The fate of the educational system of Glendale and what of the city, because they are correlated, depend upon the action of the taxpayers tomorrow at the when the $600,000 high school bond issue is to be voted upon.

The voting will begin at 8 o'clock in the morning and 6 in the evening. Those within the polling places are entitled to vote.

Committees are working today to get out a big repulsive vote in order that the civic activity of the citizens of the city may be shown.

It is by such things investors may know the temperament of the city.

If only a small vote is polled, even though the measure is passed, it will be a discredit to the city.

If the measure is defeated by a small opposition due to the neglect of those favoring the measure to get a vote, the discredit will be on those who were.

But there is no fear that the measure will be defeated. The amount of work being done there, the growing need of the evening high school with an enrollment of more than 600 members in special courses, indicates that there is sufficient representation in the student body to warrant an active interest at the polls tomorrow.

It is to be assured that every one knows all about the measure to be voted upon, the tabulation of the polling places, the purpose to which the money is to be put, is printed herewith.

The Glendale Daily Press calls particular attention to the fact that the distance from polling places is not an obstacle to casting a vote. Automobiles of public spirited citizens of the district will be available for all who will vote.

It is only necessary to telephone either to headquarters, Glendale 99, or to the phone addresses given above, to take the ride in a comfortable machine. The machine will return voters to their homes immediately after the vote is cast.

There seems no reason why it should all be convenient. The committee of the district, practically all of whom are members of the district, will be cast that the school issue is a foregone conclusion. It is now to make it a public demonstration of the facilities for the bond issue.

The assembly of the high school today for the $600,000 bond issue for the high school building to be erected upon tomorrow proved to be unusually enthusiastic. Practically all that was filled.

When Is Divorce Not a Shame

Conundrums whether they are marriages, divorces, according to Harry James, who in connection with the day's new discussion of changeable marriages who granted a divorce at ten minutes later recalled the facts. Then he makes interesting comment on the mysterious divorcements at Chicago.

In "The Morning Post" this evening, Harry James says that divorcements are granted when rightly directed, but in a divorce is an evil. He compares the persistence of the gopher with that of the man being in his character as a philosophical way.

The Mississippi floods and some other subjects interestingly brought up in the editorial of this evening's paper. In this there are the editor's point of view, Dr. Frank's article this evening on the system, and Della Stewart's article which concludes with an interesting illustration of "Life's an odd paradox."

103rd ANNIVERSARY OF ODD FELLOWS ORGANIZED

Rally of Members at Ball Room Marked by Addresses

Members of the Odd Fellows from Glendale attended the 103rd anniversary meeting of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows at the ball room at Whittier.

The meeting was opened by W. H. Whittier, who gave a talk of welcome. The next speaker was Peter Peterson, past president of the assembly of Southern California. He emphasized the importance of Whittier and surrounding areas.

Van Kort, also a past president of the assembly, and a past president of the California, gave an address on "The Advantage of Being a Member of the Order of the Red Cross."

Next speaker was Brother Ames, who talked most interestingly on the early days of Odd Fellows and their progress to the modern times.

This was followed by a musical program and announcements of important items.

The program was furnished by the band of Whittier and the band of Whittier. A ball game was played at Whittier. Music was furnished by a band.

They also played a big dance held Saturday night.

BOYS OUT BACK FROM THE CAMP

Ben Robison, Jr. Reports Boys Enjoyed Weekend at Camp

Ben Robison, Jr. accompanied a group of boys to Camp Huntington, near Pasadena and though he was away for a week, he had a jolly time.

His relatives were there from the same groups of the Verdugo Hills.

They left here Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock and had a fine camp life that evening at which Owen Emery of this city and Scout Executive Trask of Pasadena made good talks.

Saturday morning was devoted to scout tests with another talk by Mr. Trask. In the afternoon the boys played "Capture the Flag," and took a hike to the falls in Rubio canyon at the foot of Mount Lowe, returning to Glendale the same afternoon.

FEW HONOR FLAGS UNFURLED BY COLOR GUARD

The war has long been ended and people are beginning to forget the flag and the honor that is due it. Saturday afternoon the national guard companies of Glendale turned out a firing squad for a funeral in the afternoon. With the firing squad went the colors and a color guard.

The color guard waited on the sidewalk on Brand boulevard at the busiest hour of the day for transportation to the cemetery and while the guard waited there were about three score people passed the flag, most of them men. Out of that three score, three remembered to move their hats as they passed the flag. One old man who looked as though he might have been a veteran of the civil war, one young man, probably a world war veteran, and a boy, undoubtedly a boy scout, were the only ones who honored the flag.

ROBBERY TRANS. WOULD DISPOSE OF FREIGHT LINE

Seek Permission to Dispose of Franchise to James Little

Robinson Bros. Transfer and Freeproof Storage company, which operates an auto freight line between Glendale and Los Angeles, has asked the railroad commission for authority to transfer its operating rights to James Little.

The amount involved is $100,000.

DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED

Arrested with driving an automobile in Broadway Saturday afternoon while intoxicated, W. New and his companion, J. G. New, were arrested and held in Glendale police station over Sunday.

They were unable to raise bail set for them by Police Officer H. Lowe at the time of their arrest.

New appeared in police court Sunday and was found guilty on a charge preferred against him by Patrolman Royce, the arresting officer. Newberg who was driving the truck which is the property of the Southern California Freeproof Storage company of Los Angeles, was fined $100 and given the privilege of spending the next 30 days in the county jail.

New and his relatives are trying to raise the bail set for them. Smith was paid.

Making Friends of Valley Glendale's Master Stroke

By JOHN H. GERRIE
Prosperity Editor Glendale Daily Press

Sometimes you hear the question asked on the street: "What does the Chamber of Commerce do for this town anyway?"

That question is not peculiar to Glendale. You hear it in Hollywood and Pasadena, in Long Beach and San Pedro, in Santa Ana and Anaheim, wherever there are chambers of commerce.

Some individuals seem so constituted that anything that is organized and pays salaries to somebody and doesn't show conspicuous results continuously is like a red rag before a wild bull. Their criticism immediately boils out of the pot whereas a little kindly co-operation might bring the results looked for by the critics.

There are cases, of course, where criticism is justified, but as a rule, those most prone to censure do not investigate to ascertain whether there is justification for their remarks. This is not a brief for the local Chamber of Commerce or any other organization, but is simply a preface to relation of ONE GOOD THING that the local Chamber has accomplished for Glendale.

In MAKING FRIENDS with the "back country" last week the Glendale Chamber of Commerce "put over something" that justifies its existence, if that had not been justified long ago. No city amounts to much without a back country, but the fact that Glendale possesses such an attribute was news to some Glendaleans who had resided here more than six months and therefore believed themselves to be among the pioneers.

The travel from Glendale is so preponderantly to Los Angeles and return, with occasional extended trips to the beaches, that a large part of the local population seems to have overlooked the very important fact that this city possesses one of the MOST PROLIFIC back countries in Southern California. So the Chamber of Commerce marshalled together 200 citizens, including some of the leading merchants, and driving in a cavalcade of 53 automobiles set out to discover the potentially rich San Fernando valley.

That which they found was a revelation to many of the crusaders and, conversely, that which they exhibited was an equal revelation to throngs of CONSUMERS and PROVIDERS in the valley. Stops were made in nine towns, in each of which Glendaleans fraternized with the townspeople, the band played, speeches were made and partings exacted promises of "don't forget us when you come through."

Briefly, the San Fernando valley DISCOVERED GLENDALE while the latter was discovering the former. The two met as strangers, told each other how high they could jump and parted as friends. Many of the valley peoples frequently had driven along the rim of Glendale to and from Los Angeles but had never seen the business section of this city. When told there is a business section they PROMISED TO COME and look it over.

Some who had been here occasionally promised to come oftener and practically all of the crusaders agreed to journey frequently into the San Fernando country. What this "getting acquainted" stunt may mean to Glendale will be better understood when it is realized that the San Fernando valley is the MARKET BASKET of Los Angeles and the mouth of the cornucopia opens directly upon Glendale. The POTENTIAL PURCHASING POWER of the valley is as enormous as its almost unequalled productivity.

It was a MASTER STROKE for Glendale, this making friends with the back country. If the local chamber could and would "put over" something of similar nature, say four times a year, this marvel of cities would go "humping" along, EVEN FASTER than at present.

Civic Consciousness

How much civic consciousness has the Glendale Union High school district? How much of pride in its development, its progressive institutions, its care of its children, its youth and their aspirations?

These are two questions that are asked by the balloting tomorrow on the High School bond issue. A bond issue for a public improvement or institution of community utility is more than a financial operation.

As a financial operation it could be performed by half a dozen delegated voters casting as many ballots. As a demonstration of civic consciousness, of a wholesome spirit of interest in everything the city does, it is the personal affair of every taxpayer in the district. The vote on the bond issue will be a call to the hills of Verdugo of all those intelligent people who are seeking in California for a place to make their home. Or it will be a sign reading "Keep Away! This Is the District Where Few Care."

If the people of this district go to the polls tomorrow and vote, as the majority have indicated, for the bonds, the total cast will send a greeting of welcome to these people.

The average vote drawn by a civic election of this sort, where there is no opposition is very small, usually, for the neglect of the voting franchise is the growing evil of the times. Nothing but a campaign against civic inertia can overcome the neglect.

Would it not be well for you, fathers of the Glendale district, to determine with your neighbors on your street to make a picnic of the visit to the polls? To come to the polls in a body and register your will on the bond issue? You need not walk. You can all ride. Machines are provided.

If one or two on each street take care of the spirit of civic consciousness in their neighborhood, the result would be that such a vote would be registered that a clarion call would go out across the country:

"We're all alive in this district. Come to where the live people live and think."

R. E. JOHNSTON IS VICE PRESIDENT OF CONCRETE MEN

Glendale Man Is Selected to Aid New Association

With a Glendale man, R. E. Johnston, as vice-president of the Concrete Products association of Southern California has just been formed at a meeting held in Los Angeles. For the purpose of standardizing the quality of concrete products made and used in Southern California this meeting of the concrete products manufacturers from all parts of Southern California was held recently in the headquarters of the Portland Cement association, Merchants' National Bank building. A new organization under the name of the Concrete Products association of Southern California, which will automatically become a local branch of the national body, with headquarters in Chicago.

The meeting was attended by practically all of the manufacturers of concrete products in Southern California, who were highly enthused with the idea of establishing a standard specified quality for all concrete products manufactured in Southern California, thereby establishing concrete as a dependable, durable and permanent building material.

The election of the following officers marks a definite step forward in the activities of the association: President, M. G. Watkins, who is president of the Los Angeles Concrete Tile company of Los Angeles, Alhambra and Monterey Park, manufacturers of Laclede Concrete Products; vice-president, R. E. Johnston, general manager of the Concrete Building Tile company of Glendale, manufacturer of concrete hollow building tile and concrete brick; R. H. Hubbard, concrete products representative of the Los Angeles branch of the Portland Cement association, was elected secretary and treasurer of the association. Four alternate vice presidents were elected to serve as chairmen of committees representing the various branches of concrete products manufacturers as follows: E. J. Pennypacker, W. L. Jencks, F. C. Stenzel and F. X. Enderle.

Mrs. Maude Isabel Lacy of 110 East Chestnut and John W. Usilton of 361 West Harvard street were quietly married Saturday evening at 8 o'clock by Rev. W. E. Edmonds at his home, "The Manse."

Mrs. Lacy looked charming in a silk suit and leghorn hat. There were no attendants.

Mr. Usilton has lived in Glendale for about 15 years and is well known here. He was formerly proprietor of the Glendale Weekly Press and when it became a daily was connected with the same firm for several months, later going into the real estate business. He is also a prominent member of the Elks' lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Usilton will be at home to their many friends at 361 West Harvard.

SALES FOR BUILDING FIVE BUDDIES' HOMES START IN GLENDALE STORES TODAY

Merchants Announce Offerings for Different Days During Week Each to Be Marked by Display of Red Card Where Percentage Goods Sold

LA CRESCENTA'S SENTIMENT IS OBSERVED

Public Is Invited to Watch for Display Advertising and Placards in Windows During the Next Seven Days of Big Public Movement

FREE TRANSPORTATION OF MATERIAL BY GLENDALE-MONTROSE RAILWAY

Free transportation of material and workers employed on the construction of the Five Buddies' Homes has been volunteered by the Glendale-Montrose railway, it was announced today. This completes the transportation solution, partly solved by the Andy Express and the Morgan Brothers' offers of transportation of material.

With Red Card sales announced practically for the entire week, in aid of the building fund of the Five Buddies, the first closed Saturday evening with a record sale at the Army and Navy store.

La Crescenta showed its patriotism, purpose and neighborliness when it attended the silver tea at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Nettleton and added $89.50 to the fund.

La Crescenta was in a peculiar position in relation to the fund. There were not sufficient stores there to stage a profitable Red Card sale, so Dr. and Mrs. Nettleton's store afforded a vehicle for the expression of the sentiment of the thoroughly alive section of the La Crescenta hills. More important than the money itself perhaps was the demonstration of neighborly alignment with the five buddies and their purpose.

Beginning today the merchants are announcing their sales generally. Unfortunately, the announcement of J. E. Barney, real estate dealer, was omitted Saturday in the general featuring of sales. He is offering five percent of his sales to the fund. His announcement was one of the first printed.

The Red Card Merchants These have sales either today, tomorrow, Wednesday or later in the week, according to their announcements in the advertising columns. A tabulation of the merchants follows:

- Grossman-Miller Furniture Co., Brand and California, sales Monday and Tuesday.
- A. Gelmor, 138 South Brand, tailored ladies' and men's clothing, five per cent, sales Monday and Tuesday.
- Barlow, furniture, 624 1/2 East Broadway, five per cent to the building fund, sales today and Tuesday.
- Kenny Music Shop, 203 North Brand, today and tomorrow, five per cent on Gramofones.
- Ladies' Toggery, 133 South Brand, five per cent, sales Monday and Tuesday.
- Quality Toggery, 111 North Glendale avenue, beginning tomorrow, five per cent.
- A. Baines' Shoe Repair Shop, 312 East Broadway, sale Tuesday, two per cent.
- McGee's Dry Goods store, 614 East Broadway, sale Wednesday, five per cent.
- Welch, Broadway Confectionery, 604 East Broadway, sales Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, five per cent.
- Broadway Shoe Store, 312 East Broadway, sale Wednesday, two per cent.
- Anderson Drug Co., 516 East Broadway, sale Friday, percentage not decided.

T. D. & L. SEARCH LIGHTS FLASH ON THE DISTRICT

Mystery of Big Streamers of Light Is Solved at Last

There have been many inquiries of late, especially the last three days, about flashes of light that are shooting across the sky at night and everybody seems interested to know what it is all about. The rays are from the huge searchlights Manager Ralph Allan has placed on the top of the T. D. & L. theatre. These rays are so powerful they can easily be seen at Burbank, Glendale and other nearby places. Ralph Allan says he's bound to help keep Glendale the brightest spot on the map. According to Allan's statement, next Friday and Saturday these lights will work overtime. The T. D. & L. will show Paramount's "Find the Woman," and the theatre manager is going to flash the lights everywhere, not missing a single spot.

An under-water craft as a pirate ship is something new under the sun. Such a pirate submarine furnishes the backbone of the plot of "Wet Gold," produced by the Submarine Film corporation and distributed by Goldwyn, which shows at the T. D. & L. theatre for the last times today. The picture unfolds one of the most fascinating stories of adventure ever photographed. It shows how a submarine actually works under water, both from the outside and on the inside. It is seen rising to the surface firing a torpedo. Divers without any air line—the new divers' helmets carrying an hour's oxygen supply—are seen to walk out into the ocean until they disappear from view and then to continue along the floor of the sea to the submerged submarine. They enter the submarine through a trap-door in the bottom, admitting

HEART CULTURE IS THEME OF ADVENTIST

Pastor J. E. Fulton of Adventists' Conference Is Baccalaureate

At the morning service of the Seventh-day Adventist church, April 29, Pastor J. E. Fulton, president of the Pacific Union conference, delivered the Baccalaureate sermon for the first graduating class of the Glendale Academy. His theme was an inspiring one, on "Heart Culture."

This was the first service of commencement week. On Tuesday evening, May 2, the class night program will be given. The commencement exercises will be held Thursday evening, May 4, when Elder Phillip Knox, of Los Angeles, will deliver the address.

The senior class numbers five promising young people who are completing the academic course. The patrons feel that this is a good showing for the first year of the school as an academy. The lower classes are much larger.

Friends of the school are invited to attend these exercises in person and by the graduates of the school. One of the most pleasing of the many programs given by the academy, was that given Saturday evening in the assembly room. Miss Lola Preston's large Expression class and her girls' lyric club gave an evening of vocal and instrumental music, with readings appropriate to spring. The young people have been well trained, as their work shows.

HOUSEFOLK DO THE RESCUING

By JOHN BARTON
(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

Of course the man was merely joking when he told Tommy Peele he wanted Tad Coon to take care of his broken airplane in the Broad Field. He knew Tad couldn't understand him. But Tommy's old dog could. Watch was used to being left to watch over things and he explained it very carefully to Tad.

My, wasn't he the important beast! His furry coat was hardly big enough to hold him. "I see," he nodded. "And you'll see, too. Just let any die try to set claw or paw on it! Just let them—!" Then he began to wonder what he would do if any one did try.

But first he had to explore it. While Mr. Peele and Tommy were helping his new boss limp up the lane Tad was trying to climb into it. It wasn't easy because an airplane's body is so shiny-smooth there's nothing to hang onto. But he managed to shin up the broken wing and flop into the driver's seat. Then he had the grandest time you can imagine, biting the steering wheel to find out what it was made of, licking the cushions to find if they had any taste, and twiddling all the shiny brass fittings with his little black fingers.

And the more he found out the less he knew about it. "Hm," he told himself, "this Headless Hunter isn't like any bug ever I've seen. (And Tad knew bugs, for he'd eaten ever so many—of the little everyday kind.) It's got a lovely nest inside of it. (That was the driver's cushion.) And the nest seems hollow as a tree. Hm.

"Still, queer things might hatch in the moon, and I don't believe there's another creature on earth who could lay the egg that hatched this." For Tad thought if things didn't just grow like the grass they

DYNAMOS CLUB IS CELEBRATING NOW

Organization Periodical Is Elaborate Work of Retiring President

The Dynamos club of the First Presbyterian church is celebrating the close of its six months' term under the presidency of Earl P. Hammond, the retiring president and editor of its periodical "Dynamos," with its first "annual," an elaborate pamphlet, printed in purple and yellow, enclosed in a handsome purple cover bearing gold lettering, and containing 28 pages. It was printed by the Glendale Press job department and is a fine specimen of typography. One thousand copies have been issued and it will doubtless prove a valued souvenir. The publication of the periodical will be resumed next fall. Present officers of the club are: H. Majors, president; Paul Edmonds, vice-president; Bill Goertz, secretary; C. G. Farrow, treasurer; D. L. Foster, superintendent.

VENTILATION IS HEALTH SECRET

The modern housewife knows the dangers of devitalized air, and is insisting on adequate ventilation, according to Ed McMahon, heating expert with J. C. Beldin, a well known local contractor.

"This is abnormal," McMahon says, by the great demand in Glendale for warm air furnaces that are controlled by electric push buttons, by clocks, or by thermostats.

Devitalized air, heated over and over again by old-fashioned stoves, etc., is responsible for most colds and other winter ills, so there is no economy in make-shift heating plants. A bunkalow furnace can be operated for two and a half cents an hour, and the entire original cost is about the same as a set of automobile tires.

WAVES
The discovery of the electrical energy could be used without wires or long cables almost a century ago, but it was until the year 1886 that a practical means of radiating energy and detecting the same energy at a distance were devised by a man by the name of Hertz. People will use the expression at times in referring to electromagnetic waves as Hertzian waves.

To make it as clear as possible the familiar mechanical analogy of action of waves of water, will be resorted to. When a stone is dropped into a pool of water a well-defined series of waves are radiated from a common center in the depression caused in the surface of the pool by the weight of the stone. The rush of the water to fill the depression causes by the stone and the inertia of the water cause this wave motion to continue once it has been established. The waves travel outward from the common center until they reach the edge of the pool. The waves are radiated from the same principal, just as the waves are radiated from the wireless station in the form of a circle with a common center. Those receiving stations within the circle may pick up the waves filtered by the transmitting station in order to make the wave motion still clearer it is necessary to go a little farther into the analogy. Supposing a heavy plunger were used instead of a stone it would be plunged into the water, then withdrawn and the action repeated at certain intervals. What would be the result? The first wave of the first wave would be introduced into the pool a series of waves would immediately radiate from the plunger as a common center. Then supposing that the plunger were immediately introduced again. This would radiate a series of waves or a second wave train. It can be readily seen then, that a person a short distance away could watch the waves on the surface of the water and a fair close approximation of the circle could be transmitted with the crude device.

Now all that is necessary to apply this water analogy to the wireless station is to imagine the air as the common center from which numerous waves are radiating instead of the plunger. Now these are just the things that we want to arrange in the dark if you are sick or tired let us know would be a very difficult proposal we will send the car after you. station to detect each wave and the vicar-principal of the high wave. The interval at which school has stated that he thinks they follow one another could not possible to arrange to make various apparatus at the school on certain nights. Now as this affords a wonderful opportunity for the future of our club and school let's not spoil it, and all be there Tuesday to show how much we appreciate it.

NOTICES

TRUE STORY
(By EARL ENNIS)

John S. dropped in on a friend of his one night and for the first time, heard a radioophone concert. From that night on he was a changed man. He haunted wireless shops. He priced instruments. He studied catalogues and finally, one day, even as you or I, he fell. Walking blindly into a store, he bought a complete wireless outfit and marched joyfully home with it under his arm.

WITH THE RADIO CLUB

The meeting of the first class of the radio school and club was held Saturday evening in the household arts building of the Glendale Union high school which is in the block on East Harvard street. The following was covered in this meeting:

HINTS

Some fellows think that when they draw the secondary and the primary of their transmitting oscillator transformer apart that they can talk as far. This is not so. Of course it is possible to draw them too far apart but if a wavemeter and an ammeter are used

COMMERCIAL WORK AT EVENING HILLS IS DESCRIBED

P. A. Fullen in Charge Tells What His Classes Are Doing
Commercial Work
By Preston A. Fullen
The commercial department of the Glendale Union high school is making an unusual showing in attendance this year in night school. A great many of the students entered in September and have continued in attendance up to the present time without a single break to mar their record. This showing is not to be marveled at, however, when one stops to consider the subjects offered and the careful arrangement of classes. The classes are so planned that a student may get exactly what he wishes and what he needs to increase his efficiency. Even at this early hour students are reporting the school work a great aid in their office and preparatory work.

TO SWAP AND FOR SALE

This is the first item published in the "Swap" column and lets keep it going, fellows. The idea was explained in one of the preceding issues of the Daily Press. How do you know but what some other fellow has something you want and what you might be able to swap with him? If you can't swap you can buy or sell. Let's just see how it works. Wallace Haynes—Glendale 645-J. A variocoupler manufactured by the Western Radio Shop. Tunes to 600 meters and has had very little use. Will sell or if you have something I want will swap with you.

Improbable Story Beginnings
(Apologies to New York Herald)

"Why, certainly, young man," said the landlady; "you may put up as many aerials as you want. I like the looks of an aerial and besides it improves the appearance of the building."
"If this tube burns out be sure and bring it back and I will give you a new one for it," remarked the salesman as he wrapped up a "U" tube.

Typing and Shorthand
By Mr. Davies

The attendance in the typing and shorthand department of the evening high school this year has been extremely gratifying. It reflects the keen interest shown by many business people for higher development in these subjects and we are glad to say that the work they are doing is exceptionally good.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—To assist in raising funds for a royal civic welcome and reception for the many thousands of wounded and disabled American heroes of the great war who will be San Francisco's guests of honor for the second annual national convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, the latest week in June, the mayor's citizens committee is to sponsor a monster entertainment, pageant and ball at the civic auditorium here, next Friday evening, May 5. The entire proceeds of the big affair will be tendered to the citizens' convention fund, to provide the royal welcome for the visiting thousands who will come here from all parts of the United States for the Disabled American Veterans' national convention, June 26 to 30.

But I think it is such an advantage to know of a bakery where one may find fresh bread, rolls and cakes on Sundays, don't you?

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Despondent because of a lingering illness of seven years' duration, Tony Marquette, a wanderer, entered a garage at 1913 South Brand yesterday afternoon and attempted to end his life. He slashed his throat with a razor and then ran into the street calling for help.

Commercial Work

Each evening from 8 to 9 a class is given in rapid business writing. Those who are attending this class are making splendid progress.

Business English
By Paul E. Webb

The class in business English is now considering the various difficulties that confront the average person in his speaking his native tongue. The mistakes that mar the language of the business man and woman and that stand in their way to success are being ferreted out and the proper methods of speaking practiced. Only the elements of grammar that are essential to the correct use of every speech are being considered. Members of Mr. Webb's business English class are enthusiastic over the work that is being done and are making great strides in their use of both written and spoken English. There are still a few vacancies in the class for those who may wish to enroll.

Arithmetic
By Paul E. Webb

For those who have difficulties in Arithmetic, the night school class in applied mathematics offers a solution. The class is small and Mr. Webb's giving personal instruction to its members in any branch of arithmetic in which they feel that they have need. Some are working with fractions, and others with those problems that the individual feels that they need help in. Persons who wish to take advantage of the opportunities which the night school offers in this line should enroll as there are but a few vacancies remaining.

THE GATEWAY MARKET

TO MY MIND the most wonderful part of a trip to the beach or into the country is the cooking of a delicious juicy steak over a campfire. Yes, and well buy the steak at CASWELL'S GATEWAY MEAT MARKET—the corner of Brand Blvd and San Fernando road. Caswell carries only the very best meats at lowest prices. I always like to buy my steaks and chops at the Gateway Market, for their freshness is assured—and, then, too, when I haven't time to go to market myself, it's such a convenience to just phone Glendale 2361-W. They maintain an excellent delivery service!

PLAIN ICE CREAM

One gallon milk, 1 1/2 pint sweet cream, 7 eggs, 4 cups sugar, flavor to taste. Stir together; freeze.

OH, YES, TO BE SURE

we must stop at the GATEWAY MARKET BAKERY—the corner of San Fernando road and Brand boulevard for a dozen or two of their wonderful home-made doughnuts! The doughnuts which they make will certainly take you back to the days when Mother used to bake a whole big crock-full—but at that only enough for one picnic. Gateway Bakery doughnuts are home-made in every sense of the word—and positively melt in your mouth. I'm actually hungry for them all ready!

BANANA FRITTERS

One and three-fourths cups pastry flour, 1 1/2 level teaspoons baking powder, 1 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 1/2 cup milk, 2 eggs, beaten separately. Sift flour, then measure and baking powder, salt and sugar, sift three times, then add milk and well beaten eggs. Dip fruit into batter and drop in boiling hot fat like doughnuts.

OH, YES, THAT'S ALREADY been decided upon—we'll buy our picnic ham at the RELIABLE MEAT MARKET, 1502 S. South San Fernando road. And do you know why? It's not alone because Mr. Danner carries the highest quality meats at lowest market prices, but because I do so like the way ham and bacon is sliced there. You see, we've a dandy new slicing machine that is in itself a convenience, but Mr. Danner makes it a point to only slice enough meats for the day's sale—thus assuring complete freshness to all his customers! It's to the Reliable Meat Market we'll go for our picnic more goodies to mind—that, methinks no picnic could be successful without! And just an item is the tasty pies from VIRGINIA BAKE SHOP, 624 1/2 Broadway! The pies which they sell are all baked in the up-to-date Sanitary Kitchen of the Virginia Bake Shop, using only the highest, purest materials and the best of everything. But the surprise part is that they are sold for less than you can afford to bake at—25 cents each. You'll find fine kinds—apple, berry, rhubarb, etc.

PLAN AND PLAN

Reaches where it's hard to reach

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE GLENDALE DAILY PRESS

Glendale Daily Press Entered as second-class matter, February 22, 1922, at the Postoffice at Glendale, California, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Truths in Epigram

It is through art and through art only that we can realize our perfection; through art and art only that we can shield ourselves from the sordid perils of actual existence.—Wilde (1856-1900). The world is so full of a number of things, I'm sure we should all be as happy as kings.—Stevenson (1850-1894).

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY FLOODS

People in the Mississippi valley have suffered vastly from floods this season. Deaths have been numerous, while the property loss is almost beyond estimate. Thousands of fertile acres have been submerged, so that the damages must include at least a year's production. Buildings have been destroyed, and in instances the land actually swept away, making the loss not only heavy, but absolute and final.

It is not beyond belief that human ingenuity may some day control the waters that now rush through the natural channels with such disastrous effect. The skill of the engineer has been applied to smaller problems of exactly similar type, and has triumphed. To imagine a system equal to the task of carrying off surplus waters, or even impounding them against the day of need, does not seem unreasonable in view of recorded achievements.

The Pacific coast has had experiences with flood waters, and has been damaged over small areas, but never has it known such catastrophes as have for weeks been battering sections of the middle west. Out here the chief damage has been not in losses caused by water, but in the circumstance that the water has found its way, unused, to the ocean, when, could it have been conserved and applied to the land as needed, it would have brought forth richly.

THE PREMIER'S BLUE DAY

In addressing representatives of the American and British press at Genoa, Lloyd George drew as gloomy a picture as though pessimism were his strong point. He talked of "Europe in a welter of blood." He said that unless differences were settled at the conference, there would be another war. "We had hoped," he said, "that the end of the great war meant the end of brute force." He feared that this had not been realized. He stated it as a probability that there would be another struggle. Russia and Germany, he affirmed, would be heard.

Lloyd George is a strong pleader. He is quick to perceive an advantage, and he never overlooks a point. He was addressing the press, but his message was to the world.

It is natural to feel either that George was unduly dolorous, or that he mentioned the situation in terms not so somber enough. For if Europe is to be the scene of another great war, it is to witness the death of European civilization. The war that closed with the signing of the armistice, left Europe impoverished and shattered; left nations on the verge of starvation, with monetary systems wrecked, capital banished, hope almost dead. The fabric that barely withstood the strain of the gigantic conflict, could not withstand another. War on a vast scale would not be a contest of well-equipped armies. It would be as the impact of hordes of savages. It would be extinction. What battle could not do completely, starvation, and the blight upon all industry, would finish. If Europe must fight, no prize awaits the victor. There could be no prize. In all the broad continent could be nothing but desolation, and a social condition far worse than barbarism.

Great thinkers knew this. H. G. Wells had foreshadowed it. They believed the prophesy was being fulfilled when Germany ravished Belgium and drew England and France into the field of battle. That destruction was stayed, did not convince them that they had been wrong. They still averred that there was a limit to the achievements of armed force, and that beyond that limit chaos awaits. That the issue is to be settled at Genoa, of course, is conjecture. That failure to settle it there would be the setting off of the fatal spark, also must be regarded as speculative. But somehow and soon, as history counts time, there must be settlement, and on it will depend not the wavering fortunes of great peoples, but their future existence.

CHINA NOT DIVIDED

Perhaps Dr. Paul S. Reinsch knows as much about China as any white man. He has been minister at Peking, and now is financial adviser to the Chinese government. He decries the reports tending to show that the country is in a state of anarchy. He regards the Chinese as a people the most nearly free from governmental interference. According to Dr. Reinsch if the entire central government there were to disappear suddenly from the face of the earth it would make little difference in China.

The statement of the doctor will go far to accentuate the tendency to look with suspicion upon rumors of Chinese civil war. Only recently came the announcement that the turmoil was so great and the outlook so uncertain, that Japan might have difficulty in letting go its grip on Shantung, lest worse conditions follow. When the overwhelming desire of Japan to relinquish this valuable booty is considered, and also its anxiety as to the welfare of its neighbor, China, the announcement becomes extremely impressive. It fails, however, to convey the impression desired, but admirably conveys the exact opposite.

There always is profit in being able to regard China in such distress that it must be rescued. Under pretense of making betterments for the benefit of natives, the powers have from time to time rushed and seized what they wanted. China never yet has a fair deal. The four-power pact, although in particular not going far enough, is the promise, at least, of improvement. Meanwhile there is a spirit of sloping among the Chinese that may in the end make them less submissive to the kicks and cuffs of their friends.

MEASURELESS INSOLENCE

The statement is made in apparent good faith that the ku klux klan recently passed upon the desirability of treating a superior court judge to tar and feathers. This distinction was to have been shared also by members of a jury. It seems that a woman who had been party to a suit conceived herself to have been wronged by the outcome. It is possible that she had been wronged. Such things have been known to happen. Even if a court makes a mistake, an outlaw band, very existence inimical to the spirit of decency and order, does not acquire jurisdiction. Its members, bound by strange oaths, and hiding identity behind grotesque apparel, are without authority. Their insolence in assumption of authority is measureless. It bespeaks conceit transmuted into mania. In the case under consideration, the self-constituted mentors of all human conduct save their own, gravely decided that the judge and jury did not merit the experience of being mobbed. Had the conclusion been otherwise, the climax of exposure would have come sooner.

No civilized community with its machinery of justice organized, is going to tolerate the activities of an irresponsible rabble. It will not permit such rabble to remain irresponsible. It will not permit it to remain a rabble at all. All this ku klux absurdity and brutality and bosh will have to disappear. The "invisible empire" has not been able to prevent society from having a square look at it. The sight has failed to please.

Attention of the prowling purveyors of ruffianism and reform is called to the fact that if they insist upon wearing distinctive garb, the state is ready to provide a style better adapted to their needs.

WHERE DISCIPLINE GOES AMISS

Two children recently ran away and got married. The girl was 13, the boy said to have reached the maturity of 17. One of the parents arrived just after the ceremony, and conducted a counter-ceremony of separation, immediately effective. However, this left the children with the technical status of husband and wife. Whether a spanking and the sorrow of parting will be sufficient penalty for them is a question to be decided by the grownups of the respective families. The necessity for discipline is evident. It should not tend wholly to the discomfiture of the kids.

It is possible of course for children to lie as to their ages, but the license clerk who would take the word of a thirteen-year-old that she was of legal age to be married, ought to be deprived of the privilege of abusing the trust imposed upon him as an official. Perhaps his transfer to the dog license department would be an adequate corrective.

Then there is the magistrate who ties the knot. What of him? He is supposed to possess at least ordinary discretion. When he allows a kid scarcely over the days of her baby lisp to stand before him, and pronounce her the wife of another kid, who never has needed a razor, there is something the matter with him. An irate father with knotty arm and big fist ought to take him in hand.

JIUJUTSO

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Jiujuitsu is commonly supposed to be a sort of wrestling trick. It is vastly more than that. It is not only an art but it is a philosophical system; it is even an ethical system.

Note these points concerning it which are here condensed from the writings of Lafcadio Hearn, who is well versed in things Japanese.

The name Jiujuitsu means "to conquer by yielding." This may be imperfectly illustrated by the sudden giving way of a door at which you have been pulling, which sends you sprawling over backwards, or by making any strenuous exertion of force expecting to be met by opposition and finding none, so that you lose your balance, or perhaps even dislocate your arm, although this is but a vague hint.

Jiujuitsu is not at all some sort of vaudeville skill intended for display; it is a very serious art of self-defense.

In Japan they begin to study it in early youth, and it takes years to learn it even tolerably well. If one becomes an expert in seven years it proves him to have aptitudes of an uncommon order. You do not have to be strong, only intelligent. And the greater your enemy's strength the worse for him and the better for you.

Tao-Te-King says: "Man at his birth is supple and weak. At his death firm and strong. So it is with all things. Firmness and strength are the concomitants of death; softness and weakness the concomitants of life. Hence he who relies on his own strength shall not conquer."

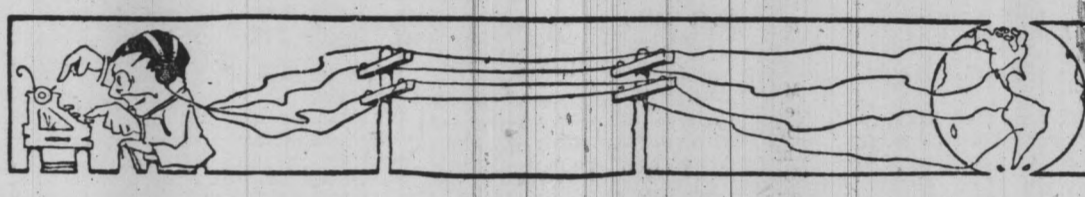

When your enemy comes at you with force you yield to him. But much more than that. You aid him with a wicked sleight that makes him put his shoulder out of joint, fracture his own arm, or even break his own neck or back. The ordinary slender and slight Jiujuitsu expert would probably disable an ordinary wrestler in two minutes. By some terrible legerdemain he suddenly unhinges a joint, busts a tendon, or snaps a bone without any apparent effort. He is more than an athlete; he is a brain and a skilled artist.

There is a deep philosophy in this, and it has its practical application in all human relations. It is never to oppose force to force, but to overcome the enemy solely by his own strength, to vanquish him by the power of his own passion.

It is this super wisdom that the dull mind of the ordinary man cannot see. When a great Teacher said in substance that the way to conquer your enemy was to do him good when he does you evil, to turn him the other cheek when he smites you, and if he compel you to go with him a mile, to go with him twain, not all the traditional reverence for that Teacher can entirely eliminate from the ordinary mind the idea that this sort of thing will not work at all. It will work. For it is spiritual Jiujuitsu. (Copyrighted by Dr. Frank Crane)

THE LISTENING POST

Persistence. An admirable quality. When rightly directed. That which refuses to quit or be discouraged or to let go. That which makes for unconquerable resolution. Of course persistence wrongly directed is evil. When it becomes stubbornness. That which refuses to recognize or listen to reason. Becomes stiff-necked and "set" as the saying is. Like cement that hardens in a wrong place. There is an old saying that every virtue has in it the seeds of vice. If wrongly directed. If it is not leavened with reason and good sense. But intemperance upon a righteous endeavor is the way to achievement. There is the gopher for instance. The ordinary little burrower of the field. He persists. He digs in and makes him a home. And if you drive him out he persists again elsewhere. And we rail and scold at his persistence. Not taking into account that the gopher is a creature of the earth. With the instinct to live and make him a home. And what we scold about is merely the persistence of the gopher to live and have his being. We look at him from the standpoint of beings owning the earth. Resenting the wrongful intrusion of the lesser animals. And the gopher looks at the earth as his.

SONGS OF THE POETS

The First Swallow—By Charlotte Smith (1749-1806) The gorse is yellow on the heath. The banks with speedwell flowers are gay. The oaks are budding, and, beneath, The hawthorn soon will bear the wreath. The silver wreath of May. The welcome guest of settled Spring. The swallow, too, has come at last!

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES People are being informed that they will be at liberty to wear straw hats after May 13. Who has the nerve to say they have to wait until that date? The yellow press says the country is flooded with counterfeiters of government issues of money, stamps and securities. Secretary Mellon says it is not. And there you are. Brisbane is worried because Miss Whitney, communist, has been sentenced to fourteen years. That is not the sentence, which is "one to fourteen years," likely to mean in California about thirteen months. The new United States marshal has turned off every democrat in the office. The old theory that "to the victors belong the spoils" is superannuated of course, but somehow the victors continue to get them. A superior court judge granted a divorce, and two minutes later recalled the decree. Why then could he not recall a decree of any age? Telephone experts say that the radio never can be of commercial value. Experts of another day used to talk thus of the telephone. The Taylor murder case has revived sufficiently to get into print again, but lacks the vitality to find its way to court. War has been renewed on speeders, but the only speeder yet reformed with certainty are those who happened to joyride themselves to death. Probably there are very few ku klux secrets that cannot be found by a search warrant and a keen cross-questioner. Lady Astor is not to be censured for intimating that in the League of Nations America started something it did not finish. Many Americans feel the same way about it.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

HUGHES' FORESIGHT INDICATED (New York Times) In his communication a month ago, when declining to take part in the Genoa conference, Mr. Hughes said with the utmost directness that, in the view of this government, the conditions precedent to economic recovery in Russia "cannot be secured until adequate action is taken on the part of those chiefly responsible for Russia's present economic disorder." Events at Genoa have strikingly confirmed the sagacity of the forecast made by Mr. Hughes. In the letter just mentioned he stated his conclusion that there could not be merely an economic conference at Genoa, but that it would be "rather a conference of a political character in which the government of the United States could not helpfully participate." Other governments may be either glad or sorry that they are represented at Genoa, but it certainly is a subject for congratulation that Secretary Hughes foresaw the danger and prevented this country from falling into it. This does not mean that we can or should hold ourselves aloof from the large consequences of what has been done at Genoa. If really effective efforts are to be made

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA STEWART What a delightful and altogether satisfying world this would be if all young people accomplished what they thought they were going to and all the older ones were still doing "what we used to do!" Too bad there's such a gulf fixed between thought and achievement, isn't it? If it were only as easy to do as it is to plan to do how we would revolutionize the world—with a revolution beneficent instead of dangerous, peaceful instead of bloody. For the majority of humans are not hatred filled, bloodthirsty, revengeful. It's only that the difficulties in the way of right get in the way and irritate and discourage, and when discouragement comes other dire ills follow quickly. The trouble is that so many of us have such flabby will power. We hate to resist and fight and get blamed and disliked, and more or less of that is always necessary if we stand by our colors. Personal ambitions draw us so strongly, also. We like to say to ourselves that we want to achieve for the sake of family or friends, and are partly truthful in so doing. But, most of all, we want to please self and see it placed on a pedestal of honor for others to admire. And sometimes we are so intent on the placing ourselves that we fall entirely of the truth that the "longest way around" is often "the shortest way home." Sometimes the very methods we take to accomplish our aims estrange and disgust others, while the soul that is simply and quietly following plain duty, with no thought to the praise of those about, wins the goal we miss and arrives. Life's an odd paradox, isn't it?

to rebuild the economic structure of Europe, the United States will have to share in the work. Take the greatest need of Russia. It is invested capital, Germany, under the new treaty or apart from it, cannot possibly supply the funds required. Should she pretend that she can, the reparations commission will have some searching questions to ask of her! If the present flurry soon passes and discussion of large financial projects is revived, the United States cannot be merely a disinterested spectator. As Secretary Hughes declared, our government "must take a deep interest in any conference which holds promise of effective measures to promote the economic rehabilitation of Europe." That truth stands good for today and next month and next year. We should bide our time, but we think it possible to hold ourselves permanently detached.

ENDING SEASICKNESS

(New York Herald) The adaptation of the gyroscope to the ocean liner is an old dream of shipbuilding, which seems at last to be realized. The tests made at Philadelphia with a gyro stabilizer weighing 120 tons are reported successful, and it is anticipated that the shipping board's steamer Hawkeye State, which runs from Baltimore to Honolulu by way of the Panama canal, will be equipped with the great balancing wheel. A steamship which cannot roll will be a godsend to individuals cursed with seasickness. Some of these persons never dare a crossing of the ocean; others stick to their berths from port to port. In the future, however, no matter how wobbly his previous performance, no matter how deep his past debt to the stewards for keeping him alive, may be confident that the horizon will stop its terrible motions. But when Atlantic steamers no longer roll, what excuse will there be for voyagers to sip long glasses of champagne with cracked ice?

DELEGATES LIKE BUSINESS WOMEN TO PRESENT GIRARD IDYL

SANITARIUM SITE OF ADVENTISTS

Two Hundred and Fifty of Southern Conference Conf'r Here Delegates to the number of 250, representing the constituency of the Southern California conference of the Seventh Day Adventists, gathered at the Glendale Sanitarium Sunday and set the final seal of approval on the plans for a new, enlarged, and thoroughly up-to-date sanitarium on the site purchased at the entrance to Sycamore canyon. It was a session marked by the greatest enthusiasm and interest with not a dissenting voice when the plans were explained and the architect's drawings examined. Men were there from Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, Pasadena, Ocean Park, Long Beach, and the Pomona district, and all of one mind. Also, the sanitarium board was instructed to expend $50,000 if necessary, to carry out the project in full, and the main building will therefore be constructed with four full stories instead of three. At noon a luncheon was enjoyed on the site which increased enthusiasm, all agreeing it was a perfect situation for such a health hotel as is being planned. It proved a stimulant to appetites and of the 750 sandwiches prepared for the picnic, scarcely a dozen were left nor was there any of the 20 gallons of nectar to be thrown away. Work on the buildings is to be commenced and pushed as rapidly as possible in its progress. The site will be ready for occupancy by October 1.

"Trend of Time" to Have First Performance at C. of C.

"Trend of Time," a lyric idyl by Harry Girard, hailed by John Henderson of the New York Times as a worthy successor to Liza Lehman's "Persian Garden," will be produced at the chamber of commerce for the benefit of the Business and Professional Women's club, Thursday night, the first and last of a series given to raise funds for club purposes. This performance is the initial or first night of the production. Homer Simmons will play the piano score. Agnes Cairns (Mrs. Harry Girard), will sing the soprano recitatives and aria. Madeline M. Bontl will be the contralto and Mrs. Girard will do the baritone arias. Henri LaBelle, the famous tenor, will exhibit his high C again. The lyrics are very beautiful, consisting of a poem on each one of the months of the year from January to December. The rendering of this work is looked forward to with great interest, as the composer and his talented wife are now permanent residents of Glendale.

LA CRESCENTA ADDS $8950 TO FUND

The sum of approximately $89.50 was realized on Sunday afternoon from the silver tea given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Nettleton, 141 East Mayfield avenue, La Crescenta, by the La Crescenta Women's club. The affair was given for the benefit of the building fund being raised under the auspices of the Glendale Daily Press for the Thornycroft buddies. The home was beautifully decorated in wild flowers, blue and Indian paint brushes and poppies being used. The two tables were also centered with wild flowers. During the afternoon Miss Marguerite Hauber of La Crescenta presented a splendid musical program.

The affair was a great success and the people of La Crescenta displayed the right spirit in coming out to aid such a worthy cause. It is expected that before the amount is turned over to the building fund it will have reached $100,000.

Officials of the Pacific Electric trolley company were in Glendale this morning in conference with members of the city council, Mayor binson and City Manager W. H. Lewis. Members of the council had not given any information to what transpired at the meeting, but it is rumored that the officials were in Glendale today in regard to the lowering of the tracks to grade and other matters that have been called to the attention of the corporation officials. The administration of this city, it is reported, that while nothing definite has been decided regarding the ultimatum given the Pacific Electric on the lowering of the tracks along Brand boulevard, it is believed that the officials are ready to submit to the city administration a proposal regarding this work that will be a highly satisfactory one to Glendale.

Parents would be surprised to know how much their children have learned that the children never tell their parents.

After you have done the best you could and that best is very poor, it can be made much poorer by apologizing.

The following scrap of conversation was overheard in a London motor bus, and deeply impressed those fortunate enough to catch the words. Said one fair passenger to another: "Between you and me, I don't seem to like your husband as much as I did." "And between you and me," said the other, "neither do I."

AMERICANIZATION DAY CELEBRATED IN TUJUNGA

Services by Associated Churches in Legion Hall Sunday Evening

TUJUNGA, May 1.—Americanization Day was celebrated in Tujunga yesterday under the auspices of the American Legion. Legion hall was opened for the evening for a program arranged by the churches of Tujunga. Americanization Day was celebrated in the school last Friday with appropriate exercises. Following is the program given on Sunday evening:

Song—America.
Welcome—R. J. Smith, Post Commander.
Scripture and Remarks—Rev. J. U. Staats.
Prayer—John Wood, Episcopal Church.

Battle Hymn of the Republic.
Father Tonello, Catholic Mission.
Vocal Selection—Ted Carroll, Victory Post No. 54.
Address—Leo D. Daze, chairman interpost council.

Song—Star Spangled Banner.
Closing Prayer and Benediction—Dr. H. N. Wieman.

T. N. T. Club Dance a Success
The dance given by the T. N. T. club on Friday night was a great success. As was expected a large number were present, and the hall was well filled. The decorations and lighting effects were without doubt the most beautiful ever used in the hall. A large wooden T. N. T. was effectively placed in the front with flood lights upon it.

During the evening a balloon dance was given, in which a prize was offered to the lady who could keep the balloon tied to her ankle longest. Mrs. Thatcher succeeded in making her balloon last longer than any of the others, and received a large box of candy.

The great success of the first dance given by the club, gives promise of other equally brilliant affairs.

Interest of Tujunga young folks is centered on the proposed swimming pool to be built back of the dance platform in Goldindrina park. The park has been leased by G. M. Inley and Marvin Selleck, and improvements are being made rapidly. A restaurant and rest room is being built adjoining the platform, and the dance floor is to be put in good shape. The promoters plan to give dances twice a week. The park is reserved for a festival to be given under community interests some time during the fall. It is expected that improvements will be completed by May 20.

NEW JERSEY SOCIETY

President Horace J. Martin has secured Mrs. Stella Gilbert and Mrs. Anna Evans for his program in the New Jersey state society meeting, tonight, May 1, in the Angulus Hotel hall, Fourth and Spring streets, Los Angeles. H. J. Brubaker will lead the singing and all New Jersey folks are invited. Dancing will follow the other program.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

THE CRICKET POET

He's my friend the Cricket Poet,
I have given him that name,
For whatever he may call them,
All his tunes are quite the same.
He's a cheerful little songster
And he sings a cheerful lay,
And he sings it, like the Cricket,
Always in the selfsame way.

If he writes a line of poem
That may end somehow with "sing,"
Then I know he'll write another
That tells something about spring.
"Baby-Maybe," "Sorrow-Morrow,"
"Story-Glory," "Sings" and "Brings."
He's my friend the Cricket Poet,
And I know the songs he sings.

Yet I listen to the cricket
As he sings upon the hearth,
And in haste I might proclaim him
As of very little worth;
But if there's not much of virtue,
If no spark of genius hot,
I must say, to do him justice,
That he sings a mighty lot.

He's my friend the Cricket Poet,
And he has no spreading wings,
But he's patient and he's earnest
With the cheery song he sings.
Critics cold may flout and jeer him,
Flay and lay him on the shelf,
But I'm always glad to hear him
For I cricket some myself.

HOME SEEKERS ARE STILL COMING TO GLENDALE

Notwithstanding the slight lull in business, there is a constant stream of prospective home owners coming to Glendale, according to Mr. Wernette of the firm of Wernette & Sawyer, 116 West Wilson street, this morning. It is Mr. Wernette's belief that Glendale will ever be a place that is sought after by the home buyer who wants the very best that is to be secured in Southern California, which means the entire country. Glendale, he says, is his idea of what an ideal home city should be like. It has everything a city should have and it lacks many features that a city is better without. It is clean, has good water, good air, honest administration, etc.

"I have traveled this country over and have never found a place I liked so well as I do Glendale," says Mr. Wernette. "A few years ago I motored from the east to Glendale and as I went along I compared the different towns and cities. Not one of them really appealed to me, until I struck Glendale, and here I decided to stay. The longer I live here the better I like the place and the people in it."

This firm is active at this time in building homes in Glendale and thereby making possible an increase in population. It is at this time building a five-room modern home on Salem street for W. Burshell. The interior of this home is being finished in white and gray enamel, and everything about the home is modern.

Also, a home is being erected for Lillian K. Clark on West Milford street, this to have an asbestos-stucco exterior, carrying crushed white marble and granite. This home will contain six rooms.

This company is also building a home on East Howard street for R. Robert Ladd, this to be a five-room home; and another for F. S. Boner at the corner of Olive and Wilson, this to be a six-room structure.

In all of these homes select 1/2-inch white oak flooring is used and all of them are models of convenience.

La Crescenta

LA CRESCENTA, May 1.—At the request of the American Legion boys of Tujunga, the community church held patriotic services Sunday evening, consisting of community singing followed by a patriotic sermon by the pastor, Rev. H. A. Kelso.

Tuesday, May 2, is the date of the Glendale high school bond election. La Crescenta has 25 students attending the Glendale Union high school and every citizen is urged to come out and support these bonds. Election will be held at the school house.

The members of the Drama section of the La Crescenta Woman's club were pleasantly entertained at the La Crescenta hotel, the guests of Mrs. Charles Turk, last Wednesday afternoon. A resume of John Drinkwater's play, "Abraham Lincoln," was given by Mrs. Turk, and was one of the most enjoyable features of the afternoon. At the next meeting the play will be read and discussed by the members.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Anderson of Montrose were hosts to a group of friends at dinner last Friday night at their home on Montrose avenue. Spring flowers were used decoratively and centered the table. Places were marked for eight.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reynolds motored to San Diego Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will visit Coronada and be away about a week.

A Year Ago Today

(From Glendale Daily Press, May 1, 1921)
The official notice of the election to be held on May 24 at which the citizens will be asked to vote $199,000 in bonds for the increase of the school system here is being made today.

At the meeting of the city trustees on Thursday night that body was given the opportunity by the Citizens' Building company to secure quarters on the mezzanine floor of the building to be erected at Brand and Harvard by that company. It was suggested that this space be used by the city as an information bureau.

The employees of the Harrower Laboratory on Friday prepared a birthday surprise for Dr. Henry Harrower, founder of the institution that bears his name.

The Elks' drill team, the White Star Patrol, held their first get-together meeting last night in the "jinks rooms" of the clubhouse. About 30 couples enjoyed the dancing and box lunches.

Glendale should be proud to know that the Brunswick shop has been awarded first prize for the best window display on the popular song hit, "Stealing."

Some time ago the Glendale shop as well as hundreds of other shops all over the country, put on clever displays carrying out the idea of "stealing." The local one was that of a California bungalow beautifully situated with lawn and flowers. In the yard were numerous kewpies dressed in overalls and other working apparel, and they were "stealing" the things in the house and hauling them away. In a rather inconspicuous corner were two lovers, one of course "stealing" the affections of the other. The window was a clever one indeed, and the $50 prize awarded was a national prize and not merely local. There are 150 Brunswick shops in this district alone, the district comprising the territory from Bakersfield south to San Diego.

WISCONSIN MEETING
A fine program is announced for the Wisconsin meeting tonight, May 1, in the Forum hall, 203 Mercantile Place. All Wisconsin people will be welcome whether members are not. Dancing will follow the entertainment.

WEST VIRGINIA SOCIETY
The West Virginia state society will meet in the Angelus Hotel hall, Spring and Fourth streets, Los Angeles, Tuesday evening, May 2. Capt. J. B. Alexander will preside and invites all from the state to attend.

ATTENTION! COFFEE DRINKERS

On account of Ralphs' policy of "Selling for Less," the local coffee packer and one San Francisco coffee packer have refused to sell their brands of coffee. This caused us to endeavor to obtain the highest quality coffee packed in the United States with which we could have the exclusive agency, thereby giving us the opportunity to retail the best coffee obtainable at a price made by ourselves and not a dictated price set by the packer or suggested by our competitors.
