And should not be:

Original Research!

Notability

- Significant coverage
- Sources: Reliable | Secondary | Independant

Notability

Wikipedia has no firm rules

Notability is presumed, and can be discussed

Notability

Tips:

Think about:

- What is the impact of this thing/person/event ?
- Will it be worth reading in 2031?

Neutrality

representing fairly and proportionately all the significant views that have been published by reliable sources on a topic

without editorial bias

This one is !

Avoid:

- Stating opinions as facts
- Stating facts as opinions
- Judgemental language
- Giving undue weight to opinions /creating false balance

Pay attention to:

- Naming
- Article structure
- Balance
- Impartial tone

Verifiability

- All content must be verifiable
- Citation to a reliable source that directly supports the contribution
- No personal conclusions

Reliability

Reliable sources:

- Peer-reviewed journals
- Books published by university presses
- University-level textbooks
- Publications by respected publishing houses
- Mainstream newspapers

Avoid:

- Self-published sources

Tips:

- Check Reference quality
- Find information in Multiple sources
- Evaluate the coherence

Finally:

Rephrasing!

- Otherwise, it would be plagiarism :( -

From the 5 principles to the 5 steps

Step 1

Identify the topic

(don't forget notability!)

Step 2

Find sources

(don't forget reliability!)

Step 3

Extract all keywords at once and enumerate key information

- Date of birth: xx.xx.xxxx
- Institution: xxx
- Prizes: xxx (year) , xxx (year)

Step 4

Define the article's structure

(Define sections based on the information you have, get inspired from similar articles!)

Step 5

Write in your own style

(Based on enumerated information)

Finally:

Upload to Wikipedia, edit and enrich with photos and other elements!

But first, let's explore licensing!

- 🧩 Wikipedia is free content that anyone can use, edit, and distribute
