MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Zaibatsu Appointees Examination Section Draft Bill

1. In regard to the Draft Bill Concerning Special Exceptions to Examination and Re-Examination under the Law for Termination of Zaibatsu Family Control which was presented to Government Section by OZAWA Takeo, Chief of the Zaibatsu Appointees' Examination Section on 23 December (Tab A), the following developments have taken place:

a. A memorandum (Tab B) dated 23 December outlined the subject draft bill.

b. After conferring with Major Napier, Chief, Public Administration Division, OZAWA was informed that due consideration would be shown the attached draft bill but that Government Section did not deem it advisable to take action or make recommendations in regard to it at that time.

c. OZAWA was informed in addition that that part of the draft bill providing for the application or re-application of some 129 persons whose rights of application had been forfeited would, undoubtedly, be a bone of contention if and when consideration of his bill should be takenup. He was informed, therefore, that a brief report on those 129 persons would be of value in event information was requested in future conferences on the subject bill.

d. His report was submitted to Government Section on 17 March and is attached herewith (Tab C).

2. In consideration of the Zaibatsu Appointees' Examination Section's desire to conclude its work within the present year, it is recommended that consideration be shown this draft bill. Provisions setting a final date for the filing of applications and the arbitrary designation as appointees of those failing to file appear reasonable and justifiable. However, that part of the draft bill providing for the re-application of 129 persons is a very controversial point requiring a high level decision. Recommend the required decision be made on this point and transmitted to the Zaibatsu Appointees' Examination Section.

Law concerning Special Exceptions to Examination and Re-examination under the Law for Termination of Zaibatsu Family Control (Draft)

Article 1. Any appointees who, coming under any one of the items of Article 3, para. 2 of the Law for Termination of Zaibatsu Family Control (Law No.2, 1948) (hereinafter called the Law No.2), have failed to apply for approved of their not being the appointees in accordance with Article 6 or 7 of the Law No.2, shall file such applications within three months from the day of enforcement of this Law.

Any persons who fail to apply within the term prescribed in the preceding paragraph shall be regarded as the appointees.

Article 2. Any persons who, holding, on the day of enforcement of the Law No.2, any positions of officials in any company as prescribed in Article 6, para. 2, have failed to apply for approval of their not being the appointees within thirty days from the day of enforcement of the Law No.2 in accordance with the provisions of the same paragraph may, within three months from the day of enforcement of this Law, file the applications prescribed in Article 6, para. 1 of the Law No.2

Article 3.

Article 3. Any persons, who, coming under any one of the items of Article 23, para. 1 of the Law No.2, have failed to request re-examinations of their cases to the Prime Minister within one month after the decisions of disapproval were given, may request, within three months from the day of enforcement of this Law, the re-examinations of their cases.

Supplementary Rule.

The present Law shall come into force as from the day of its promulgation.

Reason:

It is desirable to grant opportunities of restoring the rights on those persons who have lost their rights to apply for examinations or re-examinations as well as it is necessary to conclude early the examinations of those persons who have not yet filed the applications in accordance with the provisions of the Law for Termination of Zaibatsu Family Control.

December 20, 1949

On Establishing a Law for Special Exceptions to the Examination and Re-examination under the Law for Termination of Zaibatsu Family Control.

Takeo Ozawa
Chief, Zaibatsu
Appointees Examination Section

1. Early Conclusion of the Affairs for Examinations of the Candidates for New Appointment:

The business for examinations under the Law for Termination of Zaibatsu Family Control can be classified into the following four categories.

(a) Examinations of the appointees under Article 6 or 7;

(b) Examinations of officials with present positions for retention of such positions or of appointees for assumption or retention of the positions of liquidator under Article 8;

(c) Examinations concerning designation of successor companies under Article 9;

(d) Examinations concerning concellation or alteration of the designation of Zaibatsu companies under Article 10.

Of the above examinations those mentioned in (b) regarding retention of positions by officials with present position have already been concluded while only few cases are still remaining to be examined regarding retention of liquidators' offices. The cases concerning the designation of successor companies mentioned in (c) are expected to be concluded within the next year with the progress of the reconstruction and reorganization of the companies concerned whereas the cases mentioned in (d) have already been concluded.

Only the business mentioned in (a) for examinations of appointees is still not concluded though it has already been concluded so far as those officials with present positions are concerned. Inasmuch as there are no provisions for (1) limiting the period within which applications must be filed and (2) making provisional designations when those latent appointees do not file applications voluntarily, the candidates for new offices can file applications any time, when and if new positions be proposed, within the ten years in which the Law is in force. Under these circumstances the examinations under Articles 6 and 7 are retarded of the conclusion of business and it is deemed appropriate to conclude the business early by establishing a separate law to make those persons falling under Article 6 or 7 file applications within a fixed period (three months) for examinations and to regard those who fail to applications to be the appointees.

The number of those latent appointees who have been in the affected positions after 1931 whose applications were not filed is 2,215 (as at the end of the last August), it is added.

2. Regarding Restoration of the Right to File Applications for Those Who Failed to Apply for Examinations or Re-examinations;

Those who, holding any positions of officials as affected by the Law on the day of enforcement of the same Law, failed to file applications within the prescribed period (one month) are 95 in number and there are 36 persons who failed to apply for appeal after disapproved of their applications.

Major

Major part of them, in both cases, have given up the applications because too short period was provided in the Law (one month) to apply for preparing enough and necessary materials for evidences or counter-evidences.

These persons were decided to be the appointees without being examined fully with enough and necessary evidences to be considered with sympathy. Furthermore, in view of the responsibilities imposed on the conducting of examinations to identify true appointees it may well be deemed necessary to restore their rights to file applications for examinations. On the occasion of proposing prompt conclusion of examination business as mentioned in the preceding chapter it is deemed desirable to establish a law to grant applications for examination or re-examination within a fixed period (three months).

3. The draft law for the matters as mentioned in the preceding two chapters is attached herewith.

23 December 1949

MEMORANDUM FOR MAJOR NAPIER

SUBJECT: Draft Bill Concerning Special Exceptions to Examination and Re-Examination under the Law for Termination of Zaibatsu Family Control

1. On 23 December, OZAWA Takeo, Chief, Zaibatsu Appointees Examination Section, Prime Minister's Office, attended a scheduled conference with Captain Joseph of Government Section at which time he presented a draft bill concerning Special Exceptions to Examination and Re-Examination under the Law for Termination of Zaibatsu Family Control. This tentative draft bill along with his arguments pointing out its desirability are attached.

2. The Law Concerning the Elimination of Control by Zaibatsu Families (Law No. 2, 7 January 1948) made no provisions for limiting the period within which applications must be filed or for the making of provisional designations when those latent appointees did not file voluntarily. As of 1 December 2,205 of the 3,625 persons named as appointees under the Law had not filed but retained the right to do so.

3. The Zaibatsu Appointees Examination Section has concluded all business under its jurisdiction with the exception of the examination of applications under Articles 6 and 7 of the Law. The lack of any provision limiting the period within which applications must be filed seriously hinders the above section which, according to OZAWA, desires to conclude its work within the coming year. The attached draft bill makes provisions for the setting of a final date for the filing of the above applications -- 3 months from the date of its promulgation -- and the arbitrary designation as appointees of all persons failing to apply.

4. Further provision is made in this draft bill to permit the reapplication by those 95 persons who failed to apply within 30 days of the promulgation of the Law on 7 January 1948 and so forfeited their right to do so and, in addition, to include 36 persons whose applications were disapproved on first examination and forfeited their right to re-apply by not appealing the decision within 30 days. 34 (2 deceased)

OZAWA pointed out that the 30 day period provided in the Law was not sufficient time for the preparation of evidence and counter-evidence and a major part of those persons forfeited their rights only because of insufficient time. The draft bill establishes 90 days as the period in which applications for examination or re-examination must be filed.

Additional Materials to Supplement the Previously Submitted Opinion on Establishment of a Law concerning Exceptions to the Examination and Re-examination under the Law for Termination of Zaibatsu Family Control.

Takeo Ozawa,

Chief, Zaibatsu
Appointees Examination
Section

March 6, 1950.

The names of (1) those 93 persons whose right to apply for examination under the law have lapsed and (2) those 3[illegible] persons whose right to apply for re-examination have also lapsed and their positions as affected by the Law for Termination of Zaibatsu Family Control are listed in the attached sheets A and B. (However, in respect to the affected positions of those 93 persons of (1) above the list involves those positions identified by an investigation made by the Zaibatsu Appointees Examination Section as no application have been filed in regard to their cases to furnish definite materials for the list. Thus the list cannot be inferred to be without slight error but can be insisted as highly dependable.

It is quite difficult to decide, in regard to those 1[illegible]their cases, being whether Zaibatsu appointees or not on the thin materials as no application have been filed or, when filed, their applications were prepared with unsufficient materials. It is especially so when the fact that their special relations with the partinent Zaibatsu family or the circumstances under which they were appointed to those positions were quite complicated is taken into consideration.

There may be cases when those former officials must be decided as Zaibatsu appointees though their affected positions were rather minor. Thus, it seems, no hasty decision must be made without deliberate examination. And the provisional decisions now proposed to be effected on 129 persons for their being Zaibatsu appointees or not should not be considered as peremptory. Instead they might sometimes be reversed on examination of cases with sufficient materials.

These 129 persons are now proposed to be classified into the following three categories according to the weight, length and number of the affected positions assumed by then and are indicated of their classification in the attached lists A and B with the marks as shown below attached on the top of each of their names. Of those three classifications, the border-line cases will be sorted into either of the other two categories to which they should eventually referred upon examination of the cases with further materials to be turned out in the future.

X Those deemed to be Zaibatsu appointee.

△ Those on the border-line.
