INTRODUCTION

The AMERICAN CRICKET ANNUAL, which for twelve successive years has endeavored to faithfully chronicle the records of the cricketers of the United States and Canada, is again presented to the votaries of the game after a lapse of two years. The title and form of the book are somewhat changed, but it is trusted that it will be again found useful and interesting.

Owing to a fire which completely destroyed the building of the American Sports Publishing Company on almost the eve of publication of the ANNUAL, many club reports were lost, and nearly one hundred photographs and plates were burned. Some of these it has been found impossible to duplicate. The fire also delayed the publication of the book, which, it was expected, would be issued on the first of March.

Next year it is hoped that the publication will be more complete. The secretary of every club in the United States is invited to send in a report and a photograph of his team, and if these are received promptly we shall be able to get the book out at an earlier date.

TOUR OF THE PHILADELPHIANS IN ENGLAND

Philadelphia has every reason to feel proud of the record made by her representatives against the first-class counties of England in 1903. The schedule of games embraced matches with Oxford and Cambridge and the county teams of Gloucestershire, Notts, Kent, Somerset, Lancashire, Warwickshire, Worcestershire, Hampshire, Leicestershire and Surrey, M.C.C. and Ground and P. F. Warner's Eleven. Two other matches not in the first-class category were also played against Glamorganshire and Scotland, while a game arranged with Sussex had to be abandoned on account of the weather without a ball being bowled.

This was certainly an ambitious schedule. Fears were at first entertained that the team would meet with so many disastrous defeats that the players would become discouraged and "go to pieces." The contrary, however, was the case, and the record of the trip shows that of the 16 games played, 7 were won, 6 lost and 3 drawn. The victories were obtained over Gloucestershire, Notts, Kent, Lancashire, Glamorganshire, Leicestershire and Surrey; the losses sustained at the hands of Cambridge, M.C.C., Somerset, Warwickshire, Worcestershire and P. F. Warner's Eleven, and the draws had with Oxford, Hampshire and Scotland.

Before giving a brief description of the games played, it might be well to place on record the names of the subscribers to the Guarantee Fund. Without their generous aid the trip would not have been possible. The following is the list:

The team, with the exception of C. C. Morris and F. C. Sharpless, who followed on a later boat, sailed from New York on the Steamship Majestic on Wednesday, May 27. On arriving in England, Lord's Cricket Ground was placed at the disposal of the visitors for practice, a courtesy much appreciated, while Mr. Henry Thouron invited the team to take part in a preliminary match at the residence of Mr. Frank Holme Summer, Newham Farm, Addlestone, where H. G. Leveson-Gower acted as captain of a team which the Philadelphians defeated by a score of 163 to 122. F. H. Bohlen scored 64, P. N. Le Roy 26 and P. H. Clark 22.

The first regular match was against Cambridge, who won by 6 wickets. This result was due to poor fielding. For some unaccountable reason catches were dropped indiscriminately and no less than ten "muffs" were charged against the team. The batting was good. At least, thanks to the fine work of J. A. Lester, F. H. Bohlen, J. B. King, A. M. Wood and R. D. Brown, the total exceeded 200 in each innings. J. A. Lester played a grand innings of 96 in his first attempt at the bat. He was at the wickets for two hours and a half and was the ninth man out. The Cambridge team batted evenly and well, and their first innings total of 379 gave them a lead which the Philadelphians found impossible to overcome.

The next game was with Oxford, where rain spoiled the sport and caused a draw. J. B. King got into form in this match and captured 8 wickets for 39 runs in Oxford's only innings. He also did the best batting of the team, with scores of 47 and 20, and it is quite probable that a victory would have resulted had the elements allowed the game to be played out.

The first victory of the tour resulted from the next match, which was played at Cheltenham against Gloucestershire. Heavy rain prevented any play on the day set for beginning the game, and left the wicket in such a condition that there was ample time to finish the match. The wicket just suited the slow bowling of J. A. Lester, who had the remarkable analyses of 11 wickets for 33 runs for the match, 6 of them being obtained in the second innings for 13 runs. Gloucestershire was disposed of for 86 and 43, against which Philadelphia put on 155, and thus won by an innings and 26 runs.

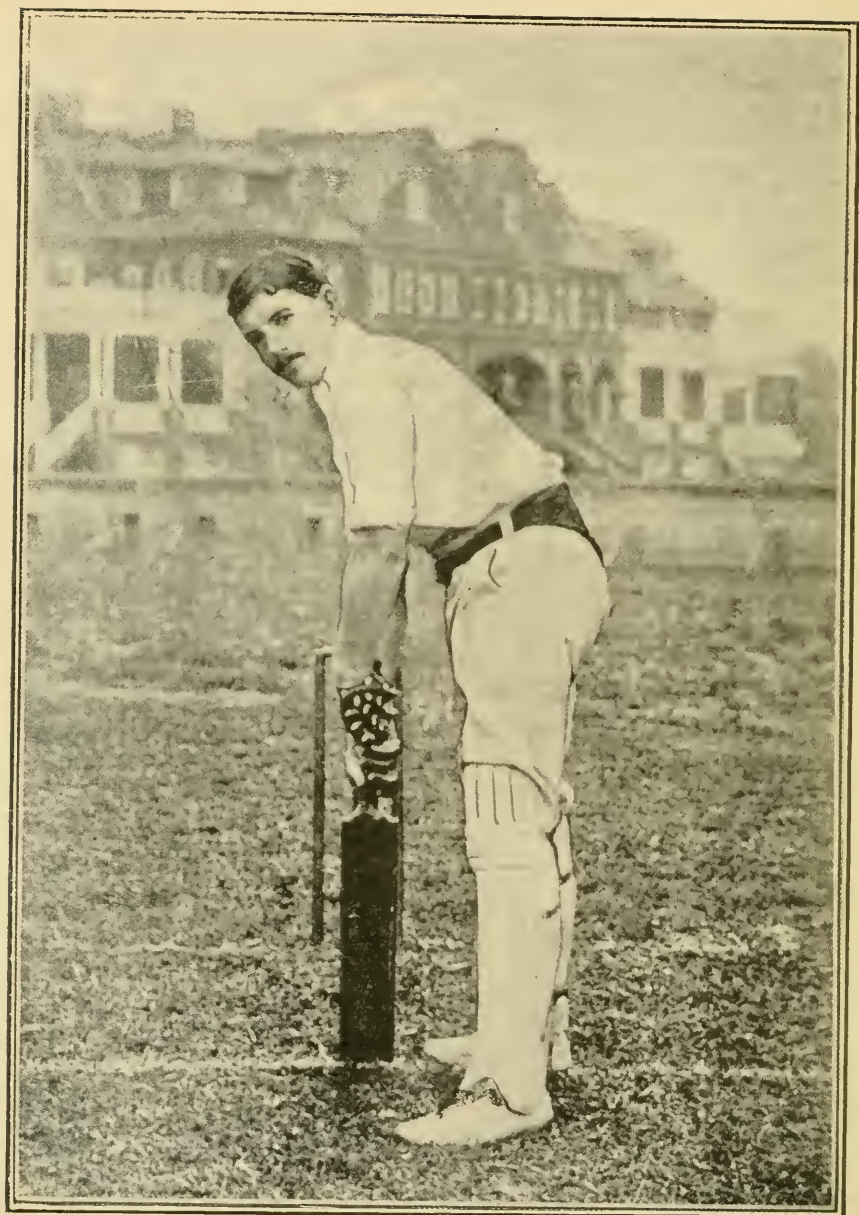

The Notts team was then encountered, and as the famous eleven of the lace-making county had an unbeaten record up to date, the Philadelphians expected a stiff battle. A grand wicket had been prepared for the match, but after J. A. Lester with 67 and F. H. Bohlen with 65 had given expectations of a good score there was a sudden collapse and the innings was over for 159. Notts was expected to easily surpass this, but King and Clark both bowled well, and aided by three run outs the total fell five runs short. Everything then depended on the second innings, and in this C. C. Morris rose to the occasion with a grand contribution of 164. It was a faultless exhibition until he had passed the "century," after which he gave two chances. The tenth wicket, for which N. Z. Graves and T. C. Jordan formed a partnership, gave the Notts bowlers no end of trouble, and when on Saturday the pair had carried the total from 331 to 400, Captain Lester declared. J. Gunn, the left-handed pro., who had scored 52 in the first innings, then played a fine innings of 96 for Notts, but none of the other men got going, with the exception of Rev. H. Staunton, who put on 39, and the innings was over for 220, thus leaving Philadelphia easy victors by 165 runs.

The M.C.C. was then encountered at Lord's, and as the team included Mead, Hearne (J. T.) and Trott, and the wicket was soft and difficult, big scoring was out of the question. The game resolved itself into a battle of the bowlers, in which the three professionals had decidedly the best of things and the M.C.C. won by 5 wickets. The bowling of King and Clark was again a feature of the match. The former in the M.C.C. first innings took 7 wickets for 51 runs.

The beautiful ground at Beckenham was then visited where a creditable victory over a strong team of Kent was obtained. Good, even batting marked the Philadelphians' first innings, which yielded 311 runs. Kent replied with 176, and the lead thus obtained proved most useful to the visitors, for the chief batsmen of the team failed in the second innings, and but for the timely hitting of E. M. Cregar and P. H. Clarke, the total would have been small indeed. As it was, Kent was left with 252 runs to win, and made a plucky fight to stave off defeat. F. D. Brown in particular proved an enigma to the bowlers and resisted the attack for an hour and a half for 30 runs.

Somerset at Taunton was next on the programme. Here the visitors were given a valuable lesson in leg bowling by Braund and Cranfield. Their style was altogether new to the visitors, and in the first innings the former obtained 5 wickets for 23 runs and the Philadelphians' total amounted only to 74. The profusion of fielders on the leg side—short leg, square leg, long leg, deep square leg, mid-on and long-on—was a revelation to the visitors. F. C. Sharpless played a good 54 in the second innings, but the effort was too late and Somerset won by 10 wickets. As the game was finished on the second day, a scratch match against a team of the "Gentlemen of Somerset" was played on July 1, in which the Philadelphians proved victorious by 201 to 152.

A four days' rest was then taken before the next game at Manchester against Lancashire. The Lancashire team was not as strong as it might have been, and the county paid the penalty by being defeated by 9 wickets. The match was made remarkable by the magnificent bowling of J. B. King and the hard hitting of N. Z. Graves. Aided somewhat by a strong wind behind him, King, in Lancashire's second innings, captured 9 wickets for 62 runs, and he might have been credited with all ten but that he ran the last man out. "Cricket" had this to say editorially of his feat:

"One of the best bowling performances of the present season was that of J. B. King, for the Gentlemen of Philadelphia in the second innings of Lancashire at Manchester on July 7. Lancashire had made 35 before lunch, without the loss of a wicket, but when play was resumed King, in 3 overs, took 5 wickets for 6 runs, and although there was for a time a check to his run of success, he finished up the innings by taking 9 wickets for 62, the tenth man being run out. In the first innings King took 5 wickets for 46."

This piece of work might be considered sufficient for one match, but the batting of N. Z. Graves deserves a special word of praise. He hit with wonderful vigor and put on 103 in something like three-quarters of an hour and made 60 out of the last 70 runs scored.

A series of misfortunes overtook the team after its brilliant display at Old Trafford. J. H. Scattergood, who had his finger hurt while keeping wicket at Taunton, found the injury more serious than at first thought, and as a matter of fact it kept him out of all games played during the remainder of the tour. T. C. Jordan, however, jumped into the breach, and for the balance of the trip did brilliant work behind the sticks.

The next match was at Edgbaston against Warwickshire, where a victory was confidently expected, but J. B. King injured his leg so badly in the first over he sent down that he had to retire. E. M. Cregar came off in the bowling in Warwickshire's first innings

1. King; 2, Brown; 3, Bates; 4, Cregar; 5, Clark; 6, Jordan; 7, Lester; 8, Scattergood; 9, Bohlen; 10, Morris; 11, LeRoy; 12, Graves; 13, Wood; 14, Haines; 15, Sharpless.

THE PHILADELPHIANS IN ACTION.

and obtained 8 wickets for 35 runs. F. H. Bohlen played a fine innings of 93, but the rest of the batting was weak and Warwickshire won by 7 wickets.

In the next match at Worcestershire, the list of injured became alarming. J. A. Lester had a split finger, J. B. King a strained leg, F. H. Bates an injured hand and J. H. Scattergood a similar affliction. The bowling without King proved easy for Worcestershire, who won by 215 runs. P. H. Clark acted as captain of the team in the absence of Lester, and he made the occasion memorable with winnings of 67 and 52, a bowling record of 12 wickets for 239 runs. P. N. Le Roy also bowled well in Worcestershire's first innings. He took 4 wickets for 62 runs.

J. B. King was still absent in the next match, which was played at Southampton against Hampshire. Rain interrupted the play a good deal and the match eventually ended in a draw. The value of a "slogger" was demonstrated in the game. The Philadelphians, who batted first, had lost 6 wickets for 60 runs when E. M. Cregar came in and hit up 50 in 25 minutes. J. A. Lester also played fine cricket for 67, and the total eventually amounted to 230. A. J. L. Hill and Llewellyn collared the bowling for Hampshire and each put on a century. Continual rain on the last day stopped the game.

A game at the Oval against a strong team under P. F. Warner was next. King took part in this game, but he could not let himself out and Warner's team won by 196 runs. The feature of the match was the bowling of B. J. T. Bosanquet, who took 5 wickets for 33 runs in the first innings and 7 for 46 in the second.

The match at Brighton against Sussex had to be abandoned owing to rain. Quite a journey was then taken for the match at Cardiff against Glamorganshire. It proved an uninteresting contest, and resulted in a win for the Philadelphians by 10 wickets. The home team fielded very poorly. N. Z. Graves hit brilliantly for 95, and it looked at one time as if the Welshmen would absolutely refuse to dismiss him so many unaccepted chances did he give them.

A victory over Leicestershire by 101 runs was then obtained at Leicester, where J. A. Lester played two brilliant innings of 126, not out, and 64. Then came the best match of the whole tour. This was at the Oval against Surrey. The visitors' batting at last fully asserted itself, and the display given was one of which the team might justly feel proud. J. B. King was the hero of the occasion with innings of 98 and 113, run out and not out. The pity of it was that he did not add his name to the select few who have scored two centuries in a match. The end of the game proved most exciting for Surrey, playing for a draw, held possession of the wickets until 10 minutes before the time for drawing stumps. Hayward played a brilliant innings of 156, not out, and almost prevented the Philadelphians gaining their well won victory by 110 runs.

The last game of the tour was played at Edinburgh against a Scottish eleven. Only two days were devoted to the match, and as play did not begin on the first day until after three o'clock the result was a draw. In the Philadelphians' only innings N. Z. Graves scored 107, F. H. Bohlen 80 and P. N. Le Roy 52. The team after this were the guests of A. Priestley, M.P., at Grantham, where J. B. King scored 178 in a match against sixteen of Grantham.

In conclusion, the following from "W. A. B.," a prominent English writer and judge of the game, may be quoted:

"Hitherto the Gentlemen of Philadelphia have been fairly strong in batting, but weak in bowling. This year the bowling has made a great advance, and there are very few counties who have a better pair than King and Clark, both of them fast, both having some sort of swerve, and both understanding the art of variation and concealment of pace. There is not a county eleven which could afford to dispense with the services of either of them if they were qualified to play, even if neither of them could bat. Of the other bowlers, Lester knows pretty well what he is about, and he exercises considerable judgment. Cregar is also a very useful man to have on the side. It was not found necessary to try any of the other men much, and it is hardly possible to form an opinion as to their merits. Suffice it to say that the bowling was as good as that of most counties, to say the least of it. It must not be forgotten that our visitors have nearly all through the summer been playing under conditions to which they are not accustomed.

In the first place, in Philadelphia they only play on Saturday afternoons, except on the rare occasions of a visit from a team from England, when at intervals they play a few three-day matches—a very different thing from going on for weeks with hardly a break. Again, the weather and the wickets have been not at all in their favor, for they live in a land where wickets, if they are not always particularly good, are generally hard, while the weather is pleasant on the whole, not to say exceedingly hot. But, like the Australians, they have adapted themselves to slow wickets with very great cleverness, and although they themselves are inclined to think that their bowlers would have shown to greater advantage if the season had been dry, they might perhaps have found that we have so many fine batsmen who are brilliant players on hard wickets, that the bowling, however good it might have been, would have appeared harmless. Be that as it may, the American bowlers distinguished themselves. They have evidently learned a great deal since the last tour, and it may reasonably be expected that, if they can find a successor to King, they will give a still better account of themselves when a team visits England again.

“As regards the batting, Dr. Lester heads the list of averages, and he is unquestionably the best batsman in the team. He has plenty of strokes and a sound knowledge of the game; he can hit when the occasion requires, or he can play a strong defensive game. Altogether he is an exceedingly good man, and with constant practice in the highest company would be a great cricketer. Almost the same thing may be said of King, who, while he is not quite such a good bat under all sorts of conditions as his captain, is better as an all-round man. If he and Lester were living in England it would indeed be a surprising thing if they were not asked to play at Lord's for the Gentlemen. Nor would it be surprising if Clark was asked to play as a bowler if he were available. In addition to Dr. Lester and King, the Americans have several other batsmen who are quite up to first-class county forms. Graves and Bohlen are both sound batsmen, who, with constant practice, would be at least fifty per cent. better even than they are now, while Sharpless has such a strong defense that, like the villain in the play, he has often aroused the wrath of the crowd and the press, probably a good deal to his amusement. Other American teams have suffered from want of such a man as he. For some reason or other he seems to have attracted more attention than other stickers and to have excited more indignation. But he ought to take this as a compliment. On all sides it is admitted that a sticker is an invaluable man to have, and nearly every county possesses at least one man of this kind who goes in very early and often saves the game. Wood is a good all-round batsman who may generally be relied on to make a useful score in emergencies. Morris played one brilliant long innings, but afterward failed to keep up his form. He will probably be a very much better player if he comes to England with the next team. Several other men are likely to train on into really fine cricketers.

"As to the fielding it is not possible to speak in the terms of the highest praise. It may be discredited as "variable." But when a man has to field day after day for weeks on end, he generally finds the exertion tells on him very considerably, unless he has been in the habit of playing constantly. No doubt, with the thoroughness which has always characterized American cricketers, a great effort will be made to improve the standard of fielding before the next visit, and it may be taken for granted that what can be done in this way will be done. At least in one thing the members of the team have set an example which many English teams might follow with advantage. They never give up pursuing a ball which is hit toward the boundary until there is no possible chance of stopping it in time to save the four; you never see them slacken speed, then hurry again, then drop off, and finally have to go for the ball after all.

"The wicket-keeping was of a high order, and though Scattergood was undoubtedly the better man, Jordan showed very great ability when the former hurt his hand, and had to cease playing for the rest of the tour. Dr. Lester proved to be the right man in the right place as captain. The Americans were unfortunate in the way of accidents, but they took their mishaps with philosophic calm. They played the game like sportsmen, and thoroughly deserved their success. To have beaten Surrey, Lancashire, Kent, Notts, Gloucester and Leicestershire is something to be proud of."

KENT COUNTY CRICKET TEAM.

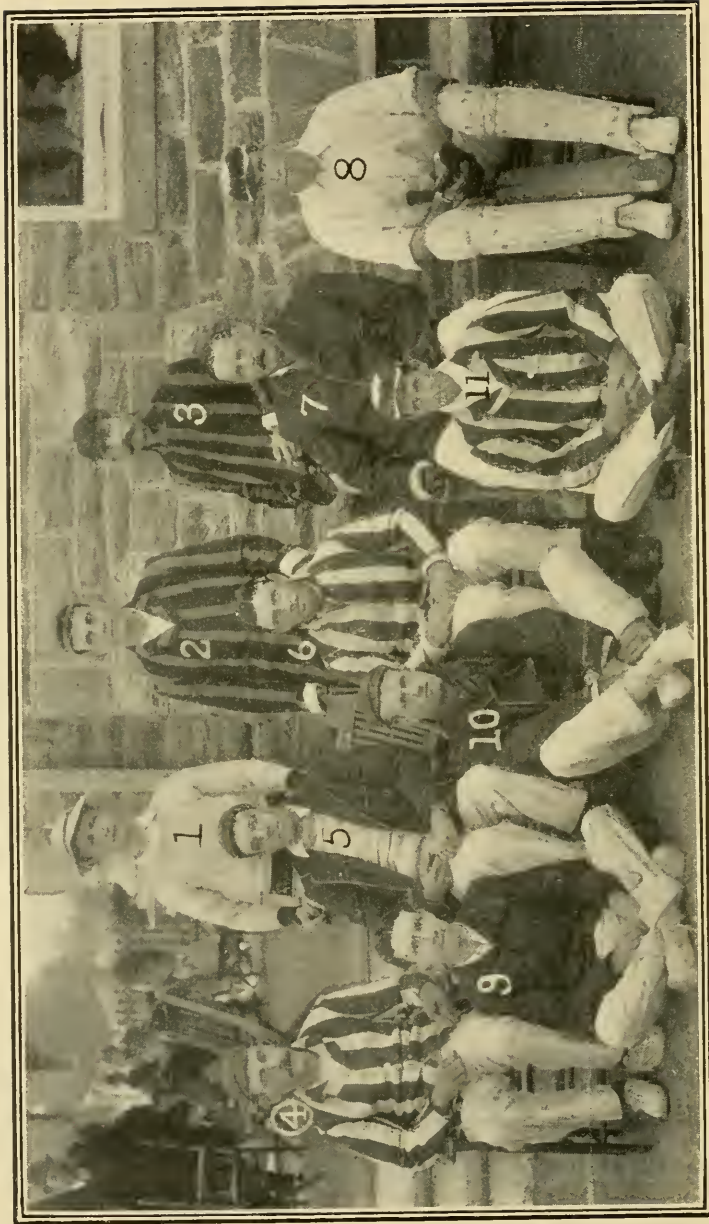

VISIT OF THE KENT COUNTY TEAM

The Kent County team which paid a short visit to the United States in 1903 proved a strong eleven, and it had the satisfaction of winning the four games played.

It seems a pity that a larger schedule could not be arranged for a team which travels so far. Whether this be the fault of the Associated Cricket Clubs of Philadelphia or the visiting teams themselves seems hard to determine. The Philadelphians assume the financial responsibility of the visit, and arrange what games the visitors play. They practically pay the whole expense of the tour, for the "guarantee," which other cities are in a position to give, no more than covers the expenses of the team during the matches in those places. But if an arrangement could be made with our visitors whereby Philadelphia should pay so much for three games in that city, and leave the visiting team free to make whatever other arrangements they please, it is possible that a larger schedule would take place.

Opening with a match at Manheim against the "Colts" of Philadelphia, the Kent team gave early evidence of the possession of plenty of variety in bowling. W. M. Bradley especially proved unusually successful with the ball. The "Colts" could do absolutely nothing with him, and in the first innings he captured 3 wickets for 2 runs, and in the second 5 for 10. Blythe was not so effective as expected, and, indeed, for a bowler with the reputation which preceded him, his work during the tour was disappointing. J. R. Mason bowled with remarkable success in this game. In the first innings he took 5 wickets for 6 runs. T. C. Jordan, who acted as captain of the Colts, handled his team with excellent judgment. He placed his field in a manner which made scoring difficult, and the dismissal of the Kent men for a total of 169 was a good performance by the boys. D. Graham proved a tower of strength in bowling. His record of 7 wickets for 32 runs was well worthy of praise. With the exception of Seymour, none of the Kent men got set. Seymour, however, played beautiful cricket for 44. The Colts proved weak at the bat, and but for a patient innings of 35 by F. S. White, the effort would have been featureless. The visitors eventually won with 8 wickets to spare.

The second game was played against the Gentlemen of Philadelphia at Wissahickon Heights, the home of the Philadelphia C. C.

The match proved a splendid contest, which a large crowd enjoyed on the second day of play.

The batting was off on both sides in the first innings, for the Philadelphians' total of 128 was followed by Kent with 132. J. B. King and Seymour shared the batting honors with scores of 39 and 42, respectively. The effort of the former was all the more praiseworthy because he was suffering from a recently broken finger. Mr. King also achieved remarkable success with the ball, his analysis for the innings showing 7 wickets for 39 runs.

The Philadelphians began their second innings disastrously, for 2 wickets—C. C. Morris and A. W. Jones—were down for 3 runs. J. A. Lester and T. C. Jordan then got together and made a useful stand. J. B. King again played well for 41, but the feature of the innings was J. A. Lester's batting. He played with the utmost care in the beginning, and was at the wickets one hour for 10 runs. He contented himself with keeping up his wicket while there was a chance of runs coming from the other end; but so soon as the best men were disposed of he opened his shoulders in a remarkable manner and gave an exhibition of vigorous hitting, of which few on the field thought him capable. He was still undisposed of, with a faultless 93 to his credit, when the innings came to an end for 194.

Kent's second innings did not begin until the following Monday, when C. J. Burnup and J. R. Mason formed a partnership which eventually gained them the victory with 7 wickets to spare. Mr. Burnup played splendid cricket for 94, not out, while J. R. Mason was also undisposed of with 46 to his credit.

The third match was played at Staten Island against New York. The visitors again proved victorious, this time by 124 runs, after declaring for 4 wickets. The wicket for this match was not all that could be desired, and it was not thought safe to bowl W. M. Bradley. He went on for a few overs in the second innings, taking care, however, to avoid short-pitched balls, and he captured three wickets for 1 run. A. E. Rendle, the president of the Metropolitan League, offered silver cups to the batsman and bowler doing the best work for New York. These were won by J. Adam and F. F. Kelly, respectively.

The fourth and last match was played at Haverford against the Gentlemen of Philadelphia, and was won by the visitors with 7 wickets to spare. The Philadelphians went to pieces in their first innings against the bowling of W. M. Bradley and Blythe. The latter took 5 wickets for 30 runs, and the former 4 for 32, and the sum total of the effort was a paltry 66.

E. W. Dillon then hit with vigor for Kent, and although E. M. Cregar bowled with great success and took 6 wickets for 54 runs, the innings yielded a total of 180. A much better showing was made by Philadelphia in the second innings. J. A. Lester again played capital cricket for 41; N. Z. Graves hit hard for 28; C. C. Morris added 32, and P. H. Clark 28. The total of 177 left Kent with only 64 runs to win, and these were obtained with the loss of 3 wickets.

Following are the full scores and averages:

ARTHUR E. RENDLE,
President Metropolitan District Cricket League, New York.

J. ADAM,
Thistle Cricket Club, New York.

THE METROPOLITAN DISTRICT

The visit of the Kent County team brought to a conclusion one of the most interesting and successful seasons enjoyed by New York cricketers in many years. The success attained in England by the Philadelphians drew considerable attention to cricket, and many were the spectators at games this year who had never witnessed a cricket match before.

It cannot be said, however, that the game gained many active recruits, for those who were seen in local matches, were for the most part old timers in New York cricket. Little effort has been made in the past to popularize the sport. The encouragement given to the "Colts," which keeps the game alive in Philadelphia, is missing in New York, where cricket is played for the especial enjoyment of the individual participant, who cares little how many others may play the game.

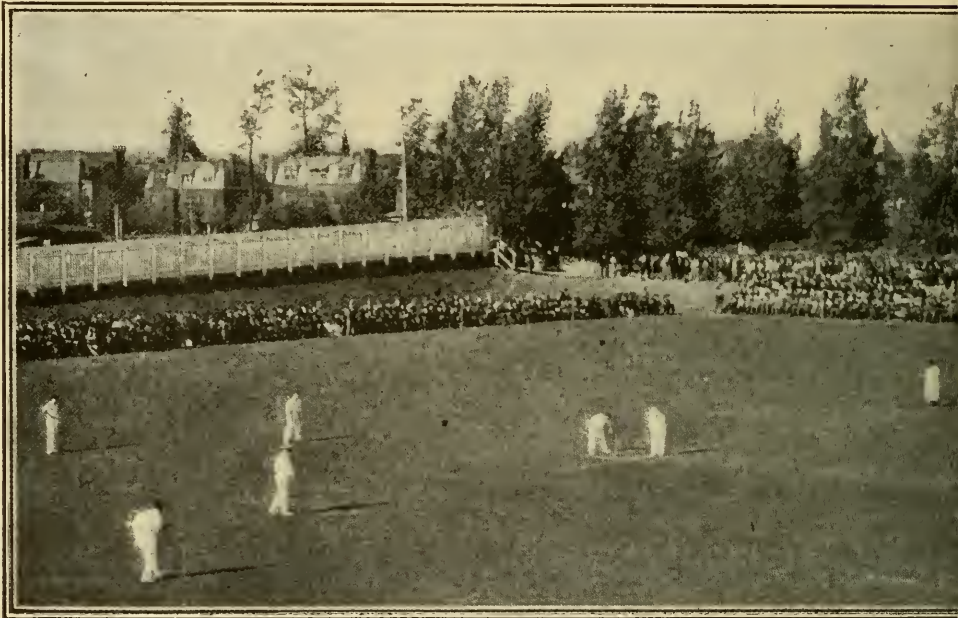

New York cricket is under the guidance of two different organizations, each of which arranges annually a championship schedule of games. These are the Metropolitan District Cricket League and the New York Cricket Association. The former was organized in 1890, and in 1903 comprised the New Jersey, Manhattan, Brooklyn, Kings County and Paterson clubs.

The championship schedule of the organization proved of unusual interest, for although the team of the New Jersey C. C. eventually won the contest without sustaining a single defeat, the Manhattan eleven had at one time strong aspirations for the pennant, which seemed not unlikely to be realized. The New Jerseys, however, had command of the services of three capital bowlers in C. H. Clarke, F. F. Kelly and M. R. Cobb, and, while at times their own scores were small, they invariably disposed of their opponents for less. C. H. Clarke had a splendid record with the ball, and won the prize given by the League for the best bowling record of the season with an average of 5.39 for 54 wickets. The strength of the team's bowling may well be judged when it is known that the two next places on the League list were occupied by the other bowlers of the New Jersey team. F. F. Kelly was second with 5.87 for 31 wickets, and M. R. Cobb third with 6.85 for 21 wickets.

The New Jerseys had also a good batting side, and the team was capably managed by A. J. G. Cook, its captain. A. G. Laurie batted consistently well throughout the season, and his vigorous hitting proved of great assistance on more than one occasion. He took part in 12 innings and wound up the season with an average of 26.66. C. H. Clarke was second on his club's list with 20.80, and F. F. Kelly third with 17.41. The other batsmen hardly sustained their reputations, for M. R. Cobb came next with 13.25 and S. E. G. Cook and A. J. G. Cook were the only other men to finish the season with double-figure averages.

The Paterson C. C., which finished second on the League list, owes its position to the good batting of W. Bunce and the bowling of J. W. Hooper and W. Clarkson. Bunce came second in the League batting averages with a record of 31.33 for 12 innings, and an aggregate of 282 runs. F. G. Warburton also achieved success with the bat and obtained an average of 19, while H. Wilde, J. W. Hooper and W. Dodds all got into double-figures. J. W. Hooper, the chief bowler of the team, delivered during the season 591 balls, a number surpassed only by C. H. Clarke, who sent down 640, and concluded the season with an average of 8.73 for 23 wickets. W. Clarkson's record was 22 wickets for 11.38.

The Manhattan team started off well. The batting was strengthened considerably by H. F. Grahame, a new man who did splendid work in the earlier matches. He had then, however, a run of ill luck and wound up the season with 14.90 for 10 innings. F. J. Prendergast came first on the club's batting list with 24.44 for 12 innings, but the records of some of the other men, from whom much was expected, proved disappointing. F. A. Slade and H. B. Coyne both got into double-figures, and they were the only men, who played regularly with the team, with averages over 10. C. M. Smith proved to be the most successful bowler, with a record of 8.75 for 16 wickets, while W. Adam also did well with a record of 10.10 for 28 wickets.

The Brooklyn team was expected to get better than fourth place, but, owing to a variety of circumstances, finished after both Paterson and Manhattan. The team possessed the champion batsman of the year in J. Poyer, who won the League prize with an average of 37.12 for 11 innings. A. S. Durrant, the captain of the team, also did good work with the willow; but none of the others came off, and the batting, taken altogether, proved a failure. C. A. Worm, H. L. Poyer and J. Poyer all did good work in bowling, with averages of 7.57, 8.91 and 9.31, respectively, and H. Tattersall did well in a few matches.

The Kings County Club went through the championship series without winning a game. The team took its defeat in a sportsman-like way and never failed to come smiling up for the next knock-down. The club has some good men in G. W. Barnes, A. Nugent,

J. L. POYER,
Brooklyn Cricket Club, Champion Batsman, M. D. C. I.

C. H. CLARKE,
New Jersey Cricket Club, Champion Bowler, M. D. C. I.

A. B. Lewis, H. Williams, C. T. Toddings and G. Gautier, all of whom strove hard for success, even if they failed to attain it.

The New York Cricket Association, which during the year comprised the second elevens of the Manhattan, Brooklyn and Paterson Clubs with Branch Brook, Columbia Oval, West Indians, Newark, Thistles and Essex County teams, fought out a schedule, the winner of which was not proclaimed until the last game played. The four leading teams were Columbia Oval, West Indians, Brooklyn and Branch Brook, and each of these in turn occupied first place during the season. Columbia Oval eventually won by a small margin, with the West Indians second and Brooklyn third.

The winners owe much for their position to the all-round play of A. Hoskings, who proved a tower of strength to the team. He easily led the batting averages of his club with a record of 26.22 for 11 innings, while his bowling was instrumental in winning more than one game against the club's strongest opponents. J. N. Escobal, L. Mara, A. H. Dovey and R. Cobban all did good work with the willow, while G. Shaw and H. O. Wilkinson achieved considerable success with the ball.

The West Indians owe their position to the fine bowling of D. Goodridge and A. Gage. The latter led the figures of the Association with a splendid average. J. Harney did the best batting, with an average of 19.67, while H. S. Alexander and A. F. Harding were well to the front.

The Brooklyn team was considered to have a winning eleven. It possessed two good bowlers in H. Rushton and D. G. Birkett, but had no one to fill either of these places in case of emergency. The batting was fairly strong. J. Flannery, who came second in the Association list with an average of 29.43 led the club figures, while D. G. Birkett was close up with 25.50. There was a considerable drop, however, after these, for W. Burrows, with 10.71 was in front of H. A. Laurie, E. O. Challenger and W. B. Seale, who obtained double-figures.

The Branch Brook team for a long time seemed likely winners of the pennant; but two defeats by Newark spoiled their chances. M. McHale and A. Rice were successful in bowling for the team, but the batting proved weak. The best work was done J. Stanton, E. Grewcock, Hal. Holden and L. Brierley.

Newark played some good games and split even in the series with 6 wins and 6 losses. J. E. Backus, R. E. Torrence and A. Backus all batted well, while the Livingston brothers did most of the bowling.

J. Adam, who won the batting average of the Association with a record of 30.91 for 14 innings, proved the mainstay of the Thistles in both departments of the game. No other man of the team had a double-figure average, although G. M. Anderson and A. Richardson played some good innings.

F. F. KELLY,
New Jersey Cricket Club.

The Manhattan team suffered on account of withdrawals to strengthen the first eleven, and had R. J. Danby and A. J. Gray remained on the team it is probable that a better record would have been obtained. The latter had an average of 17.71 for 9 innings, and the former 14.50 for 10. C. M. Smith, who played in but 4 innings, was the only other man to obtain double-figures.

The Paterson and Essex County clubs finished last. It is hard to account for the position of the last named, for they had some first-class men in F. Birch, T. L. White, G. Breeze and T. Gilbert. F. Williams also proved a useful acquisition, and on paper the eleven should be in the first row. An unbroken spell of ill luck followed the team all through the season, however, and the final record was but a single victory out of 12 games played.

Next season a strong effort is to be made to organize junior teams. The Brooklyn Club has already a boys' eleven, from which in the future it is expected drafts can be made from time to time to fill up the regular teams of the club. It is beginning to be recognized that this is the only way for cricket to obtain a foothold in New York. The game is seldom learned after majority, and unless it is taken up at school, a player rarely obtains any success at it.

AT LORD'S BETWEEN INNINGS—OXFORD vs. CAMBRIDGE.

THE SEASON IN ENGLAND

Despite the miserable weather for which the season of 1903 was noted, the interest taken in the county championship was, if possible, more intense than ever. The excitement lasted until within about a week of the end of the season. That it should be possible for a county to win the championship, after finishing nine matches only, four of them against Gloucestershire and Somerset, is not the fault of the county but of the system. But unless and until an arrangement can be made by which each county plays each other county on the League system, percentages must of necessity find a place in estimating the position of the various shires. Unfortunately, the present method does not give anything like an accurate idea of the value of a county's performance, and it is an amusing anomaly that Middlesex should be more than 20 per cent. better than Sussex, according to the tables.

But as the tables stand, Middlesex have deservedly won the first place. Their team invariably worked hard to win, while toward the end of the season it was undeniably very powerful, and may be said to have had no tail. The bowling was eminently suited by the weather, and on the slow wickets appeared to be very strong indeed, with plenty of variation. But undoubtedly the strongest point of the team was, that it possessed so many useful batsmen. There were no brilliant stars like Fry and Ranjitsinhji, but on the other hand every man who went in was quite likely to make a respectable score, let the wicket be ever so bad. The batting averages are not at all high, and if Wells, who heads the list, be left out on the ground that four of only eleven innings were incomplete, it will be seen that there is a succession of thirties and twenties, while with the exception of Douglas, who once made over two hundred, and Warner, who was once within a run of a hundred and fifty, no one made a very big score. But most of the men played only about half as many innings as those belonging to Yorkshire, Lancashire and Surrey, who had so many more chances of becoming a cropper, such as so often happens in a wet season.

With the great satisfaction of knowing that they had twice beaten Yorkshire, and the keen disappointment of not being able to have a go at Middlesex at all (for the one-day match at Lord's was doomed to make very little progress) Sussex worthily fills the second place in the table. It is, perhaps, natural that Sussex should be described as a two-man team, for Fry and Ranjitsinhji over-shadowed all their companions by their great performances. But the county had many other sound batsmen, and Vine over and over again was a tower of strength to the side by his sturdy defence. Brann and Newham, when called upon to fill the places of younger men, played such fine cricket once more that they must be regarded as among the most successful and useful batsmen of the year, and Brann's innings against Yorkshire on a very difficult wicket was a masterpiece of skill. In bowling the county was certainly deficient, and but for this it would without much doubt have easily come in first. There were several useful men, but no great ones. Tate unfortunately fell off considerably.

The season of the Yorkshiremen, who are third on the list, was disappointing in the extreme. Their bowling was as strong as ever on slow wickets, and there was plenty of it, but when the wicket happened to be in favor of the batsman the team was not itself. Quite early in the season Yorkshire seemed to be placed out of the running for the championship, and before the middle of June they had been beaten by Somerset (their only conquerers in 1902), Middlesex and Sussex. On July 1st they were again beaten, their victors this time being Surrey, but after that they made a tremendous fight for the championship, and it was not until their very last match of the season that they knew defeat once more, going down before Sussex at Brighton. For three years they had enjoyed a period of brilliant and almost uninterrupted success, but the Fates fought against them this year, and they were often deprived by the weather of what seemed a certain victory. Even in the Kent match, which they so nearly lost at Canterbury, the weather, which eventually saved them, fought against them all through the match. The absence of Hirst at a critical time was greatly felt, and in addition to this the county had to deplore the inability of F. S. Jackson to play in more than a few matches, while T. L. Taylor was not available and Washington was too ill to play at all. It is a pity that Ernest Smith cannot assist his county until August, but after all there are more important things in life than county matches. On the whole the batting was not quite so sound as in the three previous years, and the tail did not come as persistently as of old to the rescue of their side when the great batsmen had failed. It was chiefly to this uncertainty in the batting that Yorkshire owed their defeats, but at the same time it is questionable whether their bowling, except on sticky wickets, was as deadly as usual. That the team under the captaincy of Lord Hawke, who very frequently made useful scores when runs were ever so badly wanted, worked well together, goes without saying. To a man, they all did their best to win, and in July and August their performances were on the highest level.

There was nothing about the Lancashire season which was particularly noticeable. The team lost the same number of matches as Yorkshire, but there is no doubt that the county was not as strong as its neighbors. In his day, Barnes was one of the very finest bowlers in England, and his record for the season is distinctly good. But the other bowlers were variable quantities, and although Brearley raised great hopes that he would be found a worthy successor to Mold, and, indeed, did remarkably well at times, it cannot be denied that Mold has not yet been replaced. Nor has a successor been found to Briggs. Again, in batting, Lancashire did not strike one as being very strong. Maclaren had a most successful season, and proved conclusively enough that no England eleven can be considered complete without him. In R. H. Spooner, the county has discovered a gold mine, and A. H. Hornby has frequently distinguished himself; but there are few great batsmen in the team, while there is a pronounced tail.

Until nearly the end of June, Notts made a very strong bid for the Championship, and did not lose a match. But they then seemed to fall to pieces, and were beaten by Derbyshire and twice by Yorkshire before they again won a match. In Iremonger, A. O. Jones and the three Gunns they had the nucleus of a very powerful team, but they had a long tail, while the bowling left a good deal to be desired. John Gunn was by far the most effective bowler, but he had many ups and downs, and at times could do nothing right. The county badly wants another Attewell.

Worcestershire has had a season with which its supporters must be more than satisfied. Eight matches were won, a number which was only exceeded by Yorkshire and Lancashire, who both played six more times than Worcestershire. If the tail had not been so long the county might have given even a better account of itself. H. K. Foster proved to be a tower of strength to the team, but R. E. Foster played but seldom, and only had an average of fifteen, though his falling off is hardly likely to be more than temporary. The bowling was often distinctly good, and Arnold took over a hundred wickets.

For some years the Surrey men have had the reputation of being but poor players on wickets which are not fast and true, but for a very long time they have not had such a bad season as that of 1903. Even ten years ago, when after a long period of success they fell from grace, they lost fewer matches than in the past season. But the wet weather is not the only cause for their want of success; they have been unfortunate in many ways. The absence of Abel from the team for practically the whole year was a misfortune in itself great enough to account for a considerable falling off. In addition to this there was the loss of V. F. S. Crawford and Jephson, an almost entire absence of promising recruits, and a complete want of life in the bowling. There were plenty of men to bowl, but the old hands had to do nearly all the work. The batting was a great disappointment, for although Hayward, Holland and Hayes all gave an excellent account of themselves, there was a terribly long tail, and sometimes the whole team broke down in the most disheartening manner. Walker, like his predecessors in the office of captain, threw himself into the breach over and over again, and succeeded where other men had failed, and his average by no means represents his value to the team. Exactly the same thing may be said of Captain Bush, who, if the fates had been more favorable, would often have saved the side by his steadiness and coolness at a crisis. But in nearly every case the efforts of the men who sturdily held on to one end, waiting for help, were almost thrown away. It cannot be said that at present the outlook for next season is much more promising, but a county which possesses so many young cricketers of some promise, with a committee determined to make the very best of matters, and an officer with the energy and ability of Mr. Graburn, cannot be left for long in the Slough of Despond.

If Kent could play their strongest team all through the season, they would have a much better record. As it is, they have had a fairly satisfactory year, and have won more matches than they lost, while they as nearly as possible succeeded in placing a victory over Yorkshire to their credit. They have several most promising batsmen, and the outlook for the future is encouraging. For a time both Alec Hearne and Burnup could do nothing, but later in the season they both asserted themselves and played splendid cricket. Blythe had a wonderfully good season with the ball, and in the opinion of many who played against him is the equal of Rhodes on a sticky wicket.

Somerset once more showed that no county is safe against them, and once more they succeeded in beating Yorkshire, although in the return match they were only saved by the weather from an overwhelming defeat. They made a splendid fight with Middlesex in the return match, and the least bit of good fortune might have given them the victory. In the return match with Lancashire they gained a brilliant victory. Thus, if they had not won another match they might have been well content with the season's results. With bowlers like Brand and Cranfield in the team, Somerset was at any time likely to create a surprise, but if these men failed it was just as likely that there would be a severe defeat.

Warwickshire did fairly well, and toward the end of the season found a most useful addition to the team in F. R. Loveitt, who played much better than he had ever previously done. W. G.

Quaife kept up his reputation, but on the whole the batting was disappointing, while the bowling was not at all strong. Until the middle of August, Gloucestershire failed to win a match, but then won three in succession. So much depended on Jessop that it is not surprising that the county was not successful this season. Some of the best batsmen could play but seldom, and the bowling was weak in the extreme. Toward the end of the season a most promising recruit was found in Dennett, who, if he is not overworked, may be heard of in the future.

Until the middle of the season, Essex had a fine record. In their first match they were very badly beaten by Yorkshire at Leyton, but they did not suffer a reverse again until on July 15th they lost to Warwickshire. This seemed only an accidental occurrence, for they did well again until the beginning of August, when the team seemed to consist of Perrin, McGahey and Mead, who all kept up their reputations. Sewell was a great disappointment, after playing fine cricket for about half the season on all sorts of wickets, but he was always well worth playing. In Gillingham, the county has discovered one of the most promising players of the day. The bowling is still weak, but for a time Buckenham carried everything before him. Derbyshire won several matches, but they depended far too much on two or three men, of whom L. G. Wright played splendid cricket time after time when his companions failed. Hampshire and Leicestershire each only won a single match, but both teams show promise for the future.

The matches between Surrey and Hampshire, which should have been played at the Oval on May 7, 8, and 9; Kent and Sussex fixed for Tonbridge on June 15, etc.; Middlesex vs. Essex, at Lord's, June 15, etc.; Somerset vs. Hampshire, at Bath, June 15, etc.; Essex vs. Hampshire, at Leyton, July 27, etc., and Middlesex vs. Kent, at Lord's, August 24, etc., were abandoned without a ball having been bowled, and are therefore not included in the above table.

There is no necessity for looking at the table of averages, or for comparing scores, in order to find out the man of the year. Nor can there be any hesitation as to whether it would be well to barcket two or three men for the first place, for C. B. Fry stands alone as unquestionably "the" man of 1903. His position has not been gained by means of several large scores mixed up with heaps of low ones, but by consistent play throughout the season, and never before has he so reminded old cricketers of what Dr. Grace was like when in his prime. It has, perhaps naturally, been customary to describe Fry as a man whose reputation has been made almost entirely by the perfection of modern wickets, but while he has frequently in previous years done exceedingly well when he has had to play bowlers who had their favorite wickets to work upon, he has never before been so completely master of the situation. In a bowler's year he has consistently made high scores with hardly any failure; he has shown an adaptability which can only be described as astonishing to circumstances of all kinds; in fine, he has been master of the situation. He has taken away the reproach that Englishmen have no batsmen who can stand beside Trumper and live.

It is no more difficult to point to the man who comes next to Fry. This can be no other than Ranjitsinhji, whose performances, but for the fact that they have been overshadowed by those of his companion in the Sussex team, would have been regarded as wonderful. In a season which was even worse for batsmen than that of 1902, he completely recovered his form, and with only 38 completed innings made nearly two thousand runs. His doings have been all the more remarkable because, as a native of India, such a miserable season as that of 1903 must have been entirely unsuited to his temperament. It was a wonderful thing that he could adapt himself to the altered conditions as to play the most brilliant cricket on occasions when everything must have been disheartening and discouraging to him, when he must have been disgusted at the prolonged absence of a sun which in his earlier years he only knew as a constant and almost overpowering visitor. But over and over again he has been seen to immense advantage, and has bewildered the bowlers opposed to him by the fertility of his resources. It has been a great season for him, despite its wet and cold.

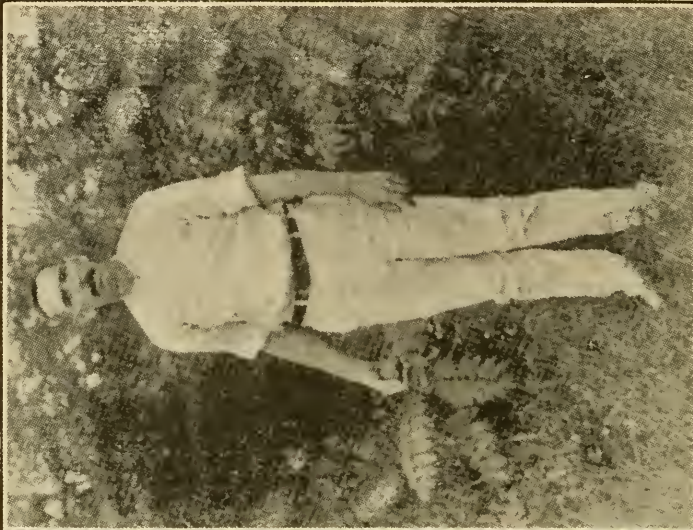

Thus far it has been the simplest of tasks to decide on the positions of the chief players of the year, for there can be no two opinions about the merits of Fry and Ranjitsinhji. But when it comes to the third place one is hopelessly at a loss. But the chances are that in a general vote of first-class cricketers the name of Maclaren would appear more frequently than that of anyone else. Maclaren has quite got back his old form, and his old reputation as a man who is to be depended on for runs when no one could feel really confident of playing a long innings. He has shown equal skill in defence and in attack, and he has been a tower of strength to the Lancashire team. Never has he shown more conclusively that no England team can be called complete without him. He has been, as always, the very man required for a big occasion, witness his determined stand with Fry in the second innings of Gentlemen vs. Players, at Lord's, when the two men completely changed the fortunes of an apparently hopeless game.

The fourth place may, perhaps, be given jointly to Hirst, Perrin, L. C. H. Palaret, Knight and Ironmonger, who have all been consistent and have all done particularly well in times of difficulty and danger. Palaret, Knight and Perrin have each been the mainstay of their side; they have not received as much help as the other two men, and on the whole one would be inclined to consider their performances as slightly more meritorious than those of Hirst and Ironmonger, who have nevertheless had a fine season. Hayward has played in more innings than anybody else, but he has also scored more runs than anybody except Fry, and as usual he owes his position to a series of good innings rather than a few very big ones against weak bowling. For a time he seemed to show signs that his powers were failing a little, but soon he reasserted himself, and despite the discouraging form shown by Surrey, he kept well to the front. That he had few chances of pulling his county out of a hole was not his fault but his misfortune. Tyldesley, W. G. Quaife and P. F. Warner have all had a very satisfactory season, while among other men who have played up to their reputation are A. O. Jones, H. K. Foster, W. Gunn, J. Gunn, Hayes, Denton, Braund, C. McGahey, C. M. Wells, A. J. L. Hill, W. L. Murdock, C. J. Burnup, Arnold and Vine. Except for a remarkable innings of 286, which won the match against Sussex for Gloucestershire, Jessop has hardly been at his best, although he has often played a fine game. But he has very seldom got right into his stride this season, though he does not seem to have lost any of his confidence. Bramm and Newham have done wonders for Sussex; they are both adepts at making runs when they are badly wanted.

Without question, G. W. Beldam has greatly improved his position, although at the beginning of the season he took some time in settling down. As a defensive player he is one of the most useful of the day. The Australian, L. O. S. Poidevin, has not played very much, but he has quite shown that he is worthy of the reputation which he gained before he went to England. Over and over again Lord Hawke has played a very useful innings for his side, although the highest score is 79; he nearly always manages to keep up his end at a pinch. Another Yorkshireman, Rhodes, has proved himself a particularly useful man at a crisis. Among the rising players R. H. Spooner has, perhaps, attracted the greatest attention, although B. J. T. Bosanquet has deservedly risen high in the estimation of cricketers by his ability to play a strong game when things are going badly for his side. Dowson has done better than before, but one always feels that he ought to be even better than he is, and that the time must come sooner or later when he bears out the remarkable promise shown by him during his boyhood. It was not a great year for the famous Doctor, although he did by no means badly; his fine innings of 150 against Gloucestershire showed well enough of what he is still capable. Braund has played consistently well, without being as prominently before the public as usual. For a time L. G. Wright's succession of fine innings for Derbyshire were the theme of admiration of all cricketers, for his runs were nearly always made when his companions failed. E. M. Sprot, Bowley, Killick, J. H. King (Leicestershire), A. H. Hornby, Holland and Relf well deserve their positions in the average list by the excellence of their play, but Albert Trott, Storer, E. W. Dillon, C. E. deTrafford and A. E. Lawton have all had a more or less disappointing season such as is bound to happen to nearly every batsman occasionally. Sewell gave very great promise, but fell off after the middle of the year; he will probably come a great deal more to the front next season. No one has been more disappointing than V. F. S. Crawford. It was thought that, with his place assured, he would be one of the most notable men of the year, but his time has not yet come.

Certain of the members of the Gentlemen of Philadelphia team must not be passed over. In Dr. Lester and J. B. King, the Americans had two batsmen who would not have been left out by any county if they had been available, for they both possessed the grit which is so necessary in a great batsman, as well as a very great deal of skill; above all, they had "class." King, who is also a fine bowler, would be worth his place in an English team if he were a native. These two men and Bohlen were almost a class above the other batsmen in the team, but in their several ways Graves, Morris and Sharpless were fine cricketers.

On the whole the batting strikes one as having been better than the bowling, but the season has been particularly notable for the number of men who have distinguished themselves in both branches of the game. Among them may be mentioned Hirst, Braund, Arnold, J. Gunn and Rhodes (who have all taken a hundred wickets and scored a thousand runs), J. B. King (the American), Alec

Hearne, Relf, Lees, G. W. Beldam, C. M. Wells and B. J. T. Bosanquet. No startling new strokes have been invented, and for the most part men have been constrained to leave fancy strokes severely alone, although some have persisted in trying to make them, with unfortunate results to themselves. "Leg play" has not been nearly as conspicuous as usual, since with the ball doing curious things, it was not very easy to calculate with exactness just what it was going to do, and it was safer to bring the bat against it.

The chief thing which is to be noted with regard to the bowling of the year is perhaps not so much the great success of Rhodes and Hirst and Blythe as the appearance on the scene of some new bowlers of great promise. But it must not be forgotten that bowlers' wickets have been the rule rather than the exception, and that many men who have done wonderfully well would not have been heard of at all in an ordinary season. Two new bowlers stand out very prominently, viz., Langford and Dennett. It would have been more satisfactory to English cricket if these bowlers had belonged to counties which are already strong in bowling, for then they would have had a really excellent chance of coming to the front. As it is, Langford plays for Hampshire and Dennett for Gloucestershire, two teams which have so little bowling that newcomers, if they are good are bound to be overworked, and to receive so little support that, unless they are altogether out of the common, they can never very greatly distinguish themselves. Even a Rhodes or a Trumble would have without doubt become commonplace in course of time if it had been their lot to play for a county which was weak in bowling. Experience has shown conclusively that, if a famous bowler ceases to play for a team which is strong in bowling, he gradually loses his skill about nine times out of ten. It is quite natural that this should be the case, for with a strong team it very seldom happens that a man has to keep on until he is discouraged, whereas in a weak team it must often be his lot to wish that he had never been born.

Whether Langford and Dennett will rise superior to circumstances remains to be seen. Their rapidly gained reputations have been made on sticky wickets, and it is more than likely that in a dry season they would be ineffective. In the first half of the season Buckenham came with a great rush and almost created a sensation. He was interviewed frequently and his opinions on the art of bowling were eagerly sought for. But in the midst of his great success he suddenly seemed to fall off, and was no more heard of. Other professionals of whom a brilliant future was prophesied were Jackson and Montgomery, the young Surrey bowlers who did so well in the first few matches of the season. But they both vanished from the scene altogether after a few matches, although they are fairly high up in the season's averages. Ringrose, who bowled so well for Yorkshire for a time, also disappeared; he heads the averages for the season. Of the bowlers with reputations, Rhodes and Hirst have undoubtedly been the most talked about, but one has an uneasy suspicion that on hard wickets neither of them is as good as he was, and that if the season had been normal their reputation would have suffered. Mead, who in match after match had hardly anybody to back him up, can point to an astonishingly good year. The American bowlers, J. B. King and P. H. Clark very greatly distinguished themselves; without doubt they would both play for the Gentlemen if they were Englishmen. The slow wickets have been a godsend to Blythe—one of the best slow wicket bowlers in the world—J. T. Hearne and Hargreave; who have all done very well indeed, while Roberts, the Gloucestershire veteran, whose days seemed quite over, has come to the front again in a very marked manner. In his day Barnes was, perhaps, the most difficult bowler of the season, but like Martin Macintyre of old, he has his off days, when he does not seem himself at all. But provided that their side has other good men to fall back upon, bowlers of this kind are probably the most serviceable of all, for they will win half a dozen matches in a season. Arnolds, Relf, Alec Hearne, Haigh and J. Gunn have well sustained their reputations, while W. H. B. Evans and H. C. McDonell have shown great promise. It is said to be obliged to chronicle a great falling off in Trott, Lockwood and Tate, but of these Lockwood is never seen at his best unless he can get a firm foothold. On the few really perfect wickets of the season big scores have been made, which in itself is not an encouraging sign as regards English bowling, for batsmen very seldom can time the ball in a fast wicket immediately after they have been playing on slow ones. The fact remains that at the present time there is no Mold or Richardson (the Richardson of old), no Lohmann, no Alfred Shaw or Attewell.

If proof were needed that it is the constant running about on hard grounds for so many hours at a time in a succession of matches which is the chief cause of bad fielding, it would be sufficient to point to numerous references during the year to the improvement in the fielding even of notoriously bad fielding teams. For the greater part of the year grounds have been soft, and large totals conspicuous by their absence, so that men have gone to their work morning after morning without feeling fagged out. It is one thing to expect men to field well when they are fresh; it is another to expect them to do so when they have lost the toss three or four times in succession, and fielded on baked ground to as many innings of about five hundred runs. This year fieldsmen have had a chance to distinguish themselves, and although there have been notable exceptions, as a rule they have taken advantage of their opportunity.

Wicket-keeping is just now at a very high level. Hartyn has the reputation of being actually the best wicket-keeper in England, but Strudwick has come on wonderfully, and runs him close; unfortunately he does not seem to show any signs of becoming a good batsman, although once or twice during the season he has made a useful stand. But with such men as Lilley, Butt, Huish, Findlay, Humphries, Macgregor, Hunter, Board and Newton England has no reason to complain of a dearth of wicket-keepers.

CRICKET IN AUSTRALIA

INTER-STATE CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES.

Mainly owing to the fine batting of R. A. Duff, M. A. Noble and Victor Trumper, backed up by the splendid bowling of W. P. Howell, A. McBeth and L. W. Pye, New South Wales again won the Sheffield Shield. George Giffen, the veteran, accomplished a great feat in the match between South Australia and Victoria when he scored 81 and 97, not out, and captured 15 wickets for 185 runs. The records:

LAWS OF CRICKET

As Amended by the Marylebone C. C.

1. A match is played between two sides of eleven players each, unless otherwise agreed to; each side has two innings, taken alternately, except in the case provided for in Law 53. The choice of innings shall be decided by tossing.

2. The score shall be reckoned by runs. A run is scored 1st, so often as the batsman after a hit, or at any time while the ball is in play, shall have crossed and made good their ground from end to end. 2d, for penalties under Laws 16, 34, 41, and allowances under 44. Any run or runs so scored shall be duly recorded by scorers appointed for the purpose. The side which scores the greatest number of runs wins the match. No match is won unless played out or given up, except in the case provided in Law 45.

3. Before the commencement of the match two umpires shall be appointed, one for each end.

4. The ball shall weigh not less than $5\frac{1}{2}$ oz., nor more than $5\frac{3}{4}$ oz. It shall measure not less than 9 in., nor more than $9\frac{1}{4}$ in. in circumference. At the beginning of each innings either side may demand a new ball.

5. The bat shall not exceed $4\frac{1}{4}$ in. in the widest part; it shall not be more than 38 in. in length.

6. The wickets shall be pitched opposite and parallel to each other at a distance of 22 yards. Each wicket shall be 8 in. in width and consist of three stumps, with two bails upon the top. The stumps shall be of equal and sufficient size to prevent the ball from passing through, 27 inches out of the ground. The bails shall be each 4 in. in length, and when in position on the top of the stumps shall not project more than $\frac{1}{2}$ in. above them. The wickets shall not be changed during a match unless the ground between them become unfit for play, and then only by consent of both sides.

7. The bowling crease shall be in a line with the stumps; 8 ft. 8 in. in length; the stumps in the centre, with a return crease at each end, at right angles behind the wicket.

8. The popping crease shall be marked 4 ft. from the wicket, parallel to it, and be deemed unlimited in length.

9. The ground shall not be rolled, watered, covered, mown or beaten during a match, except before the commencement of each innings and of each day's play, when, unless the inside object, the ground shall be swept and rolled for not more than ten minutes. This shall not prevent the batsman from beating the ground with his bat, nor the batsman nor bowler from using sawdust in order to obtain a proper foothold.

10. The ball must be bowled; if thrown or jerked, either umpire shall call "No ball."

11. The bowler shall deliver the ball with one foot on the ground behind the bowling crease, and within the return crease, otherwise the umpire shall call "No ball."

12. If the bowler shall bowl the ball so high over or so wide of the wicket, that in the opinion of the umpire it is not within reach of the striker, the umpire shall call "Wide ball."

13. The ball shall be bowled in overs of six balls from each wicket alternately. When six balls have been bowled and the ball is finally settled in the bowler's or wicket-keeper's hands, the umpire shall call "Over." Neither a "no ball" nor a "wide ball" shall be reckoned as one of the "over."

14. The bowler shall be allowed to change ends as often as he pleases, provided only that he does not bowl two overs consecutively in one innings.

15. The bowler may require the batsman at the wicket from which he is bowling to stand on that side of it which he may direct.

16. The striker may hit a "no ball," and whatever runs result shall be added to his score; but he shall not be out from a "no ball," unless he be run out, or break Laws 26, 27, 29, 30. All runs made from a "no ball," otherwise than from the bat, shall be scored "no balls," and if no run be made, one run shall be added to the score. From a "wide ball" as many runs as are run shall be added to the score as "wide-balls," and if no run be otherwise obtained one run shall be so added.

17. If the ball, not having been called "wide" or "no ball," pass the striker without touching his bat or person, and any runs be obtained, the umpire shall call "Bye," but if the ball touch any part of the striker's person (hand excepted) and any run be obtained, the umpire shall call "Leg-bye," such runs to be scored "byes" and "leg-byes," respectively.

18. At the beginning of the match, and of each innings, the umpire at the bowler's wicket shall call "Play"; from that time no trial ball shall be allowed to any bowler on the ground between the wickets, and when one of the batsmen is out the use of the bat shall not be allowed to any person until the next batsman shall come in.

19. A batsman shall be held to be "out of his ground" unless his bat in hand or some part of his person be grounded within the line of the popping crease.

20. The wicket shall be held to be "down" when either of the bails is struck off, or if both bails be off, when a stump is struck out of the ground.

21. The striker is out if the wicket be bowled down, even if the ball first touch the striker's bat or person—"Bowled."

22. Or, if the ball, from a stroke of the bat or hand, but not the wrist, be held before it touch the ground, although it be hugged to the body of the catcher—"Caught."

23. Or, if in playing at the ball, provided it be not touched by the bat or hand, the striker be out of his ground, and the wicket be put down by the wicket-keeper with the ball or with the hand or arm, with ball in hand—"Stumped."

24. Or, if with any part of his person he stop the ball, which in the opinion of the umpire at the bowler's wicket shall have been pitched in a straight line from it to the striker's wicket and would have hit it—"Leg before wicket."

25. Or, if in playing at the ball he hit down his wicket with his bat or any part of his person or dress—"Hit wicket."

26. Or, if under pretence of running, or otherwise, either of the batsmen wilfully prevent a ball from being caught—"Obstructing the field."

27. Or, if the ball be struck, or be stopped by any part of his person, and he wilfully strike it again, except it be done for the purpose of guarding his wicket, which he may do with his bat, or any part of his person, except his hands—"Hit the ball twice."

28. Either batsman is out, if in running, or at any other time, when the ball is in play he be out of his ground, and his wicket be struck down by the ball after touching any fieldsman, or by the hand or arm, with ball in hand, of any fieldsman—"Run out."

29. Or, if he touch with his hand or take up the ball while in play, unless at the request of the opposite side—"Handled the ball."

30. Or, if he wilfully obstruct any fieldsman—"Obstructing the field."

31. If the batsmen have crossed each other, he that runs for the wicket which is put down is out; if they have not crossed, he that has left the wicket which is put down is out.

32. The striker being caught, no run shall be scored. A batsman being run out, that run which was being attempted shall not be scored.

33a. A batsman being out for any cause, the ball shall be "dead."

33b. If the ball, whether struck with the bat or not, lodges in a batsman's clothing, the ball shall become "dead."

34. If a ball in play cannot be found or recovered, any fieldsman may call "Lost ball." when the ball shall be "dead"; six runs shall be added to the score, but if more than six runs have been run before "lost ball" has been called, as many runs as have been run shall be scored.

35. After the ball shall have been finally settled in the wicket-keeper's or bowler's hand it shall be "dead"; but when the bowler is about to deliver the ball, if the batsman at his wicket be out of his ground before actual delivery, the said bowler may run him out; but if the bowler throw at that wicket and any run result it shall be scored "no ball."

36. A batsman shall not retire from his wicket and return to it to complete his innings after another has been in without the consent of the opposite side.

37. A substitute shall be allowed to field or run between wickets for any player who may during the match be incapacitated from illness or injury, but for no other reason, except with the consent of the opposite side.

38. In all cases where a substitute shall be allowed, the consent of the opposite side shall be obtained as to the person to act as substitute and the place in the field which he shall take.

39. In case any substitute shall be allowed to run between wickets, the striker may be run out if either he or his substitute be out of his ground. If the striker be out of his ground while the ball is in play, that wicket which he has left may be put down and the striker given out, although the other batsman may have made good the ground at that end, and the striker and his substitute at the other end.

40. A batsman is liable to be out for any infringement of the laws by his substitute.

41. The fieldsman may stop the ball with any part of his person, but if he wilfully stop it otherwise the ball shall be "dead," and five runs added to the score. Whatever runs may have been made five only shall be added.

42. The wicket-keeper shall stand behind the wicket. If he shall take the ball for the purpose of stumping before it has passed the wicket, or if he shall incommode the striker by any noise or motion, or, if any part of his person be over or before the wicket, the striker shall not be out, excepting under Laws 26, 27, 28, 29 and 30.

43. The umpires are the sole judges of fair or unfair play, of the fitness of the ground, the weather, and the light for play; all disputes shall be determined by them, and if they disagree the actual state of affairs shall continue.

44. They shall pitch fair wickets, arrange boundaries where necessary, and the allowances to be made for them, and change ends after each side has had one innings.

45. They shall allow two minutes for each striker to come in and ten minutes between each innings. When they shall call "Play," the side refusing to play shall lose the match.

46. They shall not order a batsman out unless appealed to by the other side.

N. B.—An appeal, "How's that," covers all ways of being out (within the jurisdiction of the umpire appealed to), unless a specific way of getting out is stated by the person asking.

47. The umpire at the bowler's wicket shall be appealed to before the other umpire in all cases except those of stumping, hit wicket, run out at the striker's wicket, or arising out of Law 42, but in any case in which an umpire is unable to give a decision he shall appeal to the other umpire, whose decision shall be final.

48. If either umpire be not satisfied of the absolute fairness of the delivery of any ball, he shall call "No ball."

48a. The umpire shall take especial care to call "No ball" instantly upon delivery, "Wide ball" as soon as it shall have passed the striker.

49. If either batsman run a short run, the umpire shall call "One short," and the run shall not be scored.

50. After the umpire has called "Over" the ball is "Dead," but an appeal may be made as to whether either batsman is out; such appeal, however, shall not be made after the delivery of the next ball, nor after any cessation of play.

51. No umpire shall be allowed to bet.

52. No umpire shall be changed during a match unless with the consent of both sides, except in case of violation of Law 51, when either side may dismiss him.

53. The side which bats first and leads by 150 runs in a three days' match, or by 100 runs in a two days' match, shall have the option of requiring the other side to follow their innings.

54. The inside may declare their innings at an end in a three days' match at or after the luncheon interval on the second day; in a two days' match on the second day, at any time; in a one day match at any time.

ONE-DAY MATCHES.

1. The side which bats first and leads by 75 runs shall have the option of requiring the other side to follow their innings.

2. The match, unless played out, shall be decided by the first innings. Prior to the commencement of a match it may be agreed: That the over consist of 5 or 6 balls.

N. B.—A Tie is included in the words "Played out."

SINGLE WICKET.

The laws are, where they apply, the same as the above, with the following alterations and additions:

1. One wicket shall be pitched, as in Law 6, with a bowling stump opposite to it at a distance of twenty-two yards. The bowling crease shall be in a line with the bowling stump and drawn according to Law 7.

2. When there shall be less than five players on a side bounds shall be placed twenty-two yards each in a line from the off and leg stump.

3. The ball must be hit before the bounds to entitle the striker to a run, which run cannot be obtained unless he touch the bowling stump or crease in a line with his bat, or some part of his person, or go beyond them, and return to the popping crease.

4. When the striker shall hit the ball, one of his feet must be on the ground behind the popping crease, otherwise the umpire shall call "No hit" and no run shall be scored.

5. When there shall be less than five players on a side neither byes, leg byes, nor overthrows shall be allowed, nor shall the striker be caught out behind the wicket, nor stumped.

6. The fieldsman must return the ball so that it shall cross the ground between the wicket and the bowling stump, or between the bowling stump and the bounds; the striker may run till the ball be so returned.

7. After the striker shall have made one run, if he start again he must touch the bowling stump or crease, and turn before the ball cross the ground to entitle him to another.

8. The striker shall be entitled to three runs for lost ball, and the same number for ball wilfully stopped by a fieldsman otherwise than with any part of his person.

9. When there shall be no more than four players on a side there shall be no bounds. All hits, byes, leg byes and overthrows shall then be allowed.

10. There shall be no restriction as to the ball being bowled in overs, but no more than one minute shall be allowed between each ball.

INSTRUCTIONS TO UMPIRES.

FITNESS OF GROUND.

Law 43. At the commencement of a match, the umpires may be appealed to by either side as to fitness of the ground for play.

Should they not agree, play will not commence until they are agreed.

In case of interruption from rain, as soon as rain has ceased, the umpires shall, immediately, without further instruction, inspect the wicket, unaccompanied by any of the players, and decide upon its fitness. Should it prove unfit, they shall continue to inspect at intervals, until they decide that it is fit for play, when they shall call upon the players to resume the game.

The ground is unfit for play—when water stands on the surface, or when it is so wet, muddy or slippery as to deprive the bowlers of a reasonable foothold or the fieldsman of the power of free movement.

The umpires are not to be biased by the opinions of either side, still less are they to allow themselves to be influenced by the impatience of the spectators for a resumption of the game, and are not to be induced by the public interest in a particular match to declare the ground fit for play unless they would consider that ground fit under any circumstances.

FITNESS OF LIGHT FOR PLAY.

The umpires may decide on appeal that there is not sufficient light for play. Should the light improve before the time for drawing stumps, they shall, without waiting for instructions, call upon the players to resume the game.

In the event of the captains agreeing as to the conditions of the ground or light the umpires will so far be relieved of their responsibility.

Law 47. An umpire is only justified in appealing to the other umpire when he is unable to decide, owing to his having been prevented from seeing the occurrence on which the appeal is based. He is not to appeal to the other umpire in cases on which he could give a decision, merely because he is unwilling to give that decision. If he be in any doubt the principle laid down in Law 43, "That the existing state of things shall continue," shall be followed, and in consequence the decision should be in favor of the batsman.

Law 48. The special attention of umpires is called to this law, which directs them to call "No ball," unless absolutely satisfied of the fairness of the delivery.

Umpires should not allow themselves to be unduly influenced by appeals from such of the field who were not in a position to form a judgment on the point appealed upon, or by tricks—such as throwing up the ball, on appealing for a catch at the wicket, without waiting for the decision. Umpires, being the sole judges of fair or unfair play, such devices are obviously unfair and are not in accordance with the spirit in which cricket should be played.

BY ORDER OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE M.C.C.

June 20, 1892.

In the course of the season of 1899 the following additions to the Instructions to Umpires were approved by the M.C.C. Committee:

Law 54.—"Declaring."—

- (a) If a side declare its innings during the luncheon interval, it must do so within fifteen minutes after the commencement of such interval, otherwise an extra ten minutes will be allowed for rolling.
- (b) If a side declare its innings closed in the morning before play commences, it must do so in sufficient time to enable the other side to choose the roller it prefers, otherwise an extra ten minutes will be allowed for rolling.

CODE OF SIGNALING.

Boundaries shall be signaled by waving the hand from side to side.

Byes shall be signaled by raising the open hand above the head.

Leg-byes shall be signaled by raising the leg and touching it with the hand.

Wides shall be signaled by extending both arms horizontally.

No-ball shall be signaled by extending one arm horizontally.

The decision "Out" shall be signaled by raising the index finger above the head.

Umpires should wait until a signal has been answered by the scorer before allowing the game to proceed.

Besides signaling, the umpire should "call" distinctly for the information of the players.

On giving a decision the umpire should make sure that the batsman understands what the decision is.

ADDITIONS TO "INSTRUCTIONS TO UMPIRES."

Passed by M.C.C. Committee, June 16, 1902.

- (a) Umpires are not justified in deciding the ground unfit for play merely because the grass is wet and the ball would, in consequence, be slippery.
- (b) In order to facilitate play at the earliest possible moment in wet weather the umpires shall see that the footholes made by bowlers and batsmen are cleaned out, dried and filled up with sawdust at any time during the match, although the game is not actually in progress.

A WORD TO CRICKETERS IN THE UNITED STATES

Coming before the cricketers of the United States for the first time as manufacturers of cricket goods, a few words of explanation of our present position may not be amiss.

Cricket in England holds, as everyone knows, the same relation to athletics in general as base ball does in this country. In establishing our London business, therefore, it became necessary for us to enter into the manufacture of cricket goods, which we have done on a large scale and in the Spalding way, viz., by buying the very finest of raw material and employing only the most expert workmen. This is of interest to the cricketers of the United States, because it will put in operation in cricket the same plan and policy that we have on all other athletic goods, viz., to give them the benefit of the lowest prices consistent with perfect quality. We think you will agree in looking over our price list that goods of A1 quality have never been sold as cheap before. We hope the low prices may help the game in this country; we certainly trust so. Of one thing you may rest assured—that all articles of our manufacture, whether for cricket or any other sport, are accompanied by the Spalding Guarantee. We take the risk of your satisfaction.

The Spalding Hollow Steel Faced Golf Clubs

Patented June 8, 1897

Each, $2.50

This style club is something that should be in the caddy bag of every golfer really interested in playing the best game possible. In construction it is scientifically correct, and the idea is one that needs only to be explained in order to meet with general approval. We rivet a piece of one-sixteenth inch highly tempered steel on a hollow head, and in that way give you spring and resistance combined at the point where they are required. Golfers of international reputation have endorsed them highly, and they bid fair to revolutionize club making to a great extent. The set consists of cleek, lofting mashie, mid-iron and putter. Each has points of superiority over the ordinary style, and any claim we may make in regard to them we are sure will be borne out by your experience after a trial. We know that the cleek, tried fairly, should improve your shots at least fifty yards, and we can make this statement safely because the assertion has been repeated to us so often by those who are using the club now.

Spalding "Highest Quality" Sweaters

MADE of the very finest Australian lambs' wool, and exceedingly soft and pleasant to wear. They are full fashioned to body and arms and without seams of any kind. The various grades in our "Highest Quality" Sweaters are identical in quality and finish, the difference in price being due entirely to variations in weight.

We call special attention to the "Intercollegiate" grade which is exclusively used by all Intercollegiate players. They are considerably heavier than the heaviest sweater ever knitted and cannot be furnished by any other maker, as we have exclusive control of this special weight.

- No. A. "Intercollegiate," special weight. $6.00
- No. B. Heavy Weight. 5.00
- No. C. Standard Weight. 4.00

Colors: White, Navy Blue, Black, Gray, Maroon and Cardinal. Other colors to order at an advanced price. Prices on application. All made with 10-inch collars. Sizes, 23 to 44.

The Spalding Patent Inflated Striking Bag Disks

Patent Pending

WE need not dilate on the healthful attributes so generally recognized, but if anything can make bag-punching more popular we think the style disks we introduce this season will go far in that direction. No complaint is more common, in reference to the ordinary platform, than the annoyance caused by its vibration and noise. So far as it is physically possible we have eliminated both of these disagreeable features. The bag does not hit against a solid frame, but instead we have a pneumatic cushion, and consequently there is no more noise than that occasioned by the fist tapping the bag, while on the same account the vibration is reduced to a minimum.

ADJUSTABLE STYLE

Can be raised or lowered simply by loosening the jamb thumb-nuts. Is perfectly firm and solid when thumb-nuts are tightened and has a long space for adjustment.

No. AR. Complete, without bag. Each, $10.00

HOW TO BECOME A BOXER

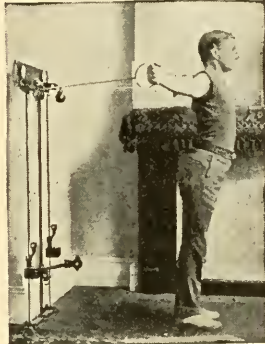

For many years publications have been issued on the art of boxing that to a certain extent did not enable the novice nor the youth to become proficient in the manly art. There is probably no man in America better qualified to teach boxing than Prof. William Elmer, and in his book on the subject he goes into it very exhaustively. The book contains about seventy full page illustrations, showing how each blow is to be made, how to attack and how to defend yourself. It shows how the hands must be held and the positions to take, with descriptions that are so accurate that any boy can take them, open them up and with a young friend become proficient. Besides being a fully illustrated book on the art of self-defence, it contains nearly all the photographs of the leading American boxers and the positions they take, which in itself is instructive; the different rules under which all contests are held, and articles which will interest anyone on the question of physical education. In order to make this publication the most accurate one issued, Prof. Elmer had his sparring partner posed personally for all the illustrations.

Ten Minutes' Exercise

By
Dr. Luther Gulick for Busy Men

Dr. Gulick says: "The experience of years has demonstrated the efficiency of the exercises contained in 'Ten Minutes' Exercise for Busy Men' in securing the ends for which they were devised. Many letters have been written by men, testifying to the great benefit which they have secured from these few minutes of simple but vigorous work.

"* * * * The correspondence schools of physical training have come into great activity. Their general aim is to build up big muscles. A somewhat careful investigation of them satisfies me that they are inferior to the exercises in this drill for purposes of building up vigor and manliness.

"One of the most vigorous claims of some of these schools, namely, that the heart particularly is benefited by their work, is false, for I have had case after case of men whose hearts have been injured by taking the correspondence schools' work when they were not in condition for it.

"The exercises in 'Ten Minutes' Exercise for Busy Men' are recommended with the confidence of long, successful use. The results secured are better than those possible from the correspondence school work in the specific directions mentioned."

SPALDING'S ATHLETIC LIBRARY

Spalding's Athletic Library is devoted to all athletic sports and pastimes, indoor and outdoor, and is the recognized American cyclopedia of sports. Each book is complete in itself; and those sports that are governed by National Associations always designate Spalding's Athletic Library as the official publication. This gives to each book the official authority to contain the rules. Each year the books are brought up-to-date, with the latest rules, new ideas, new pictures, and valuable information, thus making the series the most valuable of its kind in the world. The price, 10 cents per copy, places them in the reach of all, and no one's library can be complete unless all numbers are found therein.

No. 12. Association Foot Ball.

Contains valuable information, diagram of play, and rules. Price 10 cents.

No. 13. How to Play Hand Ball.

By the world's champion, Michael Egan, of Jersey City. This book has been rewritten and brought up to date in every particular. Every move is thoroughly explained. The numerous illustrations consist of full pages made from photographs of Champion Egan, showing him in all his characteristic attitudes when playing. These pictures were made exclusively for this book and cannot be found in any other publication. This is undoubtedly the best work on hand ball ever published. Price 10 cents.

No. 14. Curling.

Rules, regulations and diagrams of play. Price 10 cents.

No. 16. How to Become a Skater.

By Geo. D. Phillips, for years the American champion. Price 10 cents.

No. 23. Canoeing.

By C. Bowyer Vaux. Paddling, sailing, cruising and racing canoes and their uses. Price 10 cents.

ATHLETIC LIBRARY

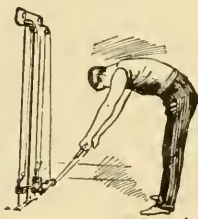

No. 27. College Athletics.

M. C. Murphy, the well-known athletic trainer, now with Yale University, the author of this book, has written it especially for the schoolboy and college man, but it is invaluable for the athlete who wishes to excel in any branch of athletic sport. Price 10 cents.

No. 29. Exercising With Pulley Weights.

By Dr. Henry S. Anderson. In conjunction with a chest machine anyone with this book can become perfectly developed. Contains all the various movements necessary to become proficient and of well-developed physique. Thoroughly explained and illustrated with numerous drawings. Price 10 cents.

No. 39. Lawn Bowls.

The ancient game, which has achieved considerable popularity in America, is fully described by Henry Chadwick. Contains an account of the introduction of the game in America and the official rules as promulgated by the Scottish Bowling Association. Price 10 cents.

No. 40. Archery.

By J. S. Mitchel. An introductory chapter on the use of the bow and arrow; archery of the present day; the bow and how to use it, with practical illustrations on the right and wrong method of aiming. Price 10 cents.

No. 55. Official Sporting Rules.

Contains rules for the government of many sports not found in other publications; wrestling, cross-country running, shuffleboard, skating, snowshoeing, quoits, potato racing, professional racing, racquets, pigeon flying, dog racing, pistol and revolver shooting. Price 10 cents.

ATHLETIC LIBRARY

No. 66. Technical Terms of Base Ball.

Compiled by Henry Chadwick, the "Father of Base Ball." It is one of the most useful and instructive works ever issued by the veteran writer. It is valuable not only to the novice but also to the expert. Price 10 cents.

No. 87. The Athletic Primer.

Edited by J. E. Sullivan, Secretary-Treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union; tells how to organize an athletic club, how to conduct an athletic meeting, and gives rules for the government of athletic meetings; contents also include a very instructive article on training; fully illustrated. Price 10 cents.

No. 102. Ground Tumbling.

By Prof. Henry Walter Worth, who was for years physical director of the Armour Institute of Technology. Any boy, by reading this book and following the instructions, which are drawn from life, can become a proficient tumbler. Price 10 cents.

No. 104. The Grading of Gymnastic Exercises.

By G. M. Martin, Physical Director of the Y. M. C. A. of Youngstown, Ohio. It is a book that should be in the hands of every physical director of the Y. M. C. A., school, club, college, etc. It is the official standard publication and should be used by them. Price 10 cents.

No. 124. How to Become a Gymnast.

By Robert Stoll, of the New York A. C., the American champion on the flying rings from 1885 to 1892. Any boy who frequents a gymnasium or who has a horizontal bar or parallel bars at his command, can easily follow the illustrations and instructions in this book and with a little practice become proficient. Price 10 cents.

ATHLETIC LIBRARY

No. 126. Ice Hockey and Ice Polo.

Written by the most famous player in Canada, A. Farrell, of the Shamrock hockey team of Montreal. It is well worth perusal by any player of the game. It contains a complete description of the game of hockey, its origin, points of a good player, and a complete and instructive article on how the game is played, with diagrams and the official rules. Illustrated with pictures of leading teams. Price 10 cents.
