

FINGER PRINT SYSTEM

GLENDALE POLICE BUREAU IS GRADUALLY ACQUIRING VALUABLE RECORDS

Recently Glendale city obtained a complete finger print identification outfit on trial with the option of purchase. The system has been in operation with complete success since then and quite a number of records have been acquired. In order to make the system thoroughly practicable and serviceable Chief of Police Herald has been going into Los Angeles once a week to take a course in finger-print reading and classification. His studies have made him quite expert in this work.

The finger print system was invented in the British India service and has been gradually introduced all over the world. It is founded on the well-known fact that there are no two finger-prints exactly alike in this world. Readers of literature will remember Mark Twain's remarkable story, "Pudd'nhead Wilson," the main point of interest in which turns on the finger print records kept by a country lawyer whom everybody laughed at for his fad. The system is quite elaborate now and every police bureau of importance in the world has its finger-print records. All the fingers are taken beginning with the right thumb. To check this plain impressions are taken by inking the four fingers and placing them all at once on a sheet of paper. It is a very simple process.

All the police lists of criminals wanted for various crimes, which are regularly sent out to every police office in the country, a complete system of exchange being thus established, now contain the classification of the finger prints of the criminals. It is thus easy to identify them should they be arrested.

It has been discovered that the existence of a finger-print bureau in a city is a certain means toward the prevention of crime. Ex-convicts are afraid to operate in any city where their fingerprints can be read and their record obtained. He knows that his previous conviction will be discovered and placed against him. When arrested these criminals usually plead guilty rather than have their previous convictions alleged in the indictment.

The deterrent value of a well-equipped and efficient bureau cannot, of course, be measured in dollars and cents, but is appreciated most by those of fullest experience in police administration. The police bureau of Glendale will not attempt to do more than take and classify the finger-prints of all criminals arrested here. These records will then be sent to the Los Angeles bureau, a copy of course being kept in this city. Crime in Glendale has been diminishing of late and the number of criminals is too few to attempt to establish exchange relations with all the bureaus in the country; but through Los Angeles all that is necessary can be obtained.

It is interesting to note that recently an attempted fraud in civil service examinations was detected through the finger-print system. Two brothers had attempted to deceive the Civil Service authorities. One brother took the physical examination and the other the written. By comparing their finger-prints the fraud was detected and they confessed.

The records in Glendale will be kept regularly and afterward the city council will determine if it should be permanently installed.

INCREASE IN BANK CLEARINGS

Bank clearing reports of the State Banking department show decided prosperity for California. For the first six months of this year the clearings in California aggregated $2,503,493,664 as compared with $2,048,923,666 during the corresponding period of 1915. This is an increase of more than 22 per cent above the Exposition year. By comparison, Oregon and Washington had bank clearings amounting to $812,060,550 for the first six months of 1916 as compared to $716,860,958 in the same months of 1916. The increase in these two States is about 13 per cent, or more than one-third less than the bank clearings in California.

GARDEN SOCIETY PICNIC

About 40 members of the Glendale Garden society and the Bird and Flower club enjoyed Saturday afternoon at Griffith park, sitting down at 4:30 to a jolly meal. A feature of the afternoon was a short talk given by Colonel Griffith, the donor of Griffith park to the city of Los Angeles, who came especially to meet the members of the Garden society.

NEWS OF THE DAY

DR. YOUNG'S STORY DOUBTED—MRS. CHASE RETURNS—LOCAL NOTES

A correspondent writes that the fish story told about Dr. T. C. Young's feat in catching fourteen fish with fourteen minnows after having lost two of the minnows and afterward cutting open one of the fish and finding them in its stomach, is a little too much for him to swallow. "I might swallow the fish," he writes, "but not the story. I must confess that I am difficult to convince on these matters. I have as much difficulty in swallowing the average fishy tale as the whale must have had in swallowing Jonah. I can only account for the doctor's wonderful insight into the anatomy of the fish he caught which enabled him to select for dissection the very trout which had swallowed the two minnows by crediting him with having carried along with him an X-Ray outfit. It must either have been that or else clairvoyance, in which the doctor may be an expert. For my part I can see through a stone wall as well as most people but I have never been able to see into the stomach of a fish.

MRS. CHASE RETURNS

Mrs. Albert Stillman Chase and small daughter, Cecil, are again at their pleasant home on Riverdale Drive, having just returned from an Eastern tour of five weeks' duration. During their absence they visited relatives and friends in Ohio and Minnesota. The journey eastward was made by way of the Grand Canyon and the return through the Royal Gorge. Eastern states were sweltering with the heat during most of their sojourn but Mrs. Chase reports a most delightful visit and a wonderful trip.

DEATH OF MRS. MCCONNELL

The Scovern-Letton-Frey company of Tropicco were called to Burbank Sunday to take charge of the remains of Mrs. Sarah Ann McConnell, wife of C. W. McConnell, who passed away at her home in that city at the age of 38 years. Besides her husband she is mourned by a son and daughter, Lanier and Constance. Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning, August 8, 1916, at 9:30 a. m. at the Burbank Catholic church. Interment in Forest Lawn cemetery.

SOCIAL AND ENTERTAINMENT

George Anderson, Fritz Bowman, George Mott and Fred Freitag, all active friends of the First Lutheran church, have planned a social and entertainment in connection with that body, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Anderson, 407 S. Isabel street, Tuesday night. The boys have a great deal of musical talent and George Anderson, who is an accomplished pianist, has arranged with others an interesting musical treat.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S BRANCH

The Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U. will hold their regular meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Richards, 117 S. Adams street, Tuesday evening, August 8. The meeting begins at 8 o'clock. All young people are cordially invited. This will be the last meeting before the State convention that is to be held here the 24th and 25th of the present month. The convention is to be held at the Presbyterian church, corner Broadway and Cedar.

TO HOLD PICNIC DINNER

The ladies of the Congregational church have been invited to spend the day, Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. Lucas Smith, 305 N. Adams street. There will be a picnic dinner at noon. This is an annual affair and is always very enjoyable. Take the Glendale-Montrose car at Brand and Broadway either at 9:35 a. m. or 10:55 a. m.

RECALLS PRAIRIE SCHOONER

A 12-cylinder automobile, with a body like the prairie schooner of earlier days, is to be used by an energetic and picturesque pioneer, who is about to make his first trip to the west coast over the famous Oregon trail, which starts in Missouri and terminates at Olympia, Wash. The earlier journeys were made with the genuine prairie schooners, drawn by ox teams. For many years the owner of this unusual car has been an advocate of good roads, and this trip also is undertaken in that cause. His car is comfortably furnished inside with a cook stove, provision shelves, bedding, etc.

WILSON CONFIDENT HE CAN CONTROL STRIKE

WASHINGTON IS DELIGHTED TO LEARN THAT THE RAILROAD WORKERS WILL ACCEPT ARBITRATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 7.—President Wilson is delighted this morning with the reports from New York, from Federal Commissioner Hanger of the Board of Mediation and Conciliation, who is conferring with the leaders of the workers and of railroad managers. It was reported to President Wilson this afternoon that the switchmen would agree before night to arbitrate the trouble. Both the labor unions and the railroad managers are afraid that if a general strike should be declared that the government may step in and operate the railroads.

BERLIN REPORTS RETAKING OF SMALL PORTION OF TRENCH IN THE REGION OF POZIERES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
BERLIN, Aug. 7.—By a series of counterattacks German troops recaptured today a small portion of the trenches recently taken by the British near Pozieres. The fight for the possession of this portion of the line is still going on. The first attack was made with liquid fire before which the British were compelled to retire. Since then they have been fighting hard to regain the ground lost.

The bill is likely to pass both bodies without much opposition. The government has assurances that a sufficient majority will be secured in both the house and the senate.

FRENCH SOCIALISTS REPUDIATE GERMANS

LARGE GATHERING IN PARIS DECIDES NOT TO RESUME RELATIONS WITH TEUTON SECTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PARIS, Aug. 7.—There was a large gathering of the leading French socialists in this city today. The whose case of the recent rapprochement of certain sections of the German socialists was taken up. The gathering was almost a unit in its determination not to resume relations with the Teutons notwithstanding their approach because they had almost to a man supported the German government in its war of aggression. The vote showed that 18,200 were against any terms with the Germans and a mere handful in favor of it.

HUGHES TO STAND FOR AMERICANISM

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN IS OPENED UP IN THE MIDDLE WEST—LEADERS ARE CONFIDENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—The final launching of the Republican campaign was begun today by the arrival here of W. R. Wilcox, the National chairman, who held a long conference with the Republican leaders in the Blackstone hotel. It is reported that Hughes will make his first appeal for votes in the coming campaign on the ground of "Americanism." He will be strong on the necessity of undivided allegiance and the avoidance of foreign entanglement.

BRITISH ROUT TURKS NEAR SUEZ CANAL

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Attacking in considerable force the Turks made a strong attempt to break through the British lines defending the Suez canal. The attempt was a complete failure and the Turks were completely routed. There were 14,000 Turks in the attack. They had a heavy German howitzer. Advancing both by direct frontal movement and in flank attack the Turks were badly defeated on the front and drawn into an ambush on the flank. Among the prisoners were a number of German officers. The British were materially aided by the guns of the monitors in Tinch bay.

CONSOLIDATION LOSES

TROPICO DECIDES BY SMALL MAJORITY TO REMAIN A SEPARATE CITY

Saturday was a day of some importance to the people of Tropicco as that was the day appointed by the board of trustees of that city to vote on the question of consolidation with Glendale. Those who were agitating the matter of consolidation had considered the matter carefully and considered that it would be for the welfare of the city for Tropicco to identify herself with Glendale. The opposition had also investigated and from what they learned decided that it was not well to be too hasty in the matter but considered it the part of wisdom to postpone the consolidation until further consideration and investigation could be given the matter.

The result of the election was that the people of Tropicco by a majority of twelve votes decided to remain a separate municipality for the present. The vote was 381 for consolidation and 393 against. There was not a large vote for so important a question as there are in the neighborhood of 1200 registered voters in Tropicco.

As the matter now stands, Glendale and Tropicco stand in the same relationship as before and there is no reason why the two cities should not continue to be friendly and on intimate terms. As some one advocating the consolidation of the two municipalities said, "The two cities are made up of very much the same sort of people, with the same ambitions and desires." What affects the welfare of one affects the other and the two municipalities should continue to be harmonious and peaceful as sister cities.

A MATTER OF CARFARE

Since the opening of the extension of the Pacific Electric Railway from Glendale avenue to the Childs' tract there has been some misunderstanding about the car fare. The people of Glendale have taken it for granted that the fare would be the same to the new terminus of the line, but have been informed that they must pay extra carfare on the new section. This has caused much dissatisfaction. The Chamber of Commerce's Railway committee has taken up the matter and hopes to see it settled satisfactorily.

WEEK END HOUSE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Mallett, of 321 E. Second street, spent the week end at San Diego. During their absence their charming niece, Miss Sarah Walker, entertained at their home with a house party. Among the guests she entertained were Misses Marjorie Dickson and Geneva Cortelyou of Los Angeles, Dorothy Washburn of Beverly Hills, Edna Dieckford of Pasadena, Annie Chase, Bertha Cole and Beulah Cole of Glendale. Miss Walker was a most royal hostess and the affair was an especially jolly one.

FAVORED ANNEXATION

Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, who is at present in Arlington, Mass., which place she had reached in the course of her tour in the East, writes that she is strongly in favor of the annexation of Tropicco to Glendale. Mrs. Richardson says that she would have hastened home if she thought there would be any doubt about the annexation carrying. Tropicco was all Glendale once, she says, and the two-roomed school which stood where Tropicco school stands, was known as the Glendale school and all Glendale attended it. Mrs. Richardson has her home in Glendale and votes here. She also pays the largest tax in Tropicco. Mrs. Richardson urges the acceptance of Mr. L. C. Brand's offer of acreage for a park. She says that she has ten acres in that locality which she would like to see in Glendale later.

MISSION CANDLE DAY

At the highly successful celebration of the natal day of the old San Fernando mission several Glendale people were prominent. Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, as president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, was chairman of one of the candle committees. She was assisted by Mrs. William Ramsay, Mrs. John Robert White and Mrs. C. W. Harlan. These ladies acted on the Reception committee and were active all throughout the interesting proceedings. Mrs. John Robert White and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett had charge of the candle lighting. It is understood that the affair was a complete success and that $5000 was raised for the restoration of the old mission.

PRODUCTION OF MEAT

C. W. INGLEDUE SAYS IT IS NOT KEEPING PACE WITH GROWTH OF POPULATION

"Meat production has not kept pace with the increase in population in the United States," said C. W. Ingledue, of the Glendale Market. "Because it has failed to do so, and because of the increased cost of production and the diminished purchasing power of the dollar, meat prices in the United States and all over the world are higher than they have ever been. There is no doubt that this country is participating in a world-wide movement and it is not likely that the situation will undergo any radical change for some time to come. On the other hand I believe that there will be a gradual growth and expansion in the world's production of beef, mutton and pork may or may not equal the rate of increase of the meat-eating population.

"One of the reasons for the decrease in meat production is the cutting down of the great cattle ranges that used to supply so much of the meat for the markets. California has seen a diminution in its cattle ranges just as other states have. California is also a great sheep state but with all its production of mutton it does not keep pace to the demand.

"The war in Europe has made a vast difference in the price of smoked meats. The European armies have made such contracts with the packers of the United States that the prices have gone up all over. Prices have advanced at least 15 per cent. Hams which a short time ago cost 22 cents a pound are now costing 24 1/2 cents.

"It is certain that these conditions have already attracted the attention of cattle raisers. Within the last two years there has been a perceptible increase in the numbers of cattle. The estimated number on farms and ranges on Jan. 1, 1916, was 61,441,000 as compared with 72,534,000 in 1907. This was an increase, however, over the number during the years previous. On Jan. 1, 1916, the number of cattle was estimated at 68,000,000 as compared with 58,200,000 in April, 1910.

"On the other hand the number of sheep declined during the same period from 52,500,000 to 49,200,000. As that decrease is not sufficient to offset the increase in cattle and swine, it may be taken as the fact that the total meat supply in the United States is increasing, but that this increase is not proportionate to the growth in population.

"The available supply of meat would be much greater, if it were not for the enormous losses caused by disease and exposure. Since 1900 it is estimated that from 1,000,000 to 1,475,000 cattle have died each year from disease and about 1,500,000 from exposure. The losses in sheep have been the same. With sheep the losses from disease have been about the same, but from exposure much larger.

"In the case of swine hog cholera has been the usual cause of death. In 1894 losses from this cause amounted to 2,200,000, but in 1914 the number was 7,000,000. If those 7,000,000 hogs had been saved, it is said, they would have produced enough meat to furnish every family in the United States with 40 pounds of pork.

"Despite the shortage in production the United States remains the greatest meat-eating as well as the greatest meat-producing nation in the world."

ARMY AND NAVY EXPENDITURES

According to the latest statistics the cost of the United States army and navy has gradually increased during the past twenty years until it is greater in proportion to its size than that of any other nation. Considered in proportion to the increase in population, or the increase in wealth, the increase in army and navy expense is not easily understood. Recent operations on the Mexican border showed that when compelled to denude every post in the country of its troops the United States was able to mobilize only 25,000 regular troops. The rest of the army, amounting to about 50,000 men, is in the Hawaiian islands or in the Philippines.

During the past thirty years the population of the United States has increased 85 per cent; the wealth of the country has increased 185 per cent and the national expenditure 400 per cent. In 1883 the appropriation for the navy was $14,903,559; in 1890 it had risen to $20,000,000; in 1914 to $140,000,000. For the year 1916 the combined cost of army and navy will be $240,000,000.

Just before the outbreak of the present war in Europe the United States was paying 67.88 per cent of its entire revenue for war and on account of war. Germany was spending 55 per cent of her revenue for war or on account of war; Japan, 45 per cent; Britain, 37 per cent, and France, 35 per cent.

At the same time the United States army was supposed to contain 91,416 men but did not have so many; the United States navy had 52,757 men. During the same period the German army contained 870,000 men, navy, 66,783. Japan: Army, 250,000 men; navy, 51,054, with a reserve force of 114,000. Great Britain: Army, 254,500; navy, 137,500. France: Army, 720,000 men and navy, 60,621.

It is singular to read that Germany's revenue exceeded that of the United States in 1912 by $60,000,000; but that American expenditure for war and on account of war exceeded Germany's by more than $50,000,000. The German army is more than eight times larger than ours. In similar fashion the army of France is more than eight times larger than that of the United States but costs a great deal less. It is evident that there is considerable room for reform in this direction. There is always a connection between the high cost of militarism and the high cost of living.

AUTO FEES FOR ROADS

Although every one of the numerous Glendale tourists who went into the Yosemite valley this summer had to pay an auto road fee there was no complaint made on that account. Everyone seemed to take it for granted that the roads have to be constructed and kept up and that as there is at present no other means of getting money to pay for them, the small tax levied is necessary, just and not exorbitant. All who went to the valley found themselves amply repaid for any small fee they had to pay.

It is interesting to learn that 90 per cent of the license fees paid in 1915 by automobilists to the States, or $16,213,387, was spent for the building and maintenance of county and State roads. In all, 2,445,664 motor vehicles were registered in 1915 and their owners paid a total of $18,245,713 for registrations and drivers' and dealers' licenses. This is an increase of $5,863,760 over 1914 and an increase of 734,325 in the number of vehicles registered. Automobile fees now defray nearly 7 per cent of the total amount spent on rural road and bridge building, whereas in 1906 the income from this source was less than three-tenths of 1 per cent of the total expenditure.

In 1901 New York, the first State to collect fees, managed to obtain only $954. In 1906 only 48,000 cars were registered throughout the entire United States. By 1915 the total had jumped to the figure given above so that there is slightly more than one motor car registered for each of the 2,375,000 miles of road outside of the incorporated towns and cities.

The relation between cars and road mileage varies widely in different sections. There is only one motor car for every 6 miles of rural road in Nevada but nearly six motor cars for every mile of such road in New Jersey. There is an average of one motor car registration for every 44 persons in the United States. Iowa apparently leads, however, with one motor car for every 16 persons, while only one for every 200 persons is registered in Alabama.

The average fee for registration throughout the United States was $7.46. The State of Vermont, however, secured in 1915 a gross revenue of $18.10 for each motor car, while Minnesota received only about 50 cents annually for each car.

In Texas and South Carolina no annual registration fees are collected, the only requirement being a county fee of 50 cents and $1, respectively, for perennial registration. Most of the States, however, levy annual taxes on motor vehicles and this adds importantly to the public revenue contributed by the owners of motor-propelled vehicles.

In the use of the fees collected there is a general tendency to employ the money in the betterment of the roads. In 42 of the States the greater part of the fees collected must be expended for the construction, improvement or maintenance of the State highway department or of the public roads. In twenty States all or the major part of the net motor-vehicle revenue must be expended by or under the direction of the State highway department. In seven States one-half to one-fourth of the State motor-vehicle-revenues are expended through the State highway department and the remainder by the local authorities.

In the number of registrations New York State led with 255,242; Illinois was second with 180,832; California third with 163,797.

It is significant to learn that the Germans have through German shipping corporations already obtained a lease of the best part of the water front in St. Thomas, the chief island of the Danish West Indies. This is the port which is essential to the defense of the Panama canal. When the United States acquired Porto Rico it acquired an island without a decent harbor. Porto Rico has

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Although many families are away on their vacation a good sized audience was present at the morning service. Mrs. Calvin Whiting sang as a solo that beautiful and much beloved piece, "The Homeland," in a most effective and finished manner. The members of this congregation always hear Mrs. Whiting with great pleasure.

The pastor, Dr. Willisford, took for the sermon topic, "Getting Ready for Tomorrow." The speaker gave a number of striking events which showed how the unexpected happens. It was stated that at least 85 per cent of all men in business fail at least once.

"The best laid schemes o' mice and men
 Gang aft a-gley,
 An' lea'e us nought but grief and pain
 For promised joy."

Toward life men take one of several attitudes.

(1) Attitude of Indifference. In this case people say, "We know not what will happen, hence we need not do anything." Such an attitude leads to indolence and idleness.

(2) The attitude of the fatalist, who says, "What is to be, will be." The folly of that view was shown. Dr. Willisford then proceeded to say that "People should not presume on tomorrow but prepare for tomorrow by performing today's duties today. People should remember, 'Every day is but a little life; and our whole life is but a day repeated.' Most, if not all, distastes and failures are caused by somebody failing to do well the work of the day."

"Happy the man, and happy he alone,
 He who secure within, can say,
 Tomorrow do thy worst, for I have lived today."

"Let us invest in certainties, deal in realities, possess the verities. Let us develop our bodies, to air our minds and cultivate our spirits, then we are ready for whatever may come."

"A part of our daily prayer should be, 'Lord, teach me to live today, for this day and in this day,' and 'teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom.'"

The second annual conference of the weights and measures officials of the State is to be held in Sacramento September 4-6. All the county sealers of weights and measures will be in attendance to discuss the operation of the various laws and to make suggestions for amendments at the coming session of the Legislature.

languished for that very reason. Of course if the United States were to purchase the Danish West Indies the country would be United States territory and the right of "eminent domain" by which the State can take for its own use whatever harbor or other property it may need would control the situation. The fact, however, that the Teutons have got in ahead of this country in the Danish West Indies is an indication, if we needed it, of the value attached to the island as a base for merchant marine or naval operations. There is no knowing what action the Senate or House may take in this matter, but if the matter is passed over again the opportunity to acquire the islands without trouble may never recur.

A GROWING BUSINESS

Many Glendale people who have passed by the store room at 1102 W. Broadway, would doubtless be surprised to know that the Jewel City Cleaning, Pressing and Hat Works, which is located at this address, was conducted and owned by Chester B. He is an enterprising young man and has worked up a large business in cleaning and pressing, but makes a specialty of all kinds of hat work, including reblocking and cleaning.

SECRETS OF HEALTH

O. H. JONES SAYS TO KEEP HEALTHY IS TO KEEP FROM BEING POISONED

The frame of the body is composed mainly of lime in the form of calcium phosphate. While the body is growing, it is necessary that the supply of lime salts should be sufficient to meet the demands of growth. When full growth has been attained, then the food and water containing large quantities of lime should be cut out. If this is not done, the excess of lime over and above what is necessary to keep up repairs, is deposited in the joints and small capillaries, enlarging and stiffening the joints; and clogging the capillaries and veins. Cut it out.

In the last article previous to this, I gave a quotation from a work by Dr. Daniel S. Sager, published in New York, in 1907.

Volumes might be written upon the subject of health and disease, and not say any more, or bring the subject more to a point, than the doctor has in my short quotation. I want to call the reader's attention to a few crisp sentences taken from that quotation.

"It is regrettable but true that a majority of people are wholly ignorant of the conduct of life, and apparently uninterested in knowing how to live." "The foundation of disease already having been laid as a result of neglect or violation of Nature's inexorable laws." "That so vital a matter as health should receive such scant attention is one of the inconsistencies often met with in human affairs." "That the principles of dietetics have not been practiced, otherwise disease would be wholly unknown." "There is only one answer, and that is that the cause for the greater part if not of all disease is the violation of certain natural laws." "We eat or drink for health or ill health (disease)." "Explain it as you will, this is the only way in which disease can occur in the human body." "That a child born of ordinarily healthy parents need never have a day of sickness or disease of any kind from its birth until its passing away."

We may further summarize the doctor's diagnosis as follows.

- 1st. The condition, as it exists, is that a majority of the people lack knowledge of the best methods of the conduct of the physical life.
- 2nd. Lack of interest in knowing how to live.
- 3rd. That the matter of health receives scant attention for the masses.
- 4th. That disease is a result either of a neglect to live in harmony with Nature's laws; or a violation of Nature's laws.
- 5th. That disease would be unknown if the rules of dietetics were practiced.
- 6th. That the cause of all disease is the violation of certain natural laws.
- 7th. That sickness can occur in the human body, only from eating and drinking.
- 8th. That sickness and disease are wholly unnecessary.

Here you have the whole problem in a nutshell. What I want to emphasize especially, and make clear to the reader, is this fact, which has been so clearly stated by the learned physician: that all kinds of sickness and disease which cause so much physical pain and suffering to the human body, are the results of natural physical causes, due wholly to a failure to obey the natural laws of life and health, or a violation of those laws; for which violation the party suffering is wholly responsible. All up-to-date physiologists and physicians know these things; or they should know them.

Now, these are plain statements of facts by recognized medical authority. I like that. Because it lays the foundation for my building. And besides, the M. D.—Doctor of Medicine—carries more weight with most people at present than a layman with only the plain D. F. S.—Doctor of Food Science and Professor of Applied Food Chemistry—which I sometimes use on dress occasions.

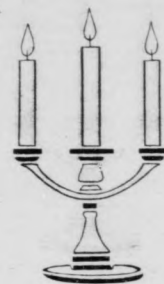

In subdivisions one, two and three, the doctor states the facts; but he does not show the cause or suggest a remedy. Subdivision four tells us to cease to neglect and cease to violate Nature's laws. If you do not know them, then learn them.

The answer to number five is, learn and practice the rules of dietetics. Number six answers itself. The answer to number seven is, learn to eat and drink what is needed to meet the physiological requirements of the body; but nothing else. Number eight needs no answer.

Knowing that certain conditions exist, the first thing to do is to seek the cause; then find and apply the remedy.

1. What is the cause of the condition existing in sub. No. 1? Answer. A majority of the people have never been taught the best methods of the conduct of life, as they exist today. This applies not only to those benighted tribes of Europe and Asia, that are indulging in the pleasant pastime of slaughtering each other with shrapnel and poisonous gases, and noncombatant women and children with devilmite; but to our enlightened and beloved land.
2. What is the cause for the lack of interest in knowing how to live?
3. What is the cause of the conditions described in No. 3? "That so vital a matter as health should receive such scant attention." Subdivisions two and three can be answered together, for what applies to one applies to the other also. As individuals, the people in this country, who know the difference, are more interested in knowing how to live right than is apparent on the surface. But there never has been any organized movement along these lines to crystallize this interest into an institution like our public schools and other institutions (Continued on Page 4)

SUMMER HOMES IN NATIONAL FORESTS

The demand for National Forest lands in California as sites for summer homes, resorts, apiaries, corrals, irrigation works, stores, school houses, municipal camps, and other uses is increasing annually, according to a report given out today by District Forester DuBois. As evidence it is stated that the receipts to the Government from rentals of National Forest lands and from the issue of permits increased from $13,620 in 1913 to $21,772 in 1915. The total number of sites now in use for summer homes is 943, for hotels and resorts 80.

The greatest number of lots rented in any one forest is in the Angeles in Southern California, where 305 summer home sites have been rented during the past year. This extensive use of the Angeles Forest for recreation purposes is due, it is said, to the fact that the Forest boundaries are close to the center of population in Southern California, and that the first tracts subdivided by the Forest Service for home building purposes were in the Angeles Forest. Upon the completion of summer home surveys on the Feather river in the Plumas forest, around Lake Tahoe, and Fallen Leaf Lake in the Tahoe and Edroado forests, and about the shores of Huntington Lake in the Sierra forest, it is anticipated that hundreds of recreation seekers in Northern California will avail themselves of the opportunities to secure summer home sites.

WHO BIDES HIS TIME

Who bides his time, and day by day
Faces defeat full patiently,
And lifts a mournful roundelay
However poor his fortunes be—
He will not fail in any quail
Of poverty—the paltry dime
It will grow golden in his palm,
Who bides his time.

Who bides his time—he tastes the sweet
Of honey in the salted tear,
And though he fares with slowest feet
Joy runs to meet him, drawing near;
The birds are heralds of his cause
And like a never-ending rhyme,
The roadsides bloom in his applause,
Who bides his time.
—James Whitcomb Riley.

SOUVENIR CARD DIARY

A most convenient way to keep souvenir postcards and a diary at the same time and to record the summer outings is to make a diary of postcards. Buy a notebook about the size in leaf of the postcard. Slit the four corners, and into these slits slip the corners of the cards as you get them. Upon them may be recorded any notes about the place visited.

TO WORK PATIENTLY

To work patiently in faith and love, to do, not what we like, but what we revere, confers not liberty only, but power.—J. Martineau.

The highest compact we can make with our fellow is: let there be truth between us two for evermore.—Emerson.

FOREST FIRE RECORDS

It is interesting to note that the first stories circulated in regard to any large mountain fire advance the theory that the fire was caused by the sun's rays being concentrated through a glass bottle. This theory was advanced as a cause for the recent fire on Mt. Tamalpais, but investigations just concluded by Consulting Forester F. E. Olmsted prove that the fire was started from a train of the Mt. Tamalpais & Muir Woods Railroad.

Careful records kept by the United States Forest Service for the last six years on the causes of forest, brush, and grass fires show that 4593 fires were caused by human agencies or carelessness, and 2192 by lightning. In no one of the 6,785 instances on record has the cause been traced to the sun's rays concentrated through a bottle.

A DECORATIVE PANEL OF FAMOUS WOMEN

Hanging in the loggia of "Arden," the country home of Mrs. E. H. Harriman in New York state, is a beautiful mural decoration representing famous women of history. It was painted by Barry Faulkner, and was awarded a gold medal at the Architectural League in New York two years or more ago. Seven figures are grouped around a central niche, containing an idealized figure of woman as representing liberty. The first of the figures is Cornelia, mother of the Gracchi, Mrs. Harriman herself being the model for the painter in this instance. Next comes Dante's Beatrice, and, following her, is Judith, posed for by one of the artists sisters. In the center stands the Queen of Sheba. Next her is a charming figure of Jeanne d'Arc, for which Miss Carol Harriman posed; Helen of Troy follows, the model having been Mrs. Pearmain, a daughter of George DeForest Brush, the artist; and last of all is Pocahontas in her simple Indian robe and banded hair. Above the figures are two decorative plaques upheld by cherubs.

SIMPLIFYING KITCHEN WORK

All the new household utensils aim at making fewer dishes to wash and handle. At the same time, the artistic side is being more and more emphasized. One of the latest triumphs in this direction is the pyroxy ware. It has the appearance of opaque glass, with a yellowish green cast in certain lights. It is cut artistically to imitate cut glass, and cast in shapes for every dish needed on the table, even to bread and butter dishes. It may be used for frying, boiling or baking without breaking or discoloring. A buffet of this material is artistic, and would adorn any sideboard. A table completely set with this ware is most effective.

RAISES BUTTERFLIES

Few persons realize that there is a market for butterflies; a young girl in California has made $500 in ten weeks and is now, according to an article in the St. Nicholas, averaging $75 a week by butterfly farming. Any boy or girl, it is said, can raise a limited number of butterflies for the market.

SECRETS OF HEALTH

of learning. In fact, there never has been any organized attempt in this country to teach the masses the rules of dietetics and the laws of life and health.

There has been Deweyism, Harveyism, Nature-culturism, and numerous other isms, each possessing, perhaps, some good elements; but they all run into fads and jokes for the comic newspaper and magazines. They were all topstory structure; none of them contained the fundamental principles upon which to build the permanent super-structure of health and life.

Probably the first and foremost of the causes for existing conditions is our custom of class education. Where one small class is educated along certain lines to the exclusion of everything else. From earliest times, the Indian and other primitive races have had their medicine men and wizards who have juggled with the life and health of the people. That custom has come down from remote ages, and still exists. We have the small educated class—the medical class—that possesses nearly all the knowledge there is about the human body, its laws and functions. While the remainder of us are absolutely dependent upon the knowledge and skill, or lack of skill, upon the part of this few, to pull us through.

We start the old machine off without knowing anything about its mechanism, without chart or compass, run it to the limit, and when it will not run any longer, we send for a doctor to help us back into the garage. When our bark is stranded on the sandbars of the lee shore of time, and the fires raked, we commit our life and health into the hands of the doctor.

The heathen Chinese does these things better than we do. In China they employ a doctor to keep them well. If the doctor fails to keep them in health, the executioner has a job; and the undertaker gets the doctor instead of the patient. I suppose that is why there are so many Chinamen over there.

Dr. Edward Cornell in Medical Times, says: "How to keep young is a subject of interest. What does it mean to keep young? To keep young is the same as to keep healthy, and to keep healthy is to keep from being poisoned. We are constantly being threatened with being poisoned. Our own waste products would poison us. We would poison ourselves with whiskey, coffee and other drugs. From fermenting and putrefying masses in our alimentary canal, we are absorbing poisons and virulent ones.

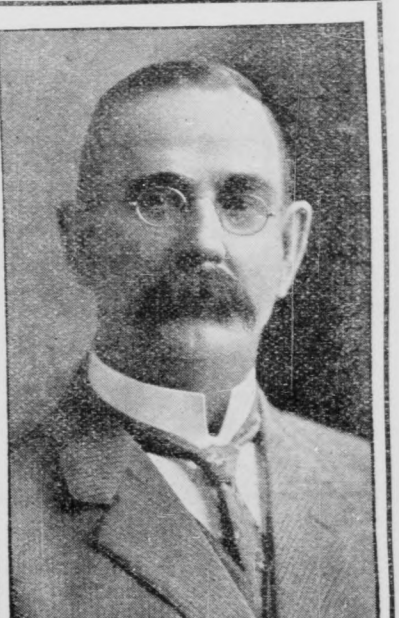

"Our bodies are collections of cells which are stationary to each other. These cells must be fed, get oxygen, and be relieved of wastes."
Dr. Elmer Lee in Health Culture says: "Clean, healthy, handsome, intelligent beings, all human, raised to a state of manhood, can be obtained by right training, and nurturing them on proper foods."

EFFICIENCY

The attainment of proficiency, the pushing of your skill with attention to the most delicate shades of excellence, is a matter of vital concern. Efficiency of a practically flawless kind may be reached . . . but there is something beyond—a higher point, a subtle and unmistakable touch of love and pride beyond mere skill; almost an inspiration, which gives to all work that finish which is almost art—which is art.—J. Conrad.
