KUN GOVERNMENT IN HUNGARY TURNED OUT AND CHAOS PREVAILS

Soviet Commissaries Reported to Have Resigned Under Pressure of Roumanian and Czech Troops; Greatest Disorder in Hungarian Capital

Amsterdam, April 22.—The Hungarian Government headed by Bela Kun has resigned under pressure of Roumanian troops, according to a dispatch to the Central News from Vienna quoting reports received in that city by aerial mail from Budapest. Wild chaos is said to prevail in the Hungarian capital.

It is reported that Czech forces have joined the Roumanians and have defeated the Hungarian Soviet troops.

Bela Kun, the Hungarian Communist leader, whose downfall is ported in dispatches to-day, first attracted public notice in Vienn in the days of the declaration of the German-Austrian Republic there. Kun, who appears not older than twenty-five years and is a devoted Kun, who appears not older than to admirer of Lenine and Bolshevism, made a spectacular appearance in the Austrian capital. Dressed in a uniform with stripes on the sleeves, indicating that he was a college student, he drove daily through the streets of Vienna in an open motor taxi, displaying a huge red flag and inviting the people to form a Red Guard for the purpose of overthrowing the newly-formed Republican Government.

In his speeches Kun said that the fact that the Socialistic leaders had shown their willingness to co-operate with the bourgeoiste proved that labor must take matters into its own hands and that its only salvation would be the Soviet system. He succeeded at the time in gathering a small army which he called the Red Guard.

which he called the Red Guard.

Seized Newspapers.

While the new Republican Government was forming the National Guard, bela Kun's Red Guard took possession of some of the leading newspapers, by means of which he believed he could persuade the masses to join his party. In the meantime, the police, however, had placed themselves at the disposal of the newly-formed Government and Bela Kun's forces were ousted and some of them arrested.

Frustrated.

Frustrated.

A few days later the new Government decided to call a meeting at the House of Parliament, in the course of which representatives of all parties of-ficially recognized German-Austria as a republic. It was on this occasion that with the assistance of his newly-formed Red Guard, Bela Kun tried to force his way into Parliament and make the legislators his prisoners while the House was in session. There was considerable shooting and his attempt was frustrated by the National Guard of the republic.

Kun was promptly arrested, and being a Hungarian subject, was expelled from Austria. Finding that the majority of the masses in Vienna refused to accept his Bolshevik ideas, he took advantage of conditions in Hungary, where he succeeded in carrying out his plans.

Paris, April 22.—A revolution has broken out in Turkey and a Soviet Government has been declared. A revolutionary committee has been established in Constantinople, according to a telegram received here from Kievquoting the Bolshevik representative at Odessa, who says that the Turkish consul there has received official announcement of the change in the Government.

DEMAND EXECUTIVE SHOULD NOW RESIGN

of the Bolsheviki Returned Men Foreshadow Independent Political Organi-Washington, April 22.—The important city of Vilna has been recaptured from the Bolsheviki, according to the official admission in a Russian wireless diszation in Meeting Here

"That the Government be asked to resign, and that forthwith the returned soldiers meet in convention to consider the advisability of forming an independent political party or such other organization as may be determined."

This resolution was passed at a convention of Soldiers' Organizations of British Columbia held in the Empress Hotel this morning. In support of their resolution the members of the convention this afternoon will meet the Lieut-Governor, Premier John Oliver and members of the Cabinet. This evening at 7.30 o'clock the convention decided to hold a public demonstration in front of the Parliament Buildings, when various speakers will present the reasons why the organizations have demanded the resignation of the Government. Through Winnipeg Winnipeg, April 22—The Seventh Battalion B. C., arrived in Winnipeg at 9 o'clock this morning. It is under command of Lieut. Colonel L. A delegation of 400 returned men arrived from Vancouver this afternoon and will combine with a large representation of local men in emphasizing the action of the convention.

Discussed With Vigor.

Discussed With Vigor.

The members this morning discussed the grave situation for over an hour and a half and claims of breach of faith, incompetence, side-tracking of main issues and the fack of confidence not only on the part of returnsed soldiers, but also of the people of British Columbia as a whole in the present Government, were made by many of the comrades, who very vigorously demanded that the resignation be asked for. Other comrades pointed out the seriousness of a change of government at this time and the fact that the soldiers' organizations were not in a position to enter the political field, and advocated a less aggressive step.

As a result it was decided to call upon the Government to resign without specifying any time for such resignation, and in the meantime to resignation of an proceed with the organization of an independent political party, which would warrant the support of the entire community of British Columbia. This party would not only include returned soldiers in each constituency, but would advocate civilian candidates who had the support of the soldier organizations.

Death of French Airman and Helper Due to Engine Trouble

Paris, April 22.—The death of Jules Vedrines, the noted French aviator, which was announced here yesterday, was due, according to a Lyons dispatch to The Petit Parisien, to a landing accident. He was flying low and one of his engines was missing fire. He swung his aeroplane in the direction of the wind, but falled to get the engine working properly and so decided to land. He headed the maghine toward a field, but fell short, the left wing collapsing.

Returned Soldiers Cross From Vancouver to Interview Government

The veterans refused to be "headed off from their proposed invasion. They flocked to the steamer this morning in large numbers. The 400 tickets placed on sale were all disposed of, and wives and other relatives accompanied many of the returned men.

No Procession.

There was no organized procession to the steamer, the men arriving as individuals. While waiting to go on board they gathered in groups and vigorously, discussed the whole incident. Apparently they wish Premier Oliver and his Cabinet to make some clearest statement as to what the future policy of the administration will be with regard to veterans and public offices.

with regard to veterans and public offices.

The attempt to introduce an argument over the prior rights of private or officers to Government positions apparently has fallen flat as regards the G. W. V. A.

PENSIONS BILL IS NEARING COMPLETION

Commons Committee at Ot tawa Getting Provisions Into Final Shape

Ottawa, April 22.—Some changes in the scale of pensions undoubtedly will be provided for in the new pensions bill being drafted by the special Committee of the House of Commons appointed to deal with Soldiers' Pensions, which has been at work under the chairmanship of Hon. N. W. Rowell since the beginning of the session. The hearing of evidence has now been concluded, and future sittings of the Committee will be devoted to the finishing up of the bill, the preliminary draft of which already has been completed. The bill contains forty or fifty clauses, and constitutes still another important piece of legislation which must be dealt with by Parliament before prorogation.

In addition to some increases in pension allowances, it is understood the bill in some instances extends in regard to education the privileges of the children of soldiers killed or who died in the service. Changes along this line were urged upon the Committee during its sittings by representatives of the war veterans and others.

Allies Do Not Intend There Shall Be Plebiscite in Germany; Sessions at Versailles Will Not Extend Beyond May 15, Says Echo de Paris

Paris, April 22.—(Havas).—Discussion of the peace terms by the Versailles Congress after the Germans are called in will not be continued longer than May 15, The Echo de Paris declares. The German delegates will be required to sign the peace conditions subject only to ratification by their Government, the Allies not consenting that these conditions shall be submitted to a plebiscite, it adds.

Paris, April 22.—It is probable that the actual meeting of the Allied and German delegates to negotiate the peace treaty will not occur until April 28, as the physical impossibility of having the official draft of the treaty ready for presentation by April 25 makes a postponement of the gathering imperative.

JAPANESE QUESTIONS BEFORE ALLIED LEADERS IN PARIS

Paris, April 22.—Signor Orlando, the Italian Premier, was absent this morning when deliberations were resumed by the Allied leaders. Premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau and President Wilson were present. The meeting was held at the latter's residence. The conferees went again into the Japanese questions presented by Baron Makino and Viscount Chinda which were taken up when the deadlock over the Adriatic question was reached yesterday.

Paris, April 22.—The Italian situation is a source of much concern in Paris. Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino, of Italy, are absenting themselves from the meetings of the Council of Four. Whether this marks a virtual withdrawal of the Italians from the Conference has not developed.

developed.

President Wilson, still opposed recognition of the secret Treaty London, under which Italy lays clait to Fiume and the Daimatian coast, h prepared a statement on the subjic which will be made public if the dealock should continue, it is said.

Firm Attitude.

Paris, April 22.—Satisfaction is expressed by the Paris press at the speedy subsidence of the flurry over the question of what German delegates should go to Versailles.

The deduction is drawn that the only thing to bring about the failure of such dilatory manoeuvres by the Germans is to speak clearly and firmly to them. It is pointed out that the only benefit, if there be any, which Germany has secured, is to delay the opening of negotiations for a few days. The solution is attributed by the press of all parties to the economic measures of the Entente and is accounted a good sign for the success of the Versailles negotiations.

GERMANS DAMAGED SUBMARINE U-111, NOW AT NEW YORK

New York, April 22.—In violation of the terms under which German submarines were to be surrendered to the United States, the submarine U-111, which arrived here Saturday for exhibition in connection with the Victory Loan, was damaged before it changed hands, it was learned to-day. Examination revealed that her main ball thrust bearings had been damaged, it was said, and temporary repairs were necessary before the craft started for the United States.

SHIPMENT OF FRUIT IN UNITED STATES

Washington, April 22.—Transcontinental railroads have been authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission to file specifications on estimated weights and loading regulations governing shipments of dried fruits from a dions in Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, Manitoba and Ontario without formal hearings. # PREMIER ADVOCATES PERSONAL INTERVIEW

Pacific Railway Company by the Pre-mier, it was suggested by the latter this morning that the quickest way to ascertain just how far the C. P. R. intends to go towards a solution of the question would be by means of a per-sonal interview with Mr. Beatty. On suggestion was advanced that Johnson Street as a railway bridge should be eliminated from the controversy and that it should be regarded as an elevated viaduct, devoted exclusively to pedestrian and street car traffic, under which the tracks of both the £ & N., and the C. N. R. could be laid. Coinand the C. N. R. could be laid. Coin-cidentally with this suggestion was the proposal of a joint terminal on the Reserve, immediately south of the pre-sent harbor bridge, with a steamboat landing adjoining. The Vice-Presi-dent of the C. P. R., however, was not inclined to accept any plan that, in his opinion, would prejudice the in-terests of his company and so the whole thing from this standpoint fell through. Premier Oliver then com-municated the facts to Mr. Beatty di-rect.

municated the facts to Mr. Beatty direct.

Legislation Necessary.

The opinion that Mr. Oliver has formed is that unless the C. P. R. President has a practical suggestion to offer the only recourse is legislation to meet the situation. This he considers will be necessary, particularly in view of the fact that the Board of Raliway Commissioners has already decided that it possesses no burisdiction in connection with bridges over navigable waters. An order from the Board, therefore is out of the question.

Haase reminds his readers that Germany is loved nowhere in the world, and that nowhere is there any belief in a real change of Germany's attitude. The writer sharply criticizes the German policy and protests against the German threats regarding Poland and the Saar Basin, which he argues will serve no purpose, but will incense the Entente. He also denounces Germany's fullure to publish diplomatic documents concerning the critical months before the outbreak of the war as confirming the existence of sympathy with the spirit of the oid regime.

The article concludes by demanding that a national court try those accused of being guilty of starting the war.

to a much greater extent had it not been for the rather unfavorable weather conditions.

Some of the local gardeners found their lots too wet, owing to the recent heavy rains an proceed with their work, but the fact remains that there has been a considerable rush on the local seed market, indicating that there will be a considerable amount of planting again this year, and it may be said that seeding is now in full swing.

One of the latest features of increased production is the development of the community cultivating scheme in connection with which householders have taken up plots of land and are working it on the co-operative basis. Last season this was carried on to a considerable extent. Locations were secured in Saanich and elsewhere and two or three men would bicycle or motor out in their spare time and carry on the work. The week-end afforded plenty of time for getting things in shape, and the result when the crop was garnered proved entirely satisfactory. Such crops as corn and potatoes can be very successfully and profitably worked on this plan.

Local seed dealers report a large demand for seeds of all kinds and the outlook for a big supply of home-grown garden produce is very promising.

Seeds grown on Vancouver Island and elsewhere in the Province from imported stock are appearing on the market and are holding their own with those imported from the big seed houses. The seed-growing industry of the Province has come to stay, and dealers prophecy that each succeding year will see more and more of the home-grown seeds used.

To Grow Hair On Bald Heads

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every, advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces, Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces, Menthoi Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed add I drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Ladies using this prescription should be careful not to get it on the face or where hair is not desired.

They Add Nothing to the Well-being of the Child and Invariably Leave the System in Worse Condition Than Before They Came

N fact, they often sow the seed which, in adult life, develops into disorders of the heart and blood vessels and degenerative diseases of the kidneys.

So if children escape any child's disease they are the gainers in general health by just that much. It may be that years are added to their lives or chronic invalidism avoided. Then there is the enormous risk which every child runs who has measles. whooping cough, scarlet fever, or other

Perhaps this does not agree with your idea of letting your children have these ailments when young, with the belief that they must have them some time. This old idea has cost many thousands of lives. It is time to forget it, and to put forth an effort to save the children from these ailments.

All these children's diseases are known as germ diseases, and germs are harmless to a body strong enough to fight them.

Rich blood is the greatest of germicides, Therefore, seek to keep your children's blood rich and pure by giving them wholesome, nourishing food, and by allowing them to exercise freely in the open air.

If they grow pale and weak and languid -if they fail to derive proper nourishment from the food they eat—if their nervous systems get run down from the tax of school work—use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as the best means which medical science affords to enrich the blood and build up the exhausted system.

Children whose blood becomes thin and watery are helpless before an attack of measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, or other contagious disease. They seem to "catch" everything that is going. They are always "catching" cold. Their resisting force is nil.

But their young bodies soon respond to the nourishing, invigorating influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. As their blood is enriched they become healthy, robust and rollicking—they enjoy their food their play-their work at school, and grow into strong, healthy men and women.

WANTS THE "PRESENT TARIFF"

Our morning contemporary refreshes its readers with a rather weird defence of the present Canadian Customs tariff. After observing that those "who are so assiduously urging the lowering of the tariff barriers have a very poor conception of the necessity for production and still more production in the Dominion when they advocate that Canada should be the dumping-ground for America's surplus products," it declares that the Prairie farmers' desire for freer trade with America is dictated by "selfish reasons" and that the "desire of certain politicians to reduce or abolish the tariff is mainly a proposal to eatch the farmer's vote, for it certainly cannot be with any wish to promote the country's prosperity."

It will be news to the farmers that they have a poor conception of the necessity for production and more production in the Dominion in view of the fact that, without that production, which last year amounted to more than $1,300,000,000, they would cease to be farmers, while the rest of Canada would be in a very precarious condition indeed. Incidentally it might be pointed out that the desire of the agricultural producers of the Prairie Provinces for lower tariffs is shared with equally strange persistency by the farmers of Ontario.

Our contemporary appears to have forgotten that the tariff which it wishes to remain as it is carries a special war impost of seven and one-half per cent., as well as an increase in the restrictions against British goods, the latter being adopted at a time when German submarines were also trying to restrict exports from the Old Country to the rest of the world. It is generally recognized by even the most ardent high protectionist that these restrictions must be reduced, and Sir Thomas White's forthcoming budget speech will make provision for the reduction. Our contemporary, which stands for the "present tariff," thus will find itself in conflict with even so enthusiastic a champion of high Customs taxation as the Finance Minister.

Fully sixty per cent. of Canada's revenue is derived from the tariff, which means that this proportion of the Government's income is extracted from the average consumer, who, of course, pays the duty on imported goods. He pays also super-profit equivalent to this duty on goods which are not imported at all, for even a child knows that the prices of domestic articles are always increased to the amount of duty on imported similar articles, with a little extra super-profit to boot. If that is promoting the prosperity of the country, prosperity certainly needs a new defini-

Canada now holds the world's record for high tariff, and, as the inevitable corollary, is the most trust-ridden country in the world in proportion to its population. We are protectd from the cradle to the grave, and for that protection we pay through the nose. Yet our high-protectionist friends who declare a lower tariff would extinguish their industries and injure the prosperity of the country, are able to export their products to foreign countries by the millions and sell them there for prices very much smaller than those charged local consumers within a stone's throw of the factories. They can compete with American goods in the United States, and yet, we are informed, they cannot hold their own against American goods in their own territory.

Verily we live and learn, but somehow we cannot appreciate the contention that the higher the cost of production the more production there will be, that the more trusts there are, the more the people have to pay to specially protected interests for the things most necessary to them, the greater the prosperity of the country. We quite agree that the beneficiaries of special fiscal privilege prosper; a study of the financial concentrations in the headquarters of high protectionists in the East proves that, but we would point out that the prosperity of a country means the prosperity of the many, not of the few.

RE-ORGANIZING THE COMMISSION

At a conference of the Great War Veterans Association in Victoria in August, 1917, a strong plea was advanced for a change in the administration of the Provincial Returned Soldiers' Commission. As soon afterwards as was practicable, a returned soldier-secretary was appointed, during whose term of office absence of complaint may be taken as evidence that his difficult duties have been well and faithfully discharged.

Since that time, however, due no doubt to the somewhat widened scope of the Commission, the work has increased in volume and usefulness. The mount of detail which requires to be disposed of daily, now that the troops are returning in large numbers, is enormous; this, however, is only one of the factors which has induced the Government to enlarge and re-organize. The Commission has worked unostentatiously, the secretary invariably going as far east as his duties would permit to meet returning men, while his assistance in many ways has been highly spoken of on more than one

In future the Commission is to be presided over by a paid chairman who, together with the secre-tary, will devote his whole time to the work. Supporting these two executive officers will be an Advisory Board of eight, four returned men and four civilians, while local committees throughout the Province will work in co-operation with the Board. And once the new body is in working order under this plan, it should be able to render very considerable aid to repatriation in British Columbia, in addition to performing its important | GERMANS WILL BE ASKED routine functions.

One very strong point in favor of the Commi sion, a point strongly emphasized by returned men, is its ability to strip a little of the cold officialism which, in many cases, attends return to civil life. With the chairman and secretary and three members of the Advisory Board former members of the C.E.F., the comradeship which exists between them should break down the reserve of the returned man who wishes aid in his own peculiar circumstances, the details of which he would tell to a civilian only with reluctance. This has been a difficulty hitherto, and by creating the Board with its soldier personnel dominating, additional usefulness should be added to the Commission.

MAJOR JOHN L. RETALLACK

If almost thirty years' residence and a thorough business experience in this Province are any recommendation for so important a post in the public service as Public Utilities Commissioner, then Major John Ley Retallack comes to his task assured of success. Apart from his intimate relationship with and practical knowledge of the mining industry in British Columbia, Major Retallack's allround commercial experience specially qualifies him to deal with the kind of business that will now come within his official purview.

Transportation questions and economic problems in general have frequently engaged Major Retallack's attention, and he long has been well known as an emissary to both Federal and Provincial Governments for measures calculated to pro-mote the interests of the Kootenay country, where he is so well and favorably known. A man of sound judgment and the highest integrity, Major Retallack may be depended upon to discharge the duties of his office with a clear conception of its important responsibilities.

THE COPYRIGHT ACT

The Montreal Herald, commenting upon the Copyright Act, introduced in the Senate by Sir James Lougheed, draws attention to the curious history of a subject about which little is known by the average reader, but which has been agitating Canadian authors for a long time.

The Act, it points out, is in part a resurrection of a bill introduced in the House of Commons in 1911 by Mr. Sydney Fisher, then Minister of Agriculture. He had attended a conference overseas, and obtained the sanction of the British Government to the policy of a measure asserting the right of Canada to exercise jurisdiction in foreign

Such jurisdiction had hitherto been denied, at American market to include Canada, and who sent Sir Hall Caine to Ottawa to press this viewpoint on the Government. Fortunately Sir John Thompson had prepared an impregnable case for Canada, and Sir Hall Caine's visit threw no new light on the subject. Mr. Fisher's bill in 1911 was the most important piece of legislation on the subject in Canada since the seventies, but the sudden dissolution of Parliament cut it off the order paper. Why the matter has lain dormant for eight years cannot be explained. The Government is to be congratulated on its action in now bringing down a comprehensive measure, and making it up-todate so as to cover records, perforated rolls, cinematograph films, in addition, of course, to all literary, dramatic and artistic works.

Perhaps the most complete assertion of the sovereignty of the Parliament of Canada ever placed on record is to be found in this bill. Paragraph 39 declares that "subject to the provisions of the south of the Government. In demanding the resignation of the Government. In demanding the resignation of the Government. Senator Lougheed defined the scope of the present bill when, in introducing it in the Senate, he said: "The Bill establishes a uniform period of copyright protection, consisting of the life of the author and a period of fifty years after his death. It also extends copyright protection to records, perforated rolls, cinematograph films or other contrivances by means of which a work can be mechanically formed or delivered. The bill is also intended to secure for Canadian authors full copyright protection throughout all parts of His Majes ty's Dominions as well as in Canada. It also aims at securing for Canadian authors full copyright protection in the United States of America.

A DISTINGUISHED RECORD

No doubt the bulk of British Columbia's population will endorse the appointment of Major Francis A. Robertson, D.S.O., to the position of chairman of the Provincial Returned Soldiers' Commission. Apart from the ability which Major Robertson will be able to bring to his office, he will take up his task with a complete understanding of the returned man's needs, his aspirations and his new outlook.

Physically handicapped himself, Major Robert son will possess ready and practical sympathy with those of his comrades who must more or less depend upon a grateful country for comfort in the days to come. It is well nigh a miracle that the gallant major was spared to see his kind again, for he will follow his useful mission minus his right eye, his right leg and a finger. He wears on his breast the Distinguished Service Order, and his name has appeared in Sir Douglas Haig's dispatches.

Preparations have been going on for several days, it is declared, and if the terms should be published one morning, the referendum could be taken the next day and the answer could go to the Entente forty-eight hours later. It is asserted that the only probable chance of an affirmative answer will be in case there is an agreement to negotiate details of the terms. Thus if an indemisy is fixed Germany cannot hope to dispute the total, but must be allowed to send experts to discuss ways and means of payment, it is said.

It is declared that the Cabinet wishes to avoid the responsibility of either refusing or accepting the terms. Therefore a plebiscite is almost certain, it is believed that the result will be a refusal to accept the terms, because the people will overlook the Fonsequences of such an act—the maintenance of the bolckade, the stoppage of food importations and the accompanying evils which may be expected—in view of their reluctance to sanction harsh terms. It is asserted that an agreement to negotiate the details of the treaty is absolutely the only basis upon which Germany in her present mood will vote in the affirmative.

He could not see any sense in going to the present Government again to secure promises, as promises would simply be broken immediately after being made, he contended.

A BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's New Door Mat

"Ah ha! Uncle Wiggily has a new door mat. It's a nice, fluffy one, too' Very good! I can sneak up softly by stepping on that, and get in the bungalow to-night before he or Nurse Jane can hear me! Ah, ha! This time I'll catch the bunny rabbit!"

So it began to get dark, and Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane went in the bungalow, waiting until it was time to go in and catch Uncle Wiggily.

The bunny and Nurse Jane had supper, and it was nearly time to go to "Well, it served him right!"

"Dear me!" cried Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper of Uncle Wiggliy's hollow stump bungalow, as she began sweeping the porch one morning. "We must get a new door mat Wigg!"

"What for?" asked the bunny rabbit gentleman. "Isn't the old one good enough?"

"I should say not!" spoke Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Why, it's all worn out, and when you scrape your paws on it only half the dirt is wiped off. The other half is tracked up on the porch, or in the bungalow, and it keeps me sweeping all the time. We need a new door mat!"

"Then we shall have it!" said Uncle Wiggly, and he twinkled his pink nose so fast you could hardly see it blink. "I'll get a new mat right away," said Uncle Wiggly, and he twinkled his pink nose so fast you could hardly see it blink. "I'll get a new mat right away," said Uncle Wiggly, and maybe I'll have an adventure at the same time."

So away he hopped, over the fields and through the woods, until he came to the fifteen and sixteen cent store, where they sold door mats, and there the bunny rabbit bought a fine big one hat would even clean mud off the wheels of an automobile.

With the mat rolled up under his paws Uncle Wiggily hopped back to his hollow stump bungalow. On the way he looked on every side for an adventure, but he couldn't seem to see any.

"Newer mind," he thought, "perhaps one will come to the house at night."

war, the Salvation Army, backed by an ever-widening reputation and influence, is about to launch forth into a still greater work and an enlarged field of endeavor, according to Commissioner T. Henry Howard, Chief of Staff of the Salvation Army, who arrived here this afternoon.

During the war the Army suffered much, Mr. Howard pointed out, and its ranks were much depleted by the demands for men. In spite of this fact, it was possible for those who remained behind to maintain the same volume of work as had been maintained in the past Moreover, the Army plunged into war work and achieved a popularity and respect among the soldiers, probably not enjoyed by any other organization, he said.

There were Mr. Howard states, from 1,900 to 2,000 members of the Salvation Army actively engaged in war work in various countries, and under the most diverse conditions. Right up to the fighting line the Army's work was carried, and often the women dispensed comfort to the soldiers while in imminent danger. Besides actually risking life in the struggle the members gave freely to the cause. Among other donations was a gift by the Canadian members of five ambulances which were used in Russia, while altogether seventy-seven of these vehicles were supplied.

During his tour over this continent Mr. Howard was particularly impressed by the respect with which the Salvation Army was regarded, for nearly everyone had friends at the front who had received its cheer. It is this popularity, declares the Chief of Staff, that will enable the Army to expand during the present era of peace.

"We have been able to keep the wheels rolling during the war," he re-wheels rolling during the war," he re-marked, "and now we shall be able to increase the machinery, to cultivate more fully our present fields of en-deavor, and to spread our mission to others."

signed.

Brilliant Rise.

The gallant officer's brilliant rise and glorious record in France is another of the records of the war cherished by officers and men of the 5th Regiment. He was captain and adjutant of the 5th Regiment for several years prior to the outbreak of sar, and went overseas as staff captain. He was adjutant of the 3nd Brigade in France, and afterwards became staff major of the Army Corps in 1916.

Front line duties having more attraction for the then major, he secured his transfer to the 14th Battallon, of which he was made Officer Commanding. He saw considerable service as an officer of a line battallon and was afterwards transferred to the 2nd Battallon, of which he was the Lieutenant-Colonel through many important actions. The ardiuous duties caused a break down in ill-health, and in 1917 he was obliged to go to England. As G. S. O. grade No. 1, he was Senior Staff Officer of the 5th Division, then in training in England, but on recovering his former state of health relinquished the duties to get back to France.

Was Made Brigadier-General.

On returning to the firing line he was made Brigadier-General of the Second Brigade, and carried out his duties with ability and distinction until the signing of the armistice.

Brigadier-General Clark's work in France has been recognized by the award of the Military Cross, which he won at the Second Battle of Ypres, and the Distinguished Service Order. He also wears the King and Queen's South African ribbons. When the South African war broke out the Brigadier was in the Klondike, but lost not in the the south of the struggle.

The action is for a declaration that a contract dated September 23, 1918, made between the parties, was abandoned by the defendant company and had otherwise been determined. Plaintiffs owned a large area of timber at Sooke, and made a contract with defendants to log it off. In December last defendants made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, when the Standard Bank stepped in and claimed part of the assets under a chattel mortgage, the Heaps Company, of Vancouver, also claiming one of the locamotives. The assignee took the stand that the contract had been assigned to him by reason of the assignment for the benefit of the creditors.

The latter issue was tried out some time ago before Mr. Justice Clement, who decided that the contract had been abandoned and determined, and the matter was still vested with them they should go ahead and do the logging, but plaintiffs objected to this, claiming that the contract had been abandoned and determined, and the matter was taken to the courts to decide.

H. R. Robertson, with T. G. Norris, appears for plaintiffs. Stuart Livingston and M. B. O'Dell act for defendant in the contract had been abandoned and determined, and the matter was taken to the courts to decide.

Thirty Deaths From Razor

A romance that has every element in it for a novel, but the facts of which are guaranteed at their source, is being related widely along the western line, says a Sydney, N.S.W., paper.

It concerns the rise of a young handyman on a Gligandra station, in Northwestern New South Wales, to a position of fame in England, and his pending marriage to a young lady who, in the early days of the acquaintance, was not permitted to continue the friendship. In the meantime she has inherited a fortune.

The story goes back several years. The young lady was seventeen years old at the time, and resided in a west-tern town. On one occasion she visited her uncle's station at Gligandra, the old man having made much money out of sheep-raising. It was here that she first met her intended husband, at that time doing service as a general handy man round the place. One thing that he became noted for was his natural genius in the mechanic's line. He was repured as capable of handling any job from a sewing machine to a station pump, via the shearing machines or household windmill. He was regarded with genuine favor in the house till the niece came along. Glances were exchanged, and it was not long before the two seemed to display mutual affection.

The aunt come into the drama at this stage, and insisted on chaperoning the girl closely, while the young man was given the direct hint that if he did not turn his thoughts in some other direction he would find himself out of a job. And that was what happened. He got clear of, the station, and the young lady went home. The uncle and aunt were then quite satisfied that the whole business. had been cleaned up satisfactority. The handy man returned to his home in South. Australia, and allowed his engineering capacities to have full play. He went to work with one of the

In the meantime two relatives had died and bequeathed her a fortune mentioned as close on £100,000. Next April she will leave for England to fill in the final chapter, the wedding arrangements having been completed already. The uncle and aunt have lived to see the culmination of her romance, but they have left the Gilandga district.

Burns Mantle, who picturized "The Silver King," starring William Faversham, which is doing phenomenal business at the Dominion Theatre this week, is one of the best known theatrical writers in the country. Mr. Mantle is the dramatic critic of The Evening Mail, New York, and his knowledge of the technic of the drama is most extensive. He has done excellent work in his adaptation of "The Silver King," which doubtless will be recognized as a screen classic second to none thus far produced.

ROYAL VICTORIA

Demonstrating her dramatic power most convincingly in an unusually appealing story, Pauline Frederick, the beautiful and talented Paramount star, appeared in her latest starring vehicle, "Out of the Shadow," at the Royal Victoria Theatre yesterday. To say that the audience was delighted with the premier showing of this superb picturization of Ernest William Horning's novel, "The Shadow of the Rope," would be expressing the fact mildly. The reception accorded the picture was in the nature of an ovation to the star, author, director and producer.

Beautiful Building, With Sun Porch Overlooking the Olympics, Will Be Considered; Easter Competitions

A decision regarding the suggested new club house is expected to be reached at the annual meeting of the Victoria Golf Club, to be held this evening at the Belmont Building. Plans of the building which it is suggested shall take the place of the present inadequate club rooms have been posted up for some time, so that the members of the club are all well versed with the new building, for which plans have been made by F. M. Rattenbury. The question of expense is probably the only consideration that is liable to deter the members from voting in favor of the immediate commencement of the work, for the architect has outlined a clubhouse which would provide for the Victoria Club a building to rival any of the clubs on the Pacific Coast. BOXING CLUB HAS clubs on the Pacific Coast. , It would be constructed on the rocks opposite David Roger's residence on

It would be constructed on the rocks opposite David Roger's residence on Beach Drive, and would overlook Mt. Maker and the Olympics. There would be one large main room, with the lockers, shower baths and professionals' workshop below. The main room would be surrounded on two sides with a lounge running the whole distance of the room built with plate glass sides as a large sun room.

Advocates for the new clubbouse point out that in any event it is necessary for money to be spent, and it could be better spent on an entirely new golf home than on the present clubhouse, which was originally built over twenty years ago. At that time it was just a shack. There were no cooking facilities, and members used to take their lunches. It has been added to little by little to make the present building, a small room with a stove for cooking being first added, a professional's workshop later, and so on.

Her flowing tulle veil was caught with a coronet of orange blossoms, while her only ornament was a diamond bar pin, the gift of the groom. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white bridal roses and maldenhair fern. Miss Cecile Couves was the only bridesmald, becomingly gowned in pale blue charmeuse with silver lace and ostrich feather trimming, and pleture hat of. Leghorn straw, faced with pale blue and with streamers of blue tulle. Her bouquet was of pale pink carnations, and she wore the pearl ring, the gift of the groom. Two dainty little flower girls, Veronica Stevens and Frances Jones, looked winsome in frocks of white silk mulle over pink, with wreaths of pink sweet peas in their hair, each carrying a basket of the same blossoms which they strewed in the path of the bridal couple as they left the church. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle, Stephen Jones, 249 Douglas Street Mrs. Jones received the guests, becomingly gowned in white georgette crepe and large black pleture hat. Madonna lilies, wild lilles and carnations were lavishly used in the decoration of the reception rooms, while in the drawing room where the bride and groom stood beneath a hymeneal bell of flowers to receive the felicitations of their many friends, apple blossoms were massed with charming effect. Over one hundred guests attended the reception, and the array of handsome weedding presents displayed in the sun-room were much admired. Wild lilies, roses and maidenhair fern adorned the diningroom and formed a beautiful centreplece at the table at which the bride cut the three-tier wedding cake. The health of the bridal couple was proposed by Stephen Jones, the groom replying in a few well-chosen words. During the reception Miss Mona Misener contributed appropriate solos.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay left on the afternoon boat for Seattle and Portland, where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride travelling in a very smart suit of taupe tricotine, with embroidered vest, and chic little French toque en suite. On their return they will make their home at 150 Patricia Driver

Immediately before the function was to take place a coffee urn was upset and the gasoline, spilling over the floor, set fire to a partition. General confusion prevailed for a moment, and water thrown upon the flames only spread them. The Fire Department, however, quickly extinguished the blaze.

The "Everlasting Kibosh" on All Favorite Bad Habits

"It is beginning to look as if the ever-lasting kibosh is to be put on all our favorite bad habits. The alcoholic demon is doomed. Earnest efforts are being made to put the skids under tobacco. And now swearing has received its first definite rap athwart the face, and from a most unexpected quarter—the baseball field. William F. Knebelkamp, the new president of the Louisville Club, has issued orders," says The Literary Digest, "prohibiting the use of all naughty words by his ball-players."

teels himself agarieved by a decision of the umpire, he will not be permitted to relieve his pent-up emotion by giving vent to a few well-chosen cuss-words. All he may say is, "Oh, oh," in a low, agonized tone of voice. Not even such mild and comparatively innocuous expletives as 'heck,' darn," blame, 'bome-head,' confound,' or the like will be allowed. In order to render the proceedings utterly ladylike and refined at a baseball game, it has also been suggested that the fans be required to manifest their approval only by giving the Chautauqua salute. But let Mr. Knebelkamp speak for himself, which he does through The Baseball Magazine (New. York) as follows:

Never Has Been.

"I know there's never been a swearliess baseball organization playing professionally, but that's no sign there can't be.' Profanity is used entirely too freely on the ballfield. Ofter ugly remarks, released during the beat of a battle are wafted to the stands, bringing discomfort and embarrassment to the feminine fans. No one would be more embarrassed than I were this to happen in my ball park. Ball games can be won without resorting to the unrestricted use of imprecations. In fact, I firmly believe that many contests are lost because the players, huring epithets back and forth at each other, or engaging in heated discussions with the umpires, permit themselves to become so wrought up that their effectiveness in the field and at the bat is seriously impaired. When a player is raving mad he is never so sure to hit the ball or cleanly to field a play. Swearing incites such a frenzy. Therefore, since swearing isn't conducive to mental equantimity, why should ball-players yield to the temptation?

The World Safe For Umpires.

"Mr. Knebelkamp is dead in earnest about putting the ban on profanity, He will do his utmost to prevent his play. Swearing incites such a frenzy. Therefore, since swearing isn't conducive to mental equantimity, why should ball-players yield to the temptation?

The Handley-Page was the most successful bombing machine in the Royal Air Force, and has developed the defree of safety to a greater extent than my other type of plane. For straight sying it is considered just as safe as a iteamship or railroad train.

The Handley-Page machine, which is to attempt the trans-Atlantic flight, will be piloted by Major Brackley, D. S. O., a famous Zep straffer. Admiral Mark Kerr and Major Grant, the well-thrown Arctic explorer, with a wireless operator, will composed the crew, and they are expected to sail from Liver-pool about April 23 for St. John's, Newfoundland.

Major Brackley says that owing to the aeroplane's enormous weight when fully loaded, namely 22,000 pounds, the machine requires an exceptionally long at full blast, a speed of sixty-five miles an hour will have to be attained before any attempt can be made to rise, and a run of at least half a mile with the necessary. When the Germans finally swarmed in over the filmsy barrier, the survivors fell back, rallied and fought on for four more days.

The St. Julien engagement was fought on April 24, 1915. A month later found the battalion at Festubert, sadly thinned in numbers, but with undiminished ardor. With less than 300 men in the firing lines, in trenches at one point within thirty yards of the enemy, and subject to rifle fire, hand grenades and "Minenwefer," the regiment held the enemy at bay. After Ypres, Festubert and Givenchy the battalion waged just as courageous a fight against the Hun at Messines. Mount Sorrel, Somme, Vimy Ridge, Hill 70, Passchendaele, Amiens, Arras and Cambrai.

EASTERN CANADA BUYING B. C. FOREST PRODUCTS

One of the outstanding features the lumber industry of Canada during 1918 was the rapidly growing demand in Ontario, Quebec, and the Maritime Provinces for British Columbia forest treme difficulty in procuring white pine at that time, some other wood had to be secured as a substitute. The contractor recommended the use of Douglas fir, but had to give his personal guarantee as to its suitability before final consent was obtained from the Federal Government. An interesting incident is that ever since that time Douglas fir has been used wholly in the building of lock-gates.

In 1893 one of the mills in British Columbia loaded a sailing ship with a full cargo of fir timber and lumber, sending her around by Cape Horn. The vessel arrived in Montreal in the spring of the following year and unloaded in the Lachine Canal, the freight being about 110 servers.

sending her around by Cape Horn. The vessel arrived in Montreal in the spring of the following year and unloaded in the Lachine Canal, the freight being about $10.80 per thousand feet, whereas to-day the freight charges are from $22 to $25. This was the first cargo of fir ever brought te Eastern Canada and the only one from the Pacific Coast until the spring of 1915, when three large cargoes were brought by a Montreal firm via the Panama Canal.

The Fight Was an Uphill One.

Naturally when B. C. forest products were first introduced in Eastern Canada it was a hard uphill fight for a long time. There were many prejudices to overcome as both red and white pinetimber were plentiful in Ontario and cheap, so that low prices offered by the B. C. mills were the only inducement the representatives had to present at well as being able to supply the larger sized timbers at reduced figures. It comparing present prices with those of 1896 fir timber, fir finish, fir stepping, clear cedar and XXX red cedar shingles there has, owing to the extre ping, clear cedar and XXX red cedar shingles there has, owing to the extra cost of labor, logging, sawing, trans-portation, etc., been an advance of ap-proximately 100 per cent and still the demand keeps growing. The B. C. lumbermen's best market in Eastert Canada up to the present has been the manufacturing towns, but Montrea also consumes a large quantity of B. C. stock, with a growing demand.

B. C. salesmen report increasing business from frequent visits to Que bee and Maritime Provinces, although trade is quiet at present.

The Prairie Provinces have always The Frairie Provinces have always been a profitable outlet for the larger portion of the coast and mountain miligin B. C. The demand has been steady and constantly increasing. During the fall months owing to the partial crof failure in several sections of the Prairie Provinces the requisitions fel off materially and a certain amount of alarm set in in the western ranks. The mountain mills, which up to that time had disposed of a comparatively smaller proportion of their output in the east naturally looked around for a ready market. A campaign of price cutting resulted and the merry warfare went on for some weeks. The bottom fell out of things generally, list prices were cast to the wind and competition was exceptionally keen. It is expected that before the end of the week Sir Thomas White will give the House the promised notice of the date on which his budget statement will be brought down. It is not anticipated that the Minister will decide on a date earlier than the latter part of next week or some time the following week.

Beginning to-morrow, there will be considerable activity in Committees, more particularly the special Committee which is considering the Consolidated Railway Act. The representatives of various public bodies interested in the measure will be heard this week, including the Provincial Governments, which are interested in the question of provincial rights involved in the bill, and the Toronto Board of Trade, which has a number of suggestions to make, as well as the telephone companies.

Company, Ltd., for $462,623.3 from the Dolly Varden Mines Company was effected this morning without reference to Mr. Justice Clement as the referee appointed by the Provincial Minister of Railways to find the amount due to the engineering company on the construction of a railway from Alice Arm to the mines, a distance of eighteen miles from tidewater. L. W. Patmore, registered attorney in British Columbia for the mining company, admitted the amount of the claim. His Lordship was informed of the admission by E. C. Mayers, counsel for the engineering company, and will report the same to the Government as his finding.

Payment of the amount of "the finding" must be made within thirty days, or the Taylor Engineering Company, under the authority of the Provincial Government, will enter into possession of the property, to operate it for the creditors.

TO ATTEMPT FLIGHT.

Washington, April 22.—Three American naval seaplanes, the N. C. I.-1, the N. C. 4 and the N. C. 4, will attempt to fly across the Atlantic Ocean. They will leave Rockaway Beach early next month, but so far as is known now, no decision has been reached as to whether the route will be direct from Newfoundland to Ireland or via the Azores. Each plane is expected to carry a crew of five men, will be driven by four Liberty motors of a total of 1,600 horsepower and will carry sufficient gasoline to make a stop on a direct flight to Ireland unnecessary unless storms or strong headwinds are encountered.

Washington, April 22.—The outcome of the apparent deadlock at the conferences in Paris on Italy's Adriatic claims is awaited in official quarters here with evident anxiety. The situation as pictured in press dispatches is regarded as serious, and there was no message from Paris yesterday or to-day similar to those of last week reporting gratifying progress at the peace table.

UNIONIST CAUCUS AT OTTAWA THURSDAY

Ottawa, April 22.—The first Unionist caucus after the Easter recess has been called for Thursday, at which the preliminary situation will be generally considered. The matters which will come up for consideration probably will include Government action in regard to prohibition and racetrack betting, two questions which will require early action, more particularly in view of the prospects of peace being signed at an early date.

talian Peace Delegates Re- Bavarian Government Says Military Situation Inclining in Its Favor

Paris, April 22—Although the Italian Peace Conference delegation made no official statement on the subject, amember of the delegation told the Associated Press to-day that it considered it useless for the Italian delegates to take part in further conferences unless the Allies were willing to grant their requests.

The Italians remain inflexible in their determination to be allotted all the territory granted them under the pact of London, with Fiume in addition.

The indignation of the Italian delegation is as strong against the British and the French as against the British and the French as against the Americans, and after the fallure of Premier Orlando again to-day to appear at the meeting of the Council of Four the break between the Italians and Allies became well defined.

EMPRESS OF FRANCE FOR ATLANTIC RUN

Crack Allan Steamship Has Been Renamed by C. P. 0. S., Ltd.

The Canadian Pacific Ocean Service Ltd., is renewing its St. Lawren nger business this spring with the two largest and finest steamships of the Atlantic fleet, the Empress of Britain and the Empress of France. The Empress of France was formerly know Empress of France. The Empress of France was formerly known as the Alsatian and will be recalled as the finest craft in the Allan fleet which has been incorporated with the C. P. O. S., Ltd.

The Canadian pacific Ocean Services, Ltd. has bought the freight steamships War Peridot and War Beryl from British owners. They are steel cargo steamships of 10,800 estimated deadweight tons each. These vessels are being operated in the Atlantic trade of the company.

Persistent rumors are still afloat to the effect that the C. P. O. S., Ltd., purposes acquiring the fleet of a big British shipping concern, but no confirmation is available. The company is building considerable tonnage in the United Kingdom, orders already placed including a ship of larger tonnage than the Empress of Russia for the trans-Pacific trade.

POVERTY'S THREEFOLD EFFECT ON SOCIETY

Rev. F. N. Stapleford, Formerly of This City, Presents Some Reflections

"Poverty is a term which has no meaning unless used in reference to some standard," writes F. N. Stapleford, M.A., General Secretary, Neighborhood Workers' Association, and formerly of this city, in The Christian Guardian. "It is entirely a relative term, since a standard of living which would be regarded as below the poverty line in Toronto would be regarded as involving a moderate amount of comfort in, say, London, and would be regarded as positive affluence, say, in Pekin or Bombay. Poverty, then, may be defined as a standard of living lower than the minimum accepted by the general consensus of any community so essential to a normally wholesome and physically effective life. The standard is necessarily, then, a somewhat vague one, since it is based upon public opinion as to what constitutes the requirements for a decent life.
"A certain standard of housing, food and clothing, with some provision for the intellectual and spiritual necessities, is set up by each community. If a family or individual is not able to maintain this, it is judged to be "Door." The judgment as to what constitutes poverty will depend upon the degree of material comfort and civiliation which a nation or community has been, able to maintain. A family which by the dictum of any community
has been, able to maintain. A family
which by the dictum of any community
has been, able to maintain. A family
which by the dictum of any community by regarded as "poor" suffers not only the physical discomfort incident to their situation, but also suffers a loss of prestige, which is even harder to bear. Perhaps there is no factor quite so necessary to human happiness as the esteem of the group to which we belong. If we cannot win the admiration of our group as outstanding individuals, we wish at any rate to some

to inability to measure up to the accepted standard.

"What, then, are the causes of poverty? The victims of poverty are the causalties of the social order. The question as to the determination of the causes of poverty must be preliminary to any satisfactory course of social action designed to eliminate it. People rarely enter upon such an inquiry with an unbiassed mind. Usually there is some presupposition. One group is absolutely convineed that the main causes of poverty are personal—lying indefects of character, lack of energy and thrift. This group believes that, taking the social order as it now is, in most cases families become dependent through causes which lie within their own power to prevent. The effort of this group would accordingly be fastened upon plans which have as their object the promotion of individual initiative and other personal qualities which would make each individual master of his own fate. Another great group emphasizes almost exclusively the economic factors. They think of the individual and family as caught in the grip of an industrial system which is based upon world conditions of supply and demand, and other factors which it would be ridiculous to expect the individual and very markedly influence. Those who are entrenched in the industrial system as holders of capital possess such an advantage that even although they may be inefficient mentally and victious morally, their income will almost inevitably increase. The play, Brewster's Millions, which was popular a few years ago, has a real moral. The man who does not possess these advantages may be an economic faiture, even although possessing unusual personal qualities. The social worker sees truth in both viewpoints, and prefers to base conclusions upon facts as investigation bring these to light.
