MONDAY (MORNING,) MARCH 7, 1831. The Monroe Meeting, which was notified for Saturday evening, having been postponed in order to give time for more ample preparations, will take place at the exchange, this evening, at o'clock. Some gentlemen have been invited to speak, and it is anticipated the occasion will be one of great interest. It is suggested, that if Schr Washington, Swain, St. Marks, Master. the meeting should be so numerously attended that the exchange may not afford adequate accommodation, it can, immediately after it shall be organized, adjourn to a mare convenient place. The English brig Sarah, from Belfast, arrived at the point on Saturday night, and her letter bag was brought up to town yesterday morn ing. GENERAL REMARKS .- Our market more dull than usual at this season of the year, owing to the high price of freights, which already has depreciated the value of almost every article intended for shipment, particularly western produce. The prospect is flattering to ship owners, and the reverse to those who are competed to employ them. The weather has been warm, fair and favorable for out door business. The Mississippi was yesterday noon at five feet be-tow ordinary high water mark.
