2021 Experience.....

- 65 young people from diverse wikimedia communities registered on the dashboard.
- Opening/launch session with thirty six (36) Wikimedians from diverse wikimedia communities in Nigeria, Ghana, Rwanda, Tanzania, India, Europe, Morocco and the Caribbean in attendance.
- Panel discussion where young experienced Wikimedians shared their experiences on what their roles are as young people in the movement and how it can contribute to growth in the movement among others.
- Topics related to the theme “Transforming food systems: Youth innovation for human and planetary health” were the focus of edit-a-thon.
- Young people were happy about the space, the opportunity to network, learn and grow in the community.

Activities to expect in 2022

How you can Participate

- Join the global launch/Wikimania session on August 12th (tentatively).
- Organize local events in your country (Virtual/In-person).
- Join the global edit-a-thon - August 15th - 30th.

Kinds of Events...

- Identify young wikimedians (2 - male/female) with the highest number of edits, organized trainings/campaigns/edit-a-thons or other forms of leadership in your community. HINT: You could do this through a simple survey to collate usernames to check as well as activities led or involved in or otherwise.
- Experienced wikimedian who have helped shaped the journey of young people in your community.
- Local organizers selected to join the Wikimania session to talk about the work of young people in her community highlighting the people from action 1 where possible or do a recorded video of this for the session.
- Share the information of the identified persons with the global team for recognition.
- Host a local event recognizing the identified wikimedians and awarding gift cards
- Edit-a-thons or writing contests
