What Thompson & Duny Propose To Do This Fall-David Belasco Home From London-News Items of Gen-Interest Gleaned Along The

AVID Beiasco, the high priest of the theatrical "Nonconformista," arrived from a hrief visit to London on Wednesday morning, He immediately entered into a conference with the Shu berts and Harrison Grey Fiske, and it is reason berts and Harrison Grey Fiske, and it is reasonable to presume that some interesting developments in the general situation, theatrically, may soon be forthcoming. That the Belasco-Fiske-Shubert "community of interests," as it has been officially entitled by one of the leading apirits in the move, comprises a formidable allance cannot be questioned. That there is brains, originality and capacity for producing results no one can deny. And, best of all, it would seem that the theatrical traternity at large and the showgoing public in general will vastly benefit by the new aillance. Hence, why not wish them auccess in their altgether commendable purpose?

The Leapfrog Rallroad, at Dream-The Leapfrog Kallroad, at Dream-land, which was put in operation for the en-joyment of the Fourth of July crush at Coney Island, is an oddity in transportation and pro-vides a new sensation. Two cars atart simul-taneously from opposite points on a railroad track, and when the cara reach the center of the track they do not collide and throw the pasaengers out, but instead one car rides over the her. The ascent is like riding on the crest a wave, while the descent is not unlike drop-ng into the trough of the sea in rough weather.

In the cast of The Helr to The Hoo-In the cast of The Heir to the rooman, at the Hudson, on last Monday night, three changes took place. Jane Payton succeeded Beverly Sitgraves as Kate Brandon, Louise Rutter took the place of Norah Lamson, as Madge Casey, and Ernest Lamson assumed the role of Dave Lacy in place of John W. Cope.

Tommy Burnette has signed with W. Nankeville to join Haverly's Minatrels, the son opening at the Lyric Theatre, Hoboken.

Punch Wheeler sends me some un-miatakable evidences of his usefulness as press representative with the Floto Showa, now touring the middle west.

The first of the Savage attractions to take to the road will be The College Widow, which begins its season at Chicago on July 31. The company which played the long engagement at the Garden Theatre last year will be taken to the weatern city.

+0+ Rose Coghlan's special engagement at Rose Coghlan's special engagement at the Fifth Avenue Theatre will terminate with presentations of London Assurance, this week. Fonrth of July week was made memorable by her return to the legitimate, as Stephanie, in Forget-Me-Not. Beginning July 17 Chrystal and Julie Herne, daughters of the late and truly lamented James A. Herne, will play Richter's Wife for one week. Then Robert T. Haines will be the stock star in Once Upon a Time. With the opening of the regular season Manager Proctor will change the policy of the Fifth Avenue by the introduction of a snperior stock company, playing six nights and two matinees a week.

About the first part of the new production he was willing to tell little. A Song of The Flowers, he said, would succeed the ballet The Dance of The Hours, and of the gorgeous beauty of the new dance he waxed eloquent. M. Alof the new dance he waxed eloquent. M. Af-fredo Edel, the famous Paria and Milan de-signer, has the costuming of the bailet, and of the rest of the performance in charge. He was Mr. Thompson's companion during much of the trip. The Raiders will be followed by The Daya of '49, which will depict that stirring period of American history. One scene will show a mining town with all its characteristic detail. Indians from the western reservations will participate in a battle in which the water stage of the Hippodrome will be employed.

Mr. Thompson spent most of his visit Mr. Thompson spent most of his visit abroad in an antonobile. He toured England, Germany, France and Austria, and few big or little cities or shows escaped his attention. A short stay in Carlsbad, ostensibly for health and quiet, gave him opportunity to perfect the plana for the new Hippodrome production. He has preyed upon dozens of European enterprises for resonant and in his abreese his preyed upon dozens of European enterprises for performers of renown, and in his absence his agents have been ransacking this country for arenic atara. He placea much faith upon the reception which the Patty Franks will receive in this country. They are the most famous acrobatic troupe of all Europe, and Mr. Thompson secured their signatures to contracts only after a year's unceasing effort. They have been a sensation in France for months. Mile. Claire Hetiot will come from Berlin. Sixteen lions will be her escort, and the exhibition which she gives ise iter escort, and the exhibition which she gives with the "kings of the forest" surpasses in skill and daring, it is declared, anything ever produced here. Teresa Renz, granddanghter of Ernest Renz, who founded the German circuses which bear his name, will be seen at the same time. She is described as the greatest horsewoman of all Europe. Mile, Marquis will bring her eight trained cols from Paris, where she is her eight trained cobs from Paris, where she is now a reigning aensation. The Bonhair-Gregory Troupe, who perform a "risley" act, such as America has never been privileged to witness, were persnaded to come to the Hippodrome. Their exhibition is named after its originator, Richard Rialey, and consists of balancing human weights on the feet.

Mr. Thompson is enthusiastically sanguine over the plana he has completed for the second llippodrome production. He is con-vinced that it will completely overshadow the success of the first performance of the big playhouse. Many of his European performers will arrive to take their places in the production of A Yankee Circus on Mars before its removal.

Luna Park, he said, would receive from Europe

This occupa-tion will keep him employed during the sum-mer, but he is already casting longing eyes upon mer, but he is already casting longing eyes upon an engagement in Chicago when the regular season opens. I learn that he is in negotiation for the management of llyde & Behmann'a Theatre, which is slowly struggling out from under ita baneful memories as the ill-fated iroquola. And who, better than genial Jim Hutton, could be chosen to restere that honse to the confidence of Chicagoana? His many years spent there as manager of theatrea, his wide acquaintance with Chicago'a theatregoing public, and his years of comradship with Chicago's newspaper men would seem to especially fit him for an arduous task. Atlantic City is now the Mecca of New York music publishers. Jules Von Tilzer and Joe Hollander started the movement and every publisher in the metropolia has sent or will send "boosters" to that famous resort. It is presumed that the thousands who frequent the boardwalk will have every song hit of the season dinned into their ears, and visitors will return to their homes with enough "familiar" melodies to last them a lifetime. No thought is given as to how they shall tell "which is which," for music publishers are faithful devotees of the "bread on the water" theory that it will all eventually come back buttered.

Fiossle Crane, a singer with an un-Flossie Crane, a singer with an un-usual voice, has become a bone of Court con-tention. Oscar Hammerstein heard her aing at a concert hall in Concy Island, and the unusual quality of her voice prompted him to engage and exploit her as a summer novelty at Para-dise Roof. Now comes into Court Chas. E. Smith, who owns the resort where Flossie was Smith, who owns the resort where Flossie was employed, with a claim that she viclated contract with him when she left to join Han merstein's aerial entertainment. Thus do son have greatness thrust npon them.

THREE GREAT GENERALS

Return From Foreign Lands With Victors' Spoils In The Struggle For The Best Theatrical Productions.

The recent return from the continent of Messrs. Frederic W. Thompson, Marc Klaw and David Belasco is attended with interesting announcements as to the future of much of New York's amusements. After spending seven weeks in London, Paris, Berlin Vienna and Carisbad, Mr. Thompson arrived on board the Kalser Wilhelm II., going direct to Luna Park. The inland trip being primarily for the purpose of securing noveitles, the traveling was done in an automobile. While at Carisbad Mr. Thompson wrote and designed the new show which is to go on at the Hippodrome this fall, when the show recently closed is to be transferred to the new hippodrome to be erected in Chicago. In place of the spectacle called The Ralders, the new show in the New York house will have a spectacle entitled The Days of '49, one scene of which will show a mining camp in the early days. A number of genuine Indians will participate. A new ballet, entitled The Song of The Flowers, promises to excel everything yet attempted. Among the number of new acts booked by Mr. Thompson for the Hippodrome were Mile. Claire Hetiot, a beautiful ilon tamer, whose sixteen iions do something entirely new. Teresa Renz, the famous European horsewoman, was signed by Mr. Thompson, iions do something entirely new. Te-resa Renz, the famous European horses-woman, was signed by Mr. Thompson, as were the Bonhair-Gregory Troupe, Patty Franks Troupe and three big aer-lal acts, which wili be given in one. A number of new acts were also secured for Luna Park, but regarding them Mr. Thompson was reticent. Orders were given for the commencement of work which will be commencement of work upon the new Chlcago Hippodrome, which will be completed November 1.

Mr. Klaw arrived on board the Kaiser Wilhelm, going at once to the New Amsterdam Theatre, where his plans were laid before and approved by Mr. Erlanger. Mr. Klaw spent most of his week.

Frederic W. Thompson, of the firm of Thompson & Dundy, managing directors of the Illippodrome and owners of Luna Park, returned from a seven weeks' tour abroad on the Fourth of July, bringing news of contracts with all kinds of performers for the winter acason at the Hippodrome, and with the definite a nonnement of the catablishment of a llippodrome in Chicago. The latter information sets at rest the gossip which has centered in the disposition of A Yankee Circus on Mars and The Raiders. These two big productions will be loaded on twenty-five seventy foot cars on November I, and conveyed intact to the western city. A sit has been selected—Mr. Thompson has well in mental preparation, and former early in September, and hold the board and frame of last season will open the llippodrome and owners for the winter show, which Mr. Thompson has well in mental preparation.

The Story of The Motion Picture-Visit to The Selig Polyscope Company.

HICAGO is the radiating center of the motion picture business in the l'nited States. With the exception of the telephone and phonograph no invention of the past century has become as popular with the public as motion pictures. There is not a hamlet or collection of a dozen business anywhere in the civilized world these hames anywhere in the civilized world these hames. houses anywhere in the civilized world that has nonses anywhere in the critized world that has not had a moving picture show within the past five years, and certainly not a theatre in the world that has not at some time either shown the pictures or furnished the talent for new

Yet with ail this popularity-and moving pictures are growing in favor everywhere—the general idea as to their origin, their manu-facture and even their projection is very vague indeed. Probably not one person out of a hundred can explain why it is impossible hundred can explain why it is impossible to take au ordinary photograph, copy it and make a motion film. A few realize that a motion film can only be made from actual me-tion, but they can not tell why. The general impression is that "it is some kind of machine invented by Edison," and that is the extent invented by Edison," and that is the extent of their knowledge.

As a matter of fact, Edison did not invent motion pictures. After others had put machines on the market he also appeared with the old vitascope in 1895, the same year, but some months ister than the cinematographs of Lumiere of Paris. Jenkins, it appears from records, invented the phantoscope some time previous and exhibited it at the International Exhibition at Atlanta and the Franklin Institute. But this is comparatively recent history.

But this is comparatively recent history.

Undoubtedly the original moving picture was a circular card with a hird painted on one side and a cage on the other. When the card is revolved the bird appears to have flown into the cage. Then came the soctrope, with the revolving cylinder and view of picturea through narrow alits. Then after centuries, probably, came Picateau of Ghent, and Stamphes of Vienna, the former calling his machine a picnakestoscope, and the latter a stroboscope. These machines appeared in 1832 and were, of course, very crude and complements. machines appeared in 1832 and were, of course, very crude and cumbersome, but they actually made intermittent motion pictures on a single or multiple plate and covered the fundamental principles of motion photography as it is today. Other machines appeared from time to time until about 1875 Marcy and Janssen invented a photographic grue, in which expends of plate were anti about 1876 Marey and Janssen invented a photographic gun, in which a circular plate was moved by clockwork and a series of pictures taken along the outer edge. These were afterward printed and exhibited in a zoetrope.

The cinematograph and vitascope, and Jenkins' ma-chines were really the first practical projectors, chines were really the first practical projectors, although others antedating them were, in a measure, successful, but not in public. The vita-scope was a heavy, clunsy machine that carried fifty feet of film and required a motor to operate it. The cinematograph was a small, portable machine that not only projected the view, but it was likewise adapted to camera work and preinting as well. It was the first practical. as well. It was the first practical, omplete portable moving machine on the market, and a number of the original models are atill me a flood of patents and new mas. The public took to the new invention interest has steadily increased. Nothing can broaden the mind, educate the observer, or give the truthful details with the facility and accuracy of a motion picture. And yet no modern invention has given the facilities and opportunities for deception and mystery—as is shown timitles for deception and mystery—as is shown by the splendlid mystery pictures of today—when the eye apparently sees the absolutely impossible. But, fortunately, the public readily understands the deception and looks upon it as strictly a creation for amusement, and not as a fact. The truthful pictures, on the other hand, are likewise appreciated, and they are accepted literally, with a highly educational result.

To understand how these creations of fact and fun are built, we visited the extensive plant of the Selig Polyscope Co., 43 Peek Court, Clideago. Here Mr. William N. Selig, one of the ploneers in motion photography, and the inventor and patentee of the famous polyscope, not only gets up the chase pictures, but builds the camera with which they are nonde, the polysc pe with which they are shown and the films themselves. The first step in making a picture is to get the odd or story. This is written out at great gets from the abow. If the picture is unsteady and full of flicker the people will go away rub-ling their eyes and thoroughly dissatisfied. If the picture is smooth and sharp and steady there will be none of the unpleasant effects. As the screen is dark part of the time between each of the twenty pictures shown each accond. the period of darkness has a strong influence on the flicker, and it was to shorten this period that Mr. Selig applied himself very early in the work. He found that the star-wheel motion the orten this period in use on some machines was totally unreliable on account of its rapid wear, as well as its downess of motion and liability to run the film slowness of motion and liability to run the film off and perforate it on the sharp teeth. Mr. Sellg, therefore, adopted the pin motion, so successfully demonstrated abroad, and by making numerous improvements produced a machine absolutely steady and free from flicker, striking a happy medium between the very fast, intermittent motion, and the lower one which makes the pictures aecm as steady as stereopticon sildes. So successful has the pin motion become that all tilm makers now use it in their cameras, but occasionally use the starwheel in order to cheapen and simplify manifacture. It may be menorasionally use the starwheel in order to cheapen and simplyfy manufacture. It may be men-tioned here that the star-wheel is by no means an invention of Edison's, but was used for many years as a stop on the winding barrels of Geneva watches and music boxes.

To more fully understand the theory of motion and its speed, Mr. Selig Intermittent intermittent motion and its speed, Mr. Selig gare us the following technical explanation:

"When we see an object its image is formed in the depth of our eye and is momentarily photographed on the nervous membrane, which is called the retina. If the object be suddenly removed or darkened, its image fadea from our vision gradually, and the optic nerve being still affected, our eye persists in seeing the object as if it had neither been removed or darkened. The duration of this impression varies eccording to the intensity of the light upon the according to the intensity of the light upon the object; under ordinary circumstances it is about two-fifty-fourths of a second; in such a manner that the visibility of an object, which has suddenly been darkened, is prolonged of two-fity-fourths of a second. The result is that if a lighted object is placed before our eye, and is ddenly hidden or removed during only one suddenly hidden or removed during only one-fifty-fourth of a second, its image will remain in our eye during one-fifty-fourth of a second, and we cannot perceive its momentary disap-pearance. Supposing that the successive posi-tions of an object in motion be photographed upon a strip of film at intervals of one-eighteenth (three-fifty-thirda) of a second. The different photographs obtained are alike, that is to say, that if we place one of them noon the other, the parts which represent fixed objects are got the parts which represent fixed objects are got again exactly, while those corresponding with the object in motion occupy positions, the flight of which measures in some way the removal accomplished between the instants when the two photographs were taken.

Then, supposing that during the time of the passing of the shutter we substitute picture No. 2 in place of No. 1, when the shutter opens the luminous group again, we will still continue to retain for one-fifty-fourth of a second the impression of image No. 1, upon which the image No. 2 is atrongly super 1, upon which the image No. 2 is atrongly super-imposed, and as the motionless objects exactly coincide, our eye witi perceive only the slightly changed attitude of the moving object in picture No. 2 succeeding to picture No. 1. In the same manner we substitute picture after picture, un-til we get to No. 1,000, and the eye will have before it during these substitutions the object on during its various attitudes from 1 to

There are but few events in theatri-There are but few events in theatri-cals to record this week. Madame Bernhardt produced Victor Hugo's Angelo, Tyrant of Pa-dua, at the Coronet on Monday. To Londonera it was a great surprise when they heard at the beginning of the year that this somewhat out-worn formula had been revived. Angelo belongs to the period early in the 19th century (1830 onwards), when Victor Hugo was showing most onwards), when Vtctor Hngo was showing most decidedly his romantic tendencies, and showing them in a very exaggerated form. After his verse romances, Hernani and Le Roi e'amuse, Hugo produced three dramaa in the humbler garb of prose—Lucretia Borgia, Marie Tudor and Angelo. They are not piecea which add very much to Hugo's fame, despite the generons adulation they have received from the pen of Algernon Charles Swinburne. With history they have little or nothing to do. Prohatily no more daring violation of historical facts was ever seen on the boards than Hugo's version of Marie Tudor. Angelo is no better than ita dramatic brethren; in some respecta it is even worse. The stormy Castle of Otranto vehemence of Victor Hugo requires a setting of decidedly his romantic tendencies, and showing mence of Victor Hugo requires a setting of lyric melody to make it even palatable for the present generation. What is found in the essentially prosaic Angelo is an accumulation of all the old stale devices which can be conpresent generation. What is found in the essentially prosaic Angelo is an accumulation of all the old stale devices which can be connected with melodrams. Everything is therepoison, swords, secret corridors, narcotics, the mysterious key, "the cross of my mother." and all the rest of the outworn and faded rubbish. Here are to be found the conventional charac-ters—the feroclous tyrant, the prescribed young ters—the feroclous tyrant, the prescribed young hero, the traitor and villain, the triumphant comedy actress, who is so superior to all the grand ladles and gentlemen. The ear grows weary with listening to the old crusted phrases: "Do you know what it is to be a mother?" "You have only one hour to decide." "This woman must die." "What am I, Madame? I am a comedienne." "She ealled me a spy, vengeance, vengeance." "The Council of Ten? Ah! Speak low, speak low."

The astonishing thing is that Madame Sarah Bernhardt could breathe anything approaching justice. And yet, Madame Sarah Bernhardt, in the character of LaTisbe, made a profound impression, especially in the earlier parts of

JEANNETTE HELLER

Misa Jeanette Heller is the leading prima donna with the Castle Square Stock Co., under the management of Mr. E. Lawrence McCartiny. Sie is the possessor of a high and powerful soprano, well cultivated. Her graceful presence and modest display of accomplishments have gained for her a distinction in the world of mustc. Miss Heller's work is marked with careful and conactentiona study. She aceka no greater reward than the knowledge that her work is appreciated. Although ahe has been on the operatic stage but a few seasons, she ts enjoying a very successful career. Last acason Miss Heller stage on of the leading roles of Henry W. Savage's Parsifal. Though ahe has had many offers for tours abroad Miss Heller will remain under Mr Savage's management next season. Misa Jeanette Heller is the leading primo

The Grand Opera season drags on. Since the performance of the Ring, the daily press has been full of letters complaining of the talking in the better class seats. Punch makes the following suggestion as a way out of the difficulty, which would be equally agreeable to those who go to the opera to talk, and those who go to letter. who go to listen.

"Why not lower the floor space of one half of where the host space of one hart or ower floor a few feet, and roof it over thick, but transparent, glass? This enable the smart set, or rather the "loud to chatter to their being distracted by the noise on the stage, and yet to display their dresses to the denizens of the upper regions, while they could move move about freely all through the piece without telng hampered by persons who unreasonably persist in sitting tight in their places.

The astonishing thing is that Madame Sarah Bernhardt could breathe anything approaching inferint these dry bones. There was no galety, no read joy of living in the whole drama from beginning to end, and without such a sense of vitality, without some touch of good, honest, melodramatle bonhomie, it is very difficult for any actor or actress to do himself or herself justice. And yet, Madame Sarah Bernhardt in the largest dimensions might be supplied with billiard tables or platforms or such like facilities for amateur theatricals or charity bazaars, etc., so as to not waste the valuable time of society while the tedious professionals were singing or waiking through their business on the boards. There is vast opportunity for improvement in the foyer—which should be converted into a real skating ring or a ballroom at least. This would be a godsend to the more gregarbons and active patrons and patronesses of the dress circle. In fact, if these desirable alterations are effected, we doubt if there will be a necessity to mount any plays at all in a necessity to mount any plays at all in more up-to-date honses for the mere first-dater and gallery boy. Anyhow, we recom-nd these suggestions to enterprising theatre architects and managers.

The adhesive qualities of the vernacular is demonstrated very vividity by the following incident. A clergyman had invited a theatrical manager to come out and hear him preach. The manager accepted the invitation and after the long discourse ventured his appreciation by remarking: "You had 'em with you from your first entrance (very entimalsatically). I liked your sermon. It had some corking good lines in it, and you ate 'em up."

Cook, husiness manager; Louie Ramsdell, stage director; Gny Bennett, carpenter; Spencer Miner, properties and J. S. Shailcross, advance man.

That Damon and Pythias quality of friendship which erstwhile marked the relations between Guy Bates Post, who made a hit in the Helr to The Hoorah, and Dustin Fernum, the star of The Virginian, has been strained to the breaking point by recent events, it all came about through an automobile ride. Mr. Farnum, who returned from a long trip to the coast with The Virginian Co., promptly invested bis season's saving in a new automobile, in the purchase of which he was guided by the experienced advice of Mr. Post.

Hosty's summer home is at Buckpert, Me., and he made up his mind to drive the motocar up there, instead of sending it up by boat. Incledentsly, he thought he would save money by conveying about a ton of camp equipment in the tonneau of the car. As a shining mark of appreciation and friendly feeling he invited Mr. Fost to travel with him as far as New Haven. And so, in due process of events, the overloaded motor car, bearing the two actor chauffeurs, set out in the gray dawn of Sunday morning, headed for the land of codish and ple. When Mr. Post returned, to all appearances, the young leading man might bave been a first-class stoker, or coal-passer, who had just escaped from the purgatory of some steemship'a fire room. At the Lamis Club Mr. Post graphically and bitterly set forth his grievances against his erstwhle friend and associate, Mr. Framum.

"He made me work like a navyy," declared bear. "We includ down about size there he was a surface of the care of the ca

"He made me work like a navvy," declared Post. "We iroke down about nine times between here and New Haven, and we had to discharge and reload that infernal cargo of camp equipment every time it happened. On the grounds that i had induced him to buy the mschine and only partly tanght him how to run it, he made me make all the repairs, and when, as per sgreement, I tried to leave the outfit at New Haven, he said things about ingratitude and the duties of loyal friendship that got on my nervea. That is the reason I went as far as Boston with him and worked my way harder than any muleteer prealdent ever worked his passage punching up the motive power of an Ohio canalboat. And at the fast he reviled me, because I insisted on going back to town and would not go on as far as Concord. I tried to get him to put the machine on a boat at Boston and go on up to Buckport, but he would not do it—a case of one of those infsnt geniuses in the genile art of automobiling, who rush in where prize chauffeurs are afraid to 'chauff.'

"I don't hope that Dusty's bogged in some New Hampshire morsas or treed in some Maine wilderness," thoughtfully remarked Mr. Post. "Int if he is, it would serve him plumb right for the way he treats his guests—this is, if my treatment is a sample."

John E. Henshaw of the Sho-Gun Co John E. Henshaw of the Sho-Gun Co. tells an amusing atory of an irishman who bad all the indelihle humor of his race. The Irishman was accuatomed to atop in a cigar store on Broadway every morning on his way to work and light his stuhhy clay pipe. Instead of using the cigar lighter at the front of the atore he would brush hy all patrons, steuping on their toes and otherwise making himself objectionable as he walked to the extreme rear of the store to light his pipe. He persisted in thia until the proprietor finally asked him:

"Bon't you know who I am?" was the only response elicited from the Celt.
The next morning he was in again on schedule time and went through the same proprietor, now thoroughly aroused, "what the deuce do you mean by doing this thing?"
"Bon't you know who I am?" said the working man with an assumption of dignity.
"No. I don't; who the tarnation are you?"
"Why, said the Irishman, as he reached for the cigar lighter, "I'm the fellow who comes in every morinin' to light his pipe.

The greeting came hy wire to the treasurer of the company, and the ten words were these:

"There was a time when Stuart Robson was very particular about seeing his name correctly spelled in print," says William H. Crane. "He used to find his name spelled in all kinds of ways, and it used to make him a bit angry. We were on our way to San Francisco in the days when the trip meant something, it was hefore the era of fast trains, dining cars and luxurious travel. When the through trains reached a certain point an agent used to come aboard, get the names of the passengers and telegraph them to the 'Frisco papers. When the agent came to 'Rob' and asked his name the latter paused a moment. 'Allow me, please,' he said; I will write it down for you.' In a large, plain hand he wrote 'Stewart Robertson.' They would get it that way anyhow,' he said to me, and chuckled. As we were getting on the boat at Oakland that ferries you to 'Frisco, we had an opportunity of getting the daily papers. Soon I saw a look of astonishment on 'Rob'a' face. 'Crane,' he exclaimed, shrilly, 'look' flow under the sun did they do it? There was his name in the list of travelers spelled correctly. The grateful excursionists made up a purse and turned it over to the postmaster of the village with instructions to hay the hero something suitable that would commemorate bis brave act. Obadish had posed, and rightfully, too, as a sort of wise man and weather prophet for many years in the hamlet, and the citizens thought it a propitious time to show their appreciation of him, so they added to the collection of the excursionists until a real neat sum was accumulated, and sent to New York and got the beat wated that money could buy. IDIOSYNCRASIES OF GENIUS

Vladmir de Pachman, the pianist, who dreads the ocean and has a terror of storms, is in New York. He will not go to Europe until July, the month he always makes his crossings, as the Atlantic is more tranquil then than at any other time of the year. Ile sits alone at a round table facing the room. Ile is so well-known now that there is always an expectsnt gathering to watch him. The planist enters solemnly. He unbends first when the waiter takes his coat. Looking this functionary in the eye he beatows on him a melting smile.

M. de Pachman usually dines alone. There are various reasons for that. The waiter hands him the hill of fare and disappears for the liter of beer which will be replaced several times before the meal is ended. After bowing with an alluring amile at the waiters atanding about the room, the planist glancew at the bill of fare. Soup? He looks undecided, shakes his head, and then suddenly pouts like a spelled child. In a second he decides that he will take soup. He amiles radiantly to himself, and looking up from the card, grina and bowa to the other guests in the room.

The same parade precedes every course. From doblous uncertainty to delighted satisfaction every emotion is expressed on his countenance before the dinner is finally ordered.

It is with the first taste of the beer that M. de Pachman begins to show his enjoyment of the meal. He picka up the giass and takea a long swallow. His face is blank when he sets the glass down. Then he seems toot in some sort of deliberation. Finally he is seen to be reaching a conclusion. The beer is all right.

He nods and laughs at the crowd which bas been watching all this play of feature to show how friendly his feelings are. After every course his facial expression is just as eloquent. If he puts sait on a dish he acta out in pantomine just how it tastes, and with pepper it is the same. All this comedy is puncusted by intimate conversations with the waiters, who are called up from all corners of the room. They all know the pinnist and listen good bumoredly to his long talka.

Long after he has finished his dinner he sita smoking and joking with them. If he sees anybody whose appearance pleases bim, he bows cord

CHICAGO'S RIALTO

Samuel P. Gerson, manager of the Garrick Theatre, Chicago, is of the opinion that Chicago ought to have a Riaito, and the name has been applied to Randolph street.

We hear the tread of huskined feet, in cap and bells that come along; A changing group in Randolph atreet, A roistering and riant throng. In tragic mien for comic guise, With lifted or with downcast eyes They leave their masks of youth or age, The mimiery of mumming stage And tread a messure fast or slow Between the changes of the show.

They mingle in the whiri of strife
Along that turmoil-haunted way,
And act their acts in scenes of life
The gods have given them to play.
The man who makes his thousanda laugh
Is there a cynic and to scoff,
And he who plays a tragic part is full of mirth and light of heart;
And she whose youth upon the stage
Ia fair and sweet is acrawled with age.

And so they come and so they go,
With dancing or with lagging feet:
Between the changes of the show,
A radiant throng in Randolph street,
And king and crown and potentate
Leave rags or gilded throne of state
And walk the street from day to day,
All actors play in that vaster play—
The tragedy of feeting breath
Which has a curtain men call death.

THE STROLLER

HILE musical comedy and extravaganza are becoming less popular in the big cities the avidity for this class of attraction in the provinces is still growing more intense. The truth of this assertion is substantiated by the fact that Stair and Havlin held their dramatic attractions till the time demanded for musical shows was filled, as was stated exclusively in The Bill-board several weeks are As a result as was stated exclusively in The Billboard several weeks ago. As a result most of the houses booked by Stair and Havlin will play musical comedy three out of every four weeks the coming season. This is true, furthermore, of the small, independent theatres throughout the country. Of course, the magnificent spectacles put on at the New Amsterdam Theatre in New York, and by Thompson & Dundy, at the Hippodrome, are well patronized. Their quality insures this. But the cheaper class of musical shows is palling on the people in the metropolitan districts. the people in the metropolitan districts. What will take their place?

Short skirts win and the "tutu" triumphs. After weighing its decision for a week, in the case between Mile. Eva Sarcy and Mm. Isola, the Paris court has found that the lady, having been engaged as a star dancer, was justified in refusing to appear in any dress but the traditional flesh tights and brief, much-flounced petiticats of the prima ballerina. The court iaid down that the one essential point to be considered in the case was the fact that that the one essential point to be considered in the case was the fact that the "tu-tu" is the traditional attire of the star dancer, and on that sole ground awarded Mlle. Sarcy the damages claimed by her, plus interest.

At a London theatre where a musical At a London theatre where a musical play is in progress, the orchestrians have hit upon a plan for counteracting the ennue of the long periods during which it is kept idie by introducing sets of miniature chessboards. In the working out of knotty problems with midget men the musicians amuse themselves untl the warning tap of the conductor's baton arouses them to the business of the stage. At an ordinary play the work of the orchestra is usually confined to the performance of the music in the entr'actes; but the necessities of the more modern form of entertainment keep them in their seats for hours together. The miniature chessboard comes as an inspiration.

London theatrical managers say the present season is the worst on record. Last year they hoped the turning point of seasons had arrived, but they have been grievously disappointed. They attribute the poor business to motoring, golf and bridge. There have been a few successes, the foremost of which is Carton's Mr. Hopkinson; next comes Sutro's The Walls of Jericho, now having the longest run of any piece in London except Veronique; then Leah Kleschna, The Dictator, The Freedom of Susanne and Tree in Business Is Business. London theatrical managers say the

In North Dorsetshire, close to the borders of Somerset, is the little town of Sherborne, whose annals run back longer than those of England. Of this hoary antiquity the people of Sherborne are justly proud, and for the first four days of the present week they are in a most praiseworthy manner celebrating by a stately, historic pagent, the event, in which, during twelve centuries, Sherborne has borne its part. The pageant consists of twelve tableaux, enacted in the open air in front of the ruins of an old castle standing in one of the most beautiful parks in the west of England. A splendid theatre it is for such a show, with

After the performance of the Barnum & Bailey Show at Ft. Wayne, Ind., recently, the employes of the show carried away as trophies of their visit seven slippers nailed to one of the center poles. The slippers, once dainty and white, hugged the feet of four women who attended the show, but were left sticking in the mud when the owners started for home after the performance. Heavy rain fell while the show was in progress, and the grounds became a sea of mud. In consequence thousands of women in cool summer attire were forced to wade through mud and water in the dark, relieved only attire were forced to wade through mud and water in the dark, relieved only by the flashes of lightning. Slippers were hard to keep on and many per-sons were drenched to the skin. Con-gressman Gilbert had tipped a boy fifty cents to bring him a cab, in which to escort an Anderson woman home, but before he could reach it, it was seized by two desperate couple, who refused to get out without a fight, and the congressman had to wade to the street car line to reach the city.

A well-known New York manager ho recently returned from France remarked through the public prints:

"it's the same old story in France; there will never be any change there. The sex question is the only important thing dramatically. In England I noticed a marked change, due largely to the influence of J. M. Barrie. His new play, Peter Pan, is one of the most delightful things that I have ever seen. It will make a sensation in this country. Alice-Sit-By-The-Fire is also attractive. The English people are

VAUDEVILLE IN THE WEST

Ricardo, the man of mystery, writes western vaudeviile situation as

Butte, Mont., June 23, 1905. Editor The Billboard,

Dear Sir: Will say that I have just returned to Butte and feel that I can give the true state of affairs that now exist in vaude-ville circles in the west. In the first place you start for the west with a one-sided contract (in favor of the association) that makes you think you are safe. The association will advance transportation, which every performer naturally accepts. The performer is then in debt to them for this amount, which they take out of the first week's salary. So they have you the first deal out of the pack. When you arrive they say to you that if you need anything at all they will advance you money. Now that all sounds good, and the offer is O. K. They will let you have what yon want. But also remember that it is, moreover, an offer to find out your finances. If you need money that is the start of the finish. The first proposition that is laid before you is in a confidential talk. They remind you of the fact that the association is to give you twelve weeks, or whatever the time may be, and the jumps are long. Then the manager will come out with a pian in which you can do better. He will say: Now we have two or three dollars jump and you will find living cheap. Now if you care to and will reduce your salary a little I will try to fix it for you, and it wont interfere with your other contracts. This extra work is like finding it. This all sounds good, and nine out of ten accept it, which hreaks your one-sided contract and lets them know the position you are in, and that you will stand for a cut. You are in, and that you will stand for a cut. You go and if you don't come to terms before long you will be side-tracked, and then there is nothing to dobut hop-secteh around, and you will send you have the facts. I met plenty of good performers in this condition. I have heard them say time and time again that if they only could get hack east again that if they only could get hack east again the young to do you go will be side-tracked, and then there is nothing to the many and apid to the many and apid to t on well in five to fourteen a day. I have performed my act to many and many mathores composed of ten children and two or three adults.

I will try and explain why so many shows argiven. Nearly all of the houses are so small that they only seat a couple of hundred performed they of the seath of the same and they elight for the house. That is the kind of places from which you must deliver the goods from the footilghts to the rear wall, and the ends were five for the house. That is the kind of places from which you must deliver the goods a law earlier to seath of the same and the ten the seath of the same and the ten the seath of the same and the seath of the sam tell you what they will give you, and when and where you will work. You are then a good old has-been, and your only consolation is that you are not the only one as you can look around you and see many a good act in the same boat asy yourself.

Some people will tell yon, "Oh, that is on So-and-So Circuit. If yon go on this other one you will be 0. K." But don't you believe it, each and every one, all are allke in the west. They haven't enough acts to go around, and they offer big money to get you there, and then do all they can to get yon broke so they can keep you there. These people are not fools. They are wise and sharp men and up to date. They are posted as to eastern safarles for single and doubles. Now when they get yon to werking out there for the park safarles in the east, why then they keep you going pretty well. So there is the difference. In the east it is short jumps, cheap living and two a dav. Out west it is bigger jumps, living high, five to fifteen a day and about the same safary. So yon see it is up to yon.

Some of my readers may think that I am a sorehead, and had it handed to me, so I wish to state right here that it is not so. I am a nowey person in a way, and hearing so much about this western situation, made up my mind to try it out and investigate it. Being very slek all last winter I figured that it would do my health some good. So you see that I am late important passages from the originate An entirely new passion play was recently performed at Nancy, France, which had many interesting features. Not the least important consideration to him was that he saw the possibility of paying off the debt on his church with the proceeds. The abbe immediately went to work. Alliance of Shubert-Fiske-Belasco some interesting developments in theatrical conditions during the week, and while interest centers in the situation in New York, the effect far transcends any local limits, notwithstanding that locality is the largest city in the United States and the most important theatrcal nucleus in the world. It has not been expenses the same of the same Shubert-Fiske-Belasco and the most important theatreal nucleus in the world. It has not been explained whether Abraham Erlanger's testimony in the trial of a suit brought recently in New York by David Belasco for the ostensible purpose of proving that the firm of Klaw & Erlanger were silent partners with Joseph Brooks in the direction of David Warfield's tour in The Auctioneer, suggest. Brooks in the direction of David War-field's tour in The Auctioneer, suggested the project, but it is now a matter of official record that the Shubert Brothers, Harrison Grey Fiske and David Belasco have contracted an alliance to book their attractions independent of the syndicate which Klaw & Erlanger represent as booking managers. The actual purpose of the suit was to prove through the courts that the theatrical syndicate is a monopoly which controls the first-class theatres of the country to such an extent that its discrimination against a producing manager of first-class attractions renders it impossible for him to secure desirable and sible for him to secure desirable and paying engagements. During the course of his cross examination Mr. Erlanger was asked if he could book an attraction outside the houses controlled by his own firm, and he forthwith laid out a route of independent theatres, albeit the distances between some of the stands were urged upon the court by the plaintiff's counsel as so great as to render an undertaking of the out. for him to secure desirable and the stands were urged upon the court by the plaintiff's counsel as so great as to render an undertaking of the out-lined tour preposterous. Although the judge has not yet promulgated his find-ing on the evidence introduced, the new alliance of independent managers have announced that they will be able, with the houses now under their control and those which they anticipate obtaining those which they anticipate obtaining to book their attractions conveniently.

The Shibboleth While there seems Competition Not War to be a disposition on the part of Mr. Belasco to give out the impression that the new alliance has been formed for the purpose of exterminating the old syndicate the other parties to the agreement are more conservative in their prospectus of the aims and purposes of the three cornered combination. Both Lee Shubert and Mr. Fiske have stated that their object is merely to "conserve a community of interests" through the usual means of competition. In other words their attitude will be defensive and not agattitude will be defensive and not aggressive. The Shubert Brothers make no secret of their efforts to increase their holdings in the way of theatres. Several weeks ago they sent out letters to newspapers and real estate men in all the cities where they desired to take over the leases of theatres or to interest capitalists in the project of constructing houses. Their representatives are also visiting the towns where immediate necessity demands that they secure theatres, only through the addition of which to the chain already controlled by them can the intervening distances be made consistent with the expense of transportation. Already several theatres that will be effective in breaking the "long jumps" have been secured and the enterprise of the Aliance is meeting with gratifying suc-The Shubert Brothers make gressive. is meeting with gratifying success; whether they will book attractions other than those under their immediate control has not been given out, though it is hardly probable that will attempt to launch a sufficient thev number of their own productions to fill the time they will have when all the houses now in prospect have been made a part of their list.

Attitude of the Old Syndicate that which is made up of Charles Frohman, Al. Hayman, Klaw & Erlanger and Nixon & Zimmerman— & Erlanger and Nixon & Zimmerman—is regarding the movements of its young rival with the greatest outward complacency. Of course their real plan of campaign is not overt, but the fact remains that the members of the Syndicate (as distinguished from the Aldicate (as distinguished from the Al-llance) have taken no decisive action toward checking the growth of the Messrs. Shubert, and each party has stated that there is ample room for the other. The fact that Henry W. Sav-age's name is not identified with the Alliance raises the assumption that he will continue to book his attractions in the Syndicate houses, though at one time he was hailed as the most formi-dable of the younger generation of managers from the Syndicate's point of view; and as the Alliance, for the managers from the Syndicate's point of view; and as the Alliance, for the present at least, will devote itself to the handling of attractions of the first class, there would seem to be nothing in the prospect to precipitate Stair & Havlin into a state of consternation. Perhaps their agreement with the Syndicate will be extended to include the dicate will be extended to include the Conditions and Prospects There ought of New Order be room for b of New Order be room for both the syndicate and the Alliance. The theatrical business in America is growing as rapidly as the country itself. The competition on the other hand is bound to be of the liveliest character. It will extend all the way from the securing of actors to the drawing of patronage. One result seems inevitable—an advance in the salary of the popular players; the competing organizations will bid for their services, and, all prejudice aside, they can demand a higher compensation. Another outgrowth of the new order will constitute a material increment in the number of actors employed in first-class companies. The developments of the week are of the highest importance, not so much because of any immediate effect as for what the future must bring. Both organizations ought to live and prosper; the amusement resources of our country will warrant that.

Chicago Hippodrome— As predicted in Thompson & Dundy's Plans these columns sev-eral weeks ago, even in face of official contradictions, so-called, Thompson & contradictions, so-called, Thompson & Dundy will build and operate a hippodrome in Chicago. Frederic Thompson returned from an automobile trip through Europe last week and immediately gave an interview to the press through his personal representative, W. through his personal representative, W. C. Thompson, in which the plans for the future conduct of the Thompson & Dundy affairs were outlined in detail. The New York house will open in the fall with the same general attraction that has just closed there, the vaude-ville features being changed from time to time as politics and necessity shall dictate. Meanwhile, the Chicago house will be constructed, and, upon its completion the New York attraction will be transferred there intact, while the new spectacle and ballet, built and rehearsed in the meantime, will be installed in the New York Hippodrome. It is a bold project, and one of which only enterprise and resource-fulness like that possessed by Thomp-son and Dundy is capable of conceiving. Only the highest quality of success can be foretold of its execution, for the projectors have demonstrated what they can do in the way of hippodromes.

Ticket Speculators and The means adopted New York Hippodrome by George Kings-bury, manager of the New York Hippoor to protect the patrons of that institution from the extortions of ticket speculators would not be practicable in a contingency when all the tickets have been sold from the rack in the box office; but his plan was very efficacious in accomplishing the purpose he set office; but his plan was very efficacious in accomplishing the purpose he set for hinself—that of preventing the sidewalk venders of the pasteboards from charging advanced prices for seats when they were to be had at the window at the regular rates. It is the custom of speculators to secure tickets for popular attractions and stand in front of the playhouses, deiuding people into the impression that they hold the only choice seats to be had. Many patrons innocently pay the speculator his price without an inquiry at the office. This was the state of affairs at the Hippodrome when Mr. Kingsbury took his stand on the sidewalk with a bunch of coupons which he sold at the regular prices and the speculators were left with a lot of dead stock on their hands. They forthwith comat the regular prices and the speculators were left with a lot of dead stock on their hands. They forthwith complained to the commissioner that Mr. Kingsbury was speculating in tickets without a license, and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Magistrate Mayo before whom Kingsbury was called, dismissed him without an opinion, leaving the issue open whether it is permissible for a theatre to sell tickets on the street, even at the schedule prices, without a speculator's license. The question presents an interesting legal aspect which will probably be argued next season, as Mr. Kingsbury announces that the plan will be prosecuted further in an effort to protect the Hippodrome's patrons. Even if the speculator's license is determined by the courts to be necessary Mr. Kingsthe speculator's license is determined by the courts to be necessary Mr. Kingbury's novel method is an exceedingly inexpensive one and should be adopted by all managers who want to eradicate that form of speculation where deception is practiced. Speculators are considered an advertisement in such comparatively dull times, and this view of the managers may contribute to their continuing the practice undisturbed.

San Francisco Douglas Young, who Theatre Investigation was appointed to investigate the difficulties in San Francisco growing out of a refusal on the part of the revenue department to accept licenses from several theatres on the scale that had been in vogue, has revealed some extremely interesting conditions. Mr. Young's report shows that one theatre has been operating under a restaurant license, while three first-class theatres are paying the first-class theatres are paying the amount of license fee exacted from houses that put on second-class attraction. The ordinance providing for the graduation of licenses according to seating capacity has been infringed upon in almost every instance, accordto seating capacity has been infringed upon in almost every instance, according to Mr. Young, who advises that the offenders be prosecuted, and suggests that the prepogative of locking up everybody connected with such houses, including actors, ushers and scrubwomen, be acted upon. The city seems to have the dream on the managers, who to have the drop on the managers, who are beginning to go down in their pockets and count up the loose change. Serves them right for not getting some of their own men in office.

Is the Actor The decision of the Supreme An Artisan Court of New York, up-holding the finding of the lower court in exacting employment bureau licenses in exacting employment bureau licenses from theatrical agents in that state, is an affront to the whole fraternity of actors, stamping them as common, ordinary, everyday workmen who must seek employment through regular licensed hired-help procuring houses—so says the disreputable agent with a great fear of seeing his license revoked later in the game; for that is what it will mean—a weeding out process, and those agents who carry on a legitimate business along business lines welcome the action of the court. The actor and vaudevillian, too, is jubilant; it means protection for him; it imparts to him the assurance that he will be "placed" in good faith. The action puts the dishonest agent under the ban of the law, He must either be good or quit. The actor does not care if they do call him an artisan. That is what they taunted him with when he formed his union. What he wants is lucrative engagements. The art end of the with gagements. The art end of it look after itself.

WELL-KNOWN ACTOR DEAD

Edwin S. Brink, a member of the Flora DeVoss Co., playing a summer engagement at Ashland, Wis., died June 29 at the age of seventy-nine years. Mr. Brink had been in the profession for forty years, and was well acquainted with Booth, the assassin of Lincoln. When the president was shot on that fateful night Mr. Brink was in the theatre. In fact he had just come from the buffet into the theatre with Booth; but, seeing some friends in the parquet, Brink separated from Booth, who proceeded to the family circle. Mr. Brink was afterwards arrested for complicity in that event, but, after identifying Booth was released. He has since been identified with a number of theatrical ventures. During late years he had been taking life easy, living on a large pension. He was a congenial fellow, and was well-perserved for a man of his age. His tales of his early life would fill volumns of interesting matter. The funeral services were under the auspices of the G. A. R.

H. CONRIED'S INVESTMENTS

News from New York is that Henriech Conried, manager of the Irving Place Theatre, and grand opera impressarlo, of the Metropolitan Opera House, has purchased the four story and basement house at No. 422 E. Twentieth street, and plans have been flied with the building department for alterations costing $8,000, to fit up as a scenery storeroom and studio for his scenic artists. Mr. Conried bought the building principally as a storeroom for his Irving Place Theatre, because he could not rent a house such as he wanted in that vicinity. Then he decided to equipit as a studio also, where his scenic artists may work. The second floor will be removed and machinery will be installed for the handling of heavy scenery. While Mr. Conried is in Europe perfecting his plans for the coming season of grand opera the stage of the Metropolitan s being overhauled again, electrically. Messrs. Wingfield, Rowland & Clifford have leased from the Clark estate the leople's Theatre, West Van Buren and Leavitt streets, for a term of years. The People's has a seating capacity of 964—under the new arrangement, with the audition of a gallery, the house will seat 1,200. The theatre will open Sept. 2, and for the first season will be devoted to stock. Popular prices (10, 20 and 30 cents) will prevail. Messrs. SELLS ON HAGENBECK'S

William Sells, who recently sold out his interest in the Sells and Downs Shows, in order to devote his entire interest to his oil holdings in Texas, interest to his oil holdings in Texas, writes as follows from Topeka, Kan., regarding the Hagenbeck Show.

I was in Kansas City the other day to see the Hagenbeck Trained Animal Show. By the way, Mr. Lee Williams is a cracking good manager. In fact I was surprised to see such an aggregation. It was the best show I have looked at In my entire career in the show business. They have a lot of up-to-date novel ideas. Mr. Williams is in a class of his own. I was very much pleased with the manner in which he has organized the Hagenbeck Show. The entire property is certainly the best in the business, as you will remember The entire property is certainly the best in the business, as you will remember the wagons and dens were all built by Mr. Bodie of Cincinnati, the chainpion circus wagon builder of America. The cars were all brand new, and the stock fine. The performance certainly was a novelty, as it is entirely different from the regular old time circus performance and had no hippodrome race, as all shows are using the hippodrome acts, which have been before the public since the time of Nero. I certainly consider it a chestnut in the show business. There is nothing old around the Hagenbeck Show. Circuses will not have an easy time of it chasing them out of their territory, as it would be impossible to keep this show from making money, with the weather permitting.

I am out of the show business mysble to keep this show from making money, with the weather permitting.

I am out of the show business myself and probably will never be in it again, but this certainly gave me the fever. The band is the best one I ever head under a tent. The side show is a novelty; sometihing entirly different from old time shows that are now used with circuses. I do not know of anything more I can say about the Hagenbeck Show; but it is the best ever. I might also say that their printing is about the finest on the road. The show was well advertised and well managed ahead. Mr. Ferguson, the general agent, certainly had Kansas City lit up. In fact, Kansas City was billed better than I have ever seen it. The show played to immense business in Kansas City July 4th. They gave three performances and the tent was packed. On July 3d they had the tent packed in the afternoon and night, with Barnum paper on them. The show gave great satisfaction, and that is what makes the money in the show business.

Peter F. Dailey, the comedian, and some of his associates often meet for social intercourse after performances. On one occasion Hall Caine, the novelist, was their guest Mr. Caine had been previously informed that he would encounter a party eminently Bohemian in spirit, and was not prepared for the learned discussion wherein he found himself a deeply interested, if somewhat puzzled listener; now and then he detected certain irrelevancies, he thought, but the perpetrator seemed so solemn that it passed for ordinary comment.

but the perpetrator seemed so solemn that it passed for ordinary comment.

"It seems to me, by the way, that only one man bas any right to criticise a theatrical performance. Make it two, by a long stretch. The profesional critic is not one of them; neither is the man who pays at the door, because he rarely knows what he is talking about. The actor and the author alone are qualified—but even the author should be omitted. Consider what the author has written—for instance, the threadbare conversation about the chicken crossing the road. "A chicken," wrote the author. 'crosses the road in order to get on the other side.' What sort of dialogue is that? How can a clicken reach the other side of the road when the other side of the road is the side he has just left? Obviously the author was stupid. A chicken crosses the road in order to remain on the same alde. No, the author is out of it—only an actor has any right to criticise a show."

criticise a show."

Mr. Caine, in the midst of profound silence, suddenly laughed explosively. They stared and he laughed the more; they gazed at him inquiringly, expressionless as marble. One hy one, as If dumhfounded, they left the table. Mr. Daily was the last to go. Pausing, he looked back at Mr. Caine, who remained helpless at the table, laughing so intensely as scarcely to utter a sound.

"And that," exclaimed the comedian, loudly, and with scorn, "is an author!"—Success Magazine.

What puzzles an andience most are the mys-rious subjects. With ail a person's knowledge terious subjects. With all a person's knowledge of prestidigitation it is hard to comprehend the welrd and wonderful effects created in animated photography. How a person can jump into the air and totally disappear in an instant into the air and totally disappear in an instant and re-appear in the same mysterious manner. This is accomplished by stopping and steering the camera at different periods, and then blend-ing the negatives so the 'break' is not percep-tible to the eye as the positive is projected upon the screen. More mystlfying than this is the picture that shows everything working rethe picture that shows everything working reversed, like a hodcarrier leaping up backward with a loaded hod following him. This is done by having two cameras taking the scene in one the negative passes through in its natural course. The other camera is so constructed that the film passes noward and the backward or reverse effect is secured. Like the mysterious subjects the negatives are mortised in such a manner that the reverse movement is the acme of natural perfection.

The survival of the fittest is an industrial toga that fits well the shoulders of Wm. N. Selig. president of The Selig Polyscope Co. He is a Chicago product, born forty-two years Selig. president of The Selig Polyscope Co. lie is a Chicago product, born forty-two years ago within a stone'a throw of his present piace of husiness. "Billie," as he is still familiarly called by his friends, attended school until he was thirteen, and during vacations and idle hours he could be found on the shores of Lake Michigan along with his neighborhood chums producing acrobatic stnnts. He became so proficient as a contortionist that he ran away from school and joined a circus. He continued as a knight of the white tenta for several seasons.

Legerdemain was his next hobby. He mss-tered the art of the magician in short order and, like the star of empire, westward took his flight to play the Pacific coast. He remained flight to play the Pacific coast. He remained there until after the mid-winter fair and operated a wagon show through California, Oregon and Washington. In those days Bert Williams, of Williams & Waiker, was a dining car waiter. One varus summer day while the Portland 'Frisco special was speeding down through the mountains. Hart passed through the discardible. special was specifing down through the mountains, Bert passed through the diner with a heavy tray. The windows were all open. The car pave a sudden lurch, Williams lost his equilibrium, and the S. C. dining service lost a load of dishes, for tray and all shot through an open window. When the train reached Oakland, the street evered conceller, less his teland the great colored comedian lost his joh and went with the Selig show. Walker was discovered a year later and Selig was their first manager.

Returning to Chicago in 1894, Mr. Selig took mp the art of photography, by starting to work in a gallery at the princely sum of five dollars per week. He had the moving picture bee in his tonnet, and soon perfected a camera for that class of work. He fitted up the space under a stairway in his mother's bome for a dark room, and here his first animated expose was developed in 1895. Little by little the business developed and grew until his company now occupies its present location. occupies its present location.

It is in the gallery that all of the "interior" moving pictures are made, and with the ald of canvas, a paint hrush and a scenic artist, exterior scenes are made so natural that when photographed they look like nature's real article. 'Did I ever tell you about the time my uncle played with Fredrick Warde my uncie piayed with Fredrick Warde?" sald the actor.

"No," said the comedian.

"Well, uncie was a super with Warde, and for drinking too much he got fired.

"That made uncle mad, and he decided to have revenge. So, on his last night, after he had got his salary all right, he went on the stage with an egg in his hand.

Warde was playing 'Julius Caesar,' and it was the garden scene, where Brutus—that was Warde—walked about and shook lands with the rious conspirators.

"Uncie was one of the conspirators, and he held the egg in his right fist. He watched his chance, and when Warde, in a lordiy way, went to shake hands with him he dropped the egg in Warde's open paim.

"Uncle says he never saw such a surprised look on anyone's face as he saw on Warde's then. His hand closed immediately, and he glanced down at the thing that had been given him. When he found it was an egg he looked more surprised than ever.

"He couldn't put any fire into the scene after that. He didn't do any more handshaking for fear he might smash the egg. He kept shiftin' it from one hand to the other, and you could hear him cursing under his breath.

"At the end of the scene he rushed into the wings yellin":

"'Where's that infernal Musgrave?"
"But Uncle Musgrave, you bet, had skipped."

STREET FAIRS CARNIVALS

HAS DISCOVERED A FREAK

While at the recent Baltimore Exposition Mr. W. H. Davis of the Jones-Adams Carnivai Co., discovered what he considers to be one of the greatest of human freaks. Concerning his find Mr. Davis writes as follows:

Mr. Davis writes as follows:

It is a man twenty-eight years of age. He stands twenty-six linehes high and weigha thirty-six pounds. He has the head of a man and the body of a frog. He hops around and goes through the same antica as does a frog. He has never before been placed on exhibition. I have signed a long contract with him and his parents and will place him on exhibition. For the balance of the season he will remain as the feature of the midway with the Jones-Adama Carnival Co. After the carnival aeason he will play musenms, etc.

FROM THE SPIELER'S STANDPOINT.

Editor The Billboard.

Belitor The Billhoard.

Dear Sir—Permit me to compliment you on the article in the current number of your valuable paper on "Voice Culture for Spielers," as it contains much advice that is good if it were possible to follow it under the existing conditions in the side show husiness, and I ask your permission to answer it after a fashion, and at the same time state a few facts.

I presume the author directed his advice to men who make "Openings" and I will take occasion now to say that a man who can make an "Opening" and "Turn" the people is deserving of much consideration, as he is a good salesman. There are three requisites necessary to a good salesman. First, good address; second, ability to create desire on the part of his audience to invest, and third, the knowledge of the exact time to "Turn."

The first means a pleasing personality, cleanly person and apparrel, and a general appearance of intelligence and gentility. The creation of desire is accomplished by word painting and a knowledge of the people is a addressing and of what will appeal to them, and to do this he must therefore possess imagination, a knowledge of English and fluency of speech—a convincing enthusiasm that carries with it the impression that he is endeavoring to persuade people for their own good. He must state facts, embellished in such manner that his audience will think that they are doing themselves an injury if they do not go.

and sleep on the privilege car during jumps, at his own expense, pay his own hotel hills, hauling of his trunk, barber, tailor, laundry hills, etc., etc.; and he did not go out this season as he had seen the country.

In the current number of your paper there are thirty-seven openings for talkers, and only one of them says anything about references. Would a business man take any one and put them in charge of a department without their giving him references and showing past results? I could write volumns on this subject but will spare you, only adding a few figures that are correct and are intended to show how liberal carnival managers are.

This is about the weekly expense of a single man, who does not smoke, chew or drink.

The board of directors of the Aksar-Ben Carnival, to be held in Omaha, September 27 to October 7, have engaged Mr. Harold A. Bushea to furnish and take charge of the shows for that event.

The Eagles of Wabash, Ind., have signed the Seeman & Milligan Mardi Gras Co, for week July 31. The carnival will be given in the interest of the new Eagle Theatre, now in course of construction.

"Doc" White's Snake Show, with the K. G. Barkout Carnival Co., took top money at the Eagles' Street Fair field at Charlerol, Pa., recently. The Bim Hoo Family of Five gave exhibitions in this attraction.

It is understood that a number of claims were entered against the Montgomery Carnival Co., at itook Rapids, Ia., recently, on account of injurles caused by the seats in one of the shows falling to the ground.

Mr. Ira Toube writes that the Great Mnndy Shows played to capacity husiness at Toronto, Cau., last week. The company is at Hamilton, Can., this week and indications point to a repetition of the same husiness.

Our correspondent at Connelisvilie, Pa., writes: We will have here the week of August 14 the Mundy Showa nafer the auspices of the Connelisvilie Military Band. If they put on as good shows as Ferarl Brothers did last season they will carry away barrels of the yellow atuff.

Miss Murphy, the educated monkey belonging to Mr. J. T. Porter, manager of the Fire and Flames attraction with the Great Mundy Shows, died July 2 on the train en route from Toronto to Hamilton, Can. She was burled at once after reaching Hamilton. Miss Murphy was well known in the carnival husiness and was very popular. Mr. Porter as well as his many frienda feel very deeply his loss.

Mr. W. H. Morris, of Little Falis, N. Y., writes that they want a carnival company to put on the attraction for the Fireman's Street Fair to be held about the middle of August. The event has always proved a hig success.

What a selfish institution is that W. C. T. U. The Eagles of Decatur, Ill., decided to hold a street fair in Decatur, and at the same time, and besides they petitioned the city council asking that the Eagles be denied the use of the streets for that week, claiming that some of its membera would be placed in the way of tempation should the carnival be allowed to proceed.

There promises to be a merry legal war between the Hoss & Neumann Carnival Co. and the city of Kenton, Ohlo. The company erected its tents upon the streets in accordance with a grant previously received from the mayor. But the husiness men of that city, doubtless less enterprising than some other citles, objected. The mayor, perhaps thinking of political lanrels, revoked the grant. Members of the company were then arrested for illegally nsing the streets. They promise to retailate by suing for damages.

concessions. Everybody has a pocket full of money.

Notes from the European Amusement Co.: We are now in our fifth week, and considering the fact that the company has each week had to contend with hard rains, the management feels quite elated over the husiness so far. While playing Rock Rapids, Ia., a section of the seata in the Illindoo Mystery collapsed and injured several people. They were sent to the hospital and arrangements were made for their treatment by the management. We left the city with congratulations and best wishes of the citizens. This week we are playing Pipestone, Minn., to good husiness.

Mr. Waiter L. Lyons writes that he is still with the Lewis Old Plantation Co., which he says is doing good business in Michigan. Mr. Lewis has recently added to his show Mile. Essie, the black nightingale, in Illustrated songs. A Trip to Africa has also been added. Everything with the abow is crisp, new and clean. Following is the roster Fred Lewis, manager: Chas. Beecham, Walter S. Lyons, and Mose Watkins, comedians; Mile. Essie, prima donna; Blanche Beecham, souhrette; Nancy Taylor, old Aunt Dinah; Grace Williams, protean artist, and Susie Cookey, coon shouter.

Mr. Ed. Mott, of the Lachman-Keetch Exposition Shows, writes as follows concerning his company: We have eight high-class pald shows. Dave Lachman's Great Train Robbery, Keetch's Collacum featuring M. L. LeMoind on the stack wire, Mrs. Lachman's Fairyland, Slater's Old Plantation, Prof. E. L. Sparks' edncated horse, Ben Ilur, R. Howell's Glass Show, Keetch's Forty Daya in The Moon and Schutte's Lilliputian Theatre compose the lineup. We also have a Ferris wheel and Merry-go-round-and a large number of concessions. Our free attractions are the celebrated Keetch Family in the aerial casting act and Prof, Pixley's Military Band. Dr. E. L. Bays la the company's physician. He doubles in the band, playing tuba.

OXFORD GIRLS

The above picture, taken especially for The Billboard, represents The Oxford Girls, one of the hig features of the famous Rohinson Amusement Co. Ita owners, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. llawes, have spared neither expense nor time in making it a feature. The eight young ladles, clad in raiment of costly texture, do drills, songs, dances and vaudeville specialties which take well. The stage settings are beautiful. Reading from left to right the above young ladies are Mildred McDonald, Pearl Moore, Violet Dale Evelyn M. Harwood, Lillian Wolf, Georgia Ray, Myrtle May and Vivian LaMar.

Myrtle May and Vivian Lablar.

Thirdly; the exact time to make the turn is very important as that is where the box office does hushness and must be carefully figured out. The talker who talks too long, tires his auditors and the one who don't talk enough has not convinced them. The exact time is most important.

These requisites possessed, should make a man worth a good salary to a manager. A mercantile house will pay auch a man $25 a week and allow all of his expensea in the hest hotels in the country. But what will most managers pay? Bo managers appreciate such a man and pay him? I say "No."

They spend a large amount of money in "framing up" and put any one at all on the front as long as he can say "All ready." "Going on all the time," "No waits or no delays." "Go any time, stay as long as you like," and similar set phrases are the stock in trade of the ordinary "Grinder," and pay accordingly. They have no idea of grade. They have a "Limit," and find someone to fit it.

Why do some salesmen receive more salary than others? It is because they sell more goods than the other fellow, and why should a mansger of a show—who is a merchant, as he has something to aell—set down a hard and fast rule? Once there was a theatrical manager who hald a uniform salary for every member of his companies, from "Props" to "Her Ladyship." Ile has found out that it was not the proper "stunt" and now makes a distinction.

The writer inserted an advertisement in The Billhoard iast spring, and in reply received offers from eleven managers, and with one exception the salary (or more properly wages) offered was $20 per week or less, for which princely sum he was expected to be responsible for the front of the show, to dress well, "make openings" and "Grind," to help set up and tear down, to see the show on and off the lot, to eat

Most carnival managera are "Jippers," and hand it to the poor "sucker" who wears himself out getting the money in the summer. In the winter the "spieler" is a "hum" and eats snowballs or free lunch, while the manager goes to the city and tells what a hardworking season it has been for him.

Sincerely yours, HARRY B. SUTTON.

Assoclated Billposter and Dist'but're U.S. and Canada

Billposters

National Alliance Billposters and

HEN THIS issue of The Biliboard reaches Montreal the convention of the Associated Biliposters and Distributors of the United States and Canada will be in full swing. The fireworks commenced with the meeting of the board of directors on Monday, where things were properly fixed up for presentation at the convention. Bob Campbeli chaperoned a large party of western delegates, leaving Chicago by special train over the Grand Trunk on Saturday morning. A special over the C. H. & D. from Cincinnati, with delegates from the south, joined Campbeli's train at Port Huron, making a large and interesting party. Most of the biliposters are quartered at the Windsor, and all are having the usual good time. The Biliboard wishes them a successful meeting.

It has been intimated to The Bill-board that a movement is on foot among the Country Billposters to effect some much-needed changes in the rules of the association. Whether or not they or the association, whether or not they will have the nerve to demand their rights is yet to be determined; but it is, nevertheless, true that they have great cause for vigorous complaint. Unfortunately the Country Billposter seems to lack the necessary nerve to stand up for bimself when he great to the conto lack the necessary nerve to stand up for himself when he gets to the convention, and unless someone from a big town would champion his cause it has generally gone by default in the past. Should anything happen this time it will be a great surprise, for the old "gang" is flushed with victory, and in positon to resist timost any attempt to change its policy. to change its policy.

The conditions which have made the The conditions which have made the iot of the Country Billposter anything but pleasant are such as can be easily remedled; indeed should be remedled. It has always been the cause of wonder that the conditions complained of were imposed in the first instance. They do not benefit the business in any sense; on the contrary they have resulted in a distinct loss to both billposter and advertiser.

Take the queston of population of smail towns, as printed in the "Big List." The action of the board of directors in decreeing that the figures of the United States census of 1900 should be used has worked an actual hardship for the Country Biliposter. At least calculation it has cut his business one-third wthout resulting in any benefit to the advertiser. If anything, it has given the advertiser a wrong steer as to the business possibilities of the smaller cities. It has ied him to make a smaller allottment of paper than was actually required with the effect than his work in the smail towns has been unproductive—it did not get results.

Undoubtedly the saving of paper on the small towns left more to be given to the large towns, and possibly this was the reason certain members of the poard of directors were so insistent for the adoption of the rule,

The town of Honesdale, Pa., is an example of the evil effects of the census figures. That town is credited with a population of 2,864, while as a matter of fact there are within a haif mile radius from the postoffice nearly 10,000 people. Both biliposter and advertiser are entitled to the facts in this case—the biliposter to the increased paper. biliposter to the increased paper, and the advertiser to a proper showing, which neither get if the census figures are to be followed.

Honesdale is an extreme example, with scarcely another parallel, but the actual population in all cities up to those of 100,000 exceeds the census figures from twenty-five to fifty per cent. This is because census figures finclude only that portion of a city's population within the corporate limits

FOR THE COUNTRY BILLPOSTER of that city, and omit the large and important suburban population just over the line.

These facts are well known to every biliposter, and all his talk is to show the advertiser the value of reaching the suburbanites, but of what avail are his arguments in the face of the black and white figures of the official "Big List" to the contrary. As a result most of the country biliposters have had their usual allottments of paper cut in half since the census figures have prevailed; and in an effort to cover a population of 10,000 with five sheets, the advertiser has been disappointed and given up in disgust. Many towns have suffered only a shortage of paper, but others have lost entire orders by this obnoxious ruie.

It was pretended by the board of di-rectors that there was widespread com-plaint among advertisers that the popu-lations of the "Big List," prior to the change were incorrect and misleading, and that they were induced thereby to allott more paper to small towns than the bliposters could take care of. Experience proves that advertisers seldom erred on that side; rather, that it was difficult to induce them to put up as much paper as was actually needed.

As the matter stands the Country Bill-As the matter stands the Country Billposter is getting the worst of the deal and the advertiser is wasting what little paper he puts in a small town, by reason of not having enough. It is up to the Country Biliposter to demand a proper revision of the populations as published in the "Big List," in the interest of the business generally.

Another point is the question of dues to the National Association. to the National Association. Following the action on populations that cut down the revenues of the Country Biliposter, the board of directors formulated a resolution and had it adopted at St. Louis (some claim it was not passed), to compel ail bilposters in towns over 5,000 to join the national body and pay an additional due of at least $10 per year. This was found necessary because of the enormous increase in the cause of the enormous increase in the expense of running the association under the present regime. Notwithstanding the increase in revenue this rule brought the board of directors were obliged to break into the reserve fund of the association to the extent of over $2,500 to meet pressing itabilities. While Secretary Bernard warned the officers In March that only the strictest econo-my and the collection of all dues would enable the Association to break even at the end of the fiscal year, it is more than likely that the biliposters will hear of a deficit at the Montreal meeting.

If the Association is to be continued in the same headlong course by the same officers then there will have to be a slight increase in the dues to furnish the needfui. Not a hopefui outlook for anw realily progressive measures, such as a "checking system" is there? An increase of dues will not be accepted with good grace by the Country Biliposter, and it is very doubtful if such a measure will be approved.

Bob Campbeii, who is known to be a strong advocate of retrenchment, wiil put forward his proposition that all directors be compelied to attend meetings of the board at their own expense, and that there be but one meeting a year. This measure will either do away with the board as now formed or will confine it to the big city biliposters who have money to spend that way. There will be no place on it for the representatives of the small towns. of the small towns.

members more for the money than the national organization, and which really has built up the business to its present proportions, is losing its power and authority until soon it wil be no more than a social club, instead of a trade organization. All will soon be nore than a social club, instead of a trade organization. All will soon be gobbied up by the national association, and that will be absolutely controlled by the half dozen big town biliposters. Where, then, will the Country Biliposter get off?

Law Department

EDITED BY MAURICE H. ROSENZWEIG.

In this department all legal quastlons per-taining to domastic relations, wills, contracts, criminal and general theatrical law, will be answered. Communications should be addressed to Law Editor, The Billboard, 1440 Broadway, New York City, and must bear full names and addresses of inquirars. Names will not be published under any consideration.

(New York law will be given where quea-ons do not specify a particular state.)

I expect to be away from business for about six months and wish my interest in the company in which I am a director to be safeguarded during my absence. Can I give a proxy to vote at the director's meeting for me to my son, who is also a director?—F. B. C., New York.

No; directors can not voie by proxy, but must be actually present at the meetinga.

Six years ago, without any legal action of any kind, I changed my name. As my mother was divorced when I was very young and remarted, I did not have any relations by the same name as mine, and preferred to take a name selected haphazard that I liked. I did not only take this as a stage name, but as my own, discarding my old name entirely. Everyone knowing me to-day believes this to be my real name, with the exception of a very few acquaint-ancea, and they call me by the name I have taken. Now the point I am coming to is this: About a year ago I married under the only name that I use. I did not for a moment think that I might be doing wrong by using my adopted name, and besides it accemed to me that marriage was a contract between two persons with witnesses, and it is persons not names that are married. I have been told lately that I did very wrong. I would like your opinion as to the marriage being perfectly legal, as I was married by a minister in the presence of four witnesses.—C. E. II., en route.

Your marriage is absolutely legal and hinding. From the facts above stated there do not appear to be any elements of fraud; having doneverything in good faith and having no other wife living, your present marris— is hinding. I would, however, advise you to take immediate steps to have, your chosen name legally confirmed by judicial proceedings, to avoid any future misunderstandings, and to be prepared to uncet future exigencies.

I have an act I have played a few times, and thown, III.

The only way to prevent others from using your play is to have it copyrighted. You will be unable to do so yourself, and I would therefore suggest that you engage an above; to obtain one for you. A copyright is obtained from the Federal authorities at Washington, and is in force throughout the United States and its colonies. Those violating a copyright can be restrained from doing so by means of an injunction, as well as a sust for damages. If the injunction is ignored by the party violating the copyright, he is guilty of contempt of court and is liable to arrest and imprisonment.

I have married a man who has lived with a mistress ten years in New York state and he (Mr. G.), has introduced her as his wife. I have had one child by him. He claims never to have married her, but, however, did not get separation papers or divorce; but had an agreement drawn up between her and him by an attorney, and he gave her $5 the day after I married him. She now resides in his house, and is acknowledged as his wife. Am I his legal wife? Can my child claim his property?—Mile. O., Bare D'Abbeville, Somme. France. You do not state audicient facts to aid me in thoroughly advising you. I do not know the mistreess' atory. She may be able to establish a common law marriage which would now be binding. I would advise you to communicate with her and ask her to bring suit against your husband (merely as a test) to establish ber status, and have the court decide whether she is his wife or not. In this manner your atatus is also established. The agreement drawn up between them may throw some light ou the subject. My opinion in this case would not help you any, but a decision from court would establish your position to a certianty. If it be established that you are his legal wife your child can claim his properly at his death only, not before. My personal opinion is that your marriage is vaild for the reason that where there has been a formal marriage (asanming your marriage to have been formally solemized), it cannot ordinarily be impeached and shown to be vold by proof of facts from which a prior marriage will not be presumed from acknowledgment and cohabitation, where such presumption is in favor of innocence and marriage. A prior marriage will not be presumed from acknowledgment and cohabitation, where such presumption is lin favor of innocence and marriage formally solemized. marriage is valid is not overcome by mere proof of prior cohabitation and supposed marriage with another woman. The preaumption is that the prior supposed marriage is not binding at the time of the second marriage. I have no doubt, therefore, should this marriage be brought into court, that you could easily establish your atams as that of a legal wife. If his mistress refuses to bring suit as aforesald, I would advise you to bring proceedings against your hnshand either for divorce or separation, in which action your position will be established, even if you are not granted a divorce. This action should be brought in New York and upon your return from France, or swoner if you wish, I would advise you to consult a competent attorney with a view towards having this matter indically decided, either by suit or by submission to court upon an agreed state of facts.

LOS ANGELS—Burbank Theatre (Oliver Morosco, i.e. and murr.) Morosco Stock Co. is should not be abreast of the times. PHILADELPHIA,—The customary mid-summerduilness in theatricals is apparent on every side.
With only two theatres open one might imagine that there would not be room for those who desire to seek theatrical amusement, but even late comers always get seats at these two houses. The parks had a good Fourth of July but outside of that day husiness has not been good, and it looks as if the season was going to be a failure.

The burlesque situation in Philadelphia is gradually getting straightened ont, but there may be more changes in the near future. George Lederer has withdrawn from the Casino Theatre, and that house will be run by his former partners, Ellas and Koeulg. They have made a lease with the Columbla Acousement Co. to play the eastern burlesque companies. W. J. Gilmore, the owner of the theatre, claims that this is a violation of the lease, and talks of putting an injunction on the Columbia Co. and the lessees.
Whether this will hold good will have to be determined by a court of law. In the meantime the eastern burlesque managers are arranging to play the house. The Lyceum will also be run in connection with the circuit. The Empire Circuit will have two houses here, the Trocadero, to be run under its old management, and the Bijou, to be run under the management of George W. Rife, with Sam M. Dawson as resident manager. Mr. Dawson is already on the lot and has started work in improving the house. The Bijou is the theatre where Keith made a lot of money here, and as it is a beauifful theatre, burlesque attractions should do well there.

Keith's Chestnut Street Theatre. Good business rules with crowds when the nights or days

"IT SPEAKS FOR ITSELF."

The greatest money getting legitimate Slot Machine in the World.

Performers who have or will play opposition houses in these cites after July 24, 1905, can not use them over this circuit until one year has elapsed. Theatres in other cities will join this association by Sept. Ist. Negoliations are now pending to extend this circuit from New York to San Francisco, thus giving performers an undroken engagement of fitty weeks. People writing for time should mention if they have played any opposition houses on parks in this circuit during the last year. NOTE—Acts that are not first-class and as represented will be closed after first performance without remuneration. These are all 10 and 29 cent houses, 3 or more shows daily, so make salary accordingly, as you save from $5.00 to $20.00 per week on transportation alone.
