORT ON SEWER CONTRACT

L. A. City Attorney Writes to Mayor Robinson He Seeks Solution

Mayor Spencer Robinson has received a letter from Jess E. Stephens, city attorney of Los Angeles, relative to the progress being made on the proposed contract between Glendale and Los Angeles for the construction of a sewer line to connect with the new outfall system. The letter follows:

CITY OF LOS ANGELES,
JESS E. STEPHENS,
City Attorney,
Los Angeles, July 25th, 1923.

Hon. Spencer Robinson,
Mayor of Glendale,
Glendale, California.

Dear Sir:

Confirming my telephone conversation of yesterday, I desire to state that I am attempting to work out a draft of a proposed contract between the City of Glendale and the City of Los Angeles for the construction of a main sewer line to connect with our new Outfall now under construction. I have had several conferences with members of my own staff and with the engineers in charge of sewer work, and hope that I may have a draft ready very soon. There are a number of intricate problems of both a legal and engineering character which must be worked out. I am not yet in a position to say positively that the two cities can make a contract which will be fair to both and which will be enforceable as well as practical; because it involves the assumption by Los Angeles of this extremely important municipal function for another municipality, where it has neither the taxing power nor the police power. Such a contract is in its nature permanent, and must anticipate conditions so far in the future that it is no easy problem to provide for them in an equitable and yet enforceable manner. However, I am hopeful that we may solve the problem. It was my understanding that you desired me to submit a proposed draft to Mr. Mattison B. Jones so that he might examine it from your standpoint. This I hope to do within a very few days.

Very truly yours,
JESS E. STEPHENS,
City Attorney.

SHRINE CLUB TO GREET HARDING

Committee Called to Meet Friday Night to Plan Rousing Welcome

Members of the Shrine club of Glendale, who have been appointed by President D. Ripley Jackson, will meet Friday night, July 27, at the Shrine clubrooms in the Nesselroad building, 221-A West Broadway, to adopt plans for a reception to President Harding when he arrives here on August 3, and the call for the meeting that has been issued by the chairman, Mattison B. Jones, will be found in the advertising columns of The Glendale Evening News.

It is the intention of the local Shriners to extend a fraternal greeting to President Harding, who is a Noble of the Mystic Shrine, and the plans that will be followed will be definitely decided upon at Friday night's meeting.

Thirty-four members are on the committee, these being Mattison B. Jones, chairman; George H. Bentley, A. L. Burson, Arthur Campbell, W. E. Evans, Charles N. Elder, Daniel Hunsberger, Clement B. Hill, Charles F. Hahn, D. Ripley Jackson, Charles E. Jones, Dr. G. H. Kaemmerling, George H. Karr, Julius Kranz, Paul J. Kugler, Allen O. Martin, William McMillan, D. C. Methven, Theodore H. Menk, Charles P. Nesselroad, Fred Nicolaus, Charles L. Peckham, W. E. Persell, Will S. Rattray, James M. Rhoades, Dr. C. M. Ritchey, D. H. Smith, A. G. Spachy, Charles H. Snider, V. B. Stone, Harry J. Syms, Dr. F. W. Sutton, H. C. Vandewater and Lloyd H. Wilson.

Artificial Sun Rays Used to Grow Fruit

LONDON, July 26.—Science will soon be able to control fruit crops, and strawberries at Christmastide may not be an unknown thing, if a discovery of two London fruit merchants materialized. It has been ascertained by them that the fruiting and flowering of plants is controlled by the length of the period of daylight, and that only when this period is exactly right do flowers and fruit appear. Based on this discovery, a great many experiments were carried out under "artificial sunlight," which gives results similar to genuine sunlight. Results obtained have given rise to the belief that it will be possible under this system to produce flowers and fruit at any season of the year.

"In this condition abroad, can any question that should be our attitude? We must not be persuaded to a false step in a little policy, however alluring it may seem, which ultimately may involve us in that which, thus far, we have shunned and avoided.

"I will not take our country into this class of selfish ambitions and the existing racial feuds which have written the bloody pages of centuries of European hostility. If we become a party to what is happening abroad we would be but the dupe or the prey of the one faction or the other.

"So earnestly and so firmly do I believe that the future of the republic depends upon keeping out of the turmoil, the strife and the controversies, the schemes and the machinations of Europe, that we can have no higher resolve than to dedicate ourselves to the patriotic duty in the days to come to maintaining the distinctive American policy and keeping our country free from every entanglement which would destroy that policy.

"I am well within the fact when I say that, of all those interested in the subject in Europe, none consider the World Court except as a party of the League of Nations, and the idea of the divorcement of the two is merely a matter of jest."

Harding Tells Canadians U. S. Does Not Want to Annex Country

Rather than aspiring to each other's possessions, President Harding urged, let Canada and the United States travel the road to peace, prosperity and happiness side by side, mutually helpful.

The president said one of the greatest aids to Canadian-American accord was the constant interchange of citizens. He pointed out that the United States had restricted European immigration, but that there were no restrictions to Canada and also pointed out the heavy American investments in Canada.

"Our protection is in our fraternity, our armor is our faith," the president said, "and God grant that it will continue through all time."

Canada gave President Harding a welcome such as the Dominion accords only to royalty. As he steamed through the narrows into Burrard inlet this morning, the guns from the British warships Curlew and Patricia, lying off Deadman's island, boomed the twenty-one gun presidential salute, the Henderson responding.

Again, when the president landed at the Canadian Pacific pier, the guns of the fifteenth Canadian field artillery brigade boomed the presidential salute.

This afternoon after lunching as guest of the civic government President Harding will go with Dominion officials and then be a dinner guest of the Dominion government.

More Help Needed The territory represented in the extensions necessitates an additional thirty-one and one-half hours' increase in the daily work of the postoffice force of carriers and will call for the appointment of seven additional carriers, besides the nine auxiliary carriers who are on duty at present, thus bringing the carrier force of the local office up to thirty-five men. These extra carriers will be appointed immediately and will later be placed on the list of permanent appointees of the Glendale postoffice.

The increase in the payroll of the office will be about $1000 a month.

In the past eight months, according to Postmaster Jackson's records, the staff employed in the Glendale postoffice has exactly doubled, and even the present increases in the personnel will not, in his estimation, be sufficient to meet the demands of the rapidly-increasing business of the office for more than a few months or until October 1st, when he plans to ask for still another increase in the force as Glendale grows. The present force of 80 men and women is kept busy and the steady growth of business will, in the near future, necessitate another increase in the number of employees.

BRITISH PLAN TO REORGANIZE NAVY

Will Ask Dominions Whether They Favor Unifying Empire's Forces

By DAVID M. CHURCH For International News Service LONDON, June 26.—Great Britain has begun the reorganization of her naval defenses, in consequence of the return of normal post-war naval conditions and in conjunction with the Washington treaty.

During the next few months the disposition of the British naval units will be watched with great interest by naval experts. There is no indication that Great Britain intends that the phrase "British" in the name of the navy shall become an empty phrase, even though the powers at Washington did agree to a one-power standard. What Great Britain lost at Washington in the way of naval strength she may gain back by strategic disposition of her forces.

An imperial conference will be held in London next October, when the Dominions will be consulted with regard to future naval policy. It is authoritatively stated that at this conference the Dominions will be invited to cast their naval lot with that of the mother country, and the final result may be that the British Empire naval units will be under the consolidated control of the First Lord of the Admiralty in London. Australia, Canada, New Zealand and South Africa maintain naval forces, which, though not of great strength, are nevertheless possible units for a great naval combine. No efforts will be made to discourage these forces from growing, but they will be fostered and an attempt will be made to have them mothered by the admiralty.

Wants Unified Navy Archibald Hurd, well-known British naval expert, discussing these Dominion naval forces, declares that a unified empire navy is necessary for the safety of the empire.

"There can be no such thing as 'local navies' if the empire is to be safe," Hurd declares. "That is, navies tied down to a duty in special areas in conditions of war as well as peace. Any attempt to localize the beneficent influence which naval power can exert spells disaster, less perhaps to us than the peoples overseas. By some means autonomy must find expression in a larger patriotism, which recognizes the unity of the seas, but need not involve any derogation for the full self-governing rights of ourselves or the dominions."

Pending possible amalgamation of the British naval forces and the dominion forces, the admiralty is not standing still in the matter of reassignment of British naval policy. Already steps have been taken to return to the old pre-war principle of naval strategy where, by the bulk of the British fleet was kept in the Mediterranean—known as the "Middle Sea."

Little by little the naval units are leaving home waters and taking their position in the "Middle Sea," where they are within comparatively easy striking distance of the strategic naval points of the world. Greatly battleships are being transferred from the Atlantic fleet to the Mediterranean fleet and necessary changes in transport and supply are being made. There are promises that within a few months Malta will again be the most important British naval base. Thus it seems that the Admiralty is again returning to the strategic principle of a mobile fleet stationed in the "Middle Sea" ready for service in any of the seven seas.

The readjustment of strategic policy by the admiralty is not without its critics, but the work is going ahead and there is every indication that Great Britain has no thought of losing grip upon her control of the seas.

MOST FOLKS ARE MENTALLY SOUND

Scientist Says Ninety-Five Per Cent of People Perfectly Sane

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 26.—The tradition that "everybody is a little crazy" is the latest to be defeated by science, according to Dr. Thomas E. Bamford, Syracuse authority on psychiatry.

Ninety-five per cent of all human beings are absolutely sane, Dr. Bamford has declared. The remaining 5 per cent are those who have generated the popular belief of universal insanity, he asserted.

"Nearly everybody is sane, notwithstanding the old saying to the contrary," Dr. Bamford said. "At least 95 per cent of the people of Syracuse are quite normal mentally."

"We have to have some sort of a standard of sanity, and it is a standard very easily arrived at. There is the greatest difference in the world between the brain of the normal man and the brain of the hydrocephalic imbecile, for example.

Paris in Throes of Ticket Buying Mania

PARIS, July 26.—Paris has the ticket mania. Tickets, tickets everywhere. If you want to take a street car, get a ticket. There are little packets of them at every stopping place—a ticket for every car that passes. A car comes along, the conductor calls out the numbers and that ticket is finished. But another soon takes its place.

"Where are you going?" the conductor asks and brings forth a little ticket from his bag.

"Punch in the presence of the passengARE," wrote Mark Twain many years ago, and the same thing is going on today.

Punch in the presence of the passengARE."

If you want to board an autobus, get a ticket. There are tickets in front of one and tickets behind one.

The latest crink is the "shop ticket," which is to be found in a little Paris store famous for its silks. There are more buyers than sellers. Get a ticket. There are little pink ones for the purpose, and madame pulls one off and sits in a chair patiently awaiting the usher to call out her number.

EXCHANGE CLUBS TO HOLD OUTING

Our Chapters to Gather at Exposition Grounds on Friday Night

Discussion of the "big doings" of Exchange and Exchangees at the Monroe Centennial Exposition in Exposition park, Los Angeles, on Friday night, July 27, consumed most of the time at yesterday's noon luncheon meeting of the local Exchange club, held in the banquet room of the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

Dr. Wallace C. Clark and Mrs. P. Lee, of the Los Angeles chapter, were present and outlined plans for the affair, which will be held at 6 o'clock, with good entertainment furnished, the Glendale, Long Beach and Hollywood clubs participating with the Los Angeles chapter on the occasion.

"After the dinner we will visit the exhibition, then march in a parade, with a band, into the Coliseum," said Dr. Lee, "where special seats have been provided for us to witness the big show. Those who cannot take dinner with us can meet us at 8 o'clock at the Coliseum."

Moving Pictures
"Movies will be taken, so don't fail to show up, using the tickets that have been furnished to admit ourselves and friends into the grounds, where ribbon badges will be provided. If by any chance you haven't enough tickets, they may be obtained by communicating with Exchangeite Aloney, of the Globe Ice Cream company, Los Angeles."

Street Sweeper To Work Shift Sunday Morning

THE employment of a street sweeper on Sunday mornings for the intersection of brand boulevard and Broadway will be recommended by Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, tonight to the City Council.

Complaint about the quantity and quality of rubbish, especially newspaper wrappings, cluttering the vicinity of this intersection was made by Norton P. Buck of 100 West Broadway at the last session of the council. He suggested the installation of ornamental rubbish cans on prominent corners. The matter was referred to Colonel Fraser for investigation.

Owing to the fact that more people are on the streets Saturday afternoon and evening, more rubbish accumulates during this period. The few automobiles parked on the streets Sunday morning make rubbish in the gutters all the more noticeable. The employment of a street cleaner to work from about 5 a. m. until about 9 a. m. Sunday, it is believed will remedy the condition.

SET TIME LIMIT FOR PAYING TAX

Capital Stock Returns Must Be Made by July 31, Says Collector

Final warning was sent out yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell to 10,000 excise and miscellaneous occupational taxpayers and to 10,000 concerns which must make capital stock returns and to other delinquent special taxpayers, that July 31 is the dead line for the payment of those taxes, after which delinquents will be subjected to a penalty running from twenty-five per cent and five per cent to a specific penalty of $1000 in each case. By orders of the internal revenue bureau, interest at the rate of one per cent per month is applicable on both tax and penalty. Capital stock returns must be made by July 31 and check should accompany the return.

Manufacturers, theatres, cabarets, all places of amusement, dealers in soft drinks and jewelry and makers of automobile accessories are among the many classes affected by the excise tax. Returns for June and payment of the tax for that month must be in Collector Goodcell's office by July 31, in order to avoid penalties.

Those Who Must Pay
Miscellaneous occupational taxes, which must be paid by July 31, include brokers, pawnbroker, ship brokers and custom house brokers, proprietors of theatres, museums, concert halls, bowling alleys, billiard halls, shooting galleries, riding academies, automobiles for hire, and a special tax imposed upon the use of yachts, pleasure, power, sailing and motor boats. Heavy penalties await delinquents in the occupational tax class.

"Special orders have been received from Washington that these occupational taxes and capital stock returns must be cleaned up by July 31, after which penalties will be collected. It is the policy of this office to avoid penalties wherever possible," said Collector Goodcell. "For this reason I am urging taxpayers to co-operate with me in making prompt returns. Under the law I am compelled to assess and collect penalties from delinquents."

Better Illumination In City's Business Section Glendale's Vital Need

By GIL A. COWAN

MORE lights please! That is the plea of the business men who are watching Glendale grow by night as well as day. In the first place, they want the city to keep the boulevard lights on Brand and Broadway "all lit up" until after 11 o'clock. That for the time being, at least. And they also are looking to the Chamber of Commerce or Merchants' Association officials to bestir themselves and get something better in the way of business district lighting if Glendale is to keep pace with Hollywood and Los Angeles.

Personally, the writer heard E. F. Sanders, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, delivering a lecture on the subject yesterday and it ought to bring results, even though President Harding is going to come through Glendale at noon time. For he it is understood that our commercial secretary is bending every effort to make August 3 the biggest day in Glendale's history.

Lights Inadequate
Reverting to the subject of lights, we already have published the fact that Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant production of the public utilities department of the city, believes the present boulevard lights are inadequate to give the growing business district the proper publicity.

In the first place, Brand boulevard is so broad and Broadway, likewise, that it is difficult to get sufficient illumination from the present four-light standards which, no doubt, are beautiful insofar as lighting effect goes but impractical from an advertising standpoint.

If safe business is to thrive and shop windows serve their fullest purpose; if throngs are to be attracted like moths to a flame; and if motor tourists are to take notice of the mercantile section instead of rushing along Colorado boulevard from Pasadena to Hollywood it is vital that a new illumination program be inaugurated.

You should throw more light on the subject of enterprise and the merchants here should arrange to have their windows well lighted, while a few more electric signs are in order. Owners of the taller buildings could well afford to have a fringed outline of lights while those with imposing fronts to display should use a flood light from the opposite side of the street. Glendale needs adopt signs and in order to attract 40,000 population and the fact that its business section after 10 o'clock now reminds one of a dark alley, although the opportunities exist to make it most magnificent, shows one of the biggest advertising bets is being overlooked.

Rivals Printed Word
David Belasco is authority that lighting effects are second only to the spoken or printed word in giving an impression. We all know how bright a few flags make the most drear street. They impose a thrill which causes action.

If you have ever peered behind the walls of a motion picture studio you know that when the director orders "lights" everyone is on tiptoe for action. They focus upon the subject or setting, they compel attention, yet the people are not looking at the lights. They look upon that which is revealed.

REALTORS ADOPT DINNER PROGRAM

Subjects of Vital Interest to Profession to Be Luncheon Topics

Consideration of various important points that were brought up at the recent convention of the National Real Estate Association at Cleveland, Ohio, will be the main order of business at several meetings of the Glendale Realty Board in the near future, according to a decision reached at the weekly meeting held in the Harriett Mae tea room on East Harvard street yesterday, after Dr. Jessie A. Russell, the official delegate to the local board to the convention, had submitted a tentative report and had suggested that these various points be taken up for discussion by the board.

For the next several weeks a certain time will be allotted to the discussion of such matters as zoning, parks, taxation, highways, insurance loans and similar matters of interest to realtors, and it is expected that these round table discussions will develop many points that will be of benefit to the real estate men.

Lot Prices High
The investigation that was conducted into the probable cost of the ground that it has been proposed to convert into a city park, adjacent to the site of the contemplated Southern Pacific station, resulted in prices being quoted by property owners that ranged all the way from $6,000 to $14,000 for the lots that would be taken for this purpose, the average on the thirty lots investigated being $8,825, or a total of close to $260,000, instead of the figure of $150,000 as originally suggested by those who first propounded the project, according to a report by Earl L. Schuyler, chairman of the committee.

W. L. Twining stated that his committee had no report to present on the telephone situation this week, but promised that full details to support his contention of inadequate service would be ready at the next meeting. Details of the reception to President Harding will also be given by the committee next week.

W. L. Truitt, reporting for the mechanics' lien committee, stated that they had secured copies of the Ohio lien law and expected to have copies of those from several other states within a few days, when a comprehensive resume of the situation would be presented.

Spas for the remainder of the summer meetings will be prepared by a committee that is to be appointed, and it will be the aim of the organization to secure a number of prominent men connected with the real estate profession in the Southland to deliver addresses at these luncheons.

The next meeting will be held at the Egyptian cafe in the Jensen building on North Brand.

LOCAL DRUGGIST KNEW PRESIDENT

Recalls Interest Shown by Harding on Visit to Sister in California

George A. Whitaker, proprietor of the Broadway Pharmacy at 400 East Broadway, is looking forward to seeing President Warren G. Harding again next week for the first time in several years.

While Mr. Whitaker was connected with the Park Drug Company of Santa Ana, Senator Harding frequently spent portions of his winters in Santa Ana visiting his sister. Quite often he dropped into the drug store and passed to chat.

"He was quite agreeable," remarked Mr. Whitaker. "He was very pleasant to meet. He took a great interest in the things going on around, such as the ranches and the different things they raised, the different methods of cultivation and how the people lived. He seemed eager to get new ideas. He was a good mixer and made a lot of friends in Santa Ana."

NEWSBOYS WILL SEE 'SAFETY LAST'

Carriers for The Evening News at the Gateway Theatre Tonight

The fifty boys who distribute The Glendale Evening News throughout the various sections of this city and surrounding territory, will be the special guests of the Gateway Theatre management, at tonight's 7 o'clock showing of the seven-reel Harold Lloyd comedy, "Safety Last."

The invitation was extended by B. E. Loper, vice-president and manager of the new showhouse, and by Albert E. Cawood, publicity and advertising manager of the establishment.

The young paper-carriers will see a film, in "Safety Last," that will thoroughly delight them. And Manager Loper has given them permission to laugh as long and as loud as they want to, which they may do with no fear of making themselves conspicuous—for their laughter will be drowned in the general tumult of joy from young and old alike, that nightly greets the flashing on the screen of this master Pathe comedy.

CONDITIONS IN GERMANY TERRIBLE, SAYS LOCAL MAN

Their Money Doesn't Buy Anything; Can't Carry It Around; Major Operation Costs About 50 Cents in American Coin

GERMANY will have to repudiate its billions of paper marks and start its financial system anew is the belief of Dr. Henry R. Harrower, head of the Harrower Laboratory of this city, who returned yesterday afternoon in company with Mrs. Harrower and daughter, Verna, from a six months' sojourn in Europe. They reside at 1510 East Broadway.

For, in all of his trip there was nothing more to intrigue the interest of the world's foremost authority on endocrinology than the humanitarian aspects of the defeated Germans' plight. Incidentally he dispatched 140,000 letters to American doctors while visiting in Berlin.

"Conditions in Germany are really terrible, especially in the cities," says Dr. Harrower. "Their money doesn't buy anything. They cannot even carry it around, not even the new aluminum ware that is serving as coin of the realm. And they dare not stop work."

"A nurse in a hospital is paid for a month's work enough to buy a spool of thread! A major operation costs 50 cents in American money. I visited hospitals in Berlin, Frankfurt and Halle where the doctors are worrying themselves sick over the prospects of wearing out their X-ray machines. Yes, they even fear to sit down for fear of wearing out their frayed clothes, for they have no money to buy new goods, explained the doctor.

Need American Dollars
"In Germany they are exceedingly deferential to the American, not because of his nationality, but due to his dollars buying that which they need. They are very interested in your welfare—for a sum. Thousands are living on $5 to $15 a month sent them in United States coin by their American relatives."

"The business men are ruining the country," continued Dr. Harrower. "By that I mean such capitalists as Hugo Stinnes, who are leaving their gold money abroad while making veritable slaves out of the workers in the cities. Governmentally conditions are frightful in Germany as Dr. Cuno is the tool of the industrial magnates whose money is not 'at home.'"

Swedish People Lucky
"Austria has fared much better recently than Germany which still has more heat to go through before readjustment is completed. Belgium also is recovering from the war although I visited there while the little kingdom was in the throes of a general strike. However, everybody is respecting the wishes of the war torn country and being small it will get out of the mess more fortunately than the larger nations. Brussels and Antwerp are busy places with lots of trade and high hopes."

"The Swedish people are the luckiest of the lot," commented the Doctor. "One has to pay a premium to get their money. They charge 25 cents exchange on the English pound. We also attended the Gøttenburg exposition of Swedish industry, marking the fourth centennial anniversary of the city."

"While Sweden is prosperous Denmark has suffered from numerous bank failures due to the decline of European money, principally marks. The people, however, are not downhearted and I had the privilege of photographing King Christian X while he was conversing with Mrs. Harrower."

"In England," continued the tourist, "I visited the place of my birth in Hornsey, London. The British isles are coming out of the war reaction in great shape, but 1,000,000 are still out of work and concentrated in London. During my stay in England I wrote a book and in Denmark and Germany I prepared copy for magazines."

HONEST TO GOODNESS

Be it known to the live ones in Glendale that we offer one of the greatest investments and business opportunities of the season.

Located on the corner of San Fernando and Eulalia Sts., where 28,000 Autos pass daily and, when the new Depot, only one and one-half blocks away is completed, many thousands more will travel by east and west. Lot is 60 ft. on San Fernando and 150 ft. on Eulalia, improved by a brick building 50x60, housing an auto repair shop and accessory business, the authorized agency for Ford parts and with an oil and gas station in connection, besides a dandy home facing on Eulalia Street.

The owner's health is not good, so he closes from 7:00 p. m. to 7:00 a. m., and Sundays. At that, his monthly turnover for the gas and accessory business alone is in excess of $2000 per mo.

This layout, if handled by a man equal to his opportunity will produce from $10,000 to $15,000 net per year, and pay a liberal salary.

Furthermore, the increased value in real estate would show a handsome profit soon. Price for the property now is $25,000. The stock of parts, gas and oil equipment can be bought at a fair figure.

$10,000 down will handle this. Rent it at a profit and cash in on the rising values. A Glendalian ought to buy this and not allow an outsider to step in and take the choice plums.

A Sort of Adventure

Today's Short Story, by Ad Schuster

Marilyn Mason bit the end of her pencil and gazed out of the window of her study into the garden. For all of the sunlight and flowers there was no inspiration to the writer. In college Marilyn had won honors in English and had been editor of the literary monthly. Now she was home and trying to embark upon a career which seemed somehow to be warped fast to the wharf.

"There is nothing to write about," said the girl of whom much had been expected, "and I know what is the matter. I need color and experience."

Marilyn thought of what her father would say if she asked to go away. Then she made her plans.

"When I am settled and am doing some real creative work," she said, "I will let him know where I am." The girl packed a few of her belongings, wrote a note telling father and mother not to worry, and disappeared. With enough money to last her all of two weeks, Marilyn went where most seekers for fame and color go, to Greenwich Village. With the same feelings which possess the screen struck girl who journeys to Hollywood expecting to see a community of motion picture stars peering the streets in costume and make-up, Marilyn invaded the precincts of Art. It would be wonderful to become acquainted with poets and painters, with the men and women who were doing things. Then, too, there would be adventure and excitement. She would find color here for a great novel.

The color of the room Marilyn rented was an uncertain salmon and the rent was higher than she had expected. Each day she looked for adventure, not daring to venture out for fear she would be recognized and returned to her home, and each day she tried to get started on her book. The men and women she met in the hall did not look at all famous. Some of them, she decided, were not even clean.

At the end of a week the girl's pride was all that kept her from returning to her home. She occupied her time by writing to make her experiment successful.

"There should be a handsome and struggling young writer in the same building," Marilyn was able to smile now at her old enthusiasms, "and he should swear to me each day that I was his inspiration. And there should be a girl who smokes a pipe and eats crusts of bread while she paints a wonderful picture. Maybe I rented a room in the wrong house."

Marilyn's money ran short. She was determined to finish a story that she might have something to show her father to justify her absence and, try as she could, the story was slow in the making. When it was finished she shoved it into the pocket of her coat, took the fifteen cents she had left and went to the street. She would get something to eat and then make her plans.

On the sidewalk Marilyn realized she was hungry and weak. Well, it wasn't defeat anyway. She had written something and she had seen the color of the Village. It was not what she had expected. Men and women passed laughing. They had found it, maybe. Marilyn felt dizzy and stopped, leaning against a pole. She heard someone speaking.

"I will take you there. Step in."

It was a man, a tall and handsome one, telling her to step into a taxicab. Better sit down than faint on the street. Taxicabs and strange men. It was like a story. The girl heard the door slam and felt the soft cushions. The cab started and the rush of air through the open window fanned her brow. She sat up in alarm.

"I don't know where I am," she said looking out of the window. "Nor who you are. You will have to let me out."

The young man looked straight ahead and said nothing.

"Please," said Marilyn, "won't you ask him to stop and let me out?"

"Do I look like a kidnapper? You are ill. Now keep quiet for a little while and everything will be all right. It will do no good to scream for the driver won't be able to hear you." And the young man closed the window.

Marilyn was frightened, yet in her fright she realized that here, at least, was her big adventure. This young man did not look like a villain, but one could never tell. Well, she would pretend to be ill and when he opened the door would spring out and run. She watched her companion out of the corner of her eye.

The cab came to a stop and Marilyn prepared for her part in the drama. Too quick for her the young man seized her by the arm and all but dragged her to the sidewalk.

"There," he said, "before you scream take a look at that house. Recognize it? If you won't walk in peacefully I'll carry you in."

Marilyn walked into the door of her father's home.

"How did you know who I was?" the question stopped the young man who had turned toward the street.

"Your picture was in the paper," he answered, "I thought you would put up a row. That's why we came on the side streets." He was seized with a daring idea.

"Don't you think it would make it easier for you to explain if you pretended you knew me and, say, let me call her?" He saw her indecision. "I'll bring perfect recommendations."

Through a crack in the door Marilyn answered, "It would be a sort of adventure!"

A CAPTIVATING FROCK

Tiers could not possibly become more popular than Paris approval has made them, so they decided to divide themselves into smaller parts so that there could be more of a very acceptable style. Captivating indeed is this frock of changeable radium silk with five frills on the skirt. A picot edge finishes the frills wherever used, also the sectional collar. A colorful motif of Egyptian inspiration lends distinction to the blouse. Medium size requires six and five-eighth yards of thirty-six-inch silk.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1695. Sizes, thirty-four to forty-four inches bust, and sixteen to twenty yards. Price 35 cents.

LOVELY IN NAVY TAFFETA

Leading the mode of the day, this simple frock prefers to express itself in the navy blue taffeta, though it also favors the darker shades of brown, gray and green. Skirt, sleeves and deep collar are scalloped at the lower edges and finished with bias folds of self-material. The skirt is divided at the front to show a foundation of navy taffeta. It used for a very formal frock, the underskirt could be of lace or fancy satin. Novelty ribbon forms the narrow girde and cockade. Medium size requires five and three-quarters yards of forty-inch taffeta.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1711. Sizes sixteen to twenty inches bust. Price 45 cents.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHEN THE QUARREL COMES

"What moments can we not all remember in our lives when it would have been so much wittier and wiser to say and do nothing."—Thackeray.

A woman I know has recently had a bitter quarrel with a woman with whom she had been intensely intimate friends for several years. By intensely intimate I mean a knot in the cord just above and just below each head.

With a Light Blue Dress: Wear an amber chain, for yellow or old gold is pretty against light blue. Iridescent beads resembling the opal also harmonize with pale blue. Often, however, just a simple chain of dead white or cream colored beads will look best.

With a Pink Dress: To my mind, the prettiest thing to wear with a pink dress is a pink chain. Pink is so delicate a color that its effectiveness is often spoiled by its combination with any more decided color. A cream-colored chain or dead-white chain, however, is appropriate.

With a Paisley or Egyptian Dress: Rust-colored chains look best with materials designed in such hodge-podge colors. The dress or blouse is in itself so bright that a bright chain is rather superfluous.

BEAUTY CHATS

TEN MINUTES AT BEDTIME

The busiest woman can spare herself ten minutes at the end of the day to improve her appearance. It's worth a great deal, time so invested. It's worth skipping some duty during the day, or even taking the ten minutes from sleep; that is, if you spend the time properly.

Here's one way of spending it. This suggestion is for the woman under thirty with a not too good complexion and not too thick hair: Two minutes holding hot wet cloths over the face; three minutes, massage with cleansing cream; one full minute, ice or astringent; two minutes, rubbing vigorously over the scalp; two, cleaning and polishing the nails and pushing back the skin around the edges. While you rub cream on the face, spread some around the nails. It's easy, takes no extra time and keeps the nails young and the cuticle neat looking.

For the woman over thirty, with wrinkles coming, the same treatment but with flesh building cream, two or three minutes' rub, even if you must sacrifice the scalp massage.

For coarse grained skins, pimples and blackheads: Two minutes, steaming; one, cleansing cream; three, ice rub or astringent. If you've blackheads, use the blackhead cleansing powder when you wash your face, in addition to the aforementioned treatment.

If the hair is thin, take time from the facial massage for a hard rub with a hair tonic. And, by the way, it takes no longer to rub cream into the neck when you rub over the face, and it's a sure way of having a clear white skinned throat.

Of course, this ten minutes doesn't include washing face or hands or brushing the teeth—in themselves valuable beauty treatments! This is only a suggestion of what the very busy woman can accomplish in time she can certainly spare.

Miss Loraine: Glossy hair is the result of good health. I would advise you not to use anything on the hair to make it shine; however if, as soon as you have shampooed the hair, you part it in various places and rub in a very little bit of olive oil along the partings, you will make the hair beautifully glossy. Use a very little bit of oil and get it in vigorously over the scalp; two, cleaning and polishing the nails and pushing back the skin around the edges. While you rub cream on the face, spread some around the nails. It's easy, takes no extra time and keeps the nails young and the cuticle neat looking.

Black Eyes: A girl of fifteen years, five feet, five inches, is about correct in weight at 115 pounds. Have your doctor remove the moles from the skin. Never touch moles yourself.

You can use cucumber juice as a bleach, and even rub it into the skin and let it remain over night. If you follow this up with a slight massage the next day, using a good cream. While this bleach is in no way an irritant, any bleach will neutralize the oil in the skin and leave it with a drawn sensation, unless the skin is supplied again with oil to relieve the condition.

Tomorrow—Inexpensive Powders.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

THE BEAD CHAIN YOU WEAR

studied the matter—who has not observed the gown-and-chain combinations most popularly used—I am giving the following suggestions:

With a Dark Blue Dress: If you wish to achieve a very conservative appearance, wear an all-jet (polished) bead chain with dark blue wool-crepe, serge, crepe de chine, georgette or figured voile; then, a lightening black chain against the dark blue is very striking. A bright red chain, however, will give a delightful contrast against dark blue. Chains made of dark blue beads shot with gold, green or other colors also look well with dark blue gowns.

With a Black Dress: An old-blue chain is particularly attractive with a black gown. This is especially true if the dress has a piping of old blue around cuffs and girde (or the entire girde might be made of old-blue satin ribbon). Jade green looks equally well against black. Black seld-wax beads streaked with gold, old blue and green are effective if strung on a thin black-silk cord; the beads being held in place by something I had promised my husband I would never tell anyone, or something that might break up a home if it leaked out or something that could be used to make me seem utterly ridiculous if it were handed on in the wrong spirit."

It is interesting to note that the man who won the title of the wisest man in the world had a great deal to say about the follies of too much talking. Perhaps he learned from experience with other people. Or perhaps from experience with himself. It is always interesting to speculate. Anyway, he has many forceful remarks to make on the subject. Here is one of the most pungent of them:

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

A Constant Reader: No, I'm not a fake, but neither am I a very good guesser, and your name has me puzzled. The material you wrote for me was sent once, I think, and returned evidently because it was wrongly addressed—which was because you didn't abide by the rules of our column, which specify that an envelope stamped and fully addressed to yourself must accompany each inquiry for material offered. I am still not sure of anything but the initial K of your name. If you will send the required self-addressed envelope you shall have the pamphlet. From what you tell me of your baby it would seem that she should surely be in the personal charge of a competent baby specialist. If your physician is not that, or you are not satisfied with the results he is obtaining with the baby, you should consult a specialist or ask him to call one in consultation. I would not dare to attempt a diagnosis or a prescription without seeing the child, of course, but you have my best wishes for her complete and rapid recovery.

Mrs. L.: Physicians do not advise a woman to continue to breast-feed unless they are so enlarged that they obstruct the breathing and are easily inflamed.

Miss K.: Yes, one can have something I had promised my husband I would never tell anyone, or something that might break up a home if it leaked out or something that could be used to make me seem utterly ridiculous if it were handed on in the wrong spirit."

Nevertheless, I think we should save ourselves and others a great deal of misery if we committed this fault more often than we do.

You'll win the fight against Constipation with Kellogg's Bran!

It is wonderful news for every constipation sufferer to know that Kellogg's Bran guarantees permanent relief if it is eaten regularly—because it is ALL BRAN! Two tablespoonfuls each day; as much with each meal in chronic cases—taken consistently will work health wonders, driving out toxic poisons, freeing affected organs and allowing nature to eliminate the waste in its own way!

Think what this means to health when you know that constipation is responsible for a large majority of the most dreaded human ailments; that, in milder form, it is responsible for sick headaches, biliousness, nausea, sour breath, pimples, etc.

Get a package of Kellogg's Bran to-day and fight against constipation and what it leads to! Free your family from its ravages; free yourself from its grip! Within a week you will be surprised at the improvement.

Kellogg's Bran is not only a permanent relief from constipation, but it is a health food, containing mineral salts as well as other vital food elements that are a necessity to human life.

Eat Kellogg's Bran as a cereal, or sprinkle it on or mix it with other hot or cold cereals because it is ready to eat. It is delicious cooked with hot cereals. And, you have missed much if you do not know the delights of bran muffins, bran raisin bread, bran griddle cakes, etc.

Leading hotels, clubs and restaurants serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran.

Business Men Are Ruining Germany, He Says; Make Slaves of Workers

(Continued from page 1) the Doctor enthusiastically added. "I believe they are doing right in the Ruhr. We spent two weeks visiting Paris, studying with friends whom I had met 20 years ago while studying on the Continent."

Going to Europe the Harrowers sailed on the Majestic. Returning they were aboard the Berengaria with two Swedish princes among the passengers. It is an old German liner. They enjoyed their trip very much, but are glad to be back home in Glendale.

The principal cities of the eastern United States also were visited on the return trip for a few days. Dr. Harrower expects to devote his time to writing principally, having given the general direction of his plant here to R. A. COMMENT That's All

Fire And Water Damage Conditions In Canada Crooked Governments Reign Of Criminality

By Gil A. Cowan

IRE and water feature the news of the last twenty-four hours. Floods in the Shoshone valley of the Yellowstone have played havoc, while a blaze at El Monte yesterday afternoon brought home the imminent danger of fire in this dry climate. Asheville, N. C., also suffered from fire yesterday.

No city can afford to go without the utmost in fire-fighting equipment. One conflagration does more damage in an hour's time than the investment in engines, ladders, hose and chemicals. There was a time yesterday when the right sort of apparatus would have stopped the fire in the El Monte store where it started and prevented the burning of a whole city block.

Perhaps there was delay in giving the alarm. Maybe water pressure was lacking. But more than likely it was a real need for men trained in fire fighting with sufficient chemical and hose to extinguish the flames.

Dr. Daniel D. Fox, eminent divine of Pasadena, told the Rotary club of that city yesterday something about conditions in Canada. One of the most impressive revelations regarding the economic situation existing there was the statement that "Los Angeles did more building in the month of January than all of the Dominion of Canada."

"The Canadian National railways," according to the Doctor, "are owned by the people and they have the privilege of paying their deficit. If they were owned by private capital there is no question but that they would be three times bankrupt."

Regarding the wheat crop, which is excellent this year in face of low prices, the majority of the farmers lost their all, the loan companies being unable to collect interest, much less principal, according to Dr. Fox. From this two or three lessons may be drawn:

First, we of Southern California are the most prosperous and happy people imaginable.

Second, government ownership of railroads is not a good thing.

Third, the extension of credit on crops is bound to reach a breaking point, either because of drought on high-priced land or overproduction in face of a glutted market.

"The present outlook in Europe is enough to induce despair in the stoutest hearts," former Premier David Lloyd George is quoted as saying.

From Dr. Henry R. Harrower, who has just returned from a six months' trip during which he visited England, France, Belgium, Germany, Sweden and Denmark, echoes a similar thought.

While he has the greatest sympathy for the German people, he attributes the tense economic situation to the government and business men. Dr. Cuno, head of the German cabinet, is a tool of Stinnes. And Stinnes keeps his money outside of Germany, building a great fortune at the expense of the poor people.

"France is absolutely right in holding the Ruhr as security when confronted by a crooked debtor, and the present German government is just that."

Dr. Harrower expressively predicts that Germany "has still a little more heat to go through." The other nations he visited are recuperating from the war's ravages, yet by no means are conditions satisfactorily settled.

Glendale is in the "throes" of a Dollar Day crush this afternoon. It is wonderful how printers' ink moves people to action. It is like the percussion cap in a charge of dynamite.

And from the literally "ruined" stocks of merchandise you will find by nightfall the stores will have enjoyed the most prosperous day of any summer season, one must opine.

The Pasadena Star-News says editorially:

"Volume of crime in Los Angeles county—particularly in the city of Los Angeles—is appalling. It is pointed out by experts, who are dealing with the suppression of crime in the big metropolis, that during the first five months of 1923 there were 5,500 burglaries in Los Angeles alone, as compared with 2,300 annually in Canada, with its population of 10,000,000!

"This discrepancy is startling enough. It denotes a reign of criminality which is a great menace to life and to property in this vicinage. Against this distressing condition the vigorous efforts of the law-abiding people of the county should be directed with firmness and persistency. The hands of the constituted authorities should be upheld in combating this prevalence of outbreaching offenses against law and order and public safety. Each and every good citizen should support the efforts put forth to thwart the operations of criminals."

BURBANK HUNDREDS VISIT EXPOSITION PARK

Burbank and San Fernando In Combined Program at Monroe Exhibit

Today is Burbank day at the Monroe Centennial Exposition, and is also San Fernando Valley day, a double event that has been looked forward to eagerly for almost a month by residents of the entire valley, from Burbank to San Fernando and from Van Nuys to Owensmouth, not omitting Lankershim and the other towns lying in that fertile and progressive stretch of country.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon hundreds of local residents gathered at the corner of San Fernando boulevard and Olive avenue and proceeded by motor to Exposition park, Los Angeles, where the big Historical and Motion Picture Exposition is being held.

There a program will be presented, from 4 until 6 o'clock, during which Miss Geraldine Kemp of Lankershim, queen of the exposition, will be present. All arrangements have been made by the Associated Chamber of Commerce.

Hundreds of Cars Parked

A total of 395 cars were parked in the Burbank business section between 7 and 8 o'clock last Saturday night, reports Secretary Colburn of the Chamber of Commerce, who made the count in person.

"This count includes only those autos actually parked," says Mr. Colburn, "and not the thousands passing to and fro on the boulevards and side streets and avenues. Taking an average of four persons to a machine, this would give a conservative total of 1,500 people in the shopping district during those hours, in addition to the thousands without cars."

"The count showed parked autos on the north and south avenues from First to Third streets: Palm, 9; Orange Grove, 36; Olive, 78; Angeleno, 43; Tujunga, 7; Verdugo, 3. On San Fernando boulevard the count showed: Between Palm and Orange Grove, 51; between Orange Grove and Olive, 62; between Olive and Angeleno, 49; between Angeleno and Tujunga, 41; and between Tujunga and Verdugo, 15."

"This shows that parking space in Burbank is certainly at a premium in the business section on a Saturday night, and that, while a good many people undoubtedly go to Los Angeles, many indeed remain here and spend their money for the good of this city."

EAGLE ROCK ANNUAL HARVEST HOME DATES SET

P.-T. A. to Raise Funds for School Cafeteria Fund With Festival

It has been decided by the Eagle Rock Parent-Teachers Association to hold the Second Annual Harvest Home festival on Friday and Saturday, October 19 and 20, the proceeds to go into the cafeteria fund.

Under the Los Angeles ruling, the Parent-Teachers Association may hold but two pay affairs a year, consequently this festival will be one of these two affairs, states Mrs. Parker, who reports the handling during the past year of over $1,300 from the sale of sandwiches, soups, salads and hot dishes.

The foods last year, she states, were in many instances sold below cost, because of the high percentage of under-nourished children in the school. "We reduced this percentage materially," Mrs. Keon says, "and we are going to continue the good work in the coming year. But, by reason of this determination to reduce the percentage of under-nourishment, we find ourselves faced with a deficit, and that is why we are so eager to receive contributions."

Mrs. G. E. Arbogast is in charge of a membership drive to be conducted early in the fall, with a view to securing 50 cents from every man and woman in the valley, for this worthy cause.

"Particularly, the Parent-Teacher Association would like to provide suitable places for the children to eat their lunches," says Mrs. Arbogast. "A visit to the Eagle Rock school, formerly the Central school, will convince anyone of the necessity for some remedy for the present situation. And don't forget memberships in this association. Every mother and father, grandmother and grandfather, aunt and uncle, cousin and friend of the Parent-Teachers Association should get behind us and be with us."

Local Notes

M. W. Hoyt, who for several months has been superintendent of the Realty Board and being distributed at the city's official booth at the Monroe Centennial Exposition is making a big hit. "Burbank, the Pulse of the San Fernando Valley," is the descriptive title.

Copies to the extent of 20,000 have been printed and will be distributed in a vigorous manner that should serve to bring a great many inquiries as to the possibilities of locating here, it is felt.

Indian City Jarred By Meteorite's Crash

QUETTA, India, July 26.—The population here was startled recently when a large meteorite crashed into a great pile of straw with a roar like an express train.

The meteorite fell at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. A heavy thunderstorm was in progress at the time and one house near which the celestial visitor fetched up was razed by a lightning bolt.

Many layers of thickly-packed straw were penetrated by the meteorite, which traveled at tremendous speed. It struck at an angle of forty-five degrees and came from a westerly direction.

To a lay observer the substance of the meteorite appears to include three classes of material. First there is a dull, slate-grey igneous rock, fairly heavy and marked with spots and veins of dark turquoise blue; second a quantity of jet-black, highly-glazed slag, resembling volcanic lava, with numerous air pockets and turquoise veins, and third, a material resembling grey coke in appearance and weight.

Child Killed Playing On Merry-Go-Round

SEATTLE, July 26.—While playing on a home-made merry-go-round near his home, George Short, aged 5, was instantly killed yesterday when a flying plank struck him on the head.

Building A Great Bigger Los Angeles Industry

To meet the growing demand for its products, The IMPERIAL COTTON MILLS COMPANY of Los Angeles must double its present capacity.

The tremendous and immediate success of the first 20,000 spindle unit has proven Los Angeles to be the logical textile milling center of the West.

The Pacific Coast annually consumes over 150,000,000 yards of cotton cloths which are largely supplied from Eastern mills at high transportation cost. To serve this established market IMPERIAL COTTON MILLS COMPANY is manufacturing, from Imperial and Salt River Valley cotton, staple cloths which defy competition both in quality and price.

The mill's entire output of 14,000,000 yards per annum is entirely sold in advance. Over 500 persons are employed operating 20,000 spindles with nearly 600 looms. Yet present machinery and equipment can produce but a small percentage of the goods required in this immediate territory.

In order to provide for the new buildings, new equipment and necessary working capital to double mill production, the Company is now offering a limited portion of its

8% Cumulative Preferred Stock

Price $100 per share. Fully Paid and Non-assessable. Participating up to 12% with the Common Stock. Convertible into Common Stock at $125.

On the basis of present earnings, annual net profits from doubled production are estimated at more than 2½ times the amount necessary for annual cash dividends of 12% on all outstanding Preferred and Common Stock.

Every Southern California Investor Will want to share in the large and dependable profits of this great local industry. Over $500,000 of Preferred Stock has been sold during the last five days. $300,000 Fire Ravages North Carolina City

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 26.—Fire of undetermined origin, which swept through this city for more than two hours, destroying the Emporium building with its contents, valued at $300,000, and resulting in serious injuries to three persons, was brought under control late yesterday after threatening the entire city.

Two women, reported missing while the blaze was raging, were found.
