"Imagine a world in which every single human being can freely share in the sum of all knowledge. That's our commitment."

Jimmy Wales, founder of Wikipedia

Wikimedia is an international movement committed to the dissemination of free knowledge. This commitment is pursued by collecting, developing and proliferating free content in all languages of the world. It features millions of photographs, diagrams and maps under free licenses.

This calendar is a great example of using and redistributing freely available photographs. It features the 13 winning pictures taken from the public photo contest Wiki Loves Monuments 2013. The contest was organized in September 2013 in 52 countries, including Antarctica. More than 365,000 photos of monuments were uploaded by more than 11,000 participants. With those numbers, Wiki Loves Monuments is the largest photography competition of the world.
