

MUSIC CLASSES AT HIGH SCHOOL IN FULL HARMONY

About 250 Students Taking Advantage of Culture, Development Work

By ART SHERBORNE

Richard Wagner—with the "V" like the "W" in Volga, or maybe it's the other way around—undoubtedly would endorse the idea that musical expression of America will be entirely devoted to "jazz hounds" in the next generation if he could visit the music department at Glendale Union High school.

About 250 students this year are taking advantage of the opportunities for both culture and development offered in this department. Two-thirds of this number are girls, and naturally the other one-third are boys. At least fifty or seventy-five of the students are preparing to make the expression of music in one form or another their life work. Many of them are real artists and a number of them have reached the rank of professionals already.

"Owing to the crowded conditions, we have no place for general choral work this year," remarked Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, head of the music department, recently. "That is such a disappointment to me because a chorus should be the bedrock of all high school work in music. It is a great pleasure to have a chorus, but I don't see where we would put it."

Smaller Enrollment

The enrollment in many subjects in this department is smaller than usual this term. However, this is not due to any lack of interest on the part of the students. Many boys and girls have been unable to register in this department because they could not arrange their programs satisfactorily.

The hour period is meeting with general approval in the music department of the high school. This permits the orchestra, band, boys' glee club, girls' glee club and all classes to meet every day instead of two or three times a week. The effect of the daily recitations is apparent already in the progress of the students.

"I like the hour period very much because a student recites his lesson for forty minutes and (Continued on Page 4)

Clara Phillips "broke" in the courtroom today during the testimony of Peggy Caffee, star witness for the prosecution. When Mrs. Caffee reached the point in her testimony telling how Mrs. Phillips purchased the hammer the day before the murder, Mrs. Phillips leaned forward in her chair and in a cold, even voice, said: "Tell the truth, Peggy. Tell them you bought that hammer." Defense Attorney Herrington quieted Mrs. Phillips, while Mrs. Caffee shouted: "Clara Phillips bought that hammer!"

STEAMSHIPS UNDER U. S. FLAG MUST BE DRY, ORDER
NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Steamships operating under American registry must be "dry," Judge Learned Hand ruled in United States district court today. The ruling was in the form of a supplemental opinion to the decision handed down earlier in the week in which Judge Hand held that the government had the right to forbid foreign ships from carrying liquor in territorial waters of the United States. Counsel for steamship lines had filed bills of equity seeking to enjoin enforcement of Attorney General Daugherty's ruling regarding the question of liquor on ships. Judge Hand dismissed these bills. Ship owners had raised the issue as to whether American ships were American territory regardless of their location. Judge Hand ruled that these ships, no matter what part of the globe they may be in, are subjected to all regulations of the United States government.

DANIEL KELLY, JR., ENTERTAINS FOR ROTARY CLUB

Pioneer Hardware Dealer Is Host; Gives Interesting Talk on Business

"For he's a jolly good fellow," sang members of the Glendale Rotary club at the conclusion of their meeting yesterday noon held at the home of Daniel Kelly, Jr., on Highland avenue.

Each member and guest was presented with a gift as a remembrance of the occasion, and the subject of hardware was explained by the host.

"Of Recent Development"

"It is a fact that it has been only since the close of the civil war that the United States has developed a hardware line from the manufacturers' end, long or wide enough to allow a merchant to devote himself to this one line of business. Prior to this it was sold by the general store."

In telling of the formation of the firm of Cornwell & Kelly he continued:

"Mr. Cornwell and myself conceived the idea of opening up a hardware store here in the month of January, 1911.

"We were at a ball game together and we hatched the plot on a little Verdugo car on the way home. One week later we opened for business at our present location at 107 South Brand boulevard.

"It may be interesting to know that Cornwell & Kelly have the distinction of being the oldest mercantile business in Glendale.

"And I am proud to say that at this table today sit two of our first customers. I refer to George Moyle and Roy Kent, whose firm name at that time was C. W. Kent & Son."

The meeting yesterday was declared to have been one of the best in point of attendance for some time, the tables being set out in the yard under large shade trees.

It was announced that on next Thursday the club will consider the propositions up for vote November 7. Each of the members present was given a proposition to study, with the instructions to be able to explain both sides of the question to the members at next week's meeting.

Mrs. R. L. Young of 1007 North Brand boulevard entertained with a Halloween party at her home yesterday in celebration of the seventh birthday anniversary of her daughter Jacqueline. An attractive feature of the occasion was the two birthday cakes in Halloween colors. Prizes and favors were also suggestive of the season. Prizes for pinning the tail on the cat were awarded to Susan McCurdy, Alfred Buck and Joanne Harris. Another game enjoyed was that of throwing jelly beans into the cat's mouth, for which prizes were awarded to Alfred Buck, Jean Letts and Richard Llewellyn. A fish pond also provided a great deal of merriment.

The guests included Joanne Harris, Susan McCurdy, Sidney McCurdy, Florence Miller, Billy Blakie, Lydia Wahl, Ramona Anie, Jane Baxter, Fred and Jack Bell, Alfred Buck, Viola Bobo, Jean Letts, Richard Llewellyn, Betty Thompson, Howard Brittain of Los Angeles and Jacqueline Young.

Expecting the Patterson avenue improvement project to come up, a large number of property owners were present at the meeting of the City Council of Glendale last night. However, the project will not, the council announced, be heard until November 16. At the suggestion of Councilman Sam Davis the matter of bringing additional acreage for Patterson park was heard and a number of citizens protested, urging that the money be spent on improving the present acreage instead. The purchase of the additional acreage would be a good investment, Mayor Spencer Robinson said.

PYTHIAN KNIGHTS HOST AT DANCE LAST NIGHT

Emil T. Fram Gives Brief Talk on Aims of Lodge; Enjoys Social Time

Sociability was the keynote of the dance given last night in the hall at 107-A West Park avenue by the Knights of Pythias.

The cordiality and courtesy extended by the Knights and Ladies were warmly commented upon by their invited guests, all of whom seemed to be having an excellent time.

"They're just like one big family," remarked one visitor. When reminded, however, that a family of widows doesn't get along any too amiably, she retorted: "Well, if more human families would get along like the Knights and Sisters of Pythias, it surely would be a whole lot better world."

The old order of Pythagorean philosophy made friendship the highest virtue of the human race," asserted Knight Emil T. Fram, 848 West Windsor road, in a short speech on Pythianism.

"Among those belonging to this society, friendship extended to such an extent that one member if it would not hesitate to lay down his life for another member. It is the same with the Knights of Pythias."

Story of Friendship

"The order of the Knights of Pythias is founded and based on the story and friendship of Damon and Pythias. Here in the City of Glendale we are a small body of men banded together and endeavoring to follow the teachings as laid down by Damon and Pythias."

"It is always a hard matter for me to get up and address an assemblage. However, the Pythian cause is such an one that, if a man understands the principles of our order and gets to talking about it, it is a hard matter for him to stop."

A cordial invitation was extended to those present to investigate the character of the Order of Pythias and to affiliate with it.

A short speech of welcome to strangers present was made by C. S. Nicholson of 815 Orange Grove avenue, chancellor commander of the local lodge.

"Feel at Home"

"We want you to feel perfectly at home," he declared. "If you are a Pythian, we want you to come out regularly to our meetings. If you are not a Pythian, we feel like going out into the high ways and byways and preaching Pythianism. Those of you who know what Pythianism is know why."

"The order of the Knights of Pythias is distinctly American," exclaimed Attorney George H. King of 106-A East Broadway, following the singing of one verse of "America" by the audience.

Music for the occasion was furnished by A. M. Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra.

COUNCIL OPPOSES THREE MEASURES UP FOR VOTE

Issues Statement Calling on People to Oppose Nos. 10, 11, 30 on Ballot

The City Council of Glendale last night went on record as being opposed to propositions Nos. 10, 11 and 30 appearing on the ballot at the general election in November. The propositions, it was pointed out by Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson, are aimed at publicly-owned utilities—particularly municipally-owned public utilities.

At the suggestion of the council, Attorney Bert P. Woodard, formerly city attorney, prepared a statement outlining the council's attitude toward the three propositions and after being approved by all of the councilmen, W. H. Reeves, city manager, was instructed to have a copy of the statement placed before all the voters in the city.

The stand of the council follows in full:

To the People of the City of Glendale—There are three proposed amendments to the constitution of the State of California, which will appear upon the ballot at the November election, to which we, the members of the Council of the City of Glendale, deem it our imperative duty to call your attention. They are propositions numbered 10, 11 and 30:

Increase in Taxes

Proposition No. 10 is an initiative measure appearing on the ballot under the caption "Taxation of Publicly Owned Utilities," and proposes to change the constitution so as to tax all public utilities owned and operated by a municipality. If this amendment becomes a part of our constitution, publicly owned public utilities would pay the same tax as those privately owned; that is, the same percentage of the gross receipts as follows: 7 1/2 per cent if the utility is operating gas or electric properties; 5 1/2 per cent if the utility is operating street or interurban railroad properties; 5 1/2 per cent if the utility is operating telephone properties. It is fundamentally wrong for the public to tax itself, as it would be doing if this proposition passes. It is just as reasonable to tax (Continued on Page 2)

Lineberger Addresses Republican Women

The informal afternoon given yesterday at the home of Mrs. John Robert White, 347 North Orange street, by the women of the Republican club of Glendale proved to be a big success, with fifty-five present and Mrs. White presiding. Congressman Walter F. Lineberger was present and asked that the women vote for amendments 1, 2 and 3, which include the soldiers' validating act, prohibition enforcement act and the veterans' welfare bond act. Miss Belle McCord Roberts of Long Beach gave a talk urging all to vote for the entire Republican ticket.

A delightful half hour was spent in singing campaign songs which had been composed by Mrs. Frank C. Weller, who directed the singing, with Mrs. H. B. Boyer at the piano. During the afternoon vocal numbers were given by Mrs. Harry McMullin and piano numbers by Miss Alma Geiger. Refreshments were then served by Mrs. White, assisted by Mrs. Albert Pearce, Mrs. W. E. Evans, Miss Eva Daniels, Mrs. Robert McCord and other members of the club. Mrs. Walter Lineberger of Long Beach was among the out-of-town guests attending.

Mrs. Claude Putnam Hostess at Luncheon

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock in the attractive Aztec room of the Putnam home, and during the afternoon bridge was enjoyed in the drawing room.

Hallowe'en favors decorated the luncheon table, while baskets of long stemmed yellow chrysanthemums carried out the Hallowe'en color scheme in the other rooms.

At the close of the affair Mrs. Charles Parker was awarded the first prize, Mrs. E. E. East, second prize and Mrs. Charles Meadows consolation prize.

Mrs. Putnam's guests were Mesdames F. A. Lowe, R. J. Culver, Frank Smith, C. Paulson Visel, Edwin Bishop and C. R. Stuart of Los Angeles; and Mesdames Charles Carroll, Reeves Darling, E. E. East, S. J. Rogers, A. M. Draper, Charles Parker, Charles Meadows, Gay Pinney and Walter Jones of Glendale.

600 PER CENT DIVIDEND PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.

The directors of the Victor Talking Machine company have declared a stock dividend of 600 per cent, payable to holders of record October 31. The dividend is valued at $30,000,000.

THREE MEASURES BEING OPPOSED

City Council Calls Upon People to Vote Against Propositions 10, 11, 30

Railroad Commission
Proposition No. 11 is an initiative measure which proposes to give the railroad commission jurisdiction over, and the right to supervise and regulate publicly owned public utilities; that is, publicly owned utilities supplying the public with light, power, heat, transportation, telegraph and telephone service. This amendment to the constitution deals with an affair which is purely a local municipal affair, and would deprive all cities of the state of control over their own public utilities and vest that control in the railroad commission. Every city in the state would be constantly before the commission as they could not install a public utility, nor could they fix the rates to be charged by them, without the approval of the railroad commission. The railroad commission has already determined that it will refuse to allow competition in territory already served by a private utility and it would, no doubt, reach the same conclusion as to public utilities and absolutely prohibit a municipally owned utility from competing with a privately owned utility.

Gives More Power
Proposition No. 30 on the ballot grants to and vests in the same railroad commission, the power to grant franchises, determine or indeterminate as to time, to prescribe the terms and conditions of such franchises, and to accept the surrender of all such franchises granted by it, and to accept the surrender of all such franchises heretofore granted by any city or political subdivision of the state.

This measure would vest the railroad commission with power to accept the surrender of every franchise heretofore granted by any city within the state and the commission could also grant indeterminate franchises upon any terms and conditions it deemed advisable. This would absolutely deprive cities of the control of their own streets. The cities open, widen and improve their streets at great local expense, and if the right to grant franchises over these streets is taken from them, about all the cities would have left would be the right to pay for the opening, widening and improvement of its streets, and the right, of course, to use them, subject to any franchise or right granted to, under or upon them, by a commission, none of whom would reside within the city or know its local conditions. The amendment would give the railroad commission the power to nullify every safeguard heretofore written into a franchise, and to grant new ones to

Judge, Elbert Cary Is Fond of Pet Dog

Judge Elbert H. Cary with his dog on his beautiful estate at Jericho, L. I.

It would nullify Article XVII of the charter of the City of Glendale, which provides that franchises shall not be granted for a longer period than twenty-five years, and also that the City Council may submit an ordinance granting a franchise to a vote of the electors of the city.

Companion Measures
Propositions Nos. 10, 11 and 30 are companion measures and should be studied together. They are aimed at publicly owned public utilities, and particularly municipally owned public utilities. If these measures become a part of the constitution of the State of California, it will be but another step in a concerted effort to put such utilities out of business. Such a thing as reducing rates by acquiring or installing municipal plants would be a thing of the past and, in our opinion, it would be unwise to either tax such utilities or place them under the control of a commission of any kind. The railroad commission has an ample field for a good work in its power and jurisdiction over privately owned utilities, particularly in fixing the rates to be charged for the service rendered, without infringement upon matters of municipal concern. The proposed amendments grant too much arbitrary power to be vested in any man or set of men, it matters not how honest they may be.

Warning to Voters
We, therefore, respectfully urge that every voter study these measures carefully, and before casting their ballot, that he or she read the arguments against these measures prepared by the officers of the League of California Municipalities, and by Hon. Jess E. Stephens, the city attorney of the City of Los Angeles, all of which are against the measures, and appear in the printed pamphlet each voter will receive before the election.

Vote No on Nos. 10, 11 and 30.
Respectfully submitted,
SPENCER ROBINSON,
S. A. DAVIS,
C. E. KIMLIN,
A. H. LAPHAM,
DWIGHT W. STEPHENSON,
Members of the City Council of the City of Glendale.

CASH CONVERTS? DENIES CHARGES

Gypsy Smith Is Losing Money Saving Souls: Has Reply to Critic

By THOMAS D. WATSON
For International News Service.
LONDON.—Converts for cash! That is what a popular young missionary in Great Britain was accused of by the Daily News, the leading non-conformist newspaper in England. But the missionary has come through with a speedy and convincing repudiation.

It is some weeks ago that the ardent religionists in the small towns of Great Britain were startled by a series of articles attacking one of their most popular revivalists, declaring that he was charging half a dollar for every convert he got as a result of his spirited sermons.

Every convert, so the allegation ran, had to pay fees for the right that guided him from the paths of wickedness and sin to the glory of righteousness and good living.

"I have been accused," Captain Gypsy Smith said, "of taking $1,000 from a Cardiff chapel for my tour of missionizing. I cabled from America denying this. The sum I received was $600, although I am not quite sure. I am no good at figures.

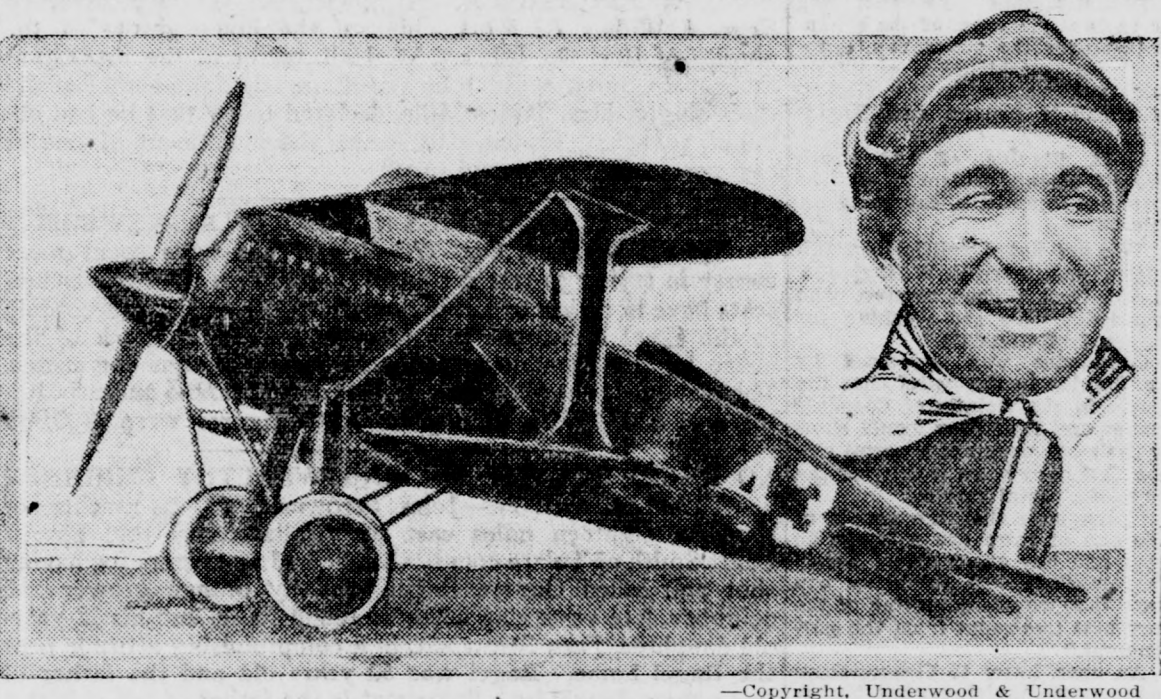

"A few friends, knowing I was just married and wanted to get a home together, put their hands in their pockets and made me a gift. I am trying to get the home, but so far have been unsuccessful.

"My arrangements when I attend a mission are fair and above board. The ministers in the small chapels where I conduct my missions are not very businesslike, and so I stipulate that all expenses must be paid before I get anything. That relieves them of all anxiety and loss.

"The Dean of Westminster Abbey, after all, receives over $8,000 a year, so why shouldn't I get my expenses paid? Often I don't even get my expenses. At the close of my tour of Scotland, which lasted for eight days, my share was only half a dollar. It is only recently that I have received larger sums.

Have Answer to Why Girls Leaving Home

CHICAGO — Movies and automobiles are the modern answer to the age-old question, "Why girls leave home?"

Judge Mary Bartelme, of Chicago's juvenile court, declared recently that the speed of the times, with youth leading the race, has again raised the proverbial problem for mothers.

"Girls of today are hungry for thrills," Judge Bartelme said. They crave speed and action—for their emotions. They find it in the movies and the automobile.

Margaret Davis, 14, was returned to her home recently after having been reported missing. She was found on a farm near Roselle, Ill., where she was working disguised as a boy.

Malaria Cure Now Discovered, Claim

LONDON.—A cure for malaria, the dread disease prevalent in tropical countries, is, according to Sir John Bland Sutton, the famous English surgeon, at last in sight.

"Our principal investigations centered in birds and butterflies of the country, of which we have brought home numerous specimens, and also in diseases such as leprosy, tuberculosis and malaria," said Sir John.

"I found that the scientists who were stationed there in investigating the causes and effects of malaria had made very encouraging advancement.

BRITISHERS ASK FOR NEW RENT CHARTER
LONDON — Millions of house tenants throughout Britain are agitating for a new rent charter. An Act of Parliament in 1920 gave tenants a three-year security of tenure. But it also gave landlords the right to raise rents 40 per cent, so long as necessary repairs were carried out.

Recently, however, the Scottish Courts have decided that this 40 per cent increase is illegal unless the tenants were first given notice to quit.

Accordingly the Labor party is instituting a great campaign throughout the country having two objects:

First—To get all increases paid refunded.

Second—To have the term of security of tenure increased by two years.

MUSIC CLASSES ARE UNDER WAY

High School Department Is Offering Opportunities to Many Students

(Continued)—then has twenty minutes to prepare his lesson under the direction of the teacher," declared Mrs. Gibson. "I have always thought that, if we could teach children how to study, we would be solving half the problem of the schools."

Orchestra Officers
The orchestra, which has a membership of about thirty-five musicians, is being made a regular self-governing student body activity. Ivan Dow has been elected its president; Miss Dorothy Watson, secretary and treasurer; Miss Doris Moyses, librarian; and Harold Jones, business manager. The position of concert master is being rotated among the following four students: Miss Dorothy Watson, Miss Marjorie Dailey, Miss Lucille Allen and Thomas Wood. Their efforts are meeting with unusual response on the part of other members of the orchestra who seem to feel that they must be upon their mettle to do the best that is in them. One of the rules approved by the members of the orchestra provides that "there shall be no visiting or practicing during concerts or rehearsals."

Method of Beginning
"We always begin with pieces where the rhythm is strongly marked so as to get the members of the orchestra accustomed to playing together. It is very difficult for the students to learn to watch the leader and their music at the same time. The chief trouble with the new players is to keep them from forgetting their place. This term they are rapidly getting so they play quite well together."

Two entirely distinct types of music are now being rehearsed by the orchestra: One is a program of Christmas music to be given before the High School Parent-Teachers'; the other is a repertoire of patriotic music. Patriotism is stressed in the high school through the work of the music department.

Mrs. C. A. Parker directs both the girls' glee club and the boys' glee club and from the vocal sounds which seep out between the cracks of the auditorium seems to be having unusual success.

Understands Voice Work
"I am very much delighted with the work that Mrs. Parker is doing," remarked Mrs. Gibson. "She thoroughly understands voice work. She has come into the school with a vast amount of enthusiasm and students are very much pleased. She herself is very happy in the work."

The high school band, which is under the direction of Hubert S. White, is making excellent progress and expects to make its first public appearance of the season before long.

Noon recitals by pupils in the music department are being planned for the near future. These will not only provide entertainment for the members of the student body, but will accustom those participating to appearing before an audience and give them an incentive to seek perfection in their work.

Classes in Harmony
The work that is being accomplished by the classes in harmony is quite remarkable, according to Mrs. Gibson, who takes unusual pride in the brainy manner in which the students master this intricate and technical subject. Students are taught to express the sounds they hear in music in correct musical scores.

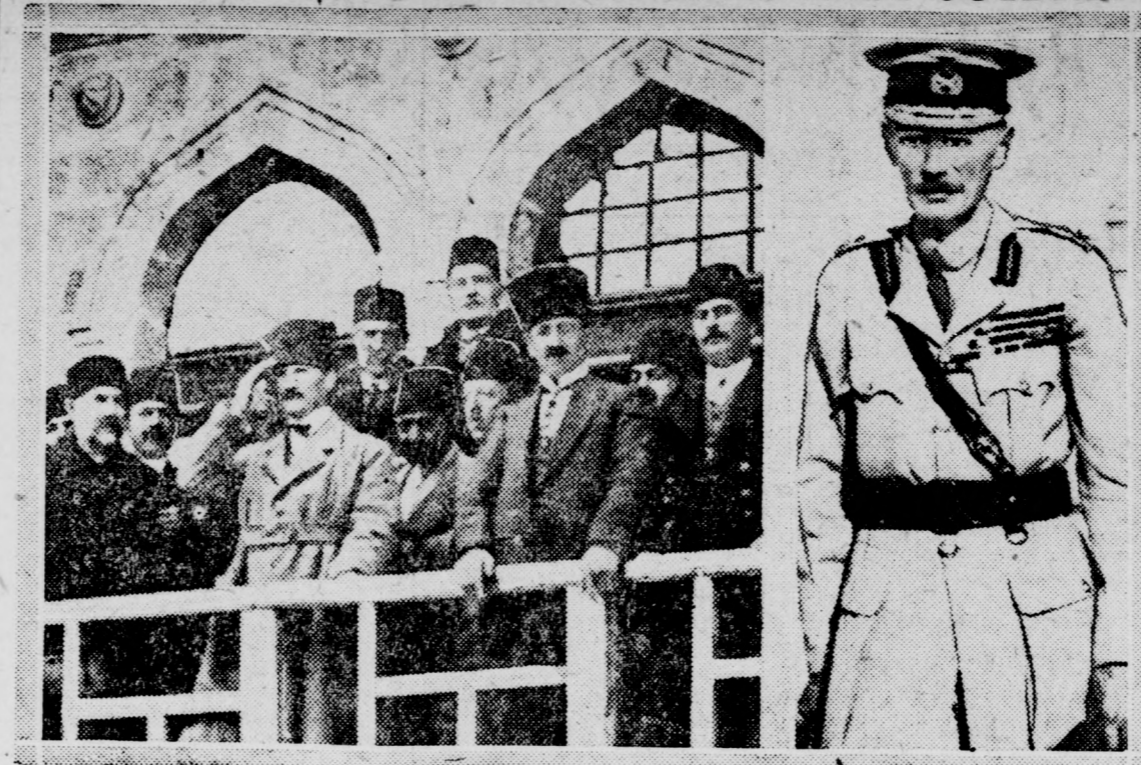

"Harmony has the same relation to music that mathematics has to mechanics," she explained. "It is a very difficult subject, but we get a brainy, enthusiastic class of students. We don't get those who are looking around for an 'entertainment course'."

Miss Zula Ziegler is a new member of the music department. She has three classes in piano playing and two classes in sight singing.

"Miss Ziegler is very well qualified for her work," remarked Mrs. Gibson. "I am very much pleased with her. She is an excellent player and has had unusual training."

The music department stands entirely upon its own merits, according to Mrs. Gibson. She called attention to the fact that work in this department is not required as a preparation for work in any other department. She feels certain that there is no chance for America to be completely overwhelmed with jazz while high school students continue to evince such sincere interest in classical music.

FEAR CIVIL WAR IN ITALY TODAY

Leaders of Fascisti clamor for Control of New Government Now

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL, For International News Service.
ROME, Oct. 27.—Civil war clouds hung ominously low over Italy today while leaders of the Fascisti were clamoring for control of the new government which will succeed the Facta ministry that resigned last night.

A wave of excitement swept through the city following a rumor that a Fascisti army was marching upon Rome to take over the government by force. There was no confirmation of this report, and finally the people's tears dried down.

King Victor Emanuel was reported on his way to Rome to intercede in the government crisis. It was generally anticipated that Former Premier Giolitti would be invited to form a new cabinet with the assistance of Former Premier Orlando and that a number of important posts would be offered to the Fascisti.

Must Be Premier
Signor Bianchi, secretary of the Fascisti, claims that Deputy Mussolini must be premier if a catastrophe is to be averted. The opinion is that either Giolitti or Orlando will be premier with four or five important portfolios held by Fascisti members.

All of the city and suburbs are entrenched. Earthworks have been thrown up around the suburbs. Thousands of troops have been massed in and around Rome. All the roadways leading into the city are under military guard. The public buildings, the banks and streets flanking the Vatican are under military patrol.

Light artillery and flame throwers have been concentrated and machine guns have been employed at strategic points.

Military airplanes are keeping watch over concentrations of nationals (Fascisti).

The Fascisti was organized about two years ago. It is composed largely of young ex-soldiers. Its formation came about at a time when Italy was in the throes of labor troubles and the chief object of the organization was to combat the socialists and communists, and to prevent the government from becoming "red."

Since then the Fascisti has become a power in politics and is now demanding control of the government.

THEATRES

The Glendale
A delectable morsel of tempting life served with the piquant sauce of comedy, is "Glass Houses," Viola Dana's newest picture now showing at the Glendale theatre.

It is the story of a girl who stoops to horn-rimmed glasses and "sensible" clothes to conquer the business world.

After landing a job she returns home late one night and goes to a garage to sleep. Upon awakening she finds that Billy has also been sleeping in the garage and to save her reputation Billy marries her. It is at this point that there occurs a series of complicated adventures with Billy laboring under the impression that his wife is a notorious crook.

The T. D. & L.
Another big human interest film is being shown at the T. D. & L. theatre. It is "Flesh and Blood," and in announcing it the theatre management says:

"It's a powerful drama of truth and regeneration. There's nothing unnatural about this vital story. It is life vivified to the highest degree. It shows that love is unconquerable when the heart is guided by the divine spark. The convict breaks jail. Man's laws cannot hold the prisoner when there is a higher law in the heart. Come and see Lon Chaney give a masterly portrayal of the convict," says Ralph Allan.

The picture is declared to be of life and filled with life, yet it is natural—and unusual, too.

U. S. MOVIES WIN JAPAN APPROVAL

Spoken Stage Outclassed by Films Now in Imperial Tokio Theatre

TOKIO—American movies are enjoying another boom in Japan—a boom that is sweeping all competition away in the great growth of the popularity of American screen stars. There are some British and some Italian films shown in this country, and the strictly Japanese theatres show only Japanese pictures. American motion pictures have always led, and always will, for their increasing popularity is rapidly taking the country, making Lot 92, tract 1164, 17-198 maps, millionnaire to rikishia coolie.

The greatest battle won against the spoken stage was placed to the credit of Tom D. Cochrane, new general manager for the far east of a big picture corporation, recently when the first picture program was shown in the Imperial theatre, here, premier playhouse of the Orient, the majority of stock being owned by the Japanese Imperial family. Cochrane's program included several stellar attractions, and when the week was finished the theatre management cancelled the billed program for the following week in favor of another movie program.

This step is really the first move to get Japan's more wealthy people into the movie showhouse, as the regular picture theatres are small dirty places, patronized almost entirely by the poor and middle classes. In presenting his program Cochrane made another departure: he left several kisses in the films. And it got across despite the fact that kisses previously have been eliminated from all films.

Largely due to the work of the representatives of one of the larger corporations film pirating has been checked in Japan. American movies until recently have suffered great losses because many big films have been copied in the United States and shipped here. The result often was the showing of an illegitimate film directly across the street from the original. Trial cases have scared the movie men so much that they are afraid to accept anything but the real pictures now. The foreign office also has just extended the interpretation of the American picture copyright treaty to cover motion pictures, which makes sailing easy and the profits loom large for the future.

Lonesome Couples Forming New Club

ELYRIA, Ohio.—Mrs. R. E. Stull of 428 Third street, decidedly attractive, is organizing a "Widow and Widowers' Club," which is to hold social gatherings once a week. These gatherings are to serve in bringing together "lonesome couples and to make them forget their former partners" it is said.

IRE OF ENGLISH GIRLS IS AROUSED ASSURED, REPORT

Criticism of Elinor Glyn May Result in Open War by Fair Sex
Head of Committee States System Certain; Discuss Postal Situation

By ETHEL MARSHALL, For International News Service.
LONDON—Elinor Glyn is in a fair way to become the object of considerable criticism from English women, it is said, made the object of open warfare.

All this foreboding trouble mounts up as the result of a statement by the noted writer that English women are less beautiful than their American sisters.

"I do not think the English women look so attractive as they did," Mrs. Glyn stated on her return from America. "Somehow their heads do not seem to match their bodies. Perhaps it is owing to games."

Round Shouldered, Eh?
"And so many young women seem to affect a sort of stoop. No doubt it looks very charming while they are on the right side of 25, but I am afraid they will be a very bad shape by the time they are 40."

"Then the hands of many of these otherwise elegant young women! It may seem a trivial thing to mention, but I have been struck by the number whose hands are a sort of aggressive red."

"I see distinctly pretty faces—more beautiful than in any other country—and lovely complexions, but hands that are absolutely un-cared for. In matters like these English girls do not seem to be so 'soignees' as are American. You never see an American girl with anything but the most beautiful white hands and carefully kept nails."

"But I must say that English girls are not so much painted as are those of other countries."

Awaiting Results
Having made this courageous statement, Elinor Glyn is now sitting back waiting for the resulting explosion of feminine wrath. The dark clouds of war are gathering, and before long Elinor will undoubtedly have to face the wrath of her sex, and they say there is no wrath like that of a woman scorned.

At least Mrs. Glyn will be forced to admit that her English sisters are faced with greater difficulties than are American women. Climatic conditions, for instance, make it impossible for English women to dress for the street in the shimmering finery which is affected along Broadway. Sharp winds make red hands. Constant rain—and perhaps the after-dinner glass of port—give florid complexions.

ALWAYS HIGH TIDE

Once upon a time I lived on the banks of a tide river. When the tide was in, the river widening before our doors to a small lake was a broad expanse of sparkling water, filling its lovely green banks to the brim. When the tide was out the river was a little creek in the middle of a great muddy expanse.

Of course we loved the high tides and as we sat on our porch gazing out at the lovely lake the ocean had sent in to us, we would say: "Oh, if it could only be high tide always, how we should love it! Think of its always being as lovely as this."

No More Mud Flats

And then, behold, the miracle befell. The government decided that it wanted to have the broad expanse of water there all the time. Not for beauty but for use. And being a powerful government, capable of coping even with Nature itself, it built a dam.

Yes, of course we loved it. No more mud flats, no more little creek; always the broad water sparkling in the morning sunshine, glistening in the level rays of late afternoon, filling the green banks to the brim. I have never been able to care so much for any landscape that lacked water. It seems to me that water is to a landscape what eyes are to a face, the touch of life and soul.

The Creek Made the River Sweeter

But presently we became conscious of a strange thing. And yet not strange, really, but common and universal. When we had yearned over the beauty that was lent us for an hour or two each day, we had said: "Think of its always being as lovely as this." And when we found that the river was to be dammed we said: "Now it is always going to look as lovely as it does at high tide." But it didn't. Why? Because we never saw it at low tide any more—and little as we loved it, the creek in its muddy banks had added something to the charm of the full river.

All beauty, all pleasure is subjective as well as objective.

You never can get the fullness of beauty or enjoyment without contrast.

When we envy some wealthy person whose life is just one round of pleasure we picture him or her enjoying each of these pleasures as keenly as we enjoy our scattered ones. He doesn't. He can't. He has the river at flood tide but he has forgotten or never knew the muddy creek.

They Never See What You See

As you pass by some wonderful estate with magnificent trees and gorgeous gardens and flowing lawns, you draw in your breath and think, "What would it be to live there all the time!" Of course, it would be a wonderful privilege, and yet it is doubtful if those who do live there ever see anything quite so lovely as you see. Of if they do, it is only now and then in a moment of vision, not every day.

Sometimes people say that you can keep that vision with you all the time if you try hard enough. I don't think you can. It's just the way of life, something inevitable, something to be understood and reckoned with, not contradicted for the sake of being Pollyannaish (I begin to think that word will finally land in the dictionary.)

DAUGHTER FACES TRIAL FOR LIFE

The trial of Mrs. Katherine Rosier, for the murder of her husband, Oscar Rosier, national famous advertising agent and his stenographer, Mildred Reckitt, has opened. Mr. Rosier and his young and beautiful employe were shot to death as they were in his office together last January. Mrs. Rosier will plead the "unwritten law" in her defense.

BEAUTY CHATS

KEEP THE NAILS YOUNG

The woman who begins when young to take care of her nails will always be proud of them. Even the woman who has been neglectful can do wonders in a few months, in bringing her nails back to a slightly condition.

The nails must be properly fed, half the secret lies therein. Continual rinsing of the hands in cold water not only ruins the skin but ruins and dries the texture of the nails themselves. The nails need oil, particularly if the hands do rough work. You can, if you wish, purchase small jars of expensive creams but if you are wise you will use nothing more elaborate than olive oil, cold cream or plain vaseline.

If the nails have been much abused or neglected it is best to start wearing cosmetic gloves for a few nights (old loose gloves coated inside with a good cream.) The hands as well as the nails will benefit by this treatment. After that they will only need cream at the time of the manicure, or once in a while at night if the hands have been soaking too much in water.

When you manicure first shape the nails to a becoming rounded oval or slightly pointed oval by using a long flexible steel file. Clean under them and soak them in warm, soapy water. Clean them again, smoothing down the rough places with emery paper and bleaching all stains with lemon juice. Then rub your cream well into the edges and over the entire surface of the nail, as soon as you have trimmed the cuticle around the edge. Remember that the polishing powder used at the end of the manicure is rather drying, so if the nails have been ill-treated polish them some hours later or the next day.

A most important thing to remember is that ridges should be worn smooth with pumice stone and soap. After cream has been on the nail for a little while, polish with a buffer.

I, I, I, MYSELF; I THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME Chapter XXXII.

Professor Soocums

I am going to tell you today just a little bit more of what I heard my Doctor discuss with my family about the milk question, because I want you to realize that it is terribly important for babies to have milk that is clean and unadulterated and free from disease.

Milk is, as I told you before, just as good for germ babies to thrive on as it is for us human babies. They multiply very rapidly in it under the right conditions, especially if it is not kept on ice.

Some people who have not investigated thoroughly, say that it is very silly to say that germs can cause disease. That the germs are the result of disease instead of the cause. But, in reality, these people themselves are making the silly statement.

You can not say that the cabbages are the result of the ground being harrowed and fertilized; there must be the seeds of cabbage planted in order to produce cabbages, and so it is in the infectious diseases—that is, these diseases that are caused by germs. There must be planted certain specific germs in order to have the disease.

I want to speak especially of tuberculosis, because cows themselves have tuberculosis. It used to be thought that cow or bovine tuberculosis could not be contracted by human beings but now my doctor says that 25 to 30 per cent of all tuberculosis in children under five years of age, is caused by the bovine tuberculosis. And because that comes from infected cows' milk which is drunk is the reason why most tuberculosis in children is in the bones and joints and neck glands and intestines instead of the lungs. This will make you realize how very important it is to have milk free from tuberculosis germs.

I am going to tell you some other time more about tuberculosis in babies and children. Doctor says that tuberculosis germs are not inherited by us. She says that even though a Mama has tuberculosis, if her baby does not have close association with her and she does not nurse her baby, it can be free from disease. But it would be sad for a baby to escape tuberculosis in one way and then get it in another, wouldn't it?

Keeping children from having bovine tuberculosis is very easy, if the milk, cream and fresh milk products are pasteurized or if they are secured from cows that are free from tuberculosis. Cows should be tested with the tuberculin test at least twice a year to determine this.

All this sounds very technical for a baby to be talking about but you understand how I happen to have this knowledge and you will be careful to see that your babies do not get the disease, won't you?

Au revoir.

HALLOWEEN

The saying "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" should be changed to include "Jill" as well. We all need relaxation and play occasionally, and at Halloween time there are so many things which we can make use of to entertain in a novel and out-of-the-ordinary fashion, that it has come to be almost universally given over to entertainment in the home.

Halloween would not be halloween without the nonsensical, but laugh provoking, stunts, such as "bobbing" for apples, trying to bite "the swinging doughnut," blindfolding each other and "trying to pin the tail on the black cat," and provision should be made for carrying out these stunts successfully.

In addition to the ghosts, demons, witches, black cats, bats, Jack o'lanterns, etc., vegetables of all kinds can be used to hold lighted candles for the supper table. Jack o'lanterns in different sizes are most effective used in every conceivable place.

An appropriate center piece for the supper table would be a miniature field of pumpkins in cornstarch. The food itself should be prepared and served to assist in carrying out the spirit of the occasion.

Greater California—Straight Ahead

Friend W. Richardson, Republican nominee, will make good on every promise he has made to the voters of this state, including an administration based on "Economy with Efficiency."

The politicians have not yet ceased to wonder how it came about that they missed all the good bets on the nomination for governor. It was not on their cards that Richardson could possibly win, and so they gave him scant consideration. But when the votes were counted it was found that he had beaten the candidate who had the full support of the state political machine by a majority of more than 25,000. The solution of the mystery is that Richardson is a man of the people, and he has the confidence and support of the people. As a newspaper man he is known from one end of the state to the other. He is president of the California Press association, a position which he held for a quarter of a century, being elected to it year after year, practically without opposition upon the sole ground of faithful and efficient service. This association is the organization of editors of the papers of the state with the exception of the so-called metropolitan press. It has a very strong and active membership and the position of president is by no means an empty honor. That the same man should be repeatedly chosen for the place speaks volumes for his standing in the esteem of his fellow workers.

The fact of the matter is that Friend W. Richardson appears to have an ingrained habit of making good in any position he occupies. He is one of the kind that makes the position rather than allowing the position to make him. He first made good in his own business by building up two successful newspapers which are now continuing their flourishing careers under other ownership. For the past ten years he has been serving the people of California, first as state printer and then as state treasurer. In both of these posts he ran true to form. He was not content to carry things along in the same old groove in which he found them, but he struck out on paths of his own to better things. His first big achievement in the state printing office was to take the institution out of politics and put it into industry. He turned the production of state school books from loss into profit, and at the same time materially lowered the prices of the books to the people.—San Francisco Journal.

Scouts Will Honor Roosevelt Oct. 27

Glendale Boy Scouts will again observe the birthday of their chief scout citizen, Theodore Roosevelt, according to H. F. Bennett, scout executive. This observance will take the form of patriotic mass meetings, outdoor and indoor, with appropriate speeches and ceremonies, the planting of memorial trees, the dedication of scout cabins, and so forth, on October 27.

As usual, the emphasis will be placed by the leaders not only on fittingly memorializing the man who conformed so closely to the scout ideal of manhood, "physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight," dedicated to God and country, but also on the responsibilities of citizenship, which belong to boys as well as to men.

As James E. West, chief scout executive, wrote recently to scout leaders all over the United States in urging this national observance of the anniversary, "The two thoughts animating the demonstrations are, first, to do honor and to keep alive the memory of a great American and a good scout, who kept the Scout oath and law himself, and secondly, to inspire Scouts and the public generally with a desire to be better citizens, remembering that 'such as these have lived and died.'"

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe provided by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Advertisement.

Ward was quite close to the edge of the cliffs to a point opposite the spring, and another leading from the main trail directly to the water. In his ignorance he had thought these the runways of animals, whereas they were the age-old highways of the headhunters.

Now they presented a comparatively quick and easy approach to the destination of the mutineers, but so narrow a one as soon to convince Theriere that it was not feasible for him to move back and forth along the flank of his column. He had tried it once, but it so greatly inconvenienced and retarded the heavily laden men that he abandoned the effort, remaining near the center of the cavalcade until the new camp was reached.

Here he found a fair-sized space about a clear and plentiful spring of cold water. Only a few low bushes dotted the grassy clearing which was almost completely surrounded by dense and impenetrable jungle. The men had deposited their burdens, and still Theriere stood waiting for the balance of his party—Miller and Swenson with Barbara Harding.

But they did not come, and when, in alarm, the entire party started back in search of them they retraced their steps to the very brink of the declivity leading to the cove before they could believe the testimony of their own perceptions—Barbara Harding and the two sailors had disappeared.

On the first trip to the cliff top eight men carried heavy burdens, Divine alone remaining to guard Barbara Harding. The second trip was made with equal dispatch and safety. No sound or movement came from the camp of the enemy, other than that of sleeping men. On the second trip Divine and Theriere each carried a burden up the cliffs, Miller and Swenson following with Barbara Harding, and as they came Oda Yorimoto and his samurai slunk back into the shadows that their prey might pass unobserving.

Theriere had the bulk of the loot hidden in a rocky crevice just beyond the cliff's summit. Brush torn from the mass of tropical vegetation that covered the ground was strewn over the cache. All had been accomplished in safety and without detection. The camp beneath them still lay wrapped in silence.

The march toward the new camp beneath them still lay wrapped in silence.

The march toward the new camp, under the guidance of Divine, was immediately undertaken. On the return trip after the search for water Divine had discovered a well-marked trail along

CHAPTER X
Barbara Captured by Head-Hunters

When Barbara Harding, with Miller before and Swenson behind her, had taken up the march behind the loot-laden party seven dusky, noiseless shadows had emerged from the forest to follow close behind.

For half a mile the party moved along the narrow trail unmolested. Theriere had come back to exchange a half-dozen words with the girl and had again moved forward toward the head of the column. Miller was not more than twenty-five feet behind the first man ahead of him, and Miss Harding and Swenson followed at intervals of but three or four yards.

Here Is Brief Outline of Judicial System, Local and State; Answers Many Queries Often Heard Regarding Various Courts

Perhaps no department of our government is so little understood as the judicial, especially by those who do not come in contact with the courts. Now that we are about to elect a number of judges, a very cursory survey of the state judicial system may be of interest.

- The California Judicial Department includes five courts:
1. The Inferior Courts which embrace township and municipal courts.
 2. The Superior Courts.
 3. The District Courts of Appeal.
 4. The Supreme Court.
 5. The State Senate, as a Court of Impeachment.

Inferior Courts
Each county is divided into judicial townships by the Board of Supervisors, and each township has at least one Justice of the Peace. Glendale is included in Burbank township. Attorney Owen C. Emery presides over the Burbank Township Court. His term expires this year, but he was re-elected, having no opposition at the primaries.

Municipal Courts may be Recorders' Courts or Police Courts. Glendale has a Police Court, established by state law and also provided for in her city charter. Judge F. H. Lowe, who served as City Recorder for many years when Glendale was a city of the sixth class, is now Police Judge. The Inferior Courts have jurisdiction in cases at law in which the amount claimed or the value of the property involved is less than $300; and over misdemeanors punishable by a fine not exceeding $500 or imprisonment not exceeding six months or by both such fine and imprisonment. Police Courts have no jurisdiction outside of cities, but township courts may have jurisdiction inside of cities concurrent with police courts.

Superior Courts
There is a Superior Court in each county presided over by at least one judge. Los Angeles county has twenty-three Superior Court judges serving in departments as follows: Four criminal, one probate, one juvenile court, one law and motion, one presiding judge, one divorce, fourteen civil. In this county the Superior Court judges serve as presiding judge one year, in rotation, apportioning the work of the court among the other judges.

The Superior Court is our great court of original jurisdiction, but it is also a court of appeal for cases that may be tried in the inferior courts. The Superior Court tries all equity cases, all cases at law involving as much as $300 in money or property; all cases at law involving the title or possession of real property or the legality of any tax or municipal fine; all probate cases and divorce cases.

The Superior Courts have the power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, quo warrantum and habeas corpus.

The Superior Court acts as the agent of the United States in naturalizing aliens, and in performing this duty is controlled entirely by federal law.

District Courts of Appeal
There are three appellate court districts in the state holding court at San Francisco, Los Angeles and Sacramento. Each appellate district has two divisions. In this district there are six judges, three in each division.

The Supreme Court
The Supreme Court has one Chief Justice and six associate justices, elected for a term of twelve years, two being elected at each gubernatorial election. A Chief Justice is to be elected this year, also.

The Supreme Court holds sessions alternately in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Sacramento, and at these sessions cases on appeal from the Superior and Appellate Courts are submitted.

The only original jurisdiction possessed by the Supreme Court and the Appellate Court is their power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, quo warrantum and habeas corpus.

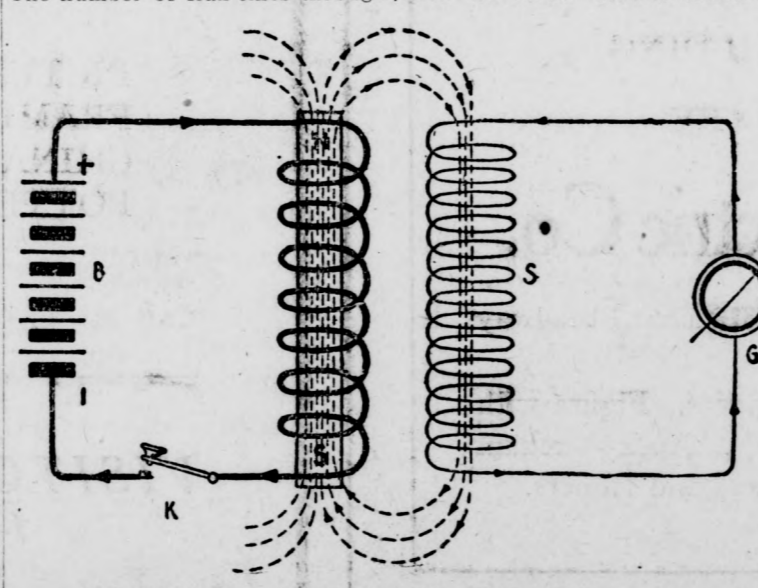

The Senate As Court of Impeachment
On rare occasions, when the assembly decides to impeach some officer, the senate sits as a Court of Impeachment, the senators taking a special oath. This court has no jurisdiction except in these special cases of impeachment, but there is no appeal from its decision. Even the governor cannot set aside or modify such decision.

Federal Judges
There are two Federal Judges in this district, the Southern District of California, but congress has created a new judgeship in this district which is yet to be filled.

INDUCED ELECTRO MOTIVE FORCE
There is always a magnetic field about an electric current. The lines of magnetic flux are closed curves and the electric circuit is also closed. The lines of magnetic flux are then considered or thought of as always interlinked with the wire turns of the circuit. The number of flux lines through a coil will always depend upon the current; any change in the current will change the number of linkings. If there are two turns of wire the circuit will link twice with the same magnetic flux, and so, for any number of turns, the number of linkings increases with the number of turns.

Whenever there is any change in the number of linkings between the magnetic flux lines and the wire turns there is always an electromotive force induced in the circuit. If the circuit is closed a current will flow. This is called an induced circuit.

A study of the diagram reproduced here will give a better understanding of this phenomena. It is the battery, or source of emf, with terminals marked -|+ positive and -| negative to show the direction

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S MIDNIGHT LUNCH

"Are you going to be out very late?" asked Nurse Jane of Uncle Wiggily, as the bunny rabbit gentleman hopped away from his hollow stump bungalow one evening.

"Rather late, I'm afraid," answered Mr. Longears. "I am not going to the moving pictures now. I am going over to play Scotch checkers with Grandfather Goosey Gander, and if we have a very exciting game I may be very late coming home. Why do you ask, Nurse Jane?"

"Oh, nothing, but please come in quietly, so as not to awaken me," begged the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"I'll come in as quietly as Jillie Longtail, the mouse!" promised Uncle Wiggily with a twinkle of his pink nose. "You shall never hear me, Nurse Jane."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped over to Grandfather Goosey Gander's house to play Scotch checkers. And Nurse Jane, after a little visit to Mrs. Twiststail, the pig lady, crept into bed, pulled the covers over her head and was soon fast asleep.

As Uncle Wiggily had thought, the game of checkers became very exciting. Finally the bunny gentleman had two kings and Grandpa Goosey had the same number. And Uncle Wiggily got one king in the double corner and Grandpa Goosey couldn't get him out and it was close to midnight, or 12 by the clock, when Uncle Wiggily said:

"Get out of my bungalow, you bad Bob Cat!"

"I must be getting home, Goosey! We'll finish this game some other night."

"All right," quacked Grandpa Goosey. "What do you say to a little midnight lunch before you go. My wife generally leaves me a bit of corn pie or some little snack like that in the pantry. What do you say?"

"I say no, but thank you just the same," whispered Uncle Wiggily, as he started home. "I'll get a midnight lunch myself when I reach my bungalow. I don't want to stay out too late or Nurse Jane might not like it."

Uncle Wiggily softly let himself into his bungalow and then began searching in the pantry for something to eat.

"A bit of cold apple pie, or even a doughnut and a piece of cheese, wouldn't be bad now," thought the rabbit, as he tiptoed his way about so he wouldn't awaken Nurse Jane.

Uncle Wiggily found some pie, a bit of gingerbread cake and a lettuce sandwich, and he was sitting at the kitchen table, eating his midnight lunch and wondering how he could win that checker game when, all of a sudden, the outer door was pushed softly open and in came the Bob Cat.

"Dear me! I didn't expect you," whispered Uncle Wiggily. "I thought I locked that door when I came in."

"Well, you didn't, and here I am!" howled the Bob Cat. "What are you doing?" he growled.

"Hush, please! Not so loud!" whispered the bunny. "You'll wake up Nurse Jane and she'll come down. I am eating a midnight lunch, that's what I'm doing, and if you'll be good I'll give you some, and—"

"What I want for my midnight lunch are ears!" cried the Bob

Cat in a loud and hungry voice. "Ears are what I want—rabbit ears!" and he looked straight at Uncle Wiggily's.

"Please be quiet!" begged the bunny. "Do you want to awaken Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy?"

"I don't care whether or not she wakes up!" sneered the Bob Cat.

"No, but I do!" whispered Uncle Wiggily, shaking his paw at the Bob Cat to make him keep quiet. "Nurse Jane is always cross when she is awakened in the night. I told her I'd come in quietly, and if she hears you she'll come down and there's no telling what she'll do. She is very excited when she is roused from her sleep, is Nurse Jane?"

"Little I care for that!" sneered the Bob Cat. "I'm going to nibble your ears!"

"No, you are not!" said Uncle Wiggily, quietly but firmly. "If you nibbled my ears I should howl with pain, and that would be sure to awaken Nurse Jane, and—"

"Enough talk! Here I come!" cried the Bob Cat, making a spring for the bunny at his midnight lunch. Uncle Wiggily jumped up, overturned the table, upset his chair and smashed a lot of dishes on the floor. Oh, what a racket there was.

"Nurse Jane is sure to come now!" sighed Uncle Wiggily. "It was so nice and quiet until you came in, Mr. Bob Cat!"

And, surely enough, down came Nurse Jane in her dressing gown. She carried the rolling pin with her, for she always took it up to bed at night to have ready for burglars.

"Get out of my bungalow, you bad Bob Cat!" cried the muskrat lady, and she banged the Bob Cat so hard over his head with the rolling pin that he was glad enough to run away.

"I'm so sorry you were awakened," said Uncle Wiggily when things had been straightened out. "Don't mention it!" laughed Nurse Jane. "I shall sleep all the better after a little excitement like this." And she did.

And if the condensed milk doesn't jump out of the can and try to race with the roller skates, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Susie's Jack.

V. T. STORAGE BATTERIES
Where vacuum tubes are used for receiving, the filaments must be heated by a storage battery. It has been common practice among radio experimenters to use almost any type of storage battery they can lay hands on, regardless of capacity or design.

A storage battery is one of the most important auxiliaries employed in V. T. work and should be as carefully selected as any other adjunct to successful working.

The illustration shows a V. T. battery that has stood the test of time and is manufactured by a nationally known company.

AUTO SUPPLY CO.
 Monarch Building Brand and Harvard

Attractive Business Block a Will Be Open to Inspection

Large Investment Goes to Greatly

The big feature of Saturday night in Glendale's business district will be the formal opening of the Monarch building at the corner of South Brand boulevard and Harvard street, where are located the Monarch Auto Supply company, the Fashion Center and the Tregeas Art Shop, all of whom are to receive patrons and friends from 7 until 11 o'clock in observance of the opening. The opening of the Greenleaf drug store in the corner store of the building is being anticipated as is the occupancy of the offices on the second floor.
 Designed by Alfred F. Priest, architect, the Monarch building stands as one of Glendale's finest business blocks. It was built by the Monarch Building company, composed of H. M. Butts, F. A. Butts and R. C. Plume, at an approximate cost of $50,000.
Pleasing Appearance
 It is of brick and terra cotta construction and covers a ground area of 197 feet on Brand boulevard by 125 feet extending east. There are four store rooms located on the first floor and an Alaskan marble hall and stairway leads to the second floor where nineteen office rooms are arranged.
 While the offices are as yet incomplete many of them are rented and an announcement of the tenants are to be made at an early date. The offices are proving to be in great demand since the tenants receive free light, heat, hot water and cold water, janitor service.
 The rentals were handled exclusively by Endicott & Larson, while other features in connection with the construction of the building were handled by:
 Bentley & Schoeneman, lumber and roofing; Glendale Mixed Material company, mortar; Pacific Cabinet & Fixture company, cabinet and fixture work; Fred Watson signs; Coghlin Electric company, electrical wiring; J. A. New Electric company, electric fixtures; Coker & Taylor, plumbing; C. K. Aston, interior fixture and cabinet finishing for Monarch Auto Supply; York & Co., painting for Monarch Supply; Glendale Tile & Mantel Co., marble and tile work on entrance stairways.
Attractive Store
 Occupying the south half of the lower floor is the Monarch Auto Supply company, and the north storeroom with its mahogany finish woodwork, extensive window space, mezzanine floor and splendid shelving arrangement is undoubtedly one of the finest stores of its kind in southern California.
 Some of the features of the store are one large window twenty-five feet long, and double shelving system planned by Mr. Priest for affording a adequate room for the stock.
 One whole department has been provided for handling general Ford parts, while another is

Judge Gary Talks on Normal Conditions

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Normal conditions in the United States have not yet been fully restored and are not likely to be unless extraordinary efforts are made, declared Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation and the president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, at the annual meeting of that body today.

The country is at present suffering from the high cost of living, he declared, added to which profiteering and labor disputes, temporary relaxations of the war fever, have much to do with the return to normalcy.

Judge Gary selected as his topic the question of supply and demand, upon which he declared our entire economic foundation is predicated. He touched on a wide field of topics covering economic conditions both at home and abroad.

Judge Gary vigorously opposed the cancellation of the foreign debts owed to the United States; lauded President Harding for the conduct of his administration; said that the steel industry is in a healthy condition and expressed concern over the growing labor shortage; advocated the fullest use of publicity in all departments of economic life which affect the public and voiced the hope that a conference would be called in Washington for the frank discussion of all unsettled financial, commercial and industrial questions in which the people are interested.

Woman Cares Little at Husband's Arrest

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 27.—Broken in health and silently awaiting the end of her earthly tribulations, Mrs. V. E. Innes, central figure in one of the country's sensational murder mysteries, is living here, caring little what happens to her notorious husband, Victor E. Innes, recently arrested for using the mails to defraud.

Innes, accused eight years ago of the murder of Beatrice and Lois Nelms, Atlanta, Ga., heiresses, will be released on Tuesday from a Georgia prison. He was immediately re-arrested on fraud charges in connection with booting the girl's estate.

"I'm too sick to talk of the past," the woman said. "I haven't heard from Innes for several years. I've been too sick, too tired to pay attention to the case."

When the murder charges failed eight years ago against the couple, authorities preferred grand larceny charges. A legal fight was carried to the United States supreme court. Innes and his wife lost. She went to the penitentiary, he going to the Georgia chain gang for seven years.

Mrs. Innes was pardoned in 1920. Confinement behind prison walls brought on the prison scourge, tuberculosis. Friends nursing her say she is in the last stages of the disease. She wants to forget it all until the end.

Five Young People Die In Grade Crash

NAPOLÉON, Ohio, Oct. 27.—Five persons were killed at Holgate, ten miles south of here, early today, when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a B. & O. freight train at an unguarded crossing. The dead:

Virgil Brown, 18; Thelma Stimm, 18; Lurry Schwab, 16; Cecilia Royal, 15; John Royal, 14.

The young people, all residents of New Bavaria, were returning to their homes here from a party at Holgate. The bodies were terribly mutilated.

Famous Stage Artist Takes Her Own Life

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Mrs. W. D. Harris, 23, famous as a dancer and violinist, in the presence of her husband, a New York automobile tire dealer, and relatives, shot and killed herself early today at the Harris' apartments at the Palace hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Harris arrived in San Francisco last evening, having made the trip from New York by motor.

Mrs. Harris under the stage name of Marguerite Calvert delighted audiences all over the world. She appeared with Harry Lander in his New York engagements.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris were joined last evening by Dr. Jaudon Ball, a member of the faculty of the University of California, and his wife, a sister of Mrs. Harris. Dr. Ball said they found Mrs. Harris in a very nervous and excitable condition, due to the fatigue from the trip.

During the evening, he said, Mrs. Harris exhibited signs of jealousy and accused her husband of not caring for her. Dr. Ball and Harris as well as Mrs. Ball made every effort to quiet her, but finally seizing a revolver she ran into the bathroom threatening to end her life.

When the door was forced she was found lying on the floor dying, a bullet through her heart.

TELLS PLANS FOR COMMUNITY HELP

Don T. Orput in Glendale to Aid in Organizing Local Service

A program is now being proposed for Glendale under the direction of Community Service, Inc., and Don T. Orput is here representing the organization. He says:

"Community Service, Inc., is a national organization which assists American cities and towns to make the oft-distant hours of their citizens' assets rather than liabilities." This is done through Community recreation. The service has among its objectives the creation or increase of good citizenship, neighborliness and community spirit.

"The organization is now helping Glendale form local community service committees to develop our own locally administered and supported social programs. Such committees, in assuming responsibilities for solution of local recreation problems, seek to bring about the maximum use of existing facilities including parks, playgrounds, gymnasiums and church and club facilities. They also invite the co-operation of existing organizations, exercising great care not to duplicate work they already have undertaken.

For New Activities
"Creation of new activities such as community music, drama, indoor and outdoor sports, home play, field days, pageants, and general social gatherings where all members of the family can mingle in recreational activities will be undertaken by these local committees where need for such community recreation exists."

"Training of volunteer leadership in various activities is of vital importance in the program. Community Service will soon set up and conduct a local recreation institute in which volunteer leadership will be trained along certain lines desired by the local executive committee. Those taking the institute courses invariably are bona fide residents of the community. They must be of serious purpose and willing to give full measure of unselfish service to groups needing their guidance and help.

"Community Service, Inc., undertakes the work in Glendale in response to a definite invitation sent in last spring by a group of Glendale's representative citizens.

Helps Organize
"Upon accepting the invitation, Community Service, Inc., has loaned me to Glendale to help in the organization of the local Community Service committee which is to represent all of the community's interests. This committee discovers community needs and assumes the responsibility of meeting them through the planning of activities and the raising of funds to carry on the work. These funds, raised locally, are spent locally.

Suspect Woman of Slaying 4 Husbands

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Bodies of four former husbands of Mrs. Tilly Klimak, held today with her son, Joseph Mitkewicz, 26, in the mysterious poisoning of her fifth husband, Joseph Klimak, will be examined for chemical analysis, if consent of the relatives can be obtained, Coroner Peter Hoffman announced today.

Klimak, who became ill after two of his dogs had been killed, police say, by scraps taken from the "man's dinner table," is believed to be slowly dying in a local hospital from what physicians diagnosed as arsenical poisoning.

COUNTRY CLUB TO BE STARTED HERE

Eighteen-Hole Golf Course Will Be Big Feature; Outline of Plans

Every city of any importance has its golf club and Glendale will be represented by the Oakmont Country club which has recently been incorporated under the laws of the state of California and which has purchased from Francis, Barnum & Walters an ideal site comprising 109 acres of the finest land obtainable lying west of Verdugo road, south of Montrose, and in the corporate limits of Glendale.

In making this selection the rolling nature of the land, its accessibility to Glendale, and its wonderful scenic advantages, all come in for careful consideration and was selected in competition with a number of other available locations as offering the greatest possibilities for development.

Eighteen Hole Course
The work of laying out an 18-hole course embodying many novel feature holes will be under the supervision of Max Behr, a nationally known golfer with a reputation as a golf architect second to none. Architects are now drawing plans for a commodious club house and locker building with appointments in keeping with the high class nature of the enterprise.

H. M. Parker, general manager of the Hollywood Country club, and one of the ablest country club executives in California, will be at the wheel, which seems ample assurance of the club's success. Associated with Parker are Ralph Lindanger, western representative of the Pennsylvania Mower company; Charlie Playfair, well known oil operator; A. J. Bolger, a successful Hollywood merchant; Dr. George R. Diven, prominent surgeon and capitalist; Noel G. Edwards, attorney of Los Angeles, and B. J. Lynch, who will preside over the Glendale office as assistant secretary and treasurer.

In Monarch Building
The club has taken a lease on offices in the Monarch building, Glendale, and will be open for business about November 1. In bringing this club to Glendale, Parker is assured of the support of all Glendaleans and the $200,000 investment, exclusive of the purchase price of the land, will all be spent in Glendale outside of some equipment which can be obtained only in the east, it is stated.

Commercially and socially, Glendale has taken another forward step in its march of progress, it is pointed out.

Rain Only Hope to Check Forest Fire

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Oct. 27.—Rain from storm clouds that appear to be gathering was the only hope today for checking the forest fire that is sweeping through the mountain resort section north of the famous "rim of the world route," according to meager telephone reports reaching here.

All available fire fighters have been ordered out from the village of Lake Arrowhead to help check the flames which are said to be raging just east of Lake Arrowhead and north to deep creek. The fire is also said to be burning near the mouth of Little Bear creek, but so far has not come any closer to Camp Fleming. Every effort is being made to save the Lake Arrowhead property, which has new improvements valued at $300,000. The fire is said to have leaped over the crest of the San Bernardino mountains near Allison's ranch.

Back fires are said to have been started to check the raging fire and ploughs have been rushed from here to the scene of the blaze in an effort to check its progress.

LESS MEAT IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats too much meat can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Big meat eating may develop uric acid, which excites the kidneys; they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood; then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleepiness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advertisement.

SPEEDY CARD IS ASSURED TO FANS

Whirlwind Battle Due for Main Event Tonight at Hollywood Stadium

While the Southern California sport loving community is wrapped up in tomorrow's great U. S. C. California International football clash a temporary recess will be called by several thousand of the "old timers" tonight to attend the regular weekly boxing program at the Hollywood American legion stadium. Matchmaker Frank Crowley has announced one of the most attractive cards of the season, with lots of action predicted for each bout.

As the main "show" a four-round whirlwind battle is promised when Joe Coffey faces Jimmy Sacco. These two boys rank with the very topnotchers among the lightweight boxers on the Pacific coast and something is bound to happen when the referee turns them loose in the movie land squared circle.

The semi-windup promises to be as exciting as the main event, with Billy Ketchum and Specs Woods doing the honors. When the name of either one of these gents is announced the fans are always assured of a high class fight, and with both of them in the same ring, there is bound to be no exception. They weigh in at 145 pounds.

The other bouts on the evening's program will include the following: Sailor Walters vs. Kid Mocha, Frankie Farrell vs. Leo Mallock, Pete Herman vs. Ray Lee, Billy Maxwell vs. Jack Welch and Tommy Fox vs. Sailor Ebbing.

Bears In Southland

Coach Andy Smith and his entire crew of Golden Bears arrived in Pasadena this morning and are now safely quartered in a Crown City hotel waiting for their hard game of the season tomorrow—that with the University of Southern California. All of the huskies are confident of a victory over their southern rivals, although it is universally admitted that they will know they have been in a fight when the closing whistle is blown.

Smith has been far from idle with his charges since last Saturday's game with the Olympic club of San Francisco, the first four days of this week having been the hardest of the season, so anxious was the Bruin mentor to have his Blue and Gold athletes in the very arena of contention for tomorrow's brawl. That his plans did not go awry was indicated when it was announced that the entire first string team would start against the Trojans.

While "Gloomy" Henderson has been loudly lamenting the fact that his squad will be annihilated by Andy Smith's champs he has, nevertheless spent hours of diligent work in preparing his athletes for the "big game" until he has rounded them into the best shape desirable. With the exception of Johnny Boyle, who fractured his knee early in the season, and Otto Anderson, who will probably be out of Saturday's contest on account of an injured shoulder, the Trojans declare they are "rarin' to go" and are determined to play the game of their lives against the northern invaders.

Glendale Will Meet South Pasadena Team

The second round of games in the Central league football season of 1922 will take place this afternoon, Coach Norman Hayward's Glendale squad opening the home heavyweight schedule on Myose Field in a game with the South Pasadena Tigers. As these two schools have always been the keenest of rivals in all branches of athletics the gridiron followers who turn out on Friday's fracas will be guaranteed to witness a real battle.

Last year the South Pasadena squad trampled over Hayward's lads, who are determined to more than even the score today. It was in that game that Chester Green, the quarterback and star of the team, was laid out for the remainder of the season.

South Pasadena is particularly anxious to annex the contest as a matter of revenge for her "little brothers" who were defeated by the Glendale lightweight squad on Tuesday of this week. The defeat was a bitter pill for the Orange and Black midgets to swallow, as they had been doped to win the league championship. That Glendale will be considerably stronger this afternoon than last Friday, when they were held to a scoreless tie with Covina, was assured yesterday when Coach Hayward announced that Captain Fred Stoff, star halfback and backbone of the eleven, will be back in the lineup. The hand-some punter and all-around back-field man has just recovered from a badly bruised hip which he suffered in the Santa Barbara game several weeks ago. Ray Geib, who subbed at right half last week, will be held in reserve against South Pasadena.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT OF SPORT By WOOD COWAN

SYBIL BAUER THE GREATEST BACK STROKE SWIMMER OF EITHER SEX

WHEN MISS BAUER LOWERED THE 400 BACK-STROKE RECORD TWICE THE FIRST TIME A WOMAN HAD EVER BROKEN A WORLD RECORD HAD BEEN A MAN IN ANY SPORT

HE USES SIX SCISSORING MOTIONS WITH THE LEGS TO EACH FULL CYCLE OF THE ARMS THAT WORK ALTERNATELY DRIVING DEEP AND RECOVERING ABOVE THE SURFACE

WOOD COWAN

Women's interest and participation in athletics has increased to such an extent in the last five years that in a few sports such as tennis, golf and swimming, she has been able, with the help of a small handicap, to give man a mighty interesting time holding his own. But it remained for Sybil Bauer, a Chicago miss, to first break a world's record held by a man.

Harold Krueger of Honolulu held the 400-yard back stroke record until Miss Bauer, swimming at Bermuda early this month, clipped 3 1-5 seconds off Krueger's time. In breaking man's record, this western girl set the swimming world agog, for in no other branch of sport has woman's advancement been so rapid.

Miss Bauer combines a lot of natural ability with a scientific modern stroke, perfectly executed. She uses, in faultless manner, the latest type of back stroke which may be termed an inverted six-beat double trudgeon crawl—the arms working alternately, driving deeply and recovering above the surface, while the legs perform six scissoring motions to each full cycle of the two arms.

It is this system that has enabled Miss Bauer to outdistance all competitors. And, let it be noted, no woman devotee of any stroke has ever so completely outclassed all rivals.

Miss Bauer is but 18 and a member of the Chicago Athletic Club.

Volleyball Game Played at School

An interesting volley ball game was played Thursday at the Glendale avenue intermediate school grounds, between evenly matched teams from the two intermediate schools.

The first third was won by the Glendale avenue girls, with a score of 15 to 2. Wilson avenue girls put up a hard fight for the second third, winning by a score of 15 to 14.

After a hard struggle the last third was won by Glendale avenue, 15 to 12, the total score being 44 to 29 for Glendale avenue.

These inter-school games are becoming more exciting as the time draws near for the championship games which will open in two weeks.

Girls in the lineup were: Glendale avenue—Betty Glade, Helen White, Mildred Beatty, Louise Kopp, Julia Steelman, Dorothy Forbes, Louise Hoyt, Ely Christianon, Evelyn Meeker, Substitutes were Marjorie Prialux, Carmen Wilson.

DRAFTING IS NOT MUCH THIS YEAR

Only Nineteen Minor League Players Are Requisitioned by Major Teams

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Failure of the present system of getting young ball players at cut prices from the minors was clearly shown in the 1922 draft.

Only nineteen minor league players were requisitioned by the major league club owners, and few of them are expected to make the grade in fast company.

The Cleveland Indians, the St. Louis Cards, the Boston Red Sox, the Phillies and the Chicago White Sox did not even go to the trouble of asking for new material from the little fellows.

Players awarded in the draft announced by Commissioner Landis were:

Pittsburgh—Schwab, Ludington, Mich.; Shepard, Abedeen, S. D., and John, Sioux Falls, S. D. Cincinnati—Harris, Charlotte, N. C.

Bears Arrive for Saturday's Contest

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Thirty-seven Golden Bears from the University of California, still undefeated and the "wonder team of the west," stepped from the Lark at the Southern Pacific station this morning ready to face the University of Southern California eleven tomorrow afternoon in one of the greatest football classics of the season.

The Bears were met at the station by a delegation of California alumni and whisked away to Pasadena where the battle will be held.

Under the watchful eyes of Head Coach Andy Smith and "Nibs" Price they were to go through a light practice this afternoon. Practically every member of the Berkeley eleven is in the best of condition, according to Trainer Bryan.

Coach Andy Smith smilingly refused to give out his exact lineup for tomorrow's battle, although it was learned that he will probably start the following players: Berkey and Muller, ends; Beam and Witter, tackles; Dean and Clarke, guards; Gallagher, center; Charley Erb, quarter; Nicholas and Spalding, halfbacks; Nesbit, fullback.

That Duke Morrison, sensation of the 1922 eleven and said to be the greatest ground gainer on the squad, will get into the struggle against the Trojans, is a certainty. Smith said he might send Morrison into the fray at the start and save Nesbit for the final two quarters.

Tiger and Maroon Teams Even Match

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 27.—While football interest in the middle west will center over the coming week end in the Princeton-Chicago intersectional classic on Stag field here, two top notch "Big Ten" attractions will be staged elsewhere. Ohio State meets Minnesota at Minneapolis and Michigan, now favored to win the conference championship, or at least to tie Iowa, plays the fighting Illini at Ann Arbor.

Despite all the expert analysis of the respective merits of the Tiger and Maroon teams, the majority decision is that the two teams are evenly matched and that tomorrow's game will be a ten attraction classic. More than 30,000 persons will witness the game. Almost 20,000 more persons tried to get accommodations but to no avail.

NEW YORK INVENTION A carburetor gasoline and lu-bricant vending machine that a New York man has invented is operated electrically from the office of the garage maintaining it.

No sooner had the intersectional game been arranged between Pittsburg and Stanford to be played next December at Palo Alto, Calif., when, bingo, Pittsburg gets trounced twice and the Stanfordites once. Of course, there is always a lot of interest

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Edition

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Teams may come and teams may go, but this brother business in athletics, seemingly, goes on forever, and we might add, thereafter more or less indefinitely. It was a novelty once, it is almost a bromide now. A week or so ago Tad and Howard Jones were shooting strategy back and forth across the Yale Bowl as respective coaches of the Yale and Iowa elevens. A short few days before that Bob and Emil Meusel were left field for the Yankees and Giants, contending teams in the world series. The Meusels began their friendly vendetta in the 1921 series, and apparently are still at it.

What next? There is nothing remaining but for two brothers to meet in the ring in a title bout, and for this the only nominees in the offing are Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, and his brother Joe. Joseph doesn't lock the part, however, and the thing would never do, anyhow. Imagine trying to get a sharpshooter to change a buffalo nickel on a real fistic brother act. There are enough brothers by adoption in the ring now.

The nearest thing to a jaw to jaw combat between brothers was furnished by Tim and Mike Callahan, respective centers of the Yale and Princeton football teams of 1919. That was real, berserk, toe to toe stuff. The following season the Callahans were captains of their teams, but by this time Tim, who had been slated to guard, and the business lost some of its punch.

Over in Philadelphia some years ago two brothers—Eddie and Larry Shields—ran what was virtually a dead heat for the one mile interscholastic championship of the middle states. Eddie, who still holds for the world's interscholastic record for the mile, 4:23 1-5, won the race by inches.

Funny thing about that. Larry afterward became the intercollegiate champion and a point winner in the Olympics. Eddie became nothing, although he was given plenty of rope by Lawson Robertson at Pennsylvania.

It was not until the 1920 world series that brothers were prominent on rival ball clubs, although they were often on the same roster, notably Mike and Jack O'Neill of the old Cardinals, and Lee and Jesse Tannehill, of the White Sox, world champions in 1906.

In the advance dope of the 1920 series Wheeler Johnston, the es-trimable Doc, was down to play first base for the Indians, and brother Jimmy was on third for the Dodgers. But along about the second or third game Jimmy Twisted a careless knee and passed out of the picture just about ruining the continuity.

Old stuff, anyhow. What about Cain and Abel. They seem to have beaten some of our best families to it by quite a few years, according to available statistics.

Eighteen more "extra inning" games were played in the Pacific Coast league this year than was the case last year. However, where the coast league in 1921 showed one game of twenty-two innings and another with nineteen innings the record this year shows that the longest game was seventeen innings and there were two of these.

Los Angeles in 1921 won the most extra inning contests with nine victories and the same team again heads the list next with ten victories. Oakland played more extra inning contests than any of the other teams, the Oaks having a total of twenty-two such games credited to them, ten wins and twelve defeats.

A total of sixty-three extra inning games were recorded during the season and these games accounted for a total of one hundred and fifty-seven innings of extra play over the regular nine innings. In 1921 the extra inning games ran up to forty-five with a total of 121 extra innings.

being hailed in the eleventh, the second in the twelfth and the third in the fourteenth inning.

Ten inning games naturally hold the pride of place for largest number, a total of thirty ten-inning contests having been played. Eleven inning contests had thirteen battles and there were eight twelve-inning affairs.

There were seven fourteen-inning games, five played to thirteen and one fifteen besides the two at seventeen already mentioned.

Mitchell of San Francisco and Dumovich of Los Angeles were the two most successful pitchers in these extra inning affairs, both of them winning four of the long-drawn contests, Arlett of Oakland, Dell of Vernon, Kremer of Oakland and McQuade of Los Angeles all showed three victories in these games.

Thirty-three other pitchers divided the balance of the victories between them.

The largest score in these extra inning affairs is credited to Salt Lake against Portland on May 28, when Salt Lake netted seven runs in the tenth inning defeating Portland 20 to 13. Another big score was made on September 12 when Los Angeles cracked out six runs in the tenth against Seattle and won 19 to 13. Wins of 10 to 4 were the most popular and thirteen sub-victories, or about twenty-five per cent of the total extra inning games were recorded at this score.

The manager of a baseball club never gets through worrying about his team. Having finished worrying about 1922, it now is in order to lose sleep over 1923.

The fellow who likes to dabble in relative scores made by various football teams already has accumulated enough in the way of figures to begin telling us which of two teams that will not meet is the stronger.

The University of California has learned the danger that lurks in a blocked kick. The Californians have had three kicks blocked thus far this season and they have netted the opponents 14 points. But for a drop kick which hit the California cross bar, the third of these blocked kicks would have added another three-point to the total.

JOFFE NOW RUSS CHIEF IN ORIENT

Authorized to Conclude Pacts With Chinese and Jap Government Heads

PEKING.—A. A. Joffe, the envoy extraordinary and plenipotentiary of Moscow, fresh from his experience at Genoa, has come to Peking and is now the central figure in the soviet's relationship with the eastern half of the world. He is empowered to conclude treaties with both China and Japan and is already engaged in negotiations with the latter, looking to a trade agreement and the evacuation of Siberia by the Japanese troops.

"Russia seeks only defensive measures now," he told International News Service correspondent in an exclusive interview. "We hope that Japan will keep her word and that we may successfully conclude a treaty with her this time. Certain Chinese intellectuals have suggested to me that China and Russia should combine against Japan. We do not desire to combine against anyone. We ask to be left alone. But we must defend ourselves against aggression, and this aggression has come from Japan, just as formerly it came from Poland. In both cases we have employed every means in our power to stop it.

Strong Personality
Mr. Joffe is heavy set, with a high forehead and black, piercing eyes. He speaks with emphasis and makes sure of each point before going on. At the moment he was indignant at an interview published that morning concerning his visit to China, which alleged that he (Joffe) had concluded the Brest-Litovsk treaty between Germany and Russia.

"Why do they publish such unfair statements?" he demanded. "I was forced to go to Brest-Litovsk against my will and to be chairman of the negotiations. I was against the terms of the treaty, and I refused to sign it and said at the time that I would rather fight against its being carried out. As an envoy of Russia to Berlin I did everything in my power to annihilate it."

The educational party has welcomed Mr. Joffe with much enthusiasm. At a dinner given to him by the university heads the work on the Russian revolutionaries was extolled. Many speeches were made commending the work of the Russian revolutionaries. Tsai Yen-pe, one of the promoters of the recent anti-Christian movement, said that Russia was China's teacher, and that the Chinese had most to learn from the present soviet government. The more advanced Chinese intellectual class has already marked leanings toward bolshevism.

Mr. Joffe deplored the prejudice which other nations had toward the present ruling class of Russia. This, he said, should have no influence in their dealings.

"I for one," he remarked, "would much rather see Debs president of the United States than Harding. Nevertheless, I am willing to recognize Harding as the choice of the American people. I think a statesman should put his personal feelings in his inside pocket and deal with facts."

Mr. Joffe said that the Chinese and Mongolians in Mongolia had urged the soviet government not to withdraw its troops and that under these circumstances there would be no immediate withdrawal. On the other hand, the Chinese foreign office has repeatedly said that it desired immediate withdrawal. Hence the Russian statement has a peculiar similarity to that of Japan.

Don't Claim Mongolia
Joffe also maintained emphatically that Russia had no claim whatsoever upon Mongolia and that the concessions there were matters for the Chinese and Mongolians to decide. Americans are directly interested in this matter, as several large mining concessions are held by them. In Chinese circles it is asserted that Russia is holding Mongolia as a bargaining point.

Mr. Joffe also maintained that one of the principal objects of his visit was to improve Chinese-Russian relationship and to promote the active friendship between these two countries. He desired also to efface the bad impressions made by the former Tsarist imperialism.

Say Swiss Farmers Coming to America

DENVER.—From the peaceful valley slopes of the Swiss Alps to the rugged hills of the Colorado Rockies will be the transition of several hundred Swiss farmers, if plans under way here mature.

Negotiations for securing thousands of acres of farm land in Moffat and Routt counties, Colorado, are being conducted by representatives of young Swiss farmers who desire to emigrate to the United States and take up the manufacture of cheese and butter in the western mountain country.

The plan is expected to result in the colonization of much land not only in Colorado, but also in the valleys and mountain sides of Utah and Wyoming. With the opening of the Moffat tunnel, which will afford transportation facilities to thousands of square miles of rich farm land on Colorado's western slope, it is expected the colonization movement of the Swiss farmers will result in rapid and intensive cultivation of great areas of farm land.

W. B. KIRK URGES SUPPORT FOR 'Y'

Every Dollar Put In Work of Organization Is Good Investment, Claim

The Evening News—While not actively engaged in the work of the Y. M. C. A. in Glendale, I desire to speak a word in its behalf and to urge the support of its financial campaign, which will be made on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday next.

I wonder if the right thinking people of Glendale realize how few organizations there are in the city, which are working for the up-building of its youth by instilling into them the Christian teaching of the Bible in a direct way? What would this poor old world be today without the life and example of Jesus Christ? Shall we not bring up our boys, who are soon to be the doers of the work of the world with a knowledge and experience of these things?

Glendale should have a Y. M. C. A. building worthy of its size and importance, but with all the other financial burdens of this rapidly-expanding city, perhaps the time is not ripe for such a program.

Doing Good Work
As far as the real work done by the association is concerned, however, we have an organization in our midst which is, I believe, doing more in proportion to its financial support than any other organization in the country. We have in Mr. Kelley a secretary of very unusual worth and ability. Day and night he is devoting his energy to this work in an unstinted way for a salary of half what he would be earning in other directions. His main work in securing "group leaders" for two or three hundred of the finest boys in the city and vicinity surely is a worth-while job and should command our generous support. Some of these boys do not receive encouragement and assistance from their parents and homes they ought to have, and would never receive any religious instruction otherwise.

The little budget of $5,000 which we are asked to raise should be easily secured. Mr. Kelley's time is too valuable for him to have to spend any of it in securing the funds necessary for this work. Won't you be prepared to subscribe liberally and to pay promptly when the solicitor sees you? Every dollar you put into this work will be the finest investment you can possibly make and will all stay in Glendale. Remember, this $5,000 covers the entire budget for a year—salary—office rent and expense of all kinds. Let us put it over easily and quickly.

W. B. KIRK.

SMALLEST PARLIAMENT HOLDS REGULAR SESSION

The smallest legislative body in the world, which meets in an equally small house of Parliament, is in session in a schoolroom on the Island of Sark, one of England's Channel possessions. A special session of the chief pleas was called for the purpose of drafting and voting upon a new constitution for the municipality, which is governed by local rule.

Say Germans Excel in Nitrate Fixation

HULL, Eng.—"Germany's progress in the fixation of nitrogen may place her in an unassailable position as regards readiness for the next war," declared Dr. J. A. Harker, former Director of Research in the Ministry of Munitions, at the meeting of the British association.

"Nitrogen," he said, "is essential for the manufacture of munitions in war time, and for the production of nitrates, while for agriculture it is of supreme value. I am by temperament no alarmist, but I feel it my duty to call attention to one or two important facts."

"The smaller Germany of today, from May, 1921, to the end of this April, consumed 290,000 tons of nitrogen, or 41 per cent more than in 1913. "Though the German government pleads bankruptcy, the Harkische government seems to have had little difficulty in finding money to repair the damage caused by the great explosion at Oppau last September."

"At the end of the present year Germany will have at her disposal an internal capacity for the production of fixed nitrogen of about 160,000 tons annually, a total so colossal that the country will be entirely independent of all importation in case of another war."

"She will thus be assured of the basic materials for a gigantic production of ammunition, together with enough fertilizer to enable her to grow a very large share of her own food."

Team Captains for Y. M. C. A. at Work

Team captains for the drive to raise $4,800 with which to carry on the work of the local Y. M. C. A. for the coming year are perfecting their organizations so that Glendale will raise the money needed in the first day if possible.

A five meeting is to be held Sunday noon at the Christian Church, where a number of speakers will outline the plans for the drive. October 29-30 and 31 are the days in which it is hoped to raise the budget, but every effort is to be made by the men to secure the desired amount on Sunday, according to Rex C. Kelley, the local secretary.

The principal speaker, as announced, will be George Gleason, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Tokyo. His subject is to be "What Shall I Think of Japan?" O. W. Andreesop will sing, with Howard Brown at the piano. A. H. Beisner, general secretary of the Pomona Y. M. C. A., is to assist the men by outlining a method of canvass. A new Y. M. C. A. building was recently dedicated at Pomona, and it is expected that the secretary will outline some of the plans that have made the organization such a success in that city.

Noon luncheons are to be held on both Monday and Tuesday, at which time the team captains will announce the results for their men. It is expected that approximately 100 workers will take part in the drive; they are divided into two sides, the "Go-Getters" and the "Live 'Yers."

Say U. S. Buildings In Chile Real Buy

NEW YORK.—The group of buildings acquired by the United States to house its embassy is described as one of the show places of the country. Situated on the Calle Merced and fronting on the Parque Forestal, along the border of the Rio Mapocho, the whole range of the Andes as well as the coast range is in view. The site is the finest in the city from a residential standpoint, and it also has the advantage of accessibility and comparative nearness to the Chilean government offices.

There are three separate and distinct buildings upon the grounds, all of them completed this year—the palatial main house, a smaller building containing twelve rooms, to be used for the chancery and an attractive porter's lodge. The main house is three stories in height, of sandstone finish and equipped with all modern improvements of the latest design and most perfect type. It contains a spacious entrance hall, library, salon, music room, ballroom, dining room, banquet hall, conservatory, two grand marble staircases, and a large number of bedrooms, with a terrace garden upon the roof.

Architecturally the house is of great beauty, having numerous porticos, piazzas and terraces, while the interior is richly finished in marble and imported American woods, with an abundance of carving and ornate paneling.

The property cost its original owner approximately $700,000 in American money, but, owing to the depressed business conditions in Chile and the absolute stagnation of the real estate market, Ambassador William Miller Collier, who conducted the negotiations for the United States government, was able to get it for the amount appropriated by congress, $150,000.

The advantages to the American government in possessing this building are that it has not only a fitting and appropriate residence for its ambassador, but also a commodious office building or chancery in which all the secretaries of the embassy and all the attaches—military, naval and commercial—can have their offices together, thus securing co-operation which is expected to effectuate a considerable saving and to promote the efficiency of the work of the embassy.

Plan New Railroad to Tap Rich Land

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Application for authority to issue $20,000,000 in bonds was made to the interstate commerce commission today by the Colorado, Columbus Mexican Railroad company, a New Mexican corporation which proposes to build 550 miles of railroad between Columbus, N. M., and Farmington, N. M. A branch line will connect the road with El Paso, Texas.

This is the biggest construction undertaking since the commission has had the power to supervise the financing of such work. The new road, when built, will serve a rich region in New Mexico, Texas, and Arizona, where present railroad facilities are only meager. Connections with points north will be made via the Denver & Rio Grande at Farmington, and with transcontinental trunk lines at El Paso.

Show Loss by Corn Failing to Mature

WASHINGTON—Corn growers realize on but 64 per cent of seed planted.

This is the conclusion of experts of the Department of Agriculture who have just completed a comprehensive analysis extending over a period of thirteen years.

Various reasons are ascribed by the department for the difference between the potential crop and the quantity harvested, chief among which are weather conditions, defective seed, plant diseases and devastations by insect and animal pests.

"Were it not for the elements that tend to reduce the size of the crop the average crop for the thirteen-year period would have been about 4,374,000,000 bushels, instead of the 2,825,000,000 bushels harvested provided the same acreage were planted," the department stated.

Might Reduce Acreage
It was pointed out by the department, however, that if these elements did not exist and the corn-grower were certain of realizing 100 per cent results, the corn acreage probably would be greatly reduced, so that the final output would hardly be in excess of the crop actually harvested.

"It would mean simply that the farmer could get from about two acres the crop he now harvests from about three acres," the department said.

"The largest potential crop was one of about 5,000,000,000 bushels in 1917, of which the actual harvest of 3,065,000,000 bushels in that year was exceeded in 1912, 1920 and 1921, the largest harvested crop being 3,269,000,000 bushels in 1920," the department said. "A large crop of corn," it was explained, "is due to a relatively low prevention of production by the many causes by which it is limited; but, of course, production is also related to acreage."

ONE-LEGGED MAN GETS $10,000 FOR INJURIES ALONE

Nov. 14.—Wm. Gibson, once an eccentric vaudeville dancer, won a verdict of $10,000 in the Supreme Court against Basil N. Guan, who is said to have struck Gibson with his automobile.

Mr. Autoist, are you protected by a good Insurance Company against this liability? Glendale rate on light cars only $17.00.

MEASURES CUBIC CONTENT
By utilizing a well known principle of acoustics a Frenchman has invented a device that measures the cubic contents of automobile cylinders by sound.

Some of those gloomy persons who preach eternal happiness in the next world ought to try a little of it in this.
