You can't toughen a horse to the spring work in a day. Start in easy. Think how it is with your own shoulders.
Regularity in feeding is of more consequence than quantity. Many poultry disorders are caused by alternate gorging and starving.
Burn all the old brush heaps now and get rid of a thousand and one pests that have had their time there waiting for warm weather to bring them into activity again.

As a rule, eggs from two-year-old hens give better satisfaction at this time of the year than when from younger stock, and the chicks are more vigorous.
By experiment it has been computed that 100 grains of lime are needed to make one strong egg shell. Two hundred pounds of wheat are required to furnish sufficient lime for a dozen egg shells. It is easy to see why oyster shells and other similar ingredients should form a part of the ration.
Rye is the poorest of poultry grains. Corn and buckwheat should be fed sparingly as they are very fattening. Wheat leads as a well-balanced food, and barley is a close second. Feeding too much buckwheat has a tendency to produce a white skin and light-colored yolks in eggs.

Fowls require salt in their ration in order to thrive best, the same as do all other animals. The minerals elements in the salt are desired by the fowls, and their systems crave them. But only a little salt is needed—not more than a handful a week to the average-sized farm flock.
The earliest returns from the garden stuff will be secured from that planted on ground that was fall plowed. Owing to its physical condition such soil is warmer and hence makes possible a more rapid growth of plant life.

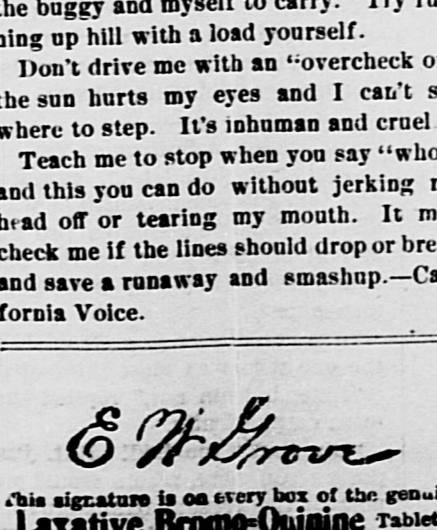

Don't think the old orchard is past hope. If too thick, thin out the trees. Clean out all bad limbs. Spray and cultivate. Feed plenty of stable manure and, my word for it, in nine cases out of ten, the old orchard will pay for itself ten times over. Take care of it, be good to it; it pays.
Pure, clean water is an absolute essential that too often is neglected. Eggs contain such a very large per cent of water that we ought to realize how impossible it is for hens to produce them without this most necessary element. Change the drinking water frequently and keep all vessels used for the purpose perfectly clean at all times.
Bees begin breeding heavily before they have an opportunity to gather honey from flowers, and to make strong profitable colonies they must have a good supply of reserve stores in the hive. If they are not thus supplied, they will certainly fall short of making colonies that will produce the best results during the honey harvest.

Here is a prolific source of trouble. Many men feed liberally as far as quantity is concerned, and yet really keep their animals on short rations because the material which they supply contains only a small proportion of nutriment. The animals can not eat and digest enough of this kind of feed to get a sufficient quantity of the elements needed to enable them to do the best that they are capable of doing in the way of growth or production.—Agricultural Epitomist.

In buying a sow for breeding purposes it is well for the purchaser to take account of the number of pigs there were in the litter in which she was born. There may have been three, maybe eight, and possibly eleven or twelve. The young pig is quite likely to follow the breeding habit of her dam in respect of the number of the litter, and if a good producer is wanted a sow from a large litter should be selected.

Go to the early potato field "hammer and tongs." Put on the disk, spring tooth, acme, smoothing harrow and plank drag or anything else that you have that will chop it up and help to make it as fine as an ash heap. Then do it again. Set the disk to cut deep and fairly plow it up, crossing the piece once or twice, allowing the disk to lap one-half. Do not stop at pulverizing the surface for this or any other crop, but cut and mellow and make your soil fine right down to the bottom of the furrow if possible.

A FEW HORSE DON'TS.
Don't ask me to "back" with blinds on; I'm afraid to.
Don't let some blockhead drive me that has less sense than I have.
Don't run me down a steep hill, for if anything should give way I might break your neck.
Don't whip me when I get frightened or I will expect it next time and may make you trouble.
Don't trot me up hill, for I have you, the buggy and myself to carry. Try running up hill with a load yourself.
Don't drive me with an "overcheck" on the sun hurts my eyes and I can't see where to stop. It's inhuman and cruel.
Teach me to stop when you say "whoa" and this you can do without jerking my head or tearing my mouth. It may check me if the lines should drop or break and save a runaway and smashup.—California Voice.

GATHERED UP.

One should seek for others the happiness one desires for oneself.—Buddhist.
I have known of more than one boy who got thrashed because his father had done some fool thing.
No passenger was killed on the English railroads in the year 1908. The number injured was 283.

Up to twenty a youth needs nine hours' sleep, and an adult should have eight. Inefficient sleep is one of the crying evils of the day.
Whatever you do not wish your neighbor to do to you do not do to him. This is the whole law? The rest is a mere exposition of it.—Jewish.
Lawyer—What is your occupation? Witness—I'm a piano finisher. Lawyer—Be a little more definite. Do you polish them or more them?—Boston Transcript.
The wife of a man who came home late insisted upon a reason.
"When I go out without you," he said, "I do not enjoy myself half as much, and it takes me twice as long."

She (protestingly)—That's just like you. A man never gets into trouble without dragging some woman in with him. He—Oh! I don't know. How about Jonah in the whale?—Boston Transcript.
"It seems to me your husband is more considerate in his treatment of the servants than in his treatment of you," suggested the old friend.
"Naturally," replied the wife. "I've got to stay and they haven't."
The shadows of the mind are like those of the body. In the morning of life they all lie behind me, at noon we trample them under foot, and in the evening they stretch long, broad and deepening before us.

Katie—What a lovely ring! Matie—Isn't it? This ring was given me on my twenty-first birthday. Katie—Really? Why, how well preserved it is? It's hardly a bit worn.—Cleveland Leader.
"The way to run this country," said the egotist, is to put thoroughly wise, capable, alert and honest men in control of all affairs.
"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne, "but what are we going to do? There's only one of you."—Washington Star.

A whole sermon falls in modern education is contained in the story of the boy who came home from school and informed his mother proudly that there are 48 bones in a bat's wing. The mother then asked the boy: "How many are 4 times 12?" and the student didn't know.
A fascinating woman is employed by the United States Secret Service to get at the secrets of congressmen and senators. The following correspondence was exchanged by wireless.
"Your report is vague. Obtain further particulars."
"Am having a lover's quarrel with him. Shall be reconciled to-morrow; will send full details."—Life.

A PERMANENT POSITION.
"Mr. Smith," spoke up the young lawyer, "I come here as a representative of your neighbor Tom Jones, with the commission to collect a debt due him."
"I congratulate you," answered Mr. Smith, "on obtaining so permanent a job at such an early stage in your career."—Success Magazine.

LATEST FROM ATCHISON.
This is the latest story in Atchison: A young visiting man was declaring that the theory is all nonsense about kissing being dangerous on account of germs conveyed from one mouth to the other. "I've kissed hundreds of girls," he declared, "and I'm not dead yet."
Promptly one of the listeners inquired: "But what about the girls?"—Kansas City Journal.

ONE ON THE JUDGE.
A newly qualified judge in one of the small towns of the South, relates the Baltimore American, was trying one of his first criminal cases. The accused was an old dandy, who was charged with robbing a henchman. He had been in court before on a similar charge and was then acquitted.
"Well, Tom," began the judge, "I see you're in trouble again."
"Yes, sah," replied the dandy, "the last time, judge, you was my lawyer."
"Where is your lawyer this time?" asked the judge.
"I ain't got no lawyer this time," answered Tom. "I'm going to tell the truth."
TO START A TIGHT SCREW.
Lots of folks have tried to remove a stubborn screw from a piece of wood, a screw that won't budge at all, and have in the end given it up as a bad job. Well if such a thing occurs again don't give it up, don't loose your temper or exert yourself, but try this recipe from the Strand Magazine for removing the screw:
Heat a poker red hot, and then hold it against the screw head for a little while, wait a few minutes for the screw to cool down, when it will be found that the screw can be removed quite easily with the same screw-driver that just previously would not perform. The explanation is quite simple.
The red hot poker heats the screw, the screw expands and makes the hole it is in just a wee bit bigger. The screw then cools down and resumes its original size, leaving the hole in the wood a size too large—and there you are.

Attach a Tel-Electric Piano-Player To Your Piano

It may be attached to a Grand or an Upright

The Keyboard is Always Free for Hand Playing. It may be as far from the Piano as Desired.

It may be placed in a different room, removed from your piano. Don't deprive yourself of seeing and hearing this wonderful invention.

It Marks a New Epoch in Piano-Player Production

The perfection of the Tel-Electric Piano-Player marks a new epoch in the production of musical devices. Its wonderful renditions, and, withal, its extreme simplicity and freedom from the many disadvantages of the pneumatic player, has brought it the unanimous approval of the music world. It is unquestionably the most important musical invention since the introduction of the old Harpsichord several centuries ago.

Don't Sacrifice Your Piano—Attach a Tel-Electric Player

If you now own a piano do not sacrifice it by receiving a small allowance on the cost of a player piano, but attach a Tel-Electric Piano-Player to it. If you do not own a piano you can secure your favorite instrument from us with a Tel-Electric Piano-Player attached. In either instance you will save money, and in both you will be buying more enjoyment.

FRIDAY, MARCH 4, 1910.
The Gazette and Transcript is printed and mailed Friday afternoon, and is for sale at all news-stands in the Weymouths and at the South Terminal, Boston.

All communications must be accompanied with the name of the writer, and unpublished communications not returned by mail unless stamps are enclosed.

Notices of all local entertainments to which admission fees are charged must be paid for at regular rates, 10 cents per line in the reading matter, or regular rates in the advertising columns.

The first item on the ballot for next Monday is Town Clerk, the last in the list is for an assessor. Two years ago a ballot came through and the only thing marked on it was for an assessor.

The man who has no further use for a ballot than that is not worthy of citizenship and we are glad that Weymouth had but one such. The laws governing citizenship are based on the presumption that voters are intelligent beings and the intelligence of Weymouth voters is to the average and we hope to see an intelligent vote all along the line, a good class of officers elected and Weymouth still among the best towns.

Weymouth Board of Trade.
The meeting of the Board of Trade was held at the usual place, Masonic Building, last Wednesday night and was of more than ordinary interest.

There was a good number of members at the supper table (7 o'clock) and this number was largely increased at the meeting later in the evening.

The president, W. P. Denbroeder was in the chair and after the usual routine business the subject for discussion was the warrant for Town Meeting. Many of the articles were read and much light gathered as to their importance and relation to the tax rate for 1910.

Sassaparilla's Taint Cures, D. A. R.
On Monday, Feb. 22, Sassaparilla Taints Chapter met at Hotel Backusmeyer, Boston, with Mrs. Sarah H. Howell, one of its members. Considering the weather a large number assembled, and it was an extremely pretty and social gathering.

Considerable business was transacted, among other things, ways and means of raising funds were considered. It was voted to have a birthday box each member at the monthly meeting in which her birthday occurs to place at least as many pennies as she is years old.

A Fair Market was also voted to be held at our next meeting, March 25th, with Mrs. A. G. Booth.

This in other words is a yearly market. Each member to contribute articles of perhaps things she has tired of, vases, books, etc., cooked food or candy.

It is hoped the ladies will contribute generously at this meeting, and buy freely as it is important the money should be sent as soon as possible.

Mrs. O. W. Charles is to be the speaker at the next meeting.

TUFTS LIBRARY.
Art Exhibition.
The photographs by Rev. A. T. Kempton now on exhibition in the Reading Room illustrate the "Song of Hiawatha."

"The Ojibwa Indians have produced a Drama of Hiawatha, which they perform at Desbarres, Ontario. Mr. Kempton visited them there and took 200 photographs, from which these are selected."

"These pictures should be particularly interesting to the pupils studying 'Hiawatha' in our schools and to all who have enjoyed the lectures which Mr. Kempton has given in this vicinity."

HEARD OF THANKS.
God has seen best to take from our loved one, but while our sorrow seems hard to bear it has been made easier by kind words and deeds, and by beautiful flowers given by kind neighbors and friends, for which at this time we want to thank all.

Mr. & Mrs. L. S. Newcomb, and family.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW.
What a Heap of Happiness it Would Bring to Weymouth Homes.

Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

Mrs. J. E. Payne, 30 Middle Street, Waltham, Mass., says: "I was troubled a great deal by pains across the small of my back. My kidneys were weak and the secretions became distressing in passage. Sharp twinges darted through my body when I stooped or lifted and I was very restless at night, arising in the morning as tired as when I went to bed. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and I began their use. They gave me relief immediately and in a short time cured me. I have also given this remedy to my children for weakness of the kidneys and the best possible results have followed. I strongly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills." (Statement given in 1908.)

AWAITING REPORT.
Upon being interviewed July 7th, 1898, Mrs. Payne said: "The public statement I gave recommending Doan's Kidney Pills in 1898 was correct in every detail. The cure effected at that time has proven permanent. I will never cease to be grateful to this remedy for its good work."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

To the Citizens of Weymouth.
I wish to make a full and fair presentation of the facts that culminated in the venomous attack made upon me by the Rev. Harry W. Kimball in the last issue of the Gazette. The story was first told to me in connection with a rather distressing letter which the gentleman addressed to the committee before he was an avowed candidate for the school board, and was intended to illustrate nothing more than tactlessness on his part. I feel I have been perfectly open in my dealings with the gentleman as will be shown by a careful perusal of the following letters.

On the Monday previous to the issue of the last Gazette, I received a letter marked "personal" from the gentleman in question which without his consent I shall not publish, but couched in the friendliest terms and referring to the Skowhegan episode among other matters. I answered this letter the very day of receipt and in so doing, also, in a letter marked "personal" my reasons for my statement at the caucus regarding his political standing and also, fairly and frankly, my understanding of the Skowhegan affair. A portion of the substance of this letter of mine, although marked "personal" he has incorporated with very little change in and without acknowledgment of last week and enclosed the same in quotation marks. It has always been an matter of unwritten law to treat the contents of a letter marked "personal" as inviolable. In reply, I received the following:

Dear Mr. Nash:
I thank you for your letter and I appreciate the kindly spirit in which it was written. I want to assure you now, that if I should be elected on the school committee that as chairman will have my heartiest sympathies for you. The matter of the caucus is a matter of difference of opinion. I think that you have a very strong argument in regard to the Skowhegan episode of the party in which you participated, although even then I should still hold to my right of private judgment. In regard to the Skowhegan matter I do not doubt that what you have given the impression of which you speak. The facts are these. They are given the facts practically as they appear in last week's edition of the Gazette.

I know that you will believe me and trust that you will give as full publicity to the facts as you have to the case as you supposed it to be.

Very faithfully yours,
Harry W. Kimball.

On the same date that this was written the scurrilous trade was sent to the Gazette for publication. Are the two letters connected?

In reply to this letter and before the publication of the above mentioned advertisement in the Gazette, I acknowledge my error in the following communication:

Dear Mr. Kimball:
I received your favor of the twenty-third instant and accept in full of your statement of the Skowhegan matter. I regret very much my statement. It came to me from a source I regarded as authentic, and I wish to say that in this matter an injustice has been done you. I will do all that may lie in my power to redress if possible the wrong done.

Sincerely,
Thomas V. Nash.

On Tuesday of this week, I received the following letter in answer to mine of the twenty-fourth:

My dear Mr. Nash:
I received your very many letter and I do not doubt at all that you thought the story true. If it were not for the way it has been spread—reports of it coming to me from all parts of the town—I should not have made any public statement, but that seemed the best thing to do.

You can perhaps repeat a little of the damage you have done, if you work hard to get a good note for me in Word 4. I shall look for the figures from that ward with interest.

Very faithfully,
Harry W. Kimball.

Evidently in his search through the Scriptures the Reverend gentleman has chosen as his favorite and one well to emulate, Job, of whom much is written in II Samuel, Chap. 29. "And Job said to Amasa, Art thou in health, my brother? And Amasa took Amasa by the beard with the right hand to kiss him. But Amasa took no heed to the sword that was in Job's hand. So he smote him therewith in the fifth rib, and struck him not again; and he died."

At the same time that the Reverend gentleman is lauding me with fulsome compliments and assuring me of his intended support as chairman, he informs the public that as chairman of the school board, I am engaged in cheap politics and am a petty politician. I ask again in such conduct consistency?

I further ask myself open to further attack by this twisting the tiger's tail and I expect in a few days to learn of a still further change of front on the part of the gentleman, but wish to say that I shall not appear further in the matter.

Perhaps it would have been well if the Reverend gentleman who closed his letter with the statement, "The reverence of politics is a by-word" had added "Every little bit helps."

The regular monthly meeting of the school committee was held Wednesday evening. All the members of the committee and Supt. Parker T. Pearson attended. The following business was transacted:

EUROPEAN NUMBER 8.
Constantinople.

Dear Marie—
We were impatiently awaiting permission to land when I closed my last letter to you. The next morning the dragoman from the Consulate came with the desired permit. It is printed as styled and as we were permitted to go under his guidance. The streets in Pera, the European part of the city, were everywhere guarded by the troops of the young Turk party, and an occasional gun shot gave evidence that the storm which swept the Sultan Abdul Hamid from his throne, was still muttering in the distance. Young Mevdi is much more than we are not allowed to go into the danger sections. Why do all men long to see killing and fighting? When I asked him this, he said he wanted to see how the Turks fought. He had seen Cubans, Spaniards, Filipinos, Japs and Russians in battles, and now if he could give you a new piece from the Orient, he would be repaid. I am glad to add that the Dragoman did not gratify his barbaric craving, and frankly told Mevdi that if he attempted to slide off, as he tried to do on several occasions, the Turkish troops would promptly jail him, if he did not shoot him first. I wish I could give you a new piece from the Orient, he would be repaid. In Touch with the Household
An intercommunicating telephone system places the mistress in touch with every department of her household and involves no fatiguing effort.

It is an invaluable auxiliary of a large house. Its cost is trifling. It may not be connected with the outside world, as the householder prefers.

A free survey and estimate of cost will be furnished, if a request for the same is sent to the Local Manager.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH COMPANY

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT

FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1910

The Gazette and Transcript is printed and mailed Friday afternoons...

Food stuffs are higher and after next Tuesday, smells, however plenty they may be...

We quote the following from an exchange with slight variation: "It seems to me that it is a good thing to stand well in your family..."

Quite a number of years ago, the lamented William E. Russell was alluded to at a meeting at South Weymouth...

Weymouth is still in the No license column of towns and cities in the state...

Mrs. Lydia A. Fennis Dead After many years of activity in regard to a heart ailment...

Accident at the Keith Factory Two alarms were rung in from 221 just at the close of the day on Tuesday...

Employees of the factory and the fire department responded to the call but the combustible nature of the material made it dangerous work...

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together...

Weymouth People Should Not Wait Until It's Too Late The appalling death rate from kidney disease is due in most cases to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious...

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they cure where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a case at home:

Patrick Hayes, 62 Richmond street, Weymouth, Mass., says: "I cannot say enough in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at the Weymouth Pharmacy. I wish it were in my power to have every kidney sufferer in this vicinity give this sterling remedy a trial...

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

We are not in this world to do what we wish, but to be willing to do that which it is our duty to do—Gonard.

"Does your husband believe in the separation of the church and the state?" The stationer's wife—"I guess so, but he never goes to church."

This old world of ours has a past that none of us can be wholly proud of. But so long as it faces forward we can have a boundless hope for it.

One of the main reasons why people often do not agree is because they have determined that if there is any agreement to be done it must be done entirely by the other party.

ON THE FARM

This column is worth more than $2.00 a year to you. Subscribe for the Gazette.

The following received this week is encouraging: Dear Mr. Hayes, Enclosed find $2.00 for renewal of my subscription.

Many of the troubles that we see coming down the road toward our farm pass by without stopping.

The windy days of spring are here. Battle is being fought between the chimney and the ice on top before it burns out, and may be burn the house, too.

The farm animals are shedding their coats, and the Peter Tumbledown cows will soon show clean flanks for the first time since last fall.

Most folks throw away their felt boots when holes come in the heel. Just cut out the hole and draw the legs on above your shoes when you have a cold job to do.

If the hens are allowed to hatch chicks very early and before cold weather goes, they will have difficulty in raising the broods.

A selected lot of one dozen hens will lay as many eggs as the average farmer does in a year, and if the hens are mated to a pure-bred cock they will be the size of all the chickens hatched on the farm, thus securing uniformity in the color and general characteristics...

The period of a hen's usefulness depends altogether on the hen. While the first year is usually the best for egg production, it is not always the case, some hens laying better the second year. But, as a rule, one will get the greatest number of eggs from a given number of fowls by having the pullets hatched early. March and April are the best months, so as to get them laying in the fall.

By cooking tobacco leaves in water and in combination with lye, an extract is obtained which has been found extremely efficacious as an insect destroyer in horticultural enterprises. Astonishing results have been obtained with flowers and in vineyards.—Indianapolis News.

If cement is used as a stable flooring a generous supply of bedding should be used. This will serve to protect the floor and the horses' feet and will offset the harm that might come from the tendency of such a floor to gather dampness.

The hiring of a farmhand ought to be regarded as a most important act; yet many farmers are careless about the matter, for which carelessness they, as well as their hired man, are often brought to grief.

In employing a hand one should not be too exacting as to his aptness and temperament. Still, we would not bind ourselves by any specific agreement to a hand till we first had the opportunity of observing his characteristics, or knew him by undeniable reputation or recommendation.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

The column under this title will be given to the people for a free discussion of any and all subjects, the management of the paper, distinctly disclaiming all responsibility for the opinions expressed.

Editor of the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript. Dear Sir—The warrant for the annual town meeting of the town of Weymouth contains a clause calling for the abolition of all further permits to allow boating or fishing on Weymouth Great Pond.

As one of the dwellers on the shore of the pond, I desire to protest against any such action. The proposition is one of those examples of sentimental science, which seems to be peculiar to New England.

Before legislating against the insertion of boats and fish lines into the sacred pond, why not seek to abolish the fish themselves, who unquestionably contribute to the comfort and enjoyment of the town? Or why not line the pond with porcelain so as to save the fastidious inhabitants from drinking out of a basin of ordinary dirt.

The long and short of it is that the water supply is a fetich to which, apparently, some people are so much attached, that they are willing to sacrifice the rights of all persons, whether the sacrifice really contributes to the purity of the water, or as in this case, it is an imaginary advantage.

Why not get some expert opinions on the subject. I have made some inquiries myself and find that boating and fishing have a much larger amount of impurity than the water supply as such bubbles would have to overturn Bank Hill monument.

On the other hand, we lake dwellers pay taxes and the only privilege we have is that of using the lake. Take that away from us and our property is practically confiscated. We have no sewers, no lights, and no police protection. To deprive us of this single advantage which we now receive would be something like robbery.

The School Committee have chosen Thomas V. Nash, chairman and John F. Reardon, secretary.

The Board of Health elected Dr. Geo. E. Emerson, chairman and Nelson B. Gladwin, secretary.

The regular meeting of Reynolds W. R. C. No. 105, was held in G. A. R. Hall, East Weymouth, Tuesday afternoon, March 8, at 2.30. A large number of members were present...

The evening's entertainment was arranged by Mrs. Lottie Richards and consisted of solos by Miss Alice Goodnow, accompanist, Miss Jessie E. Morrill; Reading by Mrs. Oliver Burrell; Harp music by Mrs. Brown Brothers; last but not least, a new song, "The Sweetest Thing I Ever Did," by Mrs. Annie Barrill.

Arrangements were completed in the afternoon meeting for the Town Meeting on March 10th, which will meet at 7 o'clock.

The God of the Order Committee of Corps No. 102, will meet with Mrs. Laura Turrel, Friday afternoon, March 11, 1910 at 2 o'clock.

Corps No. 102 voted to offer their services to Post 58 for Memorial Day for dinner and arranging flowers and also to have a sale and entertainment at the Tuesday afternoon meeting in April.

Humphrey caterers, the menu consisting of Filet of Beef, cold ham, escalloped oysters, chicken croquettes with peas, lobster salad, chicken salad, ice cream, sherbet, frozen pudding, cakes and coffee. It was a fine banquet and well served. The entertainment which heretofore has been an excellent feature of the celebration, was conspicuously by its absence, through no fault of the committee. Maxims orchestra furnished music for dancing which was enjoyed until 12 o'clock. One item which should have been mentioned in the first part of the evening's program was the address of Rev. W. A. Drake, President, W. A. Drake. Though brief, it was cordial and to the point. The fourteenth annual proof to be a successful affair and the ladies felt as though they had been well entertained.

GATHERED UP.

Hope for the best, but work hard for the result.
Hast thou failed? Remember thou hast thy remaining days to succeed in.
The man who is too proud to ask for favors doesn't get many.
They who paw their opportunities rarely have the wherewithal to redeem them.
However bad a man, he will have some friends; however good, he will have some enemies.
A child being asked what the three great feasts of the Jews were, replied, "Breakfast, dinner and supper."

The quality of mercy is not strained, and for that reason the milk of human kindness should not be skimmed.
"Did Bliggins enjoy himself at the banquet?"
"In afraid not. He was scared all evening at the possibility of being called on for a speech, and when it was over, he felt that he was overlooked."

Mrs. Wise—So you're going to marry and go to housekeeping, eh? Why, you don't know the first thing about keeping house!
Miss Pert—Oh, yes I do!
Mrs. Wise—Id like to know what?
Miss Pert—The first thing is to get a man to keep house for.—Modern Society.

We really have nothing to do with the work which is beyond the present hour and strength. "Sufficient unto the day is not only the evil thereof," but also the day's tasks. More people are broken down by trying to carry tomorrow's load today than by the hardest kind of effort today.
She had only just been married. She had been shopping for the first time and had made one or two mistakes. Presently she approached a poultry dealer and asked the price of chickens.
She was told by the dealer, who handed her a pair of live birds to examine. She quieted their fluttering as best she could, then, applying her dainty nostrils to them, she said in an innocent manner: "Are you sure they are quite fresh?"—Suburban Life.

Let tomorrow alone; it is God's not yours. Do what you can and then leave the rest with Him who can stay all the time doing it. His work will be plenty to do when you are gone, who before it is wickered to waste strength for doing by worry about the undone. And the fruit of it is usually collapse and premature death. Worry about the undone means the undoing of yourself and your work.—Wellspring.

THE LINE HE WAS ON.
Two telephone girls were talking over the wire. Both were discussing what they should wear. In the midst of this important conversation, a masculine voice interrupted, asking humbly for a number. One of the girls became indignant and scornfully asked:
"What line do you think you are on, anyhow?"
"Well," said the man, "I am not sure, but judging from what I have heard, I should say I was on a clothesline."—San Francisco Call.

He wasn't an Exception.
It was unusual for a man to attend at the revival meeting. "Let all you husbands who have troubles in your minds stand up!" shouted the emotion-al preacher the height of his passion. Instantly every man in the church rose to his feet except one. "Ah!" exclaimed the preacher, peering out at this lone sinner, who eyed aedlered them, said in the most dignified manner, "You are one in a million." "It ain't got nothin' to do with this one helplessly as the rest of the congregation turned to gaze suspiciously at him. "I can't get up; I'm paralyzed!"

The Abduction.
An Englishman from the rural districts who was on a visit to London drew up in a four wheeler opposite the British museum and, having alighted, timidly approached the cabman and tendered him 11 shilling and 6 pence as his fare.
Cabbly, describing a half sovereign among the coppers, whipped up his horse and drove frantically away. Hearing cries from the courtyard,
"I AIN'T GOT NOHIN' OF HIM," who ran after the cab, he had an attack of deafness until, nesting in the roof, he was stopped by a policeman.
The countryman, much out of breath, soon came up with the cab, and, cabbly mentally laid goodly to the half sovereign.
"I ain't got nothin' of his," said the driver, turning appealingly to the policeman.
"Yes, he hev'!" yelled the fustered countryman. "Ye ran away wit me grandmother!"
Sure enough, there was the old lady still in the cab and staring, pale with fright, at the crowd and policeman.

ON THE FARM

This column is worth more than $2.00 a year to you. Subscribe for the Gazette.
Some farmers sell their corn shelled and others dispose of it in the ear, but western farmers find it most profitable to sell it in the log.
Every foot of land that does not bring something every year is just so far a drag on the rest of the place that yields good crops.
The laying hen is not apt to become over fat. Nevertheless, it is a mistake to keep her on a diet of corn, expecting her to manufacture eggs from that article. Corn is no egg food.
"I s'pose you might say, lookin' at it in them and set the cans in a hot bed or a warm place in the house. Allow them to grow, this protected till it is warm enough for the plants to thrive in the open ground then set them where they are wanted to grow, cut the string and lift the can out, leaving all the soil. In that way the roots are not disturbed, and the plants grow as if they had been first planted where they were to grow."

Pruning raspberries and blackberries: Cut out all canes that fruited last season (but not those that have been done last fall); also all winter-killed canes. Shorten remaining canes to three or four feet, and cut off at least a third of the long side shoots. Rake up and burn all brush.
Golfers are generally recognized as a most valuable food for the dairy cow in the furnishing of needed protein to the ration. A handful given the horse once a week is a benefit and tends to keep him in a thrifty condition.
Farmers, have you made preparations, this spring, for the healthful luxuries of the garden, its fish, its crisp, and tender vegetables? If not, you are denying yourselves and families of many of the healthful commodities which nature has kindly provided, and which man has collected from various climes and acclimated in your own for your special benefit.

Milk, sweet or sour, is a most valuable adjunct in the ration for the flock of hens and should be provided for them whenever possible. It furnishes them food elements in a form which they relish and which is at the same time easily digested and assimilated.
Every farmer should have and easily can have a small experimental plot of ground for testing the soil and different crops. No farmer can ever know the highest capacity of his soil till he has fertilized a small portion of his land very heavily with a complete balanced mixture of fertilizers, planted the very best of seed, and given the crop or crops, extra good cultivation.

Should the pores of a soil remain filled with water a long time after rain, the air would be forced out and the roots of the crop growing on the land might be smothered. The best soil is that which is well drained so that its pores will not long remain filled with water even in wet weather. This means that the subsoil must permit the surplus water to pass through it rather easily.
As the result of careful experiments in the lower Red River Valley district, State Senator Weeks is out with a statement in which he summarizes his experiments in clearing field fields of weeds, and states that barley, which is one of Minnesota's most profitable crops, is a weed destroyer and will conserve the fertility of lands partially exhausted by continued cropping without rotation.

Living cells need air as well as food. The live roots of plants consist of living cells not one of which can survive long without air. The soil must be porous enough to admit all the air the roots need. Rootlets will not grow into clumps or clods that are so compact that air can not enter them. A soil in the right condition for the quick growth of roots may be compared to a wet sponge with air circulating through its pores while the substance of sponge contains much water.
Changeable weather this month is apt to develop colds. Keep a close watch on the flock and at once remove an ailing bird from the flock. A warm, dry coop or cage and a one-grain quinine pill each night for three nights in succession, will soon bring the bird back to good health.

The best butter is made from cream collected about the same time. Mixing cream from three or four days' skimming is what makes the texture of butter uneven and the flavor poor. Keep the different skimmings separate and churn them separately as far as possible. This requires some more work but it makes better butter. If several skimmings are mixed stir the mixture well when the cream is added. All cream should be frequently stirred when ripening in order to make the ripening progress evenly through the mass. Always skim milk before it becomes coagulated.

Radishes grow very quickly, and will get out of the way of other plants in time to give them an opportunity to push forward. Hence in order to save room radish seed may be sown as they also serve to show the rows of plants that are slow to growth. The Long Scarlet variety is one of the best. In order to have them crisp and tender they should be pushed forward as rapidly as possible. They are easily forced in cold frames and every one should take advantage of such opportunities.
Old tin cans may be used for transplanting tender plants in the spring. Melt off the ends and side seams; then they will have to be held together by tying a string around them. Fill the cans with soil, classes of the Sunday School will unite in Easter service at 12 o'clock. Vesper service in the afternoon at 4.30. Subject: "The Cause and Effect in the Realm of Character." All are cordially invited to this service.

—Dr. Leo Martell, of Front street, who has been known to Weymouth base ball in the past has come to the front this year by joining the Boston National base ball club on last Monday. Martell was prominent on the Denver team of this town a short while ago, spent a year in minor league base ball, and last year came forward with the Philadelphia Quakers of the National League. His addition to the Boston team now meets great favor with the fans, as Martell, besides being an excellent ball player, is a character and reputation that would be a credit to any man and it is the strongest hope of his friends that his try-out may be a success. With Martell comes "Bill" Conroy, another Dewey man, who played first base and pitched during the past three seasons for the old Colony League team. Conroy is showing up well as a fielder and is distinguishing himself as a high ranked batsman every day.

First Church Notes, "Old North."

A pleasing reception to the new members took place Wednesday evening in the rooms of the First church. The arrangement in the chapel in the placing of the seats and decorations had been so happily devised that a rising vote and applause was extended to the committee in charge. The theme of the evening consisted in a presentation of the varied interests of the community life, arising from the existence of the church. The history of the parish, defining its former and present function and influence, was narrated by George W. Beane. Some of the landmarks that afford a clue to the name of this church were pointed out by C. M. Taylor. Rufus Bates recalled the names of the fathers and former friends of the Old North who sat regularly in their pews. He recited the changes for better and for worse that took place since the year of 1874. The Pastor, Rev. Edward J. Yaeger, spoke on the scope and character of the church in 1910. After an intermission of thirty minutes, Miss Mary F. Lord, Mrs. Albert M. Newcomb and Mrs. Frank A. Richards presented pleasantly and earnestly the history and purpose of the several societies active in the community. During the evening a musical program was pleasingly given consisting of piano and vocal solos by Mrs. McDowell and Miss Sherman, a duet by Miss Hunt and Mr. Wildes, and quartet by Miss Sherman, Miss Hunt, Mr. Wildes and Mr. Lambert. The quartet sang, "A Psalm of Trust" composed by Mr. Howard M. Dow, a former resident of Weymouth Heights. About fifty members of the church and parish were present at 7.45 o'clock to welcome the new members and by their hearty singing of the Portuguese Hymn as the small hand of the clock pointed to the hour of ten and their bright "Good Night," indicated that the evening had been pleasing to all. Mrs. Harry Reith, Miss Florence Nash and Ernest Lambert were the receiving committee. The committee appointed by the church to arrange for the reception consisted of Mrs. Frank A. Richards, Miss Evelyn Sherman, Mr. Richards and Mr. Yaeger.

The clear and moderate weather have aided in making the attendance at the evening meetings gratifying to all concerned. The Rev. Mr. Carey of Weymouth gave his presence and words of counsel at the Monday evening meeting. The Rev. Frank Palmer, who was pastor
