FLOYD LESLIE BRADLEY

HUGH A. CARLISLE

WILLIAM LAMPTON (S. A. T. C.)

HOWARD E. MORROW

(KILLED IN ACTION)

Machine Gunner 34th Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary force. Was killed Sept. 26, 1918, as he volunteered to bring in wounded during a terrific barrage. Was surrounded by German machine guns, and single handed put three of them out of commission in the last moments of his life. During his service at the front he accounted for sixteen German enemies. Howard Morrow was a young man of fine spirit and a courageous fighter. He was cited different times for bravery under fire, was commended by the American and the British Red Cross, and was awarded the Belgian War Cross. He was the only student of the University of New Mexico to lose his life in action.

THEY LIE IN FRANCE WHERE LILIES BLOOM

They lie in France
Where lilies bloom;
Those flowers pale
That guard each tomb
Are saintly souls
That smiling stand
Close by them in
That martyred land,

And mutely there, the long night shadows creep
From quiet hills to mourn for them who sleep,
While o'er them through the dusk go silently
The grieving clouds that slowly drift to sea,
And lately round them moaned the winter wind
Whose voice, lamenting, sounds so coldly kind,
Yet in their faith those waiting hearts abide
The time when turns forever that false tide.

In France they lie
Where lilies bloom,
Those flowers fair
For them made room.
Not vainly placed,
The crosses stand
Within that brave
And stricken land;
Their honor lives,
Their love endures,
Their noble death
The right assures,

For they shall have their hearts' desire
They who, unflinching, braved the fire,
Across the fields their eyes at last shall see
Through clouds and mist the hosts of victory.

OUR SERVICE FLAG.

Oh, wondrous service stars!
With effulgence each one gleams,
The shrine of our devotions,
And the Mecca of our dreams.

Our dauntless soldier lads,
And sailors, strong and true,
In night's black skies above,
Those stars shone there for you.

Your beacon in the world's great war,
Your pilot o'er the sea,
As through tumultuous storms and strife,
You marched to Victory.

Oh, loyal sons of U. N. M.!
Thank God for stars that shine
Undimmed by sorrow's sable clouds,
Kept bright by Power Divine.

Oh, hallowed golden stars!
Your bright memorial rays
Proclaim the noblest sacrifice,
And dawn of peaceful days.

Old Glory's red and white and blue
Still triumphs as of old,
And mingles with the honored flag
With stars of blue and gold.

They glow 'neath cloudless skies,
Against the mountain walls,
Amid the magic western spell—
Out where the vast plain calls.

Our Alma Mater's heroes brave!
A star for each one gleams
In this, our cherished service flag,
Blest Mecca of our dreams.

Dedication

The record of the students of the University of New Mexico in flocking to the colors at the declaration of war with Germany, speaks eloquently of their fine spirit of patriotism and their larger thought of humanity. Many of the men were overseas and experienced the suffering of the trenches, some were wounded, three died of disease, and one was killed in action. The University men who were not sent over were eager to go, that they might also serve with those nations who in a desperate struggle heroically fought to secure peace for the world, against the most ferocious enemy ever known among civilized nations.

To the men who went, to the men who were ready to go, and to the women of the University who served so faithfully in their various ways, this service book is cordially and sincerely dedicated.

Dr. DAVID R. BOYD

Resigned as President of the University, June 30, 1919. Succeeded by

MAJOR DOUGLAS W. JOHNSON.
Special Mission to Europe for Government.

Major Douglas W. Johnson

U. N. M. Class of 1901. Extended educational career. Professor of Physiography in Columbia University, New York City.

During the war Dr. Johnson was sent to Europe under the direction of Colonel House. He visited the most important battle fronts, including the Yser, Vimy Ridge, Somme region, Chemin des Dames, Verdun, the Marne, the Vosges sectors, the high Alpine front, the Piave river in Italy, and the fronts in Albania, Macedonia and Greece. His experience included trips on torpedo destroyers in the Adriatic, airplane flights in Italy and Albania, and a big submarine battle off the coast of Ireland. The ship in which he was taking passage was missed by a torpedo only seven yards.

Major Johnson served in Paris as Chief of the Division of Boundary Geography on the American Peace Commission working with various other commissions and sub-commissions in the effort to determine the new boundaries for Europe. In connection with his position he attended meetings of the Big Ten, and of the full Peace Conference. While working especially under the direction of Colonel House, he had conferences with Mr. White, Mr. Lansing, General Bliss and President Wilson, and came in close touch, officially and socially, with most of the National leaders of the various countries represented at the great Peace Conference in Paris.

MAJOR J. G. MAXON.

U. N. M. Dept. Education Class of 1901. Physician in Illinois. Commissioned First Lieutenant Medical Reserve Corps April 10, 1912. Attended first training camp held for medical reserve corps officers in 1915. Assigned to Springfield, Ill., June 24, 1916 where Illinois National Guard were examined before going to the Border. Surgeon 3rd U. S. Infantry, Eagle Pass, Texas. Assistant to attending surgeon, Chicago, Ill., after declaration of war. Surgeon of 4th U. S. Cavalry at Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, June to December, 1917. Promoted to Captain Medical Corps June 28, 1917. Surgeon 9th Field Artillery at Ft. Sill, Okla. Commissioned as Major Medical Corps March 20, 1918. Assistant to Division Surgeon Camp Dodge, Iowa, 19th Division, training medical officers and enlisted men. Following demobilization after the armistice, Major Maxon was appointed Assistant Camp Surgeon of Camp Dodge, Iowa.

University War Activities

When war was declared, April 6, 1917, the State University of New Mexico began at once to seek the best ways of co-operation with the government in a work of world wide interest.

The first step was to release a number of young men to return to their homes for the purpose of tilling the soil in response to the call for larger food production. Some were successful in raising acreage crops of beans, and other products.

Many men of the student body and some from the faculty enlisted to enter training for direct army and navy service.

When it was decided to locate the National Guard at Albuquerque the University offered its 350-acre campus for the location of barracks and for use as training grounds, and the offer was accepted. The famous Battery A which did such valiant service overseas was a part of the military organization stationed on the campus and strenuously active in the summer of 1917. It being at the time of vacation the college buildings were practically turned over to the National Guard authorities for such uses as might be desired, and dormitories and cottages were occupied as residences by officers.

Several acres of the campus were converted into a war garden and large quantities and varieties of vegetables were produced.

The curriculum of the University was freely changed for the purpose of adjusting to war conditions and providing for more practical courses, such as home nursing and Red Cross work, and to give more intelligent help in the conservation of food, dietetic courses were offered. The four-quarter system was adopted by the faculty, making the college work practically continuous throughout the year.

During the summer quarter a series of evening lectures was given at the University by members of the faculty on war topics. To these lectures citizens as well as students were invited.

Throughout the year a number of assemblies were held, for which able speakers were secured, many being from the army service of the allied nations, who were here to present war problems and to augment interest in things essential to winning the war.

LIEUT. CHARLES H. LEMBKE.

U. N. M. Class of 1912. 1st Lieutenant 364th Infantry. Enlisted in N. M. N. G. May 16, 1917, and was sent overseas soon after. Participated in some of the bitterest and fiercest battles of the war. At Audenarde, Belgium, Nov. 3, 1917, his company was fired into by German airplane machine guns at near range. Lieut. Lembke was severely wounded, being shot in the head, suffering the breakage of the lower jaw bone. He was officially reported to his parents as having been killed in action, but later corrected the report himself, and has made remarkable recovery at different hospitals in France, England, and the United States.

In the class rooms discussions of an interesting and enthusiastic character frequently revolved around war topics and the great problems of reconstruction.

A branch of the Red Cross was organized by University women and a great amount of work, such as knitting, making bandages, etc., was done.

Assistance was given by University representatives in various Red Cross, War Work and Liberty Bond drives in Albuquerque, and students aided at different meetings in the city by singing and by taking part in various patriotic demonstrations and processions.

Several representatives from the student body and one from the faculty were sent to the Presidio at San Francisco, for the military training offered by the government in the summer months.

The columns of the University papers, the Weekly, and the News, were open at all times for disseminating war information.

President David R. Boyd represented the University during the war period at different national conferences of war workers in various parts of the country.

The University opened its doors October 1, 1918, practically on a military basis in connection with the Students' Army Training Corps established on the campus, where it used the barracks and grounds formerly occupied by the National Guard of New Mexico. About 160 young men registered for military training in addition to college courses. So far as possible special courses were offered that would meet the needs of the S. A. T. C. Among these were war geography and military history. Although the work of the term for the S. A. T. C. men was greatly disturbed by the prevalence of Spanish influenza, considerable was accomplished before the order was issued for demobilization.

When the call came for nurses in the city of Albuquerque and at the soldiers' camps because of the ravages of the epidemic of influenza, a number of University girls responded, some of them contracting the disease, while giving their services.

The University came forward with a creditable showing in the United War Work Campaign, considering the influenza quarantine, the heavy expense of new members of the faculty just moving to Albuquerque, and the fact that many of the men at the S. A. T. C. camp were not yet inducted and were on their own expense. Friday afternoon, November 8, the girls from the dormitory and the sororities and the S. A. T. C. men, those who were not then under quarantine, attended a meeting in Rodey hall, which was addressed by Mr. G. R. Phillips, a Northwestern University man, who had been in the service of the English Y. M. C. A., at the battle front. At this special meeting and following, the faculty and students subscribed $1,258.50 to the War Work fund.

MAJOR M. C. HARDING.

Physician in San Diego. Commissioned Major in Medical Corps July 19, 1918. In command of Hospital Unit 162. Was prepared for overseas duty. Order revoked after armistice. Chief of Orthopedics, Fractures and Chronic Arthritis, Camp Lewis, Wash.

In the drive for the Fifth Liberty Loan the University's committee of young women students under direction of Mrs. W. H. Long deserve special mention. The members of the team were: Frances Bear, Claire Bursum, Maurine Reagan, Joy Spruce, Margaret Lee, Anne Harris, Annette Jacobson, Estelle (Harris) Rogers and Dorothy Ohmart. The aggregate sale of bonds by the committee was $122,000.

The service flag displays 395 stars, of which number 136 represent the S. A. T. C. enrollment. Four gold stars have found place on the flag so far as reports have been received regarding the death of men in the service. One of these occurred in the University camp of the S. A. T. C. from influenza and pneumonia.

As in all other institutions so on the campus of the University of New Mexico, enthusiastic and patriotic discussions by faculty and students hinged on the progress of the war, interest in victory, and the necessity of profound thought in settling the problems of reconstruction.

MAJOR CLARENCE E. HEALD.

56th A. T. Coast Artillery Corps. In command of 56th Ammunition Train, C. A. C. Stationed at Camp Eustis, Va. Reported his command ready for overseas two days prior to signing of armistice. Major Heald was one of the youngest men in the army to receive the rank of major.

Demobilizing the Service Flag

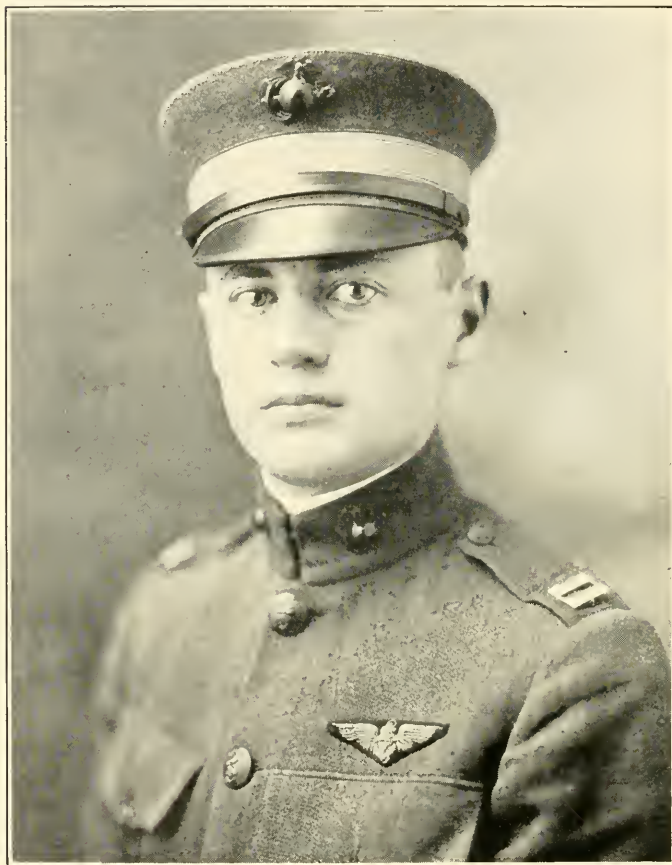

Following the commencement exercises in Rodey hall, June 12th, 1919, came the impressive ceremony of demobilizing the University service flag.

His Excellency Governor O. A. Larrazolo in an eloquent address paid a glowing tribute to the University boys who joined the colors. He said the University contributed not only men, but men of knowledge, men of worth, and men whose mental horizon had been broadened by education. They performed their duties well and cast luster on the name of America and the Stars and Stripes. They played their part well in the defense of human liberty.

At the close of his address the Governor declared the service flag demobilized, and Prof. C. E. Hodgkin conducted the ceremony of placing the gold stars and silver bars. He announced that three University men had lost their lives overseas, and one, William Lampton, at the S. A. T. C. Camp, and in their honor four gold stars were entitled to a place on the service flag. As a part of the ceremony Misses Maurine Reagan and Helen Darrow, chosen by the R. O. T. C., placed the stars upon the red border of the flag. The three men who died in service overseas were Hugh A. Carlisle, Floyd Bradley and Howard E. Morrow, the first two having died of pneumonia and the last being the only U. N. M. soldier killed in action. Howard E. Morrow lost his life in Sept., 1918, as he volunteered to go out and bring in wounded during a terrific barrage. He was surrounded by machine guns and in the last few moments, single handed, put three of them out of commission by bombs, before the shot came that silenced him. In all he had accounted for 16 German soldiers. His bravery under fire was mentioned by the American and the British Red Cross and he was awarded the Belgian Cross of War.

After reading the beautiful poem, "They Lie Where Lilies Bloom," Prof. Hodgkin called for a few moments of silent tribute for our men who sleep in France. He then called attention to the service flag representing 395 regular service men of which 136 were enrolled in the University Student's Army Training Corps.

War was declared by the United States April 6, 1917, and on April 21, the U. N. M. men began to enlist. John S. Powell being the first to call for his dismissal in order to enter the service. For each six months the men were in the service, the flag is entitled to a silver bar. At this announcement the young ladies placed upon the flag beneath the golden stars, four silver bars.

LIEUT. WILLARD J. CHAMBERLIN.

State Entomologist, Oregon. Graduated from school of military aeronautics at Berkeley, Calif., Aug. 1, 1917. Passed Reserve Military Aviator's test Oct. 20, 1917. Commissioned 1st Lieutenant January, 1918, with 141st Aero Squadron. In England, France, and Italy. Twice flew the English Channel delivering planes from Paris to London. In St. Miheil and Argonne offensives doing reconnaissance and photography work. In second day of St. Miheil drive with his observer, under great difficulties, carried out the longest reconnaissance over German territory of any American aviators. As a voluntary mission for flying at low altitude over enemy lines for certain information he received the Cross of War and later the Palm, from the French. Brought down three enemy planes. Attempted to deliver messages to the famous "Lost Battalion" in the Argonne woods. Lieut. Chamberlin was recommended three different times for the Distinguished Service Cross.

na, Paul P. Mozley, Orion McMain, Ralph O. Hernandez, Harold Booker, Ernest W. Hall.

The following messages received by Miss Hickey, chairman of committee on Invitations, represent the splendid spirit of the boys toward the University:

Invitations had been sent U. N. M. soldiers to attend the reunion on the occasion of demobilizing the flag. A few only could be present and they were cordially welcomed, but a goodly list of messages of greeting and loyalty came to the U. N. M.

Telegrams were received from the following men: Lieut. Frank Gouin, Lieut. Dick Upton, Lieut. W. E. Grimmer, Lieut. Chas. H. Lembke, C. E. Aydelotte, Lieut. Fred Luthy, Ensign W. B. Wroth and Lieut. J. S. Wroth, Laurie Vauchellet, Glenn W. Dunning, Lieut. Everett P. Brewer, Ensign Milan Doering, Major C. E. Heald.

Letters came from Sgt. R. C. Thompson, Post Adjutant Carl D. Brorein, Lieut. Howard R. Fullerton, Everett H. Tipton, Lieut. Louis Nohl, G. A. Threlkeld, E. T. Dunlap, Pietro Sinesio, Joseph E. Hannum, Lee Toothaker, Sgt. George L. Butler, Earl A. Gerhardt, R. J. McCanna, CAPTAIN PAUL M. CLIVER.

Physician in Chicago. Medical Corps Base Hospital, Camp Custer, Mich. Special surgical war work at Rockefeller Institute.

Captain Carl Brorein—"The flag service will be unique. If there is any message I can give for one of the stars, it is a message of honor and reverence for the men who did not come back; a message of best wishes for the University; a message of cheer for the alumni and old students who are fortunate enough to be able to return for the reunion."

Ensign M. L. Doering—"Hello U. N. M. Though thousands of miles away my heart is with you on this memorable day, and I am proud to be one of U. N. M. Just as you came out on top during the past trying two years, so you will succeed forever. My message is, keep up the good work, carry on."

Major C. E. Heald—"To my comrades in arms, to the faculty of the University and to my former student associates I send heartiest greetings. I warmly appreciate the interest our alma mater has taken in those who have been with the colors. It has been a great satisfaction to have had a place in her service flag. Be assured of my lasting loyalty to the University and to the friendship it has fostered."

Ralph O. Hernandez—"My best wishes to you and to the exercises the greatest success. May they be the commencement of a period of greater and better things for the University."

Ernest W. Hall—"The University has reasons to be proud of its part in the world war and the soldiers who once represented the "Cherry and Silver" will appreciate the institution's steps to honor them."

Harold Booker—"I'll be a student again in U. N. M., next fall. After the demobilization we can all go ahead and give our utmost to the University. May the boys of the University who helped win the great victory for the Red, White and Blue, be as successful in winning victory for the "Cherry and Silver."

Word was received from others for Lyman Putney, Charles Gerhardt, Paul Simmons and Harry Towner.

Students' Army Training Corps

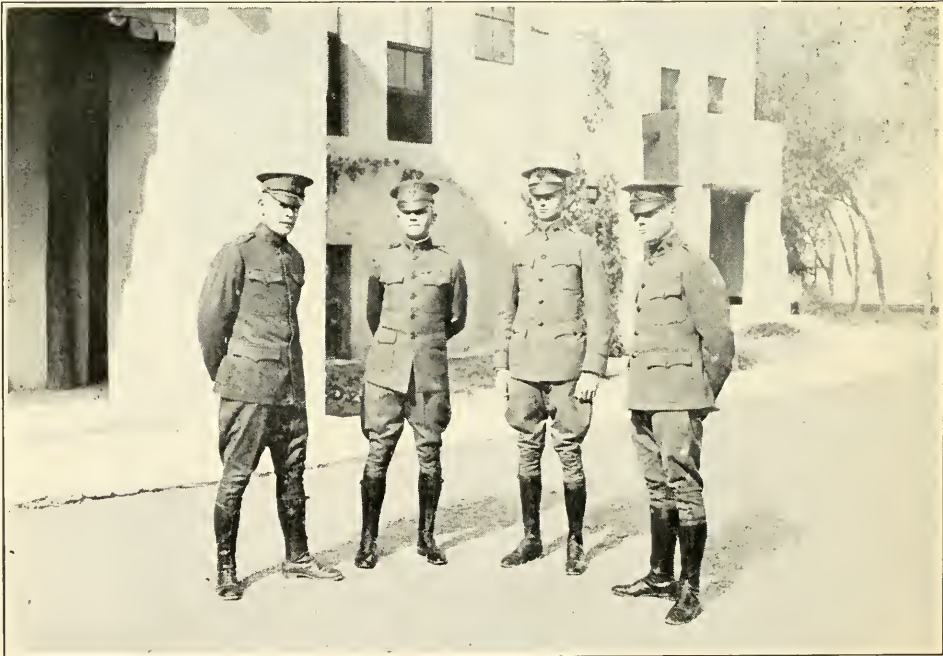

The Students' Army Training Corps was in operation at the University of New Mexico for a period of about three months during the fall quarter of 1918. It was established as a part of the nation-wide plan of the War Department to develop the young men in the colleges as a military asset, and it was expected that this would be accomplished by providing military instruction under the supervision of the War Department.

All able bodied students above 18 years were encouraged to enlist in the S. A. T. C. and students who were enlisted were members of the army of the United States, and subject to active service at the call of the President. Students were quartered in barracks located on the University campus, and were under military discipline at all times.

All members of the S. A. T. C. were supposed to carry their regular college work along with military instruction, but on account of the influenza epidemic and the confusion which came with the establishment of the unit, very little was accomplished. However, there is no doubt that the net results of the S. A. T. C. were beneficial, and the disadvantages can well be balanced against a sincere desire on the part of students, faculty, and everyone connected with the University, to do the most patriotic thing under the then existing emergency.

Reserve Officers' Training Corps

J. P. WILLIAMS, Registrar

The R. O. T. C. is a plan of military training designed to unite the best features of both military and civil instruction and does not conflict in any way with the choice of work in the regular University curriculum.

The present plan provides that all physically qualified male students shall take this military training for the first two years.

Credit will be given on the same basis as for other courses and work will be given according to the needs of the various students, some of whom have had previous service in the Army and Navy. Students are furnished with uniforms and all military equipment free of charge, and if a student wishes to continue the military work during the last two years of his college course he will receive approximately $150.00 per year, to apply on his college expenses.

Military discipline will be observed only during drill periods and it will not be required that students wear uniforms except during drill, although they can be worn at other times if students so desire. A condensed statement of the work includes minor tactics, infantry or cavalry drill, use of compass, map reading, military history of the United States, study of the field service regulations, manual of small arms firing, troop leading problems, physical drill leading, sand table problems in patrolling, a course of limited reading in the military department of the University library, organization of the army, trench warfare, company administration, military law and Courts Martial.

It is expected that the University will have both a Motor unit and an Infantry unit, beginning with the Fall Quarter 1919-1920. Opportunity will be given for students to attend an instruction center, under Government management and in this way secure advanced instruction in courses that appertain to motor machinery.

Students completing satisfactorily the four years of R. O. T. C. work will have specialized training that will be of great value to them, and they will be listed with the War Department as Second Lieutenants Reserve Corps, U. S. A., and will probably be used in time of war.

University Credit for Military Service

On a similar basis as that of the State Universities of Illinois and of California, the faculty of the U. N. M. has taken action with reference to giving college credit to its returned soldiers and sailors for their military service.

The basis upon which credit will be given is as follows:

For military service as a private or officer:

Three months or more, 8 hours.

Two and three months, 4 hours.

Officers' training camp or technical training camp:

One hour credit for each week in camp, a maximum of twelve hours being allowed.

By this plan it is possible for some students to obtain at most 16 hours credit. This credit will be given, however, only upon recommendation of the R. O. T. C. commanding officer and of the committee on student standing. A student must make application before any credit is granted.

Another provision is that the student must have been registered at this university or some other college of the same standing previous to entering the service, and must be in good standing in the school.

The Spirit of the American Legion

Expressed in the Preamble to Its Constitution

For God and Country we associate ourselves together for the following purposes:

To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state, and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good-will on earth; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness; and to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom, and democracy.

THE CREED OF THE DISABLED SOLDIER

“Once more to be useful—to see pity in the eyes of my friends replaced with commendation—to work, produce, provide, and to feel that I have a place in the world—seeking no favors and given none—a MAN among MEN in spite of this physical handicap.”

THE KAISER ONCE SAID

“There is but one master in this country; it is I, and I will tolerate no other.

“Looking upon myself as the instrument of the Lord, regardless of the views and opinions of the hour, I go on my way.

“Who opposes me I shall crush to pieces. All of you have only one will, and that is my will; there is only one law and that is my law.”

GREAT SOLDIERS HAVE SAID

“Duty belongs to us, conclusions to God.”—Stonewall Jackson.

“God’s will ought to be our aim and I am quite content that his design should be accomplished, and not mine.”—Robert E. Lee.

“Let us try to learn above everything else how to fight, be beaten, fight again and keep at it until at last we win.”—George Washington.

“Patriotism is that majestic emotion which makes you rise superior to all obstacles, support all weariness willingly, accept all discipline and joyfully face all dangers.”—Marshal Joffre.
