BELIEVES GERMANY WILL MEET DEMANDS

Vice-President Thinks Wilson's Note Has Approval of Majority of Americans

Indianapolis, Ind., June 12.—"I have read with much pleasure and satisfaction the official communication to the German government," said Vice-President Marshall, when asked for a statement on the United States' note to Germany. "I shall be greatly surprised if there shall be found any large number of men in the United States who do not approve fully of its tone and contents. The president is meeting conditions and no difference how much we all may desire arbitration and universal peace, conditions are not changed by desires. He speaks the voice of our common humanity. And I shall be greatly disappointed if the German government does not coincide with his views.

"I hope that my advice to my fellow-citizens to stay away if possible from the danger zone will not be construed into a right of others to disregard the instincts of our common humanity. We are a peace-loving and a peace-seeking people and we will meet the powers of the world on that basis whenever it may be possible to devise a workable plan. But until that time comes there are few of us who will not insist upon our rights.

"The president could not consent to a principle which would not put the government behind an American wherever he may lawfully be, however unwise the American's conduct may be. This is the traditional course insisted upon properly by the American people."

CHAIRMAN NO LONGER.
Winnipeg, June 12.—By order-in-council the services of Dr. R. M. Simpson, chairman of the provincial board of health, have been dispensed with. Dr. Simpson, who is an ex-president of the Winnipeg Conservative association, is now at the front with the Canadian Army Medical corps. His name was figured in evidence before the royal commission which is investigating matters connected with the erection of the parliament buildings.

MORE FACTS BROUGHT OUT BY COMMISSION

Evidence Given by Horwood, Architect Formerly in Service of Manitoba Government

Minneapolis, Minn., June 12.—Continuing his story of the parliament buildings contracts yesterday before the royal commission, V. W. Horwood, late provincial architect of Manitoba, declared that Premier Roblin had instructed him to recommend the letting to the Kelly firm of a contract for steel for $202,650 before the necessary plans had been drawn. This was just before the last provincial election. The premier had asked him (Horwood) to be very careful so that no commission in the next ten or twenty years could find anything wrong. Later the premier had advised him not to worry over the graft investigation, as "it was only politics, and nothing would come of it."

Just before the last session of the legislature Hon. Dr. Montague had asked witness to get from the files of the public works department all correspondence connected with the parliament buildings. There was a big batch of it and Horwood had had to re-write indexes in order to destroy evidence of letters which had been removed. Dr. Montague had told him to destroy all proof of them.

One day Dr. R. M. Simpson, a former president of the Winnipeg Conservative association, but now at the front, had telephoned him and said that the government had to have a campaign, and for that reason it would be undesirable for him to record the amount the caissons were going to cost until after the fiscal year. Horwood said he was not taking instructions from Dr. Simpson, and so had referred the matter to Hon. G. R. Caldwell. Mr. Caldwell had told him that anything Dr. Simpson said would be all right, and intimated that Kelly would be allowed to make money out of the caissons in order to provide a campaign fund for the government. Fifty thousand was talked of at first, and then $100,000.

The first he (Horwood) knew of the big graft was just before the last session, when he saw Salt's black book. Previously his idea had been that the caissons were about forty-eight feet deep. Comparing the book with the applications for payment he had discovered the huge discrepancy and had spoken to Mr. Caldwell about it. The minister had advised him to have Elliott or Salt go over the book.

The night before he (Horwood) had left Winnipeg for Rochester, Dr. Simpson had paid him $10,000 to reimburse him for the expense he had been put to in keeping Salt away from Winnipeg. On April 10 a cabinet meeting had been held, witness being present. It was suggested that he should apply for leave of absence pending the conclusion of the commission's work. This suggestion he had acted upon. Dr. Montague had made up a letter to be signed by Horwood, but he refused to sign it. Witness declared he had got no money from Kelly.

After the session of the public accounts committee, Mrs. Horwood had advised witness (her husband) to tell the truth, even if it meant going to jail. He had told Mr. Caldwell that he wanted to make a clean breast of everything, but Mr. Caldwell had enjoined him to wait. He had seen Premier Roblin, who told him to "cheer up" as this was only a political business, and it would be all over soon.

Witness said that for his services the government had paid him $5,000, and he had been promised a further increase to $7,000 at a favorable moment.

In referring to his conversation with Premier Roblin about the $502,000 contract, Horwood said that they had discussed the amount, but Dr. Simpson's name had not been brought into the conversation. Later Dr. Montague had told witness that this contract had been cancelled and had added, so far as witness could remember, that they had fixed it up with Kelly somehow. Dr. Montague had said that Kelly's original contract was too low and that in some way he would have to be compensated.

Horwood said he had been instructed to go to Chicago and see Mr. Shankland, the engineer. He was accompanied by Thomas Kelly. They had asked Shankland to draw two sets of plans for the steel work of the dome. One, of lighter steel, was to be done; the other, of heavier steel, was to justify payments to Kelly, which to some degree would recoup him for the taking of the original contract at a low figure. Shankland's fee was to be five per cent. Witness explained that he had arranged with Shankland, before Shankland answered any letters from Dr. Montague, that he was to consult him (Horwood) in order to know their true meaning.

Salt then was put on the stand again, and in cross-examination by Mr. Andrews, said he thought the average depth of the caissons would be forty-six feet. He gave some further details as to the black book. During examination by counsel for Horwood he acknowledged that some of the figures of alteration in it were his and not Horwood's.

WHAT SUCCESS FOR ALLIES WILL MEAN

Much Depends on Outcome of Fighting to North of Arras

London, June 12.—While the spectacular character of the great German sweep through Galicia, the resulting capture of Permyl and the continuation of the drive of General von Mackensen and his armies toward Lemberg have absorbed much of the attention of military circles recently, a battle is in progress in France that is regarded as of importance equal to any engagement yet fought in the western theatre.

The battle of the Marne saved Paris. The battle of Flanders saved the English port, saved the little Belgio-British army caught in the Nicuport angle after the fall of Antwerp and prevented the envelopment of the British army at Ypres. But the battle of Arras, which for three weeks has been raging on a narrow line of less than twelve miles, will decide whether the Germans can hold their present front from the Belgian frontier to the Argonne.

A piercing of the German line north of Arras, military observers believe, inevitably would lead to a readjustment of the whole battle line. It would necessitate the abandonment of the front Lille-Roye, and this in turn would react on the line of the Aisne, forcing a retirement from Soissons, Berry-au-Bac, and Souain and all the intervening territory.

A knowledge of the far-reaching effects of the battle makes it advisable to outline the situation in the Arras sector.

The battle of Arras as much as any action of the war, is distinctly an allied battle. Especially important are the parts played by the British and the French. The former hold the line from Ypres to a point a little distance to the north of Notre Dame de Consolation, where they link with the French armies extending to the south. Of the British line, that reaching from Neuve Chapelle to the Consolation Hills has immediate bearing on the current battle.

Lying to the east of this allied front that runs south to Arras are La Bassée and Lens—the former the most formidable German stronghold in the region between the Oise and Lille and the latter the centre of all the railroads supporting the German positions from Lille to Soissons. The British have fought their way to a point less than two miles from Bassée. The French are within three miles of Lens.

In the defence of their positions on this front the Germans have the advantage of the terrain and a system of fortified works they have developed since last October. Their main dependence, however, rests on the La Bassée salient and the Notre Dame de Lorette hills.

The strength of La Bassée lies not only in its network of solidly constructed trenches in the brick field, mine works and other inclosures, but also in the undulating ridges, which protect it both north and south. On the north there are two separate spurs. The first of these begins at a point near Englos, a few miles west of Lille, and sweeps around in a southwesterly direction, following the road to Fromelles and Aubers and terminates abruptly in the hill known as Haut Pommerieu, in front of Neuve Chapelle and a few miles due north of La Bassée itself.

Parallel with this ridge and separated from it by a strip of low-lying fertile land runs another series of heights closely following the road from Lille, through Fouries, to La Bassée, where it sweeps around the north and west of the town and mingles with the undulations to the south, where the French are operating from Vernelles to Loos.

These are the ramparts of the La Bassée position. Seamed with trenches, held in great force by the Germans and supported by a great battery of heavy guns posted on the hills at Pont-A-Vendin, which dominate a good five miles of both British and French lines, they form a solid barrier and cover the intricate railway system that lies just behind the German lines.

The strategic value of the terrain here was recognized from the first and has been the scene of desperate fighting almost continuously since autumn. When the British armies were brought around from the Aisne to join in the extension of the allied line to the coast and defeat the German enveloping move in October, they found the Germans already in possession of La Bassée and the ridges, and the invaders hurried up large reinforcements to strengthen their hold on the hills. The British turned them out of Neuve Chapelle and Laventie at the point of the bayonet drive, then over the Arras ridge and pressed them on to Le Pilly, a hamlet close to Fouries and in the very centre of the ramparts on the road to Lille. But here the German reinforcements arrested the British advance, gradually restored the line to its original tracings and by October 28 had forced back the British to Givency. Just west of Neuve Chapelle, where the resistance of the British hardened and where they stuck until March, when they made their new advance and recaptured Neuve Chapelle. The German defence system in front of the French centred about the Lorette hills, although it may be said almost literally that every foot of the ground between the heights and Lens has been organized with concrete-lined trenches, subterranean passageways, small armored forts and entanglements. So complete and mystifying was the system made that for many days past hand to hand fighting has been continuous in what the French official communiqués call "The Labyrinth," and in which an advance of fifty feet after a day of the hardest kind of fighting is regarded as worthy of extended mention.

Dispatches from the front tell of the utter obliteration of every ordinary landmark in this region. The concentration of the wonderful French artillery and in accuracy of its fire have denuded the ground of buildings, trees and every other artificial or natural barrier and have left the country a waste of deep pitted ground that resembled in places the effects of a volcanic eruption.

It is on the artillery that General Joffre has placed much of his dependence here, although the heroic work gradually it has driven the Germans from one point and another, a few feet or a few yards a day, but gradually

Blood Thin and Weak Too Nervous to Sleep

Here is Another Case in Which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Proved Its Great Reconstructive Influence

Thin blood and exhausted nerves usually go together. A considerable portion of the blood is constantly consumed in keeping up the vitality of the nervous system. Once the blood is deficient, either in quantity or quality, the nerves suffer and bodily pains result. Headache, neuralgic or sciatic pains are the indications in some cases, while in others weakness, nervousness, irritability and sleeplessness are the most marked symptoms.

Mrs. R. F. Catlin, Elm Springs, Sask., writes: "For years I was troubled with nervousness, and could not sleep nights. Also had lack of color as a result of the blood being thin and weak. My husband saw Dr. Chase's Nerve Food advertised, and got some for me, and it worked wonderfully for me. I did so, and it gave me a wonderful help. My color is rich, my blood, it has restored color to my face and has built up the nervous system so that I rest and sleep well. It is a pleasure to recommend so excellent a medicine."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food goes direct to the formation of pure, rich blood, and for this reason is the most certain means of increasing the quantity of blood in the human system. The feeble, wasted nerves are restored, and through the nervous system new vigor and energy is imparted to every organ and member of the body.

You will be surprised at the way this food cures puts new strength and vitality into the weakened body. And the best of it is that the benefits are both thorough and lasting. In this Nerve Food differs from mere stimulating medicines which give rise to false hope and when discontinued leave you as weak as before. Put this great restorative treatment to the test. It will give you a wonderful help. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50. All dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited Toronto.

Prosecution under the immigration laws, it has been agreed, will be the most effective way of dealing with the fugitives.

WARNEFORD TELLS HOW HE DESTROYED ZEPPELIN

Northern France, June 12.—A member of the staff of Le Telegraphe, a journal of Northern France, met Flight Sub-Lieutenant Warneford, the aviator, after his return from his successful attack upon the giant Zeppelin in the air between Brugnot and Ghent.

"It was just 4 o'clock in the morning," said Lieut. Warneford, "when all of a sudden I perceived on the horizon, about midway between Ghent and Brussels, a Zeppelin flying at a height of about 5,000 feet.

"I immediately flew towards it, and when I was almost over the monster I descended about fifteen metres and hung six bombs at it. The sixth struck the envelope of the ship fair and square in the middle. There was instantly an explosion, and the displacement of the air around me was so great that a tornado seemed to have been produced. My machine tossed up and was flung absolutely upside down. I was forced to loop the loop, in spite of myself.

"I thought for a moment that the end of everything had come. In the whirl I had the satisfaction of seeing my victim falling to earth in a cloud of smoke and flame. By some miracle my machine righted itself and I came to earth in the enemy's country. I was not long on the ground; I speedily put myself and my machine into working order. Then I started my engine and was off."

PARENT WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE AGAIN

Winnipeg, June 12.—J. Parent, Conservative member of the legislature for Morris, has written to his constituents announcing he will not be a candidate again.

"I take this stand," he says, "owing to circumstances over which I have no control, chiefly the revelation now being made before the royal commission. I hope the authorities will not spare money, or time to punish all who may be guilty."

Winnipeg, June 12.—A divorce suit was filed in the court today by an attorney of $1,500 a year. "What is your husband's income?" Client—"It's about that." "Wouldn't you ask for more than a man makes. I'm not that kind."

ITALIAN FORCES ARE HOLDING GRADISCA

Official Report Issued at Rome Tells of Success on Isonzo Front

Rome, June 12.—The following statement, signed by Gen. Cadorna, was issued last night: "Some progress was made to-day at different points along the front. A reconnaissance party beyond Monte Nero found in the gorges recently explored by our forces the wreckage of rifles and machine guns abandoned by the enemy, and the bodies of forty Austrians. "Enemy forces comprising six battalions, coming from Plezzo, in Austria, 59 miles northwest of Gorz, according to statements made by prisoners, attempted to take our troops in the region of Monte Nero in the rear. The attempt was frustrated by the energetic resistance and manoeuvring of the bersaglieri and Alpine troops. "We are solidly established now in the city of Gradisca, which has been held by our advanced troops for some days."

Vienna, June 12.—The war office issued the following statement last evening: "The day before yesterday all the Italian attacks on all fronts were repulsed. A renewed attack against part of the bridge-head at Gorz collapsed under the fire of the Dalmatian landwehr. An enemy attack north of Ronchi also was unsuccessful. An artillery combat on the Isonzo front is proceeding.

"On the Carinthian frontier yesterday afternoon a strong hostile attack against Freikopel and a minor attack near Wolay Lakes were repulsed. "In the Tyrol an attack on our positions near Pentelstein by an Italian brigade, which entered near Cortina d'Amhezso, failed. Recent attacks in this district and night engagements near Landro ended in the retreat of the enemy. Otherwise continual artillery combats and minor skirmishes, in which we were successful, took place on the Tyrolean frontier."

OFFICIAL STATEMENT ISSUED AT VIENNA

Vienna, June 12.—The following official statement was given out last night: "In southeast Galicia and in Bukovina, the Teutonic Allied armies prosecuted successfully an attack against the Russian forces which still are standing south of the Dniester river. "The troops of Gen. Pflanzer's army drove the enemy from positions north of Otynia, near Oberstin and Horodenka, and now are advancing toward the Dniester, on the left bank of which the Russians are offering resistance. East of Czernowitz, at some points where the Russians still are standing on the River Pruth, our troops after a short engagement repulsed an enemy attack. Otherwise the situation here is unchanged."

EXPLAINS THE POLICY OF HIS GOVERNMENT

Athens, June 12.—Delivering to a large assembly his first public speech since he assumed office, Prime Minister Gounaris explained the difference between his policy and that of his predecessor, M. Venizelos. He stated briefly that M. Venizelos was ready to have Greece enter the war with out determining thoroughly the conditions under which she should take up arms. His own policy, M. Gounaris said, was to demand guarantees which would ensure the integrity of the kingdom and a successful outcome of its participation in the war.

DECLARES PEOPLE DEMAND CLEAN-UP GRAND JURY WILL HOLD INVESTIGATION

Winnipeg Telegram Says Time for Plain Speaking Has Arrived Will Discover Whether Germans Conspired to Defraud the United States

Winnipeg, June 12.—Dealing with the evidence given by Horwood and Salt at Minneapolis before the royal commission which is investigating matters connected with the erection of the parliament buildings here, the Telegram, in an editorial headed "A Plain Duty," says: "If the evidence given before the royal commission at Minneapolis is true, a grievous outrage has been perpetrated against the people of Manitoba. The evidence disclosed that there was a conspiracy to rob the people of this province of a large sum of money in connection with the construction of the new parliament buildings in Winnipeg. The evidence shows further that conspiracy was entered into to shield from discovery and to keep from prosecution and punishment those concerned in this dishonest transaction. "There is but one duty confronting those sworn with the administration of the law in this province and that is to prosecute every individual implicated in this outrage with the people with the utmost rigor of the law. There should be no attempt to palliate the crime, no partiality shown to any of the wrong-doers, no attempt to shield any one, no promises of immunity based on any consideration whatsoever or on any political 'deals.' The people of this province, regardless of their political, social or business affiliations, demand a clean-up. They are entitled to a clean-up. They will be satisfied with nothing else. "Any attempts to minimize the offenses that have been committed or to shield the offenders will only recoil upon those responsible for such attempts. The time for plain speaking has arrived."

FRENCH CAPTURED GUNS AND SUPPLIES

Took Three 77-Millimetre Guns, 1,000 Rifles and 800,000 Cartridges at Neuville

Paris, June 12.—The following official communication was issued last evening: "On Friday we fortified our position in front of Neuville. "We continue to inventory the war material captured by us. We have found thus far in the ruins the 77-millimetre field guns, three bombthrowers and 15 mitrailleuses, a very large number of engineers' implements and tools, numerous cases containing explosives and other articles of equipment. "In the region of the Touthvert farm, to the southeast of Hebuterne, we have organized the positions captured by us yesterday. This morning we captured a further 150 prisoners, among them a major. In addition, many German wounded have been admitted to our ambulances. The bodies of dead Germans can be counted by the hundreds. We have captured three more mitrailleuses. We have bent the German line on a length of more than two kilometres (1 1/2 miles) and on a depth of one kilometre (two-thirds of a mile). "This morning we completely repulsed a counter-attack by the enemy. To the east of Tracy-Le-Mont, in the neighborhood of the Quenneveres farm, our trenches, which are strongly established, are in immediate contact with those of the enemy. The Germans have not yet counter-attacked. They confine themselves to using their artillery."

"In Champagne, in the region of Beausjour, the enemy has not renewed his attempt against the trenches, the scene of the latest engagements here, which are completely in our hands. FELL BETWEEN RAILS: BODY WAS MANGLED

Courtenay, June 12.—A young man named Murray, the son of Acting Dominion Constable Jas. Murray, of Union Bay, met a terrible death on the Canadian Colliery Company's line at Cumberland on Thursday. He was riding on one of the cars when it fell between the rails and literally was torn to pieces by the brake-rigging. He was working as a brakeman. Murray was only about twenty years of age.

WILSON AND BRYAN.

Mr. Bryan has issued an address to German-Americans in which he points out that the United States has been scrupulously neutral according to the well-defined laws of neutrality in war.

Mr. Bryan appended his signature to the first note from Washington to Berlin following the destruction of the Lusitania. Technically it was his note, for no other name was attached to it.

The truth lies in the fact that Mr. Bryan is a man of talk and not action. If Germany could be frightened out of her submarine course by an empty phrase the ex-secretary did not care how bold it sounded.

SITUATION IMPROVES.

The end of the week finds the military situation more satisfactory from the point of view of the allies than it was a short time ago. The Russians not only have brought the Austro-German advance in Galicia to a standstill, but have inflicted a severe check upon the enemy in a movement which was expected to result in the capture of Lemberg.

in the one case, and about seventeen miles from Trieste in the other. In the west the French have captured the whole town of Neuville, and have held every foot of ground gained in the last fortnight in the face of heavy counter-attacks.

LAND AND THE CROWN.

We are asked by the morning paper if we favor the cancellation of applications for crown lands upon which arrears of principal and interest are owing.

The laws of British Columbia specifically state that no person may acquire more than 640 acres until he has performed the development duties on the original tract.

Some months ago the present Minister of Lands in an interview expressed himself personally in favor of enforcing forfeiture of lands held for speculation upon which there were arrears of payments.

Our contemporary, which always has been one of the foremost champions of the speculative idea as the best way to develop a country, of course will not agree with this view.

THAT PROPOSED PETITION.

In support of his proposal to petition the Governor-General to take some action in regard to political conditions in British Columbia Mr. Morley refers to our editorial reference to the intervention of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba in the affairs of that province.

It is almost unnecessary to point out that there is absolutely no analogy between the two cases. In Manitoba the proceedings which brought about the downfall of the Roblin government and the appointment of the royal commission now investigating the parliament buildings scandal were entirely constitutional and regular.

with the result that a board was selected, composed of two judges and a police magistrate. There was no appeal to the Governor-General of Canada or any other extraneous authority.

Of course there is nothing to prevent anybody sending a petition to His Royal Highness, or to the King himself for that matter, on anything under the sun, but it would be merely a waste of time, ink and paper.

POSTPONED AGAIN.

A Canadian press correspondent in London cables that Sir Richard McBride again has deferred his return to Canada. This is the third time the Premier has made a false start.

The last word we had of the momentous event was that Sir Richard actually had sailed, leaving Liverpool on Friday. Before that we were informed that he was to leave on Thursday.

It may have been that at the last minute Sir Richard landed another order for British Columbia salmon, but our own opinion is that he has detected a growing desire on the part of the temporary High Commissioner to vacate his office.

There is a sentimental reason, however, why the Premier should have returned to Victoria before this. June marks the twelfth anniversary of his accession to power.

The statement of the Merchants Bank of Canada which is published in this issue, and which is well worthy of close study, shows clearly that the management have strained every effort to prepare this institution for any sudden call.

the generally healthy condition revealed by the bank's statement. The management have shown that they are not mere fair weather pilots, and while they have reaped the benefits accruing from their past wisdom of accumulating a good reserve against the proverbial rainy day, they have been able without any dislocation of current business to make an unprecedentedly strong showing.

We observe that several of our contemporaries express disappointment at what they are pleased to consider the mildness of President Wilson's rejoinder to the German note. For our part for a state paper we do not see how Mr. Wilson's note could have been made much stronger.

World-Wide Popularity of Tea.

WILL MEET EXECUTIVE ON MONDAY MORNING

Unemployed Situation to be Discussed; The Assessment Revision

The mayor and council have arranged an appointment with the executive council on Monday morning at 11 o'clock for the discussion of the unemployed situation.

This conference is fixed as a result of the lengthy debate in the council chamber yesterday, at which the aldermen were pressed to admit that the city could not cope with the situation, and to appeal, like other municipalities have done, to the decision of the government in order that the situation may be relieved.

There is a great deal of business for the earlier days of next week. For the past two weeks it has not been an easy time for the members of the council, and for the present there is no prospect of a change.

The absolute necessity of knowing as early as possible what the tax rate will be has caused the court of revision to have precedence of everything else.

It is understood that when the court of revision on the assessment roll holds another session on Tuesday morning, it will be in a position to make an announcement on the properties which were visited yesterday.

The two sections in which the majority of the appeals will lie are in Chinatown, west of Government street, around Chatham and Herald streets, and in Victoria West, near Russell station.

Should there be any considerable change in the assessment, the court has later to sit as a board of equalization to direct the assessor to reduce or increase the assessed value of any land of the same class in the same locality in order to equalize the assessment.

In the afternoon will be held the meeting of the court of revision on local improvements, when the important question of the expropriation by-law for Pandora avenue will be dealt with, and the case, which is almost certain to be appealed, will then be argued. The cases of Hillside avenue and Denman street were also laid over, as the circumstances attending them are on parallel lines.

On Wednesday the license commissioners will hold a meeting during the afternoon, in regard to the transfer of the license of the Bank Exchange to new premises.

A number of committee meetings will be held in the near future, which have had to be postponed on account of the pressure of other business this week.

WORLD-WIDE POPULARITY OF TEA.

"In the tea trade there is much talk of enormous increases in the drinking of tea everywhere since the war began. Russia, already a large consumer of tea, is taking more and more to the beverage, now that vodka is banned. In France, tea is beginning to threaten the supremacy of coffee. The greater demand means higher prices in our households, especially as there is said to be no corresponding increase in the supply. Dealers are naturally uneasy as to the position."

WHAT TO WEAR WHILE TENDING THE GARDEN

Smocks, Aprons and All the Paraphernalia That Goes to Make a Summer Fad

New York, E.
"What is so rare as a day in June, When earth tries heaven if it be in tune?"
So thinks the girl who gathers up her gaily-painted sprinking-pot, her shears, her basket, and her kneeling-pad, and trudges off to the garden to enjoy an hour or two of solitude and intimate association with the sunshine and flowers. It is quite a fad—this potting among your own posies; a phenomenon one might almost call it, wherein the artistic finds expression in paraphernalia which blends with the landscape.
The shops abound with gay importations, smocks, bonnets and aprons, to tempt those who tarry within the garden gate. The smocks in themselves are enough to turn one to rakes, spades and garden baskets. The fad originated in England—certainly, it is charming enough to belong to old Brittany. This garment has much the appearance of a middy, grown to greater length, coming just below the knee, being slashed to slip on over the head. Usually it is made with set-in sleeves and yoke, and smocked front. For the most part, linen, unbleached muslin, cretonne and silk are used in the making.
All a garden, with pickle-shells and silver bells, needs is a Mistress Mary, quite contrary, in one of these fetching garden smocks. Can you picture anything more charming than a bright-eyed girl in a blue smock, white hat, skirt and shoes, among the roses in an old garden? Perchance, there is a woven wicker basket on a cane, stuck in the ground to hold the posies, and a few plant-sticks, with parrots, cardinals, and bluebirds, perched on top, scattered among the flowers to make the picture painted by nature quite complete. Just looking at a yellow linen smock, with flowered cretonne collar, hat and skirt to match, brings to mind an old-fashioned garden with its straight rows of bachelor buttons, lady slippers and hollyhocks. So it goes that there is a smock for every garden, and no garden is complete without one.

Watching passing events, the shop-keeper concludes that all the world is a garden, and straightway fills his window with giddy wheelbarrows all painted with flowers; green basket kits with English tools; smocks, aprons, and a thousand and one things suggesting neatness, care, and comfort for garden work. There was a garden set off the other day in one of the shops, for $12 complete, consisting of a flat, boat-shaped basket of brown wicker, fitted with shears, a collapsible ruler, grubber, marker, rake, brown burlap kneeling-pad, and an apron, of the brown burlap. In fact, all the tools now come light in weight to fill the requirements of the woman gardener; and the fixtures in bright colors, to catch her eye.
A Belgian who keeps a shop in the downtown section of the city, made a name for himself in the early season, by introducing the garden-sticks; these are wooden canes pointed at one end with figures of animals, people, and flowers on the top, to stick in the ground and tie the plants to. A garden full of them stands side by side with the man all shaven and short, for $2.50 the pair will hold up your pet rose bush, all summer, or keep the golden-glow in order. A black cat with back stripes, and the words "GARDEN" on its back, and a white mouse, in another familiar figure on the sticks, and blue-birds, and red cardinals, make bright spots in green shrubbery. Some importations have Dutch windmills on top and an expensive stick has a fairy, gracefully poised on a toadstool. One man has even gone so far as to use bonny rabbits in place of the birds, and an ingenious friend ties, on the gift card: "Standing in your garden trim, May the plant-stick straight and tall In the warm sun, By its brightness gladden all."

No need, however, to rely wholly on the sticks for color. Bamboo baskets for weeds and knees, are made bright with cushions of figured cretonne; the kneeling-pad of woven rush is bound with red-tape, that is, too, may have the spirit of the sunshine and flowers; and baskets are enameled and painted with roses, buttercups and daffedils. Even aprons take on a gala day aspect, being made of chintz, cretonne, or quaint, checked, pink ging-ham.

The woman who makes gardening her summer pastime may even go farther and select the dress she wears with the apron to harmonize with grass, flowers and dove-cote. A brown burliap or dark blue linen will give the desired effect, made with plain waist.

The sports shops must have anticipated the craze, for there are hats, gloves, and shoes, galore for the purpose. First come the peanut straws and cane-bottom-chair hats, with floppy brims to protect the wearer from the sun. These are trimmed with a rosette of cretonne to match the smock, or apron, a velvet bow or a cluster of straw flowers. Then there are poke shapes and sun-bonnets with streamers of cretonne which have taken their style from a peep in a 1915 fashion book; but the

Since gloves must be worn to protect the hands, the stores are showing chamol and canvas for this purpose, and if you listen close, you will hear the girl behind the counter tell each customer in a lowered voice to buy a size larger than they usually wear. It is easy to tell that this girl, too, has been caught in the thrall of the seducing craze, and she is not in doubt of larkspur and roses, instead of the gloves her customer wears.
Garden-etiquette even reaches to shoes. White canvas is the approved material, and you may have a comfortable, flat sneaker or trim pump,

INCOMPARABLE PRIMA BALLERINA

ANNA PAVLOVA

Acknowledged to be the greatest danseuse of her time, will appear at the Royal Victoria on Monday evening

AT THE THEATRES

SPECIAL SCENERY.

All the scenic effects which Mlle. Pavlova, the Russian danseuse, will use when she, with her big troupe of artists and musicians appear here shortly, were made in Europe, and are brand new. The genius of Bakst, Anisfeld, Sime, Paquin, Dobuszniski, and Rothenstein—names which stand for the highest in creative stage art as well as gallery art—has been called upon to create scenery and costumes for the "Divinity of the Dance." For scenery and costumes alone $125,000 has been expended by Pavlova's managers. In the midst of war's alarms Paquin, the famous Parisian gown designer, was persuaded to journey to London and there govern the plans for costumes which Pavlova will use in her forty-minute modern ballroom soiree, which will be no small feature of her programme this season. Every gown worn during the soiree by Pavlova and her company is an original creation of Paquin, and is the very last word in modish evening wear.

ROYAL VICTORIA THEATRE.

The pictures shown for the last two days at the Royal Victoria theatre will be presented for the last time to-night. There are eight reels in all, and they include such an assortment that they are bound to please. "The Gentleman Burglar" is a two-reel drama that is full of interesting scenes. "Jean the Faithful" has a very pretty love story. "The Fable of the Busy Man and the Idle Woman" is a comedy that was written by George Ade, and is one of those stories that only he knew how to write. "His Nemesis," another two-reel drama, has the punch behind it that goes to make up a successful photoplay. "The Strategist" and "Whose Husband," are two comedies that are of the better order. There will not be a show of pictures on Monday owing to the theatre having been taken by Mlle Pavlova, but on Tuesday one of the best comedies shown in Victoria for some time is promised. It is entitled "C. O. D."

NEW PANTAGES BILL.

To-night will be the last opportunity Victorians will have of seeing the Kent movies, pictures of the Italian cavalry in action, and the big vaudeville bill including that charming playette, "The Little Shepherd of Bargain Row."

Next week Pantages offers another good bill, with a headliner that will please both eye and ear, for the Six Kirksmith Sisters, in a musical interlude, are said to be as easy to look at as any team a Victoria stage has seen in some time. They combine youth, beauty and grace—and apparently play everything from an oboe to a jew's-harp. A saxophone and cornet medley and a vocal sextet are favorite selections.

Margaret Edwards, who played Truth in a motion picture, runs close second for popularity. After going through some of the exercises by which she made herself physically perfect, she gives a number of original classic dances with a grace all her own.

The Three Weber Sisters, the Athletic Girls will open the bill with some clever tumbling and acrobatic feats.

Fisher, Schaffer & Rockway. The Passing Revue Trio, are popular imitators. Miss Fishers impersonation of Stella Mayhew, "coon" walk and all, and Mr. Schaffer's impersonation of Harry Lauder will undoubtedly be well received.

Jim Hatley and Jess Noble will put on a laughable aviation dialogue entitled "Falling for Her," and The Flying Fishers close the bill with skillful trapeze work interspersed with comedy.

APPEALS DISMISSED

Court Has Before It Tax-Sale Title Case Appealed by the Plaintiff.

The court of appeal yesterday afternoon dismissed the appeal of the B. C. Building Trust company, and that of the British Northwest Insurance company. The cases were similar, being applications that certain mortgages and conveyances be registered in the office of the register of companies as of the date they were registered in the land registry office, and that security be considered as in force on that date.

The appeal of Heron et al against Lalonde et al is now before the court. The plaintiff appeals from the judgment of Mr. Justice Clement in an action to set aside tax sales and the deeds given thereunder. The property was purchased in 1893, and sold for taxes in 1894. The tax title was granted in 1898, but one day under the statutory limit of two years. In 1913 action was brought to set aside the title. The trial judge found he was precluded by section 255 of the Tax act.

FRONTIER OF ITALY AND AUSTRIA

LESSONS FROM PAST CAMPAIGNS

(From the London Times.)

Modern Italy, like ancient Rome, takes her time to enter the northern hills and bring a part of this barrier under her power. Rome held sway over three continents before she became mistress in her own house. Many were the triumphs celebrated at the Capitol over the vanquished tribes, but Illyrians, Raelians, and Celtic bands continued to plunder the people of Upper Italy, and it was not until the time of Augustus that the frontier problem was resolutely attacked and a settled life given to the north.

The events of 1866 gave Venetia to Italy, but left Austria in occupation of the crests of the Alps and the heads of the principal valleys. From Switzerland to the Julian Alps the frontier follows the crest of the hills at an elevation of 7,000 to 10,000 ft. A mountainous zone separates the frontier from the plains. Between the Julian Alps and the Adriatic the character of the frontier changes. The ground gradually falls, and there are no natural obstacles to prevent the advance of armies on a broad front.

Nature has thus divided Italy's northern frontier with Austria into two distinct sectors; the first of high mountains from Switzerland to the defiles of Carinthia; and the second, much lower and eventually merging into the plain, from the Carinthian defiles to the Gulf of Trieste. The first sector forms the Trentino, or Southern Tyrol. It is a narrow strip, detached from the rest of the Austrian empire, and is connected with it by the Pusterthal and the Brenner, by which two routes alone is there railway communication with other Austrian territory.

The Tyrol Sector.

On the western flank of the Trentino, between Stelvio and the valley of the Adige, only three good roads cross the frontier—namely, those of Stelvio, Tonale, and Giudicaria. Between them are the Ortler and Adamello glaciers, rendering the access on this side difficult. This front, as the events of 1896 proved, can easily be defended against superior forces if a Kuhn conducts the defence. On the eastern flank of the Trentino, from the Adige to the Col de Kreuzberg, the ground is more practicable. The passes are less high and more numerous, especially across the Dolomites between the Piave, the Pusterthal, and the Adige. The latter valley is the natural gate of the Trentino to the south. It is broad and leads straight into the heart of the Tyrol.

Between the Col de Kreuzberg and of Tarvis, the Carnic Alps, owing to their height and poverty of communications, form a barrier difficult to pass, but to the south of their eastern extremity near Tarvis, and following generally the line of the Isongo, is a district suitable for mass movements. From Tarvis to Tolmeina the heights are not under 5,000 feet, but Udine stands at half this height, and at Gorizia the country is quite flat. It has for long been the Austrian plan, in case of war with Italy, to concentrate the main army on the Isongo for an advance into Venetia, and to hold the Tyrol defensively but in such strength that columns from the hills may issue and attack in flank and rear Italian armies marching through Venetia to the east. A railway system superior to that of Italy enables a concentration on the Isongo to be effected rapidly, while the defensive strength of the Trentino to the west resists even to the enveloping attacks to which it is exposed.

Austrian Defences.

The Austrian fortifications of this frontier have hitherto corresponded with the characteristics of the two frontier sectors. In the first, all routes leading from Lombardy and Venetia are barred by strong works. In the second, there were practically no fortifications when war broke out, but it is probably the case that this situation is altered now, for the Austrian army is no longer free to conduct offensive operations on a large scale on this front. With such few regular troops as she can spare, and with the aid of the Landsturm and the levies of Carinthia, Carniola, and the Tyrol, Austria will put up the best defence she can, and will look to Bavaria for support if the Trentino threatens to be overwhelmed.

Nature and art will assist in this defence. The western front of the Trentino is so strong that very little is required to aid nature, but Stelvio, Tonale, and Giudicaria have certain works to aid the garrisons in their tasks. On the eastern front are the forts, works, and barracks of Treassai, Pieve, Moena, Paneveggio, Levico and Fugazze. These have works on the crests and in the valleys; they are armoured and powerfully armed; while searchlights, underground wires, mines, and obstacles make each point difficult to attack. The Riva works, constituting a group by themselves, are situated on the bank of the Isongo, two shores of the Lake of Garda very uninviting, while at Trent itself is a strong fortress surrounded by armoured forts and casemated batteries. Franzensfeste, isolated in the north, defends the outlet of the Pusterthal and the Brenner in the Upper Adige.

The Carnic Alps are devoid of fortifications, but at Tarvis there are works destined to defend the approach from the Tagliamento to the Drava, and to support the right of the concentration of an Austrian army on the Isongo. Tarvis is an important point in the event of an Italian offensive against Vienna. To the west of it, Fort Hensel, in the valley of the Pella, protects the road and railway to Pontebba. Further south have also been modernized, and it is more than probable that the line of the Isongo now forms a serious defence. The lines of the Save and the Drava cover the approaches further northeast to Gorizia and Vienna. The general position can be followed on the map published to-day. This map shows the passes, the railways, and the permanent defences so far as they are known.

Frontier Preparations.

The chief military interest of Italy was for so long her northwest frontier that the Austrian borderland was comparatively neglected. During the last ten years or more this situation has changed, and much has been done to prepare Italian troops and railways for military service in the northeast. Fortifications on a moderate scale existed before the war. The road from Stelvio is closed by works at Bormio, and the Tonale Pass by others at Ponte di Legno, while Rocca d'Anfo covers the outlet from Giudicaria. The important entrenched camp of Verona is the chief frontier fortress of Italy in this theatre, and exercises an important influence upon operations against the Southern Tyrol. Between the Adige and the Tagliamento fortified zones of assembly have been prepared. Nearest to Verona is the Astico group, which extends from Arsiero to Asiago, and is connected with the works of Val Logra and San Pietro on the frontier. On the Upper Brenta are the forts of Primolano and adjacent positions, while on the Upper Piave there are others at Pievevanta, Agordo, Pieve di Cadore, and Vigo, and it is probable that this particular sector has been much strengthened of late. Further east, Italian efforts have been devoted mainly to the Tarvis line and the railway from Osoppo to Pontebba.

Thus in general the covering troops of Italy on the frontier have strong support; positions of assembly have been organized and can be used offensively or defensively; the left flank of Italian armies in Venetia has been made fairly secure; and finally operations towards the Upper Adige and the Pusterthal have been facilitated. The general idea originally was that the Italian armies might assemble behind the Brenta with their banks resting on Venice and Verona, and that as they advanced eastward their left would be secured by troops and works in the upper valleys of the rivers. The railway policy of Italy was designed to conform with these leading ideas. Naturally, the Italian navy was expected to play a large part in the campaign, and was prepared to do so. Existing conditions, and the effacement of the Austrian navy before the naval predominance of the allies, may lay upon the efficient navy of Italy a less exacting task than was anticipated, but there is still room for its activities in the northern Adriatic, and it will not be found wanting when it is needed.

WOMEN OF FRANCE.

Frenchwomen have started a regiment of their own. The Queen of Belgium will be offered the honorary colonelship. The uniform, which will be of khaki, already has been designed. It is very trim, and the Parisians are delighted. What gives them most concern is that the feminine soldiers are aspiring to having rifles and to learn to shoot. Perhaps the "National Defence Cabinet" will interfere, or the "Committee on Public Safety." There is yet hope.

Not all the members of the regiment are to have rifles, at least not really and truly loaded ones. What the women plan to do seriously enough is to take the place of the men in the public offices, so that the men can go out and fight. "Debusquier les Embusques" is the avowed purpose of these women, and in that they will have the hearty support of all patriots. At the beginning of the war there was an amazing amount of able-bodied Frenchwomen with "brassards" or scarfs about their arms, which signified that they belonged to some public office and were not to be mobilized. Their number was so great that it became a scandal, and the women have declared fight on these "embusques" or "hiddings." Even in the post offices only baldheaded clerks are now left. The rest are young women, and they are doing very well. Subway trains and trolley cars long have been manned by women, and the new automobiles are to be the same. The Frenchwomen are fine workers, and anybody who casts reflections on them has never lived in France.

But to come back to the women regiment. There is to be a separate division that is to learn to take the places of men in the public offices. Another division is to drive automobiles and to carry messages by bicycle; a third—and this is the one that demands loaded rifles—is to act as escort to convoys of food or prisoners. A fourth is to take the place of men in standing guard in the villages conquered from the enemy or retaken. The same division will ask to be given duties such as watching railroad bridges and crossings, and for that they need guns. The central idea of the regiment, of which Madame Arnauld is the organizer, is to take the places of men wherever possible, in order to get as many men into the trenches to fight the Germans as humanity possible. The first one and may be carried out. "Père Joffre" has not yet sanctioned the scheme, and that must be done before any commissions can be obtained. All the officers will have to be men.

First Farmer—"You can't take it for that cow!" Second Farmer—"Can't do it." "But yesterday you told me you'd sell her for five." "I know I did, but I'll have to back out." "What's the matter?" "You see the cow belongs to my wife, and she says she will sob herself into hysterics if I sell her. It would break her heart." "All right—it's no purchase." "I say." "Well, what is it?" "Make it five and we'll let her go." "I don't see why you call your place a 'bungalow,'" said Smith to his neighbor. "Well, if it isn't a bungalow, what is it?" said the neighbor. "The job was a bungle and I still owe for it."

COBB HAS CHANCE TO BREAK RECORD Detroit Star Only 400 Hitter in Majors; Has Pilfered 28 Bases

Chicago, June 12.—New batting leaders have appeared in the National and Federal leagues this week, but Cobb still the only 400 batter in the major circuits, continues in front in the American Average, published here to-day, including the games of last Wednesday in the big leagues and those players who have participated in ten or more games show that Manager Tinker, despite his illness, which has kept him much on the side lines, is setting the pace in the Federal.

The Federal league's 300 hitters, with games played and averages, are: Tinker, Chicago, 12, .375; Magee, Brooklyn, 41, .374; Watson, Buffalo, 10, .364; Campbell, Newark, 38, .358; H. Myers, Brooklyn, 33, .348; Evans, Brooklyn, 45, .348; Hoffman, Buffalo, 27, .341; McDonald, Buffalo, 29, .340; Quinn, Baltimore, 12, .333; Kauff, Brooklyn, 40, .333; McConnell, Chicago, 17, .324; LaFitte, Brooklyn, 12, .323; Flack, Chicago, 35, .321; Westcott, Brooklyn, 33, .321; Strand, Newark, 10, .320; Easterly, Kansas City, 28, .313; Lennox, Pittsburg, 15, .312; Cooper, Brooklyn, 45, .308; Ford, Buffalo, 11, .304; Wilson, Chicago, 37, .303; Tobin, St. Louis, 45, .302; Borden, St. Louis, 45, .302.

Magee leads in stolen bases with 19. Evans leads in total bases with 82 and in runs scored with 37 and Zwilling, Chicago, and Konetsky, Pittsburg, in home runs with five each. Eddie Kauff, it will be seen, has surrendered temporarily the honors he held, Brooklyn with .292 and Newark with .283 lead in team batting. The federal pitchers credited with 700 averages who have played in ten or more games are: Allen, Pittsburg, won 8 and lost 2; Cullup, Kansas City, 8 and 3; Main, Kansas City, 7 and 3; LaFitte, Brooklyn, 7 and 3.

With 28 stolen bases to his credit already, Cobb has a chance to break the base-running records this year. He leads the league in thefts and continues in front also in total bases with 68 and in runs scored, 56. His batting average is .416 for 51 games. American league .300 hitters after Cobb are Daly, Chicago, 18, .376; Cloutier, Chicago, 11, .364; Jackson, Cleveland, 29, .356; Thompson, Philadelphia, 14, .345; Fournier, Chicago, 43, .343; Mays, Boston, 11, .333; Veach, Detroit, 49, .322; Crawford, Detroit, 51, .321; Kavanagh, Detroit, 47, .317; Lajoie, Philadelphia, 36, .316; Turner, Cleveland, 30, .310; Russell, Chicago, 12, .308; Connolly, Washington, 11, .306; Chapman, Cleveland, 43, .301; Strunk, Philadelphia, 22, .300.

Detroit leads in club batting with .261 and Chicago is next with .261. Olding leads the home run hitters with four. The leading American league pitchers are: Schneider, Cincinnati, 11, .351; Daubert, Brooklyn, 41, .374; W. Zimmerman, Brooklyn, 14, .364; Luderus, Philadelphia, 32, .362; Doyle, New York, 39, .349; Good, Chicago, 31, .347; T. Clarke, Cincinnati, 31, .342; Groh, Cincinnati, 44, .342; Merkle, New York, 23, .333; C. Adams, Pittsburg, 10, .332; Robertson, New York, 28, .331; Hyatt, St. Louis, 24, .327; Doolin, Cincinnati, 10, .323; Burns, Philadelphia, 12, .322; Fletcher, New York, 37, .319; Saler, Chicago, 44, .317; J. Smith, Boston, 44, .314; Wade, Killifer, Cincinnati, 42, .314; Connolly, 34, .313.

The Giants, through their hard hitting in Chicago on Tuesday and St. Louis on Wednesday have taken the lead in club batting with 276. Cincinnati is next with 262. Johnson, Pittsburg, has tied Saler for base-stealing honors with 34, but the Chicagoan is still the leading run getter with 35 and the leading slugger with total bases numbering 161, including 19 doubles, 8 triples and 5 home runs. Cravath, Philadelphia, leads in home runs, however, with nine.

Compared on the same plan as the American and Federal records. National league pitcher are: Pierce, Chicago, won five and lost none; Mammaux, Pittsburg, 8 and 1; Meadows, St. Louis, 4 and 1; Mayer, Philadelphia, 10 and 2; Schneider, Cincinnati, 4 and 1; Ragan, Boston, 4 and 1; S. Smith, Brooklyn, 4 and 1; Alexander, Philadelphia, 10 and 3; Marquard, New York, 5 and 2.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Michelson is playing a steady game of first base for the Hills. The Merchants have disposed of the services of Charlie Crooks. Neil McDiarmid catches nice ball for Hawkins' Cubs. The Vics do not believe in giving Parritt a rest because of his good pitching. Beacon Hill think they can stop the Victorias short Tuesday night. North Ward vs. Beacon Hill on the former's grounds this evening. "Tucker" James, of the Wests, figures in numerous double plays. Three defeats in a row for the Leafs. Two of the games have been played in a steady drizzle. It's up to Leonard to stop the sliding Leafs. Vancouver is now up within striking distance again. A workout of the Victoria Lacrosse Club will be held to-morrow. Marty Nye had three miscues in yesterday's clash at Spokane. Kaylor is hitting better, while Butler has started to paste the pill. Aberdeen is slumping, but Vancouver appears a strengthened team. Wayne Barham has won three and lost one for the Beavers. Kramer is twirling nice ball for the Vancouver club. Joe Tobin is still hitting above the .300 mark. The Leafs ought to improve in their hitting when they play at home. H. M. S. Kent will enter a number of boxers in the V. I. A. A. tourney. The sailors boast of a few clever whippersnappers. O'Leary will meet Rough-house Burns at Coquitlam this month. The lightweights all want to meet this Rough-house person. Boston is climbing in the American league. The Giants are still in the cellar in the National league. Joe Woods has started to pitch real good ball for the Red Sox. Jess Willard is still doing a turn with the Wild West show. St. Louis is making waves on the ponds on Monday against the Vancouver club. This twirler has won two and lost three to-date for the Leafs.

A NICE TRIBUTE

MAURICE M'LOUGHLIN Famous California Tennis Star.

Speaking of the death of Anthony Wilding, of New Zealand, the great tennis player who was killed in the war, Maurice McLoughlin says: "Tennis has sustained an irreparable loss by the death of Anthony Wilding, of New Zealand—Anthony, the absolute," as we sometimes called him in the game. He was not only a great player, one of the greatest who ever lived, but his demeanor on the court at play was beyond reproach. I first played against him in 1909 at Sydney. He then defeated me by three sets to one, and I knew that I had met something new in the shape of a tennis player. Those that I had played before had not possessed his speed or his marvellous accuracy. As a matter of fact, no player ever made fewer errors than Wilding. "I played him again at Wimbledon in 1913, and he defeated me in all three sets. It was terrific tennis, some say the most tempestuous ever seen on a court up to that time, but Wilding dominated the situation. In 1914, last summer, at New York, I defeated him for the first time. I do not think any one would suggest that Wilding had lost any of his old skill, but I played better than I have ever played in my life. Critics have described that match as the greatest ever played, though this is probably an exaggeration. As long as tennis can produce men of Wilding's stamp there can not be much wrong with the game."

BEACON HILL WON TWO AMATEUR GAMES AND LEAD LEAGUES

One safe blow, a home run by Dinsdale, was all the hits the Wards secured off Paul Slater, pitching for Beacon Hill last night. While this circuit clout saved the Wards from a coat of "whitewash," Beacon Hill batted well behind their pitcher, every member coming through with a safety, tallying 13 runs to the Ward 1. From the very offset the Hills took a liking to Purdy's slants while his support was ragged in spots. Fielding features were provided by Burnett on second for the Hills, while Dinsdale was a star in defence for the Wards. The teams lined up as follows: Hills: Livingstone, c.; Slater, p.; Nicholson, 1b.; Burnett, 2b.; D. Slater, s.s.; Copas, 3b.; McAdam, if.; Irving, cf.; Mesher, rf. Wards: Quinn, c.; Purdy, p.; Menzies, 1b.; Curtis, 2b.; Dinsdale, s.s.; Bigham, 3b.; Lamphere, if.; Plow, cf.; Miller, rf. Charlie Fuller gave satisfaction as umpire. Beacon Hill increased their lead in the Junior League race last night by handing Oak Bay a terrific beating, 18 to 2. The Bays could do nothing with the delivery of Harry Copas, while the Hills batted the opposing pitcher at will. Hands were being drawn by a mule. The driver, a young dorky, was endeavoring to induce the mule to increase his speed, when suddenly the animal let fly with its heels and dealt him such a kick that he was stretched on the ground in a twinkling. He lay rubbing his woolly head where the mule had kicked him. "Is he hurt?" asked a stranger anxiously of an old negro who had jumped from the prostrate driver. "No, boss," was the reassuring reply. "Dat mule will probably walk kind of tender for a day or two, but the boy ain't hurt."

Dardanelles Shelled by Day and Night

By Special Correspondent of London Chronicle.

Mitylene, June 6.—Yesterday, the ninth day of the bombardment of the Dardanelles, was marked by an interesting happening. Late in the afternoon, from a point farther north than this, I saw on three occasions a warship pass the narrows at Nagara. The first to pass was a destroyer, and the second was a cruiser. On the third occasion the ship I noticed was probably a cruiser returning. These ships could not possibly be Turkish war vessels, for they came and went without drawing close, and, with the progress made by the allied fleet in the destruction of the forts, it is in the highest degree unlikely that Turkish ships would venture now so far down the Dardanelles. It would appear certain, therefore, that the great Narrows forts of Chanak and Killid Bahr have been silenced, while those on both sides of the waterway up to Nagara are probably also wholly out of action. The Turkish Hill.

But while the Turks still retain a hold on the land on both sides of the Straits, thus being able to make use of mobile batteries, it is unlikely the allied fleet will pass the Narrows in force. Beyond that part of the Straits are undoubtedly mine fields, and though the chain of forts comes to an end with Nagara, the shores beyond this side of the waterway will have to be thoroughly cleared. And it is idle to deny that this still presents a fairly heavy task. During the past day or two the operations have been much less spectacular. The warships have been mainly engaged inside the Straits, and all that was to be seen was the bursting of their shells on the Asiatic side and round Tree Hill. Firing at Close Range.

Yesterday afternoon the forts in the Boghali region were evidently being bombarded at very close range by ships well up the Straits. A good deal of attention is being paid to the Asiatic side at the same time, for a heavy pall of smoke is rising over Erenkewil. Everything is still, but only for a while, as if the sunset well deserved the tribute of silence. Peace goes with the daylight's last flames. Guns begin to boom fitfully again until the loud chorus of battle is in full swing again to resound all the night. Dusk brought an inspiring little picture. "Wasp of War."

Up from the direction of Tenedos six destroyers came rushing, a cruiser not far from Gaba Tepe being their rendezvous. It made one's blood stir to see those wasps of war, each in command of someone not much more than a boy, racing forward as if with the joy of battle. Round the cruiser they clustered, and they all went off again in a perfect line. It looked as though their mission was a raid up the Straits, but darkness came and closed round the greater part of the southern portion of the peninsula. I sailed down to the island from which I write, parallel to and quite near the coast. It seems clear that the enemy is putting up a strong resistance, but we appear to be holding strongly entrenched positions. The situation does not appear to have changed a great deal during the past few days. Farther south, towards the point of the Peninsula—the Turkish lines appear to be on the heights and slopes of Tree Hill, and the British are in the neighborhood of Anikd Kritis. About 5 o'clock this afternoon Tree Hill and its northern and southern slopes were being heavily shelled by the fleet. The shells were throwing up great clouds of earth and smoke. Our land guns joined in, the bluish smoke coming from them being clearly observable. Passing the mouth of the Straits I could plainly note our camp occupying a large area with large numbers of men and horses. The great fleet of warships and transports lying at the mouth of the Straits make a fine sight. So numerous are the signals down that the fleet almost looks as though it were decked for review. A line of destroyers guards the entrance, and beyond the warships are spitting out fire and smoke. Deluge of Shells.

Far up the valleys on the Asiatic side their thunder was rolling. Landing here on an island in the Bosphorus I witnessed a heavy bombardment of Tree Hill, which from this view point stands out most prominently. As far as could be seen the Turks entrenched there made no reply. The ships' fire thoroughly searched the whole position of the enemy. At sunset the whole area of the operations was bathed in a purple light, and just when the ships' forms and the headlands flanking the Straits were dying into deep shades, an exciting encounter was seen. The Turks under cover of dusk evidently lay a battery of guns down the road through the Mendere Valley on the Asiatic side, with a front towards Yoni Shehr. Suddenly two enormous spouts of water flew skyward, close to three battleships firing from a point near Seddul Bahr. One shot went too far, the second being short. But before the third shot, which the gunner calculates to hit with, could be fired, the ships spotted the battery and were pouring a deluge of huge shells on the daring Turks. It was sharp and exciting work. I could see the enemy being chased by tremendous shell-bursts right up the valley towards, I should think, Yenikales. It was a splendid piece of gunnery by our ships, for the Turks evidently fired in such haste that they did not fire another shot save the two mentioned. To-night, as I write near midnight, in full view of the scene of operations, war in dusk makes a weird picture. A searchlight spreads its glare all round and every minute of the night is lit up by the sudden vivid flaming of great guns. One has only to see the nature of the country on both sides of the Dardanelles from a point close by to understand the great advantage the defending forces have.

GOOD YEAR MADE IN CANADA Fortified Tires. Rim-Cuts—by our No-Rim-Cut feature. Blow-outs—by our "On-Air" cure. Loose Treads—by many rubber rivets. Insecurity—by 128 braided piano wires. Punctures and Skidding—by our double-thick All-Weather tread.

Suppose We Pared This Goodyear Fortified Tire

Suppose we pared the Goodyear All-Weather Tread. There still would be a full-built tire left. For this famous tread is double-thick, and the "carcass" beneath is made extra-strong to support it. That's what men mean when they tell you that Goodyears are built in perfect balance. For what is the good of a heavy tread that you have to discard when the tire beneath gives out prematurely? This fault, in many rival tires, is avoided in Goodyear construction.

Goodyears Rule Because—Five vital features have put these tires on top in four short years. But these five features we control. And no rival has them: Goodyear's All-Weather Tread—now double-thick, with deep-cut, close-set, sharp-edged blocks. They grip where average tires slip. They minimize punctures and multiply mileage. Goodyear's No-Rim-Cut Feature—that fortifies against rim-cutting in the best way science has discovered. This patented method, though widely copied, has never been equaled. Goodyear's "On-Air" Cure—that protects against blowouts. We give each tire this second cure on bags of air. The air, super-heated, expands and "irons out" any wrinkle the fabric may contain. No other tire maker goes to this expense. So wrinkled fabric in rival tires causes blowouts. Goodyear's Rubber Rivets—hundreds of them vulcanized between the tread and "carcass." The exclusive use of this method costs $50,000. It reduces loose tread risk by 60 per cent. Goodyear's Braided Wire Tape—six flat bands of 126 braided piano wires in the beads of Goodyear tires. They make it impossible to force the tire from the rim. Prices Reduced. Yet despite these extra features—despite the war tax on every particle of raw material that goes into Goodyear Fortified Tires—On February 15th we made a radical price reduction. This was our third in less than two years, saving the user, in all, an average of 37 per cent. This saving is due to the amazing demand for Goodyear tires that multiplied our output and cut our factory cost per tire. Last year alone men bought in Canada as many Goodyear tires as there were cars in the Dominion. Join these contented motorists. Get our new price on your size from any dealer today. WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Cape Wolfe, Canada.—"Last March I was a complete wreck. I had given up all hope of getting better or living any length of time, as I was such a sufferer from female troubles. But I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am in good health and have a pair of twin boys two months old and growing finely. I surprised doctors and neighbors for they all knew what a wreck I was."

"Now I am healthy, happy and hearty, and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies. You may publish this letter if you like. I think if more women used your remedies they would have better health."—Mrs. J. T. Cook, Lot No. 7, Cape Wolfe, P. E. I., Canada.

To the Editor.—Some time ago I replied to one of Mr. Foster's outburst relating to his treatment by the trade unionists. I explained that I had found out the cause of same. You did not publish this letter. I also stated that having this knowledge I did not intend to reply to any further correspondence.

Outside trades unions I am prepared to fight for a white British Columbia, not that I object to the color of any race, but for other reasons that all sensible citizens understand.

THE RIGHT OF APPEAL.

To the Editor.—My intelligence may be at fault, but as I find recent occurrences do not coincide with your editorial reply of last evening, may I trespass further on your space and hope that you will make this important question of constitutional procedure more clear.

In your editorial of May 21 "Mantoba in Saskatchewan" you say "They (the people of Manitoba) say their administration for what it was, but they could not depose it because they had permitted it to establish a system of electoral corruption which enabled a minority of the electors to burk the will of the majority."

Where is Sir Richard? To the Editor.—Can you enlighten an otherwise helplessly ignorant public as to the present whereabouts of Sir Richard McBride, the once highly, though much mistakenly, idolized premier of British Columbia? Some little time ago the people of Victoria were informed by the eminent authority on all things speculative, in Manitoba, with esteem morning contemporary—that Sir Richard would sail from London on May 26, would spend a few days in Ottawa on his way homeward and would arrive in Victoria about the second week in June.

WHERE IS SIR RICHARD?

Strange as it is to recall to-day, when their name is a symbol for disorder and reaction, the fact is that at the period of their conquests the Turks commanded the most efficient and most progressive army in the world, writes H. G. Dwight in the Century.

TURKEY'S GLORIOUS PAST.

Strange as it is to recall to-day, when their name is a symbol for disorder and reaction, the fact is that at the period of their conquests the Turks commanded the most efficient and most progressive army in the world, writes H. G. Dwight in the Century. Such a body of soldiers as during the first century of its existence was the famous corps of the janizaries has rarely ever been known. Separated as young boys from their families and never allowed to form families of their own, picked for their regiments after the long and pitiless weeding out of the less strong and the less adept; subject to a discipline which at the time had no parallel, and was hardly matched to-day, they grew up, they lived and they died as soldiers. They were, if I am not mistaken, the first regularly uniformed, drilled and paid army in Europe. Nor were the janizaries the only proof that their masters were open to new ideas. The siege of Constantinople in 1452 was perhaps the notable in history for its novel features—its aeroplanes, its submarines, its monstrous floating cannon. But the siege of 1452 marked the beginning of a new era in warfare. In that campaign those who are now the defenders, and the combatants equipped with fewer of the modern resources of war, were the innovators. Their use

IN THE LODGE ROOM. Meetings Next Week. Monday—Victoria Lodge, No. 1. Tuesday—Vancouver Encampment, No. 1. Wednesday—Columbia Lodge, No. 2. Thursday—Dominion Lodge, No. 4. Subordinate Lodges.

Owing to the large number of members in attendance at the sessions of the various grand bodies of this order at New Westminster during the past week, the attendance at the local lodges at their regular weekly meetings was comparatively small, and no matters of general interest have transpired during the week.

Cotfax Rebekah Lodge, No. 1. The following officers were elected by this lodge last Tuesday evening: Sis. F. Scandling, N. G.; Sis. A. Richards, V. G.; Sis. C. Stoddard, financial secretary; Sis. J. Pilgrim, recording secretary; Sis. A. Phillips, treasurer.

Vancouver Encampment, No. 1. The regular meeting of the encampment will be held on Tuesday evening next. At the conclusion of the business the last session of the whist tournament will take place. As several members are tied for first place, and those in second and third places are very close to the top score, it is expected that the session will be an interesting one.

Columbia Lodge, No. 2. The Victoria Rebekah Lodge No. 2 tournament in this lodge will be held next Wednesday evening.

Canton Victoria, No. 2. There was no meeting of the canton last night owing to a large number of the members being absent from the mainland attending the competitive drills, which were held during the sessions of the various grand bodies of the order.

MINNESOTA MAY MAKE VICTORIA HOME PORT
Largest Liner on Pacific Will Probably Change Flag; New Law Too Exacting
There is a possibility that Victoria will be made the home port of the big Hill liner Minnesota. On November 1 President Wilson's Seamen's act goes into effect, and there is a report current in Seattle that owing to the increased cost of operation following the enforcement of the new law, the huge ship will change her flag. If she remains under the Stars and Stripes the cost of operating her will increase about $12,000 a year, and in order to avoid this additional cost, it is stated that the Minnesota will be placed under the Union Jack and have Victoria as her port of registry.

AGREES TO APPEAL TO THE GOVERNMENT

Council is Pressed by Deputation of Unemployed to Request Intervention

The mayor and aldermen have resisted a direct application to the government for financial assistance to the municipality to cope with the unemployed situation, although many representations have been made in the past 18 months both to Sir Richard, McBride and the acting premier for the government to organize some land clearing or other scheme which would relieve the pressure in the town.

did not respect the rulings of the council's resolution. The coming visit of the British mission of inquiry was the subject of reference by Mr. Inward. He declared that whatever happened, it could only take away a fraction of the men who were unemployed and hungry. He gently hinted at what would follow if the men were driven desperate, saying "the saw a dark cloud gathering ahead." He stated that 85 per cent of the men registered at the municipal bureau were still unemployed.

WOULD CLOSE UP FOURTEEN BY-LAWS

Small Outlay, City Engineer Shows, is Necessary to Wind Them Up

On account of the whole of the time being occupied in hearing an unemployed delegation, there was no meeting of the streets committee of the city council yesterday afternoon. Among a number of suggestions made by the city engineer in his report, which has to be considered probably early next week, is that the department should be given discretion to decide whether in future local improvement by-laws some of the lateral services which are unlikely to be used will be installed, thereby saving the cost of the work to the interested owners.

MANY MATTERS FOR ALDERMEN MONDAY

Further Correspondence on Irrigation Scheme; Another Claim for Riot Damages

At the meeting of the city council on Monday several matters of importance will be before the aldermen. The irrigation scheme to use Elk lake water, which was turned down by the aldermen on Monday, and endorsed by the Saanich council on Tuesday will be again the subject of a letter from Commissioner Cuthbert, who will ask the council to request the water commissioner to co-operate with the committee already appointed for that purpose.

ESTEEMED RESIDENT LEAVES MANY FRIENDS

Mrs. Henry Lawson, Who Passed Away Last Evening, Was Widely Loved

A very highly esteemed resident, and one who had endeared herself to a host of friends during the 28 years that she had made her home in Victoria, passed away last evening in the person of Mrs. Henry Lawson.

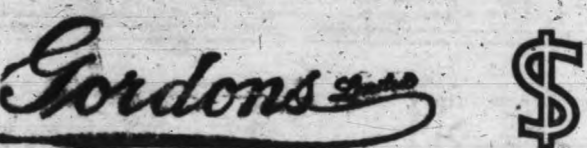

Born on January 17, 1889, in Charlottetown, P. E. I., the late Mrs. Lawson was 85 years of age at the time of her death. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McKenzie, who came to Prince Edward Island from Scotland. In 1882 she married Henry Lawson, for eight years editor of the Colonist, and, prior to coming West, well-known as a journalist in the maritime provinces. Mrs. Lawson followed her husband to Vancouver Island, arriving here in 1888, and making her home here continuously ever since, ever widening her circle of friends, and extending the generous hospitality of her home to many who had none of their own. She was predeceased several years ago by her husband.

The funeral has been arranged to take place from the family residence, 2122 Cook street, on Monday afternoon, services at the house and the graveside to be conducted by Rev. W. Leslie Clay, pastor of St. Andrew's church, of which she has been a member for many years.

Of the large family of nine children all but one survive. These are Mrs. Henry Smith, wife of the clerk of the county court at Charlottetown, P. E. I.; Mrs. John F. Norris, widow of the late J. F. Norris, of the Colonist; Miss E. G. Lawson, a well-known journalist and secretary of the Colonist; Miss E. G. Lawson, principal of Kingston street school; Miss Flora Lawson, who lives at the family home on Cook street; and three sons, Henry and William Lawson, living in this city, and John Lawson, a well-known Chicago newspaper man. A daughter, Mrs. Hooner, was one of the victims of the ill-fated S.S. Troquois, which went down in the Straits some years ago.

Fifteen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren survive also, two of the former, Thomas and George Norris, being with the forces, one at New Westminster and the other with the 5th Regiment at Esquimalt.

A gentleman one day took his little dog out for a walk, and the boy from some cause or other, got lost, and meeting a policeman, tearfully asked for help with the forces, one at New Westminster and the other with the 5th Regiment at Esquimalt.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots; How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the "bumsy" freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Some time ago little Willie rambled into the house, threw his soldier's helmet into the corner, and began looking over a book. This was unusual for Willie, and his mother began to investigate. "What have you come into the house for, Willie?" she asked. "You haven't quarrelled with George, have you?" "No, mother," answered Willie, "but I'm not going to play war with him any more." "Why not?" queried mother, "what has he been doing?" "It's just this way," explained Willie, "when we play war I'm Germany and he's England, and if I don't let him hit me every time he says I'm not patriotic."

"Today, for the first time, I was led out for a walk, and the boy from some cause or other, got lost, and meeting a policeman, tearfully asked for help with the forces, one at New Westminster and the other with the 5th Regiment at Esquimalt."
