MANUFACTURERS ARE COMING TO COAST

Annual Convention at Vancouver This Year—Party Will Be Big One

It is probable that Victoria will be visited by a large number of the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in September, on the occasion of the annual convention, which this year is to be held in Vancouver. The arrangements for the excursion which it is proposed to run to the coast are now well advanced. In this connection the Montreal Herald says: "Thus far over 300 have signified their intention of participating and the number is increasing daily. It is expected that when the party is complete it will be 400 strong. As the most that can be carried in one train conveniently is 250, it will be necessary to divide the party into two train-loads running on a 15 to 20 minute block."

"A most carefully prepared itinerary has been outlined by the committee in charge. The party is to leave Toronto on Sunday, September 11th and will arrive in Vancouver on Tuesday, September 20th. The return trip will commence on Sunday, September 25th, and the party will be in Toronto on October 2nd.

"Mr. Meldrum says at least thirty members will go from Montreal, and the majority will be accompanied by their wives and families."

FRUIT CROP WILL BREAK RECORDS

Every Indication That the Province Will Have a Wonderful Output This Year

That the prospects are that the province will derive a return, multiplied at least three times over that of any previous year, from this source of wealth, is the statement in a few words of R. M. Palmer, formerly of the department of agriculture and one of the best authorities in the province. The movement of the fruit crop from the orchards of British Columbia is well under way. Early varieties of peaches are being shipped, and plums, cherries and apples are being sent to the markets.

At the present time Mr. Palmer is interested in an enterprise which has for its object the conversion of six thousand acres of sterile land, on the west side of the Thompson river, opposite Kamloops, into a fruit-raising proposition. "We are," said he to an interviewer, "engaged now in building an irrigation canal and the work will be advanced as fast as conditions will permit. When the irrigation is available the land will be subdivided for fruit holdings and a considerable acreage will be planted, designed especially for Old Country investors who like to find their holdings developed for them. The Canadian Northern railway will pass through this property, so that shippers of fruit will have the advantage of choice between two lines of transportation."

The prospects for the fruit crop this year, said Mr. Palmer, are excellent. The peach crop is well advanced and early varieties are being shipped. The quality is first rate and the shipping facilities are better this year than they have ever been before. The Okanagan Fruit Exchange is systematically pushing the sale of British Columbia fruit in the Northwest, and individual firms like Striting & Pitcairn, of Kelowna, are also actively engaged in packing and shipping. The crop is being well taken care of and well distributed. It is estimated that the product will total about sixty cars of peaches this year. In comparison with other seasons this is remarkable. We have never had anything like it before. The bulk of the shipments will go from the Summerland district, while large contributions will be made from Peachland, Penticton and Kelowna. To a great extent the increase is accounted for by the large acreage of young orchards which are bearing their first crop.

Early apples are also commencing to move. Also some varieties of plums. Everything indicates that the crop of apples will be of an unusually good quality and well colored. Of course, our success with the crop depends a good deal on the condition of the Northwest market, but there is a wide field in which to market the crop.

Vancouver Island has commenced to ship the Olivets and yellow cherries being particularly noticeable from there. There is an active demand for this class of fruit. These cherries go forward by express. They are marketed in Victoria, Vancouver and other local markets, as well as in the prairie country.

Talking the fruit crop as a whole, Mr. Palmer said it will be three times greater than in any previous year, and the returns to the orchardists will run into very large figures.

FARMER KILLS DAUGHTER.

Shoots Wife, Who May Die From Wounds, and Escapes to Woods.

Albany, N. Y. July 28.—Charles Green, a farmer residing near Lee's Corner, fourteen miles from Albany, yesterday shot his wife and daughter Eva, aged fourteen, and escaped into the woods with his son Chester, aged seven, according to William J. Vadyne, Mrs. Green's uncle, who witnessed the tragedy. The daughter was killed instantly, and Mrs. Green is not expected to recover. Sheriff Platt, of this city, was notified and went at once to search for Green.

Vadyne, with two sons and a brother, was working in a hay field when Green, carrying a rifle, came along with his wife, son and daughter. According to Vadyne, they were discussing their family troubles. Green wanted to take his son away with him, but the wife would not consent. Green, it is alleged, then told his wife to go to the house, but she refused. During the quarrel Green, Vadyne says, shot both

RIOTER SENT TO JAIL FOR THREE MONTHS

Brockville Cases Disposed of in Police Court—Hockey Player Fined

Brockville, July 28.—The police court yesterday was again largely occupied with cases arising out of strike disturbances. William Turner, who figured in the affair of Friday night, was committed for three months in default of a fine of $20 and costs for assaulting Constable Hourigan, who attempted to quell the riot. Upon the evidence of Hourigan he was also sent for trial for butting in the office door of the agent with a truck to get at the occupants who had sought shelter from the mob.

The principal interest of the proceedings centered around Ernie Johnson, the famous hockey player, and one of the striking conductors. He happened to be here when the strike was declared and remained in town for three or four days. During this time he got into a mixup with a peace officer named McCreary, who was specially sworn in by the company to protect its employees and trains. Johnson slapped the other's face in resentment, a remark made by the complainant.

The accused unexpectedly pleaded guilty to the charge lodged against him and his solicitor asked for a summary disposition of the case in the form of a fine. The lawyer for the company pressed for a remand on the ground that the offence was indictable and the prosecution was not ready to proceed with the hearing. A legal battle ensued, which Johnson won, out, the magistrate disposing of the case by imposing a fine of $20 and costs, which he paid. Johnson committed the offence on the night of the 20th, and it was held that his action had no bearing on the riot of the night later.

BRIGHT BUSINESS PROSPECTS.

While there is a possibility that the golden prospects of the early season may not be fulfilled to the letter, all the indications point to the year 1910 setting a new record in Canadian business.

The adverse features of the outlook are: Tight money likely in fall, drought has hurt crops, investment situation dull, labor troubles, foolish real estate purchases.

In the six months 150 branches of banks were opened, and between September, 1908, and May, 1910, 416 branch banks were opened, an increase of 22.1 per cent.

able as it was a month ago; but recent rains have raised the hopes of the western farmers. The acreage under crop there is considerably larger than last year.

The influx of settlers continues and the foundations of the prosperity of the country are being laid broad and deep.

When the political situation in the province of Quebec is described as disquieting, which may be a correct description of the conditions from a partisan point of view, but from a broader standpoint there is a glow of hope in the national horizon.

When the Colonist is at a loss for a defence of the course of its dear friend the Attorney-General, it falls back upon some ancient precedents.

As we have said, from a Canadian point of view, there is nothing at all disquieting in the agitation Messrs. Monk and Bourassa are attempting to create.

The extraordinary thing in connection with the agitation is the alliance of Mr. Monk, the self-contained, cultured, broad-minded and passionless man of affairs, with Mr. Bourassa.

Continuing its review the Monetary Times says the clearing house business in every month of 1910 shows an increase over the corresponding month of the previous year.

The railway earnings of the C. P. R. and G. T. R. increased, while those of the C. N. R. showed a slight decrease.

Canadian trade figures show steady increase, the total for the last twelve months being $685,137,222, an increase of 22 per cent. over those of the preceding year.

at it from a lower level, and its conclusions cannot prove very comforting to its friends. The Journal says: "It is quite likely that a number, a large number, of the most prominent French-Canadian Conservatives go with Mr. Monk for the time being."

But Mr. Monk—he preferred instead to open fire upon his party, to cut himself loose from his life-long political convictions and associations in order to denounce to his countrymen the single idea of their sharing in defective preparation for the defence of the flag under which they live.

Whenever the Colonist is at a loss for a defence of the course of its dear friend the Attorney-General, it falls back upon some ancient precedents.

Thrice defeated in his attempts to attain to the presidency of the United States and finally rejected by his own party in Nebraska, Mr. W. J. Bryan announces that he has severed his connection with the democracy.

Yes, the result of the High School entrance examinations for the whole of the province reflects creditably upon the teaching staff and the scholars of the Victoria schools, more creditably than the Colonist says.

ASKS CITIZENS' CO-OPERATION

E. MCGAFFEY SAYS THEY CAN SECURE SETTLERS

Local Man With Development League's Aid Brings in Dozen Friends

How every citizen may assist in the development of Vancouver Island without giving either time or money to the work was the subject of a short talk between Ernest McGaffey, secretary of the V. I. Development League, and a Times reporter to-day.

"We need everybody's co-operation," said Mr. McGaffey in referring to the work of the league. "While extensive advertising, attractive literature and correspondence are bringing in large numbers of settlers to the island there is still an opportunity for greater results which the league cannot take advantage of without the assistance of local men and women."

"Here is a letter which I have just received from Edwin Coventry, of this city. Mr. Coventry has, with our co-operation, brought out a large number of friends to Victoria and several more are ready to come as soon as they can make arrangements.

This is Vancouver Island's growing time. Its development cannot be properly carried out unless we have more people to do the work.

BRYAN'S VIEWS.

Disappointed by Failure of State Convention to Endorse County Option.

Lincoln, Neb., July 23.—William J. Bryan to-day issued a formal statement regarding the present status of the county option fight in Nebraska.

"I believe the Democrats have the advantage in the discussion on national issues. Every legislative candidate should be urged to support the candidate for United States senator receiving the largest vote under the Oregon plan, thus eliminating the option question in selecting an elector.

SURVEYING RESERVES. Ottawa, July 23.—Two survey parties have been sent out by the forestry department to delimit the boundary of the new Rocky Mountain forest reserve.

SHEEP SHOT DOWN BY CATTLEMEN

Fight Over Ranges Resumed in Montana—Final Warning to Sheep Owners

Helena, Mont., July 23.—War between the cattle and sheepmen in the northern part of this county has broken out again. As usual the fight is over the range.

Information received here states that four sheep-holders in charge of the Stowe bands, crossed the "dead line" separating the sheep and cattle range. The herders were captured by a gang of cattlemen, who disarmed the sheepmen, shot down a number of sheep, scattered the bands, and chased the herders over the "dead line" at the point of revolvers.

It is reported that the cattlemen have posted a last warning to sheepmen to keep on their side of the imaginary line separating the sheep and cattle ranges. Should sheepmen trespass a pitched battle in which men, not sheep, will be the targets, is predicted. On account of the rapid settlement of the country, available range lands have become comparatively scarce in this district. To equalize matters the sheepmen and cattlemen agreed upon a certain division of the grazing lands for their respective bands. This was done because cattle will not graze on lands on which sheep have been fed over. In consequence cattlemen are exceedingly bitter toward sheepmen who allow their sheep bands to stray over the so-called "dead line."

UNCLE SAM MAY BUY AEROPLANES

Proposal to Experiment With Airships for Both Army and Navy Use

Washington, D. C., July 23.—If congress does not balk, the United States government will within the next six weeks have six aeroplanes to use in determining the exact value of aircraft in modern warfare. According to belief, a plan to ask congress for $75,000 for the purchase of the airships is being backed by Secretary of War Dickinson and Secretary of the Navy Meyer. It is expected that the proposition will be put up to congress at the next session and that strenuous efforts will be made to secure the appropriation. It is the intention of the authorities, it is said, to experiment with the machines for both army and navy use.

VICTIM OF AVALANCHE

Wellington, Wash., July 23.—The body of an unknown man, the last of the victims of the Wellington avalanche which snuffed out ninety lives last March, was taken from the debris in a creek bed at the foot of the mountain yesterday by Great Northern section hands. The body lay in running water and was not as badly decomposed as might be expected. It was partially uncovered Tuesday afternoon, but the boulders under which it lay were not piled off until yesterday.

CHINA INVITES KITCHENER.

Wants Field Marshal to Organize Chinese Army.
 London, July 23.—The Daily Mail, which is exploiting Field Marshal Lord Kitchener's non-employment by the government, publishes under date of Pekin, July 8th, a story that China is inviting him to organize and develop the Chinese army on his own terms.
 A determination to build up an army is now uppermost in the mind of China's ruler and any emolument that Lord Kitchener might name would be thought cheap for his services.

GLEN LEE DISCHARGING SUGAR AT VANCOUVER

Foggy and Overcast Weather All Way Across Pacific—Passed Two Steamers

Bringing 6,000 tons of sugar from Java, the British steamer Glenlee, Captain T. R. Sloane, has reached Vancouver. It will take about twelve days to discharge the vessel's cargo, and she will then proceed to the Columbia River to load lumber for China.

The Glenlee left England almost a year ago on what was anticipated would be a three months' voyage. She went first to Buenos Ayres, thence to Durban. From the South African port she proceeded to Bunbury, West Australia, and then steamed to Port Sudan.

Naturally the Glenlee after her stay in eastern waters has something to show in the way of curios, and Captain Sloane has a dwarf orange tree obtained in Japan which has aroused a great deal of interest.

Several monkeys are owned by the Chinese crew. One of these obtained in Java came aboard with a fine long tail which was trimmed to regulation length by the Chinese.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the Seamen's Institute tomorrow afternoon for the purpose of considering the matter of raising funds for the new building which it is proposed to erect on the corner at the corner of Kingston, Superior and St. Lawrence streets.

The property which was acquired for the institute building is a fine one, and well suited to the purpose for which it is designed. It has increased in value considerably since it was purchased, and could be held to-day for a good figure.

The increase of shipping at this port makes it highly desirable that something should be done at as early a date as possible to place this institution on a good footing.

OLSEN AND MAHONEY BRINGS CEMENT CARGO

Takes Customs Officer and Pilot and Leaves for Powell River

American steamer Olsen and Mahoney anchored off the outer dock last evening with a cargo of cement bound for Powell River. She took aboard a pilot and a customs officer, there being no port of entry at her destination.

The Olsen and Mahoney is named after the owners of a fleet of lumber steamers who were pioneers in the shipping business on this coast.

CITRIANA DAMAGED BY STEAMER BRUNO

G. T. P. Vessel Backed Into Her at Wharf at Prince Rupert—Petriana Here

Steamer Citriana will be delayed at Vancouver several days while repairs are being made to her upper works. She was damaged at Prince Rupert a day or two ago by the Grand Trunk steamer Bruno backing into her when she was at the wharf.

The Shearwater is at present in the neighborhood of Prince Rupert making the usual cruise along the British Columbia coast. The Egeria is surveying up the east coast so that at present there is no ship representing His Majesty's navy at Esquimalt.

SURVIVORS LIVED ON GREASE AND FISH

Captain Pyne of Orpesa Found Locked in Arms of Br/ After Death

Mothers and wives wept bitterly on the Liverpool landing stage when the Pacific liner Orpesa came alongside bringing no more than twelve survivors of the crew of the British steamer Swanshild, which was wrecked near the Horn when on a journey from Cardiff to Antofagasta.

One of the survivors was Captain Pyne, who was married shortly before leaving Cardiff. He took his bride with him, the trip being looked upon as their honeymoon.

On the night of the wreck the vessel was blowing a gale and the vessel overran her distance, and struck on a small island off Staten Island, which lies near the South American coast.

In the midst of this disappointment a Swedish seaman went fighting wildly until restrained. He sank afterwards to the bottom of the boat and died from exhaustion.

RIVERDALE STUCK FAST IN PORTLAND HARBOR

Struck Sunken Mass of Cement and Old Iron Yesterday When Bound Out

Portland, Ore., July 28.—A gang of longshoremen was put to work to-day lightening the British tramp steamer Riverdale, which is hard and fast on the submerged residue of the old Madison street bridge in Portland harbor.

The ship struck the sunken mass of cement and old iron yesterday while she was being backed down stream laden with over 2,000,000 feet of lumber for Tsingtau, China.

STEAMER BEAVER STILL SUBMERGED IN RIVER

Efforts to Move Her Prove Fruitless—Is Being Lightened by Longshoremen

Portland, Ore., July 28.—Passengers of the steamer Beaver which stranded on the lower Columbia river yesterday just after a collision with the British steamer St. Nicholas had been narrowly averted in the fog, started for Portland early to-day.

Several attempts were made to pull the Beaver off the bank to-day at high tide. The big passenger boat was stuck fast, however, and the hawsers snapped without the vessel being moved an inch.

Lighters have been ordered from Portland and all the cargo in the forward hold will be removed. Officials stated that it may be necessary to remove practically all the cargo before the ship can be released from the sands.

PRINCE GEORGE WAS HERE FROM NORTH

Brought Many Passengers, Including Mrs. D. D. Mann, Wife of Railway Magistrate

Steamer Prince George arrived last evening from Stewart and way ports, and later proceeded to Seattle. She brought 125 passengers, among whom was Mrs. D. D. Mann, Mr. Mann remains longer at Stewart, where he is investigating the prospects of the mining camp about which he is very enthusiastic.

Word was brought by the steamer that mining operations are proceeding right inside the city on vacant Johnson's hill.

The Prince Rupert leaves Seattle at midnight to-night, and will arrive here early in the morning.

French Mess Abolished. Unmarried Army Officers Will Now Have to Dine Alone.

French regimental messes are about to be abolished, and the unmarried officer will have to make his own arrangements for meals hereafter.

This method has led to the charge that there is little camaraderie among the French officers on the present staff. But it is probably since the Second Empire that the mess attained its position as a military institution and caused officers to be regarded as a separate caste.

As for the meals hereafter, the officers will suffer because the proprietor who had heretofore provided for a dozen daily was able to be savoury in quantity and quality, and now there will not be that effort, because in the first place the customer will be an uncertain one.

BAIN ON THE OUTLOOK.
 Magazine Not on Sale in Kansas Town Because of Roosevelt Article on Prize-Fighting.
 Because of an article by Theodore Roosevelt in the Outlook, the last issue of the magazine has been barred from sale in Hutchinson, Kan. The magazine comes under the ban of the recent ordinance, which prohibited the exhibition of prize fight pictures and the sale of newspapers or magazines printing such pictures or printing stories of prize fighting. Of course, it was never intended that the ordinance should place the Outlook in the same class as the Police Gazette, but under a strict interpretation of the ordinance any magazine which prints matter relating to prize fighting can be barred. The last issue of the Outlook contained a comment of Mr. Roosevelt on the Jeffries-Johnson fight, so it came under the provisions of the ordinance even if the article did condemn prize fighting. No particular attention was paid to the matter until yesterday, when Mr. Oswald, a city commissioner, went to a book store to buy a copy of the Outlook. "Can't sell it," the book dealer said; "it has an article on prize fighting by Theodore Roosevelt and I would be breaking the new ordinance."

AGE OF EARTH.
 Washington, July 28.—Old mother earth, like femininity through all time, but with far greater success than most of her sex, has defied man to learn her age. Scientists still admit their defeat. Their latest estimate credits her with "not above 70,000,000 years or below 35,000,000 years."
 This estimate, to which official sanction is given through publication by the Smithsonian Institution, is the result of studies by Frank Willgooseworth Clark and George F. Becker, of the United States Geological Survey.

TRAIN AND CAR COLLIDE.
 Cleveland, July 28.—Twelve persons were injured, one probably fatally, when a St. Clair avenue car was struck by an outgoing Pennsylvania train at the 28th street grade crossing last evening. The car was hurled from the track and smashed into splinters.

MILL WRECKED BY BOILER EXPLOSION.
 Engineer of Plant is Killed—Several Other Persons Sustain Injuries.
 Marshfield, Ore., July 28.—One man is dead and several persons are suffering serious injury as a result of an explosion of a boiler in the plant of the Coquille Mill and Mercantile Company here Tuesday night. The dead: F. E. McCauley, engineer of the plant. Seriously injured: Mrs. McCauley, wife of the engineer, thigh broken, badly burned; Earl Steele, watchman, crushed. Two small children of the McCauleys, who were visiting the plant with Mrs. McCauley were slightly injured when the boiler exploded.
 The mill is a total wreck. Many windows in Marshfield were broken by the vibrations set up by the explosion. The loss is estimated at $10,000. The cause of the explosion is not known.

WEDDED YESTERDAY AT CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL
 Celebration of Nuptials of Mr. D. N. McIntyre and Miss Susan Henrietta Short

Mr. D. N. McIntyre, city editor of the Colonist, and Miss Susan Henrietta Short, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Short, were yesterday afternoon united in marriage at Christ church cathedral, in the presence of a large gathering of friends of the contracting parties. Rev. A. J. Doull, rector of the cathedral, performed the ceremony.
 The bride was given away by Rev. Jos. McCoy, an old friend of the family. The bride was attended by Miss E. Vantreigh, daughter of Mrs. J. Vantreigh of Victoria. Mr. C. L. Armstrong assisted the bridegroom as best man.
 The bride wore a handsome gown of cream satin, with a very beautiful Brussels lace veil, an heirloom from her mother, over a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of heli roses, a lovely gift from the groom, set with pearls and turquoise, the gift of the bridegroom. Her going-away costume was a very smart reseau green coat and skirt—and a hat en suite—trimmed with long shagreen plumes.
 The bridesmaid wore a very dainty gown of soft green satin, inserted with lace, and a large cream net picture that trimmed with white plumes. She also wore a gold brooch set with pearls and turquoise, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a lovely bouquet of pink carnations—tied with pink chiffon.
 Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre received many presents, notably from the rector of the cathedral, and the friends of the bride employed in the Lands and Works department.
 After the ceremony a charming reception was held at "Cherrybank," and in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre left for Seattle on the "Portland," where the honeymoon will be spent. They will reside on Dunsmuir road, Esquimaut.
 Mr. McIntyre is a son of the Rev. C. E. McIntyre, of Kingston, Ont. He is a graduate of Queen's University, class of 1905, and has been connected with newspaper work for many years, being formerly well-known on the Montreal Star, and for the past few years on the Colonist.
 Mrs. McIntyre is a native of Victoria, a daughter of one of the pioneers of '58.

SUMMER CUSHIONS

Pillow covers for the summer are important in these days of many hammocks, swinging couches, porch settees, and all the other lounging places which make a summer house a place of comfort. Washable covers are always ideal for general use and especially so for summer. Some of the needlework departments, especially the ones equipped with German lines and embroidery patterns, have cross-barred canvases to be filled with fancy stitches in washable cottons. Cross-barred linen dish towelling is used in the same way. A variety of woven patterns some in such linens and canvases. The work required goes fast, and the result is substantial and effective. Stencil pillows are among the most useful and they, too, will wash. The rag carpet covers are hardy for porch use and so are the coarse materials worked with bright coarse threads. One thing to remember in making pillows for outdoors is that the brighter light has a tendency to make certain vivid colors seem less startling than when they are used in the house, while others will appear more startling. Some thought must be given to the colors by which so small a thing as a pillow is to be surrounded. If red geraniums are used near the porch or parterre, for the sake of peace and harmony, avoid anything like crimson. One woman has made herself a set of pillows for the porch from plain linen which she had printed with wood blocks found in a Japanese store. White pillows are always good because they launder well. And natural-colored linen covers worked with white are equally practical. One of the most effective covers on a certain porch is made of heavy German hand-woven cotton made for dishcloths. The cotton is worked with a simple Bulgarian pattern in characteristic colors.

STERLING COMPANY SUPPORTS MRS. FISKE

Mrs. Fiske, who appears in "Becky Sharp" at the Victoria Monday evening, in her art's most indefatigable as well as its most able and imaginative exponent. With the exception of a few weeks necessarily spent in rehearsals, she has played continuously for over eighteen months now, and her present tour calls for an additional six months of effort.
 At its close there will be no rest for her, however, as she will immediately start rehearsals of a new play by Langdon Mitchell, who so famously fashioned "Becky Sharp" for her from Thackeray's "Vanity Fair." This play is Mrs. Fiske's piece de resistance and the one of all in her repertoire upon which the public has set most unmitigably its seal of enthusiastic approval.
 Mrs. Fiske will be supported by the entire Manhattan company, including Holbrook Blinn, regarded by critics as one of the first of American actors; Merle Maddern, who possesses the inestimable dramatic heritage of the Madderns, and whose stage experience, though brief, shows remarkable promise; Henry Stephenson, a well-known English actor whose varied career has included engagements with Sir Henry Irving, Beerholm Tree, George Alexander and other London leaders, coming to America with Charles Hawtrey in "A Message from Mars," and who plays Hawdon Crawley; and many others.
 The advance sale for this engagement opens to-morrow morning and is expected to be very heavy.

DIABETES

We have the following unsolicited letter from James T. Douglas, Harrisburg, Oregon:
 Harrisburg, Oregon, June 25th, 1908.
 John J. Fulton Co., Oakland, Cal.
 Gentlemen—I have had Diabetes for over two years and was almost in. Was very weak and could hardly walk. A friend of mine told me of the Fulton Diabetic Compound and I have now taken thirty bottles and am feeling fine, and can say that I am sure I had not gotten relief in any way before now, have been under the pod. Hence, I can speak for your compound. It did the work for me. What will you charge me for three dozen?
 Yours respectfully,
JAMES T. DOUGLAS.
 Another—Same mail brought a letter from R. B. Pickling, the druggist in Blackville, S. C., from which we quote: "I have had a customer who had Diabetes in its worst stages. I have gotten him out of bed on the Diabetic Compound and have run out. Send duplicate of last order."
 Diabetes is rated the world over as incurable, but recoveries are being reported daily through Fulton's Diabetic Compound. You may ask how and upward for a person to recover under the Fulton treatment when medical text books admit they have no remedy.
 Let us say in reply, that when the late John J. Fulton discovered he had Bright's Disease, and that the text books had no specific for inflammation of the kidneys, which was the real difficulty, he set out in a new direction to evolve an emollient that would reduce inflammation in the kidney tissues. He worked it out and inflammation of the kidney all along the line from kidney trouble to Bright's Disease, even in the chronic forms, is now curable in about eighty-seven per cent. of all cases.
 Diabetics took it upon the theory that as Diabetes is an impairment of functions that are closely related to the urinary processes, it ought to get results in that trouble, too.

STERLING COMPANY SUPPORTS MRS. FISKE

Mrs. Fiske, who appears in "Becky Sharp" at the Victoria Monday evening, in her art's most indefatigable as well as its most able and imaginative exponent. With the exception of a few weeks necessarily spent in rehearsals, she has played continuously for over eighteen months now, and her present tour calls for an additional six months of effort.
 At its close there will be no rest for her, however, as she will immediately start rehearsals of a new play by Langdon Mitchell, who so famously fashioned "Becky Sharp" for her from Thackeray's "Vanity Fair." This play is Mrs. Fiske's piece de resistance and the one of all in her repertoire upon which the public has set most unmitigably its seal of enthusiastic approval.
 Mrs. Fiske will be supported by the entire Manhattan company, including Holbrook Blinn, regarded by critics as one of the first of American actors; Merle Maddern, who possesses the inestimable dramatic heritage of the Madderns, and whose stage experience, though brief, shows remarkable promise; Henry Stephenson, a well-known English actor whose varied career has included engagements with Sir Henry Irving, Beerholm Tree, George Alexander and other London leaders, coming to America with Charles Hawtrey in "A Message from Mars," and who plays Hawdon Crawley; and many others.
 The advance sale for this engagement opens to-morrow morning and is expected to be very heavy.

DIABETES

We have the following unsolicited letter from James T. Douglas, Harrisburg, Oregon:
 Harrisburg, Oregon, June 25th, 1908.
 John J. Fulton Co., Oakland, Cal.
 Gentlemen—I have had Diabetes for over two years and was almost in. Was very weak and could hardly walk. A friend of mine told me of the Fulton Diabetic Compound and I have now taken thirty bottles and am feeling fine, and can say that I am sure I had not gotten relief in any way before now, have been under the pod. Hence, I can speak for your compound. It did the work for me. What will you charge me for three dozen?
 Yours respectfully,
JAMES T. DOUGLAS.
 Another—Same mail brought a letter from R. B. Pickling, the druggist in Blackville, S. C., from which we quote: "I have had a customer who had Diabetes in its worst stages. I have gotten him out of bed on the Diabetic Compound and have run out. Send duplicate of last order."
 Diabetes is rated the world over as incurable, but recoveries are being reported daily through Fulton's Diabetic Compound. You may ask how and upward for a person to recover under the Fulton treatment when medical text books admit they have no remedy.
 Let us say in reply, that when the late John J. Fulton discovered he had Bright's Disease, and that the text books had no specific for inflammation of the kidneys, which was the real difficulty, he set out in a new direction to evolve an emollient that would reduce inflammation in the kidney tissues. He worked it out and inflammation of the kidney all along the line from kidney trouble to Bright's Disease, even in the chronic forms, is now curable in about eighty-seven per cent. of all cases.
 Diabetics took it upon the theory that as Diabetes is an impairment of functions that are closely related to the urinary processes, it ought to get results in that trouble, too.
 It did, but much more slowly than in distinct kidney trouble, and so he made a modification of the treatment for Diabetics, with the result that Diabetics are cured in nearly nine-tenths of all cases in people of middle age and upward (Kidney disease commonly responds in all ages).

The Evening Chit-Chat
 BY RUTH CAMERON

Our neighborhood is buzzing with disapproval of one of its members. And I am in disgrace because I refuse to buzz and insist instead on approving.
 The cause is this—Mrs. M. has decided to send Eleanor to a co-educational college.
 "We don't mind co-education for most girls," buzzes the neighborhood, "but for Eleanor we think it is perfectly insane. Aren't there enough girls' colleges in the country where a girl like Eleanor would be very much better?"
 Eleanor, aged seventeen, and just graduated from a segregated preparatory school—be it explained—is boy mad. All girls along about that age have the boy-craze more or less, of course. Eleanor has it most.
 Everyone who knows her thought her another—a most sensible woman—would send her to a girls' college to get over it.
 On the contrary, Mrs. M. is going to send her to a co-educational college, and in defiance of the neighborhood, I am ready to cheer for Mrs. M.
 The girl in the candy shop who looks at me from morning to night and has free license to eat all she wants, or the girl to whom candy is a holiday indulgence who is the most apt to get sick on sweets?
 If you want a girl to have common sense ideas on the subject of boys, is it better to shut her away from them in a boys' place where she will dream and idealize and think about them most all the time, or to let her live in daily companionship with them where she may find out that they are just ordinary human beings like herself?
 "You will notice that the children of co-educational schools walk home together and part quite simply at their homes with no thoughts of 'beauty and idealization' and 'thinking about them most all the time, or to let her live in daily companionship with them where she may find out that they are just ordinary human beings like herself?"
 The college woman unaccustomed to meeting and studying freely with men is probably too well bred to meet them on the street corners after class, but the effect on her is to make her take an extravagant and unnatural interest in anything masculine quite different from the simple natural attitude of her co-educated sisters.
 Am I not prejudiced?
 Perhaps so.
 But let me give you the opinion of a woman who, having been educated at a co-educational college and then been president of one of the greatest girls' colleges in the country, ought to know both sides of the question.
 The woman is Alice Freeman Palmer, the great president of Wellesley College. Of her feelings on the subject of co-education her husband writes in his book about her:
 "The natural association of girls with boys in interests of a nobler sort, she believed, tends to broaden their vision, to solidify their minds and to remove much that is hectic and unwholesome from the awakening instincts of sex. She did not think it made girls boyish or boys girlish, but merely that it brought good sense and a pleasant companionship to take the place of giddiness and sentimentality. She used to say that co-educational marriages seldom appear in the divorce courts."

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

The Canadian Magazine for August is an unusually strong number. Perhaps the feature of most importance is a fine article by Professor W. L. Grant entitled "Goldwin Smith at Oxford." Professor Grant has been for some time lecturer on Colonial History at Oxford, and the researches for this article were made on the spot. There is also a splendid appreciation by Dr. A. H. U. Colquhoun, deputy minister of education for Ontario, of the work and place of Goldwin Smith in Canada. These two articles are well illustrated. Professor Archibald MacMechan contributes an entertaining account of some early associations in Halifax. Mr. Arthur O. Wheeler, president of the Canadian Alpine Club, has a beautifully illustrated article on "Canada's Wonderland." The second act of Arthur Stringer's play "The Blot" is in this number, as well as some fine short stories.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES.

It is said that hemstitching is going to be used extensively as a finish for waists and gowns. This will be welcome news to the woman who likes the clever effect made by a row of even, open stitches. The hemstitched edge will be used chiefly on chiffon garments.
 Save every scrap of trimming, for even a tiny piece may be exactly the finish for some garment when you are in sore-need. Save all pieces of linen and silk, for most of them may be used in some way, either as fancy work or trimming. Have a scrap box always ready for them.
 In these days when gullepe dresses are worn and gullepe are both expensive to buy and rather troublesome to make one can save time and money by utilizing old thin shirt waists. Yokes and lower portions of sleeves always wear out first, and these can be cut away and new material substituted. This new fabric may be lace, net, lingerie or any preferred fabric. Then the shirt waist should be cut off at the waist line and all fullness eliminated. The edge should be neatly finished with a narrow hem or binding. Lay on the new material before cutting away the old, and then no fitting will be necessary.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO GREAT IMPERIALIST

Chamberlain's Seventy-Fourth Birthday Made Occasion of Remembrances

When Mr. Joseph Chamberlain recently kept his seventy-fourth birthday the event was made the occasion of a great popular demonstration of the esteem and regard in which the great Imperialist is held. Over a thousand telegrams and cablegrams from all parts of the world, bearing congratulatory greetings, reached his house in Prince's Gardens during the day. They commenced arriving at an early hour in the morning, and continued to be received until a late hour in the evening. At one time in the day there was a constant stream of telegraph messenger boys to No. 46, Prince's Gardens, and it was not until about 6 o'clock that the flood of telegrams began to abate. Amongst the cablegrams were several from the overseas states, people in Canada, Australia and South Africa sending greetings to the great statesman who has done so much to foster the spirit of Imperialism. As the telegrams were received they were taken into the room at the end of the hall which is used as a writing room by Mr. J. Wilson, Mr. Chamberlain's secretary, and here opened as fast as possible. They were sorted and those that were of a distinctly intimate nature were at once conveyed to Mr. Chamberlain, who dictated answers to them. These telegrams came from old friends, not the least notable of which was one which gave Mr. Chamberlain particular pleasure. It was from Mr. Jesse Collins, president of the Unionist party in the longest association with Chamberlain in the great tariff reform.

As showing the universal regard in which Mr. Chamberlain is held, it may be mentioned that the congratulatory telegrams included several from keen political opponents of the great statesman. One of the earliest of the telegrams received was from the Lord Mayor of Birmingham, sending Mr. Chamberlain, on behalf of the citizens, hearty birthday greetings, and gratefully remembering the municipal enterprises initiated by Birmingham's first freeman and senior ex-mayor. Private citizens, many of them known to Mr. Chamberlain as ardent admirers, also sent messages. The staff of the central office of the Tariff Reform League in their telegram included the message: "Every one here is working to further your Imperial ideal." Messages came from several hundred Tariff Reform League branches all over the country, many of these branches having arranged special outdoor meetings, fetes and demonstrations in honor of Mr. Chamberlain's birthday. During the day, as the press of telegrams grew, it became obvious that it would be impossible to answer them all individually, and Mr. Chamberlain, in order that no invidious choice should be made, gave orders that no list of the telegrams received was to be published. Later the following statement was handed to a representative by Mr. Wilson:

"Mr. Joseph Chamberlain desires

most gratefully to acknowledge the many letters and telegrams which he has received from his friends on the occasion of his birthday. He regrets that, owing to their number, it is not possible for him to reply to them personally, as he would have been glad to do."

There were many distinguished callers at Mr. Chamberlain's house who brought personal congratulations, amongst these being the Marquess of Lansdowne, who left a warm message of regard on his card; Viscount Morpeth, Sir Frederick Lugard, Sir Chas. Morrison-Bell and the Countess of Shaftesbury. The orchids that had been brought from Highbury to decorate the birthday table were accompanied by bouquets sent by warm admirers. Mr. Chamberlain passed his birthday quietly, keeping strictly to his usual routine. He spent the usual amount of time with his secretary, attended to pressing correspondence, dictated replies to a number of telegrams, read a little, and during the morning took advantage of the fine spell to walk across to the pleasant gardens opposite his house. After a leisurely stroll he sat upon a seat and chatted for some time with Mrs. Chamberlain.

It was noticed that Mr. Chamberlain was looking in good spirits, and his health was described as giving no cause for anxiety. Mr. Austen Chamberlain called during the morning, and remained for luncheon, which was served to a purely family gathering that included Mrs. Endicott. As showing the improvement that has manifested itself lately in Mr. Chamberlain's health, it may be stated that he is in the habit now of taking a daily walk whenever the weather permits, and in company with Mrs. Chamberlain and Mrs. Endicott he paid a visit to the New Victoria and Albert museum, South Kensington, which is near to his house, and evinced the keenest interest in this addition to the government buildings. Entering by the main entrance, he passed through the architectural courts and the sections devoted to tapestry, artistic metal work and Old English furniture, his visit in all extending over half an hour. Mr. Chamberlain intends returning to Highbury as soon as the present session of parliament closes.

HEALTH AND MARRIAGE.

Strong British Advocacy of Medical Certificates.

At a meeting of the Women's Freedom League in London Cecil Chapman, the Tower Bridge magistrate, speaking on marriage, separation and divorce, said that the freedom of women seemed to be the only way in which they hoped to get rid of the patriarchal and purchase view of marriage that the woman became one with the husband. He had a quarrel with the church service, which bound the woman to serve and obey the man. It was fundamentally wrong. There would be nothing like so many breaches of contract and scandals in regard to marriage if the contract entered into in the church had more reality and less fiction. (Applause.)

Mr. Chapman went on to remark that people had to get a doctor's certificate in order to enter the army or navy, but we had not risen to the standard of having a certificate of fitness from a medical man before a couple married. He did think parents ought to insist upon one, whether the law did or no. England was behind every other country in the matter of divorce. The law was harder, harsher, and less elastic than in any other civilized country, and nothing could be more fallacious than the statement that we were more moral because there were fewer divorces in this country.

COST OF LIVING INVESTIGATION

Resume Published by Labor Department—Deferred Productivity Base of Situation

The Labor Gazette for July contains a resume of the investigation which has been in progress for some months concerning the increased cost of living. The object of the investigation was to determine as accurately as possible the nature and extent of the general rise in prices and the underlying causes. The investigation was limited to the last twenty years. The commodities enumerated numbered 230 and were classed in thirteen groups. There are many illustrative charts. Prices followed a downward course from '80 to '87. They fell in '88 and then started to soar again and have kept it up.

"From the above and other analyses several important central facts as to the general situation at present may be ascertained," says the report. "Of the great producing industries, agriculture seems to show the largest increase in prices. Crude farm products (grains, fodder, meat producing animals, milk, eggs, wool, fruits, vegetables) have advanced by over 37 per cent, compared with the last decade. The products made therefrom (meats, bran, flour, hides, leather, etc.) have increased by over 34 per cent. On the other hand, imported foods are lower than they were during the decade 1890-1899. Fish products are nearly as high as they were in the latter part of the decade. Products of the mine are only slightly above the level of the decade, and if coal be excluded, are below that average. Comparing to Canadian manufactured products, the general level is about 14 per cent. above the level of the base decade. Included in this estimate are various grades of Canadian lumber which on an average are 52 per cent dearer than during the base period. It is excluded, the manufactured products of Canada show a gain of less than 10 per cent, compared with the decade 1890-1899. These and other facts of a like nature are of the utmost significance in connection with the interpretation of the results of an investigation like the present. The tables of index number will permit of many variations upon the theme."

Discussing the causes of the increase the report says in part:

"The striking nature, however, of the circumstances prompting the investigation, and of the results now shown, namely, a rise of considerably over one-third in the general level of prices within the past twelve years—a rise which is still in progress—has directed widespread attention to the question of what are the causes of a phenomenon which implies such serious consequences to the community. It may be well, therefore, in concluding to point to some of the leading agencies which may produce a rise or fall in prices; which have probably been operative either separately or in combination to a greater or lesser degree, and which should be taken into account by anyone seeking an explanation of the changes. Whether they be changes temporarily in the prices of a particular commodity, and comparatively easy of solution, or changes in the general price level, extending over a period of years, persisting through and in spite of temporary fluctuations, and involving the organizations of society as a whole, like the last sixty years, as portrayed by the index numbers previously cited, such a general movement (upward) prevailed from 1848 to 1873; such a general movement (downward) from 1873 to 1897; and such a general movement (again upward) from 1897 to the present time."

Deferred productivity is declared to be the base of the situation. The report proceeds:

"Under this heading falls to be considered a feature of the present situation which has been declared to lie at the very basis of the high prices prevailing. The past decade has been one of exceptional rapid industrial expansion in Canada. Immigration has been on an unprecedented scale. Large areas of new lands have been brought under cultivation. Accompanying this has been a heavy expenditure, chiefly of borrowed capital, on railways, towns, public works and other large undertakings. The point emphasized in this connection is that many of these enterprises have not yet become productive. Hence the weight thus far has been thrown almost entirely into the demand side of the scale. The demand has been, in the first instance, for the materials consumed in the actual undertakings; but the circle of industrial and trade activity, once set in motion, has gone on widening until it has reached all but the uttermost edge of the community. The tables show that heavy increases have taken place in prices brought primarily under the influence of the expansion, such as lumber, food supplies, and articles produced by the labor deflected, whereas goods of distant growth and manufacture appear in many cases less affected, other things being equal. In the general result, wages and prices have been following each other for some time past in what has been described as an 'ascending spiral.' The shortening of hours and the slackening of effort mentioned above are perhaps best considered as a parallel phenomenon with the rise of wages. So likewise is the fact that with greater spending power has come a general rise in the standard of living. Wastefulness and extravagance may have supervened, having their root in the distribution of so much accumulated wealth. A standard of this kind once established is very difficult to dislodge. The luxury of to-day' says John Stuart Mill, 'is the necessity of to-morrow.' This point of view in its present application has been summed up in the remark that the problem to-day is not one of the high cost of living, but one of the cost of high living. But the situation is wider than any mere personal issue, and its solution depends to a degree on the transition from potential to actual productiveness of the buildings, railways and towns now under construction, whereby what have hitherto been very potent factors in demand will become factors also in supply."

Dealing with the effects of variations in prices the concrete question discussed is as follows: "Prices having risen approximately one-third in the past twelve years, what is the meaning of the change to the individual and the community? The bearing of the statistics contained in the report on this question is fully explained. In conclusion it is pointed out that a change in prices affects the well-being of the consumer only where no corresponding change in income has occurred. No final investigation of wages tendencies within the past twenty years was possible within the limits of the report, though the records of the department of labor show that there has been a continuous upward tendency since 1901, this tendency becoming pronounced in 1903 and in 1907."

ECZEMA MUST YIELD TO DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

There is one thing you can depend on Dr. Chase's Ointment to do every time, and that is to cure eczema. There is no more severe test to which an ointment can be put, and because Dr. Chase's Ointment triumphed over eczema, it has become the standard ointment.

When another ointment is praised it is said to be as good as Dr. Chase's. And this illustrates the high position held by this preparation.

Mrs. Oscar Vancott, St. Antoine, Sask., writes: "I have found Dr. Chase's Ointment to be a permanent cure for eczema and other skin diseases. One son while nursing broke out with running watery sores all over his head and around the ears. Many salves were prescribed to no effect. The child's head became a mass of scabs and he suffered agony untold. He became weak and frail, would not eat and we thought we would lose him.

"Providentially we heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment and it soon thoroughly cured him. He is seven years old now and strong and well. An older boy was also cured of eczema by this Ointment and we hope more people will learn about it so that their poor little ones may be saved from suffering."

Do not be satisfied with the experience of others, but put Dr. Chase's Ointment to the test when occasion arises. Try it for chafing and irritation of the skin, for chapped and cracked hands, for chilblains and frost bites, for sores and burns. It is delightfully soothing and healing, 60 cts. a box, all dealers; or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

MISSING ARCHDUKE.

Appeal to Have John Orth Declared Dead.

Twenty years ago on July 12th, 1890, Johann Orth, formerly the Archduke Johann Salvator, accompanied by his wife, left Buenos Ayres for Valparaiso as captain of his own sailing vessel, the Santa Margherita. Several weeks before he had married in London an opera singer, Milly Stuebel, and then sailed with cargo of cement from England to the Argentine, where he discharged the captain and two officers with whom he had quarrelled. He replaced the latter, but took command himself.

Since then Orth, his wife, the crew, and the ship have been missing. Now his nephew, the Archduke Joseph Ferdinand, has applied to the Lord Chamberlain's office, Vienna, as the court of justice for the imperial family, for formal declarations of the death, stating that since the letter written by Orth on the day of his departure from Buenos Ayres no news has been received from him or the other persons on board the boat, and that doubtless the Santa Margherita sank off Cape Trespuntas during a terrific storm on July 29th, 1890.

All rumors that Orth is still alive and is a farmer in South America or became a leader of insurgents in Chile, or was identical with the Japanese general, Yamagata, are described as fabulous.

The court decided that should no news be received from him within the next six months Orth would be declared dead, so that his will may be opened and his property, estimated at between £200,000 and £1,000,000, distributed.

Orth was 28 when he disappeared. He was one of the most popular of the imperial princes, but he resigned his rank and title owing to differences with his family about his matrimonial plans and other affairs. Then it was that he became the owner of a trading vessel.

MAHAN WARNS OF GERMAN PERIL

AMERICAN ADMIRAL SAYS PEACE IS DREAM

Enjoins the British Democracy to Be Equal to Its Inheritance and Promote Defence

Admiral A. T. Mahan, of the United States navy, who is regarded as the most sagacious writer upon sea power that the present generation has produced, has attracted immense attention in Europe by an article in the London Daily Mail, in which he gives earnest warning that, through the apathy of British voters and statesmen, British naval supremacy is no longer adequately maintained. The article is, in part, as follows:

This is the fundamental condition which the British democracy of to-day has to recognize as regards their national security, upon which their economic future—their food, clothing, and housing—depends: that they stand face to face with a nation (Germany) one-fourth more numerous than themselves, and one more highly organized for the sustenance by force of a national policy. It is so because it has a government more efficient in the ordering of national life, in that it can be, and is, more consecutive in purpose, than one balanced unsteadily upon the shoulders of a shifting popular majority. Fortunately for Great Britain the popular tradition of the national need for a great navy still supplies to some extent aid for the ordering of the navy. Yet, however, from the distance the course of British action in late years it certainly has seemed that this conviction is less operative, that its claims to allegiance are less felt and more disrupted. Yet in case of national reverse following upon national failure to prepare, it is the democracy, the voters who will suffer.

Three Wars Without Blows.
The prolonged formal peace which Europe has enjoyed for thirty years affords a precise illustration of the ineffectiveness of populations to realize external dangers. Continuation of peace induces a practical disbelief in the possibility of war, and practical disbelief soon result in practical inaction, or non-action. Yet, however, from the distance the course of British action in late years it certainly has seemed that this conviction is less operative, that its claims to allegiance are less felt and more disrupted. Yet in case of national reverse following upon national failure to prepare, it is the democracy, the voters who will suffer.

Such misconception is peculiarly liable to arise in communities insulated by position like Great Britain, so remote from the great nations of the world as is the United States.

Insular democracies are lax and inefficient in preparation for war, and in natural consequences their wars have been long and expensive. But wars in the future cannot be long though they may be expensive; expensive of much besides their immediate cost; expensive in advantages lost and in indemnities exacted. Democracies can no longer afford to neglect preparation, relying upon their strength of endurance and faculty for recovery which probably may exceed that of less free institutions. The time for recovery will not be conceded to them any more than it is by a capable general of time for recovery open to modern conditions is the time of preparation.

Britain's Vast National Wealth.
What reason is there in the nature of things that the British democracy should not maintain an army proportionately as great as that of Germany? None, except that the British democracy will not. The national wealth is vastly greater; but notwithstanding this, which indicates not only a certain greater power but a much greater stake, the national will so to prepare does not exist. Many distinguished Englishmen advocate measures tending to this result—the nation in arms; but I doubt if anyone outside of Great Britain expects to see it.

There remains the fleet; and it is the privilege of insular democracies that they can pursue the quiet tenor of their way behind the bulwark of a fleet efficient in numbers—that is, in great preponderance—as well as in intrinsic worth. But note that a state thus favored is military in the same position essentially as one that hires an army of mercenaries. The only difference is that the sea men are fellow-citizens; an immense distinction, it will be granted, but it does not mitigate the fact that the mass of citizens are paying a body of men to do their fighting for them. It follows that the least the mass can do in self-respect as for security is to pay amply and timely for the efficiency of the body they thus employ. If they do not pay "with their persons," as the French say, they should with their cash. But the only adequate payment is timely payment—preparation.

Britain's Unparalleled Problem.
Democracies have had various tasks thrown upon them at various times, but never perhaps one equal in difficulty to that which confronts the democracy of Great Britain. As it now stands the British Empire territorially is an inheritance from times not democratic, and the world is interested to see whether the heir will prove equal to his fortune. There are favorable signs; one of the most so that has met my eye has been the decision of the Labor government in Australia that in time of war the Australian navy should be at the absolute disposal of the British Admiralty. Such sentiment, realized in commensurate action, is effective imperial democracy. But my reading has not found the corresponding reflection of this determination in the British Labor party at home; rather, it has seemed to me, a disposition to undervalue the necessity of preponderant naval force even in European waters.

The security of the British Empire, taken as a whole with many parts, rests upon the security of the British Islands as the corner stone of the fabric; and, second, the security of each of the outlying parts. This means substantially British control, in power if not in presence, of the communications between the central kingdom and the Dominions. This relation is essentially the same as that of a military base of operations to the front of the operations themselves.

The New Grouping.
In the present condition of Europe the creation of the German fleet, with its existing and proposed development, has necessitated the concentration in British waters of more than four-fifths of the disposable British battle force. These facts constitute Germany the immediate antagonist of Great Britain. I do not say for a moment that this manifests Germany's purpose; I simply state the military and international fact without inference as to motives. The geographical situation of the two states reproduces precisely that of England and Holland in the early days of Cromwell. It was not till the nations had fought and the Dutch were reduced, less by battle than by trade destruction, that the relief of pressure in the North Sea enabled English action abroad.

The British navy to-day has in great degree abandoned the Mediterranean for a similar concentration. Over four-fifths of the battleship force is in the "Home" and "Atlantic" divisions. The Mediterranean has fallen from eleven battleships in 1899 to six in 1910; and these six are of distinctly inferior power. What is the contemporary significance of this fact reproductive of a situation near three centuries ago? Constitutive, too, of a situation now novel; for during more than two centuries British preponderance in the Mediterranean has been a notable international factor. The significance, as read by an outsider, is that in the opinion of the government, under present conditions of preparation, the security of the British Islands requires the weakening, almost to abandonment, of the most delicate, yet very essential, link in the system of communications of the Empire.

Peace Only a Dream.

It is entirely true that for the moment the naval concentration at home, coupled with the tremendous positional advantage of Great Britain over German trade routes, constitutes a great measure of security; and further, that the British waters, occupied as they now are, do effectually interfere between Germany and the British overseas Dominions. The menacing feature in the future is the apparent indisposition and slackness of the new voters of the last half-century, over against the resolute spirit and tremendous faculty for organizing strength evident in Germany.

In a recent American magazine a German writer, reported to be a trusted confidential friend of the Emperor, has said: "The weak man cannot trust his judge, and the dream of the peace advocate is nothing but a dream." The concentration of the battle fleet in home waters is correct; the relative abandonment of the Mediterranean for that purpose, if for the moment only, is likewise correct, especially as the "Atlantic" fleet may be considered an intermediate body, a reserve, able to move eastward or southward as conditions require; but the clear reluctance to acquiesce in present naval requirements is ominous of a day when the Mediterranean may pass out of the sphere of British influence exclusively. This will symbolize, if it does not at once accompany, the passing of the Empire; for a hostile force in the Mediterranean controls not only an interior line—as compared with the Cape route—but an interior position, from which it is operative against the Atlantic as well as in the East.

It is difficult to overstate the effect of this upon the solidity of the Empire, for the Mediterranean is one of the great central positions of the maritime world. A weakened Mediterranean force is the symptom that neither as principal nor as ally may Great Britain be able to play the part hitherto assumed by her in the great drama of which the awakening of the East is the present act; while, among the dramatic personae are Egypt, India, Australia and New Zealand.

TACOMA'S FIGHT FOR FIVE CENT FARE

City Commission Takes Action to Bring Street Railway Com- pany to Terms

(Times Leased Wire.)

Tacoma, Wash., July 28.—The Seattle-Tacoma Interurban trains may be stopped at the Tacoma City limits, eighteen blocks from the present depot, if the city commission stands pat on its resolution passed yesterday. The interurban company has no franchise in the city of Tacoma, but comes in on the tracks of an allied company. The council in an effort to bring the local street car company to terms on the five cent fare issue, passed a resolution giving the interurban concern ten days in which to apply for a franchise. Manager Dean of the local company and also of the interurban, is aware that no franchise would be granted unless he agrees to concede five cent fare, so he will refuse to apply for the grant, announcing that the interurban trains will be stopped at the city limits if the council enforces its resolution.

HUGE EARNINGS OF STEEL CORPORATION

Statement for Second Quarter of Present Year Shows Large Increase

New York, July 28.—The quarterly statement of the United States Steel Corporation for the three months ending June 30th shows total earnings of $4,150,000, an amount far in excess of unofficial estimates, and greater than the earnings of the first quarter by $1,554,084. The net earnings for the quarter were $2,880,755, or $2,772,061 greater than the first quarter's returns. Both gross and net earnings are vastly larger than those of the corresponding quarter last year, which were $2,340,421 and $2,225,258, respectively. In contrast to the earnings Wall street expressed disappointment at the exhibit of unfilled orders as set forth in the report. They are only 4,537,794 tons, a falling off of 1,344,223 tons from the first quarter of the year, and $581,514 in the corresponding quarter last year. The sum of $500,000 was set aside for account of expenditures made, and to be made for additional property, new plants and expansion. The regular quarterly dividend of 11 per cent. on the preferred, and 10 per cent. on the common shares were declared. No statement dealing with the trade outlook was issued, but several of the directors expressed themselves as convinced that the present quarter's returns will be more satisfactory than those just published.

TESTING NEW GUN.

New York, July 28.—Within the next few months the world should not be startled if the United States government gives out official word that a cannon has been perfected that shoots as powerfully and so far that the heavy armament of other countries will look like mere popguns.

General Fred D. Grant, who has just arrived in New York to assume command of the department of the east, says such a gun has been perfected and is now undergoing final trials at Governors Island.

The United States, General Grant says, has had an explosive under cover for a number of years which, if fired from a gun strong enough to withstand the tremendous pressure, would do the damage now done by a dozen ordinary 12 inch guns. This gun, he says, has at last been perfected.

"Beyond doubt it is the most wonderful gun in the world and the explosive is the most powerful," said General Grant.

TWO PROSPECTORS MISSING.

New Westminster, July 28.—Mystery surrounds the fate of the two men, George Blake, senior, and his son George, who went up into the Pitt mountains prospecting about nine weeks ago and have not been seen or heard of since. They borrowed a boat from a man named John Scott, of Pitt Meadows, and the strangest part of the affair is that the same boat has been found in this city, tied up at the foot of McInnes street.

J. Mulligan, who lives at Coquitlam, and is a relative of the Blakes, was in the city Tuesday consulting with the provincial police. He did not think that his two relatives had met with any violence, but he thought that the boat might have capsized on Pitt lake and later been picked up by a passing fisherman on the Fraser.

The men had but little provision with them and if they are not camped with Indians, which is extremely unlikely, there are very few natives north of the lake. It is probably that they will never be seen alive again.

RELEASED ON BAIL.

Moncton, N. B., July 28.—In the first case of its kind in the history of New Brunswick, Thomas Connelly, charged with killing James Power, of Coverdale, on the 20th June last, was released from jail yesterday at Hopewell Cape on bail set by Justice McKeown at $10,000, the accused himself in the sum of $10,000 and two bondsmen, F. W. Sumner and Murdoch McLeod of Moncton, in the sum of $5,000 each.

REBEL LEADER A PRISONER.

Havana, July 28.—General Miniet, who started an uprising near El Caney, was surprised in camp yesterday and captured by a detachment of the rural guards, under Lieut. Garillo. One of Miniet's insurgents was killed. Miniet and two others were taken prisoners and the others fled.

SENDING MILITARY ORDERS BY WIRELESS

New Portable Apparatus Has Been Invented by Officer of British Army

A new wireless apparatus for the transmission of military orders during a battle from one body of troops to another has been invented by Major Boddington of the British Army, who has devised and made the necessary easily portable "plant" which can be carried on horseback, and accompany any cavalry or infantry force.

It does not require half a day to erect, nor even half an hour, and messages can be sent for scores of miles less or more by the apparatus. The whole arrangement seems to be ideal, and the very thing needed, particularly for cavalry operations in the field or for detached outposts.

The new wireless apparatus for the use of troops in the field is carried on horseback, and can be set up in the course of a few minutes. The materials employed consist of an ordinary 2-horsepower motor-cycle engine, which drives a dynamo to produce the electric charges. These impulses are sent through 100 yards of double copper wires suspended between 24 foot poles placed at the distance named. Earth connection is simply achieved by laying down a copper wire gauze mat on the ground.

The mat is the heaviest lead to be carried, and that is not more than 200 pounds, whilst the motor-engine and dynamo weighs but 60 pounds. As for the poles, they are carried on the horse or on pack saddle in 6 feet jointed lengths. Experiment has proved that a "station" can be made ready and messages received within fifteen minutes.

In one instance messages were sent and received over a distance of 16 1/2 miles near Kewwick, and a huge fell 1,750 feet in height interposed between the two stations. Yet the signals were clear and distinct, and there seems to be no difficulty in passing them over a distance of forty miles or more.

LONG SERPENTINE WHARF.

One of the longest wharves in the world, almost a mile in length, or to be exact 4,700 feet, is at Port Los Angeles, Cal. It extends into the Pacific in a long serpentine curve. The reason for this construction is that it offers better resistance to the strong currents and the buffeting of the waves than if it were perfectly straight.

Until the nearby harbor of San Pedro was developed by the U. S. government the big wharf at Port Los Angeles was a very busy place, but of late it is comparatively seldom used except by the Japanese fishermen, who have formed a colony along the adjacent beach.
