FACES DEATH PHONING TO POLICE AS 2 BANDITS THREATEN

G. C. Harris, Proprietor of Acacia Pharmacy, Shoots At Fleeing Pair

Two unmasked bandits—one covering their victim with a gun while the other rifled the cash register—held up and robbed G. C. Harris, proprietor of the Acacia Pharmacy, at the corner of Acacia street and Glendale avenue, at 9:45 o'clock last night. Mr. Harris was alone in his store at the time, and the robbers, after obtaining $162 in cash, jumped into a car and drove away at a high rate of speed, followed by a volley from the druggist's revolver.

This is the third time within a year that Mr. Harris has been visited by holdup men or burglars. Ten months ago he was held up outside his place of business, but managed to scare the bandits away. Three months ago thieves broke into his store and stole considerable money, with the entire stock of whiskey and narcotics.

Turns to Face Gun Mr. Harris was standing in the front of his store last night when two men drove up, left their machine, and entering the pharmacy, asked for a package of pills. On facing his customers again he was confronted with a gun and commanded to stand still and not shout.

The bandit kept his gun below the counter so it could not be seen from the street. The second bandit proceeded to scoop up all the money in the cash register, the drawer of which was standing open at the time.

In a statement this morning Mr. Harris said there were but two bullets in his revolver which was in a drawer on the other side of the bandit, and he considered it would be folly to try and reach that. He started backing away to the rear of the store (Continued on Page 8)

TROTSKY FAVORS HUGE RED FORCE

Communist Envoys Patch Up Quarrel With Stricken Soviet Leader

MOSCOW, Feb. 22.—Leon Trotsky, commissioner for war in the soviet government, who is in Southern Russia, suffering from tuberculosis of the bronchial tubes, showed improvement today. It is reported that delegates from the central committee of the communist party visited Trotsky, patching up the differences existing between him and the committee.

Trotsky has sent a message to the red army insisting that the alliance between the peasants and workers must be maintained and that Russia must have a powerful military establishment.

Ttack Trotsky's Home LONDON, Feb. 22.—A band of armed men attacked Leon Trotsky's villa at Sukumaleh, killing three members of Trotsky's staff, according to a Constantinople dispatch to the Morning Post today, quoting a report received in Constantinople from Odessa.

Trotsky was absent at the time of the attack. The despatch added that the Tcheka (soviet secret police), carried out reprisals for the attack.

People Entitled To Have Facts About Paving

There are many rumors in circulation concerning the paving work being done on Glendale avenue. Some days ago interested citizens called at The Glendale Evening News and urged that "something" be done to determine whether paving specifications were being followed. This newspaper took up the matter with the proper authorities, and was assured that the interests of the people were being protected.

Yet rumors continue to be circulated regarding the character of the work. A local organization has selected a committee to make an investigation and report.

As The Glendale Evening News looks at the matter, it is a question of whether the specifications are being followed or whether they are not. That should be easy to ascertain.

And right now, while the work is being done, is the time for action—not after the work is completed and it is too late to correct faults, if there be any.

The Glendale Evening News stands for honest work and honest material. This newspaper does not know whether the specifications are being followed on Glendale avenue. This newspaper does know, however, there is a lot of "talk" and, it follows, the city officials should see to it whether this is "idle talk" or is based upon something that calls for correction. And, as already stated, THE TIME FOR ACTION IS RIGHT NOW!

Complaints come from the people who have to pay for the paving. They are, certainly, entitled to a hearing. And if everything is proceeding honestly, fairly and according to specifications, LET'S HAVE IT ACKNOWLEDGED!

Egyptians FEAR FUSS OVER TOMB

Guard Against Any Untoward Incidents at Opening Of Tut's Grave

LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 22.—Special precautions were taken by the Egyptian authorities to avoid untoward incidents when the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen is reopened by the government this afternoon.

Howard Carter, who has had charge of the exploration of the tomb, was invited to be present, but it was regarded unlikely he would attend.

Carter refused to turn over the keys to Director-General Lacau of the Egyptian department of antiquities, compelling the officials to have duplicates made.

Carter Files Suits Two claims have been filed by Carter in the mixed court. He seeks to have himself appointed trustee for the tomb and to secure the right of further exploration without interference by the government.

Despite the litigation, the government went ahead with its plans to open the tomb and establish it as a semi-museum for the benefit of tourists.

Carter's application to have himself appointed trustee for the tomb will come up tomorrow before Pierre Grabies, an American judge in the mixed court.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—All local markets were closed today on account of Washington's birthday.

PAVING WORK RESULTS IN DIFFERENT OPINIONS

City Officials and Property Owners Clash In View Of Glendale Avenue

Opinions regarding the quality of the workmanship and material entering into the paving now being done on Glendale avenue, vary widely. At the city hall officials claim that the work is being done according to the specifications and a thorough system of inspection is being maintained.

Certain individual property holders, directly affected, and whose holdings will be assessed for the improvements, have grave doubts, according to their statements, as to the wearing qualities of the material used and the finish being put on by the paving contractors.

There has been so much talk regarding this work that it culminated yesterday in the appointment by the Glendale Advancement association of a committee to make an impartial survey of the work for the purpose of making a full report on the project in general.

Contract Sub-let The original contract for the work on Glendale avenue was awarded to Peter L. Ferry, local contractor. He, in turn, sub-let the contract for the paving to the National Paving company, holding a patent on a formula for the mixing of asphalt.

Objections of the property holders are based mainly on the work between the rails over which the Glendale-Montrose railway operates its cars, the unevenness of the street when finished and the quality of the asphaltic mixture, which they claim is not of first-class quality.

When the Union Pacific, owning the road over which the street cars run, laid the new rails recently, no guard rails were placed on the inside of the heavy rails, and it is therefore impossible now to make a level finish to the height of the rails, owing to the necessity of leaving a groove for the flanges of the street car wheels.

Claim Inspection The inside of the track has been leveled off with ironers and (Continued on Page 7)

VETERAN OF SKY TRIPS STOPPED BY COLD

Lieut. Macready Reaches 34,983 Feet and Nears French Aviator

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 22.—Hoppe, flying his Le Pere plane, had today broken the world's altitude flight record established by Sadi Lecointe, French aviator, in October, 1923, were dashed this afternoon when official observers calibrated his records and announced their findings that he had reached an altitude of 34,983 feet.

While the records will be officially checked at the bureau of standards, Washington, it was feared that earlier hopes that the daring flyer had brought the altitude record back to the United States were unfounded. Lecointe's official altitude was 36,745 feet.

Thermometer Breaks Macready's cheeks and lips were frozen from the cold—sixty to sixty-five degrees below zero at the peak of his flight.

He does not know how cold it really was away up where he went for his thermometer went to smash with the mercury standing between the figures stated.

This was Macready's second attempt to "bring home the bacon." The first one ended much as did the attempt today.

Mechanical defects developing at high altitude could not be overcome in either flight and he was forced to descend, when everything was ideal for smashing a record and setting up a new mark so great that it would have been beyond question.

Veteran Record Maker Hops Off On New Attempt

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 22.—Lieutenant John A. Macready, veteran of previous record-making flights, started upward in a Le Pere plane this morning at 9:27 Central time, to set a record altitude mark. Few spectators were present, as it was not known until 7 a. m. that Macready expected to celebrate Washington's birthday in this manner. Lieutenant Macready's machine passed (Continued on Page 7)

AGREE UPON CHANGES IN TAX MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—A gift tax and increased inheritance taxes were decided on today by the Republican members of the House ways and means committee. This legislation was a part of the tax revision program of the insurgents and has been pushed vigorously by Representative Frear, Republican, of Wisconsin. An amendment by Representative Blanton, Democrat, of Texas, to prohibit employees of the bureau of internal revenue from engaging in private legal practice in the treasury department for at least two years after they leave the government service was ruled out on a point of order. By a vote of 158 to 80, the House rejected an amendment to open income tax returns to the public. The proposal was made by Representative Frear.

WASHINGTON LETTER ON DISPLAY

Original Communication by First President Shown In Window Here

A letter in the original handwriting of George Washington is on exhibit today in the window of the Busy Corners pharmacy, South Brand boulevard and Los Feliz road, through the courtesy of W. A. Stillwell, a real estate broker of that address.

The letter, written in the small, careful hand that characterized the first president of the United States, covers two pages of foolscap. It came into possession of the Stillwell family during the Civil War, when Mr. Stillwell's uncle, Chesley Ray, serving with Indiana troops in Virginia, captured an old Southern mansion. The letter was among the trophies of war that were seized by the Union troops.

In Frame of Gold Chesley Ray sent the letter to Mr. Stillwell's mother in Minneapolis and she treasured it during her lifetime. When she died, some fifteen years ago, she willed it to her son, who has had it put into a frame of gold and accounts it one of his most precious belongings.

The person to whom the letter was written does not appear. It is given below, word for word: "Mount Vernon, October 15, 1789.

"Dear Sir,—By a late letter I received from M. Stuart I find that you have made a conditional engagement with an Overseer for me. Not having heard from you as soon as I expected caused me to conclude that you had not met with such an Overseer as you approved. I had, therefore, declined sending my Negroes up, thinking it too late to settle them in the woods, and proposed housing them—but as I find by M. Stuart's letter (Continued on Page 4)

Crash of Airship Thrills Youngsters In Steamer Chase

HONOLULU, Feb. 22.—"Gee, dad, it was great!" 13-year-old Bobby Osburn, son of an army officer, exclaimed when he was deposited here after a mad airplane dash from Hilo, just in time to take the transport Cambrai with his parents for San Francisco.

Bobby went to visit the volcano and the vessel left Hilo without his absence being noted. Wireless was used and a plane sent from here to bring him back. The plane was forced to land in a plowed field in the darkness and crashed today on the take-off. He was transferred to another plane, however, and arrived here, with only a skinned nose and a bumped head as evidence of the accident.

BRITISH STRIKE STILL UNSETTLED

Acute Food Shortage Looms If Agreement Is Not Reached Tomorrow

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Despite the agreement reached Wednesday, the British dock strike still dragged on today. Representatives of the dock workers met again in an attempt to reach a settlement satisfactory to all factions. The conference proved futile and was adjourned until Monday.

Demand Advance Now London leaders favor acceptance, instead of taking half now Wednesday, but the provincial strikers are opposed. They are demanding the full wage increase at once, instead of taking half now and the balance in three months.

Unless the strike is settled completely by tomorrow the week-end food shortage is expected to prove acute. Strikers held up sixteen torries carrying Indian and Australian mails to the docks. American mails were distributed as usual.

Get Out of Police Traps As Armed Squads Seek To Make Arrests

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—Wary of police traps and desperately in need of money and food, Oscar Perry and Jack Johnson, identified as members of the bandit gang which Wednesday murdered Police-man Glenn Bond and wounded two others in an attempted bank robbery at Seventh and Hoover streets, were kept on the run by detectives today.

New clues obtained by the police put detectives and shotgun squads close on the trail of the bandits and their apprehension was expected at any hour. So far it is believed the bandits have not fled from the city.

Perry and Johnson have avoided five separate squads of officers "staked out" at points where the men are expected to get assistance and still stay in hiding. Complete descriptions of the pair have been sent throughout Southern California and extra guards established at the border to cut off their possible flight into Mexico.

SENATE VISIT BY CABINET OFFICER IS CAUSE OF SURPRISE

Attorney-General Says He Will Not Resign; Plans Fight to Very End

BULLETIN WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The proposed Senate investigation of Attorney General Daugherty moved another step forward today. The Senate committee on contingent expenses endorsed the Wheeler resolution authorizing an investigation of the department of justice. The committee, which controls all Senate expenditures, will report its action to the Senate tomorrow.

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON For International News Service WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—"I've been through many wars and I have lost some fights. But I have never quit yet, and I don't intend to quit now."

This statement was made to International News Service today by Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty as he sat in the Senate itself, calmly surveying the battle ground where an effort is being made to oust him from the cabinet.

The attorney general paid a surprise visit to the Senate and there was a noticeable stir in the galleries and on the floor when he quietly entered and took a seat in the rear to listen to the reading of Washington's farewell address by his chief defender in the Senate—Willis, of Ohio.

Causes Commotion The attorney general's visit to the Senate was not connected with the fight being waged there to compel his retirement. But his appearance, despite the unexpected move, caused little commotion. The reading of this address is an annual event in the Senate and an honor sought among senators. Daugherty said he had promised Willis a long time ago to be present.

"I promised Senator Willis I would be here," said the attorney general, "and I always keep my word. Even if there is a political war against me, that is no reason we should forget the little pleasures and amenities of life.

"I've been through many wars, and I have lost some fights. But I've never quit yet and I don't intend to quit now."

Then he said with a smile: "It's a great life if you don't weaken. I'm not weakening." The attorney general declined (Continued on Page 7)

COOLIDGE GAINS ISLAND SUPPORT

Wood Administration Given Warm Endorsement In G. O. P. Convention

MANILA, Feb. 22.—President Coolidge today stands endorsed by the Republican insular convention for the presidential nomination, following the meeting here of that body which unreservedly approved the Wood administration and chose Superior Court Justice Charles A. St. John and J. P. Moore as delegates to the Republican national convention.

Resolutions were passed condemning the "gross failure" of the Philippine legislature to act upon Governor-General Wood's recommendations, and urged that congress act to assert the sovereignty of the United States to the islands.

"General Wood stopped the flood of the people's money in the Philippine National bank into the hands of political friends, whereby millions were irretrievably lost," the resolution stated.

Talks On Japan

Glendallians were afforded an unusual treat yesterday, when Miss Frances Clapp, music teacher in Doshisha, Kobe, Japan, gave a talk at the First Congregational church, relating a number of her interesting experiences during her work with the Japanese the past five years. Miss Clapp, who is a representative of the D. W. B. M., has taught music for five years in Doshisha.

In relating her experiences with the Japanese people, she stated her life with them had been one of unlimited pleasure. She stated some of the Japanese women who were among her dearest friends were not only brilliant and highly educated women, but talented musicians. She stated 98 per cent of the Japanese women under the age of 30 years could read and write, and were not illiterate, as many Americans think. There are 3500 boys and girls in school of university standing. They have separate schools for the boys and girls. The first five years are called the preliminary course; next five years, college, and the last four years, the university course. Students who have completed the fourteen years of study are qualified physicians and dentists and other professions, according to the course of study taken up. She said many of the American physicians in Japan preferred to go to Japanese physicians and dentists, as they seemed more skillful than other nationalities.

Miss Clapp stressed the particular need of teachers of English and music in the Japanese schools, stating that sometimes they were greatly handicapped on account of the lack of capable teachers for these subjects, and particularly for men teachers. The Japanese people are naturally artistic and musical, and if this tendency could be further developed, it would be of unlimited value to Japan. Relative to the home life of the Japanese, Miss Clapp told of how the people were beginning to realize the value of a home, and were making it not just a place to sleep in, but a center for their social life. On account of this change in their domestic life, the once popular tea room is now a thing of the past, is not any more the center of social activity, and that the home was taking its place. In addition to Miss Clapp's talk, a splendid monologue demonstration of a factory girl in Japan was given by Miss Mithel. This was not only interesting, but very instructive.

A musical program was also given by the members of the Friendship class. Preceding the program a delicious luncheon was served at 12:30 o'clock to more than fifty Glendale women.

Mrs. Jack Lundregan of 308 East Maple avenue entertained yesterday with a prettily-appointed luncheon, honoring Mrs. Mary Doty of Los Angeles, the occasion being the eighty-seventh birthday anniversary of Mrs. Doty, and the fifty-seventh of Mrs. Lundregan. For many years they have followed the custom of spending the day of February 21, together, with a circle of friends and relatives.

Spring flowers decorated the room and the table was centered with a birthday cake with red candles. A motif, suggestive of Washington's birthday, was carried out in the appointments and favors. A delicious course luncheon was served. The guests were Mrs. Mary Doty of Los Angeles; Mrs. Josephine Purpus of Hollywood; Mrs. Charles Fritz, Miss Louise Fritz and Jean Bradley of Alhambra; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Garretson of Long Beach; Mrs. Giovanni Gal of Santa Monica; Mrs. Rose Lindsay and Mrs. J. W. Sharpe of Glendale.

Mrs. Lundregan was assisted by Mrs. Fritz and Mrs. Garretson. Mrs. Doty, the guest of honor, a remarkably well-preserved person for one of her years, has made her home in California for seventeen years, coming here from St. Marys, Ohio, where she spent sixty years of her life. St. Marys, historic in many respects, was founded in 1823. Mrs. Doty, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Tim Spellacy, enjoyed a most delightful trip back to her former home during the past summer, where she was one of the guests of honor at the centennial held in celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the city, and she had the happiness of meeting many old-time friends who had returned for this occasion. She makes her home with Mrs. Tim Spellacy in Los Angeles, who was unable to be present yesterday owing to the illness of her granddaughter. The hostess was also at one time a former resident of St. Marys.

Italians Offer Prize For Better Helicopter

ROME, Feb. 22.—The Commission of Aeronautics announces a helicopter competition, open to Italian constructors, by which it is hoped some progress will be achieved in helicopter design. Constructors must produce a machine of a total weight of 1,000 kilos, with an engine of 220 c. c. power. The minimum rising speed achieved must be six metres per second and the minimum horizontal speed forty kilometres per hour. The machine must cover a course of two kilometres, remain at a height of at least five metres and descend, with engine stopped, at a speed of ten metres per second. Two hundred and fifty thousand lire will be paid to the successful competitor.

TRANS-OCEANIC RADIO FORECAST

New York and London Soon Will Be Casually Telephoning

LONDON, Feb. 22.—New York and London will be telephoning to one another perfectly naturally and unexcitedly by the end of 1924, according to Prof. A. M. Low, famous inventor and scientist.

London was excited on December 29, 1923, because it heard Pittsburgh, 3500 miles away, easily and distinctly. But Prof. Low states this was only a slight development. According to him, it is just a step in the great and fascinating new era now approaching.

"Very soon," says Low, "we shall be at the stage when it will be possible for a man in London to speak with ease from his own house to the United States through an ordinary telephone."

Land Lines to Aid
 "The land line will take his voice to the coastal station, from which it will be radiated across the Atlantic. Then it will be picked up again by an American land line and be heard direct by the person with whom he is communicating."

"By the end of 1924 we all shall have become tired of ordinary tunes and speeches, and the development of telephonic conversation is an obvious one."

"One is aware, of course, that a great deal of trouble is caused by atmospheric disturbances and other unfavorable conditions, but these will be overcome."

"I think you will find in the near future that disturbances are going to be avoided by the use of directional wireless. If you can send your power to any particular direction and limit it to that direction, the advantage is obvious."

Diminish Interference
 "The use of 100 meters wavelength between America and Britain was very interesting, and one reason of its success was that very few users tune down so low and thus interference was diminished to the vanishing point."

"It is only a question of time before London gets music from all quarters of the globe. It is now only a question of successful relaying."

ICE MAN ARDENT OPERA SCHOLAR

Musician's Heart Swells in Bosom of Jerseyite Who Drives Truck

By JACK CARBERRY
 For International News Service
 NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—"Ice!" Tom McDermott cries this by day.

By night—the other night, at least—Tom McDermott stood behind the footlights at the Metropolitan opera house, dreamland of every opera lover, and spoke. It was the proudest hour of Tom McDermott's life.

For twenty-seven years now Tom McDermott, Jersey City, ice-man, has held his seat in the front row of the Metropolitan gallery of every performance. He has never missed.

For the same span the other half of him—the ice-man—has ridden on the seat of his Jersey ice truck, crying his ware to housewives—"Ice!"

The occasion of Tom McDermott's trip behind the footlights was a tribute paid Antonio Scotti at the "Scotti celebration." The Jersey City ice-man represented the gallery gods.

Gets Gallery Seat
 McDermott's whole life centers about the Metropolitan. Each afternoon he finished his work, returns to his home, greets Mrs. McDermott and the five little McDermotts, and then he "washes up."

At 6:45 each night he can be found aboard the ferry heading for the Metropolitan.

In his gallery seat—woe it is to anyone who makes even the slightest noise. He loves quiet. As he listens his eyes close—not in a nap, which you might suspect of the ice-man, but in dream of the music lover.

"I go to the opera six nights a week and to the concert on Sunday," McDermott explains between acts.

In his quarter century as a gallery god ice-man McDermott has come to know Farrar, Homer, Semblich, Borl, Jeritza, Martinielli. He was a friend of Caruso. "I have no favorite—I love them all," McDermott explains.

Later McDermott will confess that Caruso first, then Farrar and Scotti have won his heart to a greater degree than all the others. Farrar, he believes, is best in "Carmen."

There is pathos behind McDermott's story.

"I had a good baritone voice, and I wanted to have it trained when I was a youngster. But circumstances—"

There was a pause. "Well, in our family we've been ice harvesters for over fifty years. Cut it out of the lakes in winter and sell it wholesale. My father couldn't see his son sent off somewhere, singing up and down the scales when there was so much work to be done. Then, too, we didn't have the money to spare. It wouldn't work. So I've had to get my music hearing others sing. But my children—they'll have a chance if they want it—every one of them. I'll make any sacrifice for that."

TAX COMPROMISE SOUGHT BY G. O. P.

Leaders Hold Olive Branch To House Insurgents On Income Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Regular Republican leaders were bargaining today with insurgents on tax legislation with a new compromise offer consisting of two and six per cent normal taxes and 37 1/2 per cent maximum surtax on the income taxes.

The insurgents presented some few days ago as a basis for compromise two and four per cent normal taxes and 40 per cent maximum surtax. When this was rejected by the regular Republicans, the insurgents defeated the Mellon bill and helped the Democrats write into the tax bill the Democratic plan of two and four per cent normal and 44 per cent maximum surtaxes.

Changes Offered
 The new compromise offer reduces by one per cent the Mellon rate of three per cent on taxable incomes up to $4,000 and increases by 12 1/2 per cent the Mellon maximum surtax of 25 per cent on incomes of $100,000 and over. The six per cent normal is retained on incomes from $4,000 to $10,000 when the surtax of one per cent starts.

Republican Leader Longworth said the cut of the lowest normal from three to two per cent would reduce receipts about $20,000,000 and that it would not be safe from the standpoint of the treasury to reduce the six per cent normal to four per cent. He insisted that the Democratic normals of two and four per cent with other tax slashes would result in a treasury deficit of $300,000,000.

Need Insurgent Aid
 The compromise proposed to win insurgent support carried with it no sacrifice in the principle of the Mellon bill, Longworth said. There were seventeen insurgent Republicans, one farmer-laborite and one independent who swung to the Democratic plan in preference to the Mellon plan. Republican leaders hope by their new compromise proposal to win nine or ten of these back to the Mellon plan and so put through a Republican tax reduction bill.

FILM STARS AT MASS MEETING

Local Legion Urges Public To Be Present

VIRGINIA PEARSON, moving picture star, who will head a group of Hollywood folk at the mass meeting tomorrow afternoon at the Harvard High school, the gathering being under the auspices of Glendale Post, American Legion. The Hollywood group will give a number of features on the program.

The four provisions of the adjusted compensation bill, the American Legion's measure for the relief of needy ex-service men, will be fully explained to those attending the mass meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Harvard High school grounds under the auspices of the local Legion post.

The entertainment features of the program will be well taken care of by a group of Hollywood film folk, headed by Virginia Pearson, noted star, who will be accompanied by her husband-director, Sheldon Lewis; Danny Higgins, famous Irish tenor; Marie and Mary MacFarland, singers, and other members of her company.

Prominent Star
 Miss Pearson, who is a star of the first magnitude, has appeared in important roles for William Fox, Vitagraph, Famous Players and Selznick. Her most important screen success was probably "A Prince of a King." Prior to entering the motion picture field she originated the vampire role in "A Fool There Was," playing opposite Robert Hilliard in the original New York company.

During the war she worked as a Red Cross nurse in Memphis and Boston hospitals and made an extended tour of France at her own expense in order to assist in entertaining the "American dough-boy." Her brother served two and one-half years in the Marine Corps, being wounded at the Argonne. She will be the house guest of Governor Richardson the last of this month, and at the request of the Legion officials is going to try an "sell" the Legion to the governor, especially the bill for which the Legion is fighting.

Main Speakers
 The two main speakers will be Col. LeRoy Smith, head of the Veterans' Bureau of the American Legion, and D. C. Kemp of 1951 South San Fernando road, commander of Post No. 8, American Legion, Los Angeles. At the mass meeting held in Pershing Square last Saturday Col. Smith enlightened the crowd as to the provisions of the bill, which he said was not a "bonus bill," as the most any veteran could possibly receive in cash was $60.

The speech which Mr. Kemp recently broadcasted over a Los Angeles radio station was printed in full in last Tuesday's Evening News. He will treat on different phases of the problem tomorrow.

Local Men to Talk
 The local point of view will be handled by Attorney Dwight W. Stephenson, a member of the Legion and one of the hardest workers in the city for the ex-service men. The other speaker will probably be Mattison B. Jones if he arrives home from Chicago in time.

L. D. Fish, D. L. Todd and F. C. Butler, the committee in charge, are endeavoring this afternoon to make arrangements for the appearance of a band to round out the program.

Fourteen Killed In Uprising In India

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—The Canadian destroyer Patricia and its officers were welcomed here today by Gerald Campbell, British consul, and city officials. The Patricia will remain here until February 27 before returning to her base at Vancouver, British Columbia.

Original Letter by Washington Displayed

 ter that he has not procured a tenant for that part of my Land now occupied by Short, I have as the land is in order for Cropping, determined to settle it. Shall, therefore, very Gladly employ the person you have conditionally engaged for me from a full persuasion that you would satisfy yourself of his Capacity, industry, integrity and every other requisite for the Occupation. M. Cockrill, whom M. Stuart says is the name of the person, is known to M. Packett, the Gentleman who lives here, and very well spoke of. M. Stuart says his terms are one-fifth of every species of Crops, I finding him five good hands and a boy, plows, horses, farming utensils and provisions. I suppose he means provisions for my people—400 pounds of pork and five barrels of Corn for his family's use.

"This proportion of Crop arose, I do imagine, from his expectation of my settling a plantation in the woods, for which reason a great Crop could not be expected for the first year or two, but my settling a place which is so open and in time for a Crop may be put in good order alters the Case very materially, and I am told it is more than Customary to give, and that if I furnish the above-mentioned not to allow more than a seven, hands with two plows that I ought which I am willing to give, as it does not do for the first outset of a man's service to be giving unusual wages.

"If from experience I find the person I employ properly attached to my Interest and using the necessary exertions to promote it, I shall ever be disposed to make ample compensation, wishing no person's services in that way without an equivalent.

"You will greatly Oblige me by letting me know the result of his determination as soon as possible as it is now getting late and it is of consequence to me. Col. Ball will be a good Conveyance, who we are expecting here. I could wish the man to come down to me immediately that he may see the Negroes and that we may clearly understand each other as it is my wish and determination to endeavour in every instance to do justice and to avoid Altercations. If the expense of coming down should be any Objection to him I will defray his reasonable expenses. I would not willingly lose him as he is well spoke of. For the trouble you have taken in this business I beg you to accept my sincerest thanks and be assured

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
 For International News Service
 LONDON, Feb. 22.—Miss Dorothy Jewson, one of the eight women members of Parliament, has announced she will attempt to have the electoral law changed to make the voting age of women 21 instead of 30, as it is at present.

Although the British Parliament has more women members than any other national legislative body, the law will require a great deal of altering before absolute political equality of the sexes is achieved, Miss Jewson declares.

Under the present law a woman must be 30 years old before she can exercise the voting franchise, whereas a man may vote at 21. Miss Jewson declared the law unfair, showing discrimination in favor of the males.

Women Pathetic
 "During the whole of the last campaign," Miss Jewson said, there was nothing more pathetic than the attitude of the young women. When canvassers called at their homes they often came to the door with little ones clinging to their skirts. "Why is it," they asked, "that I have no vote?" They are old enough to bring children into the world and to be responsible for them, and their query is an unanswerable one.

"Although the woman of 21 is as capable of voting as a man of that age, some 5,000,000 women between the ages of 21 and 30 are disfranchised. Among them are not only voting mothers, but women earning their living in factories and offices and bound to obey the laws in which they have no say.

No Equality
 "Again, there is no equality in the present franchise law for men and women over 30. Men can qualify after six months' residence, but women must be the occupiers of the premises in which they reside or the wives of such occupiers. Thus large bodies of working women, including those who occupy furnished rooms, nurses, domestic and hotel servants, governesses and others are altogether disfranchised. At least 1,500,000 women over 30 are deprived of the vote in this way.

"Economy makes happy homes and sound nations. Instill it deep."

THIS advice, given a century and a half ago by George Washington, commander-in-chief in our war for independence, stands for all times and all nations.

The accumulation of money brings not only good to the saver himself, but also aids the general public welfare. In banking his money he improves his own condition and makes a material contribution to the progress of his community.

You, reader, are the commander-in-chief in your personal war for independence. The general who will win, commands, "Save!" Victory results from systematically and regularly obeying that order.

THEY WON'T RESIGN

Attorney-General Declares He Is Fighter and Will Remain In 'Scrap'

"Will you reply to Senator Wheeler's charges that you bought Sinclair oil stock?" he was asked.

"Yes, at the proper time, and under oath," he replied. "But not now. Right now, I wouldn't even admit that I worked in a grocery thirty-five years ago."

Daugherty was the cynosure of all eyes throughout his presence on the floor of the Senate. A number of Republican senators strolled over to shake hands and chat a moment.

Would Not Compel After a conference Walsh announced that a subpoena would be issued immediately for Harry F. Sinclair and that the committee expected to examine him here within a week.

Discussing the possibility that Sinclair may refuse to testify, Walsh said: "If Sinclair chooses to seek the same immunity through examination that Fall did, the committee will not dare to compel him to testify."

New Clew Is Uncovered To Alleged 'Slush' Fund WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—A new trail is expected to lead to definite light upon the alleged million dollar "slush" fund, said to have been set up by Washington by New York financiers to cover oil stock losses by government officials, was being followed vigorously by the Senate public lands committee today.

The lead was picked up through the expert accountants who are inspecting books of leading stock brokers in New York, Washington and Cleveland.

Two officials already have been caught in the committee's net and additional names that may furnish even more spectacular sensations are being sought in the stock lists. Senator Davis Elkins, Republican of West Virginia, who admitted dealing in Sinclair stocks, was declared today to have decided not to run for reelection next fall to Washington would not confirm the report, however.

From additional sources, it was also learned today that President Coolidge has known for some time of the reported deal of Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty in Sinclair and other oil securities, but denied categorically that any of these transactions had been predicated upon an inside knowledge of the leasing of Teapot Dome by Ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall to Harry F. Sinclair.

As a result of the publicity given the reported deals by Daugherty in the oil market, pressure was increased for the removal of the attorney-general from the cabinet. One Republican senator close to the White House said "it is inconceivable that any government official who, because of the tremendous influence his position gives him, should plunge in the market and be permitted to retain his post."

Hearing to Re-Open While working privately on information revealed in a broker's stock lists, committee members today began preparations for the renewal of open hearings next week when Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, will return to assume leadership in the inquiry. It was indicated that Sinclair and E. B. McLean, wealthy newspaper publisher, may be the first witnesses called to the stand.

Before they are questioned, however, the committee will confer with the special counsel, Owen J. Roberts and Alton Pomerene, regarding what policy should be pursued if either of them should refuse to testify, claiming, as did Fall, immunity under the fifth article of the constitution.

FLYER FAILS TO SET NEW MARK

Intense Cold Causes Veteran Aviator to Come Down When Near Record

50,000 Feet Is Aim Macready's official record of 34,500 feet, made September 28, 1921. Sadi Lecoigne, Frenchman, soared to 36,745 feet October 30, 1923. Then the United States air service told Macready to get ready and "go to it."

The Le Perre is equipped with a new Moss super-charger, which delivers sea-level atmosphere to the motor up to an altitude of 35,000 feet.

Hunt Bandit Gang's Stolen Loot Caches SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—Following the recover of $50,000 in diamonds, cash and bonds, police today searched for further safety deposit caches of the "California daylighters," a gang decried by the police to have been responsible for scores of the sensational daylight robberies in the past few months in California cities.

The loot was obtained in safety deposit boxes, keys to which were seized when Parker Millsack was arrested, and resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Frances Miller, who later admitted she was the wife of Millsack. According to police, she was about to remove the money and other valuables from the safety deposit boxes when they arrived.

ports of visits to Daugherty's apartment here; and testimony of John C. Shaffer, Western newspaper publisher, that negotiations for leasing Teapot Dome were being discussed as early as March, 1921, a year before the contract actually was signed.

Somewhat of a temporary barrier has been raised by the fact that most of the committee's documentary evidence consists of photo-static records which in court would be only "secondary evidence," but this is to be clearly overcome by the counsel who are planning to send their assistants through the various governmental departments to secure original records.

Daugherty Firm In His Determination to Fight WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty stood his ground today before a veritable army of critics bent on ousting him from the cabinet.

The attorney general defied his senatorial foes by flatly refusing to resign and threatening to include his homes to plead his defense "before the bar of public opinion." His position was strengthened by the apparently silent support of President Coolidge.

The respite gave Daugherty's Democratic foes, led by Senator Wheeler of Montana, an opportunity to seek additional evidence in support of their sensational charges of malfeasance, neglect and undue influence by officials in Daugherty's employ.

Promises Publicity Senator Wheeler, who charged Daugherty had traded in Sinclair stock, announced today he would make his evidence of the transactions public as soon as the Senate investigation was authorized.

"I shall take action to prove the charges," Daugherty declared in Sinclair oil stock through a New York brokerage house as soon as the Senate investigation is authorized," said Wheeler. "I am just as anxious to give the attorney general a fair hearing as he declared himself to be. There will be no whitewashing this time."

The Senate meanwhile studied Daugherty's rebuke to his leaders, expressed in his letter to Senator Pepper, Republican, of Pennsylvania. Democrats gloated over Daugherty's condemnation of a leadership "which accepted as final the baseless, scandalous and defamatory charges of my political adversaries." It was the Democrats' contention that Daugherty had traded in the Republican side of the Senate on record publicly as repudiating its own department of justice.

OPINIONS DIFFER ON PAVING WORK

Committee Is Proposed to Get Real Facts on Improvement

(Continued From Page 1) shovels and with the exception of a few inches on the inside of the rails, is up to the required height, so the city officials say.

The system of inspection as maintained, both at the plant where the mixture is made and at the street where it is laid, is sufficient to protect the city's interest, according to Ben S. Dupuy, city engineer.

Under the contract with the National Paving company," he said this morning, "the company is compelled to maintain an inspector at the plant where the asphalt is mixed. His expenses are taken care of by the royalty we pay the company for the use of their product.

Additional Inspector "Hearing rumors of complaints several days ago I added an additional inspector to the plant there, so there are two on duty at this time. But there has always been one on duty ever since the job was started. We have maintained inspectors where the pavement was being laid at all times."

In explaining the city's attitude on the matter, Councilman Sam Davis said this morning: "Not a member of the City Council had anything to say regarding the kind of paving to be used on Glendale avenue. There is a petition on file in the city clerk's office asking for National paving, and that is what is being laid.

"It is ridiculous to expect that any street will be as flat as a dining-room table. There is not a cent paid on the job or any lien made against any property until the job is finished. If, when completed, we do not think it should have been done according to specifications, either as to workmanship or material, then the work can be rejected."

Seeks Expert's View Harry C. Levey, attorney, of 811 South Glendale avenue, who is in Los Angeles, when interviewed by telephone this morning, stated that he was of the opinion that both the workmanship and the material were at fault.

"I have endeavored for several days to get an expert's opinion on the work. I have not been able to do this. But I intend to."

"I am not satisfied with the job, nor is the majority of the property holders on Glendale avenue. I consider the way the work has been done a menace to the public. I certainly do not think it should be left that way. Just what steps I will take in the matter I am not prepared to say at this time, but I intend to see the thing through."

"The talk that I am in the employ of the cement trust to fight this case or stir up this agitation is all nonsense. My books are open for inspection at all times. There is no one on Glendale avenue that would pay for this improvement more willingly than I, but I want the job done right when it is done."

Explains Petition "I do not believe that the inspection maintained at the end of the work was efficient. There were inspectors there, it is true, but as to their qualifications I have grave doubts."

When asked about the petition circulated and handed to the county clerk for National paving, Mr. Levey stated

HUNGRY HUNTERS BOAST EXPLOITS

Nimrods at Banquet Relate Incredible Tales of Shooting Prowess

The most extravagant tales of the late Baron Munchausen were put in the shade last night by the accounts that were related of hunting experiences at the banquet and reception that was tendered to a group of Nimrods by Merrill D. Davis, the well known bon vivant and publicity expert, at the Chateau de Qualite, when he entertained a number of his friends at dinner.

The guests are all more or less noted hunters, and, in that genial feeling of expansion that naturally follows a well-cooked and well-served meal, they began to recount experiences that had befallen them by flood and field while they pursued the elusive jack rabbit or the succulent mutton, and "Dead Shot" Doc of Florida, losing another button in his vest, told of one time in the Everglades when he dropped six wild turkeys with one shot from his trusty blunderbuss. An ominous silence greeted Doc's statement, until it was broken by "Cleaner" Goode, who exclaimed "Huh! I never missed a shot, but the queer part of it is that I never seem able to find any of the game that I kill."

Rabbit Climbs Tree
"Two Gun Bill" Bode next came to bat with an account of how he jumped a monster jack rabbit and chased him up a tree. "But," objected someone, "a jack rabbit can't climb a tree." "He can't, eh?" said "Two Gun Bill." "Lemme tell you this rabbit just natural had to climb that tree, the way I was crowding him." How he was roomed in a barrel in a duck blind, away out in the middle of a lake where he could be spotted by every duck that came along, was related by "Match-You-a-Dollar" George, the smiling Boniface of East Broadway. It seems that he became so peevish over his plight and at the coarse guffaws of his hunting companions that he shot the bottom of the barrel full of holes and waded ashore in high dudgeon and his hip boots—and he admitted that he never killed a single duck the whole day, while he stood there shivering and wishing for something to drink of a warmer tinge than lake water. "Grizzly Jack" Cook, who takes his moniker from his hitherto unimproved accounts of his battles with the Silver Tip, related the killing of an immense grizzly that took four horses to haul it into town. The fact that the bear, according to the story, was killed in the San Rafael hills, where no one ever saw a bear, weakened the faith of his hearers to a degree that stamped "Grizzly Jack" as being guilty of unprovoked and malicious prevarication.

Shoots Farmer's Calf
The genial host, "Gum Shoe Dave," tried to make his guests believe that he had a giraffe skin hanging in the gun room of his palatial home on East California avenue, the prey of his trusty rifle, but close questioning developed that it was a calf that he had slain, and that he had been forced to dig up $4 by the owner of the calf to pay for damages.

A salt flavored jest was played on four of the guests at the dinner when the chef served what purported to be sirloin steaks, garnished with water cress and fat and a thick sauce. The hungry hunters prepared to saw the steaks apart, but after they had bent their knives and forks on them they found that they had been tricked with cleverly disguised pieces of sole leather.

The competition of the hunters engendered such an amount of warm feeling that it required the utmost diplomacy to persuade some of them to leave the premises peaceably, but when "Match-You-a-Dollar" George pleaded with the boys to continue their argument in the street and "not to put the dump on the bum" by staging a ruck-house in there, they refrained from anything more pointed than references of a derogatory nature to one another's ability to distinguish between the truth and the other thing, and wended their several ways home with their faith in human nature worn to a frazzle.

and was commanded to halt. He stopped for an instant and then backed away again.

The bandit threatened to shoot, but Mr. Harris finally reached the telephone and while the bandit was going through the cash register, he managed to give the alarm to police headquarters. The bandits heard him telephoning, but made no effort to stop him. Mr. Harris had no gun in the back of the prescription counter or he could have fired on both bandits, with little fear of retaliation, he said.

Four officers from the detective bureau—Sergeants Blake and Lauritzen and Officers McLean and Epps—immediately answered Mr. Harris' call but no trace was found of the bandits.

The druggist stated that he would be able to identify the two men, but was unable to give a very accurate description of their clothing. The men worked fast as they were in the store only a few minutes, he said.

ROTARY CLUB OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

Nineteen Years Since First International; Number Of Visitors Attend

Observation of International day and the nineteenth anniversary of the founding of the first service club by Paul P. Harris in Chicago provided the principal parts of yesterday's program at the Rotary luncheon here. W. E. Hewitt, chairman of the program committee, related that next Saturday will be the nineteenth birthday of Rotary International, which now has 1,600 clubs and 98,000 members in most of the civilized countries in the world. Members of foreign birth were invited to speak by Mr. Hewitt, who originally hailed from Canada. David Black and F. J. W. Henry spoke of Scotland, Ari Hutchinson of England, and C. H. Kirkman and J. Herbert Smith also were called upon.

Boy Fails to Find Uncle But Secures Good Home In City

Gene Murphy, 10-year-old orphan of Long Beach, has a good home in Glendale, although he did not succeed in finding his uncle.

Hearing of his plight, David Brown, 822 East Harvard street, called on Chief Fraser, talked with the boy, with the result that Gene went home with him. Yesterday Gene was outfitted in a new suit of clothes with shoes and hat, and thinks the world is a pretty good place to live in, after all.

The boy's father was killed in an accident in Long Beach a short time ago and his mother had died about a year ago. On Monday he started from the coast town on a bicycle to look for an uncle in Glendale.

The uncle was not found, but a good home was, so the story has the desired happy ending, anyway.

Solon Reveals Need For More P. O. Buildings

Lineberger Cites Glendale In Advocating Plans For California

Advocating federal buildings for Glendale and two other southern California cities, Walter F. Lineberger, congressman from the Ninth California district, gave an eloquent plea Saturday, February 9, at the first session of the Sixty-eighth Congress, that cannot but interest Glendaleans.

In opening his address to Congress Mr. Lineberger said: "I think it would be wise to have a program covering five or ten years and creating a commission to determine local priority. 'Those where the necessity is greatest should be in the 'A' class and should receive first relief. Those where the necessities are of secondary importance should be in 'B' class, and so on down the line, so that we may have a comprehensive bill that will give relief in order of merit."

Mentions Glendale
 "In addition to Long Beach, I have in my district almost another parallel in the cases of the cities of Glendale, Armonia. I have not the time to quote statistics, but members probably do not know that the Ninth California district is, perhaps, the largest in the country, and now contains approximately 800,000 people, having almost doubled in population since the 1920 census. We will have a million people there within the next two years, and are crying for relief in post-office facilities which can not and should not be longer delayed."

Applause followed Mr. Lineberger's speech.

URGENT CHANGE IN NAME OF SUBWAY
 Subway Leading to Glendale Should Not Be Called 'Hollywood Tunnel'

By GIL A. COWAN
 Of The Glendale News Staff.
 Work has started on Glendale's subway in Los Angeles at First street and Glendale boulevard. Photographs showing the first step in this metropolitan development were published this morning and the many commuters who travel on the red cars, or by automobile for that matter, will watch with interest the daily progress.

However, there is a feature of this job which the citizens might well call to the attention of the Pacific Electric officials through their civic organizations. That is, the name of the bore should be "Glendale subway," although it is called Hollywood tunnel in some of the publicity given through Los Angeles newspapers.

Five Good Reasons
 In the first place, figures show that more cars will be removed from Sixth street on the Glendale line than from Hill street as a result of this improvement. The lesser number serve Hollywood.

Secondly, the subway leads directly to the Glendale line and all cars will be routed over Glendale boulevard to Sunset boulevard where Hollywood cars will swing up the hill to their present tracks.

Third, the burden of expense for building this tunnel is falling on Glendale with a 23 cent fare, as compared with Hollywood's 10 cent transportation for a similar distance.

Heads This Way
 Fourth, the subway directly points toward Glendale in its bore and therefore should be named for this municipality, rather than a section of Los Angeles.

Fifth, irreparable damage will be done Glendale from the standpoint of publicity if people are instructed to take the "Hollywood tube" to get to the "fastest growing city in America."

These facts should be presented immediately to the Pacific Electric officials and the name definitely established as "the Glendale subway" before custom makes it otherwise.

AIR MAIL APPROPRIATION
 WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—An appropriation of $1,500,000 for the establishment of night flying in the airplane mail service was proposed in the Senate yesterday by Senator Arthur Phipps, Republican, of Colorado.

FEAR FOR DELAY ON SEWER PLANS

Property Owners Insisting On Dictating Lines of Right of Way

That the matter of securing right of way deeds for the new Glendale sewer trunk line is causing anxiety, was reported at yesterday's meeting of the Glendale Advancement association in the Harriett Mae tea room. It was declared that a considerable number of property owners who promised to give deeds for this purpose are now insisting that the sewer be placed along the route over their land that they prescribe. It is said that if the rights of way offered in this manner were accepted the trunk sewer would have to follow an amazingly crooked course that would practically destroy its usefulness.

The association took no action on the matter, the sewer committee having reported that the city officials were doing all they could, but feared it would be necessary to secure the right of way by condemnation proceedings. This method, it was said, would not prevent immediate starting of construction work.

Discuss Paving Report
 The long table was completely filled when members of the association sat down to luncheon, the attendance being better than at any meeting for several weeks. The principal topic of conversation was the report given by J. F. McClish, covering reported defects in the paving on Glendale avenue now under construction, as told in The Evening News yesterday.

Mr. McClish stated that Harry Levy, an attorney living in that neighborhood, had first objected to the quality of the paving being put down by the National Paving company, and that a meeting had been held on the ground, with the mayor and several members of the City Council present. He said that after it had been shown that portions of the surface in the block between Garfield and Windsor were too soft, and others too brittle, the company had agreed to relay parts of the surface complained of.

Demand Proper Work
 Declaring that, owing to the fact that the National Paving company has just started operations in California, the Glendale avenue job being its first piece of paving in this state, Dr. H. R. Harrower and Dr. Jessie Russell expressed the idea that the company's product should be carefully examined at this time, while the job is still completed to only a small degree, and whatever action necessary should be taken to see that the rest of the work is done up to the specifications in its contract.

At the close of the luncheon Dr. Harrower extended an invitation to all members of the association to attend the Glendale hotel meeting at his laboratory last night.

GLENDALE SPEED DEMON IN CRASH
 Sid Chambers Wrecks Car Dodging Pedestrian on Ascot Track

Sid Chambers, Glendale racing driver, who lives at 736 South Glendale avenue, had a narrow escape coming down the back stretch, he had slowed down to a paltry 70 approaching the turn, when a workman who had been engaged in some tasks on the track started to walk across the speedway.

Chambers, just before reaching the turn, had been jockeying to pass another driver. His first attempt to pass on the outside had been foiled by the other man's swinging wide for the turn, and Chambers was forced to take the lower side of the track. As he swung down to the lower level the workman started across the track, and Chambers jammed on his brakes, spinning the car round like a top, and crashed through the fence, wrecking the front end of the machine and getting off with two minor cuts on the face and one arm.

In last Sunday's races Chambers finished in the money twice, taking fourth place each time, but it is not probable that he will be able to race next Sunday.

Glass greenhouses were invented by Joseph Baxter on the estate of the Duke of Devonshire.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

Happiness Illumines Sunset Days Of Life

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tinklepaugh of La Crescenta, whose life of married happiness passed its half century mark on February 9. The happy couple were honor guests at dinner at the home of their daughter, Mrs. A. E. Ferris, on that occasion.

For half a century Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tinklepaugh of La Crescenta have journeyed along life's path together, and a family dinner party, February 9, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. A. E. Ferris, 100 New Hampshire street, Los Angeles, recalled their marriage fifty years ago that day in Osceola, Polk county, Neb.

The bride at that wedding years ago was Rachel Anna Metts. She was born December 4, 1855, at Fort Wayne, Ind., and her family moved to Iowa when she was a small girl. When she was 16 years old the family moved to Polk county, Neb., and there she fell in love with E. A. Tinklepaugh, to whom she was married when she was 19 years old.

The bridegroom was born March 23, 1851, in La Grange county, Ind., and was 10 years old when the Civil war broke out. When he was 20 years old he went to Polk county, Neb., and took up a homestead, and on his wedding day, in 1874, he was just 23 years of age.

Settled in San Diego
 Mr. Tinklepaugh was owner of a big flour mill in Nebraska, and in 1889 he sold this business and came with his family to San Diego, where he invested heavily in the boom-time real estate. In San Diego he engaged in contracting. Ten years ago the Tinklepaughs left San Diego and came north to live. They have made their home at La Crescenta for one year.

Mr. and Mrs. Tinklepaugh had seven children, two of whom are living, Mrs. A. E. Ferris of 100 New Hampshire street, Los Angeles, and Mrs. John Leonard Fulton of Monterey. They have but one grandchild, Mrs. Fred Turner of Los Angeles.

This charming old couple have been devoted members of the Methodist church and are now attendants at the La Crescenta church.

Both Are Radio Fans
 One of their chief diversions is "listening in" on the various radio concerts. Their little home is equipped with a fine radio set and many happy hours are spent by these old sweethearts listening to the concerts and lectures broadcasted over the air.

Mr. and Mrs. Tinklepaugh are looking forward to a visit from their daughter, Mrs. Fulton of Monterey, and when she arrives another golden wedding dinner is to be enjoyed by the family.

HOLLYWOOD WILL PLAN BIG TIME HEAR LOCAL VOICES AT LEGION MEET
 Glendale Night Will Be Celebrated on Tuesday Of Next Week
 Local Post to Be Host To Monte Vista, Tujunga And Verdugo Hills

Hollywood's going to hear from Glendale musically next Tuesday night, when "Glendale Night" will be celebrated at the weekly Hollywood community "sing" in the Hollywood High school auditorium.

An invitation to the Glendale Choral club has been extended by Mrs. J. J. Carter, prominent in Hollywood community affairs, and this organization, directed by J. Arthur Myers, is arranging the Glendale program.

Vocal solos by Glendale's singing mayor, Spencer Robinson, will be features of the program. In addition there will be selections from "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" by the choral club; solos by Dr. Joseph Marple; duets by Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Cavanaugh, and selections by the Glendale Trio including Mrs. Gertrude C. Erb, pianist; Julius Kranz, violinist, and J. Arthur Myers, cellist.

FINANCING OF NEW HOTEL OUTLINED

Scores of Stockholders Meet To Discuss Project at Glendale Avenue

A five-story hotel at the northeast corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue, planned for six years, now appears a certainty, it developed at a meeting of the Ambrosini Hotel company, held last night at the Harrower laboratory, 920 East Broadway. President C. W. Ingledue of the company presiding and Dr. Henry R. Harrower acting as host to the 150 stockholders and friends present. The site fronts 236 feet on Broadway and 129 feet on Glendale avenue, with an extra 100 feet on the latter, for expansion.

Mr. Ingledue, after outlining the history of the project, from the beginning, stated that at last a way had been found to finance a five-story structure of 126 rooms, with a number of high-class stores on the ground floor.

Make Lowest Bid
 The firm that has made the lowest bid, he said, is Kings and Westerhouse of Los Angeles, who agree to erect the building for $350,000. Additional costs will bring the total to $402,325. This will be acquired by a first mortgage of $225,000, a second mortgage of $75,000, an advance rental of $25,000, a stock sale of $60,825 and an income for the first six months of $16,500.

A total of $67,500 worth of stock has already been issued by the Ambrosini Hotel company. Mr. Ingledue stated, out of a capitalization of $500,000.

Need Less Than $80,000
 The additional stock issue of $60,825 would bring the total amount of stock out to $128,325, which it has been estimated will earn an average of 19 per cent over a period of fifteen years, after which, with all indebtedness wiped out, the annual earnings would approximate 50 per cent.

Mr. Ingledue stated that of the $60,825 additional funds needed, and which will be obtained by sale of stock, over $20,000 had been pledged prior to calling last night's meeting. Pledge cards were then passed around, and $16,000 was subscribed. It now remains to be raised and subscriptions are being received generally.

VARIED PROGRAM BEING ARRANGED

Broadway School Fathers Seeking 'Personalities' For Big Show

Personalities that have been broadcasted over Southern California through the wonders of radio are to become realities for all Glendale radio fans who attend the big benefit performance given Tuesday night, March 4, in the auditorium of the Broadway High school, under the auspices of the Broadway Fathers' Auxiliary.

The fathers are negotiating to bring "Uncle John," "Uncle Remus" and little Richard Headdress, of KHJ fame, to Glendale to be features of the program. It is said that "Uncle Remus" has already been booked for the affair, and that urgent invitations have been extended to "Uncle John" and Richard Headdress.

Tickets are going rapidly. However, there are still good ones to be secured at the Broadway High school, Brunswick Shop, South Brand boulevard; Glendale Music Store, 109 North Brand boulevard; Chamber of Commerce and Builders' Hardware & Supply Company, Broadway and Glendale avenue.

A lighthouse built 283 B. C. by the Pharos in the Bay of Alexandria was said to be 600 feet high.

Light Side of Glendale's Life In Pioneer Days Is Shown In Old Scrap Book

By 'OLD TIMER' Written for The Evening News.

Since scrap books have become the fashion, not only in Glendale but all over the country, in nearly every well regulated family some member has been found who has yielded at some period in their lives to the fascination of making a scrap book.

Of a number which it has been the pleasure of "Old Timer" to inspect recently, one is the prized possession of Mrs. John Allen Legge of 734 North Brand boulevard, who, as Miss Emma Pulliam, was a participant in the school and social life of Glendale, not in its earliest days, but in its "teens."

Unlike the scrap books of the pioneers of our valley, dealing with railroads, improvement societies, incorporation and annexation, this particular scrap book, with gold letters on its pink cover, is in lighter vein, and yet the clippings tell the story of the town and its development no less than the other.

The story told in the pink and gold book of the graduating class of the Glendale Union High school of a little more than a decade ago, of which Mrs. Legge was a member, affords a means of comparison with the classes of today which is not without value.

Three Valedictorians. It was related with pride that this class, which numbered twenty-nine, was the largest class ever graduated from the high school. It is also interesting to note that Miss Emma Pulliam (Mrs. Legge), Miss Evelyn Ryan and Miss Grace Grady were equal in points of scholarship and were all valedictorians with the three-fold subject, "Health, Wealth and Happiness."

In the scrap book are stories of that mysterious club, "The Eladneg," mysterious until you spelled it backward, and the "Mirth" club, of which Mrs. Legge and her sister, Miss Myrtle Pulliam, were leading spirits. These clubs included a number of the young people and contributed largely to the social life of the town, and the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Pulliam was ever open, as the record shows.

The members of the younger set were always ready to assist in benefits for the various organizations. Miss Emma and Miss Myrtle Pulliam as talented musicians and dancers often contributed their services to club, school and church benefits.

In an effort to increase the building fund of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, "Rebecca's Triumph," a comedy, was put on by prominent club women, and Miss Pulliam as "Gyp," the "cullud gal," made a decided hit.

As related, "Automobiles, carriages, pack trains and 'Maud' (the dinky which used to ply between Brand and Glendale avenue) carried 300 Masons and Eastern Stars to Verdugo Park Saturday afternoon for their annual picnic." A ball game was scheduled along with other amusements, which included a fat ladies' race, sack races, etc.

The line-up was as follows: Mutt—'Flame' Howe, catcher; 'Helen' Cornwell, pitcher; 'Feb. 14' Brown, 1 b.; 'Doc' Chase, 2 b.; 'Court'house' Hobbs, 3 b.; 'Get-Rich-Quick' Webster, s. b.; 'Goat' Morgan, r. f.; 'Weary' McFadden, c. f.; 'Sunset' Deal, l. f.

Everyone Had Nickname. Pink Sox "General" Logan, catcher; "Home-builder" Ackley, pitcher; "Dutch Dan" Campbell, 1 b.; "Henberry" Parker, 2 b.; "Conny" Fraley, 3 b.; "Baby" Nash, s. s.; "John Bull" Pack, r. f.; "Giant" Bryant, c. f.; "Widow" Chase, l. c. with Emery, Echols, Erskine, Arde Campbell, Andrews and "Judge" Lynch as substitutes; water carriers, Sternburg and Tower.

COMMENT That's All

Washington's Greatness Praise for Mr. Mellon Beware Life of Crime Builders, Please Get Busy

By Gil A. Cowan

This natal day of George Washington we pause to recollect the history of "the father of our country."

As a boy who could not tell a lie, a youth who surveyed the virgin wilderness, a patriot and general who led his armies to victory through vicissitudes, and a counsellor in his latter years whose wisdom lives again today, we look upon George Washington, not as the heroic, or picturesque, but one predestined for greatness which grows as the years pass by.

Yet to this modern age George Washington no doubt is a picturesque figure. And to those who entrusted to him the cause of the colonies in the revolution he must have been heroic.

We see him telling his father "I cannot tell a lie, I chopped down the cherry tree"; or camping with his ragged army at Valley Forge; or crossing the icy Delaware in his march to victory, while Cornwallis slept. That is good for the imaginative mind.

Again, we know him as a promising young man who sacrificed his opportunities to lead a cause of freedom and justice; also, as one who saw clearly the worldly problems and gave to posterity that wisdom of early statesmanship which has built the best government on the earth. Truly, it was heroic even in the light of comparisons of others who laid down their lives for the high office of presidency.

It is too bad that our young people seemingly do not appreciate the true greatness of Washington and Lincoln and Roosevelt and Wilson and others until it is TOO LATE for them to mold their courses. Study of these characters in history would be invaluable, and may it not be suggested that available material be read this day of the life of George Washington.

Yesterday we gave space to praise for President Coolidge. In the cabinet there are members who are deserving, also, of a word. Mr. Hughes, for instance, is a capable legal expert, if not the best man for his portfolio. Herbert Hoover, also, is worthy of commendation for the able way he handles public affairs. Among the others there is Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, who is one of the most discussed members of the cabinet.

Mr. Mellon at this moment is considered indispensable. He is likely the most outstanding figure in the administration, for upon him rests the burden of the country's tax problems, and upon taxes rest the fundamentals of prosperity to a large extent.

There are some who do not agree with Mr. Mellon entirely. They have a perfect right to their opinions, for their viewpoints are different. For instance, many of us would advocate caring for adjusted compensation in the federal tax plan. This Mr. Mellon, as well as Mr. Coolidge, refuses to do. It is a moot question.

Nevertheless, the differences of opinion should not be allowed to interfere with the accomplishment of the purposes which Mr. Mellon sets about to obtain. He believes in returning capital to industry, rather than driving it into tax-exempt securities. He believes this can be done by a reduction in income taxes. And in the maze of information available it appears that he is right, although it must be admitted that a sales tax would be far superior to the present clumsy method of raising revenue.

Fight Over Wyoming Oil Land Patent Begins

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The Oregon Basin Oil and Gas company filed suit yesterday in the District supreme court asking that Secretary of the Interior Work and Commissioner General Sprey of the general land office be made to show cause why they should not accept and pass upon application of the plaintiff for a patent on certain Wyoming oil lands. It is contended that the secretary upheld a ruling by the commissioner rejecting the plaintiff's claim on the ground that discovery of a mineral was insufficient to form a basis of a valid mineral location. The claim is in Park county, Wyoming.

Navy May Repair Four Ships Called Obsolete

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Orders were issued by Secretary of the Navy Denney yesterday directing the four coal burning battleships, Arkansas, Florida, Utah and Wyoming, declared unfit for service, following the recent maneuvers to proceed from Culebra to Guantanamo at a speed of not more than twelve knots an hour, pending final decision as to their disposition. It is thought eventually two will be sent to the Boston navy yard and two to the New York navy yard where either their coal burning engines will be repaired, or replaced with oil burning engines.

Pretty Stockbroker to Face New Complaints

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Two additional indictments were returned late yesterday against Miss Helen Beckett, pretty stock broker accused of collecting money from wealthy men and women to operate a "mythical pool." The indictments came just after she pleaded not guilty to indictments brought last week charging forgery. The new complainants were Arthur Kirstein of the West Indies Sugar Finance corporation, who accused the young woman of taking $2,323 of his money, and James D. Robertson, who said he lost $300 in her pool. The indictments charged forgery and grand larceny.

N. Y. Congressman to Lose Seat, Is Reported

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Unseating of Representative Sol Bloom, Democrat of New York, now representing the Nineteenth New York district in the House, was recommended today by House elections committee.

The committee, by a strict party vote of six to three, decided that Walter W. Chandler, Republican, was entitled to the seat now held by Bloom. Chandler formerly represented the district in the House, but was defeated by Bloom in the last election and immediately contested the decision.

YOUNG MEN SING AT CHURCH MEET

Many Profess Conversion at Altar Service Held By Evangelists

A large representation from the Young Business Men's class was present last night at the evangelistic service conducted at the First Methodist church. During the regular song service a number of the members of this class rendered several selections which were greatly enjoyed.

The subject chosen by Rev. J. McD. Kerr for his sermon was "Spiritual Dynamics." He delivered a forceful sermon on this topic, making an unusual impression upon the congregation as was evinced by the large number remaining after the regular service for the altar service.

Under the head of Spiritual Dynamics, the power that moves—Rev. Kerr enumerated the following: "Courage, confidence, conviction, directness, personal appeal, a heart love, desire to share with others, and the magnetic personality or the power to draw."

Many Profess Faith. This was followed by the altar service when a large number in the congregation took a stand for Christ and gave their life to his keeping.

The service tonight is to be a banner night when the young people of the city will gather together for a part in the service. This will be the people's night and a record attendance is expected. The surplused boys' choir of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church will be present and render a musical program during the time for the usual song service.

The sermon for the evening will be delivered by one of the Kerr brothers on "The Law of the Harvest."

Women Objecting to Lawyers' Persecutions. FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 22.—Women witnesses who appear in the courts of Tarrant county are daily persecuted with obscene questions that are absolutely unnecessary to the taking of evidence.

This is the verdict of the League of Women Voters here, who as a measure of remedy have appointed a committee to occupy the courtroom when women witnesses are on the stand to call a halt to the "embarrassing of women witnesses."

JONES WILL AID M'ADOO IN RACE

Famous Glendale Democrat Represents Candidate in California

Attorney Mattison B. Jones, prominent Los Angeles lawyer, and resident of Glendale, has been named spokesman in California for William Gibbs McAdoo, Democratic candidate for the presidency, according to wire advices received last night by Mrs. Jones from her husband.

Both Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Jones are due to arrive in Los Angeles late today and open the campaign in this state, now that the former treasury secretary under the late President Wilson has explained himself at the senate oil investigation.

It is stated by confidential sources that President Coolidge does not intend to allow the oil investigation to be used for partisan purposes regardless of the fact that it was precipitated as a political issue, in the belief of many close observers. Therefore, Mr. McAdoo may expect kind treatment on that score, it is indicated.

Jones Is Good Choice. No better choice than Mr. Jones could have been made in California, it is indicated by Democratic political prophets, for, as candidate for governor in the primaries of two years ago, he came in close contact with the party leaders, and, combining this with his high standing in the professional and fraternal circles of the state, he will lend prestige to the presidential prospects of Mr. McAdoo.

Of particular interest to this city, however, is the fact that news dispatches concerning Mr. Jones' selection carry the statement that he comes from Glendale.

EAGLE ROCK SCHEDULE CALLS FOR TWO DANCES

Women of Twentieth Century Club Sponsor Double Entertainment

Terpsichore is in the ascendant in Eagle Rock this week-end. The "light fantastic toe" will be tripped tonight at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse in the junior auxiliary, and tomorrow night, at the same place, the women of the club will themselves hold a dance.

Music for the junior affair will be furnished by a colored orchestra. There have been issued 200 invitations. The following are hostesses: Mrs. Ed Thompson, chairman; Mrs. M. T. Lee, Mrs. J. C. Claussen, Mrs. L. E. Dixon, Mrs. F. S. Hannaford, and Mrs. A. G. Rilly, president of the Twentieth Century club.

The Thursday Morning Music club met yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Constance Braach, at Hill and Windermere avenues.

At the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse, "Founders' Day" was celebrated yesterday with a program in the afternoon.

No Bananas is Right!

C. D. Bruegger, a huckster, of 5140 Lockhaven avenue, will tell the world that "Yes, We Have No Bananas" is not merely a song, but a fact. The other night certain things befell his wagon, and when he went to take stock, he found among those missing ten bunches of bananas, comprising his entire stock of this popular fruit.

The matter has been reported to the local constabulary, who have certain juveniles under surveillance.

Raisins, dates, figs, oranges, eggs and auto tires also vanished from Bruegger's wagon at the same time.

The American Legion auxiliary will sit down to a sumptuous dinner at the home of Mrs. Angelo Bessolo when, on March 1, they meet there to honor Mrs. Martha Decker, state president, who will be a special guest.

It was hoped that Mrs. Decker could meet with the auxiliary last night at the home of Mrs. A. R. Rose, 5211 Alverno avenue, but a previous engagement prevented her being present.

Basilica Cistern Lures Kirk To Constantinople's Underground Passage Ways

Another interesting experience W. B. Kirk and family had while in Constantinople was visiting the Basilica cistern, and in the travel letter printed today Mr. Kirk describes this visit.

He says, writing from Athens, January 27: "Our stay of five days in Constantinople was most interesting and profitable. We found our hotel quite comfortable and the weather man was good to us so that we had almost clear, comfortable weather until Tuesday, the day of our departure, when it grew chilly and misty. We used our time there to good purpose. I have told you of the mosques and dervishes.

"Another strange thing we saw was the Basilica cistern. Entering an old building we descended a flight of stone steps and found ourselves on a little platform over water, in an underground tunnel. Large sandstone columns support the roof or street, standing twenty or thirty feet apart, in the water, to a depth of five or six feet.

"A row of incandescent lights on a few of the columns serve to show the size of the tunnel, which is 500 or 600 feet wide and about three miles long. It was built by Justinian and extends from Mosque St. Sofia to a small church on the outskirts, where he could go to worship, unobserved. Imagine the money and labor necessary to build such a thing! Our guide assured us that the '1001' columns extend the entire distance. A rowboat was tied to the platform for use if tourists desired it.

Souvenir of Ex-Kaiser

"A large open space with parkways on either side is called 'The Hippodrome,' as races used to be held there. Toward either end of it is a large, high obelisk, engraved heavily embossed in silver and gold. Those of Sultan Ase and Abdul Hamed, with some of their wives, are among the finest. The room in which they lie is adorned by a very large crystal chandelier, presented by Queen Victoria, and two elaborate clocks by the great Napoleon.

"From a high vantage point we had a view of the four ports of the city and the harbor, which we will long remember. A drive out through the older part of Stamboul revealed many two and three story ramshackle, weather-beaten flats and apartments, with bay windows, which are tumbling into the discard and some of them are already abandoned.

"Poverty abounds everywhere and the beggars are more pestiferous, loathsome and annoying than they are anywhere else except in Egypt. They have learned to say 'Give me five piastres (2½ cents),' whenever they detect an Englishman or American. They fill the main streets as well as the poorer ones.

Visit Old Citadel

"We went out to the old wall, several miles of which is still standing, and into a citadel near the water of the Bosphorus. It has seven towers with walls ten feet thick or more. Climbing to the top of the wall in one of the towers we saw there large prisoners' rooms, which were used by the Turks, when they captured the city in the sixteenth century.

"We were also shown the execution room, used for many years, and the post against which the prisoners were stood when their heads were cut off. The latter is nearly cut in two. In front of this post is a hole in the stone floor about two feet wide, into which the several heads would roll, falling about thirty feet into the water, whence they were washed into the Bosphorus. So goes the story, probably correct.

"The Golden Gate of Constantinople has two large alabaster columns at its sides. These walls are well preserved and impressive. Just inside the walls are the ruins of the first Mohammedan mosque in Constantinople and in sharp contrast, not far away, is the newest one, completed only two or three years ago. It is not so large, but of white stone and beautiful in architecture.

"Of course the Turkish bazaars of Constantinople are one of the sights and are just as you imagine. They are not much different from those in Cairo and Damascus, but, of course, much more extensive and cleaner. There are hundreds of streets filled with them. They are nearly all covered streets, irregular and sometimes very short, leading from one into the other in a regular maze.

Recommend Guide

"It would be very hard to find one's way about them alone, and we didn't attempt it, having our guide with us at all times. We found him faithful, efficient and reasonable in his charges and can recommend him to anybody going to Constantinople. His name is Albert Reissfeld, a Polish Jew. Having a Ford car and speaking all languages, he does the whole business.

"There is only one way to get away from a pestiferous beggar or tradesman, that is, to pay no attention to him at all. The instant you cast your eyes his way you are in for a siege, and to be unwise would be to give a piastre to an old, blind beggar woman is a fatal error and may lead to being almost mobbed.

"So our guide led us only to shops where we might be interested or we would have wasted most of our time. Every conceivable device and argument to effect a sale is used by these super-salesmen. If we were a tenth as persistent and resourceful as they are in our business, how much business we would do."

Another letter from Mr. Kirk will be printed at an early date in The Glendale Evening News.

REFUSES MORE TIME

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Declaring that a number of extensions had already been granted and that the court did not feel justified in approving others, Justice Bailey in district supreme court today declined to extend the time in which Armour & Company, one of the "big five packers," will be permitted to divest itself of its side line business under the government's dissolution decree of four years ago.

Daugherty Hits Back at Unfair Opposition

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Striking vehemently at his opponents, Attorney-General Daugherty, whose resignation has been demanded in the senate because of his alleged connection with the Teapot Dome oil lease, has written a letter to Senator George Wharton Pepper, Republican of Pennsylvania, demanding "a fair trial" on the charges made against him.

Daugherty's letter is in reply to one written him by Pepper. Referring to Pepper's statement that he (Daugherty) was "on the wrong side of an issue in the minds of public," the attorney-general said:

"I assume you have in mind the resolution of Senator Wheeler and his speech on the floor of the senate. You have then concluded that I am on the wrong side of an issue, without hearing, without evidence, and accepted as final the baseless, scandalous and defamatory charges of my political adversaries."

You Can Quickly Limber Up Sore, Stiff, Swollen Joints

Even Chronic Rheumatic Swellings in Knee, Elbow, Shoulder or Finger Joints Yield to the Mighty Powerful Influence of JOINT-EASE.

It's here, right in town—and every live druggist has it. It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints. Joint-Ease is the name, so called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints and in just a few seconds it will penetrate to the bone and blessed comfort comes quickly.

It absorbs instantly and is so clean and stainless that you can rub it on often and get thereby results much more quickly, when the joint is inflamed and the agony intense.

Being such a powerful counter irritant, it cannot help bringing speedy and helpful results in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia much quicker than all other remedies you can buy.

But you must remember that it is for joint afflictions that it is mostly dispensed and its helpfulness will astonish you after all ordinary liniments and other treatments have failed.—Advertisement.

OIL STARVED!
I prescribe ZEROLENE "F" for FORDS

Fords have a big margin of power and stamina and hence stand up in spite of the fact that probably half the Fords now running are actually oil-starved.

But why not give your Ford a chance to do its best for you? With proper lubrication—lubrication that really reaches the more inaccessible bearing surfaces such as the wrist pin bearings and the upper half of the cylinder walls, the average Ford will show a distinct improvement in power, gasoline mileage, and freedom from mechanical troubles.

Zerolene "F" for Fords, developed by our research engineers after years of study and experiment, does the lubricating job for Fords better, we believe, than any other oil hitherto offered to the public. And it costs not more, but less than any of the special Ford oils now on the market.

A Ford is an A-1 transportation investment. Protect your investment by proper lubrication.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Truth and the desire to serve for the common good, allowed George Washington not only the respect of his fellow soldiers and citizens but acknowledged the value of true regard for the rights of others.

We, the advertisers on this page, dedicated to the "father of our country," declare ourselves in accord with the principles laid down by the hero of the cherry tree tale. For this special occasion we're offering a variety of things to demonstrate the practical application of Washington's code.

Thrift or Foolishness

A foolish man spends his money and then tells all his friends about it. The Thrifty man saves his money and then his friends tell the world about it. The moral is he who saves will have plenty of laughs for the last.

LIST ELIGIBLES FOR LEAP YEAR

Papers in Missouri Print Names of Bachelors Who Are 'Willing'

By JACK CEJNAR For the International News. ST. LOUIS, Feb. 22.—It looks like a successful leap year in Missouri this year.

The rural press of the state has come to the support of Missouri girls to make the 1924 campaign the most deadly in the ranks of eligible bachelors.

To help the good cause of Cupid along, the ever chivalrous country editors of Missouri have proposed the publishing of lists of eligible males unfettered by home ties. Some of the scribes have even gone so far as to suggest printing of photographs of the eligibles.

The help of the press in throwing the spotlight on all the matrimonial "slackers" and in searching out those "willing but timid" has met with enthusiastic reception by the fair ones. The editors report they have had no trouble in getting ambitious fair helpers to compile such lists.

The Gorin, Mo., Argus, in Scotland county, started the ball rolling. Gorin has a population of about 900.

"They're All Willin'" The editor published a list of eligible males in Gorin (said to have been prepared with the help of several young women), under the heading "They're All Willin'."

In introducing the list, the Argus stated: "To those who may be interested and mean business the Argus will furnish photographs and other details in order that the offerings may be intelligently appraised. But merely curious people will not be accommodated. This is a serious proposition and has to do with the future welfare of the town."

"Should wedding chimes follow any of these public-spirited efforts, the Argus agrees to have a good photograph made of the happy couple in such a pose as may appear as best suited to illustrate the rose-bordered voyage on which they are embarking. From this photo an engraving will be made and printed with the story of the happy event. But in order not to overcrowd its orange-blossom department the Argus has fixed a rate of 25 cents per for those outside who wish their names added to the list of those "Eager and Willin'."

Not to be outdone by the Argus in helping their local "bells" "wring" a wedding tune out of this Leap Year, other papers in the state followed suit. (Perhaps they feared Gorin might steal some eligible youths).

The Shelbyville Herald, of Shelbyville, Shelby county (a town with 700 population), blossomed forth with this offer:

"Shelbyville has a goodly number of old maids and widows, and it might be well for someone here to prepare a list of the 'shy, unfettered males' of this locality for their benefit. It wouldn't do for Gorin folks to come in here and take away some of our boys."

"This is Leap Year, and something must be done. The Herald is very anxious to aid all those seeking wedlock, and Recorder Mrs. Threikeld has a nice new block of marriage licenses handy at all times. In conjunction with her the Herald is prepared to render the greatest service for mankind. Let us all work together to find mates for the unmarried—the preachers need the money, and the lonesome eligibles need companionship."

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 22.—Because Miss Elizabeth Joan Coolidge, daughter of Thomas J. Coolidge, Jr., of Philadelphia, N. Y., near here, shows no disposition to meet the wishes of her great aunt and lead a movement against the use of fireworks on the Fourth of July, trouble looms for the executors and trustees of the estate of the late Asenath Carver Coolidge, famous humanitarian.

Miss Coolidge, a spry of a girl of 16, is now a high school student. She is chief legatee, named in the peculiar will of the author, who died at Arlington Heights, Mass., November 26, 1915, leaving an estate consisting entirely of personal property.

Under the terms of this will, which was admitted to probate in

The condition was imposed, however, and it is this which is complicating ultimate disposition of the estate.

"What to do, what to do?" ask the executors and attorneys.

possibly complete such an education, but the trouble confronting the executors is that she is showing none of the inclinations of Miss Asenath Carver Coolidge.

Modern Girl. Instead she is just a decidedly modern little girl, whose thoughts are of school, of house parties and the like.

To be sure, there is an option which provides that if she fails to qualify, then another grandniece most willing to take up the work outlined is to have the property.

But there is no other grandniece exhibiting any greater disposition to carry on a campaign against fireworks and against war than is Miss Elizabeth Joan.

Track Teams on Edge For Relay Carnival

Coach Timberwolf Pipal's Tiger track team is expected to show their real strength against the other conference colleges and the U. S. C. teams in the annual A. A. U. relay carnival to be staged in the Los Angeles Coliseum tomorrow, Saturday, beginning at 1:00 p. m.

Occidental will have a large and strong representation, and the Tigers are entered in nearly every event. They are aiming to crowd U. S. C. out of first honors. The Oxy team tryouts have been held and the winners who will uphold the Orange and Black are on edge, awaiting the gun. In addition to the relay teams, Oxy will enter men in the special events.

The Oxy relay teams to compete are: Four man mile—Spangler, Powers, Ellsworth, Morey; four man two mile—Morey, Carter, Ellsworth, Tanner; four man four mile—Miller, Carter, Giffen, Lavelle; eight man mile—Powers, Spangler, Argue, Nash, Purser, Buxton, Morey, Buckman.

In addition to these entries, Cliff Argue will compete in the dashes and the high jump. Roy Goodenough and George Fontaine will be in the pole vault event.

The Redlands team, upholding the affirmative, won from the Tiger negatives, thus being the second affirmative team on this coast to win the difficult side of the question. The Redlands upholders were Orton and Mandras. The judge was Professor McInnis of Los Angeles High school.

Oxy Suffers Double Defeat In Debating

Occidental College Men's debating teams suffered a double defeat last night in the second round of the Southern California forensic series. The affirmative team, Stevenson and Mante bowed to the Southern Branch of the University of California and the Tiger negative team, Henshaw and Jones, lost to Redland at Redlands.

Both debates were filled with excitement and were so close that it was hard to pick the winners. The S. B. U. C. forensic team was composed of two capable orators, Franklin Minks and William Burr. They succeeded in breaking down the affirmative argument and establishing their case.

Dr. Olmstead of U. S. C. was the judge of the Oxy vs. Southern Branch contest.

BIG CROWD OUT FOR TRACK WORK

Berkeley Has Material to Offer But Past Stars Have Soared Away

For three years University of California has held the I. C. A. A. championship, but the outlook for 1924 is dubious, to say the least.

Muller, Norris, Merchant and Sorrenti have graduated and their shoes are hard to fill. New material requires a great amount of training and mounding before a finished runner or jumper can be turned out. Although there are a great number of men to choose from at Berkeley this year, it is not at all certain that there will be men in the group that will measure up to the past performances of the Bruin teams.

Three hundred and fifty men have reported for track, so reports state. Coach Walter Christie has already started field trials and the process of elimination has commenced.

Favorable Weather

The weather has favored the candidates, who are taking advantage of the mild spring to loosen stiffened muscles and get in trim for a hard training grind.

The interclass meet on March 1 will mark the start of the weeding process. The first intercollegiate competition of the Bears will be on March 22 with the University of Southern California at the Blue and Gold oval at Berkeley.

The big event of the season will be against the Illinois on April 19. A week following this the Bears meet the Cardinals, when the showing will determine whether California will enter the I. A. A. A. A. this spring.

Angels Get Pick of Twenty-two Pitchers

With the signing of another recruit pitcher yesterday, Oscar Reichow, business manager of the Angels, announces that he will have twenty-two pitchers at the spring training camp at Long Beach.

It's certain that at least thirteen of these twirlers who make the pilgrimage to Long Beach next Thursday will not be kept on the pay roll, so competition might be described as being fairly keen. The Angel regulars making the trip are Myers, Crandall, Wright, Root, Hughes and Wallace. The latest youngster is O'Neil, who has pitched in the Western Association and Three-Eye League.

Howard Lorenz, Vernon secretary, said yesterday that the Kansas City Blues, who will train at Maier Park in Vernon, will arrive Saturday morning. The Vernon Tigers will train at Angel Park starting Monday and will play several games with the Blues.

THE FLORIDA COMPLEX

Something in the soothing, palm-fringed skyline down along the Florida east coast seems to react with unfavorable results upon the box fighting temperament. Not satisfied with belaboring the visage, if any, of his opponent, the box fighter is inclined to obey that impulse and smite the referee. This procedure is without dignity and altogether ill-advised, since it carries no reward whatever.

Mike Nestor, a New York fifth rater, watted a swing upon the referee at Miami after being knocked out by Young Stribling. Later, at West Palm Beach, "Pa" Scribbling repeated the maneuver when his son was disqualified for hitting on the break.

Meantime the spectators have been prone to hurl pop bottles with fervor and great accuracy. A few more incidents of this nature and the sport in Florida will die a painless death.

All of which reminds me of the story of the referee who stopped counting at seven. "Get up, you quitter," he remarked pleasantly to the man on the floor.

The man did and obliged further by punching the official on the nose. The latter retaliated with a right flush on the jaw and the fighter forsook the perpendicular again.

The referee then finished the count.

EXIT SCOFFLINGLY

The scowling bold, so we are told, Has neener shame nor sense of sin.

But spends his nights in wild delights, With wicked hooch and home-made gin.

The doctors say that day by day The wicked scowflaw seals his doom, By drinking stuff that's raw enough.

And takes him nearer to the tomb. Yet there's no doubt this scurvy lout, Who needs must shake his thirst by stealth, Is stout and hale, a belly whale, For he enjoys the best of health.

BEDTIME STORY

Once upon a time there was a ball player who did not tell the manager that he was being given the worst of it. He was deaf and dumb.

They say Farmer Lodge went to South America not only to meet Luis Firpo but to see the world. The Farmer will see it from both positions—vertical and horizontal.

Alexander Alekhine, chess champion recently played a match blindfolded. Alex got all the best of it. The spectators could see perfectly.

Sig Haugdahl Booked to Race Exhibition Dash Over Ascot Speedway

What George Bentel declares is the richest prize ever won by an automobile racing pilot will be copped by Sig Haugdahl, world's speed king, holder of the 180-miles-an-hour speed record, when the Norwegian dare-devil sends his great car around Ascot Speedway Sunday afternoon. Irrespective of the issue of any race in which "Hug" may compete, the demon driver is to receive $5,000 for his exhibition drive, or at the rate of $8,000 a mile. I want Haugdahl to drive but a single lap when he unwinds his big car at Ascot," said Bentel.

"In competition he will have to use another of his cars for no one could be expected to compete against him with the huge gasoline brute with which he made that record over the Florida beach. I could have contracted for him to drive five miles if necessary, but I want that one lap to electrify the crowd as I know it will. Auto racing experts who have seen Haugdahl's dirt track drives assure me that no more nerve-paralyzing sight was ever witnessed than to glimpse the Norwegian handling his big car in the turns of a track such as Ascot.

"The money he will receive for his work on Sunday will top, by many times, the amount ever won or received by an auto driver, but he will be worth every cent of it, both for his crowd-drawing ability and by virtue of the chances he will take."

Other Speed Demons

No matter how sensational may prove the exhibition drive of Haugdahl, the speed fan must not overlook the competitive end of next Sunday's program. Ralph DePalma, Fred Licklider, Fred Horey, Leon Duray, Jack Petticoat, the Canadian national champion, Gus Schrader, European speed star, Freddy Frame, Babe Stapp, Fred Lyons, Art Davidson, "Snowy" Brown, Australian champion, Eddie Meyer, A. A. A. record holder, and many other of the stars who never worried very much about Florida beaches will be out to cop the gold and glory rewarding the visitors in the Ascot helmet dash, the George Washington sweepstakes and in other events on the card.

Ralph DePalma's Italian friends are to present him with a city lot and give a big out-door spaghetti feed in his honor before Sunday's race. The affair will be staged near the speedway.

According to racing experts the arrival of Johnny Seymour, noted eastern motorcycle racing star, holder of three of the 1923 national championships, will change the motor-bike map at future Ascot meets. Gene Walker having had things pretty much his own way against Hepburn, Weishaar, Davis and the others opposed to him.

The Boston team a pennant contending team. Now, what we want to know is, can that be a roundabout dig at the Indians? Ban didn't say a word about how the trade left them.

SAWTELLE MEETS EX-GRID STARS

SHELL OIL SQUAD FIRST GAME IN LITTLE WORLD SERIES TO TAKE PLACE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Although local fans are of course disappointed that the White Sox are not one of the contesting teams, the outcome of the series between Sawtelle and Shell Oil for the championship of the Triple A league will be watched with interest.

One year ago these two teams booked up in a three game series for the same prize, in the same league, and all semi-pro attendance records for the south were shattered. The Oilers copped the prize money, but the series went the full three games before they got the decision.

First Game Sunday

John Clarke will on Sunday lead the Royal Dutchmen against Larry Arnold's Sawtelle crew in the first battle of the little world series at Signal Hill, Long Beach.

According to the advance sales of tickets, these games will be better attended than any played in the southland this year. A pair of first class twirlers, Fred Fairbanks of the Oilers and Charley Barnabe of Sawtelle, will be pitted against each other on the mound. Each club will use the same line up that comprised the team during the pennant race.

WHITE SOX WILL BATTLE PEACHES

Locals and Title Winners Contest Next Sunday On Home Grounds

After battling the St. Louis Colored Giants in the fifth and deciding game of the series today, the White Sox will make their last appearance of the season Sunday against the Lankershim Peaches, winners of the pennant in the San Fernando Valley League.

Lankershim has one of the heaviest hitting clubs in Southern California, and despite the fact that the Triple A League is rated as stronger than the Double A organization, the White Sox will have their hands full to turn in a win over Earl Garren's outfit.

Expect Decision

A decision is expected within a short time regarding the status of the new league which Frank Kerwin expects to form in Southern California. If this deal falls through, independent ball will hold the attraction of Glendale fans this summer.

The White Sox pitching selection for Sunday has not been announced. It is doubtful if "Lefty" Thomas can come back with only one day's rest, but Frank Kerwin, through his office in Los Angeles, is dickering for a northern twirler in the hopes that the White Sox can uphold the honor of the Triple A organization in Sunday's game.

Broadway Fans Like Chances of Spalla

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Broadway sharpshooters think nothing of Farmer Lodge's chances against Frail-Arm Luis Firpo in Buenos Aires tomorrow night, but almost to a man they are disposed to shoot a careless dollar on Erminio Spalla, provided the odds are right. Erminio is to follow the Farmer into the ring against Firpo in less than two weeks and they do say that an excellent time will be had by all.

Spalla, heavyweight champion of Europe, fought around New York several years ago and the impression he gave was a tough citizen who brushed his teeth with a file.

Luis is said to have waxed indulgent since the memorable night of September 14 and is not believed to be the same man who cast Jack Dempsey out among the gentlemen of the press.

Thousands Awaiting Start of Dog Derby

ASHTON, Idaho, Feb. 22.—Bulging with two or three times its normal population, seething with a tension that only the crack of the starter's gun can break, this little town up toward the Yellowstone, is awaiting the start of the American dog derby today from a long string of parked private cars and special trains brought up the steel trail of the Union Pacific from the south, the thousands from civilization are rubbing shoulders with those down the long snow trails through the forests.

Joe Tierney Hangs Up Sprinting Record

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Athletic enthusiasts today hailed Joe Tierney of Holy Cross as the possible winner of the Olympic 400 meter race as a result of the world's record he established for the 500 yards at the New York A. C. games last night. Tierney's time was 58 seconds, clipping 3-5 of a second from Jack Driscoll's old mark.

EX-GRID STARS FILL YANK RANKS

All Barrow Needs Now Are Some Bass Bawl Men and Season's On

By FORD C. FRICK
For International News Service
NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The Yankee football team is now recruited to full strength.

All Corporal Ed Barrow needs now is a few baseball players, then everything will be set for the opening of the season.

Among the prominent football stars to attach their names to contracts recently were young Mr. Hinkey Haines, late of Penn State; Mike Gazella and L. J. Urban. All three of the men mentioned are hopeful of adding baseball laurels to be worn with their football chaplets before the season has come to a close.

Mike McNally, Scranton coal dealer, also sent in the papers. His contract, however, will be listed under the fitting caption of "baseball prospects," rather than with the category of "football certainties."

As matters now stand the Yanks, regardless of baseball ability, should be able to step out and carry off the semi-pro football honors single-handed. Lou Gehrig, known as the "Buster," and Harvey Hendricks, who pitches a mean drop-kick, already are in the fold and honing for action.

Lacking other baseball information to spring upon the chilled and unsuspecting public, Corporal Barrow picked yesterday as the proper time for announcement of the rookie squad which will form the first battalion and will leave these parts for New Orleans February 29.

In the crew, in addition to Manager Huggins, Coach Charley O'Leary and various and sundry war correspondents, the squad will be composed of Martin Autrey, Bennie Bengough and L. J. Urban, catchers; Adolfo Arguijo, George Dumont, Milton Gaston, Fred Newberry, W. Ben Owen, C. E. Olsen, George Pipgras, Oscar Roettger, Ben Shields and Henry Swenson, pitchers; Mike Gazella, Lou Gehrig, Ernie Johnson and Mike McNally, infielders, and Earl Combs, Hinkey Haines, Harvey Hendricks and O. D. Tucker, outfielders.

A very sizeable squad, that—and one that will give Hug plenty of exercise and brainfog. The regulars will not report until Sam Clapham, British mat expert, twice here last night. The first fall came at the end of one hour, seven minutes and five seconds of fast and scientific wrestling.

THE GLENDALE

Herbert Rawlinson is "His Mystery Girl," now showing at the Glendale theatre, a Universal attraction, eclipses in interest and power any of this star's previous offerings. It is a rollicking comedy-drama that sustains an element of mystery so pleasing to audiences because of the well balanced strain of comedy throughout.

In "His Mystery Girl" Rawlinson is in situations that repeatedly present him an opportunity to demonstrate his fighting ability, but fate usually wandered in and upset opportunities for what otherwise would have been a demonstration of the "manly sport."

In addition, five acts of standard vaudeville are included on the bill today and tomorrow at the Glendale theatre.

Ted Thye Holds His Title Against Briton

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 22.—Ted Thye, Portland, retained his light heavyweight wrestling championship title when he threw Sam Clapham, British mat expert, twice here last night. The first fall came at the end of one hour, seven minutes and five seconds of fast and scientific wrestling.

THE GATEWAY

"Big Brother," the Alan Dwan-Paramount production now showing at the Gateway theatre with a cast including Tom Moore, Edith Roberts, Raymond Hatton and Joe King, is a Rex Beach story of a gangster who undertakes to bring up an orphan boy.

The theme is that old yet ever new topic of regeneration. The story centers around one Jimmy Donovan and a little fellow, Midge, an orphan, left absolutely alone in the world when his "big brother" is killed at the season's big social event, an annual dance of the Pat McGraw Pastime club.

Big Ben Murray was Jim's pal and Donovan's last words to his faithful lieutenant were a promise to bring the kid up straight. He fights a terrific battle with himself and finally manages to go straight, though he hates the police.

BETTING IS DEBATED

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 22.—Betting on horse races in Kentucky still had the upper hand here as the Senate recessed with plans all set for a vote on adoption of a minority report from the committee handling the anti-horse racing bill. The committee report was unfavorable to the bill, but a minority report favored it.

Dear Sirs:—I like an Occidental first because I think it a wonderful gas saver. I would not have believed it possible a stove could make such a difference in the gas bill. My gas bills have been about one-third what they ever were before, even when my other stove was new.

I find the Robertshaw Oven Heat Control all that one could ask for. It is very dependable. Cakes bake so nicely and pies are done to a turn. It is especially nice for custards or anything where you want slow, even heat. I haven't burned a pie, cake or pudding since I had my Occidental. It is such a relief to know that you can even go away for hours and know that your food is being taken care of just as well as if you were there to watch it.

I am most pleased with my Occidental. I like it better the longer I use it.

Yours sincerely,
MRS. M. MINTNER.

POINCARÉ STIRS BAVARIANS HATE

Dr. Franz Schweyer Calls Him 'Scoundrel' Aiding German Separatists

By BERNARD PERSON
 For International News Service.
 MUNICH, Feb. 22.—Where-ever one goes in Bavaria these days one hears a hymn of hate against France. Today, in an exclusive interview with the Bavarian minister of interior,
 Dr. Franz Schweyer, the reporter casually mentioned Poincaré's name, whereupon the usually very dignified minister completely lost his temper. Pounding the table with his fist, he cried:

"That scoundrel—do you understand me?—that scoundrel Poincaré has the effrontery to declare in the French Chamber that France is observing an absolutely neutral attitude toward separa-tism in the occupied territories.
 All the world knows that France is actively supporting separatism in every way she can. But, believe me, the day will come when she will suffer for it. In ten or twenty years we shall see who really lost the war!"

Having calmed himself, Dr.
 Schweyer apologized for having lost his temper, though adding:
 "But what I have said to you just now goes. Only I am sorry to get so excited; but no true German can talk about France without getting furious."

Laments Civil War
 The talk then turned to the various illegal armed organizations in the Reich, and especially in Bavaria. The minister of the interior said:

"No nation that has been trampled into the dust as we have can recover its strength and greatness through civil war. I am an opponent of the whole idea of secret combat organizations, for I trust none of them. As you know, I once threatened to quit the cabinet because the other members of the government did not take the same view in this matter. The great trouble with all these organizations is that they cannot keep from meddling in party politics.

Fratellini Brothers Receive 'Palms of Academy's' Coveted Symbol

By HARRY R. FLORY
 For International News Service.
 PARIS, Feb. 22.—Laugh producing is a legitimate occupation in these dark days in France and worthy of high reward.

So ruled the French Minister of the Beaux Arts recently in awarding the purple ribbon of the "Palms of the Academy" to the Fratellini Brothers—Paul, Francois and Albert—circus clowns of international reputation, who for years have been chasing the blues away from every European capital from Moscow to Madrid.

The honor is one of only slightly less importance than an appointment to the Legion of Honor.

Although of Italian nationality the brothers are truly international, the third generation of a famous family of clowns and acrobats. The fourth Fratellini generation also has entered the sawdust ring, the eleven children of the three brothers taking part regularly in the sure-fire laugh producers of their fathers.

Talented Linguists
 Masters of half a dozen languages, the senior clowns make use of most of them in their act, with a plentiful sprinkling of English. They have never been in America, but they still have hopes of reaching the land of dollars.

Part of their present clown act is built around the American song —still fairly popular in Paris—
 "Yes, We Have No Bananas Today." Albert adds reality by tossing fresh vegetables to the crowd, joining in the chorus by playing a jazz flute concealed in a leek.

In addition to their act at the Medrano Circus, in the Montmartre district of Paris, the three brothers also appear twice daily at the Olympia Music Hall and every night, after midnight, at Reclor's Club, exclusive night cabaret, managed by Harry Picer, the American dancer.

"We have a heavy day tomorrow," Paul explained to International News Service, while detailing the life history, aims and ambitions of his troupe. "We appear seven times—our regular five turns and, in addition, at a bene-

Serve Yourself in Japan's Mountain Resorts at

By DUKE N. PARRY

 TOKIO, Feb. 22.—Paris, New-York and other great cities of the world have their self-operating lunch rooms, other places of importance have their various automatic devices merely pushes a button and receives the purchase he desires.
 But it remains for Japan to begin the operation during this winter season of the self-operating hotel, a place where there is neither garcon nor maitre de hotel, where the table boy, the bath boy and the dozen or more other varieties of servants are absolutely lacking.

DUKE PARRY

The Japanese self-operating hotel was inaugurated during the month of November by the keepers of mountain inns in the north of Tokio—inns called upon by the winter mountain climber and in every winter in the past closed to business. These mountain inns in the "Japanese Alps," a section where beautiful scenery abounds, are popular all during the summer months, as Japanese go to them in crowds and many foreigners, attracted by the scenery and delightful climate, spend their vacations climbing among the mountains. In past summers it has been customary to close the mountain inns after a successful summer's business had been concluded, and consequently those who have traveled through the Japanese Alps in winter have had to seek shelter in huts or wherever they could find it.

Latchkeys Out
 This year the inns, minus prop-ertors and staffs, will have the latchkeys out. The guests, arriving after a hard tramp through the mountains, will find a well-stocked bin of charcoal for the tiny Japanese stoves, clean rooms, which they will be expected to leave as clean as they find them, and a well-stocked larder, which will provide them with all necessities in the way of foodstuffs.

A price list will announce the price of each sort of canned goods in a big pantry and the price per scuttle of charcoal, and all the other articles which will be available. When the guests leave it will be up to them to deposit the money for the amount of goods they have used, and what they think is right for their hotel bill, in a big metal money box, which will stand in a corner of the office.

Skiing, mountain climbing and tobogganing in the snow around Kamikochi have become more and more popular in North Japan, and around this center will operate these self-operating inns. The inn-keepers around Kamikochi are in hopes that their self-operating inns will do a thriving business during the winter months and inn-keepers in other parts of Japan are watching this new venture, with the idea of adopting the system if it proves successful in the north.

Women Wearing Vivid Hue Indoors and Out With Shoes to Match

By ETHEL MARSHALL
 For International News Service.
 LONDON, Feb. 22.—After several weeks of the "blues," fashion is taking a turn in another direction and is embarking on an allred route.

Dressmaker's prophesy that in the early part of this year women will be red from head to heel, indoors and in the streets. There are already signs of it.

Red shoes are now to be seen at all the West End shops, and such gay footwear is having a very big sale. These shoes are mostly made from kidskin or other soft leather and generally are of the strap or sandal shape.

Bright pillar-box red shoes are worn more than those of deeper shades of the color. There is also a demand for shoes with champagne, gray or black straps, heeled with red.

The increase in the use of red footwear is bound to revive red fashions, since many women dress to their shoes.

A leading dressmaker said that at present red is being used considerably for evening wear, but not to any great extent for street clothes.

The Duchess of York has lately appeared twice in red evening frocks, which fashion is sure to be followed by many women who take her as their fashion leader.

Red and gold lacquer evening coats are popular, while frocks and hats are made from similar stuff.
 Pillar-box and cerise hats are promised among the new year millinery fashions, and red coats and wraps are promised a bigger public than they have had for many years.

There are also gloves which illustrate the red route which fashion is taking; all-red gloves and gloves decorated with red, but it is doubtful if any women will be seen wearing them.

 sibly two American Catholic prelates may be created cardinals at was mentioned as one of them.

 ligations to American prelates for their support.

DISEASED MINDS LEADING RED REVOLT, SAYS DEAN

Deranged Degenerates Should Be Killed Off Like Mad Dogs to Prevent Spread Of Doctrines, Theory Advanced

By DAVID M. CHURCH
 For the International News.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Degenerate and diseased revolutionary leaders should be killed off like mad dogs.

Dean Inge, known as "The Gloomy Dean" of St. Paul's makes this startling suggestion.

Nearly all the "red" leaders in Russia, diagnosed by some medical professors who escaped, were of unsound mind, most of them alcoholics or diseased, and many addicted to drugs, the Dean declared.

Russia will soon become a state of peasantry, governed by a military tyranny, which will call itself something else, the Dean said.

Calls It Epidemic
 "I think it is really an epidemic disease," continued the Dean, "a contagious moral insanity. It may be that in time it will lose its deadliness, like smallpox;
 but the laws of psychical contagion are not yet known."

"If, as I believe, this poison is actually contagious it is justifi-cable to kill the infected like mad dogs, unless we prefer the more expensive and less safe way of imprisonment. We cannot allow moral poisons to be scattered broadcast, and we cannot allow fanatical minorities to conspire against the community."

Bolshevism is a reversion to savagery, the Dean said. Local conditions favored it, especially in the great masses of jewels which had been accumulated by the Russian churches and aristocracy. These jewels have kept the Bolshevik Government going for a time, but they have now been expended, and the communist experiment is at an end, the Dean predicted.

No Danger of Revolt
 The only successful communist experiments in history have had either a religious or celibate basis, the Dean said, and of this the Catholic monasteries are obvious proof.

The Dean announced himself as a believer in heredity and therefore is of the opinion that the supply of degenerates who figure largely in troubles should be cut off. The present system, he added, is simply perpetuating the least successful classes of the community.

There is no danger of a revolution in England, according to the Dean, for the people of this

Salt Water Endangers Island Artesian Wells

HONOLULU, Feb. 22.—Honolulu may wake up some morning to find its numerous artesian wells turned salt.

This is the warning of Hydro-graphic Engineer E. D. Burchard, of the United States Geological Survey, who has recently completed a careful checking up of the artesian level and ascertained that year by year and month by month the basin underlying Honolulu and the entire island of Oahu is falling.

The rise in January and February of last year, which was the high period of the wet seasons, was steep and high owing to excessive rains, but the subsequent decline was more rapid than ever before. It is still in progress and will not be checked until the winter rains set in.

"This proves," says Burchard,
 "that the natural reservoir is of small capacity. Were it otherwise the rise following heavy rains would be slow, and the decline would correspond, but these abrupt fluctuations show a shallow reservoir. To my mind the danger here is not so much exhaustion of the artesian basin—the pressure of the sea will always keep it up to a certain level—as the intrusion of salt water in such quantities that the quality of our drinking water is impaired."

Coincident with well readings analyses of the water are being made to determine the saline content at various levels.

CONFESSIONS OF A BABY

A Flashback

"Doctor, is he all right? Is he—is he normal?" My father is so anxious I'm pathetic.

"Yes, Harry, he is a perfect specimen of baby manhood."

"But, Doctor—his head? It's so misshapen! No one in our family has a head like that. You're sure he hasn't—what do you call it, hydrocephalus? Water on the brain?"

Doctor laughs. "No! Hydrocephalus—why, of course not! He is perfectly normal. Babies very often have their heads elongated like that, especially first babies, from the long pressure in the birth canal. Their heads are mouldable, due to the fact that the head bones are not completed until some time after birth. This is a wise provision of nature both for the baby and for the mother. You mustn't worry about his head. It will attain normal shape in a few days."

Daddy gives a sigh of relief. His fond and anxious eyes begin a further inventory of his first born.

"My word, what a chest! Takes after me!" He struts a little. "But—er, Doctor—er—isn't he a little out of proportion? Will that be all right, too? Seems that his chest, as well as his head, is way too big for the rest of his body. And his legs, aren't they bow-legged and too short? Will they be all right, too, Doctor?"

He evidently hates to let Doctor know that he has any doubts as to my perfection, but he is so lovingly anxious that he can't restrain himself.

"Yes, Harry, my boy." (Doctor has known my daddy since he was a little boy, too.) "He is out of proportion—his chest and head are too big for the rest of his body—his legs do seem ridiculously short—he is bow-legged—he's as red as an Indian—he's covered with fine hair. But he's a perfect baby nevertheless, my dear Harry. A baby's proportions are not like an adult's. He's perfectly normal. His legs will straighten out and his body will grow in proportion; he will lose that fine downy hair (lanugo, we call it) and he will bleach out. Now, are you satisfied?"

"Oh, Doctor, I—I—you know—well, Doctor! Gee, isn't he wonderful?"

This conversation between my daddy and my doctor occurred when daddy got his first good look at me after I was born.

BEAUTY CHATS

WAVING THE HAIR
Waved hair is not universally becoming as many people think. In fact the woman who is born with straight hair usually looks best if it is kept straight. However, there are many occasions when at least a little wave in the hair is desirable, one of the occasions being just after a shampoo.

Be careful how you use a curling iron. If it is too hot it burns and dries the hair, and makes a tight, unbecoming frizz. If the tongs of the iron are too small it makes a close, tight curl, old fashioned and stiff. The best time to wave the hair is immediately after the shampoo, and the best way is to roll fairly thin strands and wind them round and round a flexible, kid covered curler, or even around a roll of tissue paper. If the hair is not quite dry it produces a more lasting wave. In any case the wave will be soft and the hair much easier to do up.

One small hint. When you have twisted the hair in order to curl it don't brush it out, but comb it. If you draw the comb gently through the hair it will make a loose, natural-looking wave, then when the hair is done up take the fine tooth part of the comb and run it gently just over the surface of the hair. This makes the waves smooth and makes them set well.

If you use an iron get a large thick one, heat it slowly, for a slow heat lasts longer. Test it first on a bit of white tissue paper before you try it on the hair. If it scorches the paper it is too hot. It gives better and more lasting wave if the iron is only moderately warm and if the hair is curled around it for some time. Even the straightest hair should stay in curl for a fortnight if it is properly waved immediately after the shampoo. Hair waved on curlers will not last so long. It is absolutely harmless to wave the hair this way.

M. E. C.—I will be glad to mail you the formula for cyclash tonic if you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope in which to forward it.

E. V. H.—A drop or two of benzoin in a basin of water will be as much of an astringent as you will need. Before using the hot water on your skin at night massage into it, especially where the blackheads are, plenty of cleansing cream; proceed from then on as you have been doing.

Be careful if you use a curling iron and finish with the astringent. I will be glad to mail you the formula for a hair tonic if you send the customary stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

A HOMEBREAKER
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am in my early "teens," married, and have a small son. I do not love my husband although he is very good to me. But for the sake of my son I feel that I should remain with him. I know that I could not make a living for my child and give him all that he will have if I stay with my husband. Am I selfish in remaining with my husband only for the child's sake?

There is another man who makes love to me and it is impossible for me to avoid seeing him. When I see him he infatuates me until I almost think that I love him. He says he doesn't think I am happy and that I would be happy if I would enjoy myself with some one else a little. I know I cannot be strong enough to resist him much longer although so far I have not encouraged him.

What shall I do? Get a divorce or remain with my husband and try to pray to be strong and resist temptation?

INFATUATION
When a woman is unhappy with a man, she, and she alone, is in a position to decide whether freedom is necessary to her happiness and self-respect, or whether she will be more contented added before you put the dump-truck in."

Plased to meet you, 1924! We have heard of you before. You've been touted quite a while in a loud and hopeful style. You're the year that's going to be bursting with prosperity. To you, speakers point with pride. You will give one grand joy-ride. When we've worried, blue and glum, And have squawked and hollered some, Optimist have made the roar: "Wait till 1924!" Listen, 1924. We'll believe this gag once more. Hope your press stuff has been true. We will give one chance to you. But we are skeptics hereabouts, And we somehow have our doubts. We're beset by anxious fears You'll be just one of them years, Starting out to do your best, Ending up like all the rest. Be yourself. We won't get sore. Plased to meet you, 1924!

CONFESSIONS OF A CYNIC
I have one pet aversion in the way of human beings, and he is the man who calls me up and asks me how I liked the present he gave me. I don't think the recent year warmth when in your heart you feel only indifference. Try to be more cordial and interested in people in general, and by making the effort you will find yourself a better mixer. Do not let yourself remain silent simply because it takes too much effort to talk. This will grow on you unless you take hold of yourself and form the habit of geniality.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

By DANIEL O'CONNELL

For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—California's redwood trees, made famous by many writers in song and story, are to be saved!

Replanting of cut-over forest land is the method which has been adopted to keep the giants of the forests safe from the ravages of commerce.

While individuals and groups throughout the state and nation have made the well-known welkin ring with pleas to save the redwoods, a report just made public by the California Redwood Association is the first record of any great accomplishment.

Next winter, the association announces, 3000 acres will be replanted in redwood seedlings, 5000 acres will be covered in the following year, and the succeeding winter 10,000 acres will be planted.

In an alley twenty-five feet from Market street, the busiest street in San Francisco, Christian services are conducted daily. Beneath the shadow of a great newspaper plant at noon each day the tunes of old-fashioned hymns may be heard above the rumble and roar of Market street.

Often a huge roll of paper, stayed at midday in the trip to the newspaper pressrooms, is used as an improvised pulpit, and in front of this paper roll gather the city's quaint singers.

F. O. Goercke, musical director of the "City Tabernacle," who assists in conducting the "Alley" services, finds his daily pastors, who read from the Bible and preach a short sermon, from all walks of life. A boilermaker, a tinsmith, a broker, a business man, two ordained ministers, a barber and a street cleaner are among those who conduct the preaching part of the services.

According to Goercke, converts are made almost daily. The meetings are interdenominational in character, although after men begin to attend the daily meetings regularly they are urged to join a church for Sunday worship.

A tiny folding organ, often placed atop an immense paper truck, provides music for singing of the crowd's favorite hymns. At the "Cross," "Wonderful Words of Life," "Rock of Ages" and "What a Friend is Jesus" are the special favorites.

Mary Garden—not the maker of perfumes, but the sweet singer herself—didn't slap Alice Gentle's face.

The San Francisco cantatrice says so herself. Miss Gentle said she was glad to set at rest a story that she had been rebuked in Benny Leonard fashion by the temperamental star of the Chicago Opera Company.

According to Miss Gentle, she had been chosen to sing the lead in "Carmen" during Miss Garden's absence from Chicago. Miss Garden returned unexpectedly and found a rehearsal in progress. She made no effort, it was said, to conceal a singer. She talked as the rehearsal went on.

This display of ill-feeling, however, was not followed by anything at all fictitious. The San Francisco opera singer declared, "The face-slapping story is absurd," she said.

Campus sheiks are giving way to rustic heroes on the University of California campus at Berkeley. These new-style heroes can be recognized by their last-word blue jeans, with a red button on the right side and a narrow red stripe running down the left leg.

ODD BITS OF LIFE

"JESSIE" was only a dog, not a champion or a dog that had performed deeds of valor, but just a dog. Mrs. Carrie Duck of Boston loved her, and when "Jessie" died she provided a silk-lined casket, flowers, a "wake," an elaborate funeral and a grave in a cemetery at Dedham, Mass. And every day or so she goes to the cemetery with filmy eyes to lay flowers on "Jessie's" grave.

THE PARENTS of Vivian Fiske, 18-year-old Detroit high school girl, objected to her going with a certain high school boy. So Vivian eloped with Charles Fleming, 55, a veteran Great Lakes sailor, and married him. And she avers she is happy.

HOW THRILLED she was! It was the first time she had ever seen snow. Mrs. Gwyer Yates, who was formerly Mrs. Christine Ballard Michel of New Orleans, got her first glimpse of a world covered with frozen beauty when she went to Omaha, Neb., as the wife of Gwyer Yates. She was happier at the moment than she was when she gave $2,000,000 to Southern charity.

WHEN THEY were in school 35 years ago they were inseparable chums. They pooled their marbles—greater love hath no boy than this. Then their footsteps turned into different roads and they saw nothing of each other until the other day when they found their ties of friendship so strong they decided to go into business together. Now Edward Clifford and Edward Collday, the inseparable chums in Virginia, Ill., are practicing law together in Washington D. C. Collday is president of the Board of Trade. Clifford was formerly assistant secretary of the treasury.

HE WAS BORN in Maryland on Nov. 11, 1823, the year the Monroe Doctrine was promulgated. William Jackson, of Lincoln, Ill., thinks he has more living descendants than any other centenarian in the United States. He would like to hear from any one who has. Seven children, 43 grandchildren, 71 great grandchildren are in his family, a total of 127.

United States government uses more than 300,000,000 envelopes to handle government business annually.

The sophomores, feeling that their manly beauty was not sufficiently displayed and that a touch of red would supply what they lacked, started this new movement of wearing jeans.

Besides the aesthetic reason for the wearing of these simple garments, the sensible sophomores realize that it will save them buying so many suits and will leave them more money with which to beguile the fair co-ed's smile.

Timely Views on World Topics

"THIS IS AGE OF MORAL LILLIPUTIANS," SAYS NEW ASSOCIATION HEAD

"The Giants who took part in the convention which drafted the constitution 135 years ago would be ruled out today if a question were made for another constitution-making convention, supposing we had that to do all over again."

So says Robert E. L. Saner, president of the American Bar Association.

"It would be impossible under the present dispensation to elect them," in his opinion. He continues: "A representative of the Anti-Saloon League would immediately send out a questionnaire asking George Washington and John Marshall if they never in all their lives took a drink, and a representative of the Blue Sunday League would interrogate Benjamin Franklin as to whether he ever flew his kite on Sunday in Philadelphia.

"Do you mean to say that even such great statesmen as those would be treated in that way if they were alive today?" he was asked.

"I mean that this is the age of the moral and political Lilliputians and the land of Lilliput, instead of producing Gullivers, shackles them by the overwhelming numbers of its mediocrity and mendacity.

"We have wandered far, in the past ten or fifteen years, from the ideals and conceptions of the Fathers as to the constitutional government.

"This is a critical period. It is certainly one which calls for serious thought on the part of every American citizen. Whenever a railroad crosses a highway there is a sign which reads, 'Stop—Look—Listen.' Momentous changes have risen out of the world war. There are tendencies today which are as dangerous to the American people as an express train is to a man who stands in front of it. We ought to listen—now, at once, before it is too late—to the real voice of the great American people.

"That voice is in the constitution of the United States. It represents the landmark toward which all previous efforts for a larger freedom and a better government had converged, and from which all our subsequent history developed. Here and now I plead that it shall not be removed.

"The men who made the constitution wisely foresaw that with its diversity in population and with the possibility of its unparalleled extension geographically this nation would not find the theory of pure democracy either a safe or suitable form of government. They therefore ordained that the only form of government on the one hand to safely avert from tyranny, on the other hand from mobocracy, should be one in which the people not as individuals but through their representatives, chosen for their wisdom, knowledge, sincerity and patriotism, should control that government.

"Not only is constitution-tinkering the leading outdoor and indoor sport with the typical politician today, but hand in hand with it goes the steadily increasing encroachment of the federal government upon the rights of the commonwealths and the individuals who are citizens of those commonwealths. Paternalism in this country today runs mad.

"We are no longer a united, homogeneous people. We no longer legislate and plan for the benefit of the American people as a whole nation. We are now confronted by 'bloes,' which are always engaged in their sinister kindling of the flames of class consciousness, and the attempts by ambitious and weasel-minded demagogues to divide the citizens of this nation against themselves."

Dinner Stories

When Padorewski was on his last visit to Boston, it is related, he was approached by a bootblack who called:

"Shine?" The great pianist first refused, but when the bootblack became persistent, he looked down at the youth, whose face was streaked with grime and said:

"No, my lad, but if you will wash your face I will give you a quarter.

All right, exclaimed the youth, who forthwith ran to a neighboring fountain and made his ablutions. When he returned Padorewski held out the quarter, which the boy took, but immediately handed back, saying:

"Here, Mister, you take it yourself and get your hair cut."

This is the favorite golf story of Chick Evans or Gene Carazzen, we forget which.

"Fore!" yelled the golfer, "ready to play. But the woman on the course paid no attention.

"Fore!" he shouted again with no effect.

"Ah," suggested his opponent in disgust, "try her once with 'three-ninety-eight.'"

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BOB CAT'S PIPE

In his den sat the old Bob Cat himself and the Fuzzy Fox.

"Well, what are we going to do about it?" asked the Bob Cat. "I don't know," barked the Fox. "I tried to catch him yesterday in the woods, but he got some sort of a fairy to throw tree branches at me and I had to run away."

"It doesn't take much to make you run away!" sneered the Bob Cat.

"What's that?" angrily barked the Fox, starting from his chair. "I said it's a long while since we've had such a fine day!" spoke the Bob Cat, loudly.

"Oh," growled the Fox. "I thought you were talking about me. But what about Uncle Wiggily? As you remarked, what are you going to do about it? How are we going to catch him to nibble his ears?"

The Bob Cat thought for a while, and then he said: "I think I know a trick I can play on that rabbit."

"How? What kind?" eagerly asked the Fox. "With my pipe," went on the Bob Cat.

"Do you mean play a tune on your pipe?" asked the Fox. "I hardly think that will do. Uncle Wiggily has a photograph to play for him, and—"

Just wait until I finish, and then you'll know more about it," said the Bob Cat, snappishly. He and the Fox were always on the edge of a quarrel, it seems.

"Here is what I shall do," went on the Bob Cat. "I will take my smoking pipe and go to Uncle Wiggily's bungalow. I will watch my chance and slip in when he isn't looking. Then, when I am inside, I will blow smoke in his eyes from my pipe.

"The smoke will make him close his eyes. It will make him cough and sneeze, and while he is doing this, I will grab him and run out with him!"

"And will you bring him here to the den, where I can have some nibbles off his ears?" asked the Fox, eagerly.

"That's what I'll do," promised the Bob Cat. "I'll get my pipe ready now and fill it with strong tobacco."

So the bad chap did this. Meanwhile, not knowing anything of what was in store for him, Uncle Wiggily was helping Nurse Jane in the hollow stump bungalow.

The rabbit gentleman was drying the dishes for his muskrat lady housekeeper.

Just as the last dish was dried, the telephone rang. Nurse Jane, answering it, talked to Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig.

"What's that?" You want me to come over and look at your new hat?" spoke Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Well, I'll be over after a while. Uncle Wiggily has been so kind as to stay in and help me with the dishes, and I don't want to run away now and leave him alone to hang up the towels."

"Nonsense!" laughed the bunny gentleman, twinkling his pink nose as he heard what Nurse Jane said. "Run along over to Mrs. Twistytail's if you wish and look at her new hat. I'll hang up the dish towels, and then I'll hop out and have an adventure."

So Nurse Jane ran across the lots to the lady pig's house. And the Bob Cat, hiding behind the bushes, saw her go.

"No, Uncle Wiggily is all alone in the bungalow," whispered the Bob Cat to himself. He was hiding under the current bushes, smoking his pipe. "I'll slip in and blow smoke in that rabbit's face," whispered the Bob Cat. "Then I can easily carry him off to the den."

No sooner said than done! Nurse Jane, thinking she was coming back very soon, did not close the door tightly. She left it partly open, and the Bob Cat slipped in. Uncle Wiggily was hanging up the dish towels to dry.

"Well, here I am!" snarled the Bob Cat, standing in the middle of the floor.

"Oh! Oh, dear!" exclaimed poor Uncle Wiggily.

The Bob Cat was just going to blow the smoke when he found that his pipe had gone out. He was in a pretty fix! But the Bob Cat was bold.

"Get a match and light my pipe!" he roughly ordered Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, if he only came to get a light for his pipe, it's all right," said the rabbit gentleman to himself. "I was afraid he was after me. I'll light your pipe for you."

he said to the bad chap very politely. But, just as the bunny struck

The bunny struck the match.

Last night was made memorable in Glendale on account of the Verdugo wash breaking through its banks at Howard street.

Saturday afternoon and Sunday cars were running to Los Angeles via Eagle Rock on the Glendale-Eagle Rock and Montrose line.

The First Methodist church held a big celebration yesterday dedicating the new athletic playground located on the corner of Third and Belmont streets, donated for use by Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Reynolds.

POEMS That LIVE

TO THE WILLOW-TREE Thou art to all lost love the best, The only true plant found, Where with young men and maids distrest, And left of love, are crowned.

When once the lover's rose is dead, Or laid aside forlorn; Then willow-garlands 'bout the head Bedew'd with tears are worn.

When with neglect, the lover's base, Poor maids rewarded be For their love lost, their only gain Is but a wreath from thee.

And underneath thy cooling shade When weary of the light, The love-spent youth and love-sick maid Come to weep out the night. —Robert Herrick.

A couple of clubmen were speaking of a fellow member when one remarked:

"I dislike to say it, but really Reginald is the most egotistical young man I have ever met."

"What leads you to say that?" "Why, last week on the occasion of his birthday he sent a collect message congratulating his mother."

that ANY so-called DIS-EASE will disappear in a shorter space of time under CHIROPRACTIC, scientifically applied, than is possible under any other method of healing today?
You naturally say, WHY? Space forbids a full explanation, but suffice it to say: It is because our science is based entirely upon the relation of the Nerve System to the function of every organ. Example—If the nerves to your stomach and liver are pinched where they leave the SPINE you are unavoidably IRRITABLE and CRANKY, but you wouldn't harm anyone after a few adjustments. This is no joke, but an unalterable fact.

Rambling Family
Paul, who is 46 and business manager of the outfit, was born in Italy. His wife is English, mother of his five children—Victor, Regina, Tosca, Violet and Emmanuel.

Francois, now 44, was born in Paris. His children, four sturdy boys—Andy, Albert, Paulo and Francesco—were born, respectively, in Moscow, Paris, London and Berlin. Franco's wife is French, a former circus bareback rider. Albert, younger than Franco by two years, has only two children—Louisa and Robert. His wife is of Italian nationality and was formerly a singer and dancer in London.

At least three of the boys are following in their fathers' footsteps, both literally and figuratively. Made up in the same style as their illustrious fathers, every afternoon and evening, in the Medrano Circus, these members of the fourth generation of clowns draw almost as many laughs as the wearers of the purple ribbons. They are envied by all the children of Montmartre.

BURBANK

OF CITY CHARTER

Present Condition Leads to Infraction of Laws,
Attorney Claims

Burbank is breaking laws about as fast as the City Trustees can make them, if not faster, according to W. S. Furman, a local attorney, who told the Kiwanis club that as a city of the sixth class it is illegal to have more than one man on the police department, among other things, and that the only solution to the problem is to adopt the charter form of municipal government.

"By adopting a charter," says he, "a city becomes in a large measure a law unto itself. By such a means, laws, ordinances, rules and regulations can be made, and the various departments can be organized to fit the situation."

The first step in bringing about a charter form of government, according to Mr. Furman, is the taking of a new official census. Burbank at the time of the 1920 census did not have the required number of inhabitants to permit the adoption of the charter form of government. It has since grown sufficiently to permit such a change. The city, however, will have to have a definite manner in establishing this fact which can only be done by means of a special census. Otherwise it would be necessary to wait until 1930 for the next national census.

Plan Charter Meet
In order to feel out public sentiment on the charter plan, a mass meeting is to be held Friday night, February 29, at the Thomas A. Edison school, under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce.

Judge A. A. Crawford has promised to be there with his municipal band and Mr. Furman will outline the proposition in an address similar to that given the Kiwanians, but in more detail. Manager J. W. Charleville of the Chamber of Commerce points out that the Chamber has no political motive in considering the charter form of government for Burbank but is interested solely in bringing to bear on the subject as much light as possible.

The meeting of February 29, he says, is the first of a series of monthly gatherings for the consideration of public matters.

Glee Club Operetta
On March 7 the boys' and girls' glee club of the Burbank High school will present "Pepeta," a Spanish operetta that is said to be quite new and charming.

"The story is of the comedy variety and the music is brilliant," says H. S. White of the high school faculty, who will direct the piece.

"A matinee will be given in addition to the evening performance. There are eight leading characters, a chorus of fifty voices and an orchestra of ten pieces. It is the most pretentious thing we have ever attempted."

BREAK LOOMS IN COALITION RANKS

G. O. P. Leaders Use Force
To Line Insurgents Up For Tax Bill

By A. O. HAYWARD
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The Democratic-insurgent coalition, which wrested control of tax reduction legislation from the Republican majority in the house and defeated the Mellon plan in its first test, was reported today to be weakening under pressure from the Republican leaders.

It was asserted that two or three of the Republicans who had lined up with the coalition had been won over by the regular Republicans and would go along with them in an effort to substitute the Mellon plan for the Garner plan which has been written into the bill. This opportunity will come when the perfected bill is reported to the House for passage.

Use Bonus Argument
Republican leaders are using several arguments to win the insurgents. They are telling those demanding a soldier bonus that adoption of the Garner plan kills a possible chance of the bonus, because the treasury will be left bare. Many of the insurgents are strong supporters of bonus legislation.

The tax bill was taken up with indications of a number of stiff fights ahead on several sections. One of the most stubborn of these will come when the attempt is made to repeal existing taxes on automobile repair parts, tires and accessories and reduce from 5 to 2 1/2 per cent the tax on trucks of two tons or less carrying capacity. The repeal and reduction of these taxes are demanded by the farmers.

More Fights Ahead
Other contests will arise over efforts by Frear, Republican of Wisconsin, to incorporate in the bill an excess profits tax, a tax on undistributed profits, and a gift tax, and to substitute for the existing estate tax a new and higher schedule for such taxes prepared by Ramseyer, Republican, of Iowa. Garner, the Democratic tax leader, has announced his purpose to support the Ramseyer estate tax plan.

The tax bill was changed in the House to provide that mutual beneficiary insurance companies not operating for profit and confined to local communities are exempted from taxation.

The House exempted from the corporation tax farmers' insurance or other mutual insurance companies, mutual ditch or irrigation companies, co-operative telephone companies, or like organizations if substantially all the income consists of collections from members for the sole purpose of meeting losses and expenses.

Bavarians Hate Is

leagues had the right idea; they did not care about the political convictions of their individual members, and they included even Social Democrats. Today the system of the armed groups—especially in Bavaria—is a vicious one, because they stifle personal liberty. We have begun to disarm them.

"Hitler made many mistakes, but he was right in some respects, as, for instance, in his struggle against the influence of the Socialists in the Berlin government. However, instead of weakening Berlin and strengthening Bavaria, his aim is to strengthen Berlin at the expense of the federal states. He is a 'centralist.' His movement is entirely black-white-red; there isn't even a dash of white-blue (the Bavaria colors) in it."

"Yet Germany, after all, is not fit to be one great uniform state. It is far too big for that, and it consists of too many heterogeneous parts."

Dr. Schweyer added that he categorically condemned Hitler's almost insensate hatred of Jews. Then, arising and shaking his head gravely, the minister on the interior concluded:
"The center of all danger is—Ludendorff. I wish he would leave Munich—the sooner the better. Let his go back to Prussia, where he belongs. I will not say that he violates the hospitality he enjoys here, because I do not wish to enter into a controversy on that score. But the fact is that he came to Munich because he wanted to get away from the hostile atmosphere which he felt surrounding him throughout northern Germany. It is deplorable that a man of his indubitable ability should have evidenced such astounding lack of judgment and common sense as to join Hitler in his insane adventure."
