City Secures New Water Rights

GETS SUPPLY IN VERDUGO DISTRICT

F. P. Newport and Manager V. B. Stone Agree on Various Easements

Easements for valuable water rights in the Verdugo Woodlands section were pledged to the city of Glendale yesterday afternoon by F. P. Newport, at a conference with Virgil B. Stone, city manager, and Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production, in the office of Mr. Stone at the City hall.

Mr. Newport, as president of the F. P. Newport company, agreed that the time had come to give these easements, acquired at the time the city acquired the Verdugo Woodlands water rights from his company, which for many years has been active in that section.

City Gets More Water
Later in the afternoon Mr. Newport went over the sites of the proposed easements with Mr. Stone and Mr. Diederich, going thoroughly into all the practical angles of the situation. As a result, the city will take out additional underground water from Verdugo Woodlands as soon as these easements have been received.

This brings to the point of conclusion an issue that has been pending for years. When Glendale acquired these important water rights from the F. P. Newport company, Mr. Stone explained this morning, it was with the understanding that the city was to be given easements for wells or other means of developing additional water in the territory.

Natural Reservoir
For various reasons this provision of the agreement had never been fulfilled. When it became Mr. Stone's conviction that the time was ripe for the fulfillment of this provision, he arranged the conference which yesterday afternoon took place with Mr. Newport and Mr. Diederich, with such satisfactory results.

Asked what the city would do to develop additional water in Verdugo Woodlands, once the easements were received, Mr. Stone stated that wells might be dug or the water level lowered by some type of drainage system, as a protective measure, if additional water were not at present required.

The Verdugo Woodlands basin is a great natural reservoir, furnishing the city of Glendale with an abundance of pure, sparkling spring water. It is to assure this water supply to the city in the future as well as at present that Mr. Stone called the conference and succeeded in obtaining from Mr. Newport the promise of the requisite easements.

Additional Reports Will Be Submitted At Meeting Of Citizens' Bond Committee

When the members of the Citizens' Bond committee, representing twenty-nine service and civic organizations appointed to assist the City Council in arriving at decisions on improvements that might result in a bond issue, meet at the Harvard High school auditorium tomorrow morning, the reports of several sub-committees will be read.

Sub-committee reports expected to be completed in time for tomorrow's meeting include: Additional fire stations and equipment; modern fire and police alarm systems, bridges over Verdugo wash, enlarging water system and supply, acquisition of city parks and modern disposal of garbage.

Auxiliary Power Plant
An additional report from the sub-committee on auxiliary power plant for Glendale may be made. The members of this committee, Roy L. Kent, chairman; J. H. Randall and Lyman P. Clark, subcommittee partial report last week, but no mention of the amount of a probable bond issue was given. The sub-committee on civic center and city hall expansion, con-

Plan La Follette Campaign

ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE, United States Senator from Wisconsin, who is holding a series of conferences with his campaign lieutenants for the purpose of making definite plans for the fight for the presidency.

By KENNETH CLARK For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—A series of important conferences to draft definite plans for launching Senator Robert M. La Follette's independent campaign for the presidency is being held here.

These meetings between La Follette and his campaign lieutenants will continue until Friday, when the Wisconsin senator formally will be notified by the national committee of his endorsement for the presidency by the conference for progressive political action. At the same time, La Follette and the committee will select a vice presidential running mate from the list of nearly a dozen names that have been under discussion.

Two subjects were paramount before the conferees who met during the day in La Follette's quiet office in a secluded corner of the capitol. They were: 1—Choice of a vice presidential candidate. 2—Finances for running the campaign.

Everyone connected with the campaign, including La Follette himself, has kept close mouthed about the running mate selection. It was learned, however, that Huston Thompson, chairman of the federal trade commission, was still uppermost in the minds of La Follette's closest advisors.

La Follette's "notification" speech, on which he is said to be devoting all his spare moments, is expected to contain another vigorous denouncement of both old and new party leaders, with a pledge that he will "clean up" the government generally if elected.

FLOODED RIVERS SWEEPING CHINA

Cabinet Plans Relief for Huge Area as Death and Ruin Spread

PEKING, China, July 15.—With rainfall averaging two inches daily, the whole northern Chihhi plain was today threatened with a more disastrous flood than devastated that section in 1917.

Two of the railroad lines entering Peking have been flooded out.

REVOLUTION IN BRAZIL GROWING

Additional States Prepare To Join Rebel Forces; Big Battle Looms

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The revolutionists at Sao Paulo are being defeated by federal troops, an official communique from the Brazilian embassy declared this afternoon. The statement announced that a number of prisoners were taken by the federals and a rebel battery destroyed by federal artillery.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, July 15.—The Brazilian revolution which has centered about Sao Paulo and Santos, the seaport town, is spreading and threatens to become a national uprising, according to private advices reaching here today.

A strong rebel army is reported to be marching on Santos and a battle is imminent with the federal troops guarding the city.

Three additional states of the Brazilian republic are threatening to join the revolt—Mato Grosso, Para and Rio Grande de Sul—according to the dispatch received here.

Additional Mutinies
They are among the larger states and contain a population of approximately 3,500,000.

Reports of additional mutinies among federal troops continue to reach Montevideo, although the censorship makes such reports unconfirmed and the federal communique makes no mention of them.

Mutinies were reported from Mato Grosso, Para and Rio Grande de Sul, where it was said the troops were joined by civilian troops in demonstrations against the government.

It was also reported that the detachments of federal troops sent to Sao Paulo and Santos revolted and joined the rebels.

In the last few days the federal army besieging Sao Paulo has been increased to 40,000 and intermittent bombardment of the city is continuing.

35 Thought To Be Trapped By Flames Escape

Group of Persons Reported To Have Perished Gain Liberty From Fire

KELLOGG, Idaho, July 15.—The thirty-five persons who were thought to have perished in a serious fire which swept Wheeler's Mill in northern Pend D'Orielle county, Washington, arrived here safely today after a successful dash through the fire swept area. Eleven children were in the group who were first reported to be trapped in the mill fire.

Two families were reported trapped by flames which swept the Nabob and the Constitution mine buildings along Pine Creek canyon, near here.

Unconfirmed reports were to the effect that about twenty refugees from Nabob are still in the woods.

Homes of 250 people were destroyed by the Pine creek fire, which today was checked when the wind died down.

OUTBREAK OF NEW BLAZE SERIOUS

Pine Canyon Region Scene Of Roaring Flames; Need Additional Men

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—After a seven-day fight, the disastrous fire in Santa Barbara national forest was temporarily checked today, according to word received here from forestry officials in charge of fire-fighters. Additional men are being rushed to the wooded slopes of Liebre mountain to put down the flames completely.

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Immediate closing of Santa Barbara national forest, where a blaze has been raging for a week, conscription of 200 fire fighters from Los Angeles streets and one serious new outbreak marked the forest fire menace today in Southern California.

Forestry officials said control of the fires in this section must be accomplished today or serious consequences will follow.

The new outbreak is in Pine canyon region, where a hitherto unburned area has been swept by flames, which are now roaring again in Antelope valley. The new burning sector is in the direction of the town of Manzanam, between Neenach and Fairmount.

Forest Supervisor Chester E. Jordan left Newhall today by airplane to reconnoiter the entire burning district and map out immediate plans to stop the red advance.

He ordered establishment of a camp of 600 fire fighters in Fish canyon in an attempt to prevent the flames crossing the Liebre range of mountains.

More than 1200 men are now fighting the Santa Barbara fire and minor blazes and this force will be increased today by conscription if volunteer workers are lacking.

FIRE LOSS $50,000

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., July 15.—More than $50,000 damage was sustained here early today when fire destroyed the Marin county Shriners' club and threatened for a time the fashionable Hotel Rafael, on the grounds of which the club was located.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Continued improvement was reported today in the condition of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who is ill at the Hotel Shelbourne, Coney Island.

HEROIC EFFORTS OF MANY FIGHTERS FAIL TO HALT FLAMES FROM SPREADING

Red Plague Continues Its March Through Rich Timberlands; Most Severe of Seven Great Conflagrations Throughout State

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Lashed into a raging inferno by a heavy gale of wind, the Forest Hill divide fire, in Tahoe national forest, broke into three separate branches today and continued its march through valuable timberlands despite the heroic efforts of hundreds of trained workers and summer campers to stem its progress.

Federal officials reported today it was the most severe of the seven conflagrations now raging in California.

More than 500 men are fighting the flames which were reported to have burned to the outskirts of Damascus, a small settlement. One hundred men were hourly expected from Sacramento where they were hurriedly pressed into service.

With rain falling in western Washington and the great Santa Barbara national forest fire in Southern California temporarily checked, the critical forest fire situation brought about by long continued drought on the Pacific coast was slightly better this afternoon.

Property Loss Millions
Loss of life, if any, will be small, reports indicated. Property loss will run into the millions. Two-score persons in northeastern Washington escaped the flames that surrounded them, according to late reports from Kellogg, Idaho.

In that vicinity, however, 250 homes were destroyed and the Nabob mine buildings were reported burned, with a loss of $500,000.

In northern California, where hundreds of fire-fighters were being conscripted, the situation was still serious late today, but forestry officials were hopeful a change in the wind tonight would assist the tired fire-fighters in controlling three big blazes.

Fires Under Control In Western Washington

SEATTLE, Wash., July 15.—All forest fires in green timber in western Washington are under control and danger from new fires is temporarily at an end as a result of showers which started in the southwestern part of the state and spread yesterday and today over all threatened areas.

George C. Joy, chief fire warden of the Washington forest fire association, reported today only a few fires in Kitsap and Mason counties.

Ex-Senator Named on Boundary Commission

WASHINGTON, July 15.—President Coolidge today appointed former Senator Fred T. Dubois of Idaho, to the international joint boundary commission controlling the Canadian border. Dubois succeeds the late Mark A. Smith.

COMMENT That's All

Yankee Grit Is Displayed Now's Time To Buy Realty Youthful Criminals—Why? Some Remedies Suggested
—By Gil A. Cowan—

Today the American filers who started on their globe-circling trip from Santa Monica are "seeing Paris."
According to reports from the French capital, they are "dog tired" and half sick from the effects of climatic changes, not to mention the gruelling daily toll they are forced to perform under unimaginable conditions.

The story of the flight over the Pacific, down the China coast, over Indian jungles, across Arabian desert—territory never traversed by man, you might say—equal any of the adventures ever written in fiction.

By the indomitable spirit of the United States army aviators is uppermost and to a man they are determined to "hop home" by August 1.

Here's hoping they make the grade.
Glendale should feel gratified over business conditions. They are good here, comparatively speaking. Indeed, Southern California is weathering the severe economic strain which engulfed the entire country and out of the storm will come the sunshine of prosperity once again.

Through it all Glendale has continued almost in an even tenor. Business has adjusted itself to conditions in a remarkable manner and people here meet the situation in a most commendable spirit.

Perhaps the picture theatres and some of the other luxuries have suffered. But people can well afford to forego a little amusement in paying for homes, motorcars and other essentials to life in this favored land.

By the way, if you are able to buy real estate now the profit will be yours in a few short months. Also, building conditions were never better although rentals now are not what they will be in another year.

This city offers a wonderful opportunity to the investor. Better glance through the classified columns tonight and see what bargains are to be had. It will pay you, if you have the ready cash.

Youthful criminals are giving parents and police much concern. But one must venture that neither party understands just what it is all about. Noted psychologists are studying the situation and giving vent to their views; pastors are preaching on the subject; mothers' clubs have it as their topic of conversation and the detectives express themselves as "flabbergasted" at what the younger generation will not do.

To the writer, who is neither young nor old and somewhat experienced in the ways of the world, there are certain contributing causes which are difficult to demonstrate and even more difficult to overcome.

First of all, the educational system of today makes it possible for the child of twelve or fourteen to know more than his parents. That, of course, is only one exception which might be taken to the system of cramming book knowledge.

Second, the period of parental restraint passed with the dark ages of the woodshed and the word "obedience" no longer can be defined by the youth.

Third, a general disrespect for unpopular laws has had the inherent effect on the younger generation that no laws are made to be obeyed.

Fourth, there now is lacking the stern, influence and interest in children and they are allowed to resort to their own devices and pleasures.

Now for the remedies, as one person sees their need:
First, schools need to bring the parents in and educate them along with the children even if the latter have to be neglected by the teachers. Otherwise, we will be forced to curtail the curricula which permits of bright young men and women being cast adrift in the world with so much more learning that they cannot work for the "poor dumbbells" who by dint of hard labor have built their businesses and now need nothing but strong backs and weak minds, so to speak.

Second, the importance of home training should be stressed and the homely arts of cooking, sewing, washing and ironing should be taught the girls while the boys should have their daily "chores" such as peddling papers, watering lawns, cleaning the family car, etc.

Under no circumstances should children be permitted to be disrespectful to those in authority. That is the bitterest pill of all, perhaps, but the first few years of their young lives righteously lived will long after have its effect on their moral fiber.

And as a concluding point in a program to corral the young sinners, proper chaperonage for the girls is vital. Also, fathers should see that their sons are interested in activities such as the Boy Scouts, or kindred organizations, where their play is properly supervised, instead of allowing them to run wild and free to the questionable motion picture shows, dance halls and other places not operated for their physical, mental or moral welfare.

Retain Goethals as Flood Control Expert

Supervisor Henry W. Wright of this district, issued a statement today to the effect that the Board of Supervisors had just completed negotiations, whereby the county will secure the services of General George Goethals, of New York City, as consulting engineer in the county flood control projects.

General Goethals is probably the foremost engineer in the United States today, and is well known by the fact that he was engineer-in-charge in the construction of the Panama canal. His counsel and approval will be had by the board on every phase of the flood control projects in this county. It is understood that

Alleged Forger Held For Superior Court

Leo McGuire, held on a forgery charge, was remanded to the Los Angeles county jail at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, following his failure to meet the $1000 cash or $2000 property bond placed by Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court.

Lester Newberry, arrested on the same charge as McGuire, was certified to the Los Angeles juvenile court when it was learned that he is under 18 years of age. McGuire's preliminary hearing before the superior court was set for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, July 21.

Committee on Schools Will Prepare Report

The joint committee representing the grammar school and the high school systems will meet tonight at the Harvard Street High school to prepare the report that is to be submitted to the boards of the two groups of schools at a joint meeting that will be held within the next week.

The committee made a survey of the Glendale schools last week, studying the present conditions and estimating the future needs of the schools, and the data gathered during this survey will be embodied in the report that is being prepared.

Members of the committee are, for the high school: Principal George U. Moyses, H. W. Yarrick and A. W. Tower, and for the

Local Inventor Has New Starting Device

A new starting device that can be applied to any make of car is being worked out by A. W. Gregg, an automobile mechanic, who has his shop in the rear of 131 1/2 South Brand boulevard. In demonstrating the invention, which he claims is already protected by patent applications, Mr. Gregg first gets the prospect to sit in the driver's seat, and he then throws on a switch that connects with wires leading to the front seat and that carry a sufficiently strong electric current to start the occupant on his way through the roof of the car, thus bearing out his claims that no foot device is needed to set the starter in operation.

SEEK CHANGE IN LAW OF SCHOOLS

County Educators Organize To Assist Boards In Solving Problems

Final steps in the organization of the Association of Public School Officials of Los Angeles County were perfected at a meeting that was held Saturday at Santa Monica, and at which the Glendale schools were represented by Superintendent Richardson D. White and John T. Catz, business manager of the city schools.

The association has been formed to consider the problems that boards of education have to deal with, and to aid in their solution in a way that will tend to promote the best interests of education in this state, uniting the boards of this county, and promoting legislation on behalf of the school districts of the state.

List of Eligibles Those eligible to membership are members of boards of education or boards of trustees employing district superintendents and not fewer than thirty teachers; each member of the Union high school board and the principal; the secretary of any school board; each city superintendent and district superintendent; each business manager and auditor of any school district in Los Angeles county; the county superintendent of schools; county counsel, county auditor and state superintendent of public instruction are admitted as ex-officio members.

W. R. Litzenger, president of the Pasadena board of education, was elected president of the association, and George W. Yelland, secretary of the Alhambra board of education, was elected secretary. James O'Connor, assistant county counsel, was elected chairman of the legislative committee that will prepare the bills that will be submitted to the next session of the state legislature.

Need for New Laws Three meetings will be held annually, the annual meeting for the election of officers in October, and the others in January and April of each year. Special meetings will be held from time to time until the legislature convenes.

"The legislative program to be mapped out," says Superintendent White, "is one of the most important phases of the work that the association plans to do, for many of the laws now on the statute books of the state of California are antiquated to a degree that renders them inapplicable to present conditions, and that hampers the efficient conduct of the schools of the state. Many of these laws were passed for the government of school districts at a time when there were very few large cities in the state, but with the tremendous growth of population in California, with its corresponding multiplicity of school problems, new laws that will permit the educational system of the state to function more efficiently are urgently needed, and the association will endeavor to have laws placed on the books that will meet present-day requirements."

LAUNCH BURNS AS BOYS STAND NEAR

Youths In Y. M. C. A. Island Camp Prepare to Fight Fire at 4:30 A. M.

Awakened from their sleep at 4:30 o'clock Saturday morning, 138 Glendale Y. M. C. A. boys vacationing at Camp Leon V. Shaw formed a well organized company watchful of any emergency that might arise from a burning launch on Moonstone beach and conducted themselves in a most creditable manner, according to Rex C. Kelley, Glendale Y. M. C. A. executive, who returned with the boys last night from the island camp.

The fire was the most thrilling incident of a camp and an experience the boys will long remember, Mr. Kelley said. At 4:30 o'clock Saturday morning the camp was awakened by the calls for help from a Mr. Dan of San Pedro, who said his launch just off Moonstone beach was on fire.

Gasoline Explodes A delegation of the Y. M. C. A. boys in their launch went to aid him, but when it was as soon as 250 gallons of gasoline were contained in the burning craft, the fire-fighters withdrew.

In the meantime the anchor rope burned and the launch was washed ashore. For fear that the explosion of the gasoline might ignite the grass on the hills, the Y. M. C. A. campers were organized into a fire-fighting brigade, and, armed with shovels and wet sacks, formed a circle at a safe distance from the boat. However, when the explosion occurred the burning oil tank was thrown into the ocean.

Collection Made Mr. Dan, who used his boat to take out fishing parties, was accompanied by his wife, who jumped into the water as soon as the first explosion occurred. Both of them were taken to the Y. M. C. A. camp and given a tent, and later the boys took up a collection amounting to $32, which bought needed clothing at Avalon for the Duns and took them back to San Pedro.

"A fine spirit was shown by our boys," says Mr. Kelley, "and I was very proud the way every boy conducted himself."

Formality of setting lent a spirit of singular dignity to the wedding ceremony celebrated at 8 o'clock last night, Monday, July 14, 1924, in the First Methodist church, uniting Miss Dorothy Peart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Peart, of 506 Raleigh street, and Glenn R. Dolberg, son of Mrs. Ella E. Dolberg, of San Diego.

Hosts of friends of the popular young couple were present for the ceremony, which was read by Rev. Charles M. Calderwood, pastor of the First Congregational church.

Artistic Setting Palms and ferns formed the background for an arch, fashioned before the chancel. The arch was decorated with a shower of sweetpeas in pastel shades, and from its center hung a white wedding bell, tied with white tulle and lilies of the valley. In this artistic setting the bridal party stood while vows were taken.

Because of the musical talent of both Miss Peart and Mr. Dolberg, and the prominence of both in the musical activities of the church, the bridal music was most significant.

Mrs. T. W. Randall, church organist, who has been closely associated with both in choir work, accompanied Miss Isabel Isgrig, director of the church choir, in two bridal songs, "Because" (d'Hardelot) and "I Love You Truly" (Bond).

For the professional march Mrs. Randall played the Lohengrin "Bridal Chorus" and, after the ceremony the Mendelssohn march.

Bridal Party Members Attending the bride were two maids, the first members of the bridal party to enter the church, Misses Alice Lookabaugh of Glendale and Mina Litzenger of Hollywood. They wore lace gowns over apricot satin, with lace hats to match, and carried arm bouquets of lavender sweetpeas and fern.

David Cleveland, Roger Johnson and Guy Harn were ushers. Mrs. Roger Johnson of Hermosa Beach, nee Miss Eunice Peart, whose wedding was a recent event, attended her sister as matron of honor. She was gowned in pounce blue georgette, worn with white horsehair braid hat. Her flowers were pink sweetpeas.

W. H. Peart, Miss Peart's brother, attended as best man. Scattering dainty rose petals in the bride's path was little Ruth Leeds in pink organdy. She carried a cunning blue basket tied with a huge tulle bow.

Bride's Costume Miss Peart entered with her father, John G. Peart. Her bridal gown of white georgette crepe, combined with white silk lace, was a most becoming creation. Orange blossoms caught her veil in fan effect, and the soft billows of silk net reached to the hem of the floor. The bridal bouquet was a shower arrangement of white rosebuds, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern.

From the church the bridal party and forty-five relatives and close friends motored to the Peart home for a reception. Mrs. Peart was assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Peart of Glendale, and Miss Marcia Hovey of Los Angeles.

Pink and white were the colors used in decoration. Flowers carrying out this color scheme were used in profusion, and the bride's cake was hidden in a great pink crepe paper rose. This rose was artificially made by Estelle Brain. At a late hour Mr. and Mrs. Dolberg left by motor for a honeymoon trip that will take them to northern California and then south to visit Mr. Dolberg's mother in San Diego. They are anticipating visits in various cities and at noted resorts. Upon their return in three weeks they will reside at Glendale and Elk avenues.

Ever since the announcement of their engagement, April 4, Mr. and Mrs. Dolberg have been honored by many pre-nuptial affairs, and the countless gifts and congratulatory messages they received bespeak the wide friendship they enjoy.

Mrs. Dolberg graduated in 1922 from the Glendale Union High school, and in addition to her school and social activities, she is well known as a talented contract singer.

Mr. Dolberg is a successful young business man of Glendale, and has achieved real success in his artistic photographic work. He is also a talented singer, and has won much praise for his part in Glendale musical affairs. His mother, Mrs. Ella E. Dolberg, and his sister, Mrs. Cora Johnson, both of San Diego, came north to attend the wedding.

Boy Spends Vacation Learning Bank Duties Robert Wilson, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wilson of 622 North Jackson street, is doing vacation work at the Federal Commercial & Savings bank at 612 East Broadway. REALTY PRICES AT LOW WATER MARK

Some idea of the way vacant property is beginning to fill up may be realized from the fact that in one day last week the Los Angeles Gas & Electric Corporation received orders for 1900 turn-ons. This may have been more or less than other days, but presumably it was the average. This was in Los Angeles, but it is an indication of what is taking place in Glendale and other cities in the south.

When people come back from their vacations and the summer influx of visitors and new residents is supplemented by the fall migration from the east, there is going to be a great scramble for homes, and the shortage will give the cruel landlord an excuse to raise the rent again.

It is freely predicted that not only rents, but real estate values, are going to take an upward spurt very soon, and that those who buy now will be able to congratulate themselves later on. The man with a family can afford to make almost any sacrifice to make a payment on a home now. Then the landlord can neither kick him out nor raise his rent. And, signing the check for the monthly payment on the home will be a pleasure, whereas paying rent is always painful.

A well known realtor says: "A couple of years ago you couldn't give a vacant lot away, but these people who owned vacant property two or three years ago certainly did enjoy a beautiful profit, and it is only common sense to expect, with people flocking in here by the thousands, that the same thing will come about during the next two years, and those of you who now have or who buy property will be the ones that will benefit by the rise."

Today is the low water mark in real estate prices. They may begin to rise tomorrow.

OUR PERSONAL LIBERTY

Present day laws have curtailed some of the liberties that were enjoyed (?) in former ages, and at the same time they have enlarged others. We have freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of worship, freedom of the ballot and freedom to go where we will. The law and the state protect our lives and our property. But, laws prohibit us from going about carrying arms, from fighting duels, owning slaves, getting drunk and many other things that were permitted in former times.

As civilization advances, more restrictions are put upon us in order that society, as a whole, may enjoy greater liberty and safety. If murder and arson were permitted, and we had to stand guard constantly over our homes and our lives, the liberty that comes from lack of laws would not be very greatly appreciated. You may wish to commit murder, to own slaves or to get drunk, and you find that laws prohibiting these things restrict your personal liberty. But, it is for the good of society that these prohibitions must be put upon the individual. Liberty that is detrimental to society is license. The French constitution defines liberty as the power by which man can do what does not interfere with the rights of another. Daniel Webster said that rule and regulation is the very essence of free political institutions. Laws which restrict us in what we claim as our liberties make society safer and contribute to the general good.

SMALL BEGINNINGS

Big things have often had small beginnings. Those who want to do great things, but dream and wait until they can start on a large scale, never do start. If you plan to do something, begin now. You may never have the sum of money that you feel is necessary to accomplish what you wish. Conditions may never be favorable. So, begin now and grow into your ideal.

Many a man who is doing millions of dollars of business today, started on a shoestring; great philanthropies had their beginnings in a widow's mite; great campaigns were ushered in by the feeble tones of one man who had faith; great schools and great churches have often had their origin in the meeting of a faithful few in one small room.

The only joy is in growth, anyway, and the smaller the beginning the greater opportunity for growth.

Dream of great things, if you will. Vision is necessary. But, do not stop there. Begin. The difference between the dreamer and the doer is not opportunity or lack of it, but spirit. Show that you have the spirit of the doer as well as the vision of the dreamer and hands will be held out to help you up to the high place to which you aspire.

DAVIS MUST FIGHT

Just how able John W. Davis will prove to be in healing the wounds and restoring the functions of the Democratic party that were so severely lacerated in the convention, remains to be seen. Mr. Davis is a man of the highest type, he has had a successful and honorable career, and is an ornament to his party. But, ability to get votes is another thing, and he has yet to prove his strength in this way. Mr. Davis is a conservative Democrat and a dry, and it looks as if his nomination had definitely alienated some of the party leaders.

No one can foretell the result, but it seems reasonable to prophesy that the Democratic candidate will have the fight of his life in the coming campaign. President Coolidge's popularity has been made manifest in so many ways that it seems nothing less than a party split, such as occurred in 1912, could cause his defeat. And those who are enlisting under the La Follette banner are of such diverse beliefs and opinions that it is difficult to believe that any great number will follow the radical leader.

FRIENDSHIP

It is human nature to long to associate with others, to be where other people are. And yet, sometimes we are loneliest when we are in a crowd. What we hunger for is the society of those who know us as individuals, as personalities, who can sympathize with us and accept our sympathy. In other words we long for friendships.

Some make friends easily, others are different and must be sought. Some seek friends for business reasons. Men and women identify themselves with certain social circles in order to make friends who may be useful to them. If real friendships are formed and the friends are able to do each other favors, what matters the motive?

Real, true friendships are without price. As the old saying goes, "The only way to have a friend is to be one."

"Parable of the fishes": Heard most anywhere, this season of the year.

While, why is your hair wet? Divers reasons, Ma.

WHAT WILL THE NEIGHBORS SAY?

Three Enemies of Life

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There are three devils, sworn enemies to the human race, at work night and day to exterminate us as quickly as possible, and to make life miserable for us so long as we cumber the ground.

Their names are:
 Hurry,
 Worry and Indecision.

It is not work that wears us out, but these three. First, Hurry. Its immediate result is overstrain. And many people suffer from jangled nerves, dyspeptic stomachs and sleepless nights, simply because they have done, not too much work, but work that was too confused and crowded.

The antidote to Hurry is System. Many a nervous wreck might be cured by a few first lessons in orderly thinking.

Second, Worry. As Hurry is from lack of order, so Worry is from lack of courage.

It is Fear in its subtlest disguises. It comes camouflaged as a sense of responsibility, or a natural anxiety, or a great love, or the religious feeling.

Really it is sheer weakness, the cowardice of a nature that shrinks from the necessary give-and-take of the struggle for existence.

If a thing is inevitable, adjust yourself to it. If disaster looms, front it bravely. If responsibility is great, do your best and look pleasant.

Third, Indecision. You never can know absolutely what is best. But our business is to know only what is probably best.

Decision rests on a balance of probabilities, not on perfect judgment.

All forceful people decide quickly. They may be no nearer right than those who hesitate, but they have the advantage of having done something. It is a matter of habit. And if we accustom ourselves to deciding rapidly in favor of what is probably best we save ourselves infinite distress.

Horoscope

This is read as a doubtful day by astrologers who find that while Mars in benefic aspect dominates the affairs of Earth, Venus and Uranus are adverse. All building operations come under a most favorable rule at this time when there should be increased interest in home owning.

Physicians and surgeons are subject to a helpful planetary government, but they have the prognosis of much work which may be exhausting.

Hospitals will be overcrowded owing to accident, as well as of illnesses. Many children will be born this month when the percentage of illegitimacy will greatly increase.

Venus frowns on those who wed today, for they may be inclined to deceive and may be easily led into love affairs.

All the signs appear to be unfavorable to marriage and divorces will increase to an amazing extent.

Owing to the prevalence of vice and the number of crimes in which educated persons are involved the public is to become much alarmed over world conditions, but the seers declare that no effective effort to overcome the trend away from high standards of life will be taken until a new world sensation shocks the nation.

There is a prophesy that many more sores will be uncovered on the body politic, but they will not affect voters appreciably.

Strange leaders of the people are to arise from this time on and they will gain many followers, if the stars are read aright.

President Coolidge is to gain popularity in the next two months, but he must safeguard his health.

Who's Who

The man who will have the task of keeping President Coolidge fit the next four years—should Coolidge be re-elected—is Brig.-Gen. Sawyer. The ever increasing duties imposed on the chief executive make the personal physician's task an important one.

Maj. Coupal, a member of the regular army medical staff, is a native of Massachusetts and made the acquaintance of the President when he was assigned to act as his physician when Coolidge went to Washington as vice president. A warm friendship sprang up at that time, and when the Coolidges moved to the White House it was generally understood that Major Coupal would continue to be the president's personal physician. He did indeed continue in this capacity, but without formal appointment since Dr. Sawyer was reluctant to resign and the president was unwilling to oust him.

Major Coupal saw service overseas with the Twenty-sixth New England division, and also with the regular army at the Mexican border during the punitive expedition against Villa. At the present time he is curator of the Army Medical Museum at Washington. He has attained considerable reputation in medical circles for research work and as a surgeon, and has written widely on medical subjects. He is a graduate of Tufts Medical School.

It is not expected that the present appointment will result in any special promotion for Major Coupal, as the president is not disposed to follow the precedent of President Harding, who made his personal physician a brigadier general and of President Wilson who promoted his personal physician to be a rear admiral. Major Coupal will, however, be relieved from his present assignment at the Army Medical Museum.

The Ravings Of a Crouch

I have some good characteristics, I believe. I am a deep thinker and I am in the habit of reasoning things out for myself. I have good ideas on many subjects but I am not always inflicting my opinions upon others. I am not eternally boasting about myself, what I have done and what I can do, where I have been and where I am going, what I have said and how I was proved to be right. I do not believe that I and my affairs are of interest to very many people. In other words, I am not self-conceited.

There are people of my acquaintance who are so swelled with self-esteem that they would burst if they did not have the opportunity to tell the multitudes how wonderful they are, the things they have accomplished, what their big brains have conceived, how the affairs of the universe should be conducted, endlessly on and on, overworking the pronoun "I."

After all, I pity the self-conceited man. His world is mighty small and narrow for it is centered in his own personality and there is nothing substantial about that; it is mostly wind. He misses a lot in this world and so he is entitled to our pity and our sympathy rather than to the disdain which we usually accord him.

I should think people like this could see that the really big man does not have to blow about himself, he lets his actions speak for him. I should think they could use their big brains to the extent of reasoning out the truth that the smaller the man the greater his addiction to self-conceit and self-advertising. It requires only a superficial glance around the circle of our acquaintances to determine that.

I hope I may never reach the point where I can not see past my own self. I want to be able to experience the good, the beautiful and the interesting things of life and I know that I will have to reach out, above and beyond my own small personality, to get the best the world has to offer.

When I hear one of these little fellows expatiating upon his own prowess and hear him say, "I was right as usual," I try to be patient, nuisance though he is, for after all he gets nothing out of life but the self-praise he gives himself and that is little enough in a world where we can have so much if we will.

Oklahoma Oil Output Nears 500,000 Barrels

TULSA, Okla., July 15.—Oklahoma is rapidly approaching the 500,000-barrel a day mark in oil production. The rate at present is about 400,000 barrels, and talk of pro-rating pipe runs has not brought curtailment. Frank Carter, chairman of the State Corporation Commission, is prepared to invoke the state law to shut down drilling operations if daily output rises to a point where economy waste is developed.

GLOBE GIRDLERS FETED IN PARIS

U. S. Army Aviators Guests At Official Functions; England Next Stop

PARIS, July 15.—With a good night's sleep to refresh them, the American round-the-world fliers faced a busy round of functions today—their last in the French capital. Tomorrow they will hop off for England.

At 11:30 this morning, the six Americans, headed by Lieutenant Lowell Smith, placed a wreath on the grave of France's unknown soldier.

Pershing Is Host

General Pershing entertained the fliers at luncheon at the Hotel Crillon at one o'clock, and at five o'clock they were the official guests of Paris at a reception at the Hotel Deville.

The day was to end with a banquet given in their honor by Laurent Eynac, secretary of aviation.

It was a huge wreath of white roses and lotus blossoms that Lieutenant Smith placed on the grave which is under the famous Arch of Triumph.

General Neissel of the French aviation corps received the Americans in the name of the French government.

NEED SIGNATURES ON GAS PETITIONS

Another Effort to Be Made For Public Support of Important Measure

The petitions asking that one-fourth of the funds derived from the state gasoline tax be turned over to the cities for better roads were handed to the Glendale city clerk this morning by members of the local Exchange club, who have been sponsoring them. The petitions contained but 500 of the 1500 signatures allotted as Glendale's share as necessary to bring the issue to a vote at the November elections.

These petitions will be filed today with the clerk of the county registrar of voters, states Virgil B. Stone, city manager. There remain forty days to file supplemental petitions and Mr. Stone has written for such petitions. He proposes to place them in the office of The Glendale Evening News, the Glendale office of the Automobile Club of Southern California, the office of the Glendale city clerk and in other prominent places.

Must Have More Names

In forty days one thousand additional signatures must be obtained or Glendale will have lost this opportunity to register a desire for better city roads. "With $70,000,000 at stake," as Mr. Stone puts it, "the issue is one that concerns every person in Glendale contributing to the tax. And who does not in one way or another? We seldom go touring but we use the city streets every day. If we are to continue to pay the gasoline tax we should get some of the benefit of it."

The petition asks that the proceeds from the tax be distributed one-half to the state, one-fourth to the counties and one-fourth to the cities.

THREE CAPTURED IN PISTOL DUEL

Liquor and Narcotics Worth $5000 Taken In Raid In Hollywood

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Surprised by three police officers as they were about to unload an automobile laden with liquor and narcotics at their headquarters in Hollywood, two men and a woman, believed by police to be leaders of one of the city's worst dope and booze-peddling rings, made a dash for freedom which was ended only when the officers had riddled their car with bullets and had wounded the driver, according to a report made by the officers today.

The three, Frank McDaniel, 30, driver of the car; his sister, Mrs. C. Slattery, 26, and her husband, Donald Slattery, 31, struggled with the officers, but were finally forced to surrender. The two men were charged as violators of the federal narcotic and prohibition acts, and the woman is being held as a conspirator to violate the same acts.

More than $5,000 worth of narcotics and bootleg liquor was found in the car and the Hollywood house, the officers reported.

Ten thousand armed rebels are said to have succeeded in fighting their way past the federal lines into Sao Paulo and joined the main rebel body which is said to be well equipped with machine guns and artillery, as well as airplanes.

The rebels, according to reports here, are firmly resisting the advance of the federals.

Federal Gunners Join Revolutionary Forces

LONDON, July 15.—Wireless messages picked up here today from the steamer Andes as it was leaving Santos, Brazil, said the situation in the revolutionary area of Santos-Sao Paulo was "most serious."

The captain of the Andes said the rebels were within eight miles of Santos and that he had been told by refugees from Sao Paulo that some of the federal artillery forces had joined the rebels. The federal troops, the message said, were continuing to bombard Sao Paulo in an effort to dislodge the rebels who hold the city.

List of Abandonment Cases Growing Small

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—Faithfulness to the family fireside is rapidly becoming the outstanding virtue of California husbands, according to state records. In the preceding year 197 were taken into custody for this offense against domestic happiness and in the year 1918-19 the number was 242.

Translucent Windows Obscure College View

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 15.—Physicians and attaches of the medical department at the Ohio State University have found grief in an unusual instance of economy put forth by the contractor erecting the new university medical science building.

Instructed to fit the frames of windows in the new operating room with translucent glass, the contractor found this type of window pane materially cheaper than the more common transparent variety. Hence, he reasoned, with such difference in price, why confine the translucent glass to the operating room?

Those who eventually must labor in the new building found fault, not only with the contractor's logic, but with the translucent panes which will confine their visions to the four walls and which are to be found in practically every window in the new building.

He came to California sixty-three years ago and had seen California develop from the wilds to present commercial activities. For the past seven years he had resided at the Los Angeles county farm, where he passed away. The remains were laid to rest in Grand View Memorial park this morning.

CO-OPERATION IS AIDING FARMERS

Modern Marketing Methods Turn Flood of Cash Back to Growers

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, July 15.—Now that the cash for the crops of the country, both grain and fruit, is beginning to flow back to the farms in constantly increasing streams, the effect of co-operative marketing and grower control is becoming more and more apparent. These are the factors which are making headway toward taking care of surplus products. So great a menace has surplus of farm products become that the Sears-Roebuck agricultural foundation, in close touch with agricultural communities, predicts a "back to town" movement to decrease producers and production and increase consumers.

Modern facilities have so enhanced production, according to Wheeler McMillan, mid-west agricultural expert, that the average American farmer now produces two and one-half times as much as the European farmer.

"The principal reason farming does not pay as well as we would like," he continued, "is that the American farmer produces more of certain commodities than the markets can absorb at profitable prices. There is no assurance as to when foreign countries will be able to pay for more than they are buying now. America's best market is the domestic market. I do not agree that the growth of cities is a menace. Unprofitable agriculture, long continued, would be a greater menace."

Control of Products

Leaders in the co-operative movement in agriculture assert that greater control is the remedy for obliterating the danger of surplus production. Ralph F. Merritt, president of the Sun Maid Raisin Growers' association, declares that through application of this co-operative principle, the liabilities of his organization had been reduced from $18,000,000 in 1923, to less than $4,500,000 today, and that, while the largest annual sales ever made previously by the organization were 140,000 tons, raisins now were moving into consumption at the rate of 240,000 tons a year, with the remainder of production going into converted products.

"The philosophy of our merchandising," he said today, "has been founded on the fact that the raisin association has for distribution to consumers only what they will take, and that the balance of the crop must be converted to other uses."

$1,000,000 for Cherries

An interesting and successful experiment in co-operative marketing is now in progress on the little-known Door county peninsula of Wisconsin, considered until a few years ago as a complete waste. Four hundred fruit growers are now picking a cherry crop of 500,000 cases of an estimated value of $1,000,000. The growers have built up a unified marketing system that assures members the sale of their products.

The present crop is large, and prices are not expected to be up to the average for fresh fruit, but the organization is prepared to can the surplus and avoid glutting the market, according to J. W. Ellsperger, manager of the concern. About one-fourth of the fruit will be marketed in Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio after being pre-cooked in the growers' plants. The surplus will be canned, 25 per cent fed to the spot market and the remainder sold as conditions warrant.

The fruit is being picked largely by city boys, sent to the peninsula through arrangement with the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. The youngsters are housed in good camps under careful supervision, and gain an outing in the country, as well as wages. The canning of surplus fruits also is being extensively practiced by the Georgia Peach Growers' association.

California Crops

The heavy fruit shipping season is now under way in California, and before October it is estimated that between 77,000 and 80,000 carloads will be moved. Adequate transportation facilities are regarded as certain in view of the additional refrigerator cars added to the equipment of the Southern Pacific, West Pacific and A. T. & S. F. roads in the last year. Grapes will form a large part of the eastbound shipments, as the crop this year will equal or exceed that of 1923.

More than half the California rice crop, which is expected this year to exceed 2,500,000 sacks, and which is handled largely through co-operative organizations, is reported to have been contracted for by Japan.

California Fruits to Be Shown In Far East

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—With seven large exhibits of fresh and canned fruits and foods shipped on the Dollar steamer President Garfield for placement in Manila, Hanoi, Shanghai, Hongkong, Singapore, Kobe and Colombo, the first organized effort to enter Far East markets with Sacramento valley products is under way.

The exhibits were prepared by the foreign trade department of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce with the co-operation of the California Development association and the Dollar steamship lines. Dr. W. J. Hanna of Sacramento will have personal charge of installing the exhibits.

POSTPONE ACTION ON NAME OF ROAD

City Planning Commission Members Hear Address Supporting Plan

A petition to change the name of Sycamore Canyon road to Chevy Chase drive was presented to the City Planning commission at last night's meeting at the City Hall, Chairman T. W. Watson presiding.

The petition was presented by Bert Farrar, developer of the Chevy Chase estates at the northeast end of Sycamore canyon. There were present a number of those whose names appeared on the petition. Mr. Farrar stated that he was completing arrangements to dedicate a sixty-foot roadway through the canyon, from the present end of Sycamore Canyon road, and that he would build a thirty-foot concrete road to be known as Chevy Chase drive. He argued that to make the entire road uniform in name, the proposed change should be made.

Further discussion on this proposal will be had at the next meeting of the City Planning commission, next Monday night, July 21, at the City Hall, at 8 o'clock, it was decided.

Bitter Struggle Causes Drop To 12 Cents; Big Firms Reduce Figures

ALBANY, N. Y., July 15.—One of the most hotly fought dealers' wars in years brought the price of gasoline down to 12 cents a gallon at some stations in Albany today. Two weeks ago gasoline was selling here for 24 cents a gallon.

Big Companies Cut

NEW YORK, July 15.—The Standard Oil company of New York, Sinclair and Texas companies today reduced gasoline prices one cent a gallon in this territory, including New York state and New England. Tank wagon prices are now 19 cents a gallon.

Japan has been buying rice in this country to cover its annual shortage, and has been America's largest customer.

MILLION IN DOPE SEIZED IN RAID

Federal Agents Arrest Nine On Italian Steamship; Ring Is Smashed

NEW YORK, July 15.—Nine persons were arrested and drugs said to be valued at $1,000,000 were seized in a raid by federal agents today on board the Italian steamship Duilio.

Sixteen federal agents, assisted by nearly 100 customs guards, staged the raid.

The authorities declared that the arrest and seizure broke up one of the biggest dope rings in the country and will materially reduce the amount of drugs being brought into this country.

Translucent Windows Obscure College View

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 15.—Physicians and attaches of the medical department at the Ohio State University have found grief in an unusual instance of economy put forth by the contractor erecting the new university medical science building.

Instructed to fit the frames of windows in the new operating room with translucent glass, the contractor found this type of window pane materially cheaper than the more common transparent variety. Hence, he reasoned, with such difference in price, why confine the translucent glass to the operating room?

Those who eventually must labor in the new building found fault, not only with the contractor's logic, but with the translucent panes which will confine their visions to the four walls and which are to be found in practically every window in the new building.

California Fruits to Be Shown In Far East

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—With seven large exhibits of fresh and canned fruits and foods shipped on the Dollar steamer President Garfield for placement in Manila, Hanoi, Shanghai, Hongkong, Singapore, Kobe and Colombo, the first organized effort to enter Far East markets with Sacramento valley products is under way.

The exhibits were prepared by the foreign trade department of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce with the co-operation of the California Development association and the Dollar steamship lines. Dr. W. J. Hanna of Sacramento will have personal charge of installing the exhibits.

Diet And Health

My Dear Followers—I am on the train en route to Chicago to attend the annual meeting of the American Medical Association.

"Well, take it then! When you wake up I'll give you another!" The candy secured, baby is asleep almost immediately.

"You must break her of that habit, or her mouth will be deformed," I tell the mama.

They have a hamper full of food and at least every half hour it is doing service. Mother eats sandwiches, cucumbers, fruit, little girl samples all these but confines most of her attention to a big box of chocolates, often offering "Mutter" some.

"I tell her about making a split and keeping it on the baby's elbow constantly for a week or so. I never saw a baby suck both finger and thumb before.

"I'll get some interesting information for you at the medical convention and at the Battle Creek Sanitarium, Dear Followers. All good wishes from— DR. LULU.

To do the latter you should first cleanse the pores with any cleansing cream, remove the soiled cream with hot, wet cloths, and paint the skin of the face and white of eyes to six parts water.

The hot weather brings its problems to the woman who does her own laundering. The young housewife, especially, is often puzzled as to how certain materials are washed. Perhaps the following information will be of use:

To Wash an Organdie Dress—If colored and never washed before, the dress must have its color "set" as follows: It must soak for one-half hour in a "mordant" suitable to the color. For pinks, blues and lavenders, sugar-of-lead is the proper mordant; but five cents' worth of sugar-of-lead crystals from your druggist (it is poison so must not be left about carelessly) and dissolve these crystals in a painful of cold water before putting the dress in to soak.

CATARRH of head or throat is usually benefited by the vapors of VICKS VAPORUB then put it through a third rinse water which contains a piece of gum arabic as large as a nutmeg. This gum arabic can be obtained from a drug store, is a substitute for starch in stiffening a sheer dress, and must be well dissolved before the dress is rinsed in the water containing it. (Note: Gum arabic is also fine for stiffening any dark colored material on which white starch could not be used. It is excellent to use in washing a child's dark hair ribbons or in laundering dark-colored voile dresses.) To Launder Muslins: Set colors as described above, also wash the same. To Launder Gingham Dresses: The same directions for setting colors are used for gingham dresses which are being washed for the first time. Stiffen gingham with cold boiled starch rather than the regular boiled starch. To make cold boiled starch, dissolve a lump of starch as large as a lemon in one gallon of water, dip the dress in this, wring out and hang on line.

White Dresses of Linen, Gabardine and other heavy materials are starched with boiled starch if liked fairly stiff, otherwise with the cold water starch. Surf-Satins, which should be limp, need cold boiled starch.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their proper place. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, you stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Miss Wills Wins Her First Paris Game, 6-1, 6-2, From Mrs. Satterthwaite

By HARRY FLORY
For International News Service.
PARIS, July 15.—Miss Helen Wills, American woman champion, came through with flying colors in the first match she has played in the Olympics when, this afternoon, she defeated Mrs. Satterthwaite, the Britisher, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Wills played with the same confidence she displayed when she defeated Mrs. Mallory for the American championship last year. Her strokes were well timed and accurately placed. She continually outgassed her British opponent.

Miss Suzanne Lenglen, French champion, who was compelled by illness to forego taking part in the tournament, was an interested spectator of the match and commented animatedly to her escort on Miss Wills' playing.

Win in Doubles
The Americans started off auspiciously in the second round of the men's doubles, when Richards and Hunter defeated Willard and Bayley, of Australia, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. The Torralva brothers, of Chile, were eliminated in the doubles when they were defeated by Condon and Richardson, of South Africa, 6-2, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2.

In another doubles match Muller and Weingren, of Sweden, defeated Cattaruzza and Williams, Argentina, 6-2, 6-0, 6-3.

In the men's singles, Manuel Alonzo defeated Robson, Argentina, 7-9, 6-4, 6-0, 6-4.

PARIS, July 15.—Boy Charlton, the Australian "fish," today made a new world's record in winning the 1500-metres free style race in the Olympic contests. Charlton won the event in 20 minutes and 7 seconds. The old mark was 21 minutes, 35 3/5 seconds, made by Arne Borg of Sweden, July 8, 1923.

In winning the race, Charlton set a new mark for the 1000 metres, going the distance in 13 minutes and 19 4/5 seconds. The former mark, made by Borg, August 19, 1923, was 14 minutes, 3 1/2 seconds.

During the regatta the Speedway will act as mother ship for the Newport fleet of racers.

TAGGING THE BASES

The race in the American league tightened again when the Senators defeated the Indians, while the Yankees and Browns were splitting a double header, reducing the Yankees' lead to one game.

The Giants widened the gap in the National league when they again defeated the contending Cubs, increasing their lead to 8 1/2 games.

Babe Ruth sent his home run mark for the season up to 26 in the second game with the Browns.

Hack Wilson, young outfield star, will be lost to the Giants for a couple of weeks. He twisted an ankle and had to be carried from the field.

The Pirates' spurt was temporarily halted when the Phillies pounded Kremer and Stone to an 8 to 3 victory.

The Dodgers were given a coat of whitewash by the Cardinals, Dickerman standing his old teamates on their heads.

The Athletics tied in the ninth and won from the Tigers in the tenth.

The White Sox took a firmer grip on fourth place when the Red Sox were defeated, 6 to 2.

SANTA BARBARA, July 15.—A land-locked yacht harbor in Arroyo Burro, with a 400-acre park surrounding the still body of water just south of this city, is proposed by local sportsmen. It is one of the most highly projected bays on the coast.

HALT HIGHWAY WORK

SANTA MARIA, July 15.—County highway work in Cuyama valley is at a standstill because of the demands made by ranchers that the county fence their land where the new highway is being built. This issue is so expensive, on the one hand, and so vital on the part of the cattlemen, that work cannot continue until the question is adjudicated.

PAY OR GET OUT

RIVERSIDE, July 15.—Grover Lewis, rancher, caught with illicit liquor, will have to pay $500 to remain in the state outside of jail. That is the sentence pronounced by Justice of the Peace H. C. Hibbard. The Corona man pleaded he did not have the funds to pay the fine, so he was given the privilege of "floating" in the course of ten days, never to return to California.

SUE FOR GAS TAX

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Suits are on file today against six oil companies in an effort on the part of the state of California to collect approximately $150,000 alleged due as a 2-cent state gas tax for the first quarter of 1923. Vast sums remain unpaid by twelve oil companies, it is indicated, and the Richfield Refining corporation is said to be delinquent to the extent of $66,000.

Frees Golden Rod of Blame for Hay Fever

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Don't blame the goldenrod for your troubles, hay fever victims. This is what Prof. Albert A. Hansen, of Purdue university, says in a statement for the American Nature association.

"There is so little truth in the frequently heard statement that the goldenrod is a hay fever plant that the accusation can almost be termed false."

According to the Nature Association's statement, the goldenrod is a glorious flower and truly American, only three of the sixty European species being found in Europe. There is white and gray goldenrod, as well as the more familiar yellow. That is not strange when we remember that we now have white blackberries. There is another species known as the sweet goldenrod, the crushed leaves of which give off a fragrance that suggests anise.

L. A. BOXERS WIN

PARIS, July 15.—America scored a triumph in the first of the Olympic boxing elimination contests this afternoon when Larbarbe of Los Angeles, American national champion in the 122-pound class, defeated Warwick of England in three rounds on points.

Triopole of Yonkers, N. Y., defeated Usvagva of Chile on points in the 118-pound class. The Americans started off well in the 126-pound class when Joe Sales of Los Angeles defeated Burlin of Canada on points.

Education Board Head To Resign His Post

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—E. P. Clarke, president of the State Board of Education, Riverside newspaper owner and one of the best known educators in the west, has submitted his resignation to Governor Richardson before the September meeting of the board, it was announced today.

Clarke informed his fellow members at the conclusion of the recent quarterly meeting that he expected to resign within a few days. No reason was assigned for this course.

Retirement of Clarke simultaneously with the expiration of the term of Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips, Los Angeles member, will leave the educational board in complete control of Richardson appointees.

Bandit Has Pity on Gas Station Worker

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 15.—Even bold bandits display a sense of pity sometimes, according to John Brown, caretaker of a gasoline filling station here. Brown was robbed recently of $34.50, his employers' money.

"How much of this belongs to you?" Brown said, the bandit asked him, fingering the $34 in change and currency he had taken.

"Fifty cents," the caretaker replied. Tossing a half dollar on a desk the bandit made his exit.

Pascal, the scientist, could repeat the entire Bible.

CHAPTER II

Meanwhile children came; first the sturdy and spirited Hilary, who seemed to both mother and father a miracle of beauty and charm; and then, four years later, a son. The boy was always delicate, needing care, and causing them an infinite anxiety even in the midst of troubled and uncertain financial prospects. These two were born in France; Dora came when Hilary was five and Bronson two years old; came to dreary little cramped rooms in Philadelphia, where the family struggle for existence was complicated by the bitter winter weather and by her brother's rapidly failing health.

There was an epidemic of baby sicknesses that year; presently the Colliers left the cruel big city and the little grave of their only son behind them, and took the dancing Hilary and the starting baby into the friendlier atmosphere of the little New Jersey village. But some of the bitter cold of that terrible winter had crept into the mother's heart, never to melt or thaw again.

The woman who had been Sabine Charpentier ten years ago lay quietly on a couch in the dim little parlour of the Mount Holly house; sometimes her white hands reached for the beloved, slim dark body of the Amati, but for the most part she made no effort, merely watching the other lives about her with dim and smiling eyes. Bronson put on his old greenish coat and went off to his pupils, old Mrs. Poett clattered pans in the kitchen, the baby wakened, whimpered, crowed, and fell asleep again, and Hilary, the one glowing, hopeful thing in her mother's life, came and went with the joyous racket of healthy childhood.

Hilary brought her mother April violets and the year's first plume of delicate lilac bloom. Hilary practiced dutifully at the old square piano; her clever little fingers rippled through Schubert's dances and Chopin's etudes; when she was ten years old she composed for her mother a little etude of her own. Sabine's white face was wet with tears as she embraced the little musician passionately; Bronson wasted a few of his precious dollars in having the music published.

And then, slow of growth, but bursting upon them with all the sudden glory of a miracle, came the wonderful thing that was to influence all of Hilary's life and send her mother, and when his turn came, her father, contentedly, lengthily into the life beyond. This was Dora.

"The Gray Fox," now showing at the tent theatre of Murphy's Comedians in Casa Verdugo, is a comedy-drama with an adroit combination of heart interest, thrills and laughs. It is a new play, never before seen on the Pacific coast, states Manager J. A. Menard.

Murphy's tent is located on Stocker street, between Brand boulevard and Central avenue. The curtain rises promptly at 8 o'clock each night. Mr. Menard states, though those who wish to be sure of getting front seats may come as early as 7:15 o'clock.

"The Gray Fox" was to have opened in New York and was forced out by the Actors' Equity strike. It is an exceptionally fine play and hundreds of Glendaleans are enjoying it every night. The cast, as with all Murphy's productions, is excellent.

THE GATEWAY

Zane Grey's "Wanderers of the Waste Lands" concludes at the Gateway Theatre today. The picture Wednesday is "Chapter in Her Life."

Long before this child had father his oddities and appreciate his musical thoroughness and fervor at last. Pupils came to the little brick house, if only to have the youthful prodigy, with her mane of hair and her famous violin, introduced when the lesson was done; Bronson actually gave recital for two of his pupils, with Dora for his star. And nothing, on these occasions, could have been more affecting, if there had been eyes to see it, which there were not, than the older daughter and sister, with her tremulous excitement and admiration for her gifted family.

Dora was eleven years old when Bronson suddenly died. He died with Hilary, who was sixteen, kneeling beside him and promising, with a stern gravity infinitely more moving than tears would have been, that she would take care of Dora. Dora was to be educated, to be trained, to be taken abroad to the best of teachers.

"There's Kranski," he said suddenly, on the very last night of his life. "Konrad Kranski... he's only a boy, but they say he's the coming violinist. Your mother knew his mother, they lived in the same family, she was with her when he was born. Take Dora to him, ask his advice. He'll teach her, or he'll tell you... you'll find letters his mother wrote us, when we first were married, in one of the chests. But she must be great, Hilary, she... you can make her great!"

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SKIPPING ROPE

Uncle Wiggily grunted and groaned as he hopped out of bed in his hollow stump bungalow one morning. He murmured with pain as he sat down to the breakfast table and ate his lettuce pancakes with cabbage gravy poured down the middle.

"What's the matter with you?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Rheumatism!" groaned the rabbit gentleman. "I have the rheumatism something dreadful—it's in my plink, twinkling nose, too! I'm going to see Dr. Possum."

When the animal doctor had made Uncle Wiggily stick out his tongue, and when he had punched him in the back and tickled him in the ribs, Dr. Possum said:

"You must get yourself a skipping rope, Uncle Wiggily, and jump. That will cure your rheumatism."

"What's that? Get me a skipping rope? You mean a jumping rope such as the little girls use, jumping salt, pepper, vinegar, and the like of that?" said the rabbit in surprise.

"That's what I mean," said Dr. Possum. "If you will jump about and skip rope you will get well."

"I'll do it!" cried Uncle Wiggily. So he bought himself a skipping rope and began flinging it over his head and jumping as it came around to his feet. Up and down in front of his bungalow Uncle Wiggily skipped rope, and soon some of his rheumatic pain began to go away.

"I feel better already!" he said with a laugh. Just then Nurse Jane came around the corner and saw Mr. Longears skipping the rope.

"Uncle Wiggily!" she cried. "UNCLE WIGGILY! Have you taken leave of your senses? You had better see Dr. Possum again, for you must be going crazy!"

"Why? What's the matter?" asked the poor bunny gentleman.

"I'm not doing anything except taking the medicine Dr. Possum told me to."

"Medicine!" cried Nurse Jane. "You're skipping rope like a six-year-old girl! Do you call that medicine?"

"Of course I do!" answered the rabbit uncle. "Dr. Possum told me to jump rope to cure my rheumatism."

"The idea! I think you're trying to make a joke on me!" said Nurse Jane. "I won't have it, Wiggily! The idea! An old rabbit gentleman like you skipping rope where all the neighbors can see you! I won't have it! Give me that rope!"

She reached for it, but Uncle Wiggily jumped away. Nurse Jane ran after him to take the rope from him.

"But I must jump rope!" said poor Uncle Wiggily, hopping as fast as he could to keep ahead of his muskrat lady housekeeper, who was very prim and proper.

"Let me alone, Nurse Jane—please!"

"No! No!" she squeaked. "You mustn't jump rope at your age! The neighbors will laugh at you! Give me that rope!"

But Uncle Wiggily wouldn't! On he ran as fast as he could hop, and Nurse Jane kept after him. All of a sudden the muskrat lady stumbled and fell in the brook.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Help me! Help me!" she cried. Though she was a muskrat and a good swimmer, still, with all her dresses on she was almost drowning.

Enforcement Of Traffic Regulations Scored By Irate Glendale Citizen

Editor The Evening News—I have just read with the greatest satisfaction your frank and just criticism and suggestions regarding the disgraceful system of traffic regulations—the traffic copping that the residents of this, "the fastest growing city in America," has to endure.

When I read your statements, I said, "Good," and decided to write you a line of approval and this impulse was strengthened by what I chanced by accident to notice just fifteen minutes ago. I was coming west on Lomita and when within half a block of Glendale avenue, I noticed a bulk on my right at the curb and on scrutinizing, saw it was one of our intelligent, broadminded, magnanimous traffic directors, no sign of life—not a glimmer of light, and I was just wondering, coming up Glendale avenue, if this man's actions, were expressing the mind of our City Council. When I drove up as far as Broadway, to add to my horror and indignation there on the northeast corner of Broadway was a poor fellow in his little car crowded up against the boarding and one of those "public safety officers" writing with his customary brevity and dignity characteristic of his uniform.

Cites Instances
It was these incidents in less than five minutes' time that made me sit right down and write you my approval of what you have written and I am sending you herewith a three months' subscription to your paper and to assure you that you are expressing the sentiments of the people of this city when you expose and denounce this abominable practice that has made driving a car in Glendale such a nerve-racking business. I will give you an instance or two to illustrate and show you why I feel as I do.

I stopped my car one day in front of a sign that stood at the door of the bank next to the new, large bank at the corner of Broadway and Brand boulevard and walked across to Dr. Marlenee's office. I met him at the door and asked when he could see me. He said, "in about an hour." I walked back to my car and on oath, not three minutes elapsed, but just enough to enable the officer standing at the corner to walk up and get onto the seat before I got back. When I reached the car he began to get his book and then looked over the registration card and took all the particulars he wanted and all this time I was puzzled to know what I had done and kept asking him, but he waited until he finished and then told me, I felt rather indignant, but tried to make the best of it and went right away to the city hall and met the judge and told the circumstances and said I was very busy and had never been in court before in my life, that I wanted to pay the bill and get it off my mind, but he couldn't do anything until he could see the officer.

I went next day and he had not seen the officer. Then, of course, I had to attend court and lost another hour and was fined $2, but had the sentence suspended on the ground that I had lost a lot of time already.

Won't Buy Here
One other case. About a year ago one of these good men was perched at that new City park, where there is a double curve. According to the state law the speed limit on such a curve is 15 miles (and this corner was quite a money maker for a time) and a man in a Ford, Dr. Marlenee's assistant, came around the corner only to be stopped by the officer who was already taking another's number. He got two birds with the one stone.

I must say that later there were signs put up at these corners. Pardon me, but I want to tell you that I don't plan to buy a single thing in Glendale that necessitates my stopping my car anywhere near forbidden ground or anywhere that I might not be able to get the wheel within the prescribed distance of the curb, for I can always picture myself coming out of a shop, only to find an officer with his rule measuring the space between curb and wheel.

Speed at Crossing
On holidays it gets to be a laughing matter to watch them and hear them siren in front of the Harrower laboratory on Broadway. That is usually the catching place after they follow the strangers from Verdugo road or somewhere in that vicinity. There is a case coming up in court this week for a violation of speed at the crossing of Adams and Broadway and when the officer stopped the driver the charge he told him was that he had crossed Verdugo road at 30 miles an hour. Why follow him to Adams street? This was at 10 a. m. when the street is nearly void of traffic.

Do what you can to get us a safe and sane police force and a judge who can look a man straight in the face?
Yours very truly,
JOHN NICHOL,
113 South Belmont St.

Figures Of Past 18 Years Show Growth Of Glendale, Predict Future Prosperity

In the eighteen-year period from March, 1907, to June, 1924, inclusive, permits totaling $34,393,896 for construction within the city limits of Glendale have been issued, according to figures in the office of H. C. Vandewater, building superintendent. Of this sum, over $30,000,000 represents permits issued within the last five years.

There have been seven months when the permits exceeded one million dollars. Those months are:
April, 1922.....$1,226,699
January, 1923.....1,024,336
February, 1923.....1,019,613
March, 1923.....1,036,475
November, 1923.....1,132,562
January, 1924.....1,029,533
June, 1924.....1,000,755

January, February and March, the figures show, have been consistently the least building months. October, November and December are the next best group. April, May and June come next. July, August and September, according to the figures, have almost universally been the duller months of the year.

In 1923 Glendale did $10,047,694 worth of building. The total for the first six months of 1924 is $5,262,467. Should that average be maintained throughout the remaining six months, the total for 1924 would exceed that of 1923 by approximately $500,000. But, as a number of large building projects are scheduled for the coming months, including a $1,000,000 theatre and a seven-story office building, it is reasonable to believe that $11,000,000 or even $12,000,000 may be the final count.

Eighteen Year Record
Following is a list of the building permits issued in the eighteen years' record kept by the building department:
1907 (beginning with March).....$ 215,430
1908.....219,879
1909.....218,758
1910.....345,315
1911.....416,210
1912.....669,556
1913.....646,727
1914.....464,920
1915.....222,705
1916.....235,907
1917.....287,360
1918.....97,193
1919.....591,439
1920.....3,137,264
1921.....5,099,201
1922.....6,305,971
1923.....10,047,694
1924 (ending with June).....5,259,467
Total.....$34,393,896

Consistent Growth
From these figures it is seen that the history of building activities in Glendale has been a record of consistent growth. In the entyr eighteen years there occurred but one slump. That was in 1918, when the entire country stopped building and put all available resources behind winning the war. "The growth of Glendale," in the words of H. C. Vandewater, who has been building superintendent since September, 1922, "is one of the proudest records Southern California has to show."

SPENDS VACATION IN MIDDLE WEST

A. L. Ferguson Encounters Hostile Reports About Conditions Here

After attending the international Kiwanis convention at Denver as a delegate from the Glendale club, Mr. Ferguson went to Des Moines, where he was met by his brother. From there they journeyed to Tazza, the home of his brother, to spend several days before making the trip to Spirit Lake, where they spent two weeks. Later they drove 150 miles north into Minnesota and stopped at Green Lake, where Mr. Ferguson reports they found excellent fishing. On the return trip he made a short stop at Rolfe before continuing on west through Denver and into Glendale over the Santa Fe.

"Throughout the middle west, the populace is watching California with interest and takes great delight in spreading the reports of poor conditions in this state which continue to spread over the country," said Mr. Ferguson in commenting on the attitude of the people he came in contact with. He found crop conditions better in northern Iowa and Minnesota than in other districts.

MILK IS FACTOR IN DAIRY MENUS

Dairy Cow's Product Basis Of Strength - Building Food and Daintiness

If there were no cows in your country what would you eat? With milk you contrive those delicious and nourishing soups on which the children so rightly dote. Milk-mixed bread is to be had at practically every baker's now; it is so much more tasty and worthwhile than bread made with water.

Milk enters into almost every dish you prepare on the range—puddings, baked dishes, cocoa—oh, the list is limitless! Then butter! Perhaps you think you could do with substitutes, but all the near-butters which are in good repute owe their reputations to the milk in which they are churned. Surely we could never spare butter—perish the thought!

Then cream for coffee, and the indispensable whipped cream for every kind of fancy dish we know. And cheese without which man would be completely lost! As for ice cream, were that banished life would hardly be worth living!

No, we simply don't appreciate the cow in our eating scheme of things, for without her help our menus would become poor, broken things, our meals but farces.

There is no substitute for the dairy cow, tin or otherwise. There never can be a substitute for nature's invention.

Upon his recommendation will be established economies that the fleet may be operated under the $30,000,000 appropriation provided by congress.
