FEARS STARS IN MYSTERY SHOOTING TO LEAVE

Prosecutor Drops Plan For Jury Probe In Case of Actress' Chauffeur

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—Fearing that the people's principal witnesses—Courtland S. Dines, Mabel Normand and Edna Purviance—might disappear before the trial, District Attorney Asa Keyes today cancelled plans to ask the grand jury to indict Horace A. Greer, charged with shooting and wounding Dines, a wealthy "playmate" of the two actresses.

Instead of asking the grand jury indictment, as arranged by Chief Deputy District Attorney Charles Fricke, Greer will be given his preliminary hearing Friday on the charge of assault to commit murder, as planned.

As a result of this procedure, Keyes said the principal witnesses in the case would be placed on record and their testimony made available for the trial in a superior court, if Greer is held or tried by the justice court.

Soon Leave Hospital

Miss Normand and Dines, who are in the Good Samaritan hospital, have improved to such an extent that they will be permitted to leave the hospital on Thursday, their physician stated today.

Figures Reveal 642,000 Ride on G. & M. in 1923

W. Mervyn Mills, auditor of the Glendale & Montrose railway, at the annual banquet of the employees last night, gave some interesting figures regarding the line. There were 642,000 passengers carried in 1923 as compared with less than 200,000 in 1918. Last year there were 532 cars of freight handled as compared with 99 five years ago. And the accident costs have been reduced from a $1600 average to a little more than $1400 last year.

In 1922 the revenue was $40,000, in round figures, while operating expenses amounted to $44,000. In 1923 the revenue was $51,000 and the operating cost $58,000, but General Manager Preston L. Hatch commented on the side that the line makes money backwards, for the future was never brighter for any inter-urban line.

Man Blinded By Snow is Hit By Train; Others Injured In Wreck

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Two men were injured in a train wreck, one was killed by an electric train in Cicero and a fourth suffered probably fatal injuries when he was run down by an electric train in Oak Park as a result of the blinding snowstorm which struck this section today as a forerunner of the wintry blasts en route from the northwest.

PRAISES FOR RAIL LINE OFFICIALS

Glendale and Montrose Co. Family Meets Here at Annual Banquet

High tribute was paid last night by the employees of the Glendale & Montrose Railway company to their employers at an annual banquet held in the Harriet Mae tearoom at Harvard street and Maryland avenue.

The happy family gathered around General Manager Preston L. Hatch at 8 o'clock and enjoyed a southern home-cooked turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, which was featured by P. A. Ross finding a $5 goldpiece in his dessert.

Mr. Hatch, presiding, proved a raconteur of no mean ability, and he called upon Dr. J. E. Eckles, company physician, and Judge Harry W. Chase, counsel for the line, for a few words. The latter called attention to the fact that electric railroading was less than 100 years old, and still only an infant in its possibilities locally.

Each Plays Part

W. Mervyn Mills, auditor of the company, pointed with pride to the achievements of the past year, while the "G. M." impressed his fellow-workers with the big part played by each and every one of them in making the Glendale & Montrose railway a greater success.

Some Early History

Team work in the operation of the new Glendale avenue line, which will go into service February 1, was urged by the general manager. He called on William Mills, an old employee of the owners, to tell the history of their purchase of the line, which, in a phrase was acquired by trading cemented citrus land for the "Tomerville" Trolley System of Glendale, which has become a thriving interurban railway.

Among the employees responding to roll call were Mr. and Mrs. John E. McManus, the former coming from Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Armstrong, the former being a native of Utah; L. E. Thompson, a native son, introduced his mother; Perry Rose, another native son; M. R. Howard, hatched from Alabama; Frank L. Gazzo is a Mississippian by birth; Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Ross, coming from Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Murray moved here from Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hixson, the former being a New Yorker; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Anderson, the former having lived in Nebraska; William Mills, a native of Illinois; Roy Andrus, a son of (Continued on Page 4)

Democrats War Over Choice of Convention City

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Having broken a half century precedent by sending the national convention to New York, the Democratic national committee found itself today in a heated discussion as to whether its action constituted an "anti-McAdoo" victory.

Had the McAdoo forces in the committee hung together or they were numerically powerful enough to have thrown the convention to any of the four cities in the bidding. While a big majority of the McAdoo strength staunchly opposed New York on the ground that it was "enemy territory," a handful of his warmest supporters voted steadily for New York and declared they welcomed the prospect of fighting the 1924 battle on Tammany's home grounds.

Great Rush to Secure '24 Plates

Total of 1300 Put Out in Two Days Here to Auto Club's Members

A total of 1300 California license plates for 1924 have been distributed in the first two days of the Glendale office of the Automobile Club of Southern California has been offering this service, states Manager M. B. Bowman—500 on Monday and 800 yesterday.

In addition, the local office has L. Mack, Frank Little and T. Shirley, working the towns of the San Fernando valley, helping club members get their new plates.

Efficient Service

From the office, located at the corner of Brand boulevard and Colorado street, Arthur Garey, D. A. Bullock, Martin Cook and Harold Snow have been assisting Mr. Bowman in passing out the licenses, and, in addition, three stenographers have been kept busy rushing out reports.

Cut Tourist Service

Word has been received from Sacramento to cut off the license service to tourists. Mr. Bowman states. This will make it necessary for those with out-of-state licenses to take the same steps as those not members of the club but residents of California, namely: Either mail applications direct to the motor vehicle department or check or money order for the amount of the fee, or go to the branch of this department, located at 1630 South Flower street, Los Angeles, and get the licenses in person. March 1 is the time limit, after which the fine will double the fee.

The verve and sparkle that characterize every special event staged by the Glendale Realty board were strongly in evidence in every detail of the program that was presented at the annual banquet held last night in the Tuesday Afternoon club, when the realtors of Glendale gathered to greet their distinguished guests and to celebrate the passage of another year that has been filled with concrete accomplishments for the advancement of the city, accomplishments in which the Glendale Realty board has borne an important part.

To Vice President W. T. Twining fell the honor of starting the ball rolling when he introduced the guests of honor, and "Bill" carried out his part of the program with a running fire of jests that added to the good humor of the more than two hundred guests at the banquet.

Prominent Visitors At Annual Banquet

DEALERS FACING THREE PROBLEMS

Association Field Secretary Tells Local Board What Action Is Needed

In 1924, its courtesy in permitting Pasadena to win the oratorical prize at the 1923 convention, and its habit of winning first prizes in the Tournament of Roses every year, Pasadena would be in a bad way all around.

Mayor Spencer Robinson, who was down on the program for "warblings," was unable to be present, and Cameron D. Thom was given his chance to talk on "Nothings." "Cam's" speech was a series of rapid fire jabs at his associates on the board that kept the house in a roar from start to finish, and his revelations of the manner in which the work of the board, as he claimed, is being done entirely by committees, leaving nothing for President Hanson to do, was one of the hits of his speech. He also praised himself for the work he had done as head of the sewer committee, declaring that his faith in the success of the project never wavered as it had to come in the natural course of things.

W. L. Traut's Hebrew monologue, "Mutterings," also went over big with the crowd. That always looks for something good when "Bill" is given a line on the bill of fare.

William E. Ferren, field secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, was presented by Mr. Hanson with a check representing the difference between the old dues paid by the local board to the national organization and the new schedule that has been adopted, something that Mr. Ferren admitted was new in his experience in his tour of the boards of the country, and the action of the Glendale Realty board will be wired to the national meeting that is now being held in Augusta, Ga.

In his discussion of the real estate situation throughout the country Mr. Ferren pointed out that there are three great problems that the realtors must help to settle. The first is taxation, with the growing menace of tax exempt securities, which are throwing more and more of the burden of taxes on the real estate of the country. This flood of tax tree securities must be halted, he said, and the realtors must do their share in the battle to turn the wealth of the country back into channels where it will bear its share of the burden.

The second is education, he said, and recounted the action that has been taken by the national association, in conjunction with colleges and universities and the government, in providing a two-year college course for men and women who are engaged in the profession of real estate brokers and dealers, and who must give their clients the best possible service.

Built City of Homes
The third point to be considered is whether the present rapid growth is going to continue, and he argued that the local realtors check up on themselves. "Don't set your aim at building a city of houses and business blocks, but a city of homes where men and women may gratify their desire for a place of their own, and not solely with the idea of turning a profit inside sixty days on the houses you build."

Glenn D. Willaman, state secretary, spoke of the pleasure he always felt in coming to Glendale, referring especially to his friends of army days, L. H. Myers and Gil A. Cowan, of whom he predicted great things, and adding another word of praise for the Glendale Evening News. Speaking of Charles B. Guthrie, Mr. Willaman stated that he measured up to the highest standards the state association demands in picking its executives.

During the banquet the Ann Weitzman trio rendered a number of musical selections, and K. A. Lewis sang "Song of Love," and "The Hymn of the Parsee." Mrs. W. P. McMullin also rendered two vocal solos, "Land of Heart's Delight," and "Rose in the Bud," in a charming manner. S. S. Gilhuly, chairman of the social committee, was warmly praised by President Hanson for the manner in which he had carried out his duties in preparing for the banquet.

Boys Borrow Spare Tire, Now Pay For It

SANTA ANA, Jan. 16.—Fred Ball, Corona youth, bound for Tia Juana, had five friends and a "blowout," but not the price of a spare tire. He proceeded to appropriate one from the car of U. L. Barge. The party was apprehended at Oceanside, and now they all are working to pay the $100 fine assessed by Justice Cox.

Realtors Render Praise to Chobe At Annual Meet

The following tribute was conveyed to L. W. Chobe, designer of the Glendale prize-winning floats, at the banquet of the Glendale Realty Board last night:

"Through the genius, artistry, fidelity and loyalty of one of our distinguished citizens, L. W. Chobe, Glendale again won first prize in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, January 1, 1924.

"He has brought undying fame to our city, and such honor is more than local pride.

"Therefore, the Glendale Realty Board herewith tender congratulations and conveys sincere appreciation to Mr. Chobe for the service he has rendered.

"Glendale Realty Board."

REALTORS CHANT BOOSTER BALLAD

Mrs. S. S. Gilhuly's 'Glendale' Sung by Miss Horning At Annual Dinner

The singing of "Glendale," a new song, written and composed by Mrs. S. S. Gilhuly, wife of one of the live realtors of this city, was one of the features of the annual banquet of the Glendale Realty Board last night at the Tuesday Afternoon club, when Mrs. Gilhuly accompanied Miss Doris Horning in her able and artistic rendition of the song, the guests joining in the chorus. The words of "Glendale" follow:

GLENDALE
(Words and music written by Mrs. S. S. Gilhuly)

The sun—the moon—the stars of old
Are watching from the sky
A pulsing town all bright with life

With banners flying high
This wonder California town
A nation's trophy won
As the fastest growing city
The world has ever known.

Chorus:
Glendale—Glendale—Our hats are off to you
As the fastest growing city
of today

With your charm of woods and hills
How your wondrous beauty thrills
All those who pass your portals day by day.

You have pep, you have speed,
You have everything you need
To give you fame and glory and renown.

So we'll give three rousing cheers,
Keeping faith throughout the years
For Glendale—our own home town.

The pride of all who dwell within
This lovely fair place
Reflects the happiness and love
That shine on every face.

We'll sing your praises far and near,
So all the world may find
The welcome Glendale offers all
To share her joys sublime.

'DIPLOMA MILLS' IN STATE, CHARGE

'Graduates' of Los Angeles College Now Closed Still Show Up

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16.—Attacking fake medical "diploma mills" alleged to be in operation in California, C. B. Pinkham, executive officer of the State Board of Medical Examiners, declared the old Pacific Medical College, of Los Angeles, is the worst offender.

"The diploma of the college has never been recognized by the Board of Medical Examiners and the institution on the eve of threatened prosecution for fraudulent issuance of diplomas, reported disincorporation in January, 1918, but evidently a surplus lot of diplomas remained on hand, for frequent reports from various states relate possession of these diplomas by those who, if it is stated, have never been in Los Angeles."

Pinkham also asserted that "any group of individuals with about $25 to spend, can incorporate any kind of a school and issue any kind of degrees in California without molestation."

The secretary of the board has communicated with federal officials regarding the Pacific Medical College and today addressed a report to Governor Richardson on the subject.

Son and Bride Find Mother on Death Bed

MODESTO, Jan. 15.—The honeymoon trip of Richards Voarchard of Salda, which started two weeks ago with a visit to his mother in Bellingham, Wash., was turned to tragedy when he found her on her death bed and calling for him with her last words.

The son, accompanied by his bride, reached his mother's side just two hours before she died.

EMPIRE BUILDING BARBOUR THEME

State Association Head Urges Realtors to Cultivate Vision of Service

"Empire Building" formed the theme of the address delivered by Henry P. Barbour of Long Beach, president of the California Real Estate association, at the annual banquet of the Glendale Realty board in the Tuesday Afternoon club last night, when he urged the members and their guests to lay aside the chase of the dollar at times and devote themselves to the development of the vast empire that stretches from the sea coast back east to include the region included in New Mexico, Arizona, California, Utah and Nevada, the country that must inevitably seek its outlet through the portals of the Southland.

Paying a glowing tribute to John Steven McGroarty, the Mission poet, who has aroused and maintained interest in the romantic history of California's early days, President Barbour recalled the days when he watched the development of what is now the city of Hollywood from the grain fields of the old ranches, and when he watched Los Angeles grow from small beginnings to be the wonder city that she is today.

"The last years of the nineteenth century and all that has passed of the twentieth century," said Mr. Barbour, "have seen the dawn of the age of empire building, and no man has contributed more to the coming of this era than has the realtor. Three things are essential to the building of an empire, and these are multiple listing, the realtor and the empire builders. The first two stand for team-work and cooperation, and the combination of the three is the development of the vast resources of the country.

Southland's Heritage
Quoting St. Paul's ringing words, "None liveth unto himself alone," Mr. Barbour pointed out the heritage that the people of the Southland possess, and he urged his hearers to spend at least a part of the summer in riding along the amino Real and visiting the missions that were founded by that great empire builder, Father Junipero Serra, whom he described as California's first great realtor, and in whose footsteps have flowed the tides of the pioneers, the Argonauts, the "49ers," and the men who have built this state to its present greatness and who will continue their work of empire building for California.

"Empires that have been founded on hate and by the sword have fallen, but America and England, the two great nations that are based on principles of right and justice, are rising to greater heights than ever," he declared.

Mr. Barbour urged his hearers to work for the building of the Colorado River dam, as being the greatest constructive possibility in the development of the great southwest.

BRYAN FAILS TO STIR DEMOCRATS

Threat to Spring Murphree As Candidate Leaves Politicians Cold

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—William Jennings Bryan's announcement in Miami that he intends to offer and support the name of Dr. Albert A. Murphree, Florida educator, as a candidate for the nomination at the Democratic national convention five months hence, has created only a mild and curious interest among the score of prominent Democrats gathered here for the meeting of the national committee today.

Members of the committee and their friends were curious, but not enthusiastic—and there was no indication of alarm in the camps of William G. McAdoo, Oscar Underwood and the half dozen other potential Democratic candidates.

"Who is he?" and "What is behind it?" were two questions that almost invariably met the inquirer.

Seek Bryan's Purpose
That so astute a politician as the Commoner would not lead a dark horse from the stable without having some purpose in mind was generally accepted. The opinion appeared to be that Bryan intends placing Dr. Murphree in the Florida primaries as a favorite son in order to keep the Florida delegation from McAdoo or Underwood.

It was also generally observed that Bryan himself is planning to be a delegate at large from his adopted state, and the fact that he is booming a Floridian will help his chances.

Bryan's attitude toward the so-called major Democratic candidates, McAdoo, Underwood, Cox, Ralston and Davis, has not been clearly defined, except in the case of Underwood, whom the Commoner strongly opposes.

The McAdoo people have privately declared that when the time comes Bryan will be found in their camp, but Bryan has not confirmed this.

Three Cities Bidding
The three-corded fight for the campaign convention between Chicago, St. Louis and New York appeared growing in warmth today with arrival of delegates

California Leads Nation's Realtors Declares Herren

California's leadership in realty affairs was indicated last night, when William E. Herren, field secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, told the guests at the annual dinner of the Glendale Realty Board that this state was the first one to pass a license law governing the activities of real estate brokers.

Fifteen other states have followed suit since then, he declared, and the eyes of the country are watching California and her realty boards closely to see what other progressive action is to be accomplished.

Another place where California blazed the way was in originating the "Realtors' Creed," which has now been officially adopted by the Florida state association.

PLANT TREES! IS PLEA FROM POET

John Steven McGroarty Urges Protection From Floods And Fire In Hills

"In God's name, why don't we plant trees?"

A note of warning to Glendale was sounded by John Steven McGroarty, the poet of the Green Hills, in his address, "North Winds," at the annual banquet of the Glendale Realty Board in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse last night, when he pointed out the menace that exists for this city from the possibility of fire and flood sweeping down on Glendale from the hills to the north of the city.

Declaring that he came as the representative of M. V. Hartranft of Tujunga, whose message he bore, Mr. McGroarty said that the valley dwellers miss the thrill and throeb of life that is the daily portion of the mountain men.

Tujunga, he said, is Glendale's greatest asset, but, he added, unless something is done to offset the menace carried by the north winds, Glendale occupies a precarious position, as there is nothing between Glendale and the hills to break the force of the winds, and, he declared, "in case of fire I wouldn't give two cents for Glendale."

"The deforestation of the hills has brought about the death of many cities. Babylon, lying at the junction of two rivers, stripped their hills bare of trees, and Babylon has crumbled into dust. People today are going gaily down the road that leads out a serious thought to the danger that threatens them, but the danger is very real."

"Or if the rain should come for forty days and forty nights, as it did in Noah's time, Glendale, lacking trees on the hillslopes to the north, would become a sea of mud and would be swept out of existence. But nobody is talking of planting trees, and officials whose business it should be to plan for protection sit in their easy chairs and their easy ignorance and fail to do anything to safeguard the cities of the San Fernando valley."

Mr. McGroarty urged that the members of the Realty Board and other local organizations cooperate with the Chambers of Commerce of the hill towns to parry the danger that is thrusting at the very existence of Glendale and other cities in the valley.

MONEY TO FAMILIES

MADRID, Jan. 16.—The directroy today decided to grant a million pesetas annually to the families of Moroccans killed in battle.

from the cities to present their claims before the committee tomorrow.

McAdoo's friends very nearly control the committee. The enmity that exists between McAdoo forces and Tammany hall is regarded as so important a factor that under no circumstances would the committee accept New York.

Huge Liquor Supply And Nine Men Seized

CLOVIS, Jan. 16.—Nine men were arrested and ninety-six barrels of wine, 200 gallons of marsh and many gallons of brandy were confiscated as a result of the biggest liquor raid in the history of this community, staged yesterday by City Marshal Ellis.

The law violators all pleaded guilty, and fines aggregating $3000 were imposed. In default of payment, the entire nine will serve out the fines in the county jail.

FOWLER, Jan. 16.—Four-year-old Edward Wilkins sustained burns at an open fireplace which resulted in his death. The child ran to the fireplace to dress, when his night dress caught fire. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wilkins, summoned by the boy's screams, rushed to the scene and beat out the fire, but not until the child was severely burned. Medical aid was summoned but after lingering for a day, the child died.

Troop 1, Glendale Girl Scouts, held a business meeting Monday night at the home of Lucile Beach, 327 Riverdale drive. Carolyn Ayars presided. With formal investiture ceremony Martha Fleming and Emily Torsa were admitted to the troop as tenderfoot scouts.

Mrs. F. A. Beach, commissioner, spoke before the troop, regarding the building of the national headquarters for Girl Scouts in New York City, and to which the girls are requested to contribute. Troop 1 passed a resolution to collect, by assessment, the amount necessary to buy a brick to be used in the building, this being the nature of the request that is being made of all Girl Scout troops. Troops contributing will be honored with tablets inscribed with troop name and number in the new building.

Troop 4, Glendale Girl Scouts, met Friday afternoon at the home of the troop captain, Miss Margaret Sharpe, for a short business meeting. The first formal meeting of the year will take place January 26 and is the semi-annual meeting for election of officers. The retiring patrol leaders are Dorothy Chapuis, First Patrol; Ruth Brennan, Second Patrol; Margaret Brennan, Third Patrol.

THE GLENDALE

"Temporary Marriage," now showing at the Glendale Theatre with Mildred Davis (Mrs. Harold Lloyd) in the lead, depicts the marital conflict of a middle-aged couple who could not get along well together because the wife sought romance after it had long passed her by.

Supporting Miss Davis is a competent cast including Kenneth Harlan, Myrtle Stedman, Tully Marshall and Stuart Holmes. The drama was made for Principal Pictures by Lambert Hillyer. It tells an engaging story of a woman who refused to appreciate that time exacts its payment.

In addition, Snub Pollard is at the Glendale Theatre today in a hilarious two-part Hal Roach comedy, "Before the Public," rounding out a splendid program that has for short features a Pathe news reel and some excellent organ music by Paul Carson.

THE GATEWAY

"West of the Water Tower," now showing at the Gateway Theatre, is a Paramount special, with Glenn Hunter, May McAvoy, George Fawcett, Ernest Torrence, Zasu Pitts and other noted players in the cast. It was filmed from the popular current novel of the same name, written by Homer Croly and depicting life in a small midwestern town.

All the characters of such a town are in "West of the Water Tower." Aside from the roles portrayed by the principal players, other clever characters drawn are the town "dandy," Cod Dugan, proprietor of the pool hall; the commission merchant, the girls from the "Happy Hottentot" burlesque show and the village bum.

It is one of the best pictures of the season, and has been a big drawing card wherever shown.

The Pacific Electric is the largest interurban system in America," said Mr. Cowan. "The Glendale & Montrose line is the only interurban competitor of the Pacific Electric in Los Angeles city and county, and it is due to become widely known in this 'fastest growing' section of America."

Twins and Triplets in State Reported

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16.—Seven hundred and fifty babies born in California in 1923 out of a total of 79,000 births were twins to others, according to L. C. Ross, chief of the State Bureau of Vital Statistics.
Eleven groups of triplets were chronicled during the year and no quadruplets—in fact, there was but one set of quadruplets born in the United States.

Further analysis of birth statistics shows that 438 California mothers gave birth to their tenth child during the year and that 698 of the women having children during the same period now have families consisting of more than ten children.

The largest family in the state numbers twenty-three children, and two mothers report the arrival of their twenty-second baby; two their nineteenth; seven their eighteenth; nine their seventeenth; eighteen their sixteenth; thirty-one their fifteenth; fifty-three their fourteenth; 115 their thirteenth; 183 their twelfth; 276 their eleventh, and 438 their tenth infant.

HUMOR RAMPANT IN LATEST PLAY

'Some Baby' to Be Presented By Royal Stock For Remainder of Week

Fun will predominate at the Tuesday afternoon club theatre tonight, when the Royal stock company will offer as their new bill "Some Baby," the popular farce written by Zillah Covington, for laughing purposes.

"From the moment the old Doctor discovers the magic elixir of youth that turns old folks back to babes, the fun begins," says Manager Charles E. Royal of the company, "and it doesn't end till the last curtain."

"Complications begin to pile up thick and fast for the old Doctor and every complication makes the situation more ludicrous. The whole cast works fast and furiously in 'Some Baby' and the result is a riot.

Star's Versatility

"We have never put on a funnier play than the present offering, and are confident it will cause Glendaleans to be even better pleased with our work than they were last week when we put on 'East Is West.'

"Once again in 'Some Baby' Edythe Elliott shows her versatile talent, rollicking through her role with a spontaneity and charm that furnish an outstanding feature of the production.
The curtain rises tonight promptly at 8:20 o'clock. The play will also be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at the same hour, with a 2:30 o'clock Saturday matinee.

Burglar Flees When Wife Shoots Husband

FRESNO, Jan. 16.—Banker W. A. Sutherland is nursing a sore foot, following a shot by his wife at a burglar.
The managing director of the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank noticed a ladder standing against the house on his return in the evening. His wife informed him a burglar was in the house.
Sutherland asked Mrs. Sutherland to stand guard at the foot of the stairs while he visited the second story and located the burglar. As he stepped in front of Mrs. Sutherland the gun went off, the bullet rebounding from the wall and hitting Sutherland in the foot. The injury is superficial. In the confusion the burglar escaped.

Baby Girl Found In Car by Taft Couple

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 16.—Returning to their auto after an evening spent at a theatre, Mr. and Mrs. John Hauck of Taft, found a six-weeks old baby girl wrapped in a pretty baby blanket in the rear seat.
A note was pinned to the blanket which read:
"I saw you people as you drove up and you looked like good, kind people. Will you please take good care of my darling baby? She will never see her mother any more."
The note was written in shaky handwriting on good paper and was unsigned.
When asked if she intended to notify the authorities, Mrs. Hauck said she intended to adopt the child and did not care to search for the child's mother. The Haucks have no family.

This selection has been secured for the month of January by Mrs. Roy Ballagh, curator of the fine arts section of the club.

King George Promises Agreement With U. S.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—"My ministers, in common with British dominion representatives, have been anxious to remove the difficulty with regard to illicit importation of liquor to the United States, and have made proposal for an agreement which is on the eve of conclusion and which should further strengthen the happy relations prevailing between the two countries and the two peoples," said King George in a speech from the throne opening the business session of the new Parliament.
The king's speech laid down a definite program for trade development to offset the tariff reform rejected by the voters in the last election.
He also made extensive suggestions for relief of unemployment. These, however, were mainly non-contentious to save the Tory government from attacks by Laborites.

EVERY SLICE OF BREAD FIGURED

Average Californian Eats Six Loaves a Month Report Reveals

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16.—According to the state Department of Agriculture, the average individual eats six loaves of bread a month, and on this basis, said G. H. Hecke, chief of the department, bread consumption in California in twelve months totals 252,000,000 loaves, of the standard sizes of sixteen and twenty-four ounces.
The division of weights and measures, of the Department of Agriculture, is endeavoring to enforce the standardization of practically all articles of commerce, and according to Hecke, has succeeded in setting rigid standards for bread, coal and wood.

Illustrating the importance of this step, the chief of the department said that prior to 1920, bread was sold in loaves varying from ten to eighteen ounces and sold at all prices. Complaints of short-weight became so numerous that action was necessary.
During 1923 there were but seven complaints regarding short weight in bread, and three of them were settled out of court.

PENDROY'S STORE MAKES CHANGES

Shoe Department Is Being Enlarged; Additional Service Planned

The enlargement of the shoe department to twice its present size and its new location in the second floor annex is the first big development feature at the Pendroy store for the first month of 1924.

Patrons and friends of the Pendroy store have watched with interest the remodeling of the old Chamber of Commerce auditorium and an added interest is now the announcement that February 1 a larger and entirely modern shoe department will be opened there. These new quarters are being finished in attractive French gray and will be furnished with beautiful carpet, wicker furniture and adequate shelving.

Perfect Shoe Service

Then there will be the wonderful lines of women's and children's shoes that will provide Glendale with a shoe service found in the largest cities of the United States.

N. C. Smith and Z. P. Morse, who are in charge of the shoe department, are both foot experts and they are both enthusiastic over the prospects of being located in the fine new quarters. They state that they are installing the Meenan Arch, also show for women, nationally known, and the Acrobat shoe for children, with their other extensive lines. It is their plan to give foot examinations free of charge and assist in every way those who have foot troubles and difficulty in selecting comfortable shoes.

Big Clean-up Sale

Some of the features in the new location will be increased stock, larger sales force, comfortable individual wicker chairs, wicker settees and other things that contribute to satisfactory service.

In anticipation of the opening, a big clean-up sale is announced today in the display advertising columns of The Glendale Evening News. This sale is to make room for the new stock ordered and there will be countless pairs of shoes go at a sacrifice tomorrow and every other day of the sale.

America Losing Ideals, Declares Ohio Pastor

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 16.—"To save our nation we must save some of our ideals," declared Rev. P. H. Murdick, pastor of King Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, here in a sermon characterized by a scoring of "the materialism of the present age, lack of care in training the youth of the nation and carelessness in the selection of public officers to guide the destinies of city, state and federal governments."
"God save us from men and women who are mere mollycoddles in morals; who are enjoying the fruits of their fathers' and mothers' Christian fidelity!" asserted Dr. Murdick.

Fossil discoveries show that in ages long remote, great giraffe-like creatures, some with horns and antlers, roamed in the south of Europe, Persia, India and even China.

Defies Age by Using Ordinary Buttermilk to Beautify Complexion

This Pretty Girl Tells Druggists Not to Take Anyone's Money Unless This Delightful New Vanishing Cream Shows a Decided Improvement.

Buttermilk Cream creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dullest, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crows' feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger-nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms, caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.—Advertisement.

Industrial Plants As Commercial Assets

The most vital factor in the upbuilding of this particular section of Southern California is its ability to acquire more Industrial Plants that have permanent pay-rolls and produce commodities of a character that find ready markets. The City of Glendale and the San Fernando Valley are better adapted for this particular purpose than any other section, and there is little question that when these facts become thoroughly understood by the people generally that their thoughts will be turned toward these channels for investment purposes. The investment of money in institutions of this sort is the safest and sanest way of employing funds to insure a conservative earning capacity, with the added assurance that the particular plant or industry will also be building up automatically a surplus that will greatly enhance the value of the investment. In this connection there should be unselfish thought as well as business judgment, because the realization should come that every dollar invested is helping to build the community and add to the general valuation of the city's assets.

You have all heard about COMALT and the other products of the S. W. BROWN CO., INC., which is now succeeded by the COMALT CO., INC.

Until quite recently the capitalization of the old company was on a basis that was consistent with the business, but not large enough to handle the tremendously increased business that has come since COMALT was put before the public.

During the last three months the business of the company has increased to the point where it has become absolutely necessary that more capital be available for expansion purposes, and for this reason the old corporation was retired and succeeded by the COMALT CO., INC.

All the original stockholders still retain their holdings and enough new ones will be secured to make available sufficient capital to put the company in position to handle the immense new volume of business adequately.

COMALT was put before the trade purely on merit and met with an immediate 100% response, the result of which is that the COMALT CO., INC., has on hand at this moment contracts aggregating several hundred thousand gallons of syrup, which will result in an excellent profit to the company and consequently to the stockholders.

The COMALT CO., INC., owns and controls plant, buildings, machinery, formulas, processes and all U. S. rights, which are being handled solely under FRANCHISE under the supervision of this company so that COMALT, wherever used or sold, is always under the direct handling and processes of the company.

The COMALT company comes to you, not as a company seeking a market for a product, but as a company seeking additional working capital to handle the business already in existence, and, take care of the future.

Demand for COMALT is nation-wide, as the syrup form in which it is made makes it easy of handling and transport, and the syrup is not affected by climatic conditions.

All the officers and directors are men active in the business life of Glendale and Los Angeles, and their association is very valuable, as they are taking a keen interest in progress and development, and devoting their thought to the building up of the business.

PROFITS—The average profit per gallon of COMALT syrup to the company is very liberal, even when the present high cost of materials is used in figuring.

CONSUMPTION—America is essentially a soft drink consuming country, and the rest of the world is rapidly falling in line. The soda fountain is now an institution where trade is good, profits are large, and consumption steady. COMALT, in addition to being a fountain drink served hot or cold, is the first compound that can be used in the home by the simple addition of water, hot or cold.

From the above you will see what an attractive investment COMALT is offering you with the added fact that this is a GLENDALE business that means expansion and added growth to the city.

A small amount of stock is being offered to the public at the par value of $10.00 per share, and the sale is BY THE COMPANY, FOR THE SOLE BENEFIT OF THE COMPANY—NO PROMOTION STOCK—and every dollar accruing to the benefit of the company for business purposes.

Commercial investments of this character are safe, sane and have a good earning capacity in an existing plant with tangible assets and an established reputation.

Four Murderers to Pay Penalty Before March; Others Appeal
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16.—Eleven murderers await execution in state penitentiaries and four of them are sentenced to pay the supreme penalty before the end of March, it was announced today at the governor's office.

A double execution is set for March 14, when Robert Mathew and Joseph Simeul, Los Angeles negroes, will pay the death penalty.

GINGHAM FROCKS PLACED ON SALE

'Perky Peggy' Garments Are Offered by Gordon's At Low Prices

There's not a Glendale woman who's not familiar with Gordon's, at 119 North Brand boulevard where one is always able to find many desirable things in the many lines of women's and children's furnishings.

Special offerings are an everyday occurrence at this popular shopping place, but this week is having a special sale feature, a mammoth sale of "Perky Peggy" gingham frocks tomorrow, Thursday, January 17.

A wonderful collection of these famous frocks has been secured by Mr. Gordon, and beginning with the opening of the store in the morning, a record crowd of shoppers is anticipated.

Amoskeag and Security gingham are the materials used in the dresses, in a host of colorings and patterns. Each one is daintily made in such a charming manner that it is hardly believable that you can buy them for so low a price as 97 cents!

A real interest attached to these frocks is that they are made right here in California, under the most sanitary conditions, a fact that will appeal to every Glendale woman quite as much as the goodness of materials and the unusual loveliness of price.

Further information as to sizes offered will be found today in the display advertising columns of The Glendale Evening News.

Lincolnesque Justice Too Good Film Actor

RENO, Nev., Jan. 16.—Justice of the Peace Charles E. Bull, who has impersonated Abraham Lincoln several times in Hollywood studios, today was notified by County Clerk Reemer that his appearance before the movie camera will be in the discretion of the county commissioners.

Reemer quoted from state statutes to the justice excerpts forbidding any city or county official to leave his county without first securing the approval of the county board.

The jurist bears a remarkable resemblance to the martyred president, and is in demand at studios filming historical scenarios.

Wild Life Hard Hit By Cold This Year

SALINAS, Jan. 16.—Cold weather has driven numerous lions, wildcats, coyotes and racoons out of the high mountains to the lower levels, with the result that ranchers are losing their live stock, as well as dogs, which the coyotes hunt to the death, according to R. C. Austin, rancher of Corral de Tierra.

The partially-consumed body of a fox that had been caught in a trap illustrates the grim struggle between wild life for existence at this season. With its forefeet locked in the steel jaws, the fox had fallen easy victim to a mountain lion.

Brakeman Falls to Death in First Trip

SONORA, Jan. 16.—Starting on his first trip as a brakeman on the Sierra railroad, Frank Moreno, fell from the top of a box car and was found dead near Carson Hill.

Moreno was misled by the train crew on reaching Melona. Search disclosed his body lying alongside the tracks.

MILK PUTS OUT FIRE

MIDDLEPORT, Ohio, Jan. 16.—A bucket of milk, thrown by a neighbor woman, put out the flames in the auto of Worthy Johnson, living near here. The fire started from a lighted lantern.

New Phone Books Will Be Issued Here This Week

Fred Deal, manager of the Glendale district, Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., announces that the January series of telephone books will be distributed here next week.

The large directories containing all numbers in Los Angeles county boast of a quarter million listings. Several new prefixes will be noted and numerous telephone numbers are changed.

Local directories are accorded all subscribers, while business houses and those telephone subscribers with sufficient toll calls to merit the placing of the larger books will get them, beginning Monday.

Wilson Ave. Students To Stage Big Show

One of the coming events at Wilson avenue school is the A-8 Variety Show, which will take place Wednesday, January 23, afternoon and evening. The three A-8 classes are offering the leading talent from their 90 odd members and gay scenery and costumes will be the smallest of the attractions.

Stanley Eckert and Robert Burns of the A-8-III class will be among the comedians. Susy Smith and Dorris Cole of the A-8-I class will do their share of the entertainment and a group of A-8-II girls under the direction of Mrs. Fern Fairy Lytle will produce a show and sing three-act comedy, "In Old Japan" will be a very picturesque pantomime produced by the A-8-III girls.

There will be a fancy "quartet" and many surprises. Mrs. Lytle, Miss Edith Tyler and Miss Margaret Sharpe, the classroom teachers of the graduating class, are helping to train the young performers.

Driver Escapes When Auto Is Overturned

Leonard Roe, aged 19, of 918 North Raymond street, Los Angeles, an employe of Hamburger's store, escaped death or serious injury by a miracle last night when the delivery car he was driving was struck by a machine traveling at a high rate of speed, without lights, at the corner of Cerritos avenue and South Brand boulevard.

Roe's car was thrown across the street and turned completely over. The other machine, as yet unidentified, did not stop. It is claimed that several witnesses to the accident have the license number, however.

The young man was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, but as he was not injured in any way outside of a few minor bruises, he proceeded at once to his home.

Accused of Swindling Number of Widows

DETROIT, Jan. 16.—"Major" Wellington N. Belfort, held in Oakland, Cal., on the charge of impersonating an army officer, is believed to be the man who operated here in 1921 as Martin L. Belfort, swindled prominent Detroiters of $50,000. It was revealed today, Belfort is accused of swindling a number of Detroit women, mostly widows, through his activities in 1921 as junior partner of a real estate firm. Mrs. Myrtle Harris, 34, a school teacher, admitted she had lost $5,000.

WINTER CARNIVAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Nobles of Islam Temple, Mystic Shrine, will hold their annual carnival at Truckee, leaving here January 18 and returning the following Monday morning. Two full days will be spent at the mountain resort, where a program of winter sports, including tobogganing and skating, has been arranged.

Pleads Not Guilty to Poisoning Two Persons

FRESNO, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Eliza Potegian, Fresno's alleged "modest" Borgia, has entered a plea of not guilty when charged with the murder of her husband, Setrak Potegian, who died last June. Mrs. Potegian is being held on two indictments for murder, one in connection with the death of her 18-year-old stepdaughter, Margaret Potegian, who died from poison taken in her food alleged to have been placed there by Mrs. Potegian and that of killing her husband by the same method.

A plea to transfer the case from the court of Superior Judge J. E. Woolley to some other department of the superior court was denied by Judge Woolley today.

August September Breaks Long Silence With Fling at Prof. Zantippe

By F. A. GRAHAM
OF THE EVENING NEWS STAFF.
TUJUNGA, Jan. 16.—Hon. August September, presidential candidate, nominated on the laundry ticket, today made his first public appearance since last year. He drove to the Tujunga city hall and was quickly surrounded by an enthusiastic crowd of commuters as he participated in the new organization.

This will affect Chatsworth, Zelzah, San Fernando, Pacoima, Roscoe and Tujunga. Meetings will be on the second Wednesday of each month. Permanent officers will be chosen at the February meeting.

It was decided last Thursday night to make permanent the North Side Improvement Association, the purpose being to bring before the Valley chambers of commerce the cities participating in the new organization.

There were eight judges of the Superior Court entertained as honored guests and speakers. In addition to Judge Shaw there were present Judges Cook, Burks, Guerin, Thompson, Hardy, Fleming and Archibald.

BURBANK MORELAND MAKES TWO-DECK BUSS

Capacity of 56 Passengers for Los Angeles Railway Motor Equipment

Of interest to all concerned in transportation, and that includes practically everyone, is the double-deck passenger bus turned out of the Moreland factory this week, said to be the first such ever built on the west coast.

The big bus will be tried out under all conditions, and if found satisfactory will be ordered in large numbers by the Los Angeles railways, under agreement made with the board of public utilities last May.

These busses will cost about $12,000 each, according to F. Van Vranken of the bus company, and are said by him to be patterned closely along the lines of those used in eastern cities, with several improvements.

They provide for the seating of fifty-six passengers, twenty-three below and thirty-three above, and require an operator and conductor to man them.

$50,000 Deal Consummated
J. S. King, a well-known Burbank real estate man, has become the owner of the W. F. Craig block of twenty-nine lots located at the corner of Palm avenue and Tenth street, the deal being made this week through the agency of S. W. Daniels.

The lots are considered to be located in one of the best residence districts, and the buyer states that he will at once commence construction of a number of high-class houses.

Mr. King is an extensive builder, having to his credit such structures as the court on Orange Grove avenue near the Pacific Electric depot.

The patent office at Washington has granted M. E. Bailey of 225 West Fifth street a patent on a tool which he has invented for use on Ford cars, said tool being for the purpose of holding the springs, pedals and washers in place while repairing the transmission cover.

SUMMON POLICE IN FRAUD TRIAL

Chief Fraser and Lieut. Royle Called as Witnesses in L. A. Court

Chief of Police John D. Fraser and Lieutenant W. J. Royle have been summoned to appear in Department 17 of the superior court, Los Angeles, today, as the chief witnesses for the prosecution in the cases of L. D. Bradley, alias D. Gordon E. Re Vley, and A. L. Atkins, alias J. D. Mitchell, charged with trickery and device and obtaining money under false pretenses.

On October 19, it is claimed, the police were informed that the two men had fleeced Mrs. Olive A. Stowe of 452 Pioneer Drive of $350. On investigation the police found that the defendants had an appointment with Mrs. Mary T. Arfwedson, 434 West Harvard street. In company with their informant they proceeded to Mrs. Arfwedson's home and awaited the alleged "bunco" men.

Names Are "Shady" They claimed, it is alleged, that on behalf of J. E. Barrett & Company, of San Francisco, they were buying up worthless oil stock, and for a cash bonus would liquidate the oil stock for three shares of Edison concrete stock, worth $1,000 per share.

They pleaded not guilty at their preliminary hearing. When confronted with the fact that no such San Francisco firm as J. E. Barrett & Company could be located they stated that they had met the man in the lobby of a hotel in Los Angeles.

Famous Cat Show Judge, Here From East, Describes Methods to Pick Winners

Miss Ethel R. B. Champion, well known English and American cat judge, who was brought from New York by the Glendale Cat club to select the winners in the local Cat Show now in progress at Hahn's auditorium, 109 North Brand boulevard, is herself a noted cat fancier, and has many feline champions.

Her Sunset Inevitable, a beautiful cream Persian, was adjudged second best cat in the New York show held just last December and has to his credit best cat in more than one show. Another of her noted long hair creams is Sunset Top Notch, while Argent Murrury, a gorgeous long hair silver, has distinguished himself in many shows.

Called Education Miss Champion thinks cat shows do a great deal of good in educating the public to a better appreciation of the well known household pet. She states that in the recent New York show a number of cats were exhibited by children of the slums, some of them winning prizes.

From a humane point of view also, she believes that cat shows accomplish a real mission, teaching care and gentleness to these animals as opposed to neglect and cruelty. It is because this is so that the Glendale Humane society, whose president is Edwin Kulp, is offering a silver cup to the cat voted the most popular in the current show.

While personally partial to the long hair cats, Miss Champion points out that the short hair varieties are very popular in England, far more so than in this country, and that the Siamese is a great favorite. The short hairs are judged for big heads, big eyes and fine, cobby fur. The long hairs are judged for short tails, short and thick legs, small ears and round eyes set straight in the head.

Points in Judging In general, she states, cats are judged 25 per cent for head shape, 25 per cent for color, 20 per cent for type, 20 per cent for coat and condition, and 10 per cent for eye color, a total of 100 per cent, which has never been attained by any cat, although many American champions rank exceedingly high and careful breeding is constantly raising the standards.

Of late years, states Miss Champion, cat shows are getting a better "gate" or attendance, as the public gradually comes to appreciate the difference between plain street cats and the beautiful and high bred varieties possible to obtain.

"I had no idea there were such cats in the world" is a common exclamation heard by cat fanciers from those who for the first time visit a cat show, which, Miss Champion feels, is a liberal education for anyone. In order that those who visit the Glendale Cat Show may have a further inducement, Mrs. Libbie W. Ashcroft, president of the local club, has arranged that every admission ticket issued bears a number, and the holder of the lucky number will receive a beautiful Persian kitten.

Glendale Impresses Miss Champion has never been in California before and is much impressed with the progressive nature of Glendale, which is now holding a larger cat show than the one held in Los Angeles last week, a show that compares favorably with the New York, Chicago and other eastern shows.

It was in Chicago, she adds, that the first cat club in America was founded. Mrs. Clinton of the Grace church, being the guiding spirit back of the movement. Today there are cat clubs in practically every city in the country and the larger cities have several, while shows by the scores are given yearly and cat breeding

ART DOMINATING NOTE AT MEETING

Clubwomen View Exhibit of Paintings From Brush of Noted Artist

Yesterday night well have been called "Art Day" at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, for, from the morning meeting of the Fine Arts Section, of which Mrs. Roy Ballagh is curator, to the final number of the club's entertainment program in the afternoon, art was the dominant note in the harmonious events of the day.

"Art Day" was the presence of Mrs. E. E. Leighton, Los Angeles artist and chairman of art for the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's clubs, and an exhibit of beautiful oil paintings done by Mrs. Leighton and hung in the banquet hall.

"Art is the solution of the jazzed world and the hope of civilization today. There is no better art being produced than that by American artists," was the declaration of Mrs. Leighton when she spoke at the club luncheon hour. She paid high compliment to the club women on their artistic club home, which she called an ideal place for exhibiting pictures.

Speaking further, she stressed the importance of every walk of life and complimented Glendale for her interest in the development of civic art.

As chairman of art for the Los Angeles district Mrs. Leighton is really achieving results and yesterday she told of her desire that every club in the district make a portfolio collection of reproductions of work by California artists.

Praise for Mrs. Ballagh Special mention should be made of the compliment paid Mrs. Ballagh, curator of the fine arts section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club. This compliment was voted by Mrs. Daniel Campbell, club president, and heartily applauded by Mrs. Leighton and other club women present. Much praise is due Mrs. Ballagh for the art exhibits arranged in the banquet hall of the clubhouse each month.

Rev. E. Burdett Backus, pastor of the Los Angeles Unitarian church, was another special guest and speaker at the luncheon. He spoke on "Mental Hygiene," outlining the aims and plans of the clinic recently located in Los Angeles.

During the luncheon hour Mrs. J. Arthur Myers led community singing, and Alexander Mitchell at the piano.

Later in the afternoon a short business meeting of the club and the entertainment program were enjoyed in the auditorium.

Mrs. Campbell was in charge of the meeting hour, during which announcements of interest to club members were made.

Plans are now being drawn for another modern style building with a forty-foot front, to be erected just west of the larger building and to front on Los Feliz, Mr. Jefferson said.

B. M. Billings Secures Big Trophy at Show

B. M. Billings, 721 South Brand boulevard, breeder of fancy Single Comb Rhode Island Red chickens, gained further honors for Glendale last week when his birds captured first prize at the Los Angeles Fanciers' show, and walked off with a mammoth cup presented to the winner in this class by the Security Trust & Savings bank.

The cup, which now adorns Mr. Billings' dining table, is over two feet high, and twelve inches across. It stands on a beautiful ebony base. The cup must be won three times by an exhibitor before it is his permanent property.

In addition to this latest win, Mr. Billings has numerous smaller cups. He won at poultry shows throughout southern California, and his fame as a successful chicken fancier, as well as that of Glendale, is radiating through a broader territory each successive year.

The cup was presented to Mr. Billings by Agnes Ayres, movie star.

Spanish Classes at Night School Popular

No less than thirty-four new pupils registered Monday for the Spanish classes in the Glendale Union Evening High school, according to A. L. Ferguson, principal.

To accommodate these new pupils a new class has been organized and a rush order has been sent out for text books. Mr. Ferguson further states that if anyone who enrolled in the Spanish class last September was for any reason unable to continue the studies, they are at liberty to join this beginners' class.

The classes meet as follows: beginners, Mondays and Wednesdays, 7 to 8 o'clock, and the intermediate, on the same evenings, from 8 to 9 o'clock. The tuition is free and the classes will continue until June.

HUGE MOTOR BUS ERECTED IN CITY

Local Plant Makes Largest Single Decker Put Out on Pacific Coast

The largest single-deck motor bus yet designed and manufactured on the Pacific coast is being built in the plant of the Porter Sales & Engineering Corporation, 5397 San Fernando boulevard. It is known as a street car bus and has a body twenty-six feet long, capable of seating thirty-three people and carrying an additional thirty standing. It is being built for a Los Angeles transportation company.

Since the Porter Sales & Engineering Corporation started two years ago manufacturing buses under the ownership and management of G. E. Porter, it has accomplished a great deal of experimental work, has assembled a corps of highly trained special mechanics and a large amount of needed equipment, besides building eighteen buses and taking orders for seven more. When construction on this new order is well under way the company will be employing thirty-five skilled men. At present a crew of about a dozen is working on three buses which are near completion.

Build Quiet Bodies The buses are made upon designs and patents perfected by Mr. Porter and his assistants. Their ideal has been from the first to eliminate the noise and build quiet bodies, an aim all bus patrons can appreciate. They have sought to achieve quality rather than cheapness, and as a result have already acquired a reputation for substantial workmanship in their product.

A bus that runs, as many of them do, steadily eighteen hours a day, carrying loads up to five tons over varying kinds of pavement, simply must be well made to stand the work, according to Mr. Porter. The name "Sierra" is cast on the radiators of the buses made in the Glendale plant. The complete build the bodies complete from the raw material, including the lumber, builds and upholsters the seats, machines a great deal of the chassis and assembles all of it, and practically makes everything except the motor, which is a specially designed bus motor bought from a firm in Illinois.

Demand Is Great Motor buses of the large size sell for about $8,000. Approximately half of this value is in the chassis and the rest in the body. There are only three plants engaged in the manufacturing of buses on the Pacific coast, according to Mr. Porter. Besides his plant, there is the Moreland establishment at Burbank and the Fageol company at Oakland.

The demand for buses is increasing so rapidly that all of the companies are working at capacity. Mr. Porter said that he could easily take orders for 100 buses, approximately $700,000 worth of business, if he had the floor space and equipment for taking care of such a production. As it is, he has thus far let the business build up from his former home in San Jose, in building 60 by 100, on a two-acre industrial site purchased when he started operations.

Two new buses completed by the Glendale company were shown in the recent parade celebrating Glendale's $10,000,000 building permit record.

Standard's Employees Form Social Club

Employees of the Standard Oil Company living in Glendale have organized for social and improvement purposes under the name "Glen-Soc Club." The first syllable of the name stands for Glendale and the three letters in the last half stand for Standard Oil Employees.

There are fifty-five employees of the company eligible for membership. They met for the first time at 233 North Brand boulevard last Friday night. An interesting program, a business meeting and a dance were features of the evening.

The club perfected an organization with L. E. Ketchum as president and Speed Phelps as secretary. The plan is to hold meetings at call of the president about once each month.

Oil Official Moves Family to Glendale

E. R. Sturtevant, assistant district sales manager for the Standard Oil Company in the district of Southern California, has selected Glendale as being most centrally located in his territory for a place of residence, and has moved here from his former home in San Jose, accompanied by his wife and 9-year-old daughter. The family is living at 1327 North Maryland avenue.

Paving of Railroad Avenue Is Completed

The paving of Railroad avenue from Los Feliz boulevard south 700 feet toward the new Southern Pacific station, has been completed. The surface is concrete, and several days will be given it to set before the street is opened to traffic. The work was done by W. J. Curren, paving contractor, of Glendale.

Dr. Neil Rudy Tells About Poverty and Wonders Found In Visit to Oriental Lands

Dr. Neil Rudy greatly interested members of the Glendale Exchange club at their luncheon yesterday noon at Jensen's Egyptian Village, 133 North Brand boulevard, with an account of the two years' journey around the world from which he has just returned with his sister, Mrs. Mary N. McEnany of Glendale.

Dr. Rudy told of the pitiable drudgery endured by the masses of the people in Oriental countries in order to eke out a wretched existence. At a Japanese port, he said, their vessel was coaled by women, while all over Japan men were used in place of horses and other beasts of burden, for drawing heavy loads.

Much Poverty There Fifth, said Dr. Rudy, was the outstanding feature of China, particularly in the ancient cities such as Canton, where the sewage runs down the middle of the streets and the stench is almost unbearable. Hong Kong, he pointed out, being more modern city and under British control was far more up to date in its sanitation.

Poverty was so desperate, the doctor said, that the eating of dogs, cats and dried snakes was a common practice. In India, conditions are pictured by Dr. Rudy as even more desperate, religious fanaticism being the cause of their degradation, induced by helplessness of ever attaining happiness on this earth. He pictured how they came by the thousands to bathe in the sacred waters of the Ganges, and how many purposely waded out beyond their depth and drowned themselves, hoping thus to find eternal bliss.

'Selfish Old Kings' Amid such grim wretchedness, degraded temples, Doctor and photographers of these and other architectural marvels were passed around the room. Among the pictures shown to members of the Exchange club was one of the great temples at Agra were described by the Doctor and photographers of these and other architectural marvels were passed around the room. SCHEDULE SHOWS TRUCK LICENSES

Commercial Motor Vehicles to Pay Additional Fee Based on Weight

Regulations governing the registration of trucks, trailers and motor vehicles used for commercial purposes in California were announced today by Will H. Marsh, chief of the Division of Motor Vehicles. Registration of such motor vehicles for the new year began Monday, January 14, and was simultaneous with the opening date of registrations for pleasure cars.

Owners of vehicles used for the transportation of passengers for hire or of property must first secure a weight certificate from a public weigher showing the unladen weight of the vehicle equipped for service or present a sworn affidavit showing the unladen weight, it was stated. This certificate must be presented at any of the branches of the division located at Oakland, San Francisco, Fresno, Los Angeles and San Diego. Mail applications will be handled by the Sacramento office only. The weight certificate must show whether the vehicle is equipped with solid or pneumatic tires.

Schedule of Charges In addition to the flat fee of $3, owners of such vehicles must pay an additional fee based on the weight and type of tires. The following schedules are provided in the new California Motor Vehicle act:

Solid Tires—Unladen Weight Under 3,000 pounds.....$10 3,000 to 5,999 pounds.....$15 6,000 to 9,999 pounds.....$20 10,000 or more pounds.....$30

Pneumatic Tires—Unladen Weight Under 3,000 pounds.....$5 3,000 to 5,999 pounds.....$10 6,000 to 9,999 pounds.....$15 10,000 or more pounds.....$20

As an example it was pointed out by Marsh that a commercial vehicle equipped with solid tires and with an unladen weight of 4,200 pounds would take a fee of $23, including the $3 flat fee, while the same vehicle equipped with pneumatic tires would take a fee of $13. Fees for vehicles equipped with cushion tires and with an unladen weight of less than 3,000 pounds shall be based on the pneumatic tire table, it was stated. If the unladen weight of such vehicles is more than 3,000 pounds the fee will be based on the solid tire table, Marsh said.

All applications for new registrations must be accompanied by the old certificate.

COMMUNITY SING PLANS COMPLETE

Noted Baritone Soloist Will Render Several Solos Tomorrow Night

Arrangements are completed for the community sing at the old high school auditorium Thursday night of this week, under the auspices of Glendale Community Service, according to V. M. Hollister, chairman of the music committee of Community Service.

In addition to the community singing an unusually fine feature has been added to the program in the person of W. R. Gulberson, baritone soloist. A prominent and successful business man of Los Angeles, Mr. Gulberson is also an artist-singer whose ability and reputation have earned for him a place in the front ranks of local singers. He has appeared successfully in local productions as well as on concert, and one of his latest successes was as soloist in the recent production of "The Wayfarer" at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Mr. Gulberson is also a prominent Rotarian and a member of the Los Angeles Rotary Club, among whom he is popularly known as "Dick." A large delegation from the Glendale Rotary Club is expected to attend the community sing both to greet Mr. Gulberson as well as Alexander Stewart, the medical director, who is also a Rotarian.

Promises New Songs Mr. Stewart, the director, promises to introduce some new songs as well as many of the old songs at these sings. Familiar opera choruses as well as other choral selections of a not too difficult character will be used. In this connection Mr. Stewart says: "It has been found that the people who attend these community sings gradually develop a desire to sing more pretentious music than the more simple familiar songs. Community leaders, therefore, while not neglecting the familiar songs, are gradually introducing simple four-part choruses along with the other selections. Care must be taken, however, not to use too difficult numbers so that those of modest ability in singing or reading music may not become discouraged."

Mr. Hollister says that these meetings are not only to be for singing but that various get-acquainted features will be introduced. The general public is invited and there will be no admission charge. These sings are to be conducted every two weeks, beginning at 7:45 o'clock this coming Thursday night.

Search for Location Brings Couple Here

A period of two months spent by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jefferson in driving from town to town in Southern California, looking for what they considered the "best place of all to settle down, eeded, as of course it must inevitably have done, in the selection of Glendale. The couple recently came here to make their home permanently. They are living at 371 Pioneer drive, and Mr. Jefferson is employed at the New England Furniture Company, 231 South Brand boulevard.

For the past two years before coming to California he and his wife were residents of Minneapolis, and he was proprietor of the Unique Furniture Company, 703 West Lake street, in that city.

TEACHERS HONOR PRINCIPAL MOYSE

Glendale Educator Named As Delegate to Council By Associates

George U. Moyses, principal of the Glendale Union High school, and one of the best known men in the educational field of Southern California, has again been signally honored.

At a meeting of the members of the California State Teachers' Association, held in Los Angeles, he was elected as a delegate to the southern council. Later at a meeting of these delegates he was selected to represent the southern section at the meeting of the state educators. Mr. Moyses is one of the oldest principals, in point of service, in California, and is highly regarded by all school officials.

In a redistricting of the southern part of the state, Glendale Union High school was made a separate institute district, and will be entitled to two representatives at the southern council. Mr. Moyses and George Lockwood were selected to represent the new unit, the former from the administration and the latter from the secondary organization.

Two days of the fall teachers' institute will again be held in Glendale this year, with the remaining three in Los Angeles. It is probable, says Mr. Moyses, that the high school and the city schools will join hands in putting on a splendid program for these two days.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

DISTRIBUTION OF FOUNDATION REDUCING DIET AND WEIGHING

Monday and Tuesday I told you what you should have for a daily foundation reducing diet. I will review it briefly, for it is important: 150 to 200 C. of vegetables, part raw; 200 C. of fruit, part raw; 160 C. of skim or butter-milk, or cottage cheese; 200 C. of potato or wholewheat bread, or cereals or some other starchy food; 100 C. of butter; and 150 C. of high protein food. This comes approximately to 1000 C. daily.

The reason I ask you to have 1000 C. of these foods is because they will supply the necessary vitamins, mineral elements, protein, and part of the carbohydrates. All of these are highly essential. This amount of food, however, is not sufficient to supply all of your energy needs, so your own excess fat will be called upon to do that work.

You can have each day 200 to 250 C. more than I have outlined, and still be on the 1200 C. which will reduce almost any adult from one to two pounds a week. Let me emphasize again that a reducing diet (except for a short period) must be one which supplies all the needs of the system except part of the energy needs.

The eat-and-grow-thin menus written by laymen who know nothing of dietetics, which tell you to cut out of your diet all fats and all starches, thus making an excessively high protein diet, will bring on a state of acidosis which may be worse than the original condition of overweight.

Now today I want to talk a little bit about the distribution of your calories. You can take them during the day in any manner which you find most convenient. Take them all in one meal if you like, and drink nothing but water the rest of the day; or take them in two meals, or take them in five meals. I have had thousands of letters from the followers of our articles on reducing, and many of them say that they find they get along best on a late breakfast of about 400 C. and a dinner at night of the balance of the 1200 C.

Personally, I like best to have 100 C. for breakfast, 350 C. for lunch, 100 C. at tea time, and 50 C. for dinner in the evening. If, however, I am invited to a luncheon I take my 100 C. for breakfast—which consists of a cup of coffee with 100 C. of cream and sugar (1-3-c. oz. heavy cream is 100 C.); three cubes of sugar are 100 C.; or a cup of clear coffee with 100 C. of coffee cake—and then I have 600 or 800 C. for lunch, and the balance, usually of fruit, for my evening meal.

A very satisfactory lunch is a glass of milk (150 C.), a slice of whole wheat bread, one-half inch thick, or a shredded wheat biscuit (100 C.), and a big apple (100 C.). This totals 350 C. A pint of milk (320 C.) also makes a very satisfactory lunch. Another one is a large salad—one-half pound of any greens (50 C.) with a rounding tablespoonful of mayonnaise (100 C.)—a heaping tablespoonful of cottage cheese (50 C.), and a slice of whole wheat bread (100 C.).

If it is not convenient for you to get these things, you can nearly always get fruit for lunch. At tea time, if you are not hungry, you can save your 100 C. for dinner. Sometimes a big glass of water will satisfy the hunger contractions. (Hunger is supposed to be caused by the contractions of the empty stomach.) Sometimes a tiny bit of lemon or orange peel or a clove will have the same effect. It is best to take a liberal supply of water while reducing.

Weighing Time
Once or twice a week is often enough to weigh unless you have a bath room scale. There is a varying retention of water in the system, and sometimes—especially if you have eaten anything salty—a greater weight of water will be retained than the weight of fat you have lost, and the scales will register higher than the day previous, even though you have actually lost fat. By weighing once a week, your accumulated loss of fat during the week will be greater than a daily retention of water. Therefore, if your diet is a reducing diet your scales will register a weekly loss.

Weigh at the same time and in the same weight clothing, and try to have approximately the same type of food at the same hours the day of weighing, and the day previous. Better not average more than two pounds a week loss after the first week.

Tomorrow—Mechanical Exercise
My Dear Followers—When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of the paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to dispense for 200 or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

The housekeeper who has young daughters should own a chafing dish. There is no prettier sight than a young girl in a frilly chafing-dish apron, presiding over the supper table on Sunday night, skillfully concocting some delicious dish such as the following:
Chicken a la King: Have on the chafing dish tray three cups of cold cooked and diced chicken (or the canned variety will do as well), one cup of canned mushrooms, one-half large green sweet pepper which has been boiled in salted water (seeds removed) for ten minutes then drained and finely chopped, two cups of rich, sweet top milk, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one-half teaspoon each of salt and paprika, one-half teaspoon of orange juice, three eggyolks, a pinch of grated nutmeg, butter, and one tablespoon of lemon juice. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in the upper part of the chafing dish over direct heat, and when melted add the flour, salt, mushrooms, and chopped pepper and let cook for five minutes, stirring constantly. Then add the top milk slowly and let bubble up. Now set the pan over the under pan (which is filled with boiling water) and add the chicken to the mixture. Cover and let cook for six minutes. In the meantime, cream one tablespoon of extra butter, beat into it the egg yolks, add the fruit juices, paprika and nutmeg, then, at the end of six minutes, add this mixture to the chicken mixture in the pan. When very hot, again, serve on toast.

About one large spoonful on two toast-triangles for a portion.) Tongue Celestial: Either cold boiled freshly cooked, or the canned variety may be used. Cut it in slices, season with salt and pepper, dip the slices in a beaten raw egg and try in the lower part of the chafing dish (without water) in four tablespoonfuls of butter. When nicely fried, distribute the slices on the serving plates (of course you have fried enough slices to serve each guest generously). Now set the under-pan aside and use the upper-pan as follows: Melt four more tablespoonfuls of butter, add three tablespoonfuls of flour to it, blend well, then add one can of tomatoes, two slices of raw onion finely chopped, one teaspoon of sugar, salt and pepper to suit taste, and a pinch of paprika. Let cook five minutes, then turn it over the cooked tongue on the plates. Serve at once.

Eggs a la Newburg: Have on the tray six or eight hard-boiled eggs, sliced, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of flour, one cup of top-milk, two raw (extra) eggs, salt and pepper. Melt the butter in the chafing dish over hot water, add the cream and flour, and when smooth, add the sliced hard-boiled eggs. When very hot, add the beaten raw eggs slowly, then season to taste and serve on buttered toast.

PICTORIAL REVIEW

DISTINCTIVELY MODELED

There is unmistakable style in this frock of navy Poiret twill, with the Oriental interest supplied by a trimming of silk braid in Egyptian colors. The dress fastens at one side, the waist blousing slightly over a narrow belt of self-material. The sleeves are finished with bands of the braid and may be worn either long or short. This is a lovely model for the soft silks, crepes and satins. Medium size requires 3 3/4 yards 36-inch material and 3 3/4 yards of braid.
Pictorial Review Dress No. 1397. Sizes, 34 to 48 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

A LITTLE DINNER FROCK

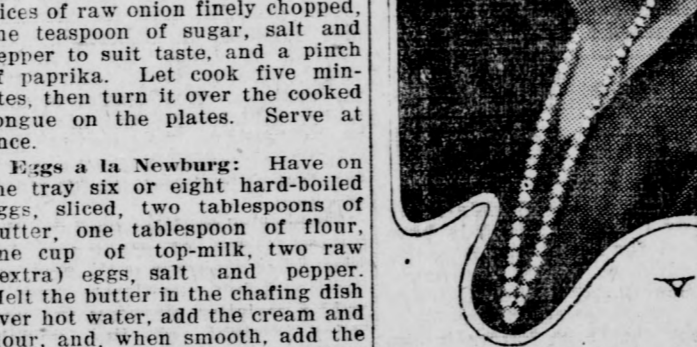

Lovely in wistaria Georgette is this little frock, with a deep purple flower at one side of the soft, fasten at one side. The closing is on the left shoulder and under the left arm, the short kimono sleeves being so designed that they may be lengthened with deep cuffs if desired. Draped over the skirt is a gathered tunic that falls in a deep point at one side. Medium size requires 6 3/4 yards 36-inch material.

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

BEFORE YOU GO MOTORING
A great many women who spend most of their time in office work have to make up for their lack of fresh air during the brief Saturday afternoon and Sunday holiday. A great many of them seem to do it by rushing about the country on a side car or in an open automobile. It is splendid for the lungs, but sometimes rather hard upon the complexion.

If you fortify the skin beforehand it will not suffer and you will not have to spend a large part of your week-day evenings in trying to make a chapped skin smooth. Wear a hat, if possible, and if it is very cold or windy choose a heavy chiffon or gauze veil instead of an open mesh one. If the day is very windy put on glasses or goggles. A lot of girls will protest that it's no fun motoring with so much armor plate on, and you need not do it unless you know that your eyes will become red and swollen from dust and your skin dry and chapped.

Before going out rub a good cold cream into the skin and wipe off with a cloth wrung out of warm water, then rinse with cold water, dry the skin and powder. The cream will not work out while you are driving, though it may as soon as you go into a warm room. When you do, simply wipe off the face with a handkerchief and rub well with a little powder. You have probably often had experience driving in the cold air and have dreaded stopping off at a hotel for refreshments, knowing the heat would make your skin ugly and your nose red. Try this cold cream treatment and see how much better you will look.

There is nothing better for the hands, both before and after motoring, than the honey-almond lotion, or else glycerine and rose-water. Vanishing cream may be used under powder before going out, unless these long rides are taken every day. Too much vanishing cream is not good for the skin.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

EXTREMES

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am very unhappy because my husband no longer seems to care as much for me as he did. Before we were married everything I did was just right, but now nothing I do is right. We have only been married a year and if things go on this way I am afraid we will be very unhappy by the time another year passes.

My husband does not make a great deal of money, but I don't care because I think two people can be just as happy on a little as they can on a great deal. I also think that if people are careful they can save money out of a little as well as out of a great deal.

Every week since our marriage I have put away 50 cents or more. Usually I am able to save more, but sometimes we have had sickness or other bills which have taken our money. The worst of it is that my husband is not sympathetic with my saving. He insists on smoking cigarettes and he rides to work when there is no reason why he should not start out earlier and save carfare.

Lately my husband has been complaining to me because my clothes are shabby. I have told him that if he spent less money on cigarettes and car fare I would have more to dress on, but we cannot both be extravagant. I have not had any new clothing since we have been married and I really needed a winter coat very badly. My husband bought himself a new suit and was very angry when I said I thought he could get along without it. He seems to think that a man needs clothes instead of brains in business.

When I said I had to go without a coat he told me to draw some of my "wealth" and this hurts me very much because I am only saving for the good of both of us.

It seems to me I cannot stand this unhappiness which is caused because of money. I am doing the very best I can and it hurts me not to have my husband help too.

WORRIED WIFE.

You are one extreme in regard to money and your husband is another. It is evident that he thinks life is too short to deny oneself of comforts and he does not enjoy your spirit of saving any more than you do his extravagance. I really think you talk too much to him about saving. Probably if you had a budget system you would get along better. You have not said whether or not you are given an allowance to manage the house, for clothes and other expenses. It would be a very good plan and perhaps your husband can be made to see the wisdom of such an arrangement. Out of the money he gives you you could meet expenses and save a definite amount, say one dollar a week. You ought to manage to have good clothing, because it is so necessary to keep the love and respect of a husband like yours. Your husband should have perfect freedom with his share of the money he earns. Since in-harmony is caused by discussing finances, the subject should be dropped between you.

Dinner Stories

Three cattlemen from near Dodge City, Kan., each shipped a car of cattle to the Kansas City market by the same freight, Judge relates.
Arriving safely and unloading at the stockyard, they bet on the weight of the cattle, the loser being elected to set up a $5 apiece breakfast.
They registered at the Blossom House; this episode occurring in the day when that hostelry was in its prime.
The next morning the trio duly assembled.
The loser of the bet signaled for each man to give his order.

SPORTS

FUR TO FLY IN P. O. L. THIS YEAR

Now That Draft Row is Over Seals May Find Some Speedy Competition

By COPELAND S. BURG
For International News Service.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—
Fur will soon be flying in the Pacific Coast League.

If the San Francisco Seals, who romped to victory last season, repeat this year, look out! More fur will fly than Hudson Bay ever saw.

Should the Seals climb up on the pennant-winning rocks early in the season and bask there all summer, what a howl the fans will raise. The hue and cry will be heard from Vernon to Puget Sound.

Quite a few owners of clubs in the league said last season the reason they caught "the Seals' dust" was that they weren't permitted to take players from the majors. But now the draft fight is settled and the fans are sobbing for action.

Harmony in League
Harmony prevails between the majors and the minors. But are the coast league clubs getting any new players? "It's said not so one could notice it. The season opens in April, leaving only a short time for obtaining new material.

At this time last year ball players were not to be had for money with a lot of love thrown in. Now the woods are full; they are almost a drug on the market. Pacific coast club owners, needing material, can't alibi now that players are not to be had. Their name is Legion, as offers to the owners evidence.

Tilly Walker, the outfielder turned loose by Connie Mack, nearly caused Oscar Reichow of the Angels to fall over in a faint the other day, when he submitted his terms. "He must think we're the bloomin' Bank of England," Walker would, no doubt, be taken by the Seals except for the fact that the San Francisco club is well supplied with outfielders.

Paul Carter, right-handed hurler, of late with the Cubs and last season with Kansas City, has been offered coast clubs. So have Walter Barbara, former manager, and Lee Dempsey, first baseman, formerly with Victoria. They were with Toledo last year. Barbara is a good ball player.

Charles Hall, former Seattle pitcher, will again hurl on the coast. Waivers have been obtained on him by the St. Paul club and he will be traded to Sacramento for Paul Fittery, a southpaw. This is Hall's third start on the coast. First he was with Seattle, then he went to the Boston Red Sox, and finally played with Los Angeles and St. Paul.

"Shovel" Hodge, pitcher, has signed a 1924 Seal contract. He won eighteen games last season.

ODE TO JAWN M'GRAW
The Master Mind sailed o'er the sea,
On a scouting trip, perchance;
But back came he to this cuntree,
With many a sour glance.
Since wherefor sailed he o'er the blue,
If not for observations?
And not a southpaw heaved in view
In the drafted League of Nations.

Wanted—A Second Baseman
Full many a ball club, potentially a champion, has been thwarted, intercepted and otherwise made null by weakness in one position out of a possible nine. Years ago the Pittsburgh Pirates traded Kitty Bransfield, first baseman, to the Phillies in a weak moment, and not until they bobbed up with Charley Grimm, the present incumbent, did they have a major leaguer covering the bag.

This slight detail represented the difference between what had been a chronic contender and what became a chronic also ran. Today the Detroit Tigers, always a group of enthusiastic hitters, have contrived to assemble some modicum of pitching strength for the first time in many years. And now they need a second baseman. The Tigers haven't had an acceptable man at the bag since Pep Young broke down several years ago, and they will not go anywhere until they get one.

The New York State Athletic Commission may be a terrible thing, as alleged, but it has its moments. Recently it denied Tex Rickard a license to promote wrestling.

BIG LEAGUE MANAGERS—GEORGE SISLER

By Dick Dorgan

Another great ballplayer to accept the responsibilities of managing a team is George Sisler, the famous first sacker of the Browns, who will try a come-back as their leader next year.

George is probably the finest all-round man in the game today—or, for that matter, of all time. He can play any position to perfection and has all the requirements of a top notch pitcher in the bargain. In 1922, the American League offered a trophy to the man who was of most service to his team. The committee voted for Sisler with twice the number of votes it gave his nearest competitor. "Sis" socked the old apple for a 420 clip that year and kept the St. Louis team up to within one game of the pennant.

Sisler's eyesight went back on him during the latter part of the season, which forced him to wear "cheaters" and to retire from the game right at the zenith of his career. With the loss of Sisler, the Browns fared badly in 1923, but are filled with great hopes now with his possible return to the fold. The doctors agree that he may resume his old position at the initial corner if he wears the specs till late spring.

George is mighty popular throughout the league and is a great favorite in the Mound City, where the fans are all pulling strong for him. He will be the third playing manager in the league, the other two being Tris Speaker of Cleveland and Ty Cobb of Detroit.

Dartmouth-Syracuse Track Meet May 10

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Syracuse university's track team will meet the Dartmouth team at Hanover, N. H., on May 10 and will also be sent on a southern trip, Manager Ronald Adams announced. The scheduled meet will comprise all outdoor track and field events.

This year's chart, both indoor and out, will be bigger than last year, Manager Adams said. The headline events of the indoor season will be the Millrose A. C. games at New York January 29 and 30; the Boston A. A. games at the Hub February 3, and the intercollegiate at New York near the end of the indoor season. Several dual meets are also being secured, for this winter and for the spring. One of them will be the annual meet with Colgate. Negotiations with other prospective opponents are still in an embryonic but promising stage.

provided he abandons the buck and wing complex.

The Old Army Game
According to present advices West Point football is to be featured in 1924 by the activities of Pfann, of Cornell; Wilson, of Penn State; Welch, of Colgate, and Goldstein, of Florida, among others. This is fine business for Army football, but not altogether pleasing news to the Army's opponents. It smacks just a bit of commercialism.

West Point, of course, draws many of its students from the colleges. The point here, however, is that all four of the players mentioned are All-American calibre, indicating that their probable acquisition is not altogether a matter of chance. Incidentally, if they behave themselves, they will play four additional years of college football against men far less mature and experienced.

Rumors, Denials, Alibis

By F. A. GRAHAM

Now comes the rumor that Southern California is to have a junior coast league with a class C or D rating, in which Glendale and other nearby towns will be represented. This is not a new league star, playing here in the rounds, off and on, for some time, but perhaps only those with an ear close to the horseshoe have heard it. The plan has been discussed at various gatherings of baseball men and is known to be favored by many of the big men of the Pacific Coast League.

Making predictions is one of the grand indoor sports, albeit a somewhat dangerous and entirely thankless one. But just by the way of recalling something in the way of a prediction the following, taken from an article printed in this column on November 16, last, is quoted: "The Southern California Baseball Managers' Association is a fertile field of young talent and has assumed the rightful place as an important factor in both the development of youngsters and as a source of supply for major and minor league clubs. Past accomplishments of the association and the possibilities within its scope make it safe to predict that a junior coast league circuit, with Glendale and other cities of similar size and enterprise represented, will be established as a permanent fixture in the baseball world before Mayor Robinson can grow a new thatch."

New League Remote
The facetious reference to a time limit named in the foregoing was, it is admitted, somewhat obscure. What the writer really had in mind at the time was that the junior circuit would probably be formed about next year, 1925. Recent developments tend to make even that time somewhat remote. Present indications are that an infant league will be on tap this year if the plans of those interested go through. But whether or not the organization is completed this year, the result will be the same. The abundant baseball talent that flourishes in and around Los Angeles demands action, and as the quality increases so will the demand for organized play in the semi-professional ranks. A junior league in these parts is a certainty and it is booked for the near future.

That prediction is not the result of an overdose of aspirin, but the logical conclusion that must be reached by anyone who has followed baseball in these parts. Southern California is baseball's ideal parking place. The present winter season is a good example. Only once have games in the winter league been postponed on account of rain, and on that occasion two teams did manage to play their game. The game flourishes here the year 'round. It is growing bigger and bigger and can no more be denied than a woman when she makes up her mind to have a new bonnet.

There are men, or boys, playing in the semi-professional ranks under the banner of the Southern California Managers' Association who can make some of the big leaguers step. Most of them will never see the big show, but they are too good to let their talent rust unused. A good team would be an asset to Glendale, but let them be youngsters. The young player going up will give the fans more than the seasoned vet coming back. A young player who has not had his chance in the big tent is anxious to put all he has in his play and then a little more. The man who has been up is not so enthusiastic. To him it is all in the day's work and he does not feel the incentive that the young, untried player does. Even big league stars, playing here in the off season, will not extend themselves to make plays that a "going up" man will. This has been proved. Teams of stars have been made to look almost ridiculous by a team of aggressive young bloods who have yet to make their marks, simply because the "goer-up" is striving for something he has not yet attained and the established player doesn't feel the necessity for striving for something he already has, like running for a street car after it has been caught.

ATHLETES RALLY TO SAVE BOXING

National Sports Alliance to Align Strong Support in Many Quarters

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Realizing the life of legalized boxing soon may be burning low at Albany, the National Sports Alliance is about to institute a membership drive with the idea of swinging varied influence into line behind the movement to offset the efforts of the reformers. The alliance originally was conceived as an association of "boxers," managers, promoters, referees, seconds and "lovers of athletic sports."

It is now proposed by Jimmy Johnstone, new president of the organization, that its scope be broadened to include those identified with professional sports of all kinds. In this way boxing would be accorded considerable outside support and from financially disinterested parties, at that.

Probe Boxer's Death
Meantime, an investigation into the case of Frankie Jerome, whose tragic death as a result of the bout at Madison Square garden has served to crystallize sentiment in some quarters against boxing, will be conducted by the district attorney's office. The investigation is regarded as a formality in view of the fact that the boxer's death has been established as an unfortunate accident.

Bud Taylor, who engaged in the bout with Jerome, has been summoned to appear before Assistant District Attorney Morgan A. Jones to give a full account of the events leading up to the tragedy. With him will be his manager, Eddie Long. The referee, Jack O'Sullivan; the manager of the stricken boxer, Lou Brix and Walter G. Hooke, representing the commission, will be there to testify.

Rickard Changes Plans
There was some talk of summoning Tex Rickard to the hearing, but the promoter is in Washington in connection with a plan to bring the Democratic national convention to Madison Square Garden. The promoter is alleged to have altered his plans for the outdoor season considerably after the death of Jerome had made it all the more apparent that certain political factions are gunning for legalized boxing.

Rickard has plans for a second meeting between Firpo and Dempsey and the bout in question will not take place until well after the political convention.

The belief is current that Governor Smith has no desire to appear before the Democratic convention as the chief executive of a state that is lashing itself into a lather over a pair of heavyweight pugilists.

FIGHT RESULTS

AT NEW YORK—Harry Mason, England, won decision over Harry "Kid" Brown, Philadelphia, ten rounds; Benny Valgar, New York, knocked out Harry Carlson, Brooklyn, Mass., fourth round; Jack Snyder, New York, and Herman "Kid" Silver, Hartford, fought a draw, ten rounds; Harry Mulcahy, Brooklyn, knocked out Johnny Cahill, New York, second round.

AT BOSTON—Ad Stone, Philadelphia, defeated Wolf Larson, ten rounds.

AT ALBANY—Vic McLaughlin, Brooklyn, won judge's decision over Johnny Klesch, Cleveland, twelve rounds.

AT ST. PAUL—Italian Joe Gans, St. Paul, outpointed Eddie Morris, Sioux City, six rounds; Tommy Burns, Detroit, beat Gunner Joe Quinn, six rounds; Sammy Leonard, Minneapolis, won from Len Schwabel, St. Paul, four rounds.

the season. The Triple A is the class of the association and employs the cream of the sand-lotters. When a player has advanced from lesser divisions to the Triple A he has merits which professional managers in need of new talent cannot afford to overlook. Many of the players in local semi-professional ranks were given tryouts last year in the Pacific Coast and other leagues. Some of them have made good showings and have been retained for this year, while others have been farmed out to get more experience. The payrolls of the big leagues contain many names of players who were developed around Los Angeles, and many of those playing now on clubs such as Glendale will eventually be written on the big roster.

So we take our self-filling Underwood in hand to make another prediction. If you're a skeptical nature get ready to laugh. Before the present crop of baseball fans get to an age where they no longer rush to the ball park on the slightest provocation, Glendale will be represented in a league that will rank in importance with the present Pacific Coast League or will have a charter of its own in a better coast league. Say we call it five years, which will be in 1929-30.

You may tire at will, but don't throw things you can't lift.

Installs Machine for Knitting Sweaters

A hand-driven knitting machine in a room at 226 South Brand is declared by S. Shaffer, the owner, to be the beginning of a garment manufacturing business that may in time become an important industrial factor. Mr. Shaffer installed the machine three weeks ago, and has operated it himself on the work of knitting sweaters since then. He said that he recently came to Southern California from New York York, where he had "grown up" in the knitting business, and that he selected Glendale as the location for his business because of its advantages from a manufacturing standpoint. Mr. Shaffer has a family and is looking for a residence here.

PLEDGE SUPPORT FOR NEW LEAGUE

Williams Circuit Moguls to Back Up Four Team Class C Group

Word received last night from Frank Kerwin, part owner of the Glendale ball club, who is attending the meeting of the Coast League in Oakland, is to the effect that the Williams circuit agreed to lend its "moral" support to the proposed new Class C league, to be formed by the cities of Glendale, San Diego, Santa Ana and Long Beach.

"Moral" support may mean a lot or it may mean nothing, but it is presumed that Kerwin, who is one of the shrewdest baseball men in the south, will know where he stands before venturing forth in connection with the new league. An effort will be made to obtain recognition from the national commission in either Class C or Class D. It is not anticipated that there will be any trouble in doing this.

Try Out Recruits
With the Coast league behind the circuit, they would have a "farm" close at hand where they could try out their recruits, or ship them for more seasoning and, at the same time, give the towns in the new league a high grade of baseball. As announced some time ago, there will probably be three games per week, one on Saturday and two on Sunday. This schedule has not been definitely adopted, however.

There is also talk of the formation of a four-team league in the San Joaquin valley. If this is accomplished the two leagues would undoubtedly play a "little world's series" in the fall.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

By H. K. REYNOLDS For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—"It is easier to catch flies with molasses than with vinegar."

So goes the old proverb—and the wisdom therein contained apparently has been realized by at least one of the big national organizations which is hard at it in an effort to get its legislative programme through Congress this winter.

This is the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which has just come out with a list of things it wants Congress to do, sandwiched in between appeals for the suppression of "salacious literature" and the "dirty stage."

Before setting down its legislative programme, however, the church board indulges in this introduction.

"Congress is here with many new faces and with some old ones missing."

"Representatives and Senators, on the whole, are the most slandered men in the world. They are represented as do-nothings, when, as a matter of fact, most of them work hard."

"They are too frequently represented as uninformed and unintelligent, but most of them have a wide range of information and strong common sense."

"They are made to appear as hypocrites and roysters, but the majority of them are sincere Christian men, loyal to their wives, devoted to their children."

"No representative body in the world surpasses the American Congress in intelligence or character."

The church board said that the enactment into law of the reforms it suggested would be a "benefit to the country and honor to Congress itself."

The program includes: (1) The establishment of a separate bureau for prohibition enforcement.

"At the present time," it was stated in an announcement prepared by Deets Pickett, research secretary, "prohibition enforcement is headed by a man who is generally understood to have been in the past financially interested in whiskey distilling. Even if he himself all of the virtues, the graces and the abilities, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon should be relieved of this responsibility."

(2) Heavier penalties for violations of the Volstead Act.

(3) Ratification of the anti-rum-smuggling treaty with Great Britain.

(4) Abolition of child labor by a Constitutional restriction.

(5) Passage of the "Townsend-Sterling bill" to aid the states in the abolition of illiteracy and the rehabilitation of our public schools.

(6) Congressional disapproval of allowing men in the army, navy or marine corps "to compete as common prize-fighters with professional prizefighters who are not in the services."

(7) Enactment of a law establishing uniform marriage and divorce laws throughout the United States.

(8) Barring of gambling devices from interstate commerce.

(9) Deportation of aliens who violate the Volstead Act.

(10) Further and more drastic immigration restrictions.

(11) "More conscience" in recommendations, for appointments in the prohibition service.

(12) Extension of the work of the Public Health Service "so as to insure the eventual disappearance of tuberculosis, venereal disease, malaria, hook-worm and similar scourges."

"Last, but not the least," the "Welcome to Congress" said in conclusion, "that vast majority of legislative and executive officers of the government who conform in their personal habits to the provisions of the prohibition law should apply serious pressure on the minds of the few whose light minds and moral irresponsibility tend to bring discredit upon the class they are supposed to represent."

And so there is a little vinegar mixed in with the molasses after all.

WILL HARNESS UNTAMED RIVER Party Dares Rapids Of Grand Canyon

C. H. Birdseye

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Soldiers and sailors and prohibition agents aren't the only ones who risk their lives for their country. An expedition sponsored by the United States Geological Survey has turned from an adventure as thrilling as those staged upon the fields of France.

Over a trail of danger, beset by cataracts and treacherous currents and every other obstacle of an untamed river, the expedition fought its way 500 miles in the roaring Colorado river through the Grand Canyon to California to collect engineering data. The data are to be used in locating sites at which dams can be built to utilize the wasting waters of the Colorado river for power development and irrigation purposes. As a result of the daring survey, vast mineral and agricultural development in the west may be expected in the near future.

The party was headed by Colonel C. H. Birdseye, chief topographic engineer of the Geological Survey. The other members were: E. C. La Rile and Herman Stabler, hydraulic engineers; R. C. Moore, state geologist of Kansas; R. W. Burchard, topographic engineer; Lewis R. Freeman of Pasadena, Cal., a well-known explorer and writer; a pilot; three boatmen, and a cook. Their equipment, in addition to subsistence, consisted of the usual instruments used by engineers and geologists, a radio receiving outfit and complete photographic equipment.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BIG BALL. "Nurse Jane, wouldn't you like to go out with me?" asked Uncle Wiggily of his muskrat lady housekeeper one evening. "Out where—coasting or adventuring?" inquired Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Either one," answered the bunny. "I still have my bobbed hair that I made from your ironing board. I coasted away from the fox on it once, and if the wolf should come for us this time, we could both coast away. As for adventuring—if you like that—"

"Thank you—no—neither one!" laughed Nurse Jane. "I would much rather spend a quiet evening here in the bungalow. I don't like adventures as you do." "Well, then, how about going out to the movies," suggested Uncle Wiggily. "They are harmless enough. Nothing can happen to you there, and at the Woodland Theater there is a picture called 'How the Cabbage Got Ahead.' I think you'd like that."

"Yes, it sounds jolly," spoke Nurse Jane. "Very well, I'll go with you. But let's start early so we won't get out too late in the dark night."

"It's won't get so very dark as there is going to be a bright moon later in the evening," Uncle Wiggily said. "That's good," squeaked Nurse Jane, as she went to her room to curl her hair ready for the movies. A little later she and Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the forest to the Woodland Theater.

It was just getting dusk, and the moon had not yet come up, as Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane hopped along. They were about half way to the movies when, all of a sudden, on the edge of a clump of trees the muskrat lady caught hold of Uncle Wiggily's left ear and whispered: "I hear a noise."

"Well, it is only some of the animal boys laughing," answered the bunny, when he had listened for a moment. "I heard the bark of Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys, and the bleat of Billie Wagtail, the goat. I suppose they are just going home after having had fun on the coasting hill."

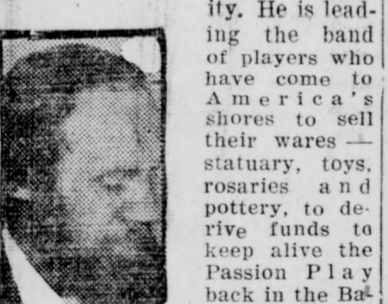

"Uncle Wiggily was right—it was the animal boys whom Nurse Jane heard, but they were not going home from coasting. They were gathered about something large and white in the middle of a field."

"Look, Uncle Wiggily, it's the Woolly Wolf!"

Who's Who in the Day's News

ANTON LANG. The man whose portrayal of the Christ in the historic Passion Play in Oberammergau has made him world famous is now in the United States—on a mission of love and charity. He is leading the band of players who have come to America's shores to sell their wares—statuary, toys, rosaries and pottery, to derive funds to keep alive the Passion Play back in the Bavarian hills.

ANTON LANG

Lang is not only called the true prototype of the Savior, but, like other Passion Players, he tries to live a life in keeping with the religious teachings of the play.

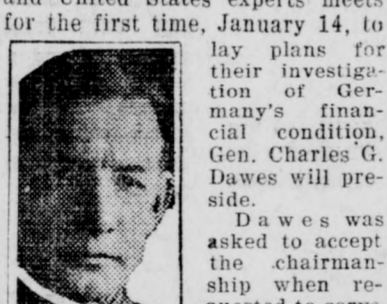

Physically he is a sturdy man, broad shouldered, but with a kindly face. His long, gray hair falls to his shoulders. His gray beard is heavy. Framed by the beard and the long locks is a face which has drawn the praise of artists as an artistic study. There is no indication of excess or dissipation about his features. His small eyes twinkle with whole-souled humor or grow sad as he pleads for the continuance of the play.

He has acted the part of the Christ for thirty years. He is a potter-maker by trade. He has given most of his time, however, to the revival of the story of Christ. He traveled to Palestine to study further the story of Nazareth, to become more nearly the imitation of Christ.

He points out that when the play was produced three years ago it brought 30,000 marks to each actor. For this sum the players attended 100 rehearsals and staged the performance sixty-nine times. The 30,000 marks were worth then just $6.

The money Lang and the eleven players with him hope to obtain will be used to add the whole village—which is destitute.

GEN. CHARLES G. DAWES

When the commission of allied and United States experts meets for the first time, January 14, to lay plans for their investigation of Germany's financial condition, Gen. Charles G. Dawes will preside.

Dawes was asked to accept the chairmanship when requested to serve as one of the three Americans on the committee. The other two members are Owen D. Young and Henry J. Robinson. The latter will devote his time to the work of the group assigned to investigate the finances exported.

Dawes' frank manner of speech and his fearless slashing of governmental expenses when named first director of the national budget, in 1921, made the American public well acquainted with him. He had been a leading figure in financial circles, however, for many years. He is the founder of and long has been president of the Central Trust company of Illinois.

He was one of the big men called upon for war service, and saw duty in France, most of the time as chairman of the general purchasing board with the American expeditionary forces, which handled the supplies for the United States boys.

As first director of the budget on appointment by President Harding, Dawes is credited with reducing the expenditures of the nation approximately $300,000,000 during the fiscal year he served.

On the Spur of the Moment BY ROY K. MOULTON

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE. One of the exclusive clubs. Located on Fifth Ave., New York. Has a new doorman who has been...

On the job only a few weeks. One of the prominent members. A dignified and haughty man. Noticed the new doorman often while passing in and out.

"I think not," replied the doorman. "Oh, yes, I have. I have not only seen you but have seen you regularly."

Your face is very familiar to me. The doorman hesitated and said: "You must be mistaken, sir."

"No," replied the member, "I'm not." "I do not make mistakes like that. I must have seen you every day for a long time. I am certain of it."

Where were you before you came here? "Well," replied the doorman unhesitatingly. "For the past twenty years I have been a guard at Sing Sing."

We wish to drop a word of praise for the English chorus girls who come over here to make a living. So far as we know they never go on the lecture platform and tell us where we are all wrong. The English chorus girl expresses herself in a way which we like much better.

there are over twelve hundred Woolworth stores in the United States? It requires some personality to get away with that. You have a daughter and she is beautiful. Perhaps she is talented. Look around and see the beautiful girls who are trying to get behind the footlights or in the movies. Better look for a substantial business man and marry him.

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE. I must be growing old. Last evening I was going Home on the Fifth avenue stage.

And, as usual, I climbed up to the roof to take the air. And others had done the same. In fact, the roof was filled. With the exception of two places.

One was beside an old man. Who scowled over his spectacles. And looked an incurable grouch. The other vacant seat was beside a young woman. A very beautiful young woman.

Who, when I appeared. And made room for me by her. I am not yet able to explain. How it happened, but I went Right by the vacant seat. Offered by the young woman. And went on up the aisle. And sat down by the old grouch. I MUST be growing old.

To KNOCK OUT SOME OF YOUR EGO. You know something about music. In fact, you attend several concerts every season. You rave and you discuss. Are you a decided, determined and resolute decider? Are you accustomed to Italian music and have you an ear to follow its intricacies? Certainly, you can hum "Yes, We Have No Bananas." You ought to know that melody if you know music.

You run a store and it is doing a good business. You are proud of the personality which you have put into it. Do you know that...

BURBANK
TRACK TO BRING
NEW INDUSTRIES

J. W. Fawkes Receives Notice Right of Way Check About Complete

The Southern Pacific drill track will now enter the J. W. Fawkes industrial tract without further delay. Mr. Fawkes having received a letter from the title company stating that work on checking up the right of way is practically completed.

As most of the material for the building of this track is already loaded into cars and ready to be dispatched to Burbank, the moment the railroad receives the necessary papers from the title company, work will be begun.

As a number of new industries have been held up pending the laying of this track, news that the work is now to go ahead is welcome indeed.

H. H. Dodge Returns
H. H. Dodge, an elderly Burbank man living with his brother, Fred Dodge, at 126 Verdugo avenue, is back home again, bruised but not seriously injured, after an escape that landed him in the Los Angeles Receiving Hospital, after being found in Silver Lake park in a dazed condition.

His brother explains that the unfortunate man is the victim of the hallucination that he still lives in Los Angeles, where he spent most of his life. For fifty years a painter, H. H. Dodge unquestionably is suffering with that most destructive form of poisoning, induced by the lead with which paints are mixed, and which affects the brain.

Time and again, the poor man gets it into his head that he must return to Los Angeles. The result is, explains his brother, that he must be constantly watched.

VALLEY NEWS
REMOVAL OF P. E. TRACKS PLANNED

New Boulevard Will Connect Hollywood and Burbank by Cahuenga Pass

Plans are under way to move the Pacific Electric tracks over the Cahuenga Pass, to make room for a new boulevard connecting Hollywood with Dark Canyon road and Burbank, the cost of taking up and relaying the trackage to be borne by land-owners of the vicinity, who will benefit by such a road.

Plans for this improvement have been furnished the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, and the project will be referred to the Los Angeles planning commission. All that remains is for subdivisions on the east side of Cahuenga pass to provide the necessary right-of-way.

This boulevard should not be confused with the county highway to be built on the west of the present pass.

To Show Tree Bracing
During January a series of tree bracing demonstrations will be staged in Lankershim, Van Nuys, Owensmouth, Chatsworth, Orovista, Zelzah, Pasadena, Pomona, Littlerock and Palmdale. It is announced by the Los Angeles agricultural extension office.

The central ring system of bracing is the one that will be demonstrated, as this has been developed and is recommended by the state college of agriculture, where it has been under test for a number of years.

The meetings will be held from January 15 to 21.

The Lankershim Building & Loan association, headed by H. J. Penfield, has opened its doors and will be a material aid in financing home-building in the section, it is felt.

On Thursday, January 31, residents of the Tujunga-Sunland section will be privileged to vote on the importance to the fire protection of the valley. Roughly what is proposed is that the territories involved unite into a fire district, so that equipment and personnel can be economically and efficiently maintained.

The Los Angeles county officials are attempting to organize thirty-five such districts, recognizing the decided advantages of such concerted action. The county is in a position to purchase hydrants and other equipment in large quantities, at great savings.

In the event such a district was formed, decisions on various matters would be had through a committee constituted through some improvement association. This committee would make its recommendations and, within reason, the department would follow them.

Work Progressing on New Home of Bank

Construction work is well under way on the new home of the Community Savings & Commercial bank, which is now occupying temporary quarters at 1725 South San Fernando boulevard. The new building will occupy a splendid corner at San Fernando and Brand boulevard. It will be two stories, of an irregular shape, caused by the curving property line of that corner. Its size will be about sixty feet deep by seventy-five wide.

The lower floor will have the large banking room, with curved window front, on the corner, and adjoining it will be two store rooms facing on San Fernando. The upper floor will be finished for hotel rooms.

The building is being erected by Dan Campbell and John A. Logan. Mr. Campbell is chairman of the directors, and Mr. Logan is vice-president of the bank. They will own the building and lease quarters in it to the bank. The entire upstairs has been leased for hotel purposes to Willard F. Yeo of Glendale.

The construction contract has been let to Elmer Elliott, Glendale contractor. The cost will be $40,000, and the material will be buff brick, trimmed in terra cotta.

That's All
Japan and Earthquakes
Glendale Needs Buildings
Profession of Realtor
Tale of Two Crown Princes

By Gil A. Cowan

Japan has undergone another earthquake. Perhaps the residents of Tokio will believe there is nothing substantial under them, for the shocks there have thrown fright into the firmest minds.

It was pleasing to note Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt's assurance to her oriental servant in the Imperial Hotel. She said, "Don't mind this, it is not so bad." That is Yankee courage for you.

Duke N. Parry, Far Eastern manager of the International News Service, who is evidently growing quite accustomed to the quakes, wrote in yesterday's dispatches:
"Your correspondent was thrown from bed by the first shock this morning and was forced to make his exit from the building by leaping from a low second story window."

It must be a splendid life to be awakened before daybreak by an upheaval such as that.

Nearly a half million dollars' worth of building has been recorded here already this month—and it is only half gone. May we not suggest to builders that the goal of $1,000,000 a month or more is not too high?

The first three months of 1923 saw the million mark reached and there is no question but what sustained enthusiasm in Glendale would make possible an average gain that would result in a $15,000,000 total for the year 1924.

Glendale is going straight ahead and there is need for lagging behind in building.

Apartment houses, hotels and homes may be built with assurance.

When we speak of more accommodations for both permanent and temporary residents, there are certain considerations on which we base our argument.

First, the accessibility of Glendale makes it desirable. Second, the climatic conditions brought about by the friendly surrounding hills, the attitude, the water, not to forget the freedom of the open spaces, make this an ideal homeing place.

And in the immediate future this city has the assured prospects of a sanitary system which will care for hotels, industrial property and the like.

Glendale also will be served by the new Pacific Electric subway out of the Hill street station shortly, which will give more rapid transit for more people. The completion of the Glendale & Montrose connection with the Los Angeles Railway lines will also add to the number of commuters.

Build now and be among the first to reap the reward of vision. Buy now and benefit from increased valuations.

Glendale is a city of destiny. It is bound to be the Brooklyn of Los Angeles, we believe.

Realtors of Glendale last night had the privilege of hearing Henry P. Barbour, president of the California Real Estate association, address them on the privileges of their profession.

To hear Henry Barbour, venerable scholar and gentleman of the old school, speak to an audience is a rare treat. Add to this the enthusiasm of last night's annual banquet of the local board, and you have inspiration.

Will Herren, field secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, also was present to address the largest 100 percent board in California.

To the local, state and national associations great credit is due in raising the real estate dealer to the rank of a professional man. The sense and thought and public spirit entering into the work here will pay big dividends in years to come, although for the present it is the public that gets the biggest dividend from square dealing, ethical conduct and responsible regulation of the business.

It is hinted that former crown prince Friedrich Wilhelm will be nominated for the presidency of the German republic. When piffle on the part of the nationalists to back the scion of a discredited regime as their leader. It is little less than mockery.

We have no regard for the Hohenzollerns, whatever. Their supinely stupid conduct during the world war commends them to the punk pie.

EAGLE ROCK
C. OF C. BANQUET
IS LARGE EVENT

Community Songs, Talks By Head of Occidental Two of Features

Eagle Rock has seldom had a more brilliant event than last night's Chamber of Commerce banquet held at the Occidental Hotel. The toastmaster and Hugo Kirchoffer of Hollywood Bowl fame as community song leader, assisted by Dr. Harry B. Crawford.

The address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Remson du Bois Bird, president of Occidental college, and the college quartet rendered several excellent musical numbers.

Inasmuch as the affair was not limited to members of the Chamber of Commerce, the commons was well filled and it appears that one direct result will be a decided influx of new members, as the organization, secretaried by Donnell G. Montgomery, is unquestionably wide awake, in the conclusion that must be drawn from last night's large calibre affair.

Hosts for the occasion were: J. T. Bailey, W. B. Allison, Dr. Charles B. Dirks; and hostesses were: Mrs. J. Hartley Taylor, Mrs. H. B. Crawford, Mrs. Sherill B. Osborne, Mrs. J. C. Shedd, Mrs. C. W. Young and Mrs. E. M. Daniels.

Security Opens Saturday
The beautiful new building at the northeast corner of Colorado and Eagle Rock boulevards, to be occupied by the local branch of the Security Trust & Savings bank, will open Saturday, January 19, announces Manager Fred E. Biles.

The public will of course, be invited to share in the housewarming and friends from all over the five friendly valleys are expected to be present. There will be music and refreshments and no business will be transacted until Monday, January 21, Mr. Biles states.

The new branch represents an investment of $100,000 and is one of the finest buildings in Eagle Rock. The doors will be thrown open at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and will remain open until 10 o'clock at night. A good orchestra will play throughout that time.

Kiwianians Meet
Nearly fifty members of the Kiwanis club assembled with friends yesterday noon at their luncheon quarters, where they were presided over by Andrew Wilson, president.

It was announced that plans are being completed for Charter night, March 14, which will be the largest event of the club's brief history and when some 600 people will be present as guests.

Inaugurated only a few weeks ago, the Eagle Rock Kiwanis club has been an immediate success, owing no doubt to the fact that it filled a decided gap in the business life of the community.

Templars Drill Team Will Vie For Honors

Glendale Commandery No. 53, Knights Templar, is to vie for honors with other commanderies at state and national gatherings in the future, if plans outlined Monday night at the first meeting of the local drill team are carried out.

There were eighteen Knights present at 6 o'clock for the beginning of the drill work. The work began with spirit and enthusiasm and it is planned to meet two or three times a week for drill practice and to perfect the drilling for presentation.

A 6:30 o'clock dinner preceded the commandery meeting directed by Commander Robert M. Grumbling. During the evening the Red Cross degree was conferred on two candidates.

MUST PAY TAXES ON AUTO SPRINGS

Revenue Department Classes Them as 'Parts' in New Bureau Ruling

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell received a ruling from the commissioner of internal revenue that leaf springs for automobile wagons, other automobiles and motorcycles are subject to tax as automobile "parts."

In August, 1922, the commissioner ruled that springs embodying the leaf-spring principle were commercial commodities and not subject to tax for the reason that they were identical in principle with leaf springs manufactured for wagons and buggies before the advent of the automobile.

Further investigation, however, disclosed that leaf-springs for use on automobiles and trucks are designed and made to fit the particular make of machine on which they are to be used, and in nearly every case cannot be used on any other make or model, and for this reason the commissioner has reversed his former ruling, and now holds that such springs are taxable as finished "parts" when made and sold for use on automobiles, trucks and motorcycles.

"This new ruling," said Collector Goodcell, "will make it necessary that all manufacturers of leaf-springs for use on automobile trucks, automobile wagons, other automobiles and motorcycles to again pay tax on their sales of these commodities. This tax must be paid on springs manufactured and sold for replacement as well as on those for initial installation.
