

Areej Mawasi
Digital Self-Determination Research Sprint
April 13, 2021
Podcasts with two digital artists

Here I am featuring two Arab digital artists who used digital media as a way to grow in their work and engage with audiences.

The first podcast is 6 minute questions and answers I did with Ameer Basheer, a digital artist doing photography and graphic design. Ameer's addresses questions about his background and usage of digital media.

Link to audio recording I did with Ameer:

https://drive.google.com/file/d/1tEVxbJStWxTevdzk2TknoqHpQLw_0vaQ/view?usp=sharing

Link to Ameer's website: <https://www.ameerbasheer.com/>

Link to Ameer's instagram: <https://www.instagram.com/24ameer>

With permission from Jamal Masarwa I am sharing a link to a podcast conducted by Art Illuminated with Jamal, where Jamal talks about his experience as an artist. Jamal Masarwa is a digital artist based in London. I decided to feature him because I was following the growth of his work on social media for many years. From Facebook to Instagram to Esty, Jamal uses these social media tools to develop his work and engage with varied audiences around the world. In this podcast Jamal talks about his experiences and how he joined this digital economy as an artist. Additionally, he talks about themes that connect between Arab culture, fashion, and art.

Link to a podcast with Jamal conducted by Art Illuminated:

<https://podcasts.apple.com/gb/podcast/art-illuminated/id1487151019?i=1000469094117>

Link to Jamal's Esty: <https://www.etsy.com/shop/artboutiqueonline>

Jamal's instagram: <https://www.instagram.com/jamalmas/>