The barque Jane Much left Liverpool de the 20th of Jan nary, arrived here on Sahirday night, with papers of tha date from England. They explain that the discussion in our indeanity bill in the chamber of deputies was suspen ded solely to consider the claims made by Russia on Franci as a counterbalance to the claims made by France on Rue rin in paranauco of the treaty of Warsaw: for the French ministry had very foolishly mosted the subject in the Monitour pending the former discussion. The liberal spirit of justice in the English journals, when commenting on our rlams on France and thurconduct of the latter nation, i kighly creditable to Britain; they consider our claims a just, or admitted to be just by the treaty; and deprecate a war betwoen nations whose citizens are friendly in every respect towards each other.

When the claims of Rossin on France are adjusted by the chamber of deputies, it is expected that our claims will finally be decided. But there is a strong opposition against ratifying the treaty: and the president Duris, unequivocally a vows that our demand is enormous; and slicald not be setthat till a renewed negotiation corner. He is joined by the Line parti, Isambert, Hyde de Neuville and others; and by some of the most spirited of the Paris journals-particularly the National, Constitutional and the Courier Francais, Ouly one French paper in the provinces supports the justice of our clouns the Memorial bordelais.

This article is evidently from some member of the cabinot of France: so that it may furnish a topic for reflection to our readers, according as their previous opinions in it induce them to conclude. Some may believe that it is a ruse de guerre on the part of Louis Philippe to induce the chambers to pass the bill of indemnity rather, than provoke war; while others may believe that the mere presentation of the bill (as the Moniteur says) "in con-squence of engraments entered into" angues an unfavorable result, when the guarantee clay-e is considered.

M. Dapin in the Chair.
The Chamber was but thinly attended, and the abrne of the Deputies of the extreme right was particu-arly remarked. At about half-past two o'clock The President read a letter from the Minister for forlarly remarked. eign affairs, forwarded to him along with certain docu-ments to be laid on the table, and relative to the American claim as ragulated by the Trenty of 1931. He also informed the Caamber, that the documents in question were of a date prior to dely quo of rejection given by the last Caamber, and that, th-morrow, Ministers would lay on the table the diplo satis correspondence and other papers of a date subsequeft to the rejection of the bill.
After adding that some of the documents were of a general, and chaers of a particular character, the President proposed that the former, such as the draught of the Treaty, together with some reports and notes of the special Lammittees that had been charged to examine the question, should be printed and districted.

Moreover, the desires the printed and districted.

M. Realiter Dumas dephanded that the returns of the A ned an vesses which had been served or sunk, should be printed. He considered that measure indispensibly n :ces ary to enable the Chamber to determine whether in indemnity should be granted, and if granted to regulate its amount. After some further discussion it was decided that all the documdats, without exception should be printed.

The Journal de Paris states that the mission of M Lubecki at Paris, is to arrange, in congert with Commis sionners appointed by the King, reciprocal claims be tween Poland and France, arising out of the long con-sinued sojourn of the French Army in Poland, after the Treaty of Tilsit, which gave rise to a multitude of recipocal demands, the settlement of which was interrupte by the peace of 1814, and has since been defer, ed from ne to time by subsequent events, though guaranteed by an additional Article, dated the 30th May 1914. The Ministerial Evening Journal has the following:

Merino has been totally defeated in Castile. The Junta has received positive intelligence of it.

The column of Seonaue has just arrived at Pampeluna, and Mina intends to assign him the command of six battalious. Cordova has set out for Madrid."
