Technical and Bibliographic Notes/Notes techniques et bibliographiques

The Institute has attempted to obtain the best original copy available for filming. Features of this copy which may be bibliographically unique, which may alter any of the images in the reproduction, or which may significantly change the usual method of filming, are checked below.

L'Institut a microfilmé le meilleur exemplaire qu'il lui a été possible de se procurer. Les détails de cet exemplaire qui sont peut-être uniques du point de vue bibliographique, qui peuvent modifier une image reproduite, ou qui peuvent exiger une modification dans la méthode normale de filmage sont indiqués ci-dessous.

The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Library of the Public
Archives of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol  $\rightarrow$  (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol  $\nabla$  (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

La bibliothèque des Archives
publiques du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole  $\rightarrow$  signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole  $\nabla$  signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

LIGHT HOUSES.

Board of Commissioners for the several Light Houses in the Bay of Fundy.—Hon. S. L. Tilley, Charles Watters, James Steadman, G. L. Hatheway, and John McMillan.

Isaac Woodward, Esquire, Surveyor of those Light Houses in the Bay of Fundy belonging to New Brunswick, and also of those belonging to Nova Scotia which are partly supported by this Province.

Cape Sable Seal Island Light.—The first Light in approaching the Bay of Fundy, is on the South Point of the Seal Island. This is a plain white Light, elevated about 80 feet above high water mark, and may be seen in approaching the Island from any point of the compass. A very dangerous rock, under water, but upon which the sea always breaks, called Blonde Rock, lies about  $3\frac{1}{2}$  miles S. by W. by compass, from the Light House. Between this rock and the Island, there are some dangers—the ground is rocky throughout, and large vessels, therefore, ought not to attempt passing between them.

Brier Island Light.—In advancing up the Bay, the next Light is situated on Brier Island, about half a mile N. E. from the N. W. point thereof. A plain white light

Digby Gut Light.—The next light on the coast of Nova Scotia is placed on the west side of Digby Gut—from Brier Island North Eastward. The coast is very bold and not indented; the Light is therefore chiefly intended as a guide into Digby Basin—A white Light.

Gannet Rock Light.—This Light is intended to warn vessels of their approach to a very dangerous range of shoals and ledges, which extend from the Old Proprietor to the Seal Islands off Machias, a distance of about twenty miles. It is a flash light—white—twenty seconds dark and forty light in each minute. The Light House is painted in stripes, vertical, black and white

Bearings and Distance by Compass from the Gannet Rock Light House.
This Light bears from the Light house on Brier Island, N. N. W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W. 22 miles.

From the Gannet Rock to the Old Proprietor E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  S. distance 7 miles.

From the Gannet Rock to the Black Rock, off White Head Island, N. E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E. 7 miles.

From the Gannet Rock to the South West Head of Grand Manan, N. N. W.  $6\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

From the Gannet Rock to the Northernmost of the Murr Ledges, N. W.  $\frac{1}{2}$  N.  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

To the Southernmost of ditto, called Saint Mary's Ledge, W S. W. 2 miles.

From the Gannet Rock to Machias Seal Island, W and by N  $\frac{1}{2}$  N. 13 miles.

NOTE.—Between the Northernmost and Southernmost of the Murr Ledges, there is a range of dangerous rocks and shoals, many of them always above water, and which extends Westward from the Light House about four miles; from this range, farther Westerly, about six miles from the Gannet Light, lies a dangerous breaker called the Bull. This may be avoided by keeping three remarkable headlands near the S. W. end of Grand Manan, open.

From Brier Island Light to the Old Proprietor, N. and by W.  $\frac{1}{2}$  W.  $16\frac{1}{2}$  miles olidays,

The Blonde Rock from the Southernmost point of the Cape Sable, Seal Islands S. and by W.  $3\frac{1}{2}$  miles distant.

Machias Seal Island Lights.—There are two fixed white lights upon the Machias Seal Islands, elevated about forty-five feet above high water, and bear from each other E. S. E. and W. N. W. distant about 200 feet, by which circumstance of two Light Houses at the same station, they will be immediately distinguished from all other lights upon the coast, (British or American) Both the Buildings are painted white. The following are the bearings from them, viz:

- To the Southernmost Murr Ledge. (St. Mary's) E. S. E. easterly.
- " Gannet Rock Light E. by S.  $\frac{1}{4}$  S 13 miles.
- " Southern Head of Grand Manan, E. by N.  $\frac{1}{4}$  N.
- " Northern Head of Grand Manan. N. E.  $\frac{1}{4}$  E
- " N. E. Rock, distant 2 miles, N. E. by N.
- " Little River Head. N. by W.
- " Libby Island Light House, (American.) N. W. by W.

Vessels standing to the Northward, between these Lights and the Gannet Rock, should tack or haul off the moment they bring these Lights in one, as they will not then be more than three fourths of a mile from the Murr Ledges. if more than five miles to the East of the lights.

[It is recommended that the Ship's Compasses should be well compared and adjusted (particularly in new ships), before they leave Partridge Island, as serious errors have frequently occurred from want of attention on this point; and as the variation in the Bay of Fundy is seventeen degrees Westerly, or ( $1\frac{1}{2}$  points) it will be found by the latest published Admiralty Charts, that the course from Partridge Island down the Bay (South Channel) between the Old Proprietor and N. W. Ledge, is S. W.  $\frac{1}{4}$  S., but the course to be steered must depend on the direction of the wind on leaving Partridge Island.]

Head Harbour Light.—Next in order after passing Grand Manan and the plain white Light, (American) on West Quoddy Point, is Head Harbour Light. This is placed on the North East extremity of Campo Bello; and is a guide to vessels entering the main Channel to West Isles, Moose Island, and the inner Bay of Passamaquoddy; it enables vessels also at all times to enter Head Harbour—it is a fixed white light. The building is painted White, with a red cross on it.

Point Le Preau Lights.—Upon this projecting head land two lights are placed, one above the other, in the same house, and distant 28 feet—Both lights can be seen from every point of the compass, where they may be useful—both are fixed and white. The Light House is painted red and white, in stripes of five feet broad each, horizontally.

Partridge Island Light.—This light at the entrance of the River and Harbour of Saint John, having been established upwards of forty years, requires no particular notice, further than that it is a fixed white light and that the Light House is red and white, in vertical stripes.

Beacon Light.—Within Partridge Island, and upon a Spit or bar which extends about half a mile S. S. E. off Sand Point, and which dries at two-thirds ebb, stands the Beacon Tower. Upon this Tower a light is established, which is eminently useful to the coasting trade of Saint John, and to all other vessels having pilots on board, as it enables them to enter the harbour at all hours of the night. A fixed white light. The House is white and black, in stripes vertically.

Quaco.—A revolving white light is placed on a small rock off Quaco Head, showing twice full and twice dark in a minute. This light can be seen from any quarter where a vessel can approach. The Light House is painted white and red in horizontal stripes.

Cape Enrage Light—On the point of that name, in Westmorland, nearly opposite Apple River Harbour, N. S. A plain white light. The house is painted white, and is about 120 feet above tide mark.

West Quddy Light.—This is an American Light, and is placed on the West side of the entrance into the Saint Croix by Lubec and Eastport.

Cape Forchu Light—On Cape Forchu, on the western side of the entrance to Yarmouth (Nova-Scotia), in lat. 43, 39, N. long, 66.8. W. It exhibits a plain revolving light—visible one minute and a quarter, and invisible half a minute. The building is painted white and is elevated 135 feet above the level of the sea.

Grindstone Island Light.—An Octagonal Tower, sixty feet above the level of high water on Grindstone Island in Chignecto Bay, in Lat. 45° 43' 13" N. Long 64 37' 25" W. The Tower is painted white, as is also the Keeper's house one story situate about 50 feet to the Eastward of the Tower.

Bearings and distances of several places from the above Light House, as follows: Cape Enrage Light by compass S. 61° W 10 1-7 miles.

Highest Point of St. Mary's Ledge by compass N. 40 W., 6-10 mile.

The point of low water of the Light House by compass, S. 78 W., 2-10 mile.

Jones' Ledge, N. 10 W., 3-10 mile, it dries at low springs and has about 2 1-2 fathoms on it at half tide.

A Sand Bank S. 15 W., 6-10 mile, it has 1 1/2 fathoms on its shoalest part at lower water springs.

Grand Manan.—There is a Light House and Keeper's House at the "Swallow Tail" on the North Eastern part of the Island of Grand Manan, in the Bay of Fundy. The Light is 45 feet from Base to Deck; the point on which it stands is 103 feet above high water making 148 feet elevation. This is a conspicuous mark in the South Channel between Brier Island and Grand Manan. Both Houses are painted White.

We ask not to know
 What joy or what wo
 Thou thoughtlessly bringest New Year,
 The stern roll of fate
 We patient await,
 And cheerfully welcome thee here.
 We hope in our heart
 When thou shall depart,
 To find no occasion for tears—
 But may our glad voice
 With singing rejoice
 To greet many happy New Years.

Winter holds his unrejoicing court ;
 And through his airy hall the loud misrule
 Of driving tempest is forever heard !
 There the grim tyrant meditates his wrath ;
 Arms his fierce winds with all-subduing frost ;
 Moulds his fierce hail, and treasures up his snows,
 With which he now oppresses half the globe.
 There undissolving from the first of time,
 Snows swell on snows amazing to the sky ;
 And icy mountains, high on mountains piled,
 Seem to the shivering sailor from afar
 Shapeless and white, an atmosphere of clouds.

The stormy March has come at last,
 With wind and cloud and changing skies,
 I hear the rushing of the blast,
 That through the snowy valley plies.
 Ah, passing few are they who speak,
 Wild, stormy month, in praise of thee;
 Yet, though thy winds are loud and bleak,
 Thou art a welcome month to me.
 Thou bring'st the hope of those calm skies,
 And that soft time of sunny showers;
 When the wide blooms on earth that lies,
 Seems of a brighter world than ours.

Beyond the plain the new-leaved wood
 Is all aflood
 With music from a thousand birds,
 While lambkins sporting on the mead,
 With velvet tread,
 Dodge in and out among the herds.
 Sweet Spring has come—season of bloom
 And soft perfume—
 Season of calm and holy joy.
 Mount up, my soul, on wings of love !
 Mount up above—
 Learn from the birds a song of joy !

Sweet Spring has come, and once again,
 O'er hill and plain,
 She lays her soft green carpet down,
 Where late the white and chilly snow,
 So loth to go,
 Leaked off and left the earth so brown.
 No icy fetters hold the stream,
 The sun's bright beam,
 Comes dancing o'er it to my feet;
 The violets that skirt the bank
 Bend down to thank
 The laughing stream with kisses sweet.

'Tis Summer, 'tis summer,—and winter no more
 Is heard in the winds, or the ocean's wild roar :
 But so calm are the waves over all the great deep,
 That they might lull a young infant to sleep ;
 The streamlets are gliding all lovely and calm,
 And the zephyrs come laden with fragrance and balm ;
 Then oh ! let us bow to the Merciful Power,
 Who lives in the sun-beam, the tree, and the flower ;
 Who stills the wild tempest, and bids the vast sea
 Unruffled and calm as a placid lake be.
 Let us bow to that God who gave summer its birth,
 And who scatters his treasures all over the earth.

26 Sunday. Small Old Town - Lynn

D. M. | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 9 | 10 | 11 | 12 | 13 | 14 | 15 | 16 | 17 | 18 | 19 | 20 | 21 | 22 | 23 | 24 | 25 | 26 | 27 | 28 | 29 | 30 | 31

Bright Summer beams along the sky,
 And paints the glowing year;
 Where'er we turn the raptured eye
 Her splendid tints appear.
 Then, who so fit to lift the song
 To gratitude and heaven,
 To whom her purple charms belong,
 From whom those charms are given?
 Thee, thee, Almighty King of kings,
 Man worships not alone,
 Each budding flower its incense brings,
 And waits it to thy throne.

How sweet I've wandered bosom deep in grain,
 When Summer's mellowing pencil sweeps the shade
 Of ripening tinges o'er the chequered plain :
 Like tawny oat-lands with a yellow blade ;
 And bearded corn like armies in parade ;
 Beans lightly scorched, that still preserve their green ;
 And nodding lands of wheat in bleachy brown
 And streaking banks, where many a maid and clown
 Contract a sweetness to the rural scene,
 Forming the little hay-cocks up and down
 While o'er the face of nature softly swept
 The lingering wind, mixing the brown and green.

Season of mists and mellow fruitfulness,
 Close bosom friend of the maturing sun;
 Conspiring with him how to load and bless
 With fruit the vines that round the thatch eaves ring
 To bend with apples the mossed cottage trees,
 And fill all fruit with ripeness to the core;
 To swell the gourd, and plump the hazel shells
 With a sweet kernel; to set budding more,
 And still more, later flowers for the bees,
 Until they think warm days will never cease,
 For Summer has o'erbrined their clammy cells.

The year is now declining; and the air—
 — When morning blushes on the orient hills—
 Embued with icy chillness. Ocean's wave
 Has lost the tepid glow, and slumbering fogs
 On clouded days brood o'er its level plain;
 Yet, when the day is at meridian height,
 The sun athwart the fading landscape smiles
 With most parental kindness, softly sweet,
 And delicately beautiful—a prince
 Blessing the realms where glory comes from him.

~~18~~ Oct. Lull. Lull.
w/plus 2 29 day

25 Oct. Lull. Lull. Lull. Lull. Lull.

The foliage of the forest, brown and sere,
 Drops on the margin of the stubble field,
 In which the partridge lingers insecure,
 And raises oft, at sombre even-tide,
 With plaintive throat, her dull and tremulous cry.
 The sickle of the husbandman hath ceased,
 And left the lap of nature shorn and bare;
 The odorous clover flowers have disappeared;
 The yellow pendulous grain is seen no more;
 The perfume of the bean field has decayed;
 And roams the wandering bee o'er many a path,
 For blossoms which have perished.

This is the eldest of the Seasons : he Moves not, like Spring, with gradual step, nor grows
 From bud to beauty, but with all his snows
 Comes down at once in hoar antiquity.
 No rains, nor loud proclaiming forests flee
 Before him, nor unto his time belong
 The sun of Summer, nor the charms of song,
 That with May's gentle smiles so well agree.
 But he, made perfect in his birth-day cloud,
 Start into sudden life with scarce a sound,
 And with a tender footstep prints the ground.

AGRICULTURAL.

HOW TO RAISE EARLY POTATOES.—About six weeks previous to the usual time of planting in the open ground, mark out a piece, say five or six feet wide, and as long as required, on a dry and sheltered piece of land; dig out the surface to a depth of five or six inches; place boards around, to keep up the loam or sand; then fill to the depth of six inches, with horse or some manure which has been thrown over to produce heat; tread it down lightly, as for a hot-bed, and cover the manure with four inches of loam. I keep some in my barn cellar through the winter, to be ready at any time. It is also well to keep the ground covered through the winter, where the bed is to be made, with straw or something to keep out the frost. Then pack your potatoes as close as you can, over the surface, a single thickness; cover with four inches of loam, or what is better, sand, as the sprouts are tougher and do not separate so easily from the potato in lifting. I cut my potatoes a day or even weeks before, and place them cut side down. At night cover with straw or coarse hay; in the morning, if mild, and no rain, rake off the covering and replace at night. In case of continued dry weather a slight watering may be of service, though seldom necessary. When the time for planting arrives, land manured and furrowed, take up the front board, and with a dung-fork lift as many as it will hold; give them a shake, and separate each plant carefully by hand, placing them in a basket or box; then drop them, either for hills or in rows, and have a person follow to cover as fast as possible, placing an inch or two of earth over the tops, through which they will break in a few hours.

If planting has been delayed from any cause, and the plants should have attained considerable growth, (I have planted them when a foot high and had them do well,) lay them down and cover as above. If your field is not too far from your dwelling, make the bed there, as it saves exposure in carrying the plants to a distance. With a few boards and stakes a shelter can be made to keep off the cold winds.

By sprouting potatoes in this way you can have them ready to dig at least three weeks earlier.

ECONOMY OF FODDER—"MANAGING IT RIGHT."—What strange ideas of economy are often entertained, and by farmers as frequently as by other people. The true economy of wintering stock, for instance—wintering in the best order and at the least expense of fodder—needs a good deal more thought than it gets from a large class of those closely interested in the subject. Let us try an illustration:

"Do you want to buy any young stock? I believe I must sell off some. I'm afraid I shall be short of fodder before spring," says one farmer to another.

"Hardly think I do; though I have a good supply of hay, etc. If I have much over, I can sell at good prices in the spring. Have as much stock now as my pastures will carry—don't care about increasing the number."

"Do you keep your sheep shut up this warm weather? I have had mine out three or four weeks most of the time."

"I hardly think it pays; sheep always look lank after running out to grass in winter."

"But it saves a good deal of fodder. If we have an open winter, I don't know but I'll still get along—I've got two good straw stacks, besides a fair supply of hay and corn-stalks."

"I should think you might if you managed it right," was the answer; and we will give some thoughts on the subject, as there are many who are selling stock very low—economizing fodder very wastefully—who need do neither if they only "managed it right."

A great deal of fodder is wasted for want of proper places for feeding it out. Mangers and stalls for neat stock are provided by every one who studies the true economy of feeding. Mangers are needed that the stock may not get under their feet that which we put before them for eating, and stalls, that each animal may eat its food without fear of disturbance from, or power to disturb, others feeding around it. Cattle will not, unless starved to it, eat the fodder which they have trodden into the mud or manure; nor can they thrive very economically, when they are in constant fear, as they snatch each mouthful, of being gored by some stronger animal. Feeding-boxes answer an excellent purpose, and are best suited to those who winter their stock in yards surrounded by open sheds. Our best farmers, however, provide both these conveniences, and think the saving of fodder pays well for doing so.

The same facts hold good in regard to sheep. They must have racks and mangers under shelter, and where they will not be disturbed unnecessarily at any time. Sheep will not eat fodder which has been wet by rain or melting snow, nor that which they have trodden upon on unfrozen ground. Proper attention in this respect will secure a large saving of fodder—we believe that five sheep can be better wintered in this way on a given amount of fodder, than four without these conveniences.

Another large amount of fodder is wasted for want of other means of keeping up the animal heat in severe winter weather. It has been demonstrated again and again, that exposure to cold and storm taxes severely the flesh and vital forces of the animal economy. Food, which if consumed in a comfortably warm stable would fatten an animal, may be fed to the same while unsheltered without causing any increase in flesh, or even preventing loss of the same. No farmer who studies economy of fodder, would attempt to winter stock without ample shelter for every member of his herd—without plenty of straw or other litter to furnish good bedding for the same.

Let us look, in passing, at the best use of straw in wintering stock. We hold it of high value—but not nearly so much for feeding as for litter. We have seen cattle kept upon their feet a large share of the time, because they could find no place fit to lie down upon, and when finally tired down, they were covered with mud and manure for want of bedding. Such cattle, we need not say, were not in thriving order. Straw would come into economical use in such a case—would go farther towards sustaining thrift than if fed ever so profusely. It is a fact which farmers ought to know and remember, that there is very little nutritive value to straw—that its greatest use as consumed by stock, is for filling the stomach, allaying hunger in some measure, yet, without other food, giving little sustenance to an animal. But used for littering stables and yards, it is a real comfort to stock, and thus keeps them more quiet and lessens the demand for food in any form. It is also of value as an absorbent of liquid manure, and for this purpose alone may be economically employed. We would venture to decide upon the crops of a farm, by a glance at the condition of the barn-yard and its tenants at this season—it is the time above all others, for liberal expenditure to secure economy, and to sustain without loss or waste the resources of the farmer.

All the fodder saved by allowing cattle and sheep the range of our meadows and pastures whenever the ground is bare in winter, costs more in waste of strength, flesh, milk, wool and manure, than double the hay would cost in market. And yet many close calculating farmers will not believe this. We have good authority for our assertion, nevertheless, and practical experience in wintering stock, shows us that no provocation of mild weather or bare ground, should tempt us to allow our yards to be open for the egress of stock. That farmer, we would remark in conclusion, though the subject is far from being exhausted, can best study economy of fodder, who has the barn and yards, the stables, stalls and mangers, which will enable him to feed his stock without waste, and with every attention of regularity, cleanliness, water, and comfortable shelter and bedding which "right management" demands.

FLOWERING OF POTATOES.—Mr. MANBY of England, in his prize essay on the cultivation of Early Potatoes, says that "a flower to an early potatoe is considered a sign of deterioration—the first symptom of growing out—it being contended that all the strength of the plant should be thrown into perfecting the tuber and not into the opposite extreme." He would therefore eradicate them as soon as they appear, and save seed from plants which have shewn no indication of flowering. Experiments have shewn that potato plants beginning to shew a tendency to flower, perfect their tubers less early and perfectly than before that tendency was developed.

AN EXPERIMENT IN DRAINING.—When we witness the change of a sterile soil into a fertile one through the influence of draining, it is conclusive evidence of the value of labor so applied. Such has recently come under our notice, and we shall recall it for our readers.

It not unfrequently happens in hilly or gently undulating districts, that intervals and damp springy soils abound, requiring draining before it can be brought into profitable cultivation. The instance in question, was a field of fair surface, quite free from stone, but receiving from more elevated land a continual supply of clear, cold, soft spring water, which ran over nearly the whole surface. The owner, faithless of reclaiming the lot, was yet desirous of collecting the water to supply a reservoir for cattle. This was mainly accomplished by cutting a drain across the slope of land near the upper side of the field, for about a hundred rods in length, which did so much for draining the surface that other ditches were cut completing the work. The drains were finished with the flat stone usual in such districts, carefully laid and covered with a good coat of straw, before replacing the dirt. Now of the change produced.

A crop never grew upon this lot from the time it was cleared until after it was drained. Water grasses and weeds were the only product; but since draining, it has produced annually over two tons of good hay per acre, without any manure. The appearance of the soil is wholly changed, from a tenacious blue clay, adhering to one's boots like tar—it has become a clear, black, clay loam—just such a soil as always produces remunerative crops to the farmer.

DRAINING WITH BOARDS.—Our way of underdraining with boards, is to have the boards sawed an inch thick—one five inches wide at one end, and six inches wide at the other. The other board that we nail to that, (hog-trough fashion,) is one inch narrower, so as to make the troughs lap over each other as we lay them in the drains. We generally lap them about six inches. Some farmers say put them down two feet, some more; but our plan is, more or less to suit the situation; in some situations two feet would be plenty; others, six feet little enough. The object is to go down until you come to the spring. The meadow where we have been draining, is black mud about two or three feet deep; then comes gravel. I had an experienced drainer putting in a few drains where was a miry place of a few rods square that could not be ploughed; I paid no attention to him, having so many other things to attend to, and considering that he knew more about the business than I did; but he did no good; horses would mire through the sward. I went down after the ploughman had given the job up, and with a boy, in four hours we put in an underdrain that dried the piece, so that I had better corn there than any where else in the whole field. We went through the mud with our drain, and as soon as we struck on the gravel the water boiled up as from a fountain, and in such a situation sap pine boards will never rot; all you have to do to preserve them is to keep them always wet.

TEMPERATURE OF CREAM FOR CHURNING.—As to the temperature at which the churning should be done, in the statements which I have read, some have thought the finger and others the thermometer, was the best way to test the proper warmth of cream for churning. To say that the temperature should be between fifty-five and sixty, as some have said, or between sixty and sixty-five degrees, as others have said, is very indefinite. I think there is a degree exactly right, at which butter will separate from the milk and gather quickly, without being too soft, and that I have fixed in my own mind, by my own experience, at sixty-five degrees. In the summer season, when the atmosphere is warmer than the cream, I want it to be at sixty-three degrees at the commencement of churning, and if the cream is in good condition it will bring butter in about twenty minutes. Cream that is warmer than sixty-five degrees will make butter too soft; and any temperature that is below sixty-three until it comes to sixty, will increase the time of churning about five minutes for each degree; and when it is below sixty, it will lengthen the time of churning about ten minutes for every degree until fifty-five, when I hardly believe it will come at all.

As for using my finger to determine the warmth, I would as leave depend on using my finger to tell when the atmosphere was below zero.

Low vs. High Roosts.—Hens always seek to place themselves upon the highest roosts—as a writer in the N. E. Farmer says, "It is the height of their ambition." Heavy hens, he says, often injure themselves in coming down—as they generally fly the whole distance at once, hitting hard upon the floor. By changing the height of the roosts from seven to four feet, his hens have become healthy, lay no more soft-shelled eggs, and come down readily and without injury.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A SMART FOX—OR A TOUGH STORY.—In a recent lecture upon the subject of his experience in Arctic life, Dr. Rea said: "On the journey I saw a very curious instance of the sagacity of the Arctic fox. Conscious that I was aiming at him, he tucked his tail under his legs, cocked up his ears, and endeavored to make himself look as much as possible like a hare, (which is an animal comparatively worthless.) Another fact of the kind occurred to me. Whilst being detained at a particular place, our favorite amusement was trapping wild animals. Our mode of doing this was by a spring gun connected with the bait, which, when touched produced the explosion. One instance shewed us that a fox, either from observation of a companion's fate, or from hard-earned experience, had gone up to the gun, bit off the cord connected with the bait, and, the danger being averted, went and ate the meat in undisturbed comfort. And it is a common occurrence for the fox to make a trench up to the bait, seize it, and calmly permit the charge to pass harmless over his head."

LARGE FAMILIES.—To the instances of unusually large numbers of children by one mother may be added that of a lady Elphinstone, who is said, by tradition, to have had not less than 36 children, of whom 27 were living at one time. There is a story told of this lady and her husband, Lord Elphinstone, which seems to corroborate the tradition: it is that they once asked a new and somewhat bashful acquaintance to visit them, telling him that he should meet no one but their family circle. Their guest arrived shortly before dinner, and being shewn through the dining hall on his way to the drawing room was much disconcerted at seeing a long table laid out for about twenty people. On remonstrating with his host and hostess for having taken him in, as he thought, he was quietly informed that he had been told no more than the truth, for that their family party, when all assembled, only fell short of thirty by one. I believe that John, eighth Lord Elphinstone, and his lady, a daughter of the Earl of Lauderdale, who lived in the latter part of the 17th and beginning of the 18th centuries, are the pair to whom this story refers; and, though the Scotch peerages make no mention of any such phenomenon in the Elphinstone family, yet I am strongly inclined, from the goodness of the authority from which I derive the tradition, to believe it to be true.—Notes and Queries.

REASONS FOR LIKING BRIGHTON.—Papa likes places for such odd reasons. One gentleman likes Brighton, because you come tearing down from town in less time than it takes an omnibus to get from the City to Hampstead. Another, because BRILL'S bath is the finest plunge he knows. Another (a selfish, greedy creature,) because he can get a better dinner at the Bedford than his poor dear wife, who is always ill, can give him at Camberwell. Papa likes Brighton because the Parade is, he says, a great shelf on which all sorts of types of past days are put away. I don't pretend to understand all his historical allusions, (though I flatter myself I do know rather more history than little CAPTAIN WELWYN, who objected to go to LADY LINDSAY'S bal costume as Edward the Black Prince, because he did not like a character which, he considered, required him to blacken his face,) but it is very amusing to hear papa point out the people who have figured in times gone by. There are old, wicked-looking men, with thin faces, long-noses, and quaint hats, who have drunk Regent Punch with KING GEORGE THE FOURTH at the poor Pavilion, and have seen the King make his coats fit in the wonderful manner they did, by snipping off every wrinkle with a pair of scissors, and having the holes fine drawn.—Punch.

JOHN NEAL says the eagle "has a contempt for all other birds." The owl, however, is more contemptuous still—he hoots at everything.

AN IOWA FARMER, on being asked if he had ever done much farming before, replied, "No, but last year I farmed considerably behind!"

An Irishman got out of the cars at a railway station for refreshments, and unfortunately the bell rang and the train left before he had finished his repast. "Hould on!" cried Pat, as he ran like mad after the cars; "hould on, ye murtherin ould sthame ingin—ye've got a passenger aboard that's lift behind."

A country paper thus describes the effect of a hurricane: "It shattered mountains, tore up oaks by the roots, dismantled churches, laid villages waste, and overturned a haystack!"

A minister of the gospel with not much of a pulpit gift, came into the place of worship drenched with rain, and said to a brother who stood by, as he shook and brushed and wiped his clothes: "I shall certainly take cold if I go into the pulpit so wet." "Oh, no," was the reply, "you are always dry enough there."

Whose best works are most trampled upon? A shoemaker's, because good shoes last longer than bad ones.

The man who ate his dinner with the fork of a river has been endeavoring to spin a mountain top.

Among the advertisements in a late London paper, we read that "Two sisters want washing."

"Why does father call mother honey?" asked a boy of his older brother. "Can't tell, 'cept it's because she has a large comb in her head."

A few Sabbaths since, in a town in the vicinity of this city, a teacher of a Sunday school was engaged in questioning his pupils upon the subjects connected with their previous studies in the Bible. At last, turning to a young Irishman, a member of the class, he asked: "What did Adam lose by the fall?" Pat for a few moments was apparently in a brown study, but at last his face brightened up, as he interrogatively replied: "An' was it his hat, sir?"

BREAD WITHOUT YEAST OR MILK.—By attending to the following directions you can make excellent, light, sweet bread, without yeast, salt, milk, saleratus, or soda—with nothing in fact, save water and flour:

Take boiling water; let it stand until the temperature is reduced below the scalding point; then stir in flour as thick as you can well beat it with a spoon. Set in warm water kept at proper temperature to promote fermentation, which will usually be completed in from three to four hours. If it should become thin after standing a while, stir in a teaspoonful or two of flour, beating it occasionally until it commences to rise. When light, put it with the flour, mixing up with water and kneading thoroughly; then make into loaves, and put it on tins to rise, keeping warm, and bake as usual.

TO DRIVE AWAY RATS.—It is stated in the Boston Cultivator, that cotton batting sprinkled over with pulverized potash, will drive rats from premises infested by them, if crowded into their holes.

TO PREVENT POTATOES SPROUTING.—Some advise to put potatoes for summer use in barrels, and occasionally empty them from one barrel to another, but I have found that a much more effectual way to prevent their growth, is to shake them in a basket. Take a common basket that will hold a bushel or more; fill it half or two-thirds full, and after giving a good shaking, if the sprouts are long, you will find most of them at the bottom of the basket, and the remainder completely "scotched." It is a more pleasant, certain, and vastly more expeditious way than sprouting by hand. Try it.

SCOURING KNIVES.—A small, clean potato, with the end cut off, is a very convenient medium of applying brick dust to knives, keeping it at about the right moisture, while the juice of the potato assists in removing stains from the surface. You can get a better polish by this method than by any other we have tried, and with less labor.

WHITE CAKE.—One cup of melted butter, one cup and a half of white sugar. Stir the butter and sugar together. Half a cup of sweet milk, two teaspoonfuls of cream tartar, and one of soda. One teaspoonful lemon essence. Whites of four eggs beat to a froth. Stir in flour sufficient to form a thick batter. Bake in a quick oven.

YELLOW CAKE.—One cup of melted butter and one of good brown sugar, stirred together. Half a cup of sweet milk, two teaspoonfuls of cream tartar, and one of soda. Yolks of four eggs. Flavor with nutmeg. Add sufficient flour to form a thick batter.

TO PREVENT COWS FROM KICKING.—Take a rope or strap about three feet in length, and make a loop at one end, then carefully place the loop end around the hind legs just above the knee, run the other end through and draw the legs together as close as possible, then wrap the remainder of the rope around the part encircling the legs, and fasten. When properly adjusted it is impossible for a cow to kick.

A GOOD CHEAP COFFEE.—Take coffee and peas of equal quantities; roast them well, separately, taking care not to burn them; grind them together, and serve up according to taste. By the addition of the peas, the coffee clears itself, and settles perfectly without any other addition, and moreover makes a much cheaper and more wholesome beverage. I think the large, rich kinds of peas, such as the Blue Imperial, are preferable, which can be raised very easily by any good, frugal housewife, in her garden. Sow about the 10th of June and they will be free from bugs.

INDIAN BREAD WITHOUT YEAST.—Three tea cupsful of Indian meal, two of rye or wheat flour, one-fourth of a tea cupfull of molasses, one tea spoonful of salt, and one and a half tea spoonfuls of saleratus. Mix in one quart of sour milk. Bake two hours. The family pronounce this excellent, especially when first made.

HOW TO PICKLE PLUMS.—For seven pounds plums, take four and a half of sugar, one quart vinegar, four ounces cinnamon, two ounces cloves—put the spices in a bag—scald the sugar, spice and vinegar together—then pour over the plums—cover tight—let them stand on the stove and keep hot—but not boil, for four hours.

FRENCH HONEY.—One pound of white sugar; six eggs, leaving out the whites of two; the juice of three or four lemons, and the grated rind of two, and a quarter of a pound of butter. Stir over a slow fire until it is about the consistency of honey.

A TABLE

For Foretelling the Weather through all the Lunations of each Year forever.

FORMED BY DR. HERSCHELL, AND REVISED BY DR. ADAM CLARKE.

This table and the accompanying remarks are the result of many years actual observation, the whole being constructed on a due consideration of the attraction of the sun and moon, in their several positions respecting the earth, and will by simple inspection shew the observer what kind of weather will most probably follow the entrance of the moon into any of its quarters, and that so near the truth as to be seldom or never found to fail

If the new moon, the first quarter, the full moon, or the last quarter, happens	IN SUMMER.	IN WINTER.
Between midnight and 2 in the morning,	Fair.	Hard frost unless the wind, s. or w.
2 and 4 morning,	Cold and showery	Snowy and stormy.
4 and 6, "	Rain.	Rain.
6 and 8, "	Wind and Rain.	Stormy.
8 and 10, "	Changeable.	Cold Rain, if the wind be w. ; snow if e.
10 and 12, "	Frequent showers.	Cold, and high wind.
At 12 noon, and 2 p. m.	Very rainy.	Snow or rain.
Between 2 and 4 p. m.	Changeable.	Fair and mild.
4 and 6, evening.	Fair.	Fair.
6 and 8, "	Fair, if wind n. w.	Fair and frosty, if wind is n. or n. e.
	Rainy, if s. or s. w.	Rain or snow, if s. or s. w.
8 and 10, "	Ditto.	Ditto.
10 and midnight,	Fair.	Fair and frosty.

Observations.—1. The nearer the time of the moon's change, first quarter, full and last quarter, are to midnight, the fairer will be the weather during the seven days following.

2. The space for this calculation occupies from ten at night till two next morning.

3. The nearer to midday or noon, the phases of the moon happen, the more foul or wet weather may be expected during the next seven days.

4. The space for this calculation occupies from ten in the forenoon to two in the afternoon. These observations refer principally to the summer, though they affect spring and autumn nearly in the same ratio.

5. The moon's change, first quarter, full and last quarter, happening during six of the afternoon hours, i. e. from four to ten, may be followed by fair weather ; but this is mostly dependent on the wind, as is noted in the table.

6. Though the weather, from a variety of irregular causes, is more uncertain in the latter part of autumn, the whole of winter, and the beginning of spring, yet, in the main, the above observations will apply to those periods also.

7. To prognosticate correctly, especially in those cases where the wind is concerned, the observer should be in sight of a good vane, where the four cardinal points of the heavens are correctly placed.

HOPES.—Hope is the sunshine of the heart; and those young people who begin life with a free gratification of wants and a full sense of prosperity, lose the fine relish that comes with each new and hard-earned indulgence, and the delight of adding to another's pleasure by self-sacrifice and renunciation. They may well be pitied for not knowing the enjoyments of gradual progress through their own power of perseverance.
